Sentenced to Death, Woman Tries Suicide

Mrs. Crudelle, Convicted of Killing First Husband, Seeks to Choke Herself.

Chicago, July 14.—Mrs. Sabella Nitti Crudelle, sentenced to be hanged, attempted to commit suicide in her cell here. She beat her head against the bars and tried to choke herself. Only the intervention of the matrons prevented her from doing serious injury to herself.

Earlier in the morning the woman had a high temperature and had refused food. She was taken to the hospital and a strict guard established.

In the same hospital is Mrs. Minnie Bernatowicz, who several days ago shot and killed Mrs. Ann Anderski, whom she claimed was her husband's affinity. When asked her opinion of the Nitti jury's verdict, Mrs. Bernatowicz said:

"I do not think they ought to hang a woman."

Wives of the jurors who gave the death penalty to Mrs. Crudelle for killing her former husband were reported to disagree with the penalty recommended by their husbands. The former woman's wife was reported to have threatened to leave her husband if the sentence was carried out.

Mrs. Lenora Z. Meder, attorney, and an officer of the Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment, prepared to protest the verdict to Governor Small. Dr. Lee Alexander Stone, physician and author, declared the jury followed a primitive principle of discipline in sentencing Mrs. Crudelle to die.

Eugene Moran, Mrs. Crudelle's counsel, declared verdicts in trials of women were inversely proportioned to the charm of the defendant. William McLaughlin expressed the opinion that the verdict is the beginning of death penalties for women defendants in murder cases. The Rev. J. O'Neal of a Jesuit parish here said the jury did duty.

Illinois Swimmer Sets New Record, Defeating Champion Aileen Rigglin

SYBIL BAUER, BABY ANNA KINALY.

New York, July 14.—A new world record for women was set by a bronzed young woman from Illinois here on Saturday when Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic Club swam the 100-meter race, backstroke, in faster time than it has ever been swum before. Her time was 1:26 8-5, lowering the mark set last year by Miss Elizabeth Biehlty. In swimming the record race Miss Bauer defeated Aileen Rigglin, Olympic diving champion, by a few yards.

Ferdinand Earlich, crack swimmer of the New York Athletic Club, won the 100-meter race free style after a thrilling battle with George Piner, of the New York Boys' Club. Earlich's time was 1:19 2-5. The races were held in the pool at Olympic Park, near Newark, New Jersey.

Swimming races this year are distinguished particularly by the number of very young entrants, according to instructors. The contest for swimmers under fourteen years of age was won on Saturday by a 9-year-old girl, who had swum from her babyhood.

One of the features of the opening of the Olympic Pool at Newark was a high dive by little Anna Kinaly, just past four years of age. The baby wonder drew a roar of applause for her fearless manner, clean-cut dive and excellent form in executing difficult dives.

FILL BINS NOW, LABOR CHIEF AND OPERATOR WARN

President Lewis for Union and Chairman Warriner for Owners Assert Public Should Not Risk Closing.

(By John L. Lewis in New York Tribune.)

Regardless of whether there is a suspension of operation in the anthracite mines on September 1st or any other date, good judgment and common sense should impel coal consumers to buy coal early.

They should do this every year without waiting for something to happen to frighten them into it.

Early buying makes it certain that the consumer and his family will keep warm in the winter, no matter what happens. If a consumer waits until late in the season of any year to lay in his fuel he takes the serious risk of being unable to obtain a supply. Why take this chance? It is not good business.

Early and steady buying of coal by consumers would do much toward the solution of the coal problem, and removing the uncertainties that always have existed, for it would mean that the coal business would be continuously operated and that the miners would be afforded more steady employment. It would mean a more reasonable level, because mining costs per ton would be reduced by continuous operation.

Suppression in Doubt. If the public is interested in an ample supply of fuel at reasonable prices, it is one way to bring about such a situation.

No one knows nor can any man even predict whether the anthracite mines will continue in operation after September 1. That depends on the progress that will be made by the joint conference of miners and operators.

The miners sincerely wish that there be no cessation of work in the mines and that the anthracite surplus of the degree to which the operators desire the work of the mines to be continued and the rate of production.

MENACING FIRE AT DRURY COVE

A grass fire, which was spreading towards the woods and incidentally menacing the John-Moncton hydro-transmission line, was reported from Drury Cove to the office of the N. B. Electric Power Commission this morning.

WOMAN LASHED THEM IN MINE, DEFECTIVES SAY

Two Inmates of Ohio Institution Told Police They Were Kidnapped and a Whip Plied Mercilessly.

Pittsburgh, July 14.—Following statements made by David Brown, thirty-one years old, and Maywood Butler, eighteen years old, former inmates of Ohio institutions for the feeble minded in Columbus, that they had been kidnapped by the latter city and taken to Turtle Creek near here, where they were compelled to work in a mine. Department of Justice agents are making a rigid investigation. The mine owners will be prosecuted on charges of peonage should the stories told by the two men be found true.

Brown and Butler were arrested by Lieutenant Hutchinson, Pennsylvania Railroad policeman, after they had escaped from the mine and were trying to find a train going to Columbus.

According to the stories told by the men, they were taken to a mine where they were lashed and whipped mercilessly on very little provocation. Tobacco and overalls were furnished the men, but nothing else.

Immediately after the men were taken into custody and their stories told, the Department of Justice was notified. Word was also sent to E. J. Emerick, superintendent of the Ohio State institution for the feeble minded in Columbus, who is expected in Turtle Creek to take charge of the men.

David Brown has been for eleven years an inmate of the Port Orange Institution for the Feeble Minded, and Butler for seven years in the Columbus, who is expected in Turtle Creek to take charge of the men.

