MONCTON POULTRY SHOW IS ON

Mayor Reilly Opens Largest Exhibition of Kind Yet Held

SOME EXHIBITORS

One St. John Man in the List—John T. Hawke Brings to the Front Romantic Features in History of Canada—Grant For Hospital

Moncton, Jan. 12.—(Special)—The city building here was the scene of considerable activity this morning in preparation for the third annual exhibition of the West-Island Poultry and Pet Stock Association which will open this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Among the exhibitors are: J. E. Warren, St. John; Glenview Poultry Yards, Sackville; C. W. Osborne, Pseudopolis; James Flanagan, P. N. Ham, Allen Leaman, Mrs. William Duncan, A. A. Tuttle, D. B. Lutz, J. H. Thompson, Elias Bilher, L. B. Stewart, J. V. Jackson, Watson Lutz, Michael Day, M. W. Mitchell, W. G. H. Seaman, Bernard McDougall, Clarence Goggin, N. J. Goggin, R. Stewart, M. L. Frayne, Joseph G. Stockford, F. W. Smith, R. A. Knight, John Stewart, N. E. McKie, Alexander Donald, S. C. Black, D. V. Jackson, J. O'Rourke, R. P. R. Fraser and Joseph Landry, of Moncton; Dr. E. A. Smith, Shediac; Mrs. J. E. Ward, of Shediac; C. L. E. Walden, Middle Coveville; E. R. Gunning, Lower Coveville; J. C. Steves, Upper Coveville; D. Leger, St. Anselme; J. F. Crockett, Fred K. Steves, J. Humphrey, Samuel Steeves, Oliver James, William Sunny Bove, Randolph Jones, Levisville; Hartley Steves, Hillsdale.

There was a large attendance at an interesting and instructive lecture delivered last evening in the vestry of the Central Methodist church by J. T. Hawke, F. A. McCully presided. The subject was "Romance of Canadian History." Mr. Hawke said that one need not go to the old country for romance, but would find abundant material in this country. He briefly reviewed incidents in connection with the early explorations of the French in Canada, and then went on to tell of the struggles of the French pioneers, giving a number of graphic descriptions of conflicts with the Indians, showing the courage of early Canadian settlers and pointing out several brave deeds of pioneers that were worthy of emulation today.

In dealing with stirring incidents in connection with the struggles between the English and French troops on this continent, the speaker gave a very entertaining account of the conflicts around old Fort Beauséjour; and it was pointed out that there was much of the romantic in the history of Westmorland county. Some of the most thrilling incidents in colonial days took place in Westmorland.

An interesting feature of the lecture was the story of the Eddy rebellion, which centered around the isthmus of Chignecto at the time of the revolutionary war. The lecture was not only an admirable review of some of the striking incidents of the past, but it also dealt in an inspiring manner with the present and future greatness of Canada.

Mrs. Burton L. Gerow, of St. John, formerly of this city, was among those who participated in the musical portion of the programme, and again delighted a Moncton audience with an excellently rendered solo.

Moncton hospital board last night appointed F. W. Sumner, J. S. Hayward and G. B. Willet to attend the county council meeting in Dorchester next week and ask for a yearly grant to the Moncton hospital.

A joint committee of the Brotherhood of Constables and Trainers, are again in city going over their schedule. The twenty-two delegates met yesterday afternoon and last evening. They will be here for two or three days.

The Moncton board of health is taking up the question of cleanliness in delivering of bread. Dr. Botsford, the chairman, says the present method is unsatisfactory. At a meeting of the board, he said some bakers handled bread with the same mittens and clothes they wore when they harnessed horses. He suggested that each loaf be wrapped in paper or put up in a carton.

Mrs. A. B. Leblanc, of Fox Creek, was thrown from her sleigh yesterday by a horse becoming frightened by a train. She was rendered unconscious and sustained serious injury.

THE WEATHER south winds; fair and mild, with showers Thursday.

TROUBLE IS BEING STIRRED UP ONCE MORE

California Anti-Japanese Agitation Breaks Out—A Protest from Consul General

Tokio, Jan. 12.—Special despatches from San Francisco, detailing the uncompromising anti-Japanese attitude of California legislators, have called forth editorial expressions of surprise and regret. Japanese government officials and other prominent men are disappointed because admittedly Japan has effectively restricted emigration to America. Assurances were given that irrespective of the personality of the administration there will be no deviation from the present policy. The discriminating nature of California's anti-Japanese campaign as described by the special despatches, is the subject of general comment and the business men of other nationalities here are effectively forcing an anti-American prejudice to the detriment of American trade.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 12.—Japan's first official protest against proposed anti-Japanese legislation in the states, comes in the form of a letter from Consul General Matsuo Nagai at San Francisco, to Senator Wright, chairman of the senate committee on federal relations.

The letter contains figures supporting the contention that the Japanese population on the Pacific coast is steadily decreasing. Consul Nagai writes: "Our objections to the bills introduced are based on their discrimination. They could not be applied to the Japanese people as being otherwise than offensive to national pride."

GLOBE TOURISTS ARE STRANDED

Paid For Tickets, Cross Ocean and the Company Goes Bankrupt

Boston, Jan. 12.—The filing of the bankruptcy schedule of the Colvert Tours Co. shows that between twenty-five and thirty Americans who had paid for tickets for a tour around the world, are stranded at various points in Europe and Asia. The liabilities of the defendant in a contest over $400,000 with assets of less than $250,000. Most of the creditors of the company are in Europe. The company had received $1,000 to $1,275 for these globe circling tours.

FORMER HALIFAX WOMAN IN CONTEST OVER ALDRICH WILL

She Was Second Wife of Woolen Manufacturer and First Wife's Children Bring the Action

Boston, Jan. 12.—(Special)—Mrs. Susan H. Aldrich, formerly Miss Freeman of Halifax, and widow of Chas. T. Aldrich, woolen manufacturer, of Milbury and Ashcroft, is the defendant in a contest over Mr. Aldrich's will, now in progress in the probate court here. Children of Aldrich's first wife are the contestants and claim that the second wife, who was the first Mrs. Aldrich's dressmaker, is withholding distribution of $200,000 alleged value of the estate.

