AN OBT-REPEATED TALE.

HANLAN SCORES ONE MORE BOWLING VICTORY.

The much over-rated Kennedy proves an easy victim—The record books by Kennedy's record.

Point of View, Mass., May 31.—This usually rather dead watering place was today all bustle and excitement. The attendance was large, considering the disappointment caused by the postponement yesterday. Of course it was not so large as it would have been had there been no postponement. Still the crowd, which was of the usual motley character, met with as great sporting events, and fairly be estimated at from five to ten thousand.

Stationed on the balcony of the mammoth Hotel Pines a magnificent view of the whole contest could be obtained. The scene was a charming one, and looking across the beautiful stretch of water lying between Pines Point and Mable's Island, and then, on the other, to the fair city of Lynn, and the fine beach and smooth water, every one was bound to admit that there was no more admirable place for a boat race than there is not in this country.

From beach and balcony the stars, striking and flash could be seen with the unaided eye, while with a glass the banded car and quivering shell, the swelling mane and extended brows of the oarsmen, might almost be plainly distinguished as if the noted knights of Neptune were within a stone's throw.

All day it looked as if another postponement of the Hanlan-Kennedy race was inevitable. A stiff gale from the southeast blew over the bay, cutting up the surf in long rollers over the beach and making a sea in which no racing shell could live. A heavy rain fell at intervals, and a heavy thunder storm accompanied by a brisk rain came on, beating down the white caps and clearing the air, so that both water and weather were as favorable as could be.

The contestants were ordered to their stations at 5.35. The signals were given and Kennedy and Hanlan were off to the front, leading a quarter of a length and pulling 30 strokes to the minute, while Hanlan was rowing a stroke and rolling in his boat in a manner that seemed uncomfortable.

At the end of the first quarter of a mile Kennedy still led by the same distance and was rowing 30 strokes to Hanlan's 24; time, 1.25. At the half mile the boats were even. Hanlan rowing 36 and Kennedy 38; time, 2.52.

At the 1 mile boat, Hanlan was leading by three quarters of a length, pulling 30 strokes to Kennedy's 26; time, 4.20. Hanlan's right oar was at this time going up in a suspicious manner, but very quickly settled down to his work, and at the mile he was leading by 1 1/2 lengths, rowing 32 strokes to Kennedy's 33; time, 5.58.

At the mile and a quarter Hanlan led by four lengths, rowing 31 to Kennedy's 33; time 7.51. Both men now steered very wildly. At the turn Hanlan led by five lengths. He was rowing 32 strokes and his time was 9.29. Kennedy was pulling 33 strokes per minute. He next crossed the line at the mile and three quarters. Hanlan was a long way in front, rowing 28 strokes; time 11.21.

At two miles Hanlan led by five lengths, rowing 28 strokes to his opponent's 31; time 12.30. At 2 1/2 miles Hanlan was rowing easily at a rate of 32 to the minute; time 14.11. Hanlan passed the 3 mile mark in 15.37, pulling 29 strokes, while Kennedy was putting in good miles to the time of one in two seconds.

At 3 miles the same distance divided the boats and both had slightly quickened the pace, Hanlan rowing 32 and Kennedy 30. The signals were given and the line in good style. The winner's time was 19 minutes 4 seconds, which is the fastest on record for a three mile race with a turn, but the accuracy of the measurement of the course is doubted by some. Kennedy's time was 19.52, showing he was about twenty yards behind.

REMARKS.
At the start Kennedy was enthusiastically cheered, and from all along the beach came shouts of encouragement. He responded by putting his whole soul into his work, but his every effort was vain, for it was apparent from the start that he was only a second or two behind Hanlan. He rowed steadily and well within himself. He knew the reserve power that was in him, and he was calmly waiting for the proper moment to come to go to the front. It came approaching the middle buoy and without any apparent extra effort he drew up level, and then shot ahead and from that time out had things all his own way. Up to the mile the race had been pretty to look at. There were fears of a foul and indications that both men were going out of the course. Hanlan was apparently the first to discover this and thereby gained several lengths. By this time Hanlan had headed Kennedy and turned the stake boat four or five lengths in advance. After turning the stake boat Hanlan occasionally reduced his stroke to a minimum and rowed at ease, while Kennedy kept nearly the same stroke throughout the race.

As the men came from the water Hanlan was greeted with hearty cheers and appeared as though returning from a practice spin rather than from a match race. Kennedy's reception was less enthusiastic.

After the race, when Hanlan had done his walking suit, he was followed to the Hotel Pines, where he made his headquarters, and upon reaching the balcony was loudly cheered and called upon to speak. He said he had upheld the record of the honest oarsmen and without any apparent extra effort he drew up level, and then shot ahead and from that time out had things all his own way. ### MCCOAN AND O'KELLY.

AN INTERESTING QUARREL BETWEEN TWO IRISH MEN.

One sends the other a challenge and the matter is brought up in the House of Commons.

