Hancock, Esq., said it would be well for the impetuous quois. It was short and pithy, and conveyed to every sufferer from kidney disease the glad news that they need suffer no longer.

Mr. Hancock's statement runs thus: "For over a year I suffered with terrible backaches. Nothing I used gave me the least relief till I began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used only a few boxes, but today every vestige of pain has vanished completely.' Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Kidney diseases.

THE CORTES SUMMONED. Madrid, April 15.-A cabinet council, at which the queen regent presided, was held yesterday afternoon. It was decided to reopen the Spanish Parliament on Wednesday next instead of April 25. The premier, Senor Sagasta, made a statement on the subject of the recent developments of the Cuban situation, as affected by events in Washington.

had a conversation with Senor Sagasta, who assured me that the government was absolutely resolved not to provoke hostilities with America. He added: 'I should be extremely sorry were the country to lose its present self-possession because of incessant menaces addressed to us by the United States. We are striving with all our might to repress the national excitement."

WARNED TO BE READY. The supreme council of state has authorized Senor Gullon, the foreign minister, to order the Spanish minister at Washington, Senor Polo y Bernabe, to return to Spain directly President McKinley accepts "any resolution of congress which attacks Spain's sover-ley Remedies to His Belatives and Talk of a Further Cut—The Conference Ended.

> Montreal, April 15.—The railway rate war is by no means at an end. Indeed there are those who believe that the committee, in conference in New York, have not accomplished anything, nor has even any slight promise of settlement been made apparent. Mr. Mc-Nicoll, who is still insisting on the Canadian Pacific differential, for which he has been struggling all along, is bitterly opposed by the representatives of the United States lines. At present it is possible to secure a first-class passage, formerly costing $50, for $20. The railway officials, however, are looking for another rush when news of the coming "clean up" comes down from the Klondike, and efforts will be made to restore

New York, April 15 .- After a third day's fruitless discussion of the northwestern passenger rate differences, the conference of western railway men diso olved, and some of them departed for their homes. Each representative expressed a gloomy view of the prospects of reaching an amicable settlement. Mr. McNicoll, of the Canadian Pacific, who has presided over the conferences during the last three days, said that the conflicting interests were no neartogether than they were when this conference began. After the adjournment, the general feeling was that there would be no further attempts on the part of the general passenger agents to settle the troubles. Engineer's Recommendation Re Street Names Confirmed-Sewers to be Advertised-Want a Bridge on the Cove

Good nature reigned at the regular meeting of the board of works last evening. No hitch occurred in the proceedings, and business was finished at a reasonable hour.

It was unanimously agreed to recommend the council to carry out certain suggestions of Engineer Graydon, as they would add materially to the appearance of the city. The first was: "That Dundas street, from Wellington to Waterloo streets, be paved with asphalt, as the cedar blocks, after seven years' wear, had outlived their use-

Also that an artificial stone walk on the north side of Dundas street, from William to Colborne, and on both sides of Queen's avenue, from Park avenue o Wellington street, be advertised un-

The War Situation.

There is no actual change in the strained relations between the United States and Spain. Spain would like well enough to back down, for all there is in Cuba for her. The island has been nothing but a bill of expense in men and money. Her butcher's bill has been extraordinarily heavy. But national pride is Spain's most luxurious crop; and there are the republicans, to say nothing of several brands of monarchists, ready to promote their own political ends by the cry of base surrender. The Spanish Parliament has been called to meet on the 20th of this month, and probably ernment of the country or in the the Cortes will fulminate as hotly as the Houses at Washington. It is not is largely due to the fact that the a sign of peaceful views that Gen. The friendly feeling between Great Britain and the United States would make the enlistment of Canadian sailors easy and natural. The war would obliterate any re-

But there is a large number of persons in affluent circumstances. Terrible Murder in a Brooklyn however much they may be in the wrong they nevertheless are factors in the life of the nation. The House of Lords has again and again by its opposition led to the further discussion of public measures, and it has had to face severe criticism in accomplishing this object. It has secured a very full discussion of many subjects which, had the House of Commons stood alone, would have become law with very little discussion, in which case the institutions of the country would not to anything like the same extent have rested upon wellinformed public opinion. The House of Lords has on many occasions amended measures, which came to it from the House of Commons, in a way that while not detracting from the merits of the proposed laws, met the views of the chamber, and practically secured the approval of all parties concerned. Thus the reforms effected have rested for their support on the acquiescence of a party only. One

OURED BIM.

