SATURDAY EVE, NOV. 28, 1874.

Town and County News

Mr. David Anderson of Rothsay, while walking along the streets in that village, a few days ago, slipped and fell, breaking his ankle.

ST. ANDREW'S.—The St. Andrew's Society of Elora has decided to celebrate "The Day" by a dinner at the Commercial hotel.

DRAYTON.—A son of Mr. Gamaea, had a finger taken off while playing with a combined crammer and cutting machine.

T. G. & B. RAILWAY.—Mr. Wylie of Hamilton has been appointed station master at Arthur, in place of Mr. Hadley who has gone to Teeswater.

Imitations of Canadian five and ten cent silver pieces are said to be plentifully in circulation. They are so cunningly made that very few people detect their baseness.

CLEAN YOUR SIDEWALKS.—We notice that the Chief of Police has issued posters calling the attention of citizens to the section of the Act, requiring them to keep the snow of the sidewalks in front of their property, and also to the clause forbidding the dangerous practice of running hand-sleighs on the sidewalks. The clause forbidding animals to run at large within the Corporation is also mentioned. The public will avoid much trouble and be saved the necessity of paying a fine, by strictly conforming to the requirements of the law in these cases. Let no exception be made in the enforcement of this rule and we shall all feel the comfort of good, clean, clear sidewalks.

LITERARY CLASS.—The debate on the subject, whether Poverty or Luxury caused most crime, came off in the rooms of the Y.M.C.A., last evening, both sides making a good attempt and showing considerable study. The audience decided that the Negative sustained their argument with the greatest clearness. After the debate the critics were called on, and Mr. W. H. Seoffern criticised the debate at considerable length and evinced a thorough knowledge of the subject. The class is doing a good work amongst the members of the Association and we hope that they will continue to go on with their work of developing the talent in the Association.

TOWN HALL LAST NIGHT.—Last night there was an immense crowd in the Town Hall to witness the brilliant Irish drama "Arrah-na-pogue," as played by the popular Herndon Opera House Company. The play is one of the finest ever produced in this town, being full of brilliant Irish wit, and abounding with incident of the most startling and thrilling character. Mrs. T. J. Herndon, as Arrah-na-pogue, and Mr. John Ward, as Shaun, secured the largest share of praise. Ward's delineation of a warm hearted, innocent Irishman, and Mrs. Herndon as an Irish girl of the same kindly disposition, were perfect masterpieces of acting, and loud applause greeted them whenever they appeared on the stage. Mr. J. H. Mulligan, as "The McCool," and Mr. T. J. Herndon as Michael Feeney, played their parts well. The other parts were well sustained, especially that of Fanny Powers by Bertie Maywood. The orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Harry C. Wells, played several selections in a very superior manner. To-night they appear for the last time this season, when the drama entitled "Our American Cousin" will be produced for the first time in Guelph.

THE LEGENDARY SCOTT PUBLISHING COMPANY, 41 Barclay St., New York, send us the October number of the Edinburgh Review—the last one for the year—which has, as usual with this Review, an attractive table of contents: I. "Scharnhorst. Every element which has contributed to the elevation of Prussia to a first-class European power is of interest, and the present sketch of General von Scharnhorst, the regenerator of the army after Prussia had been shorn of half her dominions by the first Napoleon, is therefore worth reading. He was the founder of the military system of that country. II. "The Book of Carlevarok." III. "English Fugitive Songs and Lyrics." IV. "The Census of France in 1872." V. Brings before us the results of late researches on the subject of Comets and Meteors. VI. on "Convocations of Parliament, and the Prayer-Book." VII. Treats of the "Origin and History of the Grenadier Guards," and gives a graphic epitome of their services. VIII. "Republican Antichrist." "L'Antechrist" is the fourth of a series entitled "The History of the Origin of Christianity." IX. "Journal of Mr. Charles Grove." Mr. Grove was Clerk of the Privy Council, and was therefore brought in contact with all the noted men of his day, which was a long one, extending through the reigns of George IV. and William IV. X. "The Session and the Ministry" criticizes with some minutiae the conduct of Mr. Disraeli and his Cabinet. Our readers will do well to provide themselves for the coming year with one or all of the periodicals reprinted by THE LEGENDARY SCOTT PUBLISHING CO. They are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh Westminster, and British Quarterly Review, and Blackwood's Magazine. Prices, $4 a quarter for any one, or only $15 for all.

Local and Other Items.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Pease, formerly the County of Waterloo Inspector of Schools, has recently been appointed Town Inspector in Galt.

ACCIDENT.—On Friday last, while Mr. James Hood, of Freeton, was driving a load of posts into Hamilton, his load upset and fell upon him, breaking one of his arms in two places.

