Mr. Snider's son and Mr. Ross, a school teacher, his wife and two children, had also eaten of the same root but they are all likely to live, Mr. Ross and family feeling very little effects from it. Mr. Snider was dying when the doctor reached the house.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

Chase vs. Brohman.—This was an action arising out of the sale to John Brohman of a buggy by Mr. Caleb Chase manufacturer, of this city. It appears that Brohman traded an old buggy for a new one to be made by Chase, and also alleged that Chase agreed to take an overdue note for $100 made by D. Cook, in payment of balance. The defendant had endorsed the note at the time the new buggy was delivered, and according to the plaintiff's evidence, meant to become responsible for payment in case Cook failed to pay the note in question. After the sale, both parties had gone to Cook's, and there at the request of the defendant, time was given to Cook for payment. The note was not paid by Cook however, and he soon after went into insolvency. The endorser, Brohman, was then sued on the note, and the jury found that he was liable and that Mr. Chase did not take the note in payment. Verdict for plaintiff for $107. E. F. B. Johnston, and D. Guthrie, Q. C., for plaintiff; G. A. Drew, Q.C., for defendant.

Imlay v. Hamilton.—Action brought by James Imlay, of Garafraxa, against John Hamilton, of the same place. The plaintiff alleges that he bought from the defendant a horse for $100, which the defendant verbally guaranteed to be thoroughly sound, and allowed the plaintiff to take the horse on trial for two weeks, and if the horse turned out to be unsound he might then return him. The plaintiff, at the time he took away the horse, gave the defendant his note for $102.50 in payment, which was shortly afterwards transferred to a third party and was paid by plaintiff at maturity. The plaintiff alleges that the horse was not sound, and he returned the horse within the two weeks. The case for the plaintiff has closed as we go to press. D. Guthrie, Q.C., for plaintiff; A. H. Macdonald, for defendant.

THE case against Mrs. Bittle for disorderly conduct was called at the Police Court to-day, but as she did not attend in answer to the summons it was adjourned till to-morrow. A warrant has now been issued for her arrest.

RAILWAY BONUS BY-LAW.—The Council of the township of Peel, has decided to submit on the 9th of July a by-law granting a sectional bonus from the southern part of the township, to aid the construction of the second section of the Waterloo, Wellington, and Georgian Bay Railway. The amount is $10,000.

AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.—The annual picnic of Chalmers' Church Bible class was held at Paradise yesterday afternoon, and proved quite a successful affair. The party, composed of about seventy persons, left the boat house at the Dundas bridge about three o'clock, and enjoyed the sail up the river. At Paradise, the time was spent in boating and other amusements. The grounds look very pretty at present, the lessees having added to their beauty by several improvements. The afternoon passed pleasantly, and before the party returned in the evening they were served with an abundant supply of refreshments. They returned about eight o'clock, having spent an enjoyable afternoon.

GALLANT RESCUE.—On Tuesday morning the Toronto, Grey and Bruce freight train No. 10 was coming from Mount Forest to Harriston, and when about two miles west of the former place, the engineer, R. Johnston, saw a child about two years old running on the track about a quarter of a mile ahead of the engine. He reversed his engine and whistled on brakes, but could not stop his train in time. The fireman, George Johnston, ran out on the front of the engine and taking hold of the push-bar with one hand, reached forward with the other, and grasped the child up, thus saving its life. The mother hearing the whistle, looked out and saw her child on the track and ran to save its life, but before reaching it she fainted and fell. When she returned to consciousness she expected to find the mangled remains of her child on the track, but was agreeably disappointed. The train backed up and returned the little passenger to its thankful mother unharmed. Mr. Johnston deserves a medal.

DISORDERLY.—Mrs. Snelling, Fanny Crosby, and Sarah Crosby were charged at the Police Court to-day with raising a disturbance on Inkerman street on Monday night. Mrs. Snelling and the other defendants live in houses adjacent to each other. It appeared she had been speaking disrespectfully about the Crosby girls to different people, and they hearing of it refuted what she said, and this gave rise to the quarrel. After the evidence was heard Mrs. Snelling shuffled up to the front of the bench and related the case in a demonstrative manner, endeavoring to lay the burden of the blame on the other defendants. The Magistrate dismissed the case, which evidently did not satisfy Mrs. Snelling, who left the Court room muttering, "I'm a poor widow woman and have nothing but my earnings."

THERE are at present fourteen prisoners in the gaol.

THE HEAT.—The thermometer registered eighty degrees in the shade at noon to day.

MR. T. J. DAY was expected home by the eleven o'clock train to-day from New York, but he did not arrive. He is, however, expected this afternoon.

THE NEW DOG BY-LAW.—The dog by law, to control and restrain the running of dogs at large by means of licensing, has been issued in the form of a poster. The by-law takes effect on and after the 1st of July.

PHONOGRAPHY. — Browne's Phonograph Monthly and Reporter's Journal for June is to hand. Besides the reporting exercise the book contains some valuable correspondence on shorthand work. Copies may be had by addressing D. L. Scott-Browne, 737 Broadway, New York.

THE LIVE STOCK TRADE.—One of the last shipments of live stock from Guelph to the old country for the season, will be made on Monday by Messrs. Lemon, Dunn & Co., of Toronto. The shipment will be a large one, composed of a considerable number of sheep besides the cattle.

FIGHTING.—Robert Bryson and W. Hooper engaged in a fight in the neighborhood of Gordon and Nottingham streets last night, and were summoned to answer for their conduct at the Police Court to-day. Owing to the absense of Mr. Brill, a witness, the case was adjourned till to-morrow.

BAPTIST CHURCH. — Last evening the Rev. J. Coutts resigned the pastorate of the Baptist Church, and accepted a call to become pastor of the Baptist Church in Georgetown. Although Mr. Coutts has only been in Guelph some two years he has made many friends, who will regret his departure, as he was ever willing to aid any good or charitable object.

FOR THE PRAIRIE PROVINCE.—On Wednesday afternoon a Grand Trunk train of seven passenger and fourteen freight cars passed through the city with immigrants and their stock, farming implements and household goods, for Manitoba. The train was made up at Ottawa, a large number of the party coming from that district, but additions to it were made at stations along the route. The passengers go by way of the Michigan Central from Detroit.

WESTERN ONTARIO RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting of the above Association opened at St. Thomas range on Wednesday. There was a good attendance, and one match was got through. All-comers' ranges, 200 and 500 yards. First prize, $15; 3 prizes of $10 each; 10 of $5 each; 15 of 4 each. For this there were 29 entries. Our Guelph men stood as follows: John Crowe 3rd, 56 points; Wheeler Ogg 6th, 54 points; J. Collingridge, 22nd, 49 points; J. R. Day 23rd, 47; W. Young, 25th, 46 points.

There will be a good supply of amusements on the grounds. The Artillery band will be in attendance, and a programme of vocal and instrumental music will be carried out by local musicians. Refreshments will be provided. The singers are Misses McGregor, the Misses Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, Mr. John Crowe, and others.

DRUNKENNESS.—Thomas Ryan was brought before the Police Magistrate for having been found on the streets drunk last night. When interrogated by his Worship as to whether he was guilty or not guilty he said: "Well, my Worship, I live at Stratford and walked to Guelph. Every one knows I lived in Guelph 27 years, and when I got back I felt a little liking for the place and took a dhrop too much. The Magistrate advised him not to let his affection influence him in such a way again and dismissed the case.

MR. JOHN MURPHY.—We were much pleased to-day to receive a call from Mr. John Murphy, of Mount Tara, on he occasion of his first visit to Guelph after the very serious accident which befell him by the blowing down of his barn in the wind storm on the 26th April. It was feared at one time that his injuries would prove fatal, but thanks to a sound constitution, the best medical attendance, and most careful nursing, he looks himself again, though thinner from his longconfinement, and except a little lameness has apparently pretty well recovered. During his illness he was much gratified at the many enquiries made of his condition, and the many evidences of sympathy and good will manifested by friends far and near. Among others he received a most sympathetic letter from Mr. P. O'Leary, who was in Guelph last winter and spoke at the Irish relief meeting. Mr. O'Leary thinks of going to Australia in the latter end of summer, and looks forward with great pleasure to a visit to Canada on his way to the antipodes.

NEW YORK, June 16, 1880. Speaking of the collision between the Anchoria and Queen, reported yesterday, the Herald says that probably the entire range of nautical literature contains no case where danger was so imminent and escape so wonderful. To the fact that both vessels were built in compartments may be attributed her safety, for otherwise the breeches in each would have admitted water enough to sink them in a few minutes. Details of the affair fill the morning papers. It is alleged that the crew of the Anchoria behaved scandalously, taking possession of the steward's pantry, in which were stored liquors, drinking freely and insulting passengers with impunity. The old sailors among the passengers on the Anchor line steamer declared that not only was the Anchoria off her course, but running at too high a speed, considering she was enveloped in a fog. A most thrilling incident was furnished by the excited captain of the Anchoria pursuing a sailor fleeing from duty. He caught him by the throat and with uplifted hatchet cried, "Stand to your post, or I will split your head open this minute." He stood to his post. The amount of damage to the Queen is estimated at $10,000. The Queen's two first boats that came to the side of the Anchoria were filled with the crew and others connected with the Anchoria. The first contained a fireman and eighteen others, and not a passenger among them. Had the collision been fifty feet further aft it would have cut into the machinery, the boiler would have exploded and all hands have been lost. The captain of the Ancoaria says he heard the Queen's whistle four minutes before the collision and gave orders to reverse the engine, so that at the time of the collision the Anchoria was not moving. The captain declined to say what signals he gave the Queen or what was his course. The Anchoria's passengers will sail on the Ethiopia to-morrow. Three years ago the Queen ran ashore at Squaw Beach, but was got off by the captain and crew without assistance.

The Land Troubles in Ireland.

The Irish members of Parliament have resolved to ask the Government to double the grant for the relief of Irish distress, and charge a uniform rate of one per cent interest; and also that £60,000 instead of £30,000 be voted for the construction of fishery piers. If the amendments are rejected Parnell will move that the bill for the relief of the distress be referred to a special committee of Irish members, under the chairmanship of Mr. Foster.

The N. Y. Herald's Dublin special says the land troubles are beginning to assume a very serious aspect. Henry Acheson attempted yesterday to fence in his farm, near Ballinamore, in the county of Leitrim, from which a tenant had been ejected. The peasantry assailed him, Acheson was knocked down and stabbed, and he and his men and the police fled, pursued by the crowd. A man named Meehan overtook Acheson when the latter shot Meehan fatally. A split is threatened between the Land League and the Irish Parliamentary party.

It will be remembered that the British Government decided to apply the grant of $100,000 made by the Dominion Government towards the relief of the distressed poor in Ireland to such works as would permanently relieve the condition of the distressed fishermen. It is now learned that $3,000 of this sum has been voted to the purchase of fishing material for residents of Archill Island, and similar sum to partially defraying the cost of reconstructing a pier at Peneyle, County Galway.

Hespeler Correspondence.

ILL HEALTH.—We regret to announce that Mr. John Chapman, Reeve of this village, who had intended making a trip to Manitoba early this season, is prevented from doing so by ill health. He is at present attending the Mineral Baths at St. Catharines, where we hope to hear of his recruiting at an early date.

IN TOWN.—Mr. Edward Gillespie, one of the editorial staff of the Stamford Advocate, and brother of Mr. Wm. Gillespie, who it will be remembered, delivered a Scientific lecture here last autumn, and also in behalf of the Mechanics' Institute at Guelph, is in town at present visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. Cunninghan. Though unlike his brother in stature, he has a strong resemblence to him in other respects, being witty, generous, and jolly, every whit a good fellow. No doubt that is characteristic of editors generally.

BUILDING.—A very nice frame parsonage is in course of erection for Rev. Mr. Umbach, near the Evangelical Church, of which he is the pastor.

REMOVAL.—Rev. Edwin Holmes, pastor of the Methodist Church here for the last two years, goes this year to take charge of the Talbotville circuit, County of Elgin. We wish the rev. gentleman much success in his new field of labour. Rev. Mr. Nugent succeeds Mr. Holmes here.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR CELLAR DOORS.—One night not long ago the cellar of Mr. John Phin, a well known farmer on the Waterloo road, was entered and a quantity of lard, butter, maple syrup, jared fruit, and other commodities, "handy to have in a house," were carried away.

Recently Father Marcelline was seriously injured at Six Portages, on the Gatineau, by two drunken roughs whom he attempted to prevent from demolishing the property of a neighbor. It appears that after fracturing his skull with a stave one of them drew a knife and attempted to stab him.

A Spaniard who claims to be from Madrid, advertises a Spanish bull-fight to take place at Richmond in the Province of Quebec, on June 26th. He has gone to considerable expense in issuing flaming posters in that city.

It is now almost a certainty that the Scottish foot ball teams will visit Canada and the United States this fall. They will be under the control of a prominent New York manager, and a Toronto newspaper man well versed in sporting will be agent.

The body of the suicide DeCoursier has turned quite black, and as rapid decomposition is setting in the remains will probably be handed to the friends of deceased on Wednesday afternoon. Strong suspicion at present rests upon Watson, the night guard, as being the agent who conveyed the poison from DeCoursier's friends to the prisoner.

The visit of the Hon. Mr. Langevin to Western Ontario has been postponed to the middle of July.

It is understood that the Government contemplates making a land grant to the Rapid City and Souris Valley Railway Company.

MILITARY COLLEGE EXAMINATION.—The annual examination for candidates desiring to be admitted as cadets to the Royal Military College at Kingston commenced at the headquarters of the First Military District in London on Tuesday. Among those who presented themselves for examination was H. Gow, Guelph.

Niagara Falls.

How They Were Dried up for a Whole Day.

Right Rev. Dr. Fuller, the Bishop of Niagara, contributes an interesting letter to the Chicago Tribune regarding an occurrence of which many are aware, though it may be forgotten. On the 31st of March, 1848, the Falls of Niagara were dry for a whole day. Dr. Fuller makes the assertion on the strength of a story told by the late Mr. Thos. C. Street, M.P., who said that he and his youngest daughter (then unmarried) went down about three quarters of a mile to the precipice itself, over which there was so little water running that having provided himself with a strong pole, they started from the Table Rock and walked near the edge of the precipice about one third of the way towards Goat Island, on the American shore, and, having stuck his pole in a crevice of the rock, and Miss Street having tied her pocket handkerchief firmly on the top of the pole they returned. He said that he then turned his view towards the river below the falls, and saw the water so shallow that an immense jagged rock stood in such a frighful manner that he shuddered when he thought of his having frequently passed over them in the Maid of the Mist. This statement the bishop supports by affirmations made before notaries public in Welland and Chippawa by Messrs. Henry Bond and James Macklan, who, witnessed the phenomena. The explanation offered is that the winds had been blowing down Lake Erie, which is only about thirty feet deep, and rushing a great deal of water from it over the falls and suddenly changed and blew the little water (comparatively speaking) up to the western portion of the lake; and at this juncture the ice on Lake Erie, which had been broken up by these high winds, got jammed in the river between Buffalo and the Canada side, and formed a dam which kept back the waters of Lake Erie a whole day.

CRICKET.

Guelph vs. Brampton.

The above clubs played a friendly match on the Maple Leaf Base Ball grounds yesterday. The wickets were pitched at 10.30 a. m. Brampton having won the toss, sent Guelph to the bat. Messrs. Lockwood and Fitzgerald faced the bowling of Gamble and Pexton, but were easily disposed of. A good stand was made by Messrs. R. F. Smythe for (not out) 28, without a chance, and Hamilton 11. The other nine players only scoring 19—making the first innings, with extras 54, and which does not occur in many matches. There were 4 run outs on the second innings. The Guelph club made a more successful stand to the same bowling. Hamilton, Fitzgerald, Husband and Knowles, making double figures by careful play. Knowles making 2 4s, 3 3s, 4 2s, the rest in 1st running up the good score of 120, leaving Brampton 153 to win.

Brampton's first innings, Pexton scored 15 runs for a well played innings of 15, (not out) the others 4 1s, the other 8 duck eggs, with the 1 extra, making the score 21. The bowling of Sabine and Henry being evidently too much on the wicket for the visitors to make a score.

Second innings, Gamble and Pexton donned the pads and gloves to the bowling of Henry and Sabine; when time was called they had scored 91 for three wickets down, Gamble making a score of 28 and Brown (not out) of 29, consisting of 10 1s, 3 2s, 3 3s, 1 4s.

The Armaments of Europe.

A reference was made to the growing cost of the armaments of the European Powers by a supporter of the British Government in the House of Commons the other day. He depicted the condition of Europe as an armed truce. He went at length into the statistics of the different armies and into the military expenditure of the various countries, and the national debt incurred by past wars. He described the progress of foreign countries by disarmament, and moved an address praying that Her Majesty open direct communication with other powers with the view of a mutual and simultaneous reduction of European armaments. Mr. Gladstone expressed his sympathy with Mr. Richards' object, but he doubted whether the means recommended would lead to any result. Mr. Courtney suggested the adoption of a resolution in place of the address moved by Mr. Richards, to the effect that it is the duty of the Government on all occasions when circumstances will permit, to recommend to foreign Governments a reduction of armaments. Mr. Gladstone said he was not favorable to affirming propositions which are not susceptible of immediate application; but if the House desired to adopt such a resolution he would not stand in the way. Mr. Richards withdrew his motion and Mr. Courtney's resolution was carried. But of what use will it be? The Great Powers on the European continent will not reduce their forces by a single man or a single gun. Russia and Germany and France are huge camps, Austria is not much behind her sister powers, and the lesser powers in their own way try to emulate the extravagance of their more powerful neighbors, and keep up useless and expensive armies for no use whatever unless as a source of menace to all around. The principles of the peace party seem yet to be a long way off from realization, and though we commend the spirit manifested by the British Premier and his supporters, we fear the expression of opinion in the way of securing peace will have but little effect on the continent, where each power is armed to the teeth, and ready on a moment's notice to enter on war.

Appointment of Royal Commissioners.

The Government are determined that there shall be no scarcity of Royal Commissions. The following are announced: A commission will be issued to Judge Clarke, of Cobourg, Mr. Samuel Keefer, the engineer, and Mr. Miall, of the Inland Revenue Department, whose duties will comprise an investigation into all matters relating to the Pacific Railway, the surveys, the contracts, the engineering and the expenditure. A commission composed of Mr. D. McInnes, Hamilton; Mr. Barbeau, banker, Montreal; Col. White, Post Office Department; Col. Brunnel, Inland Revenue Department, and Capt. Tilton, Marine and Fisheries Department, will be appointed to examine the condition of the Civil Service, with a view to its reorganization on a better and more economical basis. Sir Alex. Campbell, Hon. G. W. Allan, Messrs. Plumb, M. P., and Desjardin, M. P., will be appointed to confer with the New York and Toronto commissioners in relation to the improvements at Niagara Falls. It is about time that some system was adopted to prevent the civil service from being made a refuge for the relatives and friends of politicians whose sole object seems to be to make money out of the country. These commissions will cost the country a great deal of money, and it remains to be seen whether they will prove of any value or not, time will solve the matter. The Cabinet Ministers with those three commissions at work will be able to take plenty of holidays for months to come. The Internal Economy Committee at their meeting on Tuesday afternoon concluded to make a number of superannuations shortly in order that some needy friends of the Government might be provided for.

THE Reform press in Manitoba are not alone in condemning the land regulations of the Dominion Government. La Metis, the French Canadian organ (Conservative), says:—It is not astonishing that the settlers of Turtle Mountain District have been moved by this arbitrary act which places the title of each colonist's property in much uncertainty. * * * * The settler who for two or three years has sweated blood and water and has imposed upon himself a thousand sacrifices to till and improve the land, is obliged to quit it. Very few settlers will be found who will risk cultivating lands that can be taken from them at a moment's notice.

THE death is announced of William Evan Price, the representative of Chicoutimi and Saguenay, in the Legislative Assembly of Quebec. While a Liberal Conservative, Mr. Price was above party prejudice, and during Mr. Joly's tenure of office was a constant supporter of his policy. The fate of the Joly Ministry depended for a whole session on his vote, and notwithstanding his former party associations and the anxiety of the Conservative opposition to secure his support, he remained steadfast in his loyalty to the Premier of his choice.

THE United States Congress has adjourned.

THE Minister of Marine got as cold a reception from his constituents in Prince Edward Island as the Minister of Finance did from his constituents in St. John, N. B. We have the assurance of the Island papers that the climate of the Maritime Province did not agree at all with the Admirable Creighton who presides over the Admiralty. The Patriot tells us he was very uncomfortable while he remained, and he left for the more peaceful and congenial meridian of Ottawa at the earliest possible moment. He heard a greater number of wholesome but unpalatable truths during the two weeks or so of his stay among his constituents than he was ever compelled to listen to before in the same space of time.

THE following comes from the Globe's Ottawa correspondent:—A good story is told of one of the new Tory members in the Ontario Legislature, which has not previously been published. A friend conversing with him happened casually to allude to the proposal to construct the canal across the Isthmus of Panama, and speculated on the enormous cost of the undertaking. The Tory Local member—whose ante-election admission was that he did not know the first thing about Ontario politics, but promised to do the best he could to learn if elected—turned to his friend, and with amazement in his eyes remarked, "You don't mean to say the Ontario Government propose to do that. Their extravagance is becoming unbearable. I shall vote against the proposal when it is brought up in the Legislature." And then he wondered why his friend laughed.

TORONTO Telegram: — The work which has been done by the Agricultural Commission must be pronounced very satisfactory. The result thus far gives promises that the great objects to accomplish which the Commission was created will be achieved, and presented to the public free from the suspicion of political taint. It will be remembered that grave alarm—at least so the Conservative organs assured an aroused public, and every one knows that a political hack is as immaculate as the late George Washington—was felt that this Commission was a scheme to subvert the N. P. and poison the minds of confiding rustics against protection. Strangely enough, no effort has been apparent to do this, and a careful reader will find that the N. P. is actually advocated by the Commission, though to be sure it is in the modified form of protection to fruit trees. With both political parties thus satisfied, surely the public has no reason to complain.

LISA LENA:

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUTCAST.

CHAPTER II.

VERY EXCITING TIMES.

There was a hearty laugh, in which Slocum joined, though he bit his lip, and turned away to look out of the window.

It was then that my mother's peculiar charm and tact and force came out. She instantly put the officers at their ease.

"You are a naughty child," she said to me playfully, and glancing at the surly figure in the window, "You have no right to have likes and dislikes at your age."

"Hum!" cried Slocum, turning round with that grim smile on his face. "At what age, I wonder, don't your sex show their likes and dislikes?" And he looked at Manley, who was a thin, graceful young fellow, with flaxen hair and blue eyes, and a fine pale face, some sunny down on his upper lip.

"Well, Captain," said my mother vivaciously, smiling in his face, "is it not the privilege of a woman? If we have no strength of character or of physique, we still retain our freedom of choice; it is all that is left to us."

"And you exercise it pretty freely, too," he said, his large mouth breaking into a humorous smile.

He glanced keenly at the other two officers as if to find out what they were thinking of him, and then he came round and took me up awkwardly, and kissed me. I struggled for a moment to get free, but he held me tight in his great strong arms, and then he said—

"Now we are friends, and you mustn't hate me any more," and so he set me down beside my mother, and began walking round the room, staring at all the nicknacks, his sword banging about his heels, while the other two officers, who had taken their's off, and mother conversed. I sat on the Colonel's knee. He was a grave, anxious-looking man. Every two or three minutes his eye glanced out of the windows, or he appeared to be listening sharply for far-off noises. He must have been every inch a soldier. There was something about his face that touched me. I have seen it on a few other faces since—a downy softness of expression that throws a gentle halo over the strongest features, and excites in the beholder sympathy and sadness. I saw it once on a girl's face, for about twenty-four hours, and noticed it. It seemed like a sort of transfiguration. I actually accused her of having herself engamelled, or of using some new brush. She was one of the most daring girls I ever saw—daring physically, and also morally, without a sense of fear. When I saw her picked up from the ground a livid, flaccid body, which I had seen flash through the air on a trapeze, shriek, miss her aim, and flash down on the stage, and lie there motionless, all in a few seconds of time, I understood that strange expression which she had worn. It was not the shadow, but the gleam of death. It was on the Colonel's face that night. He spoke little, but with strange, thrilling accent, and the gentleness and fatherliness of his demeanour towards my mother was very striking. He mentioned that he had a wife and two children at New Orleans.

"I may never see them again." I remember he said solemnly, after stating this, "God's will be done."

All the incidents of that afternoon are sharply written on my memory.

During the dinner a curious thing happened. Old Toxy had been excessively active, fetching the dinner from the kitchen, serving it up with great dignity from the sideboard, while the Colonel's servant handed it round, wrapping up the cooled bottles in white napkins, and himself pouring out the wine to the guests and to my mother. But all the time his eyes and ears were wide open, for I caught him turning sometimes and glaring sharply at Captain Manley and then at my mother.

At desert he stood behind her chair, and Captain Manley, a little excited by the wine, had thrown at her a glance so ardent that she was confused, and for a moment hid her face with her fan and turned to speak to Colonel Wood. Toxy with his arms crossed had caught the Captain's glance. His eyes opened wide, his nostrils dilated, and the look he gave the young officer was at once so severe and so absurd, that the latter half laughed, and to cover his confusion, called to me across the table to come to him.

Toxy gave his head an almost imperceptible shake, of which I caught the meaning, "Don't go." So I got off my chair and ran to my mother, and caught hold of her hand, saying—

"No thank you sir. We are going away."

Slocum's face wore a sort of grim smile at this. Perhaps he had been watching the byplay between the two while he sat thus silent. My mother rose immediately and the gentleman also."

"Madam," said Colonel Wood, "we longer have any right to intrude on your privacy or your kindness. The surprise of meeting you here has been as fortunate as it was pleasant. But I understand you have children, and we have duties. Captain Manley, you will order out a squad and patrol for five miles up as far as the Rice River Fork, and Captain Slocum will take charge of this post. I have some writing to do and will take a couple of hours' sleep, if you will allow me, madam, and retire to my room. The reveille will be sounded at four, and will I fear disturb your rest, but I pray you to give yourself no further anxiety. I will see every man off myself. Perhaps your servant will be up to receive any message I may wish to leave. I wish you good-night and good-bye. Take my earnest advice, and leave this place before the week is out. It is likely to be the scene of some rough work within the next few weeks.

He took her hand affectionately, and bowed low. Then he stooped and kissed me very gently. A tear dropped on my cheek as he did so and glanced off. I looked at him with my large black eyes.

"God bless you, little girl," he said, as his fingers wandered a moment through my loose hair. And then he drew himself up and looked gravely at the other officers. Slocum came forward and offered his hand.

"Good-bye, Madame," he said. "You may have found us a rough lot; but we could only wish well to you. Take the Colonel's advice, and clear out. This aint the place for a lonely woman."

Manley had stood looking at her, and seeming rather annoyed and embarassed. He had evidently thought of a longer evening. A flush was on his cheek as he too bowed and held out his hand. She placed her jewelled fingers in his, and he held them an unnecessary time, and must have pressed them hard, for my mother drew away her hand quickly, and the scarlet mantled in her cheek.

"I had hoped," he said, "for a longer acquaintance; but duty is duty. Perhaps we may meet again, and in any case Captain Manley is always at your service."

My mother bowed. Colonel Wood remained standing near her, and bowed to the officers, who, taking the hint, left the room.

"Madam," said the Colonel again, "let me beg you again most earnestly to act promptly. Your position here is one of terrible danger. I am going to join the army in which your husband is engaged. I know his name. Major Henri Mercer is a cool and daring officer. I shall certainly look him up, and tell him how much I owe to your kindness—a delightful evening and the comforts of a home for the last time before a great battle. If you would like me to be the bearer of any let-

ing. Good night again."

He left the room. Toxy followed him. My mother, taking my hand, led the way to the drawing room. One of the French windows was open. There were no lights, but the night outside was starry and brilliant. A beautiful moon shed its soft radiance over the dark foliage of the trees, and on the graceful coronets and the slim pillars of the tall palms, making them gleam like pillars or capitals of burnished gold. I was tired. I threw myself on a low chair in the shadow of the room, while my mother stood in the window looking over the glorious scene. Behind the house we could hear the tramp of horses, the clink of sabres, and the subdued voices of the patrol turning out. There was a quick, light footstep in the verandah. My mother steps back a pace. In the place she had just left stood Captain Manley. She did not speak, but looked at him, while he gazed at her, the moon flooding her all over with its fairy light, transfiguring her fine and handsome form and white dress into a wonderful silvery image.

"I could not say 'Good-bye' thus," he said, in a quick, low tone. "These are war times. I am going into danger. I may never see you again. You have stricken and blinded me. As long as I am alive I can never—never forget this evening."

He seized her left hand and came close to her. She did not move. She was looking in his face. She did not withdraw her hand. I fancy she pressed his. In an instant he threw his arms around her voluptuous form and kissed her two or three times eagerly. She did not struggle or cry out. For an instant her hand lay caressingly on his shoulder, her head on his breast.

Then she kissed him on the cheek once, and gently disengaging herself. She was not angry, though her cheek was burning.

"Good-bye," she said, "good-bye." And turning away she called to me.

He started when he saw me, and instantly calling in a low tone "Good-bye," went off to his duty as quietly as he had come.

When my mother took my hand I could feel she was agitated. Her fingers were cold. She seemed nervous and ashamed. She put me to bed without the candles, and after looking the door and putting the revolver case as usual beside her bed she lay down. But neither of us slept. Our thoughts were too full for rest. We were both awake when the reveille sounded in the darkness, and the neighing of the horses and cries of the men indicated that our visitors were departing. My mother got up and looked out of the window. I climbed up beside her. The moon still flooded the landscape with light. Along the road that wound through the lawn proceeded the troops. In front rode Colonel Wood and Captain Slocum, looking straight before them. Behind on a prancing charger, was a light figure. He glanced up at the window. He lifted his cap, and kissed his hand. For a moment a white handkerchief waved to him, and my mother turned away and buried her face in her hands.

Three days afterwards we moved into Mobile, leaving the house and its furniture, but carrying with us a great load of linen and plate, and valuable nick-nacks. The slaves were left. Only Toxy accompanied us. We went to some lodgings, where one morning, not many days after, reading a newspaper, my mother fell faint. There was a list of killed and wounded at the battle of Shiloh. Among the gallant dead were the names of Major Henri Mercer, and Colonel Evelyn Sharmon Wood.

The Markets.

June 16.—In Liverpool both spring and club wheat declined 1d per cental, and floating cargoes were easier. The Chicago market was strong during the morning hours, but declined sharply during the afternoon. In Montreal the market continues dull and without change. Canada spring wheat is quoted at $1 25 to $1 27, corn 49c, peas 89c to 90c, oats 35c to 36c. In Toronto wheat is dull and demoralized. Sellers were encouraged up till noon to-day by the steadiness of the Chicago market, but the sudden decline of two cents there in the afternoon was anything but pleasant. No. 2 fall is held at $1 13 and $1 14; No. 1 nominal at $1 15; spring quiet at $1 18 to $1 20 for No. 2, and $1 22 to $1 23 for No. 1; oats are in fair demand; peas are dull, with no sale reported; butter is steady, with really choice tubs freely taken at 13c to 14c for shipment; wool is steady at 27c, but dealers do not feel warranted in taking large lots as long as the States market are so unsettled.

Montreal Cattle Market.

MONTREAL, June 14.

The cattle market was very dull to-day, except for choice shipping cattle, for which there was an active demand at high prices. A few choice butcher's cattle were sold at 5c, but the general rates of good small steers and heifers are from 4¼ to 4½c per lb. Half fatted and lean cattle are by far too numerous for sellers to realize much profit on their sales. Fair-sized bulls in good condition, are bought by butchers at 3½ to 4c per lb. Large bulls for shipping to Europe bring 4½c per lb. Good shipping steers and heifers sold to-day at 5 to 5¾c per lb. Alderman McShane bought to-day 21 choice cattle from J. Stagg, of Brockville, at $74 each, 22 cattle from R. J. Hooper at $68 each, and 12 cattle from J. Crawford at $55 each, from 4¾ to 5¼c per lb. Kennedy & Craig bought 8 very choice cattle from W. Laing, of Guelph, and 8 others from W. Carnegie, of Mildmay. The prices paid for these cattle ranged from 5¼ to 5¾c per lb.

The Boston Wool Market.

The sales are nearly double the amount of any one of the past few weeks, but are yet quite limited. There are not many buyers around, and these show no anxiety to take hold, says the Journal of Commerce. Prices are still unsettled and in buyers' favour, and the tone of the market remains uncertain. Values continue to gradually shrink, but the opinion is gaining ground among dealers that prices of the finer wools must be pretty well down to the minimum. Buyers in many cases will probably not be able to keep out of the market much longer. There are no reports of mills shutting down despite the dulness and slight accumulation of goods. Stocks of wools at the smaller mills must be getting depleted under the large consumption, and buyers will likely take hold with considerable sharpness as soon as they can at all see their way clear. Orders for lightweights for spring will be sought for soon, and then wool will have to be taken to cover contracts. New domestic wools are now arriving freely, but what few are selling are at not very remunerative prices.

Gen. Arthur was so beset by the handshakers in Chicago that a ring worn on the fourth finger of the right hand, and which had not been removed from that finger for years, had to be filed off, as the continued squeezing had worn the skin off the third and fourth fingers and created inflamed sores on them.

Guelph Markets.

MERCURY OFFICE,

This week we have nothing to report of the markets but continued dullness and lower prices. Wheat has rapidly declined for the past few days from $1 14 to $1 08, which latter is the highest that was paid to-day for the best samples, the decline is owing to outside markets having taken the lead, in the direction above mentioned. There is no change in prices of other grains such as peas, oats, barley, etc.

Wool has also declined since our last weekly report which by ourselves at least, was not at all unexpected. As our readers are well aware that we intimated in former numbers that the figures then paid could not be continued, and our anticipations have proved to be correct. The prices now current are likely to remain steady for some time or until manufacturers again resume the purchasing of supplies. Lower prices generally tend to small deliveries, which can now be truly said.

Wool receipts, however, continue pretty liberal, and although we quote 28c as the general price paid for ordinary marketing fleeces, for a few choice south down parcels a few cents more were paid in one or two instances.

No change in quotations of potatoes for shipping purposes.

BOND-STREET CHURCH.—At a meeting of the members of this Church on Thursday night, Mr. Elgar stated that the Rev. Thomas Hall, of St. John's, Newfoundland, had been communicated with by telegraph, and was now on his way to preach with a view to the pastorate rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. Handford. Interesting particulars of this gentleman's career and characteristics were given, and from what transpired his advent in Toronto will be looked forward to with unusual interest.

Pere Hyacinthe on Thursday delivered the first of a course of lectures in French on positive Christianity.

Rinderpest is reported in Derbyshire.

Figaro prints an exposure of the alleged Legitimist conspiracy in France. It is said Count De Chambard, the Bourbon pretender, is privy to the plot, and large sums have been collected to buy the adhesion of influential republicans.

The Government Irish Relief Bill passed its second reading on Thursday. A clause proposed by Secretary Forster, intended to give judges of the county courts discretionary powers to give relief in cases of eviction, was withdrawn, and will be introduced as a separate measure.

The report of the committee in the case of Bradlaugh states that there is no precedent for a refusal to allow a member to take the parliamentary oath. Mere compliance with the form used would not be taking the oath. The House ought to prevent him going through such a form, therefore the committee advise that he be allowed to affirm.

The evident signs of depression are passing away in Australia. There is a good harvest and high prices. The wool prospect is unlimited, and the exportation of frozen meat assists in promoting prosperity.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M.

Fire at St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 18.—A fire broke out this a.m. in the barn attached to the Mechanics' Hotel, owned by Mr. Hynes. The hotel building and contents were destroyed. Eight horses were burned together with a lot of buggies, carriages and harness. Mr. Hynes, who slept in the barn narrowly escaped with his life. Loss about $3,000. Contents insured for $1,600 in the Hartford; on building either $500 or $800. Cause of fire supposed incendiarism.

From Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 18.—It is now certain that the famous Oka Indian trial will be renewed at Aylmer at the approaching term of Queen's Bench, which opens on the 2nd July. The docket is an unusually extensive one.

Among criminal cases are those of the Rev. Father Faure, E. B. Doyle, Berthe and Dr. Langlois, the Gatineau conspirators, Brishers, murderer of Gilbault, also of Gatineau, charged with murderous assault, and Pelisor for attempting to destroy his child's life by throwing her out of the window in Hull.

The Citizen says:—The Government are not paying ocean passage of navvies or other persons to this country, but the Minister of Agriculture has made arrangement by which fares from Quebec of a limited number of navvies required by railway contractors with the Government should be advanced to points in the west, upon condition that such advances should be repaid by the railway department by deduction from first payments made by the Government.

The De Coursier Suicide.

At the adjourned inquest on the body of this man, the jury returned the following verdict:—"That Robert Wm. De Coursier, a prisoner in the gaol of Toronto, under sentence of death, came to his death on the 15th day of June, from the effects of a certain poison, to wit, prussic or hydrocyanic acid, administered by himself with the intent to commit suicide. The jury find that the said poison was clandestinely given to the deceased at the gaol with intent that he should thereby commit suicide, but how or by what means the bottle was so given to the prisoner the jury are unable to say." His remains were interred on Thursday at Lambton Mills.

The Springers in Council.

We learn from the Hamilton Times that the heirs of the Springer estate held a well attended and important meeting at the American Hotel, on Tuesday, Claimants to the number of about forty were present from all parts of the United States and Canada, among them being the following: Moses Springer, M.P., Waterloo; Mr. Graham, of Burlington, was called to the chair, and Mr. Springer, of Nelson, requested to act as secretary. After organization, the meeting was addressed by Moses Springer, who also read a report showing the position of affairs at present, and what had been done in the past to secure the $80,000,000 worth of property in Wilmington, Delaware. The report exhibited a most hopeful state of affairs and was unanimously adopted. Mr. Moses Springer was then re-elected manager of the affairs of the heirs to this vast property and it is hoped that he will be able to bring the business to a successful issue. He will attend a meeting to be held at some point in the United States, not determined on yet, on the 23rd inst., for the purpose of endeavoring to bring about a union between the Springer organization of the neighboring Republic and the Canadian branch, which, from letters produced and read, there is reason to believe will prove successful.

Among the bills likely to pass at the present session of the Quebec Legislature is a measure authorizing the employment outside the prison walls of prisoners sent to the common gaol, and on work connected with the municipality in which the gaol is situated.

DOG LICENSE.—The first citizen to register his dog was Mr. Arch. Frew, who paid his license fee this morning.

ACCORDING to instructions from the Post-office Department, handbills enclosed in newspapers hereafter will subject the newspapers to three cents extra postage.

William Bittle, charged to-day at Police Court, with being disorderly on Saturday, was discharged. Mrs. Bittle, against whom there is a similar charge, has not yet been arrested.

THE DUNCAN CASE.—The case against Alex. G. Duncan, which was to have been tried at the County Court and General Sessions now in progress, has been postponed till the fall assizes.

BASE BALL.—The Clippers, of Toronto, have challenged the Maple Leafs to play a match for the championship here on Dominion Day. It is likely the challenge will be accepted.

THE garden party given by the Y. M. C. A., at Idylwyld, last night, passed off very pleasantly. A detachment of the Artillery band was in attendance, and enlivened the proceedings with music.

ROBERT ADRIAN, a teamster in the employ of a Hespeler firm, while unloading some wares at Osborne's in Hamilton, had his right foot very severely hurt by one of the wheels of a loaded waggon passing over it.

IT is understood that since the cow by-law has been enforced, a number of property owners on Waterloo Avenue intend removing the fences about their grounds, which will add to the appearance of the street.

IT has been noticed as a remarkable coincidence, that the choir in St. George's church were engaged in singing the hymn "for those in peril on the sea," just about the time the collision between the Queen and Anchoria occurred, allowing for difference of latitude.

A FAMILY named Blais, living in Ottawa, ate some lettuce at tea on Wednesday night, and all were poisoned, but not fatally and are now recovering. It was discovered that Paris green had been blown from the potato vines upon the lettuce.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS.—Mr. George Patterson intends shipping 17 head of cattle and Mr. Laing the same number, to Montreal this week if they can be supplied with cars. The cattle were delivered on Thursday and are on the fair grounds awaiting the convenience of the Grand Trunk Railway Company to ship.

CAR ON FIRE.—On Thursday night the roof of a car filled with live stock on the Great Western Railway was observed to be on fire at Guelph station. The flames were spreading over the roof when noticed. The car was taken to the tank at which the engines are watered and the fire soon extinguished. It is supposed to have originated through a spark from the engine.

THE GREAT CLOCK.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that the celebrated Engle clock, which has created so much admiration as the most wonderful piece of mechanism ever produced by mortal hands, will be on exhibition in the store adjoining the "Wonderful Man" for the week commencing June 21st.

ST. JEROME COLLEGE, BERLIN.—The members of the Union of the Alumni of St. Jerome's College will meet in second Annual Assembly at College Hall, Berlin, on commencement day, Wednesday, the 7th of July, at twelve o'clock, noon, to elect officers of Union for the ensuing term, and for the transaction of other business.

AUCTIONEER'S LICENSE.—Messrs. McAllan and Asher, who bought a bankrupt stock up north procured a license to dispose of it by auction from Mr. Reynolds, County Treasurer, and came to the city to dispose of it yesterday. The Chief of Police informed them that they would have to procure a license from the city before selling the goods, and they took out one this morning.

THE HAYING SEASON AND THE WEATHER OFFICE.—According to the opinions of the observers at the Meteorological Department, Toronto, fine settled weather may be looked for all over Ontario during the remainder of this week, with the exception perhaps of a few local thunder storms on Saturday night. A notice to this effect has been sent out by the Department to all the post offices and telegraph offices with which it is in communication. The importance to farmers of such information as this, provided experience shows that it can be relied upon, cannot be exaggerated.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Light to moderate winds, continued warm weather.

BARN RAISING.—A large barn, 60 feet by 70 feet, was raised on the farm of Mr Martin Cassin, lot 17, con. 6, Puslinch, on Wednesday, the sides being captained by Mr. Mitchell Todd and Mr. Worthington. Thre were one hundred and twenty persons present, ninety of whom took part and twenty-five of whom were old settler who took part in raising a barn on the same site thirty years ago. The framing is said to be as substantial as any in the country.

A Canadian's Generosity.

On Monday we had occasion to refer to the very liberal donation made by our esteemed citizen, Mr. T. H. Hodgson, of A. Hodgson & Son, produce merchants, to a church at Brockville. Mr. Hodgson, however, is a regular philanthropist in his way, and his good deeds of the past eighteen months or so are worth recording, showing as they do the good uses to which wealth can be applied. During a recent visit to England, it is learnt that Mr. Hodgson paid a debt of $1,300 on a church at Birkenhead, also raising the debt of a church at Crew, amount not stated. Three weeks ago he laid the corner stone of the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church at Brooklyn, N. Y., presenting the congregation with $4,000. To the Baptist and Presbyterian Churches of Brockville, Canada, he donated $500 each, and paid off $600 due on a Baptist Church at Belleville. Another $500 was presented to Rev. J. F. Stevenson, of Emmanuel Church. The magnificent gift of $8,500 to the new Olivet Baptist Church in this city is still remembered with gratitude by the congregation. While at Liverpool last winter Mr. Hodgson started two cocoa drinking temperance rooms, now self-supporting. The employees of the gentlemen in question have not been forgotten as Mr. Jodery, an old and faithful servant who received a bonus of $2,000 on leaving for Colorado mining fields can testify. It will be seen from the above that Mr. Hodgson's recent disbursements principally for charitable objects have amounted to over $17,900.—Montreal Star.

Mr. George Cowan, one of the tenant farmer, delegates from Scotland who visited Manitoba last year, has purchased "Prairie Dell Farm," which comprises eight hundred acres, in Headingly. He will take possession in July.

It is understood that the engagements of the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise to visit certain places in Western Ontario, after the close of the fishing excursion, are such as will prevent their Excellencies visiting Manitoba and the North-West Territories this year, as has been announced in many Western journals.

About 135 passengers of the disabled steamer Anchoria sailed for Glasgow on Thursday on the Ethiopa of the same line

The Inebriate Asylum of Nova Scotia has been permanently closed, after an existence of nearly five years. It had received both public and private assistance, but did not appear to "take" with friends of liquor victims to an extent that would ensure success.

Albert Krouse, the Beverly milk thief, who now rejoices in the euphonious name of "Sodom Calf," was sentenced by Judge Sinclair last week to three months in gaol.

Mr. T. E. Hay, of Listowel, has been appointed overseer of Colonization roads in the Muskoka district.

In accordance with previous announcement the new Baptist Church in Palmerston was formally opened for worship on Sunday, the 4th inst. The congregation is only $175 in debt.

At the June sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace and County Court for the County of Waterloo held at the Court House on Tuesday 8th inst., there were no criminal cases for hearing and only one civil case.

The Walkerton Herald calls the County Council of Bruce "the forty thieves," because at the last session they voted themselves increased pay.

The Mount Forest Confederate records the death of a father and son last week from glanders which they contracted by coming in contact with a horse affected with that disease.

The Galt Reformer gives an account of some terrible thunder storms which passed over that town on Friday and Saturday, 11th and 12th June. During their progress Mr. W. P. Clay and Mr. Ryckman, standing at the door of their shop dropped to the ground stricken by the electricity and it was some time before they were themselves again. The driver of the Queen's omnibus which had just left the G. W. R. station received a shock in his legs, and immediately asked who had struck him with a stick.

No less than fifty of the active clergymen of Huron Diocese have received their theological training at Huron College, of which Bishop Helmuth was the founder and is the President. They comprise nearly one-half the entire active staff; a result somewhat surprising when the recent establishment of that seminary of learning is taken into account.

The banks of the Saskatchewan for fifty miles above and fifty miles below Edmonton are very high, and the coal protrudes in regular strata or layers much as rocks would do on the banks of our eastern Canadian rivers. The coal area seems to extend from a point at considerable distance north-west of Edmonton, and running in a south-easterly direction for hundreds of miles towards the south branch of the Saskatchewan. In some places these coal surfaces have been known to ignite from a prairie fire and to burn all winter, keeping the snow melted for a considerable area around, owing to the intense heat prevailing in the coal beds.

Judge Sinclair has published a book on the Division Court Act of 1880, said by those posted to be a valuable work.

Persons living in cities and towns whose occupation confines them to the workshop or the office, welcome, perhaps more than anything else, a short period of rest during the summer months. Even a day's outing in the country has a wonderful effect on the human system, and most people after such a jaunt will return to work with renewed vigour. A few years ago Puslinch Lake was largely visited by picnic parties composed of those employed in factories and stores in Guelph. These events became less frequent,—without a reason, for these visits to the Lake were generally pleasant ones. But they promise to become common again by reason of the efforts Messrs. Davidson and Sleeman have made this year to render the spot more than ever attractive.

Puslinch Lake lies in a secluded spot about nine miles south of this city and two miles from Hespeler, so that it is easily accessible either by rail or road. It is about one mile in width and one and a half miles long. The scenery surrounding the lake is varied and beautiful, particularly along the north and west shores, where there is a pebbly beach. Besides the large Island there are a number of smaller ones covered with rich foliage, which present a pretty view from the mainland. Davidson's Island Park comprises about seven acres, and is situated a mile from the north shore. It is a very pretty spot, covered with a fine growth of grass and sheltered by massive trees. Lawns have been formed in various places, to be used for playing croquet; a dancing platform is being made, and other improvements are in progress. There is a booth on the Island where temperance drinks and cigars are to be had. The Island is reached by the steamer "City of Guelph," which plies between the new hotel being built by Messrs. Sleeman and Davidson, about half a mile east of the old Lake View hotel. Owing to the shallowness of the water in some places, the steamer has to make a circuitous route between the two places, thus affording passengers a fine sail on the boat. The channel has been marked off with buoys, and these give the water a navigable appearance. The hotel, which has a stone foundation, will be 40 feet by 32 feet in size and two storeys high, with a kitchen in rear the same height, and 28 by 20 feet in size. On the ground floor of the main building there will be two sitting-rooms, a bar-room and dining-room. In rear will be the kitchen and two bedrooms. Up stairs there are to be two parlours looking towards the lake, and in rear eight bedrooms. Outwardly the hotel will present an appearance somewhat like the Newton House in this city. It will be well furnished, and boarders will be given ample accommodation. The contractors for the carpenter work, Messrs. Mahoney & Chase, have been allowed 14 days longer to complete their work; the plasterers will commence when the carpenters have finished, and it is expected the place will be opened shortly after the 1st of July. The stabling is ample and good. The promoters of this scheme have shown a great deal of enterprise, and their efforts are sure to be rewarded. When all the improvements are made doubtless the house and grounds will be largely patronized.

Finlay vs. Hamilton.—This was an action brought upon an alleged false warranty of a black horse sold by the defendant to the plaintiff. The defendant denied that he warranted the horse and said that he was sound when sold. The jury found that the defendant did warrant the horse and that he was unsound, and found a verdict for the plaintiff for $160 damages. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., for plaintiff; Mr. A. H. Macdonald instructed by Mr. McCarthy, Orangeville, for defendant.

It would not do among civilized people.

Canada is gaining fame as the home of athleticism. In rowing she is pre-eminent. In Caledonian sports she is at the top. In lacrosse she leads the world, and in the more sensible forms of predestrianism she is as good as the best. This fact is being recognized, and the New York Sun generally says that Canada's best "is usually the world's best, in the long run."

The Late Steamship Disaster.

An Account of the Accident as Related by a Passenger from Guelph.

Mr. T. J. Day, who was a passenger on the Anchoria at the time of the collision with the Queen, arrived home from New York on Thursday evening. He has kindly supplied the following account of the accident:

The Anchoria left New York at 8:30 on Saturday morning, having on board one hundred and eighty passengers. There was a calm sea and beautiful weather all day Saturday, but during the night a dense fog fell upon the water, which continued all day Sunday. Mr. Day and a number of others went to lunch at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and about half an hour latter—before they had left the dining room—there came a crash followed by a shock and quivering of the timbers of the vessel. The passengers rushed up the stairway on to the deck, where all was confusion. Their true position flashed upon them as they saw the Queen laying along side them. Orders were immediately given to lower the boats from the Anchoria, for by this time no doubt was felt but that the steamship was sinking. This created a panic and officers, sailors and passengers rushed about wildly. They rushed to the life boats to cut them down, but they could not be removed rapidly on account of rust and paint. By this time the Queen had drifted away and was lost to view in the fog. The passengers did not realize the extent of the injury, but were confused by the panic among the crew. The water could be heard rushing through the opening made by the collision and this increased their fears. In the midst of the panic, and before any boats could be lowered, two boats arrived from the Queen. The promptness of the sailors of the Queen in getting out the boats, was due to the fact that they had been put through boat drill an hour previous to the accident. The crew scrambled into the boats without a thought for the safety of the passengers, who were left to look out for themselves. The first of the Anchoria's life boats contained about fifty souls, and three quarters of these were sailors. The majority of the crew got into the first boats and as a consequence several of the last boats were left without a sailor, and entirely in command of passengers. They had to row themselves and there was great difficulty in reaching the Queen on account of the fog. The passengers were all transferred with two or three slight accidents, the crew of the Queen acting nobly. Mr. Day was in one of the last boats that left the Anchoria, and by that time two of the compartments were filled with water. The opening made by the collision was to the forward on the starboard side, being twenty-eight feet in length and four feet in depth. The only way by which passengers could reach the life boats from the Anchoria was by going down the side of the steamer by ropes hand over hand fashion. They reached the Queen by means of step ladders. Mr. Day attributes the panic to a lack of discipline among the crew and their fear of sinking. It is his opinion that there were too few proper sailors on board, and that the company pay too little to secure superior sailors. Something like fourteen of the crew were men who were working as sailors for their passage. When the passengers were taken on board the Queen the sailors returned to the Anchoria and secured a quantity of small baggage. It being agreed that both steamers should keep company into port, they steamed up. The fog cleared away on Sunday night and the water was still calm. If it had not been so there was great danger of the Anchoria sinking. The vessels signalled each other from time to time, and they proceeded together till the bar was reached where the Anchoria had to wait for the tide, and the Queen proceeded for New York. The passengers were made very comfortable on board the Queen, but the majority of them were terribly frightened. That steamer was also badly damaged, and there was a fear that if she encountered rough weather she might also go down. The Anchoria was moving through the fog when the accident took place, at high speed. Mr. Day thinks it would have been impossible for the officers to maintain order after the collision, owing to the inferior crew.

THE BISHOP OF NIAGARA'S EXPERIENCES.

