Wolfville Boy Married in Michigan

The Battle Creek (Mich.) Moon-Journal of August 10th, 1922, gives the following interesting account of the marriage of Mr. Joseph Ernest Barss, of this town and Miss Helen Kolb, daughter of Mrs. Charles Ellsworth Kolb, of that city, which took place on Wednesday the 9th inst.:

Before an altar artistically banked with rose and orchid gladioli, zinnias, marigolds and cybodium ferns, Miss Helen Kolb, daughter of Mrs. Charles Ellsworth Kolb, and Joseph Ernest Barss, son of J. Howard Barss, of Nova Scotia, spoke their marriage vows Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Kolb residence, 31 Garrison avenue. The wedding was one of the most charming of the summer season, but was small and informal, the guest list numbering seventy relatives and intimate friends, owing to the recent death of the bride's father and the groom's mother.

The impressive nuptial service was performed by Dr. Erenst D. Burton, uncle of the groom, from Chicago. Dr. Burton is head of the University of Chicago library. A pretty sentiment connected with the officiating minister is that he performed the same rites many years ago for the groom's parents.

The bride was radiant in her gown of ivory satin crepe, fashioned on simple straight lines, the only adornments being two ropes of pearls, which were suspended from rosettes on either side of the bodice. The train, which fell from the shoulders, was caught at the long waist line, falling from there.

She wore a beautiful tulle wedding veil, which was caught to the coiffure with a band of pearls across the forehead, and a high tulle ruffle in back. The veil train was held in place with silver leaves. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, valley lilies and white orchids.

The bride's younger sister, Miss Marian Kolb, was her maid of honor and the groom was attended by his cousin, Dr. Harold Barss, of Ypsilanti.

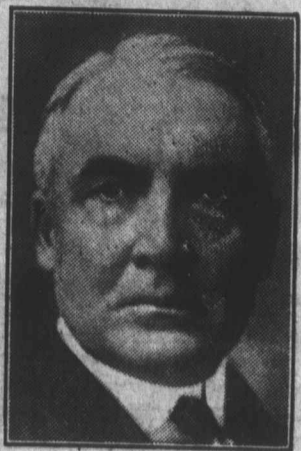

The Lohengrin Wedding March was played by the Venetian Trio, the orchestra playing throughout the reception and supper which followed.

The wedding supper was served in the dining room and living room. The bride's table was centered with a beautiful low floral piece of gladioli and vari-colored garden blossoms, the bride's and groom's cake also adorning the table. The serving was done by several of the bride's girl friends.

A profusion of pretty garden flowers in tall wicker baskets and vases adorned the remainder of the home and the large veranda.

The bride is one of Battle Creek's well known young women and graduated in '21 from Michigan University, besides having one and one-half years at Chicago University. She is a member of Collegiate Sorosis at Ann Arbor. During the early part of last year she was a member of the local high school faculty, teaching domestic

YESTERDAY MORNING'S FIRE

Mr. C. A. Brown, manager of the telephone exchange came very near losing his life as well as his home yesterday morning. Mr. Brown, who was alone in the house at the time—his wife and little son being out of town—was awakened shortly before six o'clock and discovered that the building was on fire and full of smoke. On opening the door of his room he was met with an overpowering volume of heat and smoke which prevented his exit. Through a window he made his way to the ground and was able to give an alarm before falling unconscious. Neighbors carried him to a place of safety and a doctor was summoned and the firemen soon responding to the alarm proceeded to locate the fire. The building was so full of smoke this was done with difficulty but it was finally discovered near the kitchen stove and had apparently been burning for hours. The fire was soon extinguished, not, however before considerable damage had been done.

A swimming meet for the girls and boys of the town will be held on Labor Day, Sept. 4th, at 3 p.m., in the swimming pool of the Acadia Memorial Gymnasium. The events will include 20 and 40 yard dashes, plunge for distance, swimming under water, and candle races; and the competitors will be divided into classes according to weight. It is hoped the parents and friends of the children will show their interest by being present to witness the meet.

Mr. Barss and his bride left immediately on an extended honeymoon trip, and will be at home after September first on Washington street, Ann Arbor, where they have an apartment in readiness.

BEST CAMP YET

Is Verdict of Girl Guides and Boy Scouts

In spite of unfavorable weather the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts had a great time at Camp, and all voted it "the best yet".

