London, Aug. 7.-An official bulletin issued today says: King Edward bore the journey to London yesterday without the least fatigue. His majesy had a good night and is in excellent health. The wound practically is healed. A bulletin will be issued on Sunday

Sunday's bulletin will be the last, and it will be issued only with the object of placing on record how the King bore the coronation ceremony. EVERYONE DELIGHTED. London, Aug. 6 .- Judging by appearances the King not only will be able to go through the coronation ceremonies, but will be perfectly capable of performing all functions of the service without discomfort. His return to London was accomplished without any ill effects and his first public appearance since his operation delighted even those who had the most serious apprehensions with regard to the King's condition. The group of railway officials and a few court functionaries who awaited the train exhibited many signs of uneasiness, which were not lacking among the crowds that jammed the approaches to the Victoria station, in which a squad of Lifeguards been placed. A four-horse royal carriage, with red-coated outdrivers, was drawn up to await the arrival of the train. WALKED TWENTY YARDS. The King, accompanied by the Queen and Princess Victoria, stepped out of the car and walked across a crimson cloth on the platform, some twenty yards, to his carriage. The Queen and Princess Victoria entered the victoria and the King followed, apparently without difficulty, and four royal servants placed rugs about his knees. The King stood up straight, as if he never had any illness in his life, took off his hat to the friends on the platform and the crowd behind barriers. He seemed to be in delighted to be back. He drove out with the top of the friage down. His face was perpetually lighted with smile of satisfaction and he looked having removed his silk hat. The King kept continually bowing and smiling in response to the cheers of the people. The following official statement was made at Buckingham Palace tonight: "His majesty has borne the journey excellently and is very well indeed."

THE KING LOOKS BETTER. It was common comment that the King had lost weight and looked better for it. His manner was animated, and there were no signs of weariness or illness. The Queen was as handsome as ever, and the Prince of Wales seemed bright and cheery. The King has astonished the court officials by ordering the elaborate function of the investiture for Friday, the day office the coronation. This ceremony could have been readily deferred a few days or even weeks, and the King could have husbanded his strength for the severe ordeal of Saturday. But he is clearly bent upon relieving public anxiety regarding his health by allowing court functions to take their course and stopping the talk about his being market might be seriously discoman invalid.

ATTENDING TO PUBLIC BUSI-NESS. He has also directed his ministers to no longer spare him from the fatigue of public business, and is making appointments as though he were com-pletely restored to health. The theory pointments as though he were completely restored to health. PREFERRED DEATH TO CAPTURE

Tracy Had Baffled the Officers of Two States-Made a Marvelous Flight of 400 Miles.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. b. - After making a wonderful flight of nearly 400 miles across Oregon and Washington, Tracy was hunted down by four citizens of the little farming town of Creston, and a single deputy sheriff. Sheriff Gardner and a posse arrived In time to guard the wheat field through the night, but the work had already been done. The posse that will share the reward includes: C. A. Straub, deputy sheriff; Dr. E. C. Lauter, Martin Smith, attorney; J. J. Morrison, railway section foreman, and Frank Lillengen.

These men, well armed, set out from

Creston yesterday afternoon. They were working on the information of the Goldfinch youth, who had been forcably made the companion of the Oregon convict for over 24 hours at the ranch of L. B. "It surely is," replied Eddy. The party separated, Lauter and Smith accompanying Eddy in the direction of the barn, while the other two men swung around on the other side. Two of the pursuers stepped behind the barn on a slight eminence, from which they could watch everything that went on, and Eddy went on up to the door. Tracy came from the barn again and be-gan helping his host to unhitch the horses. He carried no rifle, although he had his revolvers in place. The fugitive finally saw the men carrying rifles and turned sharply to Eddy,

Stores are closed and the people are crowding around to get a sight of the dead outlaw. It is said that a heavy guard is kept around the morgue where the body is kept, as well as around the corpse itself, to prevent relic hunters from tearing the clothing to pieces and carrying away souvenirs. An inquest probably will be held.

RUSH TO SEE TRACY'S REMAINS. Spokane, Wash., Aug. 7.—When the sheriff, with the body of Tracy, drove through Davenport, hundreds of persons crowded about the wagon. By the time the wagon reached Stone's morgue the streets were crowded, and from every corner could be heard "Three shots for Lyncoln county." The town was wild. The morgue doors had to be closed, and the crowd was asked to stand back. Several persons were baffling the officers of two states, and allowed to see the body, and then trouble began. Everyone wanted a relic, and in a short time nothing was left but the body. Someone even picked up the bloodstained handkerchief which had been used by Tracy to keep from bleeding to death. Many locks of the desperado's hair were carried away, and in some places his head had been made bald. His trousers were cut into strips, and before they were divided they were cut into Ashley, Mich., Aug. 7.-As a balloon bearing Jewett Douglass, of this village, ascended at Pompeli, six miles west of here, Saturday, the crowd shouted "Fire, the balloon is on fire." The balloon was a hot-air apparatus, and had ignited from a spark inside. Douglass made a frantic effort to save himself. When high in the air he cut loose his parachute and jumped. The distance was too short to permit the parachute to open properly, and the aeronaut was badly injured.

ROOSEVELT MADE THEM ACT. It was not until President Roosevelt ordered suits filed against the Beef Trust that the weakness of the present arrangement was discovered. It was found that the packers could be easily attacked in courts and be made a target for public denunciation and condemnation. The only way to evade this and still retain power to fix prices and control market was to form a giant merger.

Armour and Swift instantly began expansion by heavy purchases of other packing interests. Armour gained control of the G. H. Hammond Company, the originator of dressed beef shipments and the first company to handle refrigerator cars. The purchase price was said to be $5,000,000. Next Armour purchased the Omaha Packing Company, and it was said paid $2,000,000 for that concern. Swift & Co. bought the Fowler &

Son Packing Company, of Kansas chase price was put at a total of $5,-000,000

FRUIT AND POULTRY, TOO. It will reach out and gather into its grasp the fruit, fowl and egg supplies of the country. The bulk of the coldstorage capacity is now in the control of the packers. Armour controls cold-storage room and cold-storage supplies in the west. By the purchase three years ago of the Earl Fruit Company, of California, the Armour Company took over a great fruit business and a hundred refrigerator cars. In St. Joseph, Kansas City and Omaha Armour has cold-storage houses where the western output of eggs and spring chickens are kept. practically control the beef markets of the world. England is already protesting and denouncing the high prices of meats. Nelson Morris is the largest exporter of cattle in the world. He has recently shut off the supply from Great Britain, and is waiting prices to advance to the point where, to quote him, he can export cattle at a profit.

