Paris Presents the Appearance of a Camp-Strikers Said To Be Losing Their Enthusiasm-An Echo of the Dreyfus Discussion.

Paris, Oct. 12 .- The French Government, it is reported, has been informed that its dispatch to Major Marchand, forwarded by the courtesy of the Brittish Government through the sirdar, has already been delivered, and that Major Marchand is sending an officer with his reply to Cairo, whence it will be telegraphed to Paris, probably arpapers are making strong efforts to excite public opinion against Great Britain, but it is believed in the best informed circles that Major Marchand will be authorized to return by way of Cairo. The London correspondent of the Matin admits that the evidence supports the truth of the reports as to the deperate condition in which Gen. Kitchener fornd Major Marchand, and as to the latter's almost utter lack of supplies of any kind. He says: "It is probable that Major Marchand confessed his inability to retain the position, even if not handicapped by the presence of the British and the dervishes. It is, however, out of the question that Marchand should accept the British offer, courteous though it may be, to provide him transportation to Cairo. If he admits the impracticability of remaining at Fashoda, he ought to fall back to his former post at Bahr-El-Ghazel. such an event France could negotiate with Great Britain to enable her to revictual and reinforce Major Marchand by the only possible route, namely, the Nile. Where persuasion has failed to induce hesitation workmen to join the strikers, a mild sort of violence has been tried. They has-tened down to solid earth as quickly as possible, where they were informed they must join the strikers.

CHARACTERISTIC CARTOON. Caron Aranche's cartoon in the Figaro has sinister weight. It represents the blind republic turning into the 28th year of her existence. Awaiting her in the road are a Medusaheaded hag holding brief bags of the Dreyfus affair, a sturdy workman standing idle with folded hands, Britannia with a trident and shield bear-ing the motto "Fashoda," the Duc d'Orleans and the Prince Louis Napoleon, both ready to enter into posession of France; a scowling Arab and a long perspective of other enemies. And right into their midst is walking the blind Phrygian-bonneted figure.

100 African Chiefs Held for Assassinating Missionaries.

The Trolley in London-Piper Find. later's Case.

London, Oct. 12.-Native chiefs to the number of 100 have been arrested and are awaiting trial at Freetown, capital of the British colony of Sierra Leone, for the murder of American and other missionaries at Kwelu in May last. A number of the chiefs implicated have already been convicted. The rebellion in May, 1898, which led to the massacre of the missionaries of the west coast of Africa grew out of the dissatisfaction of the natives with the imposition of the hut tax, and spread through the Sherbro district, where the headquarters of the American missionaries, members of the United Brotherhood of America, are located, and where the members of the United Brotherhood of Christ were killed. The insurgents burned the mission houses and murdered a number of the American missionaries, including Mr. and Mrs. Cain and the Misses Archer, Hatfield and Scheneck. Others of the missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Burtner, Mr. and Mrs. Minshall and ed in escaping to Freetown. Terrible experiences were recounted by those who escaped. For three days there was awful bloodshed, while the natives were engaged in the work of massacre and destruction. A boat's crew from a British warship just reached a mission house in time to rescue Miss Muller. A number of natives frightfully besmeared with the blood of earlier victims, had already surrounded the building when the sailors appeared on the scene and rescued the women. A British expedition was subsequently dispatched to the scene of the uprising and the cremated bodies of the murdered missionaries were recovered. The British then severely punished the rebellious natives, but the search for Mrs. Cain, who fled to the bush at the time of the massacre proved fruitless, and it was concluded she was killed. TROLLEY IN LONDON. The highways committee of the London county council has recommended the granting of permission for the first overhead trolley system in London. The United Tramways Company asked permission to try the experiment on one mile of track along Uxbridge road in the western end of

it proves unsuccessful or unsuitable. FINDLATER'S CASE. # HOW DISEASES

Board of Health Will Investigate With a View to Preventing Causes.

Death Rate of Consumptive and Diph. theria Patients Increaling-Dr. Hutchinson's Salary to Remain as at Present-Regulations for Rag-Picking Industries-Another Sewer.

