been exceedingly unfortunate. It has been before pathiament for forty years, and has been passed by the house of commons seven times—in the present house by a majority of more than 250—but time after time it is killed in the house of lords. For the last fifteen years Mr. Thomas Chambers has had charge of it, but at a time when his hopes seemed brightest he finds that he is not able even to introduce his bill. He professes to have the best reason for believing that the lords will certainly pass it the next time it is sent up to them, but unfortunately the 12 o'clock rule adopted in the commons this session to expedite the Irish land bill puts it in the power of any single member to block the wife's sister bill. Mr. Chambers has invited the co-operation of Mr. Gladstone, but the premier is not able to give stone, but the premier is not able to give in many encouragement. Possibly another session will be more favorable.

The front a Albany goes on, in spite of the tragedy at Washington. The stalwart and the half-breed Republicans are seeningly as irreconcilable as ever, and Mr. Conking shows no sign of withdrawing from the field. It has been a shameful business throughout—began in pettishness and continued in corruption. The attempts made to bribe members of the legislature to vote for one party or the other reflect seriously on the character of that body. It is a pity that the voice of the people is not heard more distinctly above body. It is a pity that the voice of the people is not heard more distinctly above the din of the contending factions, and that a stern call is not made upon the legislature to adjourn. After what has taken place the electors should settle the question of representation in the national senate. Mr. Conkling cannot get the appointment now, and he only weakens his chances for the future by continuing the fight.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

ANOTHER STEP FORWARD.

When the MORNING WORLD was established, two months ago, it was then intended to discontinue the regular publication of an evening edition as soon as the new enterprise had got a fair start and obtained a foothold. We believe the time has mow arrived for taking the step then contemplated.

During its shortexistence the MORNING WORLD has met with so much success, and its increasing business now demands so inch attention, that the World company have determined to henceforth devote their attention to the MORNING WORLD exclusively, in order the more energetically to cultivate the peculiar field which it now fills. Special editions will of course be issued whenever there is news of sufficient moment to warrant them.

It is not necessary to point out that the publication of morning and evening editions of the same paper is something abnormal in the history of newspapers, and seems to be peculiar to this city alone. We believe the present of the publication of the same paper is something abnormal in the history of newspapers, and seems to be peculiar to this city alone. We believe the propertion of the whole, perhaps their wises.

Exciting a good deal of attention. Nobody at the law any notion as to what their course of action mupled out at they are proposed to the general principles of the bill few can doubt, but that they will reject it is less secretion. There were during the last secretion. The remarks of sufficient more there is news and an ocity of the union feels more than the grand no city of the union feels more than the agony of this diaset than this great metropolis of the west. Up till midnight that they are almost to a man opposed to a sufficient the morning the history of newspapers, and seems to be peculiar to this city alone. We believe there are only one or two morning papers in the United States which publish evening editions; certain it is that no first-class morning journal in that country has yet seen fit to depart from its legitimate sphere, the experience of the most successful journal to the content of the country has yet seen fit to depart from its legitimate sphere, the experience of the most successful journal to the country has yet seen as to be severely bummelled.

On the whole, perhaps their wisest country has yet a severe criticism of details for it is with its general principles that its friends are most enamored. This the experience of the most successful journal to the country has yet to a severe criticism of details to where the venerable fRobert Collyer was to conduct a service in memory of the late Gilbert Hubbard, Judge Peck and Eli Bates. The old man eloquent was like a harp full strung to sweet, low music. But there was silence deep and tender when he commended to the mation's suffering chief. At all risks, I wenture to quote one brief passage from proper certification of the country has yet to severally properties.

INSURANCE COMPANY has been making provision for all who hold ts promises to pay. If a business man holds a large amount of a Bank's promises to pay, he likes to feel assured, not merely that the Bank has good hopes of earning, in future, enough to meet its notes as they are likely to be presented, but that it actually has the money on hand, or most of it, to meet all claims, even if an unusually sudden call should be made.

all claims, even if an unusually sudden call should be made.

Such sudden call has happened to many banks, at various times, and the weak ones have gone under; such sudden calls happened to American Fire Companies, at the Chicago and Boston conflagrations, and to Canadian Fire Companies at the St. John and Quebec fires, and found many companies unprepared to honour their cheap promises. An unusual call may fall, at any time, upon the Life Insurance Companies of this continent, such as has, at different times visited portions of Europe. So slight an influence as the Epizootic, which visited Canada and the Northern States in 1873, ran the mortality of several life companies up 25 per cent., for one or two years, and caused many to drop their policies. Three large companies paid nearly a million dollars in that one year, in excess of the average of previous and subsequent years.

When the part unexpected call does come to life companies, the wisdom of When the next unexpected call does come to life companies, the wisdom of those insurers who hold policies in the BEST AND STRONGEST COMPANIES will need no approval, but will then get abundance of it.

It appears that the committee in charge of the grand Orange demonstration have made very favorable terms with all the railways, with one exception, for bringing the brethren and their friends to this city on the 12th. The companies have agreed to issue tickets at a low rate, and give the committee a rebate in the shape of twenty-five cents, the gate money, on each ticket. For instance, the Grand Trunk will issue tickets from Cobgurg for $1.25, $1 of which the company retains, and the balance handed over to the committee. These tickets are good for both ways in first-class cars, and entitle ceived in falling.

Last week a trial trip was made and she was found to be in every way the equal, if not the superior, of her past record. Splendid time was made. On Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, having on board Messrs. John Leys (vice-commodore of the R. C. Y. C.), J. Henderson, Sutherland, Armstrong, Alfred Gooderham, C. Henderson, Myles, Manley and Lee, and four hands before the mast, she left the bay and made for Charlotte, across the lake, reaching that port in the remarkably fast time of eleven hours. After spending five hours of Dominion day in Rochester, they returned to the port (Charlotte), and received on board a large number of callers. At 3 p.m. on Friday they sailed for Kingston, reaching that city at 4 o'clock on Saturday morning. Under a head wind they arrived at Cobourg at 9 a.m., Sunday, where the crew first heard of the attack on President Garfield. west. He replied he knew nothing about it, had been lost from No. 84 Wellington street west. He replied he knew nothing about it, but that I had better see his brother Edward. On seeing him next day he told witness he had some of the books, but he did not want his name mixed up in the affair; he was willing to return them any time. Charles Isaid he had only a dressing-case. Armstrong denied all knowledge of the goods. In a statement made to Howie, Armstrong said there were no goods taken from the place except those sold at auction. He never sold the Pearsons anything. Howie further the Pearsons anything. Howie further stated he had found some 30 yards of the missing carpet in a house occupied by a Mrs. Roscar, a sister-in-law of Armstrong, and another portion of the carpet in Armstrong's private house.

The witness was cross-examined by Mr. Kerr for the Pearsons and G. M. Malo ne for Armstrong, without eliciting anything

The magistrate stated he had concluded not to try the case, there being something very strange about it, which would be better investigated by a jury. Mr. Kerr protested against the defendants being committed for trial, as it would have a tendency to prejudice their case. His worship, however, committed all three for trial, bail being accepted for their appearance.