GERMANY KICKS. Germany's embargo on American pork has been a bitter blow to the packers. They have spent $1,000,600 through agents in attempting to raise the embargo, but without success. Germany, however, is a good customer for certain cured meats, dressed beef and live cattle. Belgium and Holland are profitable customers. Every year the packers make further progress in European markets. Hawaii, the Philippines and Cuba are new fields, won within the last four years.

TO FIGHT THE MERGER. Illinois will fight the proposed merger. Spurred by the haste of the packers in absorbing the minor packing plants, the attorney-general desires to institute his case early to prevent a more bitter fight after the completion of the packers' deal. Attorney, General Hamlin is watching the mer-ger, and announced that he will fight the proposed combine under the Sher-man law and under the decisions made in the last three years by the state

Prior to the issuance of the restraining orders by the United States Court the packers practically made the rates on packing-house products. It is not strange, therefore, if the packers have made exceedingly valuable concessions to the Great Western in consideration of the road's breaking the present rates. If demoralization follows, the packers will see that they still have the power to control rates.

The facts were communicated fully to the government here by Governor Taft, who also explained this matter of alleged transfer to the Senate committee on the Philippines.

In the course of his evidence before the committee. Governor Taft said, in answer to the question whether the friars were in actual possession of the lands: "Generally in order to avoid hostilities, they have transferred their titles to companies and retained the majority of the stock."

As to the bona fide nature of the transfers to certain companies, Governor Taft said that he had cross-examined the heads of religious orders. He added:

"I think after you read the evidence it will become obvious that while it is true that transfers have been made, they have been colorable in the sense not fraudulent; I do not say that, but they have been colorable in the sense that the transfer made was for the purpose of giving the public the impression that the friars had parted with their titles, and thus facilitating the collection of rents, while in fact the ownership is still retained. That is my information as to the condition of the titles now, in spite of a protest filed by some stockbrokers with respect to the ownership of some haciendas." Aside from this information given by Governor Taft, the war department has been advised from time to time of certain individual transfers made by religious institutions in the Philippines to persons and organizations in this country. One such transfer is represented by a leading firm of attorneys in New York, and another is represented by a Washington firm of attorneys. The negotiations have proceeded, however, with the idea that these transfers were not of a character to interrupt the consummation of the main objects by securing a transference of the lands as an entirety.

The Heralds of Empire.

"Heralds of Empire," by Miss A. C. Laut. Publishers, D. Appleton & Co., New York.

Miss Laut's new book is an historical novel dealing with New England and New France in the seventeentn century. The hero, Ramsay Stanhope, is a young cavalier, who was sent out from England to his uncle, Eli Kirke, a bigoted New England Puritan. The new world proves a stage of adventure for the young Britisher. We are given a strong, clear picture of life in the New England States, especially of the religious side, for the religious element was always the predominant feature in the make-up of the Puritan. Book Notes.

"A World's Shrine" (A. S. Barnes & Co., New York), by Virginia A. Johnson, author of "A Lily of the Arne," etc., is a book that is full of interest to lovers of nature.

It is by no means a hammock book, and, although published in summer, still less does it belong to the silly-season literature. It describes that most beautiful of Italian lakes, Lake Com, and the home of Pliny. On picking up the book one fancies that it will interest only those who had traveled or who intended to travel in the Italian lake district, but a careful perusal of the volume corrects this erroneous impression, and one finds in it much to interest various classes of The chapter on Liszt will delight the

Than Usual.

[St. Thomas Times.]

The present summer has been the yesterday. The following officers were liveliest season for mosquitoes in St. present: President, E. F. Earl, Thomas, Port Stanley and all through Milton; first vice, J. A. Vandersluys, the scuthern counties, in several Niagara Falls; secretary, W. J. moons. The mosquitoes at Port Stan-Armstrong, Milton; treasurer, W. Mil- ley are particularly ravenous; they have an insatiable appetite for human ter Smith, W. Duff, Trenton; Richard blood, and generally get it, for the pretty girls summering at the resort vulnerable points of attack. One sweet girl at Orchard Beach boasted the Moffatt, John H. C. Horey, Merritton; other night that she had twenty-nine T. F. Garner, T. B. Bennett, St. good hard bites from her wrist to her elbow. So far this is the record. It will hardly be beaten, as the mosquito season is now at its height.

The only sure death for the active little insect, besides a sound slap, is nicotine poiscn. A collection of old tobacco pipes can be turned to use these days in avoiding mosquito bites. The brown, sticky nicotine which has clogged the old pipe bowls is one of the best known of mosquito antidotes. Dig out the nicotine and scatter it upon a raper, then burn it, and the nicotine smoke will drive the mosquito out of range. A doctor who used this formula says it has driven the mosquitoes cut of the vines surrounding his veranda and out of the favorite corners of his flower garden. The nicotine smoke will not hurt vegetation or flower gardens. In flower gardens, along fences especially, while the mosquito cannot in general be said to pick the flowers themselves, they swarm like bees upon whoever disturbs the plants. Many ladies have let their gardens go unweeded for fear of the mosquito bites. A few old pipes might restore the flower gardens to their original owners again. Just now the Talbot street stores and offices in St. Thomas are filled with mosquitos, who bite typewriter girls, clerks and managers. The trees on the side streets shed shade and mosquitoes both. In fact a few cows wandering along the street would complete the truly rural illusion produced by these uptown mosquito pests.

Megaphone to Cry Streets. Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 7 .- The Minneapolis Street Railway Company experimented yesterday with the use of a megaphone street announcer. The device may be adopted on all cars here. The mechanism of the arrangement is simple. A metallic tube carries the sound to the roof of the vestibule, connecting with the megaphone just inside the car door, and delivering the sound clearly and distinctly to the passengers. The motorman, instead of the conductor, announces the streets under

SOUTH AFRICAN HEROES HONORED

A Monument to Their Memory Is Unveiled at Ottawa.