The Guides, about 25 in number went to camp on August 7th. Those in charge were Mr. E. Percy Brown, Miss Parry, Miss Harry, Mr. Patriquin and the Scoutmaster.

Perhaps the most pleasing feature of the camp was the evening camp fire, with songs, stories and readings. The leaders, two of them in particular, entered into the fun of the crowd and became as young as the youngest of the Guides.

One evening was "Stunt" night and an entertainment was presented in the Shanty that would not have disgraced the Opera House.

The Scouts, about 60 strong, started camp on the 14th. Thirteen tents were in use. Part of these were borrowed, the remainder are Scout property.

Those in charge were Rev. G. W. Miller, Dr. Clarence Hemmeon, Karl Mason, Arthur Brown, Wallace Barteaux, Cecil Thompson, Leicester Coit and the Scoutmaster.

Mr. Burgess, of Waterville, again took charge of the cooking and excelled himself. Meal time was eagerly anticipated and the most sanguine hopes were always fulfilled. The older boys could not help comparing the present camp with that of the early days at Black River when all cooking was done over an open fire and the fare was of the most simple nature.

The new canoes belonging to the Anglican and Presbyterian patrols proved a great success.

The swimming, rowing and paddling races on Wednesday brought out keen competitors. Those winning the greatest number of points were Colin Munroe, Alex. Andrews, Ken. Murphy, Lawrence Robinson, Hugh Boate and James Northover.

The prize for best tent went to No. 9 in charge of Claire McKenna, second prize going to the Crusaders, Sam Cook in charge.

The prizes for Bible Story telling on Sunday evening were awarded as follows: 1st, Sam. Cook; 2nd, Robert Herbin; 3rd, Wallace Barteaux.

A distressing accident occurred at the home of Mrs. Miles, at the Wallbrook Mountain, on Wednesday morning of last week. Mrs. Martha Schofield, aged 79 years, who had been an occupant of the home for some months and was pretty nearly helpless, while lighting her pipe dropped a match and ignited her night-dress. Before the fire could be extinguished the aged lady was severely burned and died on Sunday. The funeral took place on Monday, the interment being at Black River, the old home of the deceased. Mrs. Schofield was formerly Miss Martha Wier, and was a sister of Mr. John Wier, of this place.

A MUSICAL TREAT

Large Audience Enjoys Provandie Recital

The esteem in which Wadsworth Provandie and Marion Tufts Provandie are held by the music lovers of Wolfville and vicinity was clearly shown by the large and enthusiastic audience that greeted them at the Opera House on Monday evening. The recital was one of the best musical performances ever heard in Wolfville. Every number of the program was splendidly rendered and the loud applause which greeted each selection plainly indicated the appreciation of the audience. Both artists were forced to respond to numerous encores.

Mr. Provandie has been heard in Wolfville several times but never did he sing so well as he did on Monday evening. His voice is a marvellous baritone of great power and dramatic quality, and throughout his entire performance not a break or a false register was noticeable. He is also an actor born which was shown in his operatic selections.

Mrs. Provandie, always a favorite with Wolfville audiences, again delighted her hearers with her artistic rendering of her several selections. She possesses a touch that combines beauty and eloquence in every respect, and her interpretation is most artistic. She is also a splendid accompanist.

The news that Mr. and Mrs. Provandie may not again visit Wolfville for some years has been received with universal regret, and they can be assured that when they do visit us again they will receive a warm welcome.

WOLFVILLE WINS AT TENNIS

Threatening weather, followed by rain, interfered with the league tennis match between Wolfville and Windsor on the latter's courts on Saturday last. When the playing was interrupted the Wolfville team were in the lead, the scores of the completed games being as follows:

Men's Singles.—Dr. L. Eaton, Wolfville, defeated F. G. O'Brien, 6-4, 6-4.

Mixed Doubles.—K. Tremaine and Miss I. Clift, Windsor, defeated R. Tufts and Miss Keirstead, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3. A. Chute and Miss Chute, Wolfville, defeated G. Morris and Mrs. Christie, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. L. Eaton and Miss Coit, Wolfville, defeated J. R. Harrison and Mrs. Kendall, 6-4, 6-4. M. Beardsley and Miss Freeman, Wolfville, defeated C. N. Bissett and Miss I. Dimock, 5-7, 10-8, 6-2.