The story of Maxwell Johnston's cure is one of the marvels of modern medicine. That a man so far gone with Dropsy that seventeen gallons of water were removed at two tappings, and whom the best doctors in Toronto had given only twelve days longer to live, should to-day be strong and healthy, attending to his printing business, showing no evidence of disease, would seem incredulus, were it not backed up by the sworn statement of Mr. Johnston himself, corroborated by prominent and well-known citizens whose reliability is beyond all question. The following declaration speaks for itself:—

Thinks the Idea

Newspaperdom, of New York, has the following in a recent issue:

The London (Ont.) Advertiser, with the advertiser's interest in his advertising, has gotten up a neat scrapbook, a copy of which is presented to each advertiser, with the request that he cut out his ads as they are changed and paste them in the book. The book is 61/2 by 91/2 inches, has a cover of redcoated tagboard, and the first page bears this injunction:

KEEP A RECORD. of the advertisements which have appeared in The Advertiser. You often wish to refer to advertisements that you have used. This will help you. Cut out each advertisement and paste it in this book; they will be useful for reference. If you send us word, we will help you prepare your copy. Give particulars. FRANK ADAMS, H. A. KOMPASS, Advertising Dept. The Advertiser also sends a card to leepy advertisers, which says: vould like a change of your adverisement." Evidently London advertisers are not allowed to grow drowsy. I believe this is a good idea. I believe it will help the advertising department of The Advertiser in keeping "alive" the advertising columns. I like the scrap-book idea, too. The advantages of both schemes are so obvious as to require no comment.

If any of our readers have been neglected, a call or telephone message will secure one of the scrap-books.

ANGLO CANADIAN TRADE Improvement Due to the Preferential

Tariff-Gen. Sir Wm. Seymour-The Pacific Cable. Montreal, April 15 .- The Anglo-Canadian trade continues to improve. The exports to Canada from Britain during March increased 6 per cent, and for the first three months of the year increased 2 per cent. The exports to all countries, however, decreased 4 and 3 per cent, respectively. This remarkable contrast in Canada's favor is partly attributed to the new Canadian tariff. The imports from Canada were stationary for the month of March, and increased 15 per cent for the three months, while the imports from all countries increased 7 and 1 per cent, respectively. The chief increases in imports from Canada for the three months are: Animals, £19,000; wheat, £104,000; wheat flour, £9,000; bacon, £15,000; butter, £10,000; eggs, £20,000; fish, £63,000. The chief decreases are: Hams, £5,000; cheese, £1,000; timber, £75,000. Lord Aberdeen, according to the latest advices, expects to remain in Canada till September, 1899, making a six-

Hepworth Man's Second Attempt at Suicide Was Successful, Chesley, April 15,-Intelligence has been received in Chesley of a very sad case of suicide at Hepworth. Mr. Robert Maxwell, who has been conducting a drygoods business in partnership with his brother-in-law, Mr. Smellie, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. On Saturday Mr. Maxwell had attempted suicide by drowning, but was rescued. Although a careful watch was kept on his actions he succeeded in obtaining a bottle of carbolic acid that was in the house, and in a few minutes after taking it died. The Budget Debate Expected to Finish Tonight.

