Town and County News.

POCKET DIARIES for 1873, a large stock just opened at Day's Bookstore. Mr. John Cunningham, of Luther, shot a bear on the 7th inst., weighing 406 lbs.

Messrs. McBride & Ferguson, of Elora, shipped on Thursday for the New York market 800 turkeys.

On Tuesday next the Presbytery of Guelph will meet and induct the Rev. D. Macdonald into the pastoral charge of the congregation at Arthur.

LECTURES TO-MORROW.—We are requested to announce that Mr. Wm. Gunn, of Walkerton, will lecture to-morrow in the Christian Church, at 2 p.m., and at 6 p.m. The public are invited.

A strong delegation from the upper county passed through Mount Forest on Wednesday en route for Toronto, to confer with the T., G. & B. Railroad with regard to the extension through Normanby into Bruce.

There will be a grand vocal and instrumental concert on Monday evening, Dec. 9th, in the Drill Shed, Fergus, for the benefit of St. James' Church, under the auspices of the bachelors of the congregation.

The Fergus News-Record says that poultry stealing is becoming notoriously common in West Garafraxa. We have previously reported a number of cases, and Mr. John McCutcheon informs us that he has seen a turkey taken from his shed.

Miss Jennie Henderson, of Mount Forest, was presented by the pupils of her class in Knox's Church Sunday School with a handsome silver ear-basket and a pair of gold bracelets in testimony of their appreciation of her services for a length of time as their teacher.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—The Primitive Methodist Church's Quarterly Temperance Meeting was held on Thursday evening, when able addresses on the Temperance question were delivered by the Rev. G. Wood, J. Howie and C. Johnson, also by Messrs. Ryan, Wieldon and Lazenby.

HERNDON'S OPERA HOUSE CO.—This Company consisting of 30 first-class artists appear in the Town Hall to-night for the first time, when they will play the beautiful Irish Romance "Kathleen Mavourneen," to be followed by the capital farce, "A Ghost in Spite of Himself."

This Company is highly spoken of wherever they have appeared, and we are assured that it is the best theatrical troupe that have appeared in Guelph for many years.

BURGLARY.—On Tuesday night between 8 and 9 o'clock, whilst Mr. Thomas O'Brien, proprietor of the Half Way Hotel, Elora, was out, the thieves broke through the bar room window, and ransacked the premises for money, but were disappointed in their object. Evidently desirous, however, that their mission should not altogether be fruitless, they appropriated to themselves a half barrel of beer about three parts full. No trace of the thieves or theft has hitherto been ascertained. Mr. O'Brien has only recently entered into possession of the hotel, and has not, as yet, occupied it with his family, but it is probable that the capital thief, who he has taken from the tavern; and Mr. O'Brien thinks that the thieves were well acquainted with the fact that he was, at the time referred to, with his family partaking of supper, and that a good opportunity was thus presented for the successful prosecution of their thieving propensities.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A report was current in town this morning that Mr. Robert Perkins, for several years past off and on, employed as Barman, &c., at Ellis' North American Hotel, had died suddenly in his chair at the hotel. On enquiry, we ascertain that the rumour was false—Perkins having been suffering from an attack of congestion of the lungs, the severity of which convinced his medical attendant three days ago that a rapid fatality must ensue. This morning, however, Perkins feeling a little easier, and unduly confident, descended to the bar-room, and the consequent exertion, doubtless, having proved too much for him, he expired as previously mentioned, in a sitting position in his chair. Perkins was a quiet inoffensive character, and rather a favorite with the hotel visitors. He had evidently received a superior education, and although his constitution had been greatly enfeebled by an over-fondness for liquor, yet we are glad to say that for many months past he had relinquished the practice altogether.