The remaining events, men's doubles, ladies' doubles and ladies' singles were interrupted by the rain. Windsor was leading in the two ladies' events and Wolfville in the men's.

The managers and directors of the Port Williams Fruit Co. on Aug. 8th presented Mr. Robert F. R. Newcombe with two very handsome verandah chairs. The gift was much appreciated.

LIEUT.-COL. W. G. BARKER, V.C., D.S.O., M.C.

The famous aviator who has just returned to Canada after a visit to England says that the British plans for building a fleet of 500 aeroplanes are inadequate and that 5,000 would be a more suitable number. He says that the wars of the future will largely be decided in the air, and that the great speed of the latest types of aeroplanes is such as no range-finder could follow them and they would be immune from gunfire.

ACADIA SUMMER SCHOOL FOR MINISTERS

The Summer School for Ministers opened yesterday in the Acadia Seminary Chapel and will continue until next Tuesday. The programme of lectures each morning is as follows:

On Thursday evening Dr. Horr was the speaker, his subject being "The Baptist Outlook".

Friday evening Dr. Cutten will discuss "Psychology and the Preacher".

Saturday evening Dr. E. M. Keirstead will lecture on "Literature and the Preacher".

On Monday evening "The Social Message of the Gospel" will be the theme of Dr. Vedder's address.

The closing address of the School will be on "Personality and Progress" by Dr. F. W. Patterson, of Winnipeg. The morning lectures will be given in the Seminary Chapel. The evening addresses will be in the vestry of the Baptist church and will be open to the public.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

To Dr. and Mrs. Cutten, Who Leave Wolfville Next Month.

A farewell reception for Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Cutten was given by the Social and Benevolent Society of the Baptist church on Tuesday evening. The function was held in the school-room of the church and was largely attended and most enjoyable. Dr. and Mrs. MacDonald, with Mrs. G. K. Prescott, president of the society, received the guests, and a pleasant hour was spent in social intercourse. The chair was then taken by Dr. MacDonald and a most pleasing program was carried out. This included a piano solo by Miss Vivian Duncanson; a vocal solo by Miss Evelyn Duncanson; an address by Rev. Dr. Manning representing the University; a vocal solo by Miss Eunice Curry; an address by Mayor Sutherland representing the Town Council; a violin solo by Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson; an address by Rev. R. F. Dixon representing the ministerial institute; a vocal solo by Miss Ruth B. MacDonald.

A pleasing feature was the presentation to Mrs. Cutten by little Helen Perry, of a handsome basket of snapdragons, accompanied by a short address by Mrs. Prescott which was gracefully and feelingly responded to by the recipient.

Dr. Cutten made a brief and fitting address in which he expressed his appreciation and thanks for the many kindnesses extended to himself and family during their residence in Wolfville and especially for the large attendance of citizens on this occasion and the evidences of goodwill which pervaded the gathering.

Dainty refreshments were served followed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" which brought to a fitting close an exceedingly enjoyable occasion.

UNION SERVICES

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain which prevailed practically all day on Sunday, the joint services at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches were well attended. The speaker both morning and evening was Rev. D. B. Hemmeon, who gave practical and helpful addresses. At the morning service in the Presbyterian church the theme was "The Well Within", the text being John 4:14. Mr. A. J. Mason, who rendered such splendid service as choir-leader during the winter, which had to be discontinued owing to the departure of himself and family to take up their residence in Parrsboro, was present and rendered a delightful solo which was much enjoyed. In the Methodist church, where the evening service was held, Rev. Mr. Hemmeon delivered an interesting address from the story of the healing of the lepers in Luke 17. Mr. Mason again favored the congregation with a beautifully rendered solo.

500 BLIND IN NOVA SCOTIA

You can bring these blind fellow citizens into the light of day.

THE increased cost of everything since the war period came upon us has made it impossible for this work which is being done to help the blind in Nova Scotia to be carried on without a public appeal for funds.

The School for the Blind is urgently in need of money, and money is needed at once to finance the instruction organization of the Canadian National Institute, which beside the workshop already mentioned has extensive courses in home instruction which must not be permitted to lapse.

ONE of two things must now happen. Either the people of Nova Scotia will rally to the support of their blind fellow citizens, or the splendid work which is being done for the blind in Nova Scotia must halt in its tracks.