The former Halifax woman says the estate amounts to little. She admitted she held paper for $3,000 loaned to her niece's husband, Frank Stewart of Halifax. Lawyers for the contestants claim a part of the estate is represented by funds in Canadian banks.

DR. SWEENEY'S DEATH

North Physician, Who Married Boston End Young Woman, Succumbs to Heart Trouble

Sad news came to the home of Arthur J. Delaney, of the North End fire department, yesterday, when a message was received telling of the death of Dr. Hilary T. Sweeney, in Boston, after an illness of some weeks with heart trouble. Dr. Sweeney was about forty-four years of age, and is survived by his wife, one little daughter; his father, Daniel Sweeney, and his brother, Frank, of Boston.

His wife was formerly Miss Kathleen Delaney, of Main street, and her many friends here will sympathize with her sincerely in her sad bereavement. Dr. Sweeney made many friends when in St. John, and all will regret very much the loss of his death. Dr. Sweeney, up to a short time ago, attended regularly to his extensive practice in Boston, but for the last few weeks had quite ill. Mrs. Sweeney's uncle, Edward J. Carson, and her brother, Maurice T. Delaney, of this city, have gone to Boston to attend the funeral.

MR. BALFOUR'S POSITION London Paper Tells Him Loss of Three Elections Takes a Lot of Explaining

London, Jan. 12.—(Special)—The Leader calls attention to Mr. Balfour's letter regarding an impression alleged to prevail in the colonies regarding the attitude of the Unionist party to preference and the shipping up of the colonies, and says it takes a lot of explaining away to colonial premiers, who are not altogether ignorant of the art of electing.

FEAR MANY LIVES ARE LOST IN CONFLAGRATION

Gas Explosion in Five and Ten Cent Store Wrecks Building and Imprisons Corps of Employees

Connelleville, Pa., Jan. 12.—A gas explosion in the building occupied by McCrory's five and ten cent store here at 10 o'clock today wrecked the building. It is reported that twenty girls and four men were killed, or badly injured. Five of the girls have been taken out dangerously burned.

Fire followed the explosion in the McCrory building, and it as well as several adjoining structures are burning. Falling walls broke the electric wires on North Pittsburgh Street, where the store was located, making it dangerous for spectators to enter the wrecked building.

Within ten minutes after the explosion, the walls of McCrory's had entirely collapsed. All the employees of the establishment were at work when the explosion occurred and many were burned in the ruins. The fire is raging fiercely and the authorities have called upon Uniontown, ten miles away, for assistance.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED

Minnesota, Jan. 12.—Olaf, Andrew and Evelyn Booth, young children, were burned to death, and Mrs. Martha Booth, the mother, was seriously burned by a fire, which destroyed their home last night.

New York, Jan. 12.—Twenty firemen were injured, one perhaps fatally, and damage aggregating $100,000 was caused by a fire that broke out today. Fireman Lee Hackbarth fell four stories down an air shaft and through a skylight in a burning Harlem tenement house. He was in the hospital where he now lies, say he cannot recover. He was assisting a woman to escape when he was injured. The fire was not hurt, nor were any of the other occupants.

LEGISLATURE FEBRUARY 16?

Government in Session in Fredericton—May Buy Madras Building—Grand Falls Co., Organized

Fredricton, N. B., Jan. 12.—(Special)—No announcement has yet been made in regard to the date of the meeting of the legislature but it will likely be on February 16. The local government is in session here today with all the members in attendance.

This morning a delegation of liquor license holders from Beauséjour—Robert Gallant and J. B. McClean—were heard in opposition to a petition praying for cancellation of all licenses in the parish of Westmorland. The government promised to take the application of the York & Carleton Telephone Company on supplementary letter patent, was approved, also an application from the Fairville Drug Co. for letters patent. An application for incorporation of the McGuinn Lumber Company was referred to the attorney-general.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Time's Gallery of Men and Women of Prominence

Lord Strachan Discussing reciprocity, Canada's high commissioner in England, says he wishes to see greater reciprocity between Canada and the United States, but "it is certainly 100 to 1 not to see Canada draw away from the mother country."

THE TIMES' NEW REPORTER

A REMINISCENCE A venerable citizen who is fond of recalling old times was the centre of an interesting group at the post office corner this morning. He said he remembered a winter when there was snow in January, and the people wore furs and went about in sleighs.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY IS MURDERED; MAY BE THE WORK OF KIDNAPPERS

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Aid of the police in every large city or county, has been sought, thus far, in vain, in the effort to learn the identity of a chubby, five-year-old boy whose frozen body, with blood stains about the mouth, was found yesterday in a swamp, on the Schenectady road. Today an autopsy will be made to determine definitely the cause of death, but the police have little doubt that the boy was slain by hands who forced carbolic acid down his throat. A half empty bottle of the acid, bearing the label of an Albany druggist, was found under the body.

Any idea that the boy could have taken the poison himself either by accident or design is denied by a number of circumstantial pieces of evidence. The fact that the body was found in a swamp, and the clothing fastened to the body, as they would have had the child walked to the place where he was found dead. Thus far the police have received word of no kidnaping involving a boy of this age. The case attracted the attention of the McGuinn Lumber Company, which has been removed. Everything about the victim, however, indicates comfortable, if not opulent circumstances.

BRITISH ISLES ARE IN GRIP OF HURRICANE

London, Jan. 12.—A gale of hurricane force accompanied at many points by a heavy snowfall, broke over the British Isles early today. Much damage was done both on land and at sea. Huge seas were running on the coast, and many minor wrecks, but with few casualties, were reported.

THREE BALLS—THREE STRIKES VERY BAD, SAYS HERMANN

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Chairman August Hermann of the National Commission, whom President Lynch has appointed a member of the baseball rules committee, will oppose radical changes in the code, especially the proposed three ball and three strike rule.

Radical Change in Baseball Rules is Strongly Opposed by Him

Nothing dispirits fans so quickly as a procession of ballers getting to first base on balls," said Hermann last night. "The pitching records show it is difficult to get three strikes over before four balls. Reduce the number of called balls to three and there would be too many bases on balls."

