and cannot recommend granting the same. The memorial from the Ladies Benevolent Society is to be left over for explanation. They recommend the payment of $3.75 to J. W. Allan for services in connection with municipal elections. Recommend granting the prayer of the memorial from the Roman Catholic Separate School Trustees and the sum of $1,000. That the auditors be paid $10 each for extra work in connection with the Water Works accounts. That the prayer of J. Kelso for city printing be left over for consideration.

The question raised by the G. W. R. of the illegal sale of lands having been discussed, and a similar matter having been reported upon in 1878, it is recommended that no action be taken.

The Assessors having completed their roll the committee is able to submit estimates for the current year as follows :—

Your Committee is without any statement from the Water Commissioners, and are therefore unable to report upon their receipts or expenditures.

The Committee is of opinion that the rate of two cents on the dollar to be levied on the city's assessment roll, with the estimated revenue, and the issuing of new debentures to the amount of $10,000 at 6 per cent. half-yearly, 20 years to run, will yield a sum sufficient to pay the liabilities maturing and cover the appropriations during the current year.

The Committee recommends that the amount of the arbitration award coming to the city during the incoming year be applied to extinguish the debt on the exhibition grounds, as the mortgage matures this year.

The Treasurer's securities have been examined and found satisfactory.

In conclusion the Committee have to express the hope that as the several committees were granted the sums asked by them for the current year's expenditure, the greatest care will be exercised in keeping their expenses within the appropriations named, and at the end of the year leave no outstanding accounts or unsettled claims for their successors in office to liquidate.

The report was received.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Chadwick moved the adoption of the report of the Board of Works received at the last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee.

It was urged by some members that the estimates of the Board of Works did not include an appropriation for the erection Heffernan street bridge, or for repairing Essex street.

The motion was carried.

MARKETS AND BUILDINGS.

Ald. Hart moved the adoption of the report of the Committee on Markets and Public Buildings, received at last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee. —Carried.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Ald. Gowdy moved the adoption of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, received at last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee.

Ald. Gowdy in connection with the recommendation of the committee to lower the firemen's salaries, explained that they did so because the firemen would not be required to work so hard since the introduction of the water works. He was as much in favor of paying the men well for their services as any one could be, but the city must economize and he thought the salaries of the firemen would be sufficiently large after the reductions were made.

Ald. Tyson thought it would not be advisable to reduce the salaries at present.

Ald. McMillan was not favorable to the reduction, but would not oppose the report.

Ald. Robertson said he thought the committee had made a mistake in proposing a reduction. It would have been better to consult the members of the brigade to learn how they would act under a reduction before they made the proposal.

Ald. Gowdy said he had consulted the Chief of the Department with reference to the reductions before making the proposal, and the Chief said as far as he was concerned he would have to submit to it.

Ald. McLagan said that there was no necessity to bring out the engine now. On the occasion of the last alarms the engine was brought out and gave the men extra work.

Ald. Gowdy said until he got a written notice from the Water Works Commissioners that the works could be depended on for water supply in case of fire, he would continue to have the engine brought out in response to an alarm.

Ald. Stevenson thought if that was the case then the firemen's labours would not be any easier for a time, and that was a reason why the salaries should not be reduced.

Ald. Fairbank and Hart moved that the clause be referred back to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee for further consideration.

Ald. McLagan pointed out that if a change were made in the salaries it would disarrange the estimates for the year.

Ald. Hart thought that curtailing the salaries of firemen was false economy, and while he sympathised with the chairman of the Finance Committee, he was not in favor of risking the loss of any of the firemen in consequence of a reduction in their salaries. With the water works he understood their duties would be just as arduous as they were before. If the Council would move against the reduction that would help the chairman of the Fire and Gas Committee over the difficulty in the matter.

Ald. Gowdy amended the report by allowing the present salaries to run till the 1st of July, and the report was adopted as amended.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Ald. Hewer moved that the report of the Relief Committee received at last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee, be adopted. Carried.

POLICE COMMITTEE.

Ald. Chadwick in the absence of the chairman, moved that the report of the Police Committee received at last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee, be adopted. Carried.

PARKS AND TREES.

Ald. Fairbank moved the adoption of the report of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee received at last meeting and endorsed by the Finance Committee. Carried.

DEBENTURES.

Ald. McLagan introduced a by-law to issue debentures to the extent of $10,000 to retire maturing ones.

MALLEABLE IRON WORKS.

Ald. McLagan introduced a by-law providing for the exemption of Messrs. Murchy and Fessant's Malleable Iron Works from taxation.

APPOINTING A CONSTABLE.

Ald. McMillan introduced a by-law for the appointment of the caretaker of the Exhibition Grounds as a constable.

MARKET BY LAW.

Ald. Hart gave notice that he would introduce a by-law to amend the present market by-law.

SHADE TREES.

On motion of Ald. McGuire, Ald. Fairbank and Stevenson, were appointed a delegation to wait on the Guelph Township Council at its next meeting and request them to plant shade trees on the Elora road between the city limits and the Union Cemetery.

The Council adjourned at 10.55 p. m.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 3.

The Supplementary Estimates for both the current and approaching fiscal years were submitted.

Sir Charles Tupper moved that the Government be empowered to finally award the Pacific Railway contract for the second one hundred mile section west of Winnipeg, without submitting the same to Parliament for ratification. Mr. Blake objected to the motion on the ground that the contract might yet be signed before Parliament was prorogued. The motion was allowed to stand as a notice.

The resolution raising the fire test on Canadian petroleum from 105 to 115 degrees Fahrenheit, and reducing that on foreign petroleum from 150 to 120 degrees, was adopted, and a Bill based upon the same introduced.

Sir Leonard Tilley moved the House into Committee on the resolutions granting a subsidy of $250,000 towards the construction of the Esquimalt graving dock in British Columbia. Mr. Mackenzie objected to the vote for three reasons:—(1) That it was not intended by the Order in Council of 1873 to give a bonus towards this work; (2) that if it were intended, then it was contrary to the spirit of the terms of Union; and (3) that the resolutions provided that not only would the Government give this sum of $250,000 towards the building of this dock, but that in the event of the Provincial Government failing to complete the work the Dominion Government would have to assume the responsibility, thereby placing the burden upon the Dominion.

On their second reading Mr. Blake re-counted the original terms for the purpose of proving that it was by them intended that Canada should not suffer pecuniary loss on account of the guarantee, and therefore the present resolutions were not based upon any prior agreement. He moved an amendment to the effect that the grant be not acquiesced in, for the reasons assigned.

The amendment was negatived on a division of 42 to 109.

After recess, to the surprise of the House, Sir Charles Tupper laid upon the table the contract for the construction of the second one hundred mile section of the Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. This was the contract he asked power in the afternoon to award without submitting it to Parliament for ratification.

The Government measure amending the Act to prevent cruelty to animals passed through its final stages, after certain amendments had been adopted, one of which reduced the penalty for infringement of the law from $100 to $50.

After a number of items reported from the Committee of Supply had been concurred, the Bill providing for the increased issue of Dominion notes was finally passed on a division.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the Estimates and Supplementary Estimates and passed the same.

The Bill amending the Canada Temperance Act was read a second time and passed through Committee of the Whole. On the question of receiving the report, Mr. Boultbee moved in amendment that the Bill be referred back to the Committee with instructions to amend the same by inserting a clause stating that a majority of the registered electors, and not of the votes polled, must declare in favour of the Act before it can be enforced. The debate was adjourned.

Squire (who is a candidate for the representation in Parliament of his county); "Well, John, and what do you think of my chances for a seat in Parliament?" John (a canny-going countryman): "Well, Squire, a really dinna like to say, but sin' ye've pit a stracht question, an a'm thinkin' a should but add an honest answer, a'm thinkin' you should staun as long as you can, for a doubt if ye'll ever sit."

He was watching his neighbour's boy climb a tree, and he had a look of painful anxiety on his countenance. "Are you afraid the lad will fall and break his neck?" was asked him. "No," he replied, "I'm deucedly afraid he won't."

Lady visitor: "Now, boys, that I have explained these things, perhaps one of you can tell me which sect is most intolerant and in the greatest darkness." Master Stubbins: "Please, Miss, I know—insects."

The Berlin paper box factory of Messrs. A. & C. Boehmer is in full operation, and have an order for 20,000 boxes from Schofield & Co., of Hespeler.

The Printing Contract.

At a meeting of the Printing Committee on Monday the report of the subcommittee was adopted. It recommends that a bill be prepared for the cancellation of the contract, to take effect after the work of the session is done, and that the clerk advertise for tenders for Government printing on the 16th of May, each tender sent to be accompanied by a cash deposit of $1,000 as a guarantee of good faith. The tenders will be considered by the Speaker of the House of Commons and the Secretary of State, who will award the contract. When the report was under consideration, Mr. Costigan warmly espoused Mr. Boyle's cause, and said he was prepared to do the work. Mr. Trow, however, reminded Mr. Costigan that two witnesses—Messrs. Charlton and Cotton—had sworn that Boyle had left the matter in their hands to settle, and that he, therefore, stood in the same position as any other tenderer that wthdrew. Mr. Ross also remarked that the Committee were not empowered to reconsider the tenders. Following this a petition was read from Mr. Boyle, in which he stated that he was ready to do the work, and Mr. Costigan moved that the work be given to him if he was prepared to go on with it. Only three members of the Committee voted for it, and the Committee's report was carried, fourteen voting for it. The report was presented to the House on Monday.

It is understood that prorogation will not take place until Friday. It is stated that Her Royal Highness Princess Louise will be present.

The latest rumor is that when Hon. John Beverley Robinson is raised to the Lieut-Governorship, and Hon. James Macdonald to the Nova Scotian Bench, that the choice for Minister of Justice lies between Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Robertson, of Hamilton.

The Government in dismissing Mr. P. Mahon from the position of Farm Foreman at the Model Farm, have no doubt a sufficient justification for their action, else they would not have come to the conclusion that it was in the interests of the Institution to do so.

The Ottawa Free Press publishes a statement showing that 3,300 men—farmers, mechanics and shantymen—have left the Ottawa section of the valley during the past four months. Of this number less than a thousand went to Manitoba, the others more than 2,300 going to live in the States, principally the western States, thus being lost to the country. As most of these people were men of family, the loss in population numbers thousands. What is going on in Ottawa valley is only a sample of the exodus business which prevails in almost every portion of the Dominion, and yet the people are unblushingly told that the "National Policy" is a success.

Sir Leonard Tilley on Monday presented to Parliament the Supplementary Estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1881. These Estimates include $3,242 chargeable to capital, and $311,734 chargeable to income, making a total of $314,976, and bringing the total Estimates for the year 1881 up to $25,318,000, the largest amount since Confederation. Among the items in addition to the salary of Sir A. T. Galt, is one of $3,000 for contingencies. Another vote of nearly $7,000 on account of Sir Alex. Galt's fruitless visit to France and Spain as an amateur diplomatist demonstrates his trip altogether to have cost the country, directly and indirectly, nearly twenty-five thousand dollars, with nothing to show for it. There are $12,000 for Parliament Buildings at Winnipeg, and $10,000 for a Lunatic Asylum. It is doubtful whether the proportion of insane in the population in the North-West Territories is so large as to warrant an expenditure of $10,000 in the erection of an asylum there.

LUMBERING IN MUSKOKA.—The Muskoka Herald gives some interesting statistics of the lumber industry in the Muskoka and Parry Sound districts, from which we gain an idea of the growth of this interest in that section. The total cut during the season is put at 185,725,000 feet of lumber and 10,000,000 shingles. In the board timber trade there is production of 140,000 cubic ft. and 25,000,000 shingles remain to be cut. It is calculated that one-fifth of the stock of lumber above mentioned will go to market by the Northern railway, and the balance will be sawn on the Georgian Bay and shipped by water. The lumber is of a better quality than usual, and is mainly destined for American markets, principally Oswgeo and Buffalo.

How Wood-Pulp is Made.

So much is said about the paper-pulp which is extensively used in the manufacture of paper, that a brief description of the process of making it will be entertaining. Any white soft wood may be used. The bark is taken off, the knots and dark decayed places cut out. It is then put into a large cauldron and boiled, which extracts all the glutinous matter and resin and renders it soft. It is then put on a large stone grinder, with water pouring on it all the time. The grindstone wears off the fibres until they are finer than saw dust, which floats away into a receptacle. The water is drained off by means of a fine sieve, leaving the pulp, which consists of fine fuzz or splinters of wood. It is white, and requires no bleaching, but is ready to be mixed with rag-pulp, or anything else that has a strong fibre, and receive the proper constituents to make it into paste, after which it is run off into paper sheets; whereas rags have to be washed and bleached with chloride of lime, soda ash, and alum, and such strong chemicals, to take out the colour. The process by which wood-pulp is made is purely mechanical. It can be made cheap, say at about one cent a pound.

The Eyesight.

In a recent work on "Eyesight—Good and Bad," by R. B. Carter, M. D., of London, the singular theory is developed that a large part of the trouble with their eyes among persons who have reached or who have passed the middle age of life is due to the partial disuse of the organism of sight. Mr. Carter maintains that the beauty and efficiency of the eyes depend not a little upon their healthful and active employment. It might be said that the use of one's eyes is something which cannot very well be prevented. While a man is awake, unless he resolutely shuts his eyes or has them bandaged, he cannot avoid using them. But use of this kind is not the employment that Mr. Carter requires; there must be mental attention as well as visual impression, otherwise the eyes remain in a state of comparative idleness. The man who retains his eyesight clear and unimpaired to an old age will much oftener be the mechanic, who is compelled by his work to constantly test the acuteness of his sight, than the farmer, who rarely has occasion to look very closely at anything, and who frequently may not exercise his eyes by reading a newspaper from one week's end to the other. It will be perceived that this theory is not the one commonly accepted, and yet Mr. Carter is a specialist whose opinion cannot be lightly contravened. His object, of course, to an improper use of his eyes under trying lights, or to their own exercise, but he would seem to hold that trouble was likely to arise fully as often by under exercise as by over exertion. To give his own words: "That which is true of the organism as a whole is true also of its parts, and the eyes, among others, are best treated by an amount of systematic use, which preserves the tone of their muscles and the regularity of their blood supply." Another point that Mr. Carter insists upon is the necessity of using properly-adjusted glasses when the sight begins to fail. It is, he affirms, much more healthful for the eyes to use them than to dispense with their use, since under the latter condition certain muscles of the eye are subjected to an undue and disproportionate strain.

Fergus Lodge of Oddfellows has become incorporated under the provisions of the Ontario Statutes. The Lodge has accumulated over two thousand dollars, the greater portion of the fund being invested upon mortgage security, the interest from which, we understand, more than meets the annual demand upon the widows and orphans' fund. This is an extremely gratifying state of affairs, and we congratulate the local members of the treble-link upon their frugality and good management.

Five thousand head of cattle are to be this week shipped from Montreal and Quebec to the English markets. They are all Canadian bred and fed, and their average weight is 1,600 lbs. The average price paid by the shippers was 5½ cents per lb. live weight, which is an increase of half a cent on the prices a year ago, or an advance of about $7 per head. It is expected that 20,000 head will be exported during May and June.

The County of Waterloo is doing an active business in the manufacture of goods for Manitoba and the North West. For example Messrs. Merner & Co., of Waterloo, shipped thirteen waggons besides several buggies and other vehicles, to Manitoba. The firm of Meinkle & Stroh, of Berlin, have a large for the stones for a peculiar kind of grinding or threshing mill which the Russian Mennonites are getting in place of the ordinary threshing machines.

The half-yearly dividend of the Bank of Hamilton is four per cent.; that of the Federal Bank three and a half; that of the Ontario Bank three; and that of the Bank of Ontario three and a half.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

A great deal has been written upon this delicate subject, and still there is great diversity of opinion as to what the ladies have a perfect right to say, do and think. There is not the slightest doubt, however, about the fact, that when a lady enters a drug store and asks for a bottle of Wilson's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, she ought to get it at once; and it is no part of a druggist's duty to undertake to convince a customer that they want something other than that they are asking for.

For Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Wilson's Wild Cherry is the quickest and most reliable cure. It contains no Opium, and can be given with the same safety and effect to an infant of three months as to an adult person.

Sold by all druggists.

Mothers ! ! Mothers ! ! Mothers ! !

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

I never drink wine, nor give it to my guests. Strong drink is the curse of the country and the age. Sixty thousand men in America every year lie down in the grave of the drunkard. Drink has murdered my best friends, and I hate it. It burdens me with taxes and I denounce it as a nuisance, on which every honest man should put his heel. I do not ask you to put your heel on the drunkard, but to make the spirit of your guild so strict and pure that no man of your number will dare to trifle with your sentiments on the subject.—*Dr. J. Churning in Texas.

I thought I had seen a good many kinds of churns before I came down here—crank churns, dasher churns, and chemical churns. But I will now describe a mode of churning butter that will, I think, make New England folks open their eyes. Commonly, they do not make much butter in this country, and the settlers here come to get along without it; but by the time I had been at the poseta two or three days, I began to want some butter on my bread.

M——had a herd of twenty-five or thirty cattle, which he kept for beef, and among them were a number of milch cows. Ed. was bidden to set the milk for twenty-four hours; and the next morning M——told Lizado or "Liz," as we called him, to churn. They had done such a thing as to churn butter before, it appears. Liz went and brought a bag of raw hide, about as large as a common meal bag. How clean it was inside, I am sure I do not know; but he turned the cream into it, and poured in new milk enough to fill it two-thirds full; and then he tied it up with a strong strip of hide.

M——stood with a broad grin on his face. I was already too much astonished to make any remarks. Liz now carried the bag out of doors and then got his horse. Taking his lasso off the saddle, he made one end of it fast to the cream bag, the other end, as usual, being attached to a ring in the saddle. This done, he jumped on the horse and tucked spurs to him. Away he went, and at the first jerk that bag went ten feet in the air and fell with a squash close up at the horse's heels. At the next jerk it went higher still. He soon went out of sight, with the bag dancing after him. Sometimes it hit down alongside the horse and sometimes it struck slap on the animal's rump. M—— was convulsed with laughter—at me, I suppose; for I must confess that this upset all my previous ideas of butter-making. In the course of twenty or thirty minutes Liz came back, the horse looking pretty hot and the bag very dusty.

"Es mantica" (butter's come), said he. Ed. untied the churn, and sure enough, there was a good homely chunk of butter, too. They said it was, and Ed. declared it was "a dale easier than turnin' a crank." So I respectfully submit the "method" to all our good people up north. Everything needed for it is a sole-leather bag, a clothes-line, and a horse.

Mark Twain's latest publication, "A Tramp Abroad," a book replete with the characteristic humor of that author, ends with an extract he has made from a German comic journal. A commercial traveller, is about to unroll his samples:—

Merchant.—(pettishly) "No, don't; I want to buy anything."

Drummer.—"If you please, I was going to show you——"

Merchant.—"But I don't wish to see them!"

Drummer.—(after a pause, pleadingly) "But do you mind letting me look at them? I haven't seen them for three weeks!"

Dr. Dillenbaugh, of Buffalo, and C. S. Harrison, and A. J. Simpson, of Drumbo, have been fined $20 each on complaint of Detective Smith, of London, for practising illegally in violation of the Pharmacy Act.

There is more trouble in the Weston Episcopal Church, of which the eccentric Mr. Johnston was lately the incumbent. A second set of church wardens was chosen on Monday.

WEDNESDAY EV'NG, MAY 5, 1880

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

When it became known that Mr. Gladstone would personally take the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, consols took a rise, which has been maintained.

Upwards of 7,000 iron workers are on the strike in the north of England against the five per cent. reduction awarded by the arbitrators.

Not only is Prussia trying to deprive Hamburg of its rights as a free port but Bismarck has already introduced restrictions concerning the importation of cattle, which will give much annoyance and be considered a drawback to the trade of the city with the rest of Germany.

It is stated that the Marquis of Ripon, Viceroy of India, has selected Gordon Pasha as his private secretary.

There will be no meeting of the Home Rulers in London during the approaching recess of Parliament.

Capt. Potter, of the relief ship Constellation, was on Tuesday presented with the freedom of the city of Dublin. Mayor Gray reports that the distress in Ireland continues as great as ever.

War between Russia and China is now said to be almost unavoidable.

The Post's Berlin correspondent telegraphs that discontent in Germany may be judged by the tide of emigration. It is estimated that during the past thirty years two and a half millions of her people have emigrated.

Hon. George Brown's Condition.

On Monday night Mr. Brown was more restless, and on Tuesday morning the doctors reported him weaker than at the same hour the day previous. During the day his condition varied, but in the afternoon he was able repeatedly to recognize all the members of his family present, and at 7 p.m. the doctors found him going on satisfactorily.—Globe.

Mr. Brown was very low all day, but last night he returned to consciousness, and is now somewhat better. Nevertheless his condition is still extremely critical.—Mail.

This Afternoon's Dispatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

(Per Dominion Line).

TORONTO, May 4.10 a.m.—Mr. Brown was able to recognize all the members of his family last night. This morning he is somewhat better, and the doctors report satisfactorily.

At noon Mr. Brown was in about the same condition as yesterday. He was more conscious than for days previous, and was able to recognize all the members of his family present.

Steamer Arrived.

MONTREAL, May 5.—Scandinavian arrived out.

Burglary.

WYOMING, May 5.—The office of Mr. W. J. Travis, lumber merchant, was forcibly entered last night and the safe door shattered with powder, which was introduced through a hole drilled near the handle of the safe. Complete entrance was not gained because of the twisting of the bolts by the force of the explosion and the probable alarm of the burglars by the noise created. The safe contained the books and some small change.

Board of Separate School Trustees.

The Separate School Trustees met in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening. Present—Messrs. John Harris, J. E. McElderry, E. O'Donnell, E. O'Connor, J. P. MacMillan, N. Burns, James Ryan, W. S. Heffernan, James Mays, and Dr. Nunan.

The Secretary presented a report from Inspector Buchan about his recent visit to the schools. The report was favorable. The Treasurer reports that the sum of $1,000 had been placed to the credit of the Board by the City Council, to be drawn in quarterly instalments. In addition to this he would require $100 for immediate use. Leave was granted to borrow $100.

Mr. O'Donnell presented the third report of the School Management Committee, recommending the payment of a wood account, $43.75; the purchase of inkstands and ink for the different classrooms, and the building of a small platform in girls' school.—Adopted.

On motion of Messrs. E. O'Donnell and Dr. Nunan, the School Management were asked, in conjunction with the Local Department, to see that the classes were properly graded.

The meeting then adjourned.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

A WOMAN HORSE-THIEF.—At the Woodstock police court the other day, Phœbe Ann Reynolds, who was convicted not long ago for stealing a horse and buggy from Mr. Sawtell, and afterwards of stealing a quantity of clothing and household goods from Miss Jennie Williamson, of Princeton, was again accused of stealing a horse, buggy, harness and buffalo robe from Horace Hewson, Paris. Phœbe Ann is a genius in her way. She hired the horse and buggy from Hewson, who keeps a livery in Paris, drove to Woodstock and around to New Durham, where she sold the horse to one Dygert, a hotel keeper. She was committed to Brantford gaol for trial.

Local News.

ICE CREAM at Little's.

MR. SIMPSON'S condition is considerably improved since yesterday.

MR. FISHER, advertising agent of the Globe, was in the city to-day.

THE Maple Leaf Base Ball Club begins the season's practice on the Fair Grounds this evening.

TELEGRAPH RATES.—The cable rates of the Montreal and Dominion Telegraph Companies have been restored to 75 cents per word.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh winds, clear to partly cloudy continued warm weather, possibly showers or thunder storms in some localities to-night.

THE KENNY ASSAULT CASE.—Thomas Kenny was brought before the Police Magistrate to-day (Wednesday), after remand, to receive sentence for assaulting his father. He was given a term of one year in the Central Prison.

GUELPH BARREL CO.—Ald. Chadwick and Biscoe and Mr. Oxnard of the Guelph Barrel Co., left for Wiarton on Tuesday to endeavour to make arrangements for establishing a branch of their works at that village.

A BULL which was being driven to the fair grounds this forenoon, died while on the Elora Road near the Baptist Church. The animal had become heated and was given a drink of cold water, which is supposed to have caused its death. The carcase was sold for $2.

THE fountain for the lot at the head of Wyndham street arrived yesterday from Hamilton, and has been placed in position. It is about eight feet in height, and has a neat appearance. The stone foundation for the band stand at the head of the lot is being built as quickly as possible.

THE suggestion has been made that a cheap drinking fountain for horses should be placed in the centre of St George's Square. The city may contemplate placing a large fountain there at some future day, and for that reason the suggestion has been made to only procure a cheap one for the present.

THE CATTLE TRADE.—There is a dead lock in the cattle traffic at this point at the present owing to two causes. Partly because the long cars cannot be obtained to ship via the Grand Trunk, and also because of the ice blockade in the St. Lawrence, which has prevented the arrival of vessels at Montreal which had been engaged in conveying these cattle to the old country.

THE HAMILTON "TIMES."—The Times appeared on Monday in a handsome new dress of type, which sets off its appearance very much. The Times has always looked well, but now the improvement is quite marked. We are pleased to see this evidence of its continued prosperity and enterprise. The Times has for many years been a valued organ of the Liberal party, and as such it deserves the continued support and confidence of that party in Hamilton and surrounding district. We wish it in the future even more success than it has had in the past.

MAY CATTLE FAIR.—Although farmers are at present busy with their spring work the cattle fair to-day brought a large number of that class to the city. Within the week large numbers of cattle, purchased during the winter for export, have been delivered here and these made a display seldom excelled in grade cattle. There were also a good number brought in for sale and among these were a few superior animals. The demand was not so great as was expected, and prices averaged from four to five cents per pound. Most sellers, however, disposed of their cattle and were not reluctant in accepting offers at those figures. On Monday Mr. Walter Swanston, of Eramosa, sold to Mr. J. Brown, of Galt, two steers, two years old, which together weighed 2,630 lbs.; one heifer 2 years old, 1,240 lbs., and two steers 3 years old, 2,700 lbs., at $5.75 live weight. They are for shipment to the old country. Mr. Adam Weatherston, of Eramosa, also sold to Mr. Brown one steer 2 years and a month old, weighing 1,480 lbs., two more 2,990 lbs., and two more 1,350 lbs. each, at $5.12½ per 100 lbs.

MAPLE LEAF B. B. C.—A well attended meeting was held at the Royal Hotel on Tuesday evening to re-organize the Maple Leaf Base Ball Club. Mayor Sleeman occupied the chair. After some discussion as to how the club should be constituted and conducted the following were elected officers:—Mayor Sleeman, President; Thomas Goldie, Vice-President; Ald. Hewar, Secretary; A. Burrows, Treasurer; G. Bookless, J. W. Colson and J. Henry, field directors. The players will be purely amateurs. They will play their first match on the Queen's birthday with the Browns of Harriston for a silver cup which the latter club has put up for competition among Canadian clubs.

GOOD FOR THE MODEL FARM.—The London Daily News of the 20th ult. says:—A number of very superior Canadian cattle which were landed here on Saturday from the S. S. Brooklyn, consigned to Mr. Richard Hall, cattle salesman, of Liverpool, by Messrs. Frankland, Thompson, and Flanagan, of Toronto, were exposed for sale at the Liverpool Cattle Market Tuesday, and realized the extraordinary price of £45 each. These cattle, many of which were prize winners at the various shows in the Dominion, were bred and fed at the Government Model Farm, at Guelph, Ontario, an institution similar to that at Cirencester. The annual report of the Hon. J. H. Pope, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada, which is just to hand, states that during 1879 a total of 25,009 cattle, 80,332 sheep, and 5,835 swine were shipped alive to this country, and there was in addition a large trade in dead meat.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED.—On Tuesday two little children, a son and a daughter, of Mr. Wm. Fulton, a farmer residing about three miles from Uxbridge, were burned to death at their father's house. It appears from a statement of the eldest daughter, a girl of about eight years of age, that one of the children lighted a piece of birch bark and threw it into a wood box, which immediately ignited. They were so frightened that the two shut themselves up in an adjoining room. The girl, after ineffectual efforts to get them out, caught up the youngest child and ran to tell her parents, who were at some distance from the house, but who found on reaching the scene of conflagration that all their efforts to save the two children were in vain.

The Clerical Scandal Case in Toronto.

The Committee appointed to investigate the charges made against the Rev. Mr. Handford met on Tuesday night. Mr. Thompson continued his evidence, which, with cross-examination, occupied the time of the Committee up till 11:30, at which hour Mr. Thompson's part in the case was complete. The next half hour was taken up in reading over the testimony submitted, and at twelve o'clock precisely the Committee emerged from the room. The full particulars of what had transpired could not be learned, further than that which is given above, together with the statement of Messrs. Irish and Elgar that Mr. Thompson was perfectly satisfied with the manner in which he had been treated by the Committee. Judging by the jubilant air of gentlemen who were spoken to and who are known to be warm friends of Mr. Handford, it may be surmised that they do not regard Mr. Thompson's complete statement as very damaging. It is not expected that the report of the Committee will be issued before next week, and it is promised that the whole matter will be handed to the press for publication.

The Centenary of Sunday Schools.

The adjourned meeting of those interested in observing the centenary of the establishment of Sunday Schools was held on Friday night in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and was well attended. Mr. Raymond was appointed chairman, and Mr. Rodgers, secretary.

Mr. George Anderson, the convener of the committee to draft a programme, reported as follows:

That Sunday the 27th June, and Monday the 28th, be devoted to the celebration.

That the celebration on Sunday be such as the officers of each school may determine.

That on Monday a mass meeting of the children be called at St. George's Square, where a procession, composed of the scholars and officers, shall be formed, and march to the Exhibition grounds.

That a meeting be held in the Exhibition building for devotional exercises, hearing addresses, and singing by the children.

That to defray necessary expenses an admission fee of 10 cents be charged to others than those of the procession.

That refreshments be distributed in paper bags, and that each school bear their proportionate share in providing them.

That a meeting for adults be held in one of the city churches in the evening, at which addresses by prominent Sunday School men and suitable music will constitute the programme.

The report was adopted, and sub-committees were appointed to carry out the arrangements. The celebration promises to be a most popular and successful one.

Palmerston News.

A very successful social was held in Knox Church on the evening of the 29th ult. (Thursday). Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather quite a goodly number assembled in the basement and partook of refreshments and then listened in the auditorium to excellent singing by the church choir and by several others, among whom Miss Hunter, of Kincardine, deserves special notice. Addresses were delivered by Revs. Messrs. Baikie, of Harriston, Stewart, of Arthur, Lawyer Johnston, R. L. Alexander, &c. One feature of the entertainment was an address and presenation to Mrs. Cameron, wife of Rev. D. W. Cameron, pastor of this church, of which address the following is a copy:—

To Mrs. D. W. Cameron—We, the undersigned ladies of Knox Church, desire to embrace the opportunity on this auspicious occasion, of tendering to you a small expression of our continued good will and of our best wishes for your future happiness. Your residence in this congregation, although comparatively short in point time, yet has been long enough to prove to us your many amiable qualities as a neighbor, a friend, and the wife of our esteemed pastor. Our fervent prayer is, that you may be long spared to enjoy the esteem of your many friends and well-wishers; and as time rolls on that you may be surrounded by a still greater number of attached friends who will appreciate your uniform kindness and hospitality. As a small memento of our affectionate regard, please accept this little purse, the gift of your friends in this congregation.

That the Divine blessing may rest upon the ministerial labors of your husband; upon the interesting circle of your dear little family and upon yourself in the time to come, and that you and all your dear ones may finally be admitted into the mansions of our Heavenly Father above, is the heartfelt desire of each and all of us.

Signed by Mrs. Caswell, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Beattie, on behalf of the ladies of Knox Church, Palmerston, at a social of the congregation held here on the evening of the 29th day of April, 1880.

The elaborately wrought purse contained in bank notes the sum of fifty dollars.

DEATH OF A PROMINENT CANADIAN.—Mr. Hugh Bowlby Wilson, a gentleman formerly well known in political and journalistic circles in Upper Canada, died last Thursday night in the city of New York. He was the son of a former Speaker of the House of Assembly of this Province, and was born at Winona, near Hamilton, in 1813. He studied for the Bar, and for a time carried on a lucrative practice in Hamilton. He was a public spirited citizen, being always ready to promote enterprise for the improvement of the city and the Province. He was during the year 1845 editor of the Independent, which was afterwards sold out to Mr. Wm. Macdougall, and by him merged into the North American. Mr. Wilson was a constant advocate of annexation to the United States, and his desire to see this idea realized tinctured all his views and schemes.

A MOTHER DROWNS HER TWO CHILDREN.—At Penn Yan, N. Y., on Tuesday, Mrs. George Woodruff, during the temporary absence of her husband from home, took her two sleeping children from bed, one aged six, the other aged one, and, going to the cistern, drowned both. The husband on returning found all three in the cistern. The mother was standing with an infant in her arms dead. The other child was in the water, which was about the woman's waist. Efforts to resuscitate the children were useless. The mother is insane.

The First Practice this Season at the Butts.

The Guelph Rifle Association held their first practice this season at the butts on Tuesday afternoon. There were fifteen members entered for competition, and the practice was witnessed by a number of outsiders. The weather was altogether favorable for shooting, being calm and clear. The shooting however was below the average. The distances were 200 yards 500 yards and 600 yards. The highest scores were made at the first named range, as will be seen by the following figures:

As a general thing, however, the crop looks healthy and much more promising than is usual at this early season of the year.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 4.

Among a number of other petitions presented was one by Mr. Robertson, (Hamilton) in favour of an amendment to the Act prohibiting pool-selling. The petition was received with ironical cheers.

On the third reading of the Bill to authorise making certain investigations under oath, Mr. Blake moved an amendment declaring that the Bill should not apply to criminal charges, which amendment was lost on a division. The Bill was then finally passed.

The debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Bowell for the third reading of the Bill entitled "An Act to explain and further amend the Canada Temperance Act of 1878," and the motion of Mr. Boultbee in amendment thereto, "that a clause be added declaring that before the Act shall be enforced a majority of the registered electors, and not merely of the votes polled, shall have supported it." Sir Leonard Tilley and Messrs. Bowell, Ross (Middlesex), Casey, Huntington, Costigan, Brecken, Gilmor and Longley advanced arguments from several standpoints against adopting the amendment, the main contentions being that if enforced it would apply a rule to the voting in connection with the Scott Temperance Act which was not applied to the election of members in Parliament, and that the application of such a rule would practically prevent the Canada Temperance Act from generally going into operation.

The vote was taken at six o'clock, and the amendment carried by a vote of 96 to 73. Mr. Mackenzie offered the logically fatal objection that the amendment could not be enforced because it was not supported by a majority of the whole of the members. After recess the amendment to the Bill was made in Committee of the Whole. On the question of the third reading Mr. Ross (Middlesex) moved "That as the Bill as amended now contained a clause which was objected to by the whole temperance electors of the country, therefore be it resolved in amendment that the Bill be not now read a third time, but this day three months." Mr. Blake supported the present amendment on grounds similar to those taken by Mr. Ross. After a few remarks by Mr. Anglin in favour of the Bill as now amended the vote was taken, and the amendment proposing the three months' holist was declared lost on a vote of 54 yeas to 85 nays.

The Government's measure amending the Act respecting the inspection of petroleum passed through its final stages.

The House went into Concurrence on the Supplementary Estimates. Most of the items were concurred in without discussion. On the one granting Sir A. Galt $10,000 per annum salary as High Commissioner of Canada in England and $4 000 per annum as contingencies, Mr. Blake moved an amendment declaring the amounts asked to be excessive. The amendment was negatived on a vote of 48 yeas to 114 nays. Mr. Fulton (Conservative) voted with the Opposition.

The House then went into Committee of Ways and Means, passed the necessary resolution, and the Supply Bill was introduced.

The Bill to amend the Act relating to banks and banking and to renew the bank charters was read the second time and considered clause by clause in Committee of the Whole. Several minor amendments were made, after which the Committee reported progress.

Groff, all of whom concurred in the advisability of giving remission of taxes and a free site to persons who would start any manufacturing business which would not conflict with any now here. After some discussion, it was moved by R. Dowling, seconded by S. Groff, that a committee consisting of the Mayor, Reeve, and Messrs. Robertson, Lambert and Story, be appointed to make such arrangements as they deem requisite for inducing manufacturers to settle, and advertise the same. The meeting then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY EVNG. MAY 5, 1880

The Minister of the Interior's Report.

The Report of the Minister of the Interior—Sir John Macdonald—has at last appeared. In reference to the North-west Territories the report states that there was a large influx of population last year into these territories, and that the coming season promised results far beyond anything which so far had been experienced. The Pembina Mountain, Roch Lake, Little Saskatchewan and Prince Albert Districts, are so rapidly becoming occupied that the stream of settlement is finding for itself new courses in and near the Valley of the Souris River, and also in the neighborhood of the Turtle Mountains. On account of Dominion lands the receipts in cash and scrip during the year for sales amounted to $218,409, and the fees on homestead and pre-emption entries alone realized $42,910, while the area disposed of—1,115,072 acres—exceeded the area disposed of during the previous year by half a million acres, and only fell short of equaling the entire extent homesteaded and pre-empted and sold in Manitoba and the Territories during the four preceding years by some 245,000 acres. Over one million acres of land were surveyed during the year. The allotment of 1,400,000 acres of land to the half-breeds in Manitoba has been completed. The condition of Her Majesty's subjects in the Northwest Territories is all that could be desired, the climatic influences being healthful and the soil unsurpassed any where for the fertility and the ease with which it is made available for agricultural purposes.

The report alludes to the Indian difficulties in the Northwest and the appointment of an Indian Commissioner. Taken in all, the department purchased and delivered at various points in addition to supplies promised by treaty, no less than 500 head of beef cattle, 91,000 pounds of bacon, 100,000 pounds of beef, 20,000 pounds of pemmican and 806 bags of flour in order that the Commissioner might be in a position to relieve all cases of actual distress which might come under his notice, or be brought to his observation by any of the agents. The report remarks that the Indians were given to understand that the relief afforded by the Government was exceptional and only for the time being, and would not be continued, after they might either through the re-appearance of the natural food supply or by their individual efforts in farming or otherwise, be able to procure their own subsistence. The Government to provide for the future has taken steps to encourage the Indians in every possible way to engage in the cultivation of the soil and the raising of cattle, and thus become ultimately self-supporting. With that end in view they have established some nineteen farm agencies where Indians could receive the knowledge necessary to the successful pursuit of the industries mentioned. The Commissioner has already reported that he entertains no doubt that not only will the establishment of farming agencies lead in due course to the abandonment by the Indians of the hunt, but that in time they will become entirely independent of the Government for subsistence.

As regards the Mounted Police, the report states that the control of this force has been transferred to the Department of the Interior. The condition of the men and their discipline are described as excellent, while their housing is said to be imperfect. The relations of the men with the Indians are favourable, notwithstanding the unfortunate occurrence by which Constable Grayburn lost his life.

GOVERNOR Cornell of New York, has vetoed the Bill to tax the capital of foreign banks doing business in the State.

ON Tuesday Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Bowell voted that a Government measure amending the Canada Temperance Act should receive a three months' hoist. A specially interesting fact is that Mr. Bowell was the Minister in charge of the Bill.

SIR Alex. Galt receives $6,500 for services and expenses while conducting trade negotiations with Spain, France, etc., last summer. As high commissioner of Canada at London he is to receive a salary of $10,000 per annum, with all expenses paid. It will cost quite an item to keep this high-toned official in England.

THE tender of McLean, Roger & Co., for the printing of the Hansard next session, has been accepted by the Government. The charge is 40 cents per page, an extraordinary low figure, with one-tenth of a cent for folding. Mr. Bradley is to be chief of the reporting staff.

EVIDENCE multiplies to the effect that the British Liberals lost the 1874 campaign solely on account of Liberal abstention from the polls—just, in fact, as Canadian Liberals lost the 1878 election. It appears, too, that the Conservatives lost many seats at the recent election from abstention of their own men.

THE bill before Parliament, and which will no doubt be passed, provides that the flash test of Canadian petroleum be raised from 105 to 115 degrees, and American lowered from 130 to 120 degrees. The gravity of coal oil is not to be more than 8,200 nor less than 7,075 to the imperial gallon. The penalty for having petroleum in one's possession not in accordance with the provisions of the act of having it falsely marked is $2 on each package for the first offence and $4 per package for each subsequent offence. The collectors of inland revenue take up the duties of making the necessary inspection of coal oil, while provisions are made for the appointment of inspectors at the principal points.

THERE was laid on the table of the House on Monday evening a copy of the contract entered into with the Government by Geo. Bowie and M. McNaughton for the building of the second hundred miles west of Winnipeg. This was the contract in reference to which Dr. Tupper on that day asked the House to give him power to enter into the contract without submitting it for the approval of Parliament. He positively assured the members that the contract could not be brought down before prorogation, which is set for Friday. Mr. Blake objected to the House granting Sir Charles any such power until there was clear evidence that the contract could not be produced in time. What was the result? Why this. To the inefaceable disgrace of Sir Charles, he laid a copy of the contract on the table when the House reassembled after dinner. This is one of Sir Charles' latest "stretchers." Who can believe him after this?

THERE was laid on the table of the House the other day correspondence respecting the claim made by the Hudson's Bay Company for losses incurred in connection with the Red River rebellion. It appears that in 1870 the company preferred a claim against the Imperial Government for some £30,000 for losses incurred by being kept out of the purchase money for five months, and by the plundering of their stores. The Imperial Government denied responsibility, and the Canadian Government was next applied to. In 1877 Hon. David Mills, then Minister of the Interior, reported the Canadian Government not to be responsible for losses sustained by the Hudson's Bay Company during the Half Breed rebellion, as at that time the territory had not been transferred to the Dominion, and was still in the possession of the company. Afterwards the company proposed that the question should be referred for an opinion to the Imperial Privy Council, which was agreed to. The company was then asked to give a statement of the questions which they proposed to submit, and in December, 1879, a draft of the case was received. In this position the matter now stands.

Publishing a Newspaper in the North-West.

There is lots of fun in printing a newspaper away out at Battleford, as will be observed by the following melancholy wail from the Saskatchewan Herald. The paper, for some months past, has been printed on brown wrapping paper, but having used up all that could be got at, was reduced to cream laid folio post, and even this threatens to give out. Hear him:—"We are compelled by a series of untoward events to issue the Herald on a half-sheet. Last fall the freighter to whom our paper was delivered hung around Winnipeg until he decided it was too late to come out. Arrangements were then made to have it brought out with the mail, but the couriers threw it off at way stations just as they pleased. Another lot was shipped by an 'express' that was guaranteed to be here by the 15th of January, but the attractions at Shoal—not quite a third of the distance—were so great that it lies there yet—it proved a 'fast' express. Telegraphic orders were then sent to forward some in the mail; but as a large portion of the last two mails has been thrown off, there is no knowing when it will arrive. A further supply has been ordered by the steamer up the Assiniboine, so that should all sources fail we shall certainly have some by the 'first carts.'"

Sugar.

No man in Parliament understands the sugar question better than Mr. Gunn. In his speech during the recent tariff debate he stated the facts of the trade in a manner so plain as to carry conviction to the dullest understanding. During the six months ending 31st December, 1878, under the old tariff, sixty-two million pounds of sugar paid a duty of $1,368,935; during the six months ending 31st December, 1879, under the new tariff, sixty-four million pounds paid a duty of $1,125,034—an actual loss to the revenue of $243,901. Had it not been for twelve million pounds imported by the trade, which paid $2.43 per cwt. duty, the revenue would have lost $100,000 more, or, as Mr. Gunn has showed, had all the sugar been imported by the refiners, the revenue would have been reduced below $2,000,000 for the year. If we take the figures given by Mr. White, of Cardwell, the loss would be $1,318,000. Had the old sugar tariff been in operation, instead of this loss the treasury would have received half a million dollars more revenue, and the people would have bought their sugar for three-quarters of a million dollars less. We thus find that the Government and the people have, by the new tariff in the article of sugar alone, been mulcted to the tune of $1,250,000 for the benefit of one concern at Montreal. In the whole history of tariff legislation there is no parallel for this imposition. To show its enormity let us borrow another illustration from Mr. Gunn: were this tariff applied to Great Britain the people of that country would have an annual loss of $24,240,000. A more flagrant instance of the way the people are robbed under the pretence of protection could not be given. —Ottawa Free Press.

Presentations to Sergt.-Major Clarke.

We notice in the Kingston Whig that on Friday afternoon last, the non-commissioned officers and men of "A" Battery, Royal School of Gunnery, presented their late popular Sergt.-Major Clarke with a magnificent gold hunting case watch, valued at $100, as a token of the high esteem in which they held him, and also to show the general good feeling which had for a number of years past prevailed among them. He made a suitable reply.

Capt. F. Wilson also presented Mr. Clarke with a handsome morroco-bound album with stand. The Capt. complimented the retiring Sergt.-Major upon the efficiency with which he had discharged his military duties, and commended the traits of character which had served to make Mr. Clarke so popular both in his official and private capacities.

At a later hour in the evening Mr. Clarke was entertained at a supper in the Sergeant's Mess. Sergt.-Major Walters occupied the chair, and in giving the toast of the evening testified to the long and excellent services of Mr. Clarke, to his anxiety to promote the interests of the Battery, to his kindly authority, and to the good wishes which the members of the Battery had for his welfare.

Next morning the officers of "A" Battery assembled in the mess, when Col. Irwin, Commandant, on behalf of his commissioned friends, presented the late Sergt.-Major with a silver water pitcher and salver. The Col. spoke highly of Mr. Clarke's military career, and thanked him for what he had done towards advancing the efficiency of the Battery.

At 12 o'clock, the officers and non-commissioned officers of the Kingston Field Battery met at the Barracks, Artillery Park. Capt. Wilmot, on behalf of those present, handed Mr. Clarke a beautiful scarf pin (with pearl) and a purse of $30, in recognition of the special services he had rendered the Battery as instructor during the past eight years.

Sergt.-Major Clarke, who has thus been so highly honored in Kingston, is coming to Guelph to act as instructor to the First Artillery Brigade here. Some years ago he acted as instructor to the Wellington Field Battery when in camp, and was extremely popular and gave the highest satisfaction. He entered the service in 1853. He was for two years attached to the West Suffolk Militia, for eighteen years he was in the Royal Artillery, and eight years a member of the Royal School of Gunnery, acting four years as Sergeant-Major. He was engaged in the Crimean war, and was sent to Canada during the Trent affair, leaving England on this last commission in 1869. He was in 1872 appointed Laboratory Foreman, but the office not being essentially necessary he became a Battery non-commissioned officer with the results already stated. He wears a Turkish and Crimean medal, and a medal granted by the Imperial Government for long service and good conduct. The latter was presented to him at Kingston. He was also prominently employed in the organization of the Mounted Police in 1873. His record altogether is most honorable.

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the exorciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER I.

At Gettysburg, on the afternoon of the third day of July, 1863, Major Henry G. Dunwoody, of the 488rd Regiment of Penn. Volunteers, while leading his men into action, was struck by a shell from a Confederate battery. A moment later he was lying upon the ground unconscious, and beside him lay his left leg, severed from his body several inches above the knee.

When the fight was over for the day the wounded Major was placed in an ambulance and taken to the hospital. A day or two later, the fever having left him, he he lay in bed feeling tolerably comfortable. His mind not unnaturally turned to consideration of his wound. He began to think how inconvenient it would be to have to hop about on one leg during the remainder his life, and he couldn't help wondering where his leg was, and what would be its fate. He suspected they would bury it; and the notion seemed an unpleasant one.

"I don't like the idea of being partially interred," he said; "and while I am alive, too. I am too young a man by half a century to have one foot in the grave."

The latter suggestion struck the Major as being rather a good joke. He resolved to remember it so that he could tell the surgeon.

The Major could hardly persuade himself, at times, as he reflected, that he had really lost his leg. He had a corn upon a certain toe which he could distinctly feel; there were strong sensations which indicated that the leg was still there, and he could hardly resist the impulse to try to lift it in such a vigorous manner as to kick the covering of the bed. But he knew this was absurd. While he was thinking about it he suddenly gave a little start, and a shiver ran through his nerves. He felt as if his leg had been plunged into some intensely cold liquid, and before he has quite recovered from the shock he was conscious of a faint suggestion of alcohol. Whether the perfume of the substance had actually greeted his nostrils, or the alcoholic flavour had been conveyed to his senses in some other way, he could not exactly define. He did not try very hard to solve the problem. This was only one of the many odd experiences of the first forty-eight hours, and he was too feeble to make such vigorous mental effort as was necessary to their proper solution.

The Major recovered and was enrolled in the Invalid Corps. During the succeeding three or four years he drew his pay, lived an easy life, and devoted much of his time to experimenting upon artificial legs of various patterns. He never succeeded in finding one that suited him exactly, and in the course of time he collected quite a curious lot of wooden and cork legs which he kept standing about in the corners of his room at his boarding house in Washington, and which were perpetually a source of nervous dread to the chambermaid who lived in expectation that some day they would fly out at her and kick her downstairs.

One day the Major, while strolling along the street, passed the door of the Army Medical Museum, an institution into which has been gathered by agreement a very large number of medical and surgical curiosities taken from the various battlefields of the rebellion. It is the most horribly interesting place in the City of Washington—that is, to the ordinary lay observer. The surgeons and doctors, of course, regard its trophies with great enthusiasm. To others it serves perhaps a good purpose in suggesting some distinct notion of the fearful sufferings which was the price paid for the salvation of the Government; and it may perform a useful office in the future by indicating to persons who are brimming with a desire for war and glory, that glory is one of the least obvious fruits of murderous strife.

It occurred to the Major to enter the building; and for half an hour he wandered about among the glass cases studying curiously the strangely distorted fragments of the human body which are there preserved. As he turned the corner of one large case, he saw something that induced him to halt. A brief distance in front of him sat a woman intently engaged in drawing upon a piece of pasteboard which stood on a small easel. It was so unexpected a sight that the Major could not resist the impulse to observe her for a moment. She seemed young and fair; a mass of bright golden hair fell upon her shoulders, and as she turned her head to look at something in one of the cases that she seemed to be sketching, the Major saw that her profile was exceedingly pretty.

He came a step or two closer, and noticed by means of a hurried glance that she had a strange figure of some kind upon the board; and then he passed on.

Just as he got close to her his artificial leg—a leg that he had received a few days ago by steamer from France—suddenly launched out sideways. It encountered the foot of the easel, and the next instant Major Dunwoody lay sprawling upon the floor with the easel across his back and the pasteboard picture lying upon his head. He recovered himself promptly, and turning to the fair artist, who stood above him with a look of mingled vexation and amusement upon her face, said:—

"I—I—really I am very sorry! It is shocking, but I assure you I couldn't help it. I am suffering from a wound and—and—" (the Major did not like to confess so openly to his dismemberment); and in fact I had not complete control of myself."

The Major was a handsome man, and either his appearance, his pleading look, the pathetic tone of his voice, or all combined touched the artist's heart with sympathy.

"Oh, never mind," she said smiling, as the Major thought, more sweetly than ever woman smiled before. "No harm is done. I hope you didn't hurt yourself."

"You are very kind. No, I am not hurt; but I am greatly mortified at the trouble I have caused you. I hardly know how to express my disgust for my clumsiness."

"Pray do not distress yourself about it," said the artist, laughing, "the easel is not broken and the sketch is wholly uninjured. I should not have mourned if it had been destroyed. It is a mere study, and very incomplete."

"You are too generous," replied the Major; "but I will take good care not to disturb you again, if I can find my way out of here. Would you—would you—be—be—would you be good enough to call the janitor, or somebody, to help to get me upon my feet again? I cannot rise without—in fact, my wound is—is———"

"I shall be more than glad to assist you," said the artist with a glance of pity in her blue eyes, "if you will take my hand."

The Major looked at the hand for a moment. It was extremely pretty; he had an impulse to kiss it, but he restrained himself. He merely clasped it in his own. The artist braced herself firmly and the next instant the Major stood upright.

"I do not know how I can thank you for your kindness," he said, "but permit me to offer you my card. I have some influence, and if I ever can serve you in any way I shall greatly rejoice."

"Major Dunwoody! Indeed!" exclaimed the artist as she read the name. "You are not one of the Dunwoodys of Clarion County, Pennsylvania, are you?"

"I was born there," replied the Major with not a little eagerness. He thought he saw a chance to acquire better acquaintance with this lovely and gifted woman. "Do you know any of our folks?"

"Oh yes," said the artist with a bright smile. "My mother came from Clarion County. She was a Hunsicker, a daughter of Hon. John Hunsicker, who represented the district in the Forty-first Congress. I had often heard her speak of the Dunwoodys."

"Indeed," replied the Major. "I knew your grandfather well when I was a boy."

The conversation need not be given in detail. The artist and the Major developed at some length how a Hunsicker married a Dunwoody, how a Dunwoody eloped with a Moyer a cousin of the Hunsickers; how a Dunwoody fought a duel with another Hunsicker over a political dispute and shook hands afterwards; and how the loves and hates, and bargains and enterprises, and contests and schemes of the Dunwoodys and Hunsickers had filled the history of Clarion County for a quarter of a century past.

At last the Major said—

"But you haven't given me your name yet."

"Pandora M'Duffy is my name. My mother you know, married Senator M'Duffy—State Senator. Poor father died many years ago, and we are now living in Washington."

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

A great deal has been written upon this delicate subject, and still there is great diversity of opinion as to what the ladies have a perfect right to say, do and think. There is not the slightest doubt, however, about the fact, that when a lady enters a drug store and asks for a bottle of Wilson's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, she ought to get it at once; and it is no part of a druggist's duty to undertake to convince a customer that they want something other than that they are asking for.

For Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Wilson's Wild Cherry is the quickest and most reliable cure. It contains no Opium, and can be given with the same safety and effect to an infant of three months as to an adult person.

Sold by all druggists.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

T. G. & B. RAILWAY.—A deputation of the Directors of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway were in Owen Sound on Monday. They attended a meeting of the Town Council for the purpose of asking that a by-law for $15,000 be submitted to the town in order to assist the road out of its present financial difficulty. After considerable discussion, it was agreed to call a special meeting to take the matter into consideration.

Pleuro Pneumonia.

Copies have been received of the report of Hon. Mr. Leduc, United States Commissioner of Agriculture, upon the subject of pleuro-pneumonia, and dated April 17th. The gist of the report, which is long, is contained in the opening and concluding paragraphs, which are given here :—

Mr. Wm. G. Leduc, Commissioner of Agriculture, has transmitted to the chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, an interesting report on the subject of contagious pleuro-pneumonia or lung disease of cattle. It was prepared by Dr. Charles P. Lyman, under the instructions of the Department. Dr. Lyman began an investigations in the city of New York early in February last. He says that on his arrival in that city he visited Dr. Lantard, from whom he learned that the disease still prevailed to some extent in Eastern New York and on Long Island, and that there was a reported outbreak at Haverhill, N. H. The New Hampshire State Commission had pronounced the outbreak as of a sporadic character, yet the circumstances attending it were of a suspicious nature, at least sufficiently so as to throw doubt on the decision arrived at by the State Commission, and a further investigation was regarded necessary in order to positively determine the matter.

As a result of my investigations thus far I find this foreign plague actually existing among cattle in the following States :—Connecticut, in Fairfax County; New York, in New York; Westchester, Putnam, Kings and Queen's Counties; New Jersey, in Atlantic, Gloucester, Camden, Burlington, Ocean, Mercer, Monmouth, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Morris, Essex, Union, Bergen, and Hudson Counties; Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, Chester, Montgomery, Bucks, Lehigh, Cumberland, York, Delaware, Lancaster, and Adams Counties; Maryland, in Carroll, Baltimore, Hartford, and Cecil Counties; the middle and south-western positions of this State have not yet been visited. No examination has yet been made in this District of Columbia or of the infected territory of Virginia but as the plague prevailed quite exensively in both of the localities last season it will no doubt be found still in existence when the investigation takes place.

An agnostic is described as "one who professes ignorance of theism or refrains from dogmatic assertion, and who neither affirms or denies the existences of a personal Deity, for the reason that he cannot prove or disapprove the assertion; and because of the necessary limits of the human mind, or because of the inefficiency of the evidence furnished by psychical and physical data to warrant a positive conclusion; opposed alike to dogmatic skepticism and dogmatic theism." The above includes the definition of both words. In one sense, an agnostic is nothingarian in theistical problems. There are many such people in the world.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n1dw9md

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

The directors of the suspended West of England & South Wales Bank, charged with falsifying the accounts and conspiring to defraud, have been acquitted.

There is good reason to believe that Spain is now making money and increasing in population to an extent almost without precedent in modern times.

It is probable that Mr. Goschen will shortly proceed to Constantinople as special Ambassador during Sir Austin Layard's absence on leave.

The actual expenses of the Afghan war are now found to exceed the estimate by nearly four million pounds, and there is dismay in the Indian Government in consequence.

A Berlin correspondent fears the days of the Free Towns in Germany are numbered. Proceedings have now been begun against Bremen which threaten to deprive that town entirely of its rights as a free port, as has been done in the case of Antwerp. The correspondent supposes Lubeck will shortly receive its death warrant. This new and determined policy on the part of Prussia is regarded with the utmost interest by many English and American merchants whom it will materially affect.

London, April 5.—The King of Siam's journey abroad has been abandoned on account of ill health.

A St. Petersburgh despatch says, instead of their being an amelioration of the position of the Jews, the police measures against them are enforced more stringently than formerly. Persons on business are required to quit the capital on twenty-four hours' notice. Jewish strangers arriving are ordered to depart in the same summary manner.

Hon. George Brown's Condition.

Mr. Brown's condition has undergone little change since Tuesday evening. The increased consciousness continues; he is well nourished, and his strength is maintained.—Globe.

Mr. Brown has not lost strength since yesterday morning, and is if anything more conscious; but he is very low.—Mail.

The extraordinary vitality of the Hon. George Brown has enabled him to live until the present, but there are no hopes of his survival. A most affecting scene took place in the bedchamber of the senator Tuesday evening. He recovered consciousness for the first time for several days and asked for and recognized several members of his family. He said that he knew he was dying. He would have liked to have lived a little longer to attend to pressing business connected with the Globe and Bow Park farm, but he bowed to the will of the Almighty. He then offered up fervent prayer and requested his family to sing "Rock of Ages." This request was complied with, and the weak old man fell into a peaceful slumber.—Hamilton Times.

An idea of the suffering borne by the patient can be imagined when it is stated that since the shooting his weight has been reduced from 200 to 92 pounds.—London Advertiser.

This Afternoon's Dispatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

TORONTO, May 6, 2:30 p. m.

ST. THOMAS, May 6.—About four a. m. an old frame barn in rear of the Arkell block and between Metcalfe and Queen streets, was discovered to be on fire. Supposed work of incendiary.

From Quebec.

QUEBEC, May 6.—This being a holiday everything is quiet here.

The streets are placarded with notices, asking for 200 additional policemen. It is understood that the Government will engage 100, and the city 100.

From Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 6.—The Grand Trunk receipts for the week ending the 1st inst., were $181,138, an increase of $29,679 over the same week of last year.

The Dominion Wesleyan Theological College closed its session here by the Principal presenting prizes to the successful students.

An affray which is likely to terminate fatally occurred last night at Valleyfield, where the strike among the cotton operatives lately took place. An agent named Frank Alexe, was hiring hands for Masschussetts mills, and on declining to employ one Tessier he became enraged at this and attacked Alexe, following him through the village and firing stones at the carriage the latter was in. Finally Alexe pulled a pistol and firing at his assilant shot him in the upper part of the thigh.

THE WEIGH SCALES.—We have heard grevious complaints during the last few days from parties who had cattle to weigh on the scales in the Fair ground, about the difference in weight shown on these scales and that shown on the market scales and a private scale in town on which some of the cattle were weighed. In some cases we are informed the weight showed 50 lbs. less on the Fair ground scales than it did on the others, which agreed to a few pounds. This is a serious matter and should be seen to at once. We don't know who is to blame, nor do we know which of the scales is wrong. But a careful test should be made, and no one but the official weigher should be allowed to go near, or in any way meddle, with the scales while weighing is going on.

ERIN MONTHLY FAIR.—The first monthly fair held in Erin village, was held on Monday, 3rd inst. It exceeded the most sanguine expectations of all interested. The number of cattle on the ground was equal to almost any quarterly fair held here; amongst which were some excellent beef, which sold readily and brought good prices. A buyer from Toronto took a large drove away; Mr. West, of Guelph, who is a regular attendant at Erin fair bought also a number, and a number was also bought by local buyers. All seemed to be of the opinion that an excellent monthly fair might be built up here. It is surprising to see the number of farm implements that were on exhibition, the general stir and business appearance presented at this season of the year, when farmers are expected to be busy with their seeding. The next monthly fair will be held on the Monday before the Guelph fair.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT OF PUSLINCH.—We have to record the death of Mrs. Ann Taylor, relict of the late George Taylor, which took place in the Township of Keppel, County Bruce, on the 27th ult., at the ripe age of 88 years. The deceased came from Perthshire, Scotland, with her husband in 1832—48 years ago, when they came to Puslinch, and settled on lot 27, 1st con., in what is known as the Scotch settlement. She continued to live there till the death of her husband, which took place some years ago, when she went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Duncan McFarlane. After residing there a short time she removed to Keppel to her son-in-law, Mr. Alex. McCoag, and remained there till her death. She was one of the oldest settlers in Puslinch, having gone in with her husband when there was scarcely a tree cut in that section. She was greatly respected by all who knew her during her long residence in Puslinch.

MRS. WATSON'S READINGS.—This lady gives readings in the City Hall to-morrow night. The Mail thus speaks of her entertainment in Toronto on Tuesday night: The lady being a comparative stranger here, the audience were at the outset slightly cold, but they were soon roused to enthusiasm, and at the close of the programme Mrs. Watson had won a pronounced triumph. A clear musical voice, skilfully modulated to express the accents of passion and deep feeling, or attuned to the brighter key of gaiety and humor, and in addition an attractive face and figure, proved charms too potent for the audience to resist. Mrs. Watson received a demonstration of approval that her merit as a reader fully deserved, and was during the evening presented with six or seven bouquets of choice flowers. Mrs. Watson interpreted the different pieces in the programme with an equal degree of ability, and it would, therefore, be difficult to select any one or two for special commendation above the others, but it may be fairly said that, judged from its effectiveness, her best effort was "Curfew must not ring to-night."

Extensive Fire in Dundas.

On Wednesday evening a fire was discovered in the old Dundas Mills, occupied by A. Ellis as a flour mill, and partly by John McKay as a batting mill. Both were completely destroyed, the flames communicating to the adjoining building occupied by Statten, Stanley & Co. as a knitting factory, which was also destroyed. Some valuable machinery belonging to the latter was saved, but all the property in the others was destroyed. At 10:40 word was sent to Hamilton, and soon after a special train with a hand engine and some firemen went to the scene, but their services were little needed as the fire had been well nigh spent. Their efforts were directed to the rear portion of Ellis' mill, where $500 worth of cordwood was being consumed. At one time it was feared the flames would spread to the City Hall, which are situated close to the burned buildings, but fortunately there was no wind of any account, which prevented the catastrophe. So far as could be learned, the fire originated in the fourth flat of Ellis' mill, where a smut machine was worked, and then spread with such great rapidify that it was impossible for the small hand engine to throw water on the burning mill. There was plenty of water at hand, but owing to the went of a good steam engine it was utterly useless. The burned buildings were situated between Hatt and Ogilvie streets, and consisted of a large four story stone mill (Ellis') and a four story building occupied by Statten, Stanley & Co., and Mackay, and a large batting mill in the rear. The loss is estimated at $20,000; insured for $10,000 on the buildings and machinery, and about $5,000.

The Indian Wife Murderer Found Guilty.

The trial of the Indian fish carrier of Tuscarora, who murdered his wife Nancy on the 15th of April, came off at Brantford on Wednesday. The prisoner pleaded guilty of the crime, but was not cognizant of what he was saying; that is he pleaded guilty of the crime without intent to kill, which in effect amounted to the plea of not guilty. From the evidence produced it seems he is a professing Christian, and an adherent of the Baptist denomination, and has lived tolerably happy with his wife for many years, but the fact of his making love to and keeping two women has caused all the evil. He has been in the habit of going away in the fall and remaining away till spring, when he would come back as unconcerned as though the act was perfectly justifiable. It appears that on the above named date he and his wife went out into the woods together and commenced quarrelling, when the wife accused him of neglecting her and the children, and he, having an axe in his hand, struck her a blow with the sharp edge as she was crossing a log that spanned the creek, and as she fell he struck her another blow and stood calmly contemplating his bloody work, but after a time remorse filled his soul and he fell upon his knees and prayed to God to forgive him for the horrible crime he had committed.

After the Judge had summed up the evidence and addressed the jury, the latter retired for a short time and brought in a verdict of "wilful murder," and the Judge then sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on the 7th June.

WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN BURNED.—On Tuesday night the house of James Gage, ex councillor of the township of Euphemia, near Chatham, was totally destroyed by fire. Two of Mr. Gage's children and a daughter of a neighbor named Wade, who was staying with the children, perished in the flames. The fire was first discovered by Mr. Wade about midnight, but too late to rescue the sleeping children. Mr. and Mrs. Gage and three children were away from home at the time. The origin of the fire is unknown. The remains were not yet recognizable. The youngest victim was burned in her bed. One of the others was lying by the bed and the other lying by the door with a lamp by her side.

FINLAND EMIGRANTS.—The Hamilton Spectator says:—Among the emigrants passing through on the Air Line last week were thirty Finnish families, numbering 200 persons. They are bound for Minnesota. Many of the women were dressed in bright homespun cloths, with fantastic hats. Some of the mothers had their infants in cradles made of skin and strapped to their backs. The men and several of the older children wore suits of skin with hair on the inside, and the smooth outside elaborately embroidered in many colors.

THE MISSING MAN KERO.—There is something singular about the disappearance of Kero late lessee of the Royal Opera House, Toronto. He has not been heard of in Toronto since the decision was given against him in the Sunday concert case some weeks ago. He was supposed to be well off, and no reason is given why he should have left the city. A peculiar circumstance is that since his departure not even the slightest trace has been obtained as to his whereabouts. It was thought he had gone to Montana with A. D. Maloney, but the latter writes to say that such is not the case.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 5.

The House went into Committee on the Bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act, 1879, and, at the suggestion of Mr. Blake, made an amendment providing that all regulations for the disposal of coal or other mineral lands in the North West shall, besides being properly advertised in the Canada Gazette, be submitted to Parliament for thirty days for the approval of both Houses.

The House went into Committee on the Bill entitled "An Act to amend 'An Act relating to Banks and Banking,'" and to continue for a limited time the Charters of certain Banks to which the said Act applies." Several amendments were made, one among the number declaring that if any corporation or private person do publicly style themselves or himself a "bank," such act shall be punished as a misdemeanour.

Mr. Rufus Stevenson moved concurrence in the report of the Printing Committee, recommending that the contract with McLean, Roger, & Co., be cancelled, because it was obtained by improper practices. Messrs. Blake and Ross (Middlesex) contended that the report signed by the Chairman (Mr. Stephenson) was not an accurate record of the Committee's finding, and therefore should be referred back to the Committee for amendment—the fact being that the Committee had adopted by a majority vote the report of a Sub-Committee, which was not included in the present report.

The House went into Committee on the resolutions of declaring the expediency of substituting certain resolutions for the 7th of the series relating to the Pacific Railway adopted last year. The proposed resolutions appropriate one hundred million acres of land in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, the revenue resulting from the sale of which will be utilized in defraying the cost of constructing the road. A short debate ensued, during which Sir John Macdonald stated on the authority of officers in his Department that there were, exclusive of that in British Columbia and the land known as the northern section of the Montana Desert, which, however, Prof. Macoun thought was fit for settlement, no less than 220 million acres of fertile land in the North-West Territories.

Mr. Blake said this announcement was very satisfactory, but it did not accord with the statement made by the Minister of Railways, that there were only one hundred and fifty million acres of land there. This led to an explanation by Sir Charles Tupper, and after further discussion the Committee reported the resolution. On the question of concurrence Mr. Blake moved an amendment that the report be referred back to the Committee with instructions to amend the same by adding a clause declaring that the sales of all railway lands shall be on condition of actual settlement. The amendment was negatived on a vote of 25 yeas and 76 nays. The resolutions were then concurred in on the same division.

On motion by Sir Charles Tupper the House approved of the contract for the construction of the second one hundred mile section of the Canada Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg.

Sir Leonard Tilley moved the second reading of the Supply Bill.

Mr. Blake gave a number of practical suggestions as to the conduct of future sessions, and pointed out the defects of the present. Sir John Macdonald briefly noticed some of the objections taken.

The Supply Bill then passed the final stage.

The Report of the Hansard Committee appointing the reporting staff for next session was adopted.

Sheep Washing.

It is a question in the minds of many wool-growers as to the practical utility of washing the fleece while it is still upon the sheep's back. A deduction—usually one-third—is made by the wool-buyers from the weight of all unwashed wool, and in most cases this is not far from the loss which the fleece would sustain in the process of washing, if it is done with the average amount of thoroughness. Nevertheless the practice of washing the sheep is very general, and if there is no return in money for the labor of washing, there is the satisfaction of having cleaner wool to work with when shearing.

The common method of washing is to select some favorable place in a brook where the water is about three feet deep, the bottom hard and gravelly, and the current moderate, and then build a pen of rails sufficient to hold a large flock, and provided with a narrow opening towards the stream. Into this pen the sheep are driven through an opening, temporarily made for the purpose, at the rear. One man, perhaps aided by a boy, tends the flock and passes the sheep to the washers who are standing in the stream. The sheep should have been previously tagged and freed from all large soiled clots. The washing should not be done until the water has become so warm that sheep may not be chilled and injured. Special care must be taken with old or sickly sheep, and ewes that are still with lamb. An exposure of the sheep to a warm rain the day previous to the washing is an advantage, as it softens and loosens the dirt and renders the washing the easier and more thorough. As the sheep are washed they should pass out upon a clean, grassy slope that rises gradually from the stream, otherwise the water-laden animals may fall and soil their fleeces. After washing, if the weather should turn suddenly cooler, the flock should be provided with shelter, to prevent their taking cold, as they would be very likely to do. From the time of washing to that of shearing, two weeks or so, the sheep should be kept in a pasture that is free from any bare ground, overhanging banks, or steep sidehills, so that the wool may be kept clean.

A second method of washing, which is employed when the stream is small but somewhat rapid, is to arrange a spout for the passage of the water, and hold the sheep under the end—the water flowing upon the animal. In this way the washer does not go into the stream, and if provided with rubber boots and apron, may keep himself comparatively dry. The washing by this method is very thorough, as there is a stream of clean water constantly flowing into and through the wool, and carrying off the impurities as they are removed from the sheep.

A week ago last Sunday J. H. Cress, Port Elgin, in a fit of vomiting, discharged a lizard three inches in length. He supposes he swallowed the reptile nine months ago when taking a drink of spring water.

The Boundary Committee's Report.

As was to be expected the report of the Ontario Boundary Committee does not touch the merits of the case. It is a very long document, and purposes to give a history of the case and a summary of the evidence, taken by the Committee. At the same time, in an indirect way everything is done to throw discredit on the award of the arbitrators, and weaken the arguments used in support of the position taken by Ontario. The report covers one hundred pages of closely written foolscap, and in view of its great length, and the importance of the matter in dispute, a minority report was presented by Mr. Ross, of Middlesex, showing the utter impossibility of arriving at an intelligent conclusion in regard to the case without ample time for deliberation. A majority of the Committee, however, forced through the report in spite of this protest, and all the minority could do was to get the Committee to consent to report the minutes to the House, by which the views of the minority will be brought before the people. The action of the Committee is quite in accordance with the Premier's purpose at the beginning of session, when he moved for the appointment of the Committee. He found a very pliant tool in the person of Mr. Dawson, the chairman, and a no less pliant majority on the Committee did exactly what Sir John Macdonald told them.

The Scott Temperance Act.

The Senate on Wednesday threw out the bill to amend the Scott Temperance Act, and thereby has at least done one good service for the public. The active instigators in getting this bill passed through the Commons were Mr. Boultbee and Dr. Orton. In the Scott's bill of 1878, a clause, after a good deal of opposition, was introduced and carried, to the effect that "In case more than one half of all the votes polled are for the petition, the same shall be held to have been adopted." It was sought to repeal this section by substituting a clause providing that "a majority of voters on the voters' lists, and not merely a majority of voters," have cast their ballots for the petition. The proposal was certainly a novel one, and which has never so far been applied to any kind of electoral machinery. Those who stayed at home and refrained from voting, those who refused to vote, those who were absent or dead—in fact every vote which appeared on the voter's list was made to count, and against the petition, for the vote not being recorded it went to swell the number recorded in opposition to the petition. We would like to know how such a system would work in parliamentary and municipal elections. It is a principle in our electoral system that a majority of the actual votes polled elects the individual or carries the measure submitted to the people, but our very wise legislators of the Boultbee stamp sought to destroy this principle by making it law that in reference to this particular Act a majority of the votes on the voter's list should be recorded in its favor before the Act could be enforced. The design of course was to render the Act inoperative, for ten chances to one it would never have been carried under the provisions of the amendment which the Senate has rejected.

HON. Oliver Mowat left Toronto on Wednesday evening on his way to England. He will be absent about two months.

MR. Blake on Wednesday urged upon the Government:—1st, that the House should meet earlier in the year, in January; 2nd, that we should get into supply earlier; 3rd, that Government bills should be brought in earlier. These are are all reasonable propositions, but the Premier did not promise to accede to any of them.

THE London Spectator gives the bulk of the credit of the recent Liberal victory in England to the Non-Conformists, who rallied with irresistable enthusiasm to the support of Mr. Gladstone. In the election in 1874 they were split up. An important point also in the recent election was that the Wesleyans, who in former contests had been divided, went almost solid in favour of the Liberal candidates.

ANOTHER lively scene occurred in the Senate on Wednesday, in which personalities were freely indulged in. The parties concerned in the squabble were Sir Alex. Campbell and Senator George Alexander. The report of the Printing Committee was under consideration. Sir Alex. Campbell was the aggressor in the present instance. Sir Alexander, in reply to a few remarks by Hon. Mr. Alexander, proceeded to castigate him in a most severe manner. He charged the member for Woodstock with having made use of slanderous and untruthful remarks, and with being guilty of ingratitude, as it was to him (Sir Alexander) that he was indebted for his seat in the Senate. Frequently during his speech the Minister of Militia was interrupted with points of order raised by Mr. Alexander. The latter vociferated loud denials, pounded his fist on his desk, to the discomfort of his neighbours, and was frequently ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker. To adequately describe the scene it may be remarked that it was quite equal to that in which Senators Mills and Kaulbach were the principal actors, or to any for which the present House of Commons has become so celebrated.

THE U. S. Ways and Means Committee in Congress have reported a revised tariff, making many radical changes which will decrease the revenue eleven millions annually. The duty on all manufactures of cotton and all unmanufactured wools is made 20 per cent. ad valorem, and on manufactured woollens 20 to 40 per cent. The duty on wool pulp is reduced from 20 to 10 per cent., and on flax from $25 to $10 a ton; paper of all sorts form 35 to 25 per cent.; upon agricultural implements from 35 to 25 per cent. The bill will receive all the Democratic votes. High tariff men concede that the bill will be reported favorably.

SOME months ago Peter Mahon, of Wellington, was appointed to a lucrative position in the Agricultural College, and his appointment was quoted by our Reform contemporaries as proving the extreme liberality of the Mowat Government towards their Irish Catholic supporters. Well, the Guelph Herald is our authority for saying that Mr. Mahon has been discharged without cause; and the Guelph MERCURY will perhaps be good enough to tell us what this proves. —Mail.

We may tell the Mail that the Herald is very bad authority in this as in most other matters, for it knows nothing about the reasons for Mr. Mahon's dismissal. We may also inform the Mail that Mr. Mahon's successor is also an Irish Catholic, whose appointment we suppose it will look upon as another proof of "the extreme liberality of the Mowat Government towards their Irish Catholic supporters."

Canadian Rye and and Barley.

A letter recently received in this city from Belgium by one of our foreign consuls, contained the following interesting paragraph:—"There is a lively inquiry for rye at Antwerp, as there is very little in the warehouses. Canadian rye would bring here 24 francs ($4.68) per 100 kilo. (A kilo is a fraction over 2 lbs.) Recommend our Canadian friends to ship as soon as possible." Many of our readers may not know that Canadian rye and barley is heavier and of better quality than that grown in the States and is worth an average of three cents per bushel more. Antwerp imports about 10,000,000 bushels of rye annually, and last year 300,000 bushels were taken from Montreal. She also imported last year 6,300,000 bushels of barley, 14,000 bushels of which were Canadian. If further encouragement is wanted to induce Canadians to sow heavy crops of both classes of cereals it is offered by the imports into Germany for 1879, which were obtained from official sources in this city, and which are as follows:—Rye, 29,601,416 cwts; wheat, 18,482,402 cwts; barley, 6,441,146 cwts; oats, 6,420,739 cwts; maize, 4,083,808 cwts.

Letters received in this city show that merchants both in Germany and Belgium are fully aware of the excellence of the Canadian rye and barley, and our exports no doubt would have been much heavier in the past, if ocean vessels had not been driven from the St. Lawrence to New York by excessive pilotage, towage and port charges.—Montreal Star.

A Dublin despatch to the Times says Parnell paid a farewell visit to Navan on Wednesday and announced he had definitely resolved to sit for Cork. A preliminary conference of Roman Catholic bishops and clergy unanimously resolved to accept as satisfactory Parnell's reason for leaving Meath, and by a majority decided to adopt A. M. Sullivan as his successor, provided he felt at liberty to cooperate cordially with Parnell.

The Markets.

May 5.

In Liverpool the market was quiet but firm the floating cargoes a turn dearer. The Chicago market opened higher and advanced about 1½c, but lost ½c before the close. New York irregular. In Montreal the flour market was dull; very little enquiry; small business reported; quotations unchanged. Barley nominal. Oats at 32 to 33c. Peas, 85 to 86 per 66 lbs. for May delivery. Spring Wheat said to be offering at $1.30, with buyers at $1.25. Butter 17 to 19c. Cheese at 14 to 15½c, according to make. In Toronto little was done. One load of fall wheat sold at $1.20; one load of spring at $1.22, and one load of barley at 65c. Hay was in fair supply and easy at $8 to $15. Straw was scarce and steady at $6 to $7.25. Hogs firm at $7.75. Butter abundant and down to 20 to 22c for pound rolls. Eggs weak at 10½ to 11c.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

Churning in Texas.

I thought I had seen a good many kinds of churns before I came down here—crank churns, dasher churns, and chemical churns. But I will now describe a mode of churning butter that will, I think, make New England folks open their eyes. Commonly, they do not make much butter in this country, and the settlers here come to get along without it; but by the time I had been at the poseta two or three days, I began to want some butter on my bread.

M——had a herd of twenty-five or thirty cattle, which he kept for beef, and among them were a number of milch cows. Ed. was bidden to set the milk for twenty-four hours; and the next morning M——told Lizado or "Liz," as we called him, to churn. They had done such a thing as to churn butter before, it appears. Liz went and brought a bag of raw hide, about as large as a common meal bag. How clean it was inside, I am sure I do not know; but he turned the cream into it, and poured in new milk enough to fill it two-thirds full; and then he tied it up with a strong strip of hide.

M——stood with a broad grin on his face. I was already too much astonished to make any remarks. Liz now carried the bag out of doors and then got his horse. Taking his lasso off the saddle, he made one end of it fast to the cream bag, the other end, as usual, being attached to a ring in the saddle. This done, he jumped on the horse and tucked spurs to him. Away he went, and at the first jerk that bag went ten feet in the air and fell with a squash close up at the horse's heels. At the next jerk it went higher still. He soon went out of sight, with the bag dancing after him. Sometimes it hit down alongside the horse and sometimes it struck slap on the animal's rump. M—— was convulsed with laughter—at me, I suppose; for I must confess that this upset all my previous ideas of butter-making. In the course of twenty or thirty minutes Liz came back, the horse looking pretty hot and the bag very dusty.

"Es mantica" (butter's come), said he. Ed. untied the churn, and sure enough, there was a good homely chunk of butter, too. They said it was, and Ed. declared it was "a dale easier than turnin' a crank." So I respectfully submit the "method" to all our good people up north. Everything needed for it is a sole-leather bag, a clothes-line, and a horse.

The Prospects of Wool.

The prospects are good, and we might stop there and say no more, if every wool grower would believe us. But there are always some incredulous ones who think the end is "near." They are always looking for the end of good times, the end of prosperity, the end of the world, &c. When we said to a young man a few days since, go west and go into sheep-raising, he said, "Oh everybody is going into that, and the market will soon be glutted." There are many who feel that way. But why should they? We are not growing near the quantity of wool that we consume, and until we do produce that amount, is it not the veriest foolishness to talk about a possible, let alone a probable over production? Look at the market today. It may be said in one sense to be dull, because there is no wool, comparatively speaking, to be had. There are plenty of buyers but few sellers, and yet it is said that there is likely to be over production. Wool, when it can be produced under favourable circumstances, will be, take it for the next ten years—and we do not know but that we might say twenty years—the most profitable product of the farm. Prices may go down, but they will go down because the prices of other things go down, and not because there is not a real need for the wool.

Foreign wools are now pouring into the country by the millions of pounds, and it is being shoved over the Canadian line almost free of tariff because our mills are in such desperate need of it that the authorities conveniently shut the official eye, partly anyhow. The eagerness of buyers to buy and the cautiousness of producers to contract make the situation interesting. We find among the Western districts of Pennsylvania, manufacturers contracting for the wool of what may be called mountain sheep at half a dollar, and in Kentucky they are asking forty-five to forty-six cents, on board the cars, and will not sell less. In Texas nothing can be reached below thirty to thirty-three and a half cents that is desirable. In California the farmers have exalted ideas and do not care to contract on the northern ranches, preferring to wait in anticipation of securing higher prices. They are now holding burry southern wools at twenty-five to thirty cents firmly. Wool-growers, in fact, expect to secure extravagant prices this season.—The Western Rural.

Montreal Live Stock Market.

May 3.

The arrivals of live stock by rail at Point St. Charles for sale on this market were sixteen carloads of cattle. The supply of cattle to-day was fair, and the demand was rather more active with prices firmer than in the latter part of the week. R. Cochrane, Guelph, sold nine cattle to Ald. McShane at 4½c per lb., and the balance of his load to city butchers at 4c per lb. A. Bourgerd, Port Perry, sold a carload of cattle to various buyers at an average of 4½c per lb.; F. Shields, of Toronto, also sold a carload of cattle at about the same rate. He likewise sold 30 hogs at a little over 6½c per lb. W. Jack, of Lindsay, had two carloads of cattle on the market, but up to noon had only sold seven bulls at $56 each, or a little over 3½c per lb. Mr. Jack has an exceedingly fine fat cow, which he bought from Mr. Britton, of Port Mara. This cow weighs about 3,000 lbs., and $110 was refused for her today. About sixty head of cattle were offered at Viger Market to-day, but they were not of very good quality, being chiefly bulls, dry cows and strippers. The price of this kind of stock seems to be from 3c to 3½c per lb.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health, She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

A great deal has been written upon this delicate subject, and still there is great diversity of opinion as to what the ladies have a perfect right to say, do and think. There is not the slightest doubt, however, about the fact, that when a lady enters a drug store and asks for a bottle of Wilson's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, she ought to get it at once; and it is no part of a druggist's duty to undertake to convince a customer that they want something other than that they are asking for. For Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Wilson's Wild Cherry is the quickest and most reliable cure. It contains no Opium, and can be given with the same safety and effect to an infant of three months as to an adult person.
Sold by all druggists.

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER I.

"Studying art, I presume?" asked the Major, glancing at the easel.

"Yes," replied Pandora. "I am an artist."

"Is not this rather a—a queer place to come to for sketches?"

"Oh, no!" said Pandora, laughing; "I came here to study anatomy for a great picture I am going to paint. You see what that is?" said she, lifting the cardboard and showing the sketch to the Major.

"That is a—a—I should say that was a picture of—well, of the elbow of a stove-pipe. Isn't it?"

"You are not very complimentary," said Pandora. "I know it is very raw and unfinished; but it is at least a fair likeness of that human leg in the jar of alcohol over there."

"Oh, of course! So it is; so it is; astonishing likeness! How stupid I am. To be sure. The very image of it."

"Come now, I know you don't think so! You are flattering me?"

"No, indeed! It is wonderful! But—why bless my soul, what on earth do you want a picture of such a thing as that for?"

"For my great painting," said Pandora, with a pretty little laugh. "I am preparing a picture, 38 by 27 feet, of George Washington cutting down his father's cherry tree with his little hatchet."

"What for?"

"I expect to sell it to the Government, and to have it placed among the other historical pictures in the rotunda of the capital."

"But you are not going to put this leg in the picture?"

"Yes; I represent George as being barefooted and having one trouser leg rolled up!"

"But then, I don't exactly see how—well, but George was a boy, and this is a man's leg!"

"I know, but I am drawing all the figures on a heroic scale."

"Oh!" said the Major. Then he added, "But I must bid you good morning."

"I shall be very glad to have you come to see me," said Pandora.

"I assure you it will give me much pleasure to do so," answered the Major, with a feeling of exultation.

Then he bowed politely and withdrew.

When Pandora reached home she showed Major Dunwoody's card to her mother, and told her of the adventure at the Museum.

"Mrs. M'Duffy sat upon the sofa and listened. She was a woman of distinguished appearance. Of large frame, not corpulent, but rounded rather more than positive beauty seemed to require, having the carriage of the queen; with a finely-shaped head, a strongly-refined chin, head well up, an aquiline nose, and piercing black eyes, Mrs. M'Duffy impressed the observer with a sense of power. The mother of the Gracchi might have been such a woman. If Mrs. M'Duffy had been born to a throne she would have left her impress distinctly upon the history of nations.

Mrs. M'Duffy was familiar with the world. She was a woman who quickly comprehended possibilities. She clearly foresaw that Major Dunwoody might have an influence upon the future of Pandora, and the prospect was not pleasing to her.

"Pandora," she said, "I trust you did not ask this man to call?"

"Yes, I did, mother."

"I am sorry to hear of it. I never liked his branch of the Dunwoodys. His father was mixed up with some very suspicious land speculations, and he died insolvent. Major Dunwoody has nothing but his pay. You must treat him with coolness when he comes."

"Why?"

"Why! Why, because it is very necessary that you should give him no encouragement of any kind. He is not a desirable match for you. Besides, you owe it to your family now to offer every opportunity to Achilles Smith. Mr. Smith worships you!"

"And I hate him," said Pandora, vigorously.

"Hate him, my child? Why, how absurd! Mr. Smith is a very charming man, and when he gets his Pottawatomie claim through Congress he will be rich."

"He will never get it through; and I won't have him if he does!"

"Never get it through, Pandora! Didn't General Belcher, the member for the Ninety-sixth Kansas District, and his bosom friend, assure me positively that it would be approved during the present session?"

"His claim is ridiculous. Congress will never allow it."

"My dear! pray don't be absurd! His claim is quite as reasonable as thousands of similar claims. The Pottawatomie Indians scalped him in 1862, and he very properly asks the Legislature of his country to compel the savages to make reparation by surrendering two million acres of their reservation. I cannot see anything ridiculous about that. If he succeeds he will be the largest individual land owner in the West."

"If he succeeds!"

"But General Belcher, who is pushing his case in Congress, and who is to share the property with him, positively declares that he will succeed. The General, also, makes your acceptance of Achilles the condition of his championship of your picture. He says that Congress shall buy that picture upon the day that you marry Achilles Smith!"

"General Belcher is simply disgusting, mother. I would never think of accepting a favor from him."

"Not when his exertions can lift you and your mother out of poverty, Pandora? You talk most unreasonably."

"I mean what I say," said Pandora firmly.

"Very well, miss, we shall see," replied Mrs. M'Duffy, rising and sweeping majestically from the room.

Major Dunwoody called upon that very evening. He called again the next evening. He called frequently upon following evenings, and although Mrs. M'Duffy treated him with coldness which bordered upon disdain, the Major's infatuation for Pandora was so strong that he forgot Mrs. M'Duffy's incivility in rejoicing over the exceeding graciousness of her daughter.

The Major was convinced that Pandora loved him, but he hesitated to take practical measures to ascertain the fact, because he could not summon up a sufficient amount of resolution to tell her the truth about the loss of his leg. He was far too honourable to deceive her respecting his misfortune until she had committed herself to him, and he was haunted by apprehension that she might reject him when she knew the actual state of the case. A catastrophe brought matters to a crisis.

One Sunday evening the Major escorted Pandora to church. During the worship the Major felt his French leg give several very strange twitches, and he could hear a clicking sound in the knee as if some of the springs were loose and moving about in an independent manner. Pandora noticed the noise too, and leaned over to ask the Major, in a whisper, if there was not a mouse running about upon the floor of the pew. The Major said he did not think there was.

Pandora whispered that it sounded rather more like machinery.

The Major faintly intimated that it might proceed from the gas meter in the cellar, or perhaps the people in the gallery were fixing something about the organ.

Two weeks ago, the 1st and 2nd Deputy Reeves of the Galt Council resigned. An election was held last week to fill the vacancies, when Mr. McTague was elected to fill the former and Mr. James Patterson, the latter, by acclamation.

Guelph Markets.

MERCURY OFFICE,
GUELPH, May 6 1880.