BANK OF MONTREAL.—At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal, it was moved by the Hon. T. Ryan, seconded by Mr. S. G. McKenzie, and unanimously resolved, "That the stockholders of this bank be and is hereby increased by the addition thereto of $4,000,000 in one issue; and it is recommended by this meeting that such new stock shall be allotted by the directors to the shareholders registered, upon the 31st day of December next, in the proportion of one new share for each two shares of the present capital stock, at a premium of twenty per centum." Fifty per cent. of the new stock is nine months' instalments, the first of ten per cent. and the others of five per cent.; and three months' notice is to be given before calling for the payment of any of the remaining fifty per cent. The premium is payable in four equal instalments, at the same time as the first four instalments of the capital.

An unsuccessful attempt was made last week to start a St. Andrew's Society in Lunenburg.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY IN GUELPH.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

A SUCCESSFUL GATHERING.

The Sons of St. Andrew celebrated the anniversary of Scotland's Patron Saint by a concert and ball, which came off in the Town Hall on Friday evening. This annual festival, like all the others got up under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Society, was very largely attended, and was in every respect a great success. The committee of management were fortunate in securing the services of the Fairbairn Family for the concert, whose efforts gave great satisfaction to every listener. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion. At one end were placed the fine oil painting of the Queen, and above it the royal arms, both kindly lent by Mr. John Haver. These were tastefully draped with flags and gay tartans, and the other end hung a portrait of Robert Burns, similarly festooned, and set off with banners, and all around the walls were wreathed with scarlet flannels, which with a number of engravings completed the decorations, and gave to the Hall a very gay and comfortable appearance. The committee deserve great credit for the taste and effort they displayed in this important part of their work.

Shortly after eight o'clock the Hall was well-filled, when Mr. John Watt, the Society's organist, gave notice of the proceedings were about to commence by playing a pibroch on the bagpipes. The President, Mr. David Stirton, M.P., along with other officers, and several ex-Presidents of the Society, then ascended the platform, when the President delivered the following address:—

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS. LAMBS AND CHEVRES.—We are assembled to-night to celebrate the anniversary of Scotland's Patron Saint, and the duty devolves upon me to open the proceedings with a short address.

In doing so, let me, in the first place, express my great pleasure at seeing so many of the other and bring a portrait of Robert Burns, similarly festooned, and set off with banners, and all around the walls were wreathed with scarlet flannels, which with a number of engravings completed the decorations, and gave to the Hall a very gay and comfortable appearance. The committee deserve great credit for the taste and effort they displayed in this important part of their work.

It would perhaps be too much an infringement on your time were I to attempt to explain why Scotchmen love, or even keep up these celebrations. Love of country is an inherent principle deeply seated in the breast of every true Scotchman. It matters not in what part of the world his lot may be cast, he still retains that fond recollection of the days of "Auld Lang Syne" which nothing can efface, and he gladly avails himself of such opportunities as the present to give full vent to this, his first love, his mother land.

The following, however, may be given as some of the reasons why Scotchmen have such a deep-seated attachment for the land of their birth. In countries where the comforts, and even necessities of life, must be procured by patient toil, the affections of the mind as well as the faculties of the understanding improve under the influence of patriotism, and flourish among its kindred virtues, where it is necessary to combine for mutual defence, as well as for the supply of common wants, natural goodwill springs from mutual difficulties and labours, and the social affections unfold themselves to the men with whom we live to the soil on which we tread. Love of country is also invariably found more active under free Governments than under despotic ones. As the individual becomes of more consequence to the community the more active is his patriotism, and for this reason, the independence of a small community being maintained with difficulty, sentiments of patriotism are more frequently evoked from their constant danger.

The people of mountainous countries, as a rule, are distinguished for nourishing sentiments of national pride and independence. From the peculiar position and natural strength of such countries, they have maintained their independence against powerful neighbors, and under such circumstances valor, in all ages, has made its most successful efforts against tyranny and oppression. By such a combination of circumstances as these, the ties that attach men to the land of their birth are multiplied and strengthened, and often survive in countries far distant, to the latest period of life, to soothe the heart with the pleasure of memory when those of hope have died away.