THE KEELY MINE AND THE FARMERS' BANK CASE

Toronto, Jan. 12.—(Special)—A Gahall special says, the statement that expenditures on the Keely Mine which figures in the Farmers' Bank case would be between $400,000 and $500,000, is considered there to be approximately accurate. The expenditure was $30,000 for plant; $30,000 for development, and $300,000 for Messrs. Keely, Josse and Woods, stakers and vendors of the mine. The property is still nothing but a prospect while it has always been worked as if its future was assured for many years. Last reports from the property are that a good ore body has been struck but while the property the excellent possibilities nothing is assured yet.

THE SCHEM TRIAL

Windsor, W. Va., Jan. 12.—Jubilant at what they termed "scoring heavily" yesterday, the attorneys for Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, who is on trial for the alleged poisoning of her husband John O. Schenk, appeared in court today, in guise of her accusers.

MRS. GRONLUND ON STAFF OF MT. ALLISON

Former St. John Resident Is To Take Some of Dr. Borden's Work

Mrs. Sarah Gronlund, lately of St. John, has been appointed to a position on the staff of Mount Allison Ladies' College. She will take charge of classes in physics, history and mathematics, taking some of the work hitherto done by Dr. Borden. Mrs. Gronlund is an arts graduate of Mount Allison, B. A., 1888.

At Bayfield on Thursday evening, Mrs. B. C. Rayworth died. She formerly lived at Upper Cape, but for some time had been living with her son, F. L. Rayworth, in Bayfield. She was seventy-two years of age, and was twice married. She is survived by two sons, F. L. Rayworth, of Bayfield, and B. C. Rayworth of Sackville.

MILLIONAIRE TO DEATH OVER CLIFF

Blanchenburg, Germany, Jan. 12.—Sidney Joseph, described as a millionaire merchant of Cincinnati, Ohio, dropped from a cliff in the Lays Mountains yesterday and was killed.

He had been for some time in a sanitarium here, and it is said that he deliberately stepped from the height. It is thought he was seized suddenly with an insane impulse.

BUBONIC CARRIES OFF 600 VICTIMS IN FIFTEEN DAYS

Washington, Jan. 12.—Bubonic plague is making serious ravages in Manchuria according to cable reports. In the city of Harbin, 600 deaths occurred within fifteen days, and at the date of the report new cases were appearing at the rate of about 100 daily. Out of every 100 patients, forty died from the disease.

There are a few cases at the detention camp at Chang Chuen and Mukden, and two are reported from the airport at Dally. The Chinese authorities are very active in repressive measures, having established ten sanitary stations between Antung and Chuen Tung. So far no cargo has been placed on passenger freight on the railroads.

CHAPTER V.—(Continued). "He who has lost something, but knows not what it is, is a fool," said the man who had lost something, but knows not what it is...

CHAPTER VI. "An absolute!" "A packet of caporal!" "A lock your own, m'sieur!" "A pocket!" "A frowny wavy was hurrying through the streets of London, and was seen from the 'comrades' scattered among the tables set in a back room in a very back street of Soho...

CHAPTER VII. "Oh, yes, sir, I know him," the girl answered. "Let him look this morning, and he will know me as well as I know him." "No words in the English tongue could have more astonished Deane than the name which had been mentioned to him that he had never heard of before. He had never heard of Deane, and he had never heard of Deane's name either."

CHAPTER VIII. "The third—the afternoon of the murder," these words at that time went into Winter's very brain. He had not uttered by the occasion being a wedding conducted by Mr. Bridger Aldy. The contracting parties were Capt. Charles Veigel, of the 8th, and Miss Sarah Coleman, of Wainwright. Capt. Veigel acted as groomsmen, while Capt. Smith was master of honor. Speeches were delivered by Capt. Penfold, Halifax; Capt. Smith, Wainwright; Capt. Goodhue, Chatham; Major Miller, Toronto; and Mrs. Aldy, St. John. Carter sang a solo. Capt. and Mrs. Veigel will proceed to Summerside, their new appointment soon.

CHAPTER IX. "The museum," she cried. "How odd, how exceedingly odd! Just now Mr. Furieux seemed to be rather surprised when I told him that there was a museum." "He doubtless forgot, miss," said Jenkins. "He had certainly gone in there when I entered the library." "That's how it was—positively," and he went out with the vacant air of a man who has lost something, but knows not what it is...

SALIA. Faded, but a flavor when more delicious than its fragrance. One pound makes 200 cups. Ask your grocer.

Russian only glared at him when he swore in his quaint English. Yet the Russian grumbled in English in his beard. "No French."

"Who I—me?" cried Janco sharply, pale, half-standing—"cheat?" "You—cheat, you cheat!" insisted the bearded Slav. And now the little Frenchman with the crooked nose, who for some time had been looking through the legs of Janco, and forthwith the room recoiled into chaos.

"An innocent man, Furieux," said Winter almost with a groan of reproach. "An innocent man?" "Furieux's eyes flashed angrily an instant, and some words were heard to his lips, but he was not uttered. He stood up. "Well, that how it stands for the moment. Time will show—I must be away."

CHAPTER VIII. "An absolute!" "A packet of caporal!" "A lock your own, m'sieur!" "A pocket!" THINK IT OVER Why does St. John need a better system of city government? Because the present system is wholly unsatisfactory.

THE BUILDING LAWS St. John will witness within the next year or two the erection of some large buildings by business corporations, and a moderate boom in building generally.

CITY GOVERNMENT One might almost imagine from some of the criticisms offered that members of the board of trade had been caught going about in gushaws and with jimjams in their hands, seeking to steal away the liberties of the people.

THE POET AND THE PEOPLE The youth who has not at some time believed that he or she could write poetry, for who at least has not at some time tried to give poetic expression to emotions, is too hopelessly prosaic to appreciate the true things of life.

HUNGER INSATIABLE

London Physician, in Lecture, Recites Some Notable Examples

Dr. W. Saltan Fenwick, in a lecture in London on the "Eccentricities of diet," declared that the earliest trace of "insatiable hunger" is to be found in the book of Genesis, where Pharaoh consulted Joseph about his dream of the fat and lean line, in which the lean kine devoured the fat ones without appearing one atom the better for it. That exactly describes the case of the "insatiable hunger" victim," he declared. "They will eat almost anything, yet are always hungry, lean and ill-affected."