LOST IN A SWAMP.—The Examiner states that a search is to be made for Mrs. Troy, who was lost in Proton swamp in September last. No tidings of the missing woman have yet been received, and a last general systematic effort is to be made to discover, if possible, any trace of her remains, as it seems beyond doubt that she must have perished.

THE WORKING VOTERS' LIST.—At the revision of this list on Thursday there was great indignation and excitement in court, the Conservative party having lost the original subpense, and therefore had to abandon all their appeals, not having struck off a vote. The Reformers made a net gain of forty-four in the township.

DECISION ON A WILL CASE.—In the will case of Abbott v. Fry, the appeal was allowed, and the decision of the Queen's Bench in McClellan reversed. Each party to pay his own costs. Mr. Fraser left about $60,000 to establish a library in Montreal; his relatives disputed the will, and were unsuccessful in support of the decision which the Privy Council has now reversed.

TENACIOUS OF LIFE.—A pig belonging to Mr. Thos. Sudden, North Dunfries, was lost about six weeks ago, and was found the other day in a pile of rails, where it is supposed it has been all the time without ever having obtained any food, and its strength to say the least, after its imprisonment of five weeks and three days.

SIR ROGER TIEBORN.—A Honorable correspondent of the New York World states that the real Sir Roger was buried on Sidney Island subsequent to 1855. Sicula thus prove true and the correspondent gives very plausible proof in support of the discovery, there can be no doubt that light of a very effective character will be now thrown on the Tiebhorn mystery.

THE LATEST BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT.—Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, "I'll feel my duty to my fellow as my own; I'll let my brother walk with me, my horse and carriage, and my dog will be my friend; and I'll let my children go unfed, and starve the dog till he is dead; my hands for charity I'll spread, and up and down the street I'll tread, all avenues of aid I'll tread, and never pause till hope is fled; I'll work in constant fear, till I sell my clothing every shred; I'll sell my house and rent a shed, but what I'll pay up every red I owe; and to the printer.

RAILWAY CONNECTION.—A meeting of the Hamilton and North-west Railway Company was held in Hamilton on Wednesday, to consider in what way the most advantageous connection could be formed between the Hamilton and the Canada Pacific Railway. After some discussion it was concluded that the interests of the Province would be best served by building a line to begin at Wauwaschee or at the mouth of the Severn at such point as shall be found most convenient to unite the traffic of the Midland and the Hamilton & North-western Railways, and connect with the Georgian Bay. The Northern Railway Company will be able to connect with this line by the extension of their line a short distance from Gravenhurst.

EXEMIES.—Have you enemies? Go straight on and mind them not. They will slip away like water, and you will be left with no enemies. A man who has no enemies is seldom good for anything—he is so easily worked that every one has a hand in it. A sterling character—one who thinks himself, and speaks his mind—will have enemies. It is necessary to him as fresh air; they keep him alive and active. A celebrated character, who was surrounded with enemies, used to remark: "They are sparks which, if you do not stir, will be your feeling while endeavoring to live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute, you do but as they desire, and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellows talk; it will be your duty, and action if you perform that, once alienated from you will flock to you and acknowledge their error."—Alexander's Messenger.

NEW LIFE RAFT.—An officer in the English coast-guard service named Hicks has invented a life-raft for use at sea, which unites the two distinct ideas of a life-boat and a life-buoy. The sides of the raft are formed by two square mats, stretched by side, four feet apart, with their ends bent toward each other, and so joined as to form a sharp bow and stern. The raft has an open bottom, the only deck being a stout rope netting stretched over the space between the sides midway of her depth. A set of oars, each having a long handle, are placed midway of her depth on either side. The raft, which is twenty feet long, with eight feet beam and two feet deep, is provided with moveable rowlocks, a mast, and a square sail. The sides are enclosed by bulkheads into seven watertight compartments, two of which—one on either side—are for provision stores. The raft is built of mahogany, and has a double skin, her timbers being arranged diagonally. She weighs about five hundred weight, and her immersion when heavily loaded is fourteen inches, thus giving ten inches of freeboard. She was thoroughly tested the other day in the East India dock basin in London, and was found to be practically unsinkable, and, as far as could be judged, incapable of being overturned.

BEVERLY VOTERS' LIST.—The Dundas Banner says that at the recent revision of the voters' list for the Township of Beverly ten Reform, and three Conservative names were put on the list. Out of thirteen appeals to have Conservatives struck off, three were allowed and two withdrawn, the parties being otherwise disqualified from voting; and out of twenty-nine appeals to have Reform votes struck off six were allowed, and judgment reserved in four cases.—Out of twenty-nine Reform appeals to have names correctly stated, which were strongly opposed, and, according to the ruling of the Judge, the qualification of voters consisted, twenty-five were allowed, and out of eight Conservative appeals of the same kind all were allowed.

Old Trusty vs. Fly-Away.