ADDRESS BY LORD DUNDONALD

Some of the Results of the Recent Campaign-Aid Given the Mother Land by Canada.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.-Between 4,000 and 5,000 people last night witnessed the unveiling of the monument erected on City Hall Square by 30,000 school children of the Ottawa valley in honor of the 13 soldiers from Ottawa who died in South Africa while fighting for the empire. It was the occasion of Lord Dundonald's first public appearance in Canada, and was made an elaborate military affair, the Ottawa brigade turning out as a guard of honor with Major S. M. Rogers as chief officer in command. The other officers commanding were Major Charles Winters, G. G. F. G.; Capt. E. W. B. Morrison, D. S. O., Second Field Battery; Major Brown, P. L. D. G., and Capt. Stewart, of the Fortythird Regiment: The unveiling was done by little Marjorie Cook, daughter of Mayor Cook. Mr. George S. May presided and introduced Lord Dundonald, but before doing so, presented the monument to the city, which was accepted by Mayor Cook, who said: "On behalf of the citizens I accept this tribute to the valorous dead." Dundonald, who was surrounded by the headquarters officers, spoke in a clear voice, which penetrated to the outer limits of the crowd and could be heard distinctly. He

"Your Worship, ladies and gentlemen: It is now about two years and ten months ago that the Boer Government sent its dictatorial and insolent message to Great Britain. This message was flashed across the sea and provoked among the British people unparalleled indignation. word was shortly followed by the blow, and Boer hosts invaded our peaceful colonies of Natal and the Cape. I myself saw homesteads as peaceful and pretty as those sur-rounding your own beautiful city devastated and destroyed as if by the nand of a savage people. In this undisciplined host every man was a law unto himself. If he wished to steal he called it commandeering, and our citizens of Natal and the Cape were thus subjected to the most cruel treatment. But a mighty wave of indig-nation was rising not only in the old but in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and every British col-Men were laying down their leaving their farms, leaving their business occupation to don the khaki and take the rifle in hand. One can hardly realize what it is for a soldier to leave his business to the care of others to face the dangers and take the chances in the field. We honor them for it and not only those but others who thronged in vain the recruiting stations.

"But we are here tonight not only to honor those who went to the front to fight the Empire's battles, but those who laid down their lives for that Empire on the South African I may say that it was the blood of these men which cemented our Empire with links of iron, and Canada may be assured that just as she sent her sons to help Natal and Cape, their sons, if Canada ever needs assistance, will stream across the sea to her help. I can assure little Marjorie Cook, the daughter of your respected mayor, who represents 30.000 children, that the friends of the fallen, the citizens of Ottawa, of the Dominion of Canada, of the whole Empire, thank them for the honor bestowed now on those gallant men. It is an honor that no parliament or no king could bestow, for no one could bestow the spontaneous gift of 30,000 children, on behalf of those who fought in South Africa from the militia of Canada, I thank them for this offering to our gallant comrades." The cord was then pulled by little Miss Cook, which caused the flag to unfold from off the monument, and handsome bronze figure appeared the crowd gave three lusty

The band then played the Dead March, after which Mayor Cook delivered an eloquent address and the wear flimsy garments that leave many gathering dispersed with the usual

> HENSALL MAN HONORED. Hensall, Aug. 6.-There arrived at Hensall on Tuesday evening quite unexpectedly a South African hero in the person of Mr. D. McEwan, who failed to let even his most intimate friends know of his homecoming, and naturally all were much surprised on seeing him. But his many friends, and those loyal to the country and the flag, were not to be deprived of the pleasure of showing their due apprecitioan of one who has served his country faithfully and well, and accordingly a large num of his friends, on invitation, gathered in the Miller Opera House to spend a pleasant evening together. Among those on the platform were: Revs. Dr. Medd, McPherson, Malott and Doherty, Messrs. McEwan, Stoneman, Taylor and Smallacombe. Rev. Mr. Doherty opened the meeting by

Wheat-Cutting Begun-Weather Cool -Demand for Homesteads.

Winnipeg, Aug. 6 .- A field of wheat has been cut on the farm of Mr. J. N. Davis, near Stonewall. Harvest will not be general for two weeks, although it will start next week on the Mennonite reserve. The weather in the pro-vince is cool and windy. There is no rain. Mr. James S. McNabb, of Amaud. near Dominion City, commenced wheat cutting Monday. It will be general there next week. At Virden some farmers will start harvesting on Fri-

Many people are entering claims for coal lands in the Edmonton district. Last month more applied than in the past two or three years. Homestead entries for July were 252, against 183 a year ago.

ONTARIO MEN DEFRAUDED

Two Young Englishmen in St. John, N. B., Do the Trick.

St. John, N. B., Aug. 6.-Several months ago two young Englishmen came here and opened business under the name of J. C. Williams & Co. They land, and purchased goods for export. They dealt in flour, provisions, hay, etc. A few weeks ago they locked up their store and departed without saying a word to anyone. Their absence did not create any sensation, as it was thought they had gone to the country. They claimed to have bought for cash, and only owed a few small amounts around the city. It seems, however, they worked some sharp games on Ontario men. They ordered a quantity of flour, valued at $590, from Neil McCahill & Co., Forest, Ont., but when it came with the bill of lading attached they telegraphed they would not take it that way. McCahill & Co. wired instructions to give the firm the flour, a sight draft was accepted, Williams & Co. sold the flour from the cars below cost, put the money in their pockets and left town. Today Judge McLeod granted a warrant under the absconding debtors act to Mr. C. S. Hanington, acting for Mc-Cahill & Co., and the goods in the store have been seized. There is little in the store except some hay, a roller desk and some chairs. As Senator Dever has distrained for a quarter's creditors will receive very little on their claims.

POISON CARRIED BY WIND

A Peculiar Case of Ivy-Poison in New York State.

New York, Aug. 1 .- The wife of George F. Lyon, jury clerk of the supreme court, and a well known political writer, is in a critical condition in the Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from ivy poisoning. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon have been spending the summer in the vicinity of Milbrook, which is about 20 miles from Poughkeepsie. Lyon has a fine bay stallion and a runabout, and he and his wife have done a great deal of

A few days ago they spent a day at Upton Lake, and it was there, it is be-lieved, that Mrs. Lyon was poisoned. She is positive that she did not come in contact with any of the poison leaves, and the physicians in the hospital sav that the poison may have been communicated by the wind. Mrs. Lyon's face swelled to twice its natural size and became a reddish purple in color. The flesh about the eves was so swollen that she could scarcely see. Her body was covered with blisters. In spite of her condition Mr. Lyon took her from a sick bed, bundled her up in blankets and drove her to Poughkeepsie. He covered the 20 miles in less than two hours. The doctors pronounce the case one of the worst of its kind they have ever seen.

Sight Restored by Prayer. Denver, Aug. 7 .- Mrs. Sarah Nessler of this city, who had been blind for and well again. We have also used seven years, and whose case was pronounced incurable by oculists, claims to have recovered her eyesight in a miraculous manner. She says that while praying at a revival meeting of the Holiness sect, sometimes called "The Jumpers," at the Pentecostal union, a white light broke upon her eves, and soon she was able to distinguish objects. Her vision, she declares, is now nearly as good as it was before she became blind.

AT A CROSSING

Did Not Notice That a Train Was Approaching.

GIRL KILLED BABY BROTHER

Fatal Result of a Child "Playing Doctor"- Coal Passer Crushed to Death.