Fine weather at present keeps farmers at home attending their spring work, which goes on interruptedly to the full extent of their help, which they are very wisely utilising at present. We sincerely hope that their efforts and labors will be rewarded ten thousandfold, so that when the crops are all secured we can congratulate them on their season's work. So far, we have no reason to anticipate anything but a bountiful harvest, which with the will of a kind Providence we eagerly hope and await to see fully realized.

So far as changes of any importance are concerned respecting prices paid on this market, there have been none since our last weekly issue, if we may except hay, which in consequence of larger deliveries has suffered a decline. Even the present price is by purchasers considered still too high, and patiently seem to feed in smaller quantities until such time as prices decline to about last winter's standard or thereabouts. In this however we opine they will get somewhat disappointed. Wheat rules low, and spring, particularly of good quality, is eagerly sought after and purchased at our outside quotations.

Oats are a shade lower this week which remark also applies to peas.

Peas as may be seen by reference to the figures appended, for shipping purposes, are now bought at 65c, to 66c.

Potatoes continue at about the same price as last week, but the general opinion is that ere many days, they must and will be no doubt bought for less money, there is such a quantity in the country which of course must have an effect.

Here are the latest prices paid on the Guelph market up to the last moment of our going to press

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

The Marquis of Ripon, the newly appointed Viceroy of India, will leave in a few days for his post, by way of Brindisi and Suez, where he will take the Peninsula and Oriental steamer for Calcutta.

The Young Men's Christian Association of London, has purchased Exeter Hall for £25,000, and £15,000 more will be spent in adapting the building to the requirments of the Central Association, for which it is to be used.

The London correspondent of the Edinburgh Scotsman says he hears that Lord Stratheden and Campbell will be chief proprietor of the new London evening newspaper which is about to appear under the editorship of Frederick Greenwood, formerly editor of the Pall Mall Gazette.

Sir Garnet Wolseley embarked for England on Wednesday. Before leaving Natal he had an interview with John Dunn, who reported that throughout Zululand the feeling regarding the settlement of affairs is satisfactory. General Wolseley deprecates any reactionary policy regarding South African affairs.

The model of a new French flag has been definitely adopted, but the period fixed for the presentation of it to the different regiments of the line has not yet been decided.

The financial embarrassment of the Turkish Government is so great that the funds of the Foreign, the Post, and the Telegraph offices employees have been seized. Contractors are paid, after many delays, by cheques on Provincial Boards which are found to be penniless.

A London correspondent says that at his first official reception Earl Granville, Secretary of State for the Foreign Department, declared that the new British Cabinet frankly adopts the maintainance of the treaty of Berlin, that it will enter into no continental alliance, will continue the present cordial relations with France, will support the Greek claims even beyond the demands urged by the French cabinet, and will endeavor to maintain the existing harmony in the Anglo-French control in Egypt.

At a meeting of the Mansion House Relief Committee on Thursday it was announced that there were only £33,000 on hand. Letters were read from various districts regarding the continuance of the distress. The question of getting up a drawing of prizes in aid of the relief fund, which has diminished so much, was mentioned, but its consideration was postponed. A deputation was appointed to wait upon Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and make a representation of the condition of the country. The general feeling of the Committee was that the crisis was never more alarming, as subscriptions are falling off while the distress is increasing.

Hon. Geo. Brown's Condition.

Mr. Brown continued in much the same condition as before during Wednesday night and yesterday. In the evening the doctor pronounced him very slightly better than he was twenty-four hours before. —Globe.

Mr. Brown is reported to be somewhat better. He is conscious, and is taking nourishment.—Mail.

This Afternoon's Dispatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

(Per Dominion Line.)

TORONTO, May 7.—10.30 a. m.—Mr. Brown is much better this morning. He took some food during the night and slept well at intervals.

3. p. m.—At noon to-day, the doctors report Hon. Geo. Brown as not quite so well as yesterday. He passed rather a restless night, and his pulse varies from 130 to 140.

Perventing Fights in Canada.

SIMCOE, May 7.—Some of the county authorities in Norfolk having been advised of the intended fights between George Rook and Mike Donovan on the 11th of May in Canada, communicated with the Attorney-General of Ontario, who instructed them to take all necessary steps to prevent these brutal exhibitions on Canadian soil. Arrangements to that effect have been made, also to arrest any Canadians who may go there with a view of seeing the fights, and have them punished for being parties to a breach of the law.

The Prisoner Bennett.

TORONTO, May 7.—At the Police Court this morning Geo. Dickson alias Bennett, charged with shooting Hon. Geo. Brown, was placed in the dock, but was remanded for another week.

DEADENING NOISE.—The Workshop Companion gives the following practical hints to those who carry on industrial operations involving considerable pounding:—First, rubber cushions under the legs of the work bench. Chambers' Journal describes a factory where the hammering of fifty coppersmiths was scarcely audible in the room below, their benches having under each leg a rubber cushion. Second, kegs of sand or sawdust applied in the same way. A few inches of sand or sawdust is first poured into each keg; on this is laid a board or block upon which the leg rests, and around the leg and block is poured fine sand or sawdust. Not only all noise, but all vibration and shock are prevented; and an ordinary anvil, so mounted, may be used in a dwelling without annoying the inhabitants. To amateurs, whose workshops are usually placed in dwelling houses this device affords a cheap and simple relief from a great annoyance.

Lord Arch. Campbell, brother of the Marquis of Lorne, has arrived at New York.

The Collingwood Bulletin says:—The water in the Georgian Bay this year is about two feet lower than usual.

Local News.

PERSONAL.—Mr. D. Guthrie, M. P., arrived from Ottawa last night.

MRS. HAMMOND, wife of P. C. Hammond, left this morning on a trip to England.

GUY & HUSBAND, merchant tailors, are offering specialties in their line to-day. See advt.

A NUMBER of citizens have placed small fountains on their lawns to be supplied with water from the water works.

ONE HUNDRED and fifty dollars has been raised for games and amusements at Acton on the Queen's Birthday.

MR. H. FORBES, Clerk of the Custom's Office, Port Hope, has been superannuated, He has served as clerk for thirty-three years.

THE Brockville Recorder says:—"An old man named Nedo died at Chaffey's Lock on Friday last, at the ripe age of 104 years.

LOWER Wyndham street was flooded to such an extent after the rain this afternoon that some packing boxes in front of the Lion went floating down the street.

The Allan steamship Prussian left Montreal on Thursday for Liverpool with an unusually large cargo of cattle on board, numbering about 233 head. A large proportion of these came from Guelph.

ON Wednesday Mr. James Brown, of Acton, sold a three year old steer weighing 1,885 pounds to Mr. John Hall, at five cents per pound. The animal is for export.

CITY COUNCIL.—A special meeting of the Council is to be held this evening to receive a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Water Works Commissioners, and to consider the matter of placing the remaining $9,000 raised on Water Works debentures to their credit.

DISORDERLY.—Emma Butt, a prostitute, was arrested while in a beastly state of intoxication near the Great Western station yesterday afternoon. She says she belongs to Berlin, and is at present living with Mrs. Bittle on Crimea street. She offered a good deal of resistance when being arrested, and the sergeant had to convey her to the Police Station in a cab. At Police Court to-day she was fined $1 and $4.50 costs, which she paid.

THE Cow BY-LAW.—The case against William Noble for allowing his cow to run at large, was dismissed by the Police Magistrate, the defendant proving that the cow had broken away from his premises. Summonses have been issued against two persons to appear at court to-morrow for breaches of the cow by-law. An inquisitive daughter of the "Ould Sod," wants to know "If thim as pays taxes has to pay the b'ys to drive cattle to pound."

SHIPMENT OF HOGS.—Mr. R. S. ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY. — The regular monthly meeting of this Society was held last night, there being a very fair attendance of members. Votes of thanks were tendered to Rev. Mr. Williams for preaching the annual sermon to the Society, to Prof. Philp and the local talent for their services at the Society's concert, and a special vote of thanks to Mr. Kennedy, of Brantford, for his voluntary services on the same occasion. A report was made that the net receipts of the concert amounted to $31 after all expenses were paid. Some unimportant matters were discussed after which the meeting adjourned.

MRS. WATSON'S READINGS TO-NIGHT.—This lady gives her entertainment to-night in the City Hall. Wherever she has given readings she has been highly spoken of. On Thursday night she was at Hamilton, where a fashionable audience attended her readings. The stage was arranged with the most consummate taste, and the selections chosen displayed the undoubted elocutionary ability of the fair reader, who was rapturously applauded at the end of each selection, and was made the recipient of several beautiful bouquets during the evening. We expect to see a large audience at the City Hall to-night. The programme is an excellent one, and cannot fail to please.

LARGE BULL.—Among the cattle shipped to the British market by Mr. Wm. Hearn this week, was a bull of the Short Horn class, bred and fed by Geo. Fyfe, of Guelph township, which turned the scales at 2,680 pounds. It sold at 5 cents per pound.

RUMOUR CONTRADICTED.—A report is going the rounds that Mr. John Hogg purposes leaving Guelph for the United States. We are authorized to state that there is not the slightest foundation for the story, and that Mr. Hogg intends to spend the remainder of his life in the Royal City, and do the best he can to further its prosperity in the future. Guelph could not afford to lose "The Wonderful Man."

PARLOR CONCERT.—The parlor concert at the residence of Mr. Geo. Anderson, in aid of Chalmers' Church building fund, last night was an enjoyable and successful affair. There was a good attendance and the programme was carried out with good effect. Mr. D. Stirton occupied the chair, and during the evening made a few happy remarks. Rev. Dr. Wardrope also addressed those present. The following was the programme:—Piano duet, Misses Maggie Stewart and Mary Grant; songs, "Where has Scotland found her fame" and "The braes o' Marr," Mr. W. Guthrie; songs, "Jock o' Hazeldean" and "Robin Adair," Miss McLaren; piano solo, Miss Maggie Auld; piano solo, Miss Grant; reading, Mr. Geo. Anderson; songs, Mr. Maitland, "My ain dear land" and "Put your shoulder to the wheel." The accompaniments were played by Miss L. Stewart and Mr. Jas. Maitland. A string band under the direction of Mr. Maitland favored the company with a number of fine musical selections during the evening. The progamme concluded with the National Anthem.

Biddulph Tragedy.

A few days ago it was stated in these columns that there was a probability that an application would be made to the Court of Queen's Bench for a change in the venue of the Biddulph murderers' case. We now learn that it is more than probable a motion will be made in Term by the Crown counsel, when it is believed the order will be made. Additional reasons have been advanced for the removal of the trial from a place where local bias has been proven to be extensively prevalent, and where, whatever the result of the trial, suspicions would be entertained as to the influence under which it was arrived at. It is therefore likely that there will be little objection to the change of venue, as it is rumored that even Chief Justice Wilson, who refused an order when the case was before him at London, may be favorably inclined to review his judgment in view of new light upon the subject which has been obtained. If changed, the trial will in all probability take place at Guelph, that place being favored by the Attorney-General as the most suitable.

Temperance Legislation.

No more damaging exhibition of Ministerial vacillation and Tory insincerity was ever given than in the debate on the Temperance Bill in the House of Commons and subsequent divisions. In the first place the Bill was introduced by Mr. Bowell, member of the Government; next a supporter of the Government, Mr. Boultbee, moved an amendment, the practical effect of which would be to render the Temperance Act nugatory; then we have the amendment carried—the Ministry making it an open question; finally the three months' hoist was moved by Mr. Ross, of Middlesex, and defeated, the members of the Government again dividing. The action of Cabinet Ministers was a confession of weakness and a proof of insincerity. Were they earnest in the desire to give the Act a fair trial, they would have stood loyally by their own bill, as they were bound to do according to constitutional and parliamentary practice; but they feared the liquor interest on the one hand and the temperance people on the other, and therefore took a middle course. Such conduct deceives nobody and only demonstrates an amount of weakness which some emphatic persons would be inclined to characterise as cowardice. Never before in Parliament, we believe, has the astonishing incident been witnessed of a Minister of the Crown voting for the three months' hoist to a bill introduced by himself. After that anything is possible. As for Sirs Samuel and Charles, they, no doubt, have a presentment that the temperance question may yet become all-important, and neither is going to give the other a start in the race for the leadership of their party.

When Mr. Mackenzie was in power the late Opposition attempted to embarrass him by putting up Dr. Schultz to move that it was time prohibitory legislation should be introduced by the Government; Sir John Macdonald and his following voted in support of that proposition, the other day he wheeled round and allowed a majority of his majority to carry an amendment that practically defeated the principle of the Act which the late Government placed on the Statute book with the matured advice of the leading temperance advocates of the Dominion. In Opposition when he could do nothing, he was a great friend of the temperance cause, but when in power he changes his tune and makes it an open question. He will find, however, that his device will not shield either himself or his party from the reprobation which is sure to overtake such transparent double dealing.—Ottawa Free Press.

Archibald Forbes in Canada.

In the May number of the Canadian Monthly we find a very readable paper by Mr. G. W. Fields, Head Master of the Elora High School, on the Canadian experiences of Archibald Forbes, the now famous war correspondent of the Daily News. Mr. Forbes paid a visit to his aunt, Mrs. Tytler (mother of Mr. Tytler, Principal of the Guelph High School) in Elora, in 1859, and this is what Mr. Fields says of him and his career previous to that time:

Of Mr. Forbes many sketches have appeared. His portrait is in almost every window, and his exploits and the chief incidents of his life are familiar to all. But it is somewhat strange that no writer has, as yet, made reference to what, to Canadians at least, cannot fail to be an interesting episode in his career. I mean his visit to this country in 1859. The aunt to whom that visit was paid is, however, still a resident of Elora, and there are many in and around that village, who will remember the frank young face, the herculean frame, and the dashes of adventure the guest then displayed. From reliable sources the following have been learned, and will probably be of interest in connection with one who has, for the time being at any rate, centered on himself so large a share of public attention. At that period when the appeals of Dr. Chalmers had borne their legitimate fruit, when the storm of Disruption, so long gathering over the Church of Scotland, was about to break in earnest, there lived in a quiet parish of Morayshire a minister distinguished not less for the honors of his college course, than for the respect he won from all with whom he came in contact after his entrance on the duties of a clergyman. Dr. Forbes traced, through his father, Sheriff Substitute of Banff, a connection with some of the oldest aristocratic families of Scotland. Called to fill the position of Moderator in 1842, he passed through that tempestuous period bearing the universal respect of both parties into which the church was then divided, though his efforts were vain to prevent the secession. When that became an established fact, he still adhered to those associations he had cherished so long. This was the father of the future correspondent. The fortunes of life had scattered the family of the sheriff in various directions. One became an advocate at Edinburgh, and a daughter early emigrated to Canada. Amid the wild pioneer life of our country's early days, Mrs. Tytler had little time to cherish old associations or dream old dreams. It was the stirring times of 1837. She landed in a country convulsed in rebellion. The harsh and unjust measures of the government had borne their inevitable result. Britain had learned once more that her sons, educated under her institutions, are but poor subjects for tyranny in any shape or form. But the cloud passed, the labours of early years were rewarded, and the family were just settling down comfortably to the enjoyment of the recompense of their toil when they received intelligence of the speedy coming of Dr. Forbes' son Archie. The young man had been placed at Edinburgh to study law. Like many a one whose pen afterwards made them known to the world, Archie found the occupation ill suited to his taste and spent in dissipation and idleness the time he should have given to Blackstone. Hence his visit to Canada, where it was hoped by his kinsmen the novelty of the scenes would engage his attention, and where, having no opportunity for a repetition of his Edinburgh experiences, it was fondly thought that he might succeed. How far these hopes were realized may be inferred from the fact that a considerable share of the first month of Archie's arrival was spent in pic-nic parties at Quebec, where he seems to have become intimate with the late Hon. T. D. McGee, and where he lost, if accounts be true, what he never since lost in the presence of the enemy—his heart. On his arrival at the western home of his aunt, he is described as scarcely 21 years of age, but looking somewhat older. Acquaintances profess to be able to recognize in the portrait the same fiery eye and the same massive forehead, slightly overhung by projecting brows, which marked the features of young Forbes. These however are all they see in common with him. He was fully six feet in stature, but owing to somewhat drooping shoulders he did not appear so tall. He was a brilliant and incessant talker, often walking up and down the room for hours, with his hands in his pockets, forming all kinds of imaginary projects, which, then considered ideal, no doubt, have since been fully realized. Those powers of animated description he has since displayed in his letters he then possessed in almost as great a degree; it only needed an opportunity to make him famous. He had travelled much on the Continent, and was well acquainted with the German language and institutions, of which he was a great admirer. He sought to gain employment on some of the Canadian newspapers, but failed. He was not, however, wholly idle. He wrote a novel which was offered to an American publishing house and declined. The visit of Mr. Forbes terminated in 1859. Failing to secure employment here, down-hearted and longing for home, he embarked at Quebec and sailed for Liverpool in the autumn of that year. Lying before me is a farewell letter, in which, in a pungent postscript, he signifies his intention of giving America a wide berth for the future—a resolution which his admirers on this side of the ocean bid fair to make him reconsider. His subsequent career and the history of his connection with the Daily News is too well known to need recapitulation here.

We have given the chief points of interest to our readers in Mr. Field's article. Those desirous of extending their acquaintance with its contents we must refer to the columns of the Canadian Monthly for May.

Presidential Prospects.

The approaching Presidential election in the States is naturally beginning to engage a great deal of public attention, and the meetings of the Republican and Democratic Conventions, for the nominations of candidates, which come off soon, are looked forward to with no small interest. For weeks past much loose speculation has been indulged in by the organs of both political parties, but these speculations are more or less of a shadowy character, from which nothing of a positive nature can be predicated.

As regards the Republican candidate there is much uncertainty. For a time it was thought that General Grant had the lead in popular favour, and that the objections to a third term would be got rid of. His absence from the country for so long a period, and the continuous lionizing he had in his tour round the world, served to keep him in the public eye, and to some extent helped his prospects. This transitory gleam of popularity seems, however, to be fast dispelling, while the objections to a third term are assuming larger proportions, and are being industriously used wherever they may be of service. Some of the avowedly Republican States have already expressed their disapproval of a third term candidate, and at a meeting of the Missouri Republican Convention the other day in St. Louis, there was a strong expression of opinion in the same direction. Still General Grant has hosts of friends all over the Union, who will not give up their candidate without a gallant fight. Grant himself keeps his own counsel, and has not said whether or not he will consent to be a candidate. Shrewd and cautious, he is no doubt waiting for the proper time to declare himself.

Those opposed to a third term candidate among the Republicans seem to generally unite on Mr. Blaine as the best and strongest man. The N. Y. Tribune, the leading Republican paper in the States—though not a party organ—is doing all it can to help Mr. Blaine, and never loses an opportunity to have a hit at Grant, and it seems to have a large following among other Republican papers throughout the country. Conventions are very uncertain bodies however, and when the time for nomination comes it may be that both Grant and Blaine may be set aside, and a third and less known man chosen, as in the case of Mr. Lincoln's nomination in 1860, and in that of Mr. Hayes in 1876.

Mr. S. J. Tilden seems still to be the strongest man on the Democratic side, spite of his failure in 1876, and the unsavoury transactions that attended his attempt to buy off sufficient votes to elect him to the Presidency. So far the party seems to be unable to unite on any one else, for there is no one who occupies such a prominent position, or who is able to command the undivided support of the Democrats North and South. We shall not have long to wait in suspense, for the Republican Convention meets at Chicago this month, and the Democratic Convention shortly after in Cincinnati.

Amendments to the Banking Bill.

When the Banking Bill was before the House on Tuesday night, Mr. Guthrie called the attention of the House to some novel features in the Government measure. One point was that it proposed to allow any person to give a warehouse receipt whether he was a warehouseman or not, and another was that it allowed Banks to take warehouse receipts in security for an old debt, a change which would be contrary to the laws of Ontario, injurious to the mercantile and manufacturing classes, and not desirable in the interest of the Banks themselves. Sir L. Tilley did not at first entertain the objections raised, but the next day (Wednesday) he announced that on further consideration he would make amendments as suggested by Mr. Guthrie, by which persons giving warehouse receipts must be in the actual and visible possession of the goods, and warehouse receipts cannot be taken by Banks for an old debt. When these amendments were made Mr. Guthrie said the Bill, which contained many improvements, was now one that would be in the interest of both the mercantile community and of the Banks. It is understood that the representatives of the banking interests concurred in the amendments.

The Hamilton Spectator blames Mr. Blake for forcing divisions on what it calls trumpery questions, and among these it includes Sir A. T. Galt's salary and contingencies amounting to $15,000. We recollect what a cry was got up when the Mackenzie Government paid Mr. Jenkins only $5,000 for doing the same work that Sir A. T. Galt will have to do, and what an amount of fun the Tory papers poked at the then Canadian Commissioner. But it is all changed now, Sir A. T. Galt is regarded as a political necessity because Sir John Macdonald says so. He is paid three times the amount that Mr. Jenkins received, and besides has a military attache! Happy High Commissioner. No doubt he will also keep a brougham and a flunkey.

Mr. A. B. McCallum, Paisley, has carried off the highest honors at Queen's College, Kingston, taking the Degree of B.A. and the gold medal. He also carried off the gold medal last year. Mr. McCallum was formerly a pupil at the Galt Collegiate Institute.

THURSDAY being Ascension Day Parliament did not sit. It meets this forenoon, and in the afternoon will be prorogued.

THE Hansard reports are more than a month behind. We suppose this is the fulfillment of the promise to have speedy publication of the official reports.

Boultbee, Orton and Drew warmly supported the amendment moved by the former, which would have virtually rendered the Scott Act inoperative. It is said that though Boultbee moved the amendment, it was Dr. Orton who drew it up, and as representative of the Licensed Victualler's Association worked hard to get it passed. The temperance people of Canada can return thanks that there was such a thing as a Senate in this instance, although, as a general thing, it is a very useless body.

FROM a return brought down to the House the other day of the inside division of the civil service, it was shown that the representation of the various provinces on the 23rd of February last was as follows: Ontario, 240; Quebec, 145; Nova Scotia, 24; New Brunswick, 38; Prince Edward Island, 3; Manitoba, 2. Total 452. The number of employees appointed from other countries than Canada since Confederation was 118, making a grand total of 570. In the Post-office Department, in the building, are 930 employees of the civil service.

THE latest name mentioned in connection with the Lieutenant Governorship of Ontario is that of the Hon. Mr. Aikins, Secretary of State. As the Government would experience difficulty in finding a leader in the Senate should Sir Alexander Campbell be appointed to the position, there is a strong possibility that the rumour in this instance will prove to be correct. The name of a Toronto Senator is mentioned as Hon. Mr. Aikins' successor in the Cabinet should the latter gentleman receive the appointment.

OUR High Commissioner to England, Sir A. T. Galt gets $10,000, and $5,000 for contingencies. But this is not all, for we find by the London Court Journal that "Captain Edward Palliser, brother to Sir William Palliser, has been appointed military attache to Sir A. T. Galt, the newly appointed Canadian Minister in England." What does a peaceable Commissioner like Sir A. T. Galt want with a military attache, and who is to pay the bill for all this fuss and feathers? Better at once send over a Company of Canadian Volunteers to keep guard over the sacred person of his High Mightiness.

THE Chinese question has again got the go-by in Parliament. When the Indian items in the estimates came up the other day in the House the irrepressible Bunster said he would sooner have this people kept out of British Columbia than have the Pacific Railway built. Their presence was the greatest evil of which the province had to complain. His remarks were cut short by Sir John Macdonald, who remarked that it was the red men and not the yellow men who were under discussion at the present time, and that the Chinamen would come up for discussion next session.

THE irrepressible Mackintosh, of Ottawa, who figured so disgracefully in the Printing Contract scandal, seems to have a finger in every Government contract, and we may be sure manages to secure—as he did in the printing contract—to get a good haul of the public money for himself. It has now been proven beyond a doubt that he has been during the past two sessions a silent partner with Mr. Richardson in the Hansard business. He was a friend of the Government, and had influence which he used to his own advantage on more than one occasion. How long will the Government tolerate this political parasite's intermeddling in almost every contract that is let?

Touching Incident.

The Dublin Evening Mail tells the following affecting story:

"Just as the Executive Committee of the Relief Fund were about to hold their meeting last Thursday, two little boys, half naked, travel stained and barefooted, sought admission to the castle, stating that they had walked all the way from Skibbereen, county of Cork, to plead for help to pay their father's rent. Not in the least abashed, they told their story. They were sons of Pat McCarthy, near Skibbereen. The times were so bad he could not pay the 'rint' and he owed £8. He could only scrape together £6. The two children, who had seen respectively twelve and fourteen summers, thought they would ask the good Duchess of Marlborough to give 'daddy' £2. Away they started for Dublin. The journey, upwards of two hundred miles, occupied three weeks. Her Grace gratified them by promising to send their father the £2. The poor little fellows seemed dumbfounded. At last innate reverence came to the rescue and the elder of the two gave their native benediction, 'God bless your ladyship.' They were then taken to the clothes-room and their tattered garments changed for new suits. Having been regaled with a substantial dinner they were brought before the ladies of the committee, who awarded the brave adventurers with a pocketful of silver. On the same day Mr. Fitzgerald, assistant secretary of her Grace's relief fund, wrote to the Rev. J. Wall, parish priest, enclosing a post office order for £2, payable to McCarthy, the father of the boys.'"

We show this season the finest stock in the whole trade, no question about that. As a thoroughly ladies' establishment the Fashionable West End has no rival in Western Ontario. Opening to-day new American buntings in black and all other fashionable shades. A. O. BUCHAM.

"THERE is such a dearth of news now a days in the papers, they are scarcely worth reading." A very common remark this. People troubled in this way should carefully read the advertisement of the Lion, which contains items of interest for every body.

Received to-day, new maple syrup, will be sold by the pail, quart, half gallon or gallon. Also in tins of 7 gallons each. No charge for tin. J. E. MCELDERRY, Noted Tea Store.

NO HUMBUG.—The real eastern township's new maple sugar and syrup just received. This is none of the prevalent abomination—mixed glucose and muscovady—but the genuine article. Cheap at Murray's.

John M. Bond & Co. have a very large stock of spades, rakes and garden tools of all kinds. Felt for putting under carpets, floor oil cloth, mats, bird cages, fishing tackle, etc., and will be pleased to see any one in need of goods in their line.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER I.

The Major had always rather doubted the springs in the knee-joint of the French leg. They impressed him as being far more complicated and ingenious than was necessary for simple purposes of locomotion. He was thinking about them tremulously when the sermon began. The preacher had hardly announced his text when the Major's leg suddenly flew up, kicking the bonnet upon the head of the lady in front of him over the wearer's eyes, and finally the leg fell upon the top of the back of the pew, where it kicked away vigorously. The Major, blushing crimson, grasped it and pulled it down by a severe effort. The wearer of the bonnet looked at him with indignation. Pandora seemed ready to faint.

When the Major let go his hold of the leg it bounced up again, and performed the most eccentric movements upon the back of the pew. Pandora could not suppress a faint scream; and the entire congregation stared at the miserable Major as he seized the leg and thrust it down into the pew. He held it down firmly, but the springs were strong, and they forced the toes to beat a wild tatoo upon the wooden partition in front of them.

In an agony of mortification, the Major rose, with the intent to leave the building. The sexton, who had approached him to ascertain the cause of the disturbance, gave him his arm, and the Major hopped down the aisle with his horrible leg flying out before and behind in a convulsive manner, kicking the sexton, banging pew doors, and behaving, generally, in a most sensational and exciting manner.

Pandora followed her lover at a short distance. When the porch of the church was reached, the leg was still in a condition of violent agitation, and the Major, wild with shame and rage, said to the sexton—

"Take it off! Unbuckle it! Take it off quick!"

The sexton bravely approached, fumbled about for a moment in search of the strap, and an instant later the Major's imported leg lay upon the carpet squirming about, kicking viciously, and leaping hither and thither like a wounded and desperate animal.

"Call a carriage," gasped the Major, as he leaned against the wall.

The sexton despatched a boy for a vehicle, and when it came he placed the Major within, helped Pandora to a seat, and the party moved towards home.

For a little while neither the Major nor Pandora spoke. The situation seemed too awful for words. The silence was becoming embarrassing, when suddenly Pandora said—

"Poor man!"

"What! you are sorry for me?" asked the Major eagerly.

"Indeed I am. How you must have suffered!"

"I thought you would hate me for subjecting you to such mortification."

"But you couldn't help it. I would be very unjust to blame you!"

"And you do not dislike me because I am so crippled!"

"How could I? You are a soldier. You lost your leg honourably, did you not?"

"It was shot away at Gettysburg."

"You lost it to save my country, and you think I would not honor you for such a sacrifice!"

"Your kind words make me brave. If I might dare——"

"Such a hero as you may dare anything!" she said.

"May I dare to ask if, while you honour me, you can also love me?"

"You may; and if you do I will answer 'Yes!'"

"You are an angel!" exclaimed the Major.

They expressed their emotion in a very usual manner that need not be described. When they turned into the street upon which Pandora lived, she said—

"Henry, dear—I may call you Henry, mayn't I?—where is your leg?"

"I left it squirming about in the church porch."

"No, I mean your real one, dear. The leg that was shot off."

"I haven't the least idea. Buried, I suppose."

Pandora was silent and thoughtful for a moment. Then she said—

"Isn't it barely possible that one of those legs preserved at the Medical Museum is yours?"

"Well, I declare I never thought of that! Perhaps mine is there."

"The one I was sketching on the day I first met you was labelled—'Gettysburg, July, 3rd, 1863.' Maybe that was it."

"I will go around to-morrow and examine it. It would be very odd, Pandora, dearest, if it should be mine. Wouldn't it?"

"Very. But I want you to make me a promise. If it should be yours, will you get it and give it to me?"

"If I can I will. But what on earth do you want it for?"

"For two reasons I want it: first, because if I am to marry you I have a legal right to all of you; and, second, because my George Washington has been standing on one leg beside the cherry tree for three weeks now, for the reason that I can't make a satisfactory study of his other leg."

"Pandora, I will gratify you if human energy is equal to the task! The impulses of an undying affection, not less than a fervid regard for the interests of high art, shall nerve me to the work."

"Thank you darling!" she said.

Then the carriage stopped at the M'Duffy front door. Pandora alighted, rang the bell, kissed her hand, and disappeared, while the Major drove home in ecstasy to brood upon his unexpected happiness and to fit himself with a Government leg that was numbered among the best in his collection.

The next morning he went around to the Medical Museum and examined Exhibit 1307 in Case 25, being the leg which Pandora had proposed to pass on to immortality by attaching a representation of it to her picture of George Washington.

The Major could not say with positiveness that the leg was his, but his impression that it belonged to him was strengthened by certain scars that seemed to be familiar, among them one which called up memories of a dog-bite obtained in a Clarion County orchard away back in the years of his boyhood.

A thought struck him. He called the janitor, and slipping a coin into his hand, he explained the case to that officer. At the Major's suggestion the janitor removed the specimen from the alcohol, and trod heavily upon the excrescence upon the toe. The Major yelled with pain. The identity of the limb was definitely ascertained.

"I will recover possession of that leg," said the Major as he left the building, "if I have to buy out the entire collection.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

Base Ball.

Who holds the Amateur Championship?

Now that the base ball season has opened it is becoming a question among those interested in the game whether immediate steps should not be taken to resuscitate the Canadian Base Ball Association, which disbanded in the fall of 1878. Last season the Association was not in existence, and the Harriston Browns and Woodstock Actives imagining that they were the foremost clubs in Ontario, arranged among themselves to play a series of games for the championship, and the result is that they have not been able to agree as to which should have the title of champions. In 1878 the Maple Leafs won the greatest number of games, but through a misunderstanding the champion ship was awarded to Woodstock, and the difficulty which arose through that source was the cause of breaking up the Association. At the beginning of the season the Association appointed a Judiciary Committee, composed of representatives from various districts with power to award the championship at the close of the season. When the meeting of this committee was called for that purpose only one member was present, and he and the secretary took on themselves the responsibility of awarding the championship to Woodstock. When the Association met afterwards different clubs withdrew on account of that decision, yet Woodstock claimed the championship. Last year they defeated the Browns of Harriston and received a defeat at the hands of the latter, while the Browns were beaten by the Maple Leafs. Under these circumstances, though the Actives and Browns both claim the championship for 1879 the Maple Leafs are as much entitled to it as either club.

An Elora correspondent to the Toronto Mail, thus deals with the whole question:

To the Editor of The Mail.

SIR,—In your morning contemporary of Friday last an article appeared, which has since been extensively copied in the Provincial press, purporting to be a brief history of the game of baseball in Canada, and discussing the prospects of the coming season. As an old lover of the game, I would like, through your columns, to criticise certain statements contained therein. Among other matters, it mentions that in 1878 "the Amateur Base Ball Association awarded the championship to the Woodstock Actives, who had won the largest number of games in the series prescribed." After this act, the Association "ceased to exist." Now, the Association did award the championship to the Actives, and did cease to exist, but the Actives did not win the largest number of games. Both the London and Guelph clubs were ahead in games won, and the championship was only awarded to Woodstock by the decision of a partisan majority of the convention. The representatives of two clubs immediately withdrew, and this was what caused the death of the Canadian Amateur Association of base ball players, which was never a fair representation of the game, but was managed by a few wire-pullers, each trying to outwit the others in the interest of his particular club. A representative would be proxy for a number of unimportant country clubs in his locality, and would thus have power to outvote the representatives of an almost equal number of the clubs which had attained first-class rank. Since the days of the "old" Guelph Maple Leafs, when they held the championship by their prowess in the field, and not by the action of a packed convention, base ball has declined. This is partly owing to the introduction of the professional element, but mainly owing to the unfair decisions of the Association. Again the article in your contemporary says:—"If there is a championship trophy in existence, the Actives are entitled to any honor or benefit derivable from it." Now the Actives, on the strength of the Association's unfair decision, declared themselves champions for 1879, and arranged a series of games with the Browns, of Harriston, for the championship. Everybody who knows anything of base ball last year, knows the result. The Browns beat the champions at home and abroad, and I think the Actives would hardly have the effrontery to question the claim of their northern opponents to the title of champions. One thing is certain, the title belongs either to the Browns of Harriston or the Maple Leafs of Guelph. The latter club has a strong team in the field, and although completely ignored in the list published in the Globe, they will show close to the front before the season ends. Now, if Canada is to have an Association, the sooner steps are taken the better, but it must be composed of representatives of first class teams who will do justice, and not allow their prejudices or sectionalism to influence their actions. I have reason to believe that the present holders of the championship will refuse to be bound by any act of a partizan convention, but will rather settle the matter on the ball field—which is a better place for base ball that a room in a Toronto hotel—and leave the public to decide whether a championship gained in a packed convention, or one earned by honest play, is the more valuable. Yours, &c.,

BASE BALLIST.

ELORA, May 3, 1870.

The Secretary of the Harriston Browns has written in answer to the Secretary of the Maple Leafs, stating that they have not put up a cup to be contested for among Canadian Clubs. The Maple Leafs now propose raising funds for a Championship Cup. It is proposed that the system adopted by the Maple Leaf formerly, with reference to the admission on members tickets to matches, should be introduced again. At present the Browns of Harriston admit members on season tickets. Under the old Maple Leaf rules members were provided with admission tickets, free of charge, at the box office, and those being collected at the gate an accurate account was kept of the number of spectators.

A SOWING BEE IN BIDDULPH—The members of the Biddulph Vigilance Committee, to the number of sixty, turned out a few days ago to plough and sow the land belonging to James Carroll, the principal prisoner charged with the Donnelly murder. This was done, it is said, as an answer to some taunts of the Donnellys that Carroll's land would be a common this year. The bee was witnessed by Father Connolly, who happened to pass that way. There were sixty-six teams and six seed drills engaged on thirty acres.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

WHITE LIGHTNING RELIGION.—Walnan Ridge, a wealthy Quaker settlement near Rushville, Indiana, U. S., has lately been greatly excited over a new religion which they call the "White Lightning Religion." The excitement became so great that schools were dismissed and people left their farms and places of business to participate. The leaders pretended to have supernatural power, and held dead bodies of their friends with attempts to revive them until burial was compelled by the authorities. One of the leaders named Pitts married a woman imbued with the same faith, and their shameful treatment of a daughter of Pitts, by his first wife, so incensed his irreligious neighbors that they went to the house in a body, tarred and feathered Pitts, and threatened to hang him if his religious frenzy was not checked.

The beauties of the tariff are such that circus agents have to go to Ottawa and arrange terms on which the waggons and paraphernalia shall be admitted into the country.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Canadian Lake Marine.

There were very few vessels intended for the carrying trade, built last year in Ontario shipyards. In the year ending June, 1877, there were 28 vessels built in this Province, with a tonnage of 3,315. This has not been equalled since. The records of the Canadian Lake underwriters, covering the ports from Quebec to the extreme west of the Lakes, show an increase of vessels during the season of 1878 to be as follows:—In 1878-79 there were 596 steamers, against 554 in 1877-78. Of these a great many are river tugs and small steam vessels, that scarcely count among the marine properly. Indeed, there are 229 distinguished as tugs. In the list of sailing vessels the list for the present season shows 534; for last season the list was 514. But, in actual carrying capacity and for service, it may be accepted as the fact that the lake marine this year is very much below the character of the lake marine even of last year. In the underwriters' book this year there are 228 schooners that have no rating at all. Of course all of these vessels are not to be considered as so low that they are worn out; many of them are in such a condition that a few hundred dollars spent in repairs would give them a fair rating. But making all possible allowance for these better sort of vessels, it is certain that the carrying capacity of the sailing vessels must be accepted as greatly reduced from what it was last year. And when once a vessel has reached a period of infirmity induced by age the breaking up process is rapid, and it might be safe to say that of the 229 without rating this year there may be 50 of them next year beyond the worth of repairing them at all. And so on very rapidly with even B I and B 2 vessels in the coming years. Whereon the future possibilities arise of the necessities for increased carrying facilities, both by land and water, and all the lake and canals, and on all the railways leading to seaports and their connections. When the wheat fields of Manitoba and Minnesota produce ten times their present outfit, and the yield reaches the elevators at Duluth, it will want a fleet of vessels on Lake Superior, and this vast inland sea, now traversed by only a few steamboats, will bear a fleet of huge propellers engaged in the trade of the West. There will be a saving of about 400 miles in distance between Duluth and New York, and in this distance a saving of nearly 300 miles of canal transit in favour of the Montreal route. This points conclusively to the advantages of water traffic through the lakes and the Welland and St. Lawrence canals. It does not seem that there is any fear to be entertained for the future interests of the lake marine.—Shipping Gazette.

A BAD GIRL FROM ORANGEVILLE.—The Hamilton Times says:—The evil effects of parental neglect in bringing up children was painfully illustrated on Friday at the Police Court in the case of a young girl named Mary Jane Mills, who was charged by Mary Ryan with using obscene language on the streets. The girl appears to be about 12 years of age, was dressed in old cast-off clothing and was barefooted. In answer to the magistrate she said she came from Orangeville, where her parents reside, about two weeks ago, but gave no reason for the use of the very bad language she was charged with having used, which the magistrate said was the worst he had ever obtained a knowledge of as proceeding out of the mouth of a girl. Mr. Cahill remanded her back to the cells, as the prosecutrix had not appeared in Court.

MRS. WATSON'S READINGS.—This lady appeared before a rather small audience in the City Hall last night, but those who were present were well pleased with the rendition of her programme. Her personal appearance on the stage was very pleasing, independent of the absence of the usual stage decorations, which were wanting. The reader is possessed of a graceful attitude, and her selections call forth the exercise of much talent. "Hiawatha's wooing," was affectingly rendered, receiving the hearty plaudits of the audience. 'The famine' was equally well read. 'High tide on the coast of Lincolnshire' and 'David Copperfield' were rendered most effectively; while 'The execution of Montrose' and 'Curfew must not ring to-night' proved to be in the hands of a clever artist. At the conclusion of the programme she was recalled to the stage, and thanked the audience for their welcome, expressing the wish that a larger audience would greet her on her next appearance in the city.

The following tough story comes from North Carolina. FARM PRIZES.—The Agricultural and Arts Association have decided to offer prizes for the best farms in a district comprising the counties of Niagara, Welland, Lincoln, Haldimand, Monck, Wentworth, Brant, Norfolk, Waterloo and Halton. The farms must be of at least one hundred acres, two thirds of which shall be cleared. A large number of considerations relative to the management of the farms will affect the decision of the judges. Applications must be sent in, attested by the secretary and president of the Electoral Division Agricultural Society before the 15th May.

GRIP.—This week's Grip is a capital number. In the large cartoon Sir John Macdonald is giving Mr. Blake a fatherly advice which he does not need, but which he will be sure to follow. The best of the small cartoons is one representing a bulky London policeman accosting Sir. A. T. Galt on his arrival in that city and saying, "Your name is Galt, is it? And you've come from Canada 'ave you? And you don't know exactly your business don't you? Well, I don't like to run you hin, but wot's to be done about it?" The conception is admirable and the picture well done. Grip excels himself this week..

A GALT GROCER IN DIFFICULTIES.—The Monetary Times says: "W. P. Clay, grocer, of Galt, has been in business for some time; last June he gave composition notes at 75c on the dollar spread over a period of eighteen months, by this means starting anew with a nominal surplus of about $2,500. Being unable to meet these notes he has removed to the United States. A Hamilton firm have placed a man in possession of the premises to take stock, and carry on the business in the meantime. Stock and book debts amount to about $8,000. So far, investigation has failed to prove that Mr. Clay intended to deal dishonestly with his creditors. Bad health, depression of spirits and dullness in trade, he says, forced him to take this step." Mr. Clay was for some years with Mr. John A. Wood in this city, and is well known here.

How Tobacco Hurts Boys.

When boys are advised not to smoke on hygienic grounds, they laugh at the advice and speak of its givers as old fogies. But careful experiments, lately made by a physician of repute, prove that the practice is very injurious. He took for his purpose thirty-eight boys, from nine to fifteen, who had been in the habit of smoking, and examined them closely. In twenty-seven he found obvious hurtful effects; twenty-two having various disorders of the circulation and digestion, palpitation of the heart, and more or less craving for strong drink; twelve of the boys were troubled with bleeding at the nose; ten had disturbed sleep; twelve had slight ulceration of the mucous membrane of the mouth, which disappeared after discontinuation of tobacco for ten or twelve days. The physician treated them all for weakness and nervousness, though with little avail, until they had relinquished smoking when health and strength were rapidly restored. Even if it be granted that smoking is not harm ful to adults, there is no doubt of its harmfulness to the young. Dr. Rankin, Dr. Richardson, and others who have made a special study of the subject, all argee in declaring that it causes in them impairment of growth, premature virility, and physical degradation of an appetite for liquor, which, indeed, is not confined to the young, but which grown persons are better able to manage. Where boys drink to excess, they are almost invariably smokers; and it is very rare to find a man over-fond of spirts who is not addicted to tobacco. Men who want to give up liquor generally have to give up smoking at the same time; for they say that a cigar or a pipe generally excites a desire for liquor very hard to control.—New York Times.

The Quebec Legislature has been called to meet on the 25th inst. for the despatch of business.

City Council.

The Balance Raised on Water Works Debentures Handed to the Commissioners.

A special meeting of the City Council was held on Friday evening, to receive a statement of receipts and expenditures to date of the Water Commissioners. There were present Mayor Sleeman, Ald. Burns, McMillan, McLagan, Bruce, Tyson, Hall, Biscoe, Stevenson, Robertson, Doran, Hart, Coffee, McGuire, Hewer and Fairbank.

The Mayor read a statement from the Commissioners showing that the amount of money expended to date was $87,536.44, and that the present liabilities amounted to $6,989.51.

The council went into committee, Ald. Tyson in the chair.

It being agreed to hear Mr. Howard with reference to the financial position of the Commissioners, he explained that since the second meeting of citizens to consider the matter of raising $25,000 on debentures for the Water Works, an expenditure of about $3,000 had been incurred which was not at that time contemplated. With reference to the extension of the pipes along Yarmouth street and across the river, they had the pipes on hand but having in contemplation an arrangement with the Ontario Government to supply the Agricultural College with water, had not proceeded laying the extension in the city till that arrangement was completed. The statement showed that $7,000 of the $9,000 asked had already been contracted for. There would be some revenue from the Works, and out of the remaining $2,000 on Water Works debentures and the revenue together the Commissioners hoped to lay the pipes on Yarmouth street and across the Speed to the neighborhood of Inglis & Hunter's foundry.

Ald. McLagan asked in what state of progress the negotiations were for extending the works to the Model Farm, and if there were $7,000 spent out of the $9,000 how the Commissioners proposed to make the extension.

Mr. Howard said he had seen the Hon. Mr. Wood and he was favourable to having the works extended to the Model Farm. In answer to another question by Ald. McLagan he said it would cost about 10 cents per running foot to lay the pipes across the river to Inglis & Hunter's foundry, or something over $400 altogether.

Ald. McLagan asked what revenue the Commissioners would receive on the works this year.

Mr. Howard said the great Western Railway Company proposed to give $500 a year to supply them with water here, and that the Grand Trunk Railway was also in favour of taking the city water. The Commissioners expected to derive a revenue of $1,200 or $1,500 this year, but it might reach $2,000.

In answer to Ald. Robertson Mr. Howard said he believed when the debentures were issued the Commissioners said that $16,000 raised would complete 100 services; 40 services had been put in.

Ald. McLagan said Hon. Mr. Mowat had gone to the Old Country, and the Government was not in a position to make an arrangement to have the pipes extended to the farm in his absence. The Commissioners should lay the pipes along Yarmouth street and to Inglis & Hunter's Foundry independent of any arrangement they might come to with reference to the Model Farm, and not break faith with the people.

Ald. Stevenson characterized the conduct of the Commissioners as a burning shame. They had submitted plans of the works to the people before they voted on the by-law, and the Commissioners should carry out those plans.

Mr. Howard said in order to keep faith with the people they had adhered to the plans when their sense showed them that it was not wise to do so. As an instance he referred to laying the pipes over the hill in front of Judge McDonald's residence to the Eramosa road.

The statement was then read over and each item considered.

An item of $109 for telephones was thought exorbitant by Ald. McLagan, but Mayor Sleeman said the telephonic communication belonged to the Commissioners exclusively.

When the statement was read through

Ald. McLagan and Robertson moved that the remaining money raised on Water Works debentures be placed to the credit of the committee.

Ald. McLagan in moving the resolution said he was sorry to see the Water Works affairs in such a deplorable state. He could see that the Commissioners would have to make another appeal to the people for more money, and he knew the people would not move for another cent.

The resolution was then carried.

THE WEIGH SCALES.

Ald. McLagan and other members referred to the alleged disordered condition of the market scales and those on the fair ground, and said they ought to be attended to.

The Mayor ruled the discussion out of order.

The Council adjourned at 10 p. m.

It was Daniel Webster who, years ago, declared that falsehoods not only disagree with truths, but usually quarrel among themselves, and that sage remark is as true to-day as when he gave it birth.

Whenever you are requested to sign a contract by a stranger for a new-fangled improvement, be sure to open it out full length, read both sides of it carefully, fold it up judiciously, return it to him firmly, and tell him to go west, but don't put your name to it.

The Cattle Weigh Scales.

Satisfactory Result of Tests by the Sub-Inspector of Weights and Measures.

For some time an impression has been pretty general in the city and neighborhood that the cattle weigh scales on the fair ground were out of order. Farmers who have weighed their cattle on the market weigh scales allege that on having them weighed immediately afterwards on the cattle scales the latter registered less. These men have not been slow to communicate their grievances to the press, and the result of the publication has been injurious to the market. The last complaint of the kind was made on Wednesday, when different persons who delivered cattle for export said the cattle scales showed less than the actual weight of some of their animals.

The question of having the scales tested was introduced at the council on Friday evening, but was ruled out of order. This (Saturday) forenoon they were tested, however, by Mr. Young, assistant inspector of Weights and Measures, Hamilton, and that he found them accurate the following certificate will show:—

GUELPH, May 8th, 1880.

This is to certify that I have tested the cattle scales of this city with all the different tests and found them correct.

(Signed)
A. YOUNG,
Assistant Inspector
Weights and Measures.

Mayor Sleeman and Mr. McDonald were present at the test, and the latter certifies as follows:—

I hereby certify that I was present with the Mayor when the test of the Guelph cattle scales were made and the scales found correct.

(Signed)
EVAN MCDONALD.

In the face of these certificates there can be no more room to doubt the accuracy of the scales. The tests were made at 3,900 pounds, 2,000 pounds and 1,000 pounds.

The appointment to the position of Collector of Customs at Toronto would seem to lie between Mr. Angus Morriston and Mr. John Beverley Robinson, with the chances in favor of the former. Messrs. Daily Mercury.

SATURDAY EVNG. MAY 8, 1880

THERE is not a shadow of a doubt but the work of the session was delayed until the last moment by the Government so that bills could be rushed through without due consideration and the Government concocting therein escape from criticism.

THE statement is made that Mr. Mousseau, M. P., is likely to be made judge of Three Rivers to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Judge Palette.

IN connection with the proposed Cabinet changes it is not thought at all probable that Dr. Schultz will be taken in, while the rumored retirement of Hon. John O'Connor is considered without foundation.

SIR John would give Mr. Trow no information about Sir A. T. Galt's military attache, and put it off with the mean objection that two days' notice ought to have been given of such a question. Thus the matter gets the go-by till another session, and in the meantime the attache will get his salary.

THE Toronto Mail remarks :—"The great question before the country just now is the success of the Conservative Government, not the cost of the Civil Service. It will matter little to the country if the service costs a little more, provided that the Government that employs and pays gives prosperity to Canada." Oh yes, never mind what the Civil Service costs as long as the Government can be kept in power. This is candid at least, if not patriotic.

SPEAKING of the Bishop of Toronto's action in declining to attend the Bible Society meeting in a Presbyterian church because he would offend some of his clergy, the Lindsay Post remarks :—It is a pity the Bishop had not backbone enough to take a strong, common sense view of the matter, and if any of his clergy had remonstrated he could have answered in the language used by Bishop Strachan to a poor minister who was trying to say something in Synod, "hoot, mon, sit down, yere talking nonsense."

SIR A. T. GALT has taken a furnished house, No. 66 Lancaster gate, Hyde Park, London, in every way suitable to his official position, and the duties, political and social, which he will have to discharge. Of course it will be understood that Canadians, when in London, can drop in at any time and have a nice little lunch with the Ambassador. A salary of $10,000 a year, $5,000 for contingencies and a military attache thrown in ought to enable him to do the social part of his duties. The United States an independent power, does not pay so much for its representative in London. But Canada, a mere dependency of the Empire, with about a tenth of the population of the States, thinks nothing about lavishing more than $15,000 a year on its representative, who moreover has no official position like that of the representatives from other countries.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, MAY 7.

The House met at 11 o'clock a. m., when Mr. Stephenson moved that the thirteenth report of the Joint Committee on Printing recommending the cancellation of the printing contract, be concurred in.

Mr. Patterson, (Essex), moved an amendment to offer the contract to Mr. Patrick Boyle on the basis of his tender, which appeared from the evidence to be the only legitimate tender below that of McLean, Roger, & Co.

Mr. Costigan said it was unfortunate that the report of the Committee had not been brought down earlier, as those who differed from the majority of that Committee were thereby placed in a false position to fight out the matter now. The report, he held, did not go far enough. It did not carry out fully the instructions of the House. He thought it should have recommended that those who were found guilty of corrupt practices should not be allowed to tender again for this contract, and that Mr. Boyle should have the benefit of his tender.

Mr. Trow said the reference to the Committee did not give them any authority to give the contract to anybody. He did not know but Mr. Boyle was just as guilty as the other tenderers. ("No, no.") They knew that both Mr. Charlton and Mr. Cotton swore that they had authority from Mr. Boyle to make the best bargain they could for him with McLean, Rogers & Co. They being, therefore, his agents, he was responsible for whatever they did. He did not think McLean, Roger & Co., who had done the work satisfactorily hitherto, and who had large and expensive plant, should be debarred from tendering again. The most blameworthy persons were the unprincipled outsiders who levied blackmail upon these persons.

Mr. White (Hastings) said the people would not be satisfied that the Printing Committee had done its duty unless some definite action was taken in this matter. Mr. Charles McIntosh need not think because he was proprietor of a newspaper in this city that he could make money unworthily out of this or any other contract. Why should he receive a note of $12,000 when he did nothing for it? It was said that this man or that man must be screened. They had nobody to screen, and if any one of these men was screened it would be to the disadvantage of the Conservative party. It was a notorious fact that no man could come to Ottawa to tender for a contract without being subject to blackmail. He thought when this matter came up yesterday that the Chairman of the Committee (Mr. Stephenson) should have stated fairly and squarely that the report of the sub-Committee had been adopted by the main Committee. This report should have been brought down earlier in the session. Let them not do anything underhand nor beat about the bush, but come to the matter at once. The thanks of the country were due to The Globe for having brought this matter to light, and to the Mail for having condemned the transactions which were shown to have taken place. He believed that nothing had been proved against Mr. Boyle in this matter, and the contract should be awarded to him.

Sir John Macdonald pointed out that the Senate had already adopted this report, and unless this House refused to do the same the whole affair would be nullified. He thought that the conclusion of Committee that the contract should be cancelled was a right conclusion.

Mr. Patterson said that in deference to the view expressed that the Government had nothing to do with the matter he would withdraw the amendment.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Trow stated that he observed by the Court Journal of the 17th of April last that Captain Edward Palliser had been appointed military attache to Sir A. T. Galt, our High Commissioner to England. He asked the leader of the Government whether or not it was the case.

Sir John A. Macdonold—I think that question requires notice. (Laughter.) If the hon. gentleman will give two day's notice I will answer it.

The House then rose.

THE PROROGATION.

At seven o'clock p.m., the Governor General proceeded in State to the Chamber of the Senate in the Parliament Buildings, and took his seat upon the Throne. The members of the Senate being assembled, His Excellency was pleased to command the attendance of the House of Commons, and that House being present, the Bills passed were assented to in Her Majesty's name. The following are the more important ones :

An Act to amend the Act entitled "An Act respecting offences against the person," and to repeal the Act entitled "An Act to provide that persons charged with common assault shall be competent as witnesses."

An Act to extend the powers of the Manitoba South-Western Colonization Railway Company, and to further amend the Act incorporating the said Company.

An Act to repeal the Act extending the Dominion Lands Acts to British Columbia, and to make other provisions with respect to certain public lands in that Province.

An Act to incorporate the Great North-Western Telegraph Company of Canada.

An Act for the appointment of a resident representative Agent for Canada in the United Kingdom.

An Act to amend the Acts respecting the Canada Central Railway Company.

An Act to authorize and provide for the winding up of the Consolidated Bank of Canada.

An Act to incorporate South Saskatchewan Valley Railway Company.

An Act to incorporate the Souris and Rocky Mountains Railway Company.

An Act to amend and consolidate the several Acts relating to the North-West Territories.

An Act respecting the administration of criminal justice in the territory in dispute between the Governments of the Province of Ontario and of the Dominion of Canada.

An Act to further amend the Acts respecting Dominion notes.

An Act to amend the law of evidence in criminal cases as respects the taking and use of depositions of persons who may be unable to attend at the trial.

An Act to further amend the Act respecting cruelty to animals.

An Act to incorporate the Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay Railway and Steamship Company.

An Act to consolidate and amend the Acts respecting the Inland Revenue.

An Act to amend the Act respecting the inspection of petroleum.

An Act to confirm a certain order of the Governor in Council respecting the graving dock at Esquimalt.

An Act respecting certain savings banks in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

An Act to amend an Act relating to banks and banking, and to continue for a limited time the charters of certain banks to which the said Act applies.

An Act relating to interest on moneys secured by mortgage on real estate.

An Act to amend and consolidate the laws respecting Indians.

After which His Excellency the Governor-General was pleased to close the second session of the fourth Parliament of the Dominion with the following

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

In releasing you from your attendance in Parliament I desire to offer my thanks for the care and assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the performance of your important duties.

The evidence of a recovery from the long-continued state of depression to which I alluded at the beginning of the session are, I am glad to believe, steadily accumulating, and we may, I trust, look forward with some confidence to a prosperous year.

The measures relating to banking and the currency and to the amendment of the tariff, with the other laws passed this session, will, I hope, aid in the promotion of the anticipated prosperity.

The expectation of a large immigration of valuable settlers into the Northwest, in which I then ventured to indulge, appear from the latest information to be fully realized.

The laws of the better organization of the Northwest Territories, for the amendment of the Dominion Lands Acts and for the more efficient management of Indian affairs must tend greatly to the advantage of that vast and interesting region.

The measure for the consolidation of the laws concerning the inland revenue and other important acts relating to the public interests seem well adapted to promote those interests.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

I thank you in her Majesty's name for the supplies you have so liberally granted.

I trust that the vigorous efforts made to settle the Indian lands of the Northwest on their reservation will diminish in the future the calls made on the public treasury for aid to save them from starvation.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate :

Gentlemen of the House of Commons :

The appropriations made will enable my Government steadily to prosecute the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway and to hasten the completion of our canal system.

In bidding you farewell I desire to express my earnest desire for your happiness and prosperity in your several homes.

The Spoils of Office in England.

The spoils of office in England in the case of a political revolution are very considerable, indeed. Besides the ordinary patronage of the Crown, ninety-five offices were at the disposal of Mr. Gladstone, to say nothing of the India "plum" shaken down with Lord Lytton. The Lord Lieutenancy of Ireland with £20,000 a year is in his gift; the Chancellorship with £10,000, the Irish Chancellorship with £8,000, and the offices of Attorney-General and Solicitor-General, having salaries respectively of £7,000 and £6,000. Seven Ministerial seats carry with them salaries of £5,000; the First Lord of the Admiralty has £4,500; and the Chief Secretary for Ireland £4,425; there are seventeen offices worth from £2,000 to £2,570 a year, and sixteen rated between £1,000 and £2,000. The minor berths range from £955 down to £109, the small fry being private secretaries and assistant private secretaries, ushers, chamberlains, gentlemen of the bed-chamber, and so on. In the Queen's household there are a Lord Steward and a Lord Chamberlain at £2,000 each, a Master of the Horse with £500 more, and a Master of the Buckhounds with £500 less, a Vice Chamberlain at £924, and a Treasurer and Comptroller, each with £904, who change office with the Government, while in the Lord Lieutenant's official family there are a Private Secretary at £829, a State Steward at £503, a Comptroller at £415, a Gentleman Usher—a real live lord—a Chamberlain, a Gentleman of the Bedchamber and a Master of the Horse at £200 each, a First Chaplain at £180, and two Gentlemen-at-Large at £128 each. Lord Beaconsfield, it may be said, has taken very good care of his own subordinates, to whom indeed he has always been the best of chiefs. His private secretary, Mr. "Monty" Corry, who had £500 a year, has been made a peer, and another private secretary, Mr. Algernon Turnor, becomes Financial Secretary of the Post Office, with £1,500 a year, while Sir Stafford Northcote's son and private secretary, who has just been elected to the House of Commons, is made a C. B. Altogether, to use Lord Panmure's memorable phrase, both parties seem determined to take "exceedingly good "care of Dowb."

Great Western Railway of Canada.

Herepath's Railway Journal, commenting on the recent semi-annual meeting of the Great Western Railway Company, says :—"The meeting on Thursday was of a satisfactory character. The chairman (Col. Grey) had a good account to render, which he furnished in a business-like speech, and the proprietors have every reason to be satisfied. The Great Western of Canada not only earned and pays full interest and dividend on all its debenture capital, including rents, &c., and its full preference dividend, but it yields some dividend on the ordinary shares, and what is still more gratifying it promises much better things for the future. Thus the working return just in for March shows a traffic increase of $79,500 (about £16,000) more for the month. A few months of this productiveness would make a sensible difference in the rate of the dividend, and the Great Western of Canada would rapidly become quite a handsome property. The whole money absorbed by the 1½ per cent. per annum dividend for the past half-year is £45,876. To double, treble, or quadruple this rate may not be a difficult matter for a Company which progresses at the pace of the Great Western of Canada. The line appears to be in excellent condition, and its earning capacity great. It carries more than its pool proportion of traffic, which shows (as the chairman said) the appreciation in which the road is held. Moreover its local traffic is much increasing, and a line with a good local traffic is in the strongest position. The condition of the line (including its rolling stock and other appliances) is clearly shown by the fact that in the half-year not only was no passenger killed but none were injured, and the trains were remarkable for their punctuality.

THE TAY BRIDGE ENQUIRY.—At the enquiry before the Board of Trade on Thursday into the Tay Bridge disaster, Allen Stewart, the civil engineer who prepared the designs for the girders of the bridge, expressed the opinion that the work was satisfactorily executed. He said he did not think the structure failed from bad workmanship. He agreed with Dr. Hole, civil engineer, who testified on Wednesday that the train got off the line and broke down the bridge. Benjamin Baker said he thought the bridge had been so constructed as to resist the force of any wind short of a tornado, and that there must have been something beyond wind pressure to account for the disaster.

At the last meeting of the Peel council, it was resolved that the consideration of the petition asking the council to submit railway by-laws for $6,000 of the Arthur Junction and Waterloo, Wellington and Georgian Bay Railways be further postponed till such time as a division of territory be agreed upon by the promoters of the separate scheme.

Adam Oliver, ex-M. P. P., is very ill, and there is no hope of his recovery.

The sheep rot is still spreading in Norfolk, Vermont, and many of the worst symptoms of the disease have manifested themselves, and fears are entertained by the most extensive graziers that it will result in great damage to all sheep products of the present season.

The Scott Act is to be submitted to the electors of the city of Hamilton next fall.

Hon. Mr. Mowat, with Mrs. Mowat and the Misses Mowat, passed through Hamilton on Friday for New York. They sail on Saturday by the City of Berlin for England. There was a large gathering at the Toronto station on their departure to wish the hon. gentleman and his wife a pleasant trip, among them being the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Messrs. Wood and Pardee, and many others.

The Hanford Investigation Committee are still at work and will not likely get through their labors till Tuesday or Wednesday next. It is not certain whether the report will be given to the press.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER II.

General William Henry Harrison Belcher, member of Congress from the Ninety-sixth Kansas District, sat in his room at his hotel one evening with his feet upon the table, a cigar in his mouth, and a glass containing a mysterious liquid beside him. In appearance the General was a man of mark, his thick grey hair covered a noble head; his nose was large and curved in bold lines indicating strength; his face was closely shaven and rather inclined to pallor. He had eyes that seemed to pierce the person upon whom they rested, and when he used his feet to stand upon, instead of devoting them to purely ornamental purposes, as at present, his figure appeared tall and slender and comely. Those who did not know the General imagined, when they saw him at the Capitol, that he was some distinguished statesman, upon whom rested the weight of a nation's business. Those who knew him, on the contrary, were aware that he was a man of no education, no skill in higher politics, and no principles worth mentioning. He had begun life as mule driver on the plains, but one day he contrived to obtain a contract for supplying a certain Indian agency with cattle. The Government paid him for fat steers, and he furnished the oldest and leanest cows he could find west of the Mississippi, and when they were weighed in pairs he and his drover stood on the scale each time so as to bring the aggregate weight up to a comfortable figure. He made a small fortune at this business, and then he bought his way into the Legislature, and subsequently into Congress, his purpose being not so much to give his suffering country the benefit of his skill as a legislator, as to open for himself larger opportunities to acquire wealth at his country's expense. He had succeeded in several enterprises of the kind which had engaged his attention since he came to Washington, and now he was devoting attention to his great scheme for seizing the Pottawatomie Reservation as a matter of retributive justice to its savage owners. As he sat in his room thinking upon the subject he heard a knock at the door.

"Come in!" said the General.

Achilles Smith entered.

"Hello, Kill!" said the General, still keeping his feet upon the table. "Take a chair!"

Mr. Smith sat down.

"What'll you have?" asked the General.

"Cocktail!"

"Mix one!"

Mr. Smith prepared the beverage, placed himself swiftly outside of it, elevated his feet till they rested close to those of the General, and said:—

"O, pretty well! tolerable! The Committee have promised to consider your case to-morrow, and I want you to be on hand, ready to tell your story. You've got it straight, I reckon?"

"Yes, I know it by heart."

"Let's see. Your theory is that you were scalped by a Pottawatomie Indian in 1862? Now, where is that scalp?"

"In my trunk. Between ourselves, you know, I bought it of an Indian at Laramie year before last."

"Very well. Now, what is the name of the Indian who scalped you?"

"Jumping Antelope, a chief."

"Under what circumstances?"

"I was trying to convert him by reading the Scriptures to him."

"See here, Kill, isn't that a little thin? He couldn't understand the language, you know. I'm afraid that won't wash!"

"I translated it as I went along."

"S'pos'ne the Committee ask you to prove that you know the language?"

"I'll get off some gibberish, and you can assure them that you recognize it as the pure Pottawatomie."

"Very well. Now, what particular part of the—the—Scriptures were you reading to him?"

"I dunno! Let's see; what are some of the books?"

"Don't ask me. I'm not very well posted. We used to have a Bible out in the Kansas Legislature to swear members on, but they always kept a string tied around it, and after it was stolen a rumour got around that the clerk swore a whole House of Representatives in on Kidderminster's Digest of the State Laws."

"Jonah's the only book I recall very distinctly now."

"That'll do, if you can remember something in it. I connect it indistinctly with reminiscences of a whale."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

A Pauper and a Millionaire.

Before the out-break of the American war, I was accustomed for several years to spend the month of August at Saratoga, and to meet there many friends from the planting States of the South.

On one occasion, I was introduced to a new comer, a wealthy planter, about fifty years of age, of whom I had heard it said by a clergyman, "He is a grand character."

His address and manners suggested the cultivated christian gentleman, who had inherited a good deal from his parentage. Hence, the whispered remark of a lady, a near relative, was to me a great surprise: "He has lived a worldly life, and as a religious man, is only two years old."

"You amaze me," I replied; "tell me more of him. Was he led to a religious life under the ministry of your brother?"

"Oh no," she answered, laughing at my mistake; "no great sermon could touch him! He could argue down any educated preacher, to his own satisfaction, at any rate. All the eloquence that ever moved him was in the prayer of a slave, overheard at night."

Reading in my eyes my entreaty for the facts of the case, my informant proceeded:—

"A companion of Mr. Allen's school-days, from New England, was his guest at the plantation home. One evening at the tea table, the talk turned upon the negro melodies, and the Northerner expressed a wish to hear them at some one of the religious gatherings on the plantation.

"I can gratify you to-night," said the planter; and then within an hour, the guests was asked to 'come with me.' Ere long, the two men silently approached the cabin-meeting, unnoticed. The lively song fell upon their ears at a distance. As they reached the rear of the cabin, it ceased, and they listened to the prayer of the leader. Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom could never have improved upon that prayer, so unstudied and apt.

"After thanking God for His loving care, the old servant gave special thanks for the gift of so good a master. Then came a sudden turn and change of tone, thus:—

"'But now, O Lord, why bless us, poor people, so much with the riches of grace, and fill our hearts so chock-full all the time, singing day and night, and not give master a double portion to make him happy, like old King David, when he sang his new song, and wanted all the people to sing along with him? O Saviour, show him thy great salvation!'

"That prayer was a wonder; no one on earth could have prayed just so except this very 'Old Tom;' It flashed a new truth into the planter's soul. He talked to himself:

"'Yes; old Tom is rich, a millionaire! I am a pauper. What a wasted life!'

"It seemed as if the change were already begun, the prayer answered on the spot; so that having had power in heaven, it had become a power on earth."

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

The value of Wheat in the Canadian Market is controlled to a great extent by the foreign demand. If crops are short in Russia, France and India, England must buy more Canadian Wheat, and the price consequently advances.

But the price of Wilson's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry never changes. A twenty-five cent bottle will cure any ordinary Cough or Cold and give marked relief in old standing cases of Bronchitis. In hundreds of cases 50 cent bottles have cured Coughs and Colds, which have been proof against all other remedies, and the proprietors positively claim that a $1 Bottle will ensure a large family against any danger from Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Loss of Voice, Coughs and Colds, and all kindred diseases, for a whole season.

This is no empty boast, but a fact which has already been proven by thousands of Canadian Families to their entire satisfaction.

Mothers! ! Mothers! ! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

A SCOTCH ANECDOTE.

The Duke of B—— was an indulgent master to those in his employment, was a perfect amateur in horticultural pursuits, and had a thorough discrimination in judging the worth of those of his workmen, amongst whom he was daily coming in contact. One day, when sauntering through the walks of a shrubbery, the duke was, though unseen, unwittingly in close proximity to one of his under gardeners till he heard him accosted by another gardener, who was in the prosecution of his business, passing that way. "Well, Jack, what is this you have got to do, eh?" "It's just some of the duke's confounded nonsence," said the Jack spoken to. Without making his nearness known to the critic of his actions or feibles, the duke took a circuitous turn round the shrubbery, and came to Jack, who was in silence obeying the orders of the head gardener. In his usual mild way the duke said, come this way, my lad, and bring your spade with you." Leading the way, with Jack following, the duke stopped at a smooth green spot on the lawn and said. "I wish you to cut a turf out here, the breadth of your spade every way, slanting your spade every way, so that the cuts will all meet in the middle." Having done as ordered, the duke said, "It's very well done, put it on your spade, and follow me." Setting out across the lawn, the duke went off at spanking pace, which baffled Jack, burdened as he was to keep up. He never halted or showed signs of stopping till he came to the extreme border of his policies. When Jack came forward, breathless and perspiring, the duke said in jocular way, "That was as good as a steeple hunt, only we had no hurdles; though you carried weight, that was because of our ages. Now cut me a turf here same size as the one you brought." Having done so, he was told to put the first cut into the second one's hole and carry the second out one and put it into the first one's hole. This done, the duke tramped the turf down with his foot, and said, "It's very well done, Jack, very. Now, if any one asks you what you were doing, say 'It's some of the duke's confounded nonsense." Jack was so mortified at being heard, and at getting such a cutting reproof, that he ran away from the place, but was brought back, and by the duke's orders placed in a position of trust.

The Gladstones.

Mrs. Gladstone does not confine her attentions to the domestic government of Hawarden Castle. Her influence will be enormous when Mr. Gladstone sits once more on the Treasury benches, and two of her sons are in Parliament. She is a clever, pleasing, earnest woman, but she dresses badly. Her bonnets are of the dowdiest. The provincial ladies quite resent her bonnets. Gladstone himself is not a "buck." He wears trousers that are "baggy" at the knees. His coats never fit him. His gloves are always too long at the fingers. But when he goes down to the House of Commons prepared to make an important speech, he is always well brushed, his hair oiled, and he wears a flower in his buttonhole. Mrs. Gladstone always "revises" him before he leaves home on important occasions. Old members of the Commons straighten their backs and get ready for "larks," when they see Gladstone come in with his hair smooth and a flower in his coat. —N. Y. Times Correspondent.

The Corporation Baby.

The Harriston Tribune says: It will be remembered that some three or four months ago a young man and woman, supposed to be man and wife, named Clarke, suddenly disappeared, leaving a fine little boy about four years old at Mr. Webb's. He not wishing to adopt the child handed it over to Mayor Meiklejohn. The matter came up before the Council, when it was proposed to offer the child for adoption to any respectable person willing to take it. A Mrs. Fraser, of Minto, took the child where it has remained, and been well cared for, until a few days ago; but here the strangest part of the proceedings comes in. It now transpires that neither Clarke nor his supposed wife are the child's parents, but that it had been left with the woman (Clarke's wife) and her husband in Muskoka by its real parents, who had removed to Illinois—the parents paying for its keep until they could send for it. The woman's husband being absent from home, she eloped with Clarke, taking the child with her, and they both came to Harriston, where, as we before stated, they deserted the little one. About three weeks ago Mayor Meiklejohn received a letter from the parents in Illinois enquiring about the child and if it could be recovered. Mr. Meiklejohn took the trouble to see Mrs. Fraser, who had adopted the child, and found her willing to give it up. He at once wrote to the parents, and on Thursday last a man presented himself to the Mayor, stating that he had come for the child. He was asked if he was the father, but said he was not. He was the husband of the woman who had eloped, and as it had been left with him, and the parents had not seen it for over three years, he had been sent to identify it. All being satisfactory the child was handed over and the deserted husband started back to Illinois with his charge, so now the corporation is open for another baby.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

The Express says: The Elora fair, on Tuesday last, was well attended, but prices were lower than at last fair. A considerable number of cattle changed hands, however, at prices varying from three to four and a half cents, live weight.

Mamma seeks to console her crying child: "Why do you cry, John? What has hurt you?" "Mamma, (and he bawls more lustily that ever), "yesterday I fell down and hurt myself." "Yesterday! Then why do you cry to-day?" Oh, because you were not at home yesterday!"

THE U. S. LIFE SAVING SERVICE.—The United States life saving service has become a very useful and efficient department. According to to Superintendent's annual report 219 vessels, carrying 2,105 persons, were wrecked within the sphere of its operations. Only 56 of the number were drowned, and 16 of these perished unnecessarily by attempting to escape without waiting for the help that might have been extended; 371 castaways enjoyed the relief and hospitalities of the stations for an average of three days each. The total value of the wrecked vessels and their cargoes was $2,887,886, and of this amount $1,445,086 was saved. Fifty-four vessels were total losses. Since the establishment of the service in 1871 there have been 797 disasters within its cognizance, and of the 8,392 persons involved 8,030 have been saved, while 1,753 people have been fed and sheltered at the stations. The record of the service on the great lakes for the past four years shows a remarkable increase in its ability for life saving, owing to the extension of the service there. In 1875-6 the number of lives lost was 87 out of 4,723 wrecked, while for the year ending June 30 last only 19 of the 4,110 suffering wreck were unsaved. The want of such a system is severely felt in Canada, and it is greatly to be regretted that we should allow our neighbours so far to surpass us in this direction.

MONDAY EV'NG, MAY 10, 1880

Hon. George Brown's Illness and Death.

(From the Globe.)

When Mr. Brown received the pistol wound on the 25th March, six weeks and four days ago, no one expected a fatal termination. The wound was apparently slight, and not in a dangerous situation. But shot wounds grow worse with time, and very soon troublesome symptoms appeared. The nervous system became very much deranged, inflammation set in, the thigh swelled, and abcesses were formed in the region surrounding the wound. Three incisions were made, and the discharge was copious and continued till nearly the end of the illness. In the meantime the giving way of the nervous system became more marked, and the body, though carefully nursed and well sustained by food, constantly became weaker. Throughout, however, there were no symptoms which showed death to be inevitable. On the contrary, there was much to encourage. It was a question of strength. Unhappily his strength gave way under the trial. For a considerable period he was delirious, but that is very common in elderly people under such circumstances. For a time also he refused food, when delirious, but modern inventions enable food to be easily administered without the volition of the patient. Within forty-eight hours of his death there was still believed to be a possibility of recovery. All that medical skill could accomplish was done; the result lay in other hands than those of man.

No words can describe the pain and weakness through which the much-loved patient passed during these six-and-forty days. At intervals the veil which hung over his mind was lifted, and he conversed intelligently with his family and friends. He experienced all the consolation which faith in Christ's sacrifice affords in such hours, and while to the last he never lost hope of life, expressed his submission to the will of God.

We have left to another hand the task of making a brief record of his life and work. We can only add here that the grief which men of all classes and parties exhibit in regard to his sufferings and untimely death form the best tribute to his memory. He loved his country, and laboured for her good; the objects he set before him were high, the plans he formed vast, and when he failed it was from no lack of courage or self-sacrifice on his part. The bed of death calls for other consolations than the praise of men, but it may be that his passing spirit was cheered by the thought that in the estimation of his fellow-countrymen he had not lived altogether in vain.

The news spread rapidly over the city, and created a deep and general feeling of sorrow. Word of the sad event was flashed far and near as soon as it became known, and in the course of the day messages expressive of sympathy and regret were received from all quarters. In almost all of the city churches reference was made to Mr. Brown's death.

On hearing of Mr. Brown's death the authorities at once decided to hold an inquest. Coroner Johnston, of Yorkville, issued a warrant, and gave instructions for the empannelling of a jury, which will be composed of prominent and representative citizens. They will be sworn in at the deceased gentleman's residence at ten o'clock this (Monday) morning, and after viewing the body will adjourn, to meet again in the evening at the Police Court building. The medical testimony as to the post mortem examination and the evidence of those employees in the Globe office who ran to Mr. Brown's assistance after the shooting will then be heard. Mr. County Attorney Fenton will be present in the interest of the Crown, and Mr. N. F. Davin, counsel for the prisoner Bennett, will also be in attendance.

The funeral has been fixed for Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock but the arrangements are yet uncompleted.

(From the Mail of Monday.)

About three weeks ago, alarming symptoms manifested themselves, and the hon. gentleman began to suffer from delirium. After that, except for a few lucid intervals, he was unconscious, although his system, fortified by nourishment artificially administered, held out marvellously well. On Friday, however, he began to sink, and rapidly lost strength. All day on Saturday he hung at the point of death. He was in a quiet sleep, but at times he opened his eyes and by a smile made those about him understand that he recognised them. On Saturday evening all hope was abandoned, and he slept on into the night, growing weaker and weaker; and at two o'clock on Sunday morning breathed his last, passing away peacefully and painlessly. Some days ago, having recovered consciousness for a time, he said to his loving attendants that he felt he was about to die; that he should have liked to have remained a little longer to finish his work, but that he bowed himself with all humility and in a cheerful spirit to the will of God, who in His wisdom had ordered it otherwise.

When the news of the death of Hon. George Brown became generally known yesterday morning, the hearts of the populace went out in sympathy to the afflicted and sorrowing relatives. On many of the public buildings flags were raised at half-mast, and mention was made of the sad event in nearly all the city churches, where heartfelt prayers were offered up for the bereaved widow and children.

It has been ascertained from a trustworthy source that the deceased, on the 29th of April, made an ante-mortem deposition, in which is briefly set forth the circumstances connected with the shooting. The statement does not materially differ from the facts already known to the public. The document, it is said, will be produced when the proper time arrives.

Dr. Johnson, of Yorkville, will open an enquiry this (Monday) morning. The declaration, now demanded from coroners, was made by the doctor before Mr. Carr, J. P., of Yorkville, yesterday afternoon. A jury will be empanelled, who will view the remains at ten o'clock, after which an adjournment will take place till the afternoon. Application will be made to the Police Commissioners for the use of the Police Court room for the holding of the inquest, a request which will, no doubt, be granted.

In the midst of their sad affliction, no steps have as yet been taken by the relatives towards the funeral arrangements. It is, however, announced that the body will be interred in the family vault in the Necropolis, on Wednesday afternoon. Further particulars will be made public tomorrow. A meeting of the Globe employees will be held this afternoon to arrange for attending the funeral in a body.

Local News.

THE GUELPH Rifle Association will practice at the butts to-morrow afternoon.

MISS NELSON, of Edinburgh, sister of Mrs. Geo. Brown, left for Canada last Saturday, and Mr. Nelson is to follow, but too late to see Mr. Brown alive.

THE great advent of the season will be the entrance to Canada during the first week in June of the Forepaugh show Bills announcing the intended visit of the show have been posted here.

THE first practice of the Cricket Club will take place to-morrow afternoon, on the Maple Leaf B. B. ground, at 4 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is particularly requested. d1

NATHAN TOVELL, undertaker, Quebec street, has the dog that strayed away, and which was announced in the MERCURY the other day. Mr. Tovell wants the owner to come and claim him or he will send in a bill for board.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.—At the regular weekly meeting of the Caledonian Society to be held this evening, some important matters will come up for consideration, among them being the arrangement of the programme for the Society's annual gathering on Dominion Day. A full meeting is requested.

A LOCAL MENAGERIE.—The Peterboro Review thus severely deals with the loafing element of that town:—In the Peterboro menagerie you can see every species of monkey from the ring tail to the grinning baboon. The show opens every Sunday evening, and the animals may be seen standing in shop doorways on the front street, and standing outside the front of church doors.

LET GO.—The young girl Mary Jane Mills, Orangeville, accused with using obscene language towards Mrs. Mary Ryan, Hamilton, was discharged on Saturday morning by his worship, the prosecutrix not wishing to press the charge, and Mrs. Mills and her daughter breaking out simultaneously in tears, the former appealing in broken accents to the compassion of the court.

DISTRICT MEETING.—The Listowel Banner says: The annual assembly of the Guelph District of the P. M. Church will be held in the Town Hall, there, on Thursday, the 13th inst., when a large number of the delegates from all parts of the District are expected to be present. An entertainment will be given in the hall in the evening, when the Harris Brothers, of Guelph, and the Rev. R. Pike, of Kincardine, will furnish music. Arthur Harris is said to be the best amateur boy violinist in the Dominion.

A SERIOUS CASE.—A very serioussa case occurred at Ayr on Sunday evening last. It appears that a young woman by the name of Scott, who is employed at Mr. Thomas Clarke's, was in Ayr, and while on her way to Mr. Clarke's in the afternoon, was, while in Ayr, accosted by a young man by the name of Mahoney. He wanted her to accompany him, but she refused, and ultimately proceeded on her way. Shortly after Mahoney followed her, and overtaking her committed a criminal assault. The girl claims she screamed and did all in her power to protect herself, but the scoundrel succeeded in overpowering her and accomplishing his purpose. Mahoney was under the influence of liquor at the time. An information was laid on Monday, but Mahoney at once absconded and has not since been heard of. He had formerly been employed as a miller at Goldie's mill, and while there had been noted as a steady, industrious man, quiet and unassuming, but he sometimes gave way to drinking and was, when under the influence of liquor, of a very ungovernable temper. Circumstances make it unlikely that he will be arrested.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The temperance meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday was fairly attended, when the Rev. Mr. Johnston took the devotional exercises. The Rev. Mr. Crosby, of St. Catharines, gave a very fine address. In opening he said the people of St. Catharines turned out in such large numbers at four o'clock on Sunday that they could not all get into the City Hall where the meetings were held, and many had to leave or stand, so great was the interest taken in the temperance movement in that place. Reference was made to the death of the Hon. George Brown, whom all parties would admit had done a very great deal to promote the best interests of this country—a useful life cut short—a great man assassinated by a drunkard who now fills a felon's cell—who had it not been for liquor might have been useful to society. Reference was also made to the late effort in the House of Commons to destroy the Scott Act. Intimation was made of a temperance social to be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms next Thursday evening. The efficient choir, under Mrs. Budd, added greatly to the value of the meeting, which was closed by the Rev. Mr. Johnston.

FAST RAILWAY TIME. — Vanderbilt's special train on the Canada Southern Railway, on Thursday, made the fastest time on record, going from Amherstburg to Charing Cross, 55 miles in 55 minutes.

PURSE FOUND.—The lady who lost her purse in our show room during its crowded state on Saturday night, can have the same by applying at our office—John Hogg & Son.

PERSONAL.—Sheriff Gow, his son John and Mr. Robert Melvin, leave to-day for Strawberry Island—one of the Manitoulin group—to prepare for the residence of their families on the Island during the summer.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Fresh to brisk southerly to westerly winds; cloudy continued hot weather to-day, with rain areas and thunder storms, followed by fine and slightly cooler weather to-morrow.

SALE OF SHORTHORN BULL.—Mr. Wilson, Fitzroy, has bought from F. W. Stone, Guelph, the pure bred shorthorn bull Mornington, 33310, vol. 18 A. H. B; red, 3 years, by 3rd Duke of Springwood 16928; dam Morning Glory, by 3rd Grand Duke (17993).

THE INCENDIARISM CASE.—The girl Eliza Pearson, was tried before Judge Chadwick on Saturday afternoon for setting fire to Wm. Standish's stable. The evidence in the case was substanially the same as that heard at the Police Court. At the conclusion of the evidence the girl was remanded till this (Monday), afternoon for sentence.

THE COW BY-LAW.—For breaches of this by-law, John Long and Daniel Keleher, were to-day fined by the Police Magistrate 50 cents and costs. In a similar case against Richard Mitchell, a fine of 50 cents and $2.75 costs was imposed. Summones have been issued against other persons for allowing their cows to run at large.

THE ROYAL PATH OF LIFE.—Mr. Canton is at present canvassing the city for subscribers to this book, which is one of grea value, as it deals with every subject which has for its object the improvement of morals, and the elevation of the people. It is highly recommended by a host of ministers. The price of the book is only $2.

THE CURIOSITY lately deposited in Bryan's barber shop has been examined by a Model Farm naturalist, and classed as the "gigantic water bug." The scientific name is Belastonia grandis. A travelling naturalist calls it the "protective butterfly." It is evidently well protected by two horns or hooks, but looks as though it was a free trader when in search of grub. So endeth that bug.

DISORDERLY. — Martin Bulger and P. Stapleton were before the Police Magistrate this forenoon, charged with fighting at the Grand Trunk passenger station on Saturday afternoon. Bulger pleaded guilty and was fined $3 and $5.85 costs. Stapleton pleaded not guilty, and as the evidence heard in the case against him was not sufficient to convict, he was discharged.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE EXTENSION.—The contract for the entire work for the erection of the south wing of the Agricultural College has been let to Mr Brown, of Hamilton, who will commence operations immediately. The cottages are not to be built this year, the contract for the completion of the main building having exceeded the estimates.

HON. GEO. BROWN'S FUNERAL.—Quite a number of our citizens, irrespective of party, have signified their intention of attending Mr. Brown's funeral on Wednesday at three p. m., and no doubt before that day others will make their arrangements for going. To all such the Grand Trunk will issue return tickets at one and a third fare—$2, for the round trip.

FLAGS AT HALF MAST.—As a tribute to the memory of Hon. George Brown the flags on the Market House, Post Office, Herald office, Mr. Reynold's house and other places in the city, were hoisted at half mast. Most of the ministers in the city on Sunday made feeling reference to his death either in their prayers or sermons.

MODEL FARM CATTLE SOLD.—Mr. C. Lemon, of Toronto, took away from the Model Farm on Monday six head of cattle, averaging 1,570 lbs., which he purchased for $6 per 100 lbs. One was a thoroughbred Durham, the other a thoroughbred Galloway, and the rest Grades. They are to be shipped to England. These cattle were fed on the experiment whether animals two-and-a-half years old could be turned out as heavy in the same time as those three or three-and-a-quarter years old, and we believe the experiment has to a certain extent been satisfactory.

DUNDAS.—The total assessable value of the town of Dundas is returned by the assessor at $1,063,610. The population is set down at 3,506.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT HARRISBURG.—While Charles Larking, one of the car examiners, was standing on a side track on Saturday, and about to examine a main line train, the Brantford train, which was shunting, struck him, and knocking him under the train, three cars passed over his legs, besides doing him other bodily injury. The poor man died after suffering intense agony for two hours. He leaves a wife and two small children.

BRUTAL FIGHT. — One thousand spectators witnessed the prize fight on Saturday, near Scranton, Pa., between Dave Richards and Tom Thomas. At the end the 27th round the combatants could hardly stand and the fight was declared a draw. During the fight, when the blood spurted from Richards' mouth, the spectators cheered lustily, and Richards' wife broke through the ring exclaiming: "Go for him, Dave." The battle will be fought out soon.

DARING BURGLARY.

James McAstocker's House Robbed of Articles to the Value of $250.

Sometime during Saturday night or Sunday morning the house and store of James McAstocker, Waterloo avenue, was entered by burglars, who secured three watches and about $6.50 in cash. The store is in the front part of the building and the rooms in rear and above it form the dwelling. There were two boarders sleeping in the rooms down stairs and there being eight persons besides in the house, it is thought the burglars must have been adepts at house-breaking. None of the occupants were aware of the robbery until getting up on Sunday morning.

The burglars gained an entrance by raising the kitchen window in rear of the house. They went to the store and opened the till by extracting the screws in the lock, to which there was an alarm bell attached. There was only a small sum of money in the till, which the thieves appropriated. Going up stairs they examined a bed room occupied by Mrs. McAstocker's niece and her mother. They secured $5 from the dress pocket of the former and 50 cents from that of the latter. They stole from Mr. McAstocker's room a silver watch, which he values at $38, and from a bureau drawer a gold watch owned by Mrs. McAstocker, which she values at $160. After going down stairs they went out side, but before leaving they reached through an open window and stole a watch belonging to James Whitaker worth $50. A revolver and a knife which were in the till in the store were not taken, the thieves doubtless thinking those were articles that could be identified without much difficulty

On Sunday morning Mr. McAstocker went to Hespeler and Mr. Whitaker to Rockwood, with a view of obtaining some trace of the guilty parties. Their mission was a fruitless one as they did not learn the slightest clue. The police have the case in hand but so far have not succeeded in getting any information likely to lead to the recovery of the stolen property.

Four burglaries are said to have taken place at Hespeler last week, and from recent occurrences of the same kind it can only be inferred that a gang of thieves are operating in this neighborhood. Citizens should make their fastenings secure at nights and be prepared to give such unwelcome visitors a warm reception.

No clue has yet been found as to who the guilty party is.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

Mr. Gladstone has been elected for Midlothian without opposition.

The Union Steamship Company's mail steamer American, from Cape of Good Hope for Southampton, foundered close to the equator, on the 28th of April, after breaking the mainshaft. The passengers and crew escaped in eight boats. Three, containing fifty-four persons, were picked up and the passengers landed at Maderia. The five boats, when last seen were making for Palmas, Liberia.

The Tories assert that Austria demanded and received an apology for Gladstone's language respecting the Austrian Emperor and the Austrian policy in regard to the Balkan principaiities. The contrary is true. No formal demand was made, but a suggestion from Vienna that an explanation would be acceptable elicited a courteous but firm declaration that the English Government intends to hold Austria to strict compliance with the Treaty of Berlin, and will require the ultimate evacuation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Injury to Clover.