The General Prosperity of the Country Robs It of Interest - High Handed Work by Postoffice Employes-Ignored the Head of the Department

Ottawa, April 15.-It has been arranged that the budget debate shall close tonight. The present budget debate possesses fewer elements of interest than have been developed for many a session. The fact that no radical changes of fiscal policy were proposed by the minister of finance, and the additional circumstance that the results of last year's revision have disappointed the opposition prophecies of evil, afford small ground for criticism and therefore little occasion for defense.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED. Hon. Mr. Blair informed Hon. Mr. Foster that $453,750 had been paid to the C. P. R. on account of the construction of 42% miles of the Crow's Nest line.

Hon. Mr. Foster was told by the postmaster-general that he could not give the information as to what amount received for jubilee stamps was included in the revenue for 1896-1897. Foster that Mr. William Ogilvie was on leave of absence in England. He was still in receipt of his salary. Mr. Ogilvie had prepared the "Klondike Guide" and read the proofs for Mr. D.

A LEAK DISCOVERED. Mr. Taylor, the Conservative whip, had on the order paper a lengthy question asking for information as to the dismissal of Mr. W. W. Williams, postmaster at Seeley's Bay. Mr. Mulock requested the member for Leeds to give notice of a motion for a return. Mr. Taylor at a subsequent period moved the adjournment of the house, that he might have an opportunity of protesting against the treatment accorded him by the postmaster-general. Mr. Mulock disclaimed any intention of being discourteous to Mr. Taylor, but he said that it was only by putting the London Merchants Who Adver- papers before the house that all the circumstances could be presented. He tise in the Advertiser Looked added that the postmaster had left See- Wainwright said that it will afford carried a heautiful bouquet of choicest caucus against Tory influence in the departments of the public service, the succeeding words of the minister were significant: "I cannot understand," he said, "how this question was got up so the idea of arousing and maintaining pointedly unless there was some departmental information conveyed to

Mr. Taylor.' Charles Tupper asked if Mr. Mulock's suggestion had been thrown out for the purpose of terrorizing the officials in the postoffice department into keeping their mouths shut. Mr. Mulock had no ground for what he had

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if it were true, as stated by Mr. Taylor, that Mr. Williams was allowed by the late government to retain the postmastership at Seeley's Bay while residing in Smith's Falls, the then postmastergeneral who had permitted it had been guilty of a gross breach of his duty. He defended Mr. Mulock against the strictures of the leader of the opposi-

Mr. Taylor assured the house that he had obtained all the information at his own home, and not from any offi-cial of the department. Finally Mr. Mulock gave way and answered the questions categorically. The information was not of general interest, but one statement made by the minister was significant. It was that a reference of the Seeley's Bay postoffice matter was made to an inspector without his authority, and that he report had been put away without being docketed, and was not brought to his knowledge until yesterday. Meanwhile the contents of the report had been made public. The minister said that he had accepted the explanation that had been given him by his officers, as he did not wish to take a harsh view of the circumstance. Mr. Bennett charged that Mr. Mullock in the bye-election in East Simcoe had visited the country postoffices with the result that the postmasters did not poll their votes.

Mr. Mulock dealed this point blank. He had never, he said, so much as suggested to any postmaster how he should vote. He had studiously avoided any contact with country postmast- granules, prepared by expert chemists. ers during any of the campaigns in which he had taken part.

Mr. Bennett—Will the honorable gentleman deny that he visited the postmaster at Coldman. Mr. Mulock-I was never there in my life. (Laughter.) Mr. Bergeron-Coldwater is Mr. Speaker-The house will see that this is all very irrelevant. Mr. Taylor said he would bring the cents.

matter up again. THE BUDGET DEBATE Mr. T. Dickson Craig resumed the debate on the budget. He commended the senate for throwing out the Yukon bill charged the Liberals with in-creating the expenditure; asked for 12½ per cent duty on binder twine; and attributed the present prosperity to the

