CHAPTER XV.

Sir Charles Hastings' mother was an unhappy-looking, peevish woman, whose life had been soured since the days of her childhood. She was naturally irritable and discontented, and it does not take long for natures of this kind to find misery everywhere. Her married life had been a disappointment. She told herself that the man who had wooed her cared more for dreams of Parliamentary fame, and in pursuit of a constituency squandered his own fortune and a good portion of his wife's. When success was almost within his grasp, he was charged with a crime that utterly alienated the confidence of his supporters—the crime of killing, either by accident or design, his wife's scapegrace brother. He was acquitted through lack of evidence, and after a few years of seclusion, died in dishonor and oblivion.

Lady Hastings was left a widow at the age of thirty, with one child—a boy—and a very slender income. Society scouted her, and in one way this was a benefit to Lady Hastings. It enabled her to husband her means, by discharging half the servants and shutting up part of the house. Even then she had much difficulty in keeping straight in a financial sense, for her husband had left behind him several ugly mortgages, which it would take years to discharge.

The old hall fell into gradual decay; the cottages on the estate became untenable, and the surrounding meadows mere wastes.

Meanwhile, Lady Hastings' son Charles went from Eton to Cambridge, where he graduated among the average men of his time. He was first among the students of his last term; he rowed in the "Varsity eight," and made many friends among men who valued sterling honesty more than gold. But even here his father's trouble had followed him, and though no fellow dared to twit him with the sore disgrace, he felt insensibly that he was not as others were.

He came home finally, at three-and-twenty, to find his home a place of gloom and decay. There was hardly a decent room in the house, and the old furniture was faded and worn, while the carpets were patternless and threadbare. He looked around, and saw that the gardens, the lawns, the orchards, were a sort of common wilderness, and would soon be in the same state as when man originally came into the world. The fields that had once yielded a golden harvest were rank with thistles and long brown grass as tough as boot-laces.

They had not been cultivated for years, and the farming implements lay in rusty disuse. Of the fifty cottages, more than half were empty, and the remaining tenants were preparing to fly. The only real source of revenue was the outlying property in the hands of responsible tenants, who grumblingly did their own repairs, rather than leave. But even this could not last forever, and young Charles viewed the condition of affairs in dismay.

But for his unhappy mother, he would have discarded the empty dignity of baronet and taken his poverty abroad, where he could enter into trade, and work for his living. Such was quite impossible in England. "I will set myself to get this tangle into shape," he decided. "The rooms shall be thrown open and aired, the painter and the upholsterer shall be called in. The gardens shall be cultivated, the cottages rebuilt, and labor be put into the fields. This ruin and desolation are terrible. It only wants the strong hand and will of a man. One would think that the curses of my uncle were upon everything!"

He viewed the estate thoroughly, and made these promises to everybody concerned. There was no reason why the farming operations should not be as profitable now as they were twenty years ago.

He occupied the Hastings pew at church, and thereby caused a sensation. It was the first time that a member of the family had entered it for many years. The rector visited him at the hall, and one or two others of lesser note tried to be friendly with the young baronet, but Lady Hastings refused to see any one, and viewed her son's actions with strong disapproval. It was cruel to let the world know of their poverty.

"Sir Charles had now elaborated his plans for the resuscitation of the property from certain and absolute ruin, and he laid them before his mother with boyish glee and confidence. A university education is not of much practical use in a business sense, and the young baronet's plans were destined to be very rudely upset.

"This negligence has been going on too long," he said, oratorically. "I ought to have interfered sooner, mother. Of course, I do not blame you in your weak state of health, and I do not believe that you know how bad things really are. We shan't have a cottage tenant left in another six months. The revenue from these alone was two thousand pounds a year. It has dropped to less than eight hundred."

"And how do you propose to remedy the evil?" his mother calmly asked, but with a ring of despair in her tones.

"It is simple—very simple. The farm itself and the lands can be made self-supporting. We only want modern appliances. The property on the estate must all be repaired. We must brighten up the house, and furnish some of the rooms. I have a bundle of estimates here, and only want six thousand pounds to turn this dreary wilderness into a garden of contented prosperity."

"Six thousand pounds!" echoed Lady Hastings. "We are not worth so many pence, Charles."

"We can raise it on a mortgage," he laughed, airily.

"Impossible, my son! The estate is already encumbered beyond hope of redemption. We are in an inextricable mass of debt. I cannot even pay the wages of the few servants we keep, and Lawyer Caddick intimates that he must have his interest paid regularly, or he shall foreclose."

The young man's face became deadly white.

"Why was I not told these things before?" he demanded. "Why have I been treated as a child until now?"

"Your good sense should have told you of our poverty," replied Lady Hastings. "Every one else can see it. It is the legacy left by your father! He squandered all in the mad pursuit of fame. He cared nothing for us—spant money upon them like water; and to add to the irony of fate, quarreled with my brother Edgar over the subject. It was his ruin, and it is ours."

"I would rather not discuss my father's misfortunes or follies," objected Sir Charles. "We have to face what is before us—we have to surmount the difficulty. How much is owing to Lawyer Caddick?"

"About twenty thousand pounds." Her ladyship spoke resignedly. "And there is only one way to save the estate. You must marry brilliantly."

"If?" He scoffed at the idea. "What lady would consent to link her name with mine? No, mother, I will not listen to a proposal of that kind for one moment."