It would be very unwise in me to occupy your time further in attempting to explain this principle. Suffice it to say that there can be no mistaking this national attachment so strong in the Scotch character. Men return to their native land after long absence, and in this respect unchanged—"Land of mountain, glen and wood-land, O dear land, of my childhood."

In all varieties of lands and climates their hearts ever turn to the "Land of Cakes and Bitter Scots." Scotch feelings are kept with Scotch feelings "On Greenland's icy mountains, and India's coral strand."

And here let me relate an amusing instance as illustrative of the existence of this patriotic feeling which I recently read. The Marquis of Lothian whilst travelling in India happened to arrive at a station on St. Andrew's Day, and received an invitation to join a Scotch dinner party in commemoration of old Scotland. As a necessary consequence there was a great deal of Scotch enthusiasm. There were no less than seven sheep's heads signed or "signed" on the table, and Lord Lothian, himself after dinner, sang with great applause "The Laird o' Cockpen." Another little incident to show this love of Scotland is strengthened by the fact that the Marquis with our own Canada. The late Dr. Norman Macleod when visiting Canada met with a Scotch emigrant who spoke favourably and gratefully of his position in this, his adopted country. But he could not help making this exception when he thought of the "Banks and Braes o' Bonny Doon," but on Sir, he said, "there are no thistles in the woods."

DEATH OF HORACE GREELEY.

ACCOUNT OF HIS ILLNESS.

HE DIES FACEFULLY.

THE PRESS ON HIS DECESS.

New York, Nov. 29.—Horace Greeley died at 6:50 p. m. He was conscious at the time of his decease, and his death was peaceful.

New York, Nov. 29.—The following is the Tribune's account of the sickness and death of Horace Greeley: As far as any of his associates know, Mr. Greeley was almost in as good health as usual, when, on the day after the election, he wrote the card announcing his resumption of the editorial chair of the Tribune. His sleeplessness was known to have become greatly worse, but for years he had suffered more or less from the same difficulty, and, as is now clear, sufficient allowance had not been made for the immense strain upon him throughout the summer, especially during the last month of his wife's illness. But it soon became evident that his strength was unequal to the task to which he had set himself.

He wrote only three or four careful articles, not one of them a half a column in length. The most notable, perhaps, was the one entitled "Conclusions," in which he summed up his views of the canvass. In all he wrote less than three and a half columns. After his return on Tuesday, the 12th inst., he abandoned his effort to visit his office regularly, and sent for the family physician of Mr. Johnson, a friend with whom he was a guest, and in whose house his wife had died.

Every effort was made to induce sleep, but he grew steadily worse, and it became evident that his case was critical. Dr. Choat and others were called to consultation, and finally it was decided to take him to Dr. Choat's residence, two or three miles distant from Mr. Greeley's own country residence, at Chappaqua. Here he received unremitting attention. The illness had developed inflammation of the brain, and under this the venerable patient rapidly sank. It was not until Tuesday last, however, that his associates and family brought themselves to admit the possibility of his speedy death.

On Wednesday night he failed rapidly, but on Thursday afternoon, and evening he seemed somewhat easier. Towards morning he was more quiet, and between 8 and 9 o'clock he fell into a nearly unconscious condition, which continued with some intervals through the day. About noon he said quite distinctly, and with some force, "I know that my Redeemer lieth." During the day he recognized various people. He suffered little and seemed to have no more than ordinary sleeplessness which accompanies the last stage of his disease. During the day his extremities were cold, and there was no pulse at the wrist. Up to within half an hour of his death he manifested in various ways his consciousness of what was going on around him, and even answered in monosyllables and intelligible questions addressed to him. About half-past three he said, very distinctly, "It is done," and beyond the briefest answer to questions, this was his last utterance.

His youngest daughter, Miss Gabrielle, was with him through the last day evening. Through Friday, the eldest daughter, Miss Ida, was in constant attendance, as she had been during the whole of his illness, and that of Mrs. C. Greeley before him. At ten minutes before seven o'clock, the watchers drew back in reverent stillness from the bedside. The Great Editor was gone in peace, after a many struggles in honor, after so much obloquy.