Department of Justice officials have the names of the owners of the mine where the two boys were held, but until criminal proceedings are under way, however, they are withholding the names.

(An Idle of Humble Life.) (Mary Elizabeth Blake in Donahoe's Magazine for September.) They may talk of their horses and houses. The pictures that hang on the wall. The fine sparklin' rings on their fingers. The servants that come to their call. The swish of their silks an' their satins. Roast beef an' plum pudding each Faith! I envy no woman her riches, When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

It's true, when he goes in the morning, With the children to dress an' to comb. For the school, an' the place to make decent. In the four little rooms here at home.— With scrubbing an' mending, and making an' dander to get by the way. There isn't much time to be idle. Till Dennis comes home to his t'at!

But then we're as neat an' as tidy As if we had money galore. The stove like a cat's eye is shining.— You could eat your three meals on the floor. Is as fresh as a morning in May. An' the children go wild with their consens. When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

The kettle is singing a welcome, There's a good bit of beef in the pot. The table-cloth's clean,—for I wash it. The dish of potatoes is hot. We're healthy, an' happy, an' hearty.— We thank God for His mercies, I say. For it's we that have cause to be thankful. When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

For then with his pipe in the corner, He can sit down as well as the best. With his bit of man's gossip to give me, While I have my minute to rest. An' to tell him the news of the neighbors. I envy no woman her riches, When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

When Dennis comes home to his t'at!

Louisiana Judge Sees 'Bloodhound Testimony' as Error

Conviction on Information Obtained by Use of Dogs Called Violation of Fundamental Rights of Accused.

"Bloodhound testimony" savors of superstition, according to Charles A. O'Neill, Chief Justice of the Louisiana Supreme Court, dissenting from a majority opinion upholding a conviction for murder, "and is as barbarous as witchcraft itself," says an Associated Press dispatch from New Orleans. The court affirmed the conviction of Mitchell Davis, of Franklin Parish, found guilty because it was testified a dog followed a trail from the scene of the murder and brought up at Davis' home a quarter of a mile away, but the dissenting opinion of the Chief Justice has won for the defendant a rehearing of his petition for a new trial. Davis was sentenced to life imprisonment.

ing could not give any reason for his expert opinion. The administration of justice is a practical affair.
"Some men put more credence in weird, unexplainable circumstances than they accord to simple facts, and some have more faith even in mediums than in plain science. The so-called 'bloodhound testimony' being unexplainable, savors of superstition, and is as barbarous and dreadful as witchcraft itself."

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE

A new automatic Vaporizer and De-carbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Ford's from 25 to 50 per cent., and at the same time removed every particle of carbon from the cylinders is the proud achievement of John A. Stronsky, 8978 South Main Street, Pukwana, South Dakota. This remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without pulling or taking the engine apart. Ford cars have made from 40 to 57 miles, on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Stronsky wants to place a few of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. If you send him your name and address today.—Adv.

Lord's Prayer Saves Kidnapped Child

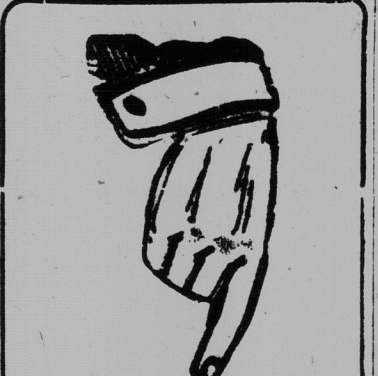

Honolulu, T. H., July 14.—(By A. P.)—Barbara Bales, six-year-old daughter of a prominent merchant, owes her escape from a man who kidnapped her to her knowledge of the Lord's Prayer.
The child was stolen while playing near her home and taken to the mountain retreat of a man known as "the wild man of Nuuanu valley."
The abduction, according to the child, released her when she began liping the Lord's Prayer.
Police are searching the valley for Keolaha Pipi, former sailor and champion swimmer, who many years ago began living the life of a recluse in a cave. He is believed to be unbalanced mentally.

"For some forty years the brothers, or three of them, maintained a household near Rockland. They lived quiet lives and probably few Maine people knew them as the wealthy men of the state. The great bulk of the Smith property is now held by Benjamin Smith, more than ninety years of age and the final destination of these millions is the source of much speculation in Knox County."

What a far cry it is from the old horse 'busses to the modern motor 'bus services of London. Altogether there are, now, the general system, apart from rapidly increasing private services, 8,000 motor 'buses in the London streets.

LLOYD GEORGE PLANNING FALL AMERICAN TOUR

Will Address Audiences on Several Important Occasions.
Sir Auckland Geddes May Not Return to U. S. as Ambassador—Suggestion to Illuminate Centaph—News Topics in London.
(From our own Correspondent.)
London, June 28.—It has now been settled that, so soon as Parliament rises, the actual details of the herring those accidents that will sometimes happen at Westminster, Lloyd George will follow his one-proposed American tour. The ex-Premier will visit both the United States and Canada, and will also be a very serious money him. He is to address public audiences on several important occasions, though nothing in the nature of a lecture tour is contemplated, and he will meet all the people who count in U. S. and Canadian politics. His journalistic contract with the Hearst press is about concluded, with the prospect of further commitments of the same nature.

Sir Auckland Geddes.
Sir Auckland Geddes is returning to this country, after his very distressing illness, which is being restored. Naturally, there is much discussion as to his future. As ambassador in Washington Sir Auckland receives $200,000 a year, which may seem a rather sum to those unacquainted with the value of a very serious money him. He is to address public audiences on several important occasions, though nothing in the nature of a lecture tour is contemplated, and he will meet all the people who count in U. S. and Canadian politics. His journalistic contract with the Hearst press is about concluded, with the prospect of further commitments of the same nature.

and some of us would have liked to award a special prize to one that was disqualified. He was a temperamental fellow of superb shape and vitality that defied the crowd and the clashing symbols of the band. So he refused to round the arena on his hind legs better than any circus horse could do it. A wonder horse.

Cape to Algiers.
Though Cecil Rhodes' great dream of a Cape-to-Laird railway still remains unfulfilled, another big scheme, namely, connecting Africa with Europe by a line from the Cape to the north coast of Europe, is being actively pursued. It will probably be brought before the Imperial Conference in London, and will be supported by the home and Dominion governments. It is urged that such a railway would be practicable, and would enable the journey from the Cape to the north coast of Europe to be made in six days, representing a saving of time for passengers and goods. It is impossible to estimate the cost accurately, but the supporters of the scheme contend that it would work out per mile no more than the line linking up the Atlantic and Pacific oceans in North America, and far less than some of the South American railways.

By a strange coincidence there are three men in London just now three cadets, named Nelson, Hardy and Frohisher. All three are descended from the same ancestor, and their names are not surprising to learn that they are all three "chummy" friends. They are in the same teams in their sports, and all have the same character and ability which are traditional of their race. The names of the three are: Nelson, Hardy and Frohisher. The ancestor of Sir Martin Frohisher, the Doncaster, the great navigator who commanded one of the largest ships at Trafalgar.

London's 'Busses.
What a far cry it is from the old horse 'busses to the modern motor 'bus services of London. There are now one hundred and fifty different routes established in London, each of which requires from sixty to one hundred and fifty motor 'buses, for its efficient working with an adequate reserve for casualties. Altogether there are, now, the general system, apart from rapidly increasing private services, 8,000 motor 'buses in the London streets.

MICHIGAN TO HAVE FIRST SCHOOL OF ALL RELIGION

Protestants, Catholics and Jews Join in Support of New Departure at University
Ann Arbor, July 14.—(By A. P.)—A school of religion supported by Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews, one of a number of similar institutions to be established at state universities where state laws do not permit religious instruction as part of the curriculum, will open at the University of Michigan next year.
This school, now projected by the National Council of Schools of Religion and financed by volunteer contributions.
Alexis C. Angell of Detroit is temporary president of the Michigan school, whose executive committee is a statement covering the aims of the new institutions says:
"The plan has the sympathy and support of Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews. The plan is the result of a growing belief that there is a serious gap in our modern educational system. Our forefathers, who identified religion with sectarianism, wished to insure freedom of conscience, placed a constitutional bar, perhaps not wisely, to the study of religion in the teaching of religion in tax-supported schools, colleges and universities. As a result the study of religion and ethics has been too much neglected; education has become increasingly utilitarian materialism. The graduates of our tax-supported institutions are more and more becoming neither religious nor irreligious, but simply non-religious."

It is proposed, through schools of religion, to give instruction in the history, literature and philosophy of religion and in the fundamental principles underlying all religions; for it has been found that a large number of people are ignorant of the life and character of the great religions of the world.
"No tax money will be used to support the schools of religion, and they will be free from sectarian and denominationalism."
The national council is co-operating with the Michigan school in establishing at Ann Arbor, the seat of the University of Michigan, with its 10,000 or more students, the first fully equipped school of religion. It is expected that other similar schools will be developed at other great educational centres.
The entire movement is inspired by the widespread conviction that the essential is lacking in our modern civilization, and that the best way to meet the needs of the age is to enable them to estimate rightly the relative value of the spiritual and the material. It is believed that this task can be accomplished most effectively in the great educational centres."

RELIEVED HIS RHEUMATISM!
"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money for walk without pain, and I have read about 'Glen's' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain, my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and I still jump with the best of the day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change." You might just as well attempt to cure a fever with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive 'Glen's' out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders, and recover his strength. 'Glen's' is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this disease. If any reader wishes "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" containing facts overlooked by doctors and centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. Clearwater, No. 228-L Street, Halliwell, Lancashire. Send now, let you forget! If not a sufferer, cut this out and hand this to some afflicted friend. It is a miracle, and it will return mail without any charge whatever.

back piazza, and the door is locked and I couldn't find the key, and it's three stories up and that's why I telephoned to the fire department. But one ladder would have been enough. It added as she gazed below at the array of snoring motorists.
What would the gallant firemen do, if of course they growled some, but in the end they raised a ladder and tenderly lowered the infant's vehicle to the ground. Baby sat in his perambulator and cowered with delight as the equipment roared away toward headquarters.

SIX FIRE TRUCKS RESPOND TO PUT BABY TO SLEEP
Boston, July 14.—"I didn't expect so many of you," said the woman on the third-floor, when the crews from the five fire apparatus wanted to know what the matter was at 28 Blossom street, Lynn.
"You see, my baby has to have a ride in his carriage every evening or I can't get him to sleep," she explained, "and the carriage is out on the roof."

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger
"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."
The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. If, after taking the two weeks' treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money.
Call at once for a bottle of Nuxated Iron at your local druggist.

CURRENT OFF FOR WHILE. The current on the hydro transmission line between St. John and Moncton will be turned off tomorrow between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. during this time, while some work is being done on the line, so it was announced at the office of the N. B. Electric Power Commission this morning. Included in the work is the construction of three structures on telephone crossings near Moncton. The residents of Fair Vale, Hampton, Sussex and Moncton will be inconvenienced while the work is proceeding.

Artificial Limbs For an Ex-Soldier And Moncton Boy

(Special to The Times.) Moncton, N. B., July 14.—Michael Moncton, a returned soldier who had both legs amputated in the Moncton Hospital some months ago, as a result of being most frozen to death while lost in the woods, and who recently went to Boston to get artificial limbs, is now en route home from that city. He is expected to arrive in Moncton this evening on the way to his home in Melrose. Subsequent to his return he has been making a fund for Mr. Cullen's benefit and when he made his journey to Boston he was accompanied by John Gardiner of this city.

Mr. Gardiner while in Boston, also took up the matter of securing artificial limbs for Auguste Bourgeois, the little fellow who some time ago lost both his arms as a result of grasping a live wire. A fund for providing the lad with artificial limbs was opened here. Expert advice has been given to the effect that it would be better to have the boy supplied with one limb now, than for the arm amputated below the elbow, while the other which is amputated above the elbow, can be supplied later. The local committee in charge will meet to consider the matter soon.

Mr. Babbitt is a son of the late Benjamin Babbitt, of South Devon.

DRUGS A MENACE TO CIVILIZATION

World Resistance Necessary to Octopus-like Evil That Undermines Race, Says Nation's Health—U. S. Role in Fight.

The Nation's Health says editorially that in drug addiction the public is face to face with a situation which, if uncontrolled, may tend to undermine the very foundations of civilization itself. The writer asserts that the medical profession, by its "criminal carelessness" in prescribing habit-forming drugs, is partly to blame for the present situation. He says that this country must get into the fight against the drug evil, declaring that it is as much its fight as would be a devastating plague epidemic in Europe, Asia or Africa.

"The widespread prevalence of drug addiction constitutes a situation which may well provoke serious thought on the part of the profession of preventive medicine," says the writer. "It is no exaggeration to state that we are face to face with a condition which, if uncontrolled, may tend to undermine the very foundations of civilization itself. So serious is this threat that half-way measures will not do; the circumstances are such as to call for drastic and thoroughgoing measures."

"These are not the alarmist beliefs of fanatical reformers, but the sober judgments of capable physicians, wise jurists and well-balanced men and women who know from personal experience and observation the way in which the great army of drug addicts is being recruited daily and the misery and degradation which are thus produced."

"It is a herid thought that modern chemistry and therapeutics should have let loose upon humanity agents which have been diverted from their original purpose of relieving human suffering to that of debasing and destroying mankind. Prohibition, the stress of modern life, the ignis fatuus of a desire for new sensations, mental degeneration, and the criminal carelessness of the medical profession in prescribing habit-forming drugs have all been blamed for this destructive blight which civilization has imposed upon itself, but these are only mildly contributory. The real cause is much simpler and far more sordid. The production and sale of narcotics pay enormous returns upon the original in-

Statistics Appalling.

"The figures in regard to the production of habit-forming drugs are appalling. In 1920 there were imported into the United States 127,274 pounds of opium, approximately 6 2-3 grains per capita, enough to kill every man, woman and child between Canada and the Rio Grande. In the same year Great Britain exported over nine tons of British-made morphine to other countries; it is significant that over forty-five per cent. of the English exports of 1921 went to France, where the international drug ring is supposed to have its headquarters."

United States are reported to be falling off, but cocaine is coming in in greater quantities and in far greater amounts than are necessary for the therapeutic prevention and relief of pain. It should be borne in mind that in addition to the quantities which are declared at ports of entry an enormous amount is being smuggled into the country and delivered to consumers with devilish ingenuity. Customs seizures of narcotics at the port of San Francisco alone are reported to exceed $102,000 in 1922. For every dollar's worth thus seized it is probable that at least $10 worth is smuggled in.

"Under the system developed by modern banking it is possible to transport and deliver money to any part of the world with scarcely the chance of a single loss. The same sort of system could prevail with regard to the habit-forming drugs. It is possible to put it into force if the nations of the world will get together and rigorously carry out a united policy. The Hague Committee tried to bring about such an arrangement and failed. The League of Nations now has a board sitting to formulate plans with the same object in view.

"The United States has sent observers to the meeting apparently to lend the moral influence of an onlooker sitting on the fence. Whatever may be our views regarding 'entangling alliances' this is no time to be hanging back timidly. The international traffic in dangerous drugs is not a political question, it is a great health issue. It is an affair of the greatest possible moment. It is a responsibility which, if dodged by us or if not met in the open by our people, is going to do us an infinite of damage.

"We cannot sit by as critics. We must get into the fight instead of telling do and how they should do it. It is just as much our fight, just as much to our interest as would be a devastating plague in Europe, Asia or Africa. The civilized world must combine against this menace and we must not be too proud to fight an enemy which threatens the integrity of civilization."

SEEKERS FOR MIRACLES ARE TURNED AWAY AT ST. MARK'S

Clergymen and Doctors Work Together in New Treatment of Disease at Church Clinic.

(Boston Herald) New York, July 9.—A score of men and women and a 14-year-old boy sought cure for a dozen different ailments in the Episcopal church of St. Mark-in-the-Bowery this morning where medicinal and spiritual advice was meted out for the alleviation of their sufferings.

Before the doors of the historic church were opened at 9 o'clock there were already a few persons on hand and although the first clinic was to have closed two hours later, it remained open until long after 1 o'clock to care for all who had come.

The majority were from the five boroughs of the city, with complaints ranging in seriousness from dizziness and locomotor ataxia to defective teeth and mild forms of neurasthenia.

At St. Mark's, where physicians and clergy men were to co-operate in bringing health and vigor to sick bodies and diseased minds.

Nothing Else Helped. "I have tried everything and have seen any number of doctors," was the introductory statement of many. "Nothing seems to have helped."

"We're not performing miracles here," was the usual reply of Dr. Edward Spencer Cowles, nerve specialist, who directed the work of five physicians at the church.

The 14-year-old boy who was brought by his parents had never been able to talk. Doctors could do nothing for him. His parents pleaded that his affliction be removed. No miracle could be worked, they were told, and they departed sorrowfully.

Some wanted treatment that any dentist could give and they were advised to go to a dental clinic. To them, no soul healing was administered. Another whose tonsils were slightly enlarged was also advised to go elsewhere.

His spirits required no raising. Still others, whose diagnoses showed nervousness, fear and other psychic irregularities, were given prescriptions and told when to come again and then sent to see the Rev. Edward Cosbey, associate rector, while Dr. Norman Guthrie is abroad.

Arriving at the church, the patients described their symptoms to young ladies in the vestibule and then seated themselves in the rear pews of the old edifice. The improvised clinic was held in a small room in the back, where the privacy of a physician's office was maintained.

At least a half-dozen of the patients, said Dr. Cowles, after he had completed the examination, "were suffering from nothing but fear. Nothing ailed them which cannot be treated with a spiritual or psychological talk, with just a little sympathy besides."

"This form of neurasthenia prevailed especially among the men. One said he would soon be paralyzed and another assured me he was going to die from stomach disease. He had been to see a number of physicians, he said, and they had given him no hope."

"It isn't only in mental cases, however, that the minister can aid us in our cure. Frequently, even in organic troubles, the patient loses heart and becomes morose, and it is then that a spiritual heart-to-heart talk will be of great benefit."

To Combat Fear. "About 90 per cent. or more of the people who believe they are suffering from serious diseases, are actually obsessed with fear and little more. They fear the closed places and the open spaces as well as everything else. They fear they are going to have heart disease, cancer or consumption. It will be our task to get these distorted ideas out of their minds."

Dr. Cowles said he wanted to make clear that so-called "faith healing" will not be practised at the clinic. Co-operation between the doctors and ministers is the purpose of the clinic he said.

"What the physicians can't do, the ministers will do; and what the ministers can't do, the physicians will do," is how Dr. Cosbey explained the nature of the clinic. Wherever their services are believed necessary, social workers will also work with the physicians and clergymen.

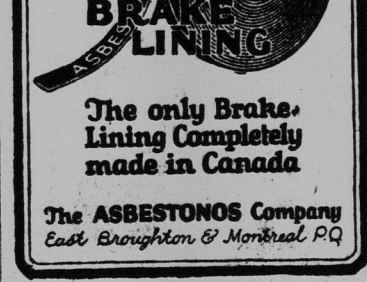

Dr. Cosbey said that the St. Mark's clinic is but the forerunner of many more to be established in this country and even in other parts of the globe.

"This is not a personal thing for St. Marks, he declared. "Any work that is real is bound to grow and others will surely want to imitate what we are doing here. There is no physician or clergyman who is not willing and anxious to help people, if he is half a man. That's what his life is for."

An important part of the clinical work is the Sunday talk to patients, said Dr. Cosbey. Different ministers will speak at these services during the year.

The clinic, said Dr. Cosbey, is expected to be permanent at the church. Doctors will be in attendance every morning between 9 and 11, and one evening will be designated for those who cannot come in the morning.

BRITISH PRISONER FELS GUARD AND ESCAPES

Convict Steals from Warden's Effects Before He Takes Flight. London, June 7.—(By Mail).—There was a dramatic escape from Norway outside the prison inclosure and adjoints the roadway, in charge of a warden, named Louis Arthur Roberts.

It is alleged that one of the prisoners, named Charles Baker, felled Roberts with a heavy wood pick handle, rendering him helpless.

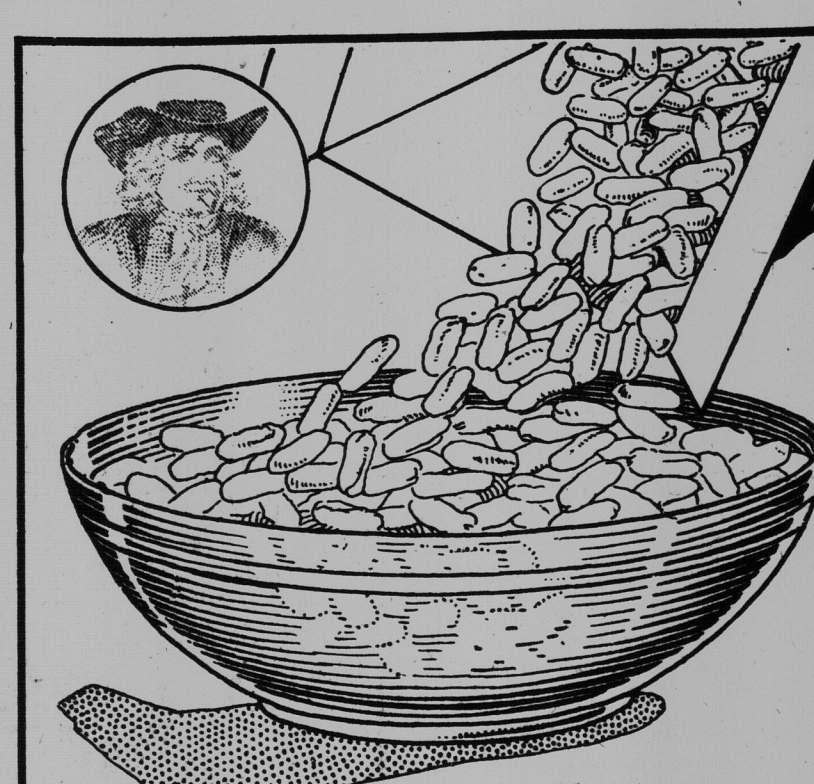

The second prisoner immediately rushed out of the house and gave the alarm at the prison. Meaningless it is stated, Baker locked the unconscious officer in the room and then made his way into another chamber, and after possessing himself of some of the Governor's clothing and money (said to be about £17) made his escape through a window onto the lawn.

APPROVES OF THE NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL

(Toronto Globe). The office of Attorney-General, the most important portfolio in the Ferguson Ministry, the composition of which is announced, will be filled by W. F. Nickle of Kingston. It is understood that Mr. Nickle was somewhat reluctant to relinquish his private practice and take up residence in Toronto as the wheel-horse of the new Administration. He was offered the post of Attorney-General in Mr. Drury's Government before Mr. Ferguson took office, and it was largely the promise of home ties and associations in Kingston that led him at that time to decline the offer.

There is still a kindly feeling for Mr. Nickle in the U. F. O. ranks, and the Farmers' Sun a few days ago took occasion to say: "W. F. Nickle is said to have his choice of the Attorney-Generalship or the Treasury portfolio. He would do excellently in either. The Kingston man is something more than a politician and has qualified himself for the Treasury post by his thorough study of Provincial finances during the past two years."

The new Attorney-General may be trusted to keep what are known as "The Interests" in their place. He has been for many years an outspoken critic of the Mackenzie group. In 1918, while a member of the House of Commons, he opposed with the utmost vigor the granting of further aid to the Canadian Northern and urged that the Government of Sir Robert Borden take over the road and operate it as a public ownership enterprise. At that time Sir William Mackenzie was a power in the land politically. In various ways he made life miserable for the too-independent member for Kingston. To a suggestion by Sir William that Mr. Nickle should "go over to the Opposition," the member for Kingston replied in a speech that is still remembered in the House of Commons. He declared it better a thousand times that he should go out of public than that Mackenzie and Mann should put their hands on his throat and make the public think a man dare not stand up and express his conviction in the House. "I would sooner go down to defeat in Kingston," he added, "if I am a candidate in the next election, than I would be in Mackenzie's shoes and so far forget the order to which I belonged as to adopt the tactics of the South African savage, and blow a poisoned dart into the back of an unsuspecting enemy." After that speech, which contained much weighty argument as well as keen invective, Mr. Nickle was labelled "dangerous." Today events have proved his judgment to be sound. The Canadian Northern is a part of the National Railway System, the Mackenzie interests are no longer a factor of importance in Canadian political life, and the "rebel" of 1914 is the Attorney-General of Ontario. "Wets" and "drys," rich and poor, the strong and the friendless—if Mr. Nickle's past record is an indication of the future—will obtain equal justice from the chief law officer of the Crown in Ontario.

HEAD OFFICE WINNIPEG

WHY THE AVERAGE STORE LIVES ONLY 7 YEARS

(By Homer J. Buckley of Buckley, Demet & Co., Chicago.) I was shocked recently when I found that the average life of a retail store is only seven years. Just think of it, all retail stores die within seven years. Of course, there are those that survive, and, like the oak, grow bigger and sturdier as time goes on. On the other hand, there are many that drop out, or fall in one, two, three, four, five and six years to effect the survival of the few that pass the seven-year mark. For such a condition to exist there must be a reason—or cause and effect—and the seriousness of such a situation demands that those in the business, as well as those whose business is affected by it, must give it serious thought, and why the banking interests and the wholesale interests have not made a greater effort to rectify this condition I cannot understand.

For the man who has his merchandise chart filled out for each of the fifty-two weeks and can plan his purchases and his sales so as to make each week a busy week. Not for him, but for the financial or sales chart filled out for the fifty-two weeks. First, with a column showing what he did each week last year, and, therefore, what he has to beat each week of this year. Second, with another column showing by each of the same weeks what he sets down for himself to do—in other words, his sales task, or sales quota, and with the third column to show him, week by week, whether he is gaining or losing. Such a merchant can't fail. In every village and town there is room for a merchant to get rich if he will chart his purchases, his sales, and his advertising. Next to poor salesmanship the greatest leak of profits in the retail store is the waste of time. This leak is more often caused by not having a plan and working it out. Time and care should be taken to work out a definite budget and sales plan for the operation of a store, and the plan should be rigidly adhered to. Advertising and sales events should be laid out weeks and in many cases, months in advance, and buying should be regulated on such a plan. This will enable goods to be ordered, displayed arranged, and the clerks posted; thus everything will be thoroughly coordinated. The proprietor and department managers should see that educational literature is given to clerks and that they be required to sign a slip stating: "I have read it carefully." Then when you find a clerk that is not posted on certain lines, you are able to ask, "Why did you sign this slip, stating you had read it carefully?" See that all goods that are "out" or "low" are entered immediately in the stock book. Arrange a calendar on goods that deteriorate quickly or go out of date, thus enabling them to be cleared.

What's Missing? When we begin to look around for ways and means of increasing sales or turnover, what do we find? We find gross inefficiency; no analysis of the market—no budget of finance and purchases; no preconceived plan of action; no sales strategy; no advertising ability. With these fundamental principles all stores can and will succeed even though they may be in the most limited locations, and without these fundamentals applied most religiously, big retailers would have to have known success, would never have become big, nor could they remain big without the application of these basic principles. No beginner can today hope to exist very long—to say nothing of expanding—without following these principles. Let's go farther—let's see what the troubles are that make the retail mortality seven years. Here they are:— Too many are unfitted by temperament to ever make successful retailers. Too many of the uninitiated think it is an easy way of making a living. Too many start in with too little working capital. Too much credit extended to them. Credit is too cheap. Too many are lazy. Too many are misled by the old saying "that goods well bought are half sold" and, therefore, expect too much of their buying. While too few heed the newer and more trite saying "that goods all sold are well bought," and therefore spend too little time and thought in devising methods and plans to sell goods. Buying is much easier than selling. That is, as long as you have the cash, or credit, but cash or credit soon wear out, and are gone if sales are not made, so it's sell, sell, sell, sell—at a profit! If you do that buying will take care of itself. Too many retailers think too much of their office and too little about their main floor. Buying is too precisely done. The ratio of sales to purchases per item is almost unknown to retailers, or, put in the other way, the ratio of what should be bought is set down employed with regard to actual sales. In other words, there is little science in the retail business, and too much guesswork and trusting to luck. "Profitless Days." How many merchants have ever figured up the number of days out of the year that they are days without profit? When you take January, February, July and August and add the rainy days, you will soon realize that almost half of the year is done at a loss, and how you can make the other half losing in the bargain is a real job, but not for the fellow who plans ahead, not for the fellow who has a merchandise and financial chart. Not abstract. The output of this latter machine in one minute of running time would produce 3,757 sheets of paper equal in size to a ten-page eight-column newspaper. Coincident with the development of the newspaper industry and the introduction of these enormous machines is the greatly augmented demand upon the pulpwood supply of Canada. If Canada's resources of pulpwood could be assured of depletion only by industry, with the greater attention being given to scientific forestry methods and replanting by the pulp and paper companies, the prospects would be good for a continuous supply of this raw material, according to a report recently issued. Unfortunately this is not the case. Forest fires are taking a tremendous toll, not only of the tree which is of pulpwood size today, but of that which would produce the pulpwood supply of ten, twenty or more years hence—the young growth and seedlings are destroyed, and the ground left barren. Many other industries benefit through the development of the pulp and paper industry. The engineering trades supply large quantities of machinery for the pulp and paper mills and for the water-power development so closely associated with the industry. Large supplies of materials other than the raw pulpwood are required, the manufacturers of wire screening and felts benefit to a considerable extent. Probably the railways are more directly concerned than any other interest in the growth of the pulp and paper industry. The freight created by the necessary transportation of supplies, such as coal, &c., and the delivery to consumers of the finished product or to the mills of the United States of pulpwood and woodpulp constitutes one of the large sources of revenue. During the year ended March 31, last, the exports of pulpwood were 1,098,492 cords, while mechanical and chemical pulp amounted to 850,000 tons and newsprint to 1,000,522 tons. The value of the pulp and paper industry to Canada, in export trade alone, for the same period, represented $122,254,889, $72,697,826 of this being accounted for by newsprint, 883,484,086 by other papers. What it represents in employment is shown by the last report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics of the industry, which gives the number of employes as 23,524, with wages as $34,999,090. When it is realized that this is but one of the many industries dependent upon the forests for existence, Canada has good cause to be alarmed over the tremendous invasion which forest fires are making upon this natural resource, experts say. Premier GASOLINE You may pay more but you can't get more Quick starting Big power RADIATING out from our six great oil refineries are more than 1,300 bulk distributing stations entrusted with the responsibility for serving, adequately and economically, districts largely dependent upon them for petroleum products. New units, as required, are constantly being added to round out this vast, well-knit distributing organization. Stations now under construction in the west and north answer the challenge of unclaimed tracts; throughout the grain-growing belt our stations rival in frequency the local elevators which dot the prairie; in the more densely settled east station after station is continually going up to meet the ever-growing demands for our products in these territories. Imperial Oil bulk distributing stations constitute a dependable "service of supply" which alike benefits the dealer and the consumer. MOTORS

And Their Care

Oil Leakage.
It is important to prevent the escape of lubricant from the differential housing, because it will accumulate on the bushes and reduce their efficiency. While it is difficult to overcome leakage due to excessive supply, if reasonable precaution is taken in re-assembling the axle, the housing may be made leakproof. Leaking is usually caused by worn felt washers in the stuffing box which is intended to form the lubricant seal. It is advisable, therefore, to replace the felt washers and other worn parts of the lubricant seal when differential repairs are being made. Owing to the importance of this feature, the slightest amount of wear incident will justify replacement of the parts. The shaft on which the parts bear should be smooth so that it will not wear the seal away and cause the leakage to appear again.

Eliminating Body Squeaks.
A body resting unevenly on the frame of a car will cause a cracking sound. By placing strips of leather between body and frame (preferably where body bolts pass through frame) this noise is often overcome. A rubbing or rattling noise can most frequently be attributed to the edges of doors rubbing against their frames.

Watch Out for Rigid Laws.
To guard against more rigid enforcement of motor laws and various penalties on the part of petty officials

In every part of Canada it's the same story:—"Dunlop is the 'boy' for Big Mileage!"

motor tourists are advised particularly concerning the following details:—

To have regulation tail-lights.
To use headlight lenses universally approved.
To make sure their speedometers are accurate.

Not to forget to carry their license certificates with them.
Not to fall to take out a license in a State when oversteering the limit.

Howling Brakes.
Brakes squeal when they are glazed or improperly adjusted. Squeaking often can be stopped by removing wheels and roughening the brake lining with a file. If the lining is worn down to the rivets, sink the rivets or have the brakes relined. Wipe off an oil brake mechanism every 500 miles, or oftener. Make regular systematic brake inspection a habit.

Lead Washers for Fuel Line.
Lead washers should always be used in the fuel line and similar locations. Fibre washers are of no use. The action of gasoline upon these washers has a tendency to make the motor run sluggishly by forming a deposit of minute particles from the fibre.

A Suggestion.
Open the drain at the bottom of the carburetor occasionally before starting the engine. Water or dirt will be drawn off in this manner and possible trouble may be avoided.

Efficient Steering.
When steering sharply to avoid hitting something, always apply the brake at the same time. Steering can be used as a safety measure, but never depend upon it. Stopping and steering will produce best results.

When Testing the Battery.
When drawing solution out of a battery for testing, always return it to its proper cell. Unless this is done the strength of the electrolyte in the various cells will naturally vary.

Properly Installed Brake Linings.
When installing brake linings, care should be taken that the lining is stretched properly to avoid buckling. The rivets should be countersunk properly to avoid scoring the drum.

Remove the rear wheels and wash

NATIONAL ORGANIZER.

Dr. F. S. Tolmie, M. P., who has been appointed national organizer of the federal Conservative party, succeeding Dr. J. W. Black, who retired in 1921. Spurred on by the success of the Conservative party in Ontario, Dr. Tolmie will open offices at Ottawa, and together with Mr. Meighan, federal Conservative leader, will conduct an educational campaign in an effort to bolster up the party throughout the dominion. Dr. Tolmie is member for Victoria, B. C., and was minister of agriculture in the Meighan cabinet.

Requisites for Good Driving.
Good judgment, cautiousness and alertness are the three important points of good driving.

An excessive accumulation of carbon is evident when the engine knocks on a hard pull with the spark slightly advanced.

Popping back at the carburetor is exceedingly dangerous if the carburetor has just been primed and if there is much of a leak.

Proper lubrication, frequent inspection, and careful adjustment will do much toward maintaining silence in the car.

Air pressure is the best method to use in locating leaks in the gasoline tank.

Whenever there is an unaccountable overheating, look to the hose connections for the trouble.

The differential gear and axle of the modern car rarely give trouble if properly lubricated.

Cheap and unbranded tubes will ruin any casing.

Only an experienced mechanic should install brake linings.

PUNCTUALITY NOW MARKS TRAIN SERVICE IN ITALY

Rome, June 22.—(Associated Press by mail)—The spirit of discipline which the Mussolini Government brought in with it is no more concretely illustrated than on the railroads and in the telegraph service of Italy. Italian trains are now run on time—one can even set one's watch by them—and the time of transmission on internal and foreign telegrams has been reduced to one-

First Cost or Last Cost-- Which Counts?

Last cost, of course. It's the number of miles you get per dollar that determines whether a tire is economical or expensive.

The fact that Firestone Cords cost no more than other reputable tires to begin with is less important, we maintain, than the big mileage they are giving, means the maximum saving in the end.

Firestone processes—such as air-bag curing and rubber tempering, are more difficult and cost more to employ. Yet the thousands of miles of wear they add enables Firestone to offer more to car owners. By economies in buying, manufacture and well organized distribution, Firestone maintains these superior operations without increasing first cost.

Drive on Firestone Cords and you will soon realize the superiority of Firestone construction. They ride easier, for the carcass is more resilient as well as stronger; their thick, noiseless non-skid treads cling tenaciously to slippery streets, or grip powerfully in loose dirt, mud or on steep grades.

Not a single Firestone Tire on the four winning cars of the International Indianapolis Sweepstakes went flat. This speaks volumes for Firestone Steam-Welded Tubes. There was not even air leakage from heat breaking down the splice. Think what service these tires and tubes will give you when they can stand up under the terrific heat and stress of five hundred miles of steady grind. Ask your dealer.

The STUDEBAKER SPECIAL-SIX

A car that has proved its merit in every corner of the world!

In the hands of thousands of owners, the dependability of the Studebaker Special-Six has been proved by more than a billion and a half miles of service.

Wherever motor cars of exceptional reliability and staunch construction are required—there you will find the Special-Six in favor. Proof of this is contained in the selection of the Special-Six for performing unusual tasks in many parts of the world. Across the sparsely settled interior of Australia, we hear of the Special-Six carrying His Majesty's mail with clock-like regularity. Over the mountain trails of British Columbia, Special-Sixes serve as allies to the railroads by penetrating sections where the locomotive whistle is never heard. Even in spectacular tasks, the Special-Six takes a position of prominence, having to its credit the victory of the Gran Premio of Argentina—the most important race in South America—for the past two years.

You may never require such gruelling service from the motor car you drive. But whether you do or not, you benefit from the quality of construction that makes the unusual type of performance possible with the Special-Six. To every Special-Six owner, it is an assurance of absolute satisfaction, low operating cost and longer car life.

Complete manufacture in Studebaker factories, resulting in the elimination of partsmakers' profits; large scale production (over 80,000 Studebaker cars were produced and sold the first six months of this year); and great financial and manufacturing resources—make it possible for Studebaker to effect numerous savings in the production of the Special-Six. These savings are reflected in the exceptional value of the Studebaker Special-Six Touring Car at its price of $1795, f. o. b. Walkerville, Ont.

Let us show you the Special-Six today, take you for a ride in it—or better still—allow you to drive it yourself. You will then appreciate why we say that this car represents the crowning achievement of Studebaker's seventy-one years of manufacturing experience.

Completely Equipped

The Studebaker Special-Six touring car is completely equipped in every detail. Its refinements include: One-piece, rain-proof windshield with automatic windshield cleaner and glare-proof visor; quick-action door, resticator of cast aluminum; rear-view mirror; coil lights set to the base of the windshield; combination stop-and-tail light; tonneau lamp with long extension cord; running board step pads and aluminum kick plates; walnut steering wheel with new type of park and throttle control; carpet-covered foot rest; right-day clock; tool compartment in left front door; and third-gear transmission lock (which reduces insurance rates to Special-Six owners).