New York, Aug. 6 .- Andrew G. Partsig, 65 years of age, formerly a keeper of a hotel in Winfield, borough of | Queen's, and Albert Trior, a lawyer, of Manhattan, living in Newton, were killed yesterday at a crossing of the Long Island Railway, in Newton. They were driving behind a fast horse in a light wagon, and it is claimed no warning was given of the approach of a fast east-bound train. The locomotive hit the wagon just at the seat. The horse was killed. Both men were thrown out. Mr. Partsig was instantly killed. Mr. Trior died a few hours later.

PLAYED "DOCTOR."

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 6 .- Albert Howard, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Watts, 631 Indiana avenue, died of accidental poisoning. A physician who was attending the mother left some pills for her, and her threeyear-old daughter getting hold of these, played doctor and fed them to the name of J. C. Williams & Co. They her baby brother. The medicine was claimed to belong to Manchaster, Eng- too strong for the infant, and the result was that the child died.

FIREMAN KILLED. Fonda, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Almond Dilalpaugh, of Albany, fireman on the westbound New York Central accommodation train, due here at 9:04 p.m., was killed in an unusual way a short night. The water bar of the engine burst and knocked Dillapaugh from the cab when the train was running at full speed.

HORSEMAN FATALLY HURT. New York, Aug. 6 .- Wm. H. Thorpe, manager of the Road Drivers' Association Club House, on the Speedway, was assaulted yesterday by an unknown man in an Amsterdam avenue street car and received fatal injuries. The men boarded the car together and engaged in a heated argument, during which the man knocked Thorpe down. It is believed the fall fractured his skull. Thorpe had a wide acquaintance among horsemen. He died in a hospital.

DR. GREY'S BODY RECOVERED. Tonawanda, N.Y., Aug. 6.-The body of Dr. Grey, of Buffalo, who, with Miss Adams, of Toronto, was drowned $50, the Ontario men and other in the Niagara on Monday night, was to look into this. About 50 boats are spread about the river in the vicinity, searching for the body of Miss Adams, whose mother is so grief-stricken she is not expected to HORRIBLE DEATH.

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 6.-Clarence Proshashki, a coal passer of the locomotive works, was horribly mangled in the coal crusher Monday night. He slipped in the hopper and was caught between the rollers. He died in the hospital a few minutes later. TOOK POISON.

New York, Aug. 5.-The body of a man identified as that of James Allen, an export accountant of Manchester. England, was found today on the beach at Rockaway. There was a strong odor of carbolic acid about the body which led to the belief that the man had committed suicide by that means. He had been in this country but a short time.

Amherstburg, Ont., Aug. 5.—Michael Conroy, an old British pensioner, died at his home here last evening, from an overdose of laudanum. He had been drinking heavily and to steady his nerves took a dose from a bottle of the drug he had been using on his wife's sprained arm. It didn't act quickly enough and he took a second which killed him in a few minutes.

The Imperial Conference.

The Imperial Conference is expected to end this week. There are some who will stamp it as a failure because it evolved some full-blown scheme for the commercial federation of the Empire, and no doubt Sir Wilfrid Laurier will get his share of abuse, if he is not able to report progress in that direction, by which is meant, of course, a preference in the British market for Canadian products. No matter what the immediate results may be, the Conference has sown good seed. The representatives of the great selfgoverning colonies have been brought In contact, and the exchange of views on all questions pertaining to the Empire must have been mutually profitable. The visiting premiers have also conferred with the leading public men of Great Britain, who cannot but acquire a clearer understanding of the special circumstances of each colony, and a surer grasp and wider outlook on Imperial affairs. The proceedings of the conference have been private, but the public will probably find that a great deal of practical work, dealing with transportation, defense, postal rates, copyright, army and navy supply contracts, cattle regulations and other questions, has been accomplished. The decision to hold the conference every four years is a good one, as it will be greater speed than anything possibly necessarily a business gathering, and attainable by wireless telegraphy, should not be an appendage to a great social function like the coronation.

The Rush for Land.

Coupled with the present rush of population to the Northwest is the sinister suggestion of a land boom and its collapse. George R. Roberts, director of the United States mint, says there is hardly a crossroads community in Iowa that has not organized a syndicate to operate in the Dakotas or in Canada. This is the secret, he says, of the early movement of money to the west. "Prices of land there have advanced 50 per cent in the last two movement seems still on. The migration into Canada is becoming notable. Somebody has estimated that 25,000 acres of Canadian land are sold a day to people from this side of the line."

statement by Mr. Roberts caused the Chicago Tribune to make inquiries in Canada and the Northwestern States. The answers indicate that Mr. Roberts was right except that he overestimated the amount being loaned by the banks on land enterprises. While the westward movement of money evidently was caused by the lands in the northwest and by capitalists drawing on their resources to speculate in northwest lands. In the first seven months of the present year it was estimated that over 5,000,000 acres of land in Manitoba and the tion of it had passed into the hands steads to small American farmers, who leading highway is still a toll road. had come in from Minnesota, Iowa or Dakota. Next year it was expected 100,000 settlers from the United States would locate in Canada. The Tribune thinks there is food for reflection in These figures and it proceeds to moral-

Sze as follows:

"The rage to invest in lands in the northwest has not yet taken on all the phases of downright speculation, but there are indications that it will, and that speculation is likely to be followed by consequent depression in values and loss of property. Farming in the Canadian northwest is attended by climatic dangers to the single croft -wheat-which ought to deter all farmers who are not provided with considerable capital from moving into the country until it is much more thoroughly developed than at present. The Canadian wheat crop is exposed to the hazards of early frosts and late springs. If the crop of one of the new settlers should be so destroyed before he had had time to establish himself and lay by a little capital he would be in difficult circumstances. "It may be that the movement has not reached such proportions as will necessitate a collapse, but farmers who are doing well in the American states will be wise if they postpone the purchase of lands in the Canadian provinces for a year or two, until those who have already gone in the country have weathered the storm and the stability of land values is more certain. The slight advance in the price of land which will take place if no reaction sets in should not overweigh the considerations of safety."

A tenderfoot would infer from these remarks that the Canadian Northwest is a no man's land, that the American settlers who are now going In are the ploneers, and that farming there is something new and untried. The Canadian Northwest has been the seat of a flourishing agriculture for a good many years, and the experience of Americans, who have already settled there and have been raising good crops and making comfortable homes for themselves is one of the reason why the country is now attract- | ready to walk out." ing thousands from over the line. What the Tribune says about the climatic dangers is just as applicable to [E. W. B. Morrison in Ottawa Citizen.] the Dakotas as to the Canadian territories. In fact the advantage is in favor of the territories, which are free clever newspaper writer who signs from blizzards, cyclones and other Da- nerself Lally Bernard. It is too good by singing.

kota specialties. As to the collapse of the so-called land boom, it is possible American speculators may overdo it and bring about a temporary reaction, but the bona fide settlers, who purchase good land at the prevailing low prices, are taking no great risks.

Skeptical Over Wireless Telegraphy.