Then he went on to give instances he had known. A girl of eight, he said, who ordinarily ate as much as the other seven members of the family put together one day escaped to the kitchen and there ate a rare codfish, two pounds of tallow candles and several pounds of butter.

A boy victim, for purposes of medical observation, was allowed twenty-four pounds of raw meat, besides innumerable other things. A third patient, a little girl was placed in a walled garden of shrubs so tired were her parents of her insatiable appetite. But that did not stop her eating, for later they discovered that she had eaten up all the leaves, all the small twigs, and had started gnawing a branch. Another starter was the case of a boy who, on being shut up in an empty room was discovered afterwards to have eaten all his clothes.

Talking about what he called the "idiosyncrasy of diet," he told of people who plastered their food with salt and never sat down to a meal without emptying the salt cellar.

Then he told of patients whose crazy was to eat paper, these being mostly children, who would scrape the paper off the walls to satisfy their strange craving, the result being the formation of sodden paper in the stomach which sometimes proved fatal.

Finally he had a go at the vegetarians—the most difficult people in the world to treat," Dr. Fenwick declared. "Prove to them that vegetarianism is making them shockingly thin and they will say: 'Oh, but that's my very nature.' They are always cold; they never live to a great age. They lead a short but glorious existence of raw meat, besides innumerable other things. A third patient, a little girl

A MIDWINTER GIRL IN SNOWY FOX FURS

White fox is now very expensive, but this beautiful fur is in great demand, nevertheless. It is becoming to young women only, for the clear white of the fur against the face is most trying. There are imitations of genuine fox, which come from the forbidden land of Tibet but the imitation felt has not the silky gloss or the pure whiteness of the real fox. The photograph shows a white fox neckpiece and muff and a turban to match—a set designed for one of the debutantes of the winter.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

As I'll have tomatoes and cucumbers and lettuce in the bed behind the barn and some beans in the other one, and Jennie Martin is going to help me weed on shares, and I just know I can sell everything down to the provision store, 'cause the storeman bought Billy Loomis' father's vegetables last summer and said he wished he had more—ah—ah—I'm going to save the dollar grandma gave me Christmas for seeds and all the money I get doing errands, and mama, please please can't I have this spring rag money? With this final breathless query Phillip, who had been lecturing frantically back and forth from one foot to another in front of his mother, flung himself into a chair beside her and gazed up at her with an eagerness that it seemed to me must draw comment from a heart of stone.

"Evidently there is some substance hidden than stone for this was what Phillip got for an answer:

"No, you can't, Phillip, not for such nonsense, I know just what it would mean. You'd have a whole lot of dirty boys around here looking for dirt and things—all out garden tools, and then you'd get tired of it and you'd forget all about weeding and it wouldn't come to anything at all. You help your father with the flower beds and I guess that's all the gardening you'll want. And now you go right out and wipe your feet. You've tracked in a lot of snow."

Were you ever all at once conscious of a cloud passing over the sun on a beautiful bright day by the sudden wiping out of the sunlight in the room or the landscape? Well, that's just the way the beautiful light of enthusiasm that had been shining in Phillip's eager little face went out—just as if it had been suddenly blotted out.

I should think Phillip's mother would have wanted to cry when she saw it. But she didn't show the slightest sign of any such desire. Instead she turned to me and remarked impatiently:

"On the whole I guess there's more wet blanket mothers than the other kind. It's so painfully easy when you've left the land of wonderful possibilities and crossed the bounds into the commonplace city of grown-upness to forget how you felt when you lived in that other land.

It is so very much easier to discourage impracticable plans that may mean much to the child than to encourage and direct them.

But is the easier way usually sure to be the best?

Does the road to success in motherhood or in life usually follow the line of least resistance?

Oh, yes, I know just what your poor overworked mothers are saying, that it's easy enough to talk but that anyone who has as much to do, as you have and knows as much about children's crazy schemes and how much work they make and how they pester, would feel just as you do.

I don't doubt it. I don't blame you for feeling that way. But isn't it a feeling worth overcoming?

The most blessed birthright of youth is this same, sweet, impractical enthusiasm, this same blissful incapability of seeing obstacles, this same golden belief in its own capabilities.

You know how soon the boy will tire of his new delight. It is one of the saddest lessons that you learned in the city of grown-upness.

But wouldn't you, if you could, unborn that lesson, have again the impractical and sweet enthusiasms, sweet impractical enthusiasms of youth?

"Know again the gold is glorious." Be again but frank and twenty."

And will you by being a wet blanket, force that lesson on your children one moment before they have to learn it?"

Marred in the Making

Have you ever noticed that half the troubles of the young housewives are of her own seeking? She will take the nice little bit of cold roast beef or mutton, hash it, mince it, stew it, spend as much as two hours in turning it into a tough, colorless, over-salted or over-peppered dish. She is anxious all the time she is cooking it, most anxious of all, as the husband, upon whom she has wasted all her endeavors, tries to make light of the failure, and bites his tongue in an attempt to repress the wish that she had left the meat cold, and merely served it as a plain dish with a sprig or two of parsley as a garnish, and a bottle of H. P. Sauce as a relish.

But young housewives are learning wisdom, hundreds and thousands of them. H. P. Sauce sells in bigger and bigger quantities every week. Cold meat is coming back to its honored place in the home of the little family and the big one, so, the housewife who despises that when the joint of beef is long and cold, H. P. Sauce is the opportunity of flavoring off the aligudde of the experienced cook.

H. P. Sauce, the sauce, not hot, but pleasant and tasty, it is made of the choicest tropical fruit and spices and pure malt vinegar, hash, or mince, or stew, just use for yourself what a difference is wrought to the dish by the addition of a teaspoonful of this delicious Sauce, but be sure it is H. P.

Maxims for Diners

Conversation and Pleasurable Anticipation Help Digestion

(London Mirror)

It does not so much matter what you eat as the way you eat it.

If you look forward with pleasurable anticipation to your meals you will digest them.

Laugh and talk as much as possible during meal-times; surround yourself with pleasant company.

These three health maxims were given to the Mirror by a well-known specialist in dietetics yesterday as a certain remedy for indigestion and other ills.