The Guelph Herald pitches "poor old James Ross, who has less chance of being elected than he has of being struck by lightning." It charitably speaks of him as "a defunct politician" dug up from "the political bone-yard," but doubts whether he is "a healthy corpse."

It elegantly compares him to a cart-horse, pleasantly hints that he feels weak in the knees, and gracefully suggests that he is neither useful nor ornamental. And, notwithstanding all this it cannot help adding that he is steady and plodding, that he is regarded by all parties as a respectable, steady-going old gentleman, that he is decent and useful, and that he is incapable of doing evil. This is an odd mixture, but the Herald man is pretty well accustomed to that sort of thing. He takes it hot, and hasn't forgotten the sugar. Evidently, James Ross, with all his imperfections, is, according to the Herald's own showing, far superior to that wooden image for which Conservatives, as Mr. James Grindly admitted at the election trial, are so ready to vote. A respectable steady-going man, even if old, if decent, and useful, and incapable of doing evil, and possessing the other requisites of experience and honesty, is just the man for Centre Wellington. The people of this constituency don't object to the cart-horse which, plodding and obedient, buckles cheerfully to work, is always to be found in harness when wanted, and which never balks or finches when the strong pull is needed. Call James Ross an old cart-horse if you will. He is trusty, and true, and tried. He has helped to drag the state wagon out of the mud already, and will be the less fitted to assist in booting it along now that firm ground is reached. The Herald thinks differently, however. It prefers "high spirit and high stepping, albeit the animal is apt to run away and get unruly before long." In other words, it would thrust aside slow, sure and steady James Ross, for the fast, fiery and fickle Doctor. There is no accounting for taste, but we are of opinion that a large majority in Centre Wellington, will not agree with the fast and horsey opinions of the Herald's Tory editor. The real doctors of this Riding don't want to be run away with. They don't desire an animal which will "get unruly before long." They don't ask for high-spirited and high-stepping, with no bottom. They have no desire to be thrown out of the saddle. They would rather trust themselves behind the old cart-horse once more, and that is just what they mean to do. The farmers of Centre Wellington haven't got into raising fancy racers yet, and have no intention of encouraging the breed, by the way. They have served their purposes in the past, and they won't cast him aside now for jibbing "Fly-Away."

Like silly moths were caught by glare.

She didn't like to believe it, but after deep meditation she has come to the conclusion that it is too true—that

They're caught by men and men are glare,

And when they're caught, poor foolish things!

Ontario Legislature.

Nov. 27.

Mr. Crooks moved, That the House verify the Order in Council approved by His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor in Council on the 24th September, 1874, with reference to the Toronto, Grey, and Bruce Railway, extending the time for the construction of the road between Washago and Gravenhurst.

Mr. Crooks moved the concurrence of the House in the report of the Committee on the Resolutions respecting Immigration to Canada.

The motion was carried.

On the motion for concurrence on the item of $51,000 Crown Lands Department.

Mr. Rykert moved, in amendment, "That while this House cannot refuse the amount estimated for contingencies in the Crown Lands Department, it requests contingencies largely exceeds the appropriation."

Mr. Gow moved in amendment, "That all after 'that' in the proposed amendment be expunged, and the following substituted:—In the opinion of this House the increased expenditure by way of contingencies in the Crown Land Department has been amply justified by the reason of the increased business of the Department from year to year." He believed the present Commissioner was very efficient, and had admirably conducted the duties of his office. The country was perfectly satisfied with the way in which the re-valuation had been carried on.

After considerable discussion, a division was taken on the amendment to the amendment, which was carried—Yeas, 55; Nays, 8.

On the item of $5000 for gratuities to officers whose services have been dispensed with.

Mr. Lander moved that the said resolution be amended by adding the following:—And while concurring in the said resolution, this House is of the opinion that no part of the sum annually appropriated for gratuities should be paid to persons who have been dismissed from the public service, or who may have been called upon to resign by the Government for inefficiency, not arising from old age or long service, or for misconduct in office. He said that it was never intended that any portion of that sum was intended to be paid to officials who resigned. There was no justification for paying Prof. McCandless and Prof. Wiggins out of the gratuities fund, they being called upon to resign too. If the Government had thought it in the public interest that these gentlemen should resign, they should have paid them what they saw fit to give them and charged it against unforseen expenditure.

Mr. Sinclair moved, in amendment to the amendment, "That all after the word 'that' be struck out, and the following inserted in lieu thereof, 'this House recognizes the propriety of giving, in particular cases, reasonable allowance by way of gratuity to retiring officials.'"