Lord Kelvin, the foremost living physicist, recently assured the cable telegraph companies that they had nothing to fear from the competition of the wireless system. This opinion is also expressed by another eminent authority, Sir William H. Preece, formerly engineer-in-chief and electrician to the British postoffice. Sir William Preece, before he met Marconi in 1896, had already succeeded in transmitting messages by wireless telegraphy at short distances. Marshowed him an improved and without a moment's resitation she method and the resources of the British postoffice were placed at his (Marconi's) disposal, but he was soon captured by a financial syndicate. In Page's magazine for August Sir William records with regret the fact that nearly six years have elapsed since then and the system is still in an experimental stage. Marconi's ambition is to conquer long distances, but wireless telegraphy, Sir William says, is not wanted across great oceans, but across narrow, recky channels and between tide-swept islands. He adds: "It is a remarkable thing to say that at the present there is not a single practical commercial circuit established on this system in the world. It was tried in Honolulu for commercial purposes, but was abandoned owing to its defects." The value of the submarine cable system, he declares, has not been shaken one iota. Each of the fourteen cables in operation works at a far which will allow a normal rate, he thinks, of only ten words per minute. Meanwhile the great towers erected at Glace Bay, Cape Breton, testify to Marconi's faith in the commercial possibilities of his system. He announces that he will be ready for trans-Atlantic business before December, so that the companies will soon know petition or not.

The general election which the Conservative party has been trying to locate for some time is now hovering

The outlaw Tracy has ended his miserable life and cheated the gallows. He became the object of a dangerous form of hero worship by the exhibition of cunning and daring which enabled him to defy an army of pursuers for months, although the average man under the same circumstances would when the choice was the knife show the same courage, knowing that capture meant death. Admiration of these qualities in a cold-blooded murderer is not a sentiment that should prevail in a law-respecting community, and it is well for society that the criminal was run to earth.

Her Very little hopes are entertained as jewels were sold by auction in London last month and brought $450,000. The late Earl of Dudley, her husband, who was insane, had a passion for beautiful jewelry, and at one time he had one of the finest collections of precious stones in the world, except, of course, the royal collections. He was immensely wealthy, his income being about $20,000,000 a year. His son, the present earl, fell heir to this vast estate, but squandered much of it in extravagant living, racing and gambling. When a bill for $53,000 was presented to Lady Dudley in May of last year for some of the decorations for the Grosvenor street residence (just bought by Mr. Morgan), she contested claim on the ground that it was excessive. The decorators said it had taken them six years to collect a bill for repairs to Lady Dudley's house. Big Ring Controls the Importation of

The trade in smuggling Chinese into the United States from Windsor and other points in Ontario is in a flourishing condition, and there are many people who make a living from this kind of work, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press. Sometimes the business receives a setback by the capture of a daring smuggler and his contraband goods, but it does not affect the others, who continue plying their trade as though there were not a secret service man in the employ of the States Government. Thousands of Chinese find their way into the United route, to the benefit of other Chinese ture detection is next to impossible. There are a number of points along the Canadian frontier which are regu-

At all three places there are white men in league with Chinese merchants in Canada and the United States, and every week Chinese are shipped across the border at one of the points named. The point at whch the United States is to be entered depends largely on the vigilance of the secret service men. If the officers make a demonstration at Windsor the Chinese who are being held for export are sent over by one of the other routes. By this method Patterson that he was in earnest, and no one crowd of smugglers is watched all the time, and between the three places there is always one left, unprotected, so that it is an easy matter

He says that the trade is going on today just as it did fifteen years ago, and that more Chinese are eing smuggled across the border now than when he had a hand in the business. The trade is so carried on that it is almost impossible to detect the people in the ring or catch the men who are smuggled into the country.

It is so much per head, whether they remain a day or a veek, but if the man wishes to remain year to gain a smattering of English, e is given employment in the laundry, and earns enough to pay his board and trifle besides. Then he mysteriously lisappears, and some morning there are one or more new ones to take his place in the establishment. This goes on year after year, until the fence grows old and rich, when he decides to sell out and go back to China. Word s sent around that the property is for sale, and in the course of time a new proprietor is installed. And so it is carried on. They very soon learn that pium can be sent into the United States at a good profit, and, as they day if y' were over there, because can get the drug shipped direct from your birthday comes today.' china, they buy it at less than white mugglers can. Of course, it is an easy matter for them to get men to take the drug across the border, where they always have brothers, cousing or riends who will conceal it. It is easier to take opium across than Chinese, and I believe the profit is also greater. There is not much risk, providing the Inited States agent is on the square, and, as there are very few Chinese traitors, the business is carried on without much chance of detection. "Sometimes you will hear of a smuggler and several Chinese being cantured by the United States officers, but whenever one of those captures made, you can rest assured that there s a novice at the head of it. Some of the Chinese get on to the ropes and they send for their friends in China to come to Canada and they will get them over the border. The matter is bungled, the officers get the tip, and the smuggler is fined or imprisoned while the Chinese go back to China. This ring I speak of is very jealous of its rights, and when an outsider tries to take away the trade, the members do not hesitate to give the necessary information to the officers. This serves a double purpose, as they put the opposition out of business and the informers make themselves strong with the officers. Perhaps the next week, these same people will superintend the to run a cargo of Chinese through the smuggling of from 20 to 50 Chinese oming in under their protection. AMUSING REMINISCENCE.

THE WORLD OF WORKERS

TROOPS STONED.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 7. - Stoning the troops was repeated early this morning. This time the attack was not upon the camp, but upon the provost guard, stationed at the Pennsylvania Railroad station, which is near one of the foreign colonies in the southern part of the town. Brigadier-General Gobin had been requested by the town authorities to send a company to that locality because of the disorders there. Company A. of the Eighth Regiment, under Captain Garver, was on duty there all night, and early this morning the colonel of the regiment says the company was stoned from the top of the high hill overlooking the station. A detail of men was employed near the houses from which the stones were thrown, but no one was arrested. offenders escaped before the soldiers reached the hilltop. BIG CAR STRIKE IS SETTLED. Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 7. - The street car strike has been adjusted satisfactorily to all concerned at a conference between officials of the railway and representatives of the strikers. This refers to Kentucky, West Virginia, and Ohio divisions. The settlement here came about during the trial of a number of men, non-unionists, who came here from Charlottesville, Va., heavily armed, to take the strikers' places. Two were arrested, and Hayman were each found guilty on during the trial the railway officials and the union leaders withdrew to a private room at the city hall, and after an hour's consultation announced that a satisfactory agreement had been reached. It is understood that the railway company recognizes the union and restores all discharged employes to their former places. WILL BE "MARKED MEN." Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 7 .- The Rev. Charles Edwards, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, and ex-State president of the Young Men's Bible Society, said today that the young men in his congregation, which is and old, the supply of provisions most made up principally of mine workers. made up principally of mine workers. have informed him that foreigners have determined to cut off an ear of every man who returns to work, that they will forever be marked as unfair workmen." Mr. Edwards says his young men are in a position to know, and he believes the story. The foreigners think this the easiest method of preventing attempts to break the strike.