The board of health, at the regular meeting, held last night, decided to have an investigation into the causes of the largely increased death rate of persons as a result of consumption and diphtheria. The matter was brought to the board's attention by Dr. Hutchinson in his report of the proceedings of the convention of medical health officers at Ottawa. From information gathered and papers read at the convention by Dr. Bryce, it became at once apparent that all kinds of tubercular diseases, as well as diphtheria, were increasing, and as the Provincial Government had already done all in its power to prevent the spread of infectious diseases, the municipalities were advised to take up the matter. The establishment of homes for the treatment of persons in the first stages of consumption had been advocated. The causes for the increased number of consumptive and diphtheretic patients were many. One of the chief causes, however, was the contraction of these diseases by germs conveyed by means of books and papers which had been perused by persons suffering from these complaints. Books used in the sick room for days were circulated through various means to other houses, where these diseases soon afterwards made their appear-

Ald. Taylor asked if any record were kept of the increase in the number of diphtheria cases treated since the establishment of the free library. In London the year before the public library was opened, only 52 cases were treated at the hospital. The following year he believed there had been 118 cases. It occurred to him that in all probability the disease was conveyed by means of the books. It was likely the same was the case with consump-

Mayor Wilson thought the matter should be taken up and dealt with, as it was a serious one.

Mr. Christie asked if there were any proper means of fumigating the books of the public library, and was answered in the negative.

Dr. Hutchinson said that where he found contagious diseases, all books, etc., were removed.

Ald. Taylor opined that books would be supplied by friends of the patients in spite of any such order. In cases of consumption, reading was about the only thing left for the patients to do, and they would get the books in spite of forty-five medical officers.

A committee was appointed, on motion of Mr. Christie and Prof. Bow-man, consisting of Dr. Cl. T. Camp-Mayor Wilson, Ald. Taylor and Prof. Bowman, to go over the report of the convention with Dr. Hutchinson, the important suggestions contained in it, secure all information obtainable, and report to the board, with a view of preventing the spread of these diseases. DR. HUTCHINSON'S SALARY. The memorandum from the council concerning the increase of the salary of the medical health officer caused a The memo prolonged discussion. read as follows: "That the salary of the medical health officer be not increased, and that all moneys paid over and above his usual salary be deducted from his salary until paid Dr. Hutchinson's salary was raised early in the spring from $1,000 to $1,566, on motion of Mayor Wilson, and ever since there has been a kick in the council. Mr. D. W. Blackwell voiced his disapproval of the large increase. He had opposed it at the time it was made, he thought $200 quite sufficient. The increase had been 50 per cent, and was 150 per cent more than Dr. Hutchinson himself expected. City officials got their increases, it appeared to him, by approaching the members of the different boards. Dr. Cl. T. Campbell did not think $1.500 excessive for a competent man. If the medical health officer made mistakes death was likely to follow. If he were not a competent man, it was for the board to say, and see that there was a competent health officer. Prof. Bowman said he had opposed the increase of $500, but was favorable to an increase, and thought that the board should be responsible for certain expenses of the health officer. Dr. Campbell thought that as it was so near the end of the year the matter might lie on the table for the new board to deal with.

Mr. Bowman and Mayor Wilson moved to file the matter, and this was

No matter how it turns out this year, Boston and Baltimore have had a monopoly of the championships since the twelve-club league was formed. Boston won in '92, '93 and '97, Baltimore in '94, '95 and '96.

With the closing of the season several of the Reds are becoming bene-dicts. Charley Irwin and Billy Dammann were married a few days ago, and Corcoran will be married on the 17th to a Miss Daisy Sykes Flower, of Cincinnati. McFarland, the utility outfielder, and McBride are also to join the ranks in a few weeks.

Monte Cross was so heartbroken over a recent defeat of the Phillies at New Yorks' hands that he cried after the game. A hard loser is always an earnest player. When the Reds dropped that game to Boston which sent the crowd out of League Park looking like an aggregation of pall-bearers, Tom Corcoran, who turned out a pair of fumbles that ended in the disaster, found his appetite gone when he sat down to supper that night.