Mr. Cameron proceeded to refer to the payment to Prof. McCandless, and said that there must be something wrong about the dismissal of that gentleman or the Government would not be so eager to prevent any information being got with regard to it. He was told that the Attorney-General had been so anxious to settle with Prof. McCandless that he had not waited until the Committee of the Executive Council had ordered the payment of the gratuity to that gentleman, but had on his own individual responsibility given an order for its payment. He repeated that there must have been some thing very wrong in the management of the Agricultural College by the chief of the Department to which that institution belonged when that was done.

Mr. Mowat denied that the Government had charged these gentlemen with misconduct, and said he was on the most friendly terms with Prof. McCandless up to the last moment. Everybody knew that in private life a man might not be successful, and yet not be chargeable with misconduct, or anything of that sort. That was the case with both these gentlemen. The Government did not charge them with misconduct. In discharging Prof. McCandless, he (Mr. Mowat) had thought that he was entitled to something with regard to him which he thought that his (Mr. Mowat) was saying would justify him (Prof. McCandless) conduct was such that he was not legally entitled to continue to occupy his situation. He (Mr. Mowat) had no doubt that there were situations which that gentleman would fill with credit to himself, but in this particular situation he was not successful. A man might have many good qualities, but not be possessed of the faculty of managing, and this was the case with Professor McCandless. The Government had acted bona fides in this matter. It was not a question of guilt to be decided on evidence at nisi prius, and it would be unfortunate for the country if the discretion of the persons in the Government in such matters was limited. No one would have come to a different conclusion from his without political motive. Several Conservatives had spoken to him on the subject before. As long as the house had confidence in the Administration, this was a question that must be decided by the Administration. He assured the House that if he had not come to the conclusion that it was right that the official should be removed, he would not have removed. With regard to the case of Mr. Wiggins, the change was made not because of any moral misconduct on his part, but because the institution was not prospering as it should have prospered under him. But as no moral misconduct was imputed, it was right that he should have had a gratuity. Both parties were made rightly, and the subsequent successful employment of the two gentlemen would not prove that the action of the Government was wrong (Cheers).

Mr. Rykert contended that the papers should be brought down to enable the House to judge of the matter. The real reason of the dismissal of Mr. McCandless was that he had told the Government that there were persons in the institution unfit for their offices, as they would show if they were granted a committee of investigation. He alleged that the Government had acted improperly in making the order for the payment of the $1,500 without an Order in Council. Gratuities ought not to be paid to persons who were dismissed.

Mr. McCandless said that with regard to Mr. Henning, whose name had been mentioned by the member for Lincoln the other evening, he had left the Institution long before Mr. McCandless was appointed. With only two exceptions, the officials in the College were all appointed at the recommendation of Prof. McCandless. Complaints had been continually coming in to the Government of Prof. McCandless's incapacity, and the Government at last deemed it necessary to make an enquiry. The Committee had examined the various witnesses separately, and the evidence taken was such as to convince him and the other members of the Government that Prof. McCandless was entirely unfit for his position. The Attorney-General, with the cautiousness that characterized his every action, was very unwilling to dismiss the Professor, but at last even he was convinced that his retention in office would result in every student leaving the Institution. He believed if even a portion of the evidence was placed before gentlemen opposite, they would say the Government had acted wisely. (Hear, hear.)

The House divided, and the amendment to the amendment was lost—Yeas, 36; Nays, 3.

YEAS—Messrs. Barber, Baxter, Bethune, Bishop, Caldwell, Clarke, (North), Clemens Cook, Craig, (Russell), Crooks, Crosby, Deacon, Farewell, Finlay, sen., Fraser, Gibson, Gow, Hardy, Harrington, Hodgins, Lander, McKellar, Meredith, Monk, Mowat, O'Donoghue, Bardee, Paxton, Sinclair, Smith, Springer, Waterworth, Williams, (Hamilton), Wilson, Wood—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Cameron, McCall, Rykert—3.

The amendment to the amendment was carried.

On the item for cost of inspection of Division Courts, Mr. Meredith moved that the following words be added to the resolution as amended:—"But this House regrets that it has been asked to vote a sum of $2,050 for the salary and travelling expenses of the Inspector of Division Courts, when in the opinion of this House no sufficient reason exists for the continuance of that office—Lost, 9 for, 34 against.

The House then adjourned.

The Immigration Scheme.

The following is the memorandum drawn up by the representative of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, to the Government of the Dominion, for securing united and harmonious action in Europe for promoting emigration to Canada, which they have submitted for the approval and confirmation of the Governor-General.

In order to secure united and harmonious action in promoting emigration from the United Kingdom and Continent of Europe to Canada, the following proposals have been agreed to by the Representatives of the Provincial Government now present:—

1. The control and direction of all matters connected with promoting emigration from the United Kingdom and Continent of Europe to Canada shall be vested in and exercised by the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa.