LONDON, May 31.—In the house of commons last afternoon Mr. McCoan, member for Wicklow, stated that Mr. O'Kelly, M.P. for Roscommon, had sent him a challenge through Mr. O'Brien, chairman of a remark from the house.

Mr. Gladstone moved that Mr. O'Kelly be requested to appear in his place tomorrow because of the complaint made by Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. O'Brien, Harpell and Ball objected to the reference of private quarrels to parliament. Mr. Ball thought it would suffice if Messrs. McCoan and O'Kelly were bound over to keep the peace.

Mr. Gladstone's motion was carried by 250 to 100.

In making his statements, Mr. McCoan said he addressed his constituents during the White-noodle race, and his speech was reported in the Freeman's Journal. In referring to the suggestion of Mr. O'Kelly, he said the house was at least 2000 ft. above the level of the sea.

THE LONDON DYNAMITERS.

TRUE BILLS RETURNED AGAINST THE WHOLE RANGING.

The Recorder's Charge—The Prosecution is to Mainly Depend Upon the Evidence of Lynch, alias Norman.

LONDON, May 31.—In the central criminal court to-day, the recorder charging the grand jury, referred to the dynamite conspirators, Gallagher brothers, Whitehead, Corbin, Ansbrough and Wilson, and the said indictments would charge them with treason-felony. He stated that Lynch, alias Norman had been permitted to give evidence for the queen, and he would describe the plans of the felonious conspiracy which existed in America. If the grand jury believed the prisoners were connected with that conspiracy they would return a true bill against them. Lynch's evidence would be most fully corroborated. The charge had been preferred against some of the crown was decided as to the exact nature of the indictment. A second indictment would be preferred against the prisoners, including Lynch, for having in their possession nitro-glycerine with intent to murder Lynch would also be permitted to give evidence in this case.

AN ESPLANADE ECONOMY.

HOW THE GREAT WASTE OF SPACE CAN BE RECTIFIED.

A Well Known Engineer's Plan for Re-arranging the Railway Tracks—A New Southern Street Not Necessary.

The special committee of the city council having charge of Esplanade matters met a number of railway men and representatives at the city hall yesterday afternoon. Major Howell was in the chair. Present the committee—Messrs. W. B. MacMurich, solicitor for the Grand Trunk company, E. B. Oler and W. Whyte of the Credit Valley, Edmund Wrage of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce companies both met in letters stating when they considered should be done. The grievances of the Credit Valley are already well known.

Mr. Chaurse has prepared a plan showing that an expenditure of large sums of money might be avoided by a re-arrangement of tracks on the Esplanade. This could be done at one-fourth the expense of moving the shunting yards to the outskirts of the city, as proposed by the Grand Trunk railway company. To construct a yard, ten miles of track was required, and including the removal of the Grand Trunk railway route which would cost about $150,000. He did not think the new roadway south of the Esplanade was necessary to secure increased accommodation. This might be postponed for the present by a re-arrangement of the existing track facilities. The plan he suggested would give about fifty per cent more accommodation at the Union station. A new street could be constructed north of the station, and three additional tracks could be laid near to the spot on the north side. This would still leave a street on both the north and south sides of the Esplanade. The Credit Valley and Northern railways could occupy two additional tracks, entering the station from the east, and the freight tracks could be moved to the west of the station. A new yard could be made, consisting of eighteen parallel tracks, giving about the capacity now existing, by putting them closer together and rearranging the old water works property and street. This would be done at a cost of $100,000. The arrangement would cost $300,000 to $500,000. The yard should be made the control of one company, and the freight companies A bridge across John street was unnecessary. Access could be got to the Credit Valley lots by filling in a short space by way of Simcoe or York streets.

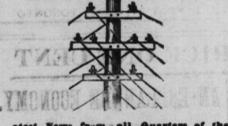

All these suggestions were made without taking into consideration who owned the land over which the re-arranged tracks would be laid. The committee was anxious to hear what Mr. Chaurse had to say about the Esplanade east of Yonge street. He informed them that it would take five days to draw up a plan. He had pressing engagements at present, but promised to return in the next few days to draw up a plan. The committee adjourned without taking further action. Mr. Chaurse's remarks taken down in extenso. He would submit them, together with a tracing of his plan, to the Grand Trunk company. Nothing further will be done until that company is heard from again.

THE OBSTINATE CITY MEDICAL COUNCIL.
Dr. Caniff, the city medical officer, has made an inspection of Garrison creek in accordance with instructions from Mayor Gosnell. A long letter from the doctor was read at the meeting of the council last night. After describing the well known pollution of this sluggish stream, the letter contained the following recommendations:

"The state of the Garrison creek calls for the most prompt and decided action. It is a source of great annoyance to the city, and its pollution may be lessened by the following measures:—1. The creek should be cleaned up by the removal of all refuse and rubbish. 2. The creek should be straightened and deepened. 3. The creek should be surrounded by a wall of concrete. 4. The creek should be covered over with a concrete slab. 5. The creek should be filled up and a new street laid out in its place. 6. The creek should be converted into a park. 7. THE TENDAY BOAT RACE.