We have heard several complaints of serious injury done to our clover in several parts of Canada. We abridge from the N. Y. Tribune the following article from the pen of Prof. Riley, the well known Entomologist, and high authority on such subjects. It should be read with interest by every farmer. This new enemy to the very important forage plant which is the mainstay of our agriculture, will, we hope, receive due attention from the Commissioner of Agriculture and Canadian Entomologists. We will anxiously await their report on these insects.

There are a number of insects that affect clover more or less injuriously by feeding on the leaves; while one species, the clover hay-worm, attacks it when cured in mow or stack. There are two species in this country that have for the first time during the past year been observed to affect the plant, in New York more particularly. Both of these work in such a manner as to prove far more destructive than any of the clover insects heretofore known. These are what I have called the clover-root borer and the clover-seed midge. In September, 1878, I received roots of clover that had been ruined by a small beetle not before reported in this country as having this habit. The insect was found in all stages of growth, though the principal injury had evidently been done by the larvæ, which worked more particularly in the larger roots. These, in many cases, were entirely severed at the surface of the ground. The flower-stalks were also, in many cases, eaten into.

While the facts which I have been able to learn in relation to the insect's work in this country show that it attacks healthy plants, yet it is undoubtedly true that this beetle flourishes most in the roots of plants that have been injured and that have already begun to decay; bearing out in this respect, the well-known habits of other species of its family, which are known to prefer the bark of tree and woody stems of plants that are sickly from one cause or another.

I have found the insect in all three stages, of larva, pupa and adult, up to the time of frost, though the perfect beetles at this season very greatly predominate. The insect hibernates in any of these three stages, and continues propagating as soon as the spring opens, the beetle issuing from the ground and pairing during the early spring months. The female then instinctively bores into the crown of the root, eating a pretty large cavity, wherein she deposits from four to six pale whitish elliptical eggs. These hatch in about a week, and the young larvæ at first feed in the cavity made by the parent. After a few days, however, they begin to burrowing downward, extending to the different branches of the root. The galleries made in burrowing run pretty regularly along the axis of the roots, and are filled with brown excrement. The pupa is formed in a smooth cavity, generally at the end of one of the burrows, and may be found in small numbers as early as September. It is the custom in Western New York to sow the clover in spring on ground already sown to fall wheat. This is generally done while the snow is yet on the ground or while the frost is disappearing, one peck of seed being used to the acre. The clover is allowed to go to seed in the fall, and usually produces but little. During the second year one crop of hay and a crop of seed are obtained. It is during this second year that the injury of the Hylesinus is most observed. No experiments have yet been made with a view of preventing the injuries of this clover pest, and no other mode of prevention suggests itself to my mind than the plowing under of the clover in the spring of the second year, if the presence of the beetle is observed.

MONDAY EVNG. MAY 10, 1880

Death of the Hon. George Brown.

The death of the Hon. George Brown which occurred at two o'clock . on Sunday morning will take no one by surprise, for throughout the country it had been expected for some days. A universal feeling of regret will be felt at the tragic termination of a comparatively long, and most active and useful life. Had he become the victim of disease in the ordinary course of nature this regret would have no less widespread and sincere, but it has been greatly intensified, and a feeling of universal sympathy evoked, from the circumstances which laid him on a bed of suffering, and which terminated his life. Mingled with these is a feeling of horror and indignation that one who has been of such great service to his country, for such a long period, should have his life cut short by the mad and wilful act of the drunken and cowardly assassin who attacked him.

It was on the afternoon of the 25th of March that George Dickson alias Bennett, went into Mr. Brown's private room in the Globe office to ask him to sign a certificate as to the length of time he had served as night engineer in the office. The man had been discharged some some days before for neglect of duty. He had also been before the Police Magistrate in Toronto on a charge of neglecting to support his wife, and it came out during the examination that he had deserted her and was cohabiting with her sister. He had for some days previous to the 25th been in an excited and drunken condition. Mr. Brown, on the request being made to him to sign the paper, said to Dickson that he did not know how long he had been employed in the office, and told him to go to the head engineer. Dickson still persisted in his request, saying: "sign it, sign it." He also put his hand into a side pocket and drew out a pistol. Mr. Brown then caught him by the wrist and turned his hand downwards. He got the weapon cocked before he was seized, which was the work of an instant, but he had pulled the trigger, and the muzzle being turned downwards the ball struck Mr. Brown on the outer side of the left thigh, taking a slanting direction, and escaping about four inches below and towards the back of the leg. Mr. Brown thereupon closed with his assailant, and they got outside the door, still struggling. He pushed Dickson against the glass partition of the waiting room, at the same time calling for help. By this time the alarm had been given in the office, and a number of employees rushing down the man was seized and quickly disarmed. During the struggle in the hallway Dickson tried repeatedly to shoot again, but was prevented from cocking the pistol by Mr. Brown, who, although he had been shot, held on to his would-be assassin until assistance came, when he was overpowered. The ball, which must have dropped on the floor after it had passed through Mr. Brown's leg, was found lying on the carpet in his room, several feet from where the wound was given.

For some time after the wound was inflicted everything seemed to go on favorably. Mr. Brown himself thought he would be able to be about again in a week or two. This, it is to be feared, led the patient to be rather restive under his confinement, and perhaps tempted him to use greater liberties with himself in the way of transacting business and seeing friends than was quite prudent in the circumstances. He was cheerful even to buoyancy, feeling little pain or weakness; his great vitality and exuberant energy led him to believe that he could safely accomplish what others in similar circumstances could not with propriety even attempt. Of course, all this told eventually upon his strength, and the subsequent suppuration of the wound added to the difficulties and increased the weakness. The extraordinary mental activity also affected him injuriously, interfering as it did with his sleep and exhausting his powers of endurance. In this way his recognizedly great physical force eventually gave out; and though there have always been intermittent seasons of revival, yet upon the whole there has been for a good while past a steady going back, and undoubted evidence afforded even to the most sanguine of his attendants that death was a mere question of time unless such a change should take place as was not likely, though not altogether impossible. But even this last gleam of hope died out on Tuesday last, when the sufferer sank very fast, and he was scarcely expected to survive during the night. He, however, rallied on Wednesday, but continued gradually to get weaker and weaker, until at last nature gave way and death claimed its own.

Mr. Brown was born in Edinburgh on the 29th Nov., 1818; so that at the time of his death he was in his 62nd year. His father, Mr. Peter Brown, was originally from Alloa, but subsequently moved to Edinburgh, where he for a time carried on business as a merchant. Having been unsuccessful in that line, the family came to New York, where Mr. Peter Brown started and conducted for some time a paper called The British Chronicle, which was devoted to the interest of British subjects resident in the States. It was here where George got his first insight into newspaper life, with which in after years he was to become so intimately acquainted. During the excitement in Canada caused by the Disruption movement in the Church of Scotland, which led to the formation of the Free Church of Scotland in 1843, the elder Mr. Brown was induced to come to Canada, where he started the Banner in the interest of those in sympathy with the Free Church. It was soon found, however, that a purely ecclesiastical paper would not succeed, and George having by this time got his first taste of Canadian politics, was along with his father anxious to get into a wider field, and make the paper more a political journal. Accordingly in 1844 the Banner was merged into the Globe. George became the political editor of the paper, but at that time, and for a good while after, his father did a good share of the general writing, especially on all questions of an ecclesiastical nature. Mr Gordon Brown had then scarcely begun to wield the pen, but he was closely engaged in the office otherwise, and was steadily training for the work, of which he was to take such a large share, on the Globe. Under the management of the father and two sons the Globe soon attained a position of influence in Upper Canada among the Liberal party, and from the first was recognized as one of their organs, although for a time it divided the honor with the North American.

It was not long after removing to Toronto before Mr. Brown was thoroughly absorbed in Canadian politics. In 1851 he first appeared as a candidate for the then Legislative Assembly for the County of Haldimand, where he ran against the late William Lyon Mackenzie, and was defeated. He subsequently, however, ran for the County of Kent, for which constituency he was elected. This was during the Hincks Administration, when feeling ran so high with respect to the secularization of the Clergy Reserves. Although Mr. (now Sir Francis) Hincks was avowedly a Reformer, the Globe opposed him on account of his attitude in relation to that question, and also on account of other questionable doings, notably the Toronto Debentures scandal, in which he and the late John G. Bowes were implicated. Mr. Bowes, who was Mayor of Toronto at the time of the transaction, had afterwards to disgorge, the case having gone against him in the Courts.

In the summer of 1854 Parliament was dissolved, and the general election immediately followed. The Globe, which had prospered from its comencement, was issued as a Daily in October, 1853, and soon attained a wider and greater influence. Our first connection with it began in May, 1854, just before the contest preceding the elections commenced. Mr. Brown had decided to run for Lambton, in opposition to Hon. Malcolm Cameron—the "Coon"—who was then Postmaster-General. It was a bold and hazardous step, for Mr. Cameron was a resident of Sarnia, the chief town in the county, but Mr. Brown, nowise daunted, entered on the contest with all the extraordinary spirit and energy he then possessed. We well remember the day on which he started to enter on his canvass. His father and he had some conversation about the contest, and before leaving his father remarked: "But what if you be beaten, George." George replied in the full force of his exuberant and hopeful spirit:—"Tuts, father, no fear of that, I won't be beaten." And away he went the very picture of a physical and intellectual Hercules. Nor was he beaten, for he headed the poll, and sat for Lambton till the general election in 1857.

On the fall of Hincks' Government in the fall of 1854, a Tory Government, with Sir Allan McNab and Hon. (now Sir John A. Macdonald) as leaders, was formed, and during its reign the secularization of the Clergy Reserves was accomplished, and the Seignorial Tenure and Separate School Bills carried.

Mr. Brown and the Globe opposed these measures inch by inch in the interests of the people. Many other misdeeds of that Government were also exposed, such as the Baby jobs, the great waste of money on piers in the Lower St. Lawrence, the grants made to Roman Catholic religious communities in Lower Canada, &c. In all these Mr. Brown was the active spirit, and the acknowledged leader, and he was greatly aided by the powerful and vigorous articles of the Globe, many of which were written by himself, and not a few by his brother, Mr. Gordon Brown, who some years previous had become one of the regular editorial staff, and in fact the chief working editor.

At the general election in 1857, Mr. Brown ran for Toronto—a step which required as much courage as it did to contest Lambton in 1854. The other two candidates were John Beverley Robinson and the late Wm. Henry Boulton. After a most exciting contest Mr. Brown and Mr. Robinson were elected. Mr. Brown was also elected for Oxford, but he chose to sit for Toronto, and Mr. McDougall was elected in his place for Oxford. In the summer of 1858, the Cartier-McDonald Government was defeated, and the Brown-Dorion Government was formed. The House, however, passed a vote of want of confidence on the newly formed Administration before its members could be re-elected, and the then Governor—Sir Edmund Head—refusing to grant a dissolution, Mr. Brown and his colleagues resigned. Then followed the disgraceful "Double Shuffle," by which the late Government was recalled with slight changes in their seats, and without going to the people for re-election. This infamous proceeding gave rise to much indignant feeling in the country, and it lost for Sir Edmund Head any little shred of popularity that was left him. Mr. Brown having resigned his seat determined to run again for Toronto. The Conservatives put up against him Mr. John Hillyard Cameron—by all odds the strongest man in the city. The election was one of the most bitter and hotly contested ever witnessed in Canada, and created an intense excitement throughout the country. Mr. Brown won the seat by over 150 majority. About this time he was as regards his strength and energy at his best. Night after night he addressed crowded meetings in every part of the city. We remember especially one of these held in a place then called the Exchange—a large upper hall on Church street, near Colborne. The night was extremely hot, and the hall was crowded to suffocation, but Mr. Brown made the best speech we ever heard him deliver, and his trenchant eloquence and his fierce denunciation of the Governor and Government told with tremendous effect on the audience.

The continued injustice done to Upper Canada in the unequal distribution of the revenue now began to engage much of Mr. Brown's attention, and the cry arose for a dissolution of the Union. The great Reform Convention—held in Toronto in 1859—was the result of this agitation, and the chief question this Convention had under consideration was, whether the proposed dissolution should be pure and simple, or whether there should be a union with "checks and guarantees." This scheme was the proposal of Lower Canadian Reformers, led by Mr. (now Chief Justice) Dorion and the late Mr. Holton, and Mr. Brown's great personal influence carried it through the Convention. Nothing practical resulted from this Convention, but it gave the watch-word to the demand for Representation by Population, which the Globe now took up and continued to advocate with its characteristic vigor.

Previous to the general election in 1861 Toronto was cut up into two electoral divisions, and in that year Mr. Brown ran for East Toronto, and was beaten by Mr. Crawford, afterwards Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. An illness of some months duration followed, and George Brown never after was the same man. His almost superhuman labours, which culminated in this illness, had seriously impaired his constitution, and his fair, golden hair began to grow rapidly grey. Meanwhile the Macdonald-Cartier Government, which was now in power, were beset with difficulties, and could command but a small majority. Their supporters, too, in Upper Canada were also forced to concede the justice of the principle of Representation by Population, which embarrassed them still more. In 1862 they were defeated on some nefarious transaction connected with the Grand Trunk and Montreal, and the Sandfield Macdonald - Sicotte Government was formed with its unworkable dual majority makeshift in regard to Representation by Population. The Globe assumed an attitude of quasi-opposition to the Government on this account, and it was soon found that a reconstruction was imperative. Mr. Sicotte was accordingly elevated to the Bench, Mr. Dorion taken into the Cabinet in his place, and Representation by Population was made an open question. The Globe then threw its whole influence in favour of the Government, and a seat was made vacant for Mr. Brown in Oxford. The general election that same summer resulted in returning but a majority of two or three in favour of the Government, which was soon compelled to resign. Parties were almost equally balanced and a dead-lock was imminent. Then sprung up the proposal for a Confederation of all the British Provinces, the initial steps being taken by Mr. Brown, and a Coalition Government was formed to carry it into effect. It is unnecessary to go into a history of all the negotiations which followed. Mr. Brown, Mr. O. Mowat, and Mr. McDougall entered the Government as the three Reform members by the almost unanimous approval of the Reform members in the House, and we know for a fact that Mr. Brown was strongly solicited to do so by the then Governor Lord Monck, who feared that there was no other way of getting over the serious political crisis, which might have led to a dissolution of the two provinces threatened in 1859. Mr. Brown continued in the Coalition Government till the end of 1865, long enough to see accomplished all the legislation necessary for carrying Confederation into effect. No doubt he felt his position uncomfortable, for the Reformers were in a decided minority in the Cabinet. The immediate cause of his resignation was the action of the Government in proposing to secure a Reciprocity Treaty with the States by means of legislation, which would have left it open to change at the whim of Congress.

The next general election took place in 1867 when Confederation came into effect. Mr. Brown took the ground that the Coalition had done its work and should be dissolved, but the Government pleaded that it should continue till the new system was put into proper working order, and begged for a "fair trial." Mr. Brown opposed Mr. Gibbs in South Ontario, and was defeated. He remained out of Parliament till 1873, when he was called to the Senate by the Mackenzie Government. He, however, took but little interest in the work of that body, for he was out of his element—his proper arena being the House of Commons.

Such is a brief outline of the leading events in Mr. Brown's public life, but we could go on for hours to write about many notable incidents which took place in connection therewith, which are now only remembered by the older politicians. Among these was his appointment as one of the Commission to inquire into alleged abuses in the management of the Provincial Penitentiary in 1849. The then Warden was deeply implicated in these abuses, and as he was a near relative of Mr. (afterwards Sir) Henry Smith, who was member for Frontenac, and at that time Solicitor-General, that worthy never forgave Mr. Brown, and one night in the House in 1856 he grossly insulted Mr. Brown, and charged him with all sorts of wrong doing in connection with the Commission's inquiry. It was a wild night in the House. Smith was livid with rage, the Speaker was vainly pleading with him to observe the rules of the House, and John A. Macdonald was egging on his henchman. Mr. Brown in reply made a temperate speech, and demanded a Commission of inquiry. After prolonged sittings Mr. Brown's course was triumphantly vindicated, and the Commission, if we recollect aright, never reported to the House. We think it was during the same session that the present Sheriff of Carleton, then known as the "beauty of Carleton," flushed with liquor, made a foul attack on Mr. Brown, and flung the taunt across the House that his father had failed and left Scotland without paying his debts. Nearly every member but Powell himself was ashamed of the dastardly attack, and when Mr. Brown rose to speak there was a death-like stillness in the House. He made a manly and dignified speech such as only a dutiful son who was proud of his father's reputation would make, and which elicited the heartfelt sympathy and approbation of nearly every member present. And if we are not misinformed it was not long after when the son was able to wipe out this unmanly reproach made on his father's memory. It was through Mr. Brown that the Select Committee was appointed in 1864 to inquire into and report upon such changes in the constitution as might best satisfy the demands of Upper Canada. This was the first practical fruit of his agitation for Representation by Population, and which in time ripened into Confederation, and question it as some may, he is assuredly the father of it. We might also refer, did our space permit, to the several libel suits into which he was dragged in the interests of the public, and out of which he came triumphant; to the many demonstrations given in his honour in all parts of the country, and to the enthusiasm which he instilled into the people in his numberless campaigns. Nor will the people soon forget the genuine patriotism and loyalty which were the guiding principle in his public life, and which found such a powerful exponent and advocate through the Globe. Those who remember the excitement during the Fenian raids in 1866 will recall the stirring appeals in the Globe which came like trumpet blasts, and the fierce denunciations against military officers high in authority, and the then Premier (John A. Macdonald) for their criminal indifference and neglect while the country was being invaded. In such great crises the Globe was emphatically a power in the land. Whenever legitimate rights of the Crown or the people had to be maintained Mr. Brown through the Globe was fearless and outspoken in their advocacy, nor would he consent to give a loose rein to the one, nor entrust undue power to the other. In short he was the constant advocate for a well balanced equipoise, which is the true spirit and principle of constitutional Government.

We have said nothing yet about Mr. Brown as a journalist. His public life for years engrossed so much of his time and attention that he only at rare intervals, and on great occasions, wrote anything for the Globe. But he was nevertheless its controlling spirit, guiding its policy, overseeing and directing every part of the business, and the first always to suggest improvements. He spared no expense or pains to make the Globe not only the most powerful political organ, but the best newspaper in Canada, and its position to-day amply testifies to his success. It is a remarkable fact that all the political newspapers in Toronto that were in existence when the Globe was first published, and for many years after, are dead and most of them forgotten. Yet the Globe has kept steadily on its course, still keeping ahead of all competitors in the improvements effected from time to time. With Mr. Brown money was no object when news had to be obtained, and nothing of public interest was overlooked which would add interest to its pages, or be of service to the people. This enterprise and public spirit were more observable in years past than now, when the telegraph was not so much used as it is now, and when it cost comparatively more to get the earliest news.

Mr. Brown was a vigorous writer. He almost intuitively grasped a subject in all its bearings. His arguments were well chosen, clearly put, and clothed in the most forcible language he could employ. The same remark may also be applied to his speeches. No one was ever at a loss to find out what he meant, for both his articles and his speeches were well arranged, and his arguments logically put. He was a master in figures, and seemed to handle the most abstruse or confused statistics with the greatest ease. But although he often wrote on the spur of the moment, he was careful in the construction of his sentences and in the choice of his words. We have seen him pore over a sentence for a long time before he could get the exact word to suit. Although for years he had written scarcely anything for the Globe, yet he was the active spirit and manager of the Company, and in his death Canada has lost her oldest and most successful journalist.

Mr. Brown was not only distinguished as a journalist, a politician, and for many years the leader of the Reform party in Canada, but he had obtained a decidedly wide reputation as an agriculturist and stock breeder. In 1853 he purchased a large tract of land in the County of Kent, which was then a dense forest. With characteristic energy he soon began to clear a large portion of it, and before long had a large farm under crop. He founded the village of Bothwell, which was soon after made a railway station on the Great Western Railway, and erected saw mills, cabinet factory and other works. On the discovery of petroleum on the land, he sold the entire property, and some years after bought the Bow Park farm property, near Brantford. In time he gathered together in large numbers the best breeds of cattle, &c., and his annual stock sales not only in Canada but in Chicago, were usually attended by breeders from all parts of Canada and the States. He had an ardent love for farming pursuits, and his great desire also was to furnish to farmers and ordinary breeders a superior class of animals that they could not afford to raise for themselves. His object was a most praiseworthy one, and whether or not the enterprise was a success in a pecuniary point of view, it was of acknowledged value to the farming community. Whether as regards his own or other enterprises Mr. Brown always took large and broad views, and he was open handed and liberal in his contributions to every good work.

Mr. Brown was through life an attached member of the Presbyterian Church. In 1862, while in Britain, he married Miss Annie Nelson, daughter of the eminent publisher, Mr. Thomas Nelson, of Edinburgh. He leaves behind him his widow and three children—a son and two daughters—a brother and three sisters, to mourn his loss and the terrible catastrophe which led to it.

Mr. Brown's services to the country will be variously estimated according to the political predilections of those who pass judgment on him, but all will admit that for more than thirty years he was more closely associated with, and took a larger share in, all the political movements during that time than any other single individual. As the editor or controlling spirit of the most popular and influential journal in Canada, as member of Parliament, and for many years leader of the Reform party, he attained a power and exercised an influence which no other public man ever possessed in this country. In exposing abuses and wrong-doing, in battling for the rights of the people, in foreshadowing and advocating reforms he was unequalled, and he pursued these with a force and enthusiasm that sometimes perhaps carried him beyond the limits of discreet policy. But his very earnestness gave proof of his honesty and sincerity, and among all the faults that his worst enemies ever laid at his door they never accused him of playing a part. When he clearly saw the object to be attained—the goal to be arrived at—he pursued it by no round-about path, but went straight and direct in his course. Nor was he easily discouraged by opposition or failure. With a tenacity of purpose and a courage that extorted admiration from friend and foe he fought on, gradually overcoming all difficulties, and at last conquering by the sheer force of a determined will, backed by a powerful intellect. By the exercise of these—as by an instinct of nature—he sometimes unconsciously assumed the attitude of the commander or dictator, for he lacked those nice traits of suavity and policy which seek to lead rather than drive. And yet as an agitator those qualities were essential to success. But for these he would not have fought the many battles in which he was engaged, often under most discouraging circumstances, and against great odds; and but for these he would never have compelled Governments and Parliaments to carry into effect measures which he so fearlessly advocated. Many of these measures were carried by Governments hostile to his party and his policy, but when he had thoroughly educated public opinion in the reforms proposed, they were obliged to yield and accept in good part the measures he had outlined. For this the country owes him a deep debt of gratitude, and for this his memory and his work will long be held in grateful remembrance after the animosities engendered by party feeling are forgotten. That he had many political enemies no one knew better than himself. That he was unsparing in his denunciation of political opponents we all know, for possessing as he did the mental characteristics above referred to, and engaged as he was during his long public life in many stormy scenes and hot political contests, it would have been impossible for him to emerge from these without giving offence to many against whom his attacks were directed. But we do not think he indulged in warfare for the mere delight in it. He had a far higher purpose in the discharge of a great public duty, and we believe was actuated by higher motives than the mere discomfiture of an opponent. And now that his work is done and his life record closed, those who so often measured swords with him in the political arena, or through the press, will forget the asperities of the past, and think only of the loss we have sustained in the death of a valuable public servant, a man of giant intellect, and a true friend of his country. For thirty years his name has been familar to the people as household words, and now though death has removed him from the arena on which he played such a prominent part, he will for years to come be spoken of as one of the foremost men of his time, as a life-long friend of the people, and the constant upholder of their rights.

Sir John A. Macdonald supported the Scott Temperance Act in 1878, but he voted against the motion of Mr. Ross to give the Boultbee amendment the three months' hoist, which amendment would have rendered the Act inoperative. The Senate, however, put a veto on this iniquitous legislation.

There can be little doubt that an election contest is imminent in the county of Russell, as the Conservatives have sent agents all over the constituency to test the feeling of the electors. The Government and the electors of Russell are both urging upon the Hon. John O'Connor the necessity of his resigning. The Postmaster-General, however, does not see the matter in that light in these times of financial depression. Seven thousand dollars a year is better than three or four thousand as a Puisne Judge.

CHAPTER II.

"Yes. Well, I was trying to convert that Indian by reading to him about Jonah and the whale, when he rose up suddenly and began fumbling about my hair with a carving knife."

"The Committee may go into detail. Now, why did he do this? Is the narrative calculated in any way to excite the nervous system of an untutored child of the forest?"

"No-no-no!"

"Nothing in it about depriving persons of their hair? Don't say Jonah was scalped, hey?"

"No."

"Did your assailant accompany the act with any conversation?"

"He merely remarked 'How!' and I thought I caught some rather indistinct reference to the Happy Hunting Grounds; but I'll only swear to 'How.'"

"'How!' They always say that. It indicates almost anything, from ferocious animosity to a desire to borrow plug tobacco. Then he took your hair, did he?"

"Sawed it right out, and would have murdered me if I had not fled."

"You dropped the Bible when you ran?"

"Yes, after snatching my scalp from his hand."

"Well, Kill, I think maybe that yarn'll pass. It's not first-rate, but there are three men in the Committee who want my vote for claims of theirs, and I have an idea they'll back us through thick and thin. My boy, don't call me a prophet if we don't snatch that Reservation before the session's out. It looks to me like a sure thing."

"I'd like to be as sure of something else I'm after," said Smith, rather sadly.

"What's that?"

"The M'Duffy girl."

"You shall have her, Kill, you shall have her! The old lady has promised me positively."

"I thought so myself at first, but there is another man in the way now."

"Who is he?"

"Oh, a one-legged army man. She's taken a fancy to him, her mother tells me. He has a leg up here in the Medical Museum, and she fell in love with that first and it spread to the rest of him afterwards, gradually."

"That's original, anyhow."

"Wants to paint that preserved leg in her picture. Going to dovetail it on to Washington. If he can get the leg out of the Museum she promises to marry him."

"Well, I'll put a stop to that! I'll introduce a bill forfeiting to the Government forever all the odd legs in the Museum. Kill! you mind what I tell you, and Pandora shall make you her model instead of this military ruin who is sparking her."

"I'd like to feel certain of that."

"You may; depend on me. A man with my war record needn't fear to offer himself to any—what is this fellow? Major, hey?—Well I'll risk offending any major in the service."

"I didn't know you had any war record."

"Aint I a general?"

"Oh, I know, but you can't throw a brick in the street without mowing down a couple of Generals—peace men from principle."

"But I have seen war, my boy! I was in the army, only as a captain, I admit. But I smelt powder! Kill, I was distinguished for one thing; other officers always lost their men, but I never had a fight that I didn't bring out one-third more men than I took in."

"You ought to have been promoted. Was it your war record took you to Congress?"

"No sir, it was brains—pure intellect—that did that. You know my district? Not a railroad in it. Not enough business to pay for the grease on the engines if there was a railroad. Of course under such circumstances, the one thing all the people want worse than anything else is a railroad. People always want what they can't get."

"Of course."

"So as soon as I was nominated I hired four hundred men, divided them into squads, fitted them out with rods and chains and theodolites and other surveying apparatus and started them all over the district, pretending to run lines. A squad would burst into a man's potato patch and go to work. The owner would rush out and say: 'What in thunder you fellows a-doin' in that potato patch?' And they'd say, 'We're surveying the route for old Belcher's railroad!' Then the man would fly into the house and tell his wife that Belcher was going to run a railroad through his property, and they'd go wild with joy. Kill! I carried that district by 1500 majority over a man who under other circumstances would have beaten me out of my boots."

"That was genius, sir! nothing but pure genius!" "I think so; genius for statemanship; not such statemanship as they have in the played-out despotisms of Europe, but the kind that is needed in a new country."

"I say, Belcher, how would it do for you and me to go around and call on old Mrs. M'Duffy? I've a notion to go!"

"I'm willing. Maybe we can settle the case of that dilapidated Major."

Mrs. M'Duffy was at home when the General and Mr. Smith called, and she received them with much cordiality.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

A peculiar accident happened last week at a building in course of erection at St. Thomas. A workman was bending to pick up a board in the basement, when a heavy fletch weighing about 400 pounds, slipped out of position. The workman could not move out of the way and the huge mass descended, one end striking his head tearing the scalp completely off. The wound is a serious but not a necessarily dangerous one. How the man escaped instant death is a miracle.

The Berlin Telegraph announces the death of one of Wellesley's most respected citizens, namely, that of William Weir, which took place at his own residence, near Macton, on Saturday, the 1st, of typhoid. He was the son of Alex. Weir, now of Clifford, formerly of Wellesley and Galt, and was highly respected by all who knew him. His remains were followed from his own residence to Glenallan cemetery, on Monday last, by a large cortege—about eighty teams joining in the procession. He leaves a wife and six children who deeply mourn his loss.

ACTION FOR SLANDER.—The following case of local interest was tried at the Grey Assizes:—Allen v. Baker—Action for slander. The parties both live in Bruce. The circumstances arose out of the late election. The plaintiff is a strong Conservative, late Reeve of Amabel, and the defendant a Reformer. Plaintiff wrote a letter to the Bruce Herald, to which the defendant replied, stating that plaintiff had made false returns as Reeve; being a German he had not a very clear knowledge of English, and used the word "false" instead of the word "incorrect." The Jury found a verdict for the defendant.

A MISSING MAN.—The Galt Reporter says the friends of Mr. Patrick Higgins, of that town, are very uneasy over his sudden disappearance. On Tuesday, April 20th, Mr. Higgins got up in the morning and prepared breakfast as usual, leaving the house immediately afterwards. From that time up to the present he has never been seen, nor have the slightest traces of his whereabouts been discovered, although diligent efforts have been made with that end in view. Mr. Higgins is an old pensioner, and it is possible that he may have walked to some neighboring town, as he was rather proud of his walking abilities; but his friends fear that something serious has happened to him.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

The Peterboro Examiner says: Our assessment roll for 1880, as compared with that 1879, shows the value of resident lands this year to be $2,127,545, as compared with $2,258,475 last year, a falling off $100,930. It also shows that the number of ratepayers this year is 1,780, as compared with 1,880 in last year—one hundred fewer ratepayers this year than last.

The Mount Forest Examiner says: Mr. Sproat, Chief Engineer, has completed the survey necessary to connect the G., B. & W. Railway line with that of the Stratford and Lake Huron Railway to Palmerston. The length of the new road to be constructed will be about three quarters of a mile and the work will not be difficult. The location survey of the second section from Durham to Owen Sound will be commenced shortly.

W. NEWPORT,

BEGS TO INFORM HIS FRIENDS and the public generally, that he has removed his Bakery and Confectionery establishment from Wyndham street, opposite the Post Office, to the more extensive premises next Kennedy's Jewellery Store, on St. George's Square, where everything in his line will be found first-class

SINGULAR PHENOMENON.—The Oshawa Reformer says:—About half past nine o'clock on Wednesday evening, Mr. Henry Sawford, a resident of Brock street, on opening the door of his house and stepping outside, observed a column or what he at first thought was fire rising from the roof of the house of Mr. W. H. Luke, his nearest neighbor. As he was about to give the alarm, the flame or light, which at first appeared to come from the roof, suddenly rose perpendicularly into the air to the height of fifty or sixty feet, leaving a space of a number of feet between the roof and the base of the column in which there was no appearance of light. Being convinced that his neighbor's house was not on fire Mr. Sawford watched the illumination for several minutes; the column was apparently about two feet in diameter and twenty-five feet in height, giving a mellow white light and from every side there were thrown off jets of light having the appearance of spray. He approached within a few feet of the column in order to have a better view of it. In a short time its position was changed and it rose directly over Mr. Luke's greenhouse and moving in a westerly direction approached within a few feet of Mr. Sawford's house, where it was seen by several members of his family. The evening was quite dark and occasional flashes of lightning were seen in the distance. Mr. Sawford was about to go and call Mr. Wm. Deans, who lives close at hand, to come and witness the strange spectacle, of a pyramid of light moving about over the tops of the houses and across the lots thowing off jets of illuminating spray, when there came a flash of lightning of more than usual brilliancy and in an instant the strange visitor vanished and was seen no more. It is quite certain that the phenomenon witnessed by Mr. Sawford and his family, and which is described by them as having been exceedingly beautiful, was due the an unusual development of electricity in the atmosphere, but why it should have been limited to the small space over which it appeared to pass—about half an acre in extent—we leave for scientists to explain.

FIRES IN THE OIL REGIONS.—Bradford, Pa., May 7.—A destructive fire is still raging in Tram Hollow and Oil Valley. Hundreds of men are endeavoring to confine and subdue the flames. The greatest number of rigs and tanks of oil were consumed in Foster Brook Valley, along Harrisburg run, in Kendall Creek Valley, and about the summits. Fires also raged near Tarport and Degolyer territory, in which the fire prevailed twelve miles in extent. In Oil Valley the greatest danger existed. Smaller dangerous fires are still burning in all parts, but it is thought they will be controlled without much farther loss. All the villages threatened with the huge iron tanks bursting and being inundated with burning oil are now considered safe.

Brown's Household Panacea

the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is THE GREAT RELIEVER OF PAIN. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water [sweetened, if preferred], taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&w1yr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to chil' dren. 25 cents a box. d&w1yr

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

This Afternoon's Dispatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

Cut in Two by a Train.

PORT HOPE, May 11.—This morning the body of a Frenchman named Joseph Cariveau was found on the G. T. R. track, about a quarter of a mile west of this place, terribly mangled. His head was found over half a mile from his body. Deceased was employed on W. M. Boyd's raft here, and was discharged yesterday morning on account of drunkenness.

Toronto, Grey and Bruce.

FLESHERTON, May 11.—A deputation of the Board of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway Company, consisting of Messrs. W. H. Beatty, solicitor, and E. Wragge, general manager, met the Township Council of Artemesia at this village to-day when a by-law for $20,000 in aid of the change of guage of the railway was passed through the several stages, and will be voted upon by the ratepayers of the township on the 12th of June.

Drowned in Niagara River.

QUEENSTON, Ont., May 11.—Dobson Boyce, a resident of this village, a pensioner under the American Government, for his services during the last war, was drowned last night in Niagara river, about a mile south of the village. It is supposed he stumbled and fell over one of the large rocks which slope down to the water's edge. As the current is very strong there a person, unless a first class swimmer and having complete control over himself, would not be able to reach land. This is the third man within the last twelve years who has been drowned near that place. The body has not yet been recovered.

A ONE dollar counterfeit Dominion bill was detected in the Ontario Bank to-day. The numbers are printed in blue, but a little blurred. It is is an excellent counterfeit and only an expert could detect it.

IN NATAL.— From a late number of the Natal Advertiser, we learn that Mr. Robt. Ballantyne, agent for Mr. W. J. Lyons, of this city, was in Durban, the capital of Natal, and was meeting with great success in his canvass of Mr. Lyons' publications. He canvassed the Cape and surrounding provinces with equal success, and we would not be surprised to hear of him next on a mission to the Zulus.

THE CATTLE TRADE.—Mr. Robt. Craig, Toronto Township, ships 120 head of cattle here to-day (Tuesday) for Montreal, where they will be exported to Liverpool. The lot will go via the Great Western Railway to Toronto. A large number purchased by Mr. Craig are to be delivered at Oakville and Brampton, and these will be shipped from Toronto with the Guelph lot. In all the shipment will comprise 230 head. They will go via the Grand Trunk Railway to Montreal, thence by the steamship Montreal for Liverpool. Among those who sold the cattle are the following:—Nicholas Norrish, Nassagaweya, 4 head, weight 5,400 lbs., at $5.50. J. Y. Easterbrook, 3 head, weight 4,175 lbs., at $5.12½. John McPhederan, 4 head, weight 6,545 lbs., at $5.20. E. Hunt, one Steer, 1,280 lbs., at $5.12½. Taken altogether they were a fine lot of cattle.

TEMPERANCE SOCIAL.—The Gospel Temperance Club have made arrangements for a social to be held in Y. M. C. A. Hall, on Thursday evening next, and from the number of singers, readers, reciters and speakers that have readily consented to take part in it, it cannot fail in being a most enjoyable entertainment. It is not got up to make money, but to create more interest in the temperance work, and afford enjoyment to the members. All are invited. A Silver collection will be taken up. The following ladies and gentlemen will take part—the Misses McGregor, McLaren, Curtis and Budd, and Messrs. Walker, Miller and Philp in songs; Messrs. Ware, Strachan and Beirnes will give readings and recitations; the Rev. J. C. Smith and Mr. Thomas Smith and others addresses, the whole interspersed with music by an excellent choir under Mrs. Budd.

MILITIA APPOINTMENTS.—The following are gazetted:—1st Provisional Brigade of Field Artillery, No. 2 Field Battery, Guelph—To be 1st Lieutenant, 2nd Lieutenant George Bruce Hood, G. S., vice William Johnston, left limits; to be 2nd Lieutenant, provisionally, Arthur Nicol, vice Hood, promoted; to be veterinary surgeon, Veterinary Surgeon Edward Alexander Andrew Grange, from No. 1 Field Battery. The following changes in the Reserve Militia are announced:—Regimental Division of the Centre Riding of Wellington—To be Lieutenant-Colonel, Major Henry Strange, vice G. C. Hamilton, deceased; to be Majors, Captain and Major Arthur Ross, from No. 1 Company Division, vice George Monger, deceased, Captain John Watt, from No. 3 Company, vice Strange, promoted. No. 1 Company Division—To be Captain, Lieutenant William Haig, vice Ross promoted; to be Lieutenant, Ensign Francis Reynolds, vice Haig, promoted. No. 3 Company Division—To be Captain, Lieutenant James Argo, vice Watt, promoted; to be Lieutenant, Ensign Thomas Gibb, vice Argo, promoted; to be Ensign, Thomas Hamilton, vice Gibb, promoted.

The assessment of Walkerton foots up about $650,000. This is somewhat less than last year and will be further reduced by the court of revision. The population is returned at 1,496.

HON. GEORGE BROWN'S FUNERAL.—The Grand Trunk Railway will issue tickets at a single fare for the double journey to parties who intend going to Toronto to attend the funeral of the late Hon. Geo. Brown to-morrow. The tickets will be good to return the following day.

MEETING OF REFORM CLUBS.—A meeting of the Galt Reform Club was held on Monday, when resolutions expressive of regret at the death of Hon. Geo. Brown, and of his valuable services to his country, were passed, and a deputation was appointed to attend his funeral. The same was done by the Reform Club of Stratford.

CLOSING STORES TO-MORROW.—As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, it has been suggested that the merchants in the city should close their stores to-morrow between three and four o'clock, during the time the funeral is taking place. We have no doubt the merchants will willingly make the necessary arrangements.

PRINTERS' STRIKE.—The hands in the composing rooms of the London morning papers struck work on Monday for higher wages. They made their demand at 11 o'clock and asked for an answer at noon. They did not receive a satisfactory answer and consequently did not return to work. The average rate for type setters has been $9 per week.

DEATH OF AN OLD HORSE.—An old pony, popularly known as "Jim," belonging to Mr. Adam Robertson, died of old age last week. "Jim" has been in Mr. Robertson's possession over 25 years, and was about 5 years old when it came into his possession. He was a faithful animal, and was kindly cared for to the last.

HEAVY TRANSACTION IN SHEEP.—Mr. Wm. Gordon, of this County, has entered into an agreement with Mr. Ryan, a prominent Quebec shipper, to deliver one thousand head of sheep at Guelph the first week in July, at the rate of five cents per lb. live weight, the animals to average 140 lbs. They are intended for shipment to the Old Country.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY. — There was a moderately large attendance at the regular weekly meeting of this Society last evening. The committee appointed to make arrangements for the annual games reported the progress they had made, and said they would spare no effort to make the gathering more successful than in previous years. Several new members were admitted to the Society, and a number of the old members paid their subscription fees.

HEIRS-AT-LAW.—Messrs. Robert Beatty & Co., of Toronto, have forwarded us a copy of Gun's Index to Advertisements, which have appeared in papers throughout the would, calling for next of kin, heirs-at-law, etc. Parties expecting property of any description would do well to communicate with the above firm, from whom all information can be obtained and by whom all business will be promptly attended to.

OFF TO GUELPH.—The Kingston Whig says:—Mr. W. Clarke has left here for Guelph, where he will be engaged as instructor of the Wellington Artillery Brigade, of which the Battery of the Agricultural College forms a part. Last evening the fife and drum band of the Battery serenaded Mr. Clark, who was grateful for the compliment thus paid him. Mr. Clarke was popular with the citizens, who will be pleased to note his success in life wherever located. He will act under Major McDonald, an officer who will learn to highly appreciate his services.

THE ELORA ROAD.—The deputation appointed to wait on the Guelph Township Council to ask them to plant trees on the Elora Road from the city limits to the Union Cemetry, carried out their mission on Monday last. The council was in favor of planting the trees, but as they had to get the permission of the County Council before doing so no definite action could be taken. Mr. Sweetnam said he would bring the matter before the notice of the County Council at its next meeting.

FISTICUFFS IN CHURCH. — A disgraceful affair occurred in one of the Brantford churches last Sunday evening. While the congregation were assembling a young man went into a pew which was occupied by two gentlemen. One of the first comers objected to the intrusion, which led to words and finally to blows, one slapping the other on the face, and the latter returning it by a rap on the head with a cane. The church officials then requested the intruder to leave.

School Board.

The School Board met on Monday evening. Present—Messrs. Murton (chairman), Newton, Robertson, Wilkie, Hart, Bell, Innes, Burgess, McKenzie, Gowdy, Peterson, Inglis, Swinford, Knowles and Dr. Keating.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Chairman said he had received a communication from the Principal, stating that he had suspended Walter Hunt and Wm. Harper for bad conduct. He said he had given the father of the former boy an order for re-admission to the school on Monday.

FINANCE.

Mr. Newton, chairman, submitted the following report:—

Your Committee on Finance met this evening and agreed to report, recommending the payment of Mr. Kloeper's account for coal ($461), which they find he has delivered at the Central School, and the account of Messrs. Watt & Bookless (75 cents).

Messrs. Newton and Knowles moved the adoption of the report.—Carried.

SITES AND BUILDINGS.

Mr. Inglis, chairman of this Committee, reported as follows:—

That in accordance with the resolution passed at the last meeting of your Board, your Committee made an appointment with Mr. George Howard, for the purpose of receiving from him an explanation with regard to the sum of $400 which he has overdrawn on his account for Central School contract and extras.

We find Mr. Howard is unable to account for this over draft, and we therefore leave the matter with your Board for further action.

With regard to the progress of work being done at the different schools, your committee had the ground prepared for the reception of trees at the Central School at a cost of $8, and trees planted at the various schools as follows:—16 trees at the Central; 12 at the West; 11 at the North, and 9 at the East.

Arrangements have also been made for guards to protect the trees at an average cost of 28 cents per tree.

City water has been laid into the West and East Ward Schools, but not completed yet as the self-closing taps have not arrived.

They have received several tenders for the bordering of High School grounds, and recommend that Mr. N. Sunley's tender be accepted for cedar hedge at 40 cents per yard, guaranteed for two years, and to fill up the blanks; and would also recommend that William Marriott's tender for sodding and levelling be accepted at $40 for levelling and 8 cents per square yard for sodding.

Messrs. Inglis and Gowdy moved that the report be received.

Mr. Knowles moved the Board into Committee to consider the report. The Board went into Committee Mr. Gowdy in the chair.

Mr. Knowles had no doubt the Chairman of the Committee could throw some light on the matter in the first clause. He could show what the committee had done towards discovering how Mr. Howard had made an over draft of $400.

Mr. Inglis said he could throw very little light on the subject. Mr. Howard had received the $400 but not on the certificate of the Architect to draw it, and he had no charge against the Board of that sum on his books.

Mr. Murton said the only way he could account for the over draft was this. The late chairman had sometimes let the contractors draw in advance of the work. Mr. Howard was sometimes like other people, hard up, and must have applied to the late chairman for an advance, who may have placed $400 to the credit of Mr. Howard and forgotten to notify the Architect of the advance. Mr. Howard did not deny his signature to the receipt of the money, and that was the only way he could account for it.

Mr. Robertson thought the discussion was rather premature. The question should be left over until Mr. Howard refused to refund the money.

Messrs. Wilkie and Hart moved in effect that the clause of the report on this subject be referred back to the Committee on Sites and Buildings to give the Committee and Mr. Howard an opportunity for the adjustment of the amount.

Mr. Wilkie thought they were doing Mr. Howard great injustice by discussing this matter with so slight a knowledge of the facts.

Mr. Inglis said Mr. Howard had given no explanation and the Committee could do no more. He had said he would go to Toronto and see if the architect could not explain something about the over draft, but had not done so. He would prefer to see the matter referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Peterson was also of opinion that the question should be referred to the Finance Committee. It was a pity the late chairman was not present to explain the matter. He had been very careful with his accounts. If Mr. Howard thought that he was over-paid by that amount he would set it right with the Board, but it was evident he did not think so or he would not have sent in an account some time ago, asking to be paid a balance he thought was coming to him.

Mr. Knowles said the matter should be dealt with now, and though he did not know whether Mr. Howard had been over-paid or not, the Board was out $400 and should not shirk investigating the matter.

Mr. Innes said the Board had no desire to shirk the matter, but they wanted to learn more definite particulars before dealing with it.

Messrs. Wilkie and Hart withdrew their motion.

Messrs. Inglis and Gowdy's resolution to adopt the report was carried and the Committee rose.

Messrs. Peterson and Swinford moved: That the matter of over payment referred to in the report of the Sites and Buildings Committee be referred to the chairman of the Board, the chairman of the Finance Committee and the mover for adjustment, and that they report at next meeting of the Board. Carried.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The Inspector reported as follows:—School attendance for April, girls 571, boys 616, total 1187,—decrease since same month of last year, 46; average 49,—general average 34, daily average 37.

The Principal stated that a great many had been absent on account of the prevalence of measles. In one room with an average roll of 74 there had been as few as 20 scholars.

TEACHER'S ASSOCIATION.

The Principal on behalf of this Association invited the members of the Board to be present at an entertainment they give at the High School on Friday evening, at which Col. Clarke, speaker of the Ontario Assembly, would deliver an address.

The Board adjourned at 9 p. m.

The Late Hon. George Brown.

THE NEWS OF HIS DEATH CONVEYED TO THE MAN WHO SHOT HIM.

The Inquest on the Body.

The following despatch came after we had gone to press yesterday:—

Shortly after ten o'clock on Monday morning, Mr. Green, Governor of Toronto gaol, called Dickon alias Bennett to his side and told him of Mr. Brown's death. He did not seem greatly moved, and asked when it occurred.

He continued, "I'm very sorry to hear it. Of course from the first I expected something serious, but never dreamed it would end this way. I cannot express how I feel. I suppose now I will be tried for the graver offence. I don't know what will become of me; I can scarcely collect my thoughts."

"Have you any funds for defence?" asked Mr. Green.

"It's very little I have; I don't know how much. I don't think my counsel will have much difficulty in convincing any jury that I did not intend murdering Mr. Brown, and that the shooting was done in a scuffle."

"Was there any one present at the time?"

"No, no one was present at the time the pistol went off, but soon after several of the men ran in. I refused to give the pistol to Mr. Brown because I was afraid he would shoot me, but when the men came in I gave it up."

After again expressing his sorrow at the result of the shooting, Bennett retired without showing any signs of emotion.

THE INQUEST.

At ten o'clock on Monday, Coroner Johnston summoned a jury, composed of the following:—W. H. Howland, foreman, George Hodgetts, Alex. Henderson, John Irwin, Chas. Page, Patrick Hughes, James McGee, A. Irving Walker, Wm. Wilson, C. S. Gzowski, P. G. Close, H. S. Mara, Wm. Thompson and Geo. Yarker.

The coroner explained that the first thing necessary was to view the body, and accordingly the jury left the library in which they met, and proceeded up stairs to a room in the eastern portion of the house, where the body was encased in a rosewood refrigerator. The features of the deceased wore a natural expression, and gave no indication as to his sufferings. After viewing the remains the jury again met and adjourned till this evening. During the day a post mortem examination was made by Dr. Thorburn, Aikins and Clark.

The inquest was resumed in the evening in the Police Court Chamber. The prisoner was brought up from the gaol. His appearance when placed in the dock was much less favorable than on previous occasions. His confinement, and probably also a knowledge of the danger in which he is placed through the fatal termination of his act, have told on his appearance, and caused him to look pale and careworn.

The following is a synopsis of the evidence:

Arch. Blue said:—On the afternoon of 25th of March last, a few minutes after four o'clock I entered the Globe office by the rear stairway; I passed through the hall by Mr. Brown's room; the door was about three fourths open; I saw the prisoner standing at the door, inside the room; he appeared to be resting against the edge of the door; he was talking with Mr. Brown, speaking pretty fast, but not in an angry tone; Mr. Brown was behind the door, and I did not see him, but I heard his voice; I passed up the stairs, and at the head of the stairs on the third story I met one of the employees John Ewan; I passed on to my own room at the front of the building; I had just entered the door when I heard a sharp report, followed immediately by a crash of glass; then I heard Mr. Brown shout, "Help, help, help; murder, murder"; I ran down stairs again, and found two or three men ahead of me having hold of the prisoner just at the foot of the stairs; Mr. Brown was standing three or four feet away, holding the revolver in both hands; he said to the men who held the prisoner, "Don't harm him, I've the pistol"; I asked Mr. Brown if he was hurt; he said he didn't know, he didn't think he was; I asked him if he felt any pain, and he said no; at the same time, and as it were involuntarily, he dropped his hand on his left thigh; I looked and saw the bullet hole in his trousers; I said to Mr. Brown, "The bullet went in there," and I looked further down and saw another hole about five or six inches from the upper one; he thrust down his hand inside his trousers, and took it out with a bloodstain on his fingers; the prisoner was during this time in the hands of several employees, and some one sent out for the police; I was in Mr. Brown's room, and in a short time a policeman came and got the revolver from Mr. Brown; the prisoner was brought into the room handcuffed, and Mr. Brown said, "That's the man who shot me"; during all the conversation with Mr. Brown the prisoner was within hearing distance.

Allan S. Thomson:—I heard the report of a pistol, then a crash of glass; immediately after I heard deceased call, "Murder! Help!" I then rushed down stairs and saw deceased and prisoner struggling; I took hold of the prisoner; John Ewan immediately arrived on the spot, and also took hold of the prisoner; deceased then took the pistol from the prisoner and walked into his own room, saying, "I have got the pistol"; I kept hold of the prisoner till the constable arrived; as I came into the room the pistol was in the prisoner's hand, and deceased was holding it down; the prisoner's head was into Mr. Brown's breast; his left arm was round deceased; I pulled his head away; I asked prisoner what was wrong with him; his answer was, "There is nothing wrong with me"; as soon as the constable came into deceased's room I left.

John A. Ewan:—I heard the report of a pistol, and the sound of breaking glass, followed by the cry of a person as being evidently in trouble; I rushed towards the composing-room, and met Mr. Thomson going towards the head of the stairs leading to Mr. Brown's room; I followed him, and when at the head of the stairs I saw Mr. Brown struggling with the prisoner; I dashed down stairs, and with Mr. Thomson took hold of the prisoner; the prisoner was very close to deceased with his head in the breast of deceased; their hands were clasped together, and they were evidently struggling; I saw a revolver taken from prisoner by deceased; deceased immediately said, "I've got it, it is all right," and walked backwards a few steps into his room; he came out again and walked up to the prisoner; deceased then went into his room and showed some one his leg, but I did not hear him say anything; when I came down I caught prisoner round the waist; he made no struggle.

John Trimble said when he heard the report of the pistol he ran down to Mr. Brown's room, when he saw the prisoner in Thompson and Ewan's custody. Mr. Brown informed them how the shooting happened, and said:—"I saw the little wretch pass his hand to his pistol pocket, as if he was going to draw a pistol, when I sprang forward and seized his hand as he brought it around. I depressed it so that he could fire into my body, which I believe he intended to do"; after he made the statement I said, "Mr. Brown, I wish you to lie down on the floor, so the hemorrhage from the wound may stop"; he then lay down, and I stripped down his trousers and examined and found that it was only a flesh wound; a doctor soon came; Policeman Gregory then brought the prisoner forward to Mr. Brown, and Gregory asked Mr. Brown if Bennett was the man; Mr. Brown answered, "Yes, that is the man"; I am not quite sure, but I think he said this a number of times; he gave Gregory the pistol and said, "That is the pistol," meaning the one with which he was shot; the constable then said to the prisoner, "Do you hear what Mr. Brown says," and Bennett answered, "I know nothing about it"; search was made in the room for the bullet; it was found at Mr. Brown's feet, on the carpet; I believe the bullet produced is the one found (the bullet and also the revolver, with one empty chamber, was handed to the jury for inspection.)

Wm. Houston gave evidence to the same effect.

Policeman Robert Gregory, sworn, said—On the afternoon of the shooting, at seventeen minutes past four, I received information that a man had shot Mr. Brown; I ran to the Globe office, went up stairs, and found the prisoner held by Mr. Thompson; I took charge of the prisoner, and I asked where Mr. Brown was; I was told that he was in the next room, I took prisoner before Mr. Brown, and he said, "That's the man, that's the man who did it;" I said to the prisoner, "You hear the charge"; he remained silent; I said to him again, "Do you hear that Mr. Brown charges you with shooting him?" he hesitated and said, "I—I know nothing about it"; I asked Mr. Brown for the revolver, and he handed it to me; the revolver produced is the weapon; it is a five-shot revolver, and all the chambers were loaded but one, which contained an empty shell; the barrel was warm, as if recently discharged; I asked the prisoner if that was his revolver, and he said "No"; I then took him to the station; on the way to the station he said, "Gregory, this is a big thing"; I said, "Yes, it appears rather serious"; he said, "I won't get out of this as easily as the last; I came to the station, and reported the matter to the inspector; I proceeded to search him and found in his possession forty-two cartridges, loose in his pockets, similar to the ones produced; they are of the same size as those in the revolver; I searched the inside pocket of his coat and found a small bundle of papers tied up with twine; the prisoner got hold of the bundle and held on saying, "Don't take these; they are my life policy"; I took them from him.

At this stage Mr. Fenton wished to make a few remarks in regard to these papers. If the jury were entitled to scrutinize everything that was found on the prisoner at the time of his arrest, he thought that in the ordinary course of things they had a right to examine the papers, and that brought up the question as to whether they should be put in and treated as evidence. His learned friend (Mr. Davin) and himself had looked over the papers, and they had agreed in the propriety of not alluding to them at present, but of reserving them for a future trial. Since that time, however, he had been led to consider the matter very carefully. He thought all would admit that there was abundant evidence that the prisoner fired the shot.

The Coroner said he could not admit the papers at that stage, as he had no power to ask the press to withdraw. He would do so, however, before the end of the inquest, at a time when he would have the power to clear the room.

Witness continued—He then became angry with me, and said that he would show me up for this yet; he said, "There is something more that you haven't got, and never will get"; I asked him if it was a secret, and he put his hand on his breast and said "Yes"; on going away with another constable he said, "Gregory, I'll be even with you yet"; he was not drunk, but he appeared to have been drinking.

At this stage the Court adjourned, to resume this afternoon at four o'clock.

Tribute to the Memory of the Deceased Statesman.

The Toronto City Council met in the evening, Ald. McMurrich, after a feeling and appreciative speech on the late Mr. Brown, moved the following:

Resolved, That the death of the Hon. George Brown, Senator of Canada, after a painful and lingering illness, caused by an attack by a misguided person on the 25th of March which, while not immediately fatal, has resulted in his demise on the 9th inst., is regarded by this Council with sentiments of no common emotion and sorrow.

That on an occasion such as the present all party feeling is hushed, and every dividing sentiment merged, in the recognition of eminent talent, high patriotism, loyal citizenship, and a position proudly earned as one of the foremost of Canada's public and representative men.

That in the removal under such appalling circumstances, in the full vigor of his commanding abilities, of one possessing so distinguished a hold on the sympathies of his fellow countrymen and citizens, it is difficult to find words which will adequately express the profound feelings by which the Council are moved. They can but record a national loss of the gravest character, and a domestic bereavement of the most painful nature, and while joining in the feeling of respect which pervades every class of society in contemplating the one, approach the other with still sadder feelings, in attempting to offer to his sorrowing widow and family an expression of heartfelt sympathy and condolence.

And be it further resolved, That the foregoing resolution be engrossed and forwarded to the widow of the late honorable gentleman, and that this Council do now adjourn to meet on Wednesday next to pay the last mark of respect by attending the funeral.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

The press throughout the country, without exception, bear testimony to the deceased's great services to the country and express unfeigned regret at his untimely end. In every city and town, flags were raised at half-mast, and other evidences of sorrow were manifested, while sympathy for his family and relatives was universally expressed.

Preparations for the Funeral.

The Mail says:—Preparations are being rapidly completed for the funeral of the late Hon. George Brown to-morrow. The City Council decided to meet at the City Hall at two o'clock and proceed to the funeral in carriages. It is probable that the Public School Board and other educational bodies will also attend the funeral in a body.

The members of the Board of Trade and merchants of the city will meet at two o'clock for the purpose of attending in a body the funeral of the deceased.

Ald. Farley, Chairman of the Committee on Fire and Gas, has given orders that the fire brigade shall turn out in a body to attend Mr. Brown's funeral.

The Corn Exchange will, it is understood, also attend the funeral in a body.

At a meeting of the Globe employees, a committee was appointed to arrange the details of their procession at the funeral, and instructed to invite ex-employees to take part in it with them. Invitations are to be extended to printers generally to take part in the funeral.

Sir A. A. Dorion, Chief Justice of Quebec, received a telegram asking him, as an old personal friend of the deceased, to take part in the funeral. Hon. Mr. Huntington, ex-Postmaster General, will also be a pall-bearer.

The St. Andrew's, Caledonian, and other societies will be present in a body.

A more complete programme, however, will be published to-morrow.

In compliance with a very general desire, it has been arranged that the friends of Mr. Brown may see the remains on Wednesday, from 10.30 a.m. to 2 o'clock p. m., at his house, corner Beverley and Baldwin streets.

Suspected Murder in Grey.

(From the Owen Sound Times.)

On Monday last, in compliance with a request from the County Crown Attorney, an inquest was held at Chatsworth by Thomas Gordon, Esq., Coroner for the County of Grey, on the body of Thomas Knox, an old resident of the village, who had reached the age of about eighty-seven years.

The evidence revealed that some years ago Knox had married a woman named Hannah Kennedy, who was very much his junior, and that frequent quarrels took place between them. At length Mrs. Knox left him and went to live with a colored man named Daniel Douglass, who lives on the second concession of Holland, lot 65 or 66, some nine or ten miles from Chatsworth. As Knox was possessed of some little property, Douglass and Mrs. Knox would sometimes get him to go and visit them, and he would remain with them until some quarrel arose, when he would leave them and return to Chatsworth, where he abode at his daughter's, Mrs. Bain's, when living in the village. In December last he was staying with his daughter, when Mrs. Knox went to the house to see him, and threatened that if the old man ever went to Douglas's again he would not leave it alive. Some time after, however, a brother of Mrs. Knox's called at Mrs. Bain's, saying that "Dan and Hannah" wanted to see him, and that if he would go to them Hannah would be better to him than ever she had been before. Mrs. Bain, fearing some ill would befall him if he went, because of the threats which had been made, tried to prevent him going, but without avail, and on Thursday last word was brought to her that he was dead. Not having heard of any illness on his part, and bearing in mind the threats before referred to, she determined to have an inquest held, and telegraphed her desire to Mr. Gordon on Thursday evening, but as he was unaware of the circumstances of the case, he referred her to the County Attorney for advice and direction, and that official after hearing her story, came to the conclusion that sufficient suspicions existed to warrant the holding of an inquest as wished by Mrs. Bain. Accordingly Knox's body was disinterred, and the inquest held on Monday as already stated. The medical testimony was that death had resulted from strangulation, and that Knox himself could not have done the deed; and the jury returned an open verdict to that effect. Seeing, however, that Douglas and Mrs. Knox and a number of children besides the deceased were the only inmates of Douglas's house on the night of Knox's death, a son of the deceased, acting, it is said, on the advice of the County Attorney, has had these two parties arrested for guilty complicity in the old man's death, and they are now inmates of the gaol here on that charge. There is a general feeling in the locality immediately concerned that the old man Knox has been done to death in the manner revealed by the post mortem examination, as there were no indications to account for death from another cause.

THE COMING PRIZE FIGHT.—Several cases of rifles were sent from the armory at Simcoe to Port Dover on the 10th inst., to be distributed amongst the volunteers to be called out in aid of the civil power in the event of the prize fighters coming over. The steamer Ann Craig has been chartered to convey the authorities and the volunteers to the scene of action. As it has been thought that a landing of the prize fighters might be attempted at Peacock Point, arrangements have been made to frustrate their intentions. A number of special constables have been sworn in.

SUICIDE IN PALERMO.—On Friday evening last, James Joyce, aged 26 years, son of Mr. Samuel Joyce, school teacher of the township of Nelson, while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity, committed suicide by eating over half a pound of Paris green. About seven hours after taking the poison, medical aid was procured and the usual antidotes administered, which were of no avail, as death put an end to his intense sufferings about eleven o'clock on Sunday night.

DUFFERIN REGISTRY OFFICE.—The Orangeville Advertiser says: The sites and buildings committee of the County Council interviewed the Minister of Public Works at Toronto a few days ago for the purpose of obtaining permission to erect a smaller and a cheaper registry office than is allowable by the Government, but they did not meet with much success, as while it might be cheaper, Mr. C. F. Frazer considered that it would not be in the interests of the general public. The registry office will therefore be built according to the plans first laid out.

The Gambie C. P. R. survey party have returned from the lake Superior section. During last summer they ran a line from Lake Allen (Nepigeon bay) to Long lake, a distance of 116 miles. The section was very rough and unfit for settlement. The land between Long lake and Moose river is said to be splendid from appearances and admirably adapted for settlement. The sections traversed by the Gambie party is supposed to have never been trodden by white men before.

Mr. Thomas Tangney, Mount Forest, has got up an invention to take the place of the old fashioned style of attaching a pole or shafts to a buggy, and is so arranged that by raising the shafts you can change from one to the other without the slightest difficulty; it also does away with the possibility of accidents, arising from the shaft bolts dropping out.

The Mail and the Model Farm.

We have already told the Mail that it is being sadly fooled by the Herald's stories about Mr. P. Mahon's dismissal as farm foreman from the Model Farm, but it is loth to accept our statement of the facts. Perhaps a reiteration of these may serve to convince it, if it is at all open to conviction. It is not true that Mr. Mahon was dismissed because he is a Roman Catholic, and a conclusive proof of this is the fact that his successor—Mr. Wood—is also a Roman Catholic. It is not true that Mr. Mahon refuses to be dismissed, for he accepted and acted on the decision of the Government, and left the place as soon as he could make his necessary arrangements. The Mail, perhaps, is not to blame for believing such stories as the Herald manufactures out of whole cloth, but in future it ought to receive all such with due caution. The Herald in this matter thought it had a good opportunity to have a rap at Mr. Mahon, and while it expressed for him a sympathy it did not feel, it did not seek to disguise its delight over the disappointment of a political opponent. Some correspondent has also been fooling the Mail by informing it that the vacancy was made at the instigation of the members of the Reform party in South Wellington, some of whom wished to take the position in turns. Our contemporary is quite aware of the absurdity of the idea, for it deals with the matter in such a vein of pleasantry as convinces us that it regards the person as a fool who gave it the information. Mr. Mahon's successor does not belong to the County of Wellington, and we believe never resided in it. He comes from within seven miles of Toronto. This shows that as far as the County of Wellington is concerned the so-called rotation system as applied to the Institution in question is all a humbug. We would advise the Mail to take its information in future from the MERCURY, which would prevent it falling into such palpable mistakes, and making itself ridiculous.

THE Mail says that Hon. Mr. Masson has no intention at the present time to resign his seat as President of the Council.

THE rumour gains currency that Mr. Hooper, M.P. for Lennox, and ex-Treasurer of Lennox and Addington, will resign his seat within a few days.

AMONG all the members elected for Scotland there are only seven Conservatives, while there were eighteen in last Parliament. The air of "Auld Scotia" is not congenial to Conservatism.

IT is now generally believed that Mr. John Beverley Robinson will get the Collectorship of Customs at Toronto, and that Sir Alex. Campbell will be appointed Lieut.-Governor of Ontario.

THE Montreal Post gives a correct interpretation of public opinion in these words:—"Though the number of Liberals in the House of Commons looks ridiculously small on a division, nevertheless the party have never during the past twenty-five years been so powerful in the country. It has now a recognized leader in the person of the Honorable Edward Blake, a leader who need fear no rival, and who has the confidence of the great majority of Canadians."

THE St. Catharines Journal (Conservative) is sound on the North-West land question. It says:—"In this matter we are sorry to see so few M.P.'s follow Mr. Blake. There should be no opening for speculation in public lands. Settlement should be the only condition on which the Government ought to give or sell lands. Settlement is of more importance than the construction of the road, and should, as far as possible, precede it. If it is profitable for private individuals and corporations to lock up large areas of lands, surely the people to whom the land belongs ought to share in the profits. The Pacific Railway can be constructed by Canadian labor and Canadian enterprise without bartering away our lands."

MR. GLADSTONE, through the British Ambassador at Vienna, has sent a reassuring letter to the effect that he bears no ill-will to that country or its Emperor. On being assured by the Austrian Ambassador at London that that power did not desire to extend or add to the rights she acquired under the Treaty of Berlin, Mr. Gladstone says:—"Had I possessed such an assurance before I never would have uttered any one word which you describe as painful and wounding, but I will immediately express my serious concern that I should have been led to refer to the transactions of an earlier period, or to use terms of censure which I can now wholly abolish from my mind." Mr. Goschen's appointment signifies Lord Granville's determination to enforce her treaty obligations on Turkey. It is believed Lord Hartington has already reversed Lord Cranbrook's decision to separate Candahar from Afghanistan. Each Minister is expected to be master of the condition of his own department before Wednesday, when the Cabinet meets to provide the legislative outline of the Queen's speech.

A meeting of the Saugeen Presbytery was held at Harriston on Tuesday of last week, when the resignation of Rev. D. W. Cameron, Palmerston, was accepted. The Presbytery expressed their sympathy with him in the afflicted state of his family, which constrains him to seek a change of climate for their health. The dissolution of the pastorate takes place on the 15th inst., when the Rev. Mr. Stewart, of Arthur, will preach. Rev. Mr. Baikie, of Harriston, is appointed moderator pro tem of the Palmerston session.

The Militia Annual Drill.

The regulations for the annual drill of the active Militia during the present year have been issued, and occupy six columns in the Canada Gazette. The following is a synopsis of their contents:—

In order to bring the expenditure for the drill and training of the active militia for the fiscal year 1880-81 within the appropriation made by Parliament, the strength of the force to be drilled and paid for that year has been limited by Order in Council to 21,250 officers, non-commissioned officers and men, and 1,276½ horses. Payments for drill are to be made after the commencement of the financial year (1st July). As the nominal strength of the active militia is in excess of the number which can be paid and as it is not desirable to reduce the strength of the corps below that established for the drill and training of 1879-80, viz., 42 non-commissioned officers and men, including staff sergeants and bandsmen, provision has been made for the selection of the corps which may drill in the different districts, each district being allotted its full quota in proportion to the total strength of all corps therein. The maximum number of officers, non-commissioned officers, and men to receive pay for drill in each district will therefore be:—

In the selections from corps for drill of 1880-81, field batteries of artillery are to be first taken; 2nd, corps in cities; 3rd, corps not drilled last year; 4th, to complete the quota authorized, corps are to be selected from the different arms in each district in the proportion they bear to each other in strength. When practicable the selection is also to be by battalions of infantry and cavalry corps.

Men going to camp a distance of five miles or more will be allowed one and one half cent per mile in lieu of transport. Six days, exclusive of Sundays are to be spent in camp. Men will be paid 60 cents a day, and for horses $1 per day will be allowed. For rations, i.e., fuel, food, water, and light, 25c per day for each man will be allowed, and for horses 35c. The annual drill of the field batteries of artillery will be for ten consecutive days in camps for exercise near the headquarters of the respective corps, such ten days to be exclusive of any Sunday that may intervene, and exclusive of the day going and returning from camp, unless the corps actually perform six hours' drill in camp on each of those days. The officers, non-commissioned officers, gunners, and drivers will be paid for the days (not exceeding ten) they are actually present in camp as follows:—The officers and non-commissioned officers the pay of their ranks; the gunners and drivers at the rate of 60 cents, and for horses $1 per diem. Rations and forage will not be issued in kind, but an allowance will be granted in lieu thereof for rations (food, fuel, water and light) at the rate of 25 cents for each officer, non-commissioned officer, gunner, and driver per diem, and forage at the rate of thirty-five cents for each horse per diem. No allowance for transport will be paid. The strength of each field battery for pay and allowances as above shall not exceed one captain, two first lieutenants, one second lieutenant, one surgeon, one veterinary surgeon, one sergeant-major, four sergeants, four corporals, four bombardiers, one trumpeter, one farrier, 59 gunners and drivers, and 28 horses, including the officers' and non-commissioned officers' horses. If any field battery unable to go into camp is permitted to drill on different days, as may be most convenient, the rates of pay will be, for officers, $1; non-commissioned officers, gunners, and drivers 50 cents; horses 75 cents per diem, and no allowance will be made for rations.

Altering and Forging.

Remus Gooderich, aged 28 years, an agent for what is known as an "Automatic Pleater," was arrested by Chief McMillan on Monday evening for altering a one dollar Dominion Bank note in such a way as to make it appear like a four dollar note, and for forging the same. The prisoner has had a couple of girls canvassing the city for his article for a few days. He says he belongs to Toronto, but gets his wares from Buffalo. On Monday forenoon he went to the Customs House to have some of them passed on which there was $8 to pay as duty. He threw down two bills in payment, and Mr. Heffernan, Collector of Customs, was about placing them in the till when he observed that the under one was a forgery. He handed it back to Gooderich, who paid a good bill and left the office. Mr. Heffernan informed the Chief of Police, who arrested Gooderich at Reynold's Hotel, Cork street. After the arrest, Mr. Reynolds became suspicious that a four dollar note he had received from Gooderich might be a forgery and on examination found it to be the case. The bill was given on his board bill amounting to $3 50, and Mr. Reynolds gave 50 cents back on the bogus note. Any one familiar with Bank bills would not have much difficulty in detecting the forgery. In the first place there are no $4 bills on the Dominion Bank. On close examination it can be seen that the word "One" on each corner has been darkened. The only other alteration is in the figure 1 which is light in colour, the ground work being dark. By erasing the ground work in a triangular shape immediately in front of the figure it has been converted into 4. On examining the prisoner's pocket book a $5 note on the defunct Zimmerman Bank was found. A paragraph from a newspaper was also found, wherein Gooderich asserted that he would not stoop to answer a letter, stating that his patent pleater was a fraud, because the author had not signed his name. He was arraigned before the Police Magistrate to-day (Tuesday) but having pleaded not guilty was remanded for trial.

CATTLE PURCHASED.—Messrs. J. & R. Millar have purchased the following lots of cattle to be delivered here before the 1st of June:—9 from Matthias Kirby, 1 from P. McGregor, 3 from George Hawes, 3 from John Phin, 1 from John Ormie. Also the following lots from James Hales, butcher:—4 from George Jackson, 2 from C. Tuck, 3 from W. Fyfe, 2 from H. Brickle, 2 from Smith Evans. The animals are well bred heifers and steers. The Messrs. Millar purchased them before they required them in order that good beef may be put in the home market and not all exported. The average price paid was from 5½ to 5⅝ cents per lb.

The Walkerton Telescope says:—So far as we have been able to observe or learn from others, the fall wheat never looked more promising. In a few fields small patches may be found where the grain is frozen out, but on the whole the plants stand nice and even over the whole field.

MAJOR DUXWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER II.

The conversation naturally turned at an early moment to the subject of Smith's claim.

"By the way, Mr. Smith," said Mrs. M'Duffy, "your claim rests I think you said upon the fact that you were scalped? Your head has not that appearance?"

"Oh no! You see, madam that in the lapse of years the wound has healed; a new scalp has gradually formed, so that now I appear to be merely bald. I have the original scalp in my trunk."

"How very interesting. Were you ever scalped, General?"

"No, ma'am; never. My custom has been to take scalps; not to lose them."

"The General is an old Indian fighter," observed Achilles.

"I was not aware of the fact," said Mrs. M'Duffy. "You are familiar therefore with the plains. Did you ever visit the Pottawatomie Reservation—Mr. Smith's prospective property?"

"Frequently, ma'am! It's the handsomest tract of ground east of the Rocky Mountains."

"You propose to live on it, when you get it, do you not Mr. Smith?"

"On part of it. Half goes to the General; then I shall reserve 5000 acres for myself and dispose of the remainder to settlers. If I am successful in my suit with your daughter I shall build a house in the centre of my 5000 acres, and we will live there. We shall have plenty of elbow-room. She can paint pictures as big as all out-of-doors, and bigger."

"Pandora is so fond of the open country."

"Yes, madam, she can get half-a-dozen squaws to do her housework, so that she can have all her time to herself. I am going to arrange it so that she can shoot grizzly bears from the parlour window, if she wants to; and as for wardrobe!—well, I intend to buy all her clothes in New York, and they will be of a kind that'll cause every woman on the old Pottawatomie Reservation to turn green with envy."

"Pandora ought to appreciate your kindness," said Mrs. M'Duffy; "but she is a strange girl, and, I fear, thinks more of her art than of the matters that commonly engage a young girl's attention."

"By the way, ma'am, how is the great picture coming on?"

"Slowly. Pandora made the handle of the hatchet more than twice as thick as the tree, and she had to alter it. A connoisseur, a friend of hers, also pointed out to her that in fore-shortening Washington's right leg she had made his foot appear to be resting upon a mountain upon the other side of the river. Corrections of this kind require time."

"She must hurry up, ma'am; she must hurry up," said the General; I have everything fixed to obtain the consent of Congress to its purchase by the Government. I am going to press the resolution as soon as I hear that she has accepted Smith."

"You are too kind! Do you think it is likely to be favourably received? Mrs. Easby told me yesterday that Judge Cudderbury said that if George Washington could have foreseen Pandora's picture he would have had incorporated into the Constitution of the United States a section making it a felony to represent him as within a thousand miles of a cherry tree! But then the Judge, you know, has a daughter who professes to be an artist!"

"Jealousy, ma'am! sheer jealousy. The Judge knows no more about art, anyhow, than a Colorado mule knows about the sidereal system! Now, my opinion, Mrs. M'Duffy, is, that old Michael-what's-his-name, over there in Rome, couldn't hold a candle to your daughter in the matter of covering canvas."

As the General was speaking the door opened, and Pandora entered. She spoke politely, but coldly, to the visitors, and after the passage of a few remarks about the condition of the weather, the General withdrew, Mrs. M'Duffy following him to the hall to bid him adieu and Mr. Smith remaining with Pandora.

It occurred to Achilles that if Mrs M'Duffy should happen to fail to return this would be an uncommonly good opportunity to speak of the state of his feelings. The thought pleased him but it gave him some embarrassment.

"Miss Pandora." he said, "I am glad to hear that you are succeeding so nicely with your picture."

"Thank you; it is making some progress. I have been delayed by a few trifling alterations."

"Is the central figure completed yet?"

"Not quite finished. I did not feel sure about the left leg, and I shall make some studies before I paint it in."

"If you have any difficulty with that portion of the figure, why not omit it? Put in a bush, or a stone, or the trunk of a fallen tree, so as to hide the leg. Congress will accept it all the same."

"Art scorns such devices. And, besides, it would be rather too ridiculous to represent Washington standing astride of a log while he is cutting down a cherry tree!"

"True! true! That did not occur to me. What you really want is a good model. I think I could reccommend one."

"I have one already, thank you."

"Indeed! a plaster of Paris one?"

"No; a real one."

"A real one?"

"The property of a friend of mine; a gentleman."

"On or off?"

"Off!"

"Humph! That seems to me—a—a—rather a queer offering to a lady."

"Do you think so?"

"I am a plain man, not used to flattering women, but if I wished to express my regard for a lady I would offer her my heart instead of my leg."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

KINCARDINE ASSESSMENT.—The Kincardine Reporter says: R. Madden, Assessor for 1880, has completed his labors as assessor. The value of real property in the town is placed at $637,630; personal property, $28,650; taxable income, $9,620; non-resident, $41,345; total assessment $767,245. The assessment for 1880 is some thirty thousand dollars in excess of 1879.

MOUNT FOREST ASSESSMENT.—The Examiner says: Mr. Charles Bodley, the Assessor, has just completed the assessment of Mount Forest for the current year. The following is a summary of the result: Total value of real estate, $390,785; personal property, $47,850; income, $10,650—total value of real and personal property and taxable income, $449,285. The population resident in the town numbers 2,171. The increase over last year in the general assessment amounts to $76,610, and in the population the increase amounts to 262.

He was found soon after the accident quite lifeless. —Examiner.

DRESS GOODS

We ask the attention of the ladies to our immense stock of new and handsome Dress Goods, comprising the latest productions and lovely shades, which we commence at the low price of 8 cents per yard. Our 12½, 15, 20 and 25 cent lines, are without their equal in the trade. Ladies can rely on getting the choicest goods to be had at the money, by coming to the Lion. Our Dress Goods Department is three times the size of any other in the city. Be sure and see our wonderful value in Black Alpacas, from 12½ cents, and our wide All Wool Black Cashmeres from 50 cents up.

Parasols and Sunshades

The large quantities which we are enabled to handle, places goods into our hand at much under regular value. Cheap Parasols in all styles. Medium price Parasol, very good. Handsome lined and trimmed Parasols at low prices.

Important to Housekeepers

At this season of the year, when old Carpets and Curtains are torn up, the question of economy and saving in buying new ones to put into their place presents itself very strikingly. We unhesitatingly say that our stock of Carpets from 15 cents to $1.50 per yard, Lace Curtains from $1 to $12 per pair, and House Furnishings of every description is the largest and contains the best value in the city. These goods were all bought from British Manufacturers before the immense advance in price. Compare our stock and prices.

Special Drives

Just opened 500 Pieces lovely New Prints, to run at 8 and 10 cents per yard.

Another lot of those dollar Kid Gloves, which we are running at 50 cents per pair, in black, medium, dark and evening shades.

150 Pieces Galatea Stripes at 15 cents, cheap at 20 cents.

Business is increasing, and things are lively at the Lion.

Change of Business

W. NEWPORT,

BEGS TO INFORM HIS FRIENDS and the public generally, that he has removed his Bakery and Confectionery establishment from Wyndham street, opposite the Post Office, to the more extensive premises next Kennedy's Jewellery Store, on St. George's Square, where everything in his line will be found first-class.

The Leased Lines of the Great Western Railway.

In the speech of the Chairman of this Railway, at the annual meeting on the 22nd ult., he thus spoke of the leased lines:—"With regard to the leased lines they would see that these showed a very marked improvement over the working of the previous half years, yet still the amount of loss must appear to them all to be very heavy. What he would like to say on this occasion was, that this loss was not all real; it was partly nominal. They gained more on the parent system than they lost by the working of the branches, owing to the through traffic that that working brought them. He would take, for instance, the Wellington Grey & Bruce, which was responsible for most of the loss; for out of a total loss of £11,000 from these leased lines it was responsible for £7,000; but the value of the interchange traffic from that road to the Great Western was £23,000, from which, if they deducted the working expenses — fifteen thousand odd—it would leave a profit of £9,000; and further deducting the loss of £7,000 previously mentioned, there would be a net profit of £2,000. In regard to the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee, the accounts would have shown much better had it not been for the loss of the steamer Amazon. In future insurances would be effected.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is THE GREAT RELIEVER OF PAIN. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water [sweetened, if preferred], taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&wlyr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

This Afternoon's Dispatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

From Toronto.

TORONTO, May 12.—The morning trains brought large numbers of visitors from the country to attend and witness the funeral of Mr. Brown. A cast in plaster was taken yesterday of the face and will be reproduced in marble by a prominent sculptor. A meeting of leading citizens is to be held this week to take into consideration the erection of a statue of the late Senator in the Queen's park. The statute is to be modelled in the same style as that of Lincoln, in Union Square, New York. It will be cast of bronze, and is calculated to be one of the finest specimens of art on this continent.

Waterloo Cattle Fair.

WATERLOO, Ont., May 11.—The cattle fair to-day was well attended, though owing to the busy season with farmers it was not quite as large as the April fair. A large number of good beef cattle and some milch cows were on the ground. Prices were not quite equal to last month's rates ranging from 3½ to 4½ cents per lb. live weight; besides local purchases about four car loads were bought for shipment.

From Lucan.

LUCAN, May 12.—About one o'clock today a fire broke out in the Royal Hotel here, owned and occupied by Mr. J. T. Cain. The fire originated from a spark from the kitchen chimney, and in a few moments the room and another one adjoining were in flames. The fire engine was promptly on hand and the fire was subdued, but both rooms and the furniture were completely destroyed. Loss $200 or $300; covered by insurance.

HALF TIME SYSTEM IN GALT SCHOOLS.—Galt is going to adopt the half time system in its public schools. The plan is to have the divisions from senior third upwards work as at present, but those below that class are to be divided into two drafts, one of which will study from 9 to 10.30, and then pass to the play room when the other comes in to work till 12 o'clock, and similarly in the afternoon. One teacher or possibly two, may be required to take charge in the play room and teach singing calisthenics and light gymnastics. Chadwick, ex-Mayor of the city of Guelph, President of the Company; Messrs. G. A. Oxnard, Secretary; F. Biscoe, a Director, and A. Sharpe, Manager of the works at Harriston. They all expressed themselves in terms of admiration of our beautiful bay and surrounding scenery." Their visit to Wiarton was to ascertain what inducement that Corporation would give them to establish a barrel factory there. With reference to this the Echo says:—"The company have not made an unreasonable offer, and in the absence of any other that is likely to be received with favor, and in view of the ultimate benefits that are sure to result from this first step on the road to the prosperity of the village, we trust the Council will give it their favorable consideration."

ALLEGED INFANTICIDE.—The Meaford Monitor says:—A sad case of alleged infanticide by a young woman named Lizzie Pritchard was investigated by Coroner Albery at Blantyre on Tuesday. The unfortunate mother—the victim of a young man's perfidy—had buried her child in the woods, but on arrest pointed out the spot to Constable Grant. A post mortem was performed by Dr. Maclean, who found evidence that the child had breathed, though very slightly, while there were no marks of violence on the body sufficient to account for its death. Under these circumstances and there having been no proof that the child's life had been wilfully destroyed by the poor mother, who was alone in a field in the hour of her extremity, the jury brought in a verdict of concealment of birth, and for this offence the girl will be tried. But what of her villainous betrayer?

SUICIDE IN GAOL.—Geo. Wood who was last week committed to Woodstock gaol for threatening to kill his wife while he was in a temporary fit of insanity, succeeded in putting an end to his own life a couple of days after his imprisonment. There was a good attendance. The President, Mayor Sleeman, occupied the chair. He announced that he was going to put up a championship emblem to be competed for by Canadian clubs. The secretary was instructed to ask the different clubs in Ontario to send representatives to a convention to be held here on the 23rd of May, for the purpose of taking into consideration the matter of forming a base ball association and altering the old championship rules. The meeting then adjourned.

He was born in England, and was in his sixty-fifth year. When a young man he emigrated to Canada, and engaged for a short time with a dry goods establishment in Toronto, and in 1840 became a partner in a new firm in Kingston until 1848, when he left for New York, in which city he formed a connection with J. Prentice & Co., dry goods merchants in this city. Soon afterwards he founded the firm Goodeve, Elliott & Arkell, Canadian and Australian Commission Merchants. Mr. Arkell subsequently retired, and the business was continued by Messrs. Goodeve & Elliott until 1878, when it was dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Goodeve had since been in business on his own account. His health had been poor for some time past, but he was at his office as usual on Tuesday. He died on Wednesday evening, of neuralgia of the heart, at his residence, 141 Gates Avenue, Brooklyn, where the funeral services will be performed over his remains to-morrow. He was twice married, and had three children by each wife. The last survives him. He was widely known in the United States and Canada and was universally respected.

THE BIDDULPH TRAGEDY.—The deposition of the late Dr. McGrath, it is understood, will be very substantial evidence in the case of Purtell. On the night of the murder, Dr. McGrath was lying sick at his father's where Purtell was working, and having slept during the day was wakeful at night. The accused had been working hard all day, retired about nine, and could not get out of the house without being heard by the sick man, it is reported, contains several strong points that will clear Purtell.

THE LATE MR. BROWN.

The Investigation into the Circumstances Attending His Death.

The Jury Find a Verdict of Wilful Murder Against Bennett.

THE FUNERAL PROGRAMME.

The Inquest.

The investigation into the circumstances connected with the death of the late Hon. Mr. Brown was resumed yesterday afternoon before Coroner Johnson and the jury.

Policeman Worth who was on duty at the Central Police Station when Bennett was brought in was examined.

Dr. Thornburn, sworn—I was first called to see Mr. Brown on Thursday, March 25th; I found him in his private office in the Globe building, and he informed me that he had been shot; I examined his left thigh, and ascertained that a bullet had struck the limb on its outer surface a little below its middle, and had traversed downwards and backwards, making its escape at about five inches from its entrance; the first opening was inverted, and of less size than the outlet, which was everted; upon an examination of the room the bullet was found; I accompanied Mr. Brown in a cab to his residence on Beverly street, and was almost constantly in attendance upon him from that day to the day of his death, which occurred on the 9th inst.; I made a post-mortem examination of the body in company with Drs. Aikins, Clark, and Wright; the body was considerably emaciated, and on the outer side of his left thigh was a large open space, irregular and oval in form, commencing at one inch above the middle of the limb and extending downwards towards the joint for about seven inches; the breadth of this space was from two to four inches, and the skin surrounding it was undermined to the extent of one or two inches; on the upper and inner side the sub-cutaneous tissue had sloughed to the extent of twelve inches; there was also on the lower part of the spine a small abrasion of the skin about the size of a ten cent piece, and also a smaller abrasion over the right hip; we next examined the internal organs and viscera, and found them generally in a healthy condition, and I conclude from a personal knowledge of the history of the case, and from a most careful examination of the body after death, that George Brown came to his death from the effects of the shot in the thigh which he received on the 25th day of March, and from no other cause; I recognize the bullet produced as the one found in the room.

To Mr. Davin—The bullet traversed the cellular tissue, but did not penetrate the muscular structure; the region of the thigh traversed by the bullet does not contain any large arteries or blood vessels; the wound struck me as being a well defined bullet wound; I considered it a most serious wound for a man of Mr. Brown's years.

I treated the wounded on the ordinary principles of surgery; I applied a cold water dressing, having the thigh somewhat elevated; I did not alter the principles of the treatment from the first; I applied many other things and endeavored to support his strength throughout; I was in attendance upon deceased on the day he held a meeting of the Globe Printing Company in his own house; he consulted me as to holding the meeting; I strongly advised him to keep quiet and to let business transactions alone; this meeting may or may not have had an injurious effect; gangrene manifested itself in the history of the wound; there were no symptoms of blood poisoning; I would not class the wound, as I first saw it, under the head of mortal wounds; I define a mortal wound as one that is necessarily fatal.

Dr. Aikins, sworn—On the 31st March last I saw the late Hon. George Brown, in consultation with Dr. Thornburn; he was in bed in consequence of a wound alleged to have been received six days before, on the outer part of the left thigh; the parts in the region of the wound were in a state of inflammation, and bordering on mortification, over a space of about four or five inches; afterwards I saw Mr. Brown in consultation daily until his death; the skin and other tissues in the above space down to the muscles mortified, and after a timewere thrown off; the inflammation extended down this mortified part all around under the skin, but especially under the skin in the front and on the inside of the thigh, destroying the tissues between the skin and the muscles for a distance of nearly twelve inches along the length of the limb and several inches in width, necessitating four or five incisions in order that sloughs, or cores, and matter might escape, and the tissues to the above extent under the skin did die and come away; the result of this extensive destruction of living parts in Mr. Brown's case was more or less continuous feverishness, disturbed sleep, great loss of appetite, general prostration, jactitation or twitching of muscles, and finally total aversion to food, drowsiness, asthenic congestion of the lungs, and death; on May 10th, at 2 p.m., the post mortem examination was made, including the injured limb, brain, organs in chest, and abdomen; with the above recorded facts, and the whole history of the case so far as observed by me, there is not the slightest doubt in my own mind that the Hon. George Brown died from the results of the pistol wound he received on the 25th March, 1880; I quite agreed in the surgical treatment that was adopted, and so did Dr. Clarke and Dr. Wright; there was not the least difference of opinion between us as to the treatment.

George Patterson, sworn—I am a pressman on The Globe; recognize the papers produced as being all in the handwriting of the prisoner with the exception of one paper; I have known the prisoner for three or four years; during that time I have had frequent opportunities of seeing his handwriting; I have no doubt of the writing on these papers.

Several of the Globe employees who came to Mr. Brown's assistance at the time of the attack were examined, and testified as to the position in which they found Mr. Brown and his assailant.

The Coroner then briefly summed up to the jury. There were one or two points of law to which he would refer. The evidence seemed to point either to the accidental or intentional shooting by the prisoner of the late Mr. Brown. There was no proof before them whatever of accident, but all the evidence went to show that the prisoner had a revolver, that he went to Mr. Brown's room, and that he used the revolver when there, and the medical evidence carried on the idea that from that wound Mr. Brown died. This either constituted murder or manslaughter. If no intention was shown it was the latter, but if there was proof of premeditation then the prisoner was guilty of murder.