The Rev. Canon Dixon received a letter from the Bishop of Niagara to-day describing their merciful escape from the perils of the sea. Had it not been that "the ocean was so smooth that a birch bark canoe could have sailed on it without danger," both vessels would in all human probability have gone to the bottom. The great risk of the Anchoria was, lest, in case of even a fresh breeze, the first compartment, which was full of air, would break loose from the second and third, which were filled with water. The captain of the Queen kindly gave up his cabin to the Bishop and Mrs. Fuller, who left the Anchoria in the last boat with passengers, The Bishop and Mrs. Fuller sailed by the Ethiopia yesterday, in the hope that they might be safely protected in the future by the hand of the same gracious God and Father.

Lawyers and Witnesses.

The Stratford Herald, in referring to the case of Mr. McNamee, of Montreal, who is now being confined for ten days in jail for striking a lawyer in the Court room, has some timely remarks on the conduct of many lawyers towards witnesses under examination, with which we heartily agree. We have seen many a good case spoiled by the imperious, bullying manner of a lawyer towards a witness. Jurymen are not, as a rule, such fools as lawyers often take them for, and when they see—as they often do—some poor witness bullied and abused and cross-questioned out of all measure, their sympathies are apt to turn the other way. We readily admit that lawyers have often very bad witnesses to deal with, but if they only knew human nature a little better they would soon appreciate the fact that quiet, incisive questioning is ten times more effective in eliciting the truth than the bull-dog style which is much too prevalent in all our courts. The Herald says:—In this (the McNamee) case sympathy goes out to the offender because of the manner in which too many lawyers abuse the privileges of their profession. Doubtless there are litigants whose evasions and prevarications are very annoying, and no one should deny counsel the right to show such up, or to derive what benefit they may from shaking their credibility; but one fails to see how any client's case is benefitted by the roaring, bullying, abusive tone often times adopted. It has been well said that nothing so closely resembles conscious guilt as unsophisticated innocence. An honest though timid witness is sometimes easily confused by impertinent questions and insolent insinuations, and if the lawyer has good lungs he may frighten a witness, particularly a woman, into all sorts of lapses and contradictions. The lay mind fails to understand why the Bench so seldom protects the witness, but the most the Bench does as a rule is to express its contempt for the whole proceeding by refusing to take notes of the answers thus elicited. This may serve to irritate the questioner but it fails to relieve the witness. It is monstrous that a man should be encouraged to employ language and adopt a mien in court that would secure his speedy castigation in a bar room. If the Bench held the Bar with a firmer rein such cases as the McNamee assault would never occur, at least not in Canada, where the law and its agents are held in general respect. Yet we hold, be the provocation what it may, that the proper place to kick an impudent lawyer is out of doors.

The Tribune's Cincinnati special says there seems no longer any doubt that Tilden will be an active candidate for the Presidency at the Democratic convention.

The abolition of the Malt Tax in England will afford to Canadians the opportunity of exporting large quantities of second grade malt, which can be manufactured cheaply, and used for fattening cattle.

A youth in Australia has been committed for trial at the instance of the Colonial Secretary for offering the latter a bribe to confer an appointment. Would that all our public men were equally scrupulous in regard to this matter of bribery.

The reason assigned for the apparent abandonment of the proposal to appoint Hon. John O'Connor to a Judgeship is the difficulty the Government experience in finding an Irish Catholic will command the support of Ontario Irish Catholic Conservatives, if appointed to the Cabinet.

The Lynch Taxation Bill is about the same as the Anger's Taxation Bill which led to the overthrow of the DeBoucherville Cabinet in Quebec. It imposes a registration duty of 30c. on every will, deed of marriage or of donation; 10c. on any deed of sale, exchange, mortgage for a value below $400, 30c. between $400 and any sum under $1,000, 50c. from $1,000 upwards; 20c. for any title deed whatever, registered, produced or deposited; 10c. for any search with or without certificate from the Registrar. A tax is also put on court summonses.

In the annual report of the Directors of the Federal Bank we find the following condemnation of the Government Banking Act: The annual report of the directors of the Federal Bank of Canada says: "The terms upon which the bank charters have been renewed, taking effect on the 1st July, 1881, do not materially differ from those now in force, and are not likely to lessen to any great extent the earning powers of banks. The two most important changes are, first the withdrawal from banks of the right to issue notes of a smaller denomination than five dollars; and, secondly, requiring them to hold not less than 40 per cent. of their reserves in Dominion notes. The latter might be objectionable if the Government issues were limited to the present amount under the late restriction as to gold reserves; but the declared policy of the Government is to increase the issue of legal tender notes, and at the same time diminish the proportion of their gold reserves, a policy which cannot fail sooner or later to prove embarrassing to the Government, and most disastrous to the commercial interests of the Dominion.

The London Times has an excellent suggestion for the United States. It is that the unexpended balance of the Geneva Award be spent in purchasing Niagara Falls, and setting the site apart for an International Park. As a suggestion, this is very good, but we fear it will scarcely be acted upon. The money was obtained in compensation for losses caused by the Alabama, and to ask the United States to formally acknowledge that they obtained $10,000,000 under false pretences, would be rather galling to their pride. They may be perfectly certain that they have no equitable right to the money, but we are afraid they won't admit it openly.

Montreal, June 17.—The foreign mission fund of the western section is the only scheme of the Church that reports a serious deficit. Last year the deficit was about $7,000; at present it is $16,000. There is an increase in the annual contributions of the church, but the expenditure during the year has been greatly increased by the erection of seven new chapels in Formosa and the purchase of property for mission purposes in India. The western section of the Church will be asked to raise $41,000 for foreign missions, which it can easily do. The Synod of Hamilton and London ask the Assembly to instruct the boards of Knox and Montreal Colleges to take such steps as will enable the senates of these institutions to confer degrees of divinity. In 1851 and 1857 the Synod of the old Free Church decided to insert a clause in the act of incorporation empowering the senate of the institution to confer degrees in divinity. When the act was being put through the old Canada Parliament in 1858 changes were made and the degree-conferring clause left out. In 1871 the assembly of the then United Church instructed the boards of Knox and Montreal Colleges to take such steps as would enable the senates of these institutions to confer degrees. The union of all the Presbyterian Churches in the Dominion was then being negotiated, and nothing was done. The Synod now ask the Assembly to give the boards of these colleges the powers obtained from the Assembly of 1871 before the last union. The subject of appointing standing committees was referred back to a committee. It was resolved to approve of the raising of the salaries of our missionaries in the New Hebrides from £150 sterling to £175, with an allowance of £10 for each child, as formerly, and to employ another missionary in Trinidad as speedily as possible. A commission was appointed to try and reconcile parties divided in Knox Church, Perth. On motion of Rev. Principal Grant, the overture from the Presbytery of Kingston, anent the employment of students as missionaries, was laid on the table till next year by a vote of 65 to 21. The Assembly, on a report from the committee on the support of the Theological Colleges affirmed the principle of endowment. An interesting report from the Home Mission Committee of the Eastern Section was read by Dr. Waters and agreed to. The reports of the Brantford and Ottawa Ladies' Colleges were given in; 82 pupils had attended the former and 105 the latter. The usual resolutions were passed. For Brantford College, Rev. Principal MacVicar and Rev. Mr. Fletcher (of Hamilton) were appointed visitors. Rev. Principal MacVicar called attention to the presence in the Assembly of the venerable President of the French Canadian Missionary Society, who had rendered eminent Christian services in this city and the Province for forty years or more—Rev. Dr. Wilkes.

Cattle Plague in Manitoba.—A plague has broken out among the cattle in this province and the surrounding territories. Lime in Agriculture.

The Journal of Forestry briefly sums up many of the uses of lime when applied to the soil. The effects of lime, as will be seen, are in part mechanical and in part chemical.

1. Upon deep alluvial and clay soil it increases the crop of potatoes, and renders them less waxy. Sprinkled over potatoes in a stone-heap it preserves them, and when riddled over the cut sets it wonderfully increases their fertility.

2. Lime eradicates the finger-and-toe disease in turnips, and gives greater soundness to the bulbs.

3. It gives, when applied to meadow land, a larger produce of more nutritious grasses. It also exterminates coarse and sour grasses, destroys couch grass, and acts powerfully upon rye grasses.

4. Upon arable land it destroys weeds of various kinds.

5. It rapidly decomposes vegetable matter, producing a large amount of food for plants in the form of carbonic acid gas.

6. It destroys or neutralizes the acids in the soils; hence its adaptability to sour soils.

7. It acts powerfully upon some of the inorganic parts of the soil, especially on the sulphate of iron found in peaty soils, and the sulphate of magnesia and alumina.

8. It proves fatal to worms and slugs and the larvæ of injurious insects, though favorable to the growth of shell-bearers.

9. Slacked lime added to vegetable matter causes it to give off its nitrogen in the form of ammonia. Upon soils in which ammonia is combined with acids, it sets free the ammonia, which is seized upon by the plants.

10. Its solubility in water causes it to sink into and ameliorate the subsoil. When the soil contains fragments of granite or trap rocks, lime hastens their decomposition and liberates the silicates.

11. Its combination with the acids in the soil produces saline compounds, such as potash, soda, etc.

12. Strewed over your plants, it destroys or drives away the turnip fly.

13. Worked in with grass seeds, the beneficial effects of lime, chalk, marl, and shell-sand have been visible for thirty years.

To sum its advantages: when properly applied to the soil, it purifies and stimulates the action thereby promoting the growth of healthy vegetation of all kinds.

The International Bridge.—A few years ago a suit was instituted against the International Bridge Company, owners of the bridge over the Niagara River between Fort Erie and Buffalo, to compel them to make provision for the passage of carriages and foot passengers across the bridge. The action was dismissed on the ground that the time allowed for completing the bridge—to Oct. 1, 1878—had not then expired. since then the complaints of those living near bridge have been growing every day more urgent, until at last the matter has again come into court. With Mr. R. G. Barret, of Toronto, as relator, the Attorney-General of Ontario entered a suit in the Court of Chancery for a mandamus to compel the Bridge Company either to complete their bridge by making a suitable way for carriages and foot passengers, or to remove the bridge altogether, as an obstruction to the navigation of the river and a nuisance. Judgment is reserved.

Suicide in Enniskillen.—Mr. Thomas Tordiff, a well-to-do farmer of Brock township, has been in very poor health this spring, and for the last two months has been staying with his brother about two miles west of Enniskillen. On Monday afternoon he started to see a friend a short distance away, and not returning a search was made for him on Wednesday evening. He was found next morning suspended by the neck to a tree in his brother's woods, and is supposed to have been there since Monday evening. It appears that the deceased has been insane at intervals for some time. An inquest was held by Coroner Mitchel, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. When found his toes were touching the ground, and his body leaning forward with the neck compressed tightly by a cord, which he braided out of basswood bark.

LISA LENA:

DESERTED.

After the battle of Shiloh, the state of things in Tennessee and Mississippi and Alabama was dreadful. My mother found she could not live at Mobile. It was difficult to get the necessaries of life, and the place was in a state of perilous confusion. Women and children were coming in from all directions. She resolved to take advantage of a boat that was going up the river, and having procured a pass from the General at Mobile, we all set off, carrying our few valuables with us, and still under the care of the ever-faithful Toxy. It was a tedious and a perilous passage, the incidents of which I have mostly forgotten. My mother bore herself with characteristic energy, and at one time by her carriage and beauty prevailed on a Yankee general to let the boat through. At length we reached Illinois, where my mother expected to find a relation, but was dissappointed. The husband had gone to the war, and the wife was in New England. However, we found their house a small place in the suburbs, which my mother took and occupied. Toxy was our only servant. My mother washed and dressed the children herself and helped him with the cooking.

In this American village, though the war was at its height, and all hearts were beating with excitement, everything went on as usual, the factories, and bars, and churches were kept going, the schools were open every day, and I and my brother, a year and a half younger, were sent to school. Nothing of any consequence occurred until the end of the war, about ten months after my father's death.

Then one day my mother came home with a tall, hard-featured woman who that night slept in the house. Next day there was much bustle and packing. We children were kept home from school, and every now and then my mother looked in upon us at our play, and caught us up and kissed us with a singularly eager affection. The morning after, she came into the room where we lay in bed chattering and amusing ourselves. She was dressed in deep mourning, with a long veil which was thrown back from her white face.

"Lucy, Heb, Jem," she said with the tears filling her eyes, "I am going away a little while. I shan't be long. Mrs. Ram is going to take care of you;" and she turned to the door; where the tall hard-featured woman was standing, staring at us all with her hands upon her hips.

I jumped up in my night-dress, and looked at my mother. Her face seemed pale and careworn, and her eyes avoided mine.

"Oh! take me too, mamma. Take me, too."

"No, I can't," said my mother, folding me in her arms and kissing me. "Lucy, you must stay to take care of your brothers. It won't be very long, and then we shall all go away back again to Elderville."

"Poppy there?" cried the youngest, Jem, looking at her with wondering eyes.

"No, dear," she said, and she took him and the other on her knee. "You will never see poppy again." Her eyes were filling with tears, and she hung over them in an agony. I jumped out of bed and ran up, and she leaned down and let me put my arm round her neck, and we all sobbed together—the boys in a Wagnerian chorus worthy of the "Gotterdammerung," my mother and I in deep quiet sobs. How long it lasted I don't know. Toxy came in and spoke. She put down the boys—gave me a last kiss—took out of her breast a little envelope, which she gave me, and rushed from the room. It was the last letter from my father.

The Regatta at Providence.

THE PROFESSIONAL RACE.

Hanlan Badly Beaten.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 17.—An immense throng of people was gathered here to-day to witness the boat races, amateur and professional. Great interest was manifested in both, and the contests were keenly fought for from start to finish. After the amateur races the following started in the

PROFESSIONAL RACE:

Wallace Ross, St. John, N. B.; Geo. W. Lee, New York; James Riley, Saratoga; Horatio Delano, Chelsea, Mass.; James A. Ten Eyck, Peekskill; Fred. A. Plaisted, Boston; Jacob Gaudaur, Toronto; James A. Dempsey, Geneva; Robert W. Boyd, Middleboro', England; Edward Hanlan, Toronto.

At the signal Hanlan rushed to the front and was followed by Boyd and Riley. After a time Ross pushed ahead of Boyd, and they fought steadily for third position beyond the half mile. Finally Ross passed the Englishman and sped for Hanlan, passing him before reaching the turning point by three or four lengths, with Riley second and Hanlan third. Gaudaur seemed to have fouled with his buoy in turning, and Boyd fared no better, for he came in contact with his buoy and was detained nearly half a minute. As the buoy was rounded the wind freshened perceptibly and there were whitecaps and billows at frequent intervals. Ross steered toward the eastern shore, with Riley second and the Champion third. Ross maintained his lead, and about half a mile from the turn Hanlan was observed to cease rowing and rest on his oars. When asked what was the matter from the Press boat, he placed his hand on his chest as though experiencing pain. At this time Ross was several lengths in advance, with Riley second. The water was exceedingly rough, and one of the oarsmen was seen to leave his boat. The police boat and several other boats went to his rescue. Plaistead and Ten Eyck were steering for the western shore, with the latter in advance. Ross kept his leading position very easily, and at the finish had a lead of thirty-six seconds, with Riley second, and Ten Eyck third.

Ross was declared the winner, with Riley second, and Ten Eyck third. The first man gets $3,000, the second $1,500, and the third $500.

Hanlan says he had a stitch in his side. His friends say he was troubled the same way the day before he rowed Riley recently, and has worn a plaster since then until a day or two ago, when he took it off. It is thought that his rapid changes of climate from Canada to a Southern latitude and back again have had something to do with it. The general feeling is that everything was not "square." Hanlan's backers, however, are satisfied. They paid their pools like men, and are willing to back him again.

The plant which Jacob Snider, of York Township, partook of, and which caused his death, is Cicuta maculata, or Waterhemlock, a plant growing in marshy places, but not common in Canada. The root of the Cicuta is extremely poisonous. It is an umbelliferous plant, as is also the Osmorrhiza longistylis, or Sweet Cicely, which it somewhat resembles in leaf and stem.

Surrounded by Icebergs.

Perilous Position of a Barque.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Masters of vessels arriving here continue to narrate their extraordinary experiences amongst the huge icebergs. The Norwegian barque Folkvang, Captain Henricksen commanding, had a startling encounter on her voyage from Dunkirk. From the eastern to the western edge of the banks of Newfoundland she found herself walled in on all sides for miles with ice. This began about three o'clock a. m. The spectacle struck terror to the hearts of the oldest tars on board. The lookouts aloft left leaped to the decks. The man at the wheel became powerless and all but a few of the sailors deserted their posts. "It was," said one of the officers, yesterday, "at once the most bewilderingly beautiful and awe inspiring sight I have ever witnessed. Navigation was impossible. A dense fog prevailed. Add to the helpless horror of our position the fact that the temperature sank sixty degrees below zero, and that the majority of the sailors were experiencing icebergs for the first time, and you may in some measure conjure up the elements of the scene. We were twenty hours in this position. At one time not less than a hundred bergs hemmed us in. Some of these bergs were fully 300 feet in height, the smallest not being less than 100 feet exact measure by the quadrant I used. To describe them would be impossible. Forgetful of danger, I was spellbound for several minutes, watching their thousand turretted pinnacles piercing above the mist and shimmering like silver in myriad shapes of enchanting and massive grandeur. When the fog lifted the veering of the wind to the southeast proved our salvation. Slowly the great wall opened. Massive boulders, broad based and all sufficient to sink a navy glided in. Others, which were narrow at the base and gradually developed into irregular proportions, until apex was apparently broader than at the water's edge, were followed by hundreds of less formidable bergs, varying in heighth and breadth as often as they did in the indescribably fascinating and terrifying shapes they assumed. At one time our contact was sufficiently close to one to enable us to distinguish the color of birds which were on its water worn edges."

LONDON, June 16.

Notwithstanding the gloom and drizzling rain this morning, large crowds of Londoners lined the streets from Marlborough House along the Strand and Fleet street to the Guildhall to watch the passing of King George of Greece and his English Royal relatives, the Prince and Princess of Wales. Sir John Bennett, decorated as a Chevalier of the Legion of Honour, stood in the vestibule of the Guildhall to receive the guests, and the Lord Mayor presented in a gold casket the address of the corporation to the young King.

After the address by the Lord Mayor the King thanked the donors. He spoke of the deeds of those Englishmen who had taken part in the establishment of the Greek kingdom, and regenerated Greece, and expressed his conviction that Greece will in future contribute much to the civilization of South Europe. Then came the dejeuner when the Lord Mayor proposed the health of the Queen of England. The toast having been duly honoured the Lord Mayor next gave the health of the King of Greece.

The young king responded, saying he felt persuaded that, as soon as the frontier question was settled, the internal development of the country would follow.

The Prince of Wales, in reply to the toast of the Royal family, spoke kindly words of his brother-in-law. He hoped that in time King George's country would be able to hold its own as one of the great countries of the world.

Mr. Gladstone then proposed the health of the Lord Mayor, and said he hoped this celebration would sound forth to the world as a demonstration to all whom it may concern that the interest of Englishmen in the fortunes of Greece is not a nominal but a real interest, not a partial but a universal interest.

One man has his hand cut open or gets a bullet through his lungs, and lives to a green old age. Another man pricks his finger with a pen and dies before the month is out. An ocean steamer plunges, head on, into an iceberg, and crawls safely to port without the loss of even one passenger's life. A New York Sound steamboat is run down by another steamboat on what should be one of the safest water highways in the world, within a few miles of a dozen towns and villages, and swiftly settles to the bottom, drowning or burning to death many men and women.

There is perhaps no tonic offered to the people that possesses so much real intrinsic value as the HOP BITTERS. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is HOP BITTERS. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.

When the Princess Louise was shopping in Chicago another feminine shopper approached her and said:—"There is a lady present who was born within the dominion of your mother, and she would like to speak to you." The Princess immediately shook hands with the different English woman and said she was glad to see her. After a short but kindly conversation the good Louise turned to go, saying: "How lonely you must be to stay away from your own country so long."

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&wlyr.

SATURDAY EVN'G. JUNE 19, 1880

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M

From Toronto.

TORONTO, June 19.—York County Council have decided to build a new court house for the county, in the city of Toronto.

Mrs. Hanlan went on the boat this morning to meet her husband, and in all probability he will arrive here by the return boat.

Robbery at St. Mary's.

ST. MARY'S, June, 19.—The store of A. Beattie & Co. was entered by burglars at an early hour this morning, and notwithstanding the almost constant presence on the premises of a night watchman, the burglars succeeded in blowing the safe open and getting away with one hundred and seventy dollars. The concussion shook the whole block. The safe door was blown a distance of ten feet and smashed to atoms. Also a shelf of goods, the plaster and windows were broken and the store generally disarranged. The authorities are after the burglars who are supposed to be professionals.

From Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 19.—The body of a man was found in the St. Lawrence at Point Aux Trembles yesterday. In one of his pockets was found a piece of paper rolled in a little leather purse, with the following name and address written thereon:—Kanastatsi Kazermite No. 51 Canolle street, Chicago, Ill.

The city of Quebec finds that it is impossible by ordinary means to raise sufficient revenue to meet the annual deficits in its finances, and it is proposed to levy personal taxes.

The Lion wants more help in the dressmaking. The beautiful lines of dress goods offered at such low prices have given a tremendous stimulus to this branch of the business. The Lion does the dress goods trade of Guelph. No doubt about that.

CHEAP DRESS GOODS.—Opening to-day over 100 pieces new dress goods, in all the leading fashionable shades and textures, at 10c., 15c., 20c. and 25c., the very best goods ever seen in this city, at anything like the money. A. O. Bucham.

ON and afer the 1st day of July next hotel keepers or bar keepers must remove all traces of the excise stamp from empty cigar boxes. Else they will break the law, and be liable to heavy penalty.

THE COW BY-LAW.—A Police Court case against Mrs. Keough, for allowing her cows to run at large, was dismissed this forenoon, it being proved that some one had opened the gate of the yard in which they were enclosed, thus allowing the animals to get out.

THE COUNTY COURT.—This Court adjourned on Friday night till Monday forenoon, all the Jury cases being disposed of. The jurors were discharged. There are two non-jury cases still on the docket, which will be heard on Monday.

BROKEN WHEEL.—This forenoon one of the hind wheels of a waggon loaded with hay, broke down at the corner of Wyndham and Macdonnel streets. There was some delay in getting the waggon out of the way.

LIBEL SUITS.—Dr. Vardon, of Galt, has instituted a suit for libel against the Norwich Gazette on account of an article which appeared in the last issue of that paper. The journals that copied the article are also to be proceeded against.

THE GOOD-BYE SOCIAL AND CONCERT in the Primitive Methodist Church on Tuesday evening promises to be a first class affair, and we are sure will be liberally patronized. Most of the tickets are already disposed of, and parties wishing to secure them should do so at once.

THE LATE JAMES MCFARLANE.—We learn that Dr. Herod, physican of the late Mr. McFarlane, in accordance with the cablegram of his mother, Mrs. Gunn of Edinburgh, has had the body of the deceased forwarded. It will cross the Atlantic in the Polyensian. Mrs. Gunn also wishes Mrs. McFarlane to come to Scotland, but Dr. Herod dissuaded her owing to the present state of her health.

WESTERN RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—Below is the score of the Guelph men in the remaining match in the competition at the Western District Rifle Association meeting, at St. Thomas, on Wednesday. The meeting throughout may be regarded as having been very successful, and reflects credit upon its promoters. Ranges, 200 and 600 yards.—1st prize, $15; 3 of $10; 8 of $5; 10 of $4. Score:—John Ogg 3rd, 56 points; John Crowe, 9th 52; J. D. Day 10th, 51. Aggregate prizes, 1st prize Ontario R. A. badge and $10, John Ogg, Guelph, 236 points; 4th, John Crowe, Guelph, 221.

THE NEW FIRM IN CHATHAM.—The Tribune says the new firm of Messrs. Heffernan & Co. have chosen the convenient place formerly occupied by T. W. Jackson, in the Garner House Block, and now have their full stock on neat display. We are pleased to have it to say that Messrs. Heffernan & Co. have already won a business reputation of a very valuable kind. A long experience in business will enable them to take every advantage of the market which, of course, will be given to the customer. They have not heralded themselves with a mighty flurry of trumpets, but announced themselves in a business like way—a sure indication of their stability, and a compliment to their common sense. We take much pleasure in introducing them to our readers.

Congressman Voorhees, of Hackensack, N. J., has been arrested on a charge of embezzling $5,000, funds of a bank of which he was president.

THERE was a large market to-day.

IT is said O'Brien's circus will visit Guelph in August.

A BASE BALL match between the MERCURY and Herald employees is in progress at the Maple Leaf grounds this afternoon.

A COUPLE of itinerant merchants, with a small store on wheels, occupied the Market Square this morning and auctioned off their goods.

THE WOOL MARKET.—There was not much stir in the wool market this morning. About 2,500 pounds were sold at from 28c. to 29c.

THERE were sixty entries at the Rifle Association matches, and not twenty-nine as stated on Thursday. There were twenty-nine prizes offered.

SHORT-HORN BULL CALF SOLD.—Mr. F. W. Stone has sold to Mr. T. W. Laundon, Elyria, Ohio, the Bates Knightley bull calf "Baron Knightley."

UNCOMMON GROWTH.—Last spring Mr. Barnett, lot 31, con. 1, Nassagaweya, grafted two of the apple trees in his orchard. At present the grafted branches are loaded with small apples. It is a remarkable circumstance for the branch to bear fruit the season it is grafted.

THE ARTILLERY BAND. — This band played a number of fine musical selections on Trafalgar Square last night. They occupied the new band stand, which was well lighted by gas. A large number of citizens were attracted to the spot by the music, which was given in excellent style, and was greatly admired.

ODDFELLOWS PICNIC.—It is understood that during the session of the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. here in August, a grand picnic will be given at the exhibition grounds under the auspices of the Order. A procession through the city and to the picnic grounds will take place, in which a number of first-class military and amateur bands will take part.

THE BASE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP. — The Maple Leaf's this morning received a challenge from the Harriston Browns to play a championship match on Dominion Day. The Leaf's accepted the challenge of the Toronto Clippers for that date, last night, so that the other challenge was refused.

SCIENTIFIC ENTERTAINMENT.—At No. 1 School house, York Road, the other night, Prof. Huntsman gave a very interesting and pleasing entertainment on Phonography, electricity, astronomy, &c. Those present were much interested and pronounced the entertainment one of the best ever given for the money.

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY. — This railway company is very busy at present, owing to the large amount of through freight they are carrying. Between 11:30 on Friday night and 11:30 this forenoon not less than forty-eight trains passed through the city on the railway. The increase of business is chiefly due to the company's acquirement of the Chicago branch.

ANIMAL INSTINCT.—About a week ago a mare belonging to Mr. Thos. Gowdy, of this city, strayed away from his place. Every effort was made to find her, but without success up to yesterday, when he learned that she was at her old home, near Brantford. Some ten years have elapsed since she was purchased, but still she had not forgot the place of her childhood. When discovered she was enjoying herself in a field of wheat.

A NEW BOAT.—Those of our readers interested in boating will do well to inspect the new canoe just arrived at McKague's boat house. Its mode of construction is entirely different to anything ever yet seen in the city, and its maker (Stephenson, of Peterboro,) claims many advantages for it, over the ordinary board canoe. He will take pleasure in showing it to any who may call on him.

ARRIVED HOME.—We regret to learn that Dr. John Harvey, regimental surgeon in the U. S. Army, and son of Mr. John Harvey, our City Clerk, arrived home on Friday very ill. Dr. Harvey was with his regiment in Dakota, many miles northwest of Bismarck, when he took ill, and as soon as the family knew of it his brother went for him, and brought him home. Dr. Harvey is well known to the older residents of Guelph, who we are sure will unite with us in the hope that he will recover.

ARTHUR JUNCTION RAILWAY.—A public meeting was held, according to notice, in the drill shed, Arthur, this week, for the purpose of taking into consideration, certain questions in connection with the "Arthur Junction" railway. After receiving explanations from the Reeve and other members of the Committee, and hearing the views of several other gentlemen present, the meeting which was unusually large and influential, unanimously tendered their confidence to the railway committee, with instructions to submit by-laws to the city of Guelph and the townships of Peel and Arthur with as little delay as possible.

THE PROVIDENCE RACE.—When Hanlan returned to his boathouse he wept bitterly over his defeat. After his race with Courtney he made a misstep one night and wrenched his side. Next morning he put a plaster upon the place, which got better, and on the morning of the race with Riley the plaster was removed. He had not felt any pain since until Thursday. The amount which changed hands in pools on both races was less than $25,000.

The Scot in British North America.

Some three months ago we noticed the first volume of this work at length, and referred to the able manner in which Mr. Wm J. Rattray, B.A., the author had dealt with his subject. Mr. G. R. Lancefield, of the firm of Maclear & Co., the publishers, is now in the city representing the firm, and we doubt not he will secure many subscribers. The following notice of it appeared some time ago in the Canadian Monthly:—

Mr. Rattray's book a most valuable contribution to that native Canadian literature, against which nameless journalists, not too proud to gain daily bread by the Canadian press, are but too ready to sneer. We know of no book on Scottish history which treats that important and most interesting period with such vigorous freshness. Mr. Rattray writes in full accord with the latest results of modern thought in its adaptation to historical criticism, as represented by such writers as Mr. Looky. The book is got up to do credit to the Canadian publishing trade,—the paper, the letter-press, and the exceedingly handsome binding, are a fit vehicle for one of the most interesting and pleasing works which, even in these hard times, have appeared to confute the maligners of our native literature. Of course, the interest of Mr. Rattray's work will much increase with that part of his series which will treat of the civil history of Canada; still, the volume before us is the most promising contribution we have yet seen to the historical literature of the Dominion, and the talented author and his enterprising publishers should be encouraged at once by a large sale for the book, so far as it has appeared.

The Trial of Bennett.

The prisoner Bennett, alias Dickson, indicted for the murder of the late Hon. Geo. Brown, was brought before the Grand Jury at the Toronto Assize as its first business on Friday morning. After examining four of the witnesses the jury returned a true bill against the prisoner for murder. In Court Mr. Davin, on behalf of the prisoner, moved for a writ of subpœna in forma pauperis for a certain witness for the defence. Mr. Davin said it had turned out that Bennett was entirely penniless, and it was desirable that if his defence could not be presented in the strongest manner it should be, at all events, presented in such a manner as would avoid the scandal of a prisoner charged with so serious a crime not having a fair trial. The order was granted. Bennett was then formally arraigned, and pleaded not guilty.

The Storm of Last Week.

During the storm of Thursday week the following barns were unroofed in Pilkington:—James Whitlaw's, Robert Hall's, Samuel Burnett's. In Nichol—James Moir's, James Young's. In Peel—Patrick Boyle's, John Barkwell's, Widow Maine's, John Connelly's, Widow Toole's, shed at Zion church, school house on the 8th con., W. Johnston, on the 7th con., is a loser to the tune of over $2,000. His barn and outbuildings were levelled to the ground, the roof blown off the house, the top logs displaced, and the family having a narrow escape. J. Hay's barn, on the 11th con., Luther, was twice struck by lightning, but fortunately escaped being burned. On the 2nd con. Wm. Patterson's barn had one-half the roof blown off, and Chas. Drury had two acres of solid bush levelled to the ground, and his fences scattered to the four points of the compass.

In Hollin the tornado totally destroyed W. Johnston's barn, which was standing on screw jacks when the storm occurred. The wind heaved it from its position and rolled it over broadside.—R. Hays', A. Edmonds', T. Mannels' and A. Kells' barns were unroofed.

FRIDAY, JUNE 17th.

PATTULLO & SCOTT, vs. HALL.—The plaintiffs are lawyers practising in the town of Orangeville, and the defendant, who resides near Shelburne, was until lately a client of theirs. The action was brought to recover fees alleged to be due to the plaintiffs by the defendant for legal services rendered from 1874 to 1879. The defence rested upon the fact that the plaintiffs were not retained to take the proceeding in question, and also an offset, the latter, however, being abandoned by the defendant's Counsel at the trial. From the evidence it appeared that Pattullo & Scott did all the legal business for Hall during the above time, and that they had at least a general authority to take such proceedings as were necessary to collect defendant's mortgages and attend to the management of his business. Witnesses were called to show the circumstances connected with the business referred to, and what took place at the time the costs were incurred. The jury found a verdict for plaintiffs. Verdict for $128.80, the action being for $156. E. F. B. Johnston for plaintiffs. D. Guthrie, Q. C., and Nichols for defendant.

A Woodstock Woman Commits Suicide.

On Friday morning the body of Mrs. John Ross, the wife of a well-to-do mechanic, was found in Thos. Adams' cistern, and the circumstances of the case so far as can be learned at present lead to the belief that the unfortunate woman must have committed suicide. On Thursday night she remained at the bedside of a sick child belonging to a neighbour till about seven o'clock, when she came home and told her husband that she would go over again early next morning to see if the child had lived through the night. She rose at four o'clock next morning, dressed herself, and started out to see the neighbour's child. At about six o'clock Mr. Adams' son having occasion to look into his father's cistern came in and told his mother that it was half full of clothes. Taking the pole or hook used for drawing water they attempted to turn over what they supposed to be a loose bundle of clothes, when the dead woman's face came to the surface. The cistern is built of brick and freestone, and is only six feet deep, with a circular opening at the top not more than twenty inches in diameter, while the water in it is less than three feet deep. The cover of the cistern was found propped up with the pole used for drawing water, and no pail, bucket, or any other vessel was near the spot. Mr. Adams' house is one hundred yards or more from Mr. Ross', and directly in the opposite direction from that in which the sick child lay. The deceased was a large woman, and it appears utterly impossible that she could have fallen into the cistern by accident, even had she had reason to pass it. She leaves a husband and grown up family, and so far as known she lived very happily with them.

THE Argenteuil election case still drags along. The evidence so far is of such a nature that the result will depend a good deal on the caprice of the Judge. The workmen on the canal were given to understand that they were to vote for the Government candidate, Mr. Abbott, and they accordingly cast their ballots in that way. This is one species of intimidation, but how the Judge will regard it we must wait and see.

CATS' MEAT IN NEW YORK.—Chambers' Journal tells us: Ludlow street, a very unsavory quarter of New York, is inhabited chiefly if not wholly, by Poles. They are the cat meat purveyors of the city, hunting the streets at night to capture cats for sausage. Three of them especially devote themselves to getting, keeping and breeding cats for the table. The cats captured are carefully examined. Those in good plight are at once killed. The others are fattened. When kept in a yard, the walls are smeared with something so obnoxious to the feline nature that no cat will pass it. A recent visitor to a Ludlow street yard says: "It presented a most amusing spectacle. About one hundred cats of all sizes, colors and ages were sleeping, eating, quarrelling and caterwauling; all grades being represented, from the handsome Angora and Maltese, to the homely backyard Tom. When considered fit for eating, the cats are sold to small butchers, who make a specialty of cat sausage. The delicacy has a ready sale, which is ever increasing. Those who indulge in it declare cat-meat superior to any rabbit."

The following dialogue took place between a theatre manager and a stage-doorkeeper during an engagement of Mr. Sothern. The comedian's name had been advertised by "sandwich" boards. Of the name each board bore on it but a single letter, thus spelling it out in full. Inspecting each board in its order, "Where's the Hen?" asked the manager, with a suspicious glance, as though the doorkeeper had surreptitiously appropriated it for his own family. "Whaur's the what?" replied the mystified Scotch doorkeeper. "The Hen!" shouted the manager. "I had na seen the animal, sir." "Ugh," growled the infuriated lessee between his teeth, "yer fool, I don't mean the 'en as lays the eggs, but hen at the hend."

Just then the woman took in the situation. "Go on with your old by-sicle," said she, "I thought you was the baker."

WM. STEWART & CO.

Daily Mercury.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 19, 1880

It is evident that one of the future policies of the Government will be to give land grants to companies willing to construct railways in the North-West as subsidies.

In the Toronto Police Court the other day a nice question of law was raised as to whether a man was bound to support children of his wife by a former husband. The case is remanded for decision.

A Berlin correspondent states that Prince Bismarck at an interview with the Emperor on Friday, remarked that European affairs wore a very peaceful aspect, and that the international Conference would most probably tend to increase it. For all which we ought to be very thankful.

The rumor is again revived that the Hon. Mr. Mason will shortly retire as Minister of Militia and that the Hon. Mr. Chapleau, of the Quebec Government, will take his place; also that the Hon. Mr. Baby will become a Judge, his portfolio to be taken by Mr. Coron.

Mr. W. W. Watt, of St. Catharines, has been appointed "thistle boss" on the Welland canal at a salary of $1,000 per annum. The News of that city, in noticing the appointment, fittingly says: "One thousand dollars a year to superintend the cutting of the thistles on the Welland canal is the greatest outrage yet published."

In the Weights and Measures Act no provision has been made for defraying the travelling expenses of the inspectors visiting the outlying portions of their districts, and as these officers are not likely to pay the money out of their own pockets, many places where their services are actually needed must remain unvisited. The effect of this must prove detrimental to the trade of the country, and it shows that proper care was not taken in framing the Act.

Militia circles are stirred by the fact that the Government has determined not to send any medicine chests to the drill camps, as has hitherto been done. If militiamen should become ill when on duty they will have to purchase their own medicines, as the medical attendants are not to be provided with medical stores. This is about the meanest kind of economy we have yet heard of.

There is quite an agitation among the women in England in favour of the bill to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister, and the manner in which their case is presented shows there are powerful and social moral reasons for the measure. The petition presented to the House of Commons was signed by 42,400 women. Petitions have also been sent to Mr. Gladstone, but perhaps the strongest argument is that advanced by Miss Collett, who assured the Premier that she had visited many of the humblest homes, and had found there "the deepest distress and humiliation from the non-existence of the right which was now claimed for her sex."

Souris Coal.

(Manitoba Free Press, June 9.)

This morning two barge-loads of coal arrived from the Souris region in charge of Mr. John Sutherland, brother of Mr. Hugh Sutherland. The coal is apparently of a very serviceable quality, and was admired by a good many people, to whom the first instalment of native coal was a source of great interest. The barges were constructed at the coal fields, out of timber made from trees felled on the spot, and have been 43 days on the journey down. They encountered many obstacles in the way of timber jams, etc., but all these were surmounted, and the primary object of the enterprise, namely, to test the feasibility of the navigation of the Souris, has been amply demonstrated. It is anticipated that there will be sufficient water in the river until August in each year, to float barges down. At present there are twenty feet of water in the river. Mr. Sutherland has expended some $15,000 on the experiment, and now that he is satisfied of its success, will go on with the work on a much larger scale. The result of the enterprise is very important to this country, as by this means Mr. Sutherland will be enabled to supply all demands for coal at a much cheaper rate than hitherto, and within a reasonable time without waiting for railway communication to be established with the coal field. He calculates to make one trip a year, building barges sufficient to bring down all the coal needed for a year's supply. This community can stand a considerable reduction in the price of coal, and will no doubt know how to appreciate Mr. Sutherland's energetic endeavours towards the accomplishment of that result. A specimen half ton of coal will be sent to Toronto to-morrow for further examination.

The Exemption Question.—To say that these clergymen or these church organizations have benefitted the community in a thousand ways, and ought, therefore as a slight acknowledgment, to be exempted from their proper share of the expense of paving streets, providing lamps during the night, organizing and paying police, etc., is simply trifling, for there is no good citizen, however humble, who does not benefit the community by the simple fact of his being such. The sober man does that community good, so does the devout, as does the honest, so does every reputable member of that organization; but if all such are to be exempted from their local taxes because they are more or less effective moral salt, who are to pay for the police, and how is the street paving to be managed? In his sphere the humblest Christian man in Hamilton or Toronto exercises a beneficial influence, and is besides a part of the Church equally with any or all of the ministers in these cities. Why, then, should he not be exempted from his share in the local taxes for streets, etc., just as well as his minister? He does good, and he is also a part of the Church. The ministry does no more and is nothing else, for with Protestants the clergy are not the Church.—Canada Presbyterivn.

Presbyterian General Assembly.

Montreal, June 18.—The committees were appointed yesterday. Rev. P. McLeod, convener, presented the report of the Committee on the Sustentation Fund, submitting a scheme for the working of such a fund, with the recommendation that it be sent down to presbyteries to report upon to next assembly. The chief features of the scheme reported were as follows:—The object of this fund is to secure to all ministers in settled charges a minimum stipend of not less than $750 per annum under certain regulations.

An application submitted from Barrie, that the Rev. J. K. Andrews be permitted to study another year, was granted. An interesting report in regard to Manitoba College was given by Principal Grant.

Rev. Dr. Jenkins presented the report of the Presbyterian Record, which stated that the circulation of that periodical at this date was 33,251. A balance was yielded of revenue over expenditure of $1,600, of which it was proposed to devote $1,000 to home missions. The report was received.

Rev. Principal Caven rose to present a report of the Judicial Committee on the case of Mrs. Phillips, which involves the question of the validity in this country of divorce obtained in the United States and of its moral aspect. On his motion the assembly dealt with the report with closed doors.

An overture was read from the Synod of Hamilton and London setting forth that it was the intention of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada and of the General Assembly of the Canada Presbyterian Church, as shown by various acts of those bodies, that the senates of Knox and Montreal colleges should have power to confer degrees in divinity, and that it was desirable and equitable that the senates of the theological colleges of the Church should possess coordinate powers in this matter, and recommending that the boards of Knox and Montreal colleges be appointed a joint committee and be instructed to take such steps towards securing the amendment of the charters of those institutions as might be necessary to give the senates the desired powers. Rev. R. N. Grant, of Ingersoll, supported the overture. Rev. Mr. Gordon moved in amendment that the consideration of the overture be deferred until next year.

Principal Macknight moved an amendment to the main motion to the effect that the assembly authorize the board of Knox and Montreal colleges to apply to the legislature for power to grant degrees. The original motion was then withdrawn and the last amendment agreed to.

THE ARTHUR DIVORCE CASE.

June 18.

After the draft of an address to the Queen and the Governor General were read the Assembly proceeded to consider the finding of the Judicial Committee upon the case of Mrs. Philips, of Arthur.

Rev. Principal Caven, convener of that Committee, stated the facts of the case. Maria Jane Busclden married one Henry C. Lewis, in the village of Arthur, in the year 1870. After they had lived together about two years Lewis went to New York, where the evidence taken before the Presbytery showed him to have been guilty of adultery. When he came back, the facts having come to the knowledge of his wife, they separated. There was no evidence to show whether he deserted her or whether she forsook him. She went and lived with her father in the village of Arthur, taking her only child, a son, with her, and sustained herself by teaching music. After some time she wrote to her husband, informing him that she intended to apply for a divorce. He replied that she might do as she liked in the matter. In 1876, six years after her marriage, she became a communicant in the Church at Arthur. In 1877 she went to the United States in order to be domiciled there for the purpose of securing a divorce. After living there for the required time she sued for and obtained a divorce on two grounds, first drunkenness, and second desertion, on the part of her husband. The Committee had been told by the representatives of the Presbytery that she had been advised to follow this course, although she might have prosecuted on the stronger ground of adultry. She obtained a divorce in April, 1879, and returned to her father's house at Arthur. In the following month, the month of May, she was married to one Thomas J. Philips. After that an "informal agitation" about the case began in the congregation, and "the matter was on the minds of the office-bearers and members of the congregation, and was passed upon the Session." The Session took the matter up, and referred two points the Presbytery, viz: (1) whether the minister who celebrated the second marriage, Mr. D. Stewart, was justified in doing so, and (2) whether Mrs. Philips had a right to remain in the communion of the Church. The Presbytery's first action was to appoint assessors to the Session to investigate the case more fully. An investigation was held and two witnesses, one of them Mrs. Philips' mother, testified that Lewis had admitted his guilt to them. The Session reported the case to the Presbytery without taking any action. The Presbytery referred it to the Synod of Toronto and Kingston for advice, and the Synod referred it to the General Assembly. When the vote was taken the committee voted that the finding be supported, while seven voted for the opinion of the minority. The finding of the committee was as follows:—

"Inasmuch as marriage is a civil contract as well as a religious ordinance, due regard to the law of the land and to the interests of public morality requires that the Church should not lend her sanction to divorces or re-marriages which our law, in this matter conformable to Scripture, does not recognize.

"Whilst in the case before us there is evidence that a divorce might have been sued for on the ground recognized by Scripture and the law of Canada as adequate, yet the party whose relation to the Church is in question obtained in a foreign country a divorce which the law of this country does not hold to be valid. The divorce, therefore, and the marriage which followed, should not by any action of the General Assembly be regarded as having fully satisfied the requirements which Christian duty enjoins on us to respect.

"In these circumstances the judgment of the General Assembly is that the party should be instructed and encouraged to seek divorce from Henry Lewis in the way provided by the law of Canada. And without questioning the good faith of the party in the steps which she has taken, expressing also sympathy with her in the painful and trying position in which she has been placed, the Assembly deems it necessary, to avoid all offence, that she should not be regarded as in full communion with the Church until the requirements of the civil law have been duly complied with.

"In regard to the conduct of the Rev. D. Stewart in marrying to Thos. Philips the person above referred to, the General Assembly find that they have no evidence before them upon which to pronounce any judgment."

If marriage was a civil contract—which no member of this Church would deny—they should not do anything which would ignore that fact. Marriage could not be complete and valid unless the conditions of the civil contract were observed—conditions which were allowed to be Scriptural, and which were imposed by the law. This divorce was not secured on the ground recognized by Scripture, or by the law of this country, viz., adultery. They all sympathized with the woman, who without doubt was entitled to a divorce. But if the Assembly said that there was nothing wrong in the case they would be saying substantially that any person might cross the lines and seek a divorce under the law which we do not recognize as a law in this country. (Hear, hear.) They would be saying in fact, that if the ground of a divorce existed the parties might divorce themselves without even going to the States. He should deplore the Church placing itself in any such position as that. (Hear, hear.) He believed the finding of the Committee was kindly in spirit towards Mrs. Philips, and he thought they should stand by that woman and assist her to obtain a legal divorce. He would subscribe his last cent for that purpose, and if she were willing to take steps to secure a divorce that would satisfy the law of the country and the law of the Assembly he believed they would stand by her. (Hear, hear.) Unfortunately the state of our law in this matter was not very satisfactory. The obtaining of a divorce was certainly far too difficult. (Hear, hear.) But they had been advised that parties could sue for divorce in forma pauperis, and there was nothing degrading in that. But he thought they should not ask this woman to sue in forma pauperis. The Committee did not say that she should be excommunicated, but that her connection with the Church should be interrupted until the requirements of the law were complied with. He moved that the finding of the committee be the decision of the Assembly.

Rev. Prof. McLaren asked if it was possible for Mrs. Lewis to obtain a divorce now, she having married a second time, and being recognized in the present state of our law as living in a state of bigamy.

Rev. Principal Caven referred this question to Hon. Alex. Morris.

Hon. A. Morris said it was impossible for the Committee to say what the course of Parliament would be in the matter.

Mr. W. B. McMurrich, of Toronto, in seconding Principal Caven, argued that the divorce obtained by the woman was not one that the laws of this country recognized as valid. This Assembly should not so recognize it. Those parties to-day stood before them as man and wife, although this woman if prosecuted would certainly be convicted of bigamy. And if this Assembly condoned her action they might have as members of their Church children who, according to the law of the land, were illegitimate.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, in amendment, moved the following deliverance of the minority, as the judgment of the Assembly:—

"The minority of the Judicial Committee, while concurring in the historical statement prepared by the Committee in the case of Mrs. Phillips, and in the deliverance proposed down to the word 'placed,' desire to have the following substituted for the remaining portion of the finding:—

"'Considering the acknowledged difficulty of obtaining a divorce in Canada, considering further that there were sufficient grounds in this case for obtaining a divorce according to the law of Canada, the General Assembly does not deem it necessary in the present position of the matter to disturb the Church standing of the parties, in as much as there has been no moral offence committed.'"

Rev. Mr. Black moved in amendment that the matter be referred to Presbyteries with instructions to appoint a committee to report upon the same by the first of January, 1881. The amendment was overruled as out of order. A motion that the overture be laid on the table was lost. The original motion was then carried.

The Committee on the subject was then named.

The Malahide Tragedy.—At the adjourned inquest on the bodies of Andrew and Thomas Johnston, in the township of Malahide, a post-mortem examination of both was made by Drs. Cross and Mann, and their report went to show that Andrew first struck his brother with a stick loaded with an iron hook, which produced an extensive fracture of the frontal bone, besides the bones of the nose. With a second blow he fractured the collar bone, and when his brother was in a state of insensibility from the injuries inflicted he cut his throat, completely severing all the blood vessels on the left side of the neck. Andrew then proceeded to the well and cut his own throat, inflicting two wounds, one on the right and the other on the left side of the windpipe, the latter being untouched. The jugular vein on each side was partially severed but the arteries were left intact. Finding the wounds not sufficient to produce death he at once threw himself into the well, containing about twelve feet of water. The verdict of the jury was in accordance with the medical testimony.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is The Great Reliever of Pain. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water [sweetened, if preferred], taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&w1yr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

From the Hub.

There is perhaps no tonic offered to the people that possesses so much real intrinsic value as the Hop Bitters. Just at this season of the year, when the stomach needs an appetizer, or the blood needs purifying, the cheapest and best remedy is Hop Bitters. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, don't wait until you are prostrated by a disease that may take months for you to recover in.—Boston Globe.

LISA LENA:

DESERTED.

Chere Belle Amie,"

"A word before the battle, which must begin to-morrow. How it will end, God knows. We have more men than the enemy but are sadly deficient in artillery. Poor Tom, my horse, has fallen lame, and I don't know where to get another, and may have to fight afoot. However, I guess I shall fight anyhow. Have seen Colonel Wood for two minutes. He told me of his visit. I hope you have taken his advice and gone to Mobile. I shall commit this letter to a commissariat man, who, I guess, won't fight, and you may get it. It may be my last. If so, I only have to say that I go to battle loving you still. I don't seem to see a shadow between us to-night. I have forgotten—I have forgiven. I love you now, darling wife, this very moment, more than ever. I have been thinking that perhaps I have been cold to Lisa, and if I ever get back I shall take her with you to my heart. Kiss her and the two boys for poppy. Keep up good spirits. God bless my own sweet, my darling, darling wife.—Your Henri,

HENRI MERCER."

That letter gives the only gleam into the mystery of which I have spoken.

However, at that moment I did not read it. My heart was full of grief. Toxy had come and taken my small hand in his huge paw. He kneeled down and kissed it.

"Good-bye, Missy Lucy. God take keer ob you Missy. Go away look for mommy's propperty. Guess will be back in few weeks; pick you all up again. Look after lilly Missies, honey. Teach am dar prayers ebbery night and morning; pray 'God will let mommy come back safe.' Good-bye, Missy Hetty—good-bye, Massy Jem. 'Lord-a-mussy, boys,' said said the old man, breaking out himself into loud convulsive sobs; 'Lord-a-mussy, boys, doan't go on so.'" And, cramming a vast blue cotton handkerchief of doubtful cleanliness into his mouth, Toxy bolted, leaving us alone.

From that day to this I have never seen either my mother or Toxy. What the object of their journey was I do not know. The woman Beulah Ram, who was left behind, and looked after us for a few weeks, stated that my mother's professed intention was to go to Mobile, and to try and reclaim her husband's property. Travelling was dangerous. The whole of the Western and Southern States were in a state anarchy. I thought she might have been murdered. Often my brain ran over all the possibilities, only after worried hours to grow weary with the useless train.

Beulah Ram was not only a hard-featured woman, but a cross. She was the first person whom I remembered ever to have struck me. I did not mind the pain, but the passion it developed in me was frightful. I tried to stick her with a knife. I yelled and shrieked like a little demon. She was what is called "religious." She took us every morning and night, and forced us down on our knees, and in a hard voice dictated to us a prayer. My gorge rises at it now, to think of little ones like us being dragooned into expressions to the Great Good God which we did not understand, and some of which now I do not believe. On Sundays we endured a day of torture. The afternoons, when my mother used to love to throw off her dress and loosen her corset, and lie on the bed with us all curled up about her, saying nothing in words, but cooing like doves, or dozing in delicious dreams, were now devoted to reading long chapters in Genesis and to expositions by Beulah of Calvinistic Christianity. This endured for about five weeks. During this time I was undergoing a change and a development. I stood up for my little brothers against Beulah's tyranny. I boarded her again, and again, and when she tried to get at me I ran away and stayed for hours roaming beyond the town. Twice I was brought back from farmhouses where I had taken refuge—and each time Beulah received a sound rating from the man who brought me home. For I was able to tell my story young as I was, clearly and graphically. Beulah did not beat me on these occasions. I think she had a conscience, and generally acted from a sense of duty. At all events she acted from a sense of duty to herself; for the money my mother had left having given out, and no word coming from her, Beulah went to the town authorities and stated that we were left without support, and that she could not take care of us. The facts having been verified, we were all three bound out to as many farmers in different parts of the the country, and my residence was fixed with Mr Ephraim Mason, a farmer in Keyugo Township, Oscar County, in the eastern part of Illinois.