No boat race that has ever been held in this city has attracted so much interest as that which is now being held at Point St. Charles.

The reasons of this increase of popular interest in the doings of Toronto's representative oarsmen are not far to seek.

It is possible that Wallace Ross, in their race next month at Ogdensburg, may come the champion to row faster than he has ever done.

MINISTERS OF THE GOSPEL AND HOTEL LICENSES. There is no denying the fact that all sorts of influences are brought to bear on the license commissioners in order to get them to license this house and that.

As a general thing the catholic priests, following the lead of their venerable archbishop, have been the warmest friends of temperance and sobriety, and the upholders of the law regulating the traffic.

CHRONICLE. Do you notice, said an old politician yesterday, the renewed efforts that are being put to catch the catholic vote.

To begin with, the conservatives got Mr. Patrick Boyle of the Irish Canadian that was, into their fold, and by arguments only known to the parties concerned.

Mr. Mowat, however, "saved his bacon" by a narrow majority. But the Canadian is going to spread out still more extensively, and to this end has moved into the aristocratic newspaper locality of which The World is the centre. It will endeavor to teach the doctrine that catholics should vote for the conservative party.

But what are the reformers doing? They have brought Mr. Anglin up from New Brunswick to edit the Tribune, a weekly journal of catholic opinion.

And this political activity to capture the catholic vote is not confined to these two sectarian and Irish-catholic papers.

All of which is a pretty spectacle: the two political parties of Canada lying down in the road and asking the catholic vote to walk over them.

It is altogether beyond the province of a true liberal to take any hand in such self-satisfaction in order to secure a certain vote.

Not that men like Mr. Anglin should not be encouraged to come into Ontario; we want all the men of ability we can get; but it is deplorable that no better reason for their sojourn among us can be given than that they are to manage the vote of a section of our people in the interest of one or other of the two parties.

A New York merchant has been knighted by her majesty, and now we have the spectacle of a New York paper that is to be devoted almost exclusively to American news and to anti-English editorials.

THE CONFEDERATION ANNIVERSARY. To the Editor of the World. Sir: In Mr. Houston's letter of the 29th inst. he says that my statement that "those who wish to reform the present mode of spelling try also to destroy all trace of the origin of our words," is entirely incorrect.

It is very generous of the people in the motherland to take so much interest in our welfare, but it is miserably humiliating to think that our relatives should have to make such begging excursions.

The telegraph brought accounts of the blessing of the imperial banner of Russia at the Kremlin, in Moscow, on Wednesday last, being one of the preliminary ceremonies to the coronation.

Our art reporter is considerably exercised over Mr. Cruikshank's clever letter to art and art critics. He thinks that our artists would have a hard time of it if Mr. Cruikshank were appointed official critic to the academy.

REMEMBER SOUND AND WELL. H. V. Pierce, M. D. Dear Sir—My wife, who had been ill for over two years, and had many other ailments, became sound and well by using your "Favorite Prescription."

A Maine hog swam three miles. Somebody must have whispered "Bismarck" in its ear.

he will not pretend to speak authoritatively as to whether the "plucking of live down" is barbarous or not.

Recently a man, heretofore of good business and religious reputation in Belleville, was hauled up on a charge of forgery.

The United States is a great country, and the Americans are people of big ideas, but not as far as banks are concerned.

A state election comes off in Ohio this year, and the liquor license question is the foremost issue of the day there; in fact, the one upon which the election will be decided.

THE ORIGIN OF OUR WORDS. To the Editor of the World. Sir: In Mr. Houston's letter of the 29th inst. he says that my statement that "those who wish to reform the present mode of spelling try also to destroy all trace of the origin of our words," is entirely incorrect.

INDEPENDENCE. To the Editor of the World. Sir: In a late letter of mine my bad writing and a printer's error made me talk of the pronunciation of the English language being "prohibited" instead of "prostituted."

TO BE REMEMBERED. In conclusion let me say with Mr. S. Clark, "Truly, a little knowledge is a dangerous thing." As an examining board of H. M.'s royal navy recently admitted when by a mistake John Winstler returned, "Why, gentlemen, if h, l, o, x, don't spell 'blocks,' would you like to know what it do spell."

A Story of London Life That Will be Worked up at Greater Length.

The gardeners of a South London public park had, on more than one occasion, discovered that various liberties had been taken with the newly-arranged beds of snowdrops and crocuses, and set a watch for the delinquent, who was an early morning visitor.

Report of a fire in a Maine paper: "In about half an hour the store of L. K. Cary was wrapped in flames, and the red tongues licked up the dry material with an epicurean zeal until but one broad sheet of fire hurried itself across the intervening space and set the fatal mark on the splendid building of Gray & Co."