Lady Hastings glanced at him angrily, and retorted: "I have educated you to fill any position, and if your good looks will not do the rest—"

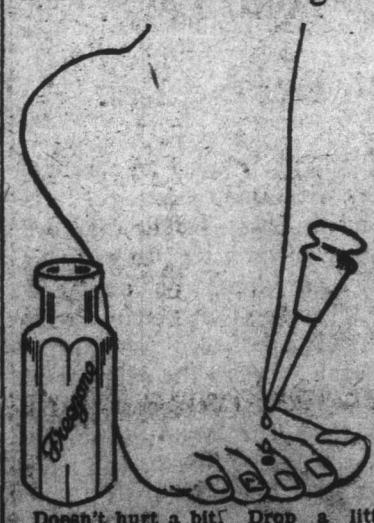

"Better had you put me into trade," he interrupted. "No woman's money shall be used so ignobly. No woman shall share my tarnished name."

"Then we shall be homeless," Lady Hastings burst into a passion of tears. "I might have expected this—the son of such a thoughtless father."

"I will listen to no more," he said, sternly, "but will see Caddick and arrange some terms that may suit him. I will get him to advance more money—money that shall be used profitably. I will then work with this until the estate is free; and never more talk to me of marriage. To marry I must love; and no girl I loved should be dragged under the cloud that is about us."

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Fressons" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Prophy-lac-tic

To clean the teeth thoroughly use the Prophy-lac-tic Tooth Brush after each meal, brushing the upper teeth downward and the lower teeth upward, and employing a rotary motion. The lifted bristles and curved handle will do the rest.

Made in adult's, youth's and child's sizes. Look for name Prophy-lac-tic on the handle. Always sold in the Yellow Box. For sale by leading druggists.

Distributed in Nfld. by Gerald S. Doyle, Sole Agent.

PROGRESS.

I am the dream of to-morrow, I am the better way. I am the flower of the seed toilers are planting to-day; I am what men haven't done but often have wondered about, I am the problem unsolved, but young minds are working me out. I am a field unexplored, radiant with visions and dreams. Mountains made low for men's feet, bridges hung over the stream; I am the chance for the boy still at his fair mother's knee. I am the goal he may reach, I am the man he can be.

Household Notes.

Roll pastry away from you, and then lift it. The thickest parts of tripe are the choicest. A dash of cinnamon is sometimes liked in cocoa. Caramel sauce is excellent with baked custards. Stewed cucumbers should be seasoned with onion. Cheese sauce is excellent served with a plain omelet. A parsley omelet is an appetizing way to start a hot day. Eggs scrambled with tomatoes make an attractive dish. Sugared currants are a novel and delectable breakfast fruit. Sprinkle a little salt on apples before putting crust on pie. Ice for freezing should be mixed with half its weight in salt. With a fat meat or fish try to serve a simple dessert of fruit or at least of an acid character.

Fashion Plates.

A Dainty, Simple Dress.
Pattern 3267 was used for this design. It is cut in 4 Sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size will require 2 1/4 yards of 40 inch material. Lawn, batiste, voile, dimity, dotted Swiss, crepe, wash silk, gingham and chambray could be used for this. As here shown white organdy was used, with self frills, and outline embroidery for decoration.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A STYLISH FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL.
4019. The graceful fullness of the drapery and the "tie on" effect are popular features of this model. It is nice for crepe, and also for voile. Ribbons, hemstitching or a pleat edge would serve well for decoration.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A Dainty Dress for Mother's Girl.
Pattern 3660 is here charmingly portrayed. It is cut in 4 Sizes: 6, 8, 10, and 12 years. Size 10 requires 3 1/4 yards of 38 inch material. Dotted Swiss, organdy, crepe, crepe de china, founcing, embroidered voile, poplin, silk, gingham, percale and linen are attractive for this model. The plastron may be omitted. The sleeve may be in "short" or wrist length.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A SIMPLE DRESS FOR A SMALL CHILD.
Pattern 3393 developed this attractive model. It is cut in 5 Sizes: 6 months, 1 year, 2, 3, and 4 years. Chambray, lawn, calico, challie, linen, crash, voile, silk, serge and mixture, also gingham, and poplin are nice for a dress of this kind. As illustrated, blue chambray was used, with trimming of white Indian head, finished with blanket stitching.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A COMFORTABLE PLAY FROCK.
4691. The good features of this style are readily apparent. It may be attractively developed in percale with bindings of a contrasting color, or in chambray, pongee or crepe.

The Pattern is cut in 3 Sizes: 6 months, 1 year and 2 years. A 1 year size requires 2 1/4 yards of 36 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

A Dainty Comfortable Frock.
3980. In dotted Swiss, challie, chamois or cretonne this style is ever attractive. The development is simple, and the dress will launder easily. Comfortable pockets are inserted under dainty flaps.

The Pattern is cut in 4 Sizes: 1, 2, 3, and 5 years. A 3 year size will require 1 1/2 yard of 36 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

GUilty OF HIGH TREASON.

BERLIN, July 4. Baron Leo Frechtung yesterday was found guilty of high treason and sentenced to life imprisonment in Munich on the charge that he had been in constant communication with the French Minister Bard in Munich, and striving for the separation of South Germany from North Germany by French occupation. The proposed dividing line, according to the charge, was to follow the Main river.