I shall not describe the parting with my brothers—how we all clung together, how we all shrieked when rough hands tore us asunder, and how my heart dried up and the best feelings of my nature became callous from that terrible experience. If there are devils in the world, and wicked creatures, and hopeless reprobates, and fallen natures the lesson of my life has taught me that in nine cases out of ten it is the world itself who has made them so. And I suppose society must take the same lot as man, that whatsoever it soweth, that shall it also reap.

It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng.' n4dw9md

Mrs. Grant says her husband's defeat was something of a disappointment to her, but it is all right, as it spares him six months of abuse and four years of hard labour.

On Wednesday while some men were digging a drain in the garden of Mr. Josiah Blackburn, London, they found five human skeletons. The remains were about eighteen inches from the surface, and had all the appearance of having been in the ground very many years. How or when these people were buried is, of course, a mystery.

Pathmasters should remember that the new 'Act to prevent Canada Thistles' takes away the optional character of the old law, and makes it imperative to pathmasters to see that it is enforced, regardless of the opinion of the Municipal Council concerning the matter. The notices to owners of land overrun with thistles must be served before the 25th of June.

Littel's Living Age,—The numbers of the Living Age for the weeks ending June 12th and 19th respectively, contain the following articles:—Animal Intelligence, The Letters of Charles Dickens, Memoirs of Madame de Remusat, "Cymbeline" in a Hindoo Playhouse, What Shakespeare Learnt at School, Ascent of Roraima, A Persian Garden Party. Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

HOME EVIDENCE
—OF THE—
PAIN-KILLER.

Hint No. 1.

If you wish to save yourself, your family, and your friends a world of suffering and pain, which at present they endure needlessly, and also save many dollars in Doctor's bills, go at once to the nearest store, and buy a few bottles of Pain-Killer.

Hint No. 2.

Ask your Druggist, Grocer or Shopkeeper, for a bottle of Pain-Killer. If he passes it down without ceremony, ask him while extracting the quarter dollar from your wallet, if this is the genuine made by Perry Davis & Son, at same time watch the expression on his face. You can easily tell if his conscience is all right; also examine the bottle closely yourself.

Hint No. 3.

When you ask for a bottle of Pain-Killer, and the gentlemanly store-keeper, without scarcely looking, remarks, "we "are just out, but have another "article as good or better, "which sells for the same price "viz, 25 cents." Turn on your heel and say, Good-bye, Sir! That man cares more for the two or three cents extra profit which he gets than he does for your health or happiness.

Hint No. 4.

Beware of all the worthless mixtures, and dirty, greasy combinations which are offered you in almost every store you enter, and which some unprincipled shop-keepers try to palm off as a substitute for the Pain-Killer. These mixtures are gotten up expressly to sell on the reputation of the Pain-Killer, but have nothing in common with it.

Hint No. 5.

If you cannot obtain the genuine Pain-Killer in your locality, (a fact not very likely), you should address the Proprietors, and by sending them the sum of $3.00, one dozen regular sized bottles, or a half dozen large bottles will be sent, charges prepaid, to the nearest address by railway to any part of the Dominion.

WHY experiment with unknown mixtures without character or reputation, when this world-renowned Pain-Killer which has stood the test of over 40 years, can be had for the same price at any Drug Store in the Dominion!

READ THE FOLLOWING.

Ottawa, Ont., March 2, 1880.

The writer has been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer now for the last 22 years, and can confidently recommend it to the public as a sure remedy for Cholera, Diarrhœa, Sore Throat, Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Burns, Scalds, &c. Have known it to cure a case of Syphilitic Sore Throat of two years' standing, when all the usual remedies failed. The patient took half a teaspoonful in water three times a day, and gargled the throat three times a day as follows: one teaspoonful in a wine glass of water, and used as a gargle.

Yours, H. F. MacCARTHY.

Maitland, Ont., February 26, 1880.

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom I have ever sold it, has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once, will use it again; it makes friends and retains them.

Yours truly, JOHN DUMBRILLE, Druggist.

Spencerville, Ont., February 26, 1880.

We have much pleasure in certifying that we have kept Perry Davis' Pain-Killer constantly in stock for upwards of twenty years, during which time it has taken the lead in sales over all other patent preparations, and has become an old, reliable family medicine. No effort is required now on our part to sell it, as it is as staple an article as flour in our trade. Yours truly,

W. P. IMRIE & CO.

Madoc, Ont., February 16, 1880.

It gives me much pleasure to state that during a drug career of more than a quarter century, I can testify that your justly celebrated Pain-Killer has not only held its own as a family medicine, but still occupies the front rank wherever duty calls it. My customers speak very highly of it, and I could send no end of testimonials showing up its merits and intrinsic worth, were it necessary, which it is not. It should, however, be called "Excelsior Pain-Killer." I pride myself in never being out of it.

Yours very respectfully, JOHN G. DEANS.

Stoco, Ont., February 17, 1880.

We have great pleasure to state that the Pain-Killer holds its position in this place as the old, reliable family medicine. Although there are a great many other remedies in the market—some bearing nearly the same name—as Pain Relief, Pain Remover, Pain Destroyer, and such like names, we find the people know the difference, and are sure to ask for Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. We have been selling Pain-Killer for the last fourteen years.

Yours truly P. & P. MURPHY.

Portland, Ont., March 9, 1880.

I have been using the Pain-Killer for many years with results that justly entitles me to recommend it. As a family medicine, we consider it almost indispensable: being good not only as a pain-killer, but for colds and sore throat, and many other ailments for which it appears specially adapted. I have used it myself, chiefly as a liniment, and find it valuable for rheumatism and pains and stiffness belonging to old age. I pronounce the Pain-Killer a good and cheap medicine, and worthy of all acceptation, and send you this certificate that you may assure the public that it is no humbug.

Yours truly, THOS. GRAHAM.

Escott, Ont, March 4, 1880.

We hereby certify that we have used Perry Davis' Pain-Killer in our families for several years. We consider it a very useful and necessary article to be kept in all households as a resort in case of accidents and exposure to attacks occasioned by cold.

JEREMIAH CURTIN,
J. J. DOWSLEY,
JOSEPH P. REDMOND.
ARCH. GREER.

Maitland, Ont., February 25, 1880.

I have used your Pain-Killer for the last twenty years. I carried it with me all through the American War. I believe I would have been dead long ago, if it had not been for your Pain-Killer. I think it is the best remedy in the world for which it is recommended.

Yours very truly, N. W. LAFONTAINE.

Portland, Ont., February 26, 1880.

I have sold the Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for over thirty years, and the same has always given my customers entire satisfaction, and I have much pleasure in recommending it as a good and reliable family medicine.

S. S. SCOVIL.

Prescott, Ont., February 27, 1880.

I have sold your Pain-Killer for the last nineteen years in this place, and feel safe in recommending it to the public for the diseases given in your circular. I can assure you my customers speak well of it as a general family medicine. It takes the lead of all other similar preparations. Yours, &c.

GEO. BIRKS.

Cobourg, Ont., March 3, 1880.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much Pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry-Davis' Pain-Killer will be found in both.

Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY.

Madoc, Ont., February 16, 1880.

Your Pain-Killer as a family cure all has been in constant use in my household for a long term of years, and I would never desire a better one. It never fails me. I call it the "Old Reliable."

Yours very truly, HORACE SEYMOUR.

Tamworth, Ont., March 4, 1880.

For twenty-three years last past I have sold Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, and have always found it to give good satisfaction. I have frequently used it in my family, and received great benefit from the use of it in that way. Although many imitations of it have been put on the market, and are pushed hard, yet the old, reliable Perry Davis' Pain-Killer holds its own, and is a very popular domestic medicine. Yours respectfully,

JAS. AYLSWORTH.

Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway.

The Road Passes into the Hands of the Bondholders.

A large and influential meeting of the bondholders of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway Company was held at the company's offices on Wednesday, 16th, inst, to discuss the affairs of the company. The following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved—That the Directors of the Toronto Grey and Bruce Railway Company be requested at once to hand over the control of the railway and its affairs to the bondholders, in accordance with the understanding which was some time ago arrived at, that in the event of the failure of the company to carry out the general scheme for reorganizing the road and widening the gauge, the bondholders would at once be placed in possession of the line.

The Board of Directors met on Friday and resigned their positions, and the control of the line was placed in the hands of the following bondholders, who were elected directors, viz.:—Messrs. Wm. Hendrie, J. G. Worts, A. B. Lee, Donald Mackay, John Leys (of Rice Lewis & Son), and George Gooderham. These gentlemen immediately met, and arranged to make an inspection of the line at an early day, pending which no decision can be arrived at as to the future of the road. It is expected that the bondholders will draw up a new scheme for the reorganization of the road.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

McInnamy vs. Fielding.—This was an action for assault brought against John Fielding, of the Great Western Railway. It appears from the evidence that the plaintiff entered the defendant's hotel and some words arose between them about a small sum of money, which the defendant claimed from the plaintiff and which he alleged he had paid. The defendant told him to go out of the place, that he would not have him coming there to annoy him, but plaintiff refused to go out. After some further disturbance the defendant put him out of the front door and he fell on the side walk, he then got up and attempted to re enter the hotel, but defendant prevented his doing so, pushed him away from the door and he fell again. The jury found a verdict for the defendant. R. Oliver for plaintiff; A. H. Macdonald for defendant.

RARE SURGICAL OPERATION.—A very rare surgical operation was performed at the Toronto Hospital on Saturday in the presence of a large number of the medical profession who had attended for the special purpose of witnessing the case. The patient was a young woman named Holmes, a resident of the township of Mulmur, County of Simcoe, who had been afflicted for a considerable length of time with a rapid and alarming enlargement of the right inferior jaw bone. The patient was, of course, placed under chloroform, and the skin being removed from the bone Dr. Aikens severed the bone at the centre of the chin with the saw, and then carefully removed the flesh from the bone as far as the joint in front of the ear, where it was disarticulated. The operation extended over two hours, and was very skillfully performed, with very little loss of blood; and although it was of such a serious and formidable character the patient is progressing favourably.

MR. L. CARROL, formerly of the Herald, is in the city.

THE DOG BY-LAW.—Owners of dogs who wish to avoid being prosecuted at Police Court after the 1st July must take out their dog licenses before that date.

LETTING BOATS ON SUNDAY.—It will be a surprise to many to learn that the persons who let boats in the city are in the habit of doing business on Sunday. It will occur to the respectable part of the population that if these persons have not sufficient regard for the Sabbath day to refrain from doing business in this way they should be prosecuted for Sabbath desecration.

THE PULPIT.—In the Norfolk Street Methodist Church, the pastor, Rev. W. Williams, took for his text, Rev. 1st chapter and 10th verse: "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day." The preacher drew some valuable lessons from this text, and urging his people to abstain from the pleasure and worldly associations, which too often are indulged in, to the exclusion of being more spiritually minded. Mr. Williams spoke strongly against the business people crowding the last day of the week into the first, and also against those who continue their business on the Lord's day.

TEMPERANCE.—The Temperance meeting in the City Hall yesterday was very interesting. The Chaplain read the Scriptures and led in prayer, when the President came in with the Rev. Mr. Ball, who spoke to a very attentive gathering. In his remarks, the rev. gentleman spoke of the meetings of the different branches of the Church which have been held this summer, and that the temperance movement has held a very prominent place, and much discussion has taken place with reference to it, and all agree in denouncing in the strongest terms the liquor traffic, and that it must be rooted out of the Church if possible. The Chaplain, Mr. Ryan, was asked to make a few remarks and said that the temperance sentiment was gaining very fast in the Old Country. He named several measures which have been introduced into the Parliament there for the restriction of the liquor traffic. The Executive Committee was asked to remain a few minutes, when it was decided to call a public meeting on Tuesday, 29th inst. (of which due notice will be given), of all who are in sympathy with the temperance movement, whether they belong to the Club or not, to consult as to the best way to carry on the work during the summer months.

THE CROPS.—The crops in the neighborhood of Guelph are looking excellent, especially in the country to the south of the city. Between Guelph and Flamboro it is said there never was a better prospect for an abundant harvest. It was feared in the spring that the fall wheat would be a failure, but it has picked up wonderfully and there is likely to be an average crop. The hay crop will be large, and at present timothy especially is in first class order. In low lands spring wheat is somewhat wilted by the wet weather, but this crop it is expected will yield above an average. The pea crop is looking better than it has at any time within the memory of the oldest farmers. The barley crop promises well. It is out in head already, which gives prestige of an early harvest. The majority of the farmers have been sowing turnip seed for the past week, but some have delayed because of the turnip fly which is extremely bad.

GRANGERS AND CASH PRICES.—Says the Monetary Times: It is very satisfactory to find the Canadian organ of the Grangers, the Grange Record, coming out fairly and strongly against the needless and pernicious excess of credit purchases indulged in by Canadian farmers, which, it tells its readers, "a superabundance of small stores encourages, and which you (the farmers) are helping to fasten." Many granges, it is here admitted, purchase goods at wholesale through their secretary, and it is stated as a fact that upon the advent of a grange in any neighborhood, the members immediately order their supplies from Toronto or elsewhere, sending cash for goods, the right way, but these members at the same time are in debt to their village storekeeper for goods purchased a year or two previous. "Now," says the Record, "don't do this; pay up your debts first, then give your home dealer a chance to offer you CASH PRICES. Buy only what you can pay for is our advice; it may be a little difficult for a time, and subject you to some inconvenience, but after catching up and getting square with the world, the benefits of cash trade will warrant you lower prices, and a sense that what you have is paid for."

EFFORTS are being made to get the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher to lecture in Guelph about the 28th of July.

THE first excursion of Grangers from Huron to the Model Farm this season will take place to-morrow.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.—David Greene, (coloured) charged before the Police Magistrate to-day with being disorderly on Essex street, on Thursday night was fined $5.10.

MARVELLOUS MECHANISM.—The Engle clock, which is one of the most marvellous pieces of workmanship ever invented will be on exhibition in the store adjoining that of John Hogg & Son this evening, and every day during the remainder of the week. The clock produces 48 moving figures, or 26 more than any other clock in the world, and is very beautiful in its architectural design. It must be seen to be appreciated.

ASSAULT.—On Saturday evening George Pearson, an old man, committed an assault of a somewhat serious nature on Jas. Fields, aged about 23 years. Fields has been boarding at Pearson's house contrary to the wish of the latter, for some weeks, and the old man being the worse of liquor on Saturday night, removed him from the house, at the same time giving him a severe beating. Fields laid an information against Pearson for assault. The case was tried this Monday forenoon at the Police Court, and a fine of $5 was imposed. The prisoner was allowed one week to pay the fine.

CUTTING TREES.—The Montreal Telegraph Company have been cutting down trees which interfere with their wires, along the Brock road. Property owners in front of whose premises the trees were growing, consider it questionable whether the telegraph company have the right to cut the trees. There is a law which empowers persons to plant and protect trees three feet on the roadway in front of their premises, but the Telegraph Company are also empowered to remove all obstructions to their wires. It appears that the company might have done this by cutting the branches coming in contact with the wires, instead of cutting down the trees.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH.—The services in St. George's church yesterday, the 43rd anniversary of the Queen's accession, were of a peculiarly interesting and spirit-stirring character. Hymns, voluntaries, &c, were all in harmony with the event commemorated. The sermon was of a very interesting character, drawing a parallelism between Solomon and our Queen, but showing that while the former fell from the principles of trust in God, that he solely relied on when he ascended the throne. Queen Victoria had lived the rest of her life according to the beginning, never swerving from that impilict faith in God as her hope and refuge, that she declared at her coronation. The Canon dwelt fully on the many blessings connected with a monarchy in comparison with the fraud and deceit, and base treachery and immorality, peculiar to a state where the chief officer was elected. He also spoke touchingly of the profound sympathy felt by the whole nation for the Queen, in all the clouds and sunshine of her reign, closing with a fervent prayer that she might long be spared to rule over her loving subjects. God Save the Queen was played as an offertory voluntary, and in the evening the first and third verses of the National anthemn were sung. This anniversary comes so rarely on a Sunday, that it seems to have escaped the notice of the clergy generally. There was also a special thanksgiving for the rescue of the Bishop of Niagara and Mrs. Fuller from imminent peril on the sea.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—This Magazine for June has been republished by the LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO., 41 Barclay street, New York. The principal contents are: Dr. Wortle's School. Part II; The Reconstruction of Sheepfolds; The University of the Prairies; Suicide: Fishing and Fishing Literature; the ex-Amir Yakub Khan: from the Note-Book of a Staff-Officer; Bush-life in Queensland. Part VII. Of the serials there is little to be said. They keep up an even amount of interest from month to month. Bush-life is more social than usual. "The Reconstruction of Sheepfolds" contains some curious suggestions for the "redistribution of dioceses which shall be better adapted to the wants of the time." The author disclaims any levity of motive in writing the article. The next article gives an account of the State University of Manitoba, established in 1877 by the incorporation of three colleges already existing there. Then comes a history of the rise and progress of suicide, with many statistics. "Fishing is the pleasantest article in this number, taking one right to the homes of salmon and trout, and referring to the writings of Christopher North, Scrope, Colquhoun, and Henderson. The Staff Officer tells of the ex-Amir's connection with the outrage on the British Embassy; why he abdicated, etc. There are also two political essays, the one relating to the present ministry, the other to the future.

The Credit Valley Railway have not yet started fencing.

THE PRINTERS ON THE DIAMOND.—A game of base ball was played on the Maple Leaf grounds on Saturday afternoon between two nines of the MERCURY and Herald employees, in the presence of a select audience who occupied free seats in the grand stands. The challenge from the Herald set forth that the game was for the championship of the world, but it was easily inferred from the manner in which the MERCURY men played off that no such honorable title was at stake. The MERCURY men Chicagoed their rivals several times, but in order to make them do one half hour's work in the week sent seventeen of them around the diamond in the second innings. After that time the score was kept down prettily well, for the MERCURY team were not inclined to do an amount of running sufficient to beat that number and were determined that the Herald would not score many more runs. At the close the Herald stood 31, and the MERCURY 17. Wm. Hunter, of the Maple Leafs, acted as umpire, and gave universal satisfaction. George Lammond, of the Herald, acted as scorer for both clubs.

DIVORCE IN THE UNITED STATES.—The divorce business is looking up. The San Francisco Chronicle says:—"Many divorces are annually procured here, so many in fact that the manner has often excited criticism. The same may be said of St. Louis, of Chicago, of Cincinnati—of every large American city, not of course excluding our great Gotham. Recently published statistics show a remarkable increase of divorces in New England. From 1860 to 1878, inclusive, 2,775 divorces were granted in Vermont, 7,233 in Massachusetts and 7,781 in Connecticut. Since 1870, 1,966 divorces have been granted in Rhode Island. Considering the fact that divorces were almost unknown in those States a generation or so ago, these figures are remarkable. Their proportion to the whole number of marriages in those States also challenges attention, and the steady increase of this proportion is more significant still. New England is the most conservative and old fashioned section of the Union, and in this matter is not leading the country, but is rather following in the wake of other sections. The divorce appears to be increasing in popularity."

June 18.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Middlemiss it was decided on division that, with the approval of a majority of the Presbyteries, the names of ministers who have retired be retained in their respective Presbyteries, such ministers retaining all their judicial functions.

The question of the validity of Roman Catholic ordination came up at the evening sederunt. Rev. Dr. Proudfoot moved "That Romish ordination be recognized, but as there are points of difference between Romish ordination and Presbyterian ordination, a Presbytery proposing to apply to the General Assembly for leave to receive a Romish priest into the ministry of our Church must ascertain that he has correct views of ordination, and that he has reasonable evidence that he is called by Christ into the ministry, and that he understands and embraces our doctrinal standards; and further, that in case of leave being obtained the person to be received shall be required in open Court to answer satisfactorily the questions put to students when they obtain licenses.

After some discussion the matter was deferred till next Assembly.

The marriage with a deceased wife's sister question was brought up, and it was moved that a committee be appointed to watch with a view to opposing any legislation on the subject.

The Rev. Mr. Black took the opposite view of the question, and asked what position the Church would be in in the event of a bill passing. He thought it unfair for a small remnant of the Assembly, at a late hour of the session to take upon themselves to speak for the Church on an important subject.

Professor McLaren claimed that the Presbyterian Church, as a church, was committed to opposition to any such legislation.

The motion was carried on a division by thirty-five votes to sixteen.

From Toronto.

TORONTO, June 21.—Hanlan, who is still suffering from a pain in the groin, will have an interview with Dr. Thorburn today. He is very much depressed in feelings.

THE VALUE OF THE LARCH TREE.—The subject of forestry has latterly received a good deal of attention in the United States. A recent writer on this topic, Mr. B. G. Northrop, of the Connecticut Board of Education, makes a suggestion as to the cultivation of the European larch which may be worth considering here. The larch, he says, combines the qualities of durability of timber, rapidity of growth, and symmetry of form, and grown well in sterile soil and on hillsides, crowding out the useless undergrowth. It is particularly valuable in its fertilizing effects, as its dense foliage on being shed forms a rich vegetable mould. This property renders it specially adapted for the reclamation of barren regions, a purpose to which it has been put in Europe with satisfactory results. In Scotland, where the larch was first planted on the estates of the Duke of Athol, matured crops of sixty-five years' growth have sold for from $750 to $2,000 per acre, the land being originally worth but three or four dollars an acre. The experiment has also been tried in France with encouraging results.

THE TEMPORALITIES FUND.—That almost interminable case of Dobbie vs. The Temporalities Board of the Presbyterian Church was before the Quebec Supreme Court for decision on Saturday, and there were a number of clergymen present to hear the decision. Chief Justice Dorion read the judgment, which confirmed that previously given by the Court below. He held that the Presbyterian Church had acted constitutionally in going to the Provincial Government for a decision, and that the Province of Quebec had a constitutional right to legislate in the premises. Their Honors McCord, Monk and Tessier, J.J., concurred. His Honor Mr. Ramsay, J., held that the Presbyterian Church should have gone to the Dominion Legislature for its powers and that the action of the Quebec Government was unconstitutional. It is believed the question will be carried further.

SCENE IN A CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Harcourt, of the Methodist Church, in Jersey City, on Sunday evening, preached a sermon on the late steamboat collision in Long Island Sound. He first gave a description of the collision between the Narragansett and the Stonington, and then denounced the captain and crew of the Narragansett as the biggest cowards in existence. As soon as he uttered the word "coward," Capt. Young, captain of the Narragansett, who was present, jumped from his seat, and cried out, "You are a liar." Great excitement ensued, and the trustees of the church rushed for the Captain and dragged him to the stationhouse. The Captain, notwithstanding his protestations, was locked up in a cell.

WATER FOR THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.—It is understood that after careful enquiry and personal investigation, the Minister of Railways has decided to adopt the "Haggas" method for supplying water for locomotive purposes on the Canada Pacific railway, and that a contract has been entered into accordingly with Mr. Wm. Gooderham, jr., of Ottawa. The value and efficiency of the new system have been highly recommended by gentlemen of undoubted engineering ability. Taking the length of the railway at 2,600 miles, it is estimated that with the Haggas system $200,000 can be saved in the cost of construction by the use of underground cisterns in place of the usual over-ground frost proof tanks, including pumping and other plant connected therewith; and that a further saving of about $50,000 a year can be effected in the ordinary outlay for maintenance.

The Question of Divorce.

The interest of the public has been re-awakened in the divorce question by the case which came up before the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Montreal last week, and which is invested with additional interest to us from the fact that the parties in the case live in this County. Our report of the case gave a full and sufficient explanation of its details, and showed that while there was much sympathy manifested for the woman concerned, yet the church rightly adhered to the principle that a divorce obtained in the States was of no value in Canada, and this was affirmed by a vote of fifty-seven to sixteen. The finding of the Assembly was that while refusing to impugn the good faith of Mrs. Phillips, she was encouraged to procure a divorce in Canada from her former husband Lewis, but until that was accomplished she could not be received into full communion with the church.

We cannot see how the Assembly could have arrived at any other conclusion, for in the eye of our law the woman in question is still the wife of her first husband, and must remain so as long as she lives in this country, unless in the meantime she applies for and obtains a divorce from the two Houses of Parliament, the only Court that can at present grant her one. And it is here where the grievance is felt. The expense attending the prosecution of a divorce case, even where there is no resistance, is very great. In the first place, for six months an advertisement must appear in the Canada Gazete; in the second instance, a bill framed by a lawyer and accompanied with $100 or more as a deposit to pay for printing it, etc., must be provided; in the third place, witnesses consisting of detectives, bailiffs who have served summons, etc., and those who have a knowledge of the alleged guilt of the party proceeded against must be taken to Ottawa, where for days they have to be maintained at the cost of the prosecutor. Then all the tedious formalities must be gone through before Parliament, in the examination of witnesses, which takes a long time and entails great expense. The only remedy for this is in giving a Court power to deal with such cases, as has been done in England, where a Divorce Court has been in existence for some time, and has been found to answer the purpose admirably. Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Phillips, and it may be that her case will lead to such legislation as will obviate the evils in connection with such and simplify and cheapen the process for obtaining a divorce without having recourse to the American Courts, whose decisions are not recognized at all in this country.

THE Commissioners on Civil Service Reform are to be paid $10 a day. Pleasant pickings for the holidays.

THE latest report is that Seymour has positively refused, and Tilden has declined the Democratic nomination at Cincinnati.

THE report of the resignation of Hon. Mr. Masson is confirmed. Continued ill health is assigned as the cause. On Saturday he handed in his resignation to the Governor-General at Quebec.

THE Mail understands that Mr. Sandford Fleming has, after consideration, decided to decline the office of Engineer in Chief of the Intercolonial railway, which was tendered him some days ago.

PUBLIC meetings will likely be organized in Toronto, to protest against the unholy alliance between the contractors and the Government for the purpose of importing navvies. The workingmen of both parties are very bitter about it, and the effect in west Toronto, if an election takes place soon, will be disastrous to the Government candidate.

THE Irish Land Bill, now before the House of Commons, provides that until the 31st of Decemeber, 1881, ejectments for non-payment of rent in certain scheduled districts where distress is prevailing shall be deemed a disturbance of the tenant by the landlord within the meaning of the Landlord and Tenant Act of 1870, and the tenant shall be entitled to compensation in the discretion of a judge of the County Court if the non-payment of rent is caused by the prevailing distress, and the tenant is willing to continue in occupation on reasonable terms as to rent, arrears of rent, and otherwise. Such terms are unreasonably refused by the landlords, and the Bill will meet with determined opposition by the Conservatives, who denounce it as confiscation. The newspapers generally disapprove of the Bill.

REFERRING to the discontent of some of the Liberals, Mr. Gladstone in a late speech told them that they must not be in a hurry; for time, and probably no long time, would enable the country to judge whether the leaders had lived up to the declarations made during the canvass. He grounded the policy of the Cabinet on the broad principle that it is the duty of every Government upon acceding to office, in the conduct alike of domestic and of foreign affairs, "to maintain, so far as conscience and consistency will permit, the continuity of action of the country." "We have," he added, "to represent this great Power in the councils of the world, and it would be, indeed, unworthy of men of character and honor, if we sought needlessly to disassociate ourselves from what may have been said or done before."

The Tenant Farmers in Britain.

From time to time the papers in the Old Country bring up and discuss the position and prospects of the tenant farmers there, for this question at present overshadows all others. It has been shown time and again that in spite of their skill and industry and perseverance they are gradually but surely going back. Their income has not equalled their outgo. They are getting deeper and deeper into debt every year, and there seems to be no hope of getting out of it. In their extremity the Old Country farmer looks with a longing eye to the promising fields of immigration in the States and Canada. Observation satisfies him that he cannot compete with the wheat-growers of the Red River Valley—that old country agriculture must undergo very important changes—and that while these are going on the farmer's position must be embarrassing. A consciousness of the same fact is giving rise to a quiet but widely diffused movement in favor of emigration as the readiest method of relief. The feeling is rendered more noticeable by the quiet earnestness with which large numbers of farmers are preparing to transfer their families and fortunes to other lands. Groups of farmers have been formed with the view of sending out a practical agent to examine and report. Other farmers there are who are preparing to go on their own account, and their selection of a locality will have a good deal of influence with old neighbors. It is in this manner that the emigration leaven is working among the farmers, and work it will in spite of all the landlords can do to repress it.

In this connection we notice a speech made recently by Mr. Murray, a farmer in the north of Scotland, to his brother farmers, in which he refers to some of the grievances they suffer from, and until these are redressed he holds out but little hope for their future success. He also touches on the meat question, and in this matter his views are specially interesting to us on this side of the Atlantic. He says: It is high time that our land laws had undergone a change—a radical change. There are four great questions connected with the land and the agricultural interest that I have advocated, if not ever since I had a being, at all events ever since I have travelled. I think it is high time the farmer was paid for permanent improvements. Another question which seriously affects the farmer is the game question. I hold that he who feeds the hares and rabbits should have them, and not the proprietor. I should be satisfied if proprietors would mark the hares and rabbits which fed on me, as I mark my blackfaced wethers; but I am not to allow hares and rabbits to come down upon me without even being allowed to touch them with a stick. We want, too, that permanent manures should be paid for The refusal to pay for these manures incurs a loss upon the whole community. It is foolishness in any tenant to sink his capital in the soil of the proprietor during the last years of his lease. When we think of all these, and of that great and mighty country, America, and its illimitable supply of beef, you will agree with me that these are questions which must demand your serious attention. I have this week accounts from a gentleman who has sold twenty thousand bullocks in one parcel in Kentucky, and who has entered the lists as a large shipper to this country, and there is not a single ship coming into Liverpool from New York but is fully occupied with beef and live stock, and I may also mention that I have a letter commissioning me to take charge of his cattle at four large English ports. I have had experience in the trade, and I am of opinion that it is only in its infancy, and I tell you candidly, from an experience of forty years that cattle, except in certain seasons, will only average 66s to 68s per. cwt. Do not, therefore, take land, with the expectation of higher value for cattle.

One of the grievances referred to by Mr. Murray, namely, the destruction of green crops by game, is likely soon to be remedied, for the Gladstone Government have introduced a Bill into Parliament giving tenant farmers in England, Ireland and Scotland power to kill "ground game"—that is hares and rabbits—on their own lands. The men employed by them are also granted the same liberty. No gun license will be required, and the tenant will have liberty to sell game so killed, or dispose of it as he choses, without having to procure a license. This will be a great boon to farmers, for in many parts of the country these animals have become a perfect pest. Although they yearly destroyed a vast amount of crops, they were sacredly protected by the iniquitous game laws, for should a farmer or his servant dare shoot one of the vermin, he was liable to be fined or imprisoned as a poacher.

THE passage in the British Commons of Sir Wilfred Lawson's local option resolution, giving to the inhabitants of any district the right of determining whether the licenses to public houses shall be renewed or not, will oblige the Government to introduce a Bill regulating liquor licenses, and they will probably do so this session. It was carried by a majority of 23. The temperance men of Britain justly regard this vote as a substantial triumph.

The Hooper Case.

Ever since the report of the commissioners appointed by the Ontario Government to inquire into the financial affairs of the county of Lennox, which report asserted that the late treasurer's liability in respect of the county funds was $32,000 at least, there have existed in many minds honest doubts as to his guilt. But on Thursday last all doubt, suspense and speculation gave way to a frightful certainty. On that day Edmund Hooper, M. P., late treasurer of the county, in presence of the twenty one representatives of the people in council assembled, pleaded guilty to the indictment of being a defaulter. He was heard before the Council, and claiming that he was mentally incapable of presenting any statement, that body consented that Mr. Roe should present his case. Mr. Roe's 'power of attorney' was admitted by himself, and he was recognized as being the mouth of Mr. Hooper. By his showing, although he colored the case in the most roseate dyes, in the interest of his client, he could not escape acknowledging defalcations to the extent of $12,881.12. True, this was offset by the sum of $3,865.65 transferred on his retirement from office by the late treasurer to his successor, and this Mr. Roe claimed reduced the amount of the default to $9,015.65. This he further claimed was covered by the $12,000—strictly only $9,000—paid by the sureties, which left a balance of $2,983.53, to apply on interest on quarterly balances, which balances Mr. Roe's special pleading and pliant convictions on the subject, could not separate from Mr. Hooper's responsibility in relation thereto. He has steadily denied that he owed the county one penny, even before the assembled wisdom of the Dominion, and no later than last Tuesday, he publicly and emphatically reiterated the statement, and on Thursday he admits his guilt. If, after all that has been said, all that has been done, and after the pitiable peccavi of last Thursday, Mr. Hooper does not see his way clear to a retirement from public life, and the resignation of a great public trust, then shame, the latest surviving evidence of virtue, must have departed from him forever. Pity for the fallen is a God-like sentiment, but pity has but dubious right of way in path of duty.—Napanee Express.

LISA LENA:

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUT-CAST.

CHAPTER IV.

EPHRAIM MASON'S.

My binding out to the Ephraim Mason family closed what I may call the first period of my life. It cut off my family ties. It withered whatever hopes of social position I might have entertained from the circumstances of my parents. It took me from comparative luxury and refinement, and pitched me out headlong, friendless and orphaned and alone, into some of the roughest life on God's earth. Whatever the sailor, storm-tossed and bruised and wrecked, may think of the little haven from which he started so long ago, with its natural beauty and of human skill, I think when I go back to that time over which angels seem to hover with silver wings, and in which I left behind all the most precious of life—

O you who have passed all your days in such halcyon harbours of refuge, who have never sailed beyond, on whom the sun has shone and the zephyrs have blown with kindliest gentleness, whose hearts have never been chilled with the rough winds of unmerited adversity, whose bodies and souls have never known the wracking tortures of variable misfortunes, try and understand something of the miseries of such a being as mine; try to warm into some sort of sympathetic compassion for a spirit battered and crushed on the storm-beaten waters of life. You fair, fine-scented, satin sisters who tread with proud step the parqueted floor of society and sit in the scarlet-cushioned pews of luxurious "Houses of God," draw not away your fine robes from the feared contagion of such a life as mine, for in it lie no more than the frailties common to women. For these you may shut me out from the chamber of your pity, but you cannot exclude from your hearts the consciousness of a nature similar to mine—a nature that might know the same sorrows and thirst for the same sympathies as I do.

Ephriam Mason, who had written from Keyugo for a little girl to adopt and train as a help to his wife, was a farmer from Maine, who had settled in Illinois, soon after the building of the Illinois Central Railway, on a few huadred acres of land about a mile back from the railway and three miles from Keyugo Station. When I was torn away from my brothers and sisters, and with a little bundle containing whatever of any clothes the honest Beulah Ram had been pleased to leave me, I was put in charge of the conductor of a train which stopped at every station. He was a good-natured fellow, and tried to ease the long journey to me. He gave me a picture-book to look at, lent me his pocket-handkerchief (a very dirty one and smelling strongly of tobacco,) and bought me a paper of highly-coloured candy, with which I gradually consoled myself, and coloured up my face and finguers in clown-like spots and streaks. This and the motion of the cars and my sorrowful feelings made me feel very squeamish. Whereupon he administered to me a small dose of whiskey and laid me down on a seat, where I fell asleep. I was awakened by loud talking and a hand shaking me.

"That's her, eh ?" said a grating voice, with a terrible Yankee twang. "Well, she aint a beautie to be looked at, and pretty small-sized of her years."

"I believe she has been raised well in the South," said the conductor kindly, as he tried to arrange my little straw hat on my head.

"A Southerner, eh ? Du tell ! I hadn't calculated on a Secesh girl. Nice idees, I daresay. No religion, I reckon—lazy—quite a little missy—too much of a lady to work, I spose. I guess I've been too spry about this business. Howsomever, we'll inaugurate a new system, I reckon, right away, and instruct her in more useful and pious ways than she's been raised to from the looks of her. What's all this paint over yer face, Sissy, eh ?"

"Candy," I replied, looking at him. My experience with Miss Ram had braced my nature up a little, and this man seemed to me to be a male Ram, with all her characteristics, and I there and then began to fight him.

"Well, yer won't get much of that, I reckon, where you're coming to, my young lady," said he, nettled at my tone and manner, which I dare say was somewhat defiant.

"Don't want 'em," I said tartly.

"Hum !" said the man. "I guess we'd better go along. My wife will soon take her in hand and put a bit in her teeth," said he to the conductor.

The good conductor looked at me compassionately, and lifted me gently down from the seat. I thanked him with a grateful look, and gave him back his pocket-handkerchief, to the other properties of which I had added much saccharine coloring. The conductor, however, who had been long without it blew his nose without any fastidiousness.

"Aint yer going to kiss me ?" I said putting up my painted cheek.

"Why, yes, Miss, if yer like it," said the honest fellow, stooping and kissing me. "Hem ! Hem !" He cleared his throat, "Goodbye and God bless yer, Sissy !" he said.

We got out on a bare platform, raised on high poles, in a wilderness. A single petroleum lamp lighted what was called by courtesy a station, that is, the rough-boarded shelter erected to hide passengers from wind and rain. As far as I could see in the deepening gloom stretched only an expanse of land, with the growing corn upon it. The man lit his pipe, and then lifting me, carrying my little bundle, he placed me in a weather-beaten buggy to which a horse was attached by a harness consisting mostly of ropes, and we started off at a good pace over a frightfully rough road.

"Now," he said, holding in both hands the rope of the clothes-line which was used for reins, "Young'un, yer may as well learn sooner or later. Jest yer hold on with all yer fingers, for this aint an easy road to travel in a light buggy, and Jeshurun's pretty fresh, I reckon." Jeshurun was the horse's name.

At the word the wheel of the buggy at his side went up, and the wheel on my side went down, and I was pitched out on to the side of the road. The man stopped and jumped down. I had fallen on my back and shoulder and was only a little bruised. I saw his face was white as he bent over me. His voice was gentler, and a little tremulous.

"Are yer hurt, Sissy, eh ?"

"No, sir," I said, getting up and rubbing my shoulder. "I guess I'm all right."

"All right," he said, "that'll teach you to hold on next time, I reckon. But we'll see if we can't hole you in." And he took his handkerchief and tied it to my waist and the rail of the buggy. "Now," he said, "I guess you can swing around as much as you please without taking headers off into the gutter."

And away we went—and I did swing around much more than I pleased, as he pressed the horse homewards. The horse was by no means an easy animal to drive as even I could see. He cocked his ears sometimes straight up, sometimes back, and held his head alarmingly high in the air, and had an unpleasant way of heightening his shoulders as if for a spring, and of looking round at us with his wicked eye, for he was driven without blinkers. However, even with the support of the handkerchief, I had enough to do to hold my place, clinching the slight iron rail at the side and behind with all my force, till I felt quite sick with the pain and anxiety. The road seemed to me endless. By-and-bye we saw a light about a mile ahead.

"There, that's your new ho-me," said Ephraim Mason, who had not spoken a word since my fall. I was tired and sleepy, and scarcely cared about the news he gave me. I tried to speak, but my teeth chattered against my tongue, and bit it.

At length we arrived, driving up a straight road with a row of young trees on each side, and reaching a long low wooden building, placed in a clearing, with stables and huge ricks behind. The noise of the wheels disturbed the inmates. There was a barking of dogs, a moving of lights, a door opened, and a woman appeared.

"Home, Eph?" she shouted, as if Ephraim were as deaf as a post. "Have you got the gal?"

"Yes," he said. "Here she is, or what's left of her."

I was suffering terrible pain in my shoulder. My arms and fingers were stiff with holding on, and my body with the horrible jolting of the machine. The woman came out with a candle, and an enormous dog followed her and jumped about. When he saw me he gave a low growl, and put me in a mortal fear. The man undid the handkerchief, and lifting me out sat down. The dog made a rush and knocked me over like a ninepin. Then he smelt my face. I thought I was dead, and shut my eyes. He put out his big tongue and licked my cheek. At the same instant a cut from his master's whip sent him howling away.

"O, poor little thing," said the woman, helping me up, I could scarcely stand, and reeled about. She tucked me under her arm and carried me into the room. It was a large, bright, comfortable kitchen. Though it was summer time a fire was burning in the stove in the large chimney-place. There were tea things on the table. The woman sat me on a large soft chair and examined me.

"Lauk a day, what a little bit of a thing! Ain't her eyes black? Du tell, lookee here, what's this paint all over her face? And your hands, why they're bleedin'." She could scarcely open my little hands. The nails had cut into the skin in the desperate effort to hold on, and the hands were quite bloody.

"Why, you've druv too quick, Eph, I reckon," said the woman. "Lookee here."

When she forced my hand open I fainted.

On recovering I found myself lying on a wood box stuffed with straw, which served the purpose of a sofa. Mrs. Mason had been plentifully sprinkling my face with water, for my hair was all wet, and I felt half-drowned. Sitting at the foot of the sofa on his haunches, his large intelligent head posed in an attitude of watchful curiosity, sat Dragon, the big mastiff. He seemed to me as he sat as tall as I. When I opened my eyes and looked at him he moved slightly, then his eyes assumed a gentle expression, and I could hear his big tail knocking on the floor.

"Why, I declare it Dragon ain't gone and tuk a fancy for the little girl!" cried Mrs. Mason.

"Well, I thought he had took a fancy for her before," responded Ephraim Mason, who was sitting at the table eating his supper as if for a wager. And he laughed a little.

"Dragon."

"Dragon."

"Why, what's come of the brute?" cried Ephraim Mason, turning round with his mouth full, and examining Dragon.

Dragon on this rose, and putting his two paws on the sofa, the better to see me, with his ears meekly dropping, his large eyes full of intense pleasure, and his big tail wagging me a hearty welcome, he gave a low whine or two.

"Do you hear, Sissy," said Ephraim, getting up, and coming to look at me. "You needn't be afeared of Dragon any more when he's tuk to you like that. I never see him do it afore. Did you Semmy?"

Mrs. Mason rejoiced in the high sounding name of Semiramis.

"I reckon," she said. Now, Sissy, try to stand up and take a little tea. You can dress yourself, I guess?"

'Some, but I kent tie my things behind."

"Then we'll make 'em tie in front," said Mrs. Mason, shortly. In a few minutes I was eating my tea, and Dragon, following me to the table, sat with his chin resting on the table cloth staring at me. I no longer felt afraid of him, and even ventured, when the tea had strengthened me a little, to say "Poor dog!" and to hold out my hand, which he took in his big mouth, and I thought I should never see it again. But he did me no harm, and was from that moment my firm friend and protector.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœpathic Chemists, London, Eng.' n4dw9md

Mothers!! Mothers!! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

Haying is going forward in the vicinity of London. A cut of three tons of clean timothy per acre was made on Friday, on the third concession of Westminster.

Several Waterloo and Berlin makers are turning out a large number of waggons for Manitoba. The price they receive is $50 each, at which price there would'n't seem to be such margin for profit.

The amount of license money paid over to the various municipalities of the South Riding for the present license year was:—Galt, $949.09; Preston, $315.99; Hespeler, $98; New Hamburg, $250.43; Wilmot, $509.45; South Waterloo, $166.33; North Dumfries, $925.90. Total, $2,512.19.

The manager of the Bank of Commerce at Berlin, who rather horrified a good many people by taking his family gipsying on the banks of the Grand River near Breslau, for several weeks last summer, is soon going under canvass again, and is likely to have a good many imitators.

The Bruce County Council have been indulging in a salary grab. At the June session, in Walkerton, they passed a resolution raising their idemnity from $2 a day to $3. The Walkerton Herald calls them the forty thieves.

Dairy produce formed a conspicuous item in the exports of Montreal last year. The shipments of cheese reached 571,704 boxes, and of butter 259,901 packages, being the largest ever made from that port in one season. Liverpool took by far the greater share of these, and a few went to Antwerp.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

DAVIS ON HANLAN'S MISHAP.—Mr. J Davis, of Windsor, gives information respecting Hanlan and his recent mishap:—After his race with Courtney, Hanlan was walking along the street in Washington one night when he stepped down off a sidewalk, which was eight or ten inches higher from the roadway than he thought it was. He gave himself so severe a wrench that he had to go and lean against a lamp post for some time, until he recovered himself. He complained of a bad pain in his side, and wore, as directed by a doctor in Washington, a plaster until he rowed Riley, when he took it off, and has not worn it since. In spite of all reports to the contrary, I am confident that Hanlan broke down through sheer illness, and Ross won the race fairly.

SMALL FRUITS. — The Galt Reporter says: Either owing to the quantity of rain which has fallen, or to the cool weather following on the extreme heat of the latter part of last week, the promise of a magnificent crop of small fruits does not appear as good as it did a week or two ago. This is the more noticeable in cherries, plums and currants, which have fallen and are falling off the trees and bushes in such quantities as to threaten at least a two-third loss of the crop. This result does not appear to be partial, for we have complaints from different sections to the same effect.

It is said the districts will ask for £100,000 from the Irish Church fund as a gift, and will propose as a Committee of distribution a Board composed of a chairman and certain members of the four Boards for relief already existing, and Mr. Forster, Chief Secretary for Ireland.

The programme consisted of a debate—"Resolved that the stage as it now exists has a demoralizing tendency." The debaters, with the exception of R. Black, mover on the affirmative, and R. Hinds on the negative, were absent. The debate, however, was carried on by those two, the Rev. Mr. Campbell being in the chair. The chairman in reviewing, stated that owing to the full compliment of debators not being present, the question being so evenly sustained, he would not decide as to who won it, though he was himself opposed to theatres generally. The meetings were by resolution suspended till the first Monday in October, when they will again be resumed. Both those societies have been well conducted, and have been conducive of much good. When the fall returns they will again be carried on with renewed vigor.

The Harriston cricket club played their first match of the season at Palmerston on Wednesday of last week, in which they proved themselves victors, with the following score: First innings, 22 runs; second 47—total 69. The Rev. J. R. Gundey who has for the past three years held the exalted position of pastor of the C. M. Church, was entertained to a farewell strawberry festival in the church on Thursday evening, the 17th inst. The refreshments were served in the vestry, after which the intellectual and musical part begun in the church by Mr. Graham taking the chair and calling on the Rev. John Campbell, B. A., to open with prayer, and the choir to sing a selection of music. Perhaps the most interesting part was the presentation to Mr. Gundey by Mr. J. S. Louden, on behalf of the congregation, of a gold headed cane and a silver service to Mrs. Gundey, by Mrs. James Brown, on behalf of the lady portion of the congregation. Both presentations were accompanied by a very fine address testifying to the many excellent virtues of the rev. gentleman and his esteemed lady. Mr. Gundey, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Gundey, made a very feeling reply, in which he expressed his sense of the fidelity with which his people had ever rallied round him here. Mr. Gundey has been an earnest, zealous worker in the cause of religion here, and his labors have been fraught with much good. He carries with him the best esteem of a large circle of friends embracing every denomination in the town. His next charge will be Exeter, in the county of Huron. He will be succeeded here by the Rev. G. A. Mitchell, B. A., who is highly spoken of as an earnest worker in the cause of Christianity.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Management of the Board of Works Attacked.

Ald. Coffee Speaking Against Time.

The City Council met on Monday evening. Present—Mayor Sleeman, Aldermen MacMillan, Burns, Gowdy, McLagan, Bruce, Tyson, Hart, Hewer, Fairbank, Hall, Robertson, McGuire, Doran, Chadwick, Coffee, Lamprey.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. Armstrong, asking to be relieved of his duties in connection with the city, in order that he might attend the volunteer's drill at London.

From Wm. Sunley and others, asking for the privilege of erecting a band stand on the Market Square in a more central part than the present one.

From Guthrie, Watt & Cutten, stating that an injunction had been issued in the case of Barclay v. Guelph. The Mayor stated that he had received the injunction.

PETITIONS.

From the committee of the Mechanics' Institute, asking the use of the City Hall for the Strawberry festival on Tuesday evening.

It was decided to deal with this matter after the date of the entertainment.

From John Harris and other property owners on Wilson street, and the Market Square, asking for the removal of the trees on the west side of the Market Square, as the fluff thrown off in the spring time was a nuisance.

From George Marsh and others asking that a lane on the Allen estate which had been recently enclosed be reopened.

From A. T. Kerr and others asking to have a portion of Woolwich street be watered for twelve weeks, the expense to be met by a special rate levied on property holders living on that portion of the street.

This petition was granted.

From Ex-Mayor Howard, with reference to the Gauhan-Howard case, asking that the Council pay the expenses of that suit amounting to $223.40, on the ground that at the time he (Mr. Howard) expelled ex-Ald. Gauhan from the council chamber he was acting on advice of the City Solicitor whose opinion had been obtained in the matter by direction of the Council.

FINANCE.

Ald. McLagan, chairman, reported recommending that the Ladies' Benevolent Society be granted the sum of $70.08; Dr. McKinnon, $4; Joseph Rudd, refunded $1.50; F. T. Chapman, $5.20 for binding assessment roll; account of Woodward, Grant & Co., Toronto, for corporation stationery $18; T. J. Day, $27.93; Johnston & McKinnon, balance due on suit of Hall v. Corporation $12.85; Petition of Assessors, granted by allowing each $15; Judge Chadwick, to be paid the sum of $41.02 for his claim for taxes illegally collected; Mr. Romain's matter left for further consideration.

On motion of Ald. McLagan and Robertson, the report was adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Chadwick reported recommending that the drain in front of John McCrea's place be covered over. The committee further reported that they have settled Dr. Brock's affair, giving $55 in full of damages.

Expenditure to date $2,159; balance on hand $1,841.

Ald. Gowdy asked if that was a true statement of the financial standing of the committee.

Ald. Chadwick said there were outstanding accounts not included in the statement. He said it would be utterly impossible for the committee to keep within the appropriation.

Ald. Tyson and McGuire said they would go for making each committee responsible themselves for whatever amounts were in excess of their appropriations at the end of the year.

The Council went into committee to further consider the report. Ald. Fairbank in the chair.

Ald. Gowdy said he had taken notice of what work had been done this year by the Board of Works, and if a true report was brought down he doubted if there was very little left of the appropriation.

Ald. McLagan thought that the sidewalks were in such a delapidated condition that if they were not improved it would result in actions for damages. He advised that less grading on the streets should be done and more repairs to sidewalks.

Ald. Chadwick was glad that the Council had gone into committee, for this was a matter which he wanted to hear discussed. He was certain that the appropriation of the Board would not be enough but he was sure the Council would not be afraid to give $500, $1,000 or $1,500 in excess of it.

Ald. McGuire said the Board of Works had no right to spend in excess of the appropriation without first having the sanction of the Council.

Mayor Sleeman thought this discussion was owing to the fact that the Committee had not submitted a full statement of their standing.

A long discussion followed, in which the advisability of laying the wide sidewalk on the south side of Woolwich street was questioned, and it was hinted that Ward appropriations were being spent in improving places in which no appropriation had been made.

Ald. Chadwick stated with reference to the sidewalk on the south side of Woolwich street that he understood the property owners along that street were going to bear part of the expense. He said that as most of the Ward Committees had not made application for ward appropriations he inferred that there were none required. He pointed out that this year there had been no provision made for contingencies, while it required a considerable amount to make repairs which were necessary, and which had not been taken into account at the beginning of the year.

The Committee rose and reported the report unamended, when it was adopted.

MARKETS AND BUILDINGS.

Ald. Hart reported, recommending the payment of T. J. Day's account, $5.80 and Francis Marriott, $16.70. As to the leasing of the City Hall by the Grand Opera House Company of Toronto, your Committee recommend that the Chairman be instructed to communicate with said Company, asking for more definite information as to what they require. They have had under consideration the dilapidated appearance of the fence enclosing the G. T. Railway track through the Market Square and the uncared for state of the grounds bordering on the same, and that the Chairman communicate with the G.T. Railway officials, with a view of co-operating with them in putting up a proper fence, especially on the north side of the track and in improving the grounds.

They also recommend that the trees on the Market Square be properly trimmed.

On motion of Ald. Hart and Gowdy, the report was adopted.

FIRE AND GAS.

Ald. Gowdy, Chairman, reported, recommending payments of the accounts of Geo. Murton for coal, amounting to $13.50

Your Committee have expended, as per last report	933	71
Amount since.....	40	63
Total	$ 974	34
Amount of appropriation	$3.500	00
Balance	2,525	66

RELIEF.

Ald. Hewer, Chairman, reported, recommending that D. Scroggie's account, amounting to $11, be paid.—Adopted.

PARKS AND TREES.

Ald. Fairbank, chairman, reported as follows: With regard to the petition of Peter Hunter and others, your committee report that the barbs complained of have been removed from the wire fence at the residence of Mr. Kerr. That all others who have used barbed wire on the streets be notified to remove it. That in future no barbed wire be allowed to be placed on any street. The committee have paid the following accounts during the past month: Wages till May 29th, $18; till June 5th, $8.75; Bond & Co., $7.30; Marcon & Co., $5.95; Sunley, $61.20; A. H. Davidson, $25.85; Jackson, $36; wages, $5.50. Total $168.55. Adopted.

POLICE.

Ald. Hall, chairman, reported recommending that the following accounts be paid: Chief of Police, $10.14; T. J. Day, $7; F. Small, $20. Adopted.