2. Independent agencies for any of the Provinces shall be discontinued.

3. Each Province shall be authorized to appoint a sub-agent and obtain office accommodation for him in the Canadian Government offices in London, the sub-agent shall represent the special interests of the Province by which he is appointed in emigration matters and generally.

4. Each Province may employ any special agent or agents, or other means, for the encouragement of emigration, subject to the direction hereinafter stated.

5. The sub-agents placed by the Provinces in the London offices, or the special agents employed by them for promoting emigration, shall be under the direction of the Agent-General acting under instructions from the Minister of Agriculture.

6. The salaries of sub-agents and special agents appointed by the Provinces shall be paid by the Provinces appointing them.

7. The Dominion Government shall take every means to promote immigration, and shall afford facilities for the transport of immigrants by partial payments in reduction of ocean passage by arrangements with steamship companies and their agents, and by such other means as may be deemed efficient for the purpose of introducing immigrants to each Province according to its requirements.

8. The Dominion Government shall afford all facilities at its office in London for giving information to the public respecting the Dominion generally and the several Provinces and their resources in particular.

9. For more effectually carrying out this object, all the Provincial Governments shall furnish to the London office of the several Provinces, together with all printed public documents and maps since Confederation.

10. The London offices shall be accessible to, and a place of reference for, all persons from any of the Provinces.

11. The Provinces shall respectively contribute towards the increased office expenses in London, arising from the proposed arrangements, the annual sums following:—

Province of Ontario..... $5,000 00
" Quebec..... 1,000 00
" New Brunswick 1,000 00
" Nova Scotia..... 1,000 00

In case the two last named Provinces unite in appointing one sub-agent, their joint contribution shall be $1,500.

And in case British Columbia and Prince Edward Island choose also to avail themselves of the Canadian offices in London, each shall pay the Dominion Government such sums as may be agreed upon with the Minister of Agriculture.

12. A liberal policy is to be maintained by the Dominion Government for the settlement and colonization of Crown lands in Manitoba, and the North-west Territories; and it shall disseminate such information with reference to Canada generally, and to Manitoba and the North-west Territory in particular, as may be deemed necessary for the advancement of immigration.

13. The arrangement now made shall last for five years, and afterwards continue for a further term of five years, unless notice is given to discontinue during the first term.

14. These proposals to be binding on the several Governments of the Provinces, which may confirm the same, but till then they are to be deemed only provisional.

The Agricultural College again.

The Opposition are determined to fight it out on the Agricultural College, if it takes up nearly the whole time of the session. On Friday they made another attack on the Government on the question of concurrence in $7,000 for gratuities to officers whose services have been dispensed with. This gave Messrs. Lauder, Cameron, and Lykert a chance for bringing up the matter of the payment of a gratuity of $1,500 to Mr. McCandless, late Principal of the College; and the former moved an amendment, indirectly censuring the Government for paying this gratuity. It was met by an amendment by Mr. Sinclair, recognizing the propriety of paying such gratuities in particular cases. The reasonableness of this proposition was so apparent that Mr. Lauder's amendment was only supported by three members, and the mover himself, acting on a correct conviction for once in his life, voted against his own amendment, and in support of Mr. Sinclair's!

The candid statement made by Mr. Mowat in regard to his dealings with Mr. McCandless, shows how considerate the Attorney-General was to this officer. He was retained in his position, as Mr. McCandless truly says, until the success of the College was imperilled, and even after his incapacity was proved beyond all question. Mr. Mowat, in allowing him quietly to retire without exposing his incompetence to the world, made a most liberal arrangement with him, and allowed him a gratuity which was no doubt amply sufficient to cover all actual or supposed loss he might suffer by the immediate resignation of his position. Such generous treatment is in marked contrast to McCandless's conduct since he severed his connection with the College. You cannot convince a fool of his folly, no more than you can convince a conceited upstart of his utter incompetence for the work he undertook; and so—as we firmly believe—this same pseudo Professor has been employing all his time in urging on the Opposition to ventilate his supposed grievances in the House, in the hope that he may somehow "recover" his professional reputation, and at the same time have his revenge on the Government for not condoning his mismanagement. But we are satisfied that the more this matter is stirred the worse it will be for the ex-Principal, who does not seem to have even sense enough to hide his own incapacity, but has urged on a course of action which has tended very much to expose it.

Of course, Mr. McCandless is very anxious to tell all his imaginary grievances, and at the sitting of the Public Accounts Committee on Friday, Mr. Lauder thought there was a fine opportunity for giving him a chance to do this, and for the examination of papers referring to the gratuity paid him. But he demanded papers, which, according to the resolution of the House, the Committee had no right to ask for, and when the Chairman had decided that the Committee should confine itself to its strictly legitimate work, Mr. Lauder found that he was balked in his design, and so left the examination of Mr. McCandless till another time.