Both Drowned.

Stratford, Conn., Aug. 7 .- Capt. Geo. Cullver, aged 55 years, and Miss Iva Muller, aged 23 years, were drowned in the Housatonic River today by the capsizing of a skiff near the Pootauck

Boat Club house. The Premier's Return.

Toronto, Aug. 7 .- A letter was received yesterday by Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, from the Premier, Hon. Geo. W. Ross, in which the latter states that he will sail for Canada on the 16th inst., and will be in Toronto probably on the 24th or 25th of the month.

Shot Wife and Himself.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., Aug. 7 .- Charles Shandley shot his wife and himself early this morning, and as a result his wife lies in a critical condition, and Shandley is dead. The shooting was without cause, except that he was insanely jealous of his wife, who, so far as can be learned, never gave him any cause. Mrs. Shandley keeps boarders to support the family, Shandley doing little or nothing for them.

A MURDER. Wilkesbarre, Aug. 7 .- D. J. Sweeney, a watchman in the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company at their Bliss colliery, in Hanover township, was found dead in a field yesterday morning. He quit work at midnight, and was followed by a score of men. The men were making threats, and Sweeney was afraid of them. He took refuge in a saloon, and waited there for some time. After he thought the crowd that followed him had dispersed he left for his home. This was the last seen of him alive. The supposition is that the men fol-

What self-torturers they are! You see that even in Ada's cup, brimming as it was, lurked the bitter drop which, more or less, qualifies the sweetness of every earthly draught. You may stud the goblet with gems, or wreathe it with flowers, and fill it with nectar to the edge, there is a fine tonic flavor somewhere, do what you will. Quaff it off thankfully, nevertheless, and be glad that you can taste the sugar at all. For nine out of every ten of us the crystal is foul and the centents wormwood.

Twice a week, at an early hour, Adawent to Belgrave Square. On these redletter days she instructed Lady Gertrude in her own art, for it is needless to state that the lessons had been resumed immediately on the pupil's return to town, much to the delight of the mistress, She had often argued the point in her own. had often argued the point in her own mind, as to whether it was judicious thus to familiarize herself with Gilbert's thus to familiarize herself with Gilbert's family, and almost always came to the conclusion at which she wished to arrive—viz., that it was advisable to do so by every means in her power. In the first place, should it ever be her lot to reach the summit of earthly happiness—which like all other summits came to look more and more practicable the oftener that they should have become thoroughly acquainted with her in her professional character, and accept her, if they accepted her at all, as the humble teacher character, and accept her, if they accepted her at all, as the humble teacher whom they had been good enough to patronize (there was no little pride in this, Ada, if you only knew it). In the second, if, as was too possible, something could connect her by the power of asso-ciaton with those to whom he belonged? The latter consideration was colden. every link and strengthen every tie that The latter consideration was seldom absent from her mind. There were times when it seemed impossible that such a dream as hers could be realized; when all sorts of contingencies would force themsolves of contingencies would force themselves upon her; when she could not but mistrust the influence of absence, time, circumstance, fate itself, and wonder what she should do then. Fancy being told that she was to see Gibert no more! She felt it would go near to break her heart; and there would be but one consoletion left to have identified herself. heart; and there would be but one con-solation left, to have identified herself with all belonging to him. There are hot and cold fits in love as in ague. Ada turned out of Halkin street, as I have said, in the full glow of the former, but her moral teeth chattered, so to speak, and her moral being shivered all over ere she arrived at her destination in Belgrave Square. Certain philosophers opine that the bofter sex are very much alike. One of the bitterest affirms, "Most women have no characters at all." I would do battle on each of these points to the death. In the first place, every woman is from herself most dissimilar, and this fact alone multiples the variety of the species ad infinitum. It is surely a logical sequence that where one specimen is multiform, the class cannot be homogeneous. With regard to their want of character, is it not allowed on all sides that the principal distinctive quality of the female mind is a positive adherence to its own opinions, that its intuitive perceptions are of the keenest and most incontrovertible Also that its resolution and tenacity of purpose remain entirely unshaken by extraneous influences, such as argument, expediency, plain reason, or even the all-important consideration of self-interest? here and hereafter! But this charming little programme could not be carried out conveniently with Lady Gertrude for audience; and Ada was not without that strange instinct of womanhood, the first impulse of which seems to be to fly from what of which seems to be to my from what it most desires. So she collected her gloves, handkerchief and music-roll with trembling haste, and, hurrying from the trembling haste, and Divia.

I think he's had bad news from England, the statement of th gloves, handkerchief and music-roll with trembling haste, and, hurrying from the room, confronted—Lady Olivia. Now it is hardly necessary to observe that the demeanor of that austere lady toward those whom she was pleased to consider her inferiors, was the reverse of engaging; and that one of the labors of engaging; and that one of the labors of love in which Mrs. Latimer especially delighted, was the endurance of Lady Olivia's condescension and patronage with edifying humility, for her son's sake. On the present occasion the greeting was more severe and majestic than usual; nor, as the music mistress hurried down stars with trembling steps, could she avoid hearing the elder lady's comments on her unseemly departure.

"Well, I'm sure," observed that exem-plary person, in her loudest and harshest tones, "people's time must be very valuable, to go away in such a whirlwind! and whatever her musical proficiency may be, I can't compliment you, my on the manners of your mistress Lady Gertrude's rejoinder to this un-rovoked attack, though probably none f the meekest, was, however, inaudible in the hall.

CHAPTER XXXI. Ada hastened homeward. She felt it bsolutely necessary to seek composure her own room. With all her selfabsolutely necessary to seek composure in her own room. With all her self-command, on which she plumed herself not a little—with all her womanly pride and reticence—she was not proof against the possibility of his return on whom she had pondered so continuously, though so unconsciously, all those weary months. She began to feel at last, what she had hitherto hardly realized, that every thought and action of her daily life had borne reference to him. She could not buy a ribbon without choosing the color buy a ribbon without choosing the color he preferred; she could not cross the street without encountering some object that associated itself with Gilbert. Wet or dry, storm or sunshine, she never missed her walk in Kensington Gardens, never falled to stand in the same place, to conjure up the same vision, till her heart thrilled with a sensation that was very nearly pain. It was pleasant even to toil the week through at those never to toil the week through at those never heart thrilled with a sensation that was very nearly pain. It was pleasant even to toil the week through at those neverending tasks, and to feel that the discipline and the self-denial made her more worthy of her love; it was intense happiness, on the day of rest, to have nothing else to do but to pray for him, and long for him, and think of him incessantly from morning till night.