The failure of the public to support the effort which is now being made to raise funds to carry on this valuable work will mean that there must be fewer blind people in Nova Scotia educated to the point of self-reliance and more of them condemned to suffer life long misery in blind helplessness to whom Death will come as a welcome release.

THE responsibility rests upon every citizen of Nova Scotia to help this cause in some way. We expect with confidence that the wealthy men and women of our Province will support us to the utmost extent of their ability.

But this responsibility is not to be carried by the wealthy men and women alone. Citizens who are not so well blessed with worldly goods can help us, too. No contribution can be too large, and none is too small. Even those who cannot give money can give their friendship, their sympathy and their verbal support.

"In as much as ye did it not unto one of the least of these, ye did it not unto me."

MARY'S LAMB

Mrs. Laura B. Downey Bartlett, local author and pioneer of the northwest, has a piece of wool from the most famous lamb that ever lived—the lamb responsible for the childhood rhyme about Mary and her little lamb.

The small bunch of wool from Mary's lamb was handed down to Mrs. Bartlett, who has a tiny book that tells the full history of the episode and explains how the celebrated bovine happened to take such a prominent place in juvenile literature. The book contains pictures of the original Mary and of the barn in which the lamb was born.

Mary's lamb, according to the narrative, was one of a pair of twins. Its mother kicked it aside and refused to have anything to do with it. Mary found it, stiff with cold and well-nigh starved, and begged to have it brought into the house. There she wrapped it in a blanket and nourished it on warm milk and catnip until it grew into a great pet and an inseparable companion.

Then one morning, the book recites, when Mary and her brother, Nat, were on the way to school, they found the lamb following them. Mary desired to send it back, but Nat thought it would be rare sport to see a lamb in the school room, so the children encouraged it to come. School had not yet opened, and the lamb was secreted in the huge, box-like affair that provided a desk for Mary before the teacher appeared.

School was proceeding with its usual decorum when the lamb, cramped for room, began to strike its hoofs on the side of the desk, and thereby made known its presence to the teacher, who, with some difficulty, persuaded it to go outside.

As it happened, John Roulstone, Jr., a freshman at Harvard, came to visit the school that day and the episode struck him with such force that he wrote the famous jingle on the subject and presented it to Mary. The verses soon became nationally known.

Mrs. Bartlett, who owns the book and the bit of wool from the lamb, is one of the best known historical research workers in the northwest. She has recently completed a history of the State of Washington, which has been adopted as a textbook in the State public schools.—The San Bernardino Daily Star.

BE WARNED IN TIME

A man who would not take his home paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a hive of bees, and in ten minutes he looked like a warty squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to note a barb-wire fence, ran into that, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of pants. The cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, and got into the corn. Hearing the racket his wife ran, upsetting a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens and drowning them. In her hurry she lost a $30 set of teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the cream and into the parlor, ruining a brand new $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, and the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four night-shirts. The man could have got a paper of his own for $2.00 a year, and saved all the trouble and expense.

BUSINESS AND RELIGION.

More religion in business. More business in religion. These are the demands of an age that tends to place practical utility above most other virtues.

Interesting to church people in Vancouver, where the demand for practical religion is heard just as loudly as anywhere else, is the work of Rev. Dr. Stephen S. Estey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Topeka, Kansas.

Close and beneficial relations exist between this church and the business life of the community. The pastor has made his church attractive and helpful to business men while the latter have responded with a generous interest in the church's welfare.

One particular feature of Dr. Estey's success in this regard is the fact that he uses biblical teachings not only to point the way towards morality in business but towards SUCCESS in business.

From the book of Proverbs alone he has constructed a set of business axioms which would accurately sum up the latest business theories taught by the most advanced business school.

The day is passed when business success could be considered synonymous with deadly sin. Christianity has been shown by Dr. Estey to fit men for life on this earth as well as for life in the next.

A religion that will keep step with practical progress, without sacrificing the fundamental truths of its substance, is the great need of the world today.

Dr. Estey's work has removed the libel on Christianity that it could not keep step with modern thought.

The apologists who have been working overtime in an effort to excuse the old-fashionedness of Christianity, are commencing to realize with surprise that the creed of the Nazarene has all the time been a little ahead of civilization and not, as they had supposed, dragging feebly behind it.

A serious and genuine effort in every Canadian church to line up the Christian religion with the every-day life and aspirations of healthy, ambitious Canadians, will reveal a civilizing and tremendous force for clean prosperity that even the apostles did not know their religion contained.

The wonderful thing about Christianity is not only its history of salvation but its promise of eternal moral strength for every generation that shall come after this one. It cannot be exhausted.—Vancouver Sun.

"What I did to cure a cough which was Racking my system to pieces."

"One very hot evening last summer, while in the mountains, a cool breeze suddenly came up which left me thoroughly chilled. Next day I felt a slight cold in my head but thought nothing of it. The following day the cold had developed into a cough. This kept up for some weeks but instead of getting better the cough kept getting worse. A tickling sensation developed in my throat. I tried everything I could think of to get rid of it. It was worse when I went to bed. As soon as I laid down the tickling sensation started and the only relief I could get was to sit up in bed. Towards morning, I sometimes, from sheer exhaustion, managed to get a little sleep. During all this time my cough was getting worse. Sometimes in these severe fits of coughing spasms I was left weak and exhausted. Anything I tried only gave me temporary relief. I couldn't take anything but liquid foods. I couldn't sleep. I was losing weight every day. At times I suffered the most intense agony with headaches. A friend of mine told me about Carnol. After trying it for three weeks I noticed that my cough was beginning to soften, that my appetite was returning, that the headaches had left me, that I slept longer. After taking seven bottles of Carnol, I am perfectly well and enjoying better health than I have ever had before in my life."

THE LATE LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Alfred Charles William Harmsworth, later Viscount Harmsworth, was born in Dublin in 1865, his father being an Englishman and his mother Irish. He went to London early in life and engaged in the newspaper business. His first great success was a little weekly paper which found its readers among the masses, later he purchased other daily papers, including the London Times, Great Britain's greatest paper for more than a century, and started the Daily Mail, somewhat on American lines, and made it a phenomenal success. He had a dozen or more publications throughout England, and for years has been the country's foremost publisher. He was made Viscount Northcliffe in 1917, having rendered valuable service in the war. He declined the position of Air Minister in the Lloyd George cabinet. For some years Viscount Northcliffe was as prominent in the political world as he had been in the newspaper field. He had been for some time in deadly conflict with Premier Lloyd George and his policies, but peace had been restored. He was ill at the time the armistice was signed. His illness was diagnosed as due to adenoma of the thyroid gland, for which he underwent an operation in June, 1919. Plans were made early in 1921 for a world tour. The start was delayed until July because of labor trouble, involving the publishing industry, and a renewal of hostilities between Lloyd George and himself. Lord Northcliffe attacked the motives of the Premier and Marquis Curson in desiring to represent Great Britain at the Washington Arms Conference. As a result of this attack, government news was barred from the Northcliffe press. Lord Northcliffe sailed for America defying the boycott. During his world tour, Lord Northcliffe occupied the public attention of each country he visited, displaying great knowledge of the problems facing various nations. Arriving in New York, July 23, 1921, he warmly endorsed President Harding's plans for the armament conference. In Australia he saw a grave danger in that country being overrun by Asiatics, and in several addresses revealed an intimate knowledge of Australia's national problems. During his tour of the Pacific he made a close study of the situation in the Far East, and in Hong Kong he expressed the opinion that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was a bar to its solution. He returned to London from his tour in May, 1922. In June he was reported to have made a tour of Germany incognito.

Shortly after the completion of his world tour, differences grew in the Newspaper Proprietors' Association over wage scales. Lord Northcliffe criticizing certain methods of the newer members of the Association. He later resigned. In May, 1922, dissension broke out between Northcliffe and other members of the Associated Newspapers, Ltd., owners of the Northcliffe Press. In June, 1922, libel suits were brought against Lord Northcliffe by Sir Andrew Caird, vice-chairman, and Walter G. Fish, a director of Associated Newspapers.

The day in which the announcement of the filing of these suits was made, Northcliffe was reported to be suffering from a nervous breakdown in Switzerland. He was brought back to England several days later, and was reported then to be ill from ptomaine poisoning.

Early in July his differences with Lloyd George were said to have ended and the libel actions brought by Fish and Caird were said to have been dropped. His health, however, continued to grow worse, his ailment being diagnosed as due to "unknown poisoning". From this attack he never recovered.

She was born in Cornwallis, almost 82 years ago and spent all her young life in this county until her marriage to Mr. Cochrane almost sixty years ago, her birthday and wedding day being in November. Beside her aged husband, she leaves three sons and four daughters. The deceased lady was the oldest living sister of Mr. George I. Fraser, Gererwich.

AN EPOCH-MAKING MUSICAL EVENT

Boston Symphony Ensemble to Visit Wolfville

The orchestra, conceded to be the greatest means of musical expression, is indeed capable of producing effects that stir the human emotions. Whether depicting the heights of joy or the depths of sorrow, the color and blending of orchestral instruments has made this the ideal means of expression for such masters as Haydn, Beethoven, Mozart, and, of the latter day composers, Saint-Saens and Debussy.

The message of the world-masters of course is limited to those organizations which, because of the number and quality of their performers, can adequately present these masterpieces. Accordingly, only the largest musical centers can afford to maintain and support such an organization as the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which comprises artists who are paid enormous salaries for their artistic services.

But, although the organizations capable of bringing to life the message of the masters are indeed very few, how fortunate that that message is not altogether limited to the large cities whence these orchestras spring up.

How fortunate, too, that we have in our midst enterprising people who are ready to sponsor the coming of such an aggregation of artists as the Boston Symphony Ensemble, seasoned players who have given their lives to the cause of music. The definite news has come to us that on Sept. 21, 1922, we will have a concert here in the Baptist Church Auditorium.

Undoubtedly the response from our musical public will make it possible for us to hear this remarkable organization on its annual tour of the Provinces. It's up to each and every one of us now to show our musical enthusiasm.

A Scotch policeman in London was keeping the crowd away in front of the Houses of Parliament. A stout, excited woman endeavored to pass, but he restrained her.

"I'm the wife of a cabinet minister!" she insisted. "You must let me pass!"

The Scot eyed her unperturbed. "Madam, you couldn't pass if ye were the wife of a Presbyterian minister"—Saturday Evening Post.

WEDDING BELLS AT WHITE ROCK

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Baptist church, White Rock, Wednesday, Aug. 16, when Rev. Dr. Bennett united in marriage Eustace Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mason, of Lunenburg county, and Miss Daisy May O'Leary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Leary, White Rock.

Promptly at the hour of two the bride entered the church on the arm of her father and took her place beside the groom under an arch of green hemlock and goldenrod, from the centre of which hung a large white bell. The church was prettily decorated by the friends the altar being banked with flowers and potted plants. Miss Marion Forsythe, of White Rock, played the wedding march. The church was crowded.

The bride was dressed in white satin and wore the bridal veil caught by star of Bethlehem, and carried a bouquet of snapdragon, maidenhair fern, white asters and sweet peas. The single ring service was used.

After congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Mason left amid showers of rice and confetti on a trip to Halifax where they will spend a short honeymoon. They received many valuable and useful presents. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue tricotine with hat to match. Their many friends wish them a long and happy married life.

Items Of Local Interest

Sunday was one of the rainiest days of a decidedly rainy season. There was practically a downfall during the entire day and all night. Old mother earth is certainly in no danger of a drought this summer.

When you visit a farm house up country almost the first thing your host will say to you is: "Can't I make you a cup of tea?" And in two out of three cases, the tea she will offer you will be "MORSE'S". The average farmer's wife is wise to tea quality, consequently you can depend on her using "MORSE'S".

The fact that the Boston Symphony Ensemble, comprising as it does, thirteen of the most prominent members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is to appear with the same personnel as made it famous in all the larger cities of the United States and Canada, will make this concert a magnet for music-lovers for miles around. Seats for this concert, however, will not be put on sale until Sept. 7, at the earliest. At Rands. Prices will be announced later.

A meeting of the Nova Scotia Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities was held at the Council Chamber last Friday morning. Three matters were up for consideration: the application of the Council for a lower rate from the Gaspareau Light and Power Co; the application of the Council for a lower rate from the Electric Commission for street lighting; and the request of the Commission for ratification of power rates. All these matters were discussed and evidence was taken. The finding of the Board will be given later.

MOTORS AND MOTORING:

A Page Full of Interest to the Owner or Prospective Owner of an Automobile.

STORAGE BATTERY IMPORTANT UNIT

Since the introduction of the starting and lighting system, the storage battery has become an extremely important unit of the automobile, and it is one which needs a certain amount of attention. The work it does is tremendous in comparison to its size, while the enormous sale of autos in the last few years can be assigned to it perhaps more than to any other feature.

A battery is composed of cells; thus a dry battery is composed of two or more dry cells, and a storage battery of two or more storage cells, or, as they are also called, accumulator cells, and sometimes secondary cells.

Each accumulator cell, no matter how small or how large, will yield a current having a voltage (electrical pressure) of very slightly over two volts. The cell will give almost the full voltage even though it be nearly discharged.

Of course two volts is not enough pressure for practical purposes. We must have six or more volts. In order to get the increased voltage, a number of cells are connected together in "series", that is the positive pole of one cell is connected to the negative pole of the next cell, and so on. Thus if a six-volt battery is required, three cells are so connected up, while if a twelve-volt battery is required, six cells are used.

In many cars the twelve-volt battery is used for the starting motor, but only six volts can be used for the lights and ignition. In this case a separate "cut-in" is made, so as to use only three cells for the lights, etc.

The capacity, or let us say the amount of current, which can be stored up in a storage battery is given in ampere-hours. Thus, there are 40, 60, 80, 100, etc., ampere-hour batteries. The number of amperes flowing, multiplied by the number of hours it flows, being the ampere hour. So a 60-ampere hour battery can yield 1 ampere for 60 hours, or 2 amperes for 30 hours, or 10 amperes for 6 hours or 120 amperes for 1 hour etc.

Also to bring a completely discharged 60-ampere-hour battery to a full charge, when charged by a 5-ampere current, the battery must be connected to this charging current for 12 hours. As it is customary to give a battery a 10 per cent. overcharge, it would, in fact, have to be connected long enough to give it 66-ampere hours, or 13 1-5 hours.

Understanding the above will help you to tell what the condition of the battery of your car is. As, for example, a starting motor will require anywhere from 120 to 250 amperes in order to crank the engine. Assuming that it requires a 180-ampere current then a fully charged 60 ampere hour battery would be discharged completely in 1-3 of an hour, or twenty minutes. Now, the charging generator charges at about a 6 ampere rate, so that it would take 10 hours to charge this battery. Thus you see it takes about 30 minutes of cranking to send back the same amount of current to a battery as is taken out or used up in one minute of use of the self starter. At night the lights will take all of the current made by the generator and so there will be no charging. A battery will also discharge slowly when idle.

From the above you can see that where the starter is much used and the car driven for short runs only the battery will become discharged and have to be recharged at an outside source: as at a charging station. If your battery has a tendency to become discharged, reasoning from the above will tell you if the discharging is natural or if something is wrong.

A man brought a battery to a service station to be charged and rented a battery in its place. Three days afterwards he decided to have his car overhauled and repainted and without returning the rented battery and getting his own, put his car out of commission. More than a month afterward he called for his battery and when he received a bill at 15 cents a day for the rental of the battery became very indignant, claiming that he should not be charged for more than three days, the time his car was in service.

TO PREVENT REGRETS

"Watch the car ahead,"—this is evidently intended for the youths—and some of the older men—who watch the side walk when driving downtown rather than the car in front of them.

"Slow down at crossings"—either comply with this or some day you are going to be calling the insurance company, or perhaps some friend will be calling up the undertaker.

"Obey the law" are indeed words of wisdom, yet how many of us let our cars remain parked overtime, hoping that they will not favor us with a sticker! How many of us run on past a street car that is loading or unloading passengers, just as though no car was there, thinking and hoping that the conductor was too busy to get our number or that all the motorcycle men had left for parts unknown? How many of us resist the temptation to push the accelerator to the floor-board when we hit a nice stretch of paving? Not many, unless we happen to be driving an old car that is so full of carbon that it will not do over twenty without pounding the engine to pieces.

How many of us ride over the safety zone and park our cars without any lights, or have the license tag covered with mud, or a hundred and one other things which cause us to spend an enjoyable two hours or so "explaining to the judge" that we could not understand how it happened? Obey the law, and while speaking of the law, remember that ignorance of the law excuses no one. In this connection it might be a good idea to get a copy of the rules and regulations and see just how many of them will be foreign to you the first time you read them.

Its the car everybody wants because it is the best.

The unusual popularity of STUDEBAKER CARS is attested by the fact that the corporation enjoyed the biggest business in its history in 1921.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total number of all automobiles sold (except Ford) was 40 per cent. less than in 1920, the total aggregate of sales for the Studebaker cars was 20 per cent. greater than in 1920—and in Canada 64 per cent. greater than in 1920.

THE STORAGE OF FARM PRODUCTS
Types of Cellars That Are Best Adapted to the Purpose

The storage of roots and of perishable products generally is of the utmost importance to farmers. The Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, has prepared a pamphlet, styled No. 10, new series, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, which gives particulars with plans for the construction of a cellar under the barn driveway, of a cellar under a building, and of an isolated cellar. Another plan for storage is the earth pit, but as this is dealt with fully in Exhibition Circular No. 57, it is omitted from the present pamphlet.

Ventilation, temperature, moisture, drainage, depth and location are matters for primary consideration in the building of any cellar. The pamphlet explains how these can be arranged for. The cellar under a barn driveway is, of course, purely for cattle feed. The plans show a cellar 14 by 20 feet inside with a storage capacity of 750 bushels. Two methods are shown for the construction of a concrete cellar along with a bill of the material required. Of the cellar under a building the type so closely resembles that under a driveway, and also the isolated cellar, that special description is not necessary. Three types of isolated cellar are illustrated. Details of the material required in each case are given.

A CURE FOR SICK BUSINESS

Reporting on mental conditions, prominent educators report to the N. S. board of education that backwardness in children is largely due to myopia, or near-sightedness, strabismus, or cross-eyed abnormality, adenoids that prevent proper breathing, and dental defects that affect perfect digestion. All of which is perfectly true.

But similar conditions affect grown-ups, also, and they affect some of our so-called prominent business men who are wondering why in Tophet their business is sick, without sitting down to figure out intelligently, the real cause of the trouble.

N. S. manufacturers, for instance, suffer acutely from business myopia, and business strabismus, and defective business breathing, and faulty business digestion—all because they are not using horse sense enough to reach the great consuming public through the provincial press. It is business myopia or short-sightedness for a N. S. manufacturer to let the mail order man get most of the business. The ordinary man may be so cross-eyed that he has to hold a copy of this newspaper in each hand to read this week's news, but even at that, he is apt to have mental vision enough to see the value of conveying a practical message in the advertising columns of his home paper. Half the manufacturers and others that are helplessly howling about the "mail order menace" are simply suffering from business myopia, strabismus and indigestion.

As a cure for these ailments, we heartily recommend good old Doctor Editor's wonderful curative printers' ink, guaranteed to fit all cases and restore the sufferers in a manner that will make them feel better than new. Try a sample at this office. No free samples. Come one, come all. Try it, and see testimonials at the editor's office. Thank you.

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS

(From the St. Paul Crescent.)
What this country needs is not a new birth of freedom, but the old-fashioned $2 lower berth. What this country needs isn't more liberty, but less people who take liberties with our liberty. What this country needs is not a job for every man, but a real man for every job. What this country needs isn't to get more taxes from the people, but for the people to get more from the taxes.

What this country needs is not more miles of territory, but more miles to the gallon.

What this country needs isn't more young men making speed, but more young men planting spuds.

What this country needs is more paint on the old place and less paint on the young face.

What this country needs isn't a lower rate of interest on money, but a higher interest in work.

What this country needs is to follow the footsteps of the fathers instead of the footsteps of the dancing master.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

INTERESTING LECTURE AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A goodsized audience filled the Lecture Hall of the Baptist church on Thursday evening of last week when Miss Lazarus, a native of Madras, India, gave an interesting address on "India, Its Women and Unrest". Miss Lazarus, who wears the Indian costume habitually, is a graduate of Madras University, and has spent two years in England studying at Cambridge and London Universities. She is specializing in kindergarten work and expects to take up this branch of educational work on her return to India. She spoke of the wonderful progress the women of India had made during the past ten years, due in part to the founding of two colleges for women in Madras, one established by the Government, and called Queen Mary's College, and a number of High Schools for girls. She traces the signs of unrest in India to an economic condition rather than to any political crisis.