C. L. B. Cadets.

Avalon Battalion C. L. B. Cadets paraded last night under the command of Lt.-Col. Goodridge, Major Tait M.C., and staff. An officers mess meeting was held to arrange for camp and Captain Jeffrey will be this year's camp commandant, with Captain Geo. House as Adjutant, which will be a guarantee of efficiency and success, as Captain Jeffrey is a veteran of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces and House is also a qualified officer. An unusually large number of lads have volunteered for service at Topsyall. The boys march to Topsyall Thursday, July 20th, returning July 29th, (Saturday). Quartermaster Motley is busy overseeing the repairs of tents, cooking utensils and camp outfit generally. He will also act as Food Controller. All the outport companies have been invited to send contingents and Major Tait is awaiting reports from their officers commanding to know numbers, so as to arrange tent accommodation. Bell Island and Bay Roberts have already booked "Pullman Sleepers." The Colonel has announced the following promotions: To be Captain, Lieut. A. S. Lewis, Paymaster; Corporal Feaver has been awarded a bar to his service medal for winning the Outerbridge Shield, and his squad awarded miniature shields, viz. Pte. B. Oakley, H. Hewarshine, J. Simmonds, E. Hutchings, G. Peckham and W. Crane, whilst Privates B. Berg, C. Thomas, H. M. Carter, W. Haynes, G. Taylor, A. Tucker, W. Seymour, H. Rains, H. Gardner, F. Shaw, J. Crane, L. Windsor of A. Coy., have been awarded good conduct stripes. The following have been awarded five year good conduct medals, Sergt. Owen Feaver, Corporal B. Rees, and Lance-Corporal G. Reid, whilst Acting Sergt. Major E.W. Best, has been confirmed in rank as full Sergt. Major. Corporals Rees, Hooksey, Adams and Curlew have been promoted Sergeants, and Lance-Corps. Barrott, House, Reid, Martin, Keats and Mitchell are promoted to Corporals. Regt. Sergt. Major Andrews and other instructors deserve hearty congratulations on their work in recent N. C. O. Classes and the men now promoted have shown such proficiency in their exams as to bring forth special compliments from the Officer Commanding. Hearty good wishes to all those getting a step in line. We note all the lads going to camp must bring the following: (1) knife, fork and spoon, plate, cup or mug, two blankets, change of underclothes, two pair socks, two pair boots, needle thread and buttons, boot polish, soap and two towels, one extra top shirt, hair brush and comb, swigger cane, rubber boots (if possible) mackintosh, or oil coat, and oil hat if possible, kit to be packed in a bag with lads name and number. All ranks will pay the following camp fee. Warrant Officers, two dollars and fifty cents; N. C. O.'s, two dollars, Privates one dollar and fifty cents. Fees must be prepaid to Lieutenant Motley, Quartermaster.

We are sorry to learn from Lieut. Brown, O.C. Trinity East Company that they have disbanded for the present. Too bad Trinity, as you have always been in the lead of everything in good works. We expect to see you reorganize in October. Officers and all ranks were extremely sorry to know of the passing into the rays of the golden west, the soul of the late Mrs. Thomas Pottles last month. Mrs. Pottles was a most earnest Christian woman, a devoted mother, and one who always made many sacrifices of her time and talent to help on C.L.B. work in which her husband and son are members. The Officers Mess sent a floral offering and were represented at the funeral by Lt. Col. Goodridge and Major Williams. To her husband and family the Brigade extends sympathy in the severe loss they have sustained in her passing.

Deadlock Settled.

REGATTA COMMITTEE AND BOAT CLUBS RECONCILED - MANY PRIZES DONATED AND NEW RACE ADDED.

All differences between the Regatta Committee and the Boat Clubs have now been settled and our Annual Derby will go ahead as usual. This announcement was made by President Hiscock at last night's meeting of the Regatta Committee. The Committee fell in line with the President's suggestion to forget the past. The Presidents of the Boat Clubs, in corroborating Mr. Hiscock's statement, expressed the hope that the public would assist them in their work. The question of judges was discussed at some length, and it was wisely decided that none but the three judges and timekeepers would be allowed in the judge's boat at the start and finish of each race. A megaphone will be provided for the use of judges. President Hiscock, in announcing that Hon. R. J. Brownrigg had donated $2 per oar for the winners in the Tradesmen's and Labourer's races, asked the collectors to begin work at once. Mr. E. J. Brophy moved that there should be an intermediate race on the programme for boys between 17 and 21 years of age. This suggestion was supported and unanimously agreed to. The rule passed was "Intermediate Race": Competitors in this race must be under 21 years of age, and shall not be eligible to row in any other race. With characteristic generosity, Mr. G. F. Kearney offered to donate gold medals for this race and Mr. Garrett Brownrigg offered silver medals for the second crew. Mr. J. M. Tobin offered an extra $10 for the crew making the quickest time and this with the Committee bonus of $10, makes a total of $20 for the winners. Practices begin this week and a motor boat will patrol the pond in case of accidents. The race programme is the same as last year with the addition of the "Intermediate." The band stand will shortly be erected at the pond and the Brigade Bands will hold concerts. Mr. R. Stick was added to the Committee. The meeting adjourned until Friday 14th inst. at 8.30 o'clock.

Everybody Should Know

How to judge the value of Soap. Here is a very easy way. Buy a bar of Sunlight Soap, the best soap in the world, best because it is purest and will not injure even a baby's tender skin. Then buy a bar of any other soap put the two bars on a shelf in your kitchen for two months. At the end of this time have the two bars of soap weighed, you will find Sunlight Soap has lost no weight, whilst the other soap will be an ounce or more short. This test proves that Sunlight Soap is all soap, whilst the other soap was part water; now why should you waste money buying water? Buy Sunlight Soap and get the worth of your money. Another test is to wash one of your blouses or one of your husband's shirts with Sunlight Soap, and another blouse or shirt with some other soap, and see which blouse or shirt will last longer. You will find clothes washed with Sunlight Soap will last much longer than clothes washed with other soap; therefore use Sunlight Soap which doesn't hurt your clothes. Tell your washerwoman to look at, all because it is the best soap procurable—35¢ wt.

Football Reminiscences.

BY ONLOOKER.