When Alderman Jones' friend Plumber, or the enterprising gentleman who manages the affairs of Stirling Brothers, consigns the produce of a West Indian estate to the treacherous ocean, he does not think well to heap the whole of his venture—his rums, his sugars, his molasses and his mangoes—in one cargo, for transport by one frail bark, however well found in the appliances of her class. When good Dame Trot rides the blind mare to market, she does not judge it. when good dame frot rides the blind mare to market, she does not judge it expedient to put all her eggs in the same basket. On the contrary, the goods of the cautious Plumber, or the far-seeing Stirlings, float on various bottoms over the greedy wave, so that the loss on sugars may be balanced by the gain on rum; so that if the melegies of down rum; so that if the molasses go down, the mangoes ride triumphantly into port. Also, thrifty Dame Trot, warned by pre-vious downfalls of the blind mare, while tinctly caught the words "Australian she carries some of her eggs with the mail," addressed to someone in the back cheese and butter in the basket on her arm, consigns the fresh-laid ones, pink Distribute these samples impartially among your admirers—the more the merrier, of course, for the greater the number the less the size, and, consequently, the risk of each individual packet. If Jack is false or unfortunate, or makes himself ridiculous, either of which causes is sufficient reason for dropping him at once, what matter? for dropping him at once, what matte for dropping him at once, what matter;

Think of what your plight would have

without an atom of crinoline you must without an atom of crinoline, you must have wandered by the willows, a maiden all forlorn, instead of queening it still in bower and ballroom, radiant, captivating bower and ballroom, radiant, captivating and heartless. As for poor Jack, never mind him, though he may be in prison or in disgrace, or gone to the wars, or the dogs; that is his affair, no yours. Everybody knows that men have no feeling; that cigars, race-horses or campaigning, will console them for the most harrowing disappointments; and even if poor Jack should go down in the front rank, to be stripped of that little packet aforesaid, only when the broad breast on which it nestled is cold for evermore, that is his own stupid fault. Why could he not take a leaf out of your book, impartial fair one? To soar aloft, false, flattered and unscathed, rather than thus to fall, true-hearted and alone. Alas for Ada! that she was not one of these wiser sisters. Alas for her! that her cargo was heaped and stowed away by deck and hold, till the waters lapped the gunwale, that the eggs were crowding and hurtling in the narrow basket, and never a one left to tempt the bird back to her cold, empty nest, when she had spread her wings and flown away. to fall, true-hearted and alone. back to her cold, empty nest, when she had spread her wings and flown away.

The dove duttered home to her cage and sat down to think, to brood over her coming happiness, and stifie the misgivings that would cast their shadows athwart the promise of the sunny future. On her table lay a letter addressed to her in the handwriting of an agent with whom she had not corresponded for years. In good truth, Ada's bankers sustained no heavy load of responsibility. Carelessly she opened the envelope, and its contents fell out upon the floor. As the sealed side turned uppermost, she perceived it was a ship-letter; and, concluding that it could have come but from one correspondent over the water, her one correspondent over the water, her one correspondent over the water, her eyes filled with tears of joy, as she pressed it eagerly to her heart before tearing it open to devour the contents. Then she read on, word by word, and ine by line, to the very end. Here it is: "Dearest Ada,—You will, I fancy, be he has, it is stupid and inconsiderate not to write a line from Southampton to say so. Perhaps he means to surprise us, and walk in with a long beard, as if he had dropped from the clouds! Let me see, he might have landed last night, and come by the ten o'clock train, which and come by the ten o'clock train, which and come by the ten o'clock train, which would bring him here just about now. What fun if he did! There's a cab stopping at the door at this moment. Good gracious, Mrs. Latimer! you look as if you were going to faint. Let me ring the bell."

Poor Ada! no wonder she turned pale:

"Dearest Ada,—You will, I fancy, be surprised to see my handwriting once more, and I hope you will forgive me any pain I may have caused you by one of those dodges that the pressure from without obliged me to practice, much against my will. I am an honest fellow enough, I believe, as times go; and had I not learned that you still bear my name, I would never have troubled you again, but kept dark on my own hook, and allowed you to believe that poor old Will had gone under once for all. Well, dear, the water has been over my head you were going to faint. Let me ring the bell."

Poor Ada! no wonder she turned pale; no wonder these voluble surmises of her pupil, and the suggested surprise, which after all did not seem so impossible, took away her breath! She prevented the bell being rung, and summoned all her forces to stand upright and take her leave forth, with, vowing that she was quie well, only a little heated, the fire was so powerful, and that she was already very late. She must really not lose a minute; she must be gone.

I wonder if anything on earth would have tempted Ada to remain and risk the interview for which she had longed so many weary months. She felt almost if she had rather never see him again than risk a first meeting in the presence of others, especially this sharp-eyed cousin, of whom, truth to tell, she was always a little jealous and a little afraid.

She had pictured to herself a quiet drama.

That torturing and disfiguring disease has its cause in an impure condition of the blood. The impure condition of the blood often arises from a diseased condition of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutri-tion. When diges-

"For three years I have suffered with that dreaded disease, eczema," writes Mrs. J. Koepp, of Herman, Oregon. "I was told to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did, and after I had taken fourteen bottles I was permanently cured. It has been a year since I stopped taking your medicine and it has never appeared since. I think your medicine a wonderful cure and hope others suffering as I did will take it and be relieved of their suffering."

BALL. No one who witnessed yesterday's game of baseball at Tecumseh Park will believe any longer in the old superstition that a woman cannot throw straight. For years women have been the butt of "funny" paragraphs written by bilious individuals, who presumably never had wives, and who as a conse quence never discovered how accurately a woman can hurl a rolling-pin. The performance of the Boston Bloomers yesterday at least convinced a thousand people that the fair sex has been grossly libeled. The Bloomer Girls not only demonstrated that they could throw a baseball straight, but also that they could play the game quite as gracefully as their male opponents. LONDON RINKS TO GO ABROAD. Windsor Record: The proposed visit to Chatham on the 9th inst. has been postponed to a subsequent Saturday, as word has been received from the London Bowling Club that they intend visiting Walkerville and Windsor with three rinks on that date. As there has been less playing than usual this season owing to the rain the committee hope to make arrangements this week to have the greens lighted by electric light, which will permit of playing in the evening.