TAKING THE ASSESSMENT.

On motion of Ald. MacMillan and Lamprey, a by-law was introduced to regulate the time of taking the assessment and revising the assessment roll.

THE MALLEABLE IRON WORKS.

On motion of Ald. McLagan and Gowdy the Council went into committee on a by-law for exempting the manufactory of Messrs. Feasant & Murchy from taxation for ten years.

The by-law was read a second time.

RENEWING DEBENTURES.

The Council went into committee on the by-law to the issue of $10,000 debentures under the Act of 1880, for renewing outstanding debentures coming due this year. The new debentures have twenty years to run, and bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent. They are to be paid off by a special rate each year.

Both of the above by-laws passed their third reading and became law.

THE BARCLAY GRIEVANCE.

Ald. Chadwick and McLagan, moved that the Mayor be authorized to take the necessary steps for the purchase of lots 148 to 155, fronting on Surrey street, Canada Company's Survey, for $550 from James Barclay.

Ald. Tyson said that other land owners in the neighborhood of this property complained of the filthy water from McCrae's factory. He thought it would be advisable to make a different water course. He did not think that by buying these lots it would prevent the difficulty, as others would be lodging complaints. He would say run the water into the race; it would not cost $500 and would do away with other complaints.

Ald. Chadwick said that if this filthy water were emptied into Gow's dam it would discolour the water there and still be a nusiance.

The resolution was carried on the following vote:—

Nay—Ald. McGuire, Tyson—2.

Ald. McLagan and Robertson moved that $15 be allowed each of the Assessor's in connection with the taking of the census of the school children. Carried.

Ald. McLagan and Bruce moved that the Committee on Parks and Shade Trees be instructed to report on the condition of the old burying ground and the advisability of laying the same out as a public park for the citizens. Carried.

Ald. McGuire and Tyson moved that the Chairman of the Board of Works be instructed to bring down a correct statement of the expenditure on each street, also the indebtedness of the Committee.

Ald. McGuire said he moved this resolution in order to prevent the chairman of the Board of Works violating the rule providing that each committee should bring down a correct statement of its expenditure once a month.

Ald Chadwick was not aware that he had violated any rule.

The Mayor said he had called the attention of Ald. Chadwick to the rule before.

It was 10:30, when the rule relating to time was suspended. At 11.22 Ald. Coffee took the floor and spoke against time till the hour of adjournment, thus defeating the motion.

The Council rose at 11.30.

LIVINGSTONE.—The Kincardine Reporter says:—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce, the latter the eldest daughter of the great Dr. Livingstone, are at present in Canada on a visit to their friends. They were at Listowel a few days ago where they were entertained by a brother of the great African explorer, who lives in that town. Mr. Bruce is a partner in the great brewing firm of Younger & Co., of Edinburgh, and while on this continent intends inspecting all the great lager beer breweries for the purpose of getting an insight into the manufactura of Canadian and American lager. Younger & Co. intend to add a lager brewery to their already very large establishment.

THE FATAL QUARREL AT MARKDALE.—An inquest was held in Markdale last week on the body of Fraser, who was killed by a blow given by McLaughlin in a drunken broil. Dr. John Barnhart, coroner, presided over the inquest. After examining a number of witnesses the jury presented their verdict, acquitting McLaughlin. The coroner feeling that the verdict was not in accordance with the evidence adduced refused to accept the finding of the jury, and adjourned the inquest until the following morning, in order that he might have an opportunity of consulting the County Crown Attorney in the matter. On resuming the inquest the jury finally agreed to return a verdict of manslaughter against McLaughlin, who was lodged in jail to await trial at the assizes.

Mrs. Rutherford, of St. Helen's, Huron county, died very suddenly recently at the residence of Dr. Macdonald. The deceased had been getting some medicine, and was about leaving the office when she fell down in a fit, from which she did not recover.

The Supreme Court on the Validity of Local Acts.

The Supreme Court on Monday gave judgment in several insurance cases, which are of special interest to the people of this Province.

The cases are:—Queen Insurance Company v. Parsons; Citizens' Insurance Company v. Parsons; Western Assurance Company v. Johnston. These three appeals involved the constitutionality of the Ontario Uniform Condition Insurance Policy Act, and were all dependent upon the decision of the Court as to its constitutionality. The Chief Justice held that as the Act did not interfere with the trade or commerce, but merely affected property and civil rights, it was perfectly constitutional, so the appeals were dismissed. The appeals in these cases have a wider signification than those referred to, and embrace also the standing and responsibility of other joint stock companies. The following is a synopsis of the judgment of the Chief Justice:—

After explaining the nature of the Act, the constitutionality of which was involved in the present decision, he said that never had a similar measure come before the Court so strongly supported by the decisions of judicial and legislative bodies than it. He narrated the circumstances which led to the appointment of a Commission by the Ontario Legislature to enquire into the subject-matter of insurance, and the result of their labors, which was crystallized into the conditions recommended by them and afterwards incorporated into the Act known as the Uniform Condition Insurance Policy Act. This measure was never disallowed, but since its passing had favorably been acted upon. The Ontario Courts accepted it without question: so did the Bar until the present cases were proceeded with. Then its validity was questioned, but it was sustained by the Court of original jurisdiction, and then by the Ontario Appeal Court, from which place it was brought before the present Court. Apart from this, the Dominion Parliament was in existence and must have been cognizant of this action of the Provincial Legislature. The Dominion Parliament, however, instead of protesting, clearly recognized the right of the Local Legislature to impose conditions upon insurance companies transacting business within the respective Provinces. In the 38th Victoria and 40th Victoria Acts were passed by the Dominion Parliament bearing upon the question of insurance, in which it was set forth that these Acts should not apply to any companies within the exclusive legislative control of the various Provinces. In 1878 the same Parliament passed an Act recognizing the incorporation of the Ontario Mutual Life Insurance Company by the Provincial Legislature. Notwithstanding all this array of authority, if the Supreme Court of Canada were of opinion that the British North American Act excluded this subject from the list of matters to be dealt with by the Local Legislatures, and although the Courts of the original jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament had recognized the right of Local Legislatures to so legislate, the duty of this Court would plainly be to declare the Act to be unconstitutional. But as at present advised he did not think it so. Proceeding, he enquired whether this enactment was beyond the jurisdiction of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario? It was said that insurance was a form of trade and commerce, and therefore came within the meaning of the terms "trade and commerce," as specifically included in the British North American Act as within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament. He however, agreed that insurance companies merely provided for the indemnification of losses on property, and that property and civil rights were specially included within the jurisdiction of Provincial legislatures. As he read the Ontario enactment it solely dealt with the contract, and in his opinion it had no reference to trade and commerce in the sense implied in the British North America Act. It was simply a law for the protection of property, and dealt with an agreement of a local or private character. The scope of Act was to assure people insuring that they should not be imposedupon by insurance companies, and was merely a matter of agreement relating to property or civil rights. He was of opinion that the Act was intra vires, that the Local Legislature had not exceeded its power, and therefore that the appeal should be dismissed with costs.

Justices Strong, Fournier and Henry agreed with the Chief Justice that the appeal should be dismissed, while Justices Taschereau and Gwynne were of opinion that the appeal should be allowed.

SANDFORD FLEMING has decined the position of Chief Engineer of the Intercolonial Railway, and has been succeeded by Mr. Frank Shanly, the City Engineer at Toronto. Mr. Shanly has appointed his son, Frank Shanly, jr., as his private secretary. It is quite possible that the Government will also receive before many days are passed the resignation of Mr. Marcus Smith, the Assistant Engineer of the Pacific Railroad, who has been superseded by Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, formerly his subordinate officer.

The stave vats connected with the Tees water salt well were burned last week.

THE appointment of the royal commissions is looked upon as a farce, inasmuch as the commissions are not responsible in any way to the people, while their reports will not be deemed of much value.

MR. TILDEN has sent a letter to the Democratic Convention at Cincinnati, renouncing re-nomination, but it is said his chances are for being renominated are greatly improved since its publication.

THE Bradlaugh case was before the House of Commons on Monday night, Mr. Labouchere, moved that Bradlaugh be allowed to affirm. Mr. McLaren seconded the motion. Mr. Gifford (Conservative) moved an amendment that Bradlaugh be permitted neither to take the oath nor make an affirmation. He said the second Committee's decision would lead to a revival of the whole question on a motion for a new writ. Mr. Fowler (Conservative) seconded, and Mr. John Bright opposed the amendment. The debate was adjourned.

THE difficulties of the Cabinet reconstruction consequent on the resignation of Mr. Masson, are complicated by Mr. Costigan, who claims a seat on two grounds. One is that New Brunswick is entitled to two Ministers and the other is that the Irish Catholic element of the maritime provinces should have an equal representation to their compatriots of Ontario. The Government do not desire to take Mr. Costigan in, hence the postponement of the time of retirement of the Hon. John O'Connor.

WHEN the Quebec Legislature went into committee on the loan resolutions of the Government on Thursday night, it wanted the resolutions revised and printed in another form, and could not get out of the committee again, having nothing to report. A funny scene occurred for nearly an hour, members all standing round the table and consulting how best to get out of committee. Finally they agreed to report a small portion of the resolutions, and ask leave to sit again.

A Funny Excuse.

(From the Ottawa Free Press.)

We have heard a good many comical reasons in our time why a dismissed official should be reinstated, but the Irish Canadian comes out with deliciously fresh pleadings on behalf of a friend who was removed from the Toronto Post Office. The passage is too good to be condensed, so we give it in full:—

"Drunkenness is the cause alleged. The allegation is, we believe, true—true in one instance, that instance having arisen on an occasion which any man with healthy sympathies will accept in extenuation—the birth of a son! The Postmaster who made the report was probably not aware of the touching apology. To obtain the full force to which it is entitled, we may add that, although the offender has the political misfortune to be an Irish Catholic, he has done what Mr. Patrick Boyle, who has urged his restoration, knows to be a most influential service to the cause of the party in power."

We are aware of the fine sensitiveness of Mr. Boyle's feelings with regard to everything Irish, yet, we venture to say, that the writer of the foregoing has perpetrated one of the neatest Irish bulls that has appeared for a long time. The mysterious way in which it is put would fire the dullest imagination. No doubt a man does a service to the Government by getting a son, and certainly helps the revenue by drinking, but we fail to see why these should be held as sound reasons for his restoration to office. Thousands of men have sons and get drunk, but this is the first time such services have been put forth as claims for employment under the Crown. We have long been aware that men have sought rewards from the present Government for very strange reasons, but the influential services, urged in this case, are so like what the popular idea would attribute to an Irishman, that we are sure the Postmaster General, who knows how it is himself, will not hesitate another moment in restoring Mr, Boyle's friend to his place in the Post Office.

MESSAGE FROM THE "ATALANTA."—The children of a gentleman from Halifax, while playing on the beach at Cow Bay on Monday afternoon, picked up a piece of barrel stave about four inches by two and a half, on which the following was written with a lead pencil:

Atalanta going down, April 12th, 1880. No hopes. Send this to MRS. Mary White, Piers, Sussex. JAMES WHITE.

The piece of wood appeared to have been about two months in the water. The place where it was picked up is about twelve miles east of Halifax, and opens directly into the Atlantic Ocean.

MOVEMENTS OF THE ROYAL PARTY.—On Monday morning Prince Leopold and Princess Louise and suite drove down to the Queen's wharf, Quebec, where they embarked on the police yacht Dolphin, and were conveyed to the Grand Trunk Railway depot. There they embarked on a special train on the Intercolonial Railway, and left for the salmon fisheries, where they intend remaining for several weeks to enjoy the sport. As they left the wharf a salute of 21 guns was fired from the Citadel. The Governor-General did not accompany the party on account of his having accepted the invitation to be present at the ceremony and banquet on the 24th. He will join them next week.

LISA LENA:

CHAPTER V.

THE STRANGER'S VISIT.

I must mention two things which have a considerable influence on my after life and character, and in two opposite directions. If I am taking the trouble, as well as the pain, of going back into and over my wayward life, it is that the world may know something of how such strange creatures as I am—and in whom people take little interest—are made. The taste for theatrical amusements, ballets, stage performances of every sort in each year drawing a greater number of young girls, attractive and often gifted with real genius, which, along with their virtues, goes to wreck in the wild life of the scenes. And I have often found that among the worst of these there remained some relic of an early, happier life, or of principles trampled on perhaps, but not wholly forgotten, and of ideas, once refined, now vulgarised, and nevertheless exerting some influenceon their sorrowful career. What these disclosures of mine may lead to I cannot tell. They shall be frank at least—and then I must leave them to read their own lesson.

In spite of Mrs. Mason's sourness, some of the things she taught me did not fall on idle ears. When she spoke, as I thought she liked to do, with earnestness about the wickedness of sin, and the certainty of hell, and depicted in glowing terms the state of the ungodly after death, she at all events succeeded in terrifying me. I used to feel very nervous abont the devil, going about seeking whom he might devour. To me he was a very real person, though I believe that since then people have been found to deny his personality. When I was naughty I attributed the blame to him, and felt very uncomfortable about my future relations to him, for I rather shirked knowing too much on these questions. I didn't like Mrs. Mason's directly personal arguments; neither did I like the preaching at meeting, when the minister would often come down on me and on other children by name with warnings and appeals. At such times my hair would stand on end, and the big drops would distil from my skin, and I would be extremely unhappy for hours till the effects wore off. In this way religion, as it was called, became irksome to me. I was told I must be converted or be damned, and the conversion seemed so hard and so remote and so incomprehensible a thing, that I felt I had no chance. I don't say that, if I had had the matter put to me in a more simple or more attractive form I should have become a better girl. There was much in my nature that was wild and wayward. Sometimes I think that until that has run itself out in some way there is little hope of permanent redemption. I know I am writing against the views of Evangelical Christians, and may be hurting their feelings. But I cannot help that. I am bound to say what I feel and felt.

In Keyugo, as I have said before, my Suuday afternoon employment was to learn a page of Catechism. To get my mind fixed upon anything for ten minutes it needed something far more attractive than the Catechism of the Baptist Church in America for Younger Children. I fancy, even the most prejudiced person will admit that that work however able is not amusing. Forced on me by Mrs. Mason, it became positively detestable. I loathed its set phrases, its strange difficult definitions. Perched on a wooden stool with this in my hand, I stared at the words and mechanically repeated them over and over again without being able to carry them in my head. Often I was sent to bed supperless for not having succeeded even in holding the quota in my mind for a few minutes. Well, my ideas of practical religion come from this and from the lives of the religious people who were about me. Then, and ever after through life, I am sorry to say that I found that my mind was more perverted against religion by the appeals and acts of its friends than by the arguments of its foes.

But there was an unreal view of religion presented to my imagination which greatly fascinated me. I have never through all my wild life lost the influence of it. The only book possessed by Mrs. Mason which excited any interest in my mind was Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. The story of Christiana and her children, and of the gentle Mercy, was the opening to me of the most beautiful visions and rarest ideas. With this book I could pass the dreariest day without weariness. Hope and heaven seemed to open to me as I followed the fortunes of the fair and simple women under the leadership of Greatheart with his sword, and I begged him to come and cut off farmer Mason's head. Just as I thought, he was smiling on me and promising to do it. I woke with a shudder to find myself up in the dark loft, and to hear below the snoring of my tormenter.

This book I often took out into the fields when I had learned my Catechism quickly, and my employers were nodding and snoring at each other in two rocking chairs. Dragon would go out with me, and I would lend the book to him. It was an odd sight to see the great dog, when I had seated myself by the new haystack, fenced in from the dun and yellow cattle standing not far off switching their tails, and lazily blinking their eyes, with their backs to the afternoon sun and their faces towards the long shadows they threw over the ground—it was an odd sight to see Dragon, erect upon his haunches opposite me, his dewlaps dropped over his lower jaw, his eyes watching me with almost human earnestness, his head perched, and his big ears dropped in meek attention, while I read out to him the pretty history. Every now and then I would catch him snapping at a big fly, or pricking his ears at a movement among the kine, or giving a prodigious yawn, and cry to him—

"Now, Dragon, you naughty, wicked thing you, you ain't listening."

Then he would look at me wistfully, and meekly resume his former attitude, and be very solemn for a long time, as if he were following all I read. Ah! dear old Dragon the tears come into my eyes when I think of those few halcyon hours of true, devout friendship!

While we were thus engaged the sun would be drooping downward toward the far-off sky-line of the prairie. Then, when I was tired, we would change our position. I would throw myself on my elbows and look toward the great West, full on the last splendours of his day's reign. Dragon would lie out lazily and appear to be contemplating the same objects. The grasshoppers cricked around us in thousands and millions. Then we saw wonders. Young as I was those sunsets used to stir within me feeling sublime and thrilling.

Paris Correspondence London Post.

Drummers and their drums are to be climated from the French army by the reforming zeal of General Farre, and that the infantry soldier will not march better in consequence of this latest innovation may be safely predicted, for any attempt he may have made hitherto to keep step has been mainly due to the rataplan. Comparatively little importance, however, is attached in France to regularity of step, though a regiment which makes any show of it is invariably the most cheered at reviews, this being one of the inconsistencies prevalent here which it would be vain to attempt explaining. The Minister of War explained before the Budget Committee that his reason for adopting the change is because drummers are not combatants, so he proposes to replace them by trumpeters, who do come under that category. Like the white leather aprons of the sappers, which have disappeared for some time, the little parchment-covered cylinders are henceforth doomed. I do not know whether the origin of the drum has ever been traced by some patient inquirer. We have been told that it comes to us from the East, that the Moors first brought it into Europe. Certain is the fact that the most savage races have always rejoiced in their tamtums, and as the pleasure of making a noise is inherent in human nature, perhaps this most effective way of creating a din was invented by Adam's sons or grandsons. But the drum does not appear to have been used in the French army until towards the close of the fourteenth century, and its introduction is attributed to the English invasion under Edward III.; its general adoption by the infantry dates back to the time of of Louis XI., when the Swiss element was largely infused into the royal forces. The drum at that epoch was a shapeless instrument, and served more for rallying the troops or for the conveyance of the word of command than for regulating the step, which was far from being as measured as it is now. Each captain had a drummer in his private livery, and he employed him to carry his orders or instructions as much as for beating the word of command; the drummer in those days appears to have been a kind of aide-de-camp. The covering was usually made from the hide of some animal—generally of an ass—though if it be true that John Zisca, the avenger of Huss, bequeathed his skin to his gallant companions in arms to form the covering of a drum which was to summon them in case of danger, material more noble was at least once made to serve the purpose. The drum was not used for drilling infantry to keep step until the middle of the eighteenth century, and the roll such as we now know it was only regulated some hundred years ago. The drummer's art then became more difficult, and to perfect it regimental schools were established, the master of which was the drum-major, who in recent times was still such a prominent and popular personage in each French regiment. The period of his greatest glory was the First Empire, when the drum-major of the Grenadiers of the Guard had rank as a captain and wore a uniform which cost Napoleon £120. Under the Restoration and the Monarchy of July, drum-majors were given to the regiments of firemen, and even to those of the National Guards, but of late years their prestige has diminished in a great extent, and also their stature; they are no longer such imposing clothes-horses, all lace and feathers, towering above ordinary mortals; the race has in fact been visibly deteriorating. Such as they are, however, they will disappear from the head of French regiments with their drums.

The Duke of Argyll began life as a very poor Duke, but will probably end as a very rich one. His uncle had left the estate terribly "dipped," and then there were jointures still further to deplete it. In fact, at one time he contemplated selling Roseneath, his beautiful historic seat in Dumbartonshire, but his slender means led to saving habits, which grew steadily upon him, and he has all his life lived so quietly and unostentatiously that he has gradually cleared away debts and now enjoys a spendid income, a large proportion of which he saves. His eldest son's wife has $30,000 a year from Parliament, besides a marriage portion in cash of $150,000, and they have no children. The next son is a partner in Coutt's banking house. The third married a Manchester lady of fortune, and is in a stock broking house which does a great deal of business for the Rothschilds. Another, now his father's secretary, is in Parliament, and very likely will eventually be in office, and the last is in the navy. One daughter is married to the eldest son of the Duke of Northumberland, with over a million a year. The Duke of Argyll has for many years of his life been in receipt of public pay sufficient to cover the expenses of his villa home at Kensington.

NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.—This excellent magazine for July has been received by us. The contents are as usual of a most interesting character, being full of valuable information. The contents are as follows: Prince Bismarck, as a Friend of America and as a Statesman. By Moritz Busch. Canada and the United States. By Professor Goldwin Smith, L. H. D. The Exodus of Israel. By S. C. Bartlett, D. D., L. L. D., President of Dartmouth College. The English House of Lords. By James E. Thorold Rogers, M. P. The Ethics of Sex. By Miss M. A. Hardaker. The Panama Canal. By Count Ferdinand de Lesseps, Member of the Institute of France. Profligacy in Fiction. I. Zola's Nana. II. Ouida's Moths. By A. K. Fiske. The last named articles are excellent criticisms of Zola's and Ouida's writings, severally dealing with both as demoralizing, the former as a depicter of character in low life and the latter in high life. Goldwin Smith's article is a reply to one by Sir Francis Hincks, in the same magazine some time ago, with reference to closer commercial relations between Canada and the United States.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—This Magazine for July apart from its splendid pictorial, is an exceedingly popular number. One of its strongest features is the beginning of a new serial novel, by Henry James, jun., entitled "Washington Square." The number opens with an excellent article on the late Wm. M. Hunt, by Miss Mana R. Oakley. It is seldom that descriptive articles have the depth and meaning which make Rebecca Harding Davis' "By-Paths in the Mountain"—the second paper in this number—so interesting. This is the first of three papers to be given under this title. It is beautifully illustrated with seventeen drawings by Charles Gruham and Miss Jessie Curtis. Mr. A. A. Hayes, jun., contributes a graphic description of the old Sante Fe Trail—with some very striking illustrations by Rogers. Thomas Knox's paper on "Summer Clubs on Great South Bay," is timely and entertaining, and is ably illustrated by A. B. Frost. The most popular article in the number, probably is Mrs. Oliphant's interesting biograpical sketch of Queen Victoria. Five portraits of the Queen, at different periods, are given; also portraits of the Queen's and of Prince Arthur's father and mother, of the Prince's of Wales and Princess Royal as little children, with other interesting illustrations. Another paper of much historical interest is "Princes and Potentates of 1840,' with eight portraits. The number contains two illustrated poems—"Prince Yousuf and the Alcayde," and "Blue flags." Richard T. Ely contributes a suggestive and valuable paper on American colleges and German universities. The conclusion of "Mary Anerley" is promised the in August number; "White wings" is continued, and Mrs. E. W. Latimer contributes a bright short story, entitled "Close Quarters."

THE SEASIDE COOK BOOK.—This is a complete manual of practical, economical, palatable and healthful cookery issued by W. Bryce, Dundas street, London, Ont. It contains 192 pages, and as there are a number of receipts on each page, caterers may know that every rule necessary for good cookery is included in the volume. Price 25 cents.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

Afternoon's Despatches

UP TO THREE P.M

The Cincinnati Convention.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—The Convention assembled. Ex-Governor Stevenson, of Kentucky, was selected permanent chairman. The Committee on Credentials will report against the Tamany delegates. The progress of business in Convention is going on rapidly to-day.

Distinguished Visitors at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 23.—The Marquis De Canolles and party have engaged apartments at the Prospect House and will arrive this afternoon.

The Search for the Waubuno.

PARRY SOUND, June 23.—The parties who visited the wreck of the Waubuno yesterday report that a party from Midland are engaged in trying to turn the hull over, but it is feared they will not be successful as their tackle is not heavy enough. These parties say there has been taken from the wreck within the past two weeks, through holes in her bottom, about forty barrels of flour, boxes of canned salmon, furniture of the boat, mattresses, etc. It appears to be evident that a great deal more is covered by the hull than was at first supposed.

From Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 23. — Three hundred and fifteen guests registered in one of the the hotels here yesterday. The travel is enormous, and all the hotels are being more liberally patronized than in any former year in the history of the city.

The largest amount of freight received in one day for twelve months, was delivered at the Grand Trunk depot yesterday, still people say business is dull.

An Irishman, 95 years of age, obtained shelter in one of the Police Stations last night.

SUBMISSION OF A RAILWAY BONUS.—The Woolwich Township Council on Tuesday decided on submitting a by-law granting a sectional bonus of $5,000 from that part of the township of Woolwich in the immediate vicinity of Elmira for the construction of the first and second sections of the Waterloo, Wellington, and Georgian Bay Railway. The voting is to take place in Elmira on the 19th of July next.

THE ROYAL STANDARD.—"The English Royal standard is never carried into action, even though the Sovereign in person commands the army. A heraldic manuscript of the sixteenth century prescribes that the Royal standard "shall be set before the kynges pavillion or tente, and not be borne in battayle, and to be in length 11 yards." The Royal standard is never hoisted on ships, except when Her Majesty is on board or a member of the Royal family other than the Prince of Wales. When the latter is on board his own standard is hoisted. It is the same as that of the Queen, except that it bears a label of three points, with arms of Saxony on an escutcheon of pretense. Wherever the Sovereign is residing the Royal standard is hoisted, and on Royal anniversaries or State occasions it is hoisted at certain fortresses or stations—home and foreign—specified in the Queen's regulations, but nowhere else.

FESTIVAL OF ST. JEAN BAPTISTE.—On Tuesday evening two train loads of French residents of Illinois passed through the city by the G. T. Ry. on their way to Quebec to be present there for the festival in memory of St. Jean Baptiste. The first train was composed of three Pullman and nine first-class Michigan Central Railway cars. It passed through at 7.30 o'clock. The second train arrived here at 9.15, and was made up of the same number of cars as the first. In all, the passengers numbered 1,500, a great many of whom belonged to Chicago, while a good many were from Kankakee, a French settlement in Illinois. The excursionists will return by the same line.

Local News.

THE thermometer registered 83 degrees in the shade at noon to-day.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh winds; thunder storms in some localities.

BREACH OF THE CITY LAW.—William Lush, of Eramosa, was to-day fined $6.45 for driving over the Eramosa bridge last Saturday at a rate faster than a walk.

Mr. Hugh Stewart left the city yesterday to take one of the State Line steamships for the old country, where he intends remaining for some time.

Mr. A. C. Campbell, Parliamentary reporter, Globe, is in the city in connection with the Grangers' visits to the Agricultural College.

PLEASURE EXCURSIONS.— On and after Saturday, the Great Western Railway will issue tickets each Saturday for $2 from Guelph to Southampton, good to return by any train the following Monday.

NEW DIRECTORY.—Messrs. Irwin & Co., who have just published a directory of the County of Brant, are now making arrangements to publish one of the County of Wellington, and will call upon the business men of this city during the next few days.

REV. MR. HARRIS announced at the good-bye social last evening that he would preach his last sermon in this city, prior to his removal to Unionville, on Sunday evening, 27th inst. He leaves by the 11.05 train the day following.

THE EXCURSION TO-MORROW.—It is understood the Grangers' excursion to-morrow from Ontario County, will be accompanied by the Port Hope band. Speeches are expected at the meeting of the Grangers at the Model Farm from Hon Mr. Woods, Minister of agriculture, and from other visitors.

THE following are the scores made at practice at the Guelph rifle range yesterday. W. Macdonald only fired at 200 yards:

MALICIOUS.—On Tuesday afternoon Ald. Fairbank found a maple tree he had planted three years ago on his premises, broken in two. The tree had been destroyed by some malicious scamp, it being cut about half way through and then snapped off. The police are after the guilty person.

OBSTRUCTING HIGHWAYS.—Complaint is made about the manner in which the sidewalk on the north side of McDonnell street has been obstructed in consequence of the erection of a building adjoining Smith's drug store. The workmen have placed bars across the sidewalk to prevent persons from falling into an excavation made there, and pedestrians have to take the middle of the road in order to pass the place.

THE CAMP AT LONDON.—The 30th Battalion leave to-morrow to go into camp at London. The Guelph Company will be joined here by the Company from Eramosa in the forenoon, and the two will proceed together for the station. A few of the Volunteers will be sent to London to-morrow morning in advance of the Battallion, to make the necessary arrangements at the camp grounds for their reception.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The annual festival in connection with this Institute, was held in the Drill Shed on Tuesday. The attendance was very good considering the other attractions in town, and the ladies who waited at the tables were assiduous in their attentions to visitors. The Artillery Brigade String Band discoursed most excellent music during the evening. We have not yet heard what the proceeds will be.

SCHOOL INSPECTORSHIP.—We have received two letters on this subject, one of which has reference mainly to the article which appeared in the Herald on Mr. McCaig, and the other is a reply to Mr. McCaig's letter, which appeared in our columns last week. As the correspondence is somewhat of a personal character, although the public interests, educationally, and the public money is involved in it, we shall be happy to publish these letters if the writers will append their signatures to them, as Mr. McCaig did in his communication. We shall then have the discussion put on a fair basis.

THE AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION.—The Agricultural Commission met in Toronto, on Tuesday, when the following gentlemen were present:—Hon. S. C. Wood, chairman, and Messrs. A. H. Dymond, Wm. Whitelaw, John Dryden, M. P. P., John McMillan, Thomas Stock, Richard Gibson, Edward Byrne, Andrew, Wilson, F. Malcolm. The first witness called was Mr. John Clay, manager of Bow Park Farm. The principal points of enquiry addressed to Mr. Clay related to the breeding of cattle and sheep. He was examined at great length. Mr. John Hobson, of Guelph township was next examined, the questions asked referring to farming generally.

THE SECOND EXCURSION OF GRANGERS.—The streets this (Wednesday) forenoon presented a lively appearance, when the excursion party from Bruce, numbering about 1,400, arrived to pay a visit to the Model Farm. The excursion was given under the auspices of North Bruce Division Grange No. 32, and Lucknow Division Grange No. 7. There were two parties, the first reaching Guelph about 10:30, and the second half an hour later. The first train was from Southampton, the second from Kincardine. At every station along the railway as far south as Harriston, large numbers of passengers were taken on, including many farmers outside the society of Grangers. Immediately on their arrival the majority proceeded to the Model Farm in order that they might have as much time as possible to make a thorough inspection of it. The trip on the railway was very much enjoyed, and no doubt their visit to the farm will prove a pleasant one.

THE suit of the Wellington Mutual Insurance Company, vs. Frey, came up in the Supreme Court yesterday. The appeal was allowed and rule made absolute for a new trial.

Primitive Methodist Church.

About the largest assembly that has ever gathered in the Primitive Methodist Church in this city met last night to participate in the good-bye social to the respected pastor and his family, who are about leaving this place for Unionville. The church was completely filled, and also the gallery. After an excellent cup of tea had been partaken of by all who wished, and the audience had taken seats in the church, the Rev. Mr. Harris took the chair, and opened the programme. On the platform were present the Revs. Messrs. Torrance, Howie, and Rev. Dr. Wardrope. Other rev. gentlemen were also invited, but could not possibly attend. Rev. Dr. Wardrope offered up prayer. The concert opened with an instrumental composition by Rossini, by the Harris Bros., and Mr. Vale, on violins and piano. Rev. Mr. Howie was next called upon, and made one of his characteristic humorous addresses. He paid a very high tribute to the worth of the Rev. Mr. Harris and the good he had done in this field of labor. For himself he was sorry to part with him, and he was sure he would be greatly missed, both by the congregation and the citizens generally. In days to come many memories would go back to the present evening. He hoped that the Rev. gentleman would be successful in his new field of labor, and referred in touching language to the meetings and partings of this life, and hoped we would all meet where partings would be no more. Master Arther Harris next gave a violin solo "Home Sweet Home," with variations, piano accompaniment by Master Louis Harris. Rev. Mr. Harris next sang "The Warrior's Last Battle Cry," being assisted in the chorus by Messrs. Webb, Thomson, and Master Arthur Harris. Mr. Vale gave a violin solo in excellent style. Mr. Hugh Walker sang with tenderness "The Land o' the Leal." Rev. Mr. Torrance was next called upon, and after some humorous remarks concurred with the Rev. Mr. Howie in the expression of regret at the departure of the Rev. Mr. Harris. The speaker also paid a high compliment to his worth, and the ability of his talented sons, and hoped that the time would come when they would meet again. Mr. C. Taylor gave a recitation of a new version of the hymn entitled "Rock of Ages." The Harris Brothers and Mr. Vale next gave a violin and piano composition from "Trovatore," which the chairman stated was his favorite piece. It was of a high order, the chording of the instruments sounded very sweetly, and the time was well kept. Mr. Webb, leader of the choir of the church, sang "Sweet Spirit, hear my Prayer." The music throughout was most enjoyable, and was admirably rendered. Mr. Vale's playing was first-class, as it always is. We have often before praised the playing of the Masters Harris, but last night they excelled all previous efforts. There are very few players like them of the same age, and if they persevere they will yet take high rank as musicians. They will be much missed in Guelph among musical circles, and by the public also, who have so often been delighted by their playing. Rev. Dr. Wardrope was next called upon. He was glad to see so many present, and amongst the company members of other denominations who had come to pay a tribute of respect to the Rev. Mr. Harris. He was sorry that the rules of Methodism made a minister's stay so short in one place, as some could scarcely get acquainted with their pastor before he was called away. He wished Mr. Harris God speed in his new sphere of labor. He hoped the Lord would bless him and his, go where he may go, and abide where he might abide. The rev. gentleman concluded his remarks with an eloquent peroration. Rev. Mr. Harris then spoke of the pleasant associations formed in Guelph, and the happy companionships he had formed with the members of all churches and the pastors in the city. He hoped the time would come when he would be able to pay Guelph another visit and renew old associations. He thanked all for the energy taken and displayed in getting up the good-bye social and bringing it to such a success. He also thanked those who had taken part in the entertainment. The evening exercises were brought to a close by all rising and singing "The Bleeding Lamb." Rev. Mr. Curtis, of Beechgrove, offered prayer, pronounced the benediction, and the company separated.

Before Judge Chadwick without a Jury.

Fulton v. Fox—Action by Fulton Bros., saw millers, Minto, against Martin Fox, of Drayton, hotel keeper, to recover a balance of $107, alleged to be due for lumber, lath and shingles supplied for building a hotel. The defendant had paid $240 on account, and stated there was no more due to the plaintiff. Judgment reserved. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., instructed by Mr. Ebbels, of Harriston, for plaintiff; Mr. Jacob for defendant.

Hunt v. Hunt—Action by Mrs. Jemima Hunt, of Winnipeg, against her father-in-law Adam Hunt, sr., of the township of Wallace, to recover a balance of $185 and interest, being rent collected by the defendant. The defence was a set off for a larger amount. Judgment reserved. Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., for plaintiff; Mr. A. H. Macdonald for defendant.

Cleghorn v. Gow—Action by William Cleghorn against Sheriff Gow, to recover damages for not making the money on an execution against Owen Macdonald. The defence was that the delay was with the consent of the plaintiff, as Macdonald was raising money on mortgage to pay the execution, and when the Sheriff ultimately advertised the goods Macdonald was put into insolvency. The assignee then took the goods from the Sheriff. It was also urged that Macdonald's other creditors were determined not to allow the plaintiff to obtain a preference, and had the Sheriff advertised when he received the execution the same consequences would have followed, as resulted in the end, namely, Macdonald would have been put into insolvency. Judgment reserved. Mr. Dunbar, instructed by D. S. McMillan, for plaintiff; Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., for defendant.

Shooting of the late Hon. Geo. Brown.

TRIAL AND CONVICTION OF THE PRISONER.

He is Sentenced to be Hanged on the 23rd of July.

At the Toronto Assizes on Tuesday, George Bennett alias Dickson, was tried for shooting the late Hon. Geo. Brown, which resulted in his death. Mr. Justice Cameron presided on the Bench, Æmilius Irving, Q. C., appeared as Crown prosecutor, and the prisoner was defended by Nicholas Flood Davin, assisted by C. White Mortimer. During the day the Court-room and approaches were thronged with visitors anxious to witness the progress of the case.

The case for the prosecution was opened by Mr. Irving, who related to the jury the circumstances from the time of the shooting of Mr. Brown, on the 25th March, to his subsequent death from the effects of the wound, on the 9th May, with all of which the public are already familiar. The witnesses then examined were Archd. Blue, Allan S. Thomas, John A. Ewan, John Trimble, A. Pardoe, Wm. Houston, Jas. D. Banks, two policemen, Dr. Thorburn and other medical men.

Mr. Irving then read several documents found in possession of the prisoner. One of them shows his blood-thirsty purpose to shoot the pressman Banks, on whose representations he was discharged from the Globe office. In this memorandum he says:—"From the first day that this man entered the door of the———he has been my bitter enemy. He left nothing undone that would assist in destroying my character, or causing my removal. Why, I cannot tell, but this course he pursued from the beginning, with deadly aim, to the end he has at last gained, at the expense of my reputation, and the loss of situation. On the memorable record of time the indelible stamp of double-dyed villain should be branded against all such inhuman wretches. Nothing can ever satisfy the wrong he has did me but his life. My troubled brain will never rest but on his lifeless remains. Though he shortened my days of labour in the Globe, I will shorten his day of life on the Globe. I will make him an example for all evil-disposed men who impose upon innocent people without cause. The first time such thoughts occurred to me was about two years ago, when, as he expressed it, he tried to shut my wind off. I then came to the conclusion I would kill this man. But how? As he worked during the day, and I came on at six o'clock to relieve him. I thought it best to wait till about 6:30 p. m., on the day I intended carrying out my plan; then all the men would be gone to tea, and he would be alone waiting for me. If I would not find him in the boiler room when I went to work I intended making some excuse to get him there, and then shoot him, and chop him up, and burn him in the furnance, and all trace of the dead would be forever wiped out; but when I started to buy a revolver I found my game blocked, as the commission of the crime could be traced home to me through that. I have lived quietly but determinedly ever since, never expressing my feeling of intentions to any one. All hope of carrying out my former plans are at an end now that I am dismissed. My present plans will carry me beyond the fear of detection. On the second Tuesday in April I intend going down the lane at about 10 o'clock a. m., and wait his arrival. When he comes I will make an excuse to go in the press room with him, and instantly shoot him. If it effectually disables him, I intend to give him time to make his peace with God, but if he should become troublesome I mean to dispatch him at once "without mercy," if six bullets will do it. I will then sit on his carcase, and place the revolver over my heart as near as may be, and blow my life out. It will be a life for a life, and my wrongs will be avenged. I love this man with such an unselfish love that if I could measure his death by bullets I would that he may not die till a thousand bullets had pierced his villainous heart, and that his blackened-heart might bleed with every one. My soul would then have obtained the peace for which it is longing. This act may be attributed to temporary insanity or some such cause, but 'tis wrong. I never had a clearer sense of what I was about to do than I have at this moment."

The next paper refers to the women who had been his associates. In the third paper, addressed "Dear Annie," he says: "I mean to perform my work like a man, in the broad light of the day if possible, or as much of it as I can possibly do; the rest of it may remain forever undone by me; some portion of the revenge I seek is better than none at all. There are three men in this case, who if they escape, may not thank me but the Providence that willed otherwise. I seek their lives as the injustice I received at their hands, and nothing else in this world can ever satisfy me." In another he says:—"I intend to ask a simple request that I have been already once refused. Should I get a similar refusal this time, then I will send this man where equal rights is every man's portion, and the poor man is as good as the rich. I have performed my services to this man honestly and faithfully for the last five years, and deem myself duly entitled to the request he has already so stubbornly refused to comply with. This day, Thursday, is the last day of life I will ever see." The other documents contain some sentimental vapourings, ending with some verses of poetry addressed to his "Dear Girl."

Dr. Riddell and Dr. Canniff, and other witnesss were examined for the defence.

Mr. Davin then addressed the jury for an hour on the prisoner's behalf. He claimed for the prisoner that he did not fire the the pistol with murderous intent; that through drink and dissipation he did not know what he was doing; and that the wound inflicted was not necessarily a a fatal one.

Mr. Irving replied at some length, reviewing the circumstances as disclosed by the evidence, and charging the prisoner with the graver crime of murder.

The jury retired at a few minutes to eight, and after about two hour's deliberation they returned without having agreed on a verdict, and asked to have the evidence of Dr. Aikens read to them, which was done by the reporter of the Court. Dr. Wright's evidence was also read to them briefly, and after a few explanations from the Court on some points in the evidence, the jury retired to their room. At a few minutes to eleven they returned with a verdict of "Guilty."

Mr. Irving then moved for the sentence of the Court upon the prisoner. In reply to the usual question from the Court as to whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, the prisoner replied, "I have only to say that I have not wilfully committed the crime."

His Lordship, addressing the prisoner, said he was sorry to have to perform so painful a duty, but painful as it was, it had to be performed. The jury had not taken a very favourable view of his case. Upon evidence that warranted them in coming to such a conclusion they had found him guilty of the gravest offence. It was manifest from his writings that he had contemplated doing some ill at the time, or he was in a condition that he did not know what he was doing. It was unfortunate for him, perhaps, that they had not the evidence of the late Mr. Brown to know in point of fact what did transpire between them on that unfortunate afternoon. He could say that he could hold out no hope for him. He had no discretion. The law imposed a duty upon him, and he must pass the sentence of death. If he (the prisoner) intended in point of fact to destroy Mr. Brown's life on that occasion, he intended to send him to eternity without any opportunity for preparation, but the law would be more merciful to him, in giving him time for reflection, to make his peace with the God whom he had offended. He trusted he would use that time alloted to him in an endeavour to make that peace, in order that his chance of salvation in the future might be greater than if he left this world unrepentant of the crime of which the jury said he had been guilty. His Lordship then sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on the 23rd day of July next. At the conclusion of the dread formality the prisoner, who did not seem at all affected by his position, rubbed his hands and said to his Lordship, "I would rather you would make it a little shorter if you could; it would be more suitable to me." He was then removed to his cell, and the Court adjourned.

Excursion to the Model Farm.

Prince Albert Division Grange and Their Friends Visit the Farm.

They Favour the Institution.

The first Grangers' excursion to the Model Farm this season took place on Tuesday, when about 400 members of Prince Albert Division Grange of Huron County and their friends arrived by special train on the G. T. R. The train started from Goderich at 7 o'clock in the morning, and at Seaforth, Clinton and other places along the Buffalo and Lake Huron branch of the railway, took on excursionists until the party numbered about seven hundred. They had a very pleasant trip to the city, which they reached about 11.30 o'clock. They were met by Mr. Mills, President of the College, and at once proceeded by hacks and other conveyances to the Model Farm. An hour or so was spent in looking about the farm, and many of the company felt such interest in it that they examined almost every field of the 550 acres. Every department was inspected thoroughly, the experimental and live stock departments perhaps receiving the greatest attention.

About one o'clock, the visitors assembled in the large barn near the College buildings, where ample seating accommodation had been furnished. Luncheon was passed around by some of the students who temporarily acted as waiters. When the guests had partaken of a hearty meal, it was announced that a meeting would be held in the barn at three o'clock, and until that hour the visitors made a further inspection of the premises.

At three o'clock they reassembled in the barn, and the following gentlemen were asked to take seats on a platform which had been erected for the occasion:—Messrs. Bishop, M.P.P., South Huron; Mr. Smiley, Master of Albert Division Grange; McLean, of the Seaforth Expositor; Holmes, of the Clinton New Era; Dr. Varcoe, Seaforth; Robert McMurdie, Hay Township; John Hannah, Deputy-Reeve of Tuckersmith; Sheriff Gibbons, Goderich; and Mr. Snell, Hullett; Messrs. Mills, Brown and Panton, of the College, also occupied seats on the platform.

Mr. S. Smiley, President of the Grange, called upon the meeting to appoint a chairman. But before doing so he desired as the representative of the gathering to make a few remarks. He wished first of all to express pleasure at the large number who had attended the present excursion. He had no doubt that the number would have been even larger only that for about a week past the weather had been unfavorable for farm operations. An occasion like the present was profitable in many ways. They had the advantage of comparing other counties with their own as they passed down the railway. They would all agree that the County of Huron had no reason to be ashamed of its standing. It was a young county comparatively speaking. The first sod was turned in 1829, just 51 years ago; up to that time it had been an unbroken forest. To-day it stood head and shoulders over every other county in the Dominion. (Loud applause.) If there was any doubt about that he could give them some figures from published Government reports in support of his statement. Though not nearly the greatest in respect to population they were assessed at $27,000,000—more than even the County of York by $20,000,000, and about $9,000,000 more than Wellington. They spent $110,000 for the support of schools, $26,000 more than was spent on this branch of public service by any other County, This proved that they had a proper appreciation of the benefits of education. Though not the smallest in respect of population they spent less than any other County toward the administration of criminal justice. (Applause.) These facts proved that they had wealth, intelligence and morality among their people, and there was no reason why they should not stand well forward among the Counties of the Province. There were some respects however in which some of the counties had outstripped them. One of these was in cattle breeding. They had good stock farms in the county, but had given too much attention to horses to be well forward in cattle raising. The people were learning their mistake however, and he had no doubt would correct it. The County of Wellington had a great advantage in having this institution, for the farmers about it must copy to some extent, though perhaps involuntarily, the system of farming here in use. He found that a proportion of about 2-5 of the students came from Wellington as compared with Huron. The people of Huron must not forget their own interests in this matter; there were few farmers in that county who could not afford to send at least one son to the College. There was no reason why young men coming here should not learn in two years more than their fathers ever knew. He regretted that the excellent reports of this institution were not spread broadcast throughout the country, for the information they contained was of the utmost value to farmers, and if furnished at all, it could not but tend to raise the standard of agriculture in the Province. There were journals which tried to depreciate this institution. This was the only institution the farmers could call really their own, and those newspapers that opposed it were no friend of the farmer. The remedy would be to leave the farmers to withhold from such their cash.—(Loud applause.)

On motion, Mr. Smiley was called to the chair. He introduced

Prof. Brown, who, after a few preliminary remarks, proceeded to meet the objections of those who might think, as many were apt to, that the farm was not in such condition as it ought to be. The farm had been worked by the College for only a few years and he need not remind them that not even money nor homestead work, but time alone could work all the changes that were necessary. The soil was worn out before they came there, besides, they were fully 900 feet above the level of Lake Ontario and subject to greater exigencies of soil and climate than would be their lot at a less altitude. The country and those immediately connected with the College must acknowledge that the liberality of the Ontario Government had greatly aided in bringing the farm forward. He was sure no other Government had done so much for agriculture. The farm was well adapted for experiments with grains, there being a variety of almost any soil except pure clay. There was one disadvantage, viz., the want of a running stream on the farm. It was said by some farmers that they did not require to send their sons to the Agricultural College to learn farming. He admitted that farmers' sons could learn the practical part at home better than at the College, because at the Farm there were so many departments through which they had to pass within a few days that they missed special work in some of the departments. But at the College they would benefit by the experiments and would learn by theory how different soils should be treated in order to yield the best returns. He would not take up their time any longer, but would like to hear their views with reference to the farm.

Mr. McLean said he agreed with the remarks the chairman had made about the Model Farm, and what he had to say himself he would say briefly. He thought that there should be less slavish work among farmers, and that if they gave more attention to calculating well, they would make more money. He thought a visit such as this had a good effect and was sure that those who were here today would think more of their farms on returning home than they had ever thought of them before. Some of them might be pleased with the appearance of the Model Farm, while others might be disappointed, but they must remember that the institution had only been in existence a few years. He thought it was of great importance that the farmers should be supplied with the reports issued from the College, and suggested that each year a large number of the reports should be sent to the secretaries of agricultural societies for distribution among the farmers. He thought that such a distribution would be in the interests of the country. He hoped that when the Grange visited the Farm again they would find it greatly improved.

Prof. Mills introduced himself as one who had been educated as a practical farmer, and welcomed them as friends. He was pleased to see the interest manifested in this institution by the Prince Albert Grange. No apology was necessary for the existence of the Grange, for it was in the interest of the farmers, and their occupation was at the bottom of all the prosperity of the country. If the College was not what it ought to be, he and his fellow labourers in it expected the help and sympathy of the farmers to improve it. He asked for honest criticism also, not the carping criticism of those who desired to destroy the institution, but the honest exposure of faults by those who wish to build it up. If they could not stand such discussion as that they could not expect to maintain their position long. Many of our farmers' sons after attending the common schools took a course at the high schools. The tendency of the education imparted at the latter institution was not to increase their love of the farm, but to wean them from it. In this respect the Ontario Agricultural College met a felt want. Here farmers were taught just what, as farmers, they would need to know and nothing more. Farmers were very apt to envy the lot of others without any real cause. A young man in town receiving $600 and in rare cases $1,000 a year could not save a cent after having paid the expenses of his family. The farmer was apt to regard only the amount of money received, entirely forgetting the many demands upon the purse which invariably accompanied life in the city. He thought of the hard work he had to do to earn his living while overlooking the amount he had added to his capital or spent in implements or improvements. The speaker then proceeded to give an account of the routine of work and study followed by the students of the College, and closed by again expressing his gratification at meeting so many friends from Huron.

Mr. John Hannah concurred with a former speaker in believing that now that the country was becoming thoroughly well settled, and the hard work of clearing the farms was over, the farmers of the Province, and particularly of Huron County, might with advantage give a little more attention to the adornment of their places. Not only flower gardens but vegetable gardens might be cultivated. Farmers, of course, lived on the fat of the land, which he supposed meant fat pork (laughter) but he believed that, particularly at this season of the year they would avoid many ailments if their diet was more of vegetables. Personally he was very well pleased with the appearance of the place. He did not come here expecting to find it perfect. He would be sorry to see it a perfect farm, for the model it held up to the farmers should not be so expensive that they would be unable to copy it. He had noticed some weeds in the fields and among them mustard and Canadian thistles. It might seem a strange idea, still he was of opinion that it would be a real advantage to the students if they had to learn to battle against that greatest of all the farmers' enemies—the thistle. He would suggest to Prof. Mills that a portion of ground should be set apart upon which thistles should be grown until they had attained a good strong growth, and then let the student "go for them lively," to use a common expression.

Mr. J. McMurdie having been called upon made a few remarks, but he was necessariiy brief, on account of the lateness of the hour. He defended the grange against the charges that had been made against it—that it was to become a political machine, would paralyze trade and revolutionize society. He quoted from the statement of objects of the Society to show that the very first reason of the existence of the grange was to assist the farmers to systematize their work and to calculate intelligently upon chances. He dilated upon the importance to the farming community of these things and pointed out in what way the grange was likely to forward them.

Mr. McQuoille then moved, seconded by Mr. J. Gillies, "That Prince Albert Division Grange are well pleased with their reception at the experimental farm; they beg to express their belief that this institution supplies a want much felt by the farmers of Ontario, and they would recommend that the College be endowed, so as to be permanently placed beyond the reach of party politicians."

The meeting then adjourned, and in a short time all the visitors were on their way to the station. Here the train was waiting to receive them, and all having embarked they started off on their journey homewards.

Daily Mercury.

WEDNESDAY EVN'G. JUNE 23, 1880

THE Democratic Convention met at Cincinnati on Tuesday, and after organizing adjourned.

BRADLAUGH'S CASE.—In the House of Commons, the debate on Bradlaugh's claim to affirm was resumed on Tuesday. Mr. Gladstone said the Government's position is to give advice, and leave the decision to the House. The question of atheism, he said, was irrelevant. He opposed Gifford's amendment that Bradlaugh be permitted neither to take the oath nor affirm. The matter, he said, was a constitutional, not a party question. Gifford's amendment forbidding Bradlaugh either to take the oath or make an affirmation was carried by 275 to 230.

THE Selkirk election has been declared void by the Supreme Court. Hon. D. A. Smith was the sitting member, and Mr. Jury the appellant. The ground on which the decision was given was trivial enough but still sufficient to unseat Mr. Smith. It was shown that his agent had hired a team the day preceding the election to convey voters to the polls. The agent did so (it was proven without the knowledge of Mr. Smith), under the belief that, although it was unlawful to hire a team on polling day, there was no harm in making the arrangement a day in advance. The result was that his ignorance was the cause of the election being voided, although the judges held that there was no evidence that there was any intention to violate the law. Mr. Smith will, no doubt be a candidate again, and will be re-elected. There was no good reason for bringing the action on, for the mistake in the matter of hiring an agent was a mere technical informality, and in no sense savoured of corruption.

"By all means do so," said the Clerk who stood Sentinel at the desk,," and much good may it do you."—Grip, June 12th.

This is the story so far as Grip has told it; but our contemporary should have added that the unfortunate individual referred to, having appealed to a Citizen in his dire distress, was advised to Herald his grievance through a Free Press, in the hope that the Star of a better fortune would Guide him to some keen Observer who would Chronicle the whole matter and so bring it under such Review as would emphatically enlist Public Opinion. By this time, you see, our Irish Canadian traveller, having done Toronto, and skipped from Sarnia via Ottawa to Quebec, has safely arrived at the Capital of the Empire, where within the sound of Bow Bells he need fear no temptation to Cotton to printing contracts, and where an ordinary Mackintosh will keep out the morning dews! And the Bystander may go with him if he likes! Is not this the end of the story Grip tried to tell?—Toronto Tribune.