"SOCCER" IN 1879. In the season of '79, or just '78 years ago, and the second year of the League, all lovers of the "Association game" had the opportunity of witnessing some of the finest and most fiercely contested football matches ever played in this city. That was the season we had with us, besides our old League Clubs and Mercantile Alliance Teams, three teams from the "Pelican," "Buzard," and "Pardella," the latter team being properly the best exponents of the game (Editors) that ever scored a goal on Greenly Place.

In September 11th '97, a match took place between this famous team and Andrews (Local Champions) in which the latter team (who had been beaten previously by the "Tars") after a hard and fast game turned the score 2-1, and an enthusiastic "Pardella" admiral of the Saints, composed the following poem, which was published in the "Evening Herald" the following day:
THE BOYS IN BLUE.
O'r Flight w'd the Tars,
Light weel ye fecht ye Bonnie Boys dinged the Sailor Laddies.

Bergs Numerous. SAGONA REPORTS SALMON VERY SCARCE. A scarcity of salmon on the Labrador coast is reported by Capt. Burns, of S.S. Sagona, which reached yesterday. At Battle Harbor, the principal salmon station, the fishery has been almost a failure. Fur has been plentiful and a ready market has been found for this commodity. Icebergs are numerous and frequently damage fishing gear. There is a fair sign of fish along the coast. The Sagons reached as far north as Holton.

Peripatetic Politicians.

Our wandering Premier has departed from our midst on his annual jaunt. It is said too, that the Minister of Education is visiting other lands, and that soon the Minister of Justice will depart on a journey abroad. This certainly is a grand country for the politician who may be defined as belonging to the peripatetic genus. But what the people think of these annual and semi-annual trips is another story. That the departmental heads, at least some of them, provide themselves with all kinds of pretexts to indulge in picnics and excursions abroad appears to be part of a set policy, and the round of business is not complete unless topped off by a sea voyage, but whether for the health of the individual or for the benefit of the country does not come within the purview of the voters. The Prime Minister is by no means so shackled to his duties that he fails to find time and excuse for a holiday. In fact he appears to thrive on relaxation from the burdens of his multitudinous offices. In the present instance people wonder why he chose the very moment when a distinguished Newfoundland returned to the land of his birth after an absence of years, to take train for Port aux Basques en route to other parts of the Empire. To say the least such conduct was not at all consonant with the principles of national etiquette. Apparently the Premier desired to avoid having to meet the gentleman whose name is more than familiar to most Newfoundlanders. But be that as it may, the bare fact that Sir Richard Squires has gone away, even if to discuss that most important question the Labrador Boundary with experts in law and geography, is a matter over which much concern is expressed. Neither friends nor opponents believe that his exodus will produce anything of value to the land of which he is Prime Minister, nor that his return will contribute to the welfare or improvement of conditions. Conversely it may be noted that the costs of his self appointed holiday will have to be carried on current account, and therefore all the taxpayers will have the extreme pleasure of assisting in paying their pro rata share of the expenses incurred, which judging by the last account submitted for the knowledge of the Legislature will not be by any means microscopic. The benefits of this tramp abroad are not likely to prove any more advantageous than those resulting from the journey of the Honourable the Minister of Education to it is said, Ottawa, for the purpose obviously of studying the Canadian State School System, may be with a view to introducing the same into Newfoundland. But be the purpose of either peripatetic that which it may, the Colony will be obliged to foot the bills.

GRAND BANK, July 4. The W.M.S. Delegation was presented to Conference last night. Mrs. Rev. House read the report while Mrs. Dr. Curtis, Honorary President, followed with remarks. Election of delegates to general conference took place this morning and the Board of Governors of Methodist College this afternoon. A lengthy debate on the report of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service took place and was deferred. Dr. Clifford's third noon day lecture was most provocative of thought.

S. S. Norburn Strikes Growler.

REACHED PORT WITH BOYS STOVE IN. S.S. Norburn, with her bows badly stove from contact with a submerged iceberg, steamed into port this morning and anchored in the stream. The ship was bound to Liverpool with a cargo of deal from Quebec and came down through the Straits of Belle Isle. On Monday morning at 1 o'clock, when a short distance off the coast, the ship hit a growler head on. Although steaming slowly, owing to a dense fog which prevailed, the impact tore a big hole in the vessel, below the water line. Great care had to be exercised in working the ship to port. The forward holds are full of water, and it is expected the cargo will be discharged in order to effect repairs. The Norburn is owned by Messrs. Coombes, Marshall & Co., Ltd., West Hartlepool and is a ship of 2028 tons gross and 1226 net. Messrs. Bowring Bros., Ltd., are the ship's agents.

Body Recovered.

REMAINS SENT TO GRAND BANK. Messrs. T. H. Carter & Co., received a message yesterday from Constable O'Flaherty, giving particulars of the drowning of seaman Richard Osmond, of the schooner Gordon Hollett, at Aquaforte. Osmond was drowned by the upsetting of a boat load of ice. He was a single man aged 19 and belonged to Frenchman's Cove, Burin district. His body was recovered at 5 p.m. on Monday and was sent on here by yesterday's train. Capt. Foote, of Hollett's firm had the body embalmed at Lawrence's Mortuary Rooms and sent out to Grand Bank via Argenta, this morning.

In the Realms of Sport.

FOOTBALL.

To-night's game between the Guards and Saints promises to be a thriller, especially as the latter have greatly strengthened their line-up. Both are still in the running for the pennant so that the outcome of to-night's clash is awaited with interest by all the fans. The game starts at 7:30 with Referee Hunt in command.

REGATTA.

With all hands heaving together this year's Regatta promises to be better than ever. A stimulus has been given by the generosity of Messrs. Jack Tobin, Gar Brownrigg, and Geo. Kearney and the Hon. H. J. Brownrigg in presenting additional prizes to those presented by the Committee. All that is needed now is the usual generous financial support of citizens generally.

BELVIDERE SPORTS.

The 3 mile road race at the Belvedere Garden Party promises to be the sporting de resistance of to-day's sports events. It takes place at 5 o'clock at the Orphanage grounds, and the course will be out Allendale Road, down Military Road, in Bannerman Road, around Long Pond and back to the Orphanage grounds. Among those entered are J. Linegar, G. Bailey, R. O'Toole, F. Mills, E. Pennay, J. Fynn, J. Thorburn, G. and C. Stone, and J. Willis. In view of the good showing they made last year, Thorburn, Bailey, and O'Toole are looked upon as the favourites.

The Guards, Cadets, and Highlanders have entered teams in the Relay Race for the massive silver cup presented by the Hon. W. J. Ellis. This event takes place at 4:30, and the course will be 1/2 mile, 1 mile, and 1 1/2 mile. The "Help the Orphans" is the slogan for the fans to-day.

BASEBALL GAME POSTPONED.

Old Juppe Pluvius and young Harry Thomas (the genial secretary of the League) were responsible for calling off the much looked forward to game last night between the B.E. and Cubs. As is the rule in the baseball league, the game will now be played to-morrow night. This is going to be some clash!

GUARDS' SPORTS.

The first senior athletic meet for the season takes place to-day at St. George's Field under the auspices of the Guards' Athletic Association. Fred Pheasant, Tom Butler, Sam Parsons, G. McGrath, R. Volsey, and C. Wensor have all entered for the 100, 200, and 400 yards. The 2 mile walk will have Burnell, Max Moore, and Roy Bugden stretching their long lankies. The Mercantile Relay Race will have teams from Balda, Arre's, and the White Clothing. Fans are anxiously looking forward to the 1 mile race between Harvey Skirving, the A.A.A. Champion, and Roy Taylor of the Boston Athletic Union and local lad's 4.54. Taylor is just home after coming second in the Big Boston A.U. meet a fortnight ago. Admirers of Skirving, however, claim that he has never been pushed and that the four seconds of his opponent do not cause him any worry. If the ground is not too soggy it is very likely that the local record held by Frank James may be shattered. Entered also in this event are George Joyce, and G.

ST. MICHAEL'S SPORTS.

Embracing a wide variety of events, the programme of sports at the St. Michael's Garden Party this afternoon promises to be very interesting, and includes the following:—100 yards, 1 mile, sack race, potato race, broad jump. An inter-parish tug-of-war, and a challenge tug between St. Mary's and St. Michael's for the Dowden Cup are causing great excitement. Final football fixes, the result of the League preliminaries, will be played for gold medals.

HIS DIARY.
July 4th—A wet morning, so I wear my drab outer coat. I did lunch to-day with the Rotary Club, and Lord Morris did make an address. Meeting here Hon. Dr. Campbell. I did tell him of an amusing error an American news sheet did make, being that it stated how Sir Humphrey Gilbert did colonize Newfoundland in 1583. He did laugh heartily, but said that he wished it was 1953. I did sit by Mr. Meehan and we did have discourse of the Boat Clubs and the Regatta, which is, indeed, all the talk of the town. I learn to-day how the Humber Proposition is again mooted but what will come of it, I know not. Home and and my wife not well, having had a fire-tooth drawn out to-day, which do trouble me more on account of the dentist's bill than of her pain. To my book-seller's where Mr. Seymour shows me a new book by P. G. Wodehouse, which I will buy, as his writing pleases me.
WHERE IT IS—As so many people have been enquiring we would say that the Belvedere Garden Party is being held in the Belvedere Grounds to-day; only two or three minutes walk from the city.
Shipping Notes.
S.S. Portia left Turnaviek on the 3rd having made all ports of call; the ship is due here on Friday.

"Daily, I'm glad you eat Kellogg's 'WAXTITE' Corn Flakes and fruit for supper. I'm so fagged out with the heat that Kellogg's 'WAXTITE' is the only food that would appeal to my appetite. It digests so easily and I know it is nourishing. Even if I have another helping, these Kellogg's 'WAXTITE' certainly are delicious."

Eat sensibly during the warm weather!
Kellogg's WAXTITE CORN FLAKES
are nourishing-retreshing-delicious

It's a long step for health and riddance of summer drowsiness and that sluggish feeling if you'll all stop eating so much heavy, greasy foods and let Kellogg's delicious "WAXTITE" Corn Flakes do your health a good turn! With cold milk and luscious fresh fruit, Kellogg's "WAXTITE" are extra delightful—so crisp, and appetizing.

Kellogg's "WAXTITE" Corn Flakes are nourishing and supply all the summer energy you need; yet, they digest easily and actually rest the stomach! On such a diet you'll feel so much better; your mind will be keener and you'll accomplish a lot more work—and help yourself keep cool and snappy and cheerful!

Kellogg's WAXTITE CORN FLAKES

Mary Stuart's Prayer Book at Ravenna.

In the town library of that fascinating city of the Adriatic shore which is the resting place of Dante's ashes and the home of the most splendid remains of early Christian art, there is to be found a little volume which demands a more than passing interest from a Scottish visitor. The volume is a prayer book which one belonged to Mary, Queen of Scots, and which, by some strange chance, has found its way to the remote Italian town. Its existence is merely mentioned in the guide books. It is number sixty-two in the library. In spite of its interest, it is not exhibited in any show case of treasures, but takes an ordinary show place on the shelves, standing side by side with books ancient and modern, rare and common.