The Court-room was then cleared of all but the jury, and after an hour's deliberation they returned the following verdict:

That the said George Brown did, on the 9th day of May instant, come to his death by a wound caused by a shot fired from a pistol in the hands of the prisoner George Bennett, alias Dickson, which shot was feloniously, wilfully, and of malice aforethought fired on the 25th day of March last with intent to kill and murder the said George Brown.

The jury was then discharged.

Meetings of condolence have been held in many places in Ontario and Quebec, expressing general regret at the untimely death of Mr. Brown, and copies of resolutions are to be forwarded to the family of the deceased. The English press speak in feeling terms of the late Senator. A meeting of condolence was also held in Buffalo.

THE FUNERAL.

The following is the programme to be observed at the funeral of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, this afternoon:—

Tree Culture at the Model Farm.

The Fruit Grower's Association of Ontario have obtained permission from the Government to conduct a series of experiments at the Ontario Model Farm, with a large variety of fruit and forest trees. They have already planted several acres of an orchard in the neighborhood of what is called the South Barns, where a variety of soil and exposure is supposed to be suitable for apples, pears, and stone fruit respectively. The spot chosen adjoins the Dundas road, and therefore prominently in the public eye. Two clumps of forest trees are also being established on other parts of the farm with a view to ornament, shelter and ultimate profit; those meantime to consist of European Larch and the Black Walnut of America. Those experiments are to be carried out under the direction of Messrs. Beadle, of St. Catharines; Saunders, of London, and Arnold, of Paris. The Professor of Agriculture and the gardener acting as superintendents.

At the Ontario Experimental Farm has also been started an Arboratum, where every kind of forest tree and shrub will be gradually introduced as found suitable to the climate, both from any part of the Dominion and the world. The idea is to test every sort of any practical value, have them properly labelled for reference, and report annually as may be required. A nursery will also be formed, trees grown from seed, and every possible duty attended to.

In accordance with the recommendation of the Professor of Agriculture in last year's report, one acre of land recently from the bush, has been enclosed at the Farm, and replanted at seven feet apart all over with trees taken only from the neighboring forest, in order to test whether under such circumstances, non-cultivation of soil or plants, a successful re-clothing of the country can be accomplished. This is at least very interesting, and we trust will be very valuable to the Canadian farmer.

HARRISTON.

The eighth annual anniversary of the C. M Church Sabbath School took place on Sabbath and Monday, the 2nd and 3rd inst., and passed off in such a manner as to reflect much credit on all concerned. The church was beautifully decorated with mottoes, which were very appropriate to the occasion. The anniversary sermons were preached on Sabbath by Rev. Mr. Kershaw, of Elora. Both services were largely attended by attentive and appreciative congregations. On Monday evening a social was held. Tea was served in the vestry in the rear of the church, from 6:30 to 8 p. m., after which the crowd repaired to the church to enjoy the intellectual part. Rev. J. R. Gundey took the chair, and delivered a short address on Sabbath School work, and progress, and hoped they would continue to prosper in the future as they had in the past. He afterwards called on the choir for a piece of music, and the Rev. Mr. Campbell to open with prayer, which was followed by a concert practice by the children, under the leadership of Mr. Mason, the superintendent, which was of a sculptural nature, and the efficiency with which each child acted their parts, was very tangible evidence of the attention which both teachers and scholars gave to the work. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Bristow, dispensed some fine selections of music. Mr. James Henderson, the Secretary, submitted the annual report, which was very elaborate and very explicit, and showed that the affairs of the school were conducted with great care. Rev. E. Kershaw delivered a very stirring address, after which the meeting closed. The amount realized was sufficient to place the monetary affairs of the school in a very satisfactory condition.

Guthrie Church Young People's Mutual Improvement and Literary Association have resolved to hold their meetings fortnightly instead of weekly during the summer months, commencing from the first of May. The next meeting of the Association will take place in the basement on Tuesday evening, the 18th inst. Readings, recitations, dialogues, music, both vocal and instrumental, have been prepared.

The next meeting of Knox Church Young People's Mutual Improvement and Literary Association will be held in the church basement on Monday evening the 17th inst., when the following subject will be debated:—"Resolved that the female mind exercises the greatest influence on the civilization and happiness of the human race." The affirmative will be supported by Messrs. Geo. Bingham, Geo. C. Mills, and Robert Blackwood; and the negative by Messrs. R. Hinds, W. A. Smith, and A. B. Empey. The Rev. Mr. Campbell will occupy the chair.

(Our correspondent then gives an account of the accident to Mr. Leighton, which has already appeared.)

The fame of Harriston manufactures are being felt abroad. Last year Messrs. Fisher & Irvin, blacksmiths and carriage makers, shipped a number of waggons and buggies to Manitoba, which gave such satisfaction and resulted in their receiving another large order from there this season. They are now busily engaged preparing for the shipment. Good material and workmanship and straight dealing tells.

Definite arrangements have been made for a base ball match here on the 24th of May between the Maple Leafs, of Guelph, and the Browns, of this town. The Browns have began practice and will utilize the time to good advantage, so that when the tug of war does come they will give a good account of themselves. Both being good clubs, a fine match may be expected, and lovers of the game should not miss the opportunity of seeing it. In addition to the above a programme of other amusements is being arranged, so that a good time may be expected. The band will give a promenade concert in the skating rink in the evening.

The band gave an outdoor concert at the residence of Mayor Meiklejohn on Thursday of last week, in which they played some selections which would be hard to excel. They have attained to proficiency worthy of more pecuniary aid than they have heretofore got. The Mayor, as he always does, came down handsomely, for which he has the warm thanks of the Band.

The Late Session.

The satisfaction that has been expressed concerning the work done during the late session of Parliament is entirely confined to the organs which are irretrivably committed to what for a better word must be called the policy of the Government. But with the exception of one or two questions, we doubt if it had any fixed policy on several important subjects which came up for consideration, or it was formed at the last moment when the exigencies of debate forced them to show their hand. Take for instance the repeal of the Insolvency Bill. The Government had nothing to propose. Their measure of the previous session having been ignominiously defeated, they were afraid to risk another, and allowed the question to drift as it might, without caring for the evil results that might follow the repeal of the Act, or without attempting any legislation which might to some extent take the place of the old Act. The consequences of this criminal neglect to provide some just and equitable means for winding up estates may have a most injurious effect on the business interests of the country, and no remedy for it can be supplied—at least as far as the Dominion is concerned—until Parliament again meets, when the Government will likely be compelled by the force of public opinion to do what they should have done during the late session.

On one subject, however, the Government had clearly made up their mind, and that was to tinker the tariff, by putting a duty on tin cans, artificial flowers, and some other trifling articles. It was no great achievement, certainly, of the Finance Minister, but it was in the direction of still more protection; and that especially on an article of prime necessity—coal—the duty on which was increased 10 cents per ton, as if the 50 cents previously imposed was not enough. The debate on the tariff as a whole, and on the changes proposed, was able and exhaustive, and the Opposition had clearly the better of the argument, for they showed that while some industries might be, and no doubt were, benefitted, it was at the expense of the great mass of the people who found the necessaries of life enhanced in price without a corresponding rise in wages, and who were driven out of the country by thousands to earn their bread and find homes across the border.

The Currency Bill, if not an innovation on our old financial system, is a dangerous expansion of the power heretofore entrusted to the Government in the issue of paper money. We all know that the Government were forced into this measure, for they could not effect a loan in Britain, and so were compelled in their straits to fall back on the old device of Governments which are at their wits' end, by printing a dollar on a piece of paper and calling it a dollar. The banks and the business community view this piece of reckless legislation with undisguised alarm. It will unsettle the currency of the country, it will materially reduce the currency of the banks, and as a consequence will lead to the withdrawal of capital from Canada to some other place where the honesty of the Government is not based on a sheet of printed paper with a mere promise to pay.

Undoubtedly the great question under consideration during the session was the policy of the Government as regards the construction of a portion of the Pacific Railway in British Columbia. Mr. Blake's protest against the wild extravagance of the Government in their determination to build this section was, of course, voted down by the usual Government majority, but we venture to say that had an appeal been made to the country the policy of the Opposition so enunciated by their leader would have been endorsed by the great body of the people. The road will be practically useless to the Dominion for many years, it will cost an immense sum in its construction, and sensibly and seriously increase our debt and our burdens. The Government have succeeded in forcing this measure through the House, but it will continue to be a formidable weapon in the hands of the Opposition in their future attacks.

Of the other measures little need be said. We have little hope that the Indian bill will answer the purpose intended, for it lacks simplicity and definiteness. The bill respecting the land policy in the North-West, which was dragged in almost at the close of the session, is little better than the unjust and one-sided regulations which were first enforced by the Government, and which they were for very shame afterwards compelled to modify. Nearly two thirds of the session was wasted in passing about half a dozen bills amending acts of no special importance, and then within ten days of its close nearly all the Government measures were sprung upon the House, and forced through at a break-neck pace. This is an old trick of the Premier's for staving off or shortening debate. It was impossible to give any one measure careful or exhaustive consideration, but it was all right so long as they were passed, and unpleasant criticism prevented. The history of the session is by no means a pleasant one, nor is the retrospect any better. It has been fruitful of little that is good, unless we take into account the feeling it has created in the country that the policy of the Government is unsound, and injurious to the people; that it is based on unsound principles and a mere makeshift; that the Government is extravagant and reckless in its expenditure, and that having sown the wind they will in due time reap the whirlwind.

IT is announced that in the new British House of Commons there are one hundred and thirty lawyers.

IT is anticipated that the Supreme Court will deliver judgment in the North Ontario election appeal at the close of the present term.

ARGUMENT in the test case involving the right of the Dominion or Provincial Parliaments to legislate in matters affecting the Grand Jury system has been deferred till the return of the Hon. O. Mowat from England.

IT is said that Mr. Gladstone contemplates the abolition of another Irish wrong by doing away with the Vice Royalty of Ireland. Dublin Castle has been for centuries the fountain of political demoralization in Ireland.

A gentleman who has just returned from Manitoba reports the influx of settlers into that country this spring as past belief to those who have not witnessed it. All the available land within reasonable distance of business centres is being rapidly taken up, and prices rule high where sales are made.

FOR the Lieutenant-Governorship of Ontario Sir Alexander Campbell appears to be the favorite, while not a few think Hon. Mr. Aikins will be man; but the ultra-Tories protest against Mr. Aikins' appointment, so the chances favor Sir Alexander. Whichever of these two gentlemen draws the prize, he will be succeeded in the Senate as member of the Government by Hon. T. N. Gibbs.

THE New York Herald makes the following observation:—"While the population of New England has remained about the same since the year 1850, that of the three Maritime Provinces of the Dominion has increased in a large ratio. Under free trade the population of the latter nearly doubled in thirty years, while New England was vegetating under the shade of stringent protective laws."

REMARKING on the punishment which Mr. Cassidy received for appropriating the funds of Garafraxa Township, the Montreal Herald says this seems strange when it is considered that a Municipal Treasurer living not many miles from Kingston, though short in his cash to the extent of $40,000, has recorded his vote as a member of Parliament in several divisions that took place in the House of Commons this session.

IT may not be generally known that for the safe-keeping of wills of living persons provision is made by our statutes (following the English law) whereby the office of the Registrar of the Surrogate of each county in Ontario is a depository for all such wills as may be handed to him for that purpose on payment of a small fee. The Registrar gives a written acknowledgment and places the will in the vault or safe in his office, where it remains until called for after the death of the testator.

OTTAWA Free Press:—The enthusiasm and loyalty that surround Sir John Macdonald would turn to contempt and indifference were any of his colleagues elevated in his place. Not so the Liberal party; it is held together by principles to which men are, and must ever be, subordinate in its ranks. Mr. Blake gives the best promise for securing the triumph of those principles under existing conditions, therefore he is chosen to lead, and his success is merely a question of time no further away at the furthest than the next General Elections.

THE Parliamentary Printing Committee last week made a sad bungle of their report, if it can be called by no worse name, the effect of which is to create a dead-lock. As it now is, the Accountant of the House of Commons will not pass any accounts for works ordered after the date of the cancellation of McLean, Rogers & Co.'s contract unless the Speaker assumes full responsibility for the action, and this Hon. Dr. Blanchet hesitates to do. He wishes the Commission on Internal Economy to assume the responsibility, which it is probable they may. The Printing Committee can do nothing, for at the close of the session they ceased to exist. The Government has no power to do it, for Parliament has not given them the power. In that case Sir John may solve the difficulty by giving it to some of his friends, say Mackintosh of the Ottawa Citizen, who no doubt wants to get full pay for the $12,000 he was promised by Roger, McLean & Co. for the dirty work he had in connection with the tenderers and their contract.

Winfield Items.

The press of spring work is shown by the activity of the people in this vicinity, in their efforts to get the seed into the ground. The almost total failure of fall wheat in Peel township has caused considerably more labor to the farming part of the community, as an immense area has to be re-sown thus making the loss two-fold, double labour and their extra seed. The end of this week will probably see sowing finished here. Owing to the variable weather in the early part of the season the commencement of work was delayed, but diligence and industry make up for the late beginning.

The Olivet Blue Ribbon Total Abstinence Club held their regular monthly meeting on the evening of Monday the 3rd inst. The gathering was, as usual, a success, the attendance being large notwithstanding the roughness of roads, &c. The programme consisting of music, recitations and speeches was well arranged and kept the large audience interested and amused for some length of time.

We understand that some who have been "where the star-spangled banner in triumph does wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave." In Nebraska have returned and their opinion of the country does not coincide with that of Caleb and Joshua as expressed regarding the Ancient Land of Promise and they still prefer residing under the flag that braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER

"It would be dreadful if the lady happened not to want any portion of you.

"Yes, but suppose I should offer her the Pottawatomie Reservation besides, do you think she would refuse?"

"You had better undertake the investigation yourself. How can I know?"

"I will undertake it now. I offer my heart to you! I offer the Reservation also! I love you, Pandora! Oh, how I love you! Will you be my wife?"

"Mr. Smith, it is impossible!"

"No, not impossible, Pandora! Not impossible! Do not say that; it will kill me! Listen! Have you ever dreamed of a home upon the wide and boundless prairie? A sweet little home, two storeys and an attic, painted white with green shutters, where you can see eighteen miles in a straight line, where two hundred acres in potatoes lie beneath your very window, and where you canhunt the bounding buffalo and the prairie hen without going off the estate, and where copper-coloured servant girls can be had for two dollars a month and found! Have you ever dreamed of such a home?"

"Never."

"It is to it I would bear you as my bride! Come with me! Be mine! I cannot offer you the enervating luxuries of the depraved and decaying East, but together we can feast upon jerked beef and buffalo tongues, together we can drink draughts from the Artesian well in the cellar; together we will sit beneath the tree by the front door, the only one within 27 miles, and together we can watch the dog chasing the jackass-rabbits across the sage brush. Be mine, and I will stock the pantry with rations from the nearest Indian agency where I have a friend; I will buy you a suave and gentle mule for you to exercise yourself on, and you may have canvas enough to paint General Washington and Lord Cornwallises as high as church steeples, and I will guarantee that Congress shall bid them in as fast as you turn them out. Will you, Pandora? Do you like the promise? Oh say that you love me!"

"Mr. Smith, I cannot. I am very sorry, but to tell the truth plainly, I am engaged to another gentleman!"

"To Dunwoody?,'

"I did not mention his name, sir."

"But I know him! A one-legged Major! And you refuse me for him?"

"I refuse you; that is enough."

"O, very well, Miss M'Duffy! I understand you. I will bid you a very good evening! I hope you will not have occasion to regret your decision!"

"Certainly I shall not! Good evening, sir!"

As Achilles passed out through the hall he encountered Major Dunwoody, who was just placing his hat upon the rack. Achilles looked back at him for a second, scowling with rage and mortification, and then as he rushed into the open air, he said to himself:

"Never mind, you hopping, mud-headed military humbug! I'll settle your case before you're many days older!"

And then Mr. Smith went home to bed.

Pandora greeted the Major with a joyful smile.

"Darling," said the Major, "who was that person I passed in the hall as I came in?"

"That was Achilles Smith, the man of whom I told you. He proposed to me a few moments before you came in."

"He did, did he?" exclaimed the Major savagely. "I wish I had known it. I would have kicked him down the steps."

"But how could you, dearest, with only one leg?"

"True!" said the Major. "But I could thrashed him with my cane. So he wants to marry you, does he?"

"Yes, and mother thinks I ought to accept him."

"And you have firmly made up your mind to marry me?" asked the Major fondly.

"Yes, dear," said Pandora, with a roguish smile, "but only when you have succeeded in getting for me your disconnected leg. You will try to get it for me soon, Henry, won't you?"

"I am trying now, my sweet. Colonel Dabney, of the Maine delegation, has already introduced to the House of Representatives a bill appropriating my leg to me."

"How splendid?"

"And he says it will pass promptly so that I can obtain the leg within two months. We'll be married right off then, won't we?"

"At once! But I'm afraid, Henry, Mr. Smith and General Belcher will oppose Coloney Dabney's bill if they hear of it."

"I'll brain them both if they do," said the Major. "No, I won't brain Smith; he has no brains. Are you sure, my dearest, that you love me very, very, very much?"

"Oh, Henry! Ten thousand, thousand times more than I can ever tell you, I——"

A person passing the parlour door at this juncture might have heard a sharp sound resembling somewhat that made by by the tearing of a piece of muslin. The conversation need not be quoted at greater length. It appeared to give the most intense pleasure to the Major and Pandora, but talk of that kind is usually rather dreary for outside parties; so we will lower the curtain here.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

Mr. George McLean, teamstor for James Barber, Georgetown, met with a sad accident on Monday, 26th ult., by falling off the swing beam in the barn, a distance of over fifteen feet. The injuries were of such a nature that the unfortunate man died on Sunday last.

Twenty-one years have now elapsed since the present University buildings in Toronto were first opened, the graduates propose to hold a reunion early in June, when it is expected that an interesting programme will be submitted, and that a large number of the graduates from all parts of the Province will take advantage of the opportunity of meeting to revive old associations, to renew old friendships, and to discuss matters of interest in connection with the University and its progress and prospects.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Mr. Belch's "Promotion."—The St. Marys Argus regards Mr. Belch's appointment to the Bird Tail Creek agency of the Manitoba Land Office in the light of a promotion. We hope it will prove to be such. A Winnipeg gentleman, however, an old and prominent resident of that city, who happened to be in Stratford the other week, assured us the contemplated transference of Mr. Belch from the Winnipeg office to a place of a few shanties and wigwams, was regarded in that city as a notice to quit. Is it likely the present Government would promote Mr. Belch?—Yesterday's Argus explains that it obtained its information about Mr. Belch's removal, from the Manitoba papers, and that it "at once surmised that the change was one of promotion." Exactly. So it seems it was simply a case of the "wish being father to the thought," on our contemporary's part.—Stratford Beacon.

The Brampton Times records the death of the Rev. Jonathan Short, who died in that town on Wednesday, the 5th, aged 77 years. He was one of a band of six missionaries and their wives that were sent to Canada by the English Wesleyan Conference in 1833. He was at one time editor of the Guardian, and for many years was a successful minister at the different stations to which he was appointed. He leaves behind him a widow ninety years of age.

Brown's Household Panacea

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, tributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&w1yr.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

HOW THE PRESENT TARIFF WORKS.—The Eastern Chronicle gives a good illustration of how the tariff works. S. G. Chambers & Co., of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, imported English goods this spring to the value of £2,119.4.7 stg., or $10,313.58, exclusive of freight and charges. The actual amount of duty paid into the Custom House on this importation was $2,431.14, nearly one-fourth of the whole value. Their importations from the United States amounted to $1,017.31, on which the actual duty paid was $278.57. The whole amount of duty paid on a total importation of $11,330.89 was $2,709.71. Under the old tariff the duty would have been $1,739.87 on the English goods and $161.16 on the American, or $1,921.03 in both, showing an increase of $788.68 in the duty paid.

Daily Mercury.

THURSDAY EVNG, MAY 13, 1880

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

The condition of the Empress of Russia is becoming worse.

It has been decided to restore the Tuileries, and convert it into a museum.

Mr. John Morely, of the Fortnightly Review, will be the new editor of the Pall Mall Gazette.

The Prefects of the various French departments will shortly be summoned to Paris to receive instructions relative to the enforcement of the decrees against unauthorized religious communities.

The town of Baumholder, district of St. Aedel, Rhenish Prussia, has been almost destroyed by fire. A thousand persons are destitute.

The British Admiralty has given up all hope of the missing training ship Atalanta, and has ordered a searching enquiry as to her fitness for the duty on which she was detailed.

At the coming meeting of the Home Rule members of Parliament a resolution will be submitted recommending that they sit as a body on the Opposition side of the House.

The British consul at Bourgas, Roumania, telegraphs that a band of soldiers from Bulgaria entered the district of Aidos and pillaged nine Turkish villages, killing several men and outraging women. 2,100 Mussulmans escaped and are now encamped at Aichalo.

According to the London Truth the injury to the ear caused by the sleigh accident to the Marchioness of Lorne on February 14th is much more serious than it was thought to be at the time. Every sudden or loud noise that the Princess hears brings on severe pains and inflammation in the ear. She will shortly return to England.—The latter statement will not be credited in Canada.

Fatal Accident.

ALLANBURGH, Ont., May 13.—A fatal accident occurred here last evening about five o'clock. Mr. Jacob Upper was hauling manure from Peterson & Co's. farm. He stopped and the son of James S. Upper, about 14 years of age, climbed on the hind wheel of the waggon. Mr. Upper did not see him and started to drive on when the wheel passed over the little fellow's back. He was picked up by his father and carried home where he died in about twenty minutes.

Are our Streets to be Watered?

To the Editor of the Mercury.

DEAR SIR:—Is there any possibility of inducing the Council to take up this matter of street sprinkling and have it done in some kind of efficient and useful manner? It is true that for a day or two past a feeble attempt has been made to battle with the clouds of dust that have almost darkened our leading thoroughfare, but the attempt has been almost if not utterly useless. The streets should be thoroughly soaked very early in the morning, and not left, as was the case with Lower Wyndham street yesterday until after four p. m., before a drop of water is thrown upon them. If it takes the Council annually as long as it does this year to pull the strings to get the sprinkling apparatus into working order, it might be suggested that the matter be taken up at their first meeting in January. The cost of the works is thrown away unless done properly and in season.
Yours, &c.,
A SUFFERING MERCHANT.
Guelph, May 3, 1880.

The Act Relating to Interest on Moneys.

This bill, which is entitled "an Act relating to interest on moneys secured by mortgage of real estate," does not limit the rate of interest, but materially interferes with the freedom of contract which should ever prevail. The bill contains but 6 short clauses with two sub-sections under clause 5. The first section makes it imperative that all mortgages on real estate shall state in the instrument itself the amount of principal money and the rate of interest chargeable thereon, calculated half-yearly, not in advance; (2) it enacts that no higher rate shall be recoverable than that stated in the mortgage; (3) provides that no fine or interest greater than the rate of interest stipulated in the mortgage can be charged on arrears; (4) enacts that should any such overcharge be made it can be recovered by the mortgagor and deducted from any other interest accruing on the mortgage; (5) enacts that after any mortgage has been three years in force it may be redemed on giving six months' notice and tendering payment when such six months have expired, or by payment of six months' interest in advance with the full amount of principal, in lieu of such notice; and (6) makes the act applicable to all mortgages executed after the first of July, 1880.

It will be seen, therefore, that there is nothing particularly objectionable in the bill except in the fifth section. As this clause stands should the rate of interest go up at the end of the three years the individual loaning can derive no advantage, and they should not be compelled to lose on the transaction should the rate of money come down. It is a mistake, and will be found to react injuriously on the borrower. Lenders will be disposed to make advances for only three years, and the frequent renewals and registrations of mortgages will entail additional expense on the borrower. A still further objection is apparent arising out of such unjust discrimination. Any lender may refuse to discharge a mortgage under any circumstances within the three years so prescribed. Any bill or act therefore which attempts to prevent the free exercise of the rights of contract between borrower and lender infringes upon the liberty of the subject, recoils against the interest of those whom it was intended to benefit, and insignificant as it may appear, is another evidence of our present retrogression.—Berlin Telegraph.

The immigrants who last arrived from England, for Manitoba, brought with them £12,000.

"The Grand Trunk is pretty hard on minor trunks" was the reflection of a Hamilton commercial man who arrived home with his samples on Saturday.

Local News.

JONES & GUTHRIE'S new advertisement will appear to-morrow.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES. — Fresh to brisk easterly to westerly winds, partly cloudy to clear cool weather.

THE fat men's base ball club of Guelph go to Hamilton on the Queen's Birthday to play a match with the fat nine of that city.

A GOOD programme has been prepared for the entertainment to be given this evening by the Young People's Aid Society of the Norfolk street Methodist church.

ORGAN RECITAL.—There is to be a grand sacred concert and organ recital in St. George's Church on Thursday evening next, at which a selected choir of about forty voices will take part.

THE Maple Leafs have challenged the Grand River Club, of Galt, to play a game here on Friday of next week—the same day on which the convention of representatives from Canadian base ball clubs takes place.

SERGT.-MAJOR CLARKE, late of "A" Battery, Kingston, enters on his duties as drill instructor of the Wellington and Ontario Field Batteries to-day. He was very popular while in Kingston, and will doubtless become the same here before long.

THE CASTOR.—We were shown to-day by Mr. Mark Selling, agent for the Glass Ball Castor Company, of Hamilton, the article itself, which from appearance, is destined to replace all other castors. They are made of solid glass, and revolve as easily as the ordinary castor, and only need to be seen to be appreciated. A. McBean are agents at Guelph.

EMIGRANTS.—A train consisting of five passenger cars, seventeen freight cars, drawn by two locomotives, passed through the city, on Wednesday, with emigrants to Manitoba, and their luggage, live stock and implements. The train, which started from Ottawa, was well filled with passengers by the time it reached here.

GALT CATTLE FAIR.—The regular monthly cattle fair was held on Wednesday. The supply of cattle was limited, but what were brought in met with ready sale at from 3¼ to 4¼ cents, live weight. Some really prime beasts were held as high as 5 cents, but buyers decline to purchase at their figures.

HAND CRUSHED.—A brakesman named Jackson, who lives at Toronto, met with a painful accident at the Grand Trunk Railway freight station here this (Thursday) morning. He was coupling cars when his left hand was caught between the coupling and severely crushed. Dr. Herod was called to dress the wound. He did not find it necessary to amputate any of the fingers, though they were considerably bruised. Jackson was taken to his home in Toronto.

ORANGE TRUE BRITONS.—The Grand Lodge of this society in Ontario concluded its session in London on Wednesday evening and the Guelph representatives, Messrs. Allen and McDonald, returned home to-day (Thursday.) The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: D. Jamieson, Peterborough, G. M.; W. F. Allen, Guelph, D. G. M.; J. H. Smith, Hamilton, G. S.; H. Stevenson, Hamilton, G. T.; A. Reynolds, Toronto, G. C.; W. Hooper, Lucan, G. D. of C.; S. Donnelly, London, G. L.; R. Newman, Toronto, G. L.; J. H. McDonald, Guelph, G. I. T.; r. W. Hart, Cobourg, G. O. T. The next meeting will be held in Kingston on the second Tuesday of May 1881.

BURGLARY AT MORRISTON. — Early on Wednesday morning the house of Mr. James Kennedy, Morriston, teamster for Messrs. Ross & Tyrell, of that village, was entered and robbed to the value of $100. The windows were not fastened so that the burglars did not find it difficult to gain access to the interior. Mr. Kennedy had sold a load of produce in Hamilton on Tuesday for his employers, and the money he received formed part of the sum stolen, which in all amounted to $60 in cash. His watch valued at $40 was also stolen. Attempts were made during the same night to force an entrance to the houses of Donald McIntosh, Andrew Stewart, Jacob Fuhrey, and Andrew Foley, but these were prevented by the occupants who heard the burglars at work. Three panes of glass were removed from a window in Andrew Foley's house, and it had evidently been the intention to cut the sash in order to crawl through, but they must have feared that some one was stirring about as they were frustrated in their plan. On Wednesday Constable Thomas Ingram, jr., arrested a stranger on suspicion of committing the burglary. It is howeve, thought that the person under arrest was not connected with the affair. After the burglary and before day break on Wednesday a team left the village and from the almost noiseless tread of the horses feet it is thought they were muffled and that the conveyance was driven by the guilty parties.

The United States reduced the National debt over thirteen million dollars during the month of April.

Hon. Senator Macpherson has left for Europe, where he will spend the summer.

Adam Oliver, ex-M. P. P., is much better, and some hopes of his recovery are entertained.

Annual Meeting of the U. C. Bible Society.

The fortieth anniversary of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held on Wednesday night in the St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto. The attendance was very large. The Hon. Geo. W. Allan, President of the Society, occupied the chair.

The meeting was opened with the usual religious services, after which in his opening address, the chairman spoke in terms of regret regarding the removal from among the citizens of Toronto of the gentleman whose funeral many present had just attended. He could not speak, he said, in the building in which the late Mr. Brown had worshiped without making a brief reference to the hon. gentleman's worth and to the estimation in which he was held by the people of Canada. Referring to the report of the Bible Society which was before the meeting, he remaked that there was a falling off in the receipts which was in some respects owing to the absence of bequests during the past year. This was the result of the good health of the friends of the Society, which he hoped would long continue. He was delighted to know that the efforts of the Society to form branches in Manitoba had been successful, and he was pleased to learn of the improved prospects of the parent Society.

Mr. Robert Baldwin then read the report which referred to the falling off in the receipts. The bequests received during the year have been those of the late Wm. Moon, of Trafalgar, $100; the late Andrew Cerswell, Tecumseth, $500; the late James Pirrie, of Claremont, $50; and the late Hiram McCraney, of Oakville, $500. Mr. McCraney has left $1,000 to this work, and the balance will be paid as soon as certain arrangements can be made.

The branches in British Columbia, Manitoba and Algoma are to far to be visited regularly by the ordinary agency of the Society, but cheering reports have been received from several of them. Winnipeg has lately had a successful public meeting at which there were expressed intentions of increasing interest in the Bible cause. Emerson has three sub-depositories, one among German Mennonites.

A recent letter from the Rev. R. Jamieson gives hope that the New Westminster Branch is about to revive and become more active than it has for the past year or two. The directors have not heard from the Branches at Victoria and Sault Ste. Marie for some time; but it is hoped that they are not entirely neglecting their fields.

New Branches have been organized during the year at Manitowaning, Gore Bay, Mara, New Dundee, and Garden Hill, and a Depository established at little Current. Some of these are very promising, and one of them, New Dundee, has sent $80 as its first contribution.

The receipts of the year ending 31st March, 1880, are as under:—

Proceeds of sales	$ 9,756 01
Free contributions	17,025 29
Ground rents and interest	304 53

There has also been remitted to the British and Foreign Bible Society $10,995 58 on purchase account.

On Wednesday a fire broke out in the Royal hotel, Lucan, owned and occupied by Mr. J. F. Cain. The fire originated from a spark from the back kitchen window, and lodging upon the bed. In a few moments the room and another one adjoining was one sheet of flame. The fire engine was promptly on hand, and the fire subdued, but both the rooms and the furniture were completely destroyed.

Writs of habeas corpus have been received by Sheriff Glass in the case of the Biddulph prisoners. They will appear at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Monday next, the 17th, when the application for a change of venue will be renewed and fortified by additional arguments.

The printers' strike in London was continued on Wednesday. In the afternoon the publishers and men came together on a basis of compromise, 27 cents being offered with a prospect of being accepted.

The cyclones still continue to visit the West. In Illinois on Monday night one three-quarters of a mile in width swept across the eastern part of McLean county, damaging property to the extent of $100,000.

Funeral of the Late Hon. George Brown.

Extraordinary Gathering in Toronto.

The Largest Funeral Procession Ever Seen in the City.

The funeral of the late Hon. George Brown took place on Wednesday afternoon, and will be long remembered by those who witnessed it as the most remarkable in many respects that ever took place in the city, both on account of the immense number of people who took part in it, those who witnessed the procession, and the feeling of respect manifested by all for the memory of the deceased. The different trains up to nearly two o'clock brought thousands from all parts of the Province, who, as delegations or individually, came to attend the funeral, and the streets up to two o'clock were filled with well dressed strangers who had come to the city for the one object. The delegations were from political and national societies. About 3,000 people went to the house to take their last look of the face so well known. From three o'clock until five many of the principal stores, the leading factories, and nearly all the offices were closed, and hardly any people were to be seen on the streets. The funeral was not intended to be a public one, and no steps were taken to make it so, except by those who took this way of showing the estimation to which they held him. All that was done by way of arrangement was to guard against the confusion incident to the movement of large bodies of people by preparing an order of procession, and committing the enforcement of this order to the police authorities of the city.

Shortly after two o'clock the employees and ex-employees of The Globe office assembled in The Globe lane, and forming in line, under the direction of Mr. Fisher, chief of the advertising staff, walked to Mr. Brown's residence and formed on the road to await the starting the procession. They were soon followed by the Presbyterian Synod, at the head of which was the Rev. Mr. Torrance, the Moderator, in his gown, and the Clerk of the Synod, the Caledonian and St. Andrew's Societies, the City Council, Board of Trade, members of the Corn Exchange, the Typographical Union, and the delegations from Hamilton, London, Guelph, Woodstock and other places. A very large number of carriages were also drawn up along the streets near the house. Men, women, and children of every class came from all parts of the city, and took up places upon the streets along which, according to the announcement, the procession was to pass. Every window was filled with faces of those anxious to view the cortege, every verandah and step and fence was crowded with people, while many of the trees furnished vantage places for boys and young men. The event which marked the day subdued the tones of those in the crowd who conversed together, and turned the conversation almost wholly in one direction—toward the life, labour, and character of the deceased, and the particularly melancholy nature of his death.

The casket containing the remains was made of solid black walnut, heavily moulded at the top and base, and ornamented with massive siver bar handles. The name-plate had the following inscription, engraved in old English letters:—

GEORGE BROWN.
Died May 9th, 1880,
Aged 61 years.

The casket was covered with floral tributes, the gifts of loving friends.

Shortly after two o'clock when the public ceased viewing the body, the more intimate friends of the deceased, including judges, senators, members of parliament, clergymen, and others began to arrive at the house. Although the doors of the drawing-room were nominally closed, those who desired were admitted to look for the last time upon the face, which, once so familiar to them all, was soon to be hidden from the gaze of men for ever. Many of those with whom Mr. Brown, in his lifetime, had been most accustomed to associate, on returning from the chamber of their dead friend could with difficulty conceal their emotion. Indeed, the solemnity of the occasion, the saddening reflections which it suggested, and the impressiveness of the religious services were such as to stir the emotions of even those who knew Mr. Brown scarcely more than in name, and during the progress of the religious exercises very few present remained unaffected.

The Rev. Mr. King opened the religious services in the house with prayer, then a portion of the 103rd Psalm was sung, and Prof. McLaren read the 91st Psalm.

Rev. Dr. Gregg, for many years the pastor of the deceased, then gave an appropriate and affecting address in the course of which he said:—"The deceased believed that the existence of parties in the State was necessary to the public welfare, and as he believed so he acted. But strongly attached as he was to the political party whose principles he espoused, the success of his party was far from his highest aim. I recollect, in a conversation on the subject, that he mentioned to me that when any public measure was proposed there were three questions he was accustomed to ask respecting it:—First. Is it right? Second. Is it for the good of the country? Third. Will it benefit the party? He placed principle first, patriotism second, and party in the lower place; and so much did he act in accordance with these maxims that he did not hesitate to break with his party when he thought it adopted a course prejudicial to the interests of the country, and above all, when he thought it inconsistent with right moral principles. Our departed friend took a deep interest, not merely in political matters, but in all matters in which the happiness of his fellowmen was concerned. He had large sympathies for the suffering and wronged of every class of every country, and of every complexion. Slavery has been happily abolished in the neighboring Republic, but while it existed he was ever ready to assist the fugitives from oppression with substantial aid. No society established for the relief of the suffering presented its claims to him in vain; and many an act of unostentatious kindness will be remembered by hundreds whom he generously aided in their time of need. Amidst the bustle and turmoil of his busy life our departed friend did not forget the great concern of religion. Having been long the pastor of the congregation with which he was connected in this city, I had ample opportunities of knowing his views on this subject, and I can testify to the high reverence he entertained for everything good and holy. He had unwavering faith in the Holy Scripture as the Word of God. He was a strong believer in those views of Scripture truth which are usually called Calvinistic. He was ardently attached to the Church of his fathers, whose form of government he believed to be accordant with Scripture and conducive to the security of civil and religious liberty. He walked also under the power of unseen realities. The last lengthened conversation I had with him was on the day in which the tidings reached him of the death of the Hon. Luther Holton, for whom he entertained the highest esteem. He then spoke very fully of the vanity of earthly things, except in their relation to eternal realities, with a degree of earnestness which indicated that his anchor was cast within the vail. During the last weeks of his life it was delightful to his family and friends to listen to the words in which, amidst all his intense sufferings, he expressed his submission to the will of God, his firm faith in Christ as his only and all-sufficient Saviour, and his bright hope of that eternal kingdom, the enjoyment of which, we trust, he has now entered.

The Rev. Dr. Reid then offered up an impressive prayer.

The coffin was then borne to the hearse by the pall bearers, and the funeral cortege began to move at 4 o'clock by the route already given and in the order laid down. Along the whole route the side walks and every available spot was crowded with spectators. The solemn quiet that prevailed along the whole route was remarkable.

The pall bearers who walked on each side of the hearse were: Hon. Arch. McKellar, Sir Antoine Dorion, Hon. D. Christie, Hon. G. W. Allan, Hon. L. S. Huntington, Hon. Edward Blake, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Sir Alex. Campbell, Hon. Wm. McMaster, Sir Wm. Howland, Hon. J. C. Morrison, Sir Richard Cartwright, Major Greig, Prof. Daniel Wilson.

Those who walked in procession were six or eight deep. The funeral cortege took an hour to pass a given point.

At a few minutes to five the cortege arrived at the Necropolis, and slowly wended its way to the family burial plot at the western side of the grounds, preceded by the clergy and pall bearers. The chief mourners, with the clergyman and physicians who attended the deceased, took position inside the enclosure, and after the coffin was lowered to its place with the usual solemnity, Rev. Mr. King offered up prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer the earth was thrown in upon the coffin, and the last sad rites were performed in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives.

The following were present at the funeral from Guelph and other parts of the County: D. Guthrie, M. P.; Jas. Laidlaw, M. P. P.; Hon. Col. Clarke, Speaker Legislative Assembly; H. W. Peterson, County Crown Attorney; Jas. Massie, Registrar; D. Stirton, Postmaster; James Innes, D. McCrae, J. C. McLagan, Thos. H. Taylor, Col. Higinbotham, ex-M. P.; Wm. Wilkie, Robert Stewart, James Morrison, Geo Hadden, Geo. Bruce, Thomas Manderson, Wm. Watson, John Thomson, Geo. Howard, Jas. Watt, Richard Mitchell, Hugh Stewart, John Wanless, D. McLean, Kenneth McLean, D. S. McMillan; P. Molloy, Hugh Milloy, Erin; Dr. McNaughton, Erin; Robt. Wood, Erin, &c. &c.

Presbyterian Synod.

The Synod of Toronto and Kingston met in St. James' Square Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, the Rev. Mr. Torrance, Moderator, presiding. There was a large attendance of members. The first hour was devoted to praise and prayer.

Several reports were presented, received, and adopted. They were principally of a routine character, and were adopted.

Applications were received from several students for trials for license, and entertained.

Rev. Mr. Smellie moved that a small committee be appointed to draw up a minute of the impression left upon the mind of the Synod on account of the number of deaths of ministers of the Church which had occurred during the past year. Carried.

Mr. Chambers moved that the question of settling the boundaries of Presbyteries be referred to the Supreme Court of the Church for decision, which was agreed to.

The Synod adjourned till 7:30 to attend the funeral of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, which the members attended in a body.

The Synod resumed at 7:30, and proceeded with the discussion of a report which had been presented on "The state of religion."

Several members spoke on the subject, and strongly advocated the necessity of paying more attention to home instruction in religious matters.

The report was adopted, and the Synod adjourned.

THE BRITISH "QUARTERLY REVIEW."—The April number of this quarterly has been received from the publishers.—Henry Larkin gives a theory regarding the origin of the earth and moon. Conceiving the possibility of the earth having been thrown off from the sun, he suggests that the moon may have been, in like manner, projected from the earth, and supposing that this theory were scientifically established, he is prepared to point out the spot whence it might have been upheaved. Alex. H. Japp gives an account of Winckelmann's life and works, his struggles with poverty and his tragic death. Modern architecture is severely handled in an endeavour 'to inform our readers of the nature and profession of an 'architect.' A long article on English prisons, signed F. Arnold, is followed by a description of political parties in Russia, and of the nature and meaning of Nihilism, by John Rae. There is also 'an examination of the nature and power of circumstantial evidence and of the principles upon which its cogency depends,' and a review of the political history of England for the past six years, besides the usual notices of new books.

On Wednesday a barn belonging to Joseph Emel, about a mile from Mildmay, was destroyed by fire. There were about three hundred bushels of wheat and two hundred bushels of oats, besides farming implements, etc., in the barn at the time of the fire.

Mr. Gladstone and Austria.

The Tory papers in England are making a great noise about Mr. Gladstone's letter of explanation to Austria, and in true Jingo spirit are trying to make the people believe that he has humbled himself and his Government in the eyes of Europe. We cannot see it in that light. Mr. Gladstone, it will be remembered, during his canvass in Midlothian made some remarks of an uncomplimentary character respecting Austria, and as he believed at that time the threatened interference with some of her contiguous Provinces. Since the election and the formation of the new Reform Government, the information received by Mr. Gladstone was of such a nature as to re-assure him that Austria had no such bad designs as alleged, and in his letter to the Austrian Ambassador he said:—"In the performance of an arduous task of the consolidation of the Empire I feel cordial respect for the efforts of the Emperor. Respecting my animadversions on the foreign policy of Austria when it was active beyond the borders, I will not conceal from you that grave apprehensions were excited in my mind least Austria should play a part in the Balkan peninsula hostile to the freedom of the emancipated populations, and to the reasonable hopes of the subjects of the Sultan. These apprehensions were founded upon secondary evidence, but it was not the evidence of hostile witnesses, and was the best at my command. You now assure me that Austria does not desire to extend or add to the rights she acquired under the Treaty of Berlin. Had I possessed such an assurance before I never would have uttered one word which you describe as painful and wounding, but I will immediately express my serious concern that I should have been led to refer to the transactions of an earlier period, or to use terms of censure which I can now wholly abolish from my mind."

As soon as this letter was published the leading London papers, with the exception of the Daily News, severely criticized it, and characterized it as humiliating to the country and damaging to the Government.

Mr. Gladstone as an honest man simply acknowledged that he was mistaken and said he was sorry for it, and by so doing quite satisfied Austria that he bore her no ill-will. It may suit the warlike Jingos to talk about the humiliation of the country, but there is nothing of the kind, though it would have been better if Mr. Gladstone had made sure that his charges had been well founded before he made them. A the Paris correspondent of the Times says:—"The prompt publication of Mr. Gladstone's apology has cleared the air, and perhaps, on the whole, satisfied the public sense of what was necessary to maintain cordial relations between Great Britain and Austria." At the same time we may be well assured that the new Government will keep Austria strictly to her treaty obligations.

ONE of our merchants justly complains through our columns to-day of the neglect of the Council to perfect their arrangements for watering the streets. This neglect entails much annoyance and loss to merchants whose goods are greatly damaged by the clouds of dust which are caught up by everywind. Yesterday the dust on Wyndham street was frightful, and it was not laid till well over in the afternoon. The Council is very negligent in its duty in not attending to this matter at once.

A glowing tribute to the late Hon. George Brown, together with a letter of condolence to deceased's family was passed on Monday by the city council of Buffalo, N. Y. It was also ordered that the Mayor be authorized to suspend the National flag at half-mast on Wednesday afternoon. A largely attended meeting of Canadians was held in Chicago on Wednesday night, quite a number of French Canadians being present. Resolutions referring to Brown's great services to Canada were passed, and a copy of them ordered to be forwarded to the bereaved family. Resolutions of a similar character were also passed at meetings held in different cities and towns in the Province of Ontario.

A Double Victory.

(From the Boston Herald.

Mr. Gladstone, as he scans the list of his Cabinet, cannot but feel that he has two undeniable reasons for being very proud of his success. He has a double triumph over rank and time. In the first place, though he is a Commoner, without any tag to his name save the official affix "Right Honorable," though he began his life with no better start toward preeminence than could be claimed for the fourth son of a Liverpool merchant, he is the chief of a Cabinet which counts among its members a duke, a marquis by courtesy as the eldest son of a duke, four earls, a baron and a knight. Of these eight nobles no fewer than six are peers of the realm, while a seventh is heir to a peerage of the highest rank. Yet Mr. Gladstone, by his marvellous development of mental and physical vigor, has raised himself to the mastership over duke and earl and baron. The great lords come at nod, and would go at his frown. So much for the barrier of rank; now turn to the more formidable obstacle of his age. Mr. Gladstone is the oldest man in the Liberal Cabinet. Born on Dec. 29, 1809, he has passed by four months the limit of three-score years and ten. And the wear and tear of his life is not to be measured by his years. As far back as 1834 he held a subordinate place in Sir Robert Peel's Ministry. He was a junior lord of the treasury while the Marquis of Hartington was a child in arms, and two other members of the present Cabinet, Earl Spencer and Mr. Chamberlain, were yet unborn. In age John Bright comes next to the Premier, with 68 years, Lord Selborne is a close third, with 67 years; Earl Granville stands fourth in the Cabinet, and first among the hereditary peers, with 65 years; Mr. Forster is fifth with 62 years. Thus, of five members of the Cabinet who have reached the grand climacteric, four were born Commoners, and three remain in that condition.

Three Men Drowned in Manitoba.

A Palmerston Man one of the Victims.

The Winnipeg Free Press of the 6th says:—News was received to-day of a terrible accident which occurred at the mouth of the Souris River on the 28th of April, by which three persons were plunged into eternity. It appears that a large party had been exploring the land in the vicinity with a view of locating. On arriving at the mouth of the Souris, only one skiff was available, and this was utilized to transport the party across. The river was booming but a portion of the party had had been safely got over, when five persons entered the boat. Their names were Frank McPhee, of Shediac, N. B.; George Elliott and John Whitelaw, Cobourg; Ed. Donnelly, Palmerston, Ont., and a man of whose name our informant was not quite certain. This was too much of a load for the frail bark, but they pushed boldly out. This was about nine o'clock in the evening, and quite dark. The boat dipped several times on the way across, and finally, as they approached the other shore, she went over, precipitating the occupants into the rushing flood. At this juncture Donnelly shouted out, "Every man for himself," and make a plunge in the direction of a falling tree which he had observed extended out from the shore quite a distance into the stream. Being a little above the tree, he struggled manfully, and was swept into its branches, but his strength was spent, and he was numbed by the icy current, so that all he could do was to clutch the twigs with a dying grasp and wait for assistance. In the meantime McPhee had struck out for the shore they had just left, and his cries for assistance could be heard by those on the bank who could not see him on account of the darkness. His strength however failed him, and it is conjectured that he was swept down into the Assiniboine, as his body was never found. The third man who met his fate struggled desperately, but was dragged down into the depths, from which he never emerged. Elliott and Whitelaw succeeded in reaching the shore in an exhausted condition, and the former, knowing that Donnelly had made an attempt to reach the fallen tree, informed his friends of the fact. A search was at once made, but poor Donnelly was discovered clinging to the branches with a death grip. He had been forty five minutes in the water and chilled and nerveless by reason of his long submersion, he was more dead than alive. He was at once carried to the shore, but the strain had been too great for his powers of endurance, and he died in a few minutes after his rescue without speaking a word, although he was conscious and made several attempts to do so. His arms were found to be so frozen by the exposure he had undergone, that it was with the greatest difficulty his clutch on the branches of the tree could be unloosed. He was buried the next day on the banks of the river near the place of his death.

Both McFhee and Donnelly were well known here, having arrived in this city some time ago, from whence they proceeded west for the purpose of securing land for the establishment of a colony. Donnelly leaves a wife in Palmerston, Ont., to whom his untimely death will be a terrible blow.

WM. TYLER, Clerk.

Meeting at Rockton.

Minutes of public meeting of ratepayers held at Rockton, in the Town Hall, on the 6th inst., to consider the action of the County Council of the County of Wentworth at its last session in the way of granting money for macadamizing a portion of the Governor's road, and also a road in Saltfleet from the terminus of the Hamilton and Stoney Creek road to the Lincoln County line.

Mr. Wallace McDonald was called to the chair and Mr. William Wood was appointed secretary.

The meeting was addressed on the above subject by Messrs. John Clement, Jeremiah Cornell, Reeve; James McQueen, sr., Thomas Stock, Warden; Peter Wood, T. S. Cornell, Thomas McQueen, William Menzies and Edwin Gray, Deputy Reeves, after which the following motions were submitted to the meeting and carried unanimously:—

Moved by John Clement, seconded by Joseph Boyle, that this meeting disapproves of the action of the Municipal Council of the County of Wentworth at its last session in the way of granting money for the macadamizing that portion of the Governor's road, between Copetown and Dundas, and also the road in the Township of Saltfleet from the eastern terminus of the Hamilton and Stoney Creek road to the Lincoln County line.

Moved by Peter Wood, seconded by James McQueen, sr., that the Warden be requested to call a special meeting of the County Council to rescind its action in regard to appropriating money for Governor's road and extension of Stoney Creek road, believing such action is not in the interest of the County, if not contrary to Statute.

Moved by James McQueen, sr., seconded by Wm. Henderson, sr., that the thanks of this meeting be tendered to the Warden for his kindness in attending this meeting here to-day and for the explanations he has given us.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

HARD ON THE CHINESE.—Alarmed at the prospective great increase of Chinese immigration into the Province, the Legislature of British Columbia has resolved to pass a measure similar to that adopted by the Government of the colony of Queensland. The act provides that Chinese shall pay $15 per annum for a free miner's license and for business licenses double the amount paid by other people. Any Chinese found mining or carrying on business without a license so paid for, or any person employing an unlicensed Chinaman will be liable to a fine not exceeding $25, in default of payment to be levied by distress, and in default of distress imprisonment not exceeding three months. At the same time no Chinese shall be entitled to be naturalized.

Erin Items.

A shooting contest took place on Saturday the 8th inst, on the Orangeville range between six men of Orangeville, and the same number from Erin Village. Ranges 200 and 400 yards, 7 shots at each range, two sighters allowed. The full score is given below, which, as will be seen gives the Erin men the handsome majority of 91 points. The Erin men were most kindly entertained by the Orangeville men at the Queen's Hotel, to a splendid spread and afterwards returned to Erin by the C. V. R. highly delighted with their days sport.

A Lodge of the A. O. U. W. was organized in Erin village, on the 3rd, which now numbers 20 members and bids fair for becoming a large and influential body.

The Messrs D. & J. Clarke, of Erin mills, are doing a large business, having bought over 3,000 bushels of wheat from Orangeville last week which is being delivered over the C. V. R. to their mills at Erin and ground, the flour of which is shipped to different markets.

A large number of the inhabitants of Erin attended the funeral of the late Hon. George Brown, the death of whom is deeply regretted by all.

Death of an Old Resident of Mount Forest.

(From the Mount Forest Examiner.)

Another of the first settlers in this locality has just passed away, in the person of Mr. Richard Chaloner, who died at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Wm. Scott, lot No. 4, 14th concession, Minto, on Tuesday last. As Mr. Chaloner had the distinction of erecting the first building in the village of Mount Forest he is deserving of more than a mere passing notice. He was born in Cliro, near the town of Hay, Breconshire, Wales, in January, 1801, and was consequently about seventy-nine years and four months old at the time of his death. While a young man he was employed as foreman in the extensive iron works at Merthyr, Tydvill, Glamorganshire, Wales. He afterwards spent some time in Cheshire, England, where he was married. He emigrated to Canada with his family some thirty-six years ago and settled first in the neighborhood of Guelph. After a residence there for about four years, he removed to this neighborhood, taking up considerable blocks of land in the Townships of Arthur and Minto. His homestead was in the former township, a short distance from Mount Forest. The country from this point west to Lake Huron was then an almost unbroken wilderness. Some settlement had taken place in Arthur, but in the territory now known as Mount Forest there was not a single settler—the town plot was unsurveyed, and a roughly cut roadway leading northwards was the only sign of civilization in what was to become in a few years a busy thriving town. Soon after he settled in the neighborhood Mr. Chaloner cleared a small space a short distance north of the river—not far from the present High School—and there he erected the first building, which he converted to use as a blacksmith's shop. Settlers soon came along, and a number of them "squatting" on the intended village plot, Mr. Chaloner had a petition prepared and forwarded to the Crown Lands Department then located at Quebec, requesting that the survey of the place be completed. The request was acceded to, a staff of engineers were at once sent forward, and the thanks of the department was extended to Mr. Chaloner for his exertions in the matter. He carried on the blacksmithing business for a few years, when he withdrew and gave his time to his agricultural work. He continued to take an active part in the progress of the place and neighboring country, was one of the originators of a union agricultural society which twenty years ago held successful exhibitions in Mount Forest, and proved himself in a variety of ways a useful member of the community. Under the nom de plume of "Siluria," he contributed a series of excellent letters on educational topics to the old Mount Forest Express, and he was also an occasional contributor to the columns of the Examiner. In 1864 he took a trip to South Africa, where he remained about six years, and then returned to Canada. Since his return he has lived a retired life, spending his time with members of his family in this place and in Minto. He was a man of kindly disposition, hearty in manner to those he was acquainted with, and in his younger years he was possessed of much pluck and perseverance. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. His wife died over twelve years ago, and of their family of two sons and two daughters all survive except one son. Mr. Chaloner's remains were interred on Thursday in the North Arthur Episcopal Cemetery.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

In the western counties of Ontario there is a demand for poplar wood for paper making.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is THE GREAT RELIEVER OF PAIN. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water [sweetened, if preferred], taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&wlyr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

"THERE is such a dearth of news now a days in the papers, they are scarcely worth reading." A very common remark this. People troubled in this way should carefully read the advertisement of the Lion, which contains items of interest for every body.

Received to-day, new maple syrup, will be sold by the pail, quart, half gallon or gallon. Also tins of 7 gallons each. No charge for tin. J. E. MCELDERRY, Noted Tea Store.

It is quite evident by the increase in business that Rolls' is the place to make the best of your money. The leading preparations always on hand. Use "Rosaline" for the teeth. Prepared only by W. Rolls. d6

John M. Bond & Co. have a very large stock of spades, rakes and garden tools of all kinds. Felt for putting under carpets, floor oil cloth, mats, bird cages, fishing tackle, etc., and will be pleased to see any one in need of goods in their line.

The Fashionable West End is bound to win the trade, and is working hard to do it. The crowded store, too, tells it own tale. Ladies will always go where the nicest goods are to be had. 10 cases new American hats opening to-day.
A. O. BUCHAM.

We show this season the finest stock in the whole trade, no question about that. As a thoroughly ladies' establishment the Fashionable West End has no rival in Western Ontario. Opening to-day new American buntings in black and all other fashionable shades. A. O. BUCHAM.

On the Way to Colorado.

An old correspondent in the County of Grey, sends us the following en route for Colorado :—

As there are many persons now who are going west, I propose giving you some observations of a trip from the County of Grey to Denver, Colorado. I left Artemesia, May 3rd, at which time the seeding was about half done, the fall wheat and grass just beginning to sprout. As we approached Toronto navigation was a little more advanced. From Toronto to Chicago you have a chain of routes, either by all rail via Detroit or rail to Collingwood, thence by one of the new England Transportation Co. boats. This Company run four boats, viz.: Columbia, Canada, Lake Erie, and Simcoe, and leave Collingwood on the arrival of the Northern R. R. night express at about 10.30 p. m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday. Fare from Toronto, 1st class, $11, and from Collingwood $9, second $5. They are propellers and carry freight and passengers, make from 8 to 9 miles an hour and make the trip from 60 to 68 hours, calling at Cheboggan, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wisconsin. There boats are not large. The accommodation for passengers is not luxurious but neat, comfortable and clean, the officers are civil, obliging, and try to secure the comfort of their passengers. We went by the steamer Columbia at 10.30 p. m. Next morning the weather was very cold and the lake very rough. We pass along the south side of Manitoulin Island, and when within 80 miles of Michigan, a mirage showed us the whole coast for miles, so that we could see with a glass the different points along the shore as though it was only 10 miles away. In the night we came to Cheboggan, a lumbering town of 2,600 population. It has fine wharves and storehouses, and is a thriving place. It is at the northern extremity of Michigan, on the Straits of Mackinaw, famous for its thunder storms, of which we got a specimen the next morning. I never saw such lightning or heard so sharp thunder on land. The storms are principally electric, of small extent, and with but little rain. We stop at a wood station on the west coast of Michigan for wood; the soil along the shore is sandy and extends from five to ten miles inland after which the country is level, is well settled, with good cultural land. Saw some fine farms along the shore. Land is valued from $4 to $6 per acre. Spring wheat is up about three inches, clover the same, and the maple trees quite green. On May 8th, we were in sight of Wisconsin and shore. It looks like a fine country with good land. G

At the meeting of the Presbytery of Toronto, on Tuesday, the commissioners of the Central Presbyterian church, Toronto, presented a call to the Rev. T. McLeod, of Stratford, promising a salary of $2,500 a year. The call was sustained.

The U. S. District Attorney has made complaint against the masters of 15 steamships of the North German Lloyd's line, Red Star line, Anchor line and the Hamburg American line, for overcrowding boats with passengers.

It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. The enlargement of the Grenville canal has been completed, and all that is now required to complete the works is the construction of two locks at Grosse Point. Vessels drawing ten feet of water can now pass through the canal. Last year four feet six inches was about as much as the canal could accommodate.

Guelph Markets.

MERCURY OFFICE,
GUELPH, May 13 1880.

The market has been fairly supplied with grain, &c. for the past week, and prices continue pretty nearly the same as quoted in our last weekly edition.

Spring wheat is offered sparingly and not at all in proportion to other grades which has the effect of keeping the price of really good samples up to that of fall. In the early part of the present week, outside markets seemed dull and quiet, but for the past day or two, a firmer feeling appears to prevail, yet no perceptible advance in price can be noticed so far.

Peas of good quality command our outside quotations, principally owing to some demand being still in existence for seeding purposes.

Barley rules at about the same as last week.

Potatoes are arriving not alone here but in outside places in large quantities, far in excess of the demand; the consequence being lower prices, which are likely to continue for some time hence at least.

There is no change in oats save a decline of one to two cents per bushel. The deliveries continue pretty liberal, and the same remark may safely be applied to hay, which sells for lower prices than were realized last week.

Here are the correct quotations of all kinds arriving on this market up to three o'clock this afternoon.

Montreal.

An Important Application Granted—Death of Lady Hincks.

MONTREAL, May 14.—The receiver of the Globe Mutual Insurance Company in the United States applied here for an injunction to stop the payment of the $100,000 deposit in the hands of the Canadian Government, to the local assignee who intended distributing the amount to local creditors. The contention is that the Globe being a mutual company its policy holders are only entitled to a claim in the distribution of the total assets. The injunction was granted.

A fleet of ocean steamers and sailing ships arrived here to-day. Business at the wharves is lively.

Lady Hincks died at two o'clock this morning.

Fire in Beverly.

FREELTON, May 14.—The dwelling house of Mr. John Halliday, farmer, living on the 9th concession of Beverly, was totally consumed this morning about four o'clock, together with the furniture and clothing of the family, who had a very narrow escape, having to jump from the upper windows, one of them being badly burned in the face and hands. It was supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as there had not been any fire in the part of the premises where the fire started. The building was insured for a small amount.

Fire at Conestogo.

CONESTOGO, May 14.—A large red frame house—one of the oldest in the County of Waterloo—was burnt down between 10 and 11 o'clock to-day. It was owned by Peter Musselman.

AN INTERESTING CASE.—Four weeks ago Mrs. Ballard, wife of a coach maker in Baltimore, Maryland, gave birth to a female child of unusual size. The fact was established that a second child was present. On Tuesday an operation of the cesarean section was performed and a large boy taken from among the viscera. Both children are living and the mother is doing well. The case will attract great attention throughout the medical world.

Local News.

Motherly wisdom—Stick to your flannels until they stick to you.

THE Dundas Banner says that J. P. Billington, of that town, has a 34 year old mare, which is even now as spry and full of life as a colt.

EVERYTHING in nature indulges in amusement. The lightning plays, the wind whistles, the thunder rolls, the snow flies, the waves and the fields smile. Even the buds shoot and the rivers and streams run.

THE STREETS.—The chairman of the Board of Works wishes it stated that about two weeks ago arrangements were made with the water works Commissioners to have small hydrants connected with the pipes on Wyndham street, to be used for watering the streets, that the Board of Works are not to blame because this arrangement has not been carried out.

A STRANGER in town asked the other day who supplied the statuary to adorn our streets. His meaning was not discovered until one of the Corporation laborers was discovered standing on the edge of a ditch meditating as to the best method of picking up a stone not far from him. When informed what the thing was, the stranger said he took him for an ornamental tie post.

THE Young People's Union of Dublin street Methodist Church held their regular meeting last night, and an enjoyable time was spent listening to an excellent musical programme prepared by the members of No. 1 Division. A committee of ladies and gentlemen was formed to aid the officers, and arrangements were completed, for the successful carrying out of the Liliputian concert to be held in the church on the 27th inst. Tickets are now issued and can be procured from members of the Union.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.—The semi-annual meeting of the Teachers' Association of South Wellington and Guelph opened to-day in the High School. Quite a number of the teachers in the northern part of the division arrived by the Wellington Grey and Bruce, to attend the meeting. This evening the Association will give an entertainment in the High School, for which the following excellent programme has been provided:—Hon. C. Clarke, of Elora, will read a paper on the subject "Then and Now." G. W. Field, B. A., will deliver an address on "The Duty of the Hour." Vocal and instrumental music will be given during the evening.

THE BIDDULPH MURDERERS.—It is stated that an application will be made before the full Court at Toronto to change the venue in the Biddulph murder case to Guelph, as already stated in these columns. Sheriff Glass was on Tuesday served with two writs, through the Deputy Sheriff, commanding him to produce the bodies of the prisoners now awaiting trial for the murder of the Donnelly's, at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Monday next, the 17th inst. This move has been made through Æmilus Irving, Q.C., and Mr. C. Hutchinson, the Crown Attorney, and it is generally believed that the argument for a change has been strengthened, and will be made before the Court of Queen's Bench and Common Pleas, at noon on the day of removal of the prisoners. At present nothing definite is known. It has been arranged that the Biddulph prisoners shall leave London for Toronto by the six o'clock train on Monday morning.

THE ELORA MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—The annual meeting of the Institute was held in the town hall Monday evening last. The attendance was meagre. The President, Mr. C. Allan, in the chair. Allan, Boyle, McPherson, Field and Shaw were appointed a committee to select a room suitable for the accommodation of the library and reading room, and report to the general committee at next monthly meeting. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers, after which the meeting adjourned.

POCKET BOOK FOUND.—Mrs. Thos. Smith brought to the Police station to-day a pocket book with nothing in it but some papers. The owner of the property can have it by applying at the Police station.

RACING SHELL.—A handsome racing shell, purchased by Mr. Fred. Ellis, arrived last night from Toronto. The body is built of red Spanish cedar, the supports for the outriggers being made of walnut material. The shell is 30 feet four inches in length, the width across the beam is 11¾ inches and the weight is 32 pounds. It has an 18 inch slide and is furnished with swivel rowlocks.

J. S. COWAN, of Galt, father of Dr. Cowan, Guelph, has awarded Messrs. McQuillan & Hamilton the contract of erecting a handsome marble monument in Galt, over the grave of his wife, lately deceased. The marble used is to be a nicely colored American marble, closely resembling Italian, but much handsomer in appearance and better adapted to our climate.

WHERE SWALLOWS ROOST.—Last fall the congregation of St. Andrew's Church experienced some inconvenience in consequence of the church and school room filling with smoke from the furnaces. Previously the chimneys afforded a good draught and the course of the disordered flues could not be accounted for. Men were sent to work to repair the chimneys, which on examination were found to be almost completely choked with dead birds and rubbish the birds had deposited there. This spring the birds have returned to the same haunt, and the congregation is likely to have their trouble of last fall repeated. Every night hundreds of swallows roost in the chimneys, taking their departure in the morning.

THE TEMPERANCE SOCIAL.—The Guelph Temperance Club spent a very enjoyable two hours in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last night. A very fine programme was prepared and gone through with great credit to those who took part in it. The meeting was opened with a hymn by the choir and devotional exercises by the Rev. Mr. McGregor. Songs were sung by Misses Curtis, Miss McLaren and Miss McGregor, and by Messrs. Hugh Walker, Robt. Millar, and John Philp. Recitations were given by Mrs. Garner and Mr. Strachan and addresses by the Revs. J. C. Smith and Mr. McGregor, and at intervals appropriate hymns were sung by an excellent choir under the direction of Mrs. Budd. At the conclusion a letter was read from Vice-Chancellor Blake, who will speak for the Club in the City Hall, on the 27th inst.

NORFOLK STREET METHODIST CHURCH.—The musical and literary entertainment given by the Young People's Aid Society of the above church last evening was pretty well attended. The pastor, Rev. W. Williams, occupied the chair, and delivered a short appropriate address, and everything passed off pleasantly. The choir, under the leadership of Prof. Harrington, was present, and delighted the assembly with their musical selections. The Harrington family also favored the company with some excellent music. Mr. A. Schofield and Miss Maddock gave readings; Miss Smith also gave a humorous reading on house cleaning; Master Bates sang a song very nicely, and pleased the audience very much. A musical quartette also met with much favor. Mr. J. T. Brill gave an interesting account of his trip to the Old Country. The young people of the church are to congratulated upon the excellence of the entertainment provided, and the success that attended their efforts.

The Shooting of the Late Hon. George Brown.

TORONTO, May 14.—In the Bennett case this morning it was found that the prisoner had not been brought up owing to his having been committed for trial by the Coroner's jury on the charge of the wilful murder of the Hon. George Brown. His Worship was discharging the case against the prisoner on the charge of neglecting to support his wife, when Mr. H. M. East, on behalf of Mrs. Bennett, stated that he would prefer the case being withdrawn so as not to leave any imputation that Mrs. Bennett had failed to prove her marriage. The case was accordingly withdrawn.

Lieut.-Governor Macdonald and family bid farewell to the Executive Mansion on Simcoe street on Thursday evening next, when they leave for Montreal on the evening train. The Lieut.-Governor will hold office at the request of the Government till the 1st of July, and will, after a short visit to Montreal, return to Toronto to attend to the duties of his office.

THE CHEQUE DODGE AGAIN.—The old confidence dodge was played on Thursday at London, on a Huron farmer named Donnisington Doyle, who lives about eight miles from Lucknow. He met a highly dressed stranger, and the two walked around together. The stranger was going for the same train as Doyle, but he had a freight bill to pay, and no money but a $100 cheque, would Doyle lend him the money to pay the freight, and take the cheque as security till he could get it cashed. Doyle did so, the stranger went up the stairs of the Oddfellows hall to pay the freight, and has not since been seen. The cheque, of course, is worthless.

Nothing is known definitely as to the rebuilding of the Dundas Mills and Knitting Factory destroyed by fire last week. Mr. A. Ellis, the former lessee of the flouring mill, has made Mr. Harvey an offer with the intention of rebuilding himself if he gets the place. The Knitting Factory firm have not decided what they will do.

Presbyterian Synod.

The Synod met on Thursday morning and there was a large attendance. The principal business was the reading of reports of the Committees appointed to examine the records of the different Presbyteries, all of which were found to be correct and in order.

It was decided to hold the next Synod on the first Tuesday of May, 1881, at St. Paul's Church, Bowmanville, business to commence at 7:30 p.m.

The Treasurer presented the financial report, which was duly certified to by the Finance Committee, and showed a balance of $28 to the credit of the Synod. The report was adopted.

AN ARTHUR CASE.

Principal Grant as Chairman of the Committee appointed to investigate the report of the Saugeen Presbytery, which requested to know whether a man and woman at the Church of Arthur were proper members of the Church. It appeared that the wife had obtained a divorce from her first husband in the States, on the ground of intemperance, adultery, and desertion. She returned, married again, and joined the Church. The question to be decided by the Synod was whether this act which was illegal as regards Canada should be recognized by the Synod. The report recommended by a vote of 25 to 16 that the matter be referred to the Assembly.

The principal business done at the afternoon session, which lasted from three till six o'clock, was the consideration of matters concerning church discipline. Several members spoke, and the discussion was adjourned till 7:30.

The subject of Church Discipline, arising out of an action of the Presbytery of Lindsay, was again taken up, and occupied the whole evening.

It was finally resolved that Commissioners be appointed to sit with the Presbytery of Lindsay, to whom it was referred back. The meeting will take place on the 25th of May.

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

A coroner's jury in the Valleyfield shooting case returned a verdict on Thursday that the deceased Tessier was shot by Frank Alexe, but they could not agree whether the killing was homicide or manslaughter.

The three members elected to the Senate of the University of Toronto by members of Convocation this year are John King, M. A., of Berlin; S. Woods, M. A., of Kingston; and A. F. Campbell, M. A., of Toronto.

It is mooted that the Waterloo Woollen Manufacturing Company is considering the advisability of manufacturing flannels on a large scale. To do this would require the erection of a new building and the doubling of their present capacity.

Mr. J. C. Forbes, the well known artist, is at present engaged at Ottawa in painting the portraits of several members of the Dominion Government. Some of his work, recently finished, is spoken very highly of.

Davis, the bigamist, who has been convicted in Chicago of marrying three women, and is believed to have married thirteen, one of whom was a Canadian, has been sentenced to prison for a term of five years.

Following are the assessment returns of Goderich:—Real property $1,046,655; personal do $70,075; taxable income $26,640; aggregate value of all property $1,143,370. Population 4,328; persons from 21 to 60 years 1,928; number of dogs 172; cattle 207; hogs 18; horses 205.

On Thursday morning a man named Nathaniel Wyth, 48 years of age, who was engaged as helper to the melter in Gurney's foundry, Hamilton, went to work as usual about six o'clock, and while picking out and removing the cinders beneath the furnace, suddenly fell down, and expired in less than ten minutes thereafter.

Mrs. Isabella E. Johnston, coloured, died at the residence of her grand niece, Miss Harney, corner of Edward and Terauley streets, Toronto, on Thursday. The deceased was unquestionably the oldest woman in Canada, her age having been variously estimated at from 110 to 120 years. The latter figures were claimed by the old lady herself as correct. She was wont to relate facts in connection with the American Revolution of 1776.

Mary Whyte, a girl about 15 years of age, brought Susan Hamilton, a teacher in Dufferin public school, Toronto, before the police magistrate on Thursday for using insulting and abusive language. Miss Whyte complains that her teacher called her, in presence of the whole class a loafer and a rowdy, and that she kept bad company. The defendant claimed that the language employed was in a general way. Case adjourned.

Daily Mercury.

FRIDAY EV'NG, MAY 14, 1880

THE Canadians in Chicago have taken steps to form a Canadian Club in that city.

MR. BLAKE, remarks the Halifax Chronicle, is not only leader of the Opposition; he is leader of the House. At least the House seems to be largely directed by him.

THE retirement of Hon. J. O'Connor—who is to receive, if report be true, a puisne judgeship in Manitoba—will open the way for some one of the numerous seekers after Senate positions to have their wishes gratified.

THE argument in respect to the relative jurisdiction of the Federal and Provincial Governments over the grand jury system of Ontario will hardly be entered into until the return of the Hon. Mr. Mowat from England.

THE Conservatives of West Toronto are bestirring themselves preparing for action in case that constituency is left vacant by the appointment of the Hon. J. B. Robinson to either the Lieutenant-Governorship or Collectorship of Customs.

THE trouble over the Hansard contract between Mayor Mackintosh and Mr. T. J. Richardson has not yet been settled, and there is likely to be some fun in connection therewith. The Government have declined any more money until the work is completed, and the reporters are waiting for their pay.

THE Quebec provincial loan has been taken by Messrs. Cohen & Joubert, bankers, of Paris. The amount actually taken is $4,000,000 with the option of placing an additional $3,000,000 at any time within one year. The rate at which the loan, which bears 5 per cent., has been placed is 98 with a charge of 15-100th of 1 per cent. for stamps. The loan is to run for thirty years.

WHY cannot the Government allow our merchants and business men to send their invoices by mail for one cent postage, as is done in the States? Invoices posted in Buffalo, for example, can be sent to this city for one cent, but if posted here for that city they would require three cents each. Let us have cheap postage for all such matter as has to be sent by mail.

THE Ontario Government deserve every credit for putting a stop to the proposed prize fight this week at Long Point. The blackguards who sought to invade our territory found that they were no match for the Sheriff and the militia at his back, and so after any amount of profane swearing this gathering of bullies and blacklegs, prize-fighters and blackguards had to return, disappointed, without witnessing the brutal spectacle.

THE Times, commenting on the speech by the Marquis of Hartington at Devonshire Club, says:—Lord Hartington pleads that the Government inherited a considerable number of difficulties from their predecessors. They find the condition of Europe, Asia, and Africa full of embarrassments. He therefore thinks the country will not grudge the Government a little time to meet the difficulties, and that it will not be surprised if, during the remainder of the session, there is not much legislative activity.

THE London Daily News says:—The Cabinet Council on Friday will have, it is believed, a very serious question to decide. Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, having returned from Dublin, is said to be disposed to recommend coercive legislation with regard to Ireland. We trust no reason will be found for such a step, but if sufficient cause is shown to recommend the renewal of the Coercion Act, and if the peace of Ireland must depend on the continuance of such legislation for the present, the Liberals will be obliged to assent to the proposal.

FROM official copies of the British Columbia voters' lists, the exact number of registered voters in that Province, according to the lists now in force is 4,458. This includes all those who have duplicate votes, etc., and shows that the total electorate for the entire Province of British Columbia, with its six representatives, is over 13,300 less than the total electorate for the city of Toronto, which had at the general elections or 1878 a registered electorate of 17,773 votes. And yet the Government is about to spend ten or twelve million dollars there for a railway which can be of no earthly value to the rest of the Dominion for many years, also a large amount for a graving dock, etc. This we would call keeping the Columbians quiet at an enormous sacrifice.

BRITISH COLUMBIA seems to fare better at the hands of the Macdonald Government than any of the other Provinces. It is not supposed for a moment that because Victoria stood by Sir John in his hour of need he should exhibit a kindly generosity to the people of the Pacific slope generally, but facts speak louder than words. It was not enough to arrange for the expenditure of $12,000,000 in railway construction for the benefit of 12,000 people, but $250,000 more had to be thrown into their lap as a gift toward the building of a graving dock at Esquimalt. Sir John is not ungrateful, but he is rewarding his British Columbia friends to rather great an extent for the good of the Dominion treasury. It may be all very good for the few thousand men who inhabit that Province, but it will come pretty hard on the people in the other Provinces, who have to raise the money. It is time that a definite understanding was come to with this unimportant but greedy Province. It will scarcely do every time the members from that Province get their backs up and threaten to secede, that they should be bribed to quietness by another additional grant of some kind. It is high time to put a stop to this continuous and systematic bribery.

The "Globe's" New Managing Director.

The Globe of this morning contains the following announcement by Mr. J Gordon Brown, who has been appointed Managing Director in room of his deceased brother. Mr. Gordon Brown's long connection with the Globe renders him in very respect fully competent to manage its affairs, and we trust that he will long be spared to continue to guide its course, and keep it in the proud position it has so long held as the leading Liberal newspaper in Canada.

To the Friends and Readers of the Globe.

I have been appointed by the Directors of the Globe Printing Company to the post of Managing Director, the position lately held by my deceased brother, Mr. George Brown.

I have been connected with the Globe since its establishment, and for nearly thirty years have been its Managing Editor. With such an experience, it would argue undue diffidence on my part if I felt any doubt of my capacity to undertake the duty now imposed on me. In my special department I assume no new responsibilities. In the business affairs of the paper I have taken a considerable share. With efficient help from the present staff, and additions speedily to be made thereto, the publication of the Globe will be carried on with all the enterprise and energy which have hitherto distinguished it.

As to the principles and policy of The Globe, it seems to be only necessary to say that what they have been in the past they will continue in the future. The Globe will be an Independent journal, advocating the principles of the Reform party. Freedom of Trade, Economy and Honesty in the Public Expenditure, a Land Policy in the North-West based on Actual Settlement, construction of the Pacific Railway without undue haste or burdensome outlay, and British Connection will be the chief planks of its platform. Temperance, Morality, and Religion will as ever call orth its best efforts.

Beside the open grave on Wednesday last were men of all parties and creeds, assembled to pay respect to one who had held decided opinions, from which many there present strongly dissented. In such scenes the strifes of to-day shrink into insignificance, and lessons are taught of toleration and forbearance. Though wrong must be exposed and wrong-doers condemned, I hope to be enabled to avoid much of the bitterness which too often saddens party strife.

I enter upon my work with full confidence that I shall be able to carry The Globe higher and higher in its prosperous career.

J. GORDON BROWN.

Strange Freak of a Lunatic from Eramosa.

(From the Hamilton Times.)

It will be remembered that some months ago the congregation worshipping in St. Mary's R. C. cathedral were considerably alarmed and surprised to observe the conduct of a young and powerful man named Richard O'Brien. The man had to be ejected by force, to be taken to the cells and subsequently sent to jail, where he was examined by a number of physicians to ascertain if he was insane. The doctors decided that O'Brien was not a fit subject for the asylum, and on his release he went to his friends in the Township of Eramosa where he remained until a few days since, when he returned to this city. Ordinarily O'Brien is a quiet, inoffensive man, harmless as a child, but when these crazy fits come over him he is quite the reverse, will not listen to advice, and when crossed is rather a dangerous man, as he possesses considerable strength and activity. On Wednesday, about dinner time, O'Brien entered the pumping house of the lunatic asylum, on Queen street, and falling on his knees beside the engine, commenced to pray in a loud and fervid voice, which somewhat surprised the young man in charge, William Mosier. When O'Brien arrived at the 'amen' he went to the engine and attempted to put on more steam, but Mosier put on the delivery pipe. This angered the crazy man, who demanded more steam, and when refused he drove Mosier away, grabbing the pipe out of his hands. Mosier then ran round to the steam throttle and shut off steam, and then went over to the H. & D. S. R. sheds for assistance, but the man who came with him declined to tackle O'Brien, fearing he would prove too much for them. A couple of policemen were then telephoned for to the James street station, and they came O'Brien was arrested and taken to the lock-up. Mosier said that he did not wish to prosecute, but from the way in which O'Brien acted it was necessary to do so, as there was no telling what damage he might have done. The prisoner, on being asked why he had acted in such a singular manner, replied, 'I wanted to start the engine and hear her talk; she had been talking before, and I wanted to hear more.'

The P. M.—What did it say?

Prisoner—It said 'Catharine Kennedy, Catharine Kennedy,' at every stroke.

He was sentenced to $10 fine or 60 days in jail, the magistrate stating it to be the intention to have the man again examined, and ascertain if possible if he was not a fit subject for confinement in the asylum. It was, in his opinion, dangerous to have such a man at large, for although quiet when not under his mania, he was very dangerous when the fits came on.

A Loosing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patent who was complaining of her continuing ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

SHIPMENTS OF CATTLE.—The Reformer says Ayr station is becoming a great point for the shipment of cattle. Eight car loads designed for the English market were shipped from there on Tuesday the 4th inst. The average weight per head was 1,437 lbs.

PRINCE LEOPOLD SAILS FOR CANADA.—Prince Leopold sailed for Canada on Thursday. He arrived at Liverpool with his suite at five o'clock. Sir Alexander Galt, at the invitation of the Prince, accompanied him to Liverpool. The Mayor's carriage was waiting to convey him to the landing stage. The Prince embarked immediately on board the tender and steamed to the Sardinian, on which the royal standard was hoisted. The tide prevented the departure till eight o'clock. The weather is fine, and the prospect pleasant for the voyage.

LOVE STRICKEN SCHOOL TEACHER.—The Huron Signal says:—A school teacher who has been engaged in his section in Hullett for two years, and who is a married man with two children, was stricken with the charms of a miss 16.—He professed love and wrote her amorous doggerel verses which came into the hands of an elder sister. He was confronted with his guilt over his own handwriting and acknowledged the corn. He was dismissed and left for parts unknown just in time to avoid having a little equestrian exercise with a long triangular shaped piece of wood for the equine and a coating of dark resinous substance for his accoutrements.

SERENADE TO LORD CAMPBELL.—Lord Archibald Campbell was handsomely serenaded at the Prospect House on Thursday evening by the Clifton Caledonian Club, who turned out in full number, and well supplied with pipers. His Lordship cordially received them, thanked them in a neat speech for their hearty greeting, and shook hands sociably with each member of the club. After the Caledonians played several airs and engaged in a hornpipe, Lord Campbell's piper, Mr. Duff, favored the company with some fine selections on the pipes. The Caledonians were served with a fine collation, and returned to Clifton jolly, and playing "Auld Lang Syne."

A SHIPMENT OF HOGS STOPPED.—The hog cholera, which shut out American hogs for a short time for slaughtering purposes, is no sooner overcome than another difficulty is met with in the form of a kind of prohibition on Canadian hogs being brought to Montreal for shipment to Europe. Mr. W. S. Williamson, of Brampton, Ontario, sent down 200 Canadian hogs to be shipped to Britain on the steamer Ocean Queen. They were in the Grand Trunk Railway pens at Point St. Charles, where the Inspector forbade their being shipped to Europe or even removed from the pens, for the reason that these pens were formerly occupied by American hogs, although there have been no sign of disease among hogs brought there this season.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Mount Forest Confederate says Friday evening last two horses belonging to Mr. E. B. Campbell, lot 63, con. B. Normanby, as well as himself, narrowly escaped being poisoned. Mr. Campbell went out to the stable early in the evening with what he supposed was condition powders with which to dose his horses. He gave each of the horse as quantity and took about a teaspoonful himself. His wife on learning what he had done informed him that it was Paris green instead of condition powders. He was given an emetic, and one of our physicians was sent for, but upon arriving at the place found his services were not required, as Mr. Campbell was "himself again." The horses having had the poison longer than Mr. Campbell were not so easily restored. One of them is now out danger, but the other, at last accounts, it was feared would die.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER III.

About a week later Colonel Dabney reported, with a favourable recommendation to the House from the Committee on Public Property, "An Act restoring a certain amputated limb in the Medical Museum to Major G. Dunwoody." The Act specified the leg contained in Exhibit 1307, Case 25, as the property to be restored.

When the bill came up for discussion General Belcher moved to lay it upon the table. Defeated. Then he moved to amend it with a provision that the bone of the leg should be withdrawn and retained in the Museum. Rejected. Then he offered a resolution referring the whole matter to a Committee of Inquiry, which should be directed to sit for two years and to take testimony as to what had been the practice of Governments in the matter of surrendering legs blown off in battle from the time of Sennacherib down to the battle of Sedan, including evidence respecting the custom in Persia, Greece, Egypt, Rome, Carthage, Palestine, and modern Europe. After a spirited debate the resolution was lost. But the General was not discouraged. He presented another resolution that a special committee be directed to enquire whether the person mentioned in the bill was the same Major Dunwoody who in a fit of alcoholic frenzy in Clarion County, Pennsylvania, in 1866, treed his aged grandmother one rainy night and compelled that venerable and rheumatic person to roost upon a lofty branch until morning. Voted down. Yeas 304. Nays 1 (General Belcher).

The bill finally passed to a third reading and was adopted. When it had received the approval of the Senate and the President, Major Dunwoody drove around to the Museum in high glee with Pandora. He carried in his pocket an empty pillow-case, in which he proposed to take home with him the long lost fragment of himself. When he found the janitor and presented his credentials, that official was exceedingly polite and at once led the way to the place where the treasure was kept.

While he was unlocking the case, Pandora could hardly repress her feelings of joy. Leaning upon her lover's arm, and watching the janitor, she exclaimed:—

"Isn't it elegant, dear? I can hardly realise that we are really going to get it! Mother will be so glad when George Washington has his other leg on."

"I wish I had my other one on," said the Major, pleasantly.

"So do I! It's too bad! But you can stand it up on the table and look at it now as much as you want to, can't you, darling?"

The janitor lifted down the huge jar containing the limb and took it out of the spirits.

"I feel," said the Major, as he unfolded his pillow-case, "as if I was in a cemetery disinterring one of my near relations."

"So beautiful! Isn't it?" said Pandora.

The Major suddenly scrutinised the leg closely.

"Why, how—how's this? I don't exactly understand—Let's see, janitor, this is Exhibit 1307? Yes! Case 25! Yes, Case 25, so it is! Why thunder and Mars, (Excuse my agitation, Pandora) there must be something wrong about this!"

"Wrong, Henry? How?

"Guess not, sir," said the janitor. "This is what the bill calls for."

"But it can't be, you know. I lost my left leg, and this one you had in a jar here is a right leg, I couldn't have had two right legs, Pandora, of course!"

"I do not know, dear. Some persons have peculiarities of formation which—"

"Oh, well, now, be reasonable! I am absolutely certain that my leg was a left leg in every particular. You see, Pandora, this is a matter about which I may fairly be considered an authority."

"Yes, Henry, but—but maybe being in the alcohol so long may have changed it."

"Impossible! Quite impossible, Pandora. The annals of medical science, from Esculapius down, contain no record of such a thing. The leg is not mine."

"But you might as well take it dearest, mightn't you, because my George Washington ought to be finished as quickly as possible?"

"You don't want to put two right legs on him too, do you?"

"I don't know, Henry, I might. People won't look at his toes, and if they did they would regard the arrangement as one of the eccentricities of genius perhaps."

"Let us look about," said the Major. "Perhaps my leg is in one of these other cases. Why here it is! Sure enough! In Case 1236,, Exhibit 11. That is mine. You'll let me have it, Mr. Janitor, of course?"

"Can't do it, sir; I have to follow the Act of Congress carefully. I daren't go outside of it."

"Well, this is too bad!" exclaimed the Major.

"You positively won't give it to me?"

"No, sir; I won't."

"Well then, Pandora, there is nothing to do but to wait, I'll get Colonel Dabney to put another bill through at once. Let me get the numbers: Exhibit 11, Case 1236."

Then, taking Pandora upon his arm, the Major hobbled to his carriage and drove straight to the Capitol.

About three weeks later another bill passed the House without opposition, General Belcher being absent in New York upon a Committee of Inquiry. While the measure was pending in the Senate Achilles Smith, one morning, at an early hour, entered a rear door of the Museum with a key which he had obtained by bribing the charwoman, and proceeding to Case 1236 he removed the leg from the jar No. 11 and put it into another jar in another case, replacing it with the leg that had been in the latter jar.

He went down stairs chuckling: "You mutilated outcast, you," he said, addressing the Major, in imagination; "we'll see who'll beat at this game!"

When the Act had been signed by the President, the Major drove with Pandora to the Museum a second time. Upon reaching Case 1236 he was for a moment stricken dumb with amazement. Presently he said—

"Why, Pandora, my dear, do you see? It's the leg of a colored man!"

"Ye—e—er, it seems to be, Henry. But perhaps mortification or something has set in!"

"It's very mysterious! I can't account for it."

"One of your legs was not colored, was it, my love?"

"Oh no, of course not!"

"Perhaps the janitor here has tarred it over, to preserve it better?"

"No, ma'am; that's not allowed in this institution."

"You'll take it anyhow; won't you Henry?"

"Oh, my dear, be reasonable! Take the leg of a negro for mine!"

"Well but, Henry, I can paint it white in my picture."

"Yes; but, Pandora! you know we won't care to have particles of fractured Africans scattered about our house. We can have no cherished memories associated with a leg like this."

"I suppose not; but it seems rather hard that my Washington should have to stand upon that one leg at least a month longer."

"He won't mind it. He was heroic. He would have stood upon a solitary leg for centuries rather than have robbed another man of his members."

Pandora sighed deeply and made up her mind to try to be resigned; and so they went down stairs and drove away to state the case to Colonel Dabney.

The Colonel after hearing the story distinctly affirmed the opinion that there had been foul play. The Major jumped at the suggestion and told him of General Belcher and Achilles Smith, and their designs respecting Pandora.

"Never mind! I will defeat their plans," said the Colonel. "You shall have the leg next time, if it is still in existence, no matter who meddles with it."

The next Act reported by Colonel Dabney provided that Major Henry G. Dunwoody should have authority to take possession of his leg wherever it could be found, in any institution under control of the Government.

General Belcher made a long and eloquent speech in opposition to the bill.

He referred to the heroes of the past. Who ever heard of Epaminondas prowling about in search of a leg lost in honourable warfare? Did Leonidas return from Thermopylae to seek the aid of the National Legislature in an effort to recover members of his body that had been hacked off? Hannibal was fairly torn to pieces, but he would have scorned to go fishing in alcohol jars for them. Cæsar, Alexander, Wallenstein, Wellington, General Jackson, were all mighty warriors, but he had yet to learn that they ever stooped to begging their respective Governments for mangled remains that had been preserved for the instruction of medical men and the alleviation of the sufferings of the human race. No, it was reserved for this obscure American militiaman, who was gravely suspected of fiendish barbarity to an aged and infirm grandsire, and who had been charged with hiding behind a baggage waggon at Gettysburg, to begin this ghoulish practice of grasping for legs that had been solemnly dedicated to the uses of our common country.