Mr. McMullen followed in an able speech. Mr. McMullen took cognizance of the ungenerous allusion by the leader of the opposition to the present position occupied by Sir Richard Cart-wright. "I believe," said Mr. McMullen, "that there is not a man in the ranks of the Liberal party today who is more looked up to or more highly respected, or whose presence in the party is more appreciated, than the minister of trade and commerce." The Liberal members applauded enthusiastically at this. The leader of the opposition, Mr. McMullen said, did not stand in the position of esteem in his party that Sir Richard occupied in the Liberal party. Continuing, he said that since corn had been made free, the export of fat animals had increased, the shipments for the six months being 137,584 head, or within 18,000 of the entire exportation during 1896. Mr. McMullen gave many examples of material reductions of the tariff on implements used principally by the agricultural community.

Mr. Bennett, who was the next speaker, joined with Mr. McMullen in paying tribute to the ability of Sir Richard Cartwright, but he likened him to the giant in Gulliver's Travels, who, tied down by the Liliputians, was utterly unable to break the bonds which carrying her parasol. bound him to the earth.

Suggestion for Improving Victoria Park.

A Driveway Around It Instead of Inside-The Offensive Short-Cuts-City Hall Notes.

Chairman Douglass, Ald. Cooper, Carrothers and Belton, of the board of works, accompanied by Engineer Graydon, visited Victoria Park yesterday afternoon and spent a pleasant hour red winter west; Manitoba wheat is and a half with Park Ranger Grant, viewing the charming resort.

A scheme whereby the park would be greatly beautified and improved was laid before the aldermen by the city engineer, and highly approved. It may be adopted in the near future. The plan is to turn into sod all the present driveways, save that at the east side, and to make instead a drive-. way around the outside of the park. Such a driveway would be nearly a mile in length, and the trees are so situated that the scheme could be carried into effect without shifting many. It would make the park appear much larger than at present. The drive would be more extensive, more shaded, and pleasanter, there would be more grass and more room for foliage and flower beds, and less danger of an accident on band concert and other crowded nights. The total cost would be $3,000 or $4,000. While going over the park the attention of the committee was called by the ranger to the unsightly "cross cut" paths made by people who persist in walking on the grass and by which the beauty of the park is greatly disfigured. The aid of the police will be proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel. of making a "bee-line" over the sward. Twenty years ago this month Victoria Park was instituted. Prior to that the land was occupied by the infantry barracks at the north end, and at the south end was the old cricket square. Mr. Grant began his services to the city when the park was inaugurated, and has continued as ranger ever since. Yesterday he was formalpresented with a brand new detective's badge, which will proclaim the fact that he is duly sworn con-

If such a change is made as suggested above, it might be well to remember the bicyclists and to build a cinder side track for their exclusive use. Grand progress is being made by the several classes which are being trained at the city hall by Prof. Speedie for the kirmess. The interest in the event has been so great that there are now nearly 300 in the cast. Original plans had to be altered and the classes added to, so that preparations are now in progress for 21 numbers. The work is undertaken by all the classes very enthusiastically, and Prof. Speedie, 25 in a general way. The road was being operated on purely business principles, and no fault should be found with any man for doing his duty. It had been said that the trainmasters occasionally take the running of engines out of the hands of the engineers, but this was not the case. Several months ago the system of traveling engineers was introduced, and two of the company's pest engineers, Mr. Rutherford and Mr. Newcombe, put on the road. Their business is to go where they are told and find out why an engine is not doing what it is scheduled to do. They are the only men who take the control of the engines out of the hands of the regular engineers. The trains are of greater length than formerly, but not

Mr. Bailey responded angrily that gentlemen when insulted and called liars were charged with having lost their heads if they resented it. He said he would infinitely prefer to lose his head in resenting an insult than his self-respect in submitting to one. The house was keyed up to an intense pitch. The Democrats applauded Mr. Bailey's utterances, and the Republicans broke into cheers when the speaker, with a voice trembling with suppressed feeling, declared that he refused to enter into discussion of his course with Mr. Bailey. Whatever he had done on Wednesday last or any other day, had been done in the presence of the house and of 1,000 witnesses. the icy tomb. Toronto, April 15 .- Following is an extract from a letter by Mr. David Henderson, barrister, from a friend in Victoria, B. C.:

"We are beginning to see the horrors of the Klondike, but the true reports are not printed. A Seattle steamer brought down forty corpses tast week and on Saturday last a Victorian came from Dawson, bringing the sad news of the death from exposure of L. B. Hamlin, C.E., and his companion. He was a neighbor of ours, and left home last October upon government work. Dr. Richardson, son of Dr. Richardson, of Toronto, has a small hospital in Dawson City. He did all possible for him, but without avail. It is fearful, this greed for gold. We see it here in all classes going out to this cold region. Many will never return; others will probably come back to be a burden upon the coast cities. You will say I have not much faith in the Yukon. I have not.

Woodstock, April 15.—In a letter received from Dufferin Pattullo at Bennett, March 27, he mentions Vaving seen the Woodstock contingent of Yukoners. Burgess, Virtue and McMahon have made excellent progress in getting their supplies across the Dyea Trail and about six miles down Lake Bennett. From there they were going to strike the timber country, then build boats, and go down the lakes and rivers toward Dawson. Burgess stated that he found it difficult to draw a sled with 150 pounds when he first began, but now he had no trouble in snaking along 450 pounds. Young Washington, Switzer and Sharp went in by the Skaguay trail and were not so fortunate in getting their supplies over, the last eight miles being very bad. They hoped, however, to get them through in a few days. All the party were in good health and spirits.

Claiming Damages for the Killin His Son, Oswell Bruce, Who Met Death in the Arcade.

The first writ against the city as the result of the city hall accident on the night of Jan. 3, was filed at the office of R. K. Cowan, local master in chancery, by the plaintiff's solicitors, Messrs. Parke & Purdom. The action is brought by William Bruce, South London, to recover damages for the death of his son, Oswald

Bruce, who was standing in the arcade when the floor collapsed, and was killed by a falling beam. It is claimed that from a legal standpoint, this case is different from the rest of the claims, as young Bruce was a pedestrian, and killed on a public thoroughfare, through the collapse of a civic building.

The amount is not named in the writ, this being left for the decision of the court, if it comes to trial, but it is expected that an amicable settle-ment will be effected.

It had a basement, and out of the warren of small rooms of which it had once consisted, a fairly other, and there was the usual horselarge hall and a few fair-sized rooms had been made.

The newer, but not very new, portion of the house had no basement, and it shabby, wicker chair. was by a short flight of steps that you descended from the hall into the drawing-room, and by another short flight Dale, showing a door opposite to that you ascended to the bedroom one by which they had entered. floor. Here the same irregularity was goes down by a flight of break-neck apparent. A corridor ran through the stairs into the drawing-room, a loathhouse from end to end on this floor, broken where the new part joined the old by half a dozen steep steps.

It was to a bedroom on the higher level, at the old end of the house, that Mrs. Dale conducted Mabin. "Why, it's a lovely room!" cried the girl, surprised to find herself in & big, low-ceilinged, corner room, lighted by three windows, and looking out on one side to the road, with a view of fields and sea beyond, and on the other to the garden at the back of the house, where apple trees and gooseberry bushes and the homely potato occupied the chief space, while the nooks were filled with the fragrant flowers of cottage gardens, with sweet-william and sweet pea, mignonette and wall-flower.