The Tribune obituary says: We have his praises to the poor whom he has succored; to the lowly whom he lifted up; to the slave who hove back he saved from the lash; to the oppressed whose wrongs he made his own.

The Times says: We only express the truth when we say that Mr. Greeley died of Liberal Reptile Miasmism. Historians will do justice to Mr. Greeley, and in the meanwhile his countrymen will be strangely forgetful if they fail to pay due tribute to his memory.

News from London. LONDON, Nov. 29.—During the late gale ten men were blown into the sea at Saint Ives on 4 drowned.

The Rev. J. P. Spurgeon is seriously ill. The Dublin policemen are showing signs of insubordination.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt at Derby to-day. No harm was done, but the Midland counties, causing great damage to agriculture.

Serious Altercation in Matamoros. Matamoros, Nov. 29.—A few days ago a soldier of the garrison at Mier, in an altercation, shot and killed a citizen and wounded his child. The friends of the citizen demanded of the civil authorities the arrest of the soldier. The civil authorities declined to interfere, and referred the applicants to the military authorities. These latter refusing to give up the soldier to the civil authorities the citizens made an attack on the barracks, when 12 persons were killed and wounded on both sides.

Quebec, Nov. 29.—Arrived—Russia and Oceanic from New York. The Oceanic experienced very heavy weather and was compelled to stop often. But one cylinder was worked during the passage. New York, Nov. 29.—Arrived—"Morroca," from Havana. She brings the 4 persons saved from the Steamship "Missouri."

Narrow Escape.—On Thursday night, while the Messrs. Hurdon, of Kinrosside, were shipping wheat from Malines storehouse into the propeller East, Rich. Keyworth sportively jumped into the bin as the wheat was escaping through a pipe into the cars in the story below, when one of his feet was drawn into, and wedged fast in the pipe, whereupon he was in a few seconds completely covered with the grain. He remained in that situation about fifteen minutes before he could be extricated; when he became unconscious, and it was feared for a time that life was extinct. Drs. Secord and Johnston are doing all that is possible for the unfortunate sufferer, who still lies in a precarious condition.

Two Children Burned at Guelph.—A house belonging to Mr. James Andrews, Township of Guelph, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday, together with the contents. Two small children perished.

Death of Horace Greeley.

The news of Horace Greeley's death will be received with genuine regret by all classes, both in the United States and in Canada. So widely known as a journalist, and lately brought so prominently before the public as a candidate for the Presidency, his life—his early struggles with poverty—his indomitable perseverance—his genial qualities—his supreme benevolence—and the many other good traits in his character have become almost as familiar as household words.

In estimating the life, character and work of Horace Greeley, we can not do better than copy the loving tribute to his memory from the Tribune, which he founded, and with which he has been so closely connected for nearly forty years:—

"The melancholy announcement of the death of the editor and founder of the Tribune, though for a few days it has been expected by his family and intimate friends, falls on us with all the shock of a sudden calamity. He has reached indeed a ripe old age, but time had not laid its withering touch upon him. His splendid constitution easily bore the strain of enormous labour. His mind was as fresh and strong and suggestive in the prime of life. His generous impulses were unchilled by disagreeing experiences through the trying campaign which has just closed. His physical vigor, his tact, and his intellectual activity surprised even those who knew him best, and seemed to promise many years of usefulness. It is certain that no history of the most critical period of our national life can ever be written in which Horace Greeley shall not be a conspicuous figure; but the noblest career in his eyes was that which is given up to others to waste, the successful life was that which is worn out in conflict with wrong and vice. The only ambition worth following was the ambition to alleviate human misery, and leave the world a little better than he found it. This he has done. This was the consolation which brightened his last days, and assured him he had not lived in vain. It is not for us in the first hour of our loss to point to his character or catalogue his virtues. Though for several months we have missed the inspiration of his presence and guidance of his wise counsel, his spirit has never ceased to animate those chosen to continue his work, and the close bond of sympathy between the chief and his assistants has never been broken. We have his praises to the poor whom he strove to aid, and the lowly whom he lifted up; to the slave whose back he saved from the lash; to the oppressed whose wrongs he made his own.

Hon. Mr. Mowat Elected by Acclamation.

The nomination of candidates to represent North Oxford in the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, in place of Mr. Perry, resigned, took place on Friday, at Woodstock. It was, of course, known that it was the intention of the Hon. Oliver Mowat to become a candidate, and though the Government organs suggested that he should be opposed, and even named the supposed Opposition candidate, the hopelessness of success showed that the suggestion was a sham, and no attempt was made to oppose the Premier of Ontario. Mr. Perry, the late member, before any nominations were made, gave his reasons for resigning his position. He said it was a great sacrifice of personal feeling on his part that he felt it his duty to resign his trust, and he had felt a deep debt of gratitude to the people of North Oxford for putting him in the position which he had occupied for the last five years. But it was the duty of every true lover of his country to sacrifice his own interests for the good of his country. He indignantly denied that his resignation had been made a matter of bargain and sale. In sacrificing his own feelings, he had made no sacrifice of party principles, because Mr. Mowat was one who stood high in the Reform party, and the exchange would certainly be for the better. He concluded by nominating Mr. Mowat. The Hon. Mr. McKellar was also nominated. No other nominations having been made, Mr. Mowat addressed the electors in a long and able speech, in which he defined his course in accepting office, defended the policy of the late Blake Government, and foreshadowed some of the measures which will be brought up during the approaching session. Mr. McKellar having made a speech withdrew, and Mr. Mowat was declared duly elected.

Editorial Items.

The Quebec Chronicle compliments the Hon. Mr. Scott upon his management of the Crown lands, and thinks that the management of the late timber sale reflects very creditably upon that gentleman. It now turns out that Mr. Cauchon is chief proprietor of the Beaufort Asylum. He will probably be unseated. The London Advertiser says that of all places mentioned for the new Agricultural College and Farm, Guelph is the most suitable, and hopes there is no intention of proceeding with the Mimico folly. The Advertiser is right in this case as in every other. Recent advices from Sir George E. Cartier indicate that his recovery will depend on the care he takes of himself during the coming winter. It is understood that he has received advice to spend the winter in the south of France.

One by one every measure advocated by the Reform party is being carried. Dual representation has received its death blow in Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and now Quebec, and a general measure of prohibition will next session pass in the Dominion Parliament.

Sir John and The Newspaper.

Sir John's Toronto organ is anxious that the world should know that it grinds out original music, and is not indebted to the Ottawa Maestro for the compositions which it plays. This is the same organ which is attributing every thing said in the Globe, even the most trivial telegraphic despatch, to the "Globe Editor." Mr. Brown, according to the organ, writes every line of the Globe, when everybody else knows that he is not a second contributor to its columns. Mr. Brown is fair game to be hit at, but Sir John, never! He is as innocent as the new born babe of connection with the slanderous conduct of the Toronto organ. We would fain believe this, as to be the instigator of the malignant course of the organ is a position in which we would not wish to see even Sir John. The position is so utterly disgraceful that we should like to believe that he does not, nor ever did, occupy it. But the facts point otherwise. There is a startling resemblance between the slanders of the organ and those retailed by the Premier afterwards on the floor of the House. It looked very much as if Sir John communicated them to the organ and then quoted it in the House in proof of their truth. Can it be true that Sir John is trying to set up for respectability, and has commenced the virtuous role by disowning the organ? It may be so, but we do not believe it, as his connection with the organ has so bankrupted his character that it is past salvation. Even the callous Sir John may begin to think that an organ which blackguards an upright minister of the Gospel for the sake of serving its party, as rather an unsafe ally. But he cannot shake himself loose from it, if it is true, and in good truth, we do not think he would if he could, for its utterances fairly reflect his habits of mind and the tactics of his party. He has made the organ what it is, and must abide by it. It is rather late in the day to disown the organ, and own hands, however disgraceful it has proved, even if he wished to do so, which we do not believe, as he rather likes unprincipled journalism as well as unprincipled politics.

FOR THE MERCURY.

"My Old Sorrow Wakes and Cries."

Come, on your pinions so fast, love,
You have been gone for so long,
Come to me just as you were, love,
Ere sorrow had saddened my song.
Three years since you left me in pain, love,
And I have been waiting the while,
Come to my bosom again, love,
Come with the old many smile.
I will not ask you to stay, love,
Bright is your dwelling of rest,
For is the mansion of peace, love,
Fold me but once to your breast.
O, 'tis not much that I ask, love,
Come on your pinions so fast,
You will not count it a task, love,
Come to me, just as you were.
Love like to ours cannot die, love,
Yet you will still depart, love,
O, from your palace on high, love,
Let but a whisper be heard.
Your voice on the ever-fair height, love,
Is sounding the song of the free,
Through realms of unending delight, love,
Then why do you silent sit me?
Never HASTWOOD.

Mr. James G. Smith, one of the early pioneers of the township of Wilmot, died at his residence, near Haysville, on the 18th instant, at the advanced age of 71 years.

Moses Digby of Terriola's, while driving horses attached to a threshing machine got one of his feet badly mangled in the machine. He will likely be laid up all winter.

The Rev. Daniel Macle, of Stratford, has received two calls, one from California and one from Pennsylvania, both offering large salaries.

Fire in London.—On Friday night a fire broke out in the rear of a lot of wooden buildings on the south side of Dundas-street, in the centre of the city, and burning furiously for a while threatened a general conflagration. Fortunately the flames attacked the eastern side of the old rockeries, or the fatal storm prevailing and blowing from the west, would certainly have caused a most serious disaster. Fortunately the fire was put out without doing a great deal of damage.

Recovered Her Sight.—A young lady living at Beauharnois met with a singular accident after a fit of hysterical crying. She was blind of one eye from infancy with Lenticular Cataract, and the morning after her fit she felt great pain in her eye and went to Montreal to consult Dr. Thayer. An examination showed dislocation forward of the Lens, which was removed by Dr. Thayer assisted by Dr. Munro. The Lens was of a chalky consistency, and no doubt from its weight caused the extreme pain. Strange to say the patient has recovered her sight after being blind for nearly twenty-six years.

WE SAY THEY ARE GOOD.—The Show-houses Pills are manufactured with the utmost care, scrutiny, and exactness, from the very active principles, doubly refined and purified, of the vegetable kingdom as to possess them of properties that only meet in harmony the exigencies of every ingredient entering into the composition of the Show-houses Remedy, and also that gives the Pills themselves more desirable qualities for general use, than any family pill before the public. On account of the extreme mildness and yet great certainty in action of the Pills, as well as their strengthening and healing effects on the stomach and bowels, and in fact the whole system, along with their purgative and restorative action on the liver, kidneys, skin, &c., &c., we say on account of their superior qualities, the Pills are placed on sale as a Family Medicine.

INDEX.—Some of those skeptics, who are never alling, are surprised at Dr. Depew's Medical Victory so suddenly becoming a theme of conversation, and already esteemed so highly for diseases of the lungs, liver, kidneys and bladder, and prized for rheumatism, neuralgia, biliousness, and general weakness and debility. You will not be surprised if you realize that health depends chiefly on the condition of the blood, and that Depew's Medical Victory is a Real Blood Purifier. Ask those who have suffered for years, from coarseness, female weakness and dyspepsia, in spite of other treatment, yet cured by the Medical Victory, why they prize it. A sure thing. CABLE SCREW WIRE Boots and Shoes will not rip, leak or come apart, and are the easiest ever worn. Try them. All bear the Patent Stamp.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protochloride of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food.

It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System.

The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damaged and waste, securing out all wild excursions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of its wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free.