Mr. Cameron, in the House, sought to bring this affair up as a matter of privilege. He objected to the ground taken by the Chairman, that the Committee had nothing to do with the circumstances connected with the removal of Mr. McCandless, but had only to see that there were vouchers for the expenditure. The House, however, concurred in the view taken by the Government, and held that it was no business of the Committee to make such inquiry; that such power only belonged to the House, when the Committee had reported to it. The Speaker accordingly ruled that this question of privilege was out of order, and so Mr. Cameron's indignant appeal went for nothing.

HALTON.—The election trial for Halton will take place at the Court House, Milton, on Tuesday, the 8th December before his Lordship, the Chief Justice. The Reform convention for the same constituency will be held on the 15th December, when delegates from each Electoral subdivision in the County, will meet for the nomination of candidates in the interest of the Government. The Milton Champion believes all local interests will be laid aside, and a solid united vote given to the parties who may be the choice of the convention. We fervently hope that this will be the case.

The directors of the Caughnawaga Ship Canal Company have resolved to construct the canal at their own expense, without the Government's interference. The company has fixed its capital at $5,000,000, and many of the wealthy men of Montreal have taken shares to the amount of $100,000 each. They expect to be able to recover the whole expenditure in a few years after the completion of the canal out of its revenues, and afterwards to pocket large dividends.

The Convention of the Liberal Conservative Association of East Elgin, held on Thursday at Aylmer, resulted in the nomination of Mr. Thomas Arkell, of St. Thomas, merchant, who was the unanimous choice.

Taking advantage of the depressed state of the market, the Dominion Premier purchased 40,000 tons of steel rails to be used on the Pacific Railway, at $54 a ton—less than the price of iron rails a few months since.

Whenever Lauder gets obstreperous, he has to be brought to his senses by Mr. Fraser, and this has given rise to a new word, for whenever Lauder gets such a lecture it is said that he has been "Frasered."

Mr. J. Allen, of Mono Mills, has been chosen Opposition candidate for Cardwell in the Ontario Legislature.

The other day, while the members of the Ontario Legislature were waiting for the Speaker's coming, the versatile member for Lincoln (Mr. Lykert) suggested that, the House not being in session, a member of the Government should volunteer a song for the general entertainment, but the first line of "GOOD BYE CHARLIE, WHEN YOU ARE AWAY," caused him to regret that he had urged his request.

MISS DE MONTFORD.—The New York Times says:—The supposed wonderful powers of the De Montford woman, the eccentric, and all the theme of much excited comment in the New England press and in private circles in Massachusetts, where most of the exhibitions have been given. Miss De Montford apparently enjoys the confidence of many thousands, who refuse to believe that the more remarkable of the mesmeric feats which she exhibits each evening are performed by collusion with clever "confederates." Several journals have printed accounts of persons who confess to having been compelled by "an irresistible fascination" to follow this singular lady from place to place, and to be completely subject to her will, and some physicians find it difficult to explain the phenomena which have been witnessed at the performances.

A curious Frenchman has recently made a calculation showing that a man talks on an average three hours a day, and at the rate of about twenty-nine octaves pages an hour. That would make about 600 a week, fifty-two good-sized volumes a year, and in a life-time of fifty years 3,600 volumes. He does not state the number of volumes spoken by the other sex, but the statistical student can multiply the product by four.

HALLOWEEN AT BALMORAL CASTLE.—Hallowe'en was celebrated at Balmoral on the night of November 2, in a very extraordinary manner. There was first a torchlight procession, in which Queen Victoria and Princess Beatrice took part, and afterward in front of the castle a huge bonfire was lighted. A hob-goblin approached, drawing a cart containing the effigy of a witch, and surrounded by fairies carrying long spears. A magic circle was formed, and the presiding elf tossed the effigy into the flames, after which the numerous company vigorously danced Scotch reels to the strains of a bagpipe. It was intended to have a ball in the castle, but as some of the company at the bonfire behaved themselves rather indecorously this part of the celebration was abandoned.

SPECIAL SERMON.—The Rev. I. B. Howard will preach a sermon on "Gambling" in the Wesleyan Church to-morrow evening. It is to be feared that this seductive form of vice is more prevalent in our midst than many persons are aware of, and it is well that our young men should have timely warning upon this subject.

FARMERS' DIARIES.

If our farmers knew how little trouble it is to keep a diary, and with what satisfaction they would look over it in a few years, we feel sure they would, many of them, be induced to begin one. A simple record of the weather and the operations of the farm, the writing of which would not occupy two minutes a day, will, in after years, be not only a source of pleasure, but also of great practical benefit; by reference back to the record of former years, one can see how late he planted certain crops, and at what time they matured, also items of interest to the family prices, &c. At Day's Bookstore will be found a large stock of Diaries and Farm Account Books, Day will sell you a large foolscap Diary for 35 cents, and Pocket Diaries from 15 cents upwards. Begin now, and it will pay you well for the few minutes' lost in entering your day's work.