He would direct attention to the remarkable and mysterious circumstances surrounding this case. It was admitted even by the friends of Major Dunwoody that he had one leg. The other legs had been awarded him by separate Acts of Congress. That made three. He had in his hand a receipt for two artificial legs supplied to Major Dunwoody by the Government, making five; and he was credibly informed that the Major had recently appeared at a church in the capital wearing a French leg, with which he performed some extraordinary, not to say scandalous, feats during the service. Thus there was positive evidence that this person had already in his possession six legs, and now he was demanding from Congress permission to take a seventh! He appealed to the House, was it reasonable that one man should be allowed to have seven legs? Would it look well for this House to announce to the country that it was willing to rifle the Medical Museum in order to confer an additional leg upon a man who was the owner of six others? He could understand such legislation if men were constructed like centipedes, but it seemed to him more than monstrous, positively iniquitous, indeed, to vote away the pathetic and instructive remanents of our glorious heroes for that purpose of furthering the insidious, perhaps treasonable, designs of a man who had enough legs of various kinds already to make three ordinary men comfortable.

When the General concluded his remarks, Colonel Dabney replied, and stated the facts of the case plainly and forcibly. The bill was passed by a handsome majority.

Public Speakers and Reporters.

(From the New York Sun.)

The campaign for President is at hand, and two armies of speakers will soon be in the field. From many of the leaders on both sides have often come complaints that the newspapers have not dealt fairly with them in the reports of their speeches.

There are several reasons why reports cannot always please, the most prominent of which are the haste, the excitement, and often the downright carelessness of the speakers themselves. As a rule, there is no just ground for complaint against reporters, for, while a few speeches may sometimes be seriously damaged, most of them are greatly improved.

It should be remembered that extemporaneous speaking, except by trained and skillful orators, generally reads badly. The reproduction on paper of an off-hand speech is sure to reveal errors and imperfections at which the speaker himself is sometimes astonished, and for which the reporter is often blamed.

By the public speaker there are two great errors to be guarded against—a rapid delivery and the habit of using long and involved sentences. The first may put his speech beyond the reach of all average reporters, and the second may lead him into a maze of parentheses, from which no reporter can quickly release him without, perhaps handling him roughly. To be sure, a little pruning and grafting can often turn involved and unfinished sentences into beautifully rounded periods, but this requires time, and editors in the hurry of the hours approaching publication are often obliged to take the plain matter without stopping to polish it.

It is generally supposed that reporters, with their ravenous "little pens," can get the language of a speaker pretty much as a hen pecks corn. This is a popular error. No man can report what he can't understand; where the mind fails to follow the ideas, the fingers refuse to catch the words. To prove this, one has only to watch a young reporter attempting to take one of Mr. Evart's speeches. Like the athlete that comes to grief through too much reliance in the size of his muscle, the tyro is fooled by too much faith in the speed of his writing. With a self-sufficient air he flings down his note book and gives his elbow the phonographic swing. Slowly, at first, and with a graceful undulating motion, his pencil follows Evarts, but it appears to get exhausted before the end of the first page is reached.

It staggers, goes into spasms, and finally stops altogether. Up goes that reporter's head, and with an expression of blank amazement, he tries to assist his eyes with his mouth in the effort to see through the thin man who can't help him and can't help himself. Whoever has witnessed a boatman with a broken painter in his hand, watching the vessel that was towing him gliding off and fading away in a fog, can best realize the position of that reporter.

The art of public speaking in this country seems to be on the decline, either because there is no longer any demand for oratory since the newspaper article has so largely taken the place of the speech, or because the extreme caution of our public men has introduced the practice of delivering written addresses. The extemporaneous speech, however, is really the one worth listening to. It has a ring of freedom and straight-forward purpose about it that can never be found in the cold stiffness of the carefully prepared essay, and if the speaker is often disappointed at the reflection of his own imperfections, he is, on the other hand, probably just as often agreeably surprised at the clearness of his utterances in the light of what has been so well termed the fire of oratory. Some of the best speeches that we have on record were made by men who, before they rose to speak, had but faint outlines of what they were about to say. With a written address, stiffly read, there can be little or no sympathy between the speaker and his audience. He generally fails to capture their attention, and produces drowsiness where he expected cheers. For the speaker who wants to find out what there is in him in the line of oratory, it is far better to abandon the cautious habit of writing his speeches, and, taking courage from the fact that the extreme precision of language is expected of him only when he writes, fearlessly "think aloud" upon his legs like a man.

Dominion Grange.

The Executive Committee of the Dominion Grange met at the Walker House, Toronto, on Thursday. The following were present:—E. H. Hilburn, Master; W. Pemberton Page, Secretary; J. B. Aylesworth, A. Gifford, Charles Drury and Wm. Anderson. The morning session was occupied with the transaction of business specially connected with the interior working of the Order. At the afternoon sitting action was taken on a resolution from the Dominion Grange instructing the Secretary to forward to the Secretaries of all subordinate Granges, not later than the 15th of July, in each year, a circular, asking for a concise report of the probable results of the harvests in the locality of each Grange. Acting on the resolution the Secretary was instructed by the Committee to prepare and distribute a schedule of questions to ascertain the probable amount of grain, fruit, vegetables, &c., raised throughout the country, as well as information on the general crop prospects. On motion the Secretary was instructed to prepare and transmit to the subordinate Granges a form of petition to the Local Legislature, praying that the clause in the Municipal Act legalizing a tax on farm produce exposed for sale be repealed, or so amended as to remove the cause of complaint at present existing among farmers on this point. Provision was made for the formation of Provincial Granges in the different Provinces of the Dominion, to be composed of delegates from Division Granges. After some further preliminary work the Committee adjourned to resume next morning.

Fiery Splendor in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 5.—The Volcano of Colima, now in active eruption, is a grand and magnificent sight. The first symptoms of activity were manifested on Sunday. There were low rumblings and subterranean mutterings, and the mountain shook and trembled. The eruption at night is full of splendor and grandeur. Last night lurid flames shot up from the crater of the volcano, illuminating the darkness for miles around. Incandescent stones are also thrown up, together with showers of ashes, which darken the atmosphere in daytime. The fire, smoke, ashes and stones are accompanied with dreadful subterranean thunderings and frightful and unearthly noises under the volcano, together with quakings of the earth. Inhabitants of villages and towns in the vicinity of the mountain are in a state of panic and wild terror. They are, indeed, in danger in case of a flow of lava.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

Smuggling American Goods at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, May 15.—Last night, Mr. Simpson, of the Customs, being on the look out for smugglers, espied a boat containing a load of goods approaching from the American shore. As soon as the boat touched our shore, he jumped into it and seized both men, but in the tussle the boat upset. One of the men named Rowley, who lives on the American shore opposite here, took to his heels, but the officer soon overhauled him and had him locked up, but the stupid policeman allowed him to escape. The other man also escaped. The officer seized seven packages of glass and cutlery.

Serious Accident.

PORT HOPE, May 15.—David Cheer, who for the past 25 years has been yard-master here for the Midland Railway, was, it is feared, fatally injured this morning. While superintending the unloading of a timber train he was struck by a heavy stick and thrown into the harbor, another stick falling on him while he was in the water, breaking his spine and both his legs, and inflicting other injuries. This is the third time he has been hurt while in the discharge of his duty.

The Thames Rat Industry.

Digging Down the River Walls to Catch Rats by Thousands.

(London News.)

At the Woolwich Police Court lately Wootten was summoned by the Plumstead District Board of Works for damaging the bank of the River Thames by removing the earth, the damage being laid at ten shillings. The charge against the defendant was that he damaged the river wall by digging for rats on the Kent shore at the spot where the Princess Alice foundered. It appeared that at the place referred to, which is contiguous to the northern and southern outfall sewers, water rats (the Mus amphibius) abound in tens of thousands. They feed on pieces of bread and fat which float on the surface of the water every time the metropolitan sewage is discharged into the river. Prior to last year the fat was collected by men in boats, giving rise to a supposition, which gained a good deal of credence at the time, that it was purified and sold as butter. The provisions of the Adulteration Act, or some other unknown cause, cleared the Woolwich and Erith Reaches of these river scavengers. The latter have been replaced by an army of rats which flourish and multiply to an alarming extent on the refuse food finding its way into the London sewers. These rats frequently run up the sides of the vessels, and thus get carried to every part of the world. This abundance of water-rats naturally attracted the local and London rat-catchers, who secured the animals alive and sold them at 4s. per dozen. In digging into the river wall to procure them considerable damage was done, and as the law throws the maintenance of this portion of the Thames bank upon the Plumstead District Board of Works the latter put up notice-boards offering a reward of £5 on conviction of any person found injuring the river wall. John Harding, a young fellow living in Dawson street, Plumstead, having seen the notice-boards, probably conceived the idea of watching till the rat catchers came to ply their calling. A few days back Harding observed the defendant digging with a spade for rats, and forthwith proceeded to give information to Mr. Ginger, the assistant surveyor for Plumstead parish. The two men met the defendant coming from Tripcock Point carrying a spade and a dozen rats in a cage. He acknowledged the truth of all Harding said, but stated that he was not aware that he was committing any offence. Mr. Balguy ordered him to pay 10 shillings damages, with 4 shillings costs, or to undergo seven days' imprisonment. The Plumstead District Board of Works met the same day and ordered payment of the £5 to Harding, on which one of the members (Mr. Kimber, solicitor) pointed out that a reward of £5 and a penalty of 10 shillings would very soon induce young fellows out of work to act in collusion, one digging for rats and getting fined 14 shillings and the other taking the reward of £5 and dividing it between them. Upon this view of the case being presented to the board, it was formally resolved to reduce the reward from £5 to 1 guinea.

Mr. James Walker, Superintendent of the N. W. Mounted Police, has been on a visit to his father and friends in Ancaster. Mr. Walker is stationed at Battleford, N. W. T., and to reach Battleford he had to travel 500 miles in sleighs and 200 in waggons, making a twenty day's trip with five days additional from Winnipeg to Ancaster.

Local News.

THE lacrosse club is to meet on Monday evening at the Wellington Hotel to reorganize for the season.

HOSPITAL DUTY.—Rev. J. Coutts and Dr. Herod will attend the hospital next week.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Light to moderate variable winds; generally clear warm weather.

GENERAL HOSPITAL.—There are at present twenty patients in the General Hospital. The number is less than it has been for some months.

The exasperated owner of a corner store has put up a sign reading:—"Wanted, the ten laziest men in town—to loaf on this corner."

How very soon people discover they have characters to lose when summoned before the police magistrate to answer for some of their questionable actions.

GEORGE ABERDEEN and family, of Guelph Township, left by the Great Western Railway yesterday for Sault Ste. Marie, where they will take up their residence.

AMONG the delegates from Canada who will be present at the centenary of the foundation of Sunday Schools by Robert Raikes, shortly to be held in England, will be Rev. Mr. Mullan, of Fergus.

JOHN HOGG & SON are opening out several cases of New York shapes in hats and bonnets, and some elegant paterns in muslins, buntings, etc. Their stock certainly looks very complete. See their advertisement.

WELLINGTON PARK.—These grounds are being rapidly put in order. A liberal supply of trees and shrubs have been planted. The ground has been dug and sown with grass seed, except along the borders of the walks which have been sodded. It is expected the improvements will be completed by the 24th of May. The fountain was playing to-day and looked very pretty.

"GRIP" this week has in its representative figures of Reform and Conservative mourning together at the grave of the late George Brown, and placing their wreath of flowers on his tomb, well pourtrayed the universal sorrow felt for the loss the country has sustained in his death. The poetic and prose tribute to his memory also do honour to the head and the heart of our contemporary.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—As will be seen by advertisement, the annual meeting of the members of the Guelph Mechanics' Institute will be held in the rooms of the Institute on Monday evening first, for the purpose of receiving the report, for the election of officer-bearers and the transaction of other business. We hope there will be a full attendance of the members, and that they will show by their attendance an interest in the Institute which is now, we are glad to say, in a very prosperous condition.

A NICE POINT.—The case of Susan Hamilton, for using abusive language towards her pupil, Mary Whyte, was again before the police magistrate of Toronto, on Friday, and was again remanded to obtain the decision of the Superior Court on the question raised by Mr. Nicholas Murphy, the lawyer for the prosecution. He contended that the magistrate in a summary conviction case was bound to take down all evidence. This the magistrate refused to do, only taking down what he considered relevant. Mr. Murphy will apply for a mandamus on Tuesday. The decision will be important as it will affect all J. P.'s and police magistrates.

CALLED TO THE BAR.—We are glad to learn that at the Easter examinations of the Law Society of Osgoode Hall, on Friday, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, of this city, passed a most creditable examination for Barrister, and was called to the Bar. Mr. Johnston's written examination was so good that the oral was dispensed with. We congratulate Mr. Johnston on being able so creditably to attain this the highest step in the professional ladder, and have no doubt that he will make his mark as a successful Barrister. Mr. D. McLean, formerly of Guelph, and at one time in Mr. A. H. Macdonald's office, also passed an excellent examination, and was called to the Bar.

APPLETONS' JOURNAL for June has a paper by Appleton Morgan, resuming the discussion he began last year on the authorship of the Shakspeare plays. Mr. Morgan in this article reviews all the various theories of their authorship, and gives a most graphic and striking picture of the Shakspearean period. Whether one agrees with Mr. Morgan or not, it is impossible not to enjoy his pungent and suggestive comments. There is the first half of a novelette by Victor Cherbuliez, entitled "Herr Drommel's Inconsistencies," in which the brilliant characteristics of that writer appear at their best. The story is full of wit, point, fresh characterization, and the main situation is certainly a novel one. Herr Drommel is a German savant, who is made the butt of the author's brilliant satire. There is another selection from "Senior's Conversations," giving utterances from Lamartine, Renan, and others. It is eminently readable. There is a very entertaining paper on Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy"; a paper on Siberia, which gives quite a new idea of that much-talked-of country, by which it appears that a banishment to Siberia is not the terrible thing it has been supposed to be. There is a second paper on "Health at Home," from Dr. Richardson; an article on Gottfried Keller, the Swiss novelist; one on "Dreams," which is full of strange matter; a paper on "Infernal Machines," and the "Spanish Theatre." The editor's departments complete the number, which is full of valuable and very readable material.

THE Hazelton Baths are now open.

The 30th Battalion will go into camp this summer.

THE REV. MR. MAXWELL and others will address the Gospel Temperance Club in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at four p. m. tomorrow.

DEATH OF A COUNTY TREASURER.—Mr. Chas. Stanton, for twenty-four years the respected Treasurer of Waterloo County, died at Berlin on Friday afternoon after a short illness, aged 74 years.

A GENERAL Ordination is to be held in St. George's Church on Sunday, May 23rd, by the Bishop of Niagara. Rev. Canon Belt, M.A., is to preach the Ordination sermon.

THE great feast of Pentacost or Whit Sunday will be observed with fitting solemnity at Our Lady's Church to-morrow. At the High Mass, 10.30 o'clock a.m., the choir will sing Mozart's 12th Mass. At 7 o'clock in the evening there will be grand Vespers and Benediction. d1

RETURNED— Mr. Peter Ryan, who has been on a visit to Pennsylvania, has returned to the city. Mr. Wm. Dowrie, Guelph Township, who some time ago left for a trip to Nebraska, has also returned. Both gentlemen say that in their travels they have not seen a finer country than there is about Guelph.

ACCIDENT.—Claude Tiffan, living at Eden, near Harriston, was brought to the General Hospital here on Wednesday, having received a severe cut from an axe on the right foot. When the accident occurred he was hewing timber when the axe struck his foot, penetrating the beg toe almost through. The wound was dressed here and the patient is doing well.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH.—The musical service at St. George's Church on the 20th, promises to be one of the most interesting of the kind that has been heard in Guelph. The choir-master of St. George's has freely devoted nearly all his leisure time, as well as his well-known talent, to the improvement of the music of that church, and is worthy in the highest degree of the compliment that is to be paid him. See advertisement.

WHEN THE SWALLOWS HOMEWARD FLY.—Our local item yesterday "Where swallows roost," had the effect of bringing out a number of citizens last night to witness the actions of this feathery tribe on going to roost. About dusk many hundred swallows assembled in the neighborhood of St. Andrew's Church, and after dividing into sections or companies and making several circuits and considerable noise above the steeple, each circuit being smaller in circumference than the preceding one, they would gradually wind themselves down into the tall chimney until the last one was in; then another section would go through the same manœuvers and so on until it came to the last one or rear guard, and after sailing around for a moment or two to see if all was safe, would make a dart down into the chimney and rest for the night with their feathery companions. The sight of these birds going to roost is worth a visit, and independent of the novelty of the scene, impressed many with the thought that while they feel safe with the protection the chimney affords, they are under the eye of Him who knoweth when one of their number falls to the ground.

FIRES IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The terrible forest fires continue. Over three million feet of lumber, besides a vast amount of valuable timber, has been destroyed, and several houses and barns burned. Six thousand acres were on fire on Friday. The damage is incalculable. The fires are nearly all incendiary. Four hundred buildings were burned at Milford on Friday, including the entire business portion, six churches, the Academy of Music, banks, newspaper offices, the railroad depot, and all the hotels. Several bodies have been recovered, burned beyond recognition. It is estimated that 3,000 people are homeless.

The Synod of Toronto and Kingston met on Friday morning, Rev. Mr. Torrance, Moderator in the chair.

Principal Grant brought up a resolution referring to the loss the church had sustained during the past year in the death of Rev. Michael Willis, D. D., L. L. D., Rev. Alexander Topp, D. D., Rev Professor Mackerras, M. A., Rev. William Barrie, D. D., Rev. James Breckenridge, and Rev. D. Anderson, of whom appropriate obituary notices have been placed on record in the minutes of the Presbyteries to which they respectively belonged.

Rev. J. M. Cameron read the Sabbath School report, in which they urged the holding in each year in February in each Presbytery a Sabbath School conference.

Rev. Mr. Wilson read the report of the Committee on Sabbath observance, in which allusion was made to the recent attempt to hold sacred concerts on Sunday evenings, and which it was hinted had been started by the elaborate solo singing and music held in some churches.

Rev. Mr. Fraser, Mount Forest, read the report of the Committee on Temperance, in which several recommendations were made for checking the evils of intemperance.

Several overtures were brought up and remitted to the General Assembly, and after the customary votes of thanks, the proceedings were concluded with devotional exercises by the Moderator.

ACCIDENT TO THE FIRE ESCAPE MAN.—An accident of a very painful nature, and one that may be attended with fatal results, occurred at the Walker House, Toronto, on Friday evening. It appears that a man named Wm. Davis was engaged in exhibiting or testing a contrivance for fire escape, constructed of ropes, in the sale of which he had an interest. He was in the upper story of the building at the rear, and had already made one descent to the ground with safety, but while he was making the second trip, and when he had descended the distance of one story, the rope broke, precipitating him headlong to the hard roadway below, a distance of between 40 and 50. He was picked up in an insensible condition, and is thought to have received internal injuries.

PLUM TREES.—There is a little fact worth knowing to those who have plum trees, and that is that already the "Curculio" are at work. If proof is wanted, wrap a piece of woollen cloth around the stem of a tree in blossom just below the limbs, and examine it by unwinding it every morning before the sun gets very strong. The little pests will be found in more or less quantities in the cloth or between it and the tree. A great many can be destroyed this way, but perhaps not sufficient to save the plums unless "jarring" the tree is also resorted to. This should be done as early as the young plums are seen to be forming, certainly cannot be done too early after the blossom is seen to be falling. It is all the better of being done early in the morning, but seven or eight o'clock will do fairly well, and great numbers can be destroyed. The evening again, after sundown, is a good time. Spread a large piece of white cotton below the tree and hit it a quick jar in such a way as not to injure the bark, and the insect will fall on the sheet and may easily be picked off and destroyed. Every man who has plum trees owes it to his neighbor to do what he can to do away with this most destructive pest.—Galt Reporter.

ARTHUR JUNCTION RAILWAY.—A railway deputation consisting of Messrs. McMartin, Fraser and O'Callaghan attended a meeting of the municipal Council of the Township of Peel which was held at Mrs. Stork's Belfast House, Goldstone, on Monday, the 10th inst. It was called by the Reeve "according to agreement" for the purpose of submitting a By-law, granting a bonus of six thousand dollars to the Arthur Junction R. R. Company as agreed between the Presidents of the Arthur Junction and the Waterloo, Wellington and Georgian Bay Railway Companies. The Council agreed with the deputation in having conditions inserted in the By-law, whereby no part of the proceeds of the debentures shall be paid over until the road is completed from Alma to Arthur, and regular freight and passenger trains running thereon; and in case any interest accrues on the proceeds of the debentures before it is paid over to the Company, the trustees are bound to pay it to the municipality. Another condition of the By-law, as will be seen, is that a flag station shall be maintained by the Company, at the intersection of the line of railway with the road allowance between the 16th and 17th concessions. The By-law also obliges the Company to build the railway on the line in rear of concession B, as well as to carry wood, stave bolts, heading and other material, at the regular rates.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills.

The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, prove plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to do. The virtue of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For diseases of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of the diseases, and of many others. If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy and a box of the Pills. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person, as they are purely vegetable, there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use will doubly repay you for their expense and trouble.

Try these great remedies and be convinced that they are no humbug. No one who has tried the Shoshonees Pills has ever pronounced an unfavorable opinion of them; no family where they have been used will be without them. Full information may be had on all particulars touching the use, and the experience of those who have used them, by securing the Treatise or the Circular from your druggist Free. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $1; Pills 25 cents a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

The Condition of Agriculture in Britain.

The people in this country are well aware that agriculturists in Britain have for some time been passing through a trying ordeal, and that a succession of unfavorable seasons have been followed by such disastrous results as to completely discourage the farmers. They have year by year suffered serious losses. Their revenues have been decreased. They have been obliged to fall back on capital, while only in some cases have rents been reduced, or any compensation held out for the losses which have been incurred by a succession of unfavorable seasons, and the effects of competition abroad. We are not then surprised to hear that Mr. James Caird, an eminent agricultural authority, has lately said:—"Nothing like the present depression in the agricultural interest has been seen since the repeal of the Corn Laws. In nine years there have been seven defective wheat harvests in England, where the bulk of the wheat crop is grown. There has been lost in these years one fourth more than a whole year's crop. A loss to wheat growers of more than £30,000,000 sterling, with no compensation in higher prices. The introduction of foreign meat and cereals is of immense benefit to the consuming classes. American statesmen believe they are rapidly gaining control of this trade and can maintain it even at lower prices. It must be met by the production here of articles which will not bear long storage or carriage, such as milk, fresh butter, meat, early vegetables, hay, straw, potatoes and sugar beet. All interests, in land, whether of owner, occupier or laborer, must be disenthralled; the control of dead land must be removed and the sale and transfer of land simplified. Encumbered estates will then be broken up into small properties; the drain of agricultural labor and capital to the United States and Canada will alter the existing conditions of agricultural property in England. Our agriculture must adapt itself to the change, freely accepting the good it brings and skilfully using the advantages which a greater proximity to the best market must always command."

The London Times commenting on Mr. Caird' letter on British agricultural prospects and the American competition, says:

It marks out an ample field for the enterprise of the British farmer, and we are disposed to think it is in the development of this field, rather than in the legislative changes Mr. Caird suggests, that his real hope is to be sought. He has at present the power of insisting that his tenancy shall be on equitable conditions. He can claim the shelter of the Agricultural Holdings Act, and if he has not independence to protect himself no compulsory legislation will be of much benefit to him. The remarkable facts which Mr. Caird discusses appear to point inveitably to the conclusion that agriculturists in this country must greatly modify the direction of their enterprise, and consecrate their capital and labor on articles in which America and Australia cannot compete with them. But there is nothing to show that new fields of enterprise are not open to them which will be at least as remunerative as the old.

Editorial Items.

THE Hamilton Times gives currency to the report that the Hon. John Carling will be called to the Senate in room of the late Han. Geo. Brown.

THE Hon. Frank Smith is spoken of in relation with a Cabinet position. In the case of his being taken in, the retirement of the Hon. John O'Connor is considered certain, as both are Irish Roman Catholics.

THE Superior Court in Montreal has given a queer ruling about the Sunday laws:—It declares that the by-law and local statute requiring the closing of stores on Sunday are unconstitutional, and that the only legal power the Corporation possesses is that which enables it to pass by-laws to prohibit selling or exposing for sale on Sundays. This is hair-splitting with a vengeance.

STRATFORD Beacon:—What do we—about four millions of people—want with either a High Commissioner or his sword-bearer? Sir John and Sir Alexander with their Windsor uniforms and sounding titles may possibly have their fancies tickled in this way, but when the bill comes in what will the taxpayers think of it? They will conclude that the whole thing is very like a delusion and a snare.

Although less than a week has elapsed since sets of questions under Section 1, by the Ontario Agricultural Commission, relating to the soil, climate, products, and progress and condition of husbandry in Ontario, were forwarded to the reeves of the respective townships, and although fifteen days were allowed for the returns to be made, it is gratifying to learn that the returns are already beginning to make their appearance at the office of the Commission.

SUDDEN deaths appear to be the rule with our Canadian statesmen. D'Arcy McGee was assassinated when entering his hotel at Ottawa. Sir George E. Cartier's death, of Bright's disease, although not entirely unexpected, was a surprise, when it came. Governor Wilmot may be said to have dropped dead, and Governor Chandler's death was sudden. Mr. Holton died after only an hour or two of warning. Mr. Brown is cut down in the midst of his usefulness by a murderer's hand.

AT the half-yearly meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Co., held last week, Sir H. Tyler, M. P., the chairman, said he was sorry to say that the Canadian Government had added 10 cents a ton to the tax on coal. He could not conceive the wisdom or justice of such an arrangement. The industries of Canada required coal, the people of Canada, in such a climate, required coal, and one would have thought that the object of a wise and paternal Government would be to allow them to have that coal as cheaply as they could obtain it. And so say we all but Sir L. Tilley, his colleagues, and the "mechanical" majority at their back in Parliament.

Responsibilities and Duties of Newspapers.

At a banquet in Detroit recently, Mr. George P. Goodale, city editor of The Free Press, in replying to the toast "The Press," made the following remarks, which very aptly illustrate the responsibilities and duties which are imposed upon the properly conducted newspaper:

There is something to be said on the subject embodied in the words of the toast. Indeed, it has engaged the thought and eloquence of men standing in the nation's most exalted places; and I am proud that I hold the honored office of spokesman for an institution of such power for usefulness and right.

I have observed that the versatile American citizen—especially if he never saw the interior of a newspaper office—prides himself on his ability to fill the editorial chair. He does not always find the opportunity to show the world what he can do in that position, but he does the next most available thing: offers sage advice to the experienced editor, who has learned the business from press room to skylight.

I have not unfrequently felt that the press has neglected some noble and promising opportunities for human good; that it's great heart has not always throbbed responsive to that which the chancery lawyers describe as equity and good conscience; and that sordid impulses may have sometimes sent both its heart and brain off on a tangent not in the direction of true wisdom. The journalist who acknowledges as well as recognizes these facts is in my judgment likely to hew nearest that line of "equity and good conscience." I believe that the great majority of journals have right and high aims. True, men do not risk large pecuniary interests in journalistic enterprises altogether for public good. They are not, in the strictest sense, self-sacrificing missionaries. Publishing newspapers is a business, amenable to business-laws. If these be ignored disaster is inevitable. If newspapers did not make money you may be very sure they would not long endure. But there is the voice of the people demanding of the press that it does not deceive them nor forget that, in addition to its mission as the mirror of the world's each day's history, its higher mission is the diffusion of intelligent thought and the conservation of morals. In the very nature of the case—by virtue of its easy reach—and in the light of the significant fact that the newspaper is practically found in every household, its influence is potential—far outreaching that of any other human device we know anything about. The pulpit, the stage, poetry and all the literature found in good books aim high, but they lack the democracy of the newspaper, and therefore they do not come into such intimate relations with the great bodies politic and social. The very intimacy of the press and people is the strongest argument I can offer by way of appeal to journalists everywhere to guard their columns against impurities, and to cast their opinions in the mould of sincere conviction.

The fearless journal, if it be fearless in defence of right and in assailing wrong, is mightier than an army with banners. I have no wish to mistakenly glorify any human institution, but I think it easily true that there is grandeur in the victories of the press over cant and fraud, neither of which common and skillful enemies can live long in the fierce heat of its exposure. For the brave and honest press there is still a nobler garland—the approbation of its own conscience and the enthusiastic adherence of its friends.

I should like to tell you something of the men who make the newspaper; something of the ardor with which they fling themselves into that morgue where leisure and domesticity lie dead; something of the merciless and inexorable toil which the profession demands of its slaves. It would, no doubt, be of interest to you to know something of the methods of the men whose drudgery of brain and body outlasts the stars at night; and were I able to fittingly phrase the truth I might enlist your curiosity in respect of those arcana of the journalistic temple, and whet your relish for the fascinations with which the career is spiced for those who truly wed it. That would invade your patience too far now. The passing hour warns me to say good night.

A Monster Vampire from Asia.

In a store on Summit street may be seen an animal the like of which but few people in Toledo have seen. It is a monster South Asian vampire, the much dreaded "blood-sucker" of that country. This rare creature, perhaps the only living specimen of the kind in this country, is about one and a half feet long, has a pair of piercing black eyes which shine like diamonds, a double row of sharp teeth, similar to the weasel, and its powerful wings when stretched its full length, measure two and a half feet from point to point.

The vampire hangs suspended from a bar in the centre of its cage by a pair of formidable claws, and when in repose resembles a closed umbrella. Its body is covered with a comfortable coat of brown fur, while its beautifully proportioned head which has a remarkable similarity to that of a black and tan terrier dog, is surmounted by a pair of large shell-shaped ears. This strange creature is almost totally blind during the day, but at night its little eyes twinkle with astonishing brilliancy. The vampire is kept in a temperature of about 70 degrees, in order to conform as nearly as possible with the climate of his native home.—Toledo Commercial.

The principal reduction in real estate is on the south side of the river.

Teachers' Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the South Wellington Teachers' Association, was held in the High School, Guelph, on Friday. The forencon session was opened about 10 o'clock, the President, Mr. Boyle, of Elora, in the chair. There was a fair attendance of teachers. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

The President then read the finance report for 1879, showing a balance of about $50 on hand. A lively discussion took place as to the best means of appropriating the money on hand, some being in favour of expending it in educational periodicals, others in publishing some of the best essays read at the conventions, while the majority were in favour of purchasing a professional library for the use of the teachers. Not being able to come to a decision, a committee was appointed to consider the question and report as soon as possible. The committee consisted of Messrs. Day, Cook, Stull, Anderson, Crawford, Young and Gilchrist.

Mr. Davison, of Guelph, and Mr. Simpson, of Elora, the committee appointed to audit the finance report returned, having examined the report and found it correct.

"Uniform Promotion Examinations" was the next item of business.

Although the County Council offered a grant of $200 to defray the expense of these examinations, it was thought by many that they would be injurious to the proper working of the schools, because the teachers would then know the exact amount of work to be got over, and in preparing their scholars for the examination there would be a tendency to "cram," and not instruct their minds with the useful and practical knowledge which would be useful to them in after life. The majority however were in favour of having uniformity in these examinations, and it was resolved that the principle involved in a resolution passed at a former meeting be affirmed, and that the discussion be postponed until another meeting.

Mr. Sutherland was then introduced to the meeting. He represented an educational journal called the Hamilton Magazine, and offered it at exceedingly low rates to any of the teachers who wished to take it.

This closed the programme for the forenoon session, and the meeting was adjourned until 1;30 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A great many more teachers were present in the afternoon than during the forenoon, the hall being pretty well filled. Mr. Boyle, the President, read an excellent paper on "Our own Blunders" which was at once interesting and instructive. The reader pointed out clearly many of our most glaring blunders and mistakes which we make in speaking every day.

The Secretary then called the roll and received payment of annual fees. The next order of business was to consider the "Recent legislation on school matters" and appointment of delegates to the Provincial Convention. Some of the members spoke very warmly on the clause empowering trustees to lessen the term of the teachers' holidays, as they had no doubt it was imposing on their liberties, and it was therefore resolved that the meeting strongly disapprove of the recent legislation empowering school trustees to shorten the term of vacation.

The committee to consider how the surplus money of the Association should be appropriated returned, and proposed there should be a library bought, and that there be sets of the same books bought and these different sets sent to different towns and villages so as to be convenient to all the teachers. The report was received.

Mr. Tytler then read an excellent paper on "English composition" followed by Mr. McCaig, Inspector, who read a paper on "Unsolved Problems in education."

Mr. Boyle was elected as the representative to the Provincial Association.

The meeting was then adjourned until 7:30,

THE ENTERTAINMENT IN THE EVENING.

In the evening the Association gave a musical and literary entertainment in the large hall of the High School, which was well filled, quite a number of people belonging to the city being present in addition to the members of the Association. Mr. David Boyle, President of the Association, occupied the chair. The leading features of the entertainment were the reading of a very able and exhaustive essay by Hon. Col. Clarke of Elora, entitled "Then and Now," in which he referred to the numberless improvements that had taken place in art, science, in our social life and in politics. He also traced the progress of education in Canada, and showed what an advancement had been made from the time it had become a national system. Mr. Field, Head Master of the Elora High School, followed with an eloquent address on the "Duty of the Hour." Dr. Woodgate, of St. Marys, favored the company with several readings, which were admirably done, and elicited great applause. The Doctor is one of the most accomplished amateur readers we ever heard. Miss Knowles gave a piano solo with great taste, Misses Brown, Wardrope and Thompson played some spirited airs, and Miss Grant gave some nice selections with feeling and effect. The programme was interesting throughout, and kept the undivided attention of the audience to the last. On motion of Mr. Geo. Murton, chairman of the Board of Education, seconded by Mr. Jas. Mills, President of the Agricultural College, a vote of thanks was passed to the ladies and gentlemen who had given their valuable services, after which "God Save the Queen" was sung, when the audience dispersed.

A Loosing Joke.

The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER IV.

Upon the very same day, General Belcher's Act indemnifying Achilles Smith for the loss of his scalp by removing the Pottawatomie Indians from their Reservation was squeezed through the House by a majority of two votes. The bill provided for the immediate withdrawal of the Indians from their Reservation in the Indian Territory, and the location of the tribe upon another reservation in Colorado, in a part of the country which is absolutely a desert, without water or shrubbery, and wholly unfit for the residence of any animal of a higher grade than a rattlesnake.

By some means the information of the action of the House was conveyed to the Pottawatomie chiefs, and they expressed to their agent their disgust in very strong language. The agent was scared, and he sent to Fort Gibson for a company of cavalry to protect him. The commander could spare but ten men. When the Indians discovered the approach of the soldiers they imagined that a force was coming to drive them from their homes, and accordingly they attacked the squad, killing all but one man, and then the entire tribe went upon the war-path.

The Government took instant action. The Indians numbered about one thousand warriors. The force sent to crush them included not more than two hundred cavalrymen. The Indians were mounted upon fleet and hardy ponies which could endure an incredible amount, of fatigue and live upon grass. The cavalrymen bestrode horses which had performed service in New York omnibuses and upon St. Louis horse cars, and which could hardly be driven faster than six miles an hour under stress. The Indians were armed with telescope rifles, breach-loading, and warranted to kill at three quarters of a mile. These had been furnished gratuitously in time of peace by a beneficent Government. The soldiers were armed with short-range carbines, and with sabres which were about as useful in fighting savages who never came within gun-shot as a fishing rod would have been. The Indians carried upon their ponies what food they wanted. The military force was encumbered by ambulances and several waggons carrying camp equipage. In a fight at close quarters the soldiers could have beaten their adversaries easily. In a race, which permitted no other fighting than occasional skirmishing, all the chances were on the side of the Indians, and a race was what the combatants were in for.

Just before the expedition was ready to start, General Belcher by bringing some influence indirectly to bear, succeeded in having Major Dunwoody detailed to accompany it in command of the Commissary Department. The Major was wild with vexation and disgust.

"Pandora darling," he said, "you know that I was to get my leg to-morrow and that we were to be married within the month?"

"Well? Won't we? Is anything wrong?"

"Wrong? Why, my dear, I have just received from the War Department orders to accompany the expedition against the Pottawatomies. I start to-morrow for Fort Gibson."

"How can you ride with only one leg?"

"I am to command the Commissary Department. I shall have to ride in an ambulance. This is the fault of that accursed Smith! Why didn't he and Belcher let the Indians alone!"

"And we can't be married, then, until you return?"

"I don't see how! Isn't it outrageous? I have the worst luck of any man in the army."

Pandora looked as if she were going to cry.

"And your leg? Won't you get that until you come back?"

"Yes, dear, I will take it out of the Museum this evening, and you can amuse yourself throwing it upon the canvas while I am gone."

"O that will be so nice!"

"So nice that I am gone?"

"Oh, Henry! How could you think I meant that?"

"I didn't. I was only jesting. And you will think of me sometimes?"

"Yes, Oh yes! Every moment of the day!"

"And you love me very much?"

"Indeed, indeed, I do!"

"My darling!"

"My dearest!"

Probably the curtain might as well drop again at this point.

It demands much blare of the bugle to call the ordinary North Derbyshire voter into the ranks for the fight. He is bless you, as lethargic as his own limestone, and like it is petrified and fossilized. He cares as little about burning political questions as did Canning's "needy knife-grinder." The canvassers called and solicited the vote of a farmer in these wilds. Quoth the farmer: "We dunna understand politics in these parts, and we care nowt about t' times; a' we want is some gud cow cawves. Derbyshire Times.

HOME EVIDENCE

IN FAVOR

—OF THE—

PAIN-KILLER.

Hint No. 1.

If you wish to save yourself, your family, and your friends a world of suffering and pain, which at present they endure needlessly, and also save many dollars in Doctor's bills, go at once to the nearest store, and buy a few bottles of PAIN-KILLER.

Hint No. 2.

Ask your Druggist, Grocer or Shopkeeper, for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER. If he passes it down without ceremony, ask him while extracting the quarter dollar from your wallet, if this is the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS & SON, at same time watch the expression on his face. You can easily tell if his conscience is all right: also examine the bottle closely yourself.

Hint No. 3.

When you ask for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER, and the gentlemanly store-keeper, without scarcely looking, remarks, "we "are just out, but have another "article as good or better, "which sells for the same price "viz, 25 cents." Turn on your heel and say, Good-bye, Sir! That man cares more for the two or three cents extra profit which he gets than he does for your health or happiness.

Hint No. 4.

Beware of all the worthless mixtures, and dirty, greasy combinations which are offered you in almost every store you enter, and which some unprincipled shop-keepers try to palm off as a substitute for the PAIN-KILLER. These mixtures are gotten up expressly to sell on the reputation of the PAIN-KILLER, but have nothing in common with it.

Hint No. 5.

If you cannot obtain the genuine PAIN-KILLER in your locality, (a fact not very likely), you should address the Proprietors, and by sending them the sum of $3.00, one dozen regular sized bottles, or a half dozen large bottles will be sent, charges prepaid, to the nearest address by railway to any part of the Dominion.

WHY experiment with unknown mixtures without character or reputation, when this world-renowned PAIN-KILLER which has stood the test of over 40 years, can be had for the same price at any Drug Store in the Dominion!

READ THE FOLLOWING.

OTTAWA, ONT., March 2, 1880.

The writer has been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer now for the last 22 years, and can confidently recommend it to the public as a sure remedy for Cholera, Diarrhœa, Sore Throat, Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Burns, Scalds, &c. Have known it to cure a case of Syphilitic Sore Throat of two years' standing, when all the usual remedies failed. The patient took half a teaspoonful in water three times a day, and gargled the throat three times a day as follows: one teaspoonful in a wine glass of water, and used as a gargle.

Yours, H. F. MACCARTHY.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 26, 1880.

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom I have ever sold it, has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once, will use it again; it makes friends and retains them.

Yours truly, JOHN DUMBRILLE, Druggist.

SPENCERVILLE, ONT., February 26, 1880.

We have much pleasure in certifying that we have kept Perry Davis' Pain-Killer constantly in stock for upwards of twenty years, during which time it has taken the lead in sales over all other patent preparations, and has become an old, reliable family medicine. No effort is required now on our part to sell it, as it is as staple an article as flour in our trade. Yours truly,

W. P. IMRIE & CO.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

It gives me much pleasure to state that during a drug career of more than a quarter century, I can testify that your justly celebrated Pain-Killer has not only held its own as a family medicine, but still occupies the front rank wherever duty calls it. My customers speak very highly of it, and I could send no end of testimonials showing up its merits and intrinsic worth, were it necessary, which it is not. It should, however, be called "Excelsior Pain Killer." I pride myself in never being out of it.

Yours very respectfully, JOHN G. DEANS.

STOCO, ONT., February 17, 1880.

We have great pleasure to state that the Pain-Killer holds its position in this place as the old, reliable family medicine. Although there are a great many other remedies in the market—some bearing nearly the same name—as Pain Relief, Pain Remover, Pain Destroyer, and such like names, we find the people know the difference, and are sure to ask for Perry Davis' Pain Killer. We have been selling Pain-Killer for the last fourteen years.

Yours truly P. & P. MURPHY.

PORTLAND, ONT., March 9, 1880.

I have been using the Pain-Killer for many years with results that justly entitles me to recommend it. As a family medicine, we consider it almost indispensable; being good not only as a pain-killer, but for colds and sore throat, and many other ailments for which it appears specially adapted. I have used it myself, chiefly as a liniment, and find it valuable for rheumatism and pains and stiffness belonging to old age. I pronounce the Pain-Killer a good and cheap medicine, and worthy of all acceptation, and send you this certificate that you may assure the public that it is no humbug.

Yours truly, THOS. GRAHAM.

ESCOTT, ONT., March 4, 1880.

We hereby certify that we have used Perry Davis' Pain-Killer in our families for several years. We consider it a very useful and necessary article to be kept in all households as a resort in case of accidents and exposure to attacks occasioned by cold.

JEREMIAH CURTIN;
J. J. DOWSLEY,
JOSEPH P. REDMOND.
ARCH. GREER.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 25, 1880.

I have used your Pain-Killer for the last twenty years. I carried it with me all through the American War. I believe I would have been dead long ago, if it had not been for your Pain-Killer. I think it is the best remedy in the world for which it is recommended.

Yours very truly, N. W. LAFONTAINE.

PORTLAND, ONT., February 26, 1880.

I have sold the Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for over thirty years, and the same has always given my customers entire satisfaction, and I have much pleasure in recommending it as a good and reliable family medicine.

S. S. SCOVIL.

PRESCOTT, ONT., February 27, 1880.

I have sold your Pain-Killer for the last nineteen years in this place, and feel safe in recommending it to the public for the diseases given in your circular. I can assure you my customers speak well of it as a general family medicine. It takes the lead of all other similar preparations. Yours, &c.

GEO. BIRKS.

COBOURG, ONT., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry-Davis' Pain-Killer will be found in both.

Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

Your Pain-Killer as a family cure all has been in constaht use in my household for a long term of years, and I would never desire a better one. It never fails me. I call it the "Old Reliable."

Yours very truly, HORACE SEYMOUR.

TAMWORTH, ONT., March 4, 1880.

For twenty-three years last past I have sold Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, and have always found it to give good satisfaction. I have frequently used it in my family, and received great benefit from the use of it in that way. Although many imitations of it have been put on the market, and are pushed hard, yet the old, reliable Perry Davis' Pain-Killer holds its own, and is a very popular domestic medicine.

Yours respectfully,

JAS. AYLSWORTH.

The Hon. George Brown.

(Globe.)

God rest thee! Statesman, upright, wise and true,
"The race is ended, and the goal in view:"
Thy strong life, harshly closed, yet finds such rest
As "He to His beloved gives" who knoweth best.

He knows, as he alone can surely know,
Thy struggles, trials, triumphs, here below;
In His just balance the Almighty weighs
Life's grand results—the ingathering of our days.

The storm and turmoil of the busy strife
Have now no part in thy serener life;
Earth's little problems dwindle, shrink and die,
Solved in disclosures of Eternity.

God rest thee! Journalist, whose mighty pen
Respected ever God, and pled for men;
Mightier than warrior's blade, it yet can claim
A record stainless from the breath of shame.

'Mid scorn, and sneer and censure, fearless still
With conscience spotless and undaunted will;
Content to bear reproach, if so the weal
Of man were served by thy untiring zeal.

God rest thee! Patriot, whom greed of gain
Or lust of place and power might tempt in vain;
The future story of our land will tell,
"He was a man who served his country well!"

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.

The Cost of Living and the Cold in Winnipeg.

The London Advertiser's special correspondent, who has just returned from a visit to Manitoba writes:—

From what I have incidentally said it will be learned that living is high in Winnipeg—I mean high in price of course. I made it my special business to enquire, and a lady told me that the table necessaries of the household were fully fifty per cent. in advance of the prices in London. Fuel is also very high. Coal runs over $20 a ton, and cedar wood is $7 a cord. House rent is the worst item. I was shown a frame cottage. In London it would, if in the same relative portion of the city, rent for $10 a month. The occupant of it told me he pays $20. And talking about fuel, that naturally enough brings us to the question of the cold. It had been told me times out of number that the cold is not felt to such an extent as in Ontario. Now, I have the authority of those who live in Winnipeg that this is all humbug. It is said that in the drier atmosphere a lower temperature does not have the same effect, and scientists will tell you and prove that this is correct. Scientists will also tell you that a sheet of paper will keep out as much cold as will a blanket. Perhaps so, but a blanket is good enough for me. I don't want any paper quilts. When a man don't know anything except science he has acquired a very large amount of deeply-learned ignorance. But to return to the cold. It is bitter. Said a person to me:—

"I declare to you Mr.——, that last winter I used to be afraid to go to bed for fear I should freeze before morning; and I was afraid to get up in the morning lest I should freeze before night." The dry atmosphere theory is very good—that is, as a theory. When I am appointed emigration agent, as I never shall be, then I will write long homilies on the genial influence of a thermometer 30° below zero in the clear, dry atmosphere of the North-west. But in the meantime I advise all who are going in that direction to take their overcoats along, and if a man can also borrow his neighbor's overcoat before going he will not find he is over freighted.

I have been asked what classes of people can do best in the North-west. Speaking for Winnipeg, I should judge that bartenders and servant girls are liable to come out ahead. Bar-keepers get sixty dollars a month, and domestics twelve dollars. Girls are very scarce, and most of the "help"—I hate that word—has to be brought from St. Paul.

C. V. Railway Fences.

Farmers along certain portions of the line of the Credit Valley Railway make grevious complaint, and not without reason, because of the roadway not being fenced in. It is simply outrageous to leave the line in this state, because if cattle are put into pasture fields though which the unfenced road runs there is nothing to prevent them going upon the track, where of course they are liable to be killed by the trains. Nor is this all. Not only is it unsafe to let stock out to pasture in the vicinity of the line, but fields put under crop are liable to be overrun by all the cattle that are running at large; because the absence of fences, stock can pass along the line from field to field and from farm to farm without impediment. Now this is a very grave mistake. And the directors of the C. V. R. R. ought to know, if they don't know, that there will never be any general disposition to patronize the road so long as this aggravating state of affairs continues. The line ought to be fenced in and the right-of-way paid for immediately. Imposition may be borne for a time, but if persisted in too long it is pretty certain to be resented in one way or another. A word to the wise is sufficient.—Fergus News-Record.

The Rev. Wm. Mitchell's Case.

This case has been before the Presbytery of St. John, N. B., for some days, and we are glad to learn that he has been cleared of the charges made against him. The Presbytery adopted the following resolution:—"That there has been presented no evidence to show that in any one of the various monetary transactions constituting the ground of the 'fama' there was fraud intended by Mr. Mitchell, and that in general the other charges preferred against him were found to be capable of a fair explanation, but the Presbytery are constrained to express their regret that from a certain unguardedness in the management of his own pecuniary affairs Mr. Mitchell has been placed in various respects in a disadvantageous light in the view of this community, and that when involved in circumstance of difficulty he did not resort to the confidence and counsel of either of his brethren in the Church or of some judicious members of his own congregation. They would also express the opinion that from the prevalence of the 'fama' in the community, on the obscurity which previous to the investigation rested upon the transaction referred to in the prosecution, just cause was given for bringing the matter under the notice of the Presbytery."

The Freethinkers.

Archbishop Lynch has issued a letter to the clergy of Toronto, impressing upon them the necessity of taking vigorous steps to put down infidelity. Referring to the Freethinkers, his Grace says:—"If these foolish men who are striving to replunge the world into the depths of barbarism and paganism are the only wise men on earth, then all the Christians and real philosophers of all nations and times have lived and led virtuous lives in vain. You will, reverend sir, warn your people, especially the young men, to avoid all contact with these Freethinkers, their lectures and their writings. As persons cannot read obscure and filthy literature without a stain on the purity of their consciences, so they cannot read, converse, or listen to the discourses of these atheists without sin."

BUTTER AND CHEESE.—In a speech the other day before a grange meeting in Blanshard, Perth County, Mr. Gales said we exported annually 40 million pounds cheese and 15 million pounds butter mainly to Great Britain. He strongly urged the adoption of the creamery system as the only one that can secure uniformity in butter. A calculation made showed that by this system a million dollars more could be got yearly for the butter made. An average of at least 5,000 lbs. milk must be obtained from each cow before she pays.

STRANGE. — Kincardine Reporter: On Friday last a violent rain storm passed over Kincardine. Between twelve and one o'clock, at noon, those who happened to be in the vicinity of the harbor noticed that the water receded some two feet, remained in that position about five minutes and then gradually flowed back. The wind at the time was blowing from the land. The phenomenon was certainly a strange one and not easily accouted for.

MAN SHOT NEAR BRIGHTON.—On Saturday morning about three o'clock a man by the name of Thomas Thompson shot and instantly killed a young man named John Emmonds, two and a half miles from Consecon, Prince Edward county, at a place called Pierson's Point. The cause is supposed to be jealousy.

Supposed Infanticide.

ST. THOMAS, May 17.—Yesterday while some boys were fishing in Kettle Creek, about a mile from town, they found a new born babe which had been drowned by some inhuman wretch. A Coroner's inquest is to be held to-day.

From Montreal.

From Ottawa.

OTTAWA, May 17.—The cabmen are still on strike.

At an early hour this morning a man named Thos. King, a bar tender, formerly a resident of Brockville, was caught in the act of burglarizing Hunton & King's hardware store on Wellington street. P. C. Vizard who captured him had a hard tussle, during which the burglar struck him with a hammer and pulled a handfull of his whiskers out.

From St. John's.

ST. JOHN'S, N. B., May 17.—Judge Duff has decided that owing to a defect in the proclamation, the Canada Temperance Act is not in operation in King's County, and he has ordered the release of J. B. Lyon who was confined in jail for violation of the law.

The Hanlan Courtney Boat Race.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Bets are still being offered by sporting men of $15 and $20 to $100 that there will be no race. Professional sporting men are betting on Hanlan to win if the race does take place. Odds in this case are 5 to 4 on Hanlan. Courtney deeply feels this lack of confidence in him, and if the man can so conduct himself as to show earnestness of purpose he is doing it. He is being kept in good cheer by those into whose hands he has fallen here, and certainly cannot complain of unsupplied want. He is lionized by the women and is naturally the favorite because of his nationality. Hanlan is such a gentlemanly fellow that he makes friends wherever he goes.

The number of strangers already in the city are crowding the hotels, and advices from all sections of the country and from several points in Canada, indicate that on Tuesday excursion parties will arrive here sufficient to take all available accommodation the city affords. The time for the race has now been fixed at half-past three.

A police force has been detailed to keep the course clear, and it now seems all that is wanting is for the two men to be on hand. If either men disappoints the public he can safely count upon professional ruin.

Local News.

MR. JOHN W. MOYES, has gone into the grocery business on his own account at Milton.

COUNTERFEIT Canadian twenty-five cent pieces are in circulation. They may be readily detected, by their light weight and the softness of the metal, which can be easily bent.

No. 1 COMPANY, Waterloo Batt. of Infantry, assisted by the denizens of Conestogo intend celebrating the natal day of our beloved Queen by a grand concert in the Drill Room in that village on the evening of the 24th.

DISTRICT MEETING.—The annual District meeting in connection with the Methodist Church, Guelph District, will be held in Galt on the 18th and 19th insts. There are twenty-one ministers and probationers in the district, and on the second day of the meeting the same number of Lay Delegates will be present.

A DUTY FOR THE HEALTH INSPECTOR.—A number of citizens make a practice of throwing dead animals into the river along Allan's dam. At present there are a number of carcasses floating at that place. The Health Inspector should look out for persons guilty of that practice and prosecute them.

WHILE referring to the arrest of Remus Gooderich here the Hamilton Times says that during some six months that he and a companion spent in that city canvassing for pleating machines they conducted themselves in a very proper and apparently honest and straightforward manner, paying their obligations as they went and going to church regularly.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.—This is the title of a new paper just issued in Toronto. It is devoted to agriculture, stock-breeding, poultry-raising, and sporting interests. It is well got up and bids promise to have a wide circulation and influence. Mr. Jas. Watson, of Toronto, is the editor and publisher, and he will be assisted by an efficient staff of contributors.

"OUR LITTLE FOLKS" is the name of a weekly journal just published in New York. It comprises four pages and as the title implies, is published for the benefit of children. The pages contain illustrations calculated to please them, and the reading matter is such as will best suit those learning to read. It costs 30 cents per annum in advance, and is published by S. S. Wood, 252 Brodway, New York.

THE FARM COMPETITION.—Five farms in Halton county have been entered for competition for the prize awarded by the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario. They are Robt. F. Bessey and Jno. S. Bessey, of Esquesing; Jno. Fothergill, of Nelson; D. W. Campbell and Jas. M. Bussell, of Trafalgar. Three out of the five will be selected to compete.

THE 24th AT WINTERBOURNE.—The 5th annual tea meeting in connection with Chalmers' Church, Winterbourne, will be held on the 24th inst., Queen's Birthday, and nothing will be left undone by the Committee to make it as heretofore the event of the season. What with addresses by able speakers, music, refreshments, games and sports, fire balloon ascension, etc., etc., a gala day may be expected by all who visit Winterbourne on the 25th.

PRESENTATION.—The Kincardine Reporter says:—A few days ago some friends of Conductor John Quirk, who is one of the most popular officials of the Great Western Railway, gave him a surprise in presenting him with a valuable and elegant gold monogram locket, bearing a suitable inscription. Although Mr. Quirk was taken by surprise he succeeded in making a neat reply. The presentation was a spontaneous affair on the part of a few friends.

BUTTER FACTORY.—The Walkerton Herald says:—The Walkerton butter factory is to commence business on Monday next. Mr. Brill has made the deposit of $600 in the bank, as required by the committee, and milk payments will be made punctually. We believe Mr. Brill has in contemplation to extend his factory here, should there be sufficient inducements offered by farmers in supplying milk. He has the Teeswater factory to which is brought the milk of 1,300 cows.

TRAVELLER'S GUIDE.—The second number of the Toronto edition of the "A. B. C." Railway and Steamboat Guide has been received at this office. It contains information as to routes, distances, fares, through and local passenger time tables, stage lines, travel notes, &c. The first number of the Guide has proved a most gratifying success. It will be issued as near the first of each month as practicable. When changes are announced to occur a few days later (as is the case this month, several lines of Railroads having advertised new time to take effect on the 10th inst.) publication will be delayed a reasonable time, in order that the very latest changes may be given.

MR. WM. P. CLAY.—The Galt Reporter says:—We regret very much that this gentleman should have thought it best to leave his business in the hurried way in which he did. Investigations made since his departure show but little financial reasons for such a step, and certainly nothing that a man with Mr. Clay's energy and ability could not have successfully met and overcome. The cause seems to have been a combination of bad health and fear of business complications. There is not the least appearance of dishonesty, and whatever the estate will realize will go to the benefit of the creditors, and efficient management should show but little loss to them. We regret Mr. Clay's leaving, as he was an industrious, painstaking business man.

THE city auditors are at present examining the police accounts.

AN extension is being made to the southern part of McCrae's woollen factory.

DRUNKENESS.—Martin Mulligan was arrested on Saturday for drunkenness. At the Police Court to-day he was fined $1 and costs.

IT is about time a stone pile which has been an obstruction on Macdonnell street, east of Wyndham, for the last six months was removed.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly between west and south-west; partly cloudy warm weather, with showers to-night in some localities.

THE furniture factory of Burr & Skinner on Oxford street, is having a large extension made to its premises. When completed the proprietors will be in possession of a fine building, and be able to employ a large number of workmen.

A NUMBER of persons went to the Grand Trunk passenger station this forenoon expecting to see the prisoners in the Donnelly murder case pass through to Toronto. They either did not go to Toronto or if they did must have gone by the Great Western.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Remember the annual meeting to-night in the rooms of the Institute. All who take an interest in the prosperity of the Institute should attend, to hear the annual report, to elect officers for the ensuing year, and to discuss matters generally for the future welfare of the Institute.

BASE BALL.—The Secretary of the Maple Leafs has received a number of letters from different base ball clubs announcing that delegates have been appointed to attend the base ball convention to be held here on Friday. The challenge sent by the Maple Leafs to the Galt club to play next Friday here has as yet been unanswered. In the event of Galt not accepting the challenge, it is proposed that the Maple Leafs will play with the fat man's club, in order to give the latter some practice, to prepare them, as it were, for the tussle in Hamilton on the Queen's birth day.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The temperance meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hall yesterday was well attended. The President Mr. W. Wilkie, conducted the meeting, which was opened in the usual way. Addresses by Brother Selback and Rev. Mr. Maxwell. A recitation by Mr. Canton. Intimations were given of removing to the city hall, where the meeting next Sabbath will be held at four o'clock, when Rev. Dr. Wardrope will address the meeting. Vice-Chancellor Blake will lecture on "Prohibition of the liquor traffic," on Thursday evening 27th inst., in the city hall. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Budd, added very much to the interest of the meeting.

WATERING THE STREETS.—The corporation has fallen back on the old system of watering the streets with the carts, until such time as the small hydrants can be set along the pipes. The streets were watered early this morning, and persons found travelling much more pleasant on the watered streets than they have for the last few weeks. The carts are supplied from the water works hydrants and by actual time this morning it took but 26 seconds to fill one cart. It is a question which has found expression whether it would not be better to continue watering by the carts. To purchase new hydrants will be an extra expense; it is said the streets can be watered as cheaply by the carts as by the hose—aside from the cost of the hydrants—and by the carts the work can be done as expeditiously and with as much satisfaction.

COMMITTED FOR VAGRANCY.—Henry Patterson, who some time ago attempted suicide, was arrested on Saturday at the instance of his wife for vagrancy. At the time he tried to take his life it was believed that his mind was unsound, but it is now believed that his chief trouble is laziness. He was a member of the Artillery Band, and being a good musician a few persons interested themselves in his behalf and found him employment. But he was unwilling to work and last week applied to the Mayor for a pass to Toronto. He was given the pass on promising not to return here. He did return, however, and his wife laid an information against him for neglecting to support herself and family. This (Monday) forenoon the prisoner was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in gaol. The Magistrate said that during the fourteen years he had occupied the bench he had not heard a case wherein a prisoner charged with vagrancy had admitted that he could find employment. In giving a term of one month he was showing leniency, but if the prisoner was brought on a similar charge again he would be sentenced to six months at the Central Prison. The case is one peculiarly calling for sympathy towards Mrs. Patterson. She is in poor pecuniary circumstances, and having a small child to attend to will be prevented from seeking every kind of employment. She thought that the publication of the case would be unfavourable to her, but when people are made aware of her position in this way doubtless many will come to her assistance by supplying her with work.

Emigration from the Clyde to America is increasing rapidly. The steamer Devonia left on Thursday for New York with five hundred steerage passengers, a large proportion of them being women and children.

Russia is about to send five ironclads to the Pacific.

Chalmers' Church.

The Late Hon. George Brown.

At Chalmers' Church on Sunday forenoon, the Rev. Dr. Wardrope in the course of his sermon, made special reference to the death of the late Hon. George Brown. The following is a brief summary of the discourse:—

The text was taken from Ecc. 12. 7. "Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was; and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it."

"It is appointed unto men once to die." "All are of the dust, and all turn to dust again." All whom we love must be taken away from us by the hand of death; for the decree more unchangeable than the laws of the Medes and Persians, has determined their doom. We ourselves shall soon follow, if we do not go before them; and our surviving friends, truly as they may have loved us, sincerely as they may lament our departure, will bury us out of their sight."

Death is the "wages of sin." I do not at present enter on the inquiry what change might have taken place upon the bodies of men, had they remained sinless, to prepare them for translation from earth to heaven. A change of one kind or another we may warrantably suppose there would have been; but not such a change as is now known by the name of death—not death as a penal infliction.

When men are hurried from time into eternity by some apparently fortuitous disaster, that disaster is only the secondary cause of their removal. In the calamity we must recognize the hand of God. The same is true, mysterious as it must seem to our short-sightedness, when men are smitten down by the hand of violence. So, likewise, when men, in what we call the ordinary course of things, are laid in weariness and weakness on the beds from which they are never more to rise, it is the hand of God that lays them there. Their friends may converse, as it is perfectly proper for them to do, on the maladies by which they have been prostrated, and on the means that may possibly prove effectual for their restoration; but meanwhile their days are numbered by Him "who doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth."

When death comes, all our designs and speculations here are at an end; in that very day our thoughts perish. The great are no longer surrounded by a pompous retinue; the rich leave behind them their much loved treasures; the sensual and voluptuous are snatched away from their pleasures and enjoyments. We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain that we can carry nothing out. The high and the low, the young and the old, the rich and the poor, go down to the house appointed for all living.

We frequently see families and individuals moving from one place to another, but no change is more frequent than one from a dwelling place on earth to the dark and silent grave. Of all sudden changes, too, this is often the most sudden. We see one to-day in the prime and vigor of manhood; and, as it were to-morrow, we are startled by the intelligence that he has been called away from the fleeting scenes of time to enter upon the infinitely solemn and momentous realities of eternity. In instances not a few, it is those who, as we think, can least be spared that are thus taken away from among us—men of whose continued service and influence for good their families, and their friends, and their country feel that they stand peculiarly in need.

Truths like these have received a striking illustration and enforcement in the death and burial of one of our most prominent statesmen. Few men have ever been laid in the grave amid such widespread and heartfelt sorrow as the deceased Senator. To expressions of such sorrow, men of all classes and creeds, men of all shades of political opinion, men of our own land and men of many other lands, have given spontaneous and simultaneous utterance. We need not wonder at this when we think of one of our truest patriots—one of the most trusted leaders of public opinion in our country—being brought to an untimely grave by the bullet of an assassin whom he had never injured, and whom, so far as we can tell, he did not know even by sight.

About thirty-five years ago Mr. Brown came to Canada, young and comparatively unknown. By the force of his character, by his sterling integrity, by his indomitable energy and perseverance he made a name and a place for himself among those who were laying the foundations of our national life. And even the most resolute of his political opponents are among the readiest to say that, according to his lights, he did his part conscientiously and well, and that, in years and generations to come, his name will occupy no second place among those who have earned the esteem and gratitude of their country.

One thing that deeply impressed itself on my mind as I took my place in the procession, miles in length, which followed his remains to the grave, was this: How death brings into recollection and even, as we might say, into view all the good qualities, the excellencies and the virtues of the departed; and with what a character of insignificance it stamps those causes of strife which often alienate men from each other amid the excitement and turmoil of this present state.

But the best thing of all for us who were witnessing these funeral solemnities, was to know that he had anticipated and prepared for the great change. In the newspaper with which he was so long identified, and of which he was, in a manner, the very life and soul, it was stated, on indisputable authority, that the great truths which gather about the atonement of Christ were the stay of his heart, the source of his consolation, in the long days and nights of weariness, and when going down into the dark valley of the shadow of death. The pastor of the church of which he was a member at the time of his decease, and that of the church of which he was a member in previous years, were able to unite in saying, and they gladly bore this testimony, that, in the trying seasons, both of business anxiety and of political excitement, his faith in Christ had been unfaltering—that he knew whom he believed, and was persuaded that He was able to keep that which he had committed to Him against that day.

To us the admonition is addressed:—"Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

A Cute Yankee Advertising Trick.

The spirit and enterprise manifested by our neighbours across the line, in inducing immigrants to take up their abode under the Star and Stripes, is worthy of all commendation, so long as it is conducted in an honourable, legitimate way. But when they resort to other means we cannot help exposing their dishonesty, and the tricks they resort to in order to mislead the simple and ignorant. This feeling is all the more intensified when we find that they are able to secure Canadian agents to do their dirty work, and assume the responsibility for the same. As the latest instance of this kind of work we have before us a circular issued by the agents of the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, in which are printed ingeniously culled extracts from Mr. Blake's great speech in the House of Commons on the construction of the section of the Pacific Railway in British Columbia. The circular is graced with an excellent likeness of Mr. Blake, which is inserted, no doubt, to give additional emphasis to the garbled extracts. We do not say that all this has been done at the instigation of the Conservative leaders and their organs, but it is strange that the Mail knew all about it before it was put into circulation by the publishers, a Toronto printing house, who professes to be the Canadian agents for the railway Company alluded to, and who have sent these broadcast over the land. We quite agree with the Hamilton Times, when it says "that it is certainly a unique announcement that a book firm which should have enough to do to mind its own business as such, has gone into the trade of peddling about the country samples of grain which may have been grown in Kansas, and samples of soil which may have been taken up in that State. We shall not, of course, cast doubt upon the bona fides of the alleged connection with the railway, but is it not strange that the patronymic of the late political writer on the Mail and bitter opponent of Mr. Blake is the same as that o the head partner in the printing concern? The 'pamphlet,' we observe, is a mere fly-sheet and is not of the slightest use as an emigration document. It contains three or four garbled extracts from Mr. Blake's speech, but the animus is so clear that no Canadian could be deceived by them. We would be sorry to misrepresent anybody, but we cannot divest ourselves of the impression that the fly sheet is a political dodge set on foot by the Conservative party in order to injure Mr. Blake. The game, if game it be, is worthy of the players.

If the Conservatives and their organs are innocent of this meanly conceived and clumsily carried out trick, they should at once clear themselves by declaring that they have nothing to do with it. It may, and likely is, a cute dodge of the railway company already referred to, but its endorsement by a Canadian firm gives it an influence which it would not otherwise possess. If it is used as a political weapon to hurt an antagonist it is unworthy the party who grasped at it in its extremity. If it is a mere advertising trick it will have no effect, and should be repudiated by all true and loyal Canadians, who know that Edward Blake is the last to preach up the United States at the expense of Canada. As an evidence of this he knows as well as hundreds more of Canadians, that Kansas is not the paradise often represented, and in proof of this we have only to quote the following extract from a letter from a Canadian, who has lived sometime there, to a friend in Canada, which we find in the Seaforth Expositor. "Hundreds of people are leaving their farms and moving out of the State on account of the drought. There has not been any rain for a year in the western part of Kansas, and there will not be a waggon load of wheat raised this season. I was offered 160 acre farm for $50 yesterday, but it would be dear at any price. If there is any person around your section thinking about moving to Kansas, do not any anything about this, for we must get in some emigrants for next year, because we have cleaned all the money out of the negroes who came from the South, and must have some fresh victims soon, for you see the more people we get out here the better it is for those who own property."

Editorial Items.

THE Quebec Reform Club will entertain the Hon. Edward Blake to a banquet in that city next month.

THE Conservative organ in Ottawa denies that any changes in the Cabinet will be made at the present time.

THE name of the Hon. Sidney Smith is mentioned in connection with the Senatorship rendered vacant by the death of the Hon. George Brown; also that of Mr. Worts, of Gooderham & Worts, Toronto. The Hon. Geo. W. Allan is also spoken of in connection with the Lieut.-Governorship of Ontario.

THEY do their bribery wholesale on the other side of the lines. For instance, the king of the Albany lobby received $100,000 from the New York elevated Railway Company to secure the defeat of the Five-cent Fare Bill. He bought seven Senators for $70,000 and put the balance into his own pocket.

THE London correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune says the last week was an unlucky one for the Government. Three separate events have considerably impaired its prestige, Harcourt's defeat, Fawcett's enforced retraction of his mistaken charge against the late Ministry, and Gladstone's apology to Austria.

A VERY marked decrease in the quantity of spirituous liquor consumed in Great Britain and Ireland is evident from the figures of the last excise return; and it is happily apparent from a corresponding increase in the consumption of tea and coffee, chocolate and cocoa, that these articles are replacing spirits as beverages.

THE Executive Committee of the Dominion Grange at their meeting on Friday, passed a resolution in reference to the great loss the country had sustained in the death of the Hon. George Brown. It went on to say:—"We especially wish, as representing the great agricultural class of this country, to convey our sincere regrets at the death of one who has always taken a deep interest in Canadian agriculture, as shown in the efforts put forth by him to advance this interest through the columns of the Canadian Farmer and by the etstablishment of Bow Park Farm, which stands as a model farm and an ornament to his enterprise and love of agriculture."

CONSERVATIVES now find it convenient to deny that the Bill amending the Canada Temperance Act, an amendment in which by Mr. Boultbee aimed at destroying the usefulness of the measure, was a Government Bill at all. The facts are that the Bill was first introduced into the Senate by Hon. Mr. Aikins, Secretary of State, and afterwards into the Commons by Hon. Mr. Bowell, Minister of Customs. On the order paper of both Houses the Bill was entered as a Government order. As for Mr. Boultbee's amendment, there is no denying the fact that Dr. Orton, before he handed it over to Mr. Boultbee's charge, interviewed the Government about it, and the Government agreed to leave the question an open one if Dr. Orton could obtain enough pledges of support to ensure its adoption. Dr. Orton canvassed the House, both Ministerial and Opposition, obtained the necessary majority of pledges, informed the Government, and the conspiracy was at once put into effect. In order to avoid the semblance of the movement being too much that of Licensed Victuallers, Dr. Orton handed the amendment over to Mr. Boultbee.

Trial for Murder in Simcoe.

One of the Donnelly family the Victim.

The trial of William Lewis for the murder of Michael Donnelly, at Waterford, on the 9th of December last came off on the 14th inst., before Mr. Justice Cameron.

The first witness called was Charles Staght, who testified that he lived in Waterford. He was tending bar on the 9th December, and knew the prisoner. At six o'clock he came from the dining-room, and saw Lewis and Donnelly behind the bar clinching.

Lewis made a push with the hand, Donnelly staggered back and said, "My God, neighbour, I'm stabbed."

James Muir, testified—About 3 p. m. I went to Staght's. Donnelly was in the bar-room, and an old man was there, a stranger. I went to the wash-room and came back. I heard them talking about fighting dogs, and about eight or ten minutes after they had been talking, the old man said he had a good fighting dog, Donnelly said it could not whip his bull dog. The old man said he could whip any dog. Donnelly said he could whip his master. Lewis came up and said to Donnelly, "You had better not have anything to say to him." Donnelly said, "You mind your own business." Donnelly followed Lewis around the room; they clinched. Donnelly pushed him up behind the bar, and almost immediately Donnelly exclaimed, "My God, neighbour, I'm stabbed." He walked to the wash room, where he died in a few minutes.

The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter against the prisoner.

Lewis was sentenced to five years in the Penitentiary.

"I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

THE QUEEN'S PERSONAL FAVORITE.—That the Queen does not waste much love on Gladstone is well known. Beaconsfield is the greatest personal favorite of the two, and he is probably held in higher estimation by Her Majesty now than before his defeat. His full length portrait hangs at Windsor opposite to that of the Prince Consort. The Earl himself is doubtless one of the happiest men in England. He is, it is said, putting the finishing touches to a new novel.

MURDEROUS ATTACK.—The South Simcoe News says: On Wednesday afternoon a most brutal assault was made by a person named Broom on Mr. R. McKinley and his wife, living at Fisher's Corners. McKinley and Broom were building a fence between them when a dispute arose, and Broom struck McKinley with an iron crow bar on the back of the head. He also in his mad fury struck the wife of McKinley on the head, knocking her down. But little hopes are entertained of the recovery of Mr. McKinley.

Teachers' Association.

SATURDAY FORENOON.

Judging from the attendance at the Association this forenoon the teachers, or at least many of them, were taking a holiday to themselves and having a good time elsewhere. However, the proceedings at the meeting were of a very interesting character.

The first question that arose was, considering the advisability of organizing a widows' and orphans' fund, to provide for the families of those teachers who had spent the greatest part of their life in the profession, and left their families in poor circumstances, it being a noticeable fact that very few teachers are ever worth a great deal of money. There being only about five or six thousand teachers in the Province, it was thought that the burden on them would be too great if such a fund were started, therefore it was decided to let the matter drop.

The Act respecting Superannuated Teachers, which says that any teacher who is sixty years old may retire with a pension if actively engaged in teaching at the time he is that age, was then discussed, and it was recommended that the Act be so amended that teachers who have taught twenty-five years, may retire with a pension, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Provincial Convention.

The surplus money question came up again. It seemed that the Association did not know what to do with it. Each clause of the report received from the committee Friday afternoon, was separately adopted; 1st. That the money be appropriated to purchasing a library consisting of professional books, and serial literature; 2nd. That there be different sets of books procured, so that in the case of several teachers wanting the same kind of book each one would have it without waiting; 3rd. That the library be kept in some central place under the charge of a paid librarian.

A committee was appointed to attend to the publishing of an excellent paper read some time ago at one of the conventions, by Hon. Mr. Clarke, and the one read on Friday night by the same gentleman.

Rev. Dr. Wardrope was then called on to address the meeting. The rev. gentleman set forth the good to be received by the the teachers from these Associations by meeting one with another, and becoming better acquainted with the great work in which they were engaged. He briefly contrasted the present advantages with those of the past, giving a short account of his own experience, and as he was once a teacher himself he could sympathize with those before him, and give them a word of encouragement. As teachers they require patience. Their work can not be done at once but they must wait patiently for the great results which will surely follow if they have done their duty. The teacher must also be earnest. Any man, no matter what his work is, must be earnest if he expects that work to prosper. Much more must the teacher—whose occupation is one of the noblest in the land—be earnest and serious in his work. He also requires hopefulness. Those children he has under his care will in future be the great men of their country, and he must not be discouraged if some of his scholars are exceedingly dull and seemingly destined to occupy lower positions than their parents. It is the teachers who are entrusted with those who will be the great men and women in the future, and they should put forth their most faithful efforts to leave the world better than they found it.

The rev. gentleman was listened to throughout with great attention and was frequently warmly applauded.

At the close a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker, who thanked the teachers for their appreciation of his remarks and said he considered it quite an honor to address the Association. The next meeting will be held in Elora at a time to be fixed by the President.

This closed one of the most successful meetings ever held by the South Wellington Teacher's Association, notwithstanding the fact that none but local talent was employed, and this shows that we have as good talent among the teachers of Wellington as in any other county.

INSURANCE NOTE.—Mr. Robert McLean, for many years connected with the Gore Mutual Insurance Company, and lately Inspector of the Scottish Commercial Insurance Company, has, since that Company was amalgamated with the Lancashire, accepted the position of Inspector for the British American Assurance Company. Mr. McLean and the Company with which he is now connected are both to be congratulated—the former on having obtained so desirable appointment, and the latter on having secured the services of an able and trustworthy officer.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE GAMES.—The annual games in connection with the Upper Canada College were held last week in the presence of a large number of spectators. On the conclusion of the sports the prizes were awarded to their winners by Miss Macdonald. The following names of students from Guelph appear on the prize list:—Throwing cricket ball—W. L. Conolly, 110 yards. Hop, step and jump—1st, D. Peterson. Putting the steno—1st, J. F. Brown. 220 yards race (open to College)—1st, D. Peterson. Walking race (open to College)—J. F. Brown. Quarter mile (championship of College)—D. Peterson. 100 yards dash (open to College) 1st, D. Peterson.

UNIVERSITY AND OTHER HONORS.—By the examination lists of Toronto University, we observe that our late townsman and friend Mr. P. H. Bryce, M. A., has further added to the honors already obtained in his Alma Mater. As our readers are aware Mr. Bryce graduated in Arts in 1876, winning the Science Gold Medal, and College McMurrich Silver Medal. Since leaving his position as Professor in the Agricultural College, he has been engaged in the study of medicine, and with such energy has he labored that with his previous training in science he has in so short a time been enabled to take the second position in the honor examination, thereby winning the University First Silver, and the Star Silver Medal. In addition to these University successes Mr. Bryce in the examination in the Toronto School of Medicine is the winner of the 4th year scholarship of $50, thus beating his successful opponent for University honors. We understand that Mr. Bryce intends starting immediately for Britain to further pursue his studies in Edinburgh and London. We wish him every success, and have no doubt he will soon take as high a position in the ranks of our medical men as he has done at the University and Medical School.

The Telescope urges on the Walkertonians to make a move towards securing a branch of the Stratford & Huron Railway. The Grand Trunk is likely to assume control of the line.

Big Oil Strike.

The Sarnia Observer reports the tapping of an oil well on the farm of Mr. Nicholas Rainsberry, of lot No. 1, Sarnia township, 100 acres. Boring was begun last week, and success came on Thursday afternoon, when, at a total depth of 450 feet, the efforts of the workmen were crowned with success by the sudden upheaval of a dense stream of clear oil, fully twenty feet above the heads of the astonished individuals who happened to be near by at the time. The flow through the pump during the first twenty-four hours equalled the contents of about 45 barrels, and since then the yield has been considerably over 50 barrels per day. That Mr. Rainsberry is the fortunate possessor of the richest oil well in Canada there is little room for doubt. It is protected from 'tapping' by competitive speculators, owing to its location at the centre of the farm and being distant from the nearest well at least a quarter of a mile. The sum of $10,000 was last week refused for the farm, the proprietor having placed it at a considerably higher figure. As a consequence of this splendid oil strike, the value of adjacent westward farms has been enhanced at least $3,000 each.

Suspected Murder at Owen Sound.

An article taken from the Owen Sound Times, referring to suspicious circumstances attending the death of an old man named Thomas Knox, was published in these columns a few days ago. Since then an inquest has been held, and the facts elicited have led to the arrest of deceased's wife and a colored man, named Douglas. The Owen Sound Advertiser gives the following additional particulars:—

At Mrs. Bain's request Knox's body was disinterred and an inquest held, as above stated. The medical testimony went to show that death has resulted from strangulation, and that the deceased could not possibly have done it himself, and the jury returned an open verdict to that effect. On the advice of the County Attorney Mrs. Knox and Douglas have been arrested and lodged in gaol. We understand Constable Pearce is getting all the evidence he can in connection with the case, and that a thorough investigation will take place shortly.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

The average cost of a number of cattle shipped from Walkerton to the Old Country last week, was $70.37 per head.

The steamer Owen Sound which arrived from Duluth at Collingwood on Thursday, reports very heavy ice at the Bruce mines, Prince Arthur's Landing and Duluth. At the Bruce mines it extended out five miles and no impression could be made on it. She then ran out into Lake Huron and got through the detour passage, meeting only floating ice.

Bennett, who shot Hon. Geo. Brown, has been in poor health since his confinement in jail, and on Thursday was seriously ill and confined to his bed. The Jail Physician thinks his nervous prostration serious.

It is probable that Sir John A. Macdonald will pay a visit to Manitoba this summer along with other Ministers, should his official duties permit.

On Wednesday last the Court of Chancery, at the instance of the Town of Galt, granted a decree, with costs, permanently restraining Dundas from establishing and maintaining the new toll gate west of Sheffield on the Macadamized Road.

Several attempts at burglary have been made within the last two weeks in Dumfries.

Probably no town in Canada can now equal Galt in railway facilities. On and after Monday next, when a change in the running of trains takes place on the Credit Valley line, no less than nineteen passenger trains will arrive at and depart from that town each day.

The Reporter says:—The Galt fair on Wednesday was attended by a fair supply of cattle, and sales were pretty freely made. Prices in our opinion showed but little change from the last two fairs. Of course those offered were not choice beasts, being mostly cows.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER IV

The expedition started from Fort Gibson. It marched straight across the Indian territory to the Pottawatomie Reservation. The savages had moved off about a day's march ahead of the soldiers, towards the North West. The military pressed forward; the Indians kept always just a little in advance. The two forces crossed into Kansas. The troops pressed their omnibus horses a little harder and came within sight of the Indian rear guard. Then the savages spurred up and increased the interval between them and the pursuers.

The Pottawatomies headed for Colorado and crossed the line in a few days, with the soldiers the usual distance behind. Just after passing the Colorado border, the Colonel commanding resolved to steal a march upon the foe. One night, instead of going into camp, he pressed on until twelve o'clock and then halted upon the bank of the Arkansas River.

Four omnibus horses succumbed under the strain, and ere morning dawned some Pottawatomies crept into the camp and stole six mules.

The worst Indian was never known to steal a New York omnibus horse, even in the dark.

The next day the four dismounted troopers were placed in an ambulance and the pursuit began again. The Indians fled up through Colorado into Wyoming Territory, and the Colonel commanding pushed after them, going faster and faster every day. By the time he reached Fort Russia, just over the edge of the Wyoming line, the route of his march was marked with a succession of omnibuses and car horses in various stages of decay. At the Fort he obtained fresh horses, and sacrificing the baggage waggons, keeping only the ambulances, he pressed on.

On the 27th of August his scouts discovered the Indians in camp in a valley a few miles ahead. The Colonel resolved upon a surprise. When everything was arranged the troops charged down upon the village with a wild hurrah. Not an Indian could be seen. The soldiers, however, burned the lodges and withdrew. Upon their return they found that in their absence the Indians had stampeded their mules and all their ambulances but one, which Major Dunwoody had saved by hard driving.

The chase was resumed with greater heat than ever. So far there had not been a chance for anything like a fight. In fact, not a dozen savages had been seen.

With a week or two Wyoming was traversed and Montana Territory reached. There, just beyond the Crow Indian Reservation, the first Pottawatomie was slain. He sneaked into the camp one night, and while cutting loose one of Major Dunwoody's mules, the mule kicked him upon the head and killed him.

On the 6th of October the soldiers had marched for 36 hours without rest, and it was believed they would at last strike a telling blow upon the savages. Everything was ready for a fight, and the troops were full of eagerness for the fray. While they were halting for water upon a small creek, a friendly Gros Ventre Indian came in with the information that the fugitive Pottawatomies had crossed the British line and were now safe from pursuit within the dominions of Her Majesty.

The Colonel and his officers and men fairly tore the English language into shreds in their efforts to express with the necessary emphasis their appreciation of the facts of the situation.

The "war" cost the Government a little less than a million and a half of dollars, omnibus horses included, and it was estimated by well-informed persons that the flying Indians while upon the route, destroyed private property to the amount of half a million more, besides killing and scalping a party of eighteen emigrants which was passing through Wyoming.

It seemed like rather a large price to pay for Mr. Achilles Smith's scalp.

Some time during the month of September, while the chase was in progress, Achilles called at the house of Mrs. M'Duffy in Washington and asked for Pandora. He said—

"Miss M'Duffy, I come upon a somewhat painful errand, but I have a duty devolving upon me, and I must perform it."

"No bad news from Major Dunwoody, I hope, Mr. Smith?"

"I am sorry to say there is."

Pandora's eyes filled with tears. Her face became pale.

"What is it?" she asked.

"I have here a despatch to the Secretary of War, saying that in a fight with the Indians on last Wednesday week Major Dunwoody——"

"Not killed! Oh, please don't say he was slain! I can't bear it!"

"No; not killed. Major Dunwoody has lost his other leg and his right arm."

"How terrible!" screamed Pandora; then she wept bitterly.

"Terrible, indeed!" replied Smith in a sympathetic tone. "But you know this is the fortune of war. This it is to be a soldier!"

"Poor Henry! Aow he must have suffered! Do you know how he is? What are the chances for his recovery?"

"The despatch says he is doing very well. But of course, he will be a mere wreck."

"It is dreadful; too dreadful!"

"Perfectly helpless, too. A mere burden upon those who will have to take care of him."

"Not if they love him!"

"But surely you—you do not intend to cling to such a—a—such a disintegrated ruin as he?"

"I shall be true to him until death."

"I had hoped," said Achilles sadly, "that now that Dunwoody is reduced to about one half his original dimensions I might hope to have you consider my claims."

"Never! It can never be!"

"Because I am about moving out on the Pottawatomie Reservation, and with you as my bride I could make it a little paradise here below. If you will take me the Reservation is yours, in fee-simple.

"I scorn the offer, sir!"

"You scorn it, do you? Scorn the most splendid tract of land in the Mississippi Valley for the sake of marrying half a man, whom you'll have to carry to church with a market basket and to feed with a spoon!"

"Yes, sir! I scorn it and you! For to you and your wicked schemes against the unoffending Indians this awful, this dreadful suffering of Major Dunwoody is due. I hate you! Yes, I hate you! Leave the house this instant, sir!"

Smith withdrew, and as he closed the door Pandora fell upon the sofa and cried as if her poor little heart would break.

Enter Mrs. M'Duffy.

"Pandora, my child, what is the matter?"

"Didn't that horrid Smith tell you?"

"What horrid Smith? I don't know any such person. If you mean Mr. Achilles Smith, why, he didn't tell me anything. I have not seen him."

"Poor Major Dunwoody has had his arm shot off!"

"What! Not another limb lost! Why, the man is falling apart in sections!"

"And that's not the worst of it?"

Thousands of tons of Limberger cheese are produced every season in the States of New York and Wisconsin, at a cost of less than half that of the imported article.

READY FOR THE PRIZE FIGHTERS.—Simcoe, May 15.—Final instructions were received this morning by the authorities here as to the manner of conducting the next expedition against the prize-fighters. One of the officials is credited with saying that none of the lovers of the "noble sport" will be permitted to touch the shore, and if, after being warned not to land, they attempt to force their way on the shore, they will be treated to a volley from the rifles and field pieces on board the steamer. The volunteers will be ready to embark on Sunday night if required. The destination of the expedition will not be known til after the steamer leaves the harbour.

A very erroneous impression appears to prevail that Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise has not so recovered from the effects of the serious accident last winter as to permit her to appear in public. The Princess has attended the performances at the Opera House three times within the past week, has undertaken several excursions into the surrounding country, and has resumed those daily pedestrian exploits which it would be well if Canadian ladies would in this particular imitate her example.

DURING the discussion of the Dog By-law in Council last night, Alderman Bruce's dog got under his chair, and just as the last word of the by-law was read his dog-ship set up a howl that woke up the honorable body immediately. The animal had listened to the discussion, and like a good many persons in such cases was tired of the argument, and moved an adjournment. He seemed to protest against having an iron chain locked around his neck, and his name on one end, so that whenever he chose to go out at night visiting, he might be taken by the cuff of the neck by some unfeeling citizen and marched home.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

Daily Mercury.

TUESDAY EVNG. MAY 18, 1880

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

From Ottawa.

It is said that Her Royal Highness the Princess, is at present engaged in painting a view of the city from the Ottawa River. Mr. Bierstad is engaged in a similar work.

The Martin Henri Rifles for the use of the Wimbledon team this year, have arrived at Ottawa, and have been sent to the various members.

The Expected Prize Fight.

TORONTO, May 18.—The Goss-Ryan prize fight which was to be for $2,000 a side, has caused unusual excitement among a certain class throughout western Ontario. A report was circulated in the city yesterday to the effect that the prize fight was to take place in Mimico, near the Humber. In consequence a large number of men congregated at the York street slip at 11.30 last night, and when Browette Beyer steamed up and it was explained that the captain had received telegraphic instructions to steam out into the lake and pilot the tugs containing he fighters and friends. There was no truth in the report, and the police who were sent out were ordered back.

SIMCOE, May 18.—A special message from Erie at nine a.m. to-day says the pugilists and their friends have disagreed among themselves, and are still at Erie, and in all probability there will be no fight to-day.

Row Among the Longshoremen.

MONTREAL, May 18.—A slight row took place at the Steamship Lake Champlain, of the Beaver line. The captain and several others were hit by stones. The captain loaded his two cannons which had the effect of clearing the crowd in the vicinity. About 8 o'clock some of the police force were struck by stones, they charged the mob and made several arrests. Everything is quiet at this moment. The police are parading and the work is progressing on the Allan steamers.

Sad Death.

PORT HOPE, May 18.—David Cheer, yard master for the Midland Railway here, who was so badly injured last Saturday, died this morning. Deceased leaves a wife and eight small children.

The Great Boat Race.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Neither men took any work yesterday, and the rest took the lameness out of Courtney's calf and he looked first-rate this noon after his seven miles breather on the water. No word of complaint of any sort has come from Hanlan. Ward had him out this afternoon trying a few spurts, while Courtney was here and there all over the course, studying the start, bend, turn and straightaway. He proposes pulling in his new paper boat, while Hanlan is afraid his will not stand the wear and tear as well as the new wooden boat George Wharin, so he will very likely use the latter. Paines sculls have been discarded by both men, and the contest sifts down to a plain old fashioned strong struggle, with similar boats and oars though widely dissimilar styles in using them, even their colors are going to approximate almost nearly, Hanlan's tights being blue throughout, bound with red and white. Courtney's colors are blue and white. He has adopted the College fashion, wearing a hat band of light blue trimmed with white, and so have all his party, and they are already as well known on the streets as any men in Washington. His brother John who is shorter but sturdier than he came yesterday, and if anything that half-a-dozen faithful friends can do will save him he will get on well indeed. He has at last found out that his adversary mastered him years ago, and that it pays to let others around him do all they can and leave merely rowing to him. He has not half as much to worry about now, indeed, scarcely anything at all. Though dining with the rest he is chary of vegetables, eats a great deal of meat, and fights as shy of liquids as possible. The warm weather to-day is better for him than for Hanlan, for he can better spare a pound or two of flesh, while Hanlan looked fine enough several days ago, and has not run up any since. He purposely deferred his work till late this afternoon to avoid strength of sun and keep himself as well together as possible. One thing too, it is not difficult to detect, although betting ranges at about five to four on him, with not a few takers. However you can see that he does not wear quite so confident an air as he did at Chautauqua, and that in his reference to his antagonist, he speaks with undisguised respect for him, and admits that he is an exceedingly bad man to row down. His attendants also seem to share the feeling and are very quiet and undemonstrative. Most careful watch is kept of the boats, part of each boat house being roped off so that no one can get near them. A certificate of deposit on the United States Trust Company was placed last Friday in the banking house of Cooke, jr. & Co. for collection, and the proceeds were turned into a United States Treasury draft on the Sub-Treasury in New York for said sum. The latter stands payable unconditionally to the referee, and he may turn it over to the one he decides to be the winner.

Local News.

THE Rifle Association practice at the butts this afternoon.

A LARGE number of school children were present at an exhibition of the phonograph given in the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Fresh winds, mostly between south-east and south-west; partly cloudy weather, with showers and thunder storms.

PROMENADE CONCERT.—The last promenade concert to be given for some time by the Artillery Band will take place in the Drill Shed on the evening of the 24th—Queen's Birthday.

DRUNKENNESS.—Barney McTague was arrested by P. C. Hammond on Waterloo Avenue last night for being drunk. To-day at the Police Court he was fined $4.50.

NUISANCE AT THE RIVER.—The Health Inspector had the bodies of no less than 12 dogs and pigs removed from the Speed River on Monday. If the persons who are responsible for their being in the river can be discovered they are to be prosecuted.

THE HORSE EXPORT TRADE.—Mr. Smith, Buffalo, is again in the city in search of horses for shipment to the United States. Since February he has exported eight car loads, amounting to 128 horses, which were bought in this neighborhood and shipped from here. Farmers who sold to him realized good prices.

ACCIDENT.—A young man named Duffield, met with an accident while helping at a barn raising on the farm of Mr. Caraher, councillor, Guelph Township, on Monday afternoon. He was working about the building when one of the rafters fell, striking him on the head and back. He received a severe shock, and was badly bruised where the timber struck him.

LACROSSE.—At a meeting of the Guelph Lacrosse club last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Hon. President, Mayor Sleeman; Hon. vice-President, Mr. Adam Weir; President, Mr. Canfield; vice-President, E. N. Turner; Secty.-Treas., J. W. Ogston; Managing committee, Jno. Kennedy, A. Steware, Wm. Clark. The practice for the season commences to-morrow evening.

SAD NEWS.—Last night Mr. Henry A. Ware, accountant in the Bank of Commerce, received a telegraphic despatch from Chicago announcing the sad intelligence of the sudden death of his father in that city. Only a few days ago Mr. Ware received word that his father had just moved into a new house, and was in the best of health. The many friends of Mr. Ware will deeply sympathize with him in his sorrow.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM.—The currant worm is again at work, and now, therefore, is the time when fruit growers should pay the closest attention to their currant bushes. A solution of hellebore has been found to be the safest and best remedy, a few applications of which will be sure to destroy the pest, and enable the producer to secure a good and proper yield of this most useful and valuable fruit. As the worm does not attack the black currant, of course no necessity exists for sprinkling those bushes.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A runaway accident occurred on the Eramosa road on Saturday afternoon whereby Mrs. Henry Duffield, Eramosa, received serious injuries. She was driving home with a daughter of John Duffield. When on the Eramosa road near the General Hospital the breaching strap broke and the horse, becoming frightened, ran away. Mrs. Duffield was thrown out of the buggy when opposite Owen McDonald's pump factory. Miss Duffield managed to retain her seat, and after passing the old Bull Frog tavern gained control of the horse. She returned to where Mrs. Duffield was thrown out and had her removed back to the city. Her injuries consisted of a severe scalp wound in the fore part of the head, and a number of severe bruises about the head and body. Dr. Cowan attended the sufferer who was unconscious for some time after the accident. Her condition is serious and her recovery doubtful.

CATTLE STAMPEDE.—Over a hundred head of cattle belonging to Mr. Craig, Toronto Township, which were delivered here for export, broke out of the fair ground about midnight on Monday, and wandered about seven miles from the city along the Eramosa Road. A man had been left in charge of the cattle, but thinking they could take care of themselves he fell asleep. Their departure was not noticed for some time, and when it was, there was considerable difficulty, owing to the lateness of the hour, in procuring men to hunt them and drive them back. It was urged that something should be done to recover the cattle without delay, and in the extremity of the case the boys employed at the Royal Hotel, where Mr. Craig was stopping, were sent in different directions in search of the drove. As stated above they were found on the Eramosa Road about seven miles from the city, and at five o'clock this (Tuesday) forenoon were safely enclosed in the fair ground again. Mr. Craig considers that he was very fortunate in recovering the animals so promptly, for had they not been found before daylight in all probability they would have separated and gone back to the premises of those who sold them. The delay caused by collecting them again would have been a serious loss to Mr. Craig, who would have missed the steamer by which he intends shipping.

Guelph Mechanics' Institute.

The annual meeting of the members of the Guelph Mechanics' Institute was held in the Reading Room on Monday night. There was quite a large attendance, and much interest was manifested in the proceedings. Mr. Geo. B. Fraser, President, occupied the chair, and read the following

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Directors of the Guelph Farmers and Mechanics' Institute in presenting their annual report for the year 1880 have to point out considerable progress in the affairs of the Institute, and an increasing interest on the part of the members generally.

There are 371 names on the roll, and during the past year the additions to the membership have been an increase over the previous year of 127—due in part to the reduction of fees and the personal efforts of the Directors.

We notice with pleasure the increased use of the advantages offered both in the Reading Room and Library. At no period of our history has this been more marked.

No effort has been spared to select books and periodicals of the most interesting character. A table in the Reading Room has been set apart especially for the use of lady members.

A reference to the Librarian's books shows the total number of books, magazines, &c., taken out during the year—10,200.

It is to be regretted in this connection that the better class of books should not be more generally read. Still, even in this respect we notice an improvement.

During the year 295 volumes have been added to the Library, including some very valuable works in the different departments of literature. A new catalogue has been printed—350 copies—and the general condition of books, &c., carefully attended to.

The requirements of the statute have been carried out during the past year. Twenty-seven pupils attended the evening class taught by Mr. Dobbin, and 26 that by Mr. Davidson. The subjects taught were arithmetic, book-keeping, spelling and writing. The progress made was very creditable to their pupils. We hope many more will avail themselves of this privilege next year.

Your directors acknowledge with thanks the kindness of the ladies who added $50 to the funds of the Institute, the proceeds of a strawberry festival held by them; and the proprietors of the London Advertiser, Daily Herald, Weekly Mercury, the Halton News, Mr. Saunders the Argonaut, the American Consul for the Scientific American; papers all sent free to our reading room; Mr. Newton for Elk horns presented to the Institute, Mr. Gillespie for his able lecture. These are all highly appreciated.

It has been under discussion to increase the fees during the coming year.

We find a great deal that is encouraging for the present, and are hopeful of increased usefulness in the future.

G. B. FRASER, President.
Guelph, May 17, 1880.

There are, however, accounts outstanding to the amount of $135.02, which leaves the Institute that amount in debt.

The reports were on motion adopted.

It was learned during a conversation previous to the adoption of the report that about sixty of the members took advantage of the billiard room, which was quite a success, the receipts averaging $10 a week. The total receipts since opened are $166. There are now three tables. The regulations are strictly adhered to, and the business is carried on in the most orderly and satisfactory manner.

Messrs. E. Newton and R. Flaws were appointed scrutineers previous to balloting for the office bearers for the ensuing year. The following were elected by acclamation :

President, E. Newton.
First Vice-President, D. McCrae.
Second Vice-President, Alex. Bruce.
Secretary, H. H. Swinford.
Treasurer, James Cormack.

While the scrutineers were at work, the following resolution was moved by Mr. J. Innes, seconded by Mr. E. Newton, and carried unanimously :

That while it is a matter of great satisfaction to the members of the Institute to find that it has prospered so much during the year, yet they regret to learn that it is still in arrears, and in order to wipe this out, and put the Institute on a good financial basis, this meeting fixes the annual subscription for ordinary members at $2, (as it was in previous years with two exceptions,) except apprentices and all young men acting in that capacity; also young and single women who are earning their own living, who shall pay $1 a year; also that all half rate members who use the billiard room shall pay $1 extra to that fund.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

On motion of Mr. Geo. Howard, seconded by Mr. Jas. Cormack, Miss Hoskin was re-appointed Librarian.

The President elect was then called to the chair, and returned thanks for the honor done in electing him to that position.

A cordial vote of thanks was passed to the retiring President for his long and valuable services to the Institute, which was duly acknowledged by Mr. Fraser.

This closed the proceedings.

CITY COUNCIL.

Tribute of Respect to the Late Mr. Brown.

Proposed Changes in the Market By-Law.

The Council met on Monday evening. Present—Mayor Sleeman, Ald. Lamprey, Burns, McLagan, Bruce, Tyson, Hewer, Robertson, Biscoe, Gowdy, Doran, Stevenson, Fairbank, Chadwick, MacMillan, Hart, McGuire.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE MR. BROWN.

Ald. McLagan moved, seconded by Ald. Chadwick, as follows :—

Resolved, that this Council, acting for and representing the citizens of Guelph, at this its first regular meeting after his death, express its great sorrow at the loss the country has sustained in the untimely death of the Hon. George Brown, so suddenly cut off in the prime of his manhood by the dastardly act of an assassin. Senator Brown for a period of upwards of a quarter of a century occupied an exalted position as a statesman, journalist and citizen of his adopted country; was an unflinching advocate for the political, social and religious liberties of the people, British connection, equal rights to all classes, irrespective of nationality, creed or color; a sincere and devout Christian, who throughout his whole career was an upholder of truth and those great moral principles which enabled him to carry with him to the tomb the white lily of a blameless life; whose services to the country will be handed down to generations unborn as those rendered by one of the greatest and best of our public men who have adorned our Legislative Halls and our country.

Be it therefore resolved that a copy of the foregoing resolution be sent to the family of the late Senator, tendering to his sorrowing widow, her fatherless children and his, the deep and fervent sympathy of the citizens of Guelph in their sad bereavement.

Ald. McLagan said it gave him melancholy pleasure to move the foregoing resolution. He had come in contact with the late Senator in political and business matters, and found him to be a man of true, sterling character. Like other men of iron will he had his faults, but no one could gainsay that he had been honest and conscientious in his labours. Take him all in all there were few behind who could fill his place. The very fact of the press accounts of his illness and death being so extended showed that he occupied a high position and that he was worthy of it. Whatever his faults, every person admitted that he was actuated by a strong desire for the welfare of the country.

Ald. Chadwick, who seconded the resolution, as a rule was opposed to resolutions of that kind, but in consideration of the high position Hon. George Brown had held, and because of the sudden way in which he was cut off, it was proper to pass the resolution. Mr. Brown advocated measures he (Ald. Chadwick) was entirely opposed to, but he could heartily endorse the sentiments of the resolution.

Ald. McMillan concurred in the resolution. Hon. Mr. Brown's life had been a grand example of what might be accomplished by energy and perseverance and one which the young men of Canada should strive to imitate.

The resolution was then unanimously carried.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was read from H. E. Smallpiece on behalf of the management of the Grand Opera House, Toronto, asking on what terms the Council would rent the City Hall for three years. If the manager of the Grand Opera House could procure a lease of the hall he would fit it up with scenery and give two or three dramatic entertainments each month. But the hall could not be rented save for anything of a local purpose.

The Mayor announced that he had received a statement of the receipts and expenditure of the Ladies' Benevolent Society.

PETITIONS.

Ald. Chadwick—From John McCrea, drawing attention to the insufferable condition of a sewer near the Eramosa bridge, and asking that it be repaired.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Chadwick, chairman, reported recommending that in the matter of the Barclay vs. City case the same be settled by the payment of the taxed costs accrued so far in the suit at law, and $50, and that the water complained of be drained from the lots in question.

That R. Stewart's account, amounting to $155.79, be paid.

The report was adopted.

MARKETS AND BUILDINGS.

Ald. Hart, chairman, reported as follows :—

Your committee recommend that by-law No. 217 relating to markets in the city of Guelph be amended as follows :—

That wherever the words Town, Reeve or Reeves, Councillor or Constable appear in said by-law the words City and Alderman or Aldermen and Policeman be substituted therefore.

That in clause No. 10 after the words Clerk of market in the 3rd line, the words "or such person as the committee may appoint" be inserted, otherwise the clause to remain as now.

That clause No. 11 be changed so as to read: That no grain, meat, vegetables, fruit, flan, hay, straw, fodder, wood, lumber, shingles, dairy or farm produce of any description shall be sold by dealers coming into the city in the public streets of the city of Guelph, or at the shop or place of business (other than the market) of dealers in the above articles, but the same shall be brought to the market and shall be sold after the seller has obtained from the market clerk a ticket under the provisions of this by-law.

That clause No. 12 be amended by adding the words "on Saturdays" after the word "forenoon" in the seventh line in said clause, and that all the words from the said word forenoon to the word "may" in the nineth line inclusive be struck out, and that the following words be added to said clause; "but on all other days on which the market is kept open there shall be no restriction as to the time of which buyers may purchase.

That clause No. 13 be amended by adding the following words: nor shall any person purchase the same at his residence or place of business before the hour appointed for the market to close.

That the fee for a load of wood be made 5 cents instead of 10 cents as at present.

Your committee respectfully recommend that the By-law Committee be instructed to introduce a by-law embodying the clauses herein suggested.

The Council went into committee to consider the report. Ald. Stevenson in the chair.

After a good deal of discussion, the report passed. (In Council.)

Ald. McGuire and Gowdy moved that the report as passed in committee be amended by making the hour for throwing the market open on Saturday, 11 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock as proposed.

The amendment was carried and the report was adopted as amended.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Ald. Gowdy, Chairman, reported recommending

That arrangements be made with the gas Company to light 22 more street lamps with gas, the whole number to be lighted at $22 each per annum.

That this be done as soon as arrangements can be made with the present coal oil lamp lighter, say July 1st.

That one of the fire horses be sold.

That the teamster be dispensed with and that the engineer take care of the real horse.

That G. B. Fraser's claim for damage done to goods through water from the street watering hose be not paid.

That John M. Bond be paid $5.38.

The report was adopted.

RELIEF.

Ald. Hewer presented a report recommending

That Mrs. Charter's petition asking for cost of keeping three children from different persons and receiving pay for the same be not paid. If she takes children to keep, with the intention of making a living through nursing them, she has no claim on the corporation.

The report was adopted.

PARKS AND SHADE TREES.

Ald. Fairbank reported that the expenditure to date was $519.30, leaving a balance to credit of committee of $499.12.

The report was adopted.

POLICE.

Ald. Biscoe, chairman, presented a report recommending the payment of the following accounts :—Robert King, $4; James Ewing, $3; Robert Rice, $1; Beatty & Dyson, $11.25; R. Barker, $1.75.

The report was adopted.

BY-LAWS.

Ald. McLagan introduced a by-law to exempt the malleable iron works in course of construction from taxation for ten years.

It having been discovered that there was a clause in the Statutes enacting that a fee of $1 should be imposed as a tax on dogs and $2 for bitches, and the Council having passed a by-law enacting that a license fee of $1.20 should be imposed on dogs and $2.20 on bitches, the by-law was amended in such a way as to add 10 cents in each case to the Statutory law.

COURT OF REVISION.

Ald. McLagan and Gowdy moved that the following members form a Court of Revision for the current year :—Ald. McMillan, Hart, Robertson, Coffee, McLagan, and that the first meeting be held on third June, at 7.30 p. m. Carried.

PROCLAMATION.

Ald. McLagan and Gowdy moved that the Mayor be instructed to issue his proclamation appointing Queen's Birthday a public holiday. Carried.

TUESDAY EVNG. MAY 18, 1880

THE Toronto Telegram thinks A. T. Galt's military attache will be most useful in carrying his valise, containing his swell clothes, when he goes to court receptions.

In the event of a vacancy in the representation of Marquette, Manitoba, by the appointment of Mr. Ryan to the postion of Post Office Inspector for Manitoba, Dr. Cowan, late of Harriston, it is said, will be the Ministerial candidate.

IN the Mail some time ago, it was stated that it would not receive Government advertisements so long as its proprietor held a seat in the House of Commons. Now we find them thick enough in its columns. Has the proprietor resigned, or has he taken in a reef in his high-sounding political independence?

A REMARK attributed to Secretary Evarts, gives a good idea of the political situation in the States at present. He says :—"I would not be surprised to see both of the great political parties go under this year. The nomination of General Grant means death to one. The nomination of Mr. Tilden means death to the other. The time is ripe for a new political organization."

THE Victoria Colonist, an ardent admirer of the Dominion Government's Pacific railway policy, thus speaks of the 125 mile section of the line on which Sir Charles Tupper, backed up by a servile majority, intends to incur an immediate expeniture of between eight and ten million dollars :—"A portion of the proposed line will run through a section of country that is valueless for agricultural purposes, and the Dominion Government ask the conveyance to them of land of fair average value in other parts of the Province in lieu of the worthless lands adjacent to the railway line." This fully bears out Mr. Blake's statement, and shows how utterly useless it is to build the road through the route chosen.

MR. GEORGE A. DREW, M. P., for North Wellington, distinguished himself during the late session as the mover for the most expensive and useless return, which will cost between $300 and $400 to prepare, and which no one—not even Mr. Drew himself, will ever read. Mr. Drew is, therefore, the champion mover for useless and expensive returns. An analysis of the motions for returns carried during the late session reveals that of the whole number 127 were moved by Ministerialists and 117 by the Opposition, Including Independents like Mr. Haddow among the latter. Of the 117 moved by the Opposition fully one-eighth were for statistics of trade and finance such as the Mail admits are "of great interest to all the country and necessary for the proper conduct of debate." In what manner then have, the Opposition been wasting the public money?

IT would very much surprise people if they were told how many things the Queen could do without consulting Parliament; and it certainly has so proved for when the Queen abolished purchase in the army by an act of prerogative (after the Lords had rejected the bill for doing so) there was a great and general astonishment. But this is nothing to what the Queen, by law, can do without consulting Parliament. Not to mention other things she could disband the army, she could dismiss all the officers from the General Commander-in-Chief downwards; she could dismiss all the sailors, too, she could sell off all the ships of war and all the naval store; she could make a peace by the sacrifice of Cornwall and begin a war for the conquest of Brittany. She could make every citizen in the United Kingdom, male or female, a peer; she could make every parish in the United Kingdom a "university; she could dismiss most of the civil servants; she could pardon all offenders.

The Late Hon. George Brown.

Public Meetings in Harriston and Mount Forest.

HARRISTON, May 17.—A meeting of the citizens of the town of Harriston and township of Minto assembled in their Council chamber this afternoon for the purpose of passing resolutions of condolence at the death of the Hon. George Brown, which, owing to the absence of the Mayor during the last week and unavoidable circumstances, was not held until today. Mr. A. Meiklejohn, Mayor, was appointed to the chair, and Mr. P. Empey, secretary. The following resolutions were passed :—

Moved by Mr. Prain, Warden of the county of Wellington, seconded by Mr. S. Robertson, "That this meeting of citizens the town of Harriston and township of Minto hereby desire to express deep sorrow at the untimely death of the Hon. George Brown, Senator of the Dominion, and the great regret felt by this community at large in the demise of one of Canada's most patriotic and distinguished statesmen. This meeting recognizes the greatness and extent of the services rendered by the deceased as a journalist and statesman, as well as the efforts put forth by him in advancing Canadian agriculture, giving his whole life with zeal and energy to the best interests of his adopted country, an unceasing advocate of the civil and religious liberty of the people. Canada has, therefore, in the opinion of this meeting, lost one of its most able and talented public men, and looks upon the loss of the great Senator as a national calamity." Carried.

Moved by Mr. R. G. Lambert, seconded by Mr. G. Preston, "That the Mayor and Secretary of this meeting convey to the widow and family of the deceased a copy of the resolution expressing the warm sympathy felt by this meeting and this community at large in their severe and trying affliction." Carried.

MOUNT FOREST, May 17.—A meeting held in the town hall on Saturday evening last, to pass resolutions of regret on the death of the late Senator Brown, was well attended. The chair was occupied by the Mayor, and the following resolutions were passed :—

Moved by Reeve MacMullen, seconded by Deputy-Reeve Buggin, and carried unanimously, "That we gratefully recognize the timely action of our town council in regard to the death of the Hon. George Brown, of Toronto, as expressive of our approbation of his life and labour, the national loss sustained by his untimely death, our abhorrence of the manner in which it was brought about, and our sympathy with his bereaved family and friends."

Resolved also, "That we deeply deplore the growing spirit and practice in Canada, as is evident from the criminal calendar and newspaper reports, of persons taking the law into their own hands, and irrespective of property and life revenging themselves, and that in the interests of order, justice, safety, and national prosperity we feel it to be our duty and that of our fellow-subjects throughout the Dominion to maintain the authority and majesty of the law, and the integrity of its faithful and judicial administration."

Resolved further, "That we feel the necessity of providing, supporting, and applying with increased diligence and care every educational means required to prevent vice and crime, and to raise up in the land a moral, loyal and law-abiding people, hating wrong and violence, and loving and practising that which is right, pure, and good.

THE BIDDULPH MURDERS.

APPLICATION FOR A CHANGE OF VENUE.

The Case to be Argued Next Week.

The Crown officers on Monday made an application before the Court of Queen's Bench for a change of venue for the trial of the Biddulph murderers on the ground that a fair, impartial and unprejudiced trial cannot be had in the County of Middlesex.

The prisoners arrived by the forenoon train on the G. W. R. in Toronto, in charge Sheriff Glass and several constables. Quite a number of people were on the platform to witness their arrival. First to appear on the platform were John Kennedy and John Furtell, handcuffed together, then came McLoughlin and Thomas Ryder, and James Carroll and James Ryder, jr.; brought up the rear. The men were dressed in their best clothes, and were looking much better than they did at the Assizes five weeks ago. They were at once driven to Osgoode Hall.

At twelve o'clock Chief Justice Wilson, Justice Galt, and Justice Osler took their places on the Bench in the Court of Common Pleas, the doors of the Court-room being at the same time thrown open to the crowd that had collected in the vestibule. Mr. Æ. Irving, Q. C., represented the Crown; and Mr. Hugh MacMahon, Q.C., of London, who has conducted the defence from the first, appeared on behalf of the prisoners.

After the writs of certiorari and habeas corpus had been returned on Mr. Irving's motion and the return had been duly filed, the prisoners were arraigned on one of the bills returned against them, viz., for the murder of Thomas Donnelly, to which all of them pleaded "Not Guilty."

Mr. Irving then said that he had an application to make on behalf of the Crown in the matter on which the prisoners had just been arraigned. The application of the Crown was that the place of trial should be changed from the county of Middlesex to some other county. He was moving on the notice which he had served upon the counsel for the prisoners. The form of motion which he proposed to make was that a suggestion should be entered upon the record embodying the words contained in the notice. He proposed to support his motion by affidavit. He asked that an order be made for an argument of the case at such a day as the Court might deem convenient and proper. In the event of such an order being granted, he presumed that it was not necessary that he should go into his motion more fully than he had done.

Mr. MacMahon being consulted, said Tuesday, the 25th inst., would suit him, and in the meantime he would furnish the Crown representative with copies of the affidavit he intended to submit then, so as to avoid further delay.

The Bench and Counsel having agreed on the date mentioned the rule was issued accordingly, and an order was made handing the prisoners over to the charge of Sheriff Jarvis.

This terminated the proceedings in Common Pleas, and the prisoners were removed.

IN THE QUEEN'S BENCH.

In charge of the constables they crossed the hall to the Court of Queen's Bench, where Mr. Irving made an application before Chief Justice Hagarty, Justice Cameron, and Justice Armour, precisely similar to the one in the other Court. His object in carrying the case before the two Courts is to obtain the opinion of both bodies upon the change of venue, and to have the matter finally disposed of.

The proceedings in the Queen's Bench were the same as in the Common Pleas and their Lordships granted the rule nisi fixing upon Wednesday, the 26th inst., as the day for hearing the argument.

The prisoners were then coveyed in hacks to the gaol, where they will be confined till their presence is required in Court again.

The Hamilton Times says :—Although the train which conveyed the prisoners and their counsel left London at 6 o'clock in the morning, there were over 200 persons from Biddulph township and neighborhood to bid them good-bye. This fully bears out the statement which has been made in reference to the feeling in favor of the accused which pervades that district. There were many women in the crowd, including the wives and sweethearts of the unfortunately placed men. They came laden with almost every description of cakes and sweetmeats, which they supplied liberally to the prisoners, not forgetting Mr. MacMahon, their counsel, who appeared to be a great favorite with the crowd. Immediately prior to the starting of the train a laughable incident occurred. A stalwart old member of the Vigilance Committee had provided himself with a bottle of 'good old rye,' with which he proposed to regale his former associates. But the officers kept a strict watch over their charge, and how could he get it into the hands of his friends? Fertile of resource, but forgetful that right before him sat the officer in charge, the man smuggled the bottle in below his long coat tails, and then with a look of triumph backed up to the prisoner Kennedy. The latter saw he was observed, and laughingly produced the bottle, handing it to the constable, whom he invited to partake of the contents. We have not heard that he did so. The crowd did all they could to cheer up their late fellow farmers, and were loud in expressing their convictions that the now prisoners would soon be triumphantly set free. All along the route, whenever the train stopped, there were gatherings of the curious to see the men who are accused of the terrible crime of murdering five persons. The prisoners, did not shrink from public observation, and with the exception of two appeared to be in good spirits. These two—Ryder and McLaughlin—seemed downhearted, and did not care to court public scrutiny.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

—AND THE—

GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER IV

"Not the worst? Why, my child, what do you mean?"

"His other leg has been amputated."

"Humph! Well, that's agreeable news! No legs and only one arm! Pity they didn't amputate his head at once. I suppose, of course, you will break your engagement?"

"Oh, mother! How can you be so unkind?"

"Pandora M'Duffy, you must be insane! Marry a man with one limb! How is he going to waddle around? Do you intend to carry him under your arm, in a bundle?"

"He will go on wheels, of course," said Pandora, with brimming eyes.

"On wheels! A Hunsicker and a M'Duffy married to a man on wheels, and who has to slide on the bannister when he wants to come down stairs! Why don't you accept Mr. Smith at once? He is intact, I believe, with the exception of his scalp. This family seems to be haunted by men who are more or less in piecemeal."

"I would die rather than marry Smith."

"You might do it for your mother's sake, so as to be near to her?"

"Near to her? What do you mean mother."

"Why, I came in to tell you, my child, that I have accepted General Belcher's hand. I shall marry him, and we shall probably spend our summers at his prospective country-seat upon the Pottawatomie Reservation."

"General Belcher!" exclaimed Pandora in disgust. "I never thought mother it would come to that!"

Then Pandora swept out of the room, with her handkerchief to her eyes, leaving the majestic Mrs. M'Duffy in a condition of some uncertainty as to her daughter's theory respecting the degree of humiliation which had been reached in her contract with the General.

"But I know he is rich, and that he has a promise of an appointment as Minister to Peru, where he expects to speculate in bark," said Mrs. M'Duffy to herself.

The Secretary of the Interior Department at that period was an especially capable officer. He obtained by some means a clue to the secret of the movements against the Pottawatomie Reservation, and he followed it industriously by means of his agents. Late in the month of October he had probed the matter to the bottom, and he gave it to the newspaper.

The entire conspiracy of General Belcher and Achilles Smith was exposed, and an indignant nation discovered that the costly struggle with the Pottawatomies had not even so slight a basis on the part of the Government as a real injury done to Achilles Smith. It was ascertained that Smith had not been scalped at all. He had merely had his hair pulled at the Pottawatomie agency by a muscular squaw whom he was trying to cheat out of her fair allowance of rations.

It became clear that Congressional investigation would be ordered before the year was out, and Achilles Smith fled. General Belcher's conduct excited so much indignation in Kansas that the politicians, following the popular lead, turned on him. He was arrested and tried upon a charge of bribery and was committed. When on his way to prison he knocked down his custodian, took the first horse he came to, and started due South. It is supposed that he went to Mexico. The feeling in Kansas is that the unhappy land of the Montezumas has yet to experience her bitterest woes. It will be a charming country to emigrate from when General Belcher begins to feel at home.

Early in November Major Dunwoody obtained release from his duties and came to Washington. He had not warned Pandora; he wished to surprise her. When he called he withheld his name from the servant. Pandora entered the room slowly. When she saw her lover she gave a little scream of joy and flew towards him. Before reaching him a thought struck her. She paused and seemed astonished.

THE CATTLE EXPORT TRADE.—The Globe says:—The trade in fat cattle for shipment from Ontario to the Old Country markets is increasing rapidly. During the past few days a very large number of prime cattle have been brought into the city from different parts of the Province, and notably from the county of Wellington, for shipment to Montreal, and thence by steamer to Liverpool. In one of the pens alone could be seen on Monday a drove of 600 superior beeves, all the property of one buyer, and all from the neighbourhood of Elora. The cattle now coming in are what is known as the "first crop" from the farmers' stables, and the dealers report that many large feeders are putting in a second lot to feed for a while, and finish off on the grass, a proceeding which is somewhat unusual amongst farmers.

THE EXPECTED PRIZE FIGHT.—The firm attitude of the Canadian authorities has, it is understood, caused the promoters of the prize fight between Goss and Ryan to abandon their original intention of holding the fight on Canadian ground. The entire party left Buffalo on Monday afternoon for Erie, Pa., whence they will proceed by tugs to some selected spot on the Pennsylvania side, and there conclude the encounter before the American authorities become aware of their whereabouts or have time to prevent them. Men in Buffalo who are in the secret of the party's arrangements feel confident that the fight will come off.

VICTORIA COLLEGE.—The closing services in connection with this College began on Sunday morning, when the Rev. W. W. Ross, of the Centenary Church, Hamilton, preached the annual sermon before the Theological Union. In the evening the Rev. S. S. Nelles, D. D., L. L. D., President of the University, delivered the Baccalaureate discourse before a large congregation, after which he addressed the graduating class in words of counsel and advice. On Monday a large audience assembled in Paraday Hall to hear the inaugural address of the President of the Science Association. Mr. A. P. Coleman, B. A., on the physical and chemical conditions of the sun and its importance as a source of motion and life on the earth. In the evening Mr. W. H. C. Kerr, M. A., of Brantford, delighted a large audience with an able lecture on "Mental Culture."

A New Industry for Women.

In many parts of the country women will be appointed as census enumerators, with the probable result something like this:

Neatly-dressed woman of an uncertain age, with big book in her arms and pen in her hand, rings the door-bell. Young lady appears at the door.

Census enumerator—'Good morning. Lovely morning. I'm taking the census. Your were born?"

Young lady—'Yes'em.'

'Your name, please? What a pretty dust cap you have on. Can I get the pattern? It's just like the one the lady of the next house has. Let's see, your name?

'I haven't the pattern. Don't you get awful tired walking around taking the census?'

'Oh, yes, it's wearisome, but I pick up a great deal of information. How nice your dinner smells cooking. Plum pudding!'

'In Dundas. No. Haven't plum pudding to-day. I'm looking for a new recipe—'

'I've got one that I took down from a lady's cook book across the way. Are you married?'

'No. Want an invitation to the wedding, don't you? It will be a long time before you yet it. You can keep your plum pudding recipe, thank you.'

'I sh'd think 'twould be sometime. Have you chil—? O, of course, I forgot. This hall carpet is just the pattern of Aunt Arudy's. She's had it more than twenty years. How many are there in the family?'

'If this hall carpet don't suit you, you can get off from it and go about your censusing.'

'Well, you're an impudent jade, anyhow. You haven't told me when you were born or what's your name, and when you expect to get married, and there's $10 fine for not answering the census-taker's questions, and if I were you I wouldn't be seen at the door in such a slouchy morning dress—so there.'

'O, you hateful thing. You can just go away. I'll pay $10 just to get rid of you, and smile doing it. It's none of your business nor the censuses' either. No it isn't. You can keep your pattern and your plum pudding and your saucy, impudent questions to yourself. I—I—"

'Good morning. I must be getting on. I haven't done but three families all the forenoon,' and an energetic bang of the door just missed catching a foot of her trailing skirts.

Mothers!! Mothers!! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the exorciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&wlyr.

There was one burglary and two attempts at burglary since Saturday night, in Ottawa. Five boys are under arrest for entering a grocery store on Monday, and a young man named John King for attempting to burglarize Honton & Livings' hardware store.

Steers, of the Ottawa soup-kitchen fame, and the active 'supe' of his worship the mayor and city members of Parliament, has been reappointed to his last session's position as railway immigration agent in Manitoba. The appointment is worthy of the Government that made it.

The Governor-General, the Princess Louise and suite will leave for Quebec on Thursday by special train on the Q. M. Lord Archibald Campbell will accompany the vice-regal party.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

The Great Boat Race.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Blaikie's bulletin says Hanlan had a good night's rest. Courtney is asleep, and is to be called at three p. m. Both will be on hand promptly. The surveyors have sworn the course to be five miles long. The weather is fine.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19, 10:30 a.m.—The following official bulletin has just been issued:—Word from both boat houses is to the effect that everything is all right and in perfect condition.

WM. BLAIKIE, Referee.

11 a.m.—Word from both boat houses is to the effect that everything is in readiness and rowing apparatus is all right. Both men are in perfect order.

WASHINGTON, May 19, 1:30 p. m.—Blaikie has issued the following official bulletin this a. m., relative to the oarsmen and the prospects of the race:—8 a.m.—I have just seen Hanlan and Courtney. Hanlan told me he had a pretty good night's sleep, and would be at the starting line promply at half-past four this afternoon. Courtney was still asleep, and although his brother John was cooling his brow with a wet sponge, his head did not feel feverish to my touch. He had not been restless during the night, and when last awake left word that he was to be called at three o'clock this afternoon. His advisers say that he will positively be at the starting line at half-past four o'clock.

Courtney Lying Ill.

NEW YORK, May 19.—A special despatch to the afternoon papers, say Courtney has been taken sick and is lying on his back in his room, at Riggs House. He is partially unconscious. The attendants are working hard to get him round. His sickness is not known outside of his room.

Later—Courtney Not Sick.

A later despatch contradicts this story, and Mr. Blaikie says it is all gammon, and that when he left him he was dressing for dinner, and would row at the appointed time.

From Montreal.

MONTREAL, May 19.—Fifty British immigrants, bound for Manitoba, arrived this morning and will leave in the course of the day for their destination.

There is great interest felt here in the boat race at Washington. The bulletin boards are besieged with crowds and every scrap of intelligence is eagerly scanned. A certain victory is predicted on all sides for the Canadian boy. The course is five miles long. The weather is fine, and all indications point to a race.

A working mechanic in this city claims to have discovered a new motive power that will be as effective as steam and as applicable to all kinds of locomotion and mill power, at one-tenth the cost for fuel; it is represented as beating any of Edison's discoveries for practicability and cheapness. The inventor has been working at the project for five years and now values the discovery at one million dollars. He has applied for a patent and when granted will exhibit his invention. Of course the public has so far only the mechanic's own account for the success of his labors.

There has been no renewal of labor riots to-day. Rates now 20 cents per hour and the men seem perfectly satisfied.

From Toronto.

TORONTO, May 19.—A meeting is called for to-morrow afternoon at Shaftesbury Hall for the purpose of discussing the erection of a statue of the late Senator Brown in Queen's Park.

The excitement in reference to the Hanlan-Courtney race has increased, and telegraph and newspaper bulletins are inspected by crowds anxious to know the latest from Washington.

THE London Advertiser of Monday says: "The rumored death of Henry Spence is incorrect. He is living in Rochester." This report will be received with pleasure by his friends here.

WATER MAIN BURST.—A water main at the corner of Perth and Derry streets burst this forenoon. The rush of water from the broken pipe tore away a portion of the earth above it, and flooded the roadway.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES BARBER.—We regret to learn of the death of Mr. James Barber, of Barber Brothers, which took place at Georgetown this (Wednesday) morning. The deceased was widely known as one of the senior members of the well known firm of Barber Brothers, paper makers and manufacturers, and for years past devoted his attention to the management of the paper mills at Georgetown. He was highly esteemed not only in the locality in which he lived, but throughout the Province—and especially among the newspaper profession—as a man of high principle, of sterling integrity and unswerving honesty, and his death will be lamented not only by his relatives and more intimate friends, but by a large circle of business acquaintances throughout the Province.

NEW TEAS AT OLD PRICES.—J. E. McElderry, (noted tea store), is now receiving his stock of new teas, and selling them about ten cents a pound cheaper than formerly.

Local News.

No new wool has been delivered here since that purchased last week by Mr. Michie.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Fresh southerly to westerly winds; partly cloudy warm weather with showers and thunder storms in some localities.

MR. JOHN ARMSTRONG, son of Major Armstrong, left on Tuesday in charge of Mr. Craig's cattle for the Old Country.

BUSINESS in police circles is quiet at present. There were no cases at Police Court to-day.

The new lodge room of Garnet Lodge I. O. O. F., Mount Forest, was dedicated last week.

TROUT.—Yesterday Messrs. Russell, Marcon and Anderson captured about a hundred speckled beauties, in the neighborhood of Eden.

IT is expected that Prof. Wm. Johnston, late President of the Agricultural College, will deliver an address at the Grangers' picnic at Port Stanley on the 2nd June.

A LEGACY.—St. Andrew's Society has received notice from Messrs. A. & W. Macdonald, solicitors, that Mrs. Cairns, who died last fall, has left the Society a legacy of $100 in recognition of their services to her while alive.

REV. DR. DAVIDSON, late of Guelph, celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of his second marriage on Monday evening of last week, when his friends in Chatham met in his house and spent a pleasant time.

THE first shipment of butter and cheese from Mr. Brill's factory at Teeswater to Great Britain, was made on Tuesday, and the first shipment from his factory at New Dundee was made on Monday. Mr. Brill also shipped on Tuesday two car loads of hams from Hamilton, and one car load from here for England.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At the last regular meeting of Reliance Lodge I. O. O. F. a very hearty vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Bro. W. J. Maxwell for his excellent sermon to the Order on Sunday, 27th April. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the rev. gentleman.

THE T. G. & B. R.—The following bonus by-laws in aid of the T. G. & B. R. have been submitted. Melancthon, $20,000; Owen Sound $15,000; Artemesia, $20,000; Arthur Village, $8,000; Mount Forest, $8,000; Shelburne, $6,000; Teeswater, $3,000. The prospect for carrying the by-law is improving.

GRAND LODGE BENEVOLENT FUND.—Through the kindness of Mr. Vale, Secretary, Guelph Lodge A. F. and A. M., we have been shown a statement of the disbursements of the Grand Lodge last year for charitable purposes. The amount expended in this way was $10,936.03, and the sums granted being only in cases of deserving charity, shows the magnitude of the benefactions of the Order.

WAGGONS FOR MANITOBA.—The firm of Goold & Wilson, of this city, have on hand a waggon, set-up as is used for the Manitoba trade, and on Tuesday next will ship their second car load for the Prairie Province. They have yet on hand orders for fifty more waggons and one hundred and seventy-five sleighs. Ths speaks well for the waggon trade in Guelph.

BASE BALL NOTES.—The Invincibles play a match game on the Maple Leaf grounds this afternoon with the Maple Leafs. The Galt club has not accepted the challenge of the Maple Leafs to play here on Friday. The match between the fat men of Hamilton and Guelph on the Queen's birthday will be played at Dundurn, Hamilton, under the auspices of St. George's Society of that city. The match will be for a purse of $100.

C. V. R. R. BONDS.—On Monday last J. & R. Craig made a cash offer of fifty-one cents in the dollar to the Fergus Council for the $15,000 of Credit Valley Railway bonds held by that corporation. All previous offers asked for from one to two months' time, in which the party making the offer could either take or refuse the bonds, but the Messrs. Craig appear now to be ready to pay for the bonds as soon as their offer is accepted by the Council.

YESTERDAY and to-day, in consequence of heavy thunder storms passing around the city, there has been some difficulty in transmitting telegraphic messages to places over which the storms were passing. Heavy storms accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over Nassagaweya and Fergus on Tuesday, preventing transmission of despatches, and this forenoon there was some delay in sending messages to the north, because of a heavy thunder storm in the neighborhood of Harriston.

THE Guelph Herald is greatly exercised over our discovery that it "hooks" its editorials entire from its exchanges. We are sorry to have wounded the tender feelings of the writer, because we know he is busy with his garden these days, and has to keep track of the vagaries of the Guelph fat base ball team. But we must confess our astonishment that he is anxious to be further exposed. He has got so accustomed to "corall" that he has actually forgotten the source from which he obtained the essay on "Weeds." It is a small matter, but it may help him to be reminded that on the same day on which he published the article on "Weeds" as an editorial, the identical piece appeared as a news item in the Brantford Expositor, published at the same hour. Does the Herald editorial writer also compile the news columns of the Expositor? — Hamilton Times.

INTERESTING TO CURLERS.—A special meeting of the Toronto Curling Club was held on Friday evening for the consideration of the proposal to sever the Ontario branch of the Royal Caledonian club from the parent body, and the reorganization of a distinct Provincial Association. There was a large attendance and the subject was thoroughly discussed. It was pointed out that the branch paid $112 per annum and did not receive half that sum in return. It was also shown that any amendments recently made in the rules of the Royal Canadian club had been made at the suggestion of the Ontario club, and that owing to the condition of the ice in the two countries it was impossible for the club in Scotland to legislate for Canada. In the interests of curling it was thought that the management of their own affairs would speedily elevate the Ontario branch to the foremost position in all that concerns curling. The change was not proposed out of any feeling of disaffection towards the Royal Caledonian club, but in the interests of curling. It was, however, finally determined that it would not be advisable to take immediate steps towards the severance.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Guelph met on Tuesday in Knox Church, in this city, under the Moderatorship of the Rev. Mr. Ball. There was a large attendance of both Ministers and Ruling Elders. After the making up of the roll and reading the minutes of last meeting, the clerk reported the names of students residing in the bounds, and a committee was appointed for the superintendence of these, and directing and helping them in their studies, consisting of Mr. Torrance, Convener, Mr. J. K. Smith, Mr. John Davidson, Mr. H. H. McPherson, Mr. Charles Davidson and Mr. Thomas McCrae. The clerk stated that Statistical and Financial Returns, more or less complete, had been received from all the congregations and most of Mission Stations in the bounds. Dr. McKay reported that he had moderated in a call at West Puslinch, which had come out unanimously in favour of Mr. Evan Macaulay, one of the Probationers of the church. The call was accompanied with a guarantee of stipend of six hundred dollars, payable half yearly, with a manse and four acres of land. Commissioners were heard from the congregation in support of the call. After deliberation, it was sustained and ordered to be forwarded to Mr. Macaulay, with the request that he signify his decision regarding it as soon as convenient. An Extract Minute from the Presbytery of Quebec was read, agreeing to the Translation of Mr. Henry Edmison, A. M., from the congregation of Melbourne with a view to his being inducted into the pastoral charge of Rothsay and Moorefield, whose call he had accepted. It was agreed that his Induction take place on the first day of June in Calvin Church, Rothsay, at eleven o'clock, forenoon, Mr. Davidson to preach and preside, Mr. Middlemiss to address the people, and Mr. Fowlie the minister, and that the Edict of Induction be served upon the congregations on the two intervening Sabbaths. Mr. Russell having intimated by letter his acceptance of the call from the congregation of Hawksville, subjects of Trials for Ordination were presented to him, and he was asked to be prepared with this at the meeting of Presbytery in Rothsay, and, if found satisfactory, his Ordination was appointed for the second of June, at eleven o'clock, forenoon, Mr. Byrant to preach and preside, Mr. Dickson to address the minister, and Mr. Archibald Campbell, the people. A very full report was read by Mr. J. C. Smith from the committee to St. Andrew's Church, Galt. The substance of it was that that congregation had resolved to ask the sanction of the Presbytery to amalgamate with the Union Church on the two following conditions: 1. That the property now belonging to St. Andrew's Church, shall, when legally conveyed, be held as exempting the former from all pecuniary obligations in connection with the building and equipment of the new church edifice about to be erected, and to supersede the present structure known as "Union Church." 2. That the present name or designation of both congregations be dropped and that another name be chosen by the amalgamating bodies. To this proposal for union, on these conditions Union Church had agreed, and the Session of that congregation had empowered their Moderator and Representative Elder to carry up their resolution and lay it before the Presbytery. After reading all the papers and hearing all parties on the matter, it was unanimously agreed that the report of the Committee be received, and that they be thanked for their diligence, and that the request for amalgamation be granted, the name of the church to be "The Central Presbyterian Church, Galt." Mr. Smith was appointed to preach to both congregations on Sabbath first, and intimate this decision, his pulpit to be supplied by Mr. Dickson. A Committee consisting of Mr. Torrance, Mr. Smith and Mr. C. Davidson was appointed to look after the church property of St. Andrew's Church, and if necessary to consult the General Assembly's Committee on this subject. The Presbytery then proceeded, in terms of their resolution at last meeting, to hold a Conference on the State of Religion. The matter was introduced by a paper read by Mr. Torrance on the question "What can be done to promote greater cordiality of Christian intercourse in and among our congregations." A very interesting discussion was engaged in, and a very pleasant conference held, closing with a vote of thanks to Mr. Torrance for the paper he had prepared. The Presbytery next took up the report of the Committee that had been appointed to consider the Remit of the Assembly on the validity of Romish Ordination. The report was read by Mr. Middlemiss, Convener, and was to the effect that the Presbytery is not prepared to assent to the principle that a priest of the Church of Rome cannot, as such, be a true Minister of the New Testament, and that re-ordination is, in every case necessary to put him in that position, but that, if a priest leaving the Church of Rome, and desiring to become a Minister of our Church, has doubts as to his warrant to preach the gospel and to administer the Sacraments, in virtue of his Romish Ordination, there is no reason why his mind should not be relieved by his being set apart to the work of the ministry in the Presbyterian Church, in the same way as our Probationers are. Mr. Middlemiss moved, and Mr. J. C. Smith seconded the adoption of the report. A very long amendment, which want of space forbids us to give in full, was moved by Mr. Smellie, and seconded by Mr. Dickson, to the effect that we do not acknowledge Popish ordination at all, and consequently do not regard it as valid. The motion and amendment having been put to the House, twenty voted for the latter and ten for the former. From this decision Mr. Middlemiss, Mr. Torrance and Mr. J. C. Smith dissented.

Reports were received from Committes appointed to examine Session Records, which had been produced. Mr. Smellie submitted a notice of motion regarding the mode of appointing Commissioners to the General Assembly. Leave was granted to Union Church, Galt, to change the site of their place of worship, as they had resolved on the erection of a new building in a more favorable position. Messrs. Mullan and Cameron had leave of absence from their congregations granted for three months each. A report was read from the Committee appointed to consider the circular sent down by the Synod's Committee on Temperance. A very favorable opinion was expressed of the report, and a desire stated that it should be given some permanent form, although brethren expressed themselves somewhat adverse to one of its recommendations, and it was agreed to re-commit it in the hope that a report may be brought in, which all can agree. The Presbytery then took up the intimation of Mr. David Smyth, laid upon their table in November last, that it was his intention to resign the pastoral oversight of the First Church, Eramosa, within six months. A resolution was read from the Kirk Session and one from the congregation, asking the Presbytery not to take action on that intimation. Mr. Smyth, and Mr. Dow the representative elder, were heard, from whose statements it appeared that the attendance on public worship was as good as when Mr. Smyth entered on his pastorate, that there was a considerable accession to the membership at the last communion, and that the books of the treasurer showed that there would be an income for stipend of about $700. After deliberation, it was agreed that the request of the session and congregation be granted, and that the Presbytery express their gratification that the difficulties which at one time seemed to necessitate the resignation of Mr. Smyth are apparently removed. A letter was read from the Clerk of the Presbytery of Hamilton, to the effect that the congregation of Kilbride desired to be separated from that Presbytery, to be joined with Campbellville, in these bounds. Careful consideration was given to the application, after which it was resolved to acknowledge the receipt of the same, and to state that inasmuch as there was no station with which to connect Kilbride without entrenching on the harmony of established congregations, the Presbytery cannot advise the proposed transfer in the meantime. Notice was read from the Presbyteries of Truro and London, that they intended to apply to the General Assembly at their meeting in June, for leave to receive certain ministers, who were named, as ministers of the Presbyterian Church.—Carried. A letter was read from Mr. Harry Knox, asking to be employed in the work of Christ. After full consideration it was agreed that a Committee, consisting of the ministers and representative elders in Guelph, Mr. Torrance, Convener, be appointed to meet and confer with Mr. Knox, and that he be requested to appear before the Presbytery at their next meeting. The next ordinary meeting was appointed to be held in Knox Church, Guelph, on the third Tuesday in July, at ten o'clock forenoon. The roll having been called and marked, the proceedings were closed with the benediction.

The Great Boat Race.

Everything Ready for the Contest.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—If the finishing touches of to-morrow leave the two scullers in as good order as they are to-night, and neither they nor their craft are interfered with, the prospect is excellent for not only the fastest race on record, but of Hanlan's famous 33 min. 55½ sec. at Chautauqua being cut down by a good round minute. Hanlan's weight is 149 to 150, a little under his proper rowing weight, and Courtney is down to 170. Hanlan would be safer with five pounds more. Courtney's new paper boat, in which he will probably row, is six inches longer than Hanlan's, a trifle wider, and a pound heavier.

Some fault is found with the course laid out for the race. It is unfortunate that the crook in it comes just as the oarsmen get under full headway. Until to-day a portion of the course near the turn has been obstructed by fishermen's nets, but the Washington managers of the race have succeeded in removing them by using considerable money, and the contestants were able to go over the full course this evening for the first time. The current, almost wholly caused by the tide, is said to be very slow, but it will be against the oarsmen on the return stretch, so that the second half of the race will be much slower than the first. The first mile and the last will be in the channel. Hanlan's backers say the time will be better than 34 minutes.

All the preliminary arrangements for the great race have been perfected, and there is every indication that the contest will positively come off, and the race prove the grandest acquatic event ever witnessed in this country. The referee has sent a note to each man, notifying them that they must be at the starting line at 4.30 p. m. to-morrow, ready for the word. The response received from each was that he would be there.

Courtney took a spurt of eight miles this morning, and on returning declared he never felt better for a race. On reaching his hotel, however, he complained of headache and retired to his room, remaining there the rest of the day. There are rumors this evening that he was seriously ill, but his friends declare he will be all right in the morning and positively start in the race. It is estimated that $75,000 has been invested in the various pools this evening.

Guelph Rifle Association.

Below we give the score made at the Guelph Rifle Association practice at the range yesterday. There was a troublesome winds from the left, the strength of which was underated by some of the new members, until they had made misses enough to convince them that they had to aim at a point about six feet from the bullseye to hit it. Most of the competitors made creditable scores at either one range or another and will therefore have confidence in their skill for the matches on Her Majesty's Birthday:—

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

The Panama Canal.

M. De Lesseps, after his visit to the United States in connection with his great project for the construction of a ship canal through the straits of Panama, spoke very hopefully on his return to Europe about the enterprise, and led the people there to believe that the United States would offer no opposition to the enterprise. It seems, however, that he was far too sanguine, for not only did President Hayes in a special message re-affirm the old Monroe doctrine as regards the interference of foreign powers with American territory, but Congress also took action in the matter, the effect of which was that no such enterprise would be countenanced unless it is under the immediate control of the United States, and the alternative was pretty broadly hinted at, that were any European power to meddle with it, the irrepressible Yankee would have recourse to arms in order to assert his own supposed or asserted rights.

Such being the position assumed by the American Government, Britain, which has as great, if not a greater interest in the proposed canal than the United States, thought it was time to put in her claim to interference in the the matter, which does under the provisions of the Bulwer-Clayton Treaty. And to complicate matters still more, the Republic of British Colombia has asserted her right to a determining voice in the matter. The Americans in their desire to prevent the encroachments of European powers on this side of the Atlantic, have fallen into the political immorality of doing the very thing they deprecate. They have no more right to dictate to the Government of Colombia what terms shall be made or what territorial rights shall be granted to a company undertaking to build the Isthmean Canal than Brazil or the Dominion of Canada. Taking this view of the case the President of the Colombian Republic, at a formal meeting with the American Minister, condemned in rather strong terms the canal project undertaken by Europeans. He said that, as a result of the De Lesseps scheme, the institutions, language and sovereignity of Colombia would be destroyed by the flocking to the country of multitudes of Frenchmen and Englishmen whenever the work was commenced, and that the enterprise was viewed in a most unfavourable light by the power through whose territory the canal would pass, and that it would be justified in resisting the interference of the representatives of the United States, and also in ordering the survey ships to cease operations. It was unjustifiable aggression and invasion for the authorities at Washington to make these attempts, and should they persist in them, the result could only be defeat and humiliation. To aggravate this attempts have lately been made on the part of a private citizen to secure two coaling stations on the isthmus, and two Government vessels were sent there to establish the right to the ports. The Colombia Government have resented this high-handed procedure, and the officers of the steamers, acting under orders, have for the present suspended operations, thus virtually acknowledging that their action was wrong, and contrary to the well understood usages of nations.

THE English majority for the Gladstone Government is 55, the Welsh majority 26, and the Scotch 46; making the total majority in Great Britain 127. Ireland on the contrary, sends up 26 Tories against 14 Liberals, and no less than 63 of the nondescript species called Home Rulers. Wales carries off the palm in Liberalism, having returned only two Conservatives out of 30 members; while Scotland, having double the number of members, has returned seven.

A COTEMPORARY remarks that at the late elections in England not a single Roman Catholic was returned to Parliament. And yet the religious question was nowhere raised; Jews were elected; the literary secularist, John Morley, was not challenged as to his religious creed; Bradlaugh, the avowed infidel, carried Northampton—to say nothing of Labouchere and several others who at least think freely. Probably the general absence of Catholics from the English majority has no significance, but it is peculiar.

A CHICAGO correspondent—a former resident of Guelph—sends us a list of people who belong to Guelph, or who lately resided in this city, and who were compelled to leave it through the pressure of hard times and the operation of the N. P., to seek employment in Chicago. He counts up about seventy-four good men who had to leave the Royal city, and who are now finding employment in the capital of the West. If Guelph contributes this quota to the population of Chicago, what will the whole number amount to who have had to leave the Province in search of employment?

THE financial outlook in Quebec is far from assuring. The Province has a debt of $17,000,000, and it is stated that the recent loan of $4,000,000 in Paris will not more than suffice to meet existing obligations. The Canadien points out that unless strict economy is practised, and some means found to relieve the strained financial position of Quebec, either annexation or legislative union must follow. The Province owes ove a million to Mr. McGreevy, contractor of the North Shore, and another million to the Bank of Montreal. Other large claims are due Mr. Macdonald, contractor of the Northern Colonization; Mr. Cimon, contractor of the Quebec Departmental Buildings, and the Eastern Township link. If the new Parliament House be now built, there can be little doubt that the Government will have to take the other two million dollars said to have been offered them by the French bankers.

The Cousecon order.

The inquiry into the cause of the death of Aman was begun by the coroner and jury on Monday.

The prisoner, Thomas Thompson, is a young man of tolerably respectable appearance, 23 years of age, and seemed very much agitated during the evidence of Catharine Vincent, who resided at Pierson's house, where the shooting occurred. She was the first witness called, and her evidence was very strong against the prisoner.

She said she was awakened about eleven o'clock on Saturday night by a noise at her bedroom window, and on looking out saw a man with a pole against the house, and she called the prisoner, who slept in an adjoining room, and on his opening the window she saw the man run away. Mrs. Pierson came up stairs, when she heard her (the witness) call to Thompson, and advised her to go back to bed as the party would not trouble them. In about ten minutes she heard some one opening the parlor window down stairs, her bedroom being upstairs. The witness and Thompson went down stairs. Thompson went into the parlor and the witness into Mrs. Pierson's bedroom, which was down stairs. The prisoner said to me that he saw a man leaving the house by a window. After further alarms Mr. Pierson was awakened, and he and Thompson went across the road to Mr. David Corry's and borrowsd a gun, which they loaded. During this time the prisoner, watching, said he saw two men, one of whom he thought was named Bill Clark, and the other he said was Amans. All the parties then went to bed except Thompson, who watched. The family were awakened by the discharge of a gun, and the prisoner came into the house saying: "Get a light, for I have shot a man." After about twenty minutes they procured a light, when they saw it was Aman who was shot. Mr. Pierson and the prisoner then went to Corry, who told them to leave the body alone until morning. They then went to bed and allowed the body to lie where it fell until morning.

The deceased was the son of a farmer living about three miles from Picton, and was a peaceable, quiet, well educated young man. The prisoner is the son of poor but respectable parents, and has all his life resided in the vicinity. Both he and Pierson were under the influence of liquor the evening previous to the occurrence of the sad tragedy. No cause can be assigned as yet for the act.

RATHER SHARP.—A rather sharp trick was enacted at the brewery of George Grey, Mount Forest, who was fined $100 a short time ago, for an infraction of the revenue law. Mr. Caven had another case against Gray and which warranted him in retaining possession of the premises. The keys of the brewery were held by Mr. George Powell, who had charge of the premises since seized by the collector. Friday morning last Powell visited the brewery, and on entering was accompanied with Gray. The place was opened by Powell, who left the keys in the door. Upon entrance being gained, Gray asked what had become of a certain tap in a barrel, and while Powell was engaged showing him that it was still there he heard the keys rattle. He at once bethought himself that they were being taken out and turning round saw John Pelcher in the act of taking them out. Powell made for the door and grabbed hold of Pelcher, but not before he placed the keys in his pocket. Powell demanded the keys but did not receiye them. Shortly after the keys were removed from the door, in stepped Mr. Bailiff Godfrey, who pronounced the place under seizure for rent. Mr. Caven was informed of what had happened by telegraph, but what course he intends to pursue we have not learned. The articles on the premises, when seized by Mr. Godfrey, have been advertised for sale on Saturday next.

DAVIDSON'S ISLAND PARK.

A Quiet Summer Retreat at Puslinch Lake for our Citizens.

The people of Guelph will be glad to learn that Mayor Sleeman and Mr. John Davidson have undertaken, and partly carried out, several improvements at Puslinch Lake which will make it a first-class resort during the summer months. For some years the lake has been visited by large numbers from this county and Waterloo, but the facilities for producing enjoyment were not good. Last year these gentlemen obtained possession of the island situated about a mile from the north shore, having in contemplation to form beautiful pleasure grounds there. The Island is pleasantly located and is rendered a most attractive spot by reason of its natural beauty. By way of improvement a number of croquet lawns have been formed; swings have been provided, and other provisions made for furnishing enjoyment. Stables have been built which will furnish accommodation for fourteen teams of horses. A refreshment booth has been erected and refreshments and temperance drinks will be supplied during the season.

The most prominent feature of the arrangement and one that will be heard with more pleasure, is that a steamboat is to play between the Island and the shore. The steamer is named the City of Guelph, was built at Barrie, and is now on its way from that place to the lake. It is a side-wheel boat, being in size 41 feet keel, 9 feet beam and 13 feet over all. The boat is furnished with a 12 horse power boiler, and 2 engines of 4 horse power each. It will seat 50 persons and will make 8 miles an hour. The boat will be running on Queen's birthday, when the park is to be opened. The 24th, will not, however be considered the grand opening day, the improvemnts in the grounds will not be complete then. Announcement will be made in a day or two as to the arrangements made for carrying passengers to the lake on the 24th.

The Goss-Ryan Fight Declared off.

ERIE, Pa., May 18.—As it was known the Canadians were out on the lake with tugs, Ryan and Goss signed an agreement that both should leave in the same boat, take fifteen men a side, and land at the first favourable place. The tug Welsh was chartered and both got on board. Ryan's friends swarmed on to the boat, but Goss' friends were unable to get on board. Goss was then taken from the boat by Barney Aaron, who said "If your friends cannot go, 'you shall not." Ryan sent after Goss and Barny Aaron, but the latter refused to make any arrangements until he saw Roach, one of Ryan's seconds. A long argument ensued and finally the fight was declared off.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 18.—Goss and Ryan failing in their efforts to cross arms, tried to bring about a fight near here, but their efforts were a miserable failure. The men and their backers finally concluded to leave the matter to the stakeholder.

NEW YORK, May 18.—It is reported that arrangements have been made to have the fight between Rooke and Donovan come off in a hall in this city next Tuesday.

Music Hall and Theatre.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—All who read the report of the City Council in your paper yesterday will no doubt have noted the offer of the Manager of the Grand Opera House in Toronto to rent the City Hall for a term of three years for dramatic entertainments.

That the Council did right in refusing the same to any one person all will agree. But is it not time that our city had a first-class music hall or theatre building, or both combined, which would be an ornament to the street on which it was erected?

A better season than now for securing cheap labor could not perhaps be had. Land could be got cheaper than a year ago, and in the event of the matter being taken up with good will, the construction of such a building would give steady employment to a great many, and by next winter the city would be in possession of a first-class music hall and theatre. The old talk of our present City Hall being too near the railway track has just to be mentioned to start a lot of arguments in favor of another building.

Then again, sir, little need be said about the excellent musical and literary talent there is to be found in our city—it is too well-known for me to go into detail.

Cannot a joint stock company or one or more private citizens take the matter up in earnest? If the building could be settled on to be erected in a prominent place away from the railways, and were several small stores erected underneath, possibly it would pay for itself. Then, again, if it was erected, in the case of dramatic troupes taking up their residence with us for a season or longer, other benefits would follow to our citizens and storekeepers that do not come from travelling troupes who come and go as they do now, for the sake of taking all the cash they can out of our city.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I would just say that this matter was talked of on the streets last night, and I now refer to it to see whether any of our capitalists—some of whom could do it themselves—would take the hint, and supply our city with a first-class building in a suitable place devoted to such an object.

Yours, &c., CITIZEN.

CLAIM AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.—In 1877 Mr. Marshal Wood brought a petition of right in the Exchequer Court against the Government, claiming some $30,000 compensation for plans furnished in connection with the improvement of Parliament hill grounds. The action was decided in favor of the Dominion Government on a demurer. Thus the matter stood until the present Government came into power, when the claims were again pressed, the Government very foolishly allowing the matter to be referred to the official Board of Arbitrators, although already disposed of by the Exchequer Court. The arbitrators reported in favor of allowing Mr. Wood $13,050. The Government, not having much funds at command, does not approve of the award, and so have re-entered the case in the Exchequer Court, so that it may be tried over again. All of this will cost the country money.

MAJOR DUNWOODY'S LEG
—AND THE—
GREAT POTTAWATOMIE CLAIM.

AN AMERICAN TALE.

CHAPTER IV

"What's the matter, darling? Aren't you glad to see—"

"Yes, oh! what—what—why—Henry dear, how is it you have your leg with you?"

"I always keep it by me, sweet. It is so convenient to have it along. You love the other one, you know."

"But, Henry, you appear to have both arms too!"

"I brought them to hug you with, you angel, you."

Something unintelligible for a brief time expended in embracing ensued. Pandora looked up into his face and said—

"You know, dear, I always said you had lost your other leg and one of your arms. I cried about it for a month."

"Who gave you that information?"

"That scandalous story teller, Achilles Smith."

"Smith, hey? Is he still around? That young man is actually suffering for somebody to macerate him."

"And you're not hurt a bit, are you deary?"

"I'm a little dyspeptic from too regular dieting upon salt pork so tough that it creaked when I swallowed it; but that's all."

"Oh, Henry, you don't know how glad I am!"

More osculatory exercise at this juncture; but we will not stop to consider it, satisfactory as it appeared to be.

"And now, my love," said the Major, as they sat together on the sofa, the Major's right arm encircling Pandora's waist, "tell me about everything."

"Well, let me see; first of all—you know mother?"

"Yes."

"Well, she is going to marry Colonel Dabney!"

"You don't say so?"

"Yes, she was engaged to General Belcher, but——"

"Not old Belcher of Kansas?"

"Yes, but he proved a rascal, so she discarded him, and now she is engaged to Colonel Dabney. Splendid, isn't it?"

"Perfectly splendid! By the way, have you copied off my leg yet?"

"Oh, yes; long ago."

"Then your picture is done?"

"Yes, Henry dear, but——"

"What! isn't it satisfactory after all?"

"It is to me darling, but Colonel Dabney says that Congress will never accept it."

"Why not?"

"He seemed embarrassed when I asked him the reason, and he turned the subject."

"Absolutely hopeless, is it?"

"Colonel Dabney says so."

"What will you do with it?"

"I don't know, dear; what do you think?"

"Couldn't you alter it into something else?"

"I thought. It occurred to me that maybe I might turn it into the execution of Mary Queen of Scots and get the Canadian Government to buy it."

"Not a bad idea."

"Paint in different clothes, you know, on Washington, and fix up the tree somehow into Mary Queen of Scots. I think the hatchet will do as it is—do for the executioner's axe, you know."

"I see. It's a good notion!"

"Mother said she thought I might make it a battle between a Crusader and a Saracen, but the tree is in the wrong position for a person supposed to be fighting."

"Won't do at all, of course."

"When General Belcher was here he said he believed that by painting the grass red so as to represent fire, and making a mast with rigging out of the tree, it might pass for the Boy who stood on the Burning Deck, would they, Henry?"

"I have a dim idea that they wouldn't."

"I think I'll stick to Mary Queen of Scots.

"And now about our wedding?"

"I'm ready."

"Name the day.

"Will next Thursday do?"

"Admirable! So, next Thursday you will be my darling wife.

"And you will be my sweet splendid husband!"

"Pandora!"

"Henry!"

Another fall of the curtain appear to be necessary just here. We will ring it down. If it could have been raised again a glimpse might have been caught of a pretty room in which sat a lovely and smiling woman by the side of a table, sewing. Close to her sat a handsome young soldier, with one leg upon the floor. His other leg bobbed about in a huge jar that rested in a corner. Pandora M'Duffy had been transformed into Mrs. Major Henry G. Dunwoody, and she was happy.

It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. "I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

Guelph Township Council.

This Council met on Monday, 10th May, pursuant to adjournment.

M. Sweetnam, Esq., Reeve in the chair. Present all the members.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A deputation from the City Council were present, viz., Alderman Stevenson and Alderman Fairbank, stating they were appointed to be present and request the Council to plant trees along the Fergus and Elora roads, from the city limits to the Union Cemetery. As that portion of the road is under the management of the County Council, the matter was referred to the Reeve to bring it up at the next meeting of the County Council in June.

The Reeve read a letter from Mr. S. H. McKittrick, Orangeville, offering to supply road scrapers at $5.50 per scraper. As the road divisions are well supplied at present, there was no action taken.

The Clerk stated he had received four notices from parties appointed as pathmasters stating that owing to other business they could not attend to the duties required.

Mr. Caraher moved, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that Jas. Lillie be appointed in place of John Mutrie, Wm. Crichton for Wm. Downie, Wm. Hood, jr. in place of George Hood, and R. Simpson, for George D. Porter, and that James Burns be appointed pound keeper in place of John Lillie.

The Reeve read a petition from James Davidson and 12 others, requesting the Council to give a grant of money to assist in cutting a hill on the line of road lying between the 4th and 5th concessions of division C. Referred to R. & B. Committee for east side of township, and to report at next meeting of Council.

The Council proceeded to fill up the schedules for pathmasters, with the appropriate amount of labor for each division. When completed the Clerk was instructed to transmit to the pathmasters by post.

The Reeve read a letter from the County Clerk, stating that a by-law was passed by the County Council at its last session repealing by-law No. 165. This action of the County Council renders it imperative on every municipality in the County to levy a tax on dogs in conformity with chap. 194 of the Revised Statutes of Ontario. At the said session the County Council passed another by-law dispensing with the payment of sheep killed by dogs, and providing for the amount of taxes collected for dogs to be the property of the Township, the same as other local taxes.

The Clerk was instructed to communicate with the Clerk of the Township of Waterloo to make an arrangement with a committee of that municipality to meet with a committee from this Township, for the purpose of making necessary repairs on culverts on the boundary line of the road.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:—

From Herald office, for printing	$12 70
" A. Howitt, P. L. S., for map	7 00
" J. A. Nelles, stationary	3 20
" the Clerk, telegrams, express charges and postage	7 05

It was moved and seconded that a special meeting of the Council will be held at Ellis' American Hotel, Guelph, on Saturday, the 15th inst., for the purpose of considering and replying to the questions submitted by the Ontario Agricultural Commission.

It was then moved and seconded to adjourn till Monday, the 31st inst., then to meet for the transaction of general business, and as a Court of Revision.

A. McCORKINDALE, Clerk.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A special meeting of the Guelph Township Council was held at Ellis' American Hotel, Guelph, on Saturday afternoon, 15th inst., in accordance with notice given, for the purpose of considering a series of questions given under Section 1, by the Ontario Agricultural Commission, relating to the soil, cultivable area, stock, dairies, buildings, products, manures, market facilities, etc., of the Township.

Mr. Sweetnam, Reeve, in the chair; Mr. R. S. Armstrong, Deputy-Reeve, and Mr. John J. Hobson, Councillor.

The attendance of ratepayers was not large, those present being H. J. Sanders and Alex. Kennedy, Assessors; Jas. Laidlaw, M. P. P., Thos. Laidlaw, Evan McDonald, Chas. Walker, W. F. Clarke, Thos. McCrae, J. McCorkindale, jr., Geo. B. Hood, Thos. Manderson, E. P. Mcliey, Robert Conway, Solomon Dawson and others.

The Reeve stated that the business of the present meeting was to take into consideration the questions sent by the Ontario Agricultural Commission, and as the notice to forward the returns was limited to fifteen days that was the reason so short a notice was given, but he was well pleased to see so many present.

The questions were then carefully taken into consideration and discussed as they were entered on the list and received from the Commission.

On motion made and seconded the Clerk was instructed to forward the returns to the proper Department.

A. McCORKINDALE, Clerk.

RETURNED.—The Reformer says:—Mr. Clay, we are glad to learn, has returned to Galt. His leaving was uncalled for, and as no dishonesty appears to have been connected with his business, his departure must be ascribed largely to depression of spirits and ill-health.

A WANDERING minstrel discoursed a number of Scotch airs on the bagpipes for the benefit of Wyndham street merchants today. A woman whose sense of sight was sadly defective in consequence of an overdose of "forty rod" showed her appreciation of a good thing in a practical way. She rushed out of one of the grocery stores, to the centre of the street, and presented the musician with a bright silver coin.

FIRST BRIGADE FIELD ARTILLERY.—At a meeting of the Commanding officers on Saturday last, it was arranged that the 1st Brigade of Field Artillery, under Command of Major Macdonald, would go into camp on the 18th or 20th of September next, at Guelph. The date may be slightly altered, but the Brigade will not, as at present arranged, form part of any camp of instruction at Toronto, as stated in several papers lately.

THE large numbers who go boating every night on the Eramosa River, testifies as to the interest taken in this healthful pastime. Although those who let boats have made small additions to their stock this spring, the demand is too great for the supply. Persons who want boats for the evening are only sure of getting them when they apply during the day.

IRISH RELIEF.—The collectors are at present engaged in winding up the Irish Relief Fund collection. Those who have not yet subscribed will be called on at once as the distress is expected to be most severe during the coming two months, it is hoped that the donations of the charitable will continue. THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT.—The musical festival this evening in St. George's Church, promises, from the labor that has been devoted towards a perfect rendering of the beautiful selections from the great masters of harmony, together with the recognized talent of those engaged in it, to be of great interest to all lovers of music of a high class. St. George's Church a few years since inaugurated these festivals that have been so attractive to the whole community of late years, and Mr. Benton, on whose behalf the present musical entertainment is given, deserves a liberal recognition of his services, not alone from the Church, to whose musical services he has freely given his time and talents, but from all lovers of divine harmony.

A GOOD OFFER.—Mr. W. T. Vale has received an offer, unsolicited, from the Kingston School of Gunnery to take the position of Trumpet-Major there. His business in Guelph would not permit of his accepting the offer, and he telegraphed to Kingston to that effect. The committee at the School of Gunnery answered the telegram, stating that they considered themselves unfortunate in not securing the services of Mr. Vale, and stating that they would give him notice again if the position became vacant. This testifies to the good opinion the officials of the School of Gunnery hold towards Mr. Vale as a musician, and his fitness for the office.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

McDonald struck him on the face and this was the cause for the charge.

COUNTY TREASURER.—The Berlin News says:—The Warden has appointed Mr. I. D. Bowman, the County Clerk, County Treasurer of Waterloo pro tem. The regular appointment will be made when the County Council meets on the 1st of June. There is a pretty strong probability that the offices of Clerk and Treasurer will be united, as that would save considerable salary, and also the keeping up and warming of an extra room in the County buildings.

It is not likely that Rev. Patrick M. McLeod, M. A., of Stratford, will accept a call tendered him by the Central Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

A Young Married Woman in a Sad Plight.

The Hamilton Times of Wednesday says:—The train from the west arriving here at 10:55 yesterday brought two handsome young women and their gentlemen escorts from Galt. They appeared to be holiday making, and went up town and from place to place, enjoying the luxuries of the season, in which Walker's forty over proof took a prominent part. They returned to the station in order to go west on the Pacific express at 2:55. The party looked as if the exposure to which they had been subjected had not agreed with them. The females became exceedingly loving towards some of the young men on the platform. One of the latter, little Effie, of the news stand, had a difficult task to tear himself away from the best looking of the two. The train started and one of the women, for some purpose or other, jumped off. In attempting to get on again she was struck by the car, and fell back on the platform unconscious. Mr. Falahee and another gentleman carried the unfortunate woman to one of the station offices and restoratives were applied. When recovering consciousness she went into hysterics, and abused her attendants. In about half an hour she was reasonable, and continued to cry, declaring "that she was decent married woman!" and in support of this statement produced a certificate signed by the Rev. Mr. Smith, of Guelph. She stated that the other parties had coaxed her away from Galt, and that she had no desire to travel longer in their company. Mr. Carey, conductor of the Kincardine train, took her in charge, promising to take her back to her husband. The scene was one of the most amusing, and at the same time distressing, which has come under our notice for a long time, and should serve as a warning to young people not to go riding on the rail.

THE HANDFORD INVESTIGATION.—It was announced that on Wednesday night the whole evidence in this case would be submitted to the congregation. Accordingly a small number of people collected in the church, but shortly after eight o'clock it was announced that the committee had not finished their labours, and that the submission of the case to the congregation was postponed till next Friday at 7:30. A special report was given to Mr. Handford, and he is preparing his reply. Although the report will be a favorable one, it is expected that Mr. Handford, feeling that his usefulness is impared, will insist upon his resignation being accepted, and there is some talk of his going to Chicago, but this is mere street rumor.

A. O. Bucham is making extensive preparations for a grand exhibit and sale of holiday goods, on Saturday next, with brilliant gas-light display in the evening. Full particulars will be given in advertisement to-morrow. d1

THE BOAT RACE ON THE POTOMAC.

AN EASY VICTORY FOR HANLAN.

Courtney Gives up Before Half Way Over the Track.

Enthusiastic Reception of the Canadian Champion.

The race long talked of—if race it can be called—between Hanlan and Courtney came off on the Potomac, at Washington, on Wednesday evening.

We have already given an account of the preparations for the race. As the hour for calling out the men drew on, Courtney, who all along had expressed himself as willing and confident, began to weaken on the ground that he was too ill. Dr. Stanton was called, and after examining him said that so far as he could see the big man was all right; his pulse was only 69, and he showed no signs of illness. But still Courtney insisted that he had a very bad headache, and did not want to move. Mr. Soule thought Riley had better take his place, but Mr. Blaikie urged that he could come out and do the best he could even if he did not pull forty strokes. In the meantime the immense crowd—which was estimated by some competent judges at a hundred thousand—lined the river's bank or swarmed upon the decks of the observatory steamers, waiting patiently for the men to appear. But it was not until nearly six o'clock that the second gun, which was to call the men into line, was fired. At just six Hanlan and Courtney rowed up the river, loudly cheered by the numerous crowds on either side of the river, and drew up into line.

After some preliminaries, and when all was ready, Mr. Blaikie, the referee, said, "Are you ready?" and after a short pause, "Go." Both men caught the water prettily, Hanlan pulling 36 and Courtney about 34. By virtue of his position at the start, Courtney led for the first few strokes, but the Canadian was overhauling him at every stroke. The race looked for a few boats' lengths as though it might a good one, for the big man was struggling hard, but the clean sweeping strokes that have so often carried the Canadian champion to victory were swiftly bearing him to the front, and in less than 150 yards from the starting flags he had closed up with the big American, and was showing the prow of his shell in the van. It now looked to the uninitiated as though the contest was a close one, and the shouts from the crowds that lined the shore and filled the countless fleet of small boats outside the flags were deafening. "Give it to her, Charley!" and "Go in, Ned; now you've got him!" rung from a thousand throats as the slender shells were cutting their way through the water, but so rapidly did Hanlan draw to the front that it was soon apparent that bar accidents he could not be loser. He soon lowered his stroke to 28 to the minute, and still he drew away out in front, though at one time he ran so close to a flag that his friends feared he might go overboard. By the time they had gone a quarter of a mile the race was virtually over, but still Courtney struggled on six or seven lengths in the rear. The shouts from the crowd now began to change, the friends of the Union Springs man appearing unable to realize that he could be beaten so easily. "What's the matter Charlie?" "Why don't you give it to her?" they would shout as they saw Hanlan pulling 27 and 28 to the minute and still drawing away from him. In the meantime it was discovered that Riley, who had pulled down ahead of the contestants, was still rowing down the course some 400 yards in advance of Hanlan. This was certainly not in good taste while it had the effect of confusing the spectators, who were at a loss to know the real state of affairs. By the time the contestants passed the Analostan boathouse, nearly a mile from the start, Courtney had evidently given up all hope of winning, and Hanlan, who was a dozen lengths ahead, stopped to wipe his face, and then pulled slowly on, while Courtney, after taking a look over his shoulder at the vanquisher, took the handkerchief off his head, and dipping it in the water bathed his head with it. He then pulled on at 28 to the minute, Hanlan pulling the same stroke, and steadily widening the great gap behind him. There was now no interest in the contest, and the comments of the crowd upon the unfortunate Union Springs man were anything but complimentary. After pulling a little more than two miles Courtney stopped, and looking around saw Hanlan full a furlong ahead of him, and then he seemed to hesitate for some time as to whether he should go on or not. At last he turned his boat across the course, and began bathing his head again, having decided to give up the chase. In the meantime Rieley had been down to the turning-flags, and was on his way back. Presently Hanlan was seen making the turn, and one gun was fired as a signal that he was leading Courtney at that point, the Canadian having rowed the two miles and a half in 17 minutes and 30 sec. As Hanlan turned the stake boat Courtney began to row slowly up the course again, having abandoned the idea of rowing over the course at all. As Riley came alongside of his boat the two were apparently engaged in conversation for a few seconds, and then Riley pulled ahead, leaving Courtney to make his way back alone. Hanlan now came in very leisurely, but as they neared the Analostan boat-house he again collared the big man, and the crowd, who did not know that Courtney had turned nearly half a mile short of the stake boat, cheered wildly, supposing the race was a very close one. Hanlan was soon at the front again, however, though still several lengths behind Riley, and the crowd cheered him from either shore as he turned the head of Analostan Island. Riley pulled into the Potomac boathouse slip, and after Hanlan had passed up towards the flags Courtney rowed in towards the same boathouse. The members of the club and their friends, who had been watching the race from the upper floor of the boathouse, showed no inclination to accord him an enthusiastic reception, and it was almost pitiable to observe the ill-concealed disgust with which the poor fellow was received by his friends and countrymen generally. Meanwhile Hanlan rowed up to the flags in grand style, putting on a spurt of about 40 strokes to the minute for the last thirty seconds, just to show the admiring spectators what he could do at the end of a long pull. On the monster grand stand opposite the finishing line were thousands of spectators, many of whom were ladies, dressed in light, gay colours, and hundreds of dainty handkerchiefs were being waved by dainties hands to greet the game little Canuck as he swept over the line, while a deafening chorus of steam whistles resounded on every side. Hanlan crossed the line 36 minutes 45 seconds from the time of leaving it by the time as taken on the referee's tug boat. Hanlan was declared the winner, and the purse of $6,000 will be paid to him to-morrow morning. Three cheers were given for Hanlan, and then the tug steamed away to her wharf, while Hanlan pulling down to the Analostan boathouse met with a perfect ovation at the hands of the members of the Club, who appeared to be quite as proud of him as if he were one of themselves.

After the race Hanlan was congratulated on all hands. The Governor-General telegraphed him "Well done," and he received congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the Dominion. He also received very complimentary attentions from Sir Edward and Lady Thornton. In the evening he was serenaded, and addressed a large crowd briefly from the balcony of the Willard Hotel. He said he desired to thank the citizens of Washington for the many kindnesses they had shown him, and particularly the members of the Analostan Club. Alluding to Riley, he expressed his disapproval of his conduct in rowing over the course in the manner in which he did, and added that he would like to row him a race before leaving Washington. It is now a settled fact that a purse will be offered for a race between Hanlan and Riley, to be rowed at Washington a week from Wednesday. Courtney says Mr. Blaikie did wrong in almost forcing him out, and says he would like a chance to regain his reputation. He is not likely to get it.

HANLAN CHALLENGED BY THE AUSTRALIAN ROWER.

The Globe's London correspondent telegraphed on Wednesday as follows:

I am authorized to inform Hanlan that Trickett challenges him to row on the Thames in the middle of November for the championship of England and £200 a side. He has posted the money to-day to the editor of the Sportsman. Trickett's party desire and immediate cable reply from Hanlan, addressed to the editor of the Sportsman, London, who will refund Hanlan the expenses incurred in cabling. There is plenty of money behind Trickett, and bets to any amount are forthcoming.

HANLAN'S REPLY.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Hanlan says he will be governed in the Trickett matter by the action of Col. Shaw, who has probably ere this put up an answer to the challenge.

The Dispute About the Fisheries.

The dispute about the Fisheries, arising out of the Fortune Bay affair, is exciting considerable attention at present in Washington. This Fortune Bay business, in which it was sought to make American fishermen adhere to the laws laid down by the Washington Treaty, has given the United States Secretary and Congress an opportunity to re-open what they consider as old grievances, and virtually nullify the provisions of the Washington Treaty, which was a miserable affair at best and so badly put together that the Americans have found in its loose verbiage convenient ways of evading some very important provisions. For instance seal and whale oils, although of great importance, are not allowed to enter free, because, our astute neighbors declare, these animals are not fish. Again, they find a way to violate the spirit of the treaty by putting a duty on cans, containing fresh fish, though the cans are worthless. They also refuse to allow British Columbia to participate in the benefits of the Treaty. Considering all these things it would be, perhaps, as well were the whole treaty abrogated.

There is every reason to believe that its leading provisions will be abrogated, and that the bill introduced by Mr. Loring will carry. This bill sets forth that by the provisions of the Treaty of Washington of 1871 the right of inshore fishing along the coasts and shores, and in the bays, harbours, and creeks, of all Her Majesty's Dominions in Canada and in the Island of Newfoundland was secured to the inhabitants of the United States; and that, according to the representations made by the United States, her fishermen have been driven by violence from the fishing grounds in which such freedom of fishery has been granted by this treaty, and laws in limitation of those rights have been passed by the statutes of the Dominion, and Her Majesty's Government has refused all redress therefor, and has supported the claim of the Dominion to enforce said legislation.

The bill after reciting all these grievances, goes on to provide:—

1. That the first section of the Act to enforce the Treaty of Washington be repealed. (This is the section which admits Canadian fish and fish oils free of duty.)

2. That the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to notify Collectors of Customs to re-enforce on fish and fish oils of British Colonies the duties on the schedule in force before the Treaty.

3. That out of the amount so collected a sufficient sum, not to exceed $125,000, be paid over by the Treasury to the Secretary of State, and by him used to compensate the losses of our Fortune Bay fishermen, which are to be proved before him.

It is generally believed that the bill will be passed, as the U. S. Government seems to favour it, and the feeling in Congress is in the same direction. The matter so far has not caused any ill feeling between the two Governments, and it is not likely anything of that nature will arise. The Daily News, referring to Mr. Evarts' correspondence on the subject thinks "it tends to impose unreasonable duties on the Government, and it is an off-hand sort of recommendation. Still, it amounts to nothing more than a recommendation. The subject is one calculated to engage the entire attention of the Government and country, and it may be left with safety in the hands of the Cabinet for the present." The Times says that "the party, and to a great extent the statesmen, originally responsible for the Treaty of Washington are now again in power. They will not shirk the task of amending it where they may see need. Certainly the present situation of the question cannot be regarded as satisfactory. The rights conferred by the treaty, whether on American or British fishermen, are, as Evarts contends, not exclusive but common. It would seem to follow that their necessary limitations in the interests of all, should be a matter of common agreement. The suggestion by Evarts that the contracting parties should, by some joint action, adopt regulations protecting the fishery would at any rate prevent future disputes, nor need there be any insuperable obstacle to the amicable adjustment of the dispute."

It is currently stated that Mr. William Macdougald, who was elected member of Parliament for Three Rivers, Que., and resigned to provide a seat for Hon. Mr. Langevin, the defeated of Rimouski, on his being called to the Cabinet, will, as a reward for his resignation, be appointed Judge in lieu of Mr. Justice Polette, of Three Rivers, who has been induced to resign.

THE investigation in regard to the mutilation of Whittaker, the colored cadet at the U. S. Military College, West Point, has taken a new turn. The evidence now points in the direction that he being behind in his studies, inflicted injuries upon himself in order to create public sympathy in the event of his failing to matriculate. This was at the first generally scouted, but now many are coming to a belief that it is the proper explanation of the outrage.

IF, as a contemporary says, the Hon. Edward Blake is so weak and vacillating an opponent as the Mail has been trying to make out for the past few weeks, why it is only a waste of powder to keep firing at him. As a matter of fact, however, if there is one man more than another for whom the Conservative party has a wholesome dread, that man is the Hon. Edward Blake.

The Provincial authorities did good work in putting a stop to the proposed prize fight between a couple of Americans, who wanted to pummel each other. But should not the American authorities take steps to prevent these belligerent blackguards from invading our territory? It seems to us that they quite fail in their duty in this respect. If they took steps to have the fellows arrested on American soil, we would not botehred with them in Canada, or put to expense inpreventing them from landing or thrashing each other.

A CONSERVATIVE has been elected for Sandwich in room of Mr. Knatchbull Hugessen, elevated to the peerage. The election for Wigtown burgh, to re-elect J. McLaren on his appointment as Lord Advocate, resulted in the return of Mark Stewart (Conservative) by a vote of 656, McLaren (Liberal) receiving 643. The result of the election is attributed to McLaren's alleged connection with certain fagot houses, and the disapproval by certain ultra-Presbyterians of the appointment of the Marquis of Ripon and Lord Kenmore to offices under the Crown, they being Roman Catholics.

THE Queen's Speech on the reassembling of Parliament to-day will allude briefly to the results of the general election. Sympathetic reference will be made to the distress in Ireland, but the tone regarding the future will be hopeful. Measures for the amelioration of the condition of the tenant farmers will be promised. A renewal of the Ballot Act and the introduction of a Census Bill may claim mention. In connection with the maintenance of European peace, the Speech will announce the despatch to the Powers of a circular by Earl Granville, Foreign Secretary, and indicate the reception it met with at the foreign Courts. Allusion will be made to the pacification and reorganization now proceeding in South Africa.

At a meeting of the leaders of the Conservative party in London on Wednesday, Earl Beaconsfield referred to the sudden change in the position of parties, but said there was no reason to despair. There were already signs of encouragement. If the Conservatives were true to their principles he looked forward to their return to power at no distant period. He expressed surprise that Mr. Gladstone, after repeated expressions of his intention to retire from political controversy, should accept two posts. Earl Beaconsfield denied that he ever intended to resign the Premiership. He recommended that the Conservatives maintains an attitude of dignified opposition. To a certain extent Radicalism far spent was triumphant, but nothing would induce him to believe its success would be permanent. He attributed the defeat to the desire for change. He considered it impossible for the present Ministry, with its discordant elements to last long. Sir Robert Peel, Sir Stafford Northcote, Lord Carnarvon and Lord Salisbury also spoke.

THE Hon. Mr. Northwood, the newly appointed Senator will not seriously disturb that dignified body. He is a good, easy-going Conservative, who will always vote with his party. Before the election of 1878 he annouuced himself as a candidate for the County of Kent, but by some means he was induced to retire, and his appointment now gives color to the then current report that he did so on receipt of a distinct pledge that he would be called to the Senate.

HANLAN'S latest victory on the Potomac on Wednesday was an easily gained one, but it is no less creditable to his skill, courage and fair and honest dealing. It was soon found that Courtney was no match for his formidable rival. Hanlan was in splendid condition, and rowed from start to finish with all his well known skill and power; while his American rival never proved dangerous, and found himself so overmatched that he did not go over the whole course. Hanlan has been challenged by Trickett, the Australian sculler, to row in London in the fall, and if he beats him—as we think he will—the Canadian rower will be the champion of the world.

The Agricultural Commission.

The London Advertiser of Wednesday says:—Mr. Dymond was in the city yesterday for the purpose of conferring with Mr. Wm. Saunders on matters connected with the Agricultural Commission. Mr. Saunders is chairman of the important section dealing with fruit, culture, forestry, insects and insectiverous birds and bee-keeping. The object of the conference of the two Commissioners was, we understand, to make arrangements for early action in connection with these interesting branches of inquiry, and to select for the consideration of their colleagues the names of persons best calculated to give evidence on several topics. We are glad to learn from Mr. Dymond that the answers invited from Township Councils to questions relating to the general condition of husbandry in the Province are coming in rapidly and in a most available form. The sections dealing with stock raising, dairying, and grain growing are expected to be able to take oral evidence in the next two or three weeks. June is a comparatively leisure month with farmers, and will probably see a great deal of work in various directions accomplished.

The track of the London, Huron and Bruce Railway is to be re-laid with steel rails.

Five cars of gold ore from Hall and Felton's mine, Madoc, arrived at Belleville on Wednesday for shipment to Buffalo.

On Wednesday last, Mr. Alex. Urquhart, blacksmith, of Galt, died very suddenly of enlargement of the liver.

Michael Davitt, the Irish land agitator, landed in New York on Wednesday. He declares he has no special object in view in coming to America beyond visiting members of his family at this side of the Atlantic.

The Archbishop of Quebec has had a pastoral proclaimed throughout his diocese, announcing that for a year to come he will excommunicate all who interfere with their neighbors in the performance of their work.

During a thunderstorm on Wednesday Mrs. Henry Nesbitt, of Gilford, was instantly killed by lightning. She was in the act of filling a pail of water outside the door when the lightning struck her. She leaves two young children.

The tenders being higher than expected, the Building Committee of Union church, Galt, have decided to leave the basement off the proposed church, to take out the five feet addition added to the nave, and to leave out all galleries at present.

Two bars of gold were brought to Halifax on Wednesday from Cariboo, Moose River, one weighing nine ounces and seven drachms, the result of twelve days labour, and the other weighing fourteen ounces, seventeen pennyweights, the result of thirteen tons crushing. Both bars are valued at over $400.

The Government of Ontario have notified the Directors of the Toronto, Grey, and Bruce Railway that they have appointed the Hon. On Tuesday afternoon the corner stone of St. Patrick's church, Galt, was laid with the usual ceremonies by Bishop Crinnon, of Hamilton. The church will be a neat and commodious but comparatively inexpensive building. Its situation on Church street is a good one and commands a fine view. It is expected that the building will be completed about the beginning of August, when it will be formally opened by Bishop Crinnon.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

The Markets.

March 19.—In Liverpool there was a smal business in breadstuffs at previous quotations, and Beerbohm reported floating cargoes of wheat and corn as quiet but steady. The Chicago market opened steady and advanced during the day. New York quiet, but wheat advanced ¢c to 1c. In Montreal the local grain market was strong, with an upward tendancy in prices. Canada spring wheat was quoted at $1 35 to $1 94. Corn, 45c. Oats, 32c to 33c. Peas, 66c to 67½c. Barley, 55c to 65c: Rye, 85c to 90c. Ashes quiet, at $3 65 to $3 75. Flour was active and higher. In Toronto the street market was quiet and prices not materially changed. There were some 200 bushels of wheat in, which sold at $1 21 for fall and at $1 20 and $ 1 27 for spring. Barley unchanged and nominal, no sales being reported for some days. Oats are dull and steady. There are buyers of Western at 37c, and of Eastern at 36c, but holders ask ¢ more. Peas are in fair demand, but as holders have advanced prices few sales are being made. No. one are worth from 73c to 74c, and No. 2, 72c to 73c. About a dozen loads of hay brought from $9 to $14 a ton. Hogs, from $7 to $7 25. Butter and Eggs unchanged.

Married Again.

From the Detroit Free Press.

About ten o'clock one morning last week a colored man over 80 years old, accompanied by his wife, who had passed three score and ten, appeared on Griswold street arm in arm and inquired the location of a Justice of the Peace. They were properly directed, and as they sat down in the little court room the old man took off his rusty straw hat, helped his companion to remove her old-fashioned bonnet, and then said:

"Squar', de ole folks hez cum down yer to get mar'd."

"To get married?"

"Dat's de truf, Squar'."

"But arn't you husband and wife now?"

"'Deed we dunno. Way back, almos' fifty y'ars ago, when I war a slave in de fields an' Chole war a slave in de kitchen, I took to her an' she took to me. Dar was some sort o' ceremony 'bout it by a white man, but weder it war' a lawful mar'age we haint sugh. It worries de ole woman when we talk it ober, an' sometimes I doan' feel jist right."

"And you want to be married over again?"

"Dat's de way feel. She's my wife ifde Lawd eber gin one to man, an' de older we grow de mo' we wish to finish de journey han' in han'. Bress her, good soul, Squar', but she's stood right by me frew all dese weary years wid a devoshun dat makes my heart swell up like it would choke me!"

"An' Ben has bin good to me—he has! he has!" she gasped out as the tears ran down her wrinkled cheeks.

"Well, stand up," whispered his Honor, and when they were on their feet he put the usual question and pronounced them man and wife. When he had ended old Ben put his arm around his newly-made wife and kissed her as their tears wet each other's cheeks. Then she put her hands on his shoulders, looked up into his face, and said, "Ize feelin' a heap better ole man! I know it's all right now, an' if de Squar' will jist look de odder way fur a minit I'll gin ye sich a kiss as ye hevn't had since we stood up togeder that night half a hun'red y'ars ago!"

"There was nothing to pay," his Honor said, and as they clasped each other's hand to go out old Ben turned and said:

"You hev made us de happiest pa'r in all Michigan, an' ebery night o' our lives we will ax de good Lawd to remember dis in yer favor when ye cum to walk frew de darkness that shets out de glory ob Heaben from de eyes ob man!

Says the London Advertiser:—The beauties of red tape routine were never better exemplified than in the case of Lewis Cook Hovey, of Urbana fame, now in the county gaol at St. Thomas, awaiting the arrival of the Governor-General's warrant for his extradition. Fully a month has elapsed since the prayers were forwarded from St. Thomas by the County Judge and as yet no reply has been received. That the Urbana people are becoming impatient is evidenced by the following item clipped from the Citizen and Gazette of that city: "Hovey has not reached home yet. Canada justice works as slow as sorghum in winter, and now it is just a trifle uncertain whether Hovey will come at all. It is going to take them forever to make up their minds over there, and the rest of the time to get him transferred. Jarndyce & Jarndyce won't be anywhere when we get through with this."

Montreal Live Stock Market.

MONTREAL, May 17.—The receipts of live stock here during the past week were 3,000 head of cattle, 1,000 sheep, 500 calves, and 5 car loads of hogs. The principal part of the cattle and sheep wes for shipment to England. The offerings at to-day's market consisted of 300 head of cattle, 150 calves, 80 sheep and lambs. Owing to the delay in the arrival of steamships, which have been detained in the gulf by ice, the demand for cattle for export was very limited. Prices ranged from 4c to 5c for prime beef, and from 3c to 3½c for second class. The following dealers were on the market: J C Coughlin, Toronto; W Rivington, Brockville: C Satchell, Ottawa; R Jones, Mitchell; W Roberts, Lennoxville; G Devlin, Ottawa: M Elliott, Newcastle; W Walters, Whitby; J Stone, do; and S Waddell, Don, with one carload each; J Robinson, of Toronto, sold 7 head at $60 each; M Elliott, 5 head, at $60 each; Jos Stone, 9 head at 4½c and 1 for $32; W Walters, 10 head at 4½c and 9 head at $45 each, 5 head at 4¾c to 5c: Wilder & Roberts, 20 head at 3½ to 4½; W Jack, 2 head at 4¾c; R J Hooper, 2 head at 4c; M Elliott, 20 head at $60 each; R Balderson, 5 head at $210; J Benoit, 9 head at $49 each; J Roy, 20 head at 4½ to 4½c live weight. Calves sold from $1 to $7 each, sheep from $6 to $8 each, and lambs from $1 to $4.50 each. James McShane purchased 147 head of fine shipping cattle in one lot from Bradley and McIntosh, of Paisley and St. Thomas, at 5½c per lb. live weight. The shipment of cattle during the past week to Great Britain were 2,720 head. There was also a consignment of 700 sheep.

Boston Wool Market.

The Boston Journal of Commerce says:—The aggregate of the week's operations is by far the smallest of the season. In fact, the market has been almost entirely neglected by buyers, and prices have been unsettled and low. Foreign wool, which had previously received a large share of attention, has been passed by, and what little has been done has been almost entirely in domestic. Both buyers and sellers are holding off, watching the developments concerning the new domestic clip, and ready to take hold when a solid basis of prices shall appear to have been arrived at. Manufacturers are only taking wool as they need it, and these needs will not be large or urgent before prices become established.

Advices from San Francisco are that the total sales of the new clip thus far have been about 4,000,000 lbs, which is about half the receipts. Buyers are beginning to take hold more freely now, and sales are reported this week of about 2,000 bags on Boston account at 22½ to 25c for Southern wool. This wool was held at 35c to 37c when it first arrived.

Harriston and Minto Items.

Mr. Richard Dowling, of the firm of Dowling & Leighton, cabinet makers and builders, and Joseph Fisher, of the firm of Fisher & Irvine, blacksmiths and carriage makers, of this town, left on Wednesday morning of last week for Manitoba on a business trip. The above firms have already done considerable business in the Prairie Province, and the present trip is for the purpose of extending it.

Bills as large as good sized barn doors are flying announcing the programme for the 24th. In addition to the regular routine of athletic sports and the base ball match between the Maple Leafs and the Browns, the Mount Forest and Walkerton lacrosse clubs will play a match on the Browns' ground in the forenoon. The celebration bids fair to be the most gala one that has yet taken place in Harriston. Considerable pains will be taken to give the town a grand appearance in her holiday dress.

The news of the death of the Hon. George Brown was received here with a feeling of universal regret by all shades of politics, more especially because of the atrocious manner in which he came to his death. Had he lived his natural life, and then in obedience to the Divine call paid the debt of nature, it would be felt that a great man had done his work and passed away. But when struck down in the midst of his usefulness by an assassin's bullet it was felt as a national calamity, and the righteous indignation of the people should naturally call for vengeance. I have sent you the resolutions passed at the public meeting, held on Monday, which was attended by the leading men of both political parties. (The resolutions will be found in another column.)

Rev. John Balkie, the able pastor of Guthrie Church, paid a most noble tribute to the late Hon. George Brown in his sermon on Sabbath morning. He took for his text the 9th chapter of Ecclesiastics and the 10th verse—"Whatsoever thy hands findeth to do, do it with all thy might." The rev. gentleman in the first place called attention to the loss which had a week ago befallen the city of Toronto and the whole Dominion in the loss of one of her best and noblest citizens—one who had been identified for the last thirty-five years with the affairs of Canada, and to whom the country was probably indebted more than any other for her many great reforms. The deceased had in all things with which he had identified himself worked with all his might. The rev. gentleman went on to show the necessity for all to act on the injunction of the text, viz: whatsoever our hands found to do to do it with all our might. This sermon is perhaps one of the ablest that has ever been delivered from a Harriston pulpit.

During the past two weeks a great deal of money and hard labor has been spent by residents of this place in planting shade trees.

On Wednesday last Mr. W. S. Bell, of Minto, lost his celebrated stallion, "Honest Willie," by having one of his legs broken so badly as to cause the complete destruction of the animal.

During the heavy thunder storm on Friday afternoon last, Mrs. Smith who was standing in front of the cook stove, received such a shock from the electric flash as to completely paralize her for some time, and from which she did not fully recover for some hours.

On Monday of last week Messrs. Hinds & Carnagie, of Harriston and Mildmay, shipped direct for Glasgow six car loads of cattle.

Hugh Wright, of the Arthur street confectionary and fruit store, has fitted up a first-class soda water fountain in his premises where he is prepared during the warm weather to deal out cooling draughts free from the dangerous tendencies of intoxication.

Mr. H. Leighton, who was so severely injured a few weeks ago by having the fingers severed from his left hand is fast recovering, and though it will be some time before he will be able to resume his occupation, he feels free from pain and is getting along as well as can be expected.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. George's Church, have secured the new brick store of J. B. Taylor, on Elora street, near the market, where they purpose holding a bazaar, at which they will exhibit several useful articles for sale. Refreshments will also be served during the day. The proceeds will be applied to the Parsonage fund.

A large number of cattle have been shipped from here within the last few weeks, which have been purchased from farmers of Minto, Howick and Normanby, all of which have realized good prices. Stock raising has proved a lucrative business to the farmers of the section this season.

Hespeler Correspondence.

THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—The annual meeting of the Hespeler Mechanics' Institute Library Association was held here on the evening of Wednesday the 12th inst. A review of the annual report of this Institute shows it to be in a most flourishing condition, and shows that during the year ending May 1st, 1880, there have been $107.64 expended in accordance with conditions of Legislative grant in purchasing books and periodicals; that $30.43 have been expended in purchasing other books not under the statute; that $167 have been expended in evening classes; and that after paying the various other expenses of the Institute there still remains a balance of $58.04 in the hands of the Treasurer. The library contains in all 1093 volumes in good condition, consisting of biography 144 volumes, fiction 175, history 152, poetry and drama 59, science and art 196, voyages and travels 80, works of reference 20, miscellaneous 269. To show that we are to some extent a reading people here, the librarian has issued during the year 122 volumes of biography, 432 fiction, 100 history, 58 poetry and drama, 256 science and art, 177 voyages and travels, 1,565 periodical literature, and 354 miscellaneous. The membership at present is, 6 honorary, 36 regular members, and 54 subscribers, making a total of 96. Estimated value of library and furniture, $1,769.92. The following officers were elected for the present year:—President, R. H. Knowles; 1st Vice-President, J. P. Johnston; 2nd Vice-President, E. Copeland; Secretary, V. R. Conway; Corresponding Secretary, James Pringle; Treasurer, A. J. Brewster; Directors, Messrs J. P. Phin, W. Renwick, sr., P. Jardine, A. B. Jardine, James Jardine, John Zryd, W. Weaver, W. J. Mitchel, George E. Chapman, Lewis Kribs, junior.

THE Y. M. C. A.—The after meetings held in Y. M. C. A. rooms here every Sabbath evening after dismissal of the churches are very largely attended. They are conducted by the young men, some of whom are very young, and it is pleasing to observe the talent they display in advocating that which is all important. Next Sabbath evening there will be a Bible reading, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Umbach.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—Last Sabbath morning one of our villagers here who thought he would like a little recreation in boating, started out over the dam with his little boy in a sail boat. A gale of wind came along, and in spite of all that could be done upset the "pesky thing," launching its occupants into the deep. Naturally at that time they began to manifest an intense interest about getting on shore, and had their perilous situation not been observed by a kind friend on shore, who immediately pulled out to their aid, the consequences in all probability would have been serious.

THE 24TH.—Preparations are being made here for a lively celebration of H. M. birthday, a good programme for games and sports has been prepared, and a large number of pleasure seekers is expected on the occasion. The day's proceedings are to wind up with a "social hop" in Glick's hall in the evening.

About Articles shown at Agricultural Fairs.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—A few months ago there appeared in the MERCURY a letter, signed "Grumbler," respecting our Agricultural Fairs; I have been anxiously looking for a reply to his remarks by some of your correspondents, and none having noticed the untruthfulness of his assertions, I beg to offer a few comments on it. "Grumbler" states that articles have been peddled and gained prizes for the last ten years, from one fair to another—instancing a shirt and a mat that was shown at Rockwood to bear out his untruthfulness. Now, there was only one shirt shown at that fair, and that one was of recent manufacture, and I suppose his mat story is equally unreliable. Many ladies in this vicinity who have contributed greatly to our rural fairs, have come to the determination to cease exhibiting at our future fairs in consequence of the aspersion that "Grumbler" has indulged in. If he wanted to injure the Agricultural Fairs, he could not have taken a more effectual method of breaking up the Societies than he did when penning such slanderous and untruthful statements—impugning motives to a most respectable class of people who have always taken a lively interest in our exhibitions.

Yours,
VERITAS.

KING OF THE DRY GOODS

Unprecedented Success.

A Crowded Store. Sales Increasing Daily.

The Dry Goods trade of the Lion, for the spring of 1880, has this far been a grand success eclipsing any former season's business. Thus we attribute to two reasons:—First, a more prosperous condition of the people Second, the growing popularity of The Lion as the "People's Dry Goods House."

Never was our stock so fully assorted. Never did we offer such value. Never have we done such a large trade.

KNOW THYSELF

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundreth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is noble benefactor."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission to JOS. S. FISHER, president; W. I. P. INGRAHAM, vice-president; W. PAINE, M. D.; C. S. GAUNTT, M. D.; H. J. DOUCET, M. D.; R. H. KLINE, M. D.; J. R. HOLCOMB, M. "I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

Guelph Markets.

MERCURY OFFICE,
GUELPH, May 20 1880.

There has been no extraordinary stir on our market this week on account of farmers being fully occupied at home. No changes of any importance have taken place in prices, so that quotations are purely nominal.

Wool will soon be offered for sale, and the present prospects for good prices are encouraging, yet there are some operators who opine that opening prices will not and cannot long remain sustained, in which case the seller up to the first ten days of June will most likely come off best. The markets for the new crop not having as yet fairly opened, it is almost too soon to offer anything like well grounded opinion in this issue. Butter is beginning to arrive in small quantities and calls for 12 to 13 cents at present, but people who profess to know a great deal about this article, say that lower prices must prevail to warrant shipment to England. The weather up till now at any rate goes to show that there will be no scarcity for the present season, a desire we hope to see fully realized.

In other articles of produce there are no alterations worth noticing.

Here are the corrected prices on the Guelph market up to 3 o'clock this afternoon:

Morning Telegrams.

A. M. Sullivan, Home Ruler, is claiming £10,000 damages from the proprietor of the Irish Times for publishing an alleged libel to the effect that Sullivan received moneys from the Carlton Club during the elections.

The question of the recall of Sir Bartle Frere from the Cape of Good Hope is creating considerable dissatisfaction among members of the Liberal party in England. Several of the leading Liberal newspapers are clamorous for his recall.

A cable despatch from London says a motion is to be brought forward in the House of Commons by a private member, soon after the opening of Parliament, proposing the disestablishment of the Church of England.

Herbert Reeves, son of Sims Reeves, the English tenor—hopefully regarded as a probable inheritor of his father's musical gifts—will make his debut at the concert in St. James' Hall on the 12th prox.

The retirement of Plimsoll (Liberal) in favour of Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, is said to be due to a feeling that he has done all a private member could do for the reform of the merchant shipping laws.

It is said that Sir Garnet Wolseley will receive the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

At the recent convocation of Glasgow University the degree of Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) was conferred, among others, upon the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone; the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosebery; the Right Hon. Lord Monoreiff; the Right Hon. Lord Young; and Sir Alex. Grant, Bart., principal of Edinburgh University and a trustee to the Bathgate Academy.

It is stated that in his speech at the Conservative meeting on Thursday, Earl Beaconsfield admitted great surprise at the result of the recent election. He took upon himself part of the blame for the dissolution of Parliament, but said the party were not blameless, as the defeat of the Conservatives was greatly owing to the lamentable deficiencies in organization, which, he trusted, would be remedied, and with that view he suggested the appointment of a committee.

The Herald's cable despatch says that Gladstone's letter defending the appointment of a Roman Catholic, Lord Ripon, as Viceroy of India, is considered in Conservative circles as certain to prejudice the non-conformists, but in the eyes of the world it is the most statesmanlike document that he has issued.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

The Shooting of Hon. Geo. Brown.

A Plea of Insanity Likely to be Entered for the Defence.

TORONTO, May 21.—A letter from Thos. Vallance, captain of the Scottish foot ball players, has been received by a sporting gentleman here, asking when it would be advisable to come to America, and he was advised to visit here in the fall.

Dickson alias George Bennett, who is accused of having murdered Hon. George Brown, on the day a true bill was found against him made a $500 mortgage over to his counsel Mr. N. F. Davin, and the latter soon afterwards discovered there was no such mortgage in existence. It is thought that a plea of insanity will be put in, and it is understood that the papers found on Bennett at the time of his arrest have been read over to medical gentlemen, who will be called as witnesses.

Sad Case of Drowning.

WALKERTON, May 21.—A young man named Wm. P. Fahl was drowned near here yesterday afternoon while washing sheep. He was taking a swim after finishing his own sheep, and becoming exhausted sank in the presence of all his companions, not one of whom was able to swim to his assistance. The body was recovered immediately afterwards.

Refused to go to Work.

MONTREAL, May 21.—The stevedores employed on the Allan line refused to go to work this morning unless the mininum wages was raised from 15 to 20 cents per hour. The men have been paid on the following scale: 15c. 17½c. 20c. and 25c., according to their ability in stowing cargo.

Distressed on the Train.

BRAMPTON, Ont., May 21.—A family of emigrants named Mills, from Monaghan, Ireland, was put off the midnight train here last night, one of the children suffering from dysentry. A kindly disposed lady on the train had however given the child an overdose of laudanum, from which it died at six o'clock.

Fire at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, May 21.—A fire occurred on Victoria Avenue last night about 12.30, totally destroying a house of ill-fame, owned by one Nicholls; no insurance. Cause of fire incendiarism.

THE VICE-REGAL PARTY IN QUEBEC.—The Vice-Regal party arrived at Quebec on Thursday evening. They were met at the station by the Lieut.-Governor and his Ministers and the Deputy-Adjutant-General and staff, and escorted to an open carriage, in which they drove to the Citadel. A large number of people were present outside the station, who loudly cheered the distinguished party.

Local News.

A. MCBEAN & Co., have received quite a lot of lawn sprinklers.

A JUNIOR Lacrosse club is to be organized in the city.

THE convention of Canadian base ball clubs is being held at the Royal Hotel this afternoon.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh northerly to northwesterly winds, fine and cooler weather.

MR. SCOTT ARMSTRONG, Guelph, has purchased the trotting horse "Happy Harry" from Mr. J. C. Anderson.

FAMILY HERALD for May, price 12 cents; also Bow Bell and Young Ladies' Journal for June, at Day's Bookstore.

We were made to say the other day that 1,000 cattle were shipped from Bowmanville in one day. The number turns out to be 100.

TWO HORSES belonging to Mr. George Snelling, Guelph Township, were killed by an express train on the Great Western Railway a day or two ago.

AT the Base Ball Convention to be held here this afternoon a number of amendments to the rules which governed championship matches under the old Association will be submitted.

A NUMBER of gentlemen who went to Erin yesterday on a fishing excursion say they caught over 150 trout, but the impression is that they got more mosquito bites than fish bites.

DURING the present week about 300 head of beef cattle were shipped from Fergus for the British markets, which for breed, feed and general first class condition, were probably never before equalled in Canada.

CORNELIUS MONAHAN, an old British soldier, arrived in the city yesterday and did not feel satisfied till saturated with whiskey. When he became helpless he was arrested, and at the Police Court to-day was fined $4.50 for druukenness.

WHEELER OGG, who is to go with the Canadian team to Wimbledon this (Friday) morning, received from England the Martin Henri rifle he will use in the matches and 200 rounds of cartridge for practice.

LAW EXAMINATIONS.—At the recent law examinations in Toronto Mr. H. A. McLean passed the first Intermediate, and Mr. J. A. Mowat the second Intermediate, examinations. Mr. J. P. Curran, formerly in the office of Messrs. Guthrie, Watt & Cutten, here, but now of Stratford, passed the examination for Attorneys.

BURGLARIES.—It is said that no less than four burglaries have occurred in Rookwood within the present week, and unsuccessful attempts have been made at house breaking in different places at the village. The other night some parties placed a ladder against an upstairs window at Lee's Hotel, Rockwood, and were trying to raise the window, when the ladder slipped, making a noise, which awakened the occupants. It is understood that $100 was stolen from one house.

THE "CITY OF GUELPH."—Mr. John Davidson received word from Barrie this morning that the "City of Guelph" was not making very great progress by the overland route from Barrie to Guelph. The boat has arrived at Rosemont, near Orangeville, and word comes from there that bridges are washed away, roads bad, and that there was no telling when the boat may get through. There are five teams of horses attached to the waggon on which the boat is being drawn. There is a possibility that the boat may reach here to-morrow night.

CONFIDENCE OPERATORS NABBED.—Four confidence operators were arrested in Detroit the other night. They have been making that city their headquarters for two months past, frequently extending their operations as far east as St. Thomas. They gave their names as Thos. G. Brieton, W. H. Bryant, Oliver A. Wilson and Archibald McCollum. These are fictitious names, however, as two of the sharpers hail from St. Thomas, one from London, and the other claims to belong to Guelph

A SAD CASE.—On Thursday evening Mr. Grace, who lives a short distance east of Huskisson street, and south of the Grand Trunk Railway track, applied to the Police Magistrate to have his wife removed to the General Hospital. On enquiry it was found that the woman was in the delerium tremens, and the Mayor made out an order to have her removed to the General Hospital. She would not be admitted there in such a condition and a warrant was made out for her committment to gaol, where she now lies in a dreadful condition. She has been at the Police Court on one or two occasions charged with drunkenness and is said to be an inebriate. The family are retpectable and Mr. Grace is a steady, hard working man.

THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.—The architects of Toronto, Hamilton, London, Guelph, and elsewhere have memorialized the Commissioner of Public Works for 'better terms' in regard to the Parliament buildings. Their chief objection to the instructions seems to be that the time given for preparing the plans (to the 1st of August next) is, it is claimed, altogether too short. The difficulty is increased by the fact that this is the busiest season of the year, and architects have as much as they can do with regular professional work. The architects also desire that the purchase of plans be left a matter to settle between the successful competitor and the Government, and not compulsory.

RUNAWAY.—A horse attached to a buggy ran away on Upper Wyndham street yesterday afternoon. It proceeded but a short distance when it was stopped. The dash board of the buggy was broken, which was the only damage done.

End of a Romantic Career.

The Manitoulin Expositor says:—News has just been received of the death of Arthur Cole Hill, who died at Serpent River on April 8th. The deceased came from England, was about 35 years of age, and possessed a good college education. He entered the service of the Hudson Bay Company for three years, and upon the expiration of his time signed for two years more. After putting in about one year of the latter term, he made the acquaintance of a squaw and wanted to get married, but as he could not do so until he left the Company, he wrote to head-quarters for his discharge and his salary up to that time. Mr. Mackenzie, who was in charge of the post at the time, also wrote explaining matters, which resulted in the discharge not being granted. Hill was then sent up Lake Superior to another post, where it was thought he would give up the idea of marrying a squaw, but he did not stop there long, he deserted and got married. According to some rules of the Company, a man who does not serve his time out loses all back money, and such was the case with Hill. However, he heard from his brother, Henry Hill, who, we are informed, holds some office in the Bank of England, that there was $500 to his credit there, and he intended to sue the Hudson Bay Company for back pay, which is about $600. After he got married he made his home among the Indians at Serpent River following their life, fishing, hunting, &c., and received a small amount for looking after Murray's mill at that place. Last November he took sick, and as there was no medical attendance at hand he lingered on till his death. Frank Miller, who has been trading on the North Shore all winter, was at Serpent River on April 7th and went to see Hill at the sugar bush about fifteen miles from there; upon asking him what was the matter, he replied that he had been sick, but felt better then. Miller stopped in the wigwam that night, and next morning Hill took worse and told him he was dying. He told Miller that if anything happened and if his money could be obtained his wife was to have it. He was silent for a while. Suddenly a gun was fired, followed by two more reports, then turning on his side he said, "Frank, do you know what that means?" On being told that he did not he said, "that means there's death in the camp, but I ain't a gone coon yet." After laying quiet a few moments he asked Miller to teach his little boy to pray, and that was his last request; he died at two p.m. It was a hard scene, Miller being the only white man with him; the deceased's wife and child, her mother and four Indians comprised the funeral. The body was rolled in a blanket and drawn out of camp on a dog sleigh, followed by the little procession in single file, and placing a few arrows in the grave they buried him. Deceased was well liked both by the Indians and white men, and his sad death is deeply felt by all who knew him.

Cold Feet in Bed.

The association betwixt cold feet and sleeplessness is much closer than is commonly imagined. Persons with cold feet rarely sleep well, especially women. Yet the number of persons so troubled is very considerable. We now know that, if the blood supply of the brain is kept up, sleep is impossible. An old theologician, when weary and sleepy with much writing, found that he could keep his brain active by immersing his feet in cold water; the cold drove the blood from the feet to the head. Now, what this old gentleman accomplished by design, is secured for many persons much against their will. Cold feet are the bane of many women. Tight boots keep up a bloodless condition of the feet in the day, and in many women there is no subsequent dilation of the blood vessels when the boots are taken off. These women come in from a walk, and put their feet to the fire to warm—the most effective way of cultivating chilblains. At night, they put their feet to the fire, and have a hot bottle in bed. But it is all of no use; their teet still remain cold. How to get their feet warm is the great question of life with them—in cold weather. The effective plan is not very attractive at first sight to many minds. It consists of driving the blood vessels into firm contraction, after which secondary dilation follows. See the snow baller's hands! The first contact with the snow makes the hands terribly cold; for the small arteries are driven thereby into firm contraction, and the nerve-endings of the finger tips feel the low temperature very keenly. But as the snow-baller perseveres, his hands commence to glow; the blood vessels have become secondarily dilated, and the rush of warm arterial blood is felt agreeable by the peripheral nerve endings. This is the plan to adopt with cold feet. They should be dipped in cold water for a brief period; often just to immerse them and no more, is sufficient; and then they should rubbed with a pair of hair flesh-gloves, or a rough Turkish towel, until they glow immediately before getting into bed. After this a hot-water bottle will be successful enough in maintaining the temperature of the feet, though without this preliminary it is important to do so. Disagreeable as it may at first sight appear, it is efficient; and those who have once fairly tried it continue it, and find that they put an end to their bad nights and cold feet. Pills, potions, lozenges, "night-caps," all narcotics, fail to enable the sufferer to woo sleep successfully; get rid of the cold feet, and then sleep will come of itself.

St. George's Church.

The Service of Song Last Night.

There was a fair audience in St. George's Church on Thursday night on the occasion of the benefit service of song to Mr. Benton, leader of the choir. The attendance was not what the admirable renderings should have drawn together, but the audience would undoubtedly have been larger but for the storm, which prevented many from being present. Those who were present enjoyed a musical treat, furnished entirely by local, but select musicians. The choir comprised forty voices, and the manner in which they acquitted themselves showed that they had been well prepared under the direction of their efficient choir master. In but one instance where the full choir took part was there anything like a break in the time, and that is scarcely worth referring to, for on the whole the renderings were marked by great precision. The programme consisted of two parts, and was well arranged. It was not so lengthy as programmes of a similar nature generally are, and in its preparation those who arranged it must have felt that there was a possibility of giving too much of a good thing.

The first part opened with an anthem, "Jubilate," by the choir, and a solo part by Miss Nellie Foster. Both the choir and Miss Foster acquitted themselves creditably in this. The solo "I know that my Redeemer liveth," by Miss Clara Stevenson, was the second number. The lady entered into the full pathos of the selection and carried it through efficiently. The rendering of the organ solo, "St. Cecilia," by Miss Geddes, was an able effort, and met with deserved appreciation. A solo, "Palm-branches," was given by Miss Denie Wright very sweetly. She possesses a rich voice of much compass, and did her part exceedingly well. An anthem "As pants the hart," by the choir, containing a solo part given by Miss Foster, was the next number, and was well received. An organ duet "Marche Aux Flambeaux, by Misses Harrington and Geddes, was perhaps as well rendered as any selection on the programme. The first part concluded with the hymn "Angel voices ever singing," in which the audience took part.

After the offertory the second part opened with the solo, "Thou has tried our hearts," from Stabat Mater, by Mr. C. W. Harrington. Those who have heard Mr. Harrington sing know that he is possessed of a powerful bass voice, well suited for this kind of music. He rendered the part with good effect and the assistance of the choir was most efficient. A solo "I heard the voice of Jesus say," by Miss Dickson was rendered with a sweet and highly cultivated voice, and her clear enunciation was greatly admired. An organ solo, "Dona," from Haydn's Imperial Mass, by Miss Geddes was played in that lady's usual excellent style. Miss Nellie Foster next sang, "Love not the world," and the effort met with deserved appreciation. Miss Dickson and Wright, and Messrs. Shaw and Morson sang "Come Holy Spirit," and carried out their parts in the beautiful quartette to the satisfaction of all present. This piece was pronounced the gem of the evening. A solo "Consider the lillies," by Mr. Densem, was given in excellent style, worthy of the musical composer. The programme concluded with a solo by Miss Harrington, "When thou comest," from Stabat Mater, which formed a fitting close to a most enjoyable and successful musical service

An Elopement.

A Deserted Husband Travels Two Weeks With a Baby in His Arms in Search of Work.

A few weeks since the wife of Hugh Forsham, a laboring man who resided in Brant county, near Paris, eloped with another man, taking with her everything of value which she could lay her hands on, but leaving with him a child of two years of age. The father was out of employment and, taking his child in his arms, Forsham started in search of work, which he failed to secure, the objection being to receiving the child. The two have wandered for a couple of weeks, receiving little or no assistance and sleeping in barns and in the woods and by the roadside most of the time. On being informed of the case, Mayor O'Reilly rendered all the assistance he could and made efforts to get the child into the Orphan's Asylum, but it is too young for admission to that institution, and, therefore, it was given in charge to Mrs. Ross, 191 Wilson street, the father promising to contribute monthly towards its support, and the city to pay whatever amount may be required over and above such contribution. The man offered a watch as part payment, but it was declined, when he gave all the money he possessed to help pay for the child's support. The case appears to be one of peculiar hardship.—Hamilton Times.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

Meeting of the Imperial Parliament.

More than ordinary interest is manifested at the opening of the Imperial Parliament, which took place on Thursday. The recent general election, and the extraordinary change which took place in the political feeling of the country, has invested its proceedings with an interest which it otherwise would not possess.

The Queen's speech, as was to be expected from a Government of which Mr. Gladstone is the head, is full, frank and outspoken. Her Majesty refers to the cordial relations her Government maintains with the other European powers, and speaks hopefully of their concerted action in carrying out to their fulfilment the provisions of the Treaty of Berlin. In order to bring this about Her Majesty announces that she had appointed an Ambassador Extraordinary to the Court of the Sultan of Turkey, and this point in the speech gave rise to some discussion. Sir Stafford Northcote, in criticizing the speech, questioned the propriety of Mr. Goschen's appointment as the Ambassador Extraordinary. In reply Mr. Gladstone said the Government were true to the principles they had enunciated respecting the foreign policy when in opposition. Many held that apart from one or two questions arising out of the Treaty of Berlin that document had promulgated many valuable provisions. Mr. Gorchen's appointment was by no means unusual, as the late Government adopted the same course in the case of Sir Henry Elliott. His powers were the same as those of an ordinary Ambassador. He would receive specific instructions, and if the effect of his mission was to clear up the misapprehensions entertained by Turkey regarding the Government the result would be worthy of attainment. The Government viewed the Greek and Montenegrin question as pressing. It was desirable to disabuse the minds of the Turkish people that as a nation England had such special separate interest in the maintenance of Turkey. It was also desirable to remove from the mind of the Porte the idea that England was disposed to trespass upon their rights in Asia. All the Government desired, he said, was to see the obligations of Turkey faithfully fulfilled. They had no desire to reduce the limits of Turkish territory in any direction.

The reference in the Speech to the condition of Ireland caused some discussion. Mr. O'Connor Power moved an amendment to the Address, to the effect that the position of occupiers of land in Ireland deserves immediate attention, in order that their legitimate claims may be satisfied. Mr. Gladstone asked Mr. Power not to press his motion as it did not affect the principle laid down in the Speech. Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, pointed out that it was impossible at this period of the session to attempt to legislate on so large a question as was raised by Mr. Power's amendment. The Irish members might, however, rely upon the Government's considering the matter with the greatest possible care. Regarding the Coercion Act, he appealed to the priests and people of Ireland to refrain from acts, whether in the nature of party processions or otherwiss, which might result in evil consequences and lead to coercive measures. Mr. Shaw followed, and made a strong plea that the condition of the poor was very pressing. Mr. Parnell urged the necessity for a temporary suspension of the right of eviction. Mr. Power's amendment was rejected by a vote of 300 to 47, and the motion for the adoption of the Address was passed.

The Home Rulers don't seem to be at all agreeable among themselves. In Parliament, Mr. Parnell and his immediate followers sit on the Opposition benches, but Mr. Shaw and others on the Government side. Parnell gave notice that he will call attention to the Parliamentary relations existing between England and Ireland. Mr. Gray (Home Ruler) has given notice that he will ask leave to introduce a Bill for the suspension of ejectments in Ireland.

In the House of Lords the debate on the Address was conducted quietly. Lord Beaconsfield congratulated the Government on its resolve to completely fulfil the Berlin Treaty. He said he would like to obtain some information regarding the power of Goschen, and wished to know what was meant by "institutions" in Afghanistan. He blamed the Government for not continuing the Coercion Act, and thanked the House for its support while he was Premier. Lord Granville said the Government had abandoned the Coercion Act in the hope that the people would answer their appeal. He could not speak with full information regarding Afghanistan yet, but from the information the Government did possess he could not say there was a justification for the sanguine assertion for a speedy settlement contained in the Queen's Speech a short time ago.

The Canada Homœopathic Institute held their annual meeting in London on Thursday. A number of valuable papers were read on medical subjects. The Institute will hold their next meeting in St. Thomas in September.

At the last quarterly board meeting of the Methodist church, Galt, a resolution was passed expressing the appreciation the congregation felt for Mr. Smith because of his earnest efforts to promote Methodism in Galt. This was done prior to his departure for a new field of labor.

The rumour is again revived that the Hon. Hector Langevin will be knighted next month.

The Ottawa Free Press says it is now generally understood that Hon. John O'Connor will not be given a judgeship at present.

The trouble between the frontier men and several Indian tribes has resulted in a one-sided settlement with the several tribes, by which large tracts of land are surrendered to the United States Government for annuities for a term of years.

Mr. Hesson, M. P., for North Perth' has addressed a letter to the Minister of Emigration on a matter which intimately concerns the well being of the Dominion at large, namely, the status of Germans coming to this country and taking the oath of allegiance to the British Sovereign.

It, as Sir Charles Tupper said last session, the Dominion Government is in perfect accord with the Liberal Government of England, how comes it that the Canadian Ministerial organs lose no opportunity of abusing Mr. Gladstone and take every means of spreading the squibs and slanders of the English Opposition press?

It is reported that Mr. Bunster, M.P., for Vancouver Island, has formally tendered in writing to the Government his application for the Lieutenant-Governorship of the Province of British Columbia, and that the application is now being considered by the Premier. Another report copied from the Victoria, B. C., Colonist says that Bunster has been or will be appointed Inspector of Customs for British Columbia.

The members of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church have passed a resolution referring to the recent attempt in the House of Commons to virtually destroy the Scott Act, in which they "deeply deprecate the action of the people's representatives," and "gratefully acknowledge the important services rendered by the Senate in upholding the rights of the people and advancing the interests of the temperance cause."

The Cuban revolution is again in full blast. Spanish tyranny is as galling as ever to the Cuban patriots, and they have organized a provisional Government in all parts of the island not occupied by Spanish troops. The proclamation by the President heralds the determination of the insurgents to succeed in establishing independence or to sacrifice their lives in the attempt. There is something heroic in these periodic and desperate efforts to gain liberty by the Cubans, but they are fighting against a much superior power, and in the end will fail.

It is rather an important fact that the Roman Catholic Archbishop Taschereau, in Quebec, has issued a pastoral condemning trade-unions. He puts in a succinct form a truth which we have had occasion over and over again to assert, when he says:—"A man's labour is his own, and it is his liberty to sell it at whatsoever price he pleases." This sets forth the gist of the whole matter. It is announced that any Catholic who shall attack or conspire to attack any person, because such person works at a price which he thinks fit, shall be excommunicated. As the labour troubles have been considerable in Canada, and the gross tyranny with which strikes are usually conducted has been particularly rampant, the pronunciamento of the Archbishop against them is specially timely; and everybody who in the least respects personal independence and liberty of choice will be rejoiced that His Grace has thus spoken.

On Thursday evening a meeting was held in Montreal to discuss the chances of a commercial union with the United States. About 2,000 people were present, being entirely French Canadians. Mr. Perrault was the orator. He went over the old story about the lack of power of Canada to make her own treaties, showed that she was able to stand alone, so far as knowing what her commerce required to foster it, and pointed out the stagnation of trade, the ruination of agriculturists, and the emigration of Canadians by the thousands. All this had been caused by mistaken legislation, and by Great Britain's selfish policy in shutting Canada out from the enjoyment of the Mother Country's commercial treaties with foreign nations. The remedy lay a in closer commercial union with the United States, and he approved of Senator Cox's plan as a basis of negotiations. The thunder storm put an end to the meeting, else other members of the Political Economy Club would have aired their views on annexation or independence.

Renan and Christianity.

Christianity has been patronized before now by many men; but no man takes it on his knee like M. Renan, chucks it under the chin, sticks his finger in its dimples, twists up its curls, and calls it a sweet, simple maid. Christianity ought to feel very much flattered that so great a scholar as M. Renan thinks it so beautiful. He is really charmed with the "sweet Galilean vision" which appeared amid the lilies and roses about fair Tiberias. It is not only a sweet tale, but M. Renan is quite inclined to confess that there may be some truth in it. Of course the miracles, the resurrection, the ascension are not—well, on these charming products of a credulous, legend-loving Oriental people we need not speak; but we may own that there may be a great element of truth in Christianity. Very likely there is a God. We may even hope that there is a future life. M. Renan says he really thinks there is, and we are all very much encouraged to know it. How good of him! We confess this is about all we can make out of his five lectures in London.—N. Y. Independent.

A Hundred Vessels Delayed by Ice.—The schooner Dolphin at Sheet Harbor on the 18th inst., from Newfoundland, reports having seen immense fields of ice spreading from the west coast of Newfoundland to Cape Canso, and nearly one hundred vessels of all sizes are delayed from getting up the North Bay. Two large Norwegian barques have been lost near Rose Blanche, Newfoundland. The crews were all saved. It is supposed that many more vessels will be lost, as the ice is reported very heavy.

Opening of the Imperial Parliament.

The Queen's Speech.

London, May 20.—The Imperial Parliament reassembled to-day. The following is the full text of the Queen s speech:—

My Lords and Gentlemen:—I avail myself of the earliest opportunity of meeting you after our recent general election and the arrangements required upon the change of Administration.

The cordial relations which I hold with all the other Powers of Europe will, I trust, enable me to promote in concert with them an early and complete fulfilment of the Treaty of Berlin with respect to effectual reforms and equal laws in Turkey, as well as such territorial questions as are not settled, conforming with the provisions of the treaty. I regard such fulfilment necessary for the avoidance of further complications in the East. In accordance with this view I have deemed it expedient to despatch an Ambassador Extraordinary to the Court of the Sultan.

On the last occasion of my addressing you I expressed my hope that the measures adopted in Afghanistan would lead to a speedy settlement of that country. Since that period the gallantry of my troops has continued to be conspicuous, and the labours of my Government in India unremitting, but I have to lament that the end in view has not yet been attained. My efforts will, however, be unceasingly directed towards the pacification of Afghanistan, and the establishment of such institutions as may be found best fitted to secure the independence of its people and restore their friendly relations with my Indian Empire.

The condition of the Indian finances, as recently made known to me, has received my special attention. I have directed that you shall be supplied with the fullest information upon this weighty subject.

I invite your careful notice to important questions of policy connected with the future of South Africa. I have continued to commend to the favourable consideration of the authorities and people of the various settlements a project of Confederation. In maintaining my supremacy over the Transvaal, with its diversified population, I desire both to make provision for the security of the indigenous races and to extend to the European settlers institutions based on large liberal principles of self-government.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:—I notice with satisfaction that the imports and exports of the country, as well as other signs, indicate some revival of trade; but the depression lately perceived in the revenue continues without abatement. The estimates of income laid before the last Parliament were framed with moderation, but the time which has since elapsed exhibits no promise that they will be exceeded. The annual estimates of charges as far as they have been already voted, will be promptly laid before you.

My Lords and Gentlemen:—The late season of the year at which you begin your labours I fear will seriously abridge the time available for useful legislation, but I make no doubt you will study to turn it to the best account.

The Peace Preservation Act for Ireland expires on the 1st of June. You will not be asked to renew it. My desire to avoid the evils of exceptional legislation in the abridgment of liberty would not allow me to forego in any degree the performance of tha first duty of every Government in providing for the security of life and property. But while I am determined to fulfil this sacred obligation, I am persuaded that the loyalty and good sense of my Irish subjects will justify me in relying on the provisions of the ordinary law firmly administered for the maintenance of peace and order.

The provisions enacted before the dissolution of the late Parliament for the mitigation of the distress in Ireland have been serviceable to that important end. The question of the sufficiency of the advances already authorized by Parliament is also under my consideration.

A measure at an early day will be submitted putting an end to the controversies which have arisen in respect to burial in churchyards and cemetries.

It will be necessary to ask you to renew the Act for Secret Voting.

Among the chief subjects which may be brought under your notice as time may permit will be Bills for giving more effectual protection to occupiers of land against injury from ground game, for determining on just principles the liabilities of employers for accidents sustained by workmen, and for the extension of Borough Franchise in Ireland.

These and all your labours I heartily commend to the blessing of God.

Important to Bathers.

The following notice to bathers, although addressed more especially to men, has so many of its useful suggestions equally applicable to lady bathers, that we have no hesitation of reproducing it:

Avoid bathing within two hours after a meal.

Avoid bathing when exhausted by fatigue or from any other cause.

Avoid bathing when the body is cooling after perspiration; but

Bathe when the body is warm provided no time is lost when getting into the water.

Avoid chilling the body by sitting or standing naked on the banks or in boats after having been in the water.

Avoid remaining too long in the water; leave the water immediately when there is the slightest feeling of chilliness.

Avoid bathing altogether in the open air, after having been a short time in the water, there is a sense of chilliness with numbness of the hands and feet.

The vigorous and strong may bathe early in the morning on an empty stomach. The young, and those that are weak, had bettar bathe three hours after a meal; the best time for such is from two to three hours after breakfast.

Those who are subject to attacks of giddiness and faintness, and those who suffer from palpitation and other discomfort at the heart, should not bathe without first consulting their medical adviser.

Mothers! ! Mothers! ! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

The Waterloo Chronicle says:—The Warden has appointed Mr. I. D. Bowman Co., Clerk to the position of Co. Treasurer pro tem. The Council will meet early in June, when it is probable the appointment will be made permanent, as in that way a saving of part of the salary could be made, and also one office now wanted for the Master in Chancery could be obtained without building an audition to the Court House.

The Leasing of the City Hall.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

Sir,—In your issue of the 19th, "Citizen" takes objection to the leasing of the City Hall for a short term of years to the manage ment of the Toronto Grand Opera House." Citizen" seems to think that "a first class music hall or theatre building" should be erected by some joint stock company, and that then we should have dramatic troupes with us "for a season or longer." Your Correspondent must know very little about the expenses connected with a first class company if he fancies that a city of 11,000 inhabitants is able to support a first class theatre throughout an entire season.

The whole matter lies in a nut shell. A bureau has been formed by the management of the Grand Opera House to control all theatrical combinations entering Canada for some time to come. They have leased all the Opera Houses and Halls in all the large cities and towns of the Dominion, and intend to keep several companies on the road all the time. If the Council do not grant the lease of the Hall Guelph will have no first class dramatic entertainments in the future. If they do grant a lease, the city will not only receive more revenue from the Hall than she does at present, but our citizens will have an opportunity of seeing such artists as Neilson, Siddons, (who will visit Canada next season with one of the finest dramatic companies ever formed) Janauschek, Sothern, W. H Lingard, John T. Raymond, and other professionals of acknowledged dramatic ability. I hope the Council will see their way to grant the lease, so that Guelph may not be behind any Canadian city in the way of dramatic entertainments. I may say in conclusion that I have not the slightest pecuniary interest in the matter, and merely actuated by a desire to see our city visited by artists who have a world wide reputation, but who, under the present circumstances will never grace the stage of the City Hall.

Respectfully,
H. E. Smallpeice.

Harper's Magazine for June.

The June number of this magazine is, probably the most beautiful number ever issued of that periodical. The opening article—a charming description by Mrs. John Little of a Devonshire Moorland Village—is finely illustrated with nineteen remarkable pictures by Abbey. William H. Gibson, who wrote and illustrated "A Winter Idyl" for the March Harper's, contributes a paper on "Spring Time," which he illustrates with sixteen beautiful drawings, exquisitely engraved. Mr. Rideing's admirable paper, "The Working-Women in New York," is finely illustrated by Jessie Curtis, Reinhart, and Rogers. Mr. James H. Morse's quaint little poem, "The Errand," is illustrated by Fredericks. A paper, the second in the series of "Old Dutch Masters," is devoted to Albert Cuyp, with a portrait of the painter and two engravings from his pictures. J. Eglinton Montgomery contributes a paper on the Thuringian Valley, and its associations with Luther, finely illustrated. A timely article—apropos of the monument to Andre—is devoted to a biographic sketch of Captain Nathan Hale, by Henry P. Johnston, with seven illustrations, two of which are from drawings by Howard Pyle. Nor is the humorous element wanting in this brilliant collection of illustrated articles. Sherwood Bonner contributes a side-splitting story, entitled "Hieronymus Pop and the Baby," which A. B. Frost illustrates with nine characteristic pictures. The number is remarkble for the co-operation of so many of our best artists in its pictorial embellishment.

Apart from the illustrated paper, the number contains some very notable contributions, especially George Ticknor Curtis's article, "The Strong Government," which shows that the rich certainly have no reason to complain against the weakness of our government; "Ingratitude of the Republic"—a pointed arraignment of Congress for its neglect of the general officers of the army, written by one of our ablest Major-Generals; and Mr. A. B. Allen's article, "Beef and Bullock," treating the subject of our exports of beef to Great Britain, and considering the best breeds of cattle to be cultivated for the foreign market.

The curious narrative entitled "A Puzzle for Metaphysicians, is contributed by Mrs. Harriette Woods Baker, daughter of Dr. Leonard Woods, the celebrated theologian, W. H. Babcock contributes a short story, "De Courcy's Ride." The Editorial Departments are full of timely and entertaining matter. Mrs. Corbett, and author of "Il Jacobo," contributes for the Editor's Drawer another comic operetta, entitled "The Gallant Garroter," which is illustrated by A. B. Frost.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is THE GREAT RELIEVER OF PAIN. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water [sweetened, if preferred], taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&w1yr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&w1yr.

The Council of Wingham village favour a bonus of $15,000 or 20,000 for an extension of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway to that village.

A sad accident happened at New Dundee on Friday last, resulting in the death of a little daughter of Mr. J. G. Wing. The child, who is only fifteen months old, in some manner fell into the mill race and was drowned. Although alive when taken out she very soon expired.

A tory is told of a presiding magistrate who observed a modernly attired female sitting in court with a black felt hat on the side of her head. Misled by the masculine appearance of the tile, his honor called out to the wearer: "My man, take off your hat!" "I'm no man!" retorted the wearer. "Then I'm no judge," admitted his honor.

Dr. Turquand, of Woodstock, died on Tuesday evening, and that town has lost one of its oldest inhabitants, and the profession one of its most distinguished members. He was one of the oldest masons in the county and held a high office in that body. He was an attached member of the Episcopal Church, and was noted for his generous impulses and sterling goodness of heart.

At a special meeting of the Galt Town Council held on the 18th inst., a resolution was passed expressing the sympathy of the Council and citizens with the family of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, in the loss they had sustained through his death. It was ordered that a copy of the resolution be engrossed and sent to Mrs. Brown.

Iowa walnut logs are now being shipped to England. The timber is bought in the tree by a Liverpool agent, and is cut down and hewn square. The timber is obtained in the Skunk River Valley, in the vicinity of Crawfordsville and Washington, and is of a superior quality. Iowa furnishes some of the best black walnut to be found in the world for the furniture trade, and it is a source of considerable revenue to the State.

Six black envoys have arrived in London from Mtesa, monarch of a wide region in the dark continent of which Stanley Africanus has so much to say in his book. They come with the king's compliments to Queen Victoria, requesting her to express through her envoy her desire as to the status of missionaries in his kingdom. They are also ordered to request a supply of rum and rifles, and as an inducement to their request being granted, to announce their master's wish to embrace the Christian religion, provided he is permitted to retain the worship of his idols—the great snake, the lord lion, and the strong elephant. The queen was to give audience to the six envoys, who stay at the Charing Cross hotel. They have been visitors at "Short's," and other noted places of refreshment at the Strand.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Late News from the North West.

Mr. Nelson, of Aylmer, Quebec, who has been with a Government surveying party in the Bow river locality for three years past, has arrived in Ottawa. He came by the way of Fort McLeod and Fort Benton and brings important news regarding the Indians. He states that the Indians in the Milk river district are reported in a most deplorable condition and are literally starving for want of food, owing to the scarcity of game. The Sioux, under Sitting Bull, are holding the buffalo grounds and preventing the tribes who are friendly to the whites on both sides of the line from securing game; hence the want of food among the Crees, the Bloods, Blackfeet and Peigans. The Sioux have followed the buffalo into American territory, in spite of the efforts of the mounted police to keep them on our side of the line, and commit depredations on American travellers over the plains. They desire the other tribes to join them and thus form a powerful alliance, holding that it is much better for them to die fighting than to starve to death. The plan is said to be to plunder and rob the whites wherever available, so as to supplement the products of the chase. In case of an amalgamation of the various bands, trouble will undoubtedly ensue. The Sioux are well provided with ammunition. The farm instructors sent out by our Government are doing a good work, and if the Indians can only be quietly got into adopting agricultural pursuits all will yet be well for them, but assistance will be required in the meantime. Large bands of Indians at Fort Walsh and Fort McLeod are being fed at Government expense. It is thought highly probable that the Crees and Bloods will join the Sioux, in which case there will undoubtedly be trouble, but hostilities will be levelled against the American settlements and American soldiers, and not those on our own territory. Although there is no telling what might happen if they once got started. Mr. Nelson reports a queer discovery of gold at Fort McLeod on the 30th of April. A butcher named William Wilson was engaged in killing some cattle for the mounted police when he found some black sand and gravel in the stomach of one of the animals. Having been a miner at one time, it struck him that there might be some hidden wealth in the sand as it looked to be the right kind for auriferous deposits, so he made an examination. Little grains of gold were discovered and washing the sand he obtained some $5 worth. The singular discovery made has caused a great deal of excitement at the foot, and in fact at the various posts in the far west. It was found that the cow had been ranged, it is thought, on Pilcher creek, about 30 miles west of the fort. Several prospecting parties have started out to find the gold-bearing cattle range, arguing that if a cow can drink in $5 worth of gold a man with his eyes open ought to strike something rich.

Alexander McDougall, a farmer residing on the 13th concession of the township of London, near Birr, hanged himself in his barn on Thursday.

"I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

The Daily News of the 21st inst., says that some confusion appears to exist about the circulars which Lord Granville addressed to the Powers. The first, dated May 4th, proposed a simultaneous and identical note from the six great Powers to the Porte, requiring immediate fulfilment of the treaty of Berlin, regarding especially Greece, Montenegro and Armenia. The second, which may be considered as supplementary to the circular, suggests, regarding the International Greek Frontier Commission, that the identical note to be presented to the Porte shall contain a proposal for a conference of representatives of the mediating Powers at Berlin.

Base Ball Convention.

Formation of a Canadian Base Ball Association.

The base ball convention called by the secretary of the Maple Leafs met at the Royal hotel on Friday afternoon. The following delegates were present:—

James Hewer, Maple Leafs of Guelph; W. H. Millman, Actives Wookstock; P. Lavin, Browns of Harriston; W. Cunningham, Mutuals of Galt; J. H. Wilcox, Redstockings of Bowmanville; George Sleeman, (proxy) Beavers of Newcastle; W. W. Jeffers, Clippers, Toronto.

Mr. Sleeman said the convention was called to consider the advisability of organizing a Base Ball Association in Canada. Guelph proposed to put up a championship emblem to be competed for among Canadian clubs, and he had prepared a code of laws after the Old Woodstock system to govern matches, and it would be in order to adopt or reject the rules as the convention saw fit.

Mr. Sleeman, of Guelph, was elected chairman of the convention, and Robert Oliver, of Guelph was elected secretary pro tem.

W. H. Millman moved, seconded by W. Cunningham, that the proposed association be called the Canadian Amateur Association of base ball players.

Messrs. Lavin and Wilcox objected to the word "amateur," and moved in amendment that it be struck out.

The amendment was lost, the only persons voting for it being the mover and seconder.

The following were elected officers of the association by ballot:—Geo. Sleeman, President; W. H. Millman, Vice-President; W. Cunningham, Secretary; James Hewer, Treasurer.

It was decided that each club joining the association should pay a a fee of $2 before the 10th of June in each year. That clubs belonging to the association must not play match games with outside clubs. The constitution of 1876, with a change in the date for the payment of fees was adopted.

The matter of arranging or compensating visiting teams playing for the championship pennant was then discussed.

The chairman said that where there had been an Association the way was to allow the visiting players something like fifty per cent. of the net receipts. This had been found to work badly, because the members of the home club who attended the match were admitted free. The consequence was that oftentimes the visitors would not get money enough to pay their expenses. He thought the best way to get rid of the difficulty was to allow the visiting men fifty per cent. of the gross receipts. To do this members of the home club would be admitted upon presenting their membership tickets, as before, but those tickets would be counted just the same, the club paying for half of such admissions.

Mr. Millman said he did not think the plan proposed by the chairman would work very well, because it would be too hard for the club holding the championship. If a guarantee was given these players could know what to depend upon.

Mr. Jeffers and Cunningham expressed themselves against any guarantee whatever. It was thereupon decided in accordance with the suggestion of the chairman.

The Constitution and By-laws, Rules and Regulations were then adopted, with but little discussion.

SUICIDE AT WELLAND.—The Welland Tribune gives an account of a most distressing and deliberately planned suicide which was perpetrated there last week. The self immolated victim was Mr. Edward Vanderburgh, a son of the late Mrs. Shrigley, by a former husband. Vanderburgh was a man of good business ability and education, and had he not fallen a prey to bad habits, would have been a good and useful member of the community. Unfortunately for years past he has been addicted to drink, until his excess had so enfeebled his will and shattered his health and constitution as to render life without his accustomed stimulants unendurable. On the night of the 8th May, he purchased thirty grains of sulphate of morphia. On the following Thursday morning as he did not get out of bed, his friends went to his room. Though sensible and able to converse, his tongue was thick, and it was easily seen that something was wrong. Vanderburgh said that the druggist must have given him bogus morphia, for he had taken thirty grains, enough to kill four or five men. He seemed to think that so big a dose should have made quick work of him, and appeared disappointed that he was still in the land of the living. Medical attendance was called in, and the patient rallied for a time, but soon after again sank into a state of deep coma. Collapse ensued, and death occurred on Friday afternoon. Dr. Kennedy, his medical attendant, made the following written statement, after Vanderburgh's death:—I was requested to hold an inquest, but could not conscientiously take the oath required to do so under the amended statute respecting corners' inquests, which requires the coroner to make affidavit, before holding an inquest, that he believes foul play or carelessness on the part of any other person than deceased has caused his death, and that he believes an inquest necessary in the interests of justice. There appears to be no provision made for cases of suicide. I telegraphed to the Attorney-General, and he referred me to the County Attorney, who under the circumstances and the law did not feel warranted in ordering an inquest, and none was held.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Various ways in which Citizens may Celebrate the Event.

Monday being the sixty-first birthday of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, loyal Canadians will celebrate the event as usual by a season of merrymaking. In Guelph, as in other places in Canada, business will be suspended to allow citizens to enter into the observance of the day in a right royal manner. There will be no public celebration here such as there has been in many previous years, but those who remain in the city will find plenty to interest them without any display. If fou weather may be taken as a forerunner of fair, people may anticipate real Queen's weather on Monday, and that is a consideration on which the carrying out of schemes for spending the day is dependant. The means of seeking enjoyment will vary as taste varies, and it would be a difficult undertaking to enumerate the different sources of pleasure. A few are appended which may suggest some way of spending the day to those who are in a dilemma.

THE RAILWAYS.

The lines of railway leading to the city have made a reduction in rates for the benefit of pleasure seekers abroad Both the Great Western and Grand Trunk Companies will issue tickets for a fare and a third to-day good to return by any train till Tuesday, and on Monday they will issue tickets to any point on their respective lines good for the return trip, at single fare. These inducements will be taken advantage of by many to visit friends at a distance or to spend a pleasant time in places where there is to be a gala day. Among the places on the Western in this neighborhood to hold celebrations are Elora, Fergus, Harriston, Galt, Hamilton, &c. A grand celebration is to take place at Acton which may be reached by the Grand Trunk. Toronto will be an objective point on the latter railway. The boats commenced running to Niagara and Victoria and Lorne Parks on that day and doubtless some will take advantage of the cheap rates and enjoy a sail on the lake.

BASE BALL.

The only game of local interest to be played here will be between the Agricultural College students and the High School. The game takes place in the afternoon at the College grounds. The Maple Leafs leave on the G. W. R. by the 10:35 a. m. train for Harriston, where they play the Browns. The game will be the first played by either club this season, and is expected to be interesting. A large number of Guelph people have signified their intention of being present. The noted Invicibles, or fat men, of Guelph, leave by the 8:10 a. m. train for Hamilten to face their impenetrable rivals the Dreadnaughts on the diamond. That more than ordinary interest attaches to this game evinced in the fact that the sporting men of each city is will willing to lay their last dollar in favor of the club they favor. The Invincibles will be accompanied by a large number of supporters.

CRICKET.

A cricket match will be played on the base ball grounds between Paris and Guelph. Wickets will be pitched at 9:30 o'clock. The following are the names of the players: A. A. Fitzgerald, W. N. Husband, C. J Knowles, H. Lockwood, A. W. Murton, A. Rutherford, J. E. Smyth, R. T. Smyth, C. J. Soule, A. W. Stewart, N. R. Tod.

BOATING.

Of all the ways of spending a quiet day of pleasure that could be suggested none will meet with more approval from some than a pull up the river. This season better facilities for such enjoyment has been provided than ever before. E. McKeague has purchased several new boats during the winter and the fittings connected with them are complete. Messrs. Craig & Bradley have erected a commodious boat house near the Dundas bridge and have a large supply of pleasure boats to let, made after the latest and best patterns. The boats owned by both parties are furnished with head lights so that trips may be made at night as readily as in daylight without danger. The latter firm have rented "Paradise" for the season and persons who take their boats have the exclusive use of those grounds. There are many pretty spots along the river, however, besides that, and persons who take boats from Mr. McKeague will get more than value for their money.

PUSLINCH LAKE.

Davidson's Island Park at Puslinch Lake, to be opened on Monday will attract a number of our citizens. An account of the improvements in the Park, made by the lessees, Messrs Sleeman and Davidson, was published on Wednesday, so that it unnecessary to do more than remind our readers that they can enjoy themselves at no place better than there. It is doubtful whether the steamer City of Guelph will arrive at the lake from Barrie this evening, if it reaches the lake it will carry passengers from the hotel to the Island and return for 10 cents.

THE RIFLE.

The members of the Guelph Rifle Association will hold shooting matches at the butts. There will be two competions, in both of which money prizes will be given to the successful marksmen. First, an all comers match, at 200 and 500 yards, seven shots each range, open to all members of the Association. Second, a nursery stakes match, at 400 yards, seven shots, open to members who have never won a prize at Toronto. Membership tickets $1, entrance fee 25 cents, sighting shots (two to be allowed at each range), 5 cents each. Should the weather prove favorable the crack shots anticipate a half-day's solid fun. They moreover promise to give all the encouragement and assistance in their power to new members, in the way of lending rifles, coaching, etc.

PROMENADE CONCERT.

In the evening the Artillery Band will hold a promenade concert in the drill shed which will form a suitable close for the enjoyment of those who remain in the city. The concert will be under the direction of Prof. Philp, bandmaster and this announcement is sufficient to attract a good audience. A select programme will be rendered comprising, besides excellent selections by the band a number of vocal pieces by first-class local talent. W. Newport will have a refreshment stand in the drill shed.

Carrying Unlawful Weapons.

The lamented death of the Hon. Geo. Brown has drawn fresh attention to the too common practice of carrying unlawful weapons, and the tragic results that often follow their use. Had it not been for the pistol that Bennett carried, and which he used with such disastrous effect without any provocation, Mr. Brown would doubtless have been alive to-day. And since that evil day on which the deed was done, we have had another tragic occurrence near Picton, by which a young man—in a fit of jealousy it is supposed—shot another in the dead hour of night. We could name over a dozen such cases in which without perhaps any settled intention of doing mischief, or inflicting bodily injury, men whose passions have been roused seize the convenient revolver and in their hot blood take the life of their victim. But for the carrying of these weapons no such crimes as are referred to would have happened. Some years ago Mr. Blake carried through Parliament an admirable Act making the unlawful carrying of concealed weapons punishable. Some magistrates, however, have decided that it is not an offence against this Act for a person to carry a revolver, and that to constitute it a crime it must be shown that the accused has not only habitually carried the weapon, but that he intended to use it. It seems to us that this is a strange interpretation of the Act, but if its provisions can be twisted into this construction, then the sooner it is amended the better, so as to cover every case except those in which it is absolutely necessary to carry weapons. In a peaceable, well governed country like Canada, no one, except police officers or others who have to make seizures or do such like duty, requires to carry a pistol or bowie knife. This abominable custom has been copied from our cousins across the lines, hundreds and thousands of whom would as soon think of going without their coat as they would without their revolver. And we daily have too good proof of the bad results of this practice in the number of people who are wantonly shot, and either killed or maimed for life, the result of some dispute, a few hot words, or a frivolous quarrel. Indeed, in some of the Southern and Western States this is the invariable mode of settling disputes, and murders and shootings have become so common that the people regard such crimes with indifference, and it is difficult to get juries to convict, or if they do they simply find a verdict for homicide or manslaughter. In fact so common has the practice become that life is no longer held sacred, and is too often sacrificed at the mere whim of some desperate and cowardly ruffian who would be afraid to face his opponent in fair, open fight, but who skulks behind him and shoots him unawares and without warning.

The carriage of firearms in Britain is practically unknown. If there are sometimes quarrels and rows these are generally in the good old English style with the fists, and no harm is done beyond a black eye and a bloody nose. This in due time nature repairs, and the person on whom the blows are inflicted is no worse for the mauling. But with the pistol it is different. Men are either shot dead, or maimed for life, and all arising out of some trivolous quarre , which bears no proportion to the deadly penalty enacted. It is high time to put a stop to this sort of work, and we hope that the death of Mr. Brown, from an assassin's pistol, will be the means of so amending the present Act as to leave no loophole for any one to escape who for any murderous or other purpose carries about him a pistol or knife, which may be used at any moment to take the life of an innocent and unoffending individual.

In the House of Commons on Friday Sir Charles Dilke said the Government would submit the whole correspondence between Great Britain, the United States, and Canada on the fisheries question. Lord Hartington stated that so soon as a ruler was selected in Afghanistan whose authority was likely to be permanent, the troops in that country would be gradually withdrawn.

Bradlaugh appeared in the House of Commons on Friday to take the oath, but objection was raised that he is an infidel, and that he has infringed the terms of the oath by his book on the Impeachment of the House of Brunswick. On motion of Mr. Gladstone a committee was appointed to enquire whether, and upon what grounds, the House has the right to prevent a member taking oath. Objection under similar circumstances, the Speaker remarked, is without precedent.

Cornwall, Feb. 28, 1880.—Messrs, Perry Davis & Son & Lawrence, Montreal.—The large sale of Your Pain-Killer is the best evidence of its popularity. I have sold over 120 dozen in a short time, and notwithstanding the many preparations that have been put upon the market before and since the introduction of yours, it maintains its position, and gives unqualified satisfaction. Samuel Cline. See advertisement in another column.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

Ice and Icebergs in the Atlantic.

For a month nearly all the ocean steamships and many of the sailing vessels which have crossed the Banks of Newfoundland have reported encountering immense fields of pack ice and towering icebergs. Several vessels have been damaged by contact with the ice, and two steamships have recently arrived in Europe having sustained injury to their hulls from the ice. The ice-fields are reported as varying greatly in extent, and the icebergs as varying in size from 50 feet in height and 100 feet in length to four and five times those dimensions. As an iceberg on the average shows only one-eighth of its mass above water, and the weight of a cubic foot is equal to 57½ pounds, the weight of an iceberg of a given size may be approximately computed. Take, for instance, one of the nine bergs passed by the British steamship Lepanto on May 9 on the Banks of Newfoundland. This is reported as 150 feet in height, one and one-half miles in length, and half a mile in breadth. If this was of regular form, the cubical contents above water would be 3,465,600,000 feet, and submerged 24,259,200,000 feet, making the estimated weight 697,452,000 tons. This weight may seem improbable, but there are instances on record where larger icebergs have been seen from the deck of a vessel.

Ice and icebergs appeared on the banks of Newfoundland earlier this season than usual. They are most commonly met in the early part of the summer, after the cessation of northerly gales, which drive them from their location in the latter part of March or April. The icebergs come chiefly from Greenland, being formed by rivulets, etc. The vast ice fields seen upon the banks are brought there by the currents of the sea and the wind. They come mostly from the coast of Labrador, and are parts of the fields which are formed during the long winter in the great bays and inlets of the Labrador coast. Icebergs are continually changing their line of floating, owing in part to the breaking off of pieces of the upper mass and the melting away of the submerged portion. Their motion is always slow, and accidents can rarely happen from them to prudent mariners. At this season of the year they are brought down by the northern winds. They float along the Banks of Newfoundland, and finally, striking the warmer waters of the Gulf Stream, soon disappear. The movement of a field of ice is accompanied by much crashing, and is often obscured by a dense fog, through which rise the tops of the bergs. On two occasions during the Arctic cruise of the Juniata in the Polaris Search Expedition, that vessel barely escaped destruction by icebergs. One of these was in the middle of July, 1873. During a dense fog at midday, off Cape Farewell, Greenland, and immense berg was suddenly seen to loom up out of the fog not more than a ship's length directly ahead. Fortunately the vessel was running at slow speed, and her course was quickly changed, and she cleared the ice mountain by about 100 feet. On another occasion, off Fiskernaes, in a dense fog, another large berg was seen a little on the port bow, and a ledge of rocks on the starboard bow, not more than 500 feet distant. The engines were stopped and reversed, and the vessel escaped destruction by only a few feet.

The Great Boat Race.

The Money Paid Over to Hanlan.

Washington, May 20.—The referee this morning handed Hanlan a draft for $6,000. There is a fair prospect for a purse race between Hanlan and Riley next week. The only hitch is in the manner of dividing the purse, Hanlan insisting upon $2,000 as the minimum for the winner. The gentlemen conducting the negotiations say there will be no trouble on that score.

APRO CULFAR WONDER.

An Interesting Case of Bovine Development.

(Detroit Post and Tribune.)

Mr. Richard Hawley, of this city, has on his farm near Goderich a Durham bull, "Beaconsfield,' which is phenomenal for early development. He was 3 years old on the 17th of April, and two days before he weighed 2,270 lbs., having gained 410 lbs. since the previous weighing on the 23rd of last September.

During these six months and twenty-two days he gained eight inches in girth, and now measures around the chest eight feet, rather more around the loins, and nine feet round the brisket and forward of shoulder. He stands five feet one inch high at the shoulder and precisely the same at the loins, and five feet six inches at the curve of the neck, when standing at ease. He is symmetrical and well formed, and in color is pure white. He is said to have a 'wonderful display of milking points.' We have not seen him, but a clear and distinct photograph shows him to be a truly handsome animal, and when it is borne in mind that he was awarded the first prize at the western fair at London, Ont., in September against the Bow Park bull and other competitors in his class, it goes to show that even then he was regarded with unusual favor. He is pronounced fine in all his points. His dam is a pure Bates, while his sire has a few top Booth crosses. We understand that it is probable that he will be exhibited at our state fair in September, and also at the provincial fair at Hamilton the week following. We have never before heard of a three-year-old Durham bull going over 2,100 pounds, and that only in a single instance.

Investigation of the Charges Against Rev. Mr. Handford.

The Rev. Gentleman Sustained.

A meeting of the members of Bond-street church was held in the Sunday School room, on Friday evening, for the purpose of receiving the report of the Committee appointed to investigate the charges against the pastor, Rev. Thomas W. Handford, and to consider the question whether to accept or refuse the resignation which he had tendered. The meeting was very largely attended, a large majority of those present being ladies.

The report of the Committee, [which was submitted by the chairman, Mr. M. H. Irish, set forth separately each of the accusations against the pastor, with a resolution in each case passed by the Committee, declaring that the evidence was insufficient to sustain the charge. The report was received and adopted.

The following resolution was then moved by Mr. James Farquhar, seconded by Mr. W. Ireson, and carried unanimously by a standing vote:—"That this church, having heard the report of the Investigating Committee, appointed on the 30th of April last, hereby express its unfeigned thankfulness at the result which the Committee, through the statements and evidence, have unanimously arrived at. As a church we rejoice that not one of the grave offences alleged against our pastor had the slighest foundation in fact, and hereby urgently request that Mr. Handford do at once recall his resignation, and resume his pastoral duties, which have been temporarily suspended during the aforesaid investigation; and this church pledges itself to active and earnest co-operation with him in all Christian effort."

Mr. Handford was then sent for, and on arriving was received with loud and prolonged applause. The motion having been read to him, he briefly addressed the congregation, withdrawing his resignation and expressing the hope that he might ever live in the love of his people.

Waterloo Chronicle.—The importance of Waterloo as a shipping point for cattle may be estimated from the fact that inside of six days, over 500 head of choice animals have been sent from this point to the English market. The price has averaged 5cts per lb., and in some instances reached 5⅝ live weight. The amount of money paid to the farmers for these animals is about $35,000. 500 more are to go within the next ten days, for which an equal sum will be paid.

An Article of Interest to Farmers.

(Michigan Farmer.)

How is wheat going to be? is the question which meets us everywhere, and which nobody seems to understand the bearings of. All that any one can do in the face of the decline is to take a glance at the situation as shown by the most reliable statistics within our reach. We take the date for the month of April. On the 1st of April the amount of wheat "in sight," compared with the amount "in sight" on the first of May was as follows:

	April 1.	May 1.
Wheat in sight	24,266,709	21,494,865
Of which there was in New York	3,448,453	2,148,357
In Buffalo	480,118	55,890
In Chicago	9,078,795	8,542,682
In Milwaukee	5,166,150	4,169,752
In Toledo	1,122,890	480,201
In Detroit	1,293,117	308,926

The balance is scattered among such cities as Boston, Toronto, Montreal, Oswego, St Louis, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Kansas City, rail shipments and a few other points, showing a decrease in the cities above named of 4,883,605. For the four weeks ending April 28, the export clearness of wheat from the port of New York, Montreal, Boston, Portland, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans are reported at 9,165,384, including flour reduced to wheat. This is an amount greater than the decrease of the amount of wheat in sight by 6,433,540, and indicates that amount of shipments greater, and in addition to the decrease of the amount of wheat in sight on the 1st of April. These figures indicate that supplies sent forward have added to the amount of wheat in sight six and one-half millions of bushels of wheat since the 1st of April. Hence the wheat in sight has not decreased to the extent of the exports, and the farmers' deliveries have so far had a material influence in keeping wheat low. It is estimated that the total wheat in sight from Liverpool on the 17th of April was as follows:—

Visible supply in the United States and Canada	23,003,047
Wheat in passage to Great Britain	15,796,960
Wheat in passage to Continent	3,510,000
Total bushels	42,310,806

This statement compared with that of the corresponding date of last year shows an increase of 6,597,762 bushels over last year, a full supply of the wheat trade for about two weeks, taking the consumption of foreign wheats at the estimated rates.

It is estimated that the deliveries of wheat, foreign and domestic, in Great Britain for the eight weeks ending on the 10th of April, as compared with the estimated consumption, have shown a deficiency of 1,199,592 bushels. This is more than enough to swallow up the increase noted in the visible supply, so that the condition of the wheat in regard to further supply for the coming four months of the cereal year is not in so good a condition as it was at the same period last year.

The stock of wheat on the docks at Marseilles, April 16th, was 1,200,000 bushels, against 2,400,000 bushels in the middle of February last, indicating a material reduction of supplies in the chief grain port of France.

If it is true, as stated Beerbohm, that Great Britain will require during the month of May, from the Atlantic ports, 2,480,000 bushels per week of wheat, or a total of 9,928,000 bushels for this month, our stock will be seriously reduced. All the estimates of the most expert statisticians indicate that that amount will be required, and perhaps even more. Add to this, besides, that 3,200,000 bushels will be needed by the Continent, and it will be seen that the total shipments needed will amount to thirteen millions of bushels for the month of May.

The advices from France are that the imports into that country from August 1 to April 1, had been 51,120,000 bushels and that the further requirements for France for the balance of the year would be equal to 10,500,000 bushels.

Hence, from all the reports received within the past two weeks by mail and by telegraph, we draw the conclusion that the demand will be very active during the next three months, and especially in June, when much reduced, and there is not likely to be any aid probable from any part of the world except the United States. At the present time it is for the interest of the wheat dealers to bear down prices, so that the exhausted stocks may be replenished, and the large supply in sight gives this policy great favor and is the general cause of the fluctuating prices and the lower ranges of figures.

Diphtheria.

At the meeting of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin, at Milwaukee, Dr. B. O. Reynolds, of Geneva, read a carefully prepared paper upon diphtheria, in which he stated that the disease had been known under different names from the earliest history of medicine. He said that the disease is not governed by any known climate or meteorological laws or atmospheric conditions.

As the nature and pathology of diphtheria yet remain somewhat veiled in obscurity, it is not surprising that its treatment has often been vacillating, experimental and uncertain. There are cases so mild that no medication is necessary; and there are others so malignant and rapid in their course that the best treatment known to the profession will fail to to arrest or mitigate. From what is known of its pathology, a sustaining tonic and stimulating treatment is plainly indicated, and the efficacy of this plan has been verified by thousands of judicious physicians during the past few years. This kind of treatment is particularly required in cases of considerable severity, as the tendency is to depression and death by asthenia. In such cases tonics, stimulants and nourishing diets should be commenced early and persisted in systematically. We have learned to place great reliance upon quinine, chlorate of potash, tincture of chloride of iron and alcoholic stimulus; and these rarely disappoint us unless the cases are extraordinarily malignant. We have no stereotyped formula, but would prescribe for a six year old child about the following: Quinine, two grains; tincture of chloride of iron m., ten; to be taken in a tablespoonful of whiskey sling every four hours. Also one tablespoonful of a saturated aqueous solution of potash chloras, every hour during the day; but less often during the night to enable the patient to get more rest. If marked asthenia is present, or occurs during treatment, we increase the alcoholic stimulant decidedly. We have given with apparently good results to a ten-year old child a half-ounce of whiskey every four hours. We insist upon good nourishment throughout, and should the stomach reject medicine, nourishment, or both, we direct their administration in the form of enemas. Local treatment of the throat often does more harm than good, especially with timid children.

When the patient is old enough to see gargles intelligently we frequently direct their use, not with a view of arresting the disease, but to soothe and mitigate in some measure the local inflammation. But mopping the throat with medicated solution is worse than useless with young children. The inhalation of steam or medicated vapor is highly recommended.

An article in an exchange was headed: "Wind—a New Thing in Politics." The idea of wind being a new thing in politics is funny. It is as old as politics themselves.

The Poet and His Songs.

(From the June Atlantic.)

As the birds come in the Spring,
We know not from where;
As the stars come at evening
From depths of the air;

As the rain comes from the cloud,
And the brook from the ground;
As suddenly, low or loud,
Out of silence a sound;

As the grape comes to the vine,
The fruit to the tree;
As the wind comes to the pine,
And the tide to the sea;

As come the white sails of ships
O'er the ocean's verge;
As comes the smile to the lips,
The foam to the surge;

So come to the Poet his songs,
All hitherward blown
From the misty land, that belongs
To the vast Unknown.

His, and not his, are the lays
He sings;—and their fame
Is his, and not his; and the praise
And the pride of a name.

For voices pursue him by day,
And haunt him by night,
And he listens, and needs must obey,
When the Angel says: "Write."

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

Celery.

An American writer declares that this vegetable is a better medicine for kidney troubles than Hembold's Buchu. Celery plants are usually started in a hotbed, but there is no necessity for doing this, except for the sake of getting them earlier. In fact, they are rather difficult to raise in a hotbed, because this vegetable is fond of moisture, partial shade, and only moderate heat. For these reasons, when grown in a hotbed, the seed should be sown along the south edge of the bed, where the front of the frame will protect it somewhat from the direct rays of the sun. The seed of celery is very small, hence pains should be taken to cover it lightly with the finest of mould. Sown out of doors, a sheltered border should be chosen for it, and in this climate the middle of May will be found sufficiently early. A single paper of seed will be enough for an ordinary family, as an ounce of it will produce at least ten thousand plants. Much of the success of growing celery depends on its being carefully transplanted before its final setting out. This gives the plants elbow-room, and induces a more stocky growth. The great bugbear of celery culture has been the idea, that it must be planted in trenches, dug two spades deep, and lined at the bottom with a thick layer of well-rotted manure. But some of the best horticulauthorities, Peter Henderson, of New York, for example, contend that all this trouble is unnecessary. A deep, rich soil is essential to successful gardening generally, and if you have this, all the trenching needed is to make what farmers call a "dead furrow," which may be done very quickly with the plough. This vegetable may, therefore, be grown on that labor-saving plan of farm-gardening, which has been repeatedly described and commended. The dead furrow just spoken of will be made a better receptacle for the young celery plant if a well-rotted compost be put into it. A successful celery grower says there is no better compost for this vegetable than one made with three parts of loam and one of night soil. At the final setting out the rows should be at least four feet apart, and the plants six inches distant from each other, if of the dwarf varieties, and ten, if of the giant species. The dwarf kinds are better for general cultivation, especially in farm gardens, as they do not require such deep trenching. They are also finer in the grain, more tender, and is of equally good, if not superior, flavour. Earthing up should be commenced as soon as the plants have attained sufficient size. The great question with celery growers has been how to keep it through the winter. Several methods have been devised but the following is, without doubt, the easiest and best. Late in the fall, select a dry, sheltered place, where water cannot stand in the subsoil, and dig a narrow trench, with a depth just equal to the whole length of the celery plants. The trench need not much wider than the spade, as it is desirable that the plants should be in close contact with the earth sides, and receive their protection and moisture. Select a day for the removal of the plants when their stocks and leaves are dry and free from water. Dig out the roots carefully and without much earth adhering to them. Then, closely and compactly, without bruising, place them upright in the trench, roots downward, and when the trench is filled, carefully press the earth against the sides at the top, leaving a small portion of the upper leaves uncovered. A thin protection of dry forest leaves may then be placed on top.

Church Livings in the Market.

Yesterday, at the auction mart, Messrs. Debenham, Tewson & Co., offered for sale the advowsons and perpetual right of presentation to two valuable church livings, one situated in the county of Essex and the other in Suffolk, both being at present held by one clergyman—the Rev. Frederick Elwes, seventy-four years of age—who is both rector and vicar of the parish of Gestingthorpe, in Essex, and also rector of Wiscoe, in Suffolk. The particulars stated that the net income of the Essex rectory and vicarage was £888. The rectory was stated to be a comfortable residence, approached by a carriage drive, with stable, coach house and other outbuildings, together with a good garden and grass paddock and glebe land, comprising an area of 131 acres. It was added that there was also an excellent farmhouse with numerous outbuildings, and a smaller house and buildings. The population of the parish was stated to be 771 persons. The net annual value of the Suffolk rectory was said to be £227. There were a rectory-house, with gardens attached and a coach-house and stables, together with fifteen acres of glebe land, and the population of the parish was stated to be 135 persons.

The advowson of the Essex rectory was first offered, the auctioneer observing that it must be worth at least £10,000, and that as the population of the parish was small the duties would not be heavy. The advowson was withdrawn at £5,000. The Suffolk rectory was next offered, when £600 was the first bid. The highest sum offered was £940, at which price the advowson was withdrawn.—London Times, April 28.

HOME EVIDENCE IN FAVOR
—OF THE—
PAIN-KILLER.

Hint No. 1.

If you wish to save yourself, your family, and your friends a world of suffering and pain, which at present they endure needlessly, and also save many dollars in Doctor's bills, go at once to the nearest store, and buy a few bottles of PAIN-KILLER.

WHY experiment with unknown mixtures without character or reputation, when this world-renowned PAIN-KILLER which has stood the test of over 40 years, can be had for the same price at any Drug Store in the Dominion?

READ THE FOLLOWING.

OTTAWA, ONT., March 2, 1880.

The writer has been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer now for the last 22 years, and can confidently recommend it to the public as a sure remedy for Cholera, Diarrhœa, Sore Throat, Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Burns, Scalds, &c. Have known it to cure a case of Syphilitic Sore Throat of two years' standing, when all the usual remedies failed. The patient took half a teaspoonful in water three times a day, and gargled the throat three times a day as follows: one teaspoonful in a wine glass of water, and used as a gargle.

Yours, H. F. MACCARTHY.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 26, 1880.

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom I have ever sold it, has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once, will use it again; it makes friends and retains them.

Yours truly, JOHN DUMBRILLE, Druggist.

SPENCERVILLE, ONT., February 26, 1880.

We have much pleasure in certifying that we have kept Perry Davis' Pain-Killer constantly in stock for upwards of twenty years, during which time it has taken the lead in sales over all other patent preparations, and has become an old, reliable family medicine. No effort is required now on our part to sell it, as it is as staple an article as flour in our trade. Yours truly,

W. P. IMRIE & CO.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

It gives me much pleasure to state that during a drug career of more than a quarter century, I can testify that your justly celebrated Pain-Killer has not only held its own as a family medicine, but still occupies the front rank wherever duty calls it. My customers speak very highly of it, and I could send no end of testimonials showing up its merits and intrinsic worth, were it necessary, which it is not. It should, however, be called "Excelsior Pain-Killer." I pride myself in never being out of it.

Yours very respectfully, JOHN G. DEANS.

STOCO, ONT., February 17, 1880.

We have great pleasure to state that the Pain-Killer holds its position in this place as the old, reliable family medicine. Although there are a great many other remedies in the market—some bearing nearly the same name—as Pain Relief, Pain Remover, Pain Destroyer, and such like names, we find the people know the difference, and are sure to ask for Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. We have been selling Pain-Killer for the last fourteen years.

Yours truly P. & P. MURPHY.

PORTLAND, ONT., March 9, 1880.

I have been using the Pain-Killer for many years with results that justly entitles me to recommend it. As a family medicine, we consider it almost indispensable: being good not only as a pain-killer, but for colds and sore throat, and many other ailments for which it appears specially adapted. I have used it myself, chiefly as a liniment, and find it valuable for rheumatism and pains and stiffness belonging to old age. I pronounce the Pain-Killer a good and cheap medicine, and worthy of all acceptation, and send you this certificate that you may assure the public that it is no humbug.

Yours truly, THOS. GRAHAM.

Hint No. 2.

Ask your Druggist, Grocer or Shopkeeper, for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER. If he passes it down without ceremony, ask him while extracting the quarter dollar from your wallet, if this is the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS & SON, at same time watch the expression on his face. You can easily tell if his conscience is all right; also examine the bottle closely yourself.

ESCOTT, ONT., March 4, 1880.

We hereby certify that we have used Perry Davis' Pain-Killer in our families for several years. We consider it a very useful and necessary article to be kept in all households as a resort in case of accidents and exposure to attacks occasioned by cold.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 25, 1880.

I have used your pain-Killer for the last twenty years. I carried it with me all through the American War. I believe I would have been dead long ago, if it had not been for your Pain-Killer. I think it is the best remedy in the world for which it is recommended.

Yours very truly, N. W. LAFONTAINE.

PORTLAND, ONT., February 26, 1880.

I have sold the Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for over thirty years, and the same has always given my customers entire satisfaction, and I have much pleasure in recommending it as a good and reliable family medicine.

S. S. SCOVIL.

Hint No. 3.

When you ask for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER, and the gentlemanly store-keeper, without scarcely looking, remarks, "we "are just out, but have another "article as good or better, "which sells for the same price "via, 25 cents." Turn on your heel and say, Good-bye, Sir! That man cares more for the two or three cents extra profit which he gets than he does for your health or happiness.

PRESCOTT, ONT., February 27, 1880.

I have sold your Pain-Killer for the last nineteen years in this place, and feel safe in recommending it to the public for the diseases given in your circular. I can assure you my customers speak well of it as a general family medicine. It takes the lead of all other similar preparations. Yours, &c.

GEO. BIRKS.

Hint No. 4.

Beware of all the worthless mixtures, and dirty, greasy combinations which are offered you in almost every store you enter, and which some unprincipled shop-keepers try to palm off as a substitute for the PAIN-KILLER. These mixtures are gotten up expressly to sell on the reputation of the PAIN-KILLER, but have nothing in common with it.