"In the first place, a man should learn how to eat properly," he said. "The old-fashioned (Glastonbury) advice about masticating one's food should always be remembered.

"A small quantity of food will go just as far and do as much good as a large quantity if it is eaten properly.

"Many people make impossible rules about their diets. They must not eat this or that because they are certain it disagrees with them.

"Now, if these people sat down to their meals with a cheerful frame of mind, talking their time and properly masticating their food, they could eat practically anything without ill-effects.

"The importance of laughing and cheerful conversation during meal-times cannot be over-stated. The circulation of the blood is stimulated, giving increased vigor and working power to the digestive organs."

Another experienced London doctor enlarged on the importance of "looking forward" with pleasurable anticipation to one's meals.

"The influence, good or bad, of the mind over the stomach is very considerable," he said.

"A man, looking over a dinner menu, sees nothing that interests or attracts him. He eats his meal in disinterested fashion and unless he is particularly stout, suffers the pangs of indigestion after it.

"On the other hand, he may find a certain dish on the menu, to which he is very partial. It may be three courses ahead but the pleasurable anticipation, nervous and the digestive organs are consequently stimulated.

"After such a dinner, one course of which has been thoroughly enjoyed, a man will rarely suffer from indigestion, and, moreover, the meal will do him considerable good."

A striking instance of the physical or cerebral factor in the science of dining was obtained yesterday.

A sick man told his doctor there was one thing he fancied—a grilled salmon steak. Although such a dish would be the last thing the doctor would recommend—the patient had been suffering for weeks from an inability to take food—the request was granted.

The patient thoroughly enjoyed the salmon steak. The willingness, the assent of his mind to enjoy it, re-started the stunted mechanism of his digestive or-

Coughed All Night

Till This Recipe Was Tried—Cure Followed in 5 Hours

A prominent medical man who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple remedy which will cure any cough, five hours or less. It is a laxative, and once coughed away, which can be made by the use of the following formula is here given for the benefit of those who are afflicted with painful paroxysms of coughing, which are attended with a sense of oppression, slow, sticking, rough, red, and sore throat, and a full, heavy, one ounce compound essence cardiac and three ounces ayur white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age. This will tone up and rid the system of deep-seated coughs every time.

Steel Magnates

DECIDE NOT TO REDUCE PRICES

New York, Jan. 11—Steel men from all over the country gathered in New York today are opposed to any reduction of prices at the present time. This announcement was made tonight by E. H. G. chairman of the board of directors of United States Steel Corporation, after dinner given by him.

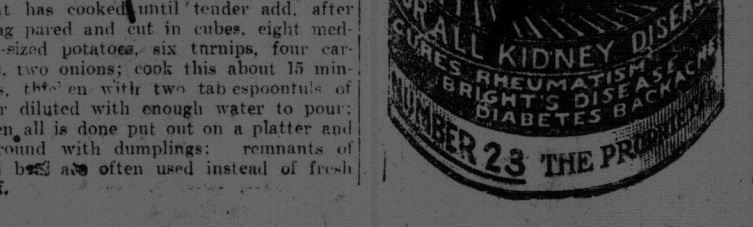

"There was a very large number at dinner and I suppose thirty or forty spoke," said Judge Gary after the banquet, "and everyone expressed the opinion that prices were low enough and should not be reduced. Figures were given tending to show that the present prices of all steel commodities are not only reasonable, but very low. I do not think any reductions are contemplated. As to business prospects, the consensus of opinion as expressed was very favorable."

Daily Hints for the Cook

GRAHAM BREAD.
To three quarts of graham flour add one gill of yeast, one gill or less of molasses, a little salt, and one quart of warm water. Mix into loaves and set in a warm place to rise when light, bake.

GERMAN PANCAKES.
One quart of sour milk, two level teaspoons of soda, two well-beaten eggs, half a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of melted butter, enough flour to make a smooth batter. It should not be too thick. Beat hard five minutes. Bake in large pancakes, spread with butter and then with cherry butter or marmalade or with peach marmalade. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and roll up like jelly roll. Serve hot.

KEEP FRESH WITH DUMPLINGS.
Select a good fat piece of beef weighing four pounds—the round is most desirable. Remove meat from bone and cut in cubes; take fat and fry out in a frying pan, then flour the cubes of meat, season with salt and pepper and brown well in this fat; add the pieces of bone with the meat and lift, put in a steaming pan and cover with boiling water; when the meat has cooked until tender add, after being panned and cut in cubes, eight medium-sized potatoes, six turnips, four carrots, two onions; cook this about 15 minutes, then with two teaspoonfuls of flour dilute with enough water to pour when all is done put out on a platter and surround with dumplings; remnants of cold beef are often used instead of fresh beef.

FIG DESSERT.
Chop one pound of figs and put in a stew pan with one pint of water, six ounces of sugar, and a little lemon peel. Cook in the oven for two hours, then rub through a sieve (removing the lemon peel), and add one-half ounce of gelatine previously dissolved in water and strained. As it begins to cool, stir in one fourth gill of thick sweet cream. Have ready a border mold, marked with jelly and decorated with chopped almonds and pistachios, fill with the fig puree and set on the ice to harden. Turn out of the mold on to a cold dish and fill the center with whipped cream.

An electric park has been opened at Darren (Dainy), in Manchester. The purpose of the park is to increase traffic on the electric railway operated by the South Manchester railway company. The line is eight miles long. First and second class passengers are carried; the fares for which are 6 and 4 cents respectively. The park at the centre of the town contains a menagerie, a theatre, a roller skating rink, a shooting gallery and other up-to-date amusements. The admission is 2 cents.

PORTLAND TO NEW YORK IN 12 DAYS VIA CANAL

Oregon Captain Says Freight Rate Will Be $6 a Ton and $1 Toll—Coast to Boom

Twelve days from Portland to New York by water upon the completion of the Panama Canal is the schedule predicted by Capt. A. W. Nelson of the steamer Beaver, plying between Portland and San Francisco.

Capt. Nelson was formerly in command of the steamer City of Paris, and he has been making trips to the canal region for the last ten years. He is considered as an authority on the subject.

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during a change of life. My doctor told me it was good and strong taking it for so long. It has done me good and I am well again."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for women's troubles. It is made from roots and herbs, and is the standard remedy for women's troubles.