THE FORSAKEN.

The readers of Edgar Poe will always remember the enthusiasm with which he wrote and spoke about the poetry of "Stella" (Mrs E. A. Lewis), and how, in his excited critique on her writings, he alluded to "The Forsaken" composed by her when she was but fourteen years old, as "the most beautiful ballad of the kind ever written. We have read it," he remarks, "more than twenty times, and always with increasing admiration. It is inexpressibly beautiful. The essential poetry of the ideas would only be impaired by foreign ornaments."

It hath been said—for all who die
There is a tear:
Some pining, bleeding heart to sigh
Our every bier;
But in that hour of pain and dread
Who will draw near
Around my humble couch and shed
One farewell tear?
Who'd watch life's last departing ray
In deep despair,
And soothe the agonizing on its way
With holy prayer?
What mourner round my bier will come
In words of woe,
And follow me to my lone home—
Sorrow and slow?
When lying on my clayey bed,
In icy sleep,
Who there by pure affection led
Will come and weep;
By the pale moon implant the rose
Upon my breast,
And bid it cheer my dark repose,
My lowly rest?
Could I but know when I am sleeping
Low in the ground,
One faithful heart would then be keeping
Watch all night round,
As if some gem lay shined beneath
That sod's cold gloom,
'T would mitigate the pangs of death,
And light the tomb.
Yes! in that hour if I could feel,
From halls of gloom,
And Beauty's presence one would steal
In secret;
And come and sit and weep by me
In night's dark hour,
Oh! I would ask of memory
No other boon:
But ah! a lonelier fate is mine,
A deeper woe:
For all I love in youth's sweet time
I soon must part;
Drawn round me my pale robes of white
In a dark spot
To sleep through death's long dreamless night,
Lone and forgot.

HELENA GRAHAM,

OR—
THE BRIDE'S SACRIFICE.

CHAPTER VII.

"Well," said old Allie, to her son and heir Evan, as he entered the long, high kitchen of Graham's lodge. "I would just like to ken what Mr. Clinton means. I canna understand these new-fangled young men 'tall. First he comes a courtin' Miss Helena, and just as soon as her back's turned he goes off an' takes up wi' Miss Jessie."

"Tain't no business of yours," said Evan, gruffly. "I should think Mr. Clinton knows what he's about."

"Yes; but I ought to tell Miss Helena 'bout it. If he is her beau he oughtn't to be takin' up with Miss Jessie."

"Better let Miss Helena look after her own beau," replied her dutiful son. "How do you know he's a courtin' Miss Jessie?"

"'Cause I saw them—yes I did—last night, down on the shore. The moon was shinin' as bright as a new pin, an' I took that litter o' kittens down to the shore to drown, when I saw Mr. Clinton a walkin' along with Miss Jessie, and he had his head stooped down, just so."

"And Aunt Allie ducked her head to illustrate it—'and was whisperin' soft stuff, just as folks do when they're in love.'"

"Well, what then?" asked Evan, growing interested.

"Well, they come up, an' saw me, an' lor, lor! I just wish you saw the look Mr. Clinton give me. Appeared as if he'd a liked to knocked my head off. But I wasn't afraid, 'deed I wa'n't; so I jos stood still and dropped a courtesy, an' Miss Jessie she got red up to the roots of her hair. 'Good evenin', sir, and young miss, sez I; 'don't be afraid, I only wants to drown these yer little kittens,' sez I, for I thought I might be polite, just as well as not."

"Oh, how are you, Allie?" says Miss Jessie, a laughin' and blashin'. "how is Evan and yer rheumatiz, these times?"

"Thank you, miss," says I, 'they's pretty well, both of them.' And then Mr. Clinton he pulled her arm right through his and marched her off with him; an' then he pitched the kittens right in the water and come home."

"Well, that wasn't much," said the sceptical Evan. "They might be walkin' on the beach, but that ain't by no means courtin'." Mr. Clinton walks with her, 'cause Miss Helena's gone, an' he ain't got nobody else to talk to."

"Just so; but that ain't all," said old Allie. "This very mornin', as I was passin' through the hall, the sittin'-room door was open, and I heard voices talkin' there; so I listened and peered in, an' there was Mr. Clinton, rampin' up and down, a talkin' to hisself."

"Well, that ain't nothin'," said the still contradictory Evan. "I've heard that Fritz talk to hisself when Mrs. Ben sent him out to work; an' he ain't in love with no one."

"But listen, honey, and don't you be puttin' me out so, 'cause it's no respect-ful—'deed it ain't," said old Allie, getting slightly indignant. "As I was sayin', I clapt my ear to the door, an' I heard him sayin' just as plain as nothin' 'tall: 'Oh, enchantin', bewilderin' Jessie! if I had never met you I might yet be happy! Then what did he say that for if he wasn't in love?'"