COBOURG, ONT., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much Pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis' Pain-Killer will be found in both.

Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY.

Hint No. 5.

If you cannot obtain the genuine PAIN-KILLER in your locality, (a fact not very likely), you should address the Proprietors, and by sending them the sum of $3.00, one dozen regular sized bottles, or a half dozen large bottles will be sent, charges prepaid, to the nearest address by railway to any part of the Dominion.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

Your Pain-Killer as a family cure all has been in constant use in my household for a long term of years, and I would never desire a better one. It never fails me. I call it the "Old Reliable."

Yours very truly, HORACE SEYMOUR.

TAMWORTH, ONT., March 4, 1880.

For twenty-three years last past I have sold Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, and have always found it to give good satisfaction. I have frequently used it in my family, and received great benefit from the use of it in that way. Although many imitations of it have been put on the market, and are pushed hard, yet the old, reliable Perry Davis' Pain-Killer holds its own, and is a very popular domestic medicine. Yours respectfully,

JAS. AYLSWORTH.

Profitable Cattle.

In the annual report of Professor Wm. Brown, of the Ontario Agricultural College, he gives the following particulars of the experience of the various breeds of cattle on the Experimental Farm during four years. A diagram accompanied the report, but the facts are so clearly set forth that it is unnecessary to reproduce the diagram.

A question often asked us is: "How are the different breeds getting on?" which means, What are their comparative merits, and in what are they peculiar? Our four years' experience of five pure breeds and one cross of grade, ought at least to be interesting, if not valuable to the country.

The thoroughbred Short Horn takes a low position in prolificness with us, a circumstance owing largely to the incapacity of the bull, and partly to some irregularities among the cows; their position as producers of quantity of milk is a medium one, and for richness of it, somewhat above the average. They are also above the mean in being able to withstand changes of climate, but when pitted against so many have to take a very low (or high) place in expense of maintenance. However, as conservators, or economisers, of their food, proportionately to weight, the Short Horn is far ahead, being topped only by one of their own improvements, and when again asked to account for the disposition of that food, they take a first place in what is called early maturity. We have, also, no hesitation in corroborating the general testimony of the world, by placing this breed in the van as improvers of other breeds, of which see end of this chapter.

Second in the order of supposed superiority there is the Hereford, while, to begin with, is second only to the Short Horn cross in prolificness. As an untouched stock by any attempts at such improvements as the Short Horns have come through since 1750, the white faces are true in reproduction. In milking properties, both quantity and richness are under the mean, but in adapting themselves to circumstances—climate in this case—we have again to give them very high rank, which, with the next item, or "cost of keep," at once speak of the Hereford as a grand grazer under difficulties. We have, also, a slight figure under the average for early maturity, but a very high one, second only to the Short Horn, for ability in improving other breeds. The manner in which our Hereford cows have all along kept up their condition, under circumstances exactly alike with others, has been the surprise of every visitor.

The Devon—the comparatively small, even, sweet, compact Devon—is lowest with us in prolificness, but it has to be noted that our experience of them is not so extensive as to make part of their standing as yet reliable. In quantity of milk they are also very low, but second to no other in its richness. In place of the second lowest in notwithstanding changes of climate, I am inclined to advance the Devon to at least the "medium line." Their standing is high as easy keepers, which agrees with the item of feeding properties, where nearly a minimum is reached—for we rarely, if ever, find a conjunction of expensive maintenance and slow returns in flesh-making now-a-days, experiments excepted. So, then, we have to keep the same level in tracing the Devon through early maturing and the maturing of others.

The Ayrshire is above the average in prolificness, and far out of the reach of any other in quantity of milk, but low in richness of it, compared with the Devon. We have neighboring proof, however, of the Devon position in this respect, one of the finest herds in Ontario being within two miles of us, where richness is as remarkable as it is in England or with ourselves, and the "blueness" of the Ayrshire milk is here as distinct as what I had in Midlothian or Aberdeenshire. The lowest position, in adaptability to change of climate, is taken by the Ayrshire, and a little under the medium for cost of keep; then, as could be told by any schoolboy, we have a minimum position both in early maturing, feeding properties, and the power of improving others.

The Angus or Aberdeen Poll lands with a mean for prolificness, the lowest in quantity of milk, under the average in richness of it; a little under in withstanding changes, and little over both in cost of keep, feeding properties, early maturing, and improving others. With this breed we require more extended experience to say much about their adaptability to Canada, but indications so far point to something very much above the average. We hope to be in a position next year to dispose of extra numbers, and thus extend the range of the trial.

The Short-horn grade, or cross, takes, all through, excepting once, a very high line in our comparisons—in prolificness the highest; second in quantity and in richness of milk; first in withstanding change of climate; fifth only in cost of keep; but first only in feeding properties, and second in early maturing. In valuing the property of improving others with this cross, the position assigned is only an estimate founded upon the experience of others, and though comparatively low to the other breeds, it may even be higher than it deserves.

Mothers! ! Mothers! ! Mothers! !

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&wlyr.

THE PASSELTREE.—A correspondent to the Galt Reformer relates the following which was part of a sermon by a Northumberland miner to his fellow pitmen delivered with idiosyncracies and gutheral of that dialect:— "Ma freends aws ganneen tu preech tu yu aboot Deavid and his passeltree; he grode that tree hissel and neabody was letten to hing his harp on't bit his own sell, he was varra fond aboot it, and ivery moorneen he went oot and clamb up the passeltree and praised God on the passeltree. I was speekin aboot gross darkness, where ye'll o gan tu if ye divn't mend. A'll tell yu what gross darkness is—yu o knaw weel eneaf that twelve makes a dozen, and a can tell yu twelve dozen meakes a agross; that meaks a hundred and forty-four o tegither, yu see gross darkness will be a hundred and forty-four times darker than dark." The above is veritably part of an out air sermon delivered as above stated.

"I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

Mr. J. Caird and British Agricultural Distress.

(To the Editor of the Globe.)

SIR,—Mr. Caird's most recent views of the remedies needed to re-establish the British farmer in the world's market are in some respects most sensible at first sight—in others very unpractical. It looks to be a commonplace advice, that when a manufacturer of any article is undersold, and cannot by any device within his own power place himself on an equality with his opponent, he should at once turn his attention to the production of some other article which is not likely to be hard pressed from the same quarter. Thus, it is said, British farmers should now grow "milk, butter early meat, vegetables, hay, straw, potatoes, and sugar beet," in place of "meat and cereals." Is there no inconsistency in this new list of farm products? The British farmer may be assured that just as the United States and Canada have had no difficulty in exporting cheese, eggs, fruit, and dead meat, so none need be anticipated in the conveyance of butter, potatoes, roots, and vegetables, or, for that matter of it, even milk. British rural conservatism, or rather its imprisoned agricultural intellect, does not seem to comprehend that there is positively nothing which the soil produces and which cannot be sent round the world by the American. It is no matter of cannot, it is only meantime one of non-necessity, as when the time comes that the States and Canada desire to export comparatively perishable goods they will do so. It is becoming an old story, now, but good for my present purpose, to say that ten years ago I would have been stamped as a dreamer had I said that in 1880 we would be selling the English millions fresh beef and mutton, dead and alive, at sixpence per pound. Does hay, straw, and sugar beet not imply a regular and systematic rotation of cropping—straw being grain, and the beet roots—as associated with all sound husbandry? If for sugar, beet refuse will also have to be utilized for cattle food, and so Mr. Caird is but changing the heading of his sermon when he says they will largely have to go out of "cereals and meat." I say more—it cannot be done, even had tenants the power to cultivate as they list. Such a change of farming as would throw the two essentials of life into the hands of the foreigner would simply be a suicidal policy for any power to adopt, and I trust the British farmer will always retain his national independence, however much he is a farm slave.

Mr. Caird, and British farmers, this advice is not what you want. I have no hesitation in again repeating my opinion publicly, that what Britain needs is fewer men in the business, or less competition for land among themselves. Mr. Caird nor any other current legislator will live to see "all the interests in the land, whether of owner, occupier, or labourer, disenthralled," or "the control of the dead hand removed, and the sale and transfer of it simplified." All this sounds good, and business-like, but no country such as Britain, with its uncheckered pedigree of imperial landlordism, [can hope to disenthrall in one generation, nor even two. True, agriculture should adapt itself to changes, but then, in Britain, not as with us, the few regulate the many.

Come over and help us to grow food for yourselves—now, not in 1890.

WILLIAM BROWN.

Guelph, May 17, 1880.

Napoleon at Fontainebleau.

Mme. de Resumat furnishes us with the following graphic picture of the Emperor at Fontainebleau, at the summit of his glory:—"Bonaparte was then King in the eyes of all and in his own eyes; he forgot the past, he did not fear the future. He walked with a firm step, foreseeing no obstacles, or at least certain that he could easily overthrow any which might arise. He was either the mast or the friend of all the Continental Kings. He was allied to several of them either by foreign treaties or by foreign marriages. He had made sure of Europe by the partition which he had effected. He had made strong garrisons upon its most distant frontiers to insure the execution of his will and all the resources of France were placed absolutely in his hands. He possessed an immense treasury; he was in the prime of life, admired, feared, and scrupulously obeyed; had he not, then, surmounted every obstacle? For all this, a worm was gnawing at the vitals of his glory. The French Revolution was not a process by which the public mind was to be led to arbitrary power. The sacred flame of liberty was burning in England. Happily for the welfare of nations, that sanctuary was defended by a barrier which the armies of Bonaparte could not break down. A few leagues of sea protected the civilization of the world."

F KOSSUTH'S MEMOIRS.—Kossuth, in his forthcoming memoirs, makes the following reference to his feelings after he had been exiled from his native land: "Rest for a man without a country! As if Adam could have found rest when he saw the gate of Paradise closed behind him, and found himself expelled for tasting of the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. I, too, had partaken of that fruit. I had learned to know the good from the evil, and had raised my arm in defence of the good against the evil. The latter had triumphed, and I had been expelled from my country—from my paradise.' Again he relates his experience in Turkey, one incident of which was the saving of his life by the Sultan: "At a later period the Ottoman Empire generously saved the lives of myself and my companions, not without risk to itself. Intoxicated by their victory, the two neighboring Powers threatened to declare war against the Empire if it declined to surrender us, and when matters had taken such shape that the Sultan's advisers were of the opinion that there was no way to prevent our extradition unless the emigrants should embrace the Mussulman religion and become Turkish subjects, the Sultan, Abdul-Medjid, sprang to his feet, raised his hands to heaven, and solemnly uttered these words: 'Allan is all powerful; I rely upon his support. If I must perish, let it be with honor. My name would be covered with everlasting disgrace if I should violate the right of hospitality by delivering the unfortunate creatures who have sought my protection to the vengeance of their enemies. It is my wish that they be provided with a shelter here. Under no circumstances will I give them up. Such is my will, and it must be carried out in every particular. Make your preparations for defence.' His refusal to surrender us did not lead to a war, but it resulted in our detention in Asia Minor."

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Morning Telegrams.

A rabid and unmeasured attack on Gambetta by a clever Radical, who writes under the signature of "Diogene," appears in Saturday's issue of the Paris Mot d'Ordre. After denouncing him as the successor to the seat, the bed, and the crimes of De Morny, and as an alien like his confederate criminal Napoleon Third, "Diogene" warns the President of the Chamber that his lease of tyranny has nearly expired, and concludes by amicably inviting him to hang himself on the olive tree of Judas.

Prince Napoleon left Paris on Friday for Prangin to escape being compromised by the threatened Communist demonstration which, it is said, the Bonapartists are stirring up.

A Berlin despatch says the identical note from the Powers will go to Constantinople in a few days summoning the Porte to settle the Armenian, Montenegrin and Creek questions. Upon the reply of the Porte will depend whether a supplementary conference will be held at Berlin to consider the Greek question. The first fortnight in July is the period at present contemplated for holding the Conference. The Porte will be excluded from the deliberations, which will be held on the basis of Clause 24 of the Treaty of Berlin.

A hundred and thirty-one Monarchist Senators and Deputies have joined the coalition against the Spanish Government. The new party takes the name of the Liberal party.

Carlyle is said to be rapidly failing. He cannot now hold a cup without spilling its con tents. He is resigned at the prospect of death, fearing to survive his intellectual faculties.

It is feared that the steamship Mercator, which left Antwerp on March 3rd for New York, has been lost. She had a cargo valued at $120,000, but carried no passengers.

The Dublin correspondent of the Times says though the policy of the Government regarding the Peace Preservation Act is undoubtedly popular it is also perilous, and gives cause for deep anxiety to many tenants and landlords. The aspect of many tenants has become defiant. Those formerly acknowledging acts of kindness with expressions of gratitude have become thankless and independent.

Rev. Isaac Nelson, an extreme Home Ruler, has been elected to Parliament for the county of Ireland, without opposition.

A Times' St. Petersburg despatch says the Government is making every preparation in view of the possibility of a rupture with China. Very large orders for war material have been given to various contractors.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

From Ottawa.

OTTAWA, May 25.—It is understood that the Vice-Regal party, accompanied by Prince Leopold, will visit the capital in June, before leaving on their fishing expedition.

J. B. Fortin was arraigned at the Police Court this morning on a charge of bigamy. His first wife, who laid the information against him, did not appear to prosecute, and he was remanded.

Sir Charles Tupper is still confined to his room. As soon as he recovers he will leave for Manitoba.

Small Pox in Morpeth.

MORPETH, Ont., May 25.—The report now being circulated that small pox is prevalent in this village is totally false, there having been only 2 cases within 3½ miles of the village, one of which proved fatal.

Queen's Birthday in Hespeler.

HESPELER, Ont., May 25.—The Queen's birthday celebration here was quite a success, boat races, athletic sports, &c., passed off pleasantly.

ABOUT seven hundred excursionists left the city by railway to spend the holiday.

REMEMBER the address of the Hon. Vice-Chancellor Blake in the Baptist church to-night at 8 o'clock.

RUNAWAY AND ACCIDENT.—On Monday forenoon a team of horses belonging to Messrs. Dobbie & Grierson, which were being driven along the Elora road towards Wyndham street, took fright and ran away. They turned sharply at the corner of Woolwich and Wyndham streets, throwing the occupant to the roadway. He fell head foremost, striking his head with such force upon the ground as to inflict a serious wound over the left temple. The sufferer was taken to Dr. Cowan's office where the wound was dressed. The patient was afterwards removed to the General Hospital.

EQUAL TO THE EMERGENCY.—The Hamilton Spectator says:—Mr. F. J. Chadwick, of Guelph, was one of the enthusiastic admirers of Hanlan who went to Washington the other day to see the race. When he got as far as Elmira, N. Y., it was about the time of day when a sleeping berth was the proper thing to look after. Mr. Chadwick made application for a berth, but the unwelcome answer came that there was not one available. He was equal to the emergency, however, for he produced a card on which he "wrote "F. J. Chadwick, President, Arthur Railroad," and "take that to your head pusher," he said to the nearest official. The card had the desired effect, and during the remainder of the journey Mr. Chadwick slept the sweet sleep of the innocent, arriving in Washington as fresh as a daisy.

Local News.

THE B. M. E. Church (colored) is to give a broom walk in the Drill Shed on the 7th of June.

THE CATTLE TRADE.—Mr. Walter Laing ships 17 head of cattle to Montreal by the Grand Trunk Ry this (Tuesday) afternoon.

CHANCERY COURT.—The Chancery Court opens this afternoon before Vice-Chancellor Blake, who will arrive by the 2.10 train.

PERSONAL.—The Bishop of Niagara, who conducted Ordination services in St. George's Church on Sunday, returned to Hamilton yesterday.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh south-westerly to south-easterly winds; fine and continued warm weather, followed by rain areas to-morrow.

GUELPH HORSES AT WINGHAM.—At the Wingham races on the Queen's Birthday, H. M. Anderson's horse secured a first prize. His trotting horse "Tom Sullivan" took the second prize in the free for all trot.

The steamer City of Guelph passed through Guelph yesterday morning en route for Puslinch Lake. In the course of a few days she will be in readiness for pleasure parties, and will no doubt be well patronized.

THE SYNOD of the Diocese of Niagara assembles to-morrow morning in Hamilton, at the Cathedral. The lay delegates from Guelph are Messrs. G. Elliott, A. A. Baker and F. Biscoe. The latter gentleman, however, is absent in England.

IT WOULD appear that the Montreal live stock market is not very brisk at present. Mr. John McKinnon took a number of cattle to Montreal a day or two after the last monthly fair here, and he has just succeeded in selling at something near the price he wanted.

FISHING PARTY.—Two brace of Guelph gents, accompanied by a canine, went on a fishing excursion yesterday. On arriving home they undertook to divide the "catch," which on examination was found to consist of one cork, two small pieces of ice, six trout 2½ inches long, and a small quantity of bait.

UNIFORM FOR THE BAND.—A prominent gentleman in Guelph has offered to raise one hundred dollars to assist in purchasing a suitable light uniform to be worn by the members of the band, if they themselves will guarantee the balance of the cost.

A VERY PLEASANT excursion is to take place about the 10th June. The Young People's Literary Society of the Norfolk St. Methodist Church, are making arrangements with the G. W. Ry. Co. and the steamer Geneva, for a trip to Hamilton and a sail on the lake.

RUNAWAY.—On Monday morning a horse belonging to Mr. Barry, Rockwood, which had been tied to a post near the Grand Trunk Railway passenger station, was frightened by the Dutch mail train and ran away. It made a circuit of the station yard and was going full dash along Woolwich street when captured near Hewer's hotel.

MONUMENT.—Messrs. McQuillan & Hamilton, of Guelph, have received an order from Mr. H. A. Stewart, of this city, to erect a granite monument in Tarbat churchyard, Rossshire, Scotland, to the memory of his father, the late Donald Stewart, solicitor, Tain. Mr. Jamieson, the firm's agent in Aberdeen, will erect the monument there.

THE Bishop of Niagara has kindly consented to pay another visit to Guelph before his departure with Mrs. Fuller to England on the 13th, in order to give his lecture on "Canada fifty years since and to-day." He will give it on Monday evening next in St. George's School room. It is an admirable lecture, replete with his own personal experiences.

DEATH OF CANON ROBARTS.—We regret to notice in the Toronto papers, the death of the Rev. Canon Robarts, on the Island of Barbadoes. This gentleman was Rector of Thorold for several years, and a few months since his health failing, he returned to his native island in the hope that his health would be restored by the tropical climate, but God willed it otherwise. Mr. Robarts apparently full of life and energy, took an active part in the Consecration services of St. George's Church, last June, and made many friends during his brief visits to his esteemed brother in the ministry, Canon Dixon, by his pleasing manners, and earnestness in his sacred calling.

HANDSOME OMNIBUS.—The Royal Hotel omnibus has just undergone repairs at the factory of the Carriage Goods Company, which has considerably improved it. The painting is unusually well executed. On either side there is an amber coloured panel immediately beneath the windows. The arch underneath the panel is painted in light colours, in the centre of which appears a pretty landscape scene, while the arch is surrounded by a gilt stripe. Above the windows, the names of the owners, Messrs. Bookless & Galer, are very delicately formed in light greeh block shaded letters. The back and fore parts are got up in keeping with the sides. It would be difficult to find a more comfortable or more handsome bus. The painting is a credit to the workmen.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

The Way in Which our Citizens Spent the Holiday.

The Maple Leafs Victorious at Harriston.

The Queen's birthday this year was more quietly observed in Guelph than it has been for some years. There being no celebration here people took advantage of the cheap rates by railway to visit friends at a distance, or to spend the day in other places where entertainment had been provided. A number were induced to leave the city on Saturday, by reason of the reduced fares by rail, and the early trains on the Queen's birthday were crowded with pleasure seekers. Before the afternoon the city was comparatively depopulated, and the streets had a deserted appearance. The Maple Leafs left for Harriston to play the Browns of that place, and the fat men's nine went to Hamilton to meet the most formidable nine the ambitious city could produce on the diamond. It may be stated here that the Guelph clubs were successful in the matches, but full accounts of these will be found below.

WELLINGTON PARK.

In the forenoon the Artillery Band occupied the new band stand in Wellington Park for the first time, and played a number of excellent musical selections. A large crowd of people assembled to hear the performance. The improvements in the grounds are now completed, and they looked very pretty. The appearance was much enhanced by the fountain playing in the centre of the grounds.

PUSLINCH LAKE.

The steamer "City of Guelph" did not arrive here until the forenoon, so that Puslinch lake did not attract as many people as it would have done had the steamer been running. A good many persons however visited the lake and spent a pleasant day in fishing, pic-nicking, &c.

THE RIFLE MATCHES.

The rifle matches at the range yesterday were well patronized, thirty-two competing in the all-comers match, including representatives from Orangeville, Erin, Fergus, Eramosa, Marden, Port Elgin and Walkerton, while quite a number of the local men were absent.

The arrangements were very complete and the match conducted in such a manner as to make the affair enjoyable to all. There was a brisk wind from the right, strong enough to carry the balls four or five feet out of their course at the long range, and the weather so dry and hot that by the time three or four shots were fired out of a rifle, the rifle would be so hot and the fouling in it so dry as to impede the force of the ball and cause it to strike probably one or too feet below at 500 yards. These with the changes of light and a thousand and one things have to be guarded against by the successful rifleman.

In the all-comers match the first prize was won by J. Collingridge, of Eramosa, with the magnificent score of 66 out of a possible 70—a score that is rarely made with the snider enfield, our John making a good second.

In the second match, which was restricted to those who had never won a prize in Toronto, Mr. D. J. Izzard, of Port Elgin, won first with 31 points out of 35; F. Locke second, and Charlie Crowe, a lad of fifteen years, third, with 30 each.

BOATING.

A large number of persons availed themselves of the opportunity of indulging in the healthy and pleasant pastime of boating. All the boats belonging to the two boat houses were in requisition, and the Eramosa branch of the Speed was alive with boats and their gay occupants the whole day. Picnic parties were constituted in every favorable part along the banks of the river, where games and amusements of various kinds were indulged in. The most of the pleasure seekers on the river got back before dark, after spending a quiet and pleasant day, while not a few, who failed to secure boats in the day, took a moonlight trip.

CRICKET.

The first match for the Cricket Association challenge cup, was played on the Base Ball grounds between the Guelph and Paris clubs. Play opened at 9.30 in the presence of a fair number of spectators. From the first the visiting team did not make a good stand against the bowling of J. E. Smyth and A. W. Stewart, which was much admired, particularly that of the former, who aimed dead on the wicket every time. He has a nice easy style, and his bowling was very effective. For Guelph, the batting of R. F. Smyth, Tod, Stewart and J. E. Smyth, was exceptionally good. The fielding of the visitors was marked by some good play at times. Following is the score:—

THE BASE BALL MATCH AT HARRISTON.

The match at Harriston between the Maple Leafs and Browns was witnessed by upwards of 3,000 spectators, a very great amount of interest being taken in the match, the Harriston people turning out almost en masse. A large number of Guelphites went up on the morning train with the club to witness the match, as the playing of the Harriston boys had been favourably commented on here for some time, and the game looked forward to with a considerable degree of interest. The match took place in the afternoon. Guelph men lost the toss and went to bat, and went out three times in succession without reaching first base, the pitching of Emslie appearing to be too much, and many struck the wind. By the score it will seen that the Browns made one run on the 1st innings, and were blanked through the rest of the game; the Maple Leafs tallyed one on the 4th and 7th innings. The catching of William Hunter was splendid, only one pass ball being against him; Atkins was simply immense on 1st, and Watkins on 3rd was good; the outfield had nothing whatever to do, no ball being knocked out there. The batting of the Leafs was weak, Hunter, Hewer and Tyson taking the lead; of the playing of the Browns the Guelph boys speak highly, they appear to be well up in practice, and will give a good record of themselves before the season closes. Thompson as catcher and Stapleton at 1st base were very good. It need hardly be said that the excitement throughout the game was intense, and as each nine went out several times without a score, the cheering was very great. Mr. Smart, of Elora, made an excellent umpire. The following is the score:—

THE INVINCIBLES AT HAMILTON.

The Invincibles did not fare so well in their base ball matches as the Maple Leafs did, being beaten by a score of 33 to 24. The match between them and the Dreadnaughts, at Dundurn, Hamilton, proved a great attraction, and was witnessed by a very large number of people. The Spectator says in reference to the game:—Looking at the men before the game began any one would have bet high on Guelph. Most of the players, though up to the regulation weight of 200 pounds, were not fat men in the proper sense of the word, but large men, not badly proportioned, though here and there the waist measure exceeded the girth of the chest. To the astonishment of all the Hamilton team won a handsome victory, after a keenly contested match of nine innings. Though David Cook and Alonzo James were among the players, there was really too much actual base ball knowledge and skill to meet the anticipations of the spectators. The fielding, catching, batting, running and throwing would have done credit to smaller men. The game proceeded quietly for awhile, but was interrupted by a serious accident which occurred to Mr. David Cook, the catcher of the Dreadnaughts, who was hit in the eye by a foul tip. His face bled profusely and his eye was closed, but he gamely came to the front and finished the play. Play was continued with unabated interest until seven o'clock, when the game closed with the following score:—

PROMENADE CONCERT.

The concert given by the Artillery Band in the drill shed at night was more largely attended than affairs of the kind has been. It is gratifying to the band to see that each succeeding concert given by them draws a better audience than the preceding one, for it shows that these concerts are growing in interest and popularity. The programme was long and varied and well carried out. The singing of Mrs. B. Savage was a surprise to her many friends who were much pleased with her first effort on a public platform. Miss Hastings also sang very nicely. The following comprised the programme:—

1—March.....George the 4th,
2—Waltz.....Fatina,
3—Bombardon.....Polka,
4—Song.....Mr. Duncan,
5—Spoon Solo.....Mr. E. Smith,

NORFOLK STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

The coffee social held in the Norfolk street Methodist church last evening was a grand success, and great credit is due to the ladies who had its management in hand, not only for the abundant supply of excellent coffee and cake provided by them for the occasion, but also for their having secured such an array of first class talent as furnished the musical and literary portion of the evenings entertainment. The attendance although probably not quite as large as would have been had it not have been for other attractions in the city, was very good, and a nice little sum was taken at the door. An enjoyable time was spent by all present. The programme consisted of a choice selection of Readings, Trios, Solos, Quartettes, &c., by the following ladies and gentlemen, whose reputation renders it entirely unnecessary for us to make any remarks in reference to its rare excellence. Double Quartett by members of the Dublin street church, Reading by Miss Maddock, Solo by Mr. Powell, Duet by the Misses Stevenson, Reading an Irish piece in dialect by Mr. A. Schofield, Solo by Miss Crowe, Trio by the Harrington family, Reading by Mr. Hough. After the usual vote of thanks having been tendered to those who so kindly took part in the performance, the audience rose to their feet, and with heart and voice joined in singing God save the Queen. The benediction then being pronounced the company despersed, all seeming highly pleased at thus having ended the sixty-first anniversary of Her Majesty's Birthday.

FIREWORKS.

During the evening some of our citizens set off rockets, &c., from their residences, and the boys amused themselves to their heart's content with fire crackers.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH.

Ordination Services on Sunday.

Sunday last will be remembered by the congregation of this Church in connection with the very interesting and impressive services of the day, the Bishop of Niagara having held a two-fold ordination to the ministry of the English Church, two gentlemen having been ordained to the Diaconate and two to the order of the Priesthood. Trinity Sunday is one of the seasons appointed for such services, and accordingly special prayers are used for some time previously through the Diocese on behalf of the candidates, and that the Bishops may not lay hands suddenly on no man, but faithfully and wisely make choice of fit persons to serve in the sacred ministry of the Church.

There was a large congregation present, as there was also in the evening. At the end of the third collect, the Trinity hymn, one of the grandest in the English language, was sung by a very full and well trained choir. Then Canon Dixon, the examining chaplain, came forward to the front of the chancel and presented the candidates in the following words:—

Reverend Father in God, I present unto you these persons present, to be admitted Deacons (or priests).

THE BISHOP—Take heed that the persons, whom ye present unto us, be apt and meet, for their learning and godly conversation, to exercise their ministry duly, to the honor of God, and the edifying of his Church.

THE CANON—I have enquired of them, and also examined them, and think them so to be.

THE BISHOP—Brethren, if there be any of you who knoweth any impediment or notable crime, in any of these persons presented to be ordered Deacons (or Priests), for the which he ought not to admitted to that Office, let him come forth in the name of God, and show what the crime or impediment is.

Then followed the Litany, said by the Bishop in a clear, emphatic voice. The hymn so appropriate for ordination was then sung—

"O, Jesus I have promised
To serve Thee to the end,
Be Thou for ever near me
My Master and my Friend."

The ordination sermon, a very able and admirably delivered discourse, was preached by the Rev. Canon Belt, Rector of Burlington, and the ordination first of Deacons and then of Priests was then proceeded with. In the latter case the Rector and Canon Belt joined with the Bishop in "the laying on of hands."

Mr. Alfred Belt, son of the Canon, and Mr. Thomas Smith were ordained as Deacons, and the Revs. W. C. Clark and Reginald S. Radcliffe as Priests. At the close the holy communion was administered to the clergy and many of the laity who remained.

In the evening the newly-ordained clergy took the various parts of the service, and Mr. Belt preached for the first time an excellent practical sermon, which was highly appreciated by the congregation, and which augurs well for the young gentleman's future success.

Interesting and Complimentary

Whatever Americans go into they conduct on a large scale and with a spirit of unity that makes their force felt, not only in the immediate neighborhood of the movement but throughout the country, and sometimes outside of it. One of their latest schemes—and it is only a local one—is an International Exhibition at Cincinnati, of milling and mill machinery, commencing on the 31st of May, continuing a month. They have secured the use of an immense building and erected therein seven complete mills, each run by a 200 horse power engine, and putting 1,000 machines in operation. There will be represented the different modes of making flour, a very large collection of various brands of flour, and grain of all kinds collected from the immense granaries of the west, the north and the south. Such a display has never been made in the past, or even attempted, and may not be again for many years, and almost every miller of enterprise and intelligence within a thousand miles, is expected to be present. Numbers are coming from Europe, and between the display that will be made, and the information imparted at the various conferences to be held during the whole of next month, a working miller may learn more of his trade than he could acquire at home in a life time. Canada will no doubt be largely represented, and Guelph has already sent one of her practical men in the person of Mr. Charles Spence, who has gone, not to be instructed, but to take charge of one department of this work and show others how to do it. In this as in most other cases, our American cousins are at all times as ready to avail themselves of foreign as of local talent, and we are glad to learn that in this instance they have invited a Canadian to instruct them. Mr. Spence and his brother are running their mills here on what were for a few years past called the "new process," but has now become so general as to be new no longer. The flour thus made is of very superior quality, and the grain is made to yield much more largely of first class flour, and sells at a much higher price than that produced under the old system. We congratulate our townsman on the compliment paid in inviting him to go so many hundred miles to show the cute Yankee how to run his own machinery and display his own inventions, and wish we had more of such men to build up Canada and sustain her business reputation.

Superannuation of Teachers.

In some parts of the country the discussion of the present regulations and laws respecting the superannuation of teachers is engaging public attention. This is an important subject to teachers, has the administration of the fund—small as it is—is of serious moment to them. We are glad to notice that at some of the Teachers' Associations the question was fully debated, and recommendations made to the Minister of Education. Among these are the following which were adopted by the Teachers' Association of Prince Edward County, which met at Picton last week:—

1st. That twenty-five years' service in the profession, or having reached the age of fifty, should entitle a teacher to participate in the superannuation fund.

2nd. That the widows of all superannuated teachers should be entitled to no less than three-fourths of the yearly allowance granted to their husbands.

3rd. That no part of the yearly subscriptions to the funds should be repaid to teachers who retire from the profession before ten years' service.

4th. That in case a tax be imposed for candidates for certificates, the money so paid should go to supplement the superannuation fund, and,

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Hon. the Minister of Education.

The Fishery Dispute.

It will be of interest to our readers to hear the alleged grievance in this matter as set forth by one of the leading papers in the States. The N. Y. Tribune gives its history of the affair as follows:—

It is now two years and more since New England fishermen, relying on the privilege guaranteed to them by solemn treaty stipulation, and attempting to ply their vocation on the shores of Fortune Bay, were violently driven away, with great loss and hardship. Our Government lost no time in protesting against this outrage, and demanding redress. Again and again the protest and the demand were repeated, and the public, who knew nothing of these diplomatic proceedings, became more and more impatient at the long delay. The correspondence sent to Congress on Monday sufficiently explains the dilatory conduct of the British Government, and casts a most unfavorable light upon the action of Lord Beaconsfield's Cabinet. Up to the time when the prosperous decision of Mr. Delfosse against us was satisfied by the loyal payment of the $5,500,000, which was due in November, 1878, the utterances of Lord Salisbury in regard to the questions at issue were in the highest degree conciliatory—not to say evasive. The notes of Mr. Evarts were perfectly clear and distinct. He asserted our evident rights with equal energy and courtesy, and did not let the slightest doubt appear, either of the justice of our claims or of our confidence that the British Government would do what was required in the premises. He did not for an instant admit that provincial or local legislation could limit or diminish the rights which we had acquired by treaty with the British Empire. Up to the period we have mentioned, there was no direct issue made by Lord Salisbury. On the contrary, he expressly admitted "what was indeed self-evident, that British sovereignty, as regards these matters, is limited in its scope by the engagements of the Treaty of Washington, which cannot be modified or affected by any municipal legislation." And in another place he said: "If a law has been inadvertently passed which is in any degree or respect at variance with rights conferred on a foreign power by treaty, the correction of the mistake as committed, at the earlist period after its existence shall have been ascertained and recognized, is a matter of international obligation." But after the enormous sum which the Commission of Arbitration obliged us to pay in execution of the treaty, was safely transferred to England, the British foreign Office lapsed for some months, into a profound silence, from which the most persistent efforts on the part of our Government were ineffectual to rouse it. When the answer came, it was clear enough. Lord Salisbury's dispatch of the 6th of April, written in the last days of the Disraeli Government, flatly refuses to consider our claim for redress, on the ground of these same local and provincial statutes, which he asserts our fishermen had violated.

A NEW IDEA.—Toronto is to have a 'Twenty-five Cent Savings Bank,' with a capital of $50,000, $20,000 of which would be paid up, and the shares to be $50 each. It is also proposed to establish three branches. Hon. Alexander Mackenzie and other prominent men are interesting themselves in the matter, and the bank promises to be of much service to the young, as well as to the working classes generally.

There is some excitement in Jewish circles in Newark, N. J., over suspicion of sharp practice by the relatives of a bankrupt Jew named Edward Rosenfeldt, who some time since came to Canada. Rosenfeldt had a life insurance in several Jewish benevolent societies, and it is suspected that a trick is being played to recover the amount. A committee has been appointed to come to Canada and make full enquiry.

The Dark Stock in Ireland.

In an article in Nature we find the following:

A good deal is said about "the dark stock" prevailing in the west and south-west of Ireland. But one of the chief sources of that element is entirely overlooked, probably because too recent and too obvious to arrest the attention of the paleolithic and neolithic enthnologists. The source in question is the Spanish, due to the close commercial and even social intimacy maintained by Spain with the west coast of Ireland down to quite recent times. There were important Spanish trading stations at Dingle, Valentia, Cahirciveen, Bantry, Timoleague, Galway and elsewhere. Many of the old houses in these places are built in the Spanish style, and it may not be generally known that Valentia Island was actually held by the Spaniards until expelled during the vigorous administration of Cromwell. Many of the peasantry in Kerry and Galway bear an unmistakeable Spanish expression, and this factor ought certainly to be taken into account in dealing with the complicated problem of Irish ethnology.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

The success of Blanqui's candidature at Lyons seems to be decided, although there is to be a second ballot. On the first he is ahead by nearly a thousand votes. If as it is affirmed, Feffer, the workingmen's candidate, intends retiring in his favour the result is assured. His election, however, is certain to be invalidated by the Chamber.

Too Much Married.

OTTAWA, May 23.—Six months ago Jean Baptiste Fortin, a French Canadian, came to this city and boarded at Champagne's hotel. He is 45 years of age, and not such a prepossessing individual as his career would appear to intimate. At the hotel he fell desperately in love with the cook, a well-deserving and buxom young woman of 23 years of age. He proposed, and after a courtship of several months' duration was accepted, and a month ago the pair were married in the French Cathedral. A week ago the proprietor of the hotel, Mr. Champagne, received a letter from a woman residing at St. Rose, Quebec, enquiring after one Jean Baptiste Fortin, who, she claimed, was her husband. Fortin was spoken to about the matter, but said it was "all right." The news of the marriage was conveyed to wife No. 1, and she came here a few days ago to identify her husband. This she did, and Fortin was arrested by Detective Groulx on a charge of bigamy, and brought before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning and remanded. Enquiry has succeeded in eliciting the following facts relative to this Canadian Brigham Young's career:—Twenty years ago he married Amelia Chartrand, at St. Rose, Quebec, and by this wife he became the father of two boys and three girls. The couple appeared to have lived happily enough, although Fortin, being a raftsman, was absent much from home. Four years ago Fortin resided in this city, and although his wife was living at St. Rose, he courted and subsequently married Josephine Dumoulin, daughter of an Ottawa carpenter. The bride was eighteen years of age. The marriage took place at St. Ann's Church. Fortin lived with wife No. 2 sixteen months, when he left her and returned to wife No. 1 at St. Rose. Twelve months ago he left St. Rose, and worked on a farm up the Ottawa, and six months after came to this city again. His third marriage has already been recorded. Madame Fortin No. 1 is willing to restore her husband to her affections again, but the law will probably claim his usefulness as an example. The man evidently is an insensate creature, and scarcely conscious of the enormity of his conduct. When asked to explain why he had married so often he replied, "A bad notion, I suppose, took me; the devil must have been in my head."

On Monday two young men, named Wilmot Kester and William Cinn, started with a horse and buggy to go a few miles from their homes, taking with them a gun, which was laid in the back of the buggy. On seeing a woodchuck along the road Cinn jumped out, and taking the gun by the muzzle he was pulling it out of the buggy when it went off, the charge lodging in his right shoulder. Drs. McKay, Hoyt, and Scott, of Ingersoll, were called and amputated the arm, but recovery is doubtful.

MARVELLOUS ESCAPE.—The Fergus News Record says: A week ago last Saturday some little boys of Luther Village were out fishing in the Grand River. When crossing the Boyne Bridge on the Narrow Gauge R. R. on their way home, one of them, George Russel, son of Mr. Robert Russel, about seven years of age, somehow missed his stepping, when at the highest part of the bridge, and fell to the ground the distance of 28½ feet! The poor little fellow was very much bruised, as well as receiving several cuts on the head. He was quickly taken home, when his wounds were carefully dressed. It was the opinion of all that he could not live, and although he was delirious for some days, and suffered very much, he is slowly improving. He is still, however, very low, but under the careful attention he is receiving, it is hoped he will soon be able to be around with his little playmates again, with whom he is quite a favorite. It is really a wonder he was not instantly killed.

We are pleased to be able to announce that at the late examinations of Toronto University Mr. Wm. Robinson, son of Mr. Robert Robinson of Garafraxa, passed first class honors in the first year's examination in medicine, taking a scholarship of the value of $120. Mr. Robinson received his preliminary education at the Fergus High School; and his medical education outside of the Colleges, has been under the direction of Drs. Groves & Chisholm.

Great Cotwyn.

An English Village Fifty Years Ago.

——Many centuries
Ago in ancestry
Long ere the name of Britain—Britain—

In that distant period, commonly known as "the good old days," before the form in the direction of the ancient and constitutional relations of the clergy and the laity, had established its contented position, those in social and domestic power were the "potentates" of Great Cotwyn, in the pleasant and fertile county of Tillshire. The lord of the soil was the Marquis of Amesbury, who inherited large estates, and after a struggle attained a fair yearly endowment from the Treasury for his services. No one under his sway ever dreamed of disputing his authority or wishes, and when he recommended to "the worthy and independent electors" two of his personal friends to represent his borough in Parliament, they were elected as a matter of course. A dinner and a procession were given in honor of the happy and convenient occasion, and the "potwalloping" passed off without any broken heads or factious disputes.

As long as the good old days were the votes of the electors did not trouble himself much about the services; they enjoyed the greatest share of thought provided they consented to have their privileges enslaved.

Although Great Cotwyn was a very primitive and insignificant place fifty years ago, it possessed a remarkable greatness in one of the finest of English churches in the county, and from its weather-beaten tower the curfew is still rung—not "to bed" as Gray's Elegy misrepresents—every evening at eight o'clock. The interior of this stately building was formerly filled with large old pews, in the corners of which the congregation made themselves more or less comfortable during sermon hour. As there was no evening service, the church was never artificially lighted to any extent.

On dark afternoons in winter, a few candles were dotted about in the pulpit, the reading-desk, and some of the principal pews, giving a feeble glimmer, and casting gloomy shadows over the scanty and scattered congregation, and about the gloomy recesses of the building. The spectral artistic Rembrandt-like effect thus produced can scarcely be imagined, and is appreciated by the frequenters of our modern gaudily illuminated churches. After the lapse of half a century, the weird picture then imprinted upon my memory is now more vivid and more crowded with associations than when the impression was first created. From the roof of the church were suspended by long chains gigantic unused chandeliers, the shape of which now suggests to my fancy the image of a huge spider, or octopus cast in iron, with its bulbous body and tortuous far-reaching limbs.

The service in my early days was conducted in a very perfunctory, pre-tractarian fashion. Unfortunately, the postmaster and his family made the discovery that they were musical; they were entirely self-taught, consequently they "had fools for their instructors;" they were ignorant, zealous, and conceited; they arranged that every Sunday the congregation should be treated to an anthem. This musical and enterprising family mustered in great force; their instruments were their crude, untrained voices, a violin, a flute, a bugle, and a bass-viol. I remember one anthem to which the performers were very partial, as they were supposed to distinguish themselves in it; the burden of it was, "The horse and his rider shall be thrown into the sea." The performance was both dismal and ludicrous. If the devil is a gentleman with a fine ear for music, he must certainly have kept himself at a safe distance from the influence of such an exorcism; doubtless he found it effectual in baffling his subtle tactics. Nevertheless, I am quite sure that the idea of planning any such violent, psychological strategy against the forces of our ghostly enemy never entered the minds of the Great Cotwyn choir, and I am equally certain that they would have resented the suggestion, if the unintended effect of their spiritual generalship had been thus delicately insinuated and pointed out to them.

But what was the pastor of the parish about to permit these ecclesiastical vagaries? The Rev. Pater Noster, M. A., F. R. G. S., F. A. S., etc., when he was appointed to the living, found this anthem-singing one of the old-established institutions of the place; he was too pleasant and tolerant to interfere with an ancient custom which was not actually immoral, and which was only felt as a misery by the few cultivated members of his flock. He was a practical, genial Christian, not pious in the tract-distributing sense, but worthy and beneficient in matters of daily life; dissent he shrewdly treated with lethargic and good-natured indifference. He was a member of two or three learned societies, and and an authority on archæological subjects. I am inclined to suspect that much of his reverence for the Bible was owing to its antiquity.

When he was required to visit some poor, sick parishioner, he did not come charged merely with a store of sanctimonious advice; he generally took his servant with him to carry a basket filled with necessaries, or delicacies from his kitchen or cellar: this was his mode on such occasions, of inculcating a knowledge of Christianity, and he found it more efficacious than sermonizing, in begetting a devout frame of mind in the suffering patients. He taught his hearers to believe that the providence of God was always on the watch to manifest itself in practical help, that the "word" was not content to remain a mere word, that it "became flesh," and that religious theories were never so precious as when they were exhibited in religious conduct.

He did not allow himself a curate: he found his cook a more useful assistant in the management of the parish. On one occasion, when I met this good old creature, Mrs. Phillis, on an errand of mercy, for she seldom left the house except on some kind mission, I ventured to ask her to give me information respecting one of the antiquities of Great Cotwyn, "when the stocks in the marketplace were erected?" She curtsied with that gentle and amiable gesture which is fast becoming one of the lost arts, and replied that "she didn't know—it was before her time; but if I asked her master, he could tell me, as he was a perfect 'walking hen-pecked mediator.'"

"A what!" I exclaimed, with astonishment, as my friend was a widower, and I felt sure that he was on the most kindly terms with all the female members of his household.

"I have heard him called so," she replied, "because he is supposed to know everything."

A conjectural light then dawned upon me, and I ventured to say, "I fancy that you mean 'a walking encyclopædia.'"

"Ah! that's it, sir. I thought I wasn't quite right; 'hence-I-come-plead-to-you.' That's what I meant."

Some distance from Great Cotwyn there existed one of the most quiet and benighted spots in all the country. The hamlet to which I allude was three or four miles from any church, and the old clergyman, who was a pluralist, came occasionally to mumble a moral discourse to his very scanty congregation. In the course of time he was succeeded by a young, active, enterprising minister, who rightly thought it his duty to stir up his parishioners and ascertain their spiritual condition. Their neglected state soon furnished him with plenty of food for surprise, dismay, and regret. Among those whom he visited were two old women, who made him welcome with humble courtesy. He told them the purport of his errand, and spoke with dramatic pathos of the life and crucifixion of our Lord. They listened with rapt attention, and seemed to wonder to the minister's story, and ordered the most extraordinary interest at things connected with the dead. He was, in his turn, amused at the reception given to his narrative, and questioned his listeners respecting the extent of their previous knowledge of the mission of Christ.

"Lor, sir," was the naive reply, "how should we poor creatures know anything of what's going on in the world? What could King George and Mr. Pitt be thinking about to allow such a dreadful thing to happen? no one ever comes here to tell us any news!"

"News!" exclaimed the minister, "what a have been telling you occurred eighteen hundred years ago!"

Base Ball Convention.

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.—The Association will be called the Canadian Amateur Association of Base Ball Players.

ARTICLE II.—The object of this Association shall be to foster and promote the interests of the game of baseball in Canada.

ARTICLE III.—The Association shall be composed of such Canadian baseball clubs as may be admitted on payment of the annual fees hereinafter mentioned, each club being entitled to one delegate at the regular meetings of the Association.

ARTICLE IV.—Section 1.—The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, who shall constitute a Board of Directors.

2. All officers shall be elected by ballot, annually, and shall respectively hold office until the next annual meeting, or until their successors are elected.

3. Any vacancies in either of these offices may be filled at any meeting of the Association, or Board of Directors.

ARTICLE V.—Any regularly organized Canadian baseball club can become a member of the Association on payment of $2 to the treasurer of this Association on or before the 10th of June.

ARTICLE VI.—No club belonging to this Association shall play a match game with any Canadian club outside the Association, either on the grounds of the latter or on any other grounds not belonging to clubs of this Association, but nothing in this rule shall prevent two clubs, members of this Association, from playing with each other on any ground they may see fit to select.

ARTICLE VII.—This Constitution can be amended only by a two-third vote of the representatives of all clubs belonging to the Association at any annual meeting or at a special meeting, one month's notice of the latter and of the amendment having been sent to each of the clubs.

ARTICLE VIII.—All visiting clubs shall receive 50 per cent. of the gross gate receipts in all games played with clubs belonging to the Association.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.—Section 1.—The order of business at all meetings shall be as follows:—1. Roll call. 2. Reading minutes of previous meeting. 3. Reports of officers and committees. 4. Propositions and balloting for new members. 5. Dues and fees collected. 6. Unfinished business. 7. Election of officers. 8. New business.

2. The President shall preside at all meetings, and see that this constitution, by-laws, and the playing rules of the Association are enforced.

3. The Vice-President shall perform all the duties of the President in the absence of the latter.

4. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the meetings of the Association, issue all notices, and attend to the necessary correspondence.

5. The Treasurer shall receive all dues, giving proper receipts therefor, pay out the same for necessary expenses under the direction of the President, and render annually a report of his accounts.

ARTICLE II.—Section 1.—The annual meeting of the Association shall be held on the first Thursday of April in each year at such place as shall be determined by vote at the previous annual meeting.

2. Special meetings of the Association may be called whenever the Board of Directors may deem it necessary, or by the President when requested to do so by three or more club members of the Association. One month's notice of all special meetings must be sent to the different clubs.

ARTICLE III.—At all meetings each club shall have but one representative, who shall present a certificate showing his club authority to act, signed by the secretary of his club. A representation of the majority of the clubs belonging to the Association shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time until a quorum is obtained.

SELECTING AN UMPIRE.

In selecting an umpire for a match game, the visiting club shall submit the names of five persons competent to act, who are not members of the visiting club. From this list the local club shall select two or more names. Should the visiting club be unable to secure the services of either of the two persons selected, then two more names shall be submitted to the local club to complete the list for them to select from. In case of the failure of the local club to select two of the names within forty-eight hours after said names have been furnished by the visiting club—if within five days of the day of the game—then the visiting club shall be at liberty to select one from the list of names sent, who shall act as umpire. Correspondence in relation to the above may be by telegraph if deemed necessary. The said umpire shall be paid $2 and all expenses, the cost to be borne equally by both clubs.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. That any regularly organized Baseball Club wishing the emblem now in the hands of the Maple Leaf Baseball Club of Guelph shall be acknowledged as the champion club of the Dominion of Canada.

2. That a single game shall in all cases decide the championship.

3. That all the matches for the championships be played in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the Canadian Association of Baseball Players.

4. That in no case shall the champion club be considered the challenging party.

5. That to prevent any misunderstanding every club playing for the championship, in the event of any unsuccessful, shall retain all rules played with during the match.

6. That any club winning the championship shall deposit with two parties in the sum of fifty dollars each to some responsible person appointed by the owners or lessees of the emblem, for the due delivery of the emblem when it may won; or further, that in the event of a club becoming disorganized while holding the emblem, it shall be given up to the Maple Leaf Baseball Club of Guelph, and then to be played for as in the first instance, it being the club from which the emblem emanated, consequently the owners of the emblem, provided no club shall be able to hold or retain possession of it for two successive years.

7. That any club holding the emblem for two years in succession, and in accordance with these rules, it shall become the undisputed property of that club, and then it shall be disposed of as that club shall think proper.

8. That no match game for the championship emblem shall be played sooner than the 1st of June or later than the 30th of September in each year.

9. That the champion club shall be in duty bound to accept all challenges for the championship emblem in due rotation, and the challenged club cannot be compelled to play inside of fourteen days from the date of the preceding championship match.

10. That no club shall be recognized as the champion club until after the champion emblem is duly won and received from the club from which the emblem was won.

11. That any club competing for the championship shall receive fifty per cent. of the gross gate receipts.

12. That no club shall be entitled to hold the emblem unless they can provide an enclosed ground of sufficient size, free from obstruction, for a championship match to be played upon.

13. That all championship matches be played with the ball agreed upon by the Association.

14. That all matches for the championship be played on the grounds of the champions.

15. That no club can accept a challenge for the championship of Canada unless being duly in possession of the emblem, as governed by the foregoing rules and regulations.

16. Twenty-five cents shall be the regular price of admission for adults, ten cents for children and ladies free.

After the adoption of the rules governing the Association, the laws of the game were considered. It was understood that the laws as passed by the National League of the United States would govern play as far as practicable. The ball adopted for use is Maher's National League ball.

After deciding to hold the next annual meeting at Woodstock, the Convention adjourned.

Mothers! Mothers! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&wlyr.

"I Don't want that stuff,"

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At the first attack thereafter, it was administered to her with such good results, that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise, that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That "stuff" is Hop Bitters.

KNOW THYSELF

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is noble benefactor."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 5 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission to JOS. G. BISHOP, president; W. I. P. INGRAHAM, vice-president; W. PAINE, M. D., C. S. GAUNTT, M. D.; H. J. DOUCET, M. D.; R. H. KLINE, M. D.; J. B. HOLCOMB, M. D.; N. B. LYNCH, M. D., and M. B. O'CONNELL, M. D., faculty of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery; also Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., President of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. MTu

KING OF THE DRY GOODS

Unprecedented Success.

A Crowded Store. Sales Increasing Daily.

The Dry Goods trade of the Lion, for the spring of 1880, has this far been a grand success eclipsing any former season's business. Thus we attribute to two reasons:—First, a more prosperous condition of the people. Second, the growing popularity of The Lion as the "People's Dry Goods House."

Never was our stock so fully assorted. Never did we offer such value. Never have we done such a large trade.

James Gamey, a workman employed on the new Custom House building, St. John, fell from the roof to the ground, a distance of sixty-four feet. Not a bone was broken, but it is feared the man has received serious internal injuries.

Rev. J. Meadows, of St. Andrews's, Colchester county, Nova Scotia, on Friday last, while standing near a young man who was driving a fence stake, was struck by an axe—which flew off the handle—in the abdomen, and died on Saturday from the effects of the injuries received.

Advices from Newfoundland report the arrival at St John's of H. M. S. Druid, Flumingo, and Contest, from Bermuda, to protect the fishery interest on the Newfoundland coast.

About nine o'clock Friday night the steamer Algoma, loaded with hay for Ogdensburg, was burned to the water's edge at Pine Tree Point, three miles below Iroquois. The fire was caused by a spark from the pipe. The crew were all saved.

The failure of the Reading Railroad and Coal and Iron Co. is attributed in the first instance to large purchases of coal fields. The failure will cause much distress in the Schuylkill coal region. It has caused a semi-panic in the English railway markets.

A Mennonite named Job Enne, Manitoba, was instantly killed by lightning in his own house the other day while reading the bible to his wife, who also received such a shock that she expired on Saturday. The house took fire and was burned. The other inmates escaped with their lives.

Five hundred men of the South Cork militia, upon being disbanded after their annual training at Mallow on Sunday, stormed an emigrant train from Kerry, beat the inmates unmercifully, and ousted them from their carriages. No cause is assigned for this brutal conduct of the militia.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

The Hanlan Riley Boat Race.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—All arrangements for the Hanlan Riley boat race are now complete, and the prospects of an ably contested sculling match from the start to the finish bids fair to be reached. Both men were on the water to-day, Riley in the morning and again in the afternoon, and Hanlan contenting himself with a good stiff pull in the cool of the evening at sun down. Both men are in splendid condition, Hanlan a little fine perhaps. Riley will step into his shell before the race weighing 162 pounds, a good weight for him, and somewhat heavier than when he rowed Hanlan at Barrie. He intends to go over the whole course he says if it takes him all summer. From the manner in which he talked to-night one may conclude that he will make to-morrow's effort the effort of his life, and from the confidence with which he speaks there is every reason to believe he will keep his word. On the other hand Hanlan preserves a quiet, thoughtful demeanor. He feels confident but not at all boastful. He believes he will have a hard race to row, but it does not intimidate him in the least. He regards Riley as a good oarsman, and recognizes the fact that in order to win he will have no child's play. There is little or no betting going on. Attempts were made to sell pools, but there were few speculators on hand, and the attempt died quietly out.

WASHINGTON, May 26, 3 p. m.—The weather is very warm. The race will take place at about six p. m.

FISHING.—Messrs. Wm. Holiday, John Cormie, John Jones and Harry French, left last night in a waggon for a fishing excursion on the Saugeen river, above Durham. They have taken a tent with them and all the necessary apparatus for camping out. They intend to return by the end of the week, and expect good sport.

A HEAVY draught horse, the property of Mr. Jacob Brohem, of Little Germany, while being driven to the city this morning was taken ill, and on arriving here was placed under the care of Veternary Surgeon Grange, to receive treatment, but the animal expired almost immediately after. The horse was a valuable one, and will be a serious loss to the owner.

TEMPERANCE.—The Hon. Vice-Chancellor Blake will speak in the City Hall, tomorrow (Thursday) night, at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Gospel Temperance Club. Several of the city ministers will also give short addresses on motions to be submitted. An excellent choir will be present. The meeting promises to be an interesting one. All are invited.

MR. SAMUEL HEFFERNAN, formerly of the firm of Heffernan Bro., of this city, has removed to Chatham, where he intends opening a large ready-made clothing and gents' furnishing establishment. Mr. Heffernan has leased one of the best business stands in Chatham, and will undoubtedly establish a very large business. Sam has our best wishes for the success of his new enterprise, and we hope to soon hear of him in the front rank with the business men of Chatham.

M. E. CONFERENCE.—The Ontario Conference of the M. E. church closed its session in Port Perry on Wednesday of week before last. The following are the appointments in this district:—Orangeville, J. R. Taylor; Melanchton, F. M. Smith, M. Dundas; Garafraxa, J. H. Watts; Eramosa, J. F. Durkee; Brampton, J. M. Simpson, F. Cummer; Georgetown, W. Pirritte, J. Leek; Mount Forest, E. M. Baker, B. A., W. McCallum.

FATAL ACCIDENT. — On Monday night a young man named Paul Quinn, supposed to be under the influence of liquor, was driving along the street in Caledon East when the horse took fright and threw him out in front of the buggy, completely tearing off one of his ears and bruising his head in a shocking manner. Death released his sufferings next morning.

SURVEY.—Mr. J. K. McLean, P.L.S., of Mount Forest, has received instructions from the Department of Crown Lands, Ontario, to undertake the survey of the Township of Springer, at the northwest corner of Lake Nipissing, adjoining an Indian reserve in that district. Mr. McLean is son of Mr. D. McLean, Collector of Inland Revenue, Guelph.

THE LITTLE FOLKS CONCERT.—The junior classes of Dublin Street Methodist Sabbath School are preparing to give a concert in the church in aid of its funds on Thursday (to-morrow) evening. A choice programme has been prepared consisting of solos and duetts (vocal and instrumental) also a number of choruses and recitations. One of their number will take the chair and give an address. About 200 tickets have already been sold. A very pleasant time may be expected by those who attend. Tickets 25 cts., or three for 50 cts. dlt

DOMINION TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.—The announcement that Vice Chancellor Blake would deliver an address in behalf of the Dominion Temperance Alliance in the Baptist Church last evening, brought out a large number of citizens, the church being nearly filled. The meeting was opened by Rev. Mr. Coutts, pastor; the hymn "Stand up for Jesus," was sung, and the 35th Isaiah read. Rev. Mr. Williams offered prayer, and the choir followed with an anthem, "In God we trust." After singing the Rev. Mr. Williams entertained the audience with a few thoughts on the temperance question. The rev. gentleman drew some beautiful pictures of the work of temperance during the past 50 years, and in concluding hoped the time would come when the various forms of evil would be memories only, of the past. The choir sang "No Surrender," and the Rev. Mr. Howie entertained the audience with some solid truths spiced with considerable humor. Mr. Wilkie, who was sent to interview Mr. Blake, then announced that the Vice Chancellor could not possibly be present on account of pressing work at the Court. Mr. Blake, we understand, is in no way to blame for not being present, as it appears there was some delay in the correspondence between the Secretary of the Alliance at Guelph and President in Toronto. The Vice-Chancellor knew nothing of the lecture arranged for last night when the deputation waited on him at eight o'clock. Rev. Mr. Coutts then, in suitable terms expressed disappointment at the absence of the speaker, and the meeting dispersed after singing the doxology, and receiving the benediction.

Suicide of John Howes.

He Hangs Himself in His Own Barn.

Last night or this morning, Mr. John Howes, who lives on Queen street, directly opposite what was Allan's wood yard, committed suicide by hanging himself in the stable adjoining his residence. Mr. Howes has been a paralytic for about 14 years, which was caused by being thrown from his wagon, he at that time doing a market garden business. Ever since then he has been of a rather peculiar disposition, and very irritable in temper, but beyond this there was nothing to cause the apprehension of his committing the crime which has to be recorded to-day. He was in excellent spirits on Monday, and worked in the garden the most of the day. He devoted a great deal of his time, while able, to gardening and reading, sometimes lying for whole days together in his bed reading books in which he had become interested. On Tuesday, however, he was very irritable, and went about the house the most of the day, packing up his clothes into a large trunk, and his books into three bags, and expressed himself as going to leave the house. He refused to taste any food the whole day. His family took little notice of this as he had often been in the habit of going without food for days, and when interfered or remonstrated with, would fall into ungovernable fits of rage, and all they could do was to watch him. Between nine and ten o'clock he carried the trunk and the three bags of books out to the stable, and went inside and locked himself in. The door was tried, but was found to be locked, and his wife and daughter, thinking it was only one of his usual fits, never dreaming that he had any intention of hanging himself, watched for his coming out. All was quiet in the stable till about midnight, when a slight noise was heard, but nothing of a suspicious nature, and was thought to be his coming out. However, as he did not come out, no more attention was paid till this morning between five and six o'clock, when the stable door was again tried and found locked. Everything was quiet within, and Mrs. Howes began to get somewhat alarmed, when Mr. Moon was sent for and the stable door broke open, and Howes found hanging dead by the side of a beam, with every evidence of his having been dead for some time. It appears that the wheelbarrow had been usually hung from a beam by a staple with a rope attached, and he had taken down the wheelbarrow, placed the trunk and the bag of books in it, thus to reach the staple, and then hung himself.

Deceased was 62 years of age, was a native of Ireland, and a resident of this city for about 18 years. He was well known and highly respected, having been for many years followed market gardening, which brought him in contact with a number of people in the market. There is no doubt but the effects of the injuries which he received from being thrown out of the waggon was the remote cause of his death, and Dr. Herod, who has been attending him for several years, considered that there was no necessity for holding an inquest, being well acquainted with the nature of his ailment. It seems that on one occasion, some years ago, he had threatened to drown himself, and had to be watched. Great sympathy is felt for the family and relatives of the deceased at the unhappy manner in which Howes came by his death.

The Biddulph Murderers.

Application for Change of Venue.

In the Court of Common Pleas in Toronto, on Tuesday, before Chief Justice Wilson and Justices Galt and Osler, the question of a change of venue in the Biddulph murder case was argued at length. Shortly before twelve o'clock, when the judges entered the Court, the six prisoners were brought in by the constables in charge of them, and were given seats on the front benches, just behind those of the Queen's counsel. None of the prisoners appeared to have suffered from the confinement to which they are subjected, except that they seem to have grown more quiet, and less inclined to assume an air of easy indifference as to their position. During the whole course of the argument they paid the greatest attention to what was said, and although many of the technical legal points raised in the course of the discussion must have tended to confuse them, they seldom spoke to one another, but kept their eyes fastened on the speakers, and paid the closest attention, evidently trying to understand every word. The Court was filled with listeners, though among them there were but few of the outside public, the majority of those present being in some way connected with the legal profession.

Mr. Æmilius Irving, Q. C., Crown prosecutor, argued in favour of the application, and Mr. Hugh MacMahon, Q. C., and W. R. Meredith, Q. C., counsel for the prisoners, opposed it.

Mr. Irving moved to make absolute the rule nisi for a change of venue, which had been granted on a previous application to the Court.

After arguments by the counsel Chief Justice Wilson said the Court would reserve judgment. They were so busy that it was impossible for them to announce a day for delivering it. They might not be able to do so before next week.

The prisoners were then remanded to the custody of the Sheriff of York, and, after having been handcuffed, they were removed from the Court room. They will be brought up to the Court of Queen's Bench, when the argument given before the Court of Common Pleas will be repeated.

Wellington Spring Chancery Sittings

An Important Suit Contesting the Validity of the late Rev. Dr. Barrie's Will.

The Case for the Plaintiff Opened.

GUELPH, May 25, 1880.

The Chancery Sittings opened here today before the Hon. Vice-Chancellor Blake, there being in all nineteen causes set down for hearing. The first cause on the calendar was an important one, entitled Thompson vs. Torrance. This is an action brought by Mrs. Thompson, the sister and alleged only heir-at-law of the late Rev. Dr. Barrie, a Presbyterian minister for many years in Eramosa, who after his retirement more than two years ago removed to this city where he died on the 28th July, 1879. The action is for the purpose of contesting the validity of a will made by Dr. Barrie three days previous to his death wherein he devised all his real estate to his housekeeper, Miss Esther Argo, and bequeathed his personal estate, with the exception of a small legacy to a relative in Scotland, to different schemes connected with the Presbyterian Church in Canada. His personal estate amounted to about $8,000 and his real estate to about $1,000. The contestant alleges that the deceased was not in a fit state of mind to make a will at the time it was made; that he was suffering greatly at the time and could hardly answer questions put to him; that the will was prepared upon the suggestion of the person who drew it, and when the Doctor was asked how he wished to dispose of his property he would not reply, but as suggestions were made from time to time he would signify his desire by merely replying "yes" or "no." The defendant in the suit contends on the contrary that Dr. Barrie was in a proper state of mind to make the will, and that he but fulfilled his desire when it was made. The case involves a nice question and creates considerable interest among the many friends of the parties engaged in the case.

Messrs. Christopher Robinson, Q. C., C. Moss and D. Guthrie, Q. C., represent the plaintiff, while J. A. Boyd, Q. C., and K. McLean act for the executors; Messrs. Lemon & Peterson act for the devisees, and Mr. T. W. Taylor for the Presbyterian church.

The witnesses, thirty-eight in number, were named and obliged to leave the court room till called.

Before evidence was taken the question was argued whether Mrs. Thompson was in the position of plaintiff, that is, whether it was her part to seek to invalidate the will. The judge decided that it was—that she attacked it, that so far she had not given any evidence showing that it was not valid, and that it was now the part of her counsel to do so.

Rev. Robert Torrance, sworn said:—I am minister of the Presbyterian church here and have lived here for 33 years and have known Dr. Barrie nearly that time; he lived part of that time in Eramosa and Nichol; about two years before he died he came to Guelph to live; he lived about eight miles from me before he came to Guelph; I saw him often and knew him intimately; he was ill about a fortnight before he died on the 28th of July 1879; he had ceased from the active duty of his profession; I was not visiting his place daily during his illness; I went the evening of Thursday previous to his death; I found him in bed and he seemed to be suffering; Miss Argo, his housekeeper, was in the house; I did not remain long then; besides Rev. Mr. Duff and Miss Argo I think perhaps Sandy Gow was in the house; about 8 o'clock on Friday morning I called again and Dr. Herod and Mr. Duff were there; Dr. Herod asked me if I knew whether a will had been made; I said perhaps Miss Argo may know but she did not; I said then if any one knew it would be Mr. Loghrin; he said he would see Mr. Loghrin; in the afternoon of Friday I went back again and found Miss Argo, John Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong; I made prayer with Dr. Barrie; I asked him him whether he heard me and he said "he did," his usual answer for assent. Rev. Mr. Smith came in about five o'clock after the prayer and left about six o'clock; when I went in the afternoon Mr. Armstrong said that Dr. Herod had asked Dr. Barrie and ascertained that he had no will; in the morning when I was leaving Dr. Barrie's house Dr. Herod said that he might want him (Mr. Torrance) in connection with settling Dr. Barrie's affairs; about seven o'clock in the evening I returned to Dr. Barrie's, expecting Dr. Herod to come, and I left for him, because he had initiated the matter of making the will, and that he should be present when it was made; I found Dr. Herod at home; he had had his tea, and while I was taking mine he went to Dr. Barrie's to attend him, and said he would call back for me; I passed Dr. Herod on the road and went to Dr. Barrie's; I asked Mr. John A. Davidson to go to Dr. Herod's to get him to come to Dr. Barrie's; he would not come, saying that his attendance was unnecessary as Dr. Barrie was perfectly capable to make his will; I then asked Miss Argo for some paper, and requested Alex. Gow to make the will, he declined; I asked Mr. Davidson, he declined; I wrote the first two sentences in the dining room; his head was clear when I asked him if he wanted the will drawn up; I asked him who he appointed executor, he said "I appoint Robert Torrance;" I asked for Loghrin, he said "Yes;" Mr. Gow asked for John Armstrong, and he said "Yes;" Miss Argo had left the room when I asked him what he was going to do with the house and lot, and he said "that's the drawback;" I suggested that he should leave it to Miss Argo; he said "I will if she bide with me to the end of the chapter;" I asked him what he was going to do with the rest of his property; Miss Argo suggested to leave it to his sister in Garafraxa, and he said "No;" Mrs. Mitchell was suggested, but he said no, she had no need of it; his friends in New York was suggested and he said they were able to work for themselves; I said have you any friend in the old country — Strahan that you might leave $200 or $400 he said you must think I have lots of money; I am but poor; I understood that he assented to a suggestion by Mr. Gow to leave her £100 sterling; I asked him if he would give the rest to the schemes of the church; Mr. Armstrong had told me that Dr. Barrie intended leaving money for the schemes of the church; I asked him would he leave something to the Bible Society; Gow asked if he would leave something to the General Hospital; he consented at first and then withdrew; I went over the schemes of the church, but he did not assent; I went over it the second time, I think he said I'll give something to the Home, Foreign and Endowment Fund of Knox College; I am pretty certain that he picked out the schemes himself; that disposed of all his property; I asked him whether he would make the property in equal sums to the schemes; I think he mentioned the funds. There was no direct suggestion made by us; I asked the Dr. if he would leave his books to Miss Argo. He said "Yes;" when the will was finished I took it in to him. He was lying on his back while the will was being made, though weary he was not sleeping. He lay quiet. He seemed weary when we had finished. I asked him if he heard, after I had read each clause over, and he said yes; when the clause containing the legacy to Agnes Strachan was read over, he said the amount was too much, and when I said, "shall I make it $200," he said yes. I suggested most of the will because it was late at night, and I wished to get home, or he might have made a greater effort to name something himself had I pressed him. I saw nothing during any part of Friday that would lead me to think he was incompetent to make a will. He was sleeping in the afternoon, and although I spoke to him he said very little. I prayed with him. He was as capable during the afternoon of making a will as in the evening; I think he was capable of making the will; I never saw Mrs. Thompson but at this time; Miss Argo stated positively that she had been at Dr. Barrie's thirteen years and had not seen Mrs. Thompson there but once; I do not know the terms on which they lived; Mr. Mitchell is married to a niece of Mrs. Thompson; I had the authority from Miss Argo when I made the statement that Mrs. Thompson had not attended him in his life time; after the will was made I went home and returned on Saturday when the doctor was fresher and stronger than on Friday; Dr. Herod came then; that was about 8 or 9 o'clock; I stayed about an hour; I returned in the afternoon and remained and was in the room and he wanted to get out of bed; I am not positive whether I was there in the evening again; I saw him on Sunday but did not speak to him because there were a number of people in the room and I thought I might annoy him; I stopped but a short time and returned in the evening but did not speak to him; I did not ascertain what he was worth when he made his will; I thought perhaps he was worth $2,000; it turns out that he was worth about $10,000; I do not remember saying to an answer to a proposal by Rev. Mr. Smith to pray that it was no good as Dr. Barrie could not follow; when I came on the Sunday morning I do not think Mrs. Thompson was there; I saw Mrs. Mitchell there on Sunday morning; I did not tell her the will had been made; he died about four o'clock on Monday afternoon; I do not know that I mentioned that a will had been made till the will was read after the funeral; I do not recollect that Rev. Mr. Smith asked me if the affairs were settled; I thought it would be well to have a lawyer to draw a will but I did not mention it to anyone; Mr. Davidson was there for the purpose of witnessing the will; Mr. Scott had been in the house, and being an old friend of Dr. Barrie's, was stopping there; they were in the house and I asked them to come to Dr. Barrie's house; I asked him if he was willing to have them as witnesses; he assented; he was in a posture at an angle of about 45°; his hand was trembling, and I said "Never mind Dr., I'll guide your hand," but I could not guide it, and I wrote his name and he made his mark; the table where the witnesses signed their names was near the bedroom door, fifteen feet from the Dr's. head; I remember a good deal of discussion when the will was read; I should say that I did not say that Miss Argo could alone understand the Dr.; I did not state after the reading of the will that I sent to Lemon, Peterson & McLean's office to see if there was a will; on Monday morning I saw Mrs. Thompson there but did not know who she was till Miss Argo told me; Mrs. Mitchell sent for Mrs. Thompson; I did not think of his relations.

To Mr. Boyd.—Mrs. Thompson lived seven miles above Fergus; when he was living in Guelph I visited Dr. Barrie every week and sometimes more than that, and I never saw Mrs. Thompson there; Dr. Barrie told us he knew what he was doing when we were making the will; he was an eccentric man, and you could not make him change his mind, and he retained this characteristic to the last with the exception of the change of $500 to $200 bequest to Agnes Strachan; read the will afterwards and he assented by word of mouth; Dr. Herod was his physician and he first suggested the making of the will; after the will was drawn he was sitting in the next room when the Dr. said, "you've been a kind freend to me, I dinna ken what I would have done without you;" his memory was good and he was reticent about his own affairs.

Rev. J. C. Smith—I knew Dr. Barrie for five or six years; I saw him during Friday, previous to his death, between the hours of four and six; I found Mr. Torrance, Mr. Duff, Wm. Mitchell, the housekeeper, and other females whose names I did not know in Dr. Barrie's house; the Dr. seemed to be suffering great pain; I spoke to him but he did not appear to recognize me; I proposed to Mr. Duff and Mr. Torrance to engage in prayer; I think they said they did not think he would profit by it; I asked the question whether a will had been executed, and understood from him that it had not; I should not think he was then in a fit state to execute a will; for the last two or three years of his life his memory was clear; he was inclined to be talkative and occasionally repeated himself; I never saw him again.

Esther Argo, sworn, said—I lived with Dr. Barrie for some years; he lived twelve or thirteen miles from Mrs. Thompson; she is an eldery woman, and her husband was very old when he died; Dr. Barrie went to see Mrs. Thompson about once a year; I never heard of any dispute between them; Dr. Barrie's illness lasted about two weeks; I never thought of sending word to Mrs. Thompson till he was seriously ill; I thought of Mrs. Mitchell; she asked me to write and I did so; I saw her on the Saturday of the week before his death; I wrote the beginning of the week and told her he was much better than he had been: I wrote again on Friday; he was worse on Tuesday and Wednesday; on Thursday he seemed to be suffering more and continued getting worse; on Friday he was not suffering so much; sometimes he was awake and sometimes asleep; he had spoken to me dozens of times; I had no reason to think he would not speak again, though the doctor told me he was not likely to recover; I think on Friday morning the Doctor spoke something about a will the second time he called; there were talks about making his will that day; Dr. Herod asked if Mr. Torrance would do it; I did not hear it said when the will would be made; after Dr. Herod and he talked they both went away; It was after this that I wrote to his sister; I think he was in a condition to make a will at that time; he appeared better at the time he signed the will than at the time I wrote; I could not say there were times on that Friday when he was unable to make a will; Mr. Torrance returned some time in the evening; I do not recollect him being therein the afternoon; I think he was brighter in the evening than he was when Mr. Smith was there; a good many people called that Friday; he did not speak to all who called; I think he was quite sensible all that day (Friday), and he spoke to some; I would speak to him when he was dozing and he would speak to them sometimes; he spoke to Walter Scott, and said he was glad to see him; Wm. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Auld were there when Mr. Torrance came in the evening; I was in the next room when Dr. Herod was with Dr. Barrie, and heard him ask the doctor if he had settled his affairs; I do not know what passed between them in the evening; Dr. Barrie in the morning replied that he had not settled his affairs, and Dr. Herod said if he had not he had better settle them as soon as possible; when Dr. Herod asked him if he would like to settle, he said he would, and I think Dr. Herod suggested that Mr. Torrance should settle them for him and he assented; in the evening I saw Mr. Torrance commence to write the will, having first asked Mr. Gow to do so; I afterwards heard Mr. Torrance ask how he wanted to dispose of his property; I did not hear the answer; Mr. Torrance asked Dr. Barrie about the family, and named the Mitchells; he said they did not need anything; I told Mr. Torrance about Strachan in the old country and Mr. Torrance mentioned her to him; Mr. Gow asked if he would give her £100; I think he said "yes"; I think there was nothing done after that; he wrote down something about Mrs. Strachan; I do not think he read over the clause; I do not think he read over any of the clauses as soon as he wrote them down; Mr. Torrance next spoke of Knox College, and asked if he wished to leave anything to the Bible Society or Knox College and Home Mission Fund, and asked if he was willing to dispose of it in that way; he said yes; in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Scott, Mr. Gow, Rev. Mr. Torrance, and Mr. John Armstrong, were in, as near as I can recollect; I was there when the will was signed; I do not remember of anything being said when the will was read over; he may have been lying with his face to the wall, but turned at once when the will was read; Mr. Torrance read the will; I do not remember anything being said while the will was being read; Mr. Torrance said he would read it over and see if it was right, and Dr. Barrie said yes; I was not surprised when I heard the clause read, willing the house to me; I was told that he had bought the house to leave it to me; some one came out and told me that there was such a clause in the will, but I do not remember who; he afterwards changed his mind about the £100, and in answer to Mr. Torrance said $200 would do; I did not hear any clauses after that; he had told me what he wanted done with his papers and his books, and that I should give a book to any one who wished a present; this was a few years ago; I never heard anything about the furniture; I think Mr. Torrance went away about 11 o'clock on the night on which the will was made; Dr. Barrie seemed quite easy after it was all over; he seemed to be dozing at times when the will was being read; sometimes he had his eyes closed and sometimes he had them open; Mrs. Mitchell came about 6 or 7 o'clock next morning; I told her he was very ill; I did not tell her he had made his will; I never spoke to any one about the will unless they spoke to me about it; I never told any one until asked if a will had been made that one was not made; when Mrs. Thompson came I did not say that a will had been made.

The Court adjourned at eight o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, May 26.

The Court resumed at 9:10 a.m., V. C. Blake presiding.

Esther Argo was re-called and her examination by Mr. Moss was continued as follows:—On the Friday afternoon I do not remember speaking to any one about the will; Mrs. Auld was at Dr. Barrie's house towards the evening; I remember Mrs. Armstrong was there, but I do not remember saying anything to Mrs. Auld about the will in Mrs. Armstrong's presence; Mr. Wm. Mitchell was present but I did not say anything to him about the will, nor did I hear any one else speak of the will to my recollection; something was said about a deed of the lot that afternoon; I did not make any enquiries about the deed that day; I do not remember telling Mrs. Auld that I had spoken to Dr. Herod about the will; some time afterwards I had a conversation with Mrs. Auld, but I never told her that I had spoken to Dr. Herod about the will and asked him to speak to Dr. Barrie; if I told Mrs. Mitchell that Dr. Barrie was quite sensible the day he made the will, that was correct; on Friday he seemed to be easier towards evening; on Thursday he was not so well as on Friday; on Thursday night he did not appear to be suffering so much pain as during the day; on Thursday he became delirious sometime after dinner and continued in that state for about two hours; on Wednesday he was not delirious; I recognize the letter I wrote on Friday to Mrs. Mitchell; I told the truth about his condition.

The letter said Dr. Barrie took a bad turn on Thursday night from which he had not rallied.

Witness continued—I never thought of mentioning in the letter that there was a will to be made that day; it had been arranged that there was to be a will that day; I felt no interest in the will and did not think whether she would or not; I was paid wages all the time I served Dr. Barrie and served him as housekeeper, there being no other arrangement between us; he had always been in the habit of keeping a housekeeper; I think Mrs. Thompson could have lived with Dr. Barrie and taken care of him if she had chosen to do so; it was not my place to give Mrs. Thompson notice of Dr. Barrie's illness; I said that she had no desire to see him in his last illness, and that she did not come to alleviate his sufferings on his death bed, because she had never shown any affection for him in his life time; when his friends came to Dr. Barrie's I thought they had come for the purpose of looking after his property.

To Mr. Boyd.—I was acquainted with Dr. Barrie thirteen years, and during that time Mrs. Thompson was there twice; I drove her to her daughter's once; one of Mrs. Thompson's sons was married, and Dr. Barrie did not hear of the marriage till after it had taken place; she lived fifteen miles distant from Dr. Barrie; Mrs. Mitchell knew that Dr. Barrie was sick, and could have communicated the fact to Mrs. Thompson, her mother, if she had desired; Dr. Herod first spoke to Dr. Barrie about making the will; Dr. Barrie said many times that if he had any thing to name at the time of his death, he would leave something to the church; some years ago he heard that I was going to leave him, and asked if it was my intention; I said I had an opportunity of doing so; he said to remain as long as I felt comfortable and I would lose nothing by it; Dr. Barrie said to Dr. Herod that he would like to see Mr. Torrance; previous to the will being made Dr. Barrie received a letter from Miss Strachan in Scotland, and he said "poor creature she is in poor circumstances and I must leave her something;" I have not the least doubt but that Dr. Barrie knew what he was doing when he made the will; on Thursday Dr. Herod gave the patient something to make him sleep; when I wrote the letter it was in great haste; he took an interest in Knox College, and when he spoke of his books in connection with the College he referred to Knox College; the first thing that attracted any attention about the will being drawn was Mr. Torrance asking me where the man lived who sold the house to Dr. Barrie; Mr. Torrance asked Dr. Barrie if he wanted to leave Mrs. Thompson anything, and he said "no" in a determined manner; something was said about the Mitchell's but he said they did not need anything from him; cousins in New York were mentioned, but he said they could work for a living; his cousin, Miss Strahan and the Church were next mentioned; I was there when the will was brought in to be signed; the will was read over clause after clause, and he gave his assent by words; I had no doubt that he understood perfectly what he was doing; there was a change made in the will in the morning; Dr. Barrie thanked Dr. Herod for mentioning something about a will; Dr. Barrie had a lively disposition; he was eccentric, strong minded and determined; he remained so to the day of his death, and always had his own way; when I was going away from his bedside he took my hand and thanked me for what I had done for him; he said 'lassie, you have done all that you could for me;" when they were asking Dr. Barrie if he would leave sums to different schemes, he said "You must think I am a rich man," or something like that; he refused to give something to the Hospital; I was not continuously in his bedroom when the will was being read, but was passing in and out of it doing my work; I do not think there was any time he spoke to me that he did not know me; on Saturday when Rev. Mr. Howie came to see Dr. Barrie I said to him that Mr. Howie was there and he said he was glad; Mr. Howie proposed engaging in prayer and Dr. Barrie said certainly, Mr. Howie repeated a psalm and the patient repeated the number saying the psalm was beautiful; Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Mitchell remarked to a good many that he was quite sensible, and they were glad he knew them.

Mrs. George Mitchell, sworn, said—I am the daughter of the plaintiff; Dr. Barrie had no other relations than my mother alive; he had at one time other brothers and sisters, but to my knowledge they are all dead and left no issue; I live in Eramosa and saw him frequently; have always been on good terms with him as also was my mother; my children had been in the habit of visiting the Doctor; was in his house Saturday before his death; had not heard of his illness till just before I went in with my husband; found him pretty ill but he said himself he was feeling better; I stayed in town all day and had tea at uncle's (Dr. Barrie's) I said if I was of any use I would stay but he said "Mistress, I will help myself;" I offered to come in if he became worse; I understood Esther (Argo) was to write to us on Monday and let us know how he was; Esther said the Doctor had made a mistake in giving the medicine, and that it affected his memory; I got a letter on Monday and one on Thursday. (Letter read by Counsel). It said that the Dr. was improving and that although it said he was restless yet it led us to understand he was improving very much. He was out walking in the garden. Received a letter again on Saturday night at ten o'clock; sent to the Post Office on Thursday and again on Saturday morning, but on Saturday got nothing; I thought from the letter on Saturday night he would be dead before we got in, so we started at daylight Sunday morning and I remained there till after the funeral; my husband drove me in; he remained all Sabbath but went home Monday morning and returned again on Monday night; my husband sent for my mother Sunday night; she got here on Monday sometime; she had to come about 15 miles to Fergus, and from there to Guelph; I did not hear about the will till after he was dead; when I arrived I saw no crape on the door and knew he was alive; I asked Miss Argo how he was and she said about the same as he was when she wrote; this was on Sunday morning; I had noticed that the was failing in his mind before his death; my father was 99 years when he died; he knew Dr. Barrie well and had said he was about 80 years of age; I have been in this country since 1850; Dr. Barrie went to Scotland in 1848, the following year my father came to this country; I was at Dr. Barrie's house the Sunday before he died; he acted as though he was smoking, and Miss Argo asked him if he was having a good smoke; he put his hands in position as though he was driving a horse; Miss Argo told him that different people had come in but I could not understand his answers; he could not speak distinctly without his false teeth.

Examined by Mr. Taylor—During the time Dr. Barrie was in Eramosa I lived a little over seven miles from him; I could not tell how often I saw him; some of the members of our family went over to see him once or twice a year; we saw him more frequently after he came into town; about a year before he died we heard that he was ill, and we came in specially to see him; about ten days before his death we came in to see him; I proposed to remain with him; he appeared rational and was able to talk; on Thursday Esther wrote to me; before the mail left on Saturday I sent to the post office, and on Sunday I came in and found Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Argo in the house and I think Mrs. Dryden; Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Gow were also there; I went in and spoke to my uncle; I think I said "Uncle do you know me," but am not positive; he spoke in such broken language that I could not understand him; he was in pain all the time I saw him; he appeared as though he was worn out; I complained to Miss Argo that I did not get word sooner; she said she wrote on Thursday morning and she wondered what was keeping me away; to the best of my remembrance I said I was glad my uncle was conscious to the last; to please my mother I said that he recognized her, but he did not recognize her; I might have said that he was conscious but could not be sure that he was conscious to the last.

The Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway Leased to the Grand Trunk.

WOODSTOCK, May 25.—A large meeting of the shareholders and bondholders of the Port Dover and Lake Huron, and Stratford and Huron Railways was held in the Town Hall to-day. Sheriff Deedes, of Simcoe, was chosen chairman, and R. W. Sawtell, secretary, of the meeting. Colonel Tisdale, of Simcoe, was the first speaker, and spoke several hours, explaining the position of the road and its finances. It was resolved and carried by a large majority to lease the road to the Grand Trunk. The agreement with the Grand Trunk Railway provides that they shall operate both the Port Dover and Lake Huron, and Stratford and Huron Railways for twenty-one years, at a rental of 25 per cent of the gross earnings up to $700 a mile, and 12½ per cent of the gross earnings beyond that amount. The Grand Trunk is to provide all working expenses, and maintain the right of way and necessary renewals. The arrangement embraces the proposed extension from Listowel to the Georgian Bay, which is also to be bonded over when completed. It is estimated that the proposed rental will, with the present receipts, yield a dividend of about four per cent on the amount invested by the bondholders—the ordinary stock being, as has been long assumed, practically worthless. A motion for delay was made in the interest of Stratford, which was voted down, and a resolution confirming the agreement carried by a large majority of the bonds and stock represented.

HONOURS TO GUELPH ORGANS.—We learn that Messrs Wm. Bell & Co. received a letter on Tuesday from Wm. Flemming, Canadian manufacturers' agent in Australia, informing them that their organ has been awarded the only special prize—a gold medal—at the Sydney exhibition, beating English and American organs. The contest was keen, but the judges, unhesitatingly awarded the highest honours to the Bell organ. What makes the honor all the greater is the fact that the organ which was awarded the prize was an ordinary one, and not made for exhibition or competition. This latest and greatest prize is additional evidence of the superior excellence of the Bell organs and the firm deserve all credit for their great success over all competitors. The Sidney Evening News says;—"The only gold medal for organs goes to Canada, being the highest award over English and American organs, Messrs. Bell & Co., Guelph, Ontario, Canada, having been awarded the special and first prize at the International."

PRINCE LEOPOLD.—The youngest son of the Queen who arrived at Quebec in the Sardinian on Sunday, was met by the Governor-General and the Princess Louise. On Monday he attended the review at Quebec. On Tuesday he and the Governor-General visited the Montmorency Falls and spent the evening at the Citadel. The Princess Louise honored the Lieutenant-Governor and Madame Robitaille with a visit at Spencerwood in the afternoon. Prince Leopold has shown good sense in desiring that his visit to America be as private as possible. His health will not permit of the fatigue of either receiving or replying to addresses, and his time being limited, by dispensing with receptions and the like he will be enabled to see a much larger portion of the country, and to examine our institutions more in detail.

IMMIGRANTS FOR MANITOBA.—The Rev. Mr. Bridgers and a party of English gentlemen, among whom were Dr. Taylor, of Auckland, New Zealand, Rev. Mr. Bowencan and son, of Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Heath, and a number of gentlemeu, tenant farmers, went north on Tuesday on the Frances Smith, to settle near Emerson. Their farm hands and families, numbering fifty-three, went forward on the City of Winnipeg last Friday. They hold drafts on Winnipeg banks for $75,000, and are the forerunners of a large similar class of immigrants making their way to the North-West.

The Peel By-law, granting a bonus of $6,000 to the Arthur Junction Railway, will be voted on on the 10th June.

Quite a number of sheep in the northern part of Arthur have lately been killed by dogs.

In his opening address, at the annual session of the Bay of Quinte Conference, M. E. Church, Bishop Carman said that in the other conferences there was a decided increase of membership, notwithstanding wonderful drawbacks by removals. The removals were very numerous, over 1,000 persons removed from Niagara alone, and, unfortunately, still they go.

THE GREAT WESTERN "SPUR LINE."—It is understood that the officials of the Great Western Railway who were in the city yesterday, while favourable to the scheme of bringing the line into the city, are opposed to paying such high figures as are asked by many of the owners for the right of way. They state that the people of Chatham are so anxious to get the line into the centre of that town, that the right of way will be donated to the railway free of all charge. The proposed route was gone over by the President of the Coy., Col. Grey, and Mr. Hobson, accompanied by Mr. Thos. Goldie and others. The site for the passenger station was approved of. Should the parties interested along the route ask what is considered a reasonable figure, the completion of the scheme at an early date would be certain. But unless they do so, the matter must be allowed to drop. A handsome passenger station, worthy of the "Royal City," and the Company, would be erected near Inglis bridge. The expenditure in connection with the change would be about $65,000 to $70,000; much of which would be spent amongst our own people. After the business had been talked over by those present, a drive was taken around the city, and thence to Mayor Sleeman's, brewery. They expressed themselves pleased with Guelph and the solidity of its buildings.

Women never think!

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.