THE CHINESE ARMY.—A Moscow correspondent of the Cologne Gazette, who professes to be well acquainted with the situation of China, gives the following facts concerning the force of the army of the Celestial Empire. It is reckoned to consist, according to good authorities, of 600,000 men. Of course, however, only 200,000 infantry and 80,000 horse form the standing army. The rest only serve as garrisons. This army is not by any means, though it has improved since 1860, to be compared with any Eurcpean army. Only a small part of it has European weapons and has been drilled by English and French officers; the greater part of it is only supplied with heavy, rusty sables, pikes, and even bows and arrows. The Guard of the Palace, quartered at Pekin, numbers 17,000 men. It consists of six battalions of infantry, of whom four only are provided with breech loaders, the remaining two with muskets six feet long, which require two men to fire, one serving as support to the weapon while the other shoots, and of 2,000 horse. Also belonging to the Guard are 24 Russian mountain guns. Of the remainder of the army only about 50,000 men have been drilled after European fashion, and these act as the garrison of several of the larger towns. As regards the Chinese fleet, consisting of 12 large steamers, 3 frigates, and 15 gunboats, its value is rather often under-rated. It is, however, badly officered.

The Clerk stated he had received notice from Mr. Gideon Hood and Mr. James Forrest, pathmasters, that they had not received their instructions for their road divisions. The Clerk was then instructed to prepare other schedules if those which are missing cannot be recovered.

ANOTHER INSTANCE OF SELF HELP.—Dr. Samuel Smiles has been favored by a Scotch minister with an extraordinary example of self help toward a literary occupation. In a small shop in Aberdeen lives a man named John Mackintosh, the compartment being about twelve feet by ten, with a small counter in the middle and a window in which are displayed a few periodicals, cheap prints and other articles belonging to a small stationer's shop. One day Dr. Smiles' informant saw in the shop, a great pile of proof-sheets, and asked Mr. Mackintosh if he was a reader for any house in the city. Mackintosh laughed at this and said the sheets were his own. "Do you mean to tell me you have written a book," he was asked, and replied that he had written two, or two volumes comprising one work. His visitor was amazed, and begged to know the character of the work. John Mackintosh then brought out a large octavo containing 550 pages, and bearing the title, "History of Civilization in Scotland, by John Mackintosh." The proof-sheets belonged to the second volume, and there are two octavo volumes yet to come. Being asked if he had been accustomed to trace out the history of civilization in his native country while selling newspapers, pens and writing paper, he replied that he had. Already the British Quarterly Review and the Scotsman have pronounced in favor of the substance and style of the first volume.

Presbyterian Statistics.

Rev. Dr. Waters, on Friday, laid the report of the Committee on Statistics before the Assembly.

The report stated that the information collected during the past year was more extensive than it had been for some time past. Reports had been received from 812 congregations, about 106 not reporting. The Presbytery of London was the most faulty in this respect. 13 of its 48 congregations, or nearly one-fourth, sending no report. The entire number of pastoral charges, settled or vacant, was 740, and of ministers 659, some of whom had retired. The number of vacancies was 95. The regular charges of the 659 ministers comprised 1,350 churches or stations, being an average of more than two to each; 142 churches or stations were without ministerial oversight, nearly one-half of which were in the Maritime Provinces. The number of families reported was 63,843, giving a population of upwards of 300,000. The number of communicants on the rolls of the Kirk session was given as 107,871, of whom the greatest number was in the Synod of Toronto and Kingston. To the membership of the Church 10,748 persons had been added during the year, and 7,129 removed by death, changes of abode, and other causes; showing an increase of 3,619. Weekly prayer meetings in different congregations were attended by 35,315 persons. Those receiving instruction in Sabbath schools and Bible classes numbered 83,265, who were under the instruction of 8,574 teachers. Sitting accommodation was provided in the churches for 135,693 worshippers. Congregations provided 383 manses and 79 rented houses for their pastors. The financial statistics show that the total income for all purposes was $1,162,154, or an increase of $51,774 over the previous year. The Presbytery of Toronto headed the list with the largest income for all purposes, the amount being $137,876. Montreal came second, Hamilton third, London fourth, Paris fifth, and Guelph sixth. The report intimated that these returns were necessarily in some cases incomplete. The Committee recommended that Presbyteries be enjoined to send full returns at the earliest possible date, and that Presbyteries be enjoined to deal with congregations within their bounds who are in arrears of stipend.

LISA LENA:

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUT-CAST.

CHAPTER V.

THE STRANGER'S VISIT.

The great orb sank majestically, pillowed in the fleecy masses of the golden clouds, or sometimes sailing with his aureate galleon through a sea of bright clear amber, mellowing off into opalescent grey or pearl, and flecked here and there with a long bar of glittering silver or of flaming gold. As he neared the line and almost touched it, he seemed to swell through the misty exhalations of the warm evening into vaster dimensions. The azure haze that filled the heavens grew violets blue and purple with the glow of his incandescence. There he sat enthroned an instant: earth and air and sky all full of his influence, all glorified by his splendour — he in the centre of the glowing semi-circle arched far up with light transparent crystalline clouds, and they are filled with pale lights of grey, and amber radiance and streaks of ruby cloud, and specks of silver. Then his big round globe touched the tops of the low bank of clouds on the horizon, a long irregular fringe of fire ran along the outline, and, as if he had dipped in molten metal, vast streaks and rays sprang up in the heavens, and were flung out over the earth, and dazzled me with their splendour. Then I felt the full spell of his enchantment.

Wherever a light vapour floated in high ether he transfigured it into some glorious wonder—a purply cherub, a floating gold-winged angel, a long bright drapery of amethystine transparency. The whole of the interminable plain beneath with its expanse of soft-tipped blades and shining ears tremulous with the creeping influence of the evening air, was transformed into a vast golden sea. Whatever emerged from it of house or tree, or stake, or motionless animal had become aureate. I felt transfigured, too, by the play of his glory on my uncovered head and face and arms. It was a molten sea in which I seemed to float. Then my imagination ran riot. The sun was the eternal God; the amber translucence about him was the glory about the throne; the fleecy clouds that floated dazzling were the angels; the sea in front was the glittering pavement of heaven; and my soul overwhelmed with emotions of ecstasy and of awe, bowed down and worshipped.

My face was in my hands, and the salt tears trickled through my fingers, and Dragon grew restless and whined.

When I lookad up again, He was vanishing. His golden sails were disappearing behind the wavelets of the horizon, now fretted with luminous splendour. Great streaks of flaming fire went up in a crown of amethyst and gold. The sea of the prairie around had grown soft and purply. All heaven was deeply blushing with a rich various glow. The tip of an arc of fire appeared for a moment above the blazing frill. Then it flashed, and vanished, and I lay wondering, dreaming, longing, my poor little soul incapable of apprehending the meaning of all this magnificent display, but soothed and awed by it into a few moments' peace.

"O God," I used to say, "take Dragon and me up there among the angels; and please let us be in the same room with Mercy, and don't let Mrs Mason come there, and I'll be good evermore."

Bunyan and the Books of Daniel and Revelations alone excited in me any religious emotion of a pleasant character. The Catechism told me I was and would be damned unless I sought grace in a mode therein laid down. Bunyan gave to religion a picturesque and hopeful character, and surrounded it, as the sun did the heavens, with a brightening influence.

One Sunday afternoon when I had been engaged as I have just described, and a sultry day had closed with such a scene, I was surprised to find a stranger standing close to me, and to hear his voice.

"Well, Sissy, what are you doin' here? Contemplating the glories of God?"

I glanced at the stranger. He had one of those strongly marked Indian physiognomies now so common in America. Dark skin, high cheek bones, hooked nose, long hair, now growing silvery, that dropped over his shoulders, a firm mouth, and prominent chin. His eyes were dark as jet and bright. Yet there was a gentleness that softened the harsh features of his face, and though his look at me was searching, it was not unkind.

Dragon roused and growled.

"Hallo," he said, "Cerberus—well, you are a dog," and he went fearlessly over to the mastiff, and passing his hand softly over his neck and ears soothed him in a moment.

Then he said, "You're about the biggest dog I ever tamed." Then he turned to me. "What are you doing here, Sissy? What's this?" He stooped and picked up the dirty, well-thumbed copy of Pilgrim's Progress. I looked at the man as he sharply glanced at the book. He was about six feet high, dressed in black pants, a black frock coat, no waistcoat, a black necktie unloosed, a great black soft felt hat, that lay on the back of his head and shoulders.

"You prefer to read about the women, eh?" he said. "Well, that's nateral for a gal." And he quietly sat down beside me, and looked me all over. Then he came back to my face.

"You've been crying, eh? Hurt yerself?"

I shook my head, without speaking.

"Come, Sissy, I guess you ain't dumb. Show me yer tongue."

"No, sir."

"Hah! Wal, that's better than silence. Now we've broke the ice we'll get down to running water pretty soon. You're too young, I reckon, to be crying. What's the matter?"

"It's so pretty!" I said, waving my hand toward the golden gates of the West.

"Yes, sir, sometimes, and sometimes when I ain't."

"O, no, no!" I cried, bursting into sobs, and covering my face while the purple passion suffused my ears and cheeks.

"Oh," said the man, for a moment aloud, but to himself—"I reckon I've got hold of a pecooliar case here needing more wit than Thy poor servant has by nater; tell me how I'm to work this thing right away, for I don't see through it—not a streak. . . . Sissy," he said to me, putting his hand to pull me up, "Let us pray."

"I don't want to pray," I said, striking off his hand.

"Ah! Lord," he said. It's all right. Now we've got back to old human nater again."

I had stopped sobbing. Dragon had risen and was uneasily studying the scene. The man's face remained calm and gentle. He rested silent for a few minutes.

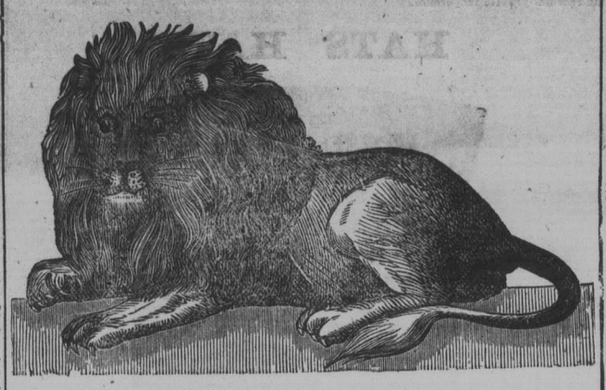
"Why?"



"They are bad people—they beat me."

"Ah! p'raps you ain't good—p'raps you tell lies. May'be you've a bad temper and wicked passion; mought be you kick against God's laws and your guardian's wishes—p'raps resist the spirit of God, and don't say your prayers—and treasure up wicked thoughts in your heart, and wish yourself dead."

As the old man went on colly analysing me in these terms, I listened stupefied.

The Migratory Scot.

(From the Leisure Hour.)

Old Osborne said, ages since:—"The Scot, like the poor Swiss, finds a more commodious abiding under every climate than at home." A story appeared in a well-know serial, some several years since, describing the disappointment of an Englishman who went out to the East as an interpreter, and whose ruling passion was a hatred of everything Scotch; but strolling through the camp with a Turkish officer, and abusing the Scotch to his heart's content, to his astonishment Hassan Bey, the Turk, broke out: "I'll tell ye whaat, ma mon, gin ye daur lowse yere tongue upon my country like that, I'll gie ye a cloot on the lug that'll mak' it tingle fra this till Hallowe'en!" The thunderstruck Englishman stammered out, "Why, my good man, I thought you were a Turk!" "And sae I am a Turk the noo, ma braw chiel," said the angry Glasgow Mussulman; "but my father's auld leather breeks ne'er travelled farther than just fra Glasgow to Greenock and back again; but when I gang hame—as I'll do or it's lang, if it be God's will—I'll just be Wully Forbes, son o' auld Daddy Forbes, o' the Gorbals, for a' that's come and gane!" Presently a splendidly-dressed Hungarian came up and said to the Turk, "Wully, mon, there's a truce the noo for twa hours; just come wi' me and we'll hae a glass of whusky thegither." It was the same with a Russian officer, until the Englishman exclaimed, "Bless my heart! is everybody on earth a Scotchman? Perhaps I'm one myself without knowing it!" But when the Russian General Tarassoff exclaimed. "Eh, Donald Cawmell! are ye here?" and Ibrahim Pacha burst forth simultaneously, "What, Sandy Robertson! can this be you?" the Englishman burst forth: "It's all over! Turks, Russians, Hungarians, English—all Scotchmen. It's more than I can bear! I shall go home; there's nothing left for me to do here. I came out as an interpreter, but if all the nations of Europe talk nothing but Scotch, what use can I be?" This seems very droll, but not more droll than real.

And we remember to have met with an anecdote of a Scotchman from Perth, who had penetrated into some far interior of Asia—we forget where; he had to see the Pacha, or Bashaw. He was introduced to the comely man in his tent. They gathered up their knees, and sat down upon their carpets. They drank their strong coffee, and smoked their hookahs together in solemn silence; few words, at any rate, passed between them, but, we may trust, sufficient for the occasion; but when the man of Perth was about to leave, the Pacha also arose, and, following him outside the tent, said, in strong Doric Scotch, "I kenned ye vera well in Perth; ye are just sae and sae." The Perth man was astonished, as well he might be, until the Pacha exclaimed, as he said, "I'm just a Perth man mysel'!" He had travelled and he had become of importance to the Government there. His story was not very creditable. In the expectation of the place he filled he had become a Mchammedan.

We believe it is Sir Archibald Alison who mentions how, when Marshal Keith was combating the Turkish forces under the Grand Vizier, the two generals came to a conference with each other; the Grand Vizier came mounted on a camel, in all the pomp of Eastern magnificence; the Scotch Marshal Keith, who originally came from the neighborhood of Turriff, in Aberdeenshire, approached on horseback. After the conference the Turkish Grand Vizier said to Keith that he would like to speak a few words in private to him, in his tent, and begged that no one should accompany him. Marshal Keith accordingly went in, and the moment they conferred the Grand Vizier threw off his turban, tore off his beard, and running to Marshal Keith, said: "Oh, Johnnie, foo's a' wi' ye man?" and he then discovered that the Grand Vizier of Turkey was a schoolfellow of his own who had disappeared about thirty years before from a parish school near Methlic.

WOOD FUEL.—It is interesting, and to many persons it may be profitable, to know the comparative value of different kinds of wood for fuel. Shellbark hickory is regarded as the highest standard of our forest trees, and, calling that 100, other trees will compare with it for real value as fuel for house purposes as follows:—Shellbark hickory, 100; pignut hickory, 92; white oak, 84; white ash, 77; dogwood, 75; scrub oak, 73; white hazel, 72; apple tree, 70; red oak, 67; white beech 65; black birch, 62; yellow oak, 60; hard maple, 59; white elm, 58; red cedar, 56; wild cherry, 55; yellow pine, 54; chestnut, 52; yellow poplar, 51; butternut and white birch, 43; white pine, 30. It is worth bearing in mind that in wood of the same species there is a great difference, according to the soil in which they grow. A tree that grows on a wet, low, rich ground will be less solid and less durable for fuel, and therefore of less value, than a tree of the same kind that grows on a dry and poor soil. To the ordinary purchaser, oak is oak and pine is pine; but for house use the tree grown on dry upland and standing apart from all others is worth a great deal more.—Exchange.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Harriston Correspondence.

Final arrangements has now been made for the celebration of the 1st of July, and an extensive programme of athletic sports has been made out, for which good prizes will be offered. There will be a base-ball match in the forenoon between a club from Walkerton and the Buckeyes, of the town. In the afternoon a match will be played between the Standards, of Hamilton, and the Browns, of Harriston. The Standards are a first class amateur club, and the Browns have got down well to practice, so that one of the best contested matches ever played here may be expected. The committee of management are determined to spare no pains to make the day a good success. The band will give a a promenade concert in the skating rink at night. The Ladies Aid Society of Guthrie Church will hold a bazaar during the day, and will furnish refreshments. The event is looked forward to as one of the best that has ever taken place here.

THE CENSUS.—The world census had its origin from the office of Censor in Rome, one of the duties of which was to estimate (censere) the number of citizens and the value of their property, and apportion taxes accordingly. In the Middle Ages the word was applied principally, if not, wholly to the practical work of taxation, but in modern times it has lost this meaning. The enumeration of the people of the United States provided for in the Constitution is the first modern instance of an undertaking of the kind. The first United States census was taken in 1790, and the first British census (exclusive then of Ireland) not until 1810. In the United States, the census serves chiefly a political purpose, affording the basis of representation in the Lower House. In Great Britain its object is entirely statistical and economical. In an article on the census in the last number of the Encyclopædia Britannica Prof. Francis Walker, the present Superintendent of the Census, makes some observation.

M R. G. B. FRASER

G. B. FRASER, Upper Wyndham Street, Guelph.

Being about to leave Guelph, to seek a home in the Far West, would cordially thank his many kind friends for their continued patronage for the past twenty-two years, and as he is likely to be but a short time longer in their midst, his stock will consequently be sold off at such bargains as will ensure a speedy sale. Merchants will find it to their advantage to sort up, as many of the goods will be sold 15 to 20 per cent below Toronto and Montreal wholesale prices. All goods will be marked in plain figures, and sold at cost. No second price will be made. A special discount will be allowed on purchases over $25.

The 30th Battalion.

Their Departure for the London Camp.

At 1.30 this (Thursday) afternoon, the 30th Battalion passed through the city on the Wellington Grey and Bruce Railway for London, where they go into camp for eight days. They were comfortably provided with a special train, made up at Harriston, for the journey. The battalion numbered about 450 men rank and file.

At an early hour this forenoon, the Eramosa Company of volunteers began to arrive here, it being arranged that they would join the Guelph Company and proceed to the station together. Shortly after twelve o'clock both companies mustered at the drill shed, that from Eramosa numbering about 40 men rank and file, and the Guelph company about the same number. The Eramosa company was in command of Capt. Mutrie, the other officer being Lieut. Johnston. The Guelph company was commanded by Capt. Spiers, Lieut. Crowe being the associate officer. The corps mustered in heavy marching order, were fully equipped and presented a neat and orderly appearance. They were put thorough a short course of drill after which canteens were distributed. They then proceeded to the Great Western station by way of Wyndham and Paisley streets, and in a short time were comfortably seated in the train. It is expected the train will reach London at 5.35 this evening.

Early in the forenoon Quartermaster Swinford, of the Guelph Rifle Company, with a staff of six men, left for the camp ground to make the necessary arrangements there for the reception of the companies.

FOND OF SPIDERS.—The Times says:—In the outskirts of Hamilton lives an old man whose only companions are spiders of every shape and hue. He has never attempted an accurate census, but he believes there are 500 or 600 of them, and the ceilings of his two rooms are completely hidden by the webs which they have spun. For the most part these strange pets make their own living, but occasionally the old man throws a handful of flies into the meshes of the innumerable webs, and delights to see the spiders glide along the gossamer and seize their struggling victims.

REV. GEORGE L. McKAY, D.D. — It is intended, we understand, to invite the above named distinguished missionary from Formosa, presently sojourning in this country, to be present on the occasion of a garden party to be held at Rosehurst, the residence of James Massie, Esq. Dr. McKay will, in all probability, be accompanied by his wife, who is a native of Formosa. This will, no doubt, be an occasion of no ordinary interest to our Presbyterian brethren in the city, but likewise to the whole Christian community. When arrangements have been completed announcement will be duly given.

THE ROBBERY AT MORRISTON.—Constable Thomas Ingram, Morriston, has searched the houses of three residents in that village with a view to recovering the property stolen from the residence of Mr. John McLean, on Tuesday evening. He did not succeed in finding any of the stolen articles. From the circumstances of the robbery and information he has obtained in connection with it he thinks the thieves live in the immediate vicinity of Morriston.

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW for April, just published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay-st., N.Y., treats of a great variety of subjects. Henry Larkin gives a theory regarding the origin of the earth and moon. Conceiving the possibility of the earth having been thrown off from the sun, he suggests that the moon may have been, in like manner, projected from the earth, and supposing that this theory were scientifically established, he is prepared to point out the spot whence it might have been upheaved. Alex. H. Japp gives an account of Winckelmann's life and works, his struggles with poverty and his tragic death. Modern Architecture is severely handled in an endeavor "to inform our readers of the nature and profession of an 'architect.'" A long article on English Prisons, signed F. Arnold, is followed by a description of political parties in Russia, and of the nature and meaning of Nihilism, by John Rae. There is also "an examination of the nature and power of circumstantial evidence and of the principles upon which its cogency depends," and a review of the political history of England for the past six years, besides the usual notices of new books.

NEW BOATS.—Messrs. Craig & Bradley have added two pleasure boats and a sliding seat skiff to their stock of boats. The skiff is very handsome, and weighs lightly. It is 18 feet 6 inches in length and measures 4 feet 2 inches across the beam.

SIR JULIUS BENEDICT.—In view of the interest awakened in this grand anthem by the announcement that to-morrow evening the Oratorio of St. Peter will be given at the concert in Our Lady's Church, we condense from the American Cyclopedia, a short sketch of his life:—This great composer was born in Stuttgart, Nov. 27, 1804. Having early developed a talent for music, he was placed by his father under the instruction of Louis Abaille. At the age of twelve he had made astonishing progress upon the pianoforte, but his father insisted that his musical pursuits should not be allowed to interfere with his literary studies. These being concluded in 1819, Julius was sent to Weimar and placed under the direction of Hammel. In 1820 he went to Dresden to receive lessons from Weber, then engaged in the composition of his Euryanthe. With this companion young Benedict formed an intimate friendship, accompanying him to Berlin, Vienna and other cities. Having now became a master himself he spent some time in Vienna, Naples, Paris, and he went to London in 1835 and made that city his home ever since. He was soon very popular there as pianoforte instructor, and held at the same time the position of musical director at the Lyceum, and at Drury Lane. In 1850 he accompanied Jenny Lind as director of the orchestra in her tour in the United States. Returning to Europe in 1851 he had the misfortune to lose both his wife and his eldest child in the same year while on a trip to Italy. Resuming his musical labors in London in 1852 he devoted himself in great part to composition, producing many works for the pianoforte, for stringed instruments, and for orchestra, and acting as conductor at the Italian Opera in London, and at many of the great English festivals. Among his later works are a concerta for the pianoforte, his "Legend of St. Cecilia," and the Oratorio of "St. Peter," which latter was produced at the Birmingham festival of 1870. In 1871 he was knighted.

Attempted Murder by a Wife.

ST. THOMAS, June 22.—This afternoon a Canada Southern fireman named John Patterson had a close call from instant death. He is married to a woman who was formerly Mrs. Abbott, and it appears another woman had told the lady of Patterson paying some attention to her. Upon Patterson's return home, his wife, inspired by jealousy, began to give him a piece of her mind, and an altercation ensued. Finally Patterson expressed his intention of terminating the matrimonial connection, and began packing his trunk; and during the conversation his wife drew out a seven-chambered revolver and, taking deliberate aim at her husband, fired, the ball entering his chest. The wounded man seized the weapon and immediately proceeded to the office of a surgeon, to whom he exclaimed, 'I'm shot, and here's the thing that did it,' at the same time exhibiting the revolver. An examination of the wound showed that the ball had struck the man in the chest directly over the heart, and entering the wall of the chest glanced off upon a rib and became imbedded in his side. But probing failed to disclose the bullet. It is not believed the wound will prove fatal, however.

The little steamer Anthracite, from London, has arrived at St. Johns, Newfoundland, after eighteen days' voyage. She is the smallest steamer that ever crossed the ocean. Total length 84 feet. The voyage was undertaken for the purpose of testing capabilities of the Perkins' system of high pressure engines. Only twenty tons of coal were used on the trip and 435 gallons of water.

Sometime since the corporation assessed the mains of the Consumers' Gas Company and the company resisted the collection of the tax. This morning the tax collector seized the chattels of the company and the latter has issued a writ of replevin. The case will be taken into the Superior Court when the question will be argued. It is of great importance to all municipalities throughout the Dominion.

Stratford Herald:—It is semi-officially announced that after "careful enquiry and personal investigation, the Minister of Railways has decided to adopt the 'Haggas' method for supplying water for locomotive purposes on the Canada Pacific railway." The "haggas method" will be enthusiastically received by our staunch Scotch Tories, and no Grit son of St. Andrew dare say a word against it.

Alex. Morrison and Thomas Gyen met at Komoka Monday night, and after some conversation and sundry drinks, took a walk along the line of the Great Western. They had not gone far when Gyen became very sleepy, and stepping off the track with his companion to a neighbouring fence corner, he soon went off into a sound sleep. When he awoke in the middle of the night he found himself alone and made the discovery that while he slumbered his purse, with its contents, five four dollar bills, had mysteriously disappeared. Morrison was arrested for the theft.

THE THIRD EXCURSION TO THE MODEL FARM.—The third excursion party of Grangers and farmers to the Model Farm this week, arrived by a Grand Trunk special train at 12.15 o'clock this afternoon. The train was made up of ten coaches, packed with passengers to the number of six hundred, most of whom are residents of Ontario County. The train started from Whitby, a large number joining the party there who had reached it by the Port Perry and Lindsay Railway. At Toronto, the number was increased by passengers from the Nipissing Railway. On reaching here they started for the Model Farm without delay. Mr. Hilborn, Grand Master of the Dominion Grange, was among the party. A band from Uxbridge which accompanied the party, played some musical selections while on their way to the farm. The train leaves on the return trip about six o'clock this evening.

Having been acquainted with Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER, for many years, and having sold it several years past, I do not hesitate to say that I believe it to be a valuable family medicine. Its extensive sale in all parts of the world, is a sufficient proof of its value. Used internally and externally it is a valuable remedy for the various pains that "flesh is heir to."

A Pleasant and Profitable Day.

The second excursion of Grangers to the Model Farm took place on Wednesday afternoon, when not less than fourteen hundred visitors favoured the institution with their presence. The excursion was given under the auspices of Lucknow and North Bruce Divisions of Grangers. The Lucknow party numbered about 800 and arrived here at 10:30; the one from Southampton numbering about 600, arrived half an hour later. They at once left for the farm, where the remainder of the day was spent. The weather was hot, the roads dusty, and the journey to the farm was anything but a pleasant one. Once arrived there, however, there was plenty found to interest and please. The College buildings and every department of the outside work came in for a share of attention. The live stock was examined with more than ordinary interest, that being a department in the farm which has not secured so much attention up north as in this section. After having made an inspection of the farm the visitors assembled in the large barn and were amply served with luncheon. It was then announced that a meeting would be held in the barn at 4 o'clock. During the interval the guests made another extended tour over the farm, the men and students connected with the College explaining to them the working of the different departments.

At four o'clock between four and five hundred persons assembled in the barn.

Mr. Mills, before opening the meeting, answered a few questions relative to the management of the Institution and the education required by pupils for admission.

On motion, Mr. Peter McKenzie, Master of Lucknow Division Grange, was called to the chair. There were seated on the platform beside him: Donald Sinclair, M. P. P.; Robert Purvis, Warden of Bruce; Edward Brown, Reeve of Bruce; David Porter, Reeve of Amabel; Henry Brown, ex-Reeve of Eldersley; James Rowan, ex-Reeve of Saugeen, and other prominent gentlemen of Bruce county.

Mr. McKenzie, in a few remarks, stated that the only protection needed by farmers was protection from ignorance, and this was a College calculated to make intelligent youths farmers. He advised young men to attend the College, in order to learn how to bring their farms, which would soon become impoverished, back to a good state of cultivation.

Mr. Donald Sinclair, M. P. P., claimed that Canada must for years remain an agricultural country, and must depend for her prosperity upon the success of the farming community, and therefore all must be interested in their success. He had been opposed to the inauguration of this college. At that time the idea was in advance of the wants of the country. He (the speaker) found that nearly all similar institutions in the United States had been failures. One great disadvantage in the way of the College was the difficulty of securing professors combining literary acquirements and practical knowledge of agriculture, and another was the difficulty of inducing farmers to send their sons to the institution. The College was established however, but it was most unfortunate that on coming into power the present Government found it necessary to change the location. He was glad to say that the hostility on the part of the Conservatives to the present site was dying out. This institution should be above the range of party politics. He was pleased at the measure of success (beyond his own expectations) that had attended the working of the college. He expressed pleasure also that such a large and respectable gathering of his own friends had come to the College to ascertain for themselves the method of its working, and above all he was proud that notwithstanding the numbers present, not one person had come under his notice, who was in the slightest degree under the influence of liquor.

Mr. Sinclair, while agreeing that such was the case, held that the result was none the less satisfactory. He concluded by expressing the hope that the visitors had spent an enjoyable day, and that they would reach home in safety.

Prof. Mills, referring to the question of farmers sending their sons to the College, stated that for that matter he could fill the College four times over with the applicants at present on the books. He could have a full quota of students from England, the States and Scotland, without any from Canada at all, or he could fill the College with young men from the cities of Ontario without any farmers' sons. The applications from farmers' sons would fill the College twice over.

The following resolution was then put and unanimously carried:

Moved by Peter McKenzie, Master of Lucknow Division Grange, seconded by James McKee, Master of North Bruce Division Grange, that we, the officers and members of the different Granges represented here to-day, beg to say that having examined into the practical management of the Ontario Agricultural College and Experimental Farm, are decidedly of the opinion that the Institution is at the present and is destined to be of great benefit to the Agricultural interest of the country, and would strongly urge on the farmers of the country to give the Institution every encouragement in their power by sending their sons to receive a thorough knowledge of agriculture in its various branches, and would also advise all farmers of the desirability of securing for themselves a copy of the annual reports of experiments, etc., carried on, as they are calculated to save a large amount of money annually, lost by farmers in making the same experiments at their own expense; and we would also strongly urge on the Government of the day the necessity of liberally supporting the Institution in the future; we would also beg leave to tender our sincere thanks to the officers of the Institution (whom we consider very efficient in their various departments) for the very courteous manner in which we have been received.

Cheers were given for the Queen and the Agricultural College, after which the audience dispersed.

The visitors then returned to the city and left shortly after six o'clock by the Wellington, Grey & Bruce Railway for their homes.

The Democratic Convention.

The Convention got into proper working shape on Wednesday, when the nominations were made, and the first ballot taken, with the following results:—Gen. Hanock, (Pa.) 171; Senator Bayard, (Del), 163½: Payne, (Ohio), 81; Senator Thurman, (Ohio), 68½; Chief Justice Field, (California), 65; Representative Morrison, Ill., 62; Ex-Gov. Hendricks, (Ind.), 49½; Ex-Gov. Tilden, (N. Y), 38; Ex-Gov. Seymour, (N. Y.), 8. After the ballot was declared the Convention adjourned.

Mr. Bayard is the one Democratic statesman of any prominence who has been active during the past years, and who has come out openly and decidedly on all occasions and under all circumstances, as a pronounced hard money man. He has never adopted any of even the slightest heresies on this subject. This, far from being a strength as it ought to be, is a weakness in the Democratic party, as about three-sevenths of the Western Democrats are soft money men first and Democrats second. Next is General Hancock, the only available general in the Democratic party. He is the Louisiana nominee, and that and his "war record" constitute his strength. Senator Thurman is the Ohio candidate, and therefore strong; he is a soft money man, and therefore weak. Judge Field, of California, is a good man, on whom all might unite in case the more pronounced candidates cannot succeed. Congressman Payne, of Ohio, is regarded favorably since Mr. Tilden's withdrawal, he being, it is said, the sage of Grammercy Park's heir, and not unlikely to win support from Tammany. There are many other candidates, any of whom may prove the dark horse, such as Mr. Hendricks, of Indiana, Mr. Jewett, Mr. Platt and other names less well known.

As will be seen by our latest despatches, Gen. Hancock has received the nomination.

The Bradlaugh Case.

The British House of Commons have had a real sensation, of which it is difficult to see the end. Being a professed atheist, he after being elected for Northampton, refused to take the customary oath administered to members of Parliament, and his case was then referred to a Special Committee of the House, and when the question came up, Lord Gifford moved that he should neither be allowed to take the oath nor to affirm. Bradlaugh, it will be remembered, after refusing to take the oath was willing to affirm, but subsequently he humiliated himself, and expressed himself willing to take the oath without any reservation, thus confessing one day that if he took it, the oath would bind his conscience, and the next saying it would not.

When Lord Gifford's motion came up before the House, the Government, through Mr. Gladstone, intimated that they would accept the decision of the Commons, and that motion was carried by a vote of 275 to 250. In the face of this, however, Bradlaugh, on Wednesday made his way into the House, and attempted to take his seat. The result of that attempt is fully detailed in another column.

The House of Commons having decided that Bradlaugh cannot take his seat, the question naturally arises, what is to be done with him? He cannot long be kept a prisoner, and Parliament must deal with the problem how best to set him at liberty without compromising its own dignity. There is little sympathy for Bradlaugh, it is true, for he is unworthy of it. A man who will one day refuse to take the oath because of what he calls conscientious scruples, and the next day offers to take it without any reservation, gives pretty conclusive proof that he is not sincere—that he either does not regard the value and solemnity of an oath, or is so unprincipled as to take any one offered him.

Meantime he is confined in the Clock Tower, closely watched by two policemen. It is thought that Mr. Gladstone, in order to find a solution for the difficulty, may declare the Northampton seat vacant. Sir Stafford Northcote cannot recede from the position he has taken, and must support Mr. Gladstone in this, but the Conservatives cannot expect to make much out of this matter, though they have been instrumental in carrying the motion which led to Bradlaugh's expulsion from the House. Bradlaugh himself says that he is confident he can carry Northampton again should the seat be declared vacant. Some time ago he made threats of bringing the shoemakers of Northampton to London to support his cause, and doubtless he had his doughty electors in mind when he made this remark. The Bradlaugh farce has been eminently successful, but there it ends. We doubt very much if the good men of Northampton are imbued with the spirit that inspired the followers of Jack Cade and Wat Tyler, and the prospect of Northampton marching on London is remote. He has been thrust into fame and made a hero and a martyr in the eyes of some people. But other people, and certainly the majority of Englishmen, however, consider that he has merely succeeded in investing himself for a while with the mantle so long worn by the late Dr. Kenealy.

Editorial Items.

It is now said that Capt. McMaster will be the Reform candidate for West Toronto.

The writs for the elections in North Ontario and Selkirk will be issued without delay. Mr. C. J. Brydges is spoken of as a candidate in the latter constituency.

It is understood that the Government have settled on the appointments necessary, and that the Hon. J. B. Robinson is to be the next Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

It is stated on good authority that the Hon. William Macdougall is to receive an appointment at the hands of the Government, a place being made for him by the superannuation of a prominent civil servant in connection with the parliamentary library.

There is fresh agitation in European diplomatic circles about the condition of Turkey, caused by Sir Austen Layard's dispatch. A proposition to depose the Sultan as the only means of keeping the Empire from falling to pieces gains favor. Probably the best thing that could be done would be for the Powers to abolish the whole inefficient machinery of the Turkish Government, including the Sultan, his seraglio, his favorites and his corrupt officials, and turn the conntry over to a commission to administer its affairs in the interest of the people and the bond-holders.

Mr. Cummings, Warden of Carleton county, and prospective Tory candidate in Russell for the Commons, in addressing the County Council, paid the following compliment to the Ontario Government.—"I have observed with satisfaction legislation extending the powers of the Division Courts, thereby cheapening the collection of debt. As this measure was bitterly opposed by the Toronto lawyers, we may be assured that their emoluments were interfered with, and the public correspondingly benefitted. In times like those we have just passed through, when so many people are in difficulties, the costs of litigation are felt very seriously indeed, and a change in this direction will meet with your approval I am sure. These favours, though small they may be, I think should be duly appreciated and promptly acknowledged by the people, as it will have a tendency to strengthen the hands of those engaged in law reform—a task very difficult to accomplish so long as we send lawyers to represent us."

We have little doubt but that the public generally will endorse the verdict of the jury in the case of Bennett, who was convicted of murder at the Toronto Assizes on Tuesday, for causing the death of the late Hon. Geo. Brown. From all that we can gather there is no doubt Bennett is a hardened villain. The writings in his memorandum book showed that, and the threats he there made of not only killing Mr. Brown, but also the head engineer, gave evidence that his murderous purposes were contemplated long before he carried them partly into execution. His conduct during the trial also showed how lost he was to all right feeling, and that when the dread sentence was passed on him, he asked that the time might be made shorter between his condemnation and the time of execution. We should be sorry to judge harshly of any man, but we feel that the verdict of the jury was a righteous one, that the sentence of the Judge was in accordance with that verdict, and that while this poor wretch will suffer for his crime on the gallows it is after all but a poor set-off to the life he took.

He is Confined in the Clock Tower.

London, June 23.—The House of Commons was crowded to-day in expectation of a scene. Mr. Bradlaugh presented himself at the table, but the Speaker informed him that in consequence of the resolutions of the House yesterday he must retire. Mr. Bradlaugh wished to address the Speaker, but was met with Opposition cries of "Withdraw." The Speaker informed Mr. Bradlaugh that he must withdraw. Mr. Labouchere moved that Mr. Bradlaugh be heard at the Bar, which motion was agreed to. Mr. Bradlaugh eloquently combatted the resolution arrived at against him. He said it was unprecedented to condemn any one unheard. He argued against being accused of atheism. He said he would not forego either his opinions or his claims to his seat. The House might afterwards expel him, but until he had taken his seat it had no jurisdiction over him. The House could not override a law which permitted him to take the oath. If appeal was necessary, as he hoped it would not be, it must be made. He asked the House to give him the justice which judges would give him if appealed to. He was loudly cheered. The Speaker asked whether Mr. Bradlaugh should be called in to hear the pleasure of the House. Mr. Gladstone thought that last night's resolution was illegal, but he submitted to it as the decision of the House. Mr. Labouchere asked leave to move that Mr. Bradlaugh be allowed to take the oath, but this was ruled out of order. Subsequently a motion of Mr. Labouchere's to rescind last night's resolution was discussed, but at the request of Mr. Gladstone it was withdrawn. Mr. Bradlaugh having been called in, advanced to the table, and was informed by the Speaker of the decision of the House and was requested to withdraw. He twice respectfully refused to withdraw, whereupon Sir Stafford Northcote moved that the Speaker be authorized to enforce his withdrawal. The House divided on the motion whilst Mr. Bradlaugh was standing at the table, and Sir S. Northcote's motion was adopted by 325 to 28. Mr. Bradlaugh refused positively to obey, and he was, therefore, removed beyond the bar. He returned twice, declaring that the House had no right to exclude him—that it could only imprison him. Sir S. Northcote moved that Mr. Bradlaugh having refused to obey the chair of the House he be given into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. Gladstone, seeing no other means of giving effect to last night's resolution, seconded the motion. Mr. Finnigan (Liberal member of Ennis) moved the adjournment of the House, which was rejected by 342 to 5. The debate on Sir S. Northcote's motion was continued, and after Mr. Parnell had spoken, the motion that Bradlagh be given into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms was adopted by 274 to 7. The Speaker then called upon the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove Mr. Bradlaugh below the Bar, and that officer approached and touched Mr. Bradlaugh on the shoulder. Mr. Bradlaugh moved away, and turned back and shouted, "I claim my right as a member of this House." The Sergeant took a more forcible possession of his prisoner and moved him to the Bar, from which Mr. Bradlaugh again advanced, reiterating his claim. He was brought back again by the Seargent-at-Arms, who held him by the sleeve. At last Mr. Bradlaugh stepped forward and said: "I admit your right to imprison me, but I deny your right to exclude me, and I refuse to be excluded." The House then adopted a motion to commit Mr. Bradlaugh to custody, and he is now confined in the Clock Tower of the House of Commons. There was no excitement outside of the House. Mr. Bradlaugh's speech at the bar was eloquent and impassioned, and is considered a splendid effort of oratory. The Standard says that Bradlaugh's friends in the House will move that he be discharged from custody. When he was taked into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms he made enough resistance. He resented his authority. He walked to the room assigned him in the Clock Tower between the Sergeant-at-Arms and his deputy, followed by three policmen and a procession of members of the House. Parnell and others visited Bradlaugh and tendered their sympathy. Bradlaugh stated to an interviewer that he did not yet contemplate legal proceedings. He received numerous offers of aid. The Daily News understands that his principal supporters, in Northampton are considering the expediency of applying for permission to be heard by counsel at the bar of the House. The members who have been most active in supporting Bradlaugh's right to take his seat have decided to wait a few days before taking further action. The Times says Bradlaugh complains bitterly of the attacks on him by a few Irish members, particularly O'Donnell. He says this is his reward for standing up for the Fenians in 1865 and 1866. Bradlaugh expresses admiration for Parnell and Labouchere, the latter for his generous support.

KNOW THYSELF

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the Peabody Medical Institute Boston, entitled The Science of Life; or, Self-Preservation. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundreth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The author refers, by permission to Hon. P. A. Bissell, M.D., President of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. MTh

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUT-CAST.

CHAPTER V.

THE STRANGER'S VISIT.

Mrs. Mason's been telling on me, I guess?"

"Not a syllable. She ain't mentioned you to me."

"Then who told you?"

"God," he said, pointing upwards solemnly.

I looked at him with my eyes wide open. His face was serious and benignant. I felt an awe of him.

"Why do you read this story?" he said.

"I like it; it is so pretty."

"Nothing more?"

"No. I hate the catechism."

"Nater again," he said, laughing. "You hate catechism and you like this."

"Ever so much."

"Well, they're both good, only this is more taking to young uns. They both tell you the way of salvation."

"I don't want to know the way of salvation."

"O Lord this a very hard case; give us grace to pick our way through these bushes." (To me)—"You don't want to know the way of salvation, and yet you like the story of Christiana, and Mercy, and Greatheart?"

"Yes, I love that; but Mrs. Mason says she's going the way of salvation, and I don't care to travel along with her."

An odd smile passed over the old man's face. However, he rebuked me.

"Mrs. Mason," he said, "is a good woman so far as human judgment can reckon. The Lord only knoweth His own. Moreover, Sissy, she's your lawful guardian, and you have been placed by Providence in her hands, and it's your dooty to try and love her and give her all your obedience. Now," he said, "do you know the way of salvation is nothing more or less than the way Christiana and Mercy went."

"There ain't no such way," I said boldly. "There ain't no road with lions, and no Great heart, and no Interpreter's house, and no land of Beulah, it's only a story."

"O, Lord, I reckon I'm stumped this time," said the man. "How shall I show this dark soul the true meaning of the parable?"

"Sissy," he said, pointing to the decaying glory around, the reduced tints of the western sky, the deepening bronzes of the clouds, the creeping shadows behind us, "did you not see all this jist now bright and radient with the sunset? Warn't it all glorified and beauteous as with the brightness of heaven? Now, you jist look behind you on that big stretch of ugly prairie—see the big shadows come rolling up and out of the east. I guess it's pretty common-place ground, and corn and post and rail fence, and shanties, and very or'nary sort of folks living in em. Not many minutes ago you and I saw all this looking like a heavenly vision. Yet it's the same earth, the same houses, the same corn, the same post and rail fences; and the same little gal with an ugly brown face and red eyes and a wicked heart—eh? Wal, now, that's the differ between Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' and the real pilgrim's progress. The one is all golden with Bunyan's fancy, but it's the real thing, too. When you've got the real thing it's all tipped and gilt over by the Sun of Righteousness in jist the same way. All the hard things, all the coarse things, all the cussed things get licked up and renewed. Do you understand?

"Some; but I don't believe it. Mrs. Mason don't see as the Sun of Righteousness or she wouldn't wop me the way she does."

"O, Lord, forgive the weakness of Thy servants, and teach 'em how to hold up candles to these Thy little ones. Amen! Sissy!"

"Sir."

"Do you sing?"

"Yes; a little."

"Let's have a hymn. Do you know 'Happy Land?'"

"Yes sir."

"Fire away!" and in a mellow voice, a little tremulous, the old man sang with me. Then he took my hand without speaking, and said—

"I reckon we'll go into supper, Sissy. Come along, Cerberus," and away we went.

He was very kind to me in the house; praised me for liking Bunyan; sat me beside him at supper. It turned out that he was Elder Swan, a noted but peculiar evangelist, who had come to stay the night. He was put in the best bedroom—no compliment I should say, for it was hardly ever slept in, and looked very dreary and uncomfortable. When supper was over he took the Bible, and read, and then prayed with great candour, confessing all sorts of sins for the company at large and himself in particular.

Among other things he asked grace for Mrs. Mason, one dear sister here, to do her duty by this young immortal, and grace for me to be a good and gentle child. I was sent to bed, but through the thin partitions I could hear my name mentioned, and he must have spoken very earnestly to Mrs. Mason about me, for she was kinder next day, and for a week afterwards. But Elder Swan would have needed to pay a visit every day to cure her of her queer temper. This was one of the circumstances which had such influence on my career. The other is less pleasant, but it ought to be told.

Montreal Live Stock Market.

MONTREAL, June 22.—The offerings of stock at the markets were not so large as usual, and prices ruled lower than last week. The following sales were reported:—Walter Laing out of his load only disposed of one bullock, which he disposed of to W. Head for $40. Roberts & Wilder sold a load of cattle at 4c to 4½c per lb. They had 20 shipping cattle left over for want of a buyer. G. R. Ball, who is shipping a small lot of cattle to England this week, bought two head at 5c per lb., 3 at $64 each and 2 for $105

The continued depression of the wheat market necessarily causes a good deal of interest among dealers. The steady decline in Chicago from $1.25 to 90c is almost unprecedented, and clearly proves that in face of an almost total failure of the English crop that that country has come off the victor. Wagers are freely laid that 75c will be touched in Chicago before the end of the year. Two cars of No. 2 spring that were forced on the market to-day brought only $1.06, the lowest price since September. The Liverpool market was 1d and 2d per cental lower for wheat while peas advanced 1d. New York was fairly active, and about 1c lower. Montreal quiet, with prices tending in buyers' favor. In Toronto flour is dull with considerable offering of superior extra at $5, and extra and fancy at $4.95. Wheat is unsettled and lower, and sold at $1.09 to $1.11 for fall, and $1.14 to $1.25 for spring. Oats are quiet and steady, with a sale of one car of Western at 37c on the track. Peas dull and scarce, Butter steady, with a fair demand for choice selections for shipping, at 13 to 14c per pound. Eggs scarce and higher at 11 to 12c in car lots.

The reason men don't follow the example of women and stop to look into the windows of millinery stores is because such windows don't contain fancy pipes and the portraits of burlesque actresses.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng.' n4dw9md

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Mr. Labouchere said Bradlaugh, when released, would reassert his legal right.

Mr. Gladstone took no part in the debate, and Sir Stafford Northcote's motion was adopted unanimously.

Bradlaugh was in the House this evening, but sat under the gallery, outside the bar.

Mr. Labouchere will to-morrow move for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Parliamentary Oaths Act.

NEW CASTORS.—A stock of glass ball castors for bedsteads, pianos, &c., has been received at McBean's hardware store. One feature claimed for the castors, is that glass is a non-conducting material. FALSE ALARM.—Several persons living near the gaol were alarmed last night about eleven o'clock and again about three o'clock this morning, by a bell ringing, which they imagined was that on the gaol. They thought that either the gaol must be on fire or that a prisoner had escaped. On enquiry, it was learned that the bell which was ringing, was one erected in rear of the Victoria hotel.

CIVIC HOLIDAY.—A petition is in circulation asking the Council to declare the 12th of August the Civic Holiday. The programme will include a picnic at the Exhibition grounds; procession of Oddfellows in which several bands of music will take part; Cabmen's base ball match, etc.

FESTIVAL.—The strawberry festival on Thursday evening, in the Dublin-street Church, was well attended. There was abundance of refreshments, and the tables were well patronized. During the evening several pieces of music were given. The festival was a success in every sense.

REMARKABLE FIGURING.—On Thursday forenoon a middle aged man called on the head book-keeper in one of the stores in this city and represented himself as a "lightning" calculator in figures. The book-keeper handed him a stock book, pointing out a column which it had taken himself half an hour to add. The "lightning" man made the addition of the columns in four seconds and ran up others produced, with such marvellous rapidity, that the book-keeper decided to introduce him to some mathematicians in the city. The two gentlemen visited the Bank of Commerce, and one of the ledgers was produced. Mr. Smith, Manager of the Bank, took one column of figures and the calculator a column of the same length to match each other in adding. Mr. Smith had but time to add the figures 6 and 1, when the other had finished his column. The man secured five pupils who met last night, when he explained the system by three simple rules, not made public. It may be said that the system renders addition altogether mechanical, and a combination of figures are read as a word would be.

A RELIC.—The Manitoulin Expositor says:—"Mr. P. A. Switzer, Inspector of Public Schools, has come into possession of a French court sword of very antique pattern, which was dug out of a mass of decayed vegetable matter near the mouth of Thessalon River. The blade is greatly injured by rust, but the silver mounting on the hilt is as fresh and perfect as the day it was finished 180 years ago. How did it get to Thessalon River? How long has it been lying there?" No doubt the sword belonged to some of the French adventurers who explored all that region of country shortly after the discovery of Canada. For particulars see Parkman's histories of the Jesuits and the explorations by the French in Canada and the States.

THE CONSOLIDATED BANK.—An excited meeting of the shareholders of the Consolidated Bank was held in Montreal on Thursday for the purpose of taking a vote on the resolution to prosecute civil actions against the directors, whose alleged carelessness brought ruin upon the bank. Mr. John Rankin, who presided, in reply to a question, admitted that he had signed a cheque for $20,000, which was handed over to Mr. John Monk as a compromise of the actions against Sir F. Hincks and the other directors. A committee was appointed to institute an action against those directors who were in office before the last annual meeting, who resided in Montreal, for all dividends declared, by which paid-up capital was impaired; also for all losses sustained by the bank in consequence of the mal-administration of its affairs by said directors. The committee are to report to the adjourned meeting of the shareholders on the 1st of September any proposition from said directors and to make such investigation into the affairs of the bank as they see fit. The explanations of the circumstances surrounding the affairs of this bank was entered into by the ex-president. Some very strong language was used by the shareholders present.

It has finally been decided that the Canada Pacific Railway is to cross the Little Saskatchewan at Odanah. Of course, Messrs. Ross, Ross and Killam, who own the land of this paper town, managed that.

On Thursday a horse belonging to Mr. Perriman, Orillia, while running away struck a little girl, the daughter of Mr. O'Hair, killing her almost instantly.

The central shaft of the Hoosac tunnel caved in on Wednesday night. No one was injured so far as reported.

THE CAMP AT LONDON.

Arrival of the 30th Battalion on the Grounds.

The Perth, Waterloo, Wellington and Huron Battalions went into camp at London, on Thursday. The Wellington Battalion was delayed at Guelph for some time on account of the Railway Company not supplying suitable cars. They, however, left about three o'clock, reaching about seven. The Free Press refers to the corps as follows:—

"About seven o'clock the 30th Battalion, of Wellington, put in an appearance per G. W. R., and although last in the particulars of arriving they stand foremost in point of numbers and perhaps appearance. It would be invidious to make comparisons at so early a date, but certainly the 30th claims to be the crack volunteer corp of the west. It numbers ten companies of full strength, and, counting in the officers, foots up a marching in total of over 500. They wear the helmets and dark green coats of riflemen. They were accompanied by their band from Elora."

The marching state of the different corps have not been handed to the Brigade-Major, but as near as can be ascertained there are about 1,500 men under canvass.

The following are the companies of the Wellington Battalion and the names of the officers.

A half brother of Mr. Webster, the celebrated actor and manager of the Haymarket, played at Drury Lane under Macready, and in the bills was called "Mr. Webster." Webster wrote on this to Macready to ask that the Christian name of his half brother should be added, the word "Mr." without addition being always applied to the head of the family. Mr. Macready refused. A short time after Webster's box-keeper noticing in Great Pulteney street a sign inscribed "Macready, tailor, &c.," offered, to the surprise of the tailor, to engage him to play the Beast in "Beauty and the Beast," about being produced at Convent Garden. He consented, and in the bills of the time will be found: "Beauty, Mme. Vestris; the Beast, Mr. Macready."

The effect of the Glasgow Bank failure are still painfully apparent in Scotland. Stockholders who were compelled to sacrifice their property are now in extreme poverty; the small holders who depended on their stock for an income are destitute. A relief fund of nearly a million for their benefit has been subscribed and is held in trust, but it is entirely inadequate to meet their wants. Real-estate in Glasgow and other cities has depreciated fully 30 per cent., and a part of this decrease is attributed to the depression consequent upon the failure of the bank. It is estimated that the farmers and landholders in Scotland have withdrawn deposits from the banks to the amount of over eight millions of dollars, under the presure of the times. Emigration, as a means of escape from the dilemma, is quietly but widely spoken of, and the situation is not improved by the want of sympathy between land-owners and tenants. It is stated that two or three agents or pioneers of companies proposing to emigrate are already in the United States.