Another Woman Helped. Grantville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

as familiar with the canal work as any one outside of the government employ. He left the Isthmus last month.

"The Panama Canal will bring the greatest development of the Pacific coast region that I know of," said Capt. Nelson.

"Two years from now lumber will be shipped from Portland to New York for $5 a thousand. To ship lumber by rail to New York is an impossibility today. The charges are three and a half times what the lumber is worth."

"I was told upon unimpeachable authority that in two years' time I can take the Beaver through the canal. I can almost take her now. With the datum gates finished and the balance of the cut and rock out of the Culebra cut, the Beaver would go through with ease. Business men should get ready for the big growth that will follow on this coast."

"It is the opinion of the canal zone that charges for use of the canal will be $1 a ton, a very reasonable price, as Suez, I am told, charges $1 a ton. President Taft has recommended a charge of $1 in his message. The Panama canal, in my opinion, will make Portland a city of 500,000 quicker than all the railroads that can be built in 20 years. Mark my words, the Pacific coast is going to boom."

A Queer Sort of Plant

In the desert of Sonora, Mexico, is a plant called the guesqui, which is said to excel the camel in its ability to husband its water supply.

This plant is a relative of the squash and the pumpkin, and inhabits a locality where, in practically all months of the year, it rains for six weeks. The case of the stem is swollen to form a hard, woody structure, which in time attains the size of a large squash. The grey of the seeds of Sonora is imitated in the color of the covering of the moss, which presents the appearance of a worn grey boulder projecting above the sand, and the structure is almost as hard as stone.

The year following its installation in 1905, and annually since then, at the return of the rainy season on its native habitat, this plant, immersed without soil or moisture in its glass prison, has in some mysterious way heard the call of nature and responded by sending up its stems and forming its leaves in response to the rhythm of its being required in the far-away desert of Sonora.

In other words, during its infancy and youth up to 1905, the plant had accumulated sufficient water to carry it through five successive seasons of growth.

HOME OF "MARY'S LITTLE LAMB" OF SCHOOL RHYME

Massachusetts Town Proud of House Where Mary and Her Pet Lived

One of the sights of Sterling, Mass., is the house which was the home of Mary—the Mary familiar and dear to the childhood of perhaps the entire English speaking race as the one who "had a little lamb."

A woman who quite unintentionally stumbled upon this interesting spot tells of her experience and what she learned that day of the facts upon which the celebrated nursery rhyme was founded as follows:

"One bright morning in August a trolley ride on the new Worcester line presented itself as a good way to spend the day. Nothing that a picnic party was getting ready to slight, I got off with them. They took the left of two roads and I the right."

"A farmer drove along and inquired, 'Hello! Going to see Mary's home?' Not knowing what he meant I made no reply, but asking some boys who appeared along for berries who he meant by 'Mary's home.' They replied in chorus: 'Yes, it's just up the road, first Mary's house you come to is the one where Mary and the lamb were born.'"

"Pleasantly surprised, I walked on. The first house that I reached, I inquired if it was Mary's home, and was told that it was, and was 'hived' into the room where Mary was born. It was a corner room facing the street with four windows. The ceiling was so low that it could be touched with the hand; there were beams in the corners, latches on the doors and sills worn even with the floor. LEINSTER ST. CHURCH
Annual Meeting Hears Reports of a Good Year—The Officers Chosen

The reports presented last night to the annual meeting of the Leinster street church showed that the congregation has enjoyed a marked degree of prosperity during the last twelve months. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance, while according to that of the clerk, the present membership of the church is 380. The meeting was very largely attended and enthusiastic.

After twenty minutes devotional exercises the reports were taken up. That of the pastor, Rev. Wellington Camp, was a lengthy and interesting one and reviewed his work during the year. It showed that he had made 1,033 visits; attended sixty-three prayer meetings; thirty-five young people's meetings; preached 107 sermons; administered the sacrament of the Lord's supper eleven times; taught the Barren class 41 times; attended forty-three committee meetings; attended 176 other meetings; married nineteen pairs; delivered fourteen addresses other than sermons; attended fourteen conference meetings; officiated at twenty-four funerals; attended twenty board and twelve deacons' meetings; baptized ten new members and received fifteen by letter.

The clerk, A. A. Wilson, K.C., reported that during the last twelve months, ten new members were admitted by baptism and thirteen by letter. Seven were dismissed by letter, and four died, leaving the present membership at 380. H. D. Everett, the treasurer, reported receipts of $4,037.12, with expenditures of $3,049.67. Other reports for denominational and mission work were $499.49. The Sunday school attendance was 174, the superintendent being A. R. Everett and A. B. DeWolfe.

The election of officers resulted as follows: T. L. Hay, D. E. Vincent, honorary deacons. Geo. Mitchell, J. J. Gillies, D. A. Vaughan, H. S. Cooman, J. B. Keirnes, John Bennett, J. I. Davis, deacons. A. A. Wilson, A. W. Sullis, A. D. Barbour, A. N. Cameron, H. D. Everett, Isaac Erb, Fred C. Jones, W. V. Barbour, A. W. Burns, trustees. H. D. Everett, treasurer. A. A. Wilson, clerk. A. W. Sullis, financial secretary. F. Holman, Gordon Plummer, auditors. Isaac Erb, F. Holman, Wm. Davis, John H. Parker, D. McManus, Geo. Waterbury, Jr., Kenneth Gillies, Ralph Jones, A. A. Wilson, ushers.

At the Leinster street church, where the annual meeting of the Leinster street church was held, the following officers were elected: T. L. Hay, D. E. Vincent, honorary deacons. Geo. Mitchell, J. J. Gillies, D. A. Vaughan, H. S. Cooman, J. B. Keirnes, John Bennett, J. I. Davis, deacons. A. A. Wilson, A. W. Sullis, A. D. Barbour, A. N. Cameron, H. D. Everett, Isaac Erb, Fred C. Jones, W. V. Tomorrow, Friday, Oak Hall's Annual Mid-Winter Sale of Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishings, Starts

The Most Important Economy Event of the Season

Thousands of Saint John men wait for this sale and every man who takes advantage of it will be glad he has waited.