It is probable that an attempt will be made at Albany this winter to enact a law legalizing Sunday baseball games. The Brooklyn and New York National League clubs are both anxious for such a measure, and there will be strong efforts made in its behalf in Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester, Albany, Troy, and the State League cities in New York. A recent decision by a supreme court judge in Rochester has made it appear that Sunday ball is contrary to law in the state.

Miss Edith Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., writes: "I take pleasure in expressing my faith in your 'Favorite Prescription.' I had been troubled with female weakness for some time and also with a troublesome drain on the system, but now I am happy and well. I will cheerfully recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all invalid laddea."

The season is longer than the patrons care to have it. It begins too early and closes too late, and there aren't enough open dates to allow sufficient rest and traveling comfort. The four-trip scheme has proved successful and will probably be retained. The extra expense is comparatively slight, and the added attractions of frequent changes of competitors is considerable.

Tiffin, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Capt. Peter Nagle, of this city, defeated Capt. Duncan C. Ross, of New York, champion swordsman of America, at the Driving Park, winning four of seven bouts in a mounted sword contest. Ross immediately challenged Nagle to another combat.

ENGLISHMEN AT CHICAGO. Chicago, Oct. 12.-The picked cricket leven from all Chicago escaped being defeated by the English team account of rain. On Saturday night Capt. Werner's men scored 295 runs in their first inning. The local players made a total of 74 for their inning. Being behind they followed up the batting after luncheon, and made 83 runs for the loss of seven wickets. Rain began falling in torrents, but as the Englishmen could not remain to finish the match, it was declared a drawn game, although the visitors were at the time 138 runs ahead with another inning to play.

FISTIC. A KNOCKOUT.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 12.-Kid Goulette hooked his right to Joe Hop-kins Monday night in the middle of the ninth round, of what was to have been a 25-round bout, and put the colored "whirlwind" to sleep. The knock-out, the first ever admin-istered to Hopkins in his career of eight years in the ring, was delivered before a wildly enthusiastic crowd of 1,000 people, at the Rienas Athletic Club. Hopkins did most of the ag-Club. gressive work, but Goulette defended himself well.

Grandmothers THE Y. P. S. C. E.

the young minister, the family record is brought out. Paul practically says: "Timothy, what a good grand-mother you had! You ought to be better than most folks, because not only was your mother good, but your grandmother was good also. Two preceding generations of piety ought to give you a mighty push in the right direction." The fact was that Timothy needed encouragement. He was in poor health, having a weak stomach, and was a dyspeptic, and Paul pre-scribed for him a tonic, "a little wine for thy stomach's sake"—not much wine, but a little wine, and only as a medicine. And if the wine then had been as much adulterated with logwood and strychnine as our modern wines, he would not have prescribed

But Timothy, not strong physically, is encouraged spiritually by the recital of grandmotherly excellence, Paul hinting to him, as I hint this day to you, that God sometimes gathers up as in a reservoir, away back of the active generations of today, a godly influence, and then in response to prayer lets down the power upon children and grandchildren and greatgrandchildren.

The good women whose tombstones were planted in the eighteenth century are more alive for good in the nine-teenth century than they were before, as the good women of this nineteenth century will be more alive for good in the twentieth century than now. Mark you, I have no idea that the grandmothers were any better than their grand-daughters. The celebrated Frenchman, Volney, visited this country in 1796, and he says of women's diet in those times: "If a premium was offered for a regimen most destructive to health, none could be devised more efficacious for these ends than that in use among these people." That eclipses our lobster salad at midnight. Everybody talks about the dissipation of modern society, and how womanly health goes down under it, but it was worse a hundred years

But still, notwithstanding that those times were so much worse than ours, Nannie Davis 2, Official 3. Time, 1:321/2. there was a glorious race of godly women, seventy and a hundred years ago, who held the world back from sin and lifted it toward virtue, and with-out their exalted and sanctified influence, before this the last good influence would have perished from the