It is of small size, measuring only about three by four-and-a-quarter inches. It is beautifully printed, and contains a number of Latin prayers. Miniatures are painted before each prayer, and in various other places in the book. They depict incidents in the Gospel story; e. g., the Annunciation, Flight into Egypt, and Crucifixion. Many pages, more especially in the left-handed borders, are embellished with free and graceful ornamentation, consisting of leaves, flowers, and other natural objects. Predominant among the objects used in the design are the rose, thistle, bluebell, and strawberry. The prevailing colors are red, blue, green and gold.

when circumstances were adverse, carrying his treasured memorial along with him; and how, finally, he may have settled down, and ended his days in the Camaldulensian monastery at Ravenna. The Queen's Prayer Book would pass to the monastery library, and thence to the Bibliotheca Communale, where it is to-day. Strange to think of the adventures this little book may have undergone. In her hours of sorrow the Queen may have fled to it for comfort; in lonely and weary months of imprisonment she may have read and re-read its pages for consolation and hope; given at last, perhaps to some faithful follower, treasured and preserved by the recipient with loving care. After much wandering it reposes an almost forgotten relic of the past, on the shelves of a quiet library in a distant foreign town.—E.X.

Fatal Gas Main Explosion

On Monday evening, July 5th, 1890, a singular accident attended with some loss of life, occurred in Tottenham Court road, London, and the neighbouring streets west of that thoroughfare, towards Fitzroy-square. The gas company was engaged in laying service pipes from the corner of Percy Street, opposite the Bedford Hotel, along to Charlotte Street, and the pipes had been laid and covered with earth. The air was about to be drawn out of them, preparatory to charging them with gas, when by some mistake, it is supposed they became filled with a mixture of air and gas, which is highly explosive. The gas at the end in Tottenham Court Road became ignited, and the pipes blew up along the whole line, tearing open the ground in several large chasms, and hurling the stones of the pavement and masses of earth into the air. Two of the gas contractor's workmen were killed as they were closing the pipe, and another was injured. They were all severely burnt, and had limbs fractured, or their heads crushed by the stones and pieces of iron. Passengers going along the street were hurt, and inmates of the neighbouring houses, which had their ground floor rooms or shops wrecked, stones cast in upon them, were among the sufferers. At the corner of Charlotte Street and Percy Street, a gentleman, and his maid-servant, who was serving his tea, were blown out of the house into the road and badly injured. Five houses in Percy Street had their basements and lower floors entirely wrecked, and most of the windows shattered. The pipes along Charlotte Street, as far north as Howland Street, likewise blew up, and six houses had their chimneys blown open. About twenty of the sufferers were immediately received into the Middlesex Hospital close at hand.

SPORTSMEN HAVING GOOD TIME.

The report of the Game and Inland Fishery Board for the week past shows that good sport is being had on several of the rivers, particularly the Codroy. Salmon have just started to run on the northern rivers. Both the Gander and Terra Nova are in splendid condition but as yet these have not been visited. In the Belmondier River 35 fish were taken last week by 12 rods. The fish are not running large. At Little Codroy River, only five fish were taken, the heaviest being 21 pounds. On the Grand Codroy River there are quite a number of sportmen; 75 fish were taken for the week. Brigadier Willough of London landed a 23 pound, and A. S. Barnham, Sarnia, Ont., one weighing 35 pounds.

Henley Regatta.

ENGLISH ROWING WEEK OPENED TO-DAY.
LONDON, Eng., July 5.
Henley Royal Regatta opened to-day under the most favorable circumstances. For the remainder of the week, beautiful Henley-on-Thames will be the hostess to those whose fancy turns to that greatest of aquatic sport—amateur rowing. Competitors from many countries will be on hand to match their speed and endurance, and to the successful athletes will go the highest honors that can be won by amateur oarsmen.

Local Comedy Staged at St. Mary's Hall.

LOCAL COMEDY STAGED AT ST. MARY'S HALL.
Though handicapped by the absence of Mr. John Burke, through a bereavement in his family, and the lack of stage room, the St. John's Musical Comedy Co. gave a splendid presentation of the local hit, "Cotton's Patch" at St. Mary's Hall last night. The performance was in aid of the Church of England Orphanage Garden Party and there was a fairly large attendance. The lady workers of the parish added a tidy sum to the receipts by the sale of drinks and candy. This laugh making comedy with its vaudeville, songs and dances has lost none of its popularity judging by the rounds of applause which greeted each turn. It is not unlikely that if arrangements can be made the show will be repeated at Canon Wood Hall next week for the same object. To Mr. W. Cousins who looked after the stage settings much credit is due.

Home's Report.

GOOD SIGN OF FISH.
S.S. Home arrived at Humbermouth at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The captain reports as follows: "Made all ports of call to Battle Harbor; very good sign of fish from Port aux Choix to Flower's Cove but not much at Labrador. Whiteley, at Bonne Esperance, reports 1,000 qts landed to date. The Straits are now practically clear of ice."

Tales About Henley.

(Canadian Press)—As might be expected in any event with such an extended lifetime, many unique incidents have featured the Henley Regatta. In 1848 the famous "seven oar" episode took place. At the last hour one of the members of the Oxford crew was incapacitated through illness and the opposing crew refused permission to the Oxford crew to put on a substitute. Nothing daunted, the Oxford crew took to the water with one man absent and won surprising fame by winning the Grand Challenge Cup with seven oars. Ten years later Oxford defeated Cambridge in the Grand Challenge by only eighteen fives. In 1897, New College, Oxford, set up a record for the course of the Grand Challenge when they won from the Leander Club by two feet, in six minutes and 51 seconds. From 1897 and onward the competition for foreign crews has been a feature of the regatta. In 1906 the Club Nautique de Grand, Belgium, carried off the Grand Challenge, and the Belgium Club repeated in 1907 and 1909. In 1912, The Sydney Rowing Club, New South Wales, was the winner, and in 1914, the last Regatta before the war, an eight from Harvard University carried off the rowing title. The Diamond Sculls left England for the first time in 1893 when J. J. Ooms, a Hollander, won the finals. In 1904, L. F. Scholes of Toronto, Canada won the Diamond Sculls, defeating F. S. Kelly of the Leander Boat Club. Scholes' time created a new record for the event, but in the following year Kelly, in winning the Sculls lowered the record to 8 minutes and 10 seconds, which stands to this day. Kelly, though winning the Sculls on two successive years, and then winning in the year following his defeat stands out very prominently in the records of the Diamond Sculls.

Editorial Writing.

To a discussion of editorial writing and the qualities needed for it, the Philadelphia Public Ledger contributes the following shrewd observations:

If the reporter is, as Franklin Matthews said, the backbone of a newspaper, the editorial writer is its face, and by him the newspaper is loved or hated. The slightest error damages the paper and brings in basketfuls of letters of protest, whereas the reporter's mistakes bring in about 25 per cent at the most, of the reproaches to which he is entitled. Usually he does not draw one per cent or none at all. This is a curious commentary on the saying that "nobody needs editorials." The backbone of the editorial writer consists of everything he ever has studied, read, observed, heard in casual conversation, or seen for himself. A baby playing in the street, Shakespeare and the wildest doctrines of Sir Conan Doyle form part of his education. He can sneer at nothing unless he is prepared instantly to back up his sneer with a defense based on wide information of his subject. He can say what the reporter is not allowed to say, but he pays for the privilege with a total absence of the reporter's comparative immunity. He must be right as the heavens; he is not, but he suffers every time he falls short of that perfection. He is the most difficult job on a newspaper.

The Toronto Globe says: "The Ledger is right in saying that an error of fact in the editorial page of a paper of recognized standing brings literally 'basketfuls of letters of protest.' People who would never think of correcting corresponding errors in the news columns keep a rod in the brine for the editor who has trusted a poor memory instead of consulting a reliable book of reference. It is rather startling to be tripped up on one's statement regarding conditions in and around Armenia by some one who has just returned from Armenia, or to be assured on the authority of an old resident of the Punjab that condemnation of General Dyer was based on a misapprehension of the situation in India."

The world has become a very small place, and the editor is liable to hear from a former companion of Borneo's head-hunters if he strays a foot from the path beaten by them through the cane in the jungle. One is not always sure of the accuracy of these contradictions and details, but after all, in the never-ending contest between the written word and the man who has been there, it is better to set aside the testimony of Pro-Bono Publico where he begins his letter of protest with the mild remark that the editor would not have written of the keelife as the national weapon of Hawaii if he had ever resided in the South Seas.

The most serious falling away of the modern editorial writer, as compared with his predecessor of the past generation, again the digging department. Ten years in the Canadian Press, and often more frequently across the border, the editorial writer is a swallow skimming the surface, instead of a fish-hawk swooping down on the more desirable and solid sustenance to be found beneath the water. Reading is still vital to the making of a full man, and reading becomes growingly difficult in these days when golf and motoring and lawn bowling and curling and even skating are tugging at the editorial writer's coat sleeve and demanding attention, each in its season. It is to be feared that in not a few cases the scissors and paste pot wield an increasing influence in the making of the editorial, and that the laborious hours of research spent by the editorial writers of bygone days before they tackled a new subject are now devoted to the entertainment of the first person singular, rather than the education of the masses. But the masses will never know that. The movie has claimed for its own, and the newspaper on which hours were spent in less strenuous times is now "read" in ten or fifteen minutes at breakfast or after tea.

A Tough Nut.

A colored man was shot in the head in the course of a row on Richmond Street, but the revolver bullet was deflected from his skull and only a superficial wound was inflicted. The colored man's head is proverbially tough, a fact that has been proven on many occasions. Some years ago a colored gentleman was walking along St. Antoine Street all dolled up in the latest style. He was feeling at peace with himself and the world, when suddenly his thoughts were disturbed by a tremendous crack on the head. He saw stars for a moment and realized the cause, for at his feet lay a big monkey wrench, which had been dropped by a workman from away up on a telegraph pole. The victim regained his scattered senses and then indignantly berated the man on the pole, who was tremendously relieved to see that the colored man was not killed. It is a great thing to have a hard head in these days of accidents, sandbagging and shooting.—The Review, Montreal.

Household Notes.

Sprinkle buttered beets with lemon juice just before serving.

For deep-fat frying, use two-thirds lard and one-third beef fat.

Peanut butter added to fudge gives it a deliciously "nutty" flavor.

Noodles or plain boiled rice are often served with a pot roast of veal.

Try crowning a strawberry pie with stiffly whipped cream. Delicious.

Scraps of left-over pie crust may be used in making cheese straws for the salad.

New rubbers should be used every year in canning, if you wish good results.

Just before serving cream of celery soup pour it into a well-beaten egg, stirring constantly.

An unthreaded sewing machine can be used instead of a tracing wheel to mark paper patterns.

Chopped toasted nut meats added to mayonnaise render it highly exciting and most tempting.

Lengthwise strips cut from old white silk stockings make dainty bindings for the tops of silk vests.

A little finely chopped onion and a teaspoonful or two of brown sugar improve the flavor of tomato soup.

When sweeping a carpet, keep the broom close to the floor, and sweep with the grain of the carpet.

Let a few slices of cucumber pickle simmer in the gravy of lamb for a minute or two before serving.

Fruit mounded in jelly and served on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise is an appetizing "hot weather" salad.

Popovers are nice filled with canned fruit on fresh stewed fruit and served with maheshmallow sauce.

Sew a pearl button on the back of the boy's collarband, and he will always know where to find his collar button.

If you are tired of plain hamburg steaks, add an equal quantity of ground raw potato. The steak will go much farther.

Cold dried beets, sliced hard-boiled eggs and chopped pickles marinated with French dressing make an excellent salad.

"BETTER THAN THE BEST" IS THE VERDICT FROM ALL WHO HAVE WORN HI-PRESS RUBBER FOOTWEAR

Testimonials can be furnished from Thousands which have carried conclusive proof that the Hi-press Rubber Footwear wears twice as long as any other Brand on the market

Letters of appreciation to the value and good wear of these rubber goods come pouring in to the Manufacturer from all parts of the globe.

One in particular of our hardest customers says its the first pair Rubber Boots I ever bought from which I received my moneys worth, its certainly a great wearer and am fully satisfied with my purchase.

A prominent merchant of St. John's, Newfoundland, testifies to the extra good wearing qualities of this famous Hi-press Rubber Footwear. He says, during the winters of 1913-14 I went through six pairs of the usual light Rubber Shoes. This winter one pair of your Hi-press Rubber Shoes saw me through our long Newfoundland winter, and still look as if they will be good enough for another.

SHE FOOLS HERSELF.

"I'd love above anything on earth to write," an admiring reader once wrote to the Authorman, "but I simply cannot get the time."

In the same letter she told about certain activities she was engaged in, she was rehearsing for some dramatics, planning an entertainment at the Church, and entertaining the bridge club to which she belongs.

"So you see I am a very busy woman," she ended.

He saw that. But he also saw that she was fooling herself when she said she would like above everything to write.

What we really want most in this world we usually get.

What She Really Wanted.

That woman wanted most to play a part in the life of the community. No reason that she shouldn't, a perfectly laudable ambition. Very possibly, she will give more joy that way than if she really did spend her time in writing. But when she says she wants most of anything in the world to write, she is mistaken.

I know a woman who earns her living by working nine hours a day and then comes home and writes in the evenings. The woman evidently does want to write more than she wants anything else in the world. And I know she is going to succeed because she can't help it.

Half of any success consists in knowing what one wants most in life. When fate says: "Which hand will you take?" You cannot say: "Both." Many of us try to, with the result that she does not give us the full measure from either.

Not Spoken Prayers.

"Be careful what you pray for," said Emerson, "for all sincere prayers are granted."

He didn't mean what you pray for when you kneel down at night, but what you pray for all day long with your heart and mind, what you admire, what you think worth giving time to.

We all fool ourselves more or less about such things. We could have this or that if we had better luck, if circumstances had been different. But while circumstances do affect what we make of ourselves, we give circumstances the power over us by our affections and desires.

Why He Succeeds.

I know a man, who with no large talent to start with, has made a success as an illustrator. He has done it because that success meant more to him than anything else on earth, more than the claims of any conventions, more than his own pleasures, more than any tie of affection. I suppose to most all successful men their work does mean that, when you come right down to it. And it seldom does to women. Which is why women, even with equality of opportunity will not make the success in the business and professional world that men do—at least not until their characters have had a few centuries to change in.

It's a great thing to really know what you want most in life. "The world stands aside for the man who knows where he is going." And the man who has studied his own desires and knows what he wants does know where he is going.

What do YOU want most in the world?

Advertising

THE LOCOMOTIVE OF BUSINESS.

One of our most enterprising and successful business men and one of the world's largest advertisers was recently questioned on the advisability of continued advertising. One of his auditors remarked that he had spent thousands of pounds and created a splendid demand now, a demand which was steady and growing; was it not a waste to continue spending such a huge sum of money every year in publicity. "My friend," replied the manufacturer, "if I were to stop advertising it would be just like taking the engine off a train. It would slow down and after a little while stop. Advertising is the locomotive of business and if you don't have it, business comes to a stop."

One of the most important things in the world is advertising, and advertising is telling who you are and where you are, and what you have to offer in the way of service and commodity. If nobody knows who you are and what you have to offer you do no business, the world will give you absent treatment. Life is too short for the consumer to hire detectives to ferret out merchants who have necessities of life to sell. I have been in business for over twenty years; I have probably had my share of what was going because I am usually there with my plate when things are being handed out. I have no kick coming; but when the trade wants to buy they don't catch me, chloroform me, and cram the orders into my pockets. If you want milk it isn't wise to seat yourself in the middle of the field and expect the cow to back up to you.

That would be as vain as for any of you to step out of your office and shoot into the air in the hope of firing into a flock of ducks that might be flying over. Advertising is the proper education of the public as to where the thing can be found, and therefore it is a necessity. All live men are advertisers. I visited a cemetery close to where I live the other day, and inscribed on nearly every marble slab was given a list of the virtues, talents and beautiful qualities which the dead man was supposed to have carried in stock. This is what you call non-productive advertising, or advertising from an emotional viewpoint.

Personally I do not endorse it. Advertisers while you are alive, and send flowers to the man when he can appreciate them. We need help to live, but we do not need any help to die. Death is no problem, but life is a great and most important one. We are parts and particles of one another, but a little of the kindly glue of human brotherhood is needed in order to fasten us together. Advertising has occasionally been referred to by shallow thinkers as economic waste. Well, the policeman who keeps the crossing clear and at the same time informs us as to the location of the post office and the savings bank is, no doubt, in one sense an economic waste. On the other hand, he is no economic necessity. He is a necessary middleman. He relieves the