I went over to Seagate the other day dainties which she had ordered from and got some cretonne for the curtains town for Mabin's benefit, but which had and the easy chair. The old chintz failed to arrive that morning, the girl there was in the room would have given was left in a state of happy excitement, Mabin had not recovered from her admiration. The dingy, dining room, how she could have been so ungrateful with its mahogany and horsehair, had not prepared her for this. A beautiful but happy rug lay in front of the fireplace, which Mrs. Dale. was filled with a fresh green fern. side at night," Mrs. Dale was careful to

But it was not so much in these things, as in the care and taste with Just as she drew her head in she which all the accessories had been chosen, the silver candlesticks and tray Mrs. Dale's voice, tarking brightly to on the dressing table, the little Sevres the parlor-maid, came to Mabin's ears suite on the mantelpiece, that a lavish through the door, which had been left of the ball grounds at Bayview Park for Dale smile, and then suddenly burst to answer it.

"Don't look at me; don't trouble your head about me, child!" she cried, as she turned away her head to wipe her eyes. "It was my vanity, the vanity I can't get rid of, that made me want to show you I know how to make things pretty and nice. I made the excuse to myself that it was to please you; but really I know it was to please myself." "But why shouldn't you please yourself and have pretty things about you?" asked Mabin, in surprise. "Is there any harm in having nice things, if one has the money to buy them and the taste to choose them? I suppose it

And again a look of deep pain swept over her face. But at Mabin's interested look she shook her head. "No, no," she added in a frightened whisper, "I wouldn't tell you why, for all the world!" hands, was drying them on a towel so rilege. She refrained from further remark, however, upon the tuxury in which she found herself installed, and as the luncheon bell rang at that moment the two ladies went downstairs together.

But, after the beautiful appointments of her room, Mabin was struck by the ontrast afforded by the rest of the house, which was furnished in the uscorridor, and on the stairs, and with cheap lamps on brackets and tables for the amusement of her young companion, who, entirely unaccustomed to so much attention, was happier than she ever remembered to have been in her life before, Mrs. Dale did not spare the eccentricities in walk and dress of the ladies in the neighborhood any more than they had spared hers. "I don't know how you can ever be

"Ah! nothing is amusing when one is by one's self, or when one has thoughts." She ended in a low, clear voice, with a different word from the one which had been in her mind. "And now let me show you my den. No, it is not a boudoir; it is nothing but a den. Come and see."

Again Mabin wondered at the penitential tone; again she glanced up. But Mrs. Dale recovered herself more quickly this time, and putting the girl gently into the wicker chair, while she curled herself up on the horsehair sofa, she drew Mabin out, and encouraged the girl by sympathetic questions, and by still more sympathetic listening, to lay bare some of the recesses of her young heart.

The afternoon passed quickly; and when Mrs. Dale, springing suddenly off "Do you really think so? The words died on her lips; and Mabin, who was in the act of coming into the dining-room in obedience to her call, stopped short, and after a moconsideration of what she ment's ought to do, retreated into the smaller room and shut the door behind her. But she had been in time to witness a strange meeting. For the elderly lady, whom she had seen in the cab, had appeared at the outer door of the diningroom as she had shown herself at the inner one, and it was at the sight of her that Mrs. Dale had stopped short in her speech, with a look of abhorrence and terror on her face.

widespread pression that a man, in order to be a good physician, must be more or less heartless. People mis-take heartlessness for nerve. The two terms are far from synonymous. A man may have a nerve of steel and a heart as tender as a mother's.

Of all the specialists in the world, there probably are not two that have as wide an experience in the treatment of women's diseases as Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. With the assistance of his staff of able physicians, he has prescribed, in the past thirty years, for many thousands of women. Dr. Pierce is pre-eminently a sympathetic physician. Perhaps more than any other man in the profession he realizes the hardships of woman's work, and the disadvantages under which she labors because of the weak, delicate and susceptible structure of the feminine organism. His immense practice in diseases peculiar to women forced upon his recognition the fact that women would never take the proper care of their health, so long as that care required the repugnant "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by nearly all physicians. After years of study he invented a remedy new known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that is an absolute and unfailing cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of diseases peculiar to women. This wonderful medicine cures in the privacy of the home, and does away with the necessity for obnoxious "local treatment." It imparts health, strength, vigor and elasticity to the organs distinctly feminine and fits for wifehood and mother-

Fifty Tons of Molten Crystal Poured Out on a Factory Floor.

Chatham, April 15.-A few minutes after 9 o'clock the other evening one of the states in the front end of the tank at the Wallaceburg glass works gave way, and about 50 tons of melted glass poured out over the floor of the factory. Fire ensued, and the alarm was sounded. Before the firemen responded the factory engine and hose did good service, and got the flames under control. When the firemen arrived Manager

Moses would not allow them to throw water on the tank for fear of ruining After nearly all the glass had run out the fire went out, with but very little damage, save for small repairs to the tank. The greatest loss to the company will be the delay, as it will be a week or more before everything is in running order again.

An Evening

Beautiful Choir Cantata at the Colborne Street Methodist Church.

The choir of Colborne Street Methodist Church, led by Mr. H. Ruthven Mc-Donald, presented a pretty musical cantata entitled "Cross and Crown," last evening, in a highly creditable manner, before a large audience. Much time and pains were spent by the choir in preparing the cantata, and their efforte were greatly appreciated. No admission fee was charged, but the amount realized by a collection was alnost sufficient to wipe off the choir's indebtedness. Rev. George Jackson presided. The cantata was arranged and composed by Mrs. E. L. Ashford, and is a very beautiful composition. The first part, called "The Cross," included a chorus, entitled, "Thou, Lord, Wilt Arise"; solo and chorus, "The Temptation," by Mr. McDonald and chorus; trio, "God Shall Charge His Angel Le-Ö00000000000000000000000 gions," Miss Minnie Young, Mr. J. W. Hinchcliffe, and Mr. McDonald; solo, and chorus, "Hosanna in the Highest," Miss Annie Nobbs and the choir; soprano solo, "Ride On, O King," Miss Edith Hance; male chorus, "Gethsemane"; solo, double quartet and chorus, "The Shadow of the Cross," solo by Mrs. George Stead, and quartet, by Miss Minnie Young, Miss Edith Hance, Miss Annie Lacey, Mrs. Jas. Wallace, Messrs. Rinchcliffe, Frank Westbury, McDonald, and J. Watt. The second part was entitled "The Crown," and it comprised a solo, "The Strife is O'er," Mr. McDonald; chorus, by the choir; double quartet, "Abide with Me," Misses Young, Hance, Lacey, Mrs. Wallace, Messrs. Hinchcliffe, Westbury, Watt and McDonald; alto solo, "Come, Gracious Spirit," Mrs. Wallace; double quartet, "And It Came to Pass"; chorus, "Lift Up Your Heads." During the interval between the first and second parts, Mr. Mc-Donald sang "Honor and Arms," and In response to an encore he recited "Me and Jim." Mr. Hincheliffe sang Gride Us. Guard Us."

At the close several requests came from prominent members of the congregation for a repetition of the cantata at an early date, and it is probable heir wishes will be carried out.

ITS MYSTERIES SOLVED.

The Easter Egg Opened at the City Hall-A Fine Entertainment and a Large Crowd.

The old York Street Mission Sabbath school, under Mr. T. L. Belcher, gave a novel and very pleasant entertainment, entitled an "Easter Egg Festival," in the city hall last night. The hall was crowded with a large audience, which showed its appreciation of the many and varied numbers by hearty encores.

The main attraction was the large Easter egg, which stood in the center of the platform. At the conclusion of the programme the egg was opened and its mysteries revealed. In it were discovered bags of candy and presents for all the Sabbath school scholars. It was laden with presents of all descriptions, including oranges, candy and other delicacies. As their names were called the scholars came up and received their presents. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the different merchants who so generously donated the prizes. After a short address by the chairman, Mr. Geo. McBroom, he intro-duced the following well-selected programme: Recitation, Bella Beech; instrumental duet, Misses Ramsey and Musgrove; recitation, Miss Jennie White; vocal duet, Misses Jennie and The funeral of James E.