These old folks are the resort when These old folks are the resort when great troubles come, and there is a How much would I give to see my mocalming and soothing power in the touch of an aged hand that is almost supernatural. Is it not time that you and I do two things-swing open a picture gallery of the wrinkled faces and stooped shoulders of the past, and call down from their heavenly thrones the godly grandmothers, to give them our thanks, and then to persuade the mothers of today that they are living for all time, and that against the sides of ever cradle in which a child is rocked, beat the two eternities? You often hear about your influence upon your own children; I am not talking about that. What about your influence upon the twentieth century, upon the thirtieth century, upon the fortieth century, upon the year 2000, upon the year 4000, if the world lasts so long? Do not let the grandmothers any longer think that they are retired, and sit clear back out of sight from the world, feeling that they have no relation to it. The mothers of the last century are today, in the person of their descendants, in the senates, the parliaments, the palaces, the pulpits, the banking houses, the professional chairs, the prisons, the almshouses, the company midnight brigands, the cellars, ditches of this century.

If a mother tell a child he is not good some bugaboo will come and catch him, the fear excited may make the child a coward, and the fact that he finds that there is no bugaboo may make him a liar, and the echo of that false alarm may be heard after fifteen generations have been born and have expired. If a mother promises a child a reward for good behavior, and after the good behavior forgets to give the reward, the cheat may crop out in some faithlessness half a thousand years further on. If a mother cultivate a child's vanity, and eulogize his curls, and extol the night-black or sky-blue or nut-brown of the child's eyes, and call out in his presence the admiration of spectators, pride and arrogance may be prolonged after half a dozen family records have been obliterated. If a mother express doubt that some statement of the Holy Bible in a child's presence, long after the gates of this historical area have closed, and the gates of another era have opened, the result may be seen in a blasphemer. But, on the other hand, if a mother walking with a child see a suffering one by the wayside, and says, "My child, give that ten-cent piece to that lame boy," the result may be seen on the other side of the lowing century in some George Muller building a whole village of orphanages. If a mother sit almost every evening by the trundle-bed of a child, and teach it lessons of a Savior's love and a Savior's example, of the importance of truth and the horror of a lie, and the virtues of industry, and kindness, and sympathy, and self-sacrifice, long after the mother has gone and the child has gone, and the lettering on both

Why, who do you think the Lord is? You talk as though his memory was weak. He can as easily remember a prayer uttered five centuries ago as a prayer offered five minutes ago. This explains what we often see-some man or woman distinguished for benevolence when the father and mother were distinguished for penuriousness, or you see some young man or woman with a bad father and a hard mother come out gloriously for Christ, and make the church sob and shout and sing under their exhortations. Among our first questions in heaven will he. 'Where is grandmother?" They will point her out. for we would hardly know her, even if we had seen her on earth-so bent over with years once and there so straight, so dim of eye through the blinding of earthly tears, and now her eve as clear as heaven. so full of aches and pains once and now so agile with elastic health. the wrinkles blooming into carnation roses. and her step like the roe on the mountains. You must see those women of the early part of the nineteenth century, and those of the eighteenth century, the answer of whose prayers is in your welfare today. God bless all the aged women up and down the land and in all lands! What a happy thing for Pomponius Atticus to say when making the funeral address of his mother: "Though I have resided with her sixtyseven years, I was never once reconciled to her, because there never happened the least discord between us, and consequently there was no need of reconciliation." Sweet Refreshing Sleep Comes to those who use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

It is impossible for those whose nervous system is shattered, and whose heart action is weak, to get undisturbed and refreshing slumber. Their sleep is broken into by terrible dreams, startings, Smothering Spells, Sinking Sensations, and fear of impending death.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Fells, bring back the much-needed night's rest, by improving the tone of the nerves, strengthening the heart, enriching the blood and making the whole organization act in harmony—then you sleep peaceful as a child.