Clothing sales come and clothing sales go but, the Oak Hall Annual Mid-Winter Sales remain in a class by themselves—beyond the reach of rivalry or competition. The reason for this supremacy must be plain to all who realize that

The Oak Hall original prices are already 25 per cent. or more below those of any other store in St. John, before they are reduced.

Based on other store prices, therefore, you will in many cases, be able to buy clothing at about fifty cents on the dollar, and, like all our sales, this one reflects the progress of the greatest retail clothing business in the maritime provinces—namely as it will be the best mid-winter sale we ever held.

Table listing Men's Overcoats with prices and reductions. Includes items like Regular $6.50 Overcoats reduced to $5.10, Regular $8.00 Overcoats reduced to $5.85, etc.

Table listing Men's Reefers and Men's Suits with prices and reductions. Includes items like Regular $4.25 Reefers reduced to $3.45, Regular $5.00 Reefers reduced to $3.95, etc.

Table listing Extra Special Values During This January Sale. Includes items like Men's $5.00 Tweed Suits reduced to $3.30, Men's $7.50 Tweed Suits reduced to 5.15, etc.

Table listing Boys' Three-Piece Suits and Boys' Two-Piece Suits with prices and reductions. Includes items like Regular $4.00 Suits reduced to $3.20, Regular $5.00 Suits reduced to $3.60, etc.

Table listing Young Men's Suits and Extra Special Values in Boys' Department. Includes items like Regular $8.00 Suits reduced to $6.40, Boys' Overcoats, good strong Tweeds in dark colors, sizes 24 to 30, etc.

Table listing Young Men's Overcoats in fancy Tweeds, Motor Collar style, sizes 27 to 32, prices were $5.00, $5.75. Special to clear $4.15.

Even at first glance this is a remarkable opportunity, but there is more to it than appears on the surface. To fully realize how great it is, you must bear in mind that our usual prices are from 25 per cent. below those of other stores. This is so because when you buy of us you buy directly of the makers and you save the middleman's profit, whereas at all other stores you must pay the middleman's profit. And now, on top of this saving of one-fourth or more we are going to give you another saving of one-fourth to one-half handing out to you bargains that other stores simply cannot match.

Can you or any other man who needs clothing afford to let such an opportunity slip by? Several hundred men will take advantage of it Friday the day this sale starts—be one of them.

STORE CLOSED TODAY. SALE STARTS TOMORROW, JANUARY 13. NO GOODS ON APPROVAL. SALE ENDS SATURDAY, JANUARY 21.

AN OLD SAYING Showing How Cause and Effect Are Never Far Removed. It is an old saying "Where there's honey there's bees"—not less true to one "Where there's mischief there's mischief-makers"—and to push the inference home we may truly say, "Where there's mischief-makers there's mischief." The reason for this is that mischief-makers are the cause of mischief, and mischief is the effect of mischief-makers.

OVER ICE IN CHAINS. Convict, for First Time in Memory of Anyone Living, Escapes from Fortress. For the first time in living memory a convict has escaped from the island fortress of Schlessenburg, in the Neva, Russia. While working in the afternoon in the open air the convict scaled the wall with the aid of a rope and subsequently, though chained, walked all night across the ice of Lake Ladoga toward the Burgovsky Light-house. Early on the following morning the man was discovered by some peasants and was seized and taken back to the prison.

LECTURES ON POETRY

Canon Scott is Heard by a Large Audience Under Auspices of Women's Canadian Club

There was a large gathering to hear the address of Canon Scott, of Quebec, on Poetry as a Vehicle of Emotion before the Women's Canadian Club in Keith's assembly rooms yesterday afternoon. Mrs. E. A. Smith, the president of the club, was in the chair and introduced the speaker. He began by saying that poetry as a vehicle of emotion calls up the sublime thoughts and emotions of the poet in the minds of others. With human sympathy as its basic principle it can stir the deepest emotions and passions as no other form of literature can. "Among all races," he said, "poetry was the earliest creation of literary composition. There have been times when its quality weakened, but it is a notable fact that it during the most progressive periods that poetry attains its highest degree of perfection." As an example Canon Scott cited the Elizabethans. It was then that England assumed the leadership of the world and it was then that English poetry was at its best.

Good poetry must have just the words and rhythm that will bring out the images of the theme in their proper form and to the point. "To communicate his emotions the poet uses means and his instrument or his own intense feeling to reach others in its most unadorned form, he must observe closely the laws of artistic economy. His words must be artistic, true and few. The real or natural poet does not need to give much of his mind to these laws. He adheres to them through the sub-conscious, and it is as he unconsciously observes these that his genius or poetic talent is measured.

"It has been said that the difference between poetry and prose is that poetry is meant to be heard and prose to be read. This is a fact, for poetry often leaves much to the imagination and therein lies its beauty and power. Rhythm gives to poetry a note of benevolence and art that is lacking in prose. Canon Scott then compared the changes poetry has undergone, and said that one of the earliest poets, although having entirely in rhythm, retained a singular sweetness. A few lines of good poetry, he said, will express more passion and sentiment than pages of prose. Simplicity and artistic restraint are factors which make his influence powerful. He read some striking extracts from Shelley's sonnets and Wordsworth's wonderful description of the face of Sir Isaac Newton, which was inspired by a statue of the great mathematician in Trinity College, Dublin. He also recited two lyrics from Tennyson, one from the Princess and the selection from Sir Galahad, where he seeks for the holy grail.

In conclusion, the lecturer said he thought everybody should train their minds to enjoy the higher poetry, as we do music and other studies. If not, as Darwin said, one of the noziest sides of our character remains in atrophy. In expressing the high appreciation of Canon Scott's admirable address on behalf of the Women's Canadian Club, the president, Mrs. E. A. Smith, spoke most opportunely referring to him as one of the foremost hymn writers of the day. She requested him to read one of his poems but he pleaded busyness. She herself gave him a sonnet on the return of the troops from South Africa. "Canon Scott's Hymn of the Empire," she said, "is known all over the literary world and his name is 'the star' of the 'Empire'—is fast gaining imperial fame."

Bishop Richardson was among the guests present and on being asked to speak, he paid a high tribute to Canon Scott's work and advised all present to get a copy of his poems at the nearest bookstore. The lecture proved exceedingly enjoyable and many of the ladies present availed themselves of the opportunity to meet the speaker. On motion of Mrs. George F. Matthews, seconded by Mrs. John McAvity, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer.

The Women's Canadian Club in St. John has come to be an educational factor of some magnitude. It has a membership of 300 and the interest in it deepens very perceptibly with each meeting. It is to be earnestly hoped that more addresses of this nature will be given. Among those present as guests of the Women's Canadian Club were Rev. Wilfred Gast, Rev. Dr. Flinders, the Rev. G. A. Rose, the Rev. David Lang, the Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, Dr. Briggs, Dr. G. V. Hay, M. E. Agar, president of the men's Canadian Club, Dr. T. D. Walker, Magistrate Ritchie and others.

Yes was served and the gathering was brought to an end with the singing of O Canada. The ladies in charge of the special hour were Mrs. Walter Holly, Mrs. J. V. Anglin, Mrs. M. B. Edwards and Miss Barker and Miss McLean, accompanied by Miss Girvan, rendered a violin duet very pleasingly. Before Canon Scott delivered his address the regular meeting of the club was held. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and other details adjusted and the following were admitted to the membership of the club: Mrs. J. A. Lively, Mrs. M. V. Paddock, Mrs. George Fleming, Mrs. Stanbury, Mrs. Haycock, Mrs. R. B. Patterson, Mrs. McAvity, Mrs. Manning Doherty, Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Longhurst, Mrs. J. A. McIntyre, Mrs. Harry McAvity, Mrs. H. G. McInerney, Miss Ethel Kennedy, Miss Furlong, Miss Homer, Miss Guest, Miss Biederman.

JURY NOW COMPLETE; TRIAL IS ON

New Year's Eve Case Again Draws Many to Court House

PROSECUTION OPENED

Mr. Baxter Says if Others Are Captured They Will Be Proceeded Against—Incidents of The Morning Court Session

The case of the eleven young men in connection with the disturbance on Saturday night, New Year's Eve, was continued before Justice McKewen this morning, and considerable headway was made, several witnesses being examined. At 1 o'clock the court arose until 2.30 when the hearing will be continued. All the defendants are now represented by counsel.

The Jury Secured

When the case opened at 11 o'clock it was announced that four of the first panel summoned for jury service, who were absent yesterday, were again absent this morning—Charles T. Nevin, H. M. Floyd, W. H. Bell and A. B. Wetmore. The names of the twenty-one summoned to act on the second panel were called, and the work of completing the jury proceeded with. Of those who were summoned, several were absent, and some of those who were present were either excused or challenged.

A jury was secured, however, and with the seven sworn yesterday, is composed of the following:—H. Chapman, W. H. Steiper, John Jackson, James Bond, P. C. Killam, Wm. G. Patahoros, W.H. Arden, F. E. Holman, Wm. Vance, Frank Skinner, N. A. Hornbrook and George H. Simpson.

Donald McArthur, F. B. Schofield and Walter Bailey were challenged by the counsel for the defendants. I. H. White asked to be excused as he had important office work to attend to. He was challenged by Mr. Mullin. Fred S. Farris begged to be excused for the same reason and also because of having a severe cold. He was challenged by the defense. Wm. H. Barlow was stood aside by the prosecution. Absentees were—Jas. G. Dunlop, H. A. Allison, W. F. Hay, A. B. Smalley, Adam Stoddard, P. G. Best, and A. J. McMahon.

The Case Opened

On behalf of the crown, Recorder Baxter called the first witness, "It is a matter of regret," he said, "that you should be here to do so on such a charge, if it is your duty as citizens to do so. The disturbance on New Year's Eve, may have started in fun, but it soon went wrong, and you men should have to face such a charge. However, we will now go on with the case with the aid of the following witnesses:—George Beatty, conductor, and Harry McDonald, motorman, for the St. John Railway Company, were called on to give evidence, and repeated what they had said at the preliminary hearing, concerning the damage done by the crowd, and the actions of the crowd on New Year's Eve. McDonald said he had been in Charlotte street about an hour before the police appeared on the scene, and then Perry and Covey came along.

Beatty said to Mr. Mullin that when the police came, one of them asked "what is the matter here?"

Beatty replied: "Can't you see what is the matter?"

Mr. Mullin:—"You were nettled, I suppose."

"Naturally, I was."

Austin Dunn, conductor of car 31, told of being disturbed by the crowd and what was done in regard to his car.

Mr. Mullin:—"You say your headlight was smashed. In justice to the prisoners, was it unswitched or not?"

Mr. Mullin:—"I object, Your Honor, to my learned friend, making the statement, in justice to the prisoners. None of them has been identified."

The objection was sustained.

Dunn identified Way as having been in the crowd, and as having given him assistance in resisting four or five men who were trying to take a trolley box from him.

Forest A. Hamilton, motorman, in addition to what he said concerning damage done to his car, also spoke of assistance rendered by Way and James Hisey.

Gullford A. Kehst, conductor, said that while the crowd was surging about his car, two of the prisoners, Way and O'Rourke, assisted him in leaving the trolley pole in position. This enabled him to proceed with the car as they both came aboard the car until he got out of the crowd. His car sustained no damage. After leaving his car, the two defendants named went to car 31 to give aid.

Frank Cheyne, Herbert S. Randall, and Wm. McFarlane, motormen, described the actions of the crowd, and their evidence was corroborated by Arthur Eisner and John Hugh conductors.

Charles Alchorn, aged 16, told of being in the street on New Year's eve. He said he saw young James throw a stone at a street car, and also saw Policeman Writen knocked down in the crowd. He saw the crowd cry, "Let us break him," but could not say who, individually, had done so.

Contradiction
On cross-examination by Mr. Mullin, the witness admitted that he had contradicted himself as regards Jones' throwing a stone at a street car, as he had said in the preliminary hearing that the stone was coming up King street, while this morning he said the car was stopped at the corner of the street. He said he had formerly been a friend of young Jones, but for the last year had not been of intimate terms with him. Alchorn said that a man, who had evidently been hurt, had been carried into the Bank of New Brunswick.