LONDON HORSE MATCHED. Ingersoll Chronicle: As an outcome of the horse races at Victoria Park on Monday a matched race for $100 has been arranged between Dolcy W. and Charlie P., owned respectively, by George Chittick, London, and William Kirwin, of this town. The race will take place on the half-mile track at Thamesford, and will likely be held within a week, but owing to the present condition of the track a date has not been definitely decided upon. Dolcy was the winner of the free-for-all on Monday, but Mr. Kirwin believes that Charlie P. will show to much bet ter advantage on a half-mile track. James A. Buchanan will draw the reins over Charlie P.

the horse in 2:04 in a race before the close of the season, and that in 1903 Rhythmic would rob Cresceus of his crown. There is no more interesting history connected with any horse than that of the winner of the classic M. and M. in 1902. Rhythmic is a Kentucky production out and out, as his sire and dam were both bred in that State, and all hail from the one section, Bourbon county He was broken as a two-year-old, but after showing his ability to trot fast even at that tender age, was attacked with pink eye. It was a long siege before he recovered, and then his sight was affected. He had not gone totally blind at the age of three, when Doug Thomas began to drive him on his half-mile track near Paris. He could discern objects dimly and this made him sensitive and an unusually dangerous colt to handle. Thomas finally drove him a mile in 2:12 to a cart as he was always afraid to trust himself behind Rhythmic with a sulky. Shortly after this performance the colt became frightened and ran away with Thomas, finally turning over the cart in Stoner Creek. Neither trainer nor horse was injured. Thomas, however, had enough of the black horse, and Jesse Turney, his owner, turned him over to James Hukill to handle the rest of the season. Hukill never asked

L. Druien, the wealthy Bardstown owner, who has Onward Silver, Chase, and other great horses in training, offered $10,000 for Rhythmic, but, acting on Hudson's advice, Turney declined the tender.

Rhythmic is a natural trotter and requires but little extra rigging. He wears quarter boots and shin boots behind, and a three-ounce toe weight. As an indication of his remarkable brush, it is only necessary to say that Rhythmic trotted the last eighth of a slow mile in Lexington in :141/2, a :56 gait. Hudson has confidence that Rhythmic will sweep the country with an unbeaten record, winding up the season by placing his name in the list of the classic Transylvania. Being by Oakland Baron, a son of Baron Wilkes and out of Duchess, by Strathmore, Rhythmic is bred in the same line as Moko, L. V. Harkness' famous sire of the double Futurity winner, Fereno, 2:10%, as Moko is by Baron Wilkes, out of a Strathmore mare. Rhythmic's dam, Duchess, now dead, was a good race mare, going into the stud with a record of 2:201/2. Her foal, a year older than Rhythmic known as Fair Promise, is credited with having paced a trial mile in 2:121/2, but the blind horse is all that she has left to the turf which has shown any high-class trotting instinct.

> EVACUATION OF SHANGHAI. London, Aug. 7 .- Admiral E. H. Seymour writes a letter to the London Times strongly urging the immediate evacuation of Shanghai by the foreign troops there. He says: "I thoroughly agree with my esteemed friend, Viceroy Liu-Kun-Yi, that the time has come for withdrawal. It is due especially to the Yang-tse viceroys that these troops should now re-embark, and in my opinion no reason that can diplomatically be expressed demands their continued presence there. It is only fair that all nations should at the same time withdraw their troops. Indeed, the keen international competition in China both demands and justifies the procedure." The French consul here told the Chinese representative that France was willing to withdraw her troops from Shanghai as soon as the other powers agreed to take similar action. troops highly improbable. TOO RUDE. This being the case, it seems to me to be the plain duty of the city council to see to it that every citizen is protected in his enjoyment of those two boons to health and efficiency. The chief enemy to "rest and sleep" apart from physical conditions is "noise."

And while some noises are practically beyond the jurisdiction of the council—such as necessary traffic—there are -such as necessary traffic-there are others which the council could and ought to control, and among those there is none that causes more annoyance to more people than the barking of dogs at midnight. Owls Neither Wise Nor Blind, and Doves Not Peaceful.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," said

C. William Beebe, curator of ornithology, in the New York Zoological Park, "but nevertheless many people cherish ideas which have arisen, nobody knows how, which tradition has stamped with the aspect of truth, but which need only a little careful observation on our part to show their falsity. Anyone listening to sundry remarks at the zoological park in the Bronx will soon realize how numerous and how widely spread are these wrong conceptions.
"Probably ten or twelve people daily -judging from the number heard—ex-claim when they see the burrowing owls: 'Oh, these are the little creatures which live so happily with the prairie dogs and rattlesnakes.' Now, it is true that the owls and rattlers avail them-selves of the deserted burrows of the little rodents, but as to living together in peace—peace could not exist only after the prairie dogs had been devoured by the birds and reptiles, after the young rattlers had formed toothsome morsels for the owls, and finally, when the owls themselves had been swallowed by full-grown snakes, those scaly demons of the western deserts. "Before leaving the subject of owls, it would be well to say that these birds, as a family, are no wiser, for all their meditative appearance, than other birds—in fact, they are far below many in the scale of intelligence. Another false idea which many people en-tertain concerning these birds is that they are so confused by sunlight as to be practically blind during the day. Great horned owls and barn owls are the most nocturnal of all those in the park collection, but even these can see very distinctly by squinting up their eyelids, while the snowy owls and the burrowing owls are perfectly at home in the light of the brightest day, and have seen barred owls flying and hunting in the sunshine as unconcern-edly as any hawk. "Eight persons out of ten will tell you how much better a crow or magpie can talk if his tongue is split, but you can tell them that this idea is absolutely false, as these birds can artic ulate more distinctly with a perfect tongue, and how much suffering does this useless operation cause, the tongue of a bird being so constantly used. "Doves have a world-wide reputation for meckness and gentleness, but, if we except their sad, soft notes, and sub-dued colors, there is little to admire about them, for their disposition, in love and war, is anything but a gen-tle one. The male birds peck and strike one another with their wings, until generally one succumbs and is killed. The accidental bending of a little spring in a Bell telephone, which prevented the proper working of the delicate machine, gave Mr.Bell the English patents to his invention.

When Mr. Bell retented his invention which usually greets the exclamation which usually greets the exclamation which usually greets the exclamation which usually greets the exclamation. red tailed and red shouldered hawks,

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There's only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inchian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever;
nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh)

worth while carting them to market, and they are often given to the pigs in consequence. SOME PERSONS have periodical at-SOME PERSONS have periodical attacks of Canadian cholera, dysentery or diarrhea, and have to use great precautions to avoid the disease. Change of water, cooking and green fruit is sure to bring on the attacks. To such persons we would recommend Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial as being the best medicine in the market for all summer complaints. If a few drops are taken in water when the symptoms are noticed, no further trouble will be experienced.

Beetles in the East and West Indies are so brilliant in coloring that they are beautiful as gems. IT IS A LIVER PILL.-Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation, though gentle, is effective, and the most delicate