"This last was a settler. Evan felt that his mother had the best of the argument, and unwilling to seem defeated, he went out, leaving the old lady to enjoy her triumph."

Three days had passed since the departure of Helena, and certainly Herbert's conduct seemed to justify old Allie's suspicion. Unable to break the thrall which bound him, wishing, yet unable, to fly from the spell of the enchantress, he lingered still by her side. There was shame, dishonor, sin, in remaining; but, oh, there was death, misery, and desolation in going. All worldly considerations, her unknown birth, her obscure connections, her lowly rank, were swept away like walls of ooze before the fierce torrent of passion that overwhelmed, conquered every other feeling in its impetuous tide.

And she loved him, this angel of beauty, this fairy princess of the isle. He could see it in the quick flush of joy at his approach—the quick, burning glances shot from her beautiful eyes, more quickly averted when they met his—her low, impassioned tones, her bright, beautiful blushes. There was joy, there was rapture in the thought; and yet, unless he forgot honor, vows, all that should have been sacred, what did this love avail?

And so, like a tempest-tossed bark on a tempest-tossed sea, he strove with passion and honor, love and remorse, right and wrong.

SLATE ROOFING PAINT!

AGENTS WANTED IN EVERY TOWN.

A Roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this slat may be made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better and lasting longer than new shingles without the slate, for ONE THIRD THE COST OF RE-SHINGLING. The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them.

The Paint is Fire-Proof

against Sparks or Flying Embers, as may be easily tested by anyone, and appears from the fact that Insurance Companies make nearly the Same Tariff as for Slated Roofs. For Tin and Iron it has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and never cracks nor scales. For Pines it is particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with Tar Sheeting Feat can be made water-tight at a small expense. The Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP!

Two gallons will cover over 100 square feet of shingle roof, or over 400 of tin or iron. No Tar is Used in this Composition, therefore, it does not effect the water from the roof, if turned off from the easter before the first few rains. On Decayed Shingles it fills up the holes and pores, hardens them, and gives a new, substantial roof that will last for years. Curved or Warped Shingles fit snugly in their place and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in tin or felt roof, and STOPS THE LEAKS. The color of the slate when first applied is dark purple, changing in about a month to a light uniform slate colour, and is, to all intents and purposes, SLATE. The Paint has a very Heavy Body, but is easily put on, and, although a slow dryer, rain will not affect it in the least one hour after applying.

ROOFS EXAMINED. ESTIMATES GIVEN.

And when required will be Thoroughly Repaired.

Orders Respectfully Solicited.

STRAUSS, the celebrated Waltz composer, to Hallet, Davis & Co.—

GENTLEMEN.—Having heard your Pianos at the World's Peace Jubilee, and also used them during my stay in Boston, I am free to say that I have never before seen pianos possessing such a combination of truly wonderful quality and quantity of tone, meeting at once the wants of the largest Concert Hall and the drawing room.

I consider them superior to any pianos that have come under my observation. JOHANN STRAUSS.

The following Musicians

An exchange says that the average yield of wheat per acre in England, generally reckoned at 30 bushels, is exactly 29 1/10 bushels. Taking Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and the small islands into the computation, the average production is 28 10/13 bushels per acre. On this basis the aggregate yield this year was about 14,000,000 quarters. As the annual home consumption is 24,000,000 quarters, Great Britain will be compelled to import, during the coming year, fully 10,000,000 quarters to make up the deficiency.

DO NOT TROUBLE YOURSELF TO ASK whether Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Calceaya may be safely taken in your particular case; being composed of elements necessary to the formation of the bone, muscle and nerve, and acting merely as a nutritive tonic, it is positively certain to benefit all ages and conditions of life, as it perfects the digestion and assimilation of food and the purification of the blood. Phosphates are the essential agents of the gastric juice and the motive power of the nervous system, and Nature's universal remedy in the animal and vegetable kingdom to augment and sustain the vital force. n204w is the great modern remedy for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Asthma, Croup and Bronchitis. It is recommended by Physicians everywhere, who are acquainted with its great usefulness.

Dr. A. L. Scovill, of Cincinnati, Ohio, says:—

"I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For coughs, and all the early stages of lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure, and if every family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night sweats, and changes all the morbid discharges to a healthy state."

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

Before Taking. After Taking. Specific Medicine

Cures all Nervous Diseases, such as Tremors, Debility, Prostration, etc., which, in many cases, are produced by over indulgence in the use of tobacco and alcoholic spirits; but the Specific Medicine is more especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhoea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a consequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other Diseases that lead to insanity or consumption, and a Premature Grave, all of which, as a rule, are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing
