You can have the new fashionably smooth arrangement for the fluffiest hair

The newest hair arrangements—whether for long or for bobbed hair—are severely smooth. The hair may be waved, but it must follow closely the outlines of the head. The difficulties of giving this fashionably smooth appearance to unruly hair are easily overcome with Stacomb. Just a touch of this delicate cream—and your hair will be just the way you want it. And it will have a lovely gloss too. You can get Stacomb at all drug and department stores—in jars or in tubes.

STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER IX.

Her hand lingered in his; the beautiful face was upraised to his; the dark eyes and fresh, sweet lips invited a caress; but he was resolved that there should never be anything more than friendship between them. He did not touch with his lips either the white brow or the white hand.

"Good-by, Lola," he said. "I will see you safely into your carriage."

But as the girl still held his hands tightly clasped in her own, he saw that tears were falling down her face.

"It is no pain for you to part with me," she said. "To me it is more bitter than death."

"Nay, not that, Lola."

"Yes, and more than that. You do not know, you do not understand! Do you think if the pain had not been more than I could bear, that I should have come here to see you, have risked so much and dared so much to spend those last minutes with you? If I could tell you all that is passing in my heart now, you would not go away."

"I must go in any case, Lola," he said, firmly. "Now let me see you to your carriage. I am afraid it will be dark before you reach home."

She lingered with him as long as she could; the arrangement of the rugs and wrappers afforded an excuse for keeping him by her side. It was so sweet and pleasant to her that he should interest himself in her comfort. Then the groom took his place, and there was no further excuse for delay.

"Good-by, once more," she said.

The little ponies started off, and she had seen the last of him.

"He will be mine yet," she soliloquized. "I shall win him. How many a heart is caught in the rebound! Who was it that he loved, and loved in vain? I wish I had been in that woman's place. How I love him and how foolish I am! Yet I will win him, if love and patience can do it. People laugh at love and think it weakness or a girl's sentimental folly. Why, it is the strongest of human passions."

When she came to think over her interview with him, she was not dissatisfied. She felt a certain hope that when he returned it would be to her. She smiled at her own beautiful image in the glass.

"I must not repine or be dull while he is away," she said to herself. "When he returns he must find my beauty fresh and undimmed. When he returns! Ah, Heaven is good, and he will not be long away from me!"

CHAPTER X.

Sir Karl Allanmore had gone, leaving Scargdale to the care of servants, and the one topic of conversation in the county now was the wedding at White Cliffe. Lord Rhyworth had made great preparations at Deeping Hurst. A beautiful suite of rooms had been redecorated and refurnished for his young wife, containing everything that taste could suggest and money furnish.

The day fixed for the wedding came at last—a fine, bright day, near the close of autumn. The little church at Deeping was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the school children were there with flowers to throw before the bride.

The Squire, in the pride of his heart, had invited almost more guests than White Cliffe could accommodate. The elite of the county were present at the ceremony. The bridesmaids wore costumes of cream-color and pale blue, and were remarkable for their beauty. The Squire, erect and handsome, seemed to have grown twenty years younger—so all declared; the bridegroom's appearance was high-bred and aristocratic; but the bride attracted the most attention. Dolores had never looked so lovely. The fair, flower-like face was not rosy with blush; it was pale, with a calm, steadfast expression; the violet eyes did not droop, nor did her voice falter when the solemn words were uttered which bound her heart, life, and love, to another.

After the wedding-breakfast, Lord and Lady Rhyworth departed for Deerhurst Manor for their honeymoon. Lady Fielden kindly consented to remain at White Cliffe to superintend the hall which the Squire intended to give in honor of the event.

Lola had acted as chief bridesmaid.

and on her dark face there was a look of triumph. All was safe now that Dolores was married; there would be no likelihood that Sir Karl would let his thoughts wander in that direction again. She had spoken a few words to Dolores before she started for Deerhurst.

"It has been a pretty wedding, Dolores," she said, as she followed her to her room to bid her farewell. "Indeed I may say more than that. I have never seen a more beautiful one. I shall tell Sir Karl all about it when I write." She wished to let Lady Rhyworth know that she corresponded with Sir Karl. "He will be greatly interested in it," she continued.

But no crimson flush of pain or embarrassment rose to her friend's face—only a calm, sweet smile; and Dolores' fervent protest dismissed Lola.

"I am sure he will."

Still Lola was not quite satisfied. She kissed the fair face, and said— "I hope you will be happy, Dolores. I never thought you would be married first. It is stealing a march on me; but I will forgive you. You must not be surprised if you hear of a marriage when Sir Karl returns."

She had the satisfaction then of seeing the sweet face glow pale; and, with a kiss, Lola withdrew.

To the day of her death Dolores remembered the close of her wedding—the chiming of the bells at Deeping, the cheers of the crowd, the hall of the old house lined with friends and servants, the pretty group of bridesmaids, with Lola prominent among them, the white head of her father, the shower of old slippers and rice, the dear, happy home she was leaving forever. She recalled it all through a mist of tears—tears which her husband kissed away.

"You shall never regret it, Dolores, my darling," he said. "This shall be the beginning of a new and happy life."

And it was a happy life. When the honeymoon was over, Lady Rhyworth decided to go abroad as her husband suggested, and they came back to Deeping Hurst. There was a series of brilliant wedding festivities, to which half the county were invited; and Lord Rhyworth, in his anxiety to please his young wife, pressed her to invite Lola de Ferras to remain at Deeping Hurst until they were ended.

"You would like a young companion, Dolores," he said, "and I was much struck with the high spirit and vivacity of Miss de Ferras."

He little guessed how his young wife in her heart longed for rest and peace—nothing more. Her husband's wish was however law to her, and she never, even in thought, rebelled against it. He wished her to invite Lola; she did so at once; and the beautiful French girl was only too pleased to accept the invitation.

"May and December," she said to herself. "May finds herself lonely, and December would rather have me there to amuse her than intrude; that task to a fine jeune homme. I go to Deeping Hurst in a kind of missionary capacity."

Lola never heard a word of disagreement between husband and wife. There was never the least coolness. On one side were devoted attention and lavish love; on the other was cheerful obedience.

"It is not my notion of a married life," thought Lola. "I should feel compelled to quarrel with my husband at times, just for the pleasure of making it up."

Lola thoroughly enjoyed her visit to Deeping Hurst; and perhaps what she enjoyed most was having the opportunity of talking to Lady Rhyworth about Sir Karl. She revealed in it. She liked to watch the lovely face as she recounted all the different interviews she had had with him, and all what she was pleased to call his protestations to her. Lady Rhyworth listened in silence; the time was coming when she would know all.

The Man You Didn't Marry

WIVES WHO DREAM OF WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

A girl has two suitors, one of whom comes up to her ideal, while the other, fresh her fancy. One man is upright, thrifty, and industrious, the type of man who makes a kind and generous husband, while the other is a good-looking, idle, shiftless never-do-well. The girl wanted to know (writes Dorothy Dix) if I think she will be happy if she marries the one who is the good catch instead of the one she prefers. Frankly, I think not. It is dangerous for a woman to marry one man when she craves for another, because it gives too much scope to her imagination.

The "other man" is a lay figure about which she can drape all the dreams and romances and unsatisfied yearnings of her nature. She endows him with impossible perfections. And, needless to say, any husband cuts a very poor figure beside this ideal with whom he is continually being secretly compared.

Things Dreamers Forget.

Blessings brighter as they fade, especially matrimonial ones, and the man a woman did not marry has an attraction for her that the man she did marry does not possess. She does not have to live with him. She does not come in contact with his faults and shortcomings. She does not have to overlook his annoying peculiarities and habits, and so she can idealize him and picture marriage with him as a grand sweet sort of domestic bliss.

She has nothing to wake her out of her dream, as she has when she deals with an everyday man in an everyday world, where both men and women have tempers and nerves and selfishness and clashing wills and temperaments. And the woman forgets that there would have been all of these elements of discord, multiplied a hundred times, if she had married a man who probably had all of her husband's faults and lacked his virtues.

But the woman brushes these facts aside as she reflects despairingly upon what life might have been if she had married the man she didn't marry. She is sure, for one thing, that the man she didn't marry would never have been grumpy and unreasonable. He would never have to be wheedled and cajoled into doing the things he should do, and leaving undone those he should not do. He would never bury himself in the paper of an evening and merely grunt when spoken to.

On the contrary, he would always be a ray of sunshine in the house. He would save his most entertaining conversation for home consumption, and after a hard day's work at the office he would just love to take his wife out to dine or dance.

Life would be so different, she believes, if she had married the man she didn't marry, and she turns the thought of it over and over in her mind, until she forgets that it is all a dream.

Perhaps most women have this sort of Castle in Spain to which they flee when the cares of domestic life bear too heavily upon them, and it is a harmless enough diversion when the man they didn't marry is nothing but a vague ideal of their desires.

But when there is some particular man that a woman cared for more than she did for the man she married, it is another story. Then she is apt to fall more deeply in love with him after marriage than she was before, just because she is never disillusioned about him.

The only perfect husband is the man you did not marry!

Mother and Her Baby Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

APPEAL AGAINST DEATH SENTENCE.
MONTREAL, June 27. An appeal has been entered on behalf of Giuseppe Serafini, Mike Valente, Frank Gambino, Tony Frank, Leo Davis and Louis Morel, sentenced to death last Monday for the murder of Henri Clearoux, Hochelaga Bank col-

Judge's charge to the jury. In connection with the misdirection, it is stated to have consisted in charging the jury that rules of law applicable to the case were those rules that govern a trial on an indictment for conspiracy.

REMAINING POLITICAL PRISONERS TO BE RELEASED.
DUBLIN, June 27. Statements made to-day indicated an early release of the remaining political prisoners of the Free State Government. President Cosgrove said that the Governor General would be advised to remit the unexpired terms of sentenced prisoners except those guilty of ordinary crimes. In reply to Deputy McGrath, President Cosgrove said he could not answer at present whether it would be proposed to release Austin Stack and other Republican leaders before adjournment of the Dail next month.

BESCO TO CLOSE DOWN.
SYDNEY, June 27. On July 19, the BESCO Steel Plant here will close down for three months with the exception of one blast furnace and one battery of coke ovens. Trenton plant will also be closed. The consumption of coal will be cut from 80,000 to 60,000 tons.

DEMOCRATS AND THE LEAGUE.
NEW YORK, June 27. A proposal for a national referendum on the question of United States membership in the League of Nations was approved to-night by the platform committee of the Democratic Convention by a vote of 34 to 16.

CANADA BARS EXPORT OF GOLD.
OTTAWA, June 27. Export of gold coin, gold bullion and fine gold bars, from Canada, has been prohibited until July 1, 1925, except in such cases as may be approved by the Minister of Finance and under licenses issued by him. Notices of such to appear in the Canada Gazette.