The Agricultural College.

The Usefulness of the Institution Recognized.

On Thursday at noon a party of excursionists from York and Ontario Counties arrived here to visit the Model Farm. In all the party numbered about six hundred, including a considerable sprinkling of ladies. The excursion was given under the auspices of the Grangers of those counties, those from Ontario coming by the Lindsay and Port Perry Railway to Whitby, thence by the Grand Trunk to Toronto when they were joined by the excursionists from York, who reached Toronto by the Nipissing Railway. Both parties then came on to Guelph by the Grand Trunk, having a very pleasant trip. Deputations from Eramosa Centre No. 419; Home Grange, Nassagaweya, and Erin Grange No. 198 were at the station on the arrival of the train to welcome their brother Grangers to this part of the Province. The Uxbridge Firemen's Band, which accompanied the party, played a few selections of music on their way to the farm, and the other visitors left in hacks and carriages for the Institution. The weather must have had a tendency to influence the visitors against the appearance of the city and country surrounding it. They had the misfortune to pay their visit on one of the warmest days this season, while travelling through streets amid clouds of dust was most uncomfortable. A fresh breeze could scarcely be gained at any place unless it was on top of the College buildings where many persons crowded.

The routine at the farm was similar to that of the two days preceding. The visitors were made welcome, they moved about at perfect liberty, inspecting and receiving explanations. They dined in the barn and after luncheon continued their inspection until the bell rang for the meeting at 3.45 o'clock. The barn was well filled. Among those on the platform were J. A. Feasby, Mr. Hilborn, Master of the Dominion Grange, Mr. Forester, Dr. Orton, M. P., Mr. James Laidlaw, M.P.P., Dr. Wardrope, and some of the officers of the College.

J. B. Feasby was called to the chair. He expressed great satisfaction with the farm and hoped that it would prosper.

Mr. Forester agreed with the sentiments of the chairman. He thought the Agricultural College was one of the greatest institutions of the country—the experimental part in particular. He advocated that farmers should make experiments themselves, which would tend to the welfare of the country. In going around the farm this afternoon he had gained knowledge, though he might have differed from the mode of management in some instances. He had to bear testimony to the courteous reception they had received at the College, and when he went home he would not forget to mention it.

Mr. Mills spoke at some length, his remarks being principally confined to answering questions similar to those suggested by the visitors the preceding day, and then answered by himself.

Prof. Brown also spoke mainly referring to the causes which had tended to retard the progress of the farm, among them being that the farm was "run down" when the Government took possession of it, and also that the place was young. He referred to some of the experiments, which would be published when the reports are completed, but it would take years to produce decided results.

Dr. Orton, M.P., said, the fact of a number of grangers coming from the counties of York and Ontario to the Model Farm, was an event of no small importance. He recognized the grangers as one of the best associations in the country, as it represented a portion of the agricultural population who discussed the best modes of improving farming. It was a patriotic work the association had in hand. With the development of the North-west we could not expect to compete in wheat raising, and Ontario farmers would be obliged to compete in supplying the European market with meat stuffs. He felt that the result of their visit to-day would be productive of great good to them They would return home with fresh ideas, fresh interest and desire which would do good to their locality. He thought the Government of Ontario had acted wisely in establishing the Model Farm. He differed entirely from those who sneered and "ran down" the Institution. It would be of great benefit to the Province. Private individuals could not carry on experiments without a great deal of expense. There was a great deal to be learned from experimental farming, and the farmers are gaining their knowledge by united efforts, and he had no doubt but it would be a great benefit to them. The live stock department was a very important one, for Ontario would and must be the meat producing Province in the Dominion. The farmers of Ontario would also supply the North West Territory with the better class of live stock. The people of the Northwest could not raise fruit for sometime and Ontario would have to supply them with that article. He wished the Model Farm and Grangers Association God speed.

Mr. Hilborn, moved the following resolution which was seconded by Mr. Forester:—

That the thanks of this excursion, consisting of about 600 farmers of the counties of Victoria and York, be, and are hereby, tendered to the officials of the Agricultural College and Experimental Farm for the very kind and courteous manner in which they have received and entertained the visitors of the excursion, and would express their entire satisfaction at the efficient manner in which both the College and farm appear to be managed. They would strongly recommend to the Government of the day the propriety of increasing the capacity and efficiency of both the practical and theoretical departments, finding that the applicants cannot be nearly all admitted.

The speaker was informed the faculty were receiving applications for admissions to the school which they could not accept. They were taking one or two students from each municipality, but he thought the accommodation should be so great as to admit of every farmer who desired having the advantage of the institution for their sons. He moved the resolution with pleasure.

The motion was carried amid applause.

Letters of apology were read from A. H. Dymond, Secretary of the Ontario Agricultural Commission, and from Hon. S. C. Wood, Minister of Agriculture, expressing regret at their inability to be present at the meeting.

The Uxbridge band played a selection of music.

Messrs. Panton and McTavish said a few words, the former welcoming many of his old friends to the College, and the latter announcing that he would shortly have published a complete set of book-keeping books for farmers specially.

Mr. James Laidlaw, M. P. P., testified to the great satisfaction he felt at seeing so much interest taken by farmers all over the Province in the Agricultural College.

The meeting was closed by the band playing the National Anthem.

The Democratic Nomination.

We announced on Thursday that Gen. Hancock had received the Democratic nomination for President. On the last ballot he received 705 votes. A motion that the nomination be made unanimous was carried with not a dissenting vote. Mr. Kelly, the Tammany chief, mounted a platform and said that the nomination of General Hancock united the Democracy of New York and asked that all past differences be forgotten.

Gen. Hancock belongs to Pennsylvania, having been born in that State in 1824. He received a good education. In the Mexican war he served with distinction, receiving a brevet for gallant and meritorious conduct at Contrecas and Cherubasco; afterwards he served in Southern Florida during the Indian war of 1856, he was in Kansas during the troubles in 1857, and later he took part in the expedition to Utah and the overland march to California. During the rebellion he was a prominent officer, and took part in a number of engagements, in which he greatly distinguished himself. General Hancock was in March, 1868, assigned to the command of the Military Division of the Atlantic, with headquarters in New York. In November, 1869, he was placed in charge of the Department of Dakota, but returned to New York on the death of General Meade in November, 1872, to take again the command he had previously held and still holds. Upon all occasions and under all different circumstances in which he has been tried, General Hancock has been distinguished by remarkable judgment, descretion, and force of character. In person he is the ideal of a commander, being tall, stout, and handsome, with a square-set, ruddy face, clear blue eyes, calm in repose, but kindling into flame in action. As a politician his record is pure, and he enters on the contest with clean hands.

Mr. English, the nominee for Vice-President, was born in Scott county, Indiana, August 27, 1822; received a College education; is a successful lawyer; has been Speaker of Indiana Legislature; member of Congress, 1858-61, and has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate.

The Visits to the Agricultural College.

The visitors to the Agricultural College this week have exceeded by hundreds, those who came to the place in previous years. On Tuesday a large representation of the farmers from Huron paid it a visit. On Wednesday the Bruce men came in full force, and on Thursday a very large number of the intelligent yeomanry of Ontario made a special excursion for the purpose of visiting the College, and examining into the working of the Experimental Farm. With scarcely a single exception all these strangers expressed themselves highly pleased with all they saw and heard. Mr. Mills, the President, Mr. Brown, Professor of Agriculture, and all the other lecturers and officers were indefatigable in their efforts to give all information in regard to the Institution, the routine of work and study, and everything else of interest in connection with it. That these strangers were not only highly pleased but edified by their visit we have only to read the resolutions passed by them, in which they refer to the great importance the Institution is to the Province, to the difficulties that early surrounded it but have now happily disappeared, to the work that lies before it in the future, and to the faithfulness and efficiency of its officers. Such testimony is very gratifying to the friends of the College, and must be reassuring to those who had at first little faith in it, but who now are being convinced that it is doing a most important and valuable work in the Province.

Referring to these visits we are glad to be able to copy the following from the Globe as the testimony of an outside and impartial witness:—

For the last three days Prof. Mills and the other professors and officers of the College have been exceedingly busy receiving and providing for the visitors who have come in such large numbers to inspect the institution. According to the testimony of all, they did not merely try to perform their duty in this respect, but went so much further that they managed to prevent all confusion, extended to all every possible opportunity to inspect thoroughly everything about the place, besides holding themselves ready at all times to answer questions, and so far as could be done with such large numbers, to explain personally every point on which information was asked. The students also acted the part of young gentlemen in a way that showed that the role was not new to them. In returning thanks for the courtesy extended to them, the visitors conferred upon all connected with the College an honour which it is safe to say was as highly appreciated as it had been honestly earned.

THE great national celebration of St. Jean Baptiste day was celebrated with great eclat at Quebec on Thursday.

The Ottawa Free Press is informed that recently several farmers in that neighbourhood, despairing of being able to redeem their farms from mortgage, have ceased to make payments to loan companies, and are realizing all they can with a view of emigrating to the West.

THE Hon. Mr. Chapleau, leader of the Quebec Government, is spoken of as the probable successor of the Hon. Mr. Mason. In the Cabinet he would make a worthy companion for Sir John and Sir Charles. The Quebec Government treasury is in too forlorn a condition to suit the aspirations of Mr. Chapleau.

IT is reported that the Government contractors intend to give Hon. Mr. Langevin a financial testimonial in acknowledgment of his services to the Conservative party. The proceeding to say the least would be a very unseemly one, and Mr. Langevin is surely not so lost to all sense of public decency as to accept money from a ring of contractors who are making what money they intend to present to him out of the country.

LEADVILLE, the great mining centre of the west, must be a wonderful place. The population which is now 25,000 or 30,000, has been doubled in a year. It has waterworks, gas, graded schools, churches, a police force—in short almost every characteristic of an old city except a bonded debt. That, too, will no doubt come in the course of time, but thus far the Leadville people have managed their corporate affairs on the pay-as-you go principle.

Mr. Gladestone's recent speech on the financial policy of the new Government is regarded, even by so hostile a critic as The Saturday Review, as a masterly statement—a great intellectual treat, which no other statesman could have offered to Parliament. "Novelties assumed the air of indisputable truths, and complicated figures were woven into the thread of an easy and intelligible narrative, in a manner new to this generation, and reminding the older members of the House of the days when Mr. Gladstone first soared above the level of ordinary financiers."

Gambetta, in carrying the Amnesty Bill through the French Legislature, has achieved a great triumph. This bill which he dictated at a recent Ministerial conference, has been passed by a full vote of the groups of the Left in the lower Chamber. The Premier, who had shirked the responsibility of advocating this measure, was compelled to shift his ground and carry out the policy of the President of the Chamber. The Ministry offered no resistance, and the President of the Republic does not appear to have been consulted. Gambetta was allowed to have his way, and the great speech with which he electrified the Chamber was ordered to be placarded in every commune. His ascendancy in French politics is reestablished. His popularity with the masses is restored. He is again recognized as the master mind of the Republic.

The Ontario Agricultural Commission.

When the Commission met on Tuesday Mr. Clay, manager, of Bow Park farm, was called as a witness, and examined with regard to the best methods of raising stock, and the various methods of fattening them for the English market. In his opinion, the best animals to send to the English market should weigh about 1,400 pounds, and the best kind of sheep should weigh from 72 to 80 pounds dressed; and he thought the Oxford Downs were the best that could be sent across the Atlantic. He pointed out that in his opinion the best kind of sires to be used was the pure bred stock. They must have quantity as well as quality for the English market. He thought the time was not far distant when the farmers of Ontario would have to turn in and feed cattle for the English market; and the ranchmen of the western States could supply young stock to be fed in Canada. In his opinion, west of the Mississippi will be the great breeding districts of America, and east of the Mississippi the feeding districts. Some cows had been bred at sixteen months. The Durhams were the best cattle to raise, as they brought a much better price. He alluded to what he termed the disgraceful way in which cattle were fed and housed in winter; and he thought the Government should step in and try to compel the farmers to take better care of their cattle in winter. He was also of opinion that a man in Canada does more work than a man could do in England, on account of the better character of the farming implements in Canada. He was in favor of using Durhams for milking purposes, as many of them were very heavy milkers.

Mr. John Hobson, Mosborough, near Guelph, being examined by the members of the Commission, stated that he found there was more profit in getting cattle off at 26 to 28 months old; and that 5½c. to 5¾c. was paid this season. He had seen good cattle from the first cross with a full bred bull, and very fine cattle from three or four crosses. If cattle were to be kept for breeding purposes, he would have the calves come earlier than April; if for feeding and sale, in April or May. He would have the calves suckle for five or six months. If the mother had been a heifer, he would not allow the calves to suckle so long. For feeding grain he found peas as cheap as corn. In winter he feeds hay and roots. The great success in breeding was to get the calves fat and keep them in good condition all the time. A proportion of meal in the feed improved cattle wonderfully; he thought it improved style and symmetry. He did not think much of the artificial cattle food. He did not generally try to breed from heifers under about three years. He had not had much loss or trouble from abortion among his breeders. Last winter he had fed a good deal of turnips and oat straw. He had had some loss from abortion this year, and it had been attributed to feedings probably, excessively with turnips. Most of his cattle were thoroughbreds. A comfortable warm stable was better for cattle than an open shed. Speaking again with regard to feeding turnips and its effects on the breeding cows, he said he had fed about 1½ bushels a head last winter. This was a half bushel more than he had done regularly and when he supposed it was hurting the cattle he returned to feeding hay and reducing the ration of roots. He was asked whether it was cheaper to raise his own steers for feeding or to buy the steers. He said it would be cheaper to buy the steers if you could always get the sort of animal you wanted. You would then have to buy in November and feed for six months. Meal made from oats and peas is good for the young animals; he found they did not take so kindly to corn meal. He gave his cattle all the salt they wanted. In answer to a question, he said he had raised an average of about 550 bushels of turnips per acre. He was incredulous about the recorded 1,200 bushels grown upon acres in the country. He said mangolds were better as the season advanced for feeding. The difference between a good grade and a native steer would be that the grade would be worth 5c. or 5½c., while the native would not be worth more than 4c., and there would be also a great difference of probably 300 lbs. in the weight. He could not put any value on a native bull; such a beast had no value as a stock getter; in the market the animal might be worth 3c. a lb. He had the roots fed to the cattle first thing in the morning and dry feed afterwards. He only used a cutting box when hay was scarce; when hay was $6 or $7 a ton he fed it as it was; a farmer owning 25 cows should also possess a bull; his experience was that a well-bred animal was as easily fed as one of the 'scrubs.' He usually bought a lot of lambs in October, and fed for Christmas market; he preferred ewe lambs to ram lambs for feeding; he was in the habit of feeding about 200; they feed the animals on hay and oats; he sowed rape for sheep pasture; not in drill, as the sheep and lambs sometimes got down in the drills; he sowed about three-quarters of a pound to the acre, and thought half a pound might be found sufficient; he believed that 150 pounds of plaster would double the crop on an acre; he had found feeding sheep a profitable business. Mr. Hobson could not tell, for himself, what were the exact cost and exact profit on every piece of labour or crop raised. He did not think any farmer knew this. He generally knew what the cost of an animal was, and nearly what it had cost to the time it was sold; and what it had gained in weight. He thought that thorough farming on a good farm would pay a fair interest, say 7 per cent.; that would be after allowing a family a certain amount for wages. He thought in his neighborhood a good farm would be worth $60 to $65 per acre. But he knew that some put a higher valuation. Latterly the spring wheat, Fife variety, had been a failure, comparatively. He had sowed generally after rape or turnips. It appeared a blight had come upon the wheat. He believed that cultivation during July and August would do more to kill thistles than anything else that could be tried. He used a good deal of salt as manure. It was difficult to maintain a systematic rotation of crops, owing to the frequency of clover and even grain crops being winter-killed.

TORONTO, June 24.—The second and third sections of the Agricultural Commission met again yesterday in the Parliament buildings. The inquiry in reference to stock-raising was continued. Mr. John Miller, of Brougham, gave evidence chiefly in relation to stock-raising, particularly thoroughbred animals. His preference was decidedly for the Durham breed. Dr. McMonagle, of Prescott, was examined on the science of breeding, particularly in regard to horses, the different breeds of which he described with great particularity. He showed that breeding should be conducted for a purpose, in regard to intelligence, quality and form, and freedom from hereditary unsoundness. Extreme crosses, he pointed out, failed to give satisfactory results. He referred to the effects of ancestral influence, there being a constant tendency in animals to revert to original types. Only those animals should be concentrated by close breeding. He eulogized, at great length, the Hambletonian breed of horses. Mr. J. Snell, of Edmonton, gave evidence to sheep-farming. He preferred the Cotswolds for wool and mutton, and improving the common breeds of the country. The United States, Kentucky in particular, was the best market for Cotswolds. He considered that the common stock of the country was deteriorating, because grade rams were used. Thirty sheep could be profitably kept on a 100 acre farm on the mixed husbandry system. He raised his own sheep for breeding purposes.

One of the simplest ways to get rid of rats is to place within their reach a pan of flour mixed with unslacked lime, and a pan of water placed beside it. The lime causes thirst, and the rats die almost directly they drink.

LISA LENA:

CHAPTER VI.

DRAGON ACTS LIKE A GENTLEMAN.

Life in Keyugo was a slow dull thing enough to the few people that lived there. Its surroundings were dismal. The country stretched away in one vast flat. There were a few fences, but they were scarcely visible over the immensity of waving wheat, varied by huge squares of the crisp, green tasseled Indian corn. Only a few small trees here and there rose above the level. We were near no hills. In the far distance were visible some blue lines against the sky. No ravine offered a pleasant shade where one might listen to the cool purling of some silvery brook on one of those summer days when Nature seems to be burning up slowly—when the ground cracks asunder, and when the leaves and flowers crisp up and flag and wither. There were no walks except along the bare country road, deep in fine dust, or among the high corn. That was my refuge. I loved to run away when I could of a Sunday, Dragon always following me, and slip in and out between the interminable ridges of the maize whose long sword-like leaves dropped over me far above my head, in silent and motionless dignity, or, stirred by the wind, spoke to me with a mysterious whisper. Sometimes I would get tired; and then Dragon, panting with heat, lay down, and I put my head into my little cotton sun bonnet and rested against his huge side. That and watching the people who occasionally—very seldom indeed—came over to our house to tea, or to a "Bee," was my only and rare amusement. On those days I used to be dressed up and shown off by Mrs. Mason, who wished, no doubt, to give her meeting-house friends a good impression of her treatment of me. Except on these occasions, I was a little dog to fetch and carry, to slop and wash and scrub for Mrs. Mason. Small as I was, I had to learn to stand on a high stool and steep my hands and arms in half boiling soapsuds. There was no difference in the living between me and the couple and their farm hand, who changed every month or so, for no one liked to stay with them. The food was good and plentiful, and if Mrs. Mason had acted less up to what she called her "lights," and more after her likings, she might have been a pretty good Christian woman; but the light which some people can extract from the Bible is almost worse than darkness.

She was harsh by nature, cold as a Massachusetts Yankee, and as acid as a crab-apple. Her tongue could not help its tartness,—the acid was in the juices of her body. She was a Baptist of a very strict order—in fact, a hard shell of the hardest. Her husband professed to be the same, and could lead off a long and vindictive prayer at any moment, but I never believed in the man's religion, and perhaps when I have gone on a little further with my experience the reader wont either.

I had not been long in the house before they found that there was a good deal of incompatibility of temper and temperament between us. My soft southern nature, fostered by my mother's kindness, the easy views which I had gathered in my home life of religion and piety, shocked these people, brought up in the straitest of the sects of the East and North. They tried to educate me in their doctrines. I was a hard scholar, no doubt, I was sorry that my mother had taught me to read. They were very particular about Sunday. On that day no newspaper was opened, no book not a pious one touched, no dinner was cooked. They hitched up the horse in the buggy and drove off, if it were fine, some four or five miles to a farm where a meeting was held. These often used to be occasions of delight to me, for they frequently left me at home. There, all by myself, roaming over the house or in the corn, or, in winter, tucked cosily by the fire in the great chair, Dragon watching every movement, even as he lay out lazily with his eyes half shut, I used to dream of the past and wonder about the future; I used to undress myself and wash my little brown arms and legs, and try to soften the corns and stiffness on my poor little feet. The winter boots they bought me, with their copper toes, were so hard and heavy, so unlike the light pumps and pretty gaiters in which my mother used to shoe me. Then I used to let down my dark hair, which was long even then, and required to be bound up out of the way, or cut off. Mrs. Mason, indeed, one day, angry at the bother this binding gave her, seized a pair of shears and was going to cut it all short a sheep shearer like, but I screamed and sobbed so terribly, and called for "mommy" so loud, that she let it alone. Standing on a chair before the little glass on the women's coarse dressing table, I used to look at myself, and try to trace the likeness of my mother, and wondered whether I should ever resemble her. One day, so wrapped up was I in this agreeable contemplation, that while I was standing before the glass, stark as I was born with my hair all around my neck, Mrs. Mason, who had returned from a meeting, came into the room and caught me.

A Mosquito Paradise.

About the 24th of May they began, and since that time there is little immunity from their ravages, only that we noticed wherever there is little clearing there they are found in great profusion. As I write there is a cloud around me, and several resting on my fingers, nose and wrists. Franklin's rule may be practised when they are seen on hand, but on the head, &c., they generally pay the last penalty of the law. Sometimes, indeed, strong, hard words might be uttered in these circumstances, if good watch was not kept against it. I understand that the mosquitoes are said to labor under the delusion that we are jealous of them because we have no wings, and therefore "hate the excellence we can reach." But I do not believe this. How then do the people live and work? By keeping burning the everlasting "Smudge." You can make one. Take a zinc or sheet iron pail and placing a few coals therein and a few chips of wood, build in the receptacle an ordinary fire, and when it is well kindled place on the top of the blaze a few pieces of decayed or well-damped wood, and the thing is accomplished. It sends out a sickening smoke, which for us is worse to bear than the stings of the insects. Every house has one, and sometimes two—one pail inside emitting its quantum of smoke, and one or two outside, some of which are very large for the beasts, who are otherwise unable to graze in peace. I have heard somewhere of some man trying to suspend a smoke pail from his neck to keep off the myriads of black flies and mosquitoes, but however this may be, it is the fact that men carry out one of these "smudges" to the field and move it from place to place as he hills potatoes, &c., You can also see that old man to-day with his axe over his shoulder, and his head bound up in a yellow netting. But all is in vain. Like the thief, they can effect an entrance wherever they can get their head. If you stood upon an ascent and looked down in the night upon the houses of the settlers, you would imagine from the smoke that there was a general conflagration, for sometimes the "smudge" breaks out into a flame, and it is said that one man owed the total destruction of his house to his want of care with regard to his "smudge." These mosquitoes attack as recklessly as Zulus.

What Thomas Carlyle Thinks of Darwinism.

Carlyle is now very feeble through age, but his memory is still marvellous, and the flow of his talk—doubtless the most eloquent of the age—is unabated. Take this as a samplo :—

"I have known three generations of the Darwins, grandfather, father and son; atheists all. The brother of the present famous naturalist, a quiet man who lives not far from here, told me that among his grandfather's effects he found a seal engraved with this legend :—'Omnia ex conchis;' everything from a clam-shell! I saw the naturalist not many months ago; told him that I had read his 'Origin of Species,' and other books; that he had by no means satisfied me that men were descended from monkeys, but had gone far toward persuading me that he and his so-called scientific brethren had brought the present generation of Englishmen very near to monkeys.

"A good sort of man was this Darwin, and well-meaning, but with very little intellect. Ah, it's a sad and terrible thing to see nigh a whole generation of men and women professing to be cultivated, looking around in purblind fashion, and finding no God in this universe. I suppose it is a reaction from the reign of cant and hollow pretence, professing to believe what in fact they do not believe. And this is what we have got to. All things from frog spawn; the gospel of dirt the order of the day. The older I grow—and now I stand upon the brink of eternity—the more come back to me the sentences in the catechism which I learned when a child, and the fuller and deeper the meaning becomes. 'What is the chief end of man?' 'To glorify God and enjoy Him forever.' No gospel of dirt, teaching that men have descended from frogs through monkeys, can ever set that aside."

Mothers!! Mothers!! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediatly—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&wlyr.

Biddulph Notes.

The feeling in Biddulph still appears to run very high, and popular opinion seems to be divided into two classes—Donnelly and anti-Donnelly. On Thursday last a farmer on the 8th concession, who has been friendly with the Donnellys, had a bee. The next neighbour had an excellent well of water, and some of those present went to his well to get some water. The second time they went they found the following notice posted on the pump: "No water for blackfeet here. Go to old Donnelly's homestead and you will get all you want."

On Wednesday last a number of the Vigilance Committee held a bee and cut the thistles on the farm of the prisoner John Kennedy.

Mr. Tom Morkin, of Biddulph, the other day offered the surviving members of the Donnelly family to purchase the old Donnelly homestead from them. The boys would not sell it.

Last evening a letter was received by the postmaster of Lucan enquiring particulars of the tragedy. It was from Mrs. Wilson, wife of Dr. Wilson, of Ballarat, Victoria, Australia, sister of the murdered mother of William Donnelly. They had read accounts of the tragedy in the Melbourne, Australia papers. There is another sister, wife of a barrister named Jones, and a brother, Pat McGee, residing in Victoria, all of them being in good circumstances. The postmaster replied by giving the particulars of the tragedy as published in pamphlet form.—London Advertiser.

THE TICHBORNE CLAIMANT.—In the Court of Appeal in London on Thursday the hearing of the appeal in the case of the Tichborne claimant opened before Lords Justices Bramwell, Brett, and James. There was a large attendance of bar and public. Judah P. Benjamin, Q. C., opened the argument of the case on behalf of the claimant, Thomas Castro, alias Arthur Orton, alias Roger Tichborne. Benjamin's main plea is that the two proceedings on which Castro was convicted and sentenced to two several terms of penal servitude was one proceeding, and that the two offences with which he was charged was only one offence in the proceedings which he undertook to recover the property of Roger Tichborne. The remarks of the Judges during the course of Mr. Benjamin's argument indicate that they must dissent from his principal contention.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette. —Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng.' n4dw9md

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

SATURDAY EVN'G, JUNE 26, 1880

Morning Telegrams.

Fighting is going on in Buenos Ayres, and many people have been killed.

Two Liberals were elected to the English Parliament on Friday, one of them a Liberal gain.

It is believed that a movement is on foot to bring about a union between Bulgaria and Roumelia.

The Victoria (Australia) Assembly has rejected the Bill for reforming the Constitution by a vote of 43 to 41, and the Governor will probably dissolve the House.

In the House of Lords on Friday the Bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister was rejected by 101 to 90.

In the House of Commons on Friday the motion of Mr. Stevenson (Liberal) for closing public houses on Sunday in England and Wales was adopted by 153 to 117. The Government opposed the measure.

A young woman waiting at the Seine, Paris, with her lover for a boat fell into the water on Friday, and when rescued stabbed her lover to the heart, and then stabbed herself fatally.

The Tribunal of the Seine has condemned Sara Bernhardt to pay the Comedie Francaise 100,000 francs damages, and forfeit the privileges of the engagement of 1875, which imposes an additional loss of 44,000 francs.

In the Court of Appeal Lord Justice James has denied the application of the Tichborne claimant to have his two sentences made concurrent. Lord Justice Bramwell said he thought the American Tweed case cited justified the Attorney General in issuing his fiat for a writ of error in this case, but it was plain there was no error in the sentence.

The Lord Mayor gave a banquet to Earl Cowper, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, at the Mansion House on Friday. Earl Cowper said that prosperity was returning to Ireland, but he could not deny that in certain districts there was very great distress and great cause for anxiety.

In the House of Commons on Friday Mr. Parnell moved the second reading of his Irish Relief Bill, which was opposed by the Chief Secretary for Ireland. The Mansion House Relief Committee regret that only £40 have been received since their last meeting, and that assistance will have to be furnished for eight weeks to come, to meet which they have barely enough funds to last three weeks.

It is believed that the Federal Government, having declined to take the Occidental railway off the hands of the Quebec Government, and that an attempt is now being made to sell it to a private company. The provincial treasury must be refilled in some manner or other, for bankruptcy stares the Chapleau Government in the face.

HOSPITAL DUTY.—The following is the order in which the clergymen will attend the General Hospital up till the 15th of August: R. Dr. Harkin will be the visiting physician next week.

DR. REEVE'S LECTURE.—Dr. Reeves, of Ohio, last evening delivered the first of his series of lectures on the interesting subjects advertised, to an attentive and appreciative audience, and although but introductory was an earnest of what when fully elaborated cannot fail to exercise intelligent and thoughtful minds. At the close an opportunity was given for questions. On Sunday afternoon next at 3 p. m., in the same place the Dr. will give the second lecture.

GARDEN PARTY.—The garden party at the residence of Mr. John Hobson, Mosborough, under the auspices of the Ladies' Association of Knox Church, on Friday evening, passed off most successfully. About two hundred citizens left by train in the evening to be present, and they were accompained by a detachment of the Artillery Band. In all there was an attendance of about 300 persons on the ground. A programme of games was entered into with spirit and proved very entertaining. A tug of war between a team of young men from the city and one from the country was won by the latter. The band played several musical selections in good style. The Guelph party returned to the city about 11 o'clock by special train.

SCHOOL FOR NURSES.—The training school for nurses, established some time ago by Dr. Mack, of St. Catharines, in connection with the General and Marine Hospital, has been very successful, and an enlargement of the building has become necessary. To secure funds for this purpose, a fete will be held at the Springbank grounds, on Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Springbank at this season of the year is one of the most charming resorts in Canada, and is much resorted to by invalids, especially by those afflicted with rheumatism. The Turkish and mineral baths are most efficacious for the cure of this and complaints of a kindred character. The hotel is most commodious and comfortable, and guests receive the best care and advice from Dr. Mack, one of the most skilful and experienced physicians in Canada.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—David Findlay, aged 8 years, son of Mr. Andrew Findlay, of McTague street, in the western part of the city, narrowly escaped being drowned in "Kate's hole" in the Speed River, above Goldie's dam this (Saturday) forenoon. About 9 o'clock the lad, together with Edward Murton and Wm. Davidson, boys a few years older than himself, went bathing at that point. There is not such a depth of water at any place along the river as at "Kate's hole," and it was a dangerous thing for boys so young to venture swimming there. Young Findlay after going into the water swam out from the shore a considerable distance but he became fatigued on returning and sank. His companions did not observe that he was done out, and he rose and sank three times in succession. It was not until he had gone under the last time that they missed him and they immediately began diving to recover him. They succeeded in finding the lad, and after a great deal of difficulty brought him to shore. They were terribly frightened, for he showed no signs of life and they thought he was dead. With great presence of mind they rolled the body on the grass until after a time the little fellow began vomiting and soon afterwards recovered. He was taken home and Dr. Howitt sent for. The doctor pronounced the sufferer out of danger, and though he still feels the effects of the accident he is able to move around.

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough HOP BITTERS, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a fit of sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

NORTHUMBERLAND street is to be lighted with gas.

NEW POTATOES.—The first new potatoes this season were on the market to-day. They were of average size and sold readily at 40 cents per peck.

VACATION.—Loretto Convent, and the Academy at Rockwood have been closed for vacation. They will re-open on the 1st September.

THE name of Rev. W. S. Ball, chaplain of the 30th Battalion, was omitted yesterday, from the list of officers at the London camp.

PERSONAL.—Mr. George C. Rutherford, and family, recently of Newfoundland, have arrived in Guelph, and intend to remain here, having had erected a fine residence adjoining the western city limits.

EXCURSION.—A large excursion party from Shakespeare, New Hamburg and other points on the G. T. Ry. west of the city, passed through on the Dutch Mail this forenoon for Toronto. There were ten coaches on the train and these were literally packed with passengers.

HAYING.—A number of farmers about Guelph have commenced haying, but the greater portion purpose commencing on Monday. The hay crop looks excellent and a better yield is expected than there has been for some years.

NEW TIN STORE.—We call attention to the advertisement of Mr. Crispin, who has opened out in the old store of Jeffrey & Knowles. Being a practical mechanic, with long experience he thoroughly understands the wants of the public. He has also an excellent stock on hand. We bespeak for him a share of public patronage.

HIGH HANDED WORK.—On Friday night George Spiers, a corporation employee, acting on instruction of some person whose name has not been learned, cut three of the shade trees on the west market square. At the last meeting of the City Council, Ald. Doran introduced a motion, proposing to remove the trees, which was rejected, and the report of Ald. Hart, Chairman of the Markets and Public Buildings Committee, recommending that the trees should be trimmed, was adopted. A petition had also been presented by property owners in the neighbourhood of the market square, asking the removal of the trees, which was left over for consideration. Ald. Doran states that the trees must have been cut sometime between eight and eleven o'clock last night though he did not see any person at work cutting them. In order to learn on whose authority George Spiers was acting when he cut them, the Mayor has issued a summons against him, and he will appear at Police Court on Monday.

Oratorio of St. Peter.

The performance of this Oratorio in Our Lady's Church, on Friday evening, drew together perhaps the argest audience that has ever met at a concert in this city. We estimate that ever one thousand persons were present. The object for which the concert was given is indeed a truly charitable one, viz., for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital. His Lordship Bishop Crinnon, of Hamilton, under whose patronage the concert was given, occupied a seat in the sanctuary. We noticed among the audience a number of reverend clergy, both from the city and from a distance. The rendering of the Oratorio, though not by any means faultless, was nevertheless such as reflects the greatest credit on the choir of our Lady's Church. During the two hours and a half occupied in the performance, the large audience remained without even a sign of restlessness. Librettos, with the full text of the Oratorio, were supplied to the audidence, by which means the singers could be carefully followed through the entire programme. The choruses throughout were admirably given, but the ones deserving particular mention are the chorus of Fishers, the storm chorus and Haydn's Tu es Petrus. The soprano sole, "The Lord hath his way in the whirlwind and the storm," was decidedly the gem of the evening, and was given in a way that would reflect credit upon the singer. The recitatives by one of the little boys were very much admired. The instrumental music was of a very high order, and was given in such a way as to leave no room for fault finding. Mrs. Harkins' manipulation of the organ was particularly good, as was also the violins accompaniment of Mr. Vale. The other instrumental performers were Mr. Billinger, saxaphone; Mr. Emery, cornet; Mr. Lawrence, violin; and Mr. Wheatley, trombone. We congratulate Our Lady's choir on the success of their venture, and hope they will always meet with as flattering a reception as on Friday evening. This Oratorio will be repeated on Tuesday evening next, only curtailed, so as to occupy one hour and a half. It will be given in honor of Rev. Father Hamel, the esteemed pastor of the church, and on the certainty to attract a very large audience. Persons holding tickets for the concert of last evening, which were not present, will be admitted on them.

William Meagher, a porter in the Toronto post-office, was arrested on Friday on a charge of stealing money letters. Twenty-six letters were found in his possession.

UP TO THREE P. M.

Supposed Murder.

OTTAWA, June 26.—News has reached the city of a probable murder at Buckingham. From what can be ascertained it appears that a man named Henry committed a breach of the peace in that village, when Constable Morrison undertook to arrest him. Henry resisted, and finding that the officer was too much for him, drew a revolver and shot him. He then escaped and has not been captured. The wound, it is thought, will not prove fatal.

From Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 26.—Christopher Stanton made a desperate attempt to commit suicide here last night by cutting his throat. The wound is dangerous, but may not prove fatal.

Death from Sunstroke.

JARVIS, Ont., June 26.—A telegram was received here to-day from the New York City Hospital, announcing that Robert Sill, of this village, died in that institution this morning from the effects of a sunstroke. He was for many years postmaster in this village.

The Bradlaugh Case.

The Prospect of It being Reopened.

London, June 25.—Bradlaugh this afternoon took his seat in the House of Commons under the gallery, outside the bar. The House and galleries were crowded. Mr. Labouchere said he would move on Tuesday to rescind the resolution denying Bradlaugh's right to take the oath or affirm. Mr. Gladstone said he was unprepared to say what action he would take. The Government will consider tomorrow what measures to propose to reconsider Bradlaugh's rights. His remarks were received with loud cheers from the Liberal side. The Speaker pointed out that it would be inconvenient to discuss the matter on Tuesday, and Mr. Gladstone consequently named Monday for the discussion. Bradlaugh then left the House. Mrs. Annie Besant, who accompanied him, informed the crowd of Mr. Gladstone's announcement, adding that of course under the circumstances, Bradlaugh would await the decision of the House, but that he would want meetings held throughout the country to support the Government. Lord Spencer Churchill (Conservative) gave notice this evening that when Labouchere's motion came up he would move in amendment that it would be inexpedient and derogatory to the dignity and character of the House to rescind the resolution. The friends of Bradlaugh intend to hold 100 mass indignation meetings on Monday in various parts of England. The Daily News says: "We believe that Bradlaugh does not intend to present himself in the House to claim his seat until Tuesday."

Also the public meeting in the Y. M. C. "Men often jump at conclusions," says the proverb. So do dogs. One recently jumped at the conclusion of a cat which was sticking through the opening of a partly-closed door, and created a great disturbance.

When the census taker, wishing to compliment, said to a citizen: "Ah, sir, you've a wife of a hundred!" the lady grabbed a rolling-pin and sailed in on him, saying: "You villain, I told you I was only 25. Don't you dare to put it down as 100!"

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Daily Mercury.

The Lieut.-Governorship.

The Government in appointing Mr. John B. Robinson Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, have displeased not a few of their supporters in Toronto. The novelty of the appointment consists in the fact that for the first time the dignity of the office has been degraded to the level of the occupant, instead of the occupant being elevated to the dignity of the office. Mr. Robinson's record is none of the best, and his method of extracting money out of the Northern Railway reflects very little credit on the high sense of honour that he affects to maintain. The history of these transactions are put in condensed form by the Hamilton Times, as follows:—

1. That $5,440,68 were paid out of the railway funds for the election expenses of Hon. J. B. Robinson, in Algoma, the said Robinson being president of the line, and that the said amount was charged in the books of the company as follows:—One-third to 'Contingencies;' one-third to 'Parliamentary expenses,' and one-third to 'Legal expenses,' in instalments of one twenty-fourth per month, making in all seventy-two entries.

2. That Robinson, while president of the company, overdrew his account by $4,900, which, with the $5,440.68 and interest on both, is still unpaid.

3. That $1,000 were paid out of the same funds for stock in the Mail newspaper and charged to 'Legal and parliamentary expenses' and to 'Printing and advertising,' though no value was given therefor.

There were other findings showing to what rascality Mr. Robinson could be a party to, but we shall mention but one of them, viz:—

6. That $2,500 charged to Senator Macpherson was money not due to him and for which the company had received no value, but was a subscription paid to him as treasurer of a fund raised as a testimonial to the Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, and that the sum was falsely made to appear in the books of the company as an asset.

We do not like to talk disrespectfully of dignitaries, but we must say Mr. Robinson's appointment reflects no honor on Ontario. The previous occupants were all good men, who had done the State some service, but we have yet to learn what service Mr. Robinson ever rendered this Province. He has lived hitherto on the reputation of his father, for his own talents are of the most meagre description. His political history can be summed up in brief. He entered the old Legislative Assembly in 1857, and was a member of it for six years, during which he held for a short time a portfolio in the Cartier-Macdonald Administration. In 1872 he was returned for Algoma, but retired at the dissolution in 1874. In November, 1875, however, on the elevation of Mr. (now Chief Justice) Moss to the Bench, he contested West Toronto successfully, and was re-elected by a very large majority at the general election in September, 1878. He has also held for years the position of Solicitor for the city of Toronto.

The Millers' Exhibition.

We mentioned some three weeks ago that Mr. Charles Spence, brother of Mr. Spence, of the Guelph Mills, had gone to Cincinnati to take charge of a department at the first International Millers' Exhibition, and give instructions in some particular part of the work. We are now proud to learn that the flour produced by the mill under his charge has taken the first prize over all others. We copy the following from the Millstone, a publication specially devoted to milling interests, and published in Indianapolis:—"The premium for best sack of flour manufactured in the building was awarded to Nordyke & Marmon Co., of Indianapolis, and this is how they came to get it: The samples for testing were drawn from the packers in the several mills, and cards attached bearing numbers. The cards were placed in each sack and the sack tied. These sacks went to the committee, who made the tests and awarded the premium without knowing whose make of flour each sack contained. It was the fairest sort of test, and the committee are to be commended for the strictly impartial and honorable way in which they made their examination."

In another paragraph we find the following:—"The miller in charge at Nordyke & Marmon Co.'s mill at the Exhibition, and to whom the highest credit belongs for the successful operation of that model concern, is Mr. Charles Spence, of Guelph, Ontario. When it shall be asked who made the best barrel of flour, at the First International Millers' Exhibition, the envy of millers the land over will give way to the genial Canuck who has thus won imperishable renown."

The above is exceedingly creditable to Mr. Spence, and we are proud to acknowledge him as a resident of Guelph.

THE Democratic nominations are generally approved of by the party, and both Hancock and English are considered strong men. It is said that the nomination of English is regarded as adding a great deal of strength to the ticket, not only because he comes from a doubtful State, but because it is said that he can furnish the means which nobody suspects Hancock of possessing.

IT is said that the Queen is about to create Prince Leopold Duke of Albany. If so, his Royal Highness will bear a title famous in British history, though oftener illustrated by the misfortunes and even the crimes of its possessors than by their virtues.

IT is understood that at the recent meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge, lately held in Toronto, it was fully decided to carry the Montreal Orange case to England if need be. The case is now in the Court of Queen's Bench, appeal side, and it is not expected that it will come up for hearing before the March term.

Loretto Convent.

The closing exercises of Loretto Convent took place on Friday afternoon, under the patronage of His Lordship, the Right Rev. Bishop Crinnon and others of the clergy of the diocese. There was a tolerably large audience, though the event was of a more private character than it has been in former years. Invitations had been issued to the relatives and friends of the pupils who availed themselves of the opportunity to attend a gathering always anticipated with pleasure. The productions in painting and needle-work were arranged in a room adjoining the Seminary Hall. They do great credit to the pupils of an institution which has already won an enviable reputation for its production in fine arts. When the audience assembled in the hall they had an excellent opportunity of judging as to the musical abilities of the pupils. A short but spirited programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered most effectively. There were four pianos and a harp used in some of the instrumental numbers and the music was charming on account of the precise and artistic fingering.

"Ave Maria"—Chorus.
St. Cecilia's Choir.

MY LORD,—Your presence in our midst, on this, to us auspicious day, awakens in our hearts deep sentiments of gratitude and joy, gratitude to your Lordship for so kindly responding to our invitation and devoting those moments of your most precious time to our gratification and that heartfelt joy, which the children of Loretto have ever experienced when your Lordship has graciously condescended to visit their Convent home, especially on a day like this when the labors of the scholastic year are at end and the harvest about to be reaped. The years spent in the peaceful seclusion of Loretto seem to resemble the gentle flow of the rivulet wending its way to the mighty ocean, but sorrow is mingling its bitter draught with our cup of happiness as we contemplate the dangers that may encounter our frail bark ere it has reached the haven of eternal rest, but sweet memories of Loretto, and better still the words of wisdom and piety, which like the gentle dew from Heaven have fallen from the lips of our revered Fathers, upon our youthful hearts, shall, we trust, long remain to shield us from the false but dazzling splendor of the gay and fascinating world. Truly time can never repay our Reverend Fathers for the interest they have ever manifested in our welfare, and only in an endless eternity can they reap the reward promised to the faithful laborers in the vineyards of the Lord. And what words can express how deeply indebted we are to our beloved teachers, the kindly guardians who have watched over us with constant and more than tender care during our sojourn in Loretto. Cold, indeed, and ungrateful would be our hearts if time would ever efface the memory of their self-sacrificing kindness.

In conclusion we would again thank your Lordship for your presence here to-day and request of you sometimes to remember in prayer, though we may be far distant and not ranked among the number of your devoted flock.

The Misses Carter, Kumpf, Kennelly, Ruettell, Harp—Miss Coffee.

The Little Children.

"Balisario"—Instrumental Duo.....Goria.
The Misses Coffee, McElderry, Herod and McCurry.

"La Carita"—Vocal Trio.....Rossini.

"Parting Whispers"—Chorus.....Hawthorne.

The distribution of premiums then took place, Miss Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the "Poet of the Sierras," reading the names of the winners while they advanced to Bishop Crinnon and received their premiums. A number of them were crowned with wreaths of delicately tinted flowers.

After the distribution His Lordship expressed his satisfaction with the result of the examination, and trusted the pupils would spend a pleasant vacation.

The audience then dispersed, the pupils singing the National Anthem.

CHAPTER VI.

DRAGON ACTS LIKE A GENTLEMAN.

"Lack a day! what's the ijiot doing!" she cried, running at me and catching me up. "Eph, you jest come and look here!" she shouted out of the window to the man who was about to unhitch his horses.

He came in, and she held me off, struggling to get free and blushing all over.

"She's like a little squaw," he said, grinning. "How on airth did she come to do that?"

"Vanity and sin," said Mrs. Mason. "You believe me. She was standing on that stool, right before the looking glass there, staring at herself. If ever there was a 'possession' like that elder Swan spoke of at the meeting, she's possessed with the devil of vanity."

"Well, I guess we'll take a little of it out of her," said Mr. Ephraim grimly, "right away."

He went to the stable and fetched a piece of old rein, and then tying me down across the bed—not the first time—he laid on me for some minutes with all his might, spite of my terrible shrieks and the howling of Dragon, who was shut out in the back kitchen, and leaped about in terrible excitement. When he was tired, he said:

"Well, I reckon there ain't much of the devil left in her now."

I was sobbing, though I bit my lips to try to stop from crying.

"He ain't so easy drew out as you s'pose, Mr. Mason," said his wife. "When he gets his claws into poor human nature there ain't no power but one can open 'em up. That's grace. But that she won't get until she's converted—the cussed little piece."

"I don't want it, if it makes me like you," I said through my tears.

"O, you don't, don't you!" cried Mrs. Mason in a fury. "Well, I never!" and she caught up the leather and beat me till she was out of breath. I could not cry out. Overcome by pain and weakness, I lost all consciousness.

How long I remained in this state I cannot tell. When I recovered I was still laying on the bed undressed as they had left me. My back was stiff and sore; it was indeed covered with welts from shoulder to heels. I was chilled by exposure, and could have shut my eyes and expired with a feeling of relief. Suddenly something touched me. I screamed out, and Mrs. Mason came rushing in. What should it be but poor Dragon, who had managed to slip in, and was now licking my back gently and whining. The woman in a rage hit him with a rolling pin she had in her hand. In an instant, standing as he was on his hind legs, and without removing his forepaws from the bed, he turned his head with a terrible savage growl, his eyes flashing fire, and his whole frame trembling with excitement.

"Laws a mercy," she said, jumping back. "Dragon! Dragon!"

He growled more savagely than before, and she went for her husband. Dragon went on licking my back and I felt happy.

"O, Dragon," I said, "why didn't you eat her?"

He stopped at my words as if to think, and wagged his big tail; then he whined and stuck his nose up near my face as if to try to understand what I said. I could just stroke his big flapping ear with my hand.

"Why didn't you eat her?" I said again. He growled.

At that moment Farmer Mason entered the room with a whip in his hand. As a rule, at sight of that whip Dragon always cowered; now he leaped down from the bed and rushed towards the man, showing his teeth and flaming with his small light eyes. Mr. Mason tried a cut at him, but, with a prodigious roar, the mastiff threw himself on the man's shoulders and cast him to the ground; there he stood over him growling, but not touching him. Mrs. Mason screamed and the man halloed too. I could just manage to sit up, and I felt a wicked delight in the farmer's discomfiture. He tried to get up, but the dog growled and caught the arm he stretched out, without, however, breaking the skin. I believe at that moment a single word from me would have settled the man's life. A bright thought, however, struck Mrs. Mason, who was a bright woman.

"Cilly," she screamed from the kitchen, "you call him off!"

"Yes," said the farmer, in an agonised voice. "You jest call him, Cilly—call him, Cilly!"

"No," I replied, feeling my poor little arms all blistered with his strokes.

The farmer, with the dog's two forepaws on his chest, turned livid. The dog, with his head so held that he could keep one eye on the man's movements, turned wistfully towards me as if to ask what he was to do.

"Cilly," cried the woman earnestly, "jest you call him off like a dear little Cilly, and I'll come and dress you. You shan't be whipped again."

"No, Cilly," said the man, "jest say 'Dragon,' and I'll not whip you again. Quick now."

At the mention of his name Dragon had set his tail going like a pendulum and growled a little.

"You won't beat me again?" I said. "Certain?"

"No certain," they both said together.

"Yes."

"Dragon! Dragon!" I held out my hand. With one spring the dog bounded to the bed and put his great mouth in my face and gave me a little touch with his tongue on the cheek, like a kiss. Then he turned and looked at the farmer getting up, but I held him by his great ear.

"Thankee, Cilly," he said, looking rather crestfallen; "you were a pretty bad girl, I guess, but I mought piraps a been too hard on you. Mother, come in and look after the little girl."

When Dragon saw that articles of peace had been signed, he lay down quietly by the bed, as Mrs Mason came and attended on me. She sponged me with warm water, wrapped me in a warm night-gown, and laid me in bed—their own bed. My only sleeping-place was a large box with a straw mattress and some rough clothes, in the loft above their room, where there was no other furniture. It was reached by a wooden ladder in the corner, terribly hot in the summer and cold in winter. Dragon, observing with satisfaction, stretched his great length along, where he could watch my face, put his paws straight out before him, and resting his chin on them, contemplated me benevolently. Having brought me some warm mush and milk, and tucked me in, Mrs. Mason disappeared, and I fell off to sleep.

Dragon was my earliest and best protector—almost the only one I have ever met who behaved to me with pure and unalloyed chivalry, and loved me for my own sake.

HOME EVIDENCE

—OF THE—

PAIN-KILLER.

Hint No. 1.

If you wish to save yourself, your family, and your friends a world of suffering and pain, which at present they endure needlessly, and also save many dollars in Doctor's bills, go at once to the nearest store, and buy a few bottles of PAIN-KILLER.

WHY experiment with unknown mixtures without character or reputation, when this world-renowned PAIN-KILLER which has stood the test of over 40 years, can be had for the same price at any Drug Store in the Dominion?

OTTAWA, ONT., March 2, 1880.

The writer has been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer now for the last 22 years, and can confidently recommend it to the public as a sure remedy for Cholera, Diarrhœa, Sore Throat, Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Burns, Scalds, &c. Have known it to cure a case of Syphilitic Sore Throat of two years' standing, when all the usual remedies failed. The patient took half a teaspoonful in water three times a day, and gargled the throat three times a day as follows: one teaspoonful in a wine glass of water, and used as a gargle.

I have much pleasure in adding to the number of the numerous testimonials you have already received, as to the value of your renowned Pain-Killer. I have sold it and used it in my family for twenty years or more, and have no hesitation in saying that it it is the best patent medicine I have ever used for the purposes for which it is recommended; and, moreover, every person to whom I have ever sold it, has been perfectly satisfied with it, and I know many persons who will not go to bed at night unless they are sure there is a bottle of "Perry Davis" in the house. All who have used it once, will use it again; it makes friends and retains them.

Yours truly, JOHN DUMBERILLE, Druggist

SPENCERVILLE, ONT., February 26, 1880.

We have much pleasure in certifying that we have kept Perry Davis' Pain-Killer constantly in stock for upwards of twenty years, during which time it has taken the lead in sales over all other patent preparations, and has become an old, reliable family medicine. No effort is required now on our part to sell it, as it is as staple an article as flour in our trade. Yours truly,

W. P. IMRIE & CO.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

It gives me much pleasure to state that during a drug career of more than a quarter century, I can testify that your justly celebrated Pain-Killer has not only held its own as a family medicine, but still occupies the front rank wherever duty calls it. My customers speak very highly of it, and I could send no end of testimonials showing up its merits and intrinsic worth, were it necessary, which it is not. It should, however, be called "Excelsior Pain-Killer." I pride myself in never being out of it.

Yours very respectfully, JOHN G. DEANS.

STOCO, ONT., February 17, 1880.

We have great pleasure to state that the Pain-Killer holds its position in this place as the old, reliable family medicine. Although there are a great many other remedies in the market—some bearing nearly the same name—as Pain Relief, Pain Remover, Pain Destroyer, and such like names, we find the people know the difference, and are sure to ask for Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. We have been selling Pain-Killer for the last fourteen years.

PORTLAND, ONT., March 9, 1880.

I have been using the Pain-Killer for many years with results that justly entitles me to recommend it. As a family medicine, we consider it almost indispensable: being good not only as a pain-killer, but for colds and sore throat, and many other ailments for which it appears specially adapted. I have used it myself, chiefly as a liniment, and find it valuable for rheumatism and pains and stiffness belonging to old age. I pronounce the Pain-Killer a good and cheap medicine, and worthy of all acceptation, and send you this certificate that you may assure the public that it is no humbug.

We hereby certify that we have used Perry Davis' Pain-Killer in our families for several years. We consider it a very useful and necessary article to be kept in all households as a resort in case of accidents and exposure to attacks occasioned by cold.

JEREMIAH CURTIN.
J. J. DOWSLEY.
JOSEPH P. REDMOND.
ARCH. GREER.

MAITLAND, ONT., February 25, 1880.

I have used your Pain-Killer for the last twenty years. I carried it with me all through the American War. I believe I would have been dead long ago, if it had not been for your Pain-Killer. I think it is the best remedy in the world for which it is recommended.

Yours very truly, N. W. LAFONTAINE.

PORTLAND, ONT., February 26, 1880.

I have sold the Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for over thirty years, and the same has always given my customers entire satisfaction, and I have much pleasure in recommending it as a good and reliable family medicine.

S. S. SCOVIL.

PRESCOTT, ONT., February 27, 1880.

I have sold your Pain-Killer for the last nineteen years in this place, and feel safe in recommending it to the public for the diseases given in your circular. I can assure you my customers speak well of it as a general family medicine. It takes the lead of all other similar preparations. Yours, &c.

GEO. BIRKS.

I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis' Pain-Killer will be found in both.

Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY.

MADOC, ONT., February 16, 1880.

Your Pain-Killer as a family cure all has been in constant use in my household for a long term of years, and I would never desire a better one. It never fails me. I call it the "Old Reliable."

Yours very truly, HORACE SEYMOUR.

TAMWORTH, ONT., March 4, 1880.

For twenty-three years last past I have sold Perry Davis' Pain-Killer, and have always found it to give good satisfaction. I have frequently used it in my family, and received great benefit from the use of it in that way. Although many imitations of it have been put on the market, and are pushed hard, yet the old, reliable Perry Davis' Pain-Killer holds its own, and is a very popular domestic medicine. Yours respectfully,

JAS. AYLSWORTH.

Ask your Druggist, Grocer or Shopkeeper, for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER. If he passes it down without ceremony, ask him while extracting the quarter dollar from your wallet, if this is the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS & SON, at same time watch the expression on his face. You can easily tell if his conscience is all right; also examine the bottle closely yourself.

Hint No. 3.

When you ask for a bottle of PAIN-KILLER, and the gentlemanly store-keeper, without scarcely looking, remarks, "we "are just out, but have another "article as good or better, "which sells for the same price "viz, 25 cents." Turn on your heel and say, Good-bye, Sir! That man cares more for the two or three cents extra profit which he gets than he does for your health or happiness.

Hint No 4.

Beware of all the worthless mixtures, and dirty, greasy combinations which are offered you in almost every store you enter, and which some unprincipled shop-keepers try to palm off as a substitute for the PAIN-KILLER. These mixtures are gotten up expressly to sell on the reputation of the PAIN-KILLER, but have nothing in common with it.

Hint No. 5.

If you cannot obtain the genuine PAIN-KILLER in your locality, (a fact not very likely), you should address the Proprietors, and by sending them the sum of $3.00, one dozen regular sized bottles, or a half dozen large bottles will be sent, charges prepaid, to the nearest address by railway to any part of the Dominion.

The PAIN-KILLER

USED EXTERNALLY, it cures Boils, Felons, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Chapped Hands, Frost-bitten Feet, &c.

The PAIN-KILLER is put up in 2 oz. and 5 oz. bottles, retailing at 25 and 50 cents respectively,—large bottles are therefore cheapest.

The Raikes Centenary.

As special services will be held to-morrow in many of the churches in connection with the Sunday School centenary anniversary, it will be interesting to our readers to glean the following information respecting the founder of Sunday Schools:

Robert Raikes was born in Gloucester, England, on September 14th, 1735. He was the son of a noble father, and by noble we do not mean titled nobility, but that which comes from character and righteousness. Thirteen years before the birth of his son, whose great work we celebrate, he had established in the city of Gloucester a newspaper, which was characterized by such good sound sense and earnest philanthropic views, as to win the confidence of the people and obtain for it what was in those days an extensive circulation. The mother of Robert too was, there is little doubt from what is known of her, an excellent woman. On the death of his father Raikes succeeded to his business and his editorial duties, which he continued until the year 1802. It is not, however, with these that we have to do, but to trace the beginning of his Sunday school work. His early philanthropic labours appear to have been in the gaols of his native city. The gaols of 150 years ago were horrible places, as any one know who have read the life of John Howard, and the two goals of Gloucester do not appear to have been exceptions to the general rule. Filthiness, want of ventilation, over-crowding and starvation, produced their usual result of a harvest of death, while the immorality that prevailed was fearful. Raikes, through his paper, drew attention to these things, and endeavoured, in some degree, to mitigate the evils, setting himself first of all to supply food to the famishing wretches who were not allowed anything by prison regulations and were not permitted to earn anything. In pursuit of his prison labours he soon found out a truth that has become thoroughly understood in these days, that ignorance is the parent of crime, and that if the latter was to be lessened it was by imparting knowledge, especially the knowledge of Divine truth to the masses. Perhaps we cannot do better than give the inception of the Sunday school idea in Raikes' own words, from a letter in reply to one asking for information on this very subject. He says.:

"The beginning of this scheme was entirely owing to accident. Some business leading me one morning into the lower suburbs of the city where the lowest of people (who are principally employed in the pin manufactory) chiefly reside, I was struck with concern at seeing a group of children, wretchedly ragged, at play in the streets. I asked an inhabitant whether those children belonged to that part of the town, and lamented their misery and idleness. 'Ah, sir,' said the woman to whom I was speaking, 'could you take a view of this part of the town on a Sunday, you would be shocked indeed: for then the street is filled with multitudes of these wretches, who, released on that day from employment, spend their time in noise and riot, playing at "chuck" and cursing and swearing in a manner so horrid as to convey to any serious mind an idea of hell rather than that of any other place. . . . . This conversation suggested to me that it would be at least a harmless attempt, if it were productive of no good, should some little plan be formed to check the deplorable profanation of the Sabbath. I then inquired of the woman if there were any decent, well-disposed women in the neighborhood who kept schools for teaching to read. I presently was directed to four. To these I applied, and made an agreement with them to receive as many children as I should send upon a Sunday, whom they were to instruct in reading and in the Church Catechism. For this I engaged to pay them each a shilling for their day's employment. The women seemed pleased with the proposal. I then waited on the clergyman and imparted to him my plan. He was so much satisfied with the idea that he engaged to lend his assistance by going round to the schools on a Sunday afternoon to examine the progress that was made and to enforce order and decorum among such a set of little heathens."

As connecting the date with its centenary observance, it is interesting to note that the first Sunday school established by Raikes was at the house of a Mr. King, Mrs. King being the teacher; but Mr. King, who appears to have entered heartily into the work and carried it on for many years after her death, had a Bible given to him at the commencement (possibly for use in the school), which bore as the date of its presentation, July 1780.

For three years the movement was confined to Gloucester and its immediate neighbourhood, but after that Raikes began to speak of the work in his paper, and attention thus having been called to it, the idea took, and rapidly spread. It was soon found that the happiest results followed the introduction of Sunday schools. The day had before been prominent for its riots and lawlessness; it was the day of feasting, sports, revels, fights, and no end of disorders; but a change came with the Sunday school right through the country—judges, magistrates, quarter sessions, and ministers of the Gospel united their testimony to this fact, and so the institution became one of the facts of the age, and has exerted a most powerful influence in moulding the thought and life of Protestants the world over.

Reports from the Western States speak in glowing terms of the wheat harvest, which is said to be the largest and finest that the country has yet produced.

An enthusiastic meeting of those favourable to the Brown memorial was held in Hamilton, on Friday. Leading men of both political parties took part in it.

A company is being formed for the manufacture of locomotives, steel rails, &c., at Ironsides, about seven miles from Ottawa, and on the Gatineau. The company will have a paid up capital of $50,000, and will ask for power to increase it to $200,000 if necessary.

The storehouse and its contents belonging to Daniel Wilson, Camlachie, was totally destroyed by fire on Friday. The house contained about 1,000 bushels of wheat and 3,000 pounds of wool. The value of the property destroyed is about $2,800.

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is THE GREAT RELIEVER OF PAIN. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. A teaspoonful of the Panacea in a tumbler of hot water (sweetened, if preferred), taken at bedtime, will BREAK UP A COLD. 25 cts. a bottle. d&wlyr

Much Sickness,

Undoubtedly with children, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

It is altogether likely that Cadet Whittaker, of West Point notoriety, will be compelled to leave the college on account of "deficiency in his studies."

BLOOMFIELD, ONT., March, 2, 1880.

Having been acquainted with Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER, for many years, and having sold it several years past, I do not hesitate to say that I believe it to be a valuable family medicine. Its extensive sale in all parts of the world, is a sufficient proof of its value. Used internally and externally it is a valuable remedy for the various pains that "flesh is heir to."

DEATH OF AN OLD SETTLER.—Through the death of Mr. Thomas Blanchfield, of Eramosa, which occurred on Saturday, the county loses, perhaps, its oldest resident. Mr. Blanchfield had reached the extreme age of 101 years and four days. For some time he had been complaining of illness consequent on old age, and though his death was not unlooked for it is deeply regretted by his relatives, and a large number of acquaintances. Deceased was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1779, and came to Canada over 60 years ago to Dundas, where he acted as farm foreman for the late George Rolph. After 11 year's residence there, and on the breaking out of the Canada rebellion he resigned his position as farm foreman and took a considerable part in the rebellion. Immediately afterwards he removed to Eramosa, where he has since resided. He leaves a widow aged 87 years, six sons and one daughter, besides forty-two grand children and a very large number of great grand-children. The longevity of the family has been remarkable, the parents of deceased, at the time of their death, sixty years ago, having reached the age of 105 years.

THE VARDON CASE.—Some three weeks ago we copied from the Norwich Gazette an extract having reference to the seizure of a child of Dr. Vardon's, of Galt, from her mother by certain parties. We copied the extract believing it to be true and and without wishing to prejudice Dr. Vardon or any other person concerned in the affair. On being informed that the statements made by the Gazette were unreliable we kept them out of our weekly edition, as we had no desire to do injustice to any one concerned, or to hurt their feelings. We now feel glad in doing so, especially after reading the following from the Galt Reporter, which no doubt is thoroughly acquainted with the whole case:—"In the articles published, the most unjust and untruthful statements have been made in regard to the Dr. and his troubles, and we can only express surprise that newspapers should so eagerly seize upon and publish statements which they could not of themselves know to be true, and which reflected in the harshest manner on one of the parties to what has been a most unhappy, and therefore in a great measure, sacred, family difficulty."

LONDON, June 25.

The train conveying the 30th Battalion to London, left Guelph at three o'clock on Thursday afternoon, and was composed of ten passenger coaches and three baggage cars. As the men got into the cars a guard was placed at each door in compliance with Government orders, and the men were not allowed to leave the cars. This order was intended as a precaution against the soldiers obtaining intoxicating liquors while en route. Five stoppages were made between Guelph and London, and the train reached London about 7 o'clock in the evening. The 30th was the last battalion on the ground. The men at once proceeded to pitch the tents, and by 9 o'clock had comfortably settled down in their new quarters. The battalion was acknowledged by all to be the finest on the field. Lieut.-Col. Taylor met us at the halting place near the camp, and was much pleased at the soldierly appearance of the Wellington boys. This morning we have got right down to camp life, and the boys seem to be in good spirits.

The Waterloo Battalion was the first to start "blanketing," and after tossing up several men one of them who got into the banket of his own free will, was severely injured, having fallen about ten feet to the ground.

We had a shower of rain about four o'clock and a second about six o'clock this afternoon. The last shower caused the men to double to their tents. Later on there was a heavy storm, accompanied by sharp peals of thunder and lightning.

We have four bands in camp, so that we are well supplied with music. The band of the 30th Battalion has improved very much since they last turned out for camp.

None of the men of our battalion are in the hospital yet, and from present appearances none are likely to be.

We drill six hours each day—two before breakfast; two before dinner, and two in the afternoon.

SUNDAY IN CAMP.

At an early hour on Sunday the rank and file were busily preparing to attend morning service. From nine o'clock visitors commenced to flock in, and at the hour appointed for the sevice to begin it is safe to say there were at least eight thousand people upon the grounds.

The soldiers at legth began to assemble around the band stand, from which the sermon was to have been preached. A few minutes later the 28th and 29th Battalions marched up, with their bands playing and colors flying. While these preparations were in progress the sky had again become clouded and a dizzling rain commenced to descend, which, by the time all were ready, had changed to a heavy shower, driving the visitors, a large number of whom were ladies, to the tents for shelter. On the band stand were the Brigade Chaplain, Rev. Mr. Ball, of Guelph; Hon. John Carling, Dr. Orton, M. P., Lieut.-Col. Strange, Lieut.-Col. Taylor, Major Peters, Col. Moffat, Lieut.-Col. Smith, Lieut.-Col. Peck, Lieut.-Col. Clarke, M. P. P., Lieut.-Col. Ross, Surgeon Brown, Col. Lewis, and a number of others.

After waiting a few minutes, and seeing no prospect of the rain ceasing, the men received an order to return to their tents, and the battalions broke up and rushed pell-mell for shelter. The rain continued to pour for about a quarter of an hour, hundreds of visitors who thought they were safe under the protection of the huge trees being drenched through. After the heavy storm was over the sun shone out brightly for a few minutes, but the battalions had scarcely reformed before the rain began to fall. Two hymns were sung—one to the air "Old Hundred," and the other "Hold the Fort"—the Band of the 30th leading the singing. Finding that it would be impossible to continue the service, the Benediction was pronounced and the troops dispersed. In the evening a large number attended the city churches.

Primitive Methodist Church.

Good-Bye Service.

A very heavy thunder shower occurring between six and seven o'clock last Sunday evening prevented many from attending the good-bye service of the Rev. Mr. Harris, but, as it was, a respectable number was present, and several came in later. After the opening services the rev. gentleman took his text from Ephesians, 3rd and 15th, "The whole family in heaven and earth." He spoke in appropriate language of the separation of families, and the meeting once again in the old family home. The speaker divided his subject into several parts, referring first to heaven as the family residence, picturing a glowing description of the Christian's future home, and its durability. The membership of the heavenly family was next referred to, then the companionships and the friends to be met bye-and-bye. The exposition of the subject was at times very eloquent as well as affecting to the members of the congregation who much regret his departure. After the sermon the rev. gentleman said he was about to leave for a season, but he hoped to meet them again. Much as he loved all the other Christian churches and felt rejoiced in their success, the church he loved dearest was his own church. He hoped they would go on and prosper. He urged them strongly to gather the little ones safely into the flock, and keep them within the fold. He also advised them to stand by his successor, Rev. J. B. Robinson, who would be with them in a few days, as he was a Christian worker of much earnestness.

Many who remained at the close of the service to say good-bye and have a parting shake of the hand, were met at the porch of the church by the pastor, and it was sometime before all went away.

GUELPH, June 25.

A Commission consisting of the Hon. S. C. Wood and the Hon. T. B. Pardee, met at the Agricultural College here to-day for the purpose of investigating a charge brought against the farm superintendent of the institution, Mr. William Brown, by the late farm foreman, Mr. Peter Mahon, to the effect that he (Mahon) had been dismissed from that position owing to religious prejudices entertained against him by Mr. Brown.

Mr. Mahon called as his first witness James Laidlaw, M.P.P., who having been sworn stated, in reply to questions by Mr. Pardee, that on an occasion some time about the latter part of May or the beginning of June of last year, when he and Mr. Massie, ex-M.P.P., were at the College on some business, a conversation took place about the appointment of Mr. Mahon (which took place on the 31st of June of that year), and in the course of it Mr. Brown stated in substance that no Roman Catholic should be employed in the College if he (Brown) could prevent it; witness and Mr. Massie therefore cautioned Mr. Brown against speaking in that way; this was prior to Mr. Mahon's appointment; he (Mr. Laidlaw) very well recollected his cautioning Mr. Brown against speaking in that way, because it was not prudent for him to do so; he believed that Mr. Massie also said that it was not wise for him (Mr. Brown) to speak in that way; witness had also heard Mr. Brown say the same thing about Roman Catholics in March, and on the evening of the spring examination; and again on another occasion he had heard him remark that he did not want any Roman Catholics put into the institution; he (Mr. Laidlaw) could not give the exact words; but there was no doubt left in his mind as to what Mr. Brown meant; since Mr. Mahon's dismissal Mr. Brown had said that he would not have Roman Catholics at the College if he could help it, or words to that effect; on that occasion witness said to Mr. Brown, "Surely you are foolish in speaking that way; don't you value your position?" and Mr. Brown replied that he did not value it at all—and that if the Government dismissed him to-morrow he could get another position.

To Mr. Mahon—Mr. Brown always spoke of you as discharging your duties to his satisfaction; and he stated to me on the day you waited on Mr. Wood, after being requested to resign, that he was very sorry that any change was made; on the following Saturday I met Mr. Brown in the Walker House, in Toronto, and asked him what was done; he said "Oh, Mahon is dismissed"; and added "It is strange, indeed, that the Government would not listen to us three men," meaning Mr. Mahon, Brown and myself; he said, "The Government has not given me an opportunity of saying one word in his favour."

To Mr. Wood—I considered Mr. Mahon just such a judge of stock as a good average farmer would be; I would not say more.

To Mr. Brown—I do not know whether, when I was farm manager, here I had any Roman Catholics employed under me or not.

James Massie, ex M. P. P., called by Mr. Mahon, sworn, and examined by Mr. Pardee, stated that he had been trying to call to mind the interview to which Mr. Laidlaw had referred when he, Mr. Laidlaw, and Mr. Brown were present, and if any such interview had ever taken place it had entirely passed from his recollection; he had had several interviews with Mr. Brown previous to Mahon's appointment, but had no recollection of himself, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Laidlaw being together on any occasion; Mr. Brown had never said to him that he would not permit a Roman Catholic to be in the College if he could prevent it, but previous to Mr. Mahon's appointment Mr. Brown had remarked to him, "I fear that Mr. Mahon being appointed, being a Roman Catholic, will lead to trouble"; this was in Mr. Brown's own house; he had never heard Mr. Brown say anything stronger than this; Mr. Brown never, to witness' recollection, expressed any objection individually to Mr. Mahon.

To Mr. Mahon—I did not on that occasion say anything to Mr. Brown about his unguardedness in using that language; I never heard him use language with reference to you as a Roman Catholic, or with reference to the Roman Catholic body as a whole except this language on this one occasion which I have mentioned; when we were together I might have said to Mr. Brown that it was necessary for him to be cautious in anything he said, but I have no recollection of it; I have not the slightest recollection of remonstrating with him; it has completely gone from my recollection if that interview ever took place; I have no recollection of ever having told you that I remonstrated with Mr. Brown for speaking so unguardedly.

Peter Mahon, sworn—Not very long after I came here Mr. Brown told me that he and some other persons had got some sharp knocks on account of me; he said, "I am put down in Toronto as one of the greatest bigots in the country; it is said that on account of you being a Catholic I am opposed to you;" he said, "A short time before your appointment Mr. Massie and Mr. Laidlaw waited upon me, and I said if you were appointed there would be a great deal of trouble for a short time to come, on account of you being a Catholic; I thought I was talking to friends, but I find I was talking to enemies; they went and betrayed me to the Government and the Archbishop, and the Archbishop has called on the Government and asked if this was the way his people were to be treated;" when I came here I found that one of the men had said that he would not be bossed by a Papist; this man was Parkes; I was told this; it was not said to myself; Archie Parks and John Barnes have annoyed me; I reported this to Mr. Brown, and he said I would have no ease here until these men were removed; he told me on one occasion to let him alone and he would remove Barnes; Mr. Johnston also told me before he left that unless these men were removed they would remove me; these two men were working amongst the students against me; I did not suspect Mr. Brown of improper intentions towards me at that time; he told me very frequently, indeed, that I was giving satisfaction, and that he had formed a very high opinion of me; on one occasion when I understood that the students had petitioned the Commissioner of Agriculture against me Mr. Brown said to me, "What do you care for that so long as you are preforming your duty; if you take my advice you will give yourself no trouble about it; when the letter came from Mr. Wood asking me to resign on the alleged ground of want of knowledge of live stock, Mr. Brown said to me, "I wish you directly to understand that I do not wish any change; I have told Mr. Wood so; on that occasion he said also, "It is exceedingly unfair to me that I should now be deprived of your services and asked to take a new man after all the arrangements are made, and after you have mastered the details of your duty; really I am sick of the whole affair, if this is the way Government servants are to be treated on the representations of students;" he advised me to go to Toronto to see Mr. Wood and Mr. Fraser, and said, "I hope you will succeed."

To Mr. Brown—It was by men employed on the farm named Hudson and Fitzgerald that I was informed that Parkes had spoken of me as a Papist; you told me to give you your own time and you would remove Barnes; Barnes was working amonst the students against me.

Q.—Who told you so? A.—I observed it several times; I observed it by his manner towards me, and I was also told by Fitzgerald and Hudson that he was doing so; I am not aware that you dismissed any man for my sake; I am acquainted with John Campbell; I am aware that you dismissed him; you told me that you dismissed him on account of his general indifference to the welfare of the institution.

Q.—Didn't I tell you that I dismissed him for your sake? A.—No; I swear positively that you did not use the expression; in Campbell's place you appointed a man I recommended to you; a man named Duncan Gilcrist, a Roman Catholic; Gilcrist was also recommended by two other Roman Catholics; you told me on one occasion that the students had had a petition in contemplation against me, and that you had stopped it; that was about the time that an outrage was committed on my cow. (The event here referred to by the witness appeared from the letter which he sent to the Commissioner to have occurred on Hallo'een, when a number of the students, who were supposed to be polishing their wits at a meeting of the College Literary Society, painted the udder of Mr. Mahon's cow green, inscribed a number of legends on her sides, and while she was thus decorated paraded her into the city as far as the market square.) I never heard that you said anything to the students or any one else against me as a Roman Catholic, except what you said to Mr. Massie and Mr. Laidlaw; but I believe that you had one of the students named Ash in your confidence, and incited him against me.

Mr. Brown then called

James Mills, the President of the College, who said that he had never heard Mr. Brown speak in regard to Roman Catholics. He was present in Mr. Brown's room one evening when the latter was examining the ploughmen and others with reference to what had been said about Mr. Mahon. Mr. Brown told witness that on that occasion he understood that the men were not showing Mr. Mahon the respect they should, and witness went into the room and heard each man examined individually by Mr. Brown in regard to the matter; after the examination witness stated the substance of it to Mr. Mahon; at the time the petition was being prepared in regard to Mr. Mahon Mr. Brown told witness that he was doing his best to suppress it; on another occasion, when Mr. Brown, Mr. Mahon, and witness met in the latter's office, Mr. Brown and the witness agreed that the very strongest measure should be adopted to put down everything like disrespect in word or action toward Mr. Mahon; never heard Mr. Brown speak against Roman Catholics, or against Mr. Mahon as a Roman Catholic.

To Mr. Wood—Mr. Brown never said anything disrespectful of Mr. Mahon to me; remember you dismissing John Campbell for disrespect to Mr. Mahon.

Wm. Edward Ash, sworn—Was one of the students who had to do with the petition asking for Mr. Mahon's dismissal; Mr. Brown advised him not to have anything to do with it; never heard Mr. Brown speak of Mahon as a Roman Catholic.

To Mr. Pardee—Mr. Brown never spoke to witness against Mahon.

To Mr. Mahon—When Mr. Brown told witness to have nothing to do with the petition he dropped it for the time; the students got up the petition because they were not satisfied with the management of the outside work of the students by Mr. Mahon; when they asked questions in regard to the stock they never got any satisfaction.

To. Mr. Mahon—Never had any talk with any one but the students about getting up the petition; Mahon's religion had nothing to do with the getting up of the petition.

Jas. Fitzgerald, sworn—Was employed about the farm; Mr. Brown engaged him; is a Roman Catholic; never heard Mr. Brown speak disrespectfully of Roman Catholics or of Mr. Mahon as such; never heard the other men or the students speak about religion either.

Wm. Brown, sworn—Never said to any one that the Archbishop had told the Government that he was a renegade or anything else; had said that the Archbishop had spoken to the Government about this matter; never had said that Mr. Laidlaw, Mr. Massie, or any one else had betrayed him to the Government, though he had said that a conversation that had taken place between them and himself had been told to the Government; had stated to those gentlemen that he feared the appointment of a Roman Catholic as such would lead to difficulties; never said that no Roman Catholic should ever be here if he could prevent it; had never asked for Mahon's dismissal; had no feeling against Roman Catholics or against Mahon as such; he had found Roman Catholic servant girls more satisfactory than others, and the same of the ploughmen; had spoken in terms of commendation of Mr. Mahon's competency with respect to what he could do, but always looked upon him as being deficient in the respect mentioned in his report; never said that he did not care for the Government; on one occasion Mr. Laidlaw told him he had better be very cautious, and he had replied that perhaps the Government was just as independent of him as he was of the Government.

To Mr. Mahon—You have often told me yourself that you had not a competent knowledge of live stock.

Haunted Me.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commend their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost.—A Workingman.

MONDAY EVN'G. JUNE 28, 1880

Standing Army of Canada.

We are told that General Sir Selby Smyth, late in command of the Volunteers in Canada, is shortly to be awarded a prominent appointment at the headquarters of the Horse Guards. The General since his return to London, has been most energetic in urging his proposed schemes for the establishment of a permanent militarv force in the Dominion, and from all accounts it would appear that this proposition is not thought lightly of by the War Office authorities, provided the Colonial Office will be made to see clearly through the scene. No less an authority than Lord Dufferin countenances the proposition, and it is also stated in official circles that the present Governor-General, the Marquis of Lorne, is in favor thereof to some extent. We hope the authorities will not give heed to General Smyth or any other general or lord. We have not the means to pay for the maintenance of a standing army, and we don't need one. Our Volunteer Force, if properly looked after and encouraged and kept up as it ought to be, is quite sufficient for all our needs. Should the occasion ever come for the organization of a larger or more permanent force, it could easily be raised, for the same loyal and patriotic spirit exists now that impelled our fathers to fight for the country in days of yore. The attempt to engraft a military system on the country will not do at present, and General Smyth may as well give up the attempt.

In fifteen years, out of two millions of people who left the United Kingdom for lands beyond the sea, only a quarter of a million went to Canada, seven out of every eight (1,750,000) going to the United States.

The Journal of Commerce shows that by the Quebec Government receiving the French loan of four millions in francs in Paris and paying it in sovereigns in London, the Province will net 95 3/8, instead of 98, as alleged by Hon. Mr. Chapleau.

What will the "rag baby" men do, now that the Democrats have inserted in their platform a plank in favour of hard money? The fight for rag money is now left to Dennis Kearney, "Brick" Pomeroy, Mr. Wallace, M. P., for Norfolk, and Mr. Wright, the Secretary to the soft money Association of Canada.

By a return of agrarian outrages in Ireland down to January 31, the total was 977, of which Connaught claims 544 and Mayo and Galway alone contribute 400. The other provinces average 140. Of the 977, conviction could only be secured in 69, while in the majority of eight hundred and odd cases the offenders were not even made amenable. The convictions in Connaught were less than five per cent.

The Bradlaugh case is likely to be settled in such a way as will not detract from the strength of the Government. At a meeting of the Cabinet on Saturday a resolution was adopted to support Mr. Labouchere's motion to rescind the vote of the House regarding Bradlaugh, and that it will recommend the House on Tuesday to adopt a general resolution admitting all elected members to affirm who may claim to do so, instead of taking the oath.

Mr. John Beverley Robinson's appointment as Lieut.-Governor has been gazetted. The editors will have little consideration at the hands of John Beverley. He tried to thrash one some time ago on the streets of Toronto, and said he was ready to whale 500 more. We remember well when John Beverley first ran for Toronto in 1857. There was a little comic paper published in the city at that time called "The Poker," which always represented the hero of St. Patrick's Ward as a Donkey. The cartoons were excellent and took amazingly. "The Donkey" stuck to John Beverley for a long time, but we suppose it would be treason now to revive it seeing the powers at Ottawa have made him ruler over us for five years.

Brown's Household Panacea

Is the most effective Pain Destroyer in the world. Will most surely quicken the blood whether taken internally or applied externally, and thereby more certainly RELIEVE PAIN, whether chronic or acute, than any other pain alleviator, and is warranted double the strength of any similar preparation.

It cures pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, and ALL ACHES, and is The Great Reliever of Pain. "BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" should be in every family. Much Sickness, Undoubtedly with children, ttributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS, or Worm Lozenges, although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child. The valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be absolutely sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children. 25 cents a box. d&wlyr.

Mothers! ! Mothers! ! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operatin like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS is on the outside wrapper. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of imitations. d&w1yr.

Ontario Agricultural Commission.

The Agricultural Commission sat again on Friday.

Mr. J. P. Wiser, M. P., was examined in regard to the export trade of horses and cattle. In the course of his evidence he stated that most of our horses exported went to the States. The American demand was principally for good roadsters, and if Canadians would take the trouble to breed better animals, they could just as well receive $200 an animal as $80, the average price at present. In the English market well-bred draught horses and showy carriage and riding horses were in demand, and to secure a good business with England, the breeding for these classes would have to receive more attention. In regard to cattle, he favoured the Durhams, but thought that some attention might be given to the merits of the Angus polled beef cattle, which were well spoken of in England.

Mr. T. B. McPherson related his experience of Canadian cheese factories. He owned eight in Lancaster county, and had an interest in thirteen. The price he obtained was $1.50 per 100 lbs., which covered all expenses except the drawing of the milk. His factories covered eighteen square miles and took in 4,000 cows. He deprecated the practice of adding sour why to hasten the curding, as proper airing was required to get rid of the animal odour. Green hay, cut between the 1st and 10th of July, was good milking food for the cows.

Mr. John Ingles, Chicago, gave evidence in reference to butter. He favoured the creamery system, and found that creamery butter got about eight cents a pound higher than farmers' butter. The reason was that the farmers' wives had no knowledge of the first principles of butter-making, seldom used a thermometer, and salted too much.

Further evidence was taken on these subjects, and the Commission adjourned.

The hundred dollar issue of the United States National Bank notes will have to be recalled, owing to a number of excellent counterfeits in circulation.

Mr. Wm. E. Hall, of East Garafraxa, while assisting at a barn raising on Mr. John Manly's farm last week, met with an accident, which may necessitate the loss of two or three fingers of the right hand.

In the Court of Common Pleas on Friday, judgment was given in the case of Long vs. The Guelph Lumber Co. Verdict to be entered for plaintiff for 8 per cent. per annum on amount of stock.

The attempt to carry the Temperance Act in Sanstead County has met with signal failure. The Witness attributes this to the apathy of the temperance people, the superior strategy of the opponents of the measure, use of money and the French vote.

Heidilberg, County Waterloo, has got a Limburger cheese factory, just erected by Mr. Adam Steiss.

The Stratford Beacon says: On Tuesday morning Messrs. Macdonald, Macpherson & Co., Stratford, received an order from their agents at Winnipeg for agricultural machinery, to the amount of nearly $7,000.

LISA LENA:

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUT-CAST.

CHAPTER VII.

THE ADIEU TO FARMER MASON'S.

For sometime after the happening of the incident related in the last chapter, there was a change in the conduct of the farmer and his wife towards me. Dragon would no doubt for his part in the affair have been sent away or shot, had he not been invaluable to Mrs. Mason, who was often left alone in the solitary house, and was a rather timid woman. The dog never showed them any ill-will, but it was clear to me from the manner in which he was treated that Farmer Mason would not again venture to correct him with a whip. Though I had not forgotten it, I was afraid to remind them of their promise to send me away. I was beginning to grow, and my work grew easier to me. So things went on in their old line.

Meantime, a man came into their service who, though in a very simple manner, had a very material influence on my after-like. He was called Bob Shafto, and was a middle-sized, ugly-looking, but light, strong, and dapper Englishman, who dropped his h's as fearlessly as anyone I ever met. I can remember it was my pleasure in laughing at him for this habit that made us friends, for as a rule I kept clear of the farm hands, being afraid of them. He, however, was a jovial little fellow, fond of singing, and what people call "larky," and certainly, from his antecedents, by no means a desirable tutor or companion for a young girl. He had been a stable groom in a circus. I never knew why he was obliged to seclude himself in the Western States, but I fancy there was some reason for it which he would not have liked to diuvlge. He was the only man we ever had that could manage Jeshurun, and I found him very useful to me, because, while he was there, the wicked brute, which seemed to have a special spite against me, was kept in order. Mrs. Mason, afraid to correct me before old Dragon, had hit upon a diabolical mode of punishing me, which would seem to be almost incredible, especially in a woman of her professed principles. Noticing my terror of Jeshurun, which was extreme, she used to revenge herself on me by locking me into the stables. No sooner would the wicked brute observe that I was there, than his eyes would start from his head, his ears stick up, and he would paw and kick ferociously, while I, in a state of abject terror lest he should get loose and tear me to pieces with his teeth, crouched trembling in a corner. I can remember now the awful trial, the pains and terrors, of the hours I spent in this way, never daring to take my eyes off the maddened horse, and expecting every moment to see him tear away his halter.

From this Shafto saved me, because, when he knew I was being punished in this way, he used to come and whistle to the horse, outside the stable, and he would instantly become quiet.

Although I was forbidden to speak to the men, I would slip out into the corn, and hold many a talk with this man. He was a great rascal, I believe. Later on he ran away with some money belonging to one of the other harvest men, who had hid it in the loft; but he never said anything to me of a bad or corrupting character. He only told me stories of his strange life, of the circuses with which he had travelled, of the beautiful young ladies who used to ride the horses, and perform so many graceful and dangerous feats. Amongst other things, he told me that "the thing" for a young woman in that line of life was to be a trapezist; that, in his view, that was going to be the "star thing to do;" and he even expressed his regret that he was not a "young gal," to go in for the business. These remarks of his, said, I believe, innocently enough, produced a powerful impression on my mind. I dreamt of myself as a fascinating trapezist, with long hair and a beautiful spangled dress, swinging through the air, as he had described to me; and thus, next to a Pilgrim's Progress, this man's stories became my chief thoughts and admiration. He also taught me one or two acrobatic feats—to walk on a rail, to swing on a round stick, and to stand on my head. I was very sorry when he went away.

Such, then, was the education which I had obtained at Farmer Mason's when I was nearly nine years of age. A crisis now occurred in my life.

As I grew older I became more hardy and defiant. My strength of body increased, and I cared not a lot for a beating. I loved movement, but I also loved to be lazy. Anything that was not settled work pleased me. I doubt not, from the point of view of Mrs. Mason, with her strict ideas and the notion that Providence had given me to her to use as a little slave, I was an unsatisfactory character. She could hardly have thought me an angel. I robbed the miserable little patch of garden, broke off the favourite flowers, stole pieces of stuff to clothe my wooden dolls which the men had made me, and which I used to hide in the haystacks and nurse in secret with trembling ecstasy. There was no outlet afforded to my childish nature. I was expected to forego all the little follies and amusements of childhood, and to be ever on the strain of quietness and rigidity. Conceive of a poor, little, passionate nature, fostered as mine has been by my mother, placed in such conditions.

One Sunday Farmer Mason hitched up and drove over with his wife to meeting. It was always a curious thing to me, young as I was, to see these people going to such a place with such a devil as Jeshurun between the shafts. It was a sultry day, and, as I thought happily for me, they were to stay over for tea and some religious service afterwards. The two farm men had leave to go to Cashuta village, from which they would return home pretty drunk at a late hour. So Dragon and I had a charming afternoon all to ourselves. I remember it as if it were yesterday. There seemed to me a peculiar lightness and joy about it. I had plenty of bread and milk. We—I and the dog—took it out to the hay stack and ate it together. My two or three dolls were brought from their hiding to take an airing on Dragon's back. Now and then he took them up and gave them an affectionate grip between his teeth. Then I grew tired, and went roving about for something to do. Naturally it was mischief, according to Dr. Watt's epigram. It struck me I could make myself some coffee. All went well until I reached up to a shelf in the cupboard where the tea things were. I could just touch them; a large jug toppled over, carrying one or two pieces with it. They fell to the floor and were smashed to atoms. Dragon and I looked at the remains aghast. He smelt at them, and then looked at me, and shook his head as if to say—

But I was too hardened by this time to remain in very bad spirits. After sweeping up the pieces, I got a cup and took my coffee, and then went out to watch for the people's return. The sun had already set when they came back. I was afraid to go in. I saw Farmer Mason take the horse into the stable. Dragon was with me, and seemed in a very strange humour. The lights were lit. I could see Mrs. Mason's figure moving smartly about in the big kitchen. I knew she would not be long in finding out what had happened; she was as sharp as a weasel.

INNES & DAVIDSON.

TORONTO, June 25.—The Agricultural Commission sat again yesterday.

Mr. Charles Drury, from near Barrie, gave evidence in reference to farming and the system of mixed husbandry, drainage, grass-growing, manures, the rotation of crops and kindred subjects. Witnesses agreed as to the desirability of farmers paying more attention to the drainage of their farms.

Mr. Joseph Dixon, from near Goderich, gave evidence on the same subjects. He agreed with the previous witness in reference to the importance of drainage, and stated that much land at present cold and swampy could be made excellent and productive land if properly drained. Both witnesses concurred in favoring the Durhams as the best breed of cattle for this country.

Mr. Joseph Gibson, of Elderton, county of Middlesex, submitted his report of his visit to Great Britain, which was read by Mr. Dymond.

It stated that having been only a month in England, and his own business requiring most of his time, he was unable to make exhaustive enquiries on behalf of the commission. The wheat in England was looking well but was very backward. The crops generally were not sufficiently advanced to hazard a conjecture as to what they would yield. A full crop of roots might be expected, as owing to the dryness of the spring the soil was put in thorough preparation before sowing. Grass fed beef would be late owing to the backwardness of the pastures. The report continued as follows:

I had a conversation with several butchers and dealers and they all took the same view of the Canadian cattle trade, viz., that the best time to ship is from February to August; that the grass fed stock should for a few weeks previous to shipping be fed some grain and so gradually prepared for the change to the dry food used on the voyage. That the stall fed cattle arrive in good condition without loss of flesh, but that the grass fed lose considerably. Unanimously they all speak out loud, "Why don't your people use better bulls? We know that you can grow as good cattle as can be found anywhere, for we have seen some sell in public this spring for £45 each; but not one in ten of the ordinary stock you send has paid for his keep. Send them good quality and breeding, and then if any accident happens so that they are bruised too badly to slaughter for market, they will sell for all they are worth, to be grazed a few weeks; but no English grazer would ever think of buying such rough, coarse specimens as are most that you send, and if your farmers had to pay rent for, instead of owning their farms, they would soon be compelled to breed better stock. Again, a good trade could be done in steers, if we could get them of right quality. Two year old steers, such as we describe, would be worth more in public market than the rough old cows and steers you have sent." I made some inquiries as to the benefit Canada derives from the live stock trade, and the general opinion was that it was worth fully one cent per pound over the American cattle, but that owing to the large competition for space, and the limited shipping accommodation from Montreal, or rather the monopoly of the carrying trade by one or two wealthy companies, our farmers lose that benefit, as the shipper has to pay about that amount extra per head over what the American shippers were paying from New York. Sheep, the same complaint as to quality. "Why do your farmers send us nothing but rams and old ewes? Wethers are worth from five to eight cents more per pound.

"Why?" "Because they contain so much more flesh that is lean meat of a much superior quality. To obtain the highest price, your sheep breeders should use a Down cross on your ram lambs for wethers." Which variety of the Downs would you recommend?" "Scuthdowns or Hampshires, because they contain the most flesh. Your sheep have large enough frame, but carry too much useless fat or tallow. The larger Downs, such as Oxfords or Shropshires would not give you the lean meat as readily or satisfactorily as the smaller and purer varieties of Downs.

Along with Mr. Dyke, the Dominion agent, Liverpool, I called upon some of the largest American produce importers. We were kindly received, and every opportunity afforded us of examining and testing the different brands of cheese and butter.

The best makes of butter are from the United States. A splendid consignment had just arrived from Illinois. We examined several kegs and found them uniform in quality, taste and color, in fact, as the merchant observed:—"One is a sample of the lot; I can send the whole of that consignment out to my customers with perfect confidence, without opening a keg; they are always alike." Upon asking to see some Canadian, several kegs were opened, but not one was uniform, except, I am sorry to say, uniformly bad; soft, bad flavored and of different colors. Upon asking the question, "What is our remedy?" the reply was, "the only remedy is to establish creameries; formerly butter from this very district," pointing to the lot from Illinois, was no better than yours, now it is the finest brand imported into Liverpool, better than any we get from Ireland. Again, you must use fine English salt; your American and Canadian salt will not do, if you wish a slice of this trade. Another thing I wish to call your attention to is the kegs. Look at these all nicely plained inside, as well as out, so that when a keg is inverted on the marble slab, generally used here, the butter comes out nicely and in one piece. Yours are rough inside, and the butter is broken. All these things add to the market value; you must please the eye. Now look at that consignment, forwarded by one of your Montreal steamers, and this by a New York line. That looks as if it had been stowed in the ship's coal bunkers, this as if the S. S. Co. were alive to their interests. We scarcely ever get a dirty keg by one line, and as seldom a clean one by the other. The difference in appearance even in the kegs makes a difference in cents a pound. Again, when you people have got a really good article, whether in cheese, butter or apples, etc., they should put on a nice, attractive stencil plate, and be not afraid to let the world know where such articles are produced. A little mean label with Ontario in one corner is of no use; people here do not know what it means. But I have something here to show you. Here are two of the best samples in the warehouse, and they will either drive Canadians out of the market, or force them to manufacture a better article. These samples are oleomargarine. Nothing but the finest creamery brands can compete with it. It is butter in smell, taste and appearance, and none but experts can tell the difference. Another thing which deteriorates butter is being kept too long before putting on the market. As to cheese, you send us as good as we can get."

Upon this information, I have come to these conclusions:—(1) That to open up a butter trade you must establish creameries. (2) Take more pains in finishing the butter tubs. (3) Market the article as soon as made. (4) Use fine salt, and effect improvements in transit, both by steamboat and rail.

The report was ordered to be incorporated with other evidence taken before the Committee.

Mr. C. A. Matheson, Perth, Lanark, gave evidence in reference to general farming, and also butter-making at creameries.

The Committee adjourned.

"Look here" she said, she wing him the fragments of broken ware. "This is what this piece has been doing while we were away. What is to be done with her?"

"I reckon we'll let her sleep in the stable with Jeshurun," said the man, with a malignant smile. "Here, Sissy, you come along with me."

He seized my arm and dragged me along. I screamed out. What had taken Dragon I did not know, but he did not appear, and I was taken to the stable, shoved in at the door, and heard the bolt outside driven in.

There were openings high up to let in the air, but with all my activity I could not have reached them. Jeshurun seemed to smell me; he instantly began to lash out, to shake his halter, bite with his teeth, and snarl and shriek. My fear was mortal. I groped my way to the corner, and lay there quivering with terror. I felt sure that now I was going to be punished for all my sins. Suddenly something cold touched my hand; I shrieked with agony; the next moment Dragon's tongue licked my cheek. I threw my arms round his neck, and sobbed for joy. He sat up and bore my fondling with good nature.

Now I felt perfectly safe and happy, though Jeshurun seemed to be unwontedly frenzied. He must have known the dog was there. He kept moving from side to side and tugging fearfully at his halter. This had lasted two hours, and, getting tired of the noise, I was beginning to fall asleep with my head on Dragon's side, when he gave a great howl and a spring. I fell into the straw, happily for me, for the next moment there was a fearful noise. Jeshurun had got loose, and quivering down in my corner I could only make out from the fearful racket that the dog and horse were fighting. The one lashed out; the other, after one or two growls, ceased to do more than pant, and it seemed he had hold of the horse by the throat, and the latter vainly tried to rear and shake off the prodigious brute. The row was tremendous. Presently the door opened, Jeshurun rushed out, carrying the dog with him, and knocking the farmer, who had come out from his bed to see what was the matter, over senseless in his passage.

I got up and ran to the door. There was a sort of twilight, by which I could distinguish the horse rearing and the dog holding on. I stumbled over Farmer Mason, but picked myself up and ran. I had resolved to stay no longer in this frightful place. The fight was coming to an end. The horse sank down; the dog, terribly wounded by the brute's forefeet, was unable to move. I said—

"Good-bye, Dragon," quietly, and at a safe distance; and started off down the road in the opposite direction from the railway depot. It was the last I ever saw of Farmer Mason and his wife.

BRUIN VISITS SALEM.—The Elora Express says: Early one morning as Mr. A. G. Moir was driving past Wissler's swamp, near Salem, he was astonished to see a large bear crossing the field in the direction of the swamp. He aroused the sleeping inhabitants of Salem, and a large party started on a chase. But it proved to be more of a wild goose chase, and bruin made good his escape.

SALE OF SHORT HORN CATTLE.—An important sale of Short Horn cattle took place on Wednesday of last week, 23rd inst., at Messrs. J. & R. Hunter's, Pilkington, near Alma, County of Wellington. The attendance was large, and cattle sold well. The buyers were mostly Canadians, only two fine cows going to Ohio, U. S., at $220 each. Altogether there were 26 head of cattle sold, cows, bulls, heifers and calves, and the average was $118 a head. A 2 months' old calf sold for $115; a 6 year old cow for $300; a yearling bull for $205; a 2 year old filly colt sold for $200; an 8 year old mare for $165, after the sale of cattle. Messrs. J. & R. Hunter are considered among the best breeders in Canada.

The ceremony of unveiling the handsome memorial tablet erected in honor of the hero of Chateauguay by the Champlain Committee at the old manor house of the De Salaberry family, now the property of the heirs, came off with great eclat on Sunday afternoon.

Large numbers of cattle have been delivered in Galt the past few days for shipment to England. Two shippers were interested—Mr. John Scott and Mr. John Brown.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

DEAR SIR,—Having just learned that the case against Spiers for cutting down the trees on the market place, was dismissed on the ground that I had given him instructions to cut them, I write a line to say that I most emphatically deny having given him such authority. As there is not time to give the particulars for this evening's issue, I will take another opportunity for so doing.

Yours truly,
F. J. CHADWICK.

Cutting Shade Trees.

George Spiers Charged with Cutting Three Trees on the Market Square.

The case against George Spiers, a corporation employee, of cutting three shade trees on the Market Square, on Friday night, which was mentioned in Saturday's issue, was heard to-day (Tuesday) before the Police Magistrate. Spiers was summoned by the Mayor in order that it might be learned under whose instructions he was acting when he cut the trees.

George Spiers, the defendant was called, and said he was a corporation employee and was working on Northumberland street last week. On Thursday Mr. Chadwick was talking to Mr. Harris at the foot of the street, and he called defendant down to speak to him. He asked defendant if he was going to cut the trees on the Market Square, opposite the street, and said to cut them, and he might use the timber for firewood. He told defendant to remove three poplar trees and to leave the maple standing. Defendant cut them the following evening in pursuance to Mr. Chadwick's instructions.

John Harris was briefly examined. His statement was similar to that of Spiers.

The case was then dismissed.

REV. Mr. Coutts, late minister of the Baptist Church, left yesterday afternoon for Georgetown, having accepted the call to the Baptist Church there.

PROPOSED MUSICAL CONVENTION.—Pursuant to notice a meeting was held last evening in St. George's Hall, to consider the desirableness and practicability of holding a Musical Convention in this city. Such gatherings are frequent in the cities of the United States, and the interest excited by them is very great, drawing an attendance from neighbouring towns and villages as well as local. They consist of consecutive sessions for the study and practice of vocal music, led by a competent instructor, extending over some days, and ending with a full concert, both vocal and instrumental. Such an assembly was recently held in Woodstock, under Mr. Butterfield, of Chicago, who is known as an accomplished musical professor and instructor, also as the author of "Belshazzar" and other compositions. Several of our leading musical people attended this Convention, and their enjoyment of it as an entertainment, their impressions of the brilliant talents of the conductor, of the practical advantages to be derived by learners, and of the tendency of the whole to raise the standard of proficiency in our church choirs, has incited to an effort to procure the holding of a similar gathering in our city. In the preliminary meeting held last evening, most of the church choirs were represented by the presence of members, and after hearing statements from Mr. Benton, the choir leader of St. George's Church, and others who were at Woodstock, resolutions were unanimously adopted, affirming a desire for the holding of a Musical Convention in this city, under the leadership of Professor Butterfield, at an early date, and of appointing a committee consisting of members of the various congregations, with power to add to their number, for the purpose of obtaining promises to take tickets in the event of the Convention being undertaken, and so ascertaining whether the expenses of the gathering can be met, and its usefulness secured by a large attendance. The meeting adjourned, to meet a fortnight hence, when the committee will report.

THE Artillery Brigade Band practice will be postponed until to-morrow evening, owing to the concert given in the Church of Our Lady this evening.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—Do not forget the Strawberry Festival to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of Chalmers' Church, in the Drill Shed, this evening. A good time may be expected.

AT the regular meeting of Reliance Lodge No. 89, I. O. O. F., held last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Bro. J. Read, N. G.
" H. H. Maddock, G. P. W. P., P. S.

" J. H. Thackery, P. G.

CHURCH OPENED AT BRUCE MINES.—The first Presbyterian Church in the neighborhood of Bruce Mines, District of Algoma, was opened for Divine service on Sunday, 20th inst. Wm. McTavish, Presbyterian Missionary, preached the opening sermon from Psalms XXVII, 4. The Church is situated in Plummer township midway between Ottertail and Rock Lakes, and commands a good view of the former.

IF you treat your cucumber rightly, it will do the same by you. Shave it into thin slices and sprinkle it liberally with salt. After standing an hour or two, turn it over in the dish, and let it remain in the ice box over night. Squeeze it out in a napkin before dinner the next day, and it will then be ready for saladic treatment, and can be partaken of in large quantities with no ill results whatever.

LECTURE ON THE GREAT PYRAMID OF CHEOPS.—Mr. C. F. Fraser, Superintendent of the Institution for the Blind, Halifax, Nova Scotia, purposes visiting Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, and several other cities of the Upper Provinces during the ensuing summer. It is his intention to deliver his famous lecture on the above subject, in these cities, and in any other place in which satisfactory arrangements can be made.

LAWN SOCIAL.—The lawn social held at the residence of Rev. Mr. Pickard last night, in aid of the sinking fund of the Baptist Church, was quite a success, there being a very good attendance. The grounds were illuminated with lanterns, which had a very pleasing effect. A portion of the Artillery band furnished suitable music outside, while in the parlor a programme of vocal and instrumental music was carried out. Those present fully entered into the enjoyment of the affair, and spent a very pleasant evening.

THE CALEDONIAN GAMES.—There was a large attendance of members at the regular weekly meeting of the Caledonian Society on Monday evening, when reports were received from different committees stating that arrrangements were completed for the Society's annual games on Dominion day. To-morrow evening a special meeting will be held to receive final reports with reference to the celebration. At that meeting members who have not their tickets for this year may obtain them. In referring to the celebration before, the fact that there is to be a concert in the evening in connection with the celebration has been merely mentioned. It may be stated now that the concert is under the management of Mr. H. K. Maitland, and that he has spared no effort to render it one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held in Guelph. Besides a large number of the best local musicians, the programme comprises the names of Miss Maggie Barr, favourably known here as an excellent Scottish vocalist. The following from the Inverness Advertiser, Scotland, is a sufficient recommendation as to the ability of Findlay Macgregor, who takes part in the concert:—"Mr. Macgregor as a Scotch humorist, is certainly one of the best.—It gives real pleasure to listen to a truly natural rendering of such a song as "Hame cam' oor gudeman." In the "Dutchman's Leetle Dog" his get-up was highly ludicrous. He rather astonished the audience by his novel and ingenious imitation of the harp, with only the aid of a walking stick and his own voice, while with an empty box he was equally successful in rendering the "dulcet tones" of the street organ! "Alister M'Allister" introducing bagpipes and dance, was also appreciated." Miss Macgregor's name also appears on the programme. Besides the music there will be dancing in Highland costume and other features which will prove very attractive.

CRICKET.—The Guelph Cricket Club will play an Association match with the Brantford Club in that city on Dominion Day. The day following the Guelph Club will play a friendly game of cricket at Paris with an eleven of that place.

DUFFERIN COUNTY BUILDINGS.—The County Buildings for Dufferin are being pushed forward with great vigor and energy under the contractors, Messrs. Dobbie & Grierson. Over one hundred men are now employed on the works, and the prospect is, that ere the close of the year they will be ready for occupation.

"DICK SMITH."—The Berlin Telegraph says:—Mr. W. H. Smith, late of Galt and formerly of Guelph, has recently taken up his residence in Berlin. "Dick" Smith, as he is popularly termed, is a first-class musician, and as a cornet player has few if any superiors. As a member of our excellent Batt. Band, he will, no doubt, prove the right man in the right place.

Long vs. Guelph Lumber Co.—Action by a shareholder to recover amount paid by him on preference stock. The Court of Common Pleas gave judgment for defendants, that the Company had power to issue stock, and that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover amount of such stock. A verdict was entered for plaintiff for eight per cent. interest, as to which there was no dispute.

NORFOLK ST. METHODIST CHURCH.—A social and church meeting was held in Norfolk-street Methodist Church last evening. The attendance was good, and a pleasant time spent by those present. After the social part was over, Rev. Mr. Williams called on the Secretary to read a financial statement of church affairs, after which the chairman appealed for new subscriptions payable next month. The response was hearty and liberal, the sum of $3000 and over being realized. This amount will relieve the church very materially.

FOREPAUGH'S SHOW.—The advertising car of Forepaugh's show arrived by the Grand Trunk Railway at 1.40 o'clock this morning and was the subject of considerable observation to-day. The exterior resembles a Pulman car somewhat, but that it is adorned with paintings of animals, &c. The car is fitted up with all the modern appliances for railroad travel. There is a printing office on a small scale on board, there being two cases of type and a "model" printing press. The passengers were H. M. Coil, director; A. Ogden, director of bill posting; Walter Southgate director printing department; Mr. Gardner, general superintendent. The car was built at Dayton, Ohio, as a sample car for advertising purposes. It leaves by the Western Railway at six o'clock this evening for Watkerton, the work of posting the bills having been completed.

RUNAWAY.—This morning two lads named Bell and Malcomson, aged about 16 years, of Toronto, were arrested here in consequence of a telegram received from their parents requiring their detention. On Saturday afternoon the boys ran away from home and were followed to Acton, by Mr. Malcomson, father of one of the boys. At Acton they jumped on a train going west, but after it had started out from the station they jumped off—to avoid the possibility of being captured on the strength of a telegram at Rockwood—and walked to Guelph. They went to the Grand Trunk passenger station here on the arrival of the midnight train on Monday night, but were afraid to get on board the train in presence of two of the policemen. As already stated, they were arrested this forenoon, and will be sent back to Toronto.

AN INTERESTING CASE.—A case of interest to hotel keepers and the travelling public was decided at the last sitting of the Division Court, Brantford. The action was brought by J. P. Curran, of Stratford, against J. C. Palmer of the Kirby House, Brantford, to recover the value of a valise and its contents, estimated at $60, which the plaintiff claimed was stolen or lost from the hotel. The plaintiff paid his bill after breakfast and left the hotel without saying anything about his valise. He called at ten in the evening to get the valise, and found it missing. The judge ruled in favor of the defendant, saying that the landlord's liability ceased when the guest left, and that it then became the duty of the latter to remove his baggage or to place it in the innkeeper's charge. His failure to do either act constituted negligence sufficient to prevent his recovering, unless he had been able to show gross negligence on the landlord's part, of which no evidence was adduced.

YOUTHFUL DEPREDATIONS.—On Saturday night, Thomas Fraser's shop, corner of Waterloo Avenue and Roland street, was badly damaged by a number of lads who congregate in that neighbourhood every evening. They smashed several of the windows and tore some of the boards off the side of the building. They afterwards entered the building and stole a pattern. Some property belonging to Richard Crowe was destroyed on Sunday evening by the same boys. Residents of the South Ward would like to see the police down that way occasionally.

Steamboat Burned.

Heroic Conduct of the Pilot.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The steamboat Seawanhaka, which ran from Peckslip up Long Island Sound to Glen Cove, L. I., took fire at 4.30 this afternoon while off Randall's Island, East River. The fire was caused by an explosion in the engine-room, and the middle of the steamboat was soon in flames. Pilot Charles Smith remained at his post until nearly burned to death, and succeeded in beaching the vessel on a sunken meadow adjoining the island. Many persons sprang overboard and were drowned. Many others in the stern of the vessel could not get off, and were burned to death. Of the five hundred persons supposed to have been on board, fifty are believed to have perished. The bodies of about thirty have been recovered. The vessel was burned to the water's edge, and will be a total loss.

One of the passengers said there were 350 passengers on board. All went well until the steamer had passed Hell Gate, when the fire alarm rang out, and the flames were discovered bursting through the pilot house. The officers and crew assured the passengers that there was no danger, and the boat was headed for Randall's Island. She grounded on a bar two hundred feet rom shore. The steamer Granite State, of the Hartford Line, which was passing, went to the assistance of the Seawanhaka and picked up thirteen living passengers and one dead body, which she took to Whitestone. The steamer Osseo picked up a majoirty of the passengers, and proceeded to College Point. Those of the passengers unprovided with life-preservers were saved by clinging to the guards, paddles, and other portions of the steamer. Four bodies are thus far known to have been discovered—two men and two women. Among the former is that of Abe Skidmore, member of the old Long Island family. This informant expresses the belief that the loss of life is about thirty.

Board of Education.

The Board of Education met on Monday evening: present—Messrs. Murton, (Chairman) Burgess, Innes, Inglis, Knowles, Newton, Wilkie, McKenzie, Hart, Skinner and Dr. Keating.

PUBLIC SCHOOL GRANT.

Mr. Torrance, Public School Inspector, stated that he had received a list of Public School apportionments from the Education Department. The apportionment for the Guelph schools was $1,184, being $60 more han last year.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. Howard, stating that he had paid to the City Treasurer $285, being the amount he was overpaid on the Central School contract.

This was in accordance with a report of the Special Committee in the Howard matter, passed at a previous meeting.

With reference to the first communication

Mr. Innes moved, seconded by Mr. Burgess, that the boy Worsfold be given a last chance to do better, but that if he is guilty of the same offence again he be expelled.

Mr. Wilkie moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Inglis, that the suspension of the boy Worsfold by the Principal be confirmed, and remain in force till he may be re admitted by the Inspector and Chairman of the Board.

The resolution was carried.

SITES AND BUILDINGS.

Mr. Inglis, chairman of the Sites and Buildings Committee reported, recommending as follows: That the portion of the sidewalk at the Central School be properly graded and sodded, and also that a wooden box be carried across the ground and connected with main drain so as to carry off the water and prevent wash on the slope, at a cost of about $60. Adopted.

FINANCE.

Mr. Newton, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported as follows: Your Committee met this evening and agreed to report recommending the payment of the following accounts, which they find correct: W. S. G. Knowles, $26.95; Herald office, $7.40; George Murton, $6.60; John McPherson, $5.25; L. H. Rainer, $150; R. F. Maddock, $18; Jas. Sheppard, 50c. Adopted.

The Board adjourned at 8:15 p.m.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR AT PORT LAMBTON.—A horrible affray took place at Port Lambton a few days ago, the victim being a negro named Anderson. The man was in the habit of wandering about from place to place in that neighborhood and owned a piece of land in Chatham Township. On Tuesday of last week he was in Lambton and became intoxicated. At night he wandered to the house of one Miller, in suburbs of the village, and there created a disturbance. He was finally driven off with a moderate beating, but he returned again, when Miller and a number of companions in the house became enraged, and taking Anderson again in hand, they pummelled him most unmercifully, driving him from the village towards Baby's Point, and beating him as they went. Having vented their brutal rage they left him on the bank of the river, where he was found next morning by a young man passing that way, and who helped him to the office of the village doctor, Dr. Jackson. The doctor after examining the wounds said the unfortunate man would not recover and he dragged himself to a secluded spot where he died. The injuries were three ribs broken, the breast bone shattered terribly, a gash upon the face extending from the lip to the forehead, a large indentation on another part of the forehead, the back of the head badly cut, and other small marks of kicks and blows.

Cutting Down Corporation Trees.

A case was before the Police Court today, which though not in itself of very great importance as far as the value of the property is concerned, yet involves a principle which if ignored or disregarded, might lead to more serious consequences. A petition was presented at the last meeting of the Council, asking that some abele trees be cut down on West Market Square on account of the nuisance they created yearly in the shedding of their bloom. A resolution was brought up recommending that they be cut down, but was withdrawn when the Chairman of the Market House Committee stated that he had dealt with the case in his report. In that report the recommendation was made that the trees in question be trimmed so as to obviate any annoyance in future. The report was adopted, and the matter was considered as settled.

But on Friday night one of the men doing work for the Corporation cut the objectionable trees down, and when summoned to the Court to show cause why he did so, he stated that he acted on the instructions of the Chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee. The man who did the work was not, of course to blame, but we certainly think that the Road and Bridge Chairman exceeded his duty by a long way, for he had nothing to do with the matter at all, and in giving his orders he acted contrary to the report of the Market House Committee, which he well knew was adopted by the Council at the previous meeting.

Such being the evidence we are astonished at the decision of the Magistrate. The property belonged to the city. It was under the special charge of the Market House Committee, and the recommendation of that Committee presented to the Council through its Chairman, and adopted by the Council, should have been respected. If every member of the Council, or every officer of the Corporation is warranted, as the decision of the Police Magistrate would imply, to do what he likes with Corporation property, or to order it to be destroyed, what security have we for its preservation?

Since the above was written we have received a letter from Mr. Chadwick, denying that he gave authority to cut down the trees, which puts an entirely new face on the matter. We refer our readers to his letter in another column.

The Decision in the Insurance Cases.

Last week we gave the judgment of the Supreme Court in the Insurance cases, in which the validity of the Provincial Act was called in question. The foreign companies took the ground that the Provincial Legislature had no jurisdiction over them. The decision was that foreign companies must, if they desire to carry on business in this Province, be subject to the laws passed by the local Parliament. It was also held that the Statute applied wherever there was a contract of insurance, whether effected by a policy or an interim receipt; and that the Ontario Insurance Act was valid, not being an interference with trade and commerce, but dealing with property and civil rights, which come expressly within the jurisdiction of the local authorities.

The Monetary Times commenting on the decision says :—

The Insurance Companies will either have to bow to this decision or bring the question before the Privy Council. It is understood that some of the companies interested are desirous of pursuing the latter course. The point involved is of sufficient importance to warrant the expense of having a decision from the highest tribunal. Still, the current of Canadian judicial decision has been so strongly in favor of holding the Act valid, that there is no great prospect of a reversal by the Privy Council. Perhaps, therefore, it would be better for the foreign companies to accept the situation and adopt the conditions, which, it cannot be denied, have been carefully framed with the object of protecting the interests of insurers and insured alike. Certainly it would be a great advantage to all concerned to have uniformity in the conditions in use among fire insurance companies—which it will be impossible to secure unless the power to make laws applicable to all companies is vested in some one authority.

Two of the cases referred to are based on the claims of one Parsons, of Orangeville, which have been pending before the Courts for several years, much to the detriment of the creditors of the insured. Their interest in the result is augmented by the fact that since the abolition of the Insolvent Act, Parsons has permitted a friend to obtain judgment and sell out his stock-in-trade, leaving his other creditors to rely upon outstanding assets the most valuable of which is understood to be these insurances.

On Saturday Anne McGowan, who, it is alleged, was seduced by Bennett, Hon. George Brown's murderer, arrived in Toronto and visited the jail to see the prisoner, but did not succeed, as she had not a Sheriff's order. The girl appears to be more concerned about Bennett's fate than the wife, who is her sister, and is trying to start a petition for a reprieve. Bennett continues to act in an unconcerned manner, and freely laughs and jokes with his guards, who watch him day and night.

LONDON, June 26th,

The rain continued till after dark last evening, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning, and many of the men shook with fear while the "lightning flashed and the thunder crashed." This morning, however, the sun shone brightly, and we expect fine weather.

Everything is now in order and the men are "at home" in their new quarters. To the initiated there are some charms in camp life.

All the Battalions are friendly with each other. Let their colors be black or red, all join in making the brigade camp at London one to be remembered for its pleasantness.

The camp grounds are simply beautiful, dotted here and there with tall pines making a cool and pleasant camping ground. We are about a mile and a half from the city, and inside the corporation lines.

We have a barber for our Battalion in the person of T. C. Young, of Elora, who drives a rushing business in shaving the boys.

[illegible]oy of Guelph receive every morning copies of the MERCURY and Herald, and they know well how to appreciate the generosity on the part of the proprietors of these newspapers.

There is a post office to each Battalion, and the mails are received twice a day. Sergeant Ritchie, of Elora, has charge of the 30th, and is kind and obliging.

"Blanketing" is still continued to a great extent among the "Red coats." This is not allowed in the 30th Battalion.

The men are all satisfied with the rations—in fact the oldest members of the Battalion cannot remember a time when they were better satisfied with the way their wants are attended to. Every man has all he can eat of good wholesome food. This department is under the charge of Quarter master Swinford, but under the direct supervision of Quarter master's Sergeant Mann, assisted by private McKeague, of the Guelph company. The Sergeant is always ready and willing to do a good turn to any of the men. The whole Battalion is served with rations for the day before seven in the morning.

The Guelph company went on guard on Thursday morning and were relieved on Friday morning at nine o'clock They had a bad time of it, as it rained a great deal. They were highly complimented by Col. Taylor for their strict attention to duty.

The company paraded for medical inspection this afternoon, and all were passed by the medical officer, Dr. Orton.

The Rev. Mr. Ball, Battalion Chaplain, is in camp here, and held service this morning. He read the 8th chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews, after which the 100th Psalm was sung, he then led in an effective prayer. Nearly all the battalion (except those on duty) attended the service.

This morning Col. Clarke's horse got its hind foot entangled in the ropes of his tent, and kicked at a furious rate for a short time. Major Armstrong cut the rope and the frightened animal became quiet. The only damage done was a rip in the tent.

By permission of Col. Taylor, D. A. G., Col. Moffat, Brigade-Major, and the officers of the several Battalions, the Bands encamped will give a concert Monday evening. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged which will go towards the Bands.

The men continue in good health and have a great liking for camp life.

In the paragraph copied from the Free Press in the MERCURY of Friday there is a slight error. The Guelph company is No. 2 in the Gazette but in Battalion No. 1, being the senior company. Douglas is No. 9.

LONDON, June 28.

Owing to the rain yesterday there was no church parade on the ground, although the Brigade formed twice. The London Battalion, the Cavalry and the cadets from the Huron College turned out. The 7th Battalion Band accompanied them. The Catholics, however, marched to the city and attended service at St. Peter's Church.

The rain continued with very little intermission all afternoon, and we are having more this morning. The morning drill had to be cut short on this account, and there was no forenoon drill. At noon the sun came out and a stiff breeze from the south soon dried up the grounds. A shower in the afternoon caused the dismissal of the Brigade.

Yesterday there was some excitement here owing to the disorderly conduct of some of the men.

A man belonging to the Waterloo Battalion, was fighting with one of his comrades, and was arrested and placed in the guard house. When there he grabbed a rifle and faced the whole guard, who charged bayonets on him, and he had to be tied down, his feet in a bag. He was perfectly wild and could not be controlled by the guard. A policeman from the city was sent for, and he was taken to the London jail, where he will be tried by the civil power.

Two civilians used insulting language towards one of the 30th sentries and were placed in the guard house. After about two hours confinment they were let go with a reprimand.

Quite a number of civilians visited the camp yesterday afternoon and evening.

Dick Smith is here with the Berlin Band and keeps the boys alive with his musical oddities.

There are a number of fiddlers on the ground, and in the evening the old time "dance on the green," is indulged in by the boys, who never fail to give it in all its quaintness.

The Guelph Company signed the pay roll to-day, Paymaster Harvey having arrived Saturday evening, accompanied by Mr. Cutten.

There are only two in the 30th hospital from the northern companies, and their complaints are not serious.

GRAVEL ROAD CONTRACTS.—Alexander Morrison has secured the contract for grevelling the Elora and Saugeen road between Tevoitdale and Harriston, at 39½ cents per cubic yard. On the section between Harriston and Clifford John Arthurs has secured the contract at 28½ cents per cubic foot. John Frank has been awarded the contract for gravelling the Guelph and Fergus road. Messrs. Stewart, Green and Henderson, Commissioners for the Reading and Orangeville county road, awarded the gravelling contracts as follows: 1st division, to John Tisdale, at 35 cents per yard; 2nd to Joseph Carney, at 34 cents per yard; and 3rd, to Matthew Fearns, at 40 cents per yard. The tenders of John Frank at 33 cents for section one and William Hanna at 34 cents for section two being together the lowest were accepted for gravelling the Fergus and Douglas road. The Fergus and Arthur road was divided into three sections, viz: Fergus, Cummock and Arthur. John Sheridan's tender at 49 cents being the lowest was accepted. He made a start but afterwards threw up the contract. The Commissioners have now let the gravelling of the three sections to John Frank, of Fergus, at 59 cents.

WITHDRAWING FROM THE COUNTY.—The town of Palmerston has under consideration the propriety of withdrawing from the county of Wellington and being annexed to the county of Perth. The council of the latter county have offered Palmerston liberal inducements to come to them. At a meeting of the Palmerston town council last week the report of the deputation appointed to confer with the Perth County Council with reference to attaching that town to Perth, was received, and it was decided that action thereon be taken with the purpose of withdrawing from Wellington and entering the County of Perth. Palmerston's indebtedness to Perth is $1,450. It is proposed that Perth relieve her of this indebtedness, and assume the proportion of the town's indebtedness due to the County of Wellington. The county rate of Palmerston last year was $815; according to the rate of assessment of the county of Perth it would not be over $300.

We are prepared to satisfy the most economical or skeptical person in the city that our 10 and 12 cent materials are quite equal—we might honestly say better—than many 15 cent goods advertised in the trade of this city. An inspection will prove our assertion to be correct.

We also show handsome Fringes to match all our materials at 12½ cents per yard.

Every lady should see at once the cheap lines we are now offering. Persons buying Dress Goods of any kind after reading this advertisement without first seeing our stock, will show a great want of good judgment.

Our stock throughout is the most complete in the whole trade, and is calculated to meet the wants of every purchaser, even when all other establishments have failed to do so.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OUT-CAST.

CHAPTER VIII.

A NEW HOME.

I went on into the night. The stars shone brightly overhead in the great sky. The earth was silent; and around me I saw the ground indistinctly and vaguely merge nito the gloom. I took my way along the road, as I have said, in the opposite direction from the railway depot by which I had arrived. The night was so calm and warm that I did not feel the need of my little sun-bonnet, which was in the house. I had on nothing but a few calico clothes, a pair of common cotton stockings and my boots. My hair was flung down over my shoulders.

In this state I tramped on quickly in the gentle darkness. There was nothing to disturb or alarm me—no hedge behind which an animal could lurk, no trees to conceal a man had there been one wishing to lie perdu in such a locality. All was silent, except the twit-twit here and there of the earth crickets. There was a little play of the aurora in the sky, and before long I could see well enough to pick my footsteps.

When I had wandered on for a considerable distance, listening carefully to know whether anyone was following, I breathed a sigh of relief, and I can now remember the sense of freedom that filled my breast, and the steady resolve I made that I would never again return alive to the tutorship of Mrs. Mason. Of course, it was not then known to me that in knocking over the farmer, the horse had struck him in the head with his fore-hoof, and that it was a grave question whether Mr. Mason would ever again return to active life. He did, as I afterwards learned, but it was so long after my escape that neither Mrs. Mason nor her husband ever made any effort to recover me.

One thing weighed heavily upon my heart. It was the loss of Dragon. Over this I wept bitterly as I dragged my little dust-covered feet along. I was strong, and must have walked many miles before I stopped, and feeling tired I looked about, as the early dawn came on, for some place in which to get a rest. Across the flat country, some distance off, I could discern a building, but I felt unable to reach it, so I went aside from the road into a field of green oats that extended for a long distance, and finding a place where they grew thick, lay down and took a long sleep.

When I woke the sun was already high in the heavens; his burning rays were beating on my unprotected head. I felt hot feverish and thirsty. I broke off and chewed some of the early green ears of the oats, which moistened my mouth, and then set off for the house I had seen in the distance. There a woman who was washing some things under a shed was surprsied to see me, as I staggered in and asked for a drink of milk.

"Why, Sissy," she said kindly, "who are you? Where are you going to?"

"Going to look for my mother."

"What's your name?"

"Elisabeth Bellamy."

"I guess she's in Alabama."

The woman was, I think, an Irishwoman, who happily knew very little of her neighbours, and had no communications with the Masons.

"Well," she exclaimed, "that's a long way for a child of your age to travel, with a bonnet too. Have you got no money?"

"No, ma'am."

She looked at me very curiously.

"Why," she said kindly, "you look as if you had walked a long way. Where did you come from?"

I mentioned a village some miles to the other side of Farmer Mason's.

"Well, now, the best thing for you to do is to wash yourself, and I'll make you some bread and milk. There's a towel and a bowl and some soap, and you can go to the pump, and come back as soon as you are ready."

It was indeed a pleasure to feel myself free, to be spoken to kindly, and my ablutions that morning were refreshing. When I came in the woman's children were all there, a number of them, looking poor and ill-dressed and some of them unhealthy. They examined me curiously and asked me various questions, but I was a self-contained little piece and answered very cautiously. But getting more familiar with them, we went round the fields, and there, in the pride of my heart, I showed them some of the tricks that Shafto had taught me. They were delighted, and on our return insisted on my reproducing them for the mother's benefit. She was a good deal amused. She said—

"You're a sharp'un. There's a dime for you. And, look here, Sissy, you hadn't ought to walk in the hot sun without something on your head."

She went and got a sun-bonnet, made of coloured calico, belonging to her eldest girl, and put it over my head, leaving the strings loose as the day was hot.

"There," she said, "that is all I can do for you, Sis. Take care of yourself, and God bless you, whoever you are and wherever you are going."

All the children came out to the road to see me off, and they waved their hands and said "Goodbye;" and when I turned from them to plod on, much refreshed and full of resolution, I had a shocking sensation in the throat and a tear was in my eye. No such kindness had ever before reached me from strangers. When I got on a little way, I turned to take a last look, and saw the poor woman standing in the door of her house, shading her eyes with her hand and looking after me. I never forgot that figure. The sunlight and the distance and the clear air made it very distinct, and it seemed to me as if she were like good Prudense, looking after the little Pilgrim and wishing her God-speed.

St. Catharines had a visit from Ryan, the prize fighter, on Friday. He fought with Goss recently and for this offence against the law, the officers of justice in the States are after him. To avoid arrest he took the train from Buffalo to Toronto.

The receipts of the United States Inland Revenue Department for the year are $123,000,000, or an increase of $10,000,000 on the previous year.

The Bearbrook Murder.

On Saturday it was reported in Ottawa that a murder had occurred at Buckingham, a man named Wm. Heney shooting a constable named Morrison, who was endeavoring to arrest him. Further particulars have now been received and it appears that the affair took place at Bearbrook, in Russell county, some twenty-two miles from the city. The facts of the case are as follows:—About 1:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, Morrison, who is the owner of a stallion, was engaged at Mr. Gilbert Nelson's, a farmer, residing two miles from his own place, when Wm. Heney and his brother-in-law, a man named Harris came up to the gate and told Morrison, who was in the barnyard, that they wanted him. Morrison replied that he would come as soon as he got through what he was at, and Heney and Harris waited. When Morrison went down to the gate Heney swore at him and dared him to arrest him now. Morrison replied, 'Heney, I have no warrant to take you, and I want nothing at all to do with you.' Harris made a race at Morrison for the purpose of beating him, but was caught and thrown down by a pile of logs near the gate. When Harris got him he attempted to seize hold of Morrison by the legs for the purpose of throwing him down. Morrison clinched him, and while they were in this position Heney drew a revolver and shot Morrison in the left side, the ball lodging in the spine of the back. After the shooting Morrison walked from the gate to Nelson's house, two acres distant. He lay down on the sofa, but his wounds were so painful that he was carried out into the yard and laid down under a tree. A doctor was sent for and on his arrival declared that the wound was fatal. Mr. Nelson wanted to send to Ottawa for a doctor, but was told that it was no use, as nothing could save Morrison's life. This proved to be the case; he lingered on in great pain for some twenty-four hours, when death put an end to his sufferings. An inquest was held, and a verdict of 'wilful murder' rendered against Heney.

Haunted Me.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commend their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost.—A Workingman.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"James Epps & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md

Carrioles will carry passengers from the Y.M.C.A. rooms to the grounds, between twelve and three o'clock, free of charge. For particulars see advertisement.

LACROSSE.

CRICKET.

The cricket club goes to Brantford to play an association match with the twelve of that city. The following are the Guelph players:—Butler, Fitzgerald, Lockwood, Knowles, Henry, Husband, Mickle, Stewart, Smyth, G. A. Saunders, Todd, Connolly. The Guelph team play a friendly game with Paris, at that town, the following day.

FESTIVAL.

The Ladies of Knox Church will hold their annual strawberry festival in the Drill Shed. This is an event which is always successful, and no doubt will prove so on this occasion. The Artillery Band will be in attendance.

BOATING.

Boat owners will doubtlessly be well patronized. There is no better way of spending a holiday, than by taking a row up the river. Those who go to Puslinch Lake may enjoy a sail on the steamer, and will find Davidson's Island Park a very pleasant spot.

Morning Telegrams.

The London Lancet is demanding with a pertinacity which promises success, that shop-keepers must provide seats for women clerks. It has shown conclusively that continued standing is very detrimental to the health of women.

In the Irish and American rifle match at Dollymount on Tuesday the American team won by twelve points. The total scores at 800, 900, and 1,000 yards ranges were—Americans, 1,292, and Irish 1,280.

It is expected that the decrees against the Jesuits in France will be enforced at once. All the religious houses will be closed, and the police will be obliged to effect a forcible entrance. Trouble is apprehended.

In the House of Commons Sir S. Northcote announced on Tuesday that he would move the rejection of Mr. Gladstone's resolution providing that all elected members may affirm who may claim to do so.

A Cabul despatch says that the Ghilzais are harassing our communications. They attacked a convoy, and killed six and wounded two of the escort.

From 15,000 to 20,000 persons were present at Bradlaugh's meeting in Trafalgar Square on Tuesday.

The Supplementary Conference has unanimously approved the draft document embodying its definitive decision on the Turco-Greek boundary, on the ensuring of freedom of worship in the territory ceded to Greece, on the claims of Mussulman land owners who may prepare for emigration to Greek rule, and on the amount of the Turkish debt to be transferred to Greece.

Letters from India show that Bradlaugh and the London secularist societies have been importing into India pseudo-philosophical and quasi-scientific pamphlets, apparently written to promote scepticism, giving rise to the idea among the natives that England is giving up her views as to the Christian religion. The recent notoriety gained by Bradlaugh has given him a fictitious importance. Should last week's vote in the Commons be reversed such encouragement would be given to the idea that Bradlaugh is right and England abandoning Christianity as to inflict a serious blow to the cause of the missions in India.

Change of Deputy Adjutant-Generals in the First Division.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. B. Taylor, Deputy Adjutant-General of No. 1 Military District, and Lieutenant-Colonel Moffat, Brigade-Major of the same, received orders from headquarters at Ottawa on Monday night to prepare at an early day to be transferred from this district over which they have so long presided, to another which will be named in a subsequent order. The notice was altogether unexpected, and as a matter of course took the gentlemen named entirely by surprise. The order does not give any reason for the transference other than that the Minister of Militia has deemed it for the best interests of the active force to change the staff officers in several military districts. The rumor is that Col. Durie, of No. 2 Military District, will replace Col. Taylor, and Col. Villiers take Col. Moffat's place; that Colonel Straubenzee, of No. 3 Military district (Kingston), will be removed to Toronto, and Col. Worsley, his Brigade Major, replace Col. Villiers there; and that Colonels Taylor and Moffat will be placed in command of No. 3, or Kingston District.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The strawberry festival given by the Ladies Aid Society of Chalmers' Church in aid of the building fund of the church, last evening, was very largely attended. The tables were laden with an abundance of strawberries and refreshments which met with a ready sale. The ladies were very attentive to the wants of their customers, which perhaps accounts for the oft repeated applications of those present. A string band under the leadership of Professor Maitland played a number of selections in good style. The affair passed off pleasantly and successfully as well.

TEMPERANCE.—The Gospel Temperance Club met on Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. There was a good attendance. The work of the Club in its affairs was fully talked over, its encouragements and discouragements, and plans for further operations considered. As there has been rather small gatherings on the Sabbath afternoons for some past, the question whether the meetings should be discontinued for a month or two during the heat of the summer was discussed. All the members were unwilling to relax their efforts while good was being done. It was resolved to make an extra effort to make the meetings more attractive, so as to secure a larger attendance on Sunday evenings. A deputation was appointed to wait on the ministers of the city at their next association gathering, to ask their co-operation and assistance, and some of the young men present volunteered to speak at the Sunday evening meetings. We hope to see continued success to this movement.

SINKING OF THE BOHEMIAN.—The steamer Bohemian while passing through the Lachine Canal in Montreal on Tuesday, battered down one of the gates, and was so injured by the collision that she almost immediately sank. Two or three barges were swamped by the flood, but no lives were lost. The damages exceed $50,000. The cause of the accident is not explained.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best (and some of the worst) physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as HOP BITTERS, that we had pooched at for two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as HOP BITTERS.—The Parents.

Presentation to Mr. Thomas Y. Greet.

We have already announced that Mr. Thomas Y. Greet, for the past five years manager of the Federal Bank in this city, was about to be removed to Kingston. As soon as this was known, a movement was made to present him with some token of the appreciation in which he is held by the business men of the city. This resulted in a meeting to-day in the Wellington hotel, of about fifty of our merchants, manufacturers and others. Alderman Gowdy was called to the chair, and Alderman McLagan was appointed Secretary.

The chairman after stating the object of the meeting, called on the Secretary, who read the following

To Thomas Y. Greet, Manager of the Federal Bank of Canada, Guelph :

Before you leave Guelph we desire to express to you the very great regret with which we have heard of your appointment to the branch of the Federal Bank at Kingston, and of the consequent termination of your residence among us.

Brought up from your youth in this city it was a source of pleasure to us that you were intrusted with the management of the branch of the Bank on its opening here, and we are all pleased to know that your efforts on behalf of the institution which you represent have been great and that success has rewarded them.

Those of us who had business relations with you can well testify to the courtesy and attention which you have shown us, while your genial disposition will long cause you to be kindly remembered amongst those who have been your more intimate friends.

We desire to present you with this purse which we hope you will accept as a testamonial of the esteem in which we hold you and of our good wishes for the happiness and prosperity of yourself and Mrs. Greet in the future.

At the same time Mr. A. P. Kerr, of the firm of Kerr & McKellar, bankers, presented Mr. Greet with a purse of $600 in gold.

Mr. Greet made a feeling and appropriate reply, in which he referred in very modest language to his connection with the Federal Bank, and the services he had been enabled to render it in Guelph. As a native of Guelph, and a resident in it for so many years, he could not but feel regret at leaving it. He returned his hearty thanks to all present, and to all the subscribers for their princely gift, and he accepted it as an evidence that while he had done his duty faithfully to the Bank, he had as far as he could furthered the interests of the business men of the city, and dealt with them in that courteous manner which it was the duty of every one to do who occupied the same position as he had done for the last five years.

The address was beautifully engrossed on parchment, and enveloped in white satin. It was signed by about 80 of the subscribers, comprising all classes of the business community.

After Mr. Greet's reply, short speeches were made by Messers. F. J. Chadwick, Jas. Massie, D. Guthrie, M. P., Wm. Wilkie, David McCrae, A. Lemon, Jas. Innes, Major Macdonald, J. C. McLagan and the chairman, all of whom bore testimony to Mr. Greet's ability as manager of the Federal Bank, to his uniform courtesy, and desire to further every legitimate interest while zealously watching over and protecting the interests of the Bank. While sincerely regretting his removal from Guelph, they wished him all success in Kingston, where he goes to take charge of the branch of the Federal Bank there, and they also extended a hearty welcome to the new manager of the Bank in Guelph, Mr. Mair, who comes from Kingston, and who has just entered on his duties.

The purse, which was of pure silk with broad gold rings and tips, was manufactured by Mr. B. Savage, jeweller, of this city. It is worth $25, and is really a handsome purse, reflecting credit on the maker.

RETURNED FROM MANITOBA.—Col. Higinbotham returned from Manitoba on Tuesday, after a stay of almost three weeks in that Province. A short time ago an extract from a letter of Col. Higinbothan's to a member of his family here, referring to the injurious effect the Government's land regulations was having upon Manitoba, was spoken of. Since his return he states that business and settlement in the country have been very materially affected by these regulations. A very large immigration this season was anticipated and business men of every class invested largely in making provision for the arrival of settlers; but although there was a large emigration to the west from Ontario and Quebec during April and May, a great variety of those who left did not settle in Manitoba. As a consequence those who invested heavily with the expectation of increased immigration to that Province have been unable to dispose of their supplies and some of them are losers to no small extent. Col. Higinbotham is of opinion that the agitation for different land regulations will compel the Government to adopt a better system in that respect. With reference to the crops, they are looking well, but the low lands are covered with water to a great extent. The Red and Assiniboine rivers are larger than they have been for many years. The railway has been laid from Winnipeg to the Penitentiary, but that portion of it is not yet completed.

SAD DEATH OF AN OLD MAN. — About two weeks ago an old man about 70 years of age, named John Gray, of Euphrasia township, left home feeling unwell. Failing to return at the time expected parties went out in search of him, but did not find him. The search was kept up for several days, but without avail. Last Monday, a neighbor while putting up some fences, found the body about seventy rods from the house. He had been a sufferer for years from asthma and other complaints, and it is supposed that when he got that far, on growing worse, he sat down to rest, and finally fell over and died. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition when found.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, JUNE 30, 1880

THE vote in the House of Lords on the bill to legalize marriage with a deceased's wife's sister, was defeated by 101 to 90. The Prince of Wales, who has long been a steady supporter of the measure, voted with the minority, as did also his brothers, the Dukes of Edinburgh and Connaught.

HON. MR. CHAPLEAU, in his speech before the St. Jean Baptiste Convention in Quebec, alluded to Les Canadiens Francais as the missionaries appointed by divine authority to evangelize the United States, and did not believe that they should be induced to return. But in spite of that his Government believe in repatriation, and spend money for it too.

IT has leaked out that at the St. Jean Baptiste Convention at Quebec an address to the Pope was moved by the President, Mr. Chauveau, and unanimously agreed to, affirming that the French Canadians of North America were loyally devoted to him, that they had already sent Pontifical Zouaves to defend his temporal power, and that they were ready to-day to send bayonets and troops to him sufficient to reinstate him, and write in blood their detestation of the Italian tyrants who deposed His Holiness. This may prove a nice little question for English diplomatists to settle with Italy should the latter deem it worthy of notice.

THE Journal of Commerce effectually disposes of the stock Tory argument against the late Government in the following terse terms:—There can be no greater delusion than to imagine that the Government of the country is responsible for the depression, or that it is possible to afford relief by legislation. The only remedy is the observance of strict economy by the people, and the curtailment of the credit system which has so fearfully aggravated the distress. It is well likewise to bear in mind that, so long as we are borrowers from Great Britain, the amount of our loans will come in the form of goods, no matter what duties we may impose to keep them out.

ORATORIO OF ST. PETER.—The second rendering of the Oratorio of St. Peter took place in the Catholic Church on Tuesday evening, and was fairly attended, considering the very large audience that was present on the first presentation last week. The Oratorio was considerably curtailed, but the best parts were given. The practice on the first night gave the singers more confidence, and in consequence the several parts were better done than at the first representation. The Rev. Father Fleck, the conductor, deserves the greatest credit for the great labor he has been at in getting up the Oratorio. He is a singer of no mean ability himself, and the spirit and enthusiasm he manifests shows what he might be able to accomplish if he would take up some of the great Oratorios. In the instrumental parts he has most efficient help, and for the vocal parts he has material enough to work on, and which could be made effective with steady drilling.

Captain Farrell of the steamboat Corinthian, brother of the late Bishop Farrell, of Hamilton, died suddenly at Kingston on Monday. He was one of the oldest lake captains in Canada.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills.

The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, prove plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to do. The virtue of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For diseases of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of the diseases, and of many others. If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy and a box of the Pills.. No injurious effects will follow their use to the most delicate person, as they are purely vegetable, there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use will doubly repay you for their expense and trouble.

Toronto Correspondence.

TORONTO, June 23, 1880.

Now that Mr. John Beverley Robinson has been appointed Lieut.-Governor, there is considerable speculation who will be the candidate for West Toronto. Of those spoken of the most prominent are Mayor Beaty, W. B. Canavan, Conservative, and W. B. McMurrich, Liberal. Mr. Beaty is a fine fellow personally, who has deservedly gained considerable popularity, but as a politician it is simply unkind to him to mention his name as a fit and proper person to represent this great city in Parliament. To be sure he is as good, and indeed very much better than those we now have, but there are signs that the citizens want more than voting machines to represent them in Parliament. W. B. Canavan is also blessed with a measure of popularity, but on one or two occasions before he played fast and loose with the Liberals in retiring from the field at the last moment, in favour of the Conservative candidate. He has always been a Conservative, but on two occasions he posed as an Independent and came out against the duly chosen candidate of the Tories. By doing so the Liberals promised him support, and he rewarded that by retiring from the field in favour of the Tory candidate—thus leaving the Reformers only a few days to bring a man out. His little game is played out—if he comes out he will only get the Conservative support. As for the Liberal candidate it must be said he has all the elements of success. He is popular, clever, experienced and young, and when added to these qualities is indomiable perseverance, one has good hopes for his success if he can be induced to come out. The great difficulty with the Liberal candidates in the past is that they have too much "starch in their collar;" a little less of that and a little more appreciation of the tactics requisite to successfully carry on a political contest would have turned many a defeat into a victory. Mr. McMurrich is well qualified to represent the Liberals in the almost certain contest that is to take place in the western division of this city, and we hope he will be induced to come out in their interests.

At length the council of the wealthy County of York have commenced to consider in earnest the advisability of erecting a new Court House. It is necessary to say this plausible disposition was not brought about by "inherent conviction" but by the fact that two or three indictments are now pending against the County for maintaining a nuisance in the shape of the Court House. Not even the gravity of the situation they are thus placed in has had the effect of "convincing" them, for at the tail end of the session at which they resolved to build the Court House they gave the grand juries, which have repeatedly complained of the building and which brought in true bills against the County, a savage dig. They passed a resolution reciting the fact that the grand juries have so far had the public welfare at heart as to complain of the court house, but called their attention to the fact that there are many intolerable nuisances in the north-eastern portion of the city, and which have entirely escaped attention at their hands. The sting of this resolution is in its truth, for there are many nuisances in that neighbourhood, particularly a glue factory, the smell from which is really sufficient to take one's breath away. The most likely site to be selected is a block of land situated on the corner of King and Simcoe streets, opposite Upper Canada College and St. Andrew's Church. If this site be obtained and the court house there erected the four "ations" will be broken up. At present on one corner is St. Andrew's Church, on another Government House, on another Upper Canada College, and on the fourth a tavern. These corners are respectively named. Salvation, Legislation, Education and "Damnation"—damnation will in all liklichood be removed.

Fifty years ago this month the first Presbyterian church was erected in this city, and the Presbyterians intend celebrating the occasion by having a jubilee consisting of special services to be held next Sunday at which Drs. Macrae and Grant will officiate, and a praise meeting on Monday evening.

The principal topic of conversation on our streets is the trial and conviction of the murderer of Hon. George Brown. General satisfaction is expressed with the verdict, and so Bennett will go to the scaffold amid the execrations of the populace. The correspondence and communications found on him, and which have been published, show him to be a man of considerable power intellectually. It is a thousand pities that such gifts had not been turned to a better account.

The George Brown memorial fund is progressing favorably, notwithstanding the dull times. Such a stir has already been made that this movement is almost sure to be a success. There is plenty of wealth in this city, and if there is a deficiency to be made, that shall be made up rather than the whole movement should fail. Great expectations are however held of a generous response from the country, and it will be a great pity if disappointment and not success is the result.

I may say one of the most prominent institutions in the city during the summer months is the multitude of excursion steamers. Of all the trips and steamers the most favored is the trip to Niagara on the steamers Chicora and City of Toronto, being the fastest, most commodious and steady sailing vessels that can be found in our inland marine. Our citizens largely use these steamers to get away from the dust and heat of the city, but residents of provincial towns and rural districts also patronize them extensively owing to their sailing three times a day, 7 a.m., 2 p.m., and 3.30 p.m., and returning at 8 p.m., an opportunity is given visitors from the country of spending several hours in the city sight-seeing, and then a trip across the lake and back in time to return home the same day, or by taking the 7 a. m. boat to Niagara and the Canada Southern Railway from Niagara to the Falls, a visit of several hours' duration can be had to the Falls and a trip on the railway through a most beautiful tract of country. As a trip to the country is beneficial to the inhabitants of a crowded city, so is a visit to a city beneficial to the inhabitants of the country and provincial towns, and especially is a trip on the lake enjoyable to those who live far from the great water stretches. To those who contemplate taking a short trip no other one can offer equal attractions with the one above mentioned, and excursion parties cannot do better than give it their favorable consideration.

Canadian Cattle in England.

The Wellington Cattle Highly Praised.

We copy the following from the London correspondence of the Globe. It will be seen that it speaks very highly of the shipments made from Guelph by Messrs. Craig & Co., of which firm Mr. Wm. Hearn, who has just returned from England, is a member:—

The trade with the St. Lawrence is now in full swing, and the first consignments of live stock from the Dominion are of the most gratifying character. The cattle are really first-class, but not a whit better than they need be if Canada is to hold her own in our markets. I have already referred to the contemplated efforts to bring Australia into the competition, and I now observe paragraphs floating about intimating not only an extension of the live cattle trade from Denmark and Schleswig-Holstein, but the opening out of a dead meat trade with Austria. The Directors of the London Food Stores, 316 Oxford-street, London, who are the prime movers in this venture, recently entertained a company at luncheon, the food mainly consisting of dishes prepared from the German or Austrian fresh meat, imported by means of refrigerators. I notice also a paragraph stating that sheep may be brought over from the Continent in any quantity. I am rather inclined to doubt the existence of any large supply, for I have gained the impression somehow that stocks are thin. At any rate, I am informed on unquestionable authority that the trade in sheep from the Continent at present shows the barest margin of profit, so bare in fact that the average cannot exceed 25 cents per head. Again, the quality of the cross-bred merino and other Continental breeds, which are kept more for their wool than their mutton, is not well suited to our markets, and much will have to be done ere they can hope to rival, or materially affect, the best Canadian mutton. Neither do I think your farmers need be much alarmed by the Continental cattle trade. The limited area of Denmark and other States where superior breeds are kept; the fact that they are bred rather for milking than their flesh producing qualities; and also the very considerable home market that exists, are all good reasons why their competition should not be formidable.

As long as Canada sends us animals such as a shipment from the neighbourhood of Guelph, imported by Messrs. Craig & Company, which arrived recently, she has nothing to fear from any competitor. It is not too much to say that they created a sensation, and fetched the best price in the market. No better cattle, I believe, except, of course, pedigree and prize beasts, have ever reached this country from the American continent.

I notice with pleasure that a valuable selection of polled Aberdeen cattle has just been forwarded to the Dominion. You will, no doubt, already have received the details concerning these animals. It has been often pointed out that for beef-producing qualities no cross is so desirable for Canada as that of the polled Aberdeen, because no breed makes such an immediate and powerful impress. Hence its value when the turning to good and quick account of the inferior native breeds is so much desired, as it now is, in the Dominion, and especially in the Province of Quebec. In conversation with the late Mr. McCombie, the well-known Aberdeenshire breeder, he informed me that of horned cows placed to his polled Aberdeen bulls, more than 90 per cent. threw polled calves, and I may add, as a singular corroboration of this statement, that at the last Smithfield Show the first prize beast was got by a roan Shorthorn bull from a polled Aberdeen cow, and this beast was in every characteristic polled, and black at that. It may be argued that the polled Aberdeens are not good milkers, but I am informed that this is by no means general; and that there are families of Aberdeens which, as milkers, will compare favourably with any ordinary breed. What is mainly required therefore is care and judgment in selection.

An insane woman has been wandering through Nassagaweya for the past few weeks, subsisting on the charity of the people there. She is quite harmless, but somewhat of a nuisance, and the people of the township are anxious that something should be done.

Baptists in Council.

(From the Stratford Beacon.)

This association met in the Baptist church, Stratford, on Friday 18th inst., at 10 a. m. The attendance was somewhat small, Stratford being at the extreme western limit of the associational bounds. At 11 a. m. Rev. J. Coutts, of Guelph, preached the opening sermon from Romans xii: 1. At the close Rev. J. W. Thorn, pastor of the church, was elected moderator, and Rev. Mr. Denchfield clerk. Letters from the various churches of the association were then read and the number of members added by baptism reported as follows:—Acton, 1; Brampton, 10; Cheltenham, 41; Edmonton, 4; Erin, 1; Farlton, 1; Fullarton, 1; Galt, 9; Guelph, 24; Georgetown, 3; Stratford, 24; St. Marys, 3—total, 122. On motion the church in Mitchell was admitted into the association. The East Mission Baptist church was also received into the association.

Rev. W. Muir, proprietor of the Canadian Baptist, was allowed 15 minutes to advocate the claims of that paper. A resolution was then submitted to the association endorsing and commending the Baptist as one of the best denominational papers on the continent. An amendment to this motion was submitted which embraced not only the former paper, but also the Helper and the Missing Link, two other Baptist papers. A lively discussion took place on the amendment. The views of those opposed to the amendment were that there was no room for another paper in the denomination and that the Helper was opposed to the Baptist, and would ultimately damage its circulation. On the other hand it was contended that since the Helper came into existence the Baptist had been much improved, and that the low price of the Helper would induce many to take it who could not afford to take the other paper. The amendment was voted down and the original motion passed.

In the evening a platform missionary meeting was held, the pastor of the church presiding. After singing and prayer, Rev. C. Walker was called upon to present the first resolution on home missions, which he did in a very comprehensive address, and was followed by Rev. J. Denchfield, of Brampton, who seconded the resolution. He regretted to state that most of the missionaries had not received any moneys from the Convention this year. The home mission was the strong pillar around which and to which every other denominational enterprise should cling. If they could get all, even the children, in the S. S. to recognize the importance of the work, the next year would witness a great advance in the contributions to this work. The resolution was unanimously carried.

Rev. J. McLaurin, a former pastor of the Baptist Church in Stratford, and a returned missionary, said that on March 12, 1874, he went north from his first station in India to Coconada, and established a mission there. He began operations in this field by starting a Sabbath School. There were four or five Christian people in the place. The services were held at 6.30 a.m., because of the extreme heat during the day time. He preached at first to only five persons, to whom he administered the communion. It appeared a dark day after being accustomed to the crowds in Angola. There were a few Christians in Akidu, 60 or 70 miles south of Coconada. When he first went to Coconada, there were a man and his wife, half-breeds, who were Christians. Afterwards English preaching was commenced among these people. Then a Sabbath school was started, and when he, the speaker, left, there was a mission church with a membership of 50 and a Sabbath school of 150. The church in Coconada paid its own expenses, besides $5 per month for rent of the building. The Rev. Mr. Currie, another Baptist missionary, was 40 miles north of Coconada. In Akidu there were 50 Christians. Akidu is part of the old Coconada field around which the mission originally centered. It was through the influence of one mission on that coast that the maritime brethren went to Chicacole, Bobilli, Bimlepatam, and have now 600 christians. In Coconada there is a a normal school, besides schools out in the village. Those who are baptized are ignorant, they have been educated in deceit, and their moral perception are very indistinct. A native who has received some training in the normal school goes out and teaches the natives every morning, teaches them to pray aright and trains them to sing Telugu hymns, for they are all singers. In the day time, he gathers young boys and girls and teaches them reading, writing and arithmetic. There are a million souls without God to each preacher. Money is wanted to educate young men in the normal school. The average native Christian in India could carry all his goods and chattels on his back. He can clothe himself for a year for $1.50 and live on 4½ cents a day. The native Christians in Telugu were required to give half their food to the native preacher, and they were required to contribute one-half to the cost of the school house. So they are doing all they can. There is no place where money can be so well invested as among the Telugus.

Rev. Mr. McGregor moved, and Rev. Mr. Reid seconded a resolution on the subject, regretting that the Foreign Mission was $12 in debt, which was carried unanimously.

Prof. Wolverton, of the Canadian Literary Institute, Woodstock, spoke in favor of supporting the literary department of the Institute. It had been proposed, in view of the change about to take place in the theological department, which is to be transferred to Toronto, to procure an endowment for the literary department of $100,000. Some $50,000 of that sum had already been raised by subscription in a few months, and the Professor had no doubt but the whole sum would be raised in two years. The young men and women of the denomination must be educated, and yet to-day, leaving out Woodstock, more scholars were coming from the Presbyterian body than from our own denomination. The college had been the means of the conversion, since its beginning, of 660 souls.

Rev. J. G. Coutts took up the Manitoba mission. He believed the work there should be in connection with the home missionary work here. In the Pembina mountain region there were 21 Baptists, and a young man is preparing to go there in about three weeks. In many places good congregations can be had, if the Baptists only had the men to send. In Emerson the Methodists were building a $7,000 chapel and had sent one of their strongest men there, Dr. Young. The Presbyterians say that the future of their body in this country depends on the interest they take in the North-west. Baptists ought to be up and doing. He moved that the mission receive our hearty support. The resolution was seconded by Rev. C. Walker and unanimously passed.

The theological department of the institute was represented by Professor McLaurin, who dwelt on the pre-requisities of a minister for the successful preaching of the Gospel. These were: 1, conversion; 2, consecration to his work; 3, common sense; 4, a call; 5, aptness to teach; 6, something to say when he stands up to speak.

AMERICAN HOTEL, GUELPH—THOMAS ELLIS has again taken possession of this well known hotel, where he hopes to see his old friends and the public generally Good stabling and an attentive hostler. au14w

A vote of thanks was tendered to the friends in Stratford for their hospitality to the delegates during the sessions of the association. The association then adjourned to meet in Hillsburgh, on the 18th June, 1881, at the hour of 10 a.m. The meeting closed in the usual form.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Baptist Sabbath School convention of the midland counties association, which was to have held their first session on Thursday, 17th inst., at 10 a. m., did not meet till 2 p. m., in consequence of the non-arrival of delegates, all of whom had to come considerable distances. After devotional exercises the Rev. C. Walker, vice-President, took the chair, when the election of officers for the current year was proceeded with. The following were appointed:—President, Mr. C. Raymond, Guelph; vice-President, Rev. C. Walker, Stratford; sec.-treas., Rev. J. L. Campbell, Cheltenham. These officers to be a committee to prepare a programme for next convention and draw up the necessary resolutions.

Rev. H. Reid, of Erin, then took up the subject "the relation of the Sabbath school to the church and the duty of the church to the Sabbath school." The address was interesting and elicited some discussion in which Revs. Messrs. Denchfield, Calder, Coutts, and others took part, the sentiment of all who spoke being that none but converted children should be admitted as members of the church. Another sentiment brought out in the discussion was that in order to get the respective churches within the bounds of the association to take an interest in Sabbath schools, the church should appoint the superintendents and teachers. Rev. E. W. Waits, who entered the chapel while the discussion was going on, was asked to take a part in it, which he did.

The next subject, "What should be the relation of our churches to union S. S. literature," was introduced by Rev. T. C. Denchfield. He stated very briefly the arguments for and against U. S. schools. In favor of union schools he stated that by their means (1) a large number of children could be brought together, a number of small schools in a district could be united into one sufficient school; (2) union schools are less expensive; (3) a large amount of talent could be secured; (4) and a better impression would be made on the public. People would see that Christians belonging to different denominations can work harmoniously together. On the other hand, (1) where there is no heart union there can be no true organic union. (2) The teaching of Union S. S. must necessarily be one-sided and of a very indefinite character. (3) Of necessity a great portion of important doctrinal truth must be omitted, and (4) continual jealousies excited. In reference to U. S. literature, he contended that each denomination should furnish its own S. S. literature. A lively discussion ensued on this subject which was praticipated in by quite a number of the delegates.

The next subject taken up by the convention, and introduced by Mr. Bessey of Georgetown, was "The teachers's preparation for his class." Consecration to Christ he regared as a prime element in a teacher's preparation. He should know his scholars thoroughly, as also his subject. He would have the teacher stick to the word and fix texts of scripture on the minds of the children. He had taught a Bible class for eight years, and made it a point to question the class rather than preach to them or give them elaborate expositions of God's word.

Several delegates followed in brief remarks. The "Advantages and dangers of Sabbath schools," was discussed by Rev. J. W. Thorne.

At the evening session, Rev. J. F. Robertson spoke on "The best means of interesting our children in missions;" the Rev. J. Coutts on "Should we hold special revival meetings for the conversion of children?" and the Rev. J. Hazleton on "The training of young converts."

A collection and the benediction closed the first annual meeting of the Baptist S. S. convention of the midland counties' association.

Haunted Me.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commend their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost.—A Workingman.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." n4dw9md