PORTER RESIGNS.
OTTAWA, June 27. E. Guss Porter, member of West Hastings, who made the charges against Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, has resigned his seat. Mr. Porter informed the House this afternoon that following the vote of the House approving the report announcing Mr. Murdock, he intended to appeal to the people, the highest tribunal, and to give the electors of his constituency an opportunity to judge between Mr. Murdock's conduct and his own. He "respectfully invited" any member of the Government or any member supporting the Government to oppose him in West Hastings. He read the communication addressed to the speaker in which he repeated the charge he had made against Mr. Murdock. Immediately after reading the statement Mr. Porter left the Chamber, followed by loud applause from the Conservative benches. The speaker announced in the House shortly before six o'clock that he had issued his warrant for an election in West Hastings. The fixing of the date depends on Government action.

TWO FISHERMEN DROWNED.
LUNenburg, N.S., June 27. Two Lunenburg fishermen, Alastair Melner, of Garden lots, and Reuben Keddy, of Martis River, were drowned while fishing off Newfoundland Banks according to word received here to-day from Cape Bayle, Newfoundland. The message simply stated that the captain had lost two of his men on the Banks while fishing.

STANDING OF B. C. PARTIES.
VANCOUVER, June 27. With the exception of Port George, the only seat in doubt, the standing of the parties in the British Columbia elections, held last Friday, is likely to remain unchanged until July 11th or 12th, when the absentee vote is counted. The standing at present, therefore, is 20 Liberals, 17 Conservatives, 4 Provincials, 3 Laborites, 2 Independent Liberals and 1 Independent.

COX A CANDIDATE.
MADISON SQUARE GARDENS, N. Y., June 27.—Newton B. Baker, former Secretary of War in the Wilson cabinet, placed James N. Cox, former Governor of Ohio, in nomination at to-day's session of the National Democratic Convention.

THE ONTARIO PLEBISCITE.
TORONTO, June 27. The Telegram this evening has the following: "The plebiscite on the Ontario Temperance Act is now said to be scheduled for October. The 'wets' want it on Friday, Oct. 3, while the 'drys' want it Monday, October 6, so that church goers can go to the polls with the exhortations of their Ministers still fresh in their minds." Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, this evening stated he had heard nothing regarding the probable date of the plebiscite, adding there had been no cabinet council to-day.

P.O. WORKERS REJECT GOVERNMENT'S OFFER.
TORONTO, June 27. Rejection by the local striking Postal workers yesterday of the Government's offer of June 18th, of a subcommittee to investigate the differences between the men and the Dominion authorities, was followed up, an additional number of substitute workers whose names have been placed on the "accepted list." A limited letter carrier service was inaugurated this morning in the eastern sections of the city. The men were not escorted when they commenced their rounds. The strikers reiterate they will not return to work unless taken back in a body, each man to receive his former position and former wages and without losing seniority or pension status. Despite efforts of local officials to effect a distribution of mail, the situation is extremely serious, especially to business houses.

B.C. ELECTION RESULTS.
QUEBEC, B.C., June 27. With but one small poll to report, the standing of candidates in Caribou Provincial Riding is Stoddart, Provincial, 368; Liberal, 319; and Fraser, Conservative, 318.

CANADA'S FAVOURABLE TRADE BALANCE.
OTTAWA, June 27. Canada has favorable trade balance of nearly $200,000,000 for the twelve months ending May 31. During that period Canadian products imported here were worth $1,069,715,880. The imports totalled $879,367,957. The duty totalled $132,866,403.

STRIKERS RETURNING TREATED AS NEW EMPLOYEES.
OTTAWA, June 27. Hon. Charles Stewart, Acting Postmaster General reiterated last night that the Government has not made any new offers to the striking Postal workers since June 18, when the proposals were made to the Men's Executive on the eve of the strike. Those proposals will stand, Mr. Stewart outlined in the House of Commons yesterday, so far as employees of the Government are concerned. The strikers, however, are regarded as having ceased to be members of the service, but there is no barrier to their being taken back to work if various Postmasters can find room for them. But they will come back as new employees, and the Government does not see its way to treat them as strikers or while they are not employees of Post Office Department.

Let this fresh natural food bring back your health

The example illustrated here is typical of thousands of similar tributes to Fleischmann's Yeast.

There is nothing mysterious about its action. It is not a "cure-all," not a medicine in any sense. But when the body is choked with the poisons of constipation—or when its vitality is low, so that the skin, stomach and general health are affected—this simple, natural food achieves literally amazing results.

Concentrated in every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast are millions of tiny yeast-plants, alive and active. At once they go to work—invigorating the whole system, clearing the skin, aiding digestion, strengthening the intestinal muscles and making them healthy and active.

Dissolve one cake in a glass of water (Just hot enough to drink)

—before breakfast and at bedtime. Fleischmann's Yeast, when taken this way, is especially effective in overcoming or preventing constipation. Or eat 2 or 3 cakes a day—spread on bread or crackers—dissolved in fruit juices or milk—or eat it plain. Write us for further information or let us send you a free copy of our latest booklet on Yeast for Health. Address: The Fleischmann Company, 201 Duckworth Street, St. John's, N.F.

"A complete nervous breakdown with severe attacks of heart failure—the latter caused by acute indigestion—wrecked me mentally and physically. Vaguely I realized that during my lifelong diet of devalitized food I had been practically digging my own grave with my knife and fork. Then I began eating Fleischmann's Yeast Cakes. That was three years ago, and I am still eating them. My digestion is normal, my brain active and clear, and all those various aches and pains of a lifetime have disappeared." (A letter from a New Jersey Mechanical Engineer, Mr. Frank M. Spencer.)

Bay Bulls Notes

A NOVEL EXPERIMENT.
The nearby settlement of Bay Bulls is rapidly growing to be a favorite resort for holiday seekers, after open waters and beautiful scenery. Parties come by motor bus and train to the excellent fishing ponds in the vicinity, and many of them stray down to enjoy its cool grass-bordered lanes and the whole-hearted hospitality of its people. One regrettable thing, the first to strike the visitor, is the fine unoccupied premises known as "The Plant." This, a few years ago, was a hive of industry under the energetic management of Mr. John Clouston of St. John's. Shredded fish and fish meal in many attractive forms were put up, fish fertilizer and other by-products were handled with skill and gave employment to many men and girls of this harbor. What's the matter? It's a long time now since we heard that wane shibboleth "Business as usual."
The precariousness of the fisherman's toil, its uncertainty, its risks, its disheartening and then its sudden turn towards bright and hope inspiring prospects, can be noted in the happenings of 48 hours. During the high winds and strong tides of last week several traps came in for hard usage, one was dragged and sank to the bottom, buoys broken, and the tangle that drift-twined and a racing tide produce met the owners, Messrs. Bumpert and Joseph Williams when they went to overhaul. It is in such stress as this that the brotherhood of the sea manifest itself, the Packs, the Gathers, Richard Williams and others were on the spot to render hearty assistance to their friends in need. Neighbourly acts like this amount to heroic charity, for those men had traps and trawls of their own to see to yet stood by with help that heartened. One of Mr. Gerald Williams' traps had a slight mishap that was fixed up in an evening, and the next morning rewarded its owner with 40 quills prime fish. There is a good sign all round and we hope before many days all shall be deep in the gurry of well filled trap skiffs.
The three masted schooner Freedom, Cape W. Noseworthy, salt laden from Turks Island to Mr. Ambrose Hearn, is discharging at that merchant's wharf, and is surrounded by many small boats and craft that are taking supplies to all parts of the Southern Shore. On this premise a most interesting experiment is going on. The vessel, each with a capacity of 12 hundred gallons, which sea water is kept in continuous circulation are stocked with live cod fish; one tank is completely covered in the other open. Mr. Hearn is conducting this experiment under the direction of an American Piscatorial College and is endeavoring to ascertain the effect of environment and of certain foods on the vitamine producing qualities of our codfish. A professor is to arrive here in July to test the results obtained. All this shows what concentrating interest medical science is taking in Newfoundland cod liver oil and should be an incentive to those in the business to produce the best. We are glad to be able to state here that Bay Bulls carried off the trophy for this world famed article of our commerce last year, Mr. Gerard Williams being awarded the coveted prize medal.
The Rev. P. O'Brien, our progressive parish priest and veteran boat builder, is still "on the job," he is now constructing a 96 foot yacht which he hopes will eclipse all his former triumphs. She is built on lines of his own invention, lines that have revolutionized ship building since their introduction to naval architecture some of the largest ships afloat being built from this design. And now note this, ye who have been approached so many times about it, a much needed public utility now in demand is a wharf on the north side of the harbor. The old public wharf is gone by the board, if it were not for the courtesy of those in charge of "The Plant" the men of this place would be sadly handicapped, having nowhere to land their nets when accidents like those mentioned above (and they are always liable to happen). Let the next thing undertaken be a new wharf on the site of the old one.

Corner Brook Jottings

On Saturday evening a dance was given by Sir Glyn West and Lady West, at the Glynmill Inn, on the occasion of the visit of His Excellency the Governor and Miss Allaryce. Over a hundred employees and their wives and families enjoyed a very pleasant evening.
Sir Glyn West welcomed the Governor to the new hotel. The Governor responded and said he was greatly interested in the huge works now being developed in Corner Brook and hoped to make many more visits to such a beautiful spot. At the present rate of progress he said he thought that Corner Brook would be one of the biggest towns on the Island in a few years. Mr. John Stodden, the general manager of the Newfoundland Power & Paper Co., also welcomed the Governor and Sir Glyn and Lady West, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the work now in the course of its minor stages and impressed upon all present the necessity for co-operation on the part of all employees if the mill was to be in operation by next year.
The Hotel is now open and many visitors are being catered to.

Lifetimes at Law

ROMANTIC CLAIMS TO VAST ESTATES.
An eighty-two-year-old lawsuit has just been settled in Italy. It was started in 1841 by a man who claimed about $4,000,000 from the State on account of land which he alleged really belonged to one of his ancestors. Judgment has now been given against the claim, but the original claimant died long ago.
A Greek marriage in 1840 resulted in a lawsuit which extended over thirty-five years. The husband, later on, repudiated his wife and child, and married again. At his death the son by the second marriage took possession of his father's estate. He alleged that his half-sister was illegitimate.
She then instituted the lawsuit which was finally decided only a short time ago. The court held that the father's first marriage was legal, and that the daughter is entitled to the estate of $30,000. The latter is now eighty years of age.
Age-Long Legal Battles.
In another case, lasting over half a century, both the principals and all the witnesses died before the settlement. The proceedings involved a claim to the land on which stands a flourishing American town. After fifty years of litigation a verdict was given in favour of the sixty-year-old daughter of the original claimant. She thus became worth $120,000.
All these cases are infants compared with a lawsuit which extended over five centuries. It was a claim for the stupendous sum of $207,000,000, and was made by the heirs of an Italian aristocrat whose possessions had been confiscated by the State in the sixteenth century. The claimants argued that the confiscation was illegal, but eventually the Naples Appeal Court decided against them.

Opening a Way to Development

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—The people of St. George's District have at last awakened to the fact that public utilities are not meant for the few but should be used for the public in general. The fault perhaps lies more with the powers that have been than with the people themselves. St. George's District is perhaps to-day more in the public eye than any other district in the country because of the vast possibilities of the Hamber project.
We have here the making of a great shipping port, sheltered from all winds and capable of admitting the largest ships in a sum of fifty thousand dollars were spent on dredging the lower channel from the leading lights out. Inside the channel we have from sixteen to twenty-five feet of water. In the channel itself the depth is from fourteen to twenty-four feet.
All the valuable minerals of this section of the country—coal, iron and gypsum also the timber resources of this District suffer for want of a harbor. It is well known to many active mining men and to parties interested in the timber resources of this District that these industries cannot thrive without a proper shipping port and all business deals in connection with same have been turned down on that account. Only recently a proper survey of the channel and harbor was made, thanks to the enterprise of the principal owner of the iron and gypsum properties in this section of the country. The parties interested have spent many thousands of dollars on these properties and we understand developments on a large scale are about to be undertaken.
Quite a few copies of the survey of the harbor have been distributed amongst our leading men, and public interest has at last been awakened to the future possibilities of St. George's. It is now up to our people to see that there will be a suitable shipping port between Port aux Basques and Bay of Islands so that the vast resources of this section of the country will not be retarded any longer. We have every faith in our new Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe, and to his able representative, Mr. Power, to see that Capt. W. Winsor, our able Minister of Marine and Fisheries who knows the need of good harbors to the fishermen, and who will see that St. George's will get a square deal.
The writer will in a later issue go more particularly into the immense possibilities of St. George's with regard to its mining and timber resources. Thanking you for space.
Yours truly,
ADVANCE.

his brow. He still kept glancing out at the daylight filtering through the dusty windows. At last the police officer took the trouble casually to look out at the fading light.
Opposite the station was a cinema, and the picture advertised in flamboyant letters was, "The Wages of Sin." The prisoner confessed. What is that but the luck of the police?
Two police officers were travelling in a motor car one sunny afternoon through Highgate, when they spotted a well-known burglar taking the air. Now that particular crook was never in the habit of taking the air in Highgate, living, as he did, in Twickenham. But when they stopped the car at a convenient corner and searched for their man he had vanished.
Before dawn next day they were warned of a burglary of jewellery valued at over $5,000—in Highgate! And, with no word to their superiors, they went to Twickenham before that suburb was awake, and burst into the bedroom of the man they had casually spotted the night before.
He woke to the shaking of one of the officers, and exclaimed, "You ain't half early on this 'ere job."
The flash of a diamond in the thief's dressing-gown of this man's wife revealed the hiding place of the jewellery stolen from Highgate the night before. The luck of the police.

If it were not that luck favours the law rather often than the wrong-doer, many men would be free-to-day who are serving imprisonment for crimes they undoubtedly planned and committed.

ADVERTISE IN THE EVENING TELEGRAM.

The Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Co., Ltd.

For many years the Liverpool & London & Globe Insurance Company has occupied a conspicuous position among the great British Composite Offices. This position is further enhanced by the results shown in the Company's annual report for the year 1923, and a total income for premium and interest exceeding the huge sum of fifty million dollars. In respect to volume of business transacted, the accounts show an increase in net premiums of an amount exceeding five million dollars, which is no small tribute to the Company's organization. The marked progress made in recent years by the Liverpool & London & Globe is clearly indicated by the fact that during the past ten years its income has increased from approximately $25,000,000.00 to over $50,000,000.00 for the year under review. Referring to the vigour of British insurance institutions, Mr. A. K. Barnes, Chairman at the Annual Meeting, drew attention to a report of the Committee of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners of the United States in which the following striking statement occurs which we quote verbatim:—

The committee in contrasting the so-called British system with the so-called American system is impressed that at a time, during the world war, when Great Britain was financially hard pressed, and the centre of the world's business had passed to the United States, at no time did the centre of the insurance business pass from Great Britain.

Fire Department.

The Fire Department of the Liverpool & London & Globe continues to be a pre-dominant factor in point of premium income. Net premiums amounting to $23,000,000.00 as compared with $21,000,000.00 in 1922 show an increase of $2,000,000.00 for the year. Associated with this substantial growth was a loss ratio of 49.72 per cent. After providing for all expenses, the surplus on the year's trading amounts to $2,250,000.00, of which amount over $1,000,000.00 was added to reserve for unexpired risks, bringing the fire reserve up to $16,000,000.00.

Accident Department.

The Company's accident branch, transacting the various lines of miscellaneous insurance, made notable progress last year. Net premium income amounted to $19,000,000.00, or an increase of $2,250,000.00 as compared with 1922. An advance in the loss ratio from 53.45 per cent. in 1922 to 56.37 per cent. in 1923 is mainly due to an unfavourable experience in the United States in the Workmen's Compensation business, the outcome of inadequate rating, an experience shared in by other Companies. This department contributed $395,000.00 to Profit and Loss Account. The total amount transferred to Profit and Loss from all departments, (including interest of $1,951,300.00) was $3,860,000.00. To this may be added $1,115,000.00 balance of profit and loss brought forward from 1922, making a total of $4,975,300.00. After transferring $250,000 to staff pension fund and providing for dividends, etc., the balance at Profit and Loss account amounted to $2,431,695.00.

Canadian Branch.

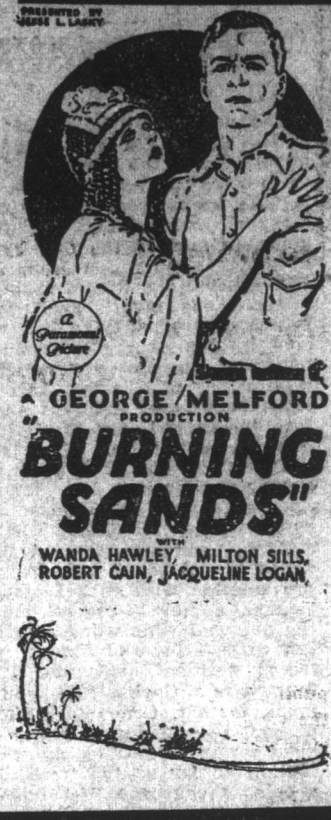

The fire insurance business of the Liverpool & London & Globe in Canada has become very extensive, and the Company's favourable loss record for some years may be considered most gratifying, and the result of careful underwriting. Mr. Lewis Lang, who assumed the management for Canada last year, had been associated with the Company's underwriting in the Dominion as assistant manager for some years previously, and it is a matter for congratulation to note that while maintaining its premium income, the loss ratio for 1923 of the Liverpool & London & Globe at 55.29 per cent. was one of the most favourable experienced by any British Company, and about nine points below the average for all Companies operating in Canada. The total premium of the L. and L. and Globe, and its affiliated Companies in the Dominion last year amounted to $3,214,822 including $928,497 representing Casualty Insurance premiums of the Globe Indemnity Company of Canada, which Company under the management of Mr. F. C. Browning (who is also its President) has made excellent progress.

The above article having reference to the activities of the Liverpool & London & Globe, known as the great Fire Insurance Company of the world, will we are sure, be read with a considerable amount of interest by the numerous policy holders of this well known Company in Newfoundland. Messrs. Bowring Brothers, Limited are the Agents for this Company, and needless to say that as far as this country is concerned, they lead all other Offices in point of premiums and fire business written. "BURNING SANDS"

A man's answer to the woman who wrote "THE SHEIK" featuring Wanda Hawley, Milton Sills, Robert Cain and Albert Roscoe

When a titled English beauty sweeps away convention to pursue the man she loves—When her daring leads her into the burning Sahara, into Arabian dance revels and treachery, through tingling adventure and breathless romance—No wonder her story makes a picture ten times more startling than "The Sheik."

MR. BEN REDDIN, a celebrated Tenor, direct from Boston, arrived by S.S. Silvia to-day, and will appear at the Majestic to-night.

- THE CAST:
- Muriel Blair, an English girl Wanda Hawley
 - Daniel Lane, a philosopher Milton Sills
 - Kate Bindane, Muriel's friend Louise Dresser
 - Lizette, a dancer Jacqueline Logan
 - Robert Barthampton, an English official Robert Cain
 - Mr. Bindane Fenwick Oliver
 - Governor Winter Hall
 - Secretary Harris Gordon

A Spot of Historic Association

Dear Sir—It does not appear to be generally known, or if known, not fully appreciated, that the place where the King's Monument stands, on the King's Beach, has been sacred ground for nearly two centuries and a half. On, or near, this spot on which this monument was erected to the memory of those who fought and died to uphold the integrity of the British Empire was that same Empire officially begun. In 1683, Sir Humphrey Gilbert stood on what has since been called King's Beach and read his commission from Queen Elizabeth, empowering him to take in her name formal possession of the new found land. The ceremony was known to English law as per le verge next took place. A piece of turf and a twig or rod (verge) was handed to Sir Humphrey. The Royal Arms, cut in lead, were affixed to a post, a salute was fired and the flag of England was raised on a flagpole. The Cross of St. George, and with it those of St. Patrick and St. Andrew, still flies daily on that spot and has been floating to the breeze every working day, without hardly a break, for over a hundred and fifty years. The Customs flag flies to-day near where the British flag was first officially hoisted in the "British Dominions beyond the seas"—to use the expression found in His Majesty's official title. On the old Fortugal Cove Road, there stood, until quite recently, a building known as Friendly Hall. This house was erected by the first regular Customs official stationed at St. John's. Duties had been collected here in the time of Queen Elizabeth, but the regular collection began about a century and a half ago. The first regular Customs officer here was a subordinate of the Collector of Customs for the Port of Boston. The Royal Arms, the Lion and the Unicorn, are still to be seen on the old Custom House in Boston.

A Beautiful Casket

On July 1st the St. John's Municipal Council will present Field Marshal Earl Haig with an address, giving him the Freedom of the City. The address will be enclosed in a beautiful casket, which is being made by the firm of J. T. Lamb. The casket is of solid silver and is encircled by a Grecian border. This border is a pattern from the iron railing surrounding the Monument which the Marshal will unveil. On the front is an enameled crest of the Municipality. Mr. Lamb may well feel proud of this crest, for it not improve upon it. The ornamental design on the cover is a Caribou Head, and the engraving: "To Field Marshal Earl Haig, K.T., G.C.B., O.M., G.C.V.O., K.C.I.E., from the City of St. John's, Newfoundland, July 1st, 1924."

The dimensions of the casket are as follows: Length, 10 in.; width, 3 1/2 in.; depth, 1 1/2 in.; height, 6 in., with Caribou Head, and 3 in. without. Weight of the whole, 27 ounces. As Mr. Lamb has no machinery for turning out this sort of work, he has had to do it all by hand, and it will be a lasting memorial to the ability of his firm. He has turned out what is without doubt the most exquisite piece of workmanship ever produced in this country, and we hope it is only a forerunner of many such works of art. We sincerely congratulate Mr. Lamb on his achievement.

DEDICATED TO THE FORGET-ME-NOT APPEAL
"FORGET ME NOT"

(By CAPT. JACK TURNER, M.C.)

Along the far-dung battle line;
Reneath the Seven Seas;
Our Brothers should be sleeping sound.
But they have little ease.
For, in the quiet of the grave,
They know, and well they know,
That we, to whom the torch was passed,
Have left the torch burn low.

Do they sleep sound, our dead? Or do they know
How stands to-day the land they died to save.
That land for which they were right glad to go
And hurl their youth into a bloody grave—
Can they sleep, when the freedom that their blood
Bought dearly, has by lesser men been sold?
The truth they died for trampled in the mud?
Their country's name bartered for Judas gold?

Happy indeed are they, our gallant dead,
If they can never feel the blash of shame,
Or see their comrades stand with hanging head,
While tongues of stragglers mock our Country's name.
Perhaps Death's gentle hand has sealed their eyes
So they see nothing—Or perhaps they know
How highly now we hold their sacrifice,
And how the torch they passed us is burned low.

Best of our breed were those who died, but we
Are kin to those who lie where poppies blow—
We, who have fought to keep our country free;
We, who have faced and crushed a foreign foe;
Blood of our blood—bone of our bone—were they
Who left us, gay and gallant, and are passed
To that last muster. 'Tis for us, who stay,
To keep their honour stainless to the last.

All that they had they gave, and we who live—
Brothers of those who died—can do no less.
Think you, if they were here, they would not give
Their lives again to save from filthiness
The Land they loved and died for? Can we think
They sleep, unmindful for their country's fame
While we allow the torch's light to sink—
Torch that they passed us!—in the dark of shame?

They are not dead—for while we live, the soul
Of the Old Army lives in us, so we Must hold the Line again, preserving whole
The faith of those who died to keep us free.
They are not dead. They stand with us to-day
Shoulder to shoulder as they stood before;
In the grim fight that lies before us, they March side by side with us for evermore.

So sound "Fall In!" The Regiment moves again;
Again, back to the wall, our Country calls.
Sore is her need to-day for gallant men,
To save her from the foe within her walls.
We lift the burning torch again, it's light
Shines through the cloud of shame that lies so deep
Upon our Country's honour. One last fight
And—that fight won—our gallant dead may sleep.

Let the word pass to every grave
Where Newfoundlanders lie—
"The Regiment's on the march again,
"The torch is burning high;
"She'll stand forth clean and free from
"That land that you loved best;
"Her name, now dimmed, will shine again,
"So, Comrades, take your rest."

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS.
In response to the request for the use of cars to drive disabled ex-service men to the Unveiling Ceremonies on Tuesday morning, the Executive of the Association is pleased to state that more than twice the number of cars required have been offered. Members who have offered their cars and who have not been communicated with, will therefore, kindly accept the appreciation of the Association—and understand that it will not be necessary to call upon them.
Members driving disabled men will kindly note that it is the wish of the G.W.V.A. to have the men in their place (steps on "J. V. O'Den side" of Custom House Hill) not later than ten o'clock on Tuesday morning. In regard to the traffic regulations, the Inspector General has issued special instructions to his men that cars containing disabled and sick ex-service men only, may proceed East on Water Street to the foot of these steps and may then park on King's Wharf till the ceremonies are over.

Another Suspension at Customs
The shaking up at the Customs began a short while ago with the suspension of four officials, is proceeding and a stringent observance of the regulations is being enforced. The firm of Reid Son & Watson was called on yesterday to go into some accounts. An official of long standing was suspended yesterday. As far as can be learned the calling in of the chartered accountants has nothing to do with the suspensions.

Hr. Grace Will Come Into Its Own Again

VOTERS OF THE SECOND CITY WILL RETURN BENNETT AND RUSSELL.

The proud and delightful old city of Hr. Grace, the second in point of importance in the island, is determined to come into its own again by holding the last to its representatives in the Monroe Government. Hr. Grace is going to answer the call by polling a bigger victory for Hon. John R. Bennett and Mr. Russell than that registered one month ago. With the return of prosperity to the whole island by the progressive and honest policy of the new government, Hr. Grace will be the sharers in all these benefits of progress and therefor its capital city Hr. Grace will likewise participate. What is said of the Bay and the city of Hr. Grace proper applies to a like measure in Spanish Bay, Bay Roberts and other sections of the district. Hr. Grace district is not going to turn down two substantial heads and executive representation with such a strong government as now in control, just to suit the personal whims and caprices of a few disgruntled and disgraced defeated political aspirants. The past four years of Coaker rule has been too much for Hr. Grace and four years without representation in the Government would be nothing short of criminal in so far as the welfare of the people is concerned. A continuance of such a situation as that being since 1918 for another four years to come would mean untold distress to the people. Four years more of Coaker mismanagement would have meant that what little is left to hope for would in that period vanish. One by one its remaining business establishments would drop out of sight. Its remaining local industries would suffer for want of an outlet for their output and in short property holders would find their all decreasing gradually, with the sure result that in the course of a few years all the young men and women would have left the old homesteads to seek a living elsewhere. The Monroe Government make no idle promises in assuring the people otherwise. A policy of progressive honest administration contentment has already manifested itself throughout the island and it is up to the people of Hr. Grace to endorse and support such a policy. The voters of Hr. Grace have an important duty to perform on polling day with the outlook before them. Prosperity on the one side and desolation on the other. It would be insulting the intelligence of the voters of this district to ask which they will take. His- tory has already manifested itself in the manner by electing with increased majorities Hon. John R. Bennett, Colonial Secretary and Hon. Russell, Minister of Public Works. By so doing the people of Hr. Grace will still further strengthen the administration of Honourable Walter S. Monaghan and Russell.

The slogan is big victories for Bennett and Russell.

Proceedings of the Diocesan Synod

FRIDAY, June 27.

The Session opened at 11 o'clock the Prayer having been read by the President and the Minutes of yesterday's session read and approved, the House proceeded to business.

Rev. Canon Bolt moved the third reading of the bill to amend Chapter XVII "Home and Foreign Mission Fund" of the Constitution and Rules of the Synod. The motion on being seconded, the Synod agreed.

Rev. Canon Bolt presented the report of the Select Committee appointed at Thursday's session to select names to serve on the Standing Committee of the Synod. On motion put and carried the suggested list of members of Board of Directors of the Church of England College be left over until a later session. The other lists were then approved, as follows:

Standing Committee on Education—His Lordship the Bishop, Rev. Canon Bolt, M.A., D.C.L., Rev. Canon Field, Rev. Canon Smart, Rev. A. T. Tulk, Rev. N. S. Fahey, M.A., L.L.D., Rev. J. B. Elliott, W. W. Blackall, B.A., D.C.L., Supt. of Education; S. C. Thompson, Esq., Asst. Supt. of Education, Sir W. H. Horwood, Esq., C.J., G. J. Adams, Esq., J. A. Winter, Esq., Hon. J. R. Bennett, C. E. Hunt, Esq., Lt. Collier, Esq.

Board of Managers of the Systematization Fund—L. C. Outerbridge, Esq., Sir E. R. Bowring, Hon. W. S. Monroe.

Literature Committee—Rev. Canon Bolt, M.A., D.C.L., Rev. A. B. Stirling, Rev. J. Brinton, Rev. J. B. Elliott, Rev. H. L. Pike, L.T.L., Rev. H. W. Facey, B.A., L.T.L., Rev. E. W. Bishop, L.T.L., Hon. R. Watson, C. McK. Harvey, Esq., C. E. Hunt, Esq., Herbert Outerbridge, Esq., Lt. Collier, Esq.

Diocesan Board of Religious Education—Rev. E. J. Nichols, Rev. A. T. Tulk, Rev. J. B. Elliott, Rev. E. A. L. Donaldson, Lt. Collier, Esq., J. G. Hodder, Esq., H. Y. Mott, Esq.

Auditors—Thomas W. Collingwood, Hon. J. J. Long.

Rev. E. A. Butler moved the following resolution of which he had given notice the previous day:

"That the Executive Committee be instructed to procure a series of plans as a guide for the clergy and their congregations in the erection of churches."

On being seconded, the House agreed.

Rev. Canon Bayly moved the following resolution of which he had previously given notice:—

"That in the discretion of the Executive Committee the whole or portion of the one-tenth of the Home and Foreign Mission Fund to be devoted to overseas Missions be given in alternate years to the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge and Society for the Propagation of the Gospel."

The motion being seconded, the Synod agreed.

The Rev. F. P. Law having given notice moved the following resolution:—

"That the stipends of all Mission Priests, provided that the fund do not permit the payment of the minimum stipend laid down by the Synod, bear some more equal and equitable relation to the years of service performed, and that no stipend shall be reduced unless the Priest of the Mission be proved, by constitutional procedure, negligent in the raising of the assessment."

At the closing hour the debate on motion duly seconded was adjourned. It was moved, seconded and carried that the House adjourns until 7.30.

EVENING SESSION.

The House resumed at 7.30. Prayers were read by the President, and the Synod proceeded to business.

Rev. Canon Bolt presented the report of the Select Committee appointed at the last Synod to consider and report on the invitation of the Provincial Synod of Canada. The report intimated that the committee had recently met and agreed to ask the Archbishop of Nova Scotia, as representing the delegation of the General Synod, appointed to visit this Diocese, to state the utmost advantages to be derived from the union of this Diocese with the Church in Canada as requested in 1916, according to the Bishop's address to the Synod of that year, and the Committee ask that they be re-appointed to continue their enquiries and to report to the next Synod.

On motion duly seconded the report was received and adopted.

Rev. Canon Smart presented through the Synod to Rev. Dr. Facey, Principal of Queen's College a cheque for $210.00 for the Canon Smith Memorial Studentship, which he had raised from friends and well-wishers of the memory of the late Canon Smith, one of the distinguished Alumni of Queen's College. Rev. Dr. Facey on behalf of the College thanked Canon Smart for this late effort on behalf of the funds of the College, and spoke of the encouragement that it afforded to the authorities of the College who were struggling to place the institution on a firm financial basis.

The House resumed its discussion of the Resolution proposed in the morning session by Rev. F. P. Law. It was pointed out that as this resolution amounted to an amendment to Chapter XVI of the Constitution and Rules, it would be necessary to bring in a Bill. Mr. Law consented to do this and withdrew his amendment and asked leave to introduce a Bill. Leave was granted.

Rev. Canon Smart moved a resolution that in future all salaries be paid monthly instead of quarterly as heretofore. On being seconded the House agreed.

Rev. E. A. Tulk, R.D., of Avalon moved a resolution of which he had given notice yesterday that his Lordship the Bishop be asked to appoint a committee to take into consideration the matter of obtaining a Mission of Help to this Diocese.

On being seconded this was agreed. Rev. Gordon Elliott moved a resolution of which he had previously given notice that a Special Committee be appointed to obtain data and formulate some form of insurance scheme upon the plan known as the "mutual" plan, and report at next Synod. On being seconded this was agreed.

The Rev. Canon Bolt read to the Synod the following letter of resignation from the Methodist Conference at present sitting in the city:

Gover St. Church,
St. John's, June 27th.

The Rev. Canon Bolt.
Anglican Synod.
Dear Canon Bolt.—The enclosed message to the Synod was unanimously adopted this morning by a standing vote of the Conference, and I am instructed by the Conference to forward the same to you for presentation to the Synod.

The Conference would have had its greetings conveyed by deputation but for the fact that its members have very valuable the time of the Synod. Will you kindly have the resolution submitted to the Synod.

With kindest regards,
Signed on behalf of the Conference,
HARRY G. COPPIN,
Secretary of Conference.

"WHEREAS the Anglican Synod and the Methodist Conference are at the present time holding their regular sessions in this city; and

"WHEREAS historically and in their spheres of operation, as well as in all the great essentials of our holy religion, the relationships between these two bodies are very intimate and very real."

"BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the Conference embrace this opportunity of extending to the Anglican Synod most cordial Christian greetings with the assurance that the Conference rejoice most heartily in the splendid contribution made in the past by the Anglican Synod to the extension of the Kingdom of Our Divine Lord in Newfoundland, and wishes these honoured representatives of a great Church continued and more abundant success in years to come."

His Lordship the Bishop on behalf of the Synod expressed an appreciation of these fraternal greetings and appointed the following as a Special Committee to draft a suitable reply: Rev. F. P. Law, Canon Bayly, Canon Bolt, H. W. Facey, and R. G. MacDonald, Esq.

Rev. Canon Bolt moved the following list of names as the proposed Directors of the Church of England College, which had been deferred from the morning session, being seconded the House agreed:

Board of Directors of C. of E. College—His Lordship the Bishop, Rev. Canon Bolt, M.A., D.C.L., Rev. Canon Smart, M.A., Rev. N. S. Fahey, M.A., L.L.D., Rev. A. B. Stirling, Rev. A. E. Tulk, Rev. J. B. Elliott, Rev. E. J. R. Nichols, E. A. Bowring, Esq., L. C. Outerbridge, Esq., G. R. Williams, Esq., T. Anderson, M.D., T. A. Hall, Esq., W. K. Chambers, Esq., C. E. A. Jeffrey, Esq., R. Gordon Winter, Esq., H. A. Winter, Esq., Dr. Barnes, Hon. T. Cook, Chas. E. Hunt, Esq., P. H. Knowling, Esq., J. K. Bursell, Esq., A. H. Carnell, Esq. M.D., Hon. Jos. J. Long, Frank E. Rendell, Esq.

At 9 p.m. the House proceeded to the election of the Executive Committee, and His Lordship appointed the following gentlemen as scrutineers: Messrs. W. J. Martin, G. Hann and J. P. Luncombe.

Mr. C. E. Hunt asked permission to announce that the lay delegates of the city wished to invite the lay delegates from the outports to a Luncheon in the Striding Restaurant tomorrow, Saturday at one o'clock, and hoped that this gathering may be fruitful of results on behalf of the welfare of the Church.

Rev. Canon Smart moved the following resolution of which he had given notice at yesterday's session:—

"Arising out of His Lordship the Bishop's address this Synod desires to place on record an emphatic protest against the use of the wheel of fortune or any other device on the same principle in any effort to raise money for the Church of any institution under the name of the Church." On being seconded the Synod agreed.

The scrutineers having returned to the House, His Lordship the Bishop announced the results of the election of the Executive Committee as follows:—His Lordship the Bishop, ex-officio, Rev. Canon Bolt, M.A., D.C.L., Rev. Canon Smart, Rev. Canon Smart, M.A., Rev. Canon Bayly, M.A., Rev. Dr. Facey, Rev. A. B. Stirling, Rev. E. J. R. Nichols, Rev. J. Brinton, Sir W. H. Horwood, W. W. Blackall, B.A., D.C.L., Hon. A. R. Morison, Hon. John B. Bennett, Sir M. G. Winter, L. C. Outerbridge, Esq., C. E. Hunt, Esq., Eric Bowring, Esq.

Rev. F. P. Law moved that his bill of which he had given notice previously to amend Chapter XVI of the Constitution and Rules of the Synod be read a first time. On being seconded the House agreed.

On motion duly seconded the House adjourned until 3.30 p.m. to-day.

Methodist Conference

FRIDAY, June 27.

Every woman connected with Conference must have awakened yesterday morning with a happy little smile and an extra thought about the hatbox and the clothes-press. Were they not going to a gay party and were they not to meet that gracious worker for the public good, Lady Allardyce.

"Probably His Majesty's representative should have been mentioned first; but a little humour is a useful thing. The men of the Conference, both ministerial and lay, would perhaps have mingled feelings. Denominational differences are liable to crystallize into social reparations. The greatly appreciated courtesy of his Excellency was perhaps also an inspiration. Yes there is an underlying unity. There are world movements that seek to bring that underlying unity to realization in outward form also.

The following is the resolution ordered Thursday and carried unanimously by standing vote.

WHEREAS the Anglican Synod and the Methodist Conference are at the present time holding their regular sessions in this city; and

WHEREAS historically and in their spheres of operation, as well as in all the great essentials of our holy Religion, the relationships between these two bodies are very intimate and very real;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that the Conference embraces this opportunity of extending to the Anglican Synod most cordial Christian Greetings with the assurance that the Conference rejoices most heartily in the splendid contribution made in the past by the Anglican Synod to the extension of the Kingdom of our Divine Lord in Newfoundland, and wishes these honoured representatives of a great Church continued and more abundant success in years to come.

Mr. Strohard, speaking on Ephesians 3: 14, opened with an arresting reference to the Mt. Sagami and the Clara Camus and the narrowly averted tragedy. Such is life. Such were the crises in the life of Paul. Mr. Strohard is a fine type of sympathetic preacher. His high passages are strong. The familiar passages are convincing. A public speaker with as great a variety of tone and manner must run into some faults. The quiet tone was a little too low to be well heard. The note was Courage, brother, do not stumble. Though the path be dark as night There's a star to guide the humble Trust in God and do the right. Let the road be rough and dreary And the end far out of sight. Foot it bravely, strong or weary Trust in God and do the right.

The future belongs to those who accept the facts of life and face them. The supreme fact of life is Christ; so the future belongs to the followers of Christ. The miracles that astounded the preacher, he said, were not those of the New Testament but those of the transformation of human character today through the blood of Jesus Christ.

Business will always go farther and smoother for the hours spent in such an atmosphere as Mr. Strohard was able to create, for Christian men are the World's Bibles. It is not the thrust of thought that wins men but the possession of the life of Christ. The reporter was afraid the talk was going to anti-climax but the illustration regarding The Hand of the Master Musician was worth waiting a long time for.

Dr. Heartz, 60 years in the active work, 40 years in the General Board of Missions, was introduced to the Conference, 45 years ago for a few hours. Dr. Heartz was a visitor at the Newfoundland Conference. Only Mr. Swan and Mr. Harris were present of those in Conference that day. But remembering the 11th Beatitude "Blessed is he who speaketh briefly for he will be invited to come again," the Doctor who was to speak again at night and this morning, took his seat.

Rev. Sam Soper fired the Conference with his tales of the devotion of the Chinese native Christians.

There was L.—great, kindly, learned and good, a Spurgeon and a Moody combined, but now of the Church triumphant.

There was R.—a peacemaker who had power to quell the violence of mobs and heal the acerbity of strikes and command the love of multitudes.

Rev. Walter Milson, travelling Secretary of the Social Service Department, was introduced to Conference. He looks like a prosperous American Congressman. He talks like Mark Twain. The most dramatic situation of the Conference developed as he told of his call to the Ministry. An orphan boy just beginning to teach school drifted into the funeral service of the late George Boyd in the city of London, Ontario who was cut down in his prime. He heard the challenge of the funeral preacher that some young man in the audience would take Mr. Boyd's place, and passing for a moment as he passed the bier he promised to be the man.

Rev. Mr. Power was introduced. Mr. Power is a logician. He was able to electrify his hearers with at least one flash of delightful humour. He left a most felicitous impression and Dr. Fenwick created great amusement by suggesting that Mr. Power brings out and enriches in a surprising way the flavor of the food.

would be a future President of the Conference.

Now God save the King and bless his representatives. The Garden of Government House was delightful. Its genial occupant and his well loved lady welcomed the guests' assist by the Rt. Rev. the Bishop of Newfoundland and Rev. Ezra Broughton the President of the Conference. Any lurking fears as to the atmosphere of the intercourse of the day were instantly banished. It was charming to note the countless happy greetings which leaped spontaneously across the imaginary denominational barrier.

EVENING SERVICE.

Did you ever go into a Church and see a staff of eight on the platform. That is a small platform for a political meeting. It used to be the usual platform for a Methodist Missionary Meeting. May the days of that enthusiasm be renewed.

Dr. Curtis soon returned to the floor but not until he had offered a truly sacrificial prayer. Almost at once Soper of China gripped his audience as he talked of the 40 days of a Chinese year in which 30,000 students changed the course of their national history from which grew a Japanese student movement which worked overnight a bloodless revolution in Japan also.

The ear noted the constant repetition of one or two forms of speech and unusual words but not of them as little as the traveller notes the click of the rail joints as his fast express crashes across a continent. The corn of wheat has fallen into the ground. Shall it abide alone? The lads of a Chinese city marched with him to the gate in farewell singing—"All hail the power of Jesus Name" Will the young men of Newfoundland Methodist fill at once the ten vacancies which confront the Stationing Committee.

Some one called Dr. Darby a specialist in prayer. It is not greatest reputation that any Christian could desire. May he long bear it. Certainly touched many hearts, the President always apt in Scripture introduced Rev. W. J. Morris "as a brother beloved."

One hundred years ago, he said, there was one agent of the newly organized society. His furthest horizon was the wilderness near which is now found the city of Hamilton. During that 100 years Methodism has been built up by no less than church unions and to-day in the home field has over 500 missionaries. These three actors to-day through the blood of Jesus Christ.

It is easy to write. Rev. Charles House prayed. Who can ever measure the effect of any prayer. The spirit grew upon the meeting that all should pray until all should go, let go or help go.

Mr. Arthur Mews was introduced by the President as the "man who missed the trail, a splendid Deputy Colonial Secretary whom he had always thought would have made a better Methodist Minister. Mr. Mews justified the President's remark in his own way. His address was just the exactly practical demonstration of his subject that makes him a successful official. Sacrifice was the key note of the Mission Field; it must be the key note of Missionary giving. It was the key note of the life of Christ. In a poetic peroration reminiscent of the "Hound of Heaven" and "The Idyls of the King" the tragedy of the after war period was discounted. To true "Hope" there is always audibility the one abiding note "God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself," creating a new centre for the social, business, home and personal life of every individual.

Dr. Heartz, eighty-three years of age, looking like a man of sixty and with the voice of fifty, spoke of the problem of the individual. For example he knew the man who introduced Methodism to the town of Bridgetown one hundred years ago. The splendid cause there was the monument of an individual. Came a swift transition. The school taught at Euclid but geometry, not Miller; but Geology, but the Church taught just—Christ. Joseph Cook challenged the Chicago Congress of Religions to remove the blot from the hands of Lady Macbeth. They were silent. Then with convincing passion he cried that the blood stained hands of Christ were able to open the book and blot out the record. Then with rarest unctious, the unctious of years, the unctious of 40 years of study of the Missionary problem, the unctious of a lifetime of prayer, he described individuals who are examples of the truth he sought to impress.

There was Fred King converted by the singing in his home of a converted Red Indian, one of 5000 Indian members of the Church. There was Howard Velle, a professor of a great University who left his own denomination and his great position to "bury" himself in the mountains of China. There was Arthur McKenzie, V.C., broken in spirit by the terror of war going back to his native land Japan to heal and soothe in turn. There was James Neave a comparatively old layman who had learned Chinese in business who joined the church, offered for the ministry and was ordained all in one year. A great painter cried to one of his disciples, Do this for me, that is, finish the great work I have partly finished. No report can convey the intense impression of appeal that was made that the church finish the Master's work.

It is not the policy of the manufacturers of Ivory soap to make extravagant claims in its behalf. They simply say that Ivory soap is a good, pure toilet soap and that it will cleanse the skin thoroughly without injuring the most delicate complexion.

Newfoundland Outport Nursing and Industrial Association

As many visitors from the outports are in St. John's at present, arrangements have been made for certain members of the executive of the Newfoundland Outport Nursing and Industrial Association to be present daily from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the "Nonia Knitting Depot," in the basement of the Reid Newfoundland building, in order to give any information that may be desired on the subject of the Association's work and aims, and to take orders for knitted garments of which there is a display at the Hon. S. Milley's business premises, Water Street.

YOUR GIRL

Will take a real interest and make a success of the fine art of cooking if you provide her with the necessary equipment at home. Just because her grandmother used an old-fashioned coal stove is no reason why the young generation should be burdened down with it. If your kitchen is equipped with a "SMOOTHTOP" VULCAN GAS RANGE, fitted with a Modern Heat Regulator, perfect results are certain.

Try this recipe for NUT BREAD: 4 cups flour, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup English walnuts, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add the chopped nuts. Add milk and well beaten eggs. Put in two buttered pans and let stand 20 minutes. Set your oven heat regulator at 375 degrees and bake for 20 minutes. AMERICAN CAPTURES BRITISH OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.
HOYLELAKE, June 27.
Walter Hagen, star professional from the United States, won the British open golf championship here today. Hagen captured the title by a single stroke with an aggregate of 301 for 72 holes of medal play against 302 made by E. R. Whitcombe, British professional performer.

LAST NIGHT'S FOOTBALL.

Saints 4 Goals; C.L.B. 3.
Only a small attendance of fans and spectators turned up at St. George's Field last evening, to witness the football match between the Saints and C.L.B. teams. In the first half the Saints, with the advantage of the westerly wind, commenced to press the ball into their opponent's territory from the very outset, and within a few minutes Hopkins landed the first counter. That was followed up shortly after when Foster sent a hot one to the C.L.B. goals, but before he had time to clear Sawyer rushed in and placed it safely between the posts. Play then changed quickly to the western end of the field, and found the C.L.B. lads controlling the ball nicely against the wind. After several repeated attacks well placed by the Saints goal, Roberts, in trying to frustrate one of the numerous onslaughts, fouled an opponent in the penalty arena, with the result that Referee Brien awarded the C.L.B. a penalty kick. The free kick was placed nicely by Hennebury. The teams then crossed over with the Saints 3 goals; C.L.B. 1.

2nd Period.

Upon resumption of play many of the spectators were of the opinion that the C.L.B. team would have matters all their own way, but the game took on a different aspect and saw the Saints containing the ball to advantage in their opponent's territory. With the Saints controlling the ball nicely against the wind, a corner kick soon resulted. The ball was well placed by Curran and dropped accidentally into the net of the goalkeeper's hands. From then on a fairly good exhibition of football was witnessed. Flashes of combination play were in evidence, although most of it was spoiled by erratic placing of the ball. The Saints having the advantage, again pressed matters, but were quickly repulsed by Noonan, who sent the ball sailing down field. Chate quickly regained it, and having availed of a good opening, landed the ball in the desired spot. From then on both teams were putting up a spirited exhibition, and with the C.L.B. pressing hard, were awarded a penalty kick of Hopkins. Hennebury was again called upon to do the necessary, and placed a beauty behind Belbin, which was utterly impossible to clear. During the dying moments of the game the Church Lads tried their hardest to equalize matters, but the Saints kept them at bay until the final whistle sounded. Game over, Saints 4 goals; C.L.B. 3.
Referee—F. C. Brien.

NEEDS ATTENTION.

St. George's Field at present is in a very unsatisfactory condition. The whole surroundings needs to be gone over with a rake very badly. Isn't there somebody interested enough to "Clean Up" and "Keep Clean." The grass in the playing field on the southern end needs a cutting down also.

WAKE UP FOOTBALLERS!

The survival of football is only a further proof of its amazing vitality as a game and its firm grip upon the public. But this grip is being broken and loosened more and more, and unless some small element of sport is put back into it shortly, there will be an attendance slump of startling proportions.

A GOOD CATCH.

Two officers from a visiting warship recently went out for a day's trout fishing to a gully near Donovan's, where they were assured they would get a good catch. Though equipped with expensive rods, the best of tackle, and a fine assortment of "Silver Doctors," "Dashwoods," and other good flies, they fished for a couple of hours without getting a rise.

As they were about to leave in disgust, a young native appeared on the scene, with a "pole," he had cut in the wood nearby, to which he had attached a piece of string and an old hook, and after one throw hauled out a beauty, weighing about two pounds. Grabbing hold of his prize, he made tracks for home. When his mother saw the fish, she exclaimed: "Well done Johnny, that's a great fish! What do you call it?" "I dunno," said Johnny, "but a man down there called it a 'bally limit!'"

PRELIMINARY SIXES TO-NIGHT.

The preliminary football sixes, in connection with the Earl Haig Sports, take place at St. George's Field this (Saturday) evening, commencing at 7.15. The games will be run off as follows:—
1.—Star vs. Guards.
2.—Feldiana vs. B.L.S.
3.—Cadets vs. C.L.B.
4.—Saints vs. C.E.L.
Winners (1) vs. winners (2).
Winners (3) vs. winners (4).
The admission fee will be 10 and 10.

TOKEN OF APPRECIATION.

A few days ago a number of athletes of St. Bon's College presented Mr. Fred Rabbitts with a very useful present in appreciation of his services in making a shield for the College Track team. The present was accompanied by the following letter:—

June 18th, 1924.

Mr. F. Rabbitts

Dear Sir—The boys of St. Bon's, for whom you so generously made the shields, appreciate very much your kindness and consideration, and as a token of their gratitude ask you to accept the accompanying gift. On behalf of those who have been so favoured, we remain, Dear Sir,

WANTS THE HOUR CHANGED.

Editor Sportographs
Dear Sir—I would be grateful if you would allow me space in your column to make a suggestion with reference to the baseball game in Haig Week.

I understand that there is a game arranged between two teams from American warships and that it will be played on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Could not this be changed to 7 o'clock so that many clerks, who are dyed-in-the-wool fans would have an opportunity of witnessing our first, and possibly last, ball game, in many moons.

Yours truly,
B. ALLFAIR.

WARSHIPS AT PRACTICE.

The crews of the British and French warships had a spin over the harbor yesterday forenoon and afternoon, to get in readiness for the International Boat Race at the Haig Regatta. A large number of people watched the oarsmen from the various waterside premises and were keenly interested in their work-out.

CONSTANCE WINS.

City Defeated in Keen Rigger Game.
By a narrow margin of two tries (6 points), H.M.S. Constance defeated a City side in a rugged game played on the Ayre Athletic Grounds yesterday afternoon. The Navy scored both tries in the last fifteen minutes of the game from scrums, within a few yards of the City goal line, but were unable to convert. Last year the City suffered a much more severe defeat at the hands of the Constance. The Constance, fresh from laurels won in the West Indies, presented a most formidable team for a hastily gathered and unpracticed city fifteen to tackle. They possessed far greater knowledge of the game than did their opponents, and they had the added advantage of having played together before. The game was largely confined to the forwards, and there was a regrettable amount of kicking with the result that from the spectators' viewpoint, it was most uninteresting. Throughout the game the ball was brought from goal to goal, and at half time no score had been recorded. From the beginning of the second period the Constance kept the play within the City twenty-five and after fifteen minutes of play, a try was obtained from a five-yard scrum. The City forced the play into the Navy's territory from the centre kick and gave their defence an anxious few minutes, but hard kicking to touch brought the ball once more inside the City twenty-five and a mauler by a City player caused a scrum on the goal line, which resulted in a try. The City team was as follows:—
M. J. Taylor, Groves, Mackenzie, G. Harrison, H. McDonald, W. Clouston, C. Horwood, R. Martin, forwards; A. Monroe, D. Clouston, halves; A. B. Perlin, C. Duder, K. Clouston, A. Murray, three-quarters; R. Withers, full back.

Unoccupied Boat Passed off East Coast

A wireless message received by Mr. J. J. Collins of the Marconi Company reads as follows:—
"Steamer 'Coastworth,' Lat. 47.17 N., Long. 61.35 W., passed ship's lifeboat half full water; No. 6 on bow; no occupants."
Upon enquiry we learn that the number given is the same as that of the boat lost from the Metagama, but unfortunately there is nothing to indicate the fate of the occupants. There is always hope from the sea, and it is possible that in this case some vessel not equipped with wireless took off the men and abandoned the boat.

Your chances for winning any of the prizes are as good as yours.

heaviest burden falls upon those who are least able to bear it. This was not intended probably, but it has happened, and very largely accounts for the fact that discontent and restiveness are especially acute among the producing classes. It is not to be supposed, however, that the Legislature does this from pure cussedness. Deceit and intelligent men, such as are most members of both Houses, do not vote away money for mere amusement. Not a few of them are uneasily aware that they are sowing, if not a tornado, at least a very big wind. They have reasons for their extravagance—reasons which seem to be compelling. So, unless those reasons are learned, and until they are changed, there is little to be gained by scolding the Legislature, however eloquently. How will the new Government approach the financial situation, I wonder, and what will they do in connection therewith? Let us patiently wait and see!

A TREMENDOUS AMOUNT OF COURAGE.

The people expect much from the new Prime Minister, Mr. Bourke has a tremendous amount of courage, without any sadness about things at all, for he is a real "progressive" who enjoys being a "progressive," no matter what the old time political interests may try to do to him. Thinking not at all merely of his own reputation or fame or prospects, he is first of all a public-spirited citizen, ready to lead instead of to follow. With a liking for people, particularly for "the toilers of the sea," and a determination to depend upon an accurate understanding of conditions in their relation to fundamental ideals, he can be both ingratiating and firm. His sympathy is balanced by a certain discretion, on the one hand, and by a sense of dash in his makeup on the other. The great thing about him is that he gives his primary attention to what is strictly his business. As the problems which are his business and his opportunities become broader and more complex, he is ready for them, because of his essentially patient vigor in doing the work at hand. Then, again, he is just the man for the masses, for

COMING: The One Picture of a Million "LET NO MAN PUT ASUNDER"

Our Political Problems
And How to Solve Them.

By ANALYST.

New occasions teach new duties. Time makes ancient good uncouth; They must upward still and onward, Who would keep abreast of Truth."

WHEN POLITICAL MEDIOCRACY BECOMES AN IDEAL.

Somebody has said that, in politics, as in everything else, there is a point where toleration sinks into sheer baseness and patronery. The toleration of the worst leads to look on what is barely better as good. Woe to that man, or that country, to whom mediocrity has become an ideal! Has our experiment of self-government succeeded, if it barely manages to rub and go? I shall try to answer this question as I proceed with my comments.

HOW TO BECOME A CONSTRUCTIVE CITIZEN.

Obviously, every individual must sooner or later come to realize that he has a part to play in the world as it is. He must realize that the world is his, his to make better, his to improve. Only from this viewpoint can he become a constructive citizen. Proceeding from the standpoint of this basic truth, instead of demanding that something be done for him, the individual sees that his hope lies in doing what he conceives of as being most needed. He sees the necessity of employing his time constructively, and investing his surplus in constructive enterprise.

THE FALLACY OF THE COMMUNIST.

We are told, and believe, that the fallacy of the communist lies in his desire to have the state lift the responsibility from the individual. The communist is a materialist. He looks upon material objects as substance and demands that these be supplied him, whereas the enlightened democracy places emphasis, above all else, upon initiative and enterprise, recognizing that substance is to be found in these forces and that they are spiritual. The communist demands that housing, transportation, and material possessions be given to the individual. Democracy gives nothing free but education. It is based on the understanding that the real substance of a thing is not in its objectified form, but the understanding which produces it. Democracy rests upon the right use of education, upon the knowledge that all things will be added unto initiative and enterprise.

THE QUESTION OF GOVERNMENTAL REFORM.

With regard to the question of governmental reform, there is only one course to pursue. You cannot find it by railing at the processes of democracy or by attempting to secure their abandonment or limitation. You must work out the solution through democratic methods. Your hope must be in liberty of opinion, in that freedom of speech and of peace and order. Use the new facilities to present truth as you see it and trust to experience, the best if the most extensive of teachers, to develop the discriminating judgment which alone will make democracy an instrument of progress.

PLAYING POLITICS AND THE RESULT.

Of course, playing politics, in the ordinary sense of the term, usually results in a confusion of the issue in the public mind. If the ordinary citizen is to understand what has been going on to produce the confusion, he needs to develop his own political sense, and learn by reasoning on as independent an interpretation of the facts as he can find. Above all, he needs to seek the very centre of every political problem for him. In proportion as he does, he will often arrive there before many of the politicians. In a democratic community like ours, every citizen has to be politically minded, in the true meaning of the phrase. He needs to bring his own innate sagacity into full play as he studies every policy as a way to the achievement of what is really for the public welfare.

"Then it is the brave man chooses. While the coward stands aside, Doubting in his abject spirit, Till his Lord is crucified, And the multitude make virtue Of the faith they had denied."

Dogs Destroy Four Sheep Valued at $70

Four sheep owned by Messrs. Moore & McLeod, butchers, Hamilton St., were killed by four hungry dogs on Thursday. The sheep which were in a pen behind the stable opposite the Methodist Orphanage cost $70. Mr. Redman's son of Cornwall Avenue, who was delivering milk for his father, saw the dogs tearing the sheep and ran for his father, who immediately came to the rescue. He lodged a complaint with the Council. Mr. Mahoney got in touch with Inspector Barber and asked him to try and locate the dog. Mr. Barber immediately got on the scene and shot the dog. While waiting around the stable he saw two dogs coming from Cornwall Avenue, and Mr. Redman and his son identified them as the dogs which were tearing up the sheep in the morning. The dogs were captured on Pleasant St. by Mr. Moore and Mr. Barber and immediately shot.

New Steamer for Newfoundland Trade

FURNESS WITBY & CO. WILL BE MANAGERS.

An order has been placed with Messrs. Vickers, Ltd., Barrow-in-Furness, for the construction of a passenger and cargo steamer by the Warren Line, Ltd. (Messrs. Furness, Witby & Co., managers). The steamer is designed specially for the Liverpool-Canada and Newfoundland passenger service. The principal dimensions of the vessel will be as follows:—50ft. x 64ft. 6in. x 34ft. 4in. and the deadweight about 7,000 tons.

There will be accommodation for 100 first-class and 80 third-class passengers. The ship will have quadruple expansion engines with cylinders 31in., 43in., 62in., and 90in. x 67in., for which the steam will be supplied by five boilers 16ft. 6in. dia. x 12ft. with a total heating surface of 15,000 square feet. The speed of the vessel will be 14 knots loaded.—Daily Mail.

Observing the Sabbath.

The roads are black with motors upon the Sabbath day, for all the country's voters and wives are out at play; a million a unit of cheering, with a t h sweating, cop's pursuing, there's a sure something doing along the great highway. "Remember," saith the preacher, "to keep the day aright; let not grandstand or bleacher to godless joys invite; don't go, with friend or buddy, where lights are glowing ruddy, but spend the day in study and say your prayers at night. Remember," saith the pastor, "this is the day of rest; you're moving to disaster by all this pleasure quest; the Sacred Book is pleading for your attentive reading, while Sabbath hours are speeding to sunset in the west." And still the cars go swishing, with high and honking notes to crooks where there is fishing, to lakes where there are boats; the pleasure-seekers sally to picnics in the valley, or on the golf links rally, with nifty pants and coats. They all are merry-makers, the people of this day; they look on men as fakers who do not romp and play; and Sunday is the season when staying home in treason; there is no rhyme or reason in missing fun, they say. The pastor, softly, kindly, is calling them to kirk; they choo-choo past him blindly, to where the joy hounds lurk; each is a merry-maker, the smith, the undertaker, the plumber and the baker, the tinner and the clerk.

History in Hats

The Turkish National Assembly has decided that every citizen of the Republic shall be at liberty to choose his own headgear—a momentous change, as the fez has for long been the badge of the Turkish subject, willing or unwilling.

For the non-Moslem citizens of Turkey, indeed, the fez was the symbol of subjection, and when the Greeks occupied Salonika, during the Balkan War of 1912-13, the first act of the local Christians was to throw away the hateful headgear. Similarly, many refugees leaving Turkey after the Armistice of 1918 threw their fezes overboard.

The headgear we wear has often had a special significance. The cap, for instance, has been supposed to have an affinity with revolutionary doctrines. And at one time the top-hat was the symbol of Republicanism.

Fashions and Fads.

The sheer scarf that matches the evening gown is held in place with a flower.

A small hat of blue straw has a riotous in a matching shade used at one side.

A small suede hat in a color to match the costume is excellent for travelling.

A crepe scarf of flame and yellow is worn with a costume of sand-colored serge.

A charming suit cravat of plaid silk ties in a tying bow under the wearer's chin.

Just Folks.
By EDGAR A GUEST

WHEN A BOY IS TWELVE YEARS OLD.

When a boy is twelve years old, Brown of cheek and bright of eye, He gives little thought of gold, Or the dangers lurking by. All he thinks of is to run Just as fast as legs can go; Life is just one round of fun, And I'm glad that it is so.

There's a thrill in climbing trees, Walking fence rails, jumping streams, Doing things with daring ease Which old age too dangerous deems. Then he follows every whim, Unrestrained by fears we know, Caring naught for life or limb, And I'm glad that it is so.

When a boy is twelve years old, Fear has yet to hold him back; He is keen and overbold, Free from all forebodings black. Age must walk with studious care, Fearing many a fall or blow, But a lad runs everywhere, And I'm glad that it is so.

Age with many a doubt is filled, Age feels Gdty's harsh restraint, Age must serve with care he willed Without whimpering or complaint. But a boy is free to run, Seeking pleasure high or low, Thinking life one round of fun, And I'm glad that it is so.

Our Dumb Animals

WEEK ENDING JUNE 27th.

Attended to the landing of cattle and sheep from the Sable I. All in good condition, and taken away to pasture. Also attended to the different sales of cattle, horses, pigs and poultry at the Abattoir Co's. Everything was looked after satisfactorily. I humanely put to death a horse for Steer Bros. which was suffering with lock jaw. Also shot a dog, owned by Mr. Carnell, Freshwater, which had bitten a boy on Cookstown Road. I destroyed another at Sergeant O'Keates request, which had bitten a boy named Sharpe on Lower Street and another one for a resident of Convent Square, which had also bitten a boy. I also shot a dog for a resident of Queen's Road, who promised to contribute towards the funds of the Society. Was asked by the Secretary of the Municipal Council to hunt up four dogs, which had destroyed four sheep valued at $70.00, on Hamilton St. At 4 o'clock, accompanied by Mr. Moore and Redmond and son, who had watched the dogs destroy the sheep, and who identified them, I found three of the dogs acting under instructions. I humanely put them to death. Dogs in this locality are around the city and have become a terrible pest. Quite a number of hens on Cahok Street and Cornwall Avenue have been destroyed. I went to visit a number of girls where boys have been annoying horses and cattle. Things are improving in this respect. But to death have been received, concerning deseated cats, which I have put to death. All complaints which are coming continually night and day, have been promptly attended to. Phone 653. I ask all boys and girls to show consideration for dumb animals by picking up nails in the streets and throwing them in the drain. Many horses loose their lives by treading on nails.

Medical School Inspection

It would certainly appear that an investigation should be held into the medical inspection of schools, which is charged with inefficiency and insufficiency. Answering these charges, Dr. G-non, superintendent of the Child Welfare Branch of the Health Department, says that more adequate inspection would be secured if the staff of inspectors was enlarged, and that the sum of fifteen thousand dollars should be set aside by the city towards this end. Even the Medical Health Officer of the city, Dr. Boucher, holds that the staff is undermanned; at the same time he does not admit that there is any incompetency among the present inspectors. The whole situation is unsatisfactory. Here is the metropolitan city of the Dominion, with an annual revenue of twenty-seven millions, possessing such an inadequate staff of medical school inspectors and nurses that scholars are not receiving satisfactory attention.—Montreal Star.

ADVERTISE IN THE EVENING TELEGRAM.

The Hr. Grace Election

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir.—The tactics of the far-end of the defunct Coaker-Hickman Government, which passed away after a few days of Political life, are for the most part ridiculous, only that they impose upon the credibility of the few, at the expense of the many. My explanation is that there was no necessity for an election in this district. A few months ago the people spoke with no uncertain sound, and returned Messrs. Hon. J. R. Bennett and Russell as representatives, with a good majority—and as a reward for their victory the Premier, Hon. Walter S. Monro, appointed them to the responsible positions of Colonial Secretary and Minister of Public Works respectively—two of the most important offices at the hands of the Government, which is undoubtedly an honor to this grand old district, ever in the front rank for progress and love of country. To any right thinking person, there is nothing else to ask for, as in Hon. J. R. Bennett, our district has a forceful speaker, keen debater, possessing a remarkable capacity for lucid explanation of public problems. He possesses a pleasing address, a well controlled voice, and the faculty of expressing his thoughts in a clear-cut and logical way. His oratory enjoys both finish and power, and it would be difficult to discover a more forceful, entertaining and effective speaker. The honors conferred upon him in social life are a sufficient guarantee of his popularity.

In Mr. Russell we have a man of exceptional talent and great initiative, as well as an organizer of ability, and a close student of Labor and economic problems. In this district we recognize his deep interest in its welfare, and his constant activity. I have attended nearly all the meetings during the previous election, as well as the election now being held, from Coley's Point to Harbor Grace. And now, Mr. Editor, the Opposition (or what is left of it) are circulating the report that if Archibald and Snow are returned, Archibald will be appointed Minister of Public Works, and Snow will get back his position, or be appointed to some other. They boast of smashing the Government in two months, if elected. This is the laughable part of their vapourings. Even if they were elected, Archibald would move round like a "Merry Andrew," from one side to the other, and Snow would melt like butter before the sun—more especially during the summer months.

It is a matter of fact that as soon as this district is placed in a prominent position, in keeping with its former glory and prosperity, some unique spirits are sure to bob up to pull down what other thinkers and lovers of our district are doing their very utmost to build up. What has the Coaker-Hickman party done for this district, or for that matter, any district? They are simply an amalgamation of elements, which have been more conspicuously engaged in demonstrating mutual antipathies than in striving after a basis of real unity. Picture Hickman and Coaker being united after the bouquets hurled at each other during the days of the infamous Fish Regulations! Is the colony in such a condition to-day, as evidenced from Mr. Hollis Walker's Report (which is but a trifle in comparison to what will be exposed) that the grand old district of Hr. Grace, would place the destiny of our country, our district and our people in the hands of Mr. Archibald and Mr. Snow? They have already done enough of mischief, in bringing on an election unnecessary, and thus preventing the opening of the House of Assembly for the dispatch of business, and the opening up of channels of employment for the betterment of our people. If it had not been for the meddling of these two discredited mischief-makers, probably at the instigation of others higher up, the entire machinery in the conduct of the public affairs of the Colony would be in full operation, and means would be devised to lift our country out of the terrible condition in which it has been placed by the incapacity, treachery and open robbery of those who have been pronounced guilty in the report of Mr. Hollis Walker, specially appointed by the British Government, and the said report published to the world through the public press of all nations.

Then how can any man, with a love of country, or our district, knowing the state of affairs as they are, cast a vote for the two "politicians of fortune," Messrs. Archibald and Snow, and thus bring a blot upon the name of this district which has always been noted for the sturdy independence and intelligence of its people, and the discrimination shown in the selection of its candidates—such as Sir Ambrose Shea, Judge Hayward, Hon. John Munn, Capt. Charles Daws, Joseph Godden, Capt. Henry Daws, Sir Wm. Horwood, and many others.

It is now up to the whole of us to do our duty. We have the making or unmaking of this district at our disposal on the 3rd July. Are we to hold the most prominent places of Colonial Secretary, Minister of Public Works, and a seat in the Executive Council of our country, or are we to "go to seed" in the cold shades of Opposition for the next four years? Thursday next will decide. But I have no fear.

Now that you have come to town to take in the Unveiling of the Memorial, call and get one of our

Tenor Vocalist at the Majestic

MR. BEN REDDIN SURPRISES AND DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE.

The Majestic management are again to be complimented on their good fortune in acquiring the services of Mr. Ben Reddin who arrived here by the liner Silvia Wednesday from Boston to commence a limited engagement. The large audience at the Majestic theatre last night applauded enthusiastically the renditions of Mr. Reddin whose splendid voice filled the large theatre and won instant approval of his listeners. Mr. Reddin like Mr. Geddes is an accomplished vocalist having won his way in the American concert and musical world by his splendid interpretations of high class as well as popular songs. His contributions last night promise a very successful engagement. His singing of "The Trumpher," "The Top O' The Mornin'" and "In an Old Fashioned Town" were rendered faultlessly. The program was a very strong one in so far as the feature picture was one of the best exhibited locally for some months. "Burning Sands" is an appealing story in which several well known stars are in the principal roles including Wanda Hawley, Milton Sills, Robert Cole and Albert Roscoe.

The story deals with the love of a young English woman of the nobility for a hermit of the Saharan desert. He treats her coldly, but she persists in her efforts to win him and after a series of highly dramatic incidents, in which romance and tragedy are mingled, succeeds. The theme is the antithesis of that treated in "The Sheik," and it is said by George Melford, the producer that "Burning Sands" is perhaps the strongest production with which he has been identified.

To-night and this afternoon this exceptionally strong bill will be repeated and lovers of good songs, music and big screen subjects should make it a point to witness it.

Look out for Monday's News and Telegram for particulars as to next weeks program Haig week will be a big week at the Majestic Theatre.

Lloyd's Most Spectacular Comedy is "Why Worry?"

The hills around Culver City resounded with the infuriated firing of more than a thousand Mexicans arrayed in rival fighting units. The booming of cannons made natives tremble, in fear of earth shocks. Incoherent commands were hurled in every direction by excited generals. It might have been a great dramatic spectacle in the making for the movies, yet it was all being done in the spirit of fun—the spirit that permeates Harold Lloyd's greatest Pathcomedy, "Why Worry?"

It was for this newest of Lloyd laugh shocks that these awesome scenes were being enacted. Men fell right and left hit by cannon shots, but they escaped unharmed—the "shots" were only cocoanuts! "Why Worry" is by far the biggest production ever made by Lloyd. The picture was produced on the most lavish scale. Big sets, big crowds, and big people—the biggest was John Aasen, an army in himself, towering 8 feet 9 and a quarter inches above the ground, weighing 460 pounds (exclusive of his shoes, which weighed twenty pounds apiece), and with hands that resembled a couple of Armour's net hams.

The Nickel Theatre is featuring "Why Worry?" Wednesday next.

CLEAN UP and KEEP CLEAN

This is what the New Government intends doing. We have been doing this for 25 years, as Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing is our sole business. We devote our entire time to it and therefore we can give you better satisfaction than you can get elsewhere. Owing to the growth of our business we have had to remove to larger premises on the opposite side of the street (No. 22 opp. A. V. Duffy), which gives us ample room. We use the first flat, shop and showroom; second flat, repairing and pressing rooms; third flat, dyeing and renovating.

We would like you to see some of our work before sending elsewhere; all prices reduced since the New Year. Cleaning Orders given our first and personal attention. A rush job is our specialty. We call for goods and deliver them in two hours, if necessary. Suits Pressed while you wait; a nice dressing room to change in. We can handle over one hundred pressing orders daily. In addition to Cleaning and Pressing, we clean and shape hats.

Forty-Five Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

LET'S HAVE SOME MORE DISCOVERIES.

When the astronomer discovered a new planet, there is much excitement in scientific circles and headlines of the newspapers, but the rest of us don't really feel much excited.

Why should we? We can't even know the names of the many thousands of stars that have already been located, and one or more less makes no difference in our personal lives.

But in my newspaper the other morning I saw mentioned a discovery which though much smaller in area will interest all of the human race who eat, and will be of absorbing interest to the half who plan what the other half eat.

A Successor To The Grapefruit. A new fruit has been discovered. That is, it has recently been recognized as a possible fruit for the tropics and the Philippines. It has been found that it can be grown in the West Indies and transported here and it has been prophesied that a few years from now the "durian" will have become as popular as that other tropical newcomer, the grapefruit.

I don't suppose anyone under 20 realizes that the grapefruit is a newcomer any more than we under 50 realize that the orange was once considered a luxury, the sort of thing that children were glad to find in their stockings at Christmas. But I can remember the first time that my mother gave us each a spoonful of grapefruit. And how I hated it, incidentally.

Cream Cheese and Brown Sherry. The durian is said to taste "like a rich custard which has been dosed with almond extract," and one scientist says there are also "wafts of flavor which also call to mind cream cheese, onion sauce, brown sherry and other incongruities."

Mr. Eater? And doesn't it thrill you, Mrs. Menu-maker, with the thought of something new to have for dessert?

Let us hope that this is the beginning of an age of discovery in the line of foods.

Wanted, Two New Meats and Vegetables. I think we badly need at least two new meats and two new vegetables. One of the two new meats should be something as staple as beef but totally different in flavor. If the discoverer would also arrange to have it very different in place I would give him a vote for a niche in the hall of fame.

The other should be a meat like ham that can be kept, but should, of course, be quite different in taste from ham. A cross between ham and beef would make an interesting meat.

As to the two new vegetables, they should be not exotic and choice like asparagus; not the kind that you have to cultivate a taste for like Brussels sprouts, nor the unsubstantial kind like radishes and lettuce, but a good every day vegetable like peas or string beans. What a blessing it would be to have two more vegetables to turn to.

What a saving of mental wear and tear! Let us hope that the durian is only the first of an outburst of discoveries along these lines.

French Security. Springfield Republican: Evidently the policy of Folicare, does not intend to put France in jeopardy; the new Ministry will enforce the treaty so far as disarmament is concerned, and in this programme it has the explicit support of Mr. MacDonald. What Great Britain desires is not more armaments for Germany, but a reduction of armaments all around, to which, according to the Treaty of Versailles, the disarmament of Germany is but a preliminary. Execution of the disarmament clauses was almost completed when the invasion of the Ruhr interrupted the work of the commission, resumption of which has lately been a matter of controversy. If Germany sincerely desires peace the size of its army matters little, and to allow friction on this point to interfere with a settlement would be folly.

Mandates and the Leagues. Manchester Guardian: The mandate system is not all that it was at one time hoped it would be, but it is fundamentally sound if we can live up to it. The point is that the mandatory Powers must be made by the public conscience and by the League of Nations, to which they have to render account to live up to their duties. Sir Frederick Lugard put his finger on the heart of the business when he said that no difficulties or mistakes must be allowed to obscure the fundamental principle of trusteeship and responsibility to a supervisory authority. If there is a lively public opinion operating through the League of Nations on the Governments concerned—and that is where the co-operation of the United States would be so helpful—the experiment can be Important Facts About Buick.

In 1923 Buick sold 213,286 motor cars for which the public paid $302,758,950, not including U.S. tax or freight.

Since the introduction of its 1924 models, Buick has broken all production records, including its own, for the manufacture of fine motor cars. The Buick Motor Company is now well on its way to the manufacture of its two-millionth motor car—a record unapproached by any other manufacturer of fine automobiles.

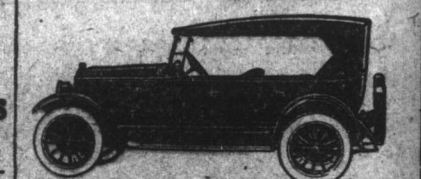

Buick has held first choice of space at the National Automobile shows for six consecutive years—an honor awarded to the manufacturer member of the N.A.C.C. with the largest volume of business.

Do you realize that Buick and practically all other fine car makers in America and Europe include four-wheel brakes as standard equipment?

To-day Four-wheel brakes are as essential to safety as lights and a horn.

After using four-wheel brakes you will never go back to a car without them.

Why does Buick use four-wheel brakes on all models? Because they provide the greatest safety for the owner and his family.