Mrs. E. Coburn, of Blenheim, Ont., suffered severely for many years, but Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have cured her. Here is her statement : 'When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills my heart troubles were very bad. "I could get but little sleep because of the terrible smothering sensation, and was also weak and run down. I have taken three boxes of these wonderful pills. They relieved my heart trouble, enabled me to get restful sleep, removed the smothering sensation, and made me feel better than I have for years. I have been treated by a number of well-known and skillful physicians, both in Michigan and Canada, but Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the only medicine which has acted well in my case, and I heartily commend their Opening Session of the Provincial Convention.

The Delegates Well Cared For-Rev. Robert Johnston Preached the Convention Sermon-Addresses by Hon. George W. Ross and Others.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 12.-Up till late last evening about 500 delegates had arrived to attend the convention of the Y. P. S. C. E. of Ontario, and many more are expected. The arrangements for receiving and billeting the delegates were ferfect.

The convention proper opened at 2 p.m. at the drill hall with a song service, in which 200 voices took part. Dr. Fraser, of Knox Church, Hamilton, led the devotional exercises.

Rev. Robert Johnston, of London, preached the convention sermon. The drill was designed to provide for 4,000 people, and about 2,500 chairs were occupied last night in spite of the disagreeable weather, when stirring addresses were delivered by Rev. Elliott S. Rowe, of Toronto, and Hon. G. W.

Rev. Robert Johnston, who delivered a great convention sermon, took the 21st chapter of St. John as his text. He spoke on the consecration of the individual, his desire being to show that the words "Lovest thou me?" spoken by Jesus to Peter was the sum and substance of Christian principles. Mr. D. A. Rowland brought the greetings from the local preparation committee to the visiting delegates. Rev. J. G. Sheaver, of Hamilton, on behalf of the pastors, told the convention why Christian Endeavor is welcome to the pastors, and how it may be made more so. Rev. A. F. McGregor responded to the address of welcome in a few wellchosen words. The evening service opened with an orchestral selection, followed by a beautiful chorus. Elliot S. Rowe, of Toronto, gave a fine address on Christian sociology.

The minister of education, Hon George W. Ross, followed with an address on Christian citizenship.

London Adbertiser. [ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1863.]

Managing Director John Cameron and Editor,

London, Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1898.

All Eyes on the Yukon. The Canadian Government must carefully consider the political outlook in the Yukon. It is pretty clear from some things that are being said that an attempt will be made to force the administration to abandon the royalty as a source of revenue. There are a good many thousand persons in the Yukon who have not gone there to mine, but to subsist on those who do mine. There are many reasons for reaching the conclusion that it is the non-mining population who have endeavored the fill the mind of the correspondent of the London Times with their grievances, and they are seeking to in-Quence the press, both of Canada and the United States, with their views. We shall watch with a good deal of interest for some time, what the officials say, because we feel that we can locate the man who is engaged in speculation by the views which he may express on this question.

The people of Canada have been obliged to incur a large expenditure of public money for the safety of the lives and property of those who have gone into the Yukon country for the purpose of mining. It is a most reasonable thing that the people, who in this matter are represented by the Crown, to whom these mines belong, should have some portion of the wealth which they produce, to meet the expenses that ownership imposes upon the country.

We have heard that many idlers about Dawson, who have never paid a dollar of royalty, because they have never spent a day in mining, not only insist upon a change of policy in this regard, but they have also entered an earnest protest against the payment of customs duties with which they have been charged. We learn that in one instance a number of them harangued several thousands of their fellows against the alleged injustice of the collection of this class of revenue.

It is very important that law and order should be maintained, but it is also highly desirable, from a national point of view, that the Government of Canada should firmly adhere to the principle of the royalty, as the best means for defraying the cost of the government of the territory, which after due consideration was adopted. They may be well assured that nearly the whole population east of the Rocky Mountains, irrespective of their party alliances, regard the royalty as a very moderate return to the people as a whole. Indeed, when it is remembered that the whole of the inhabitants of Canada are the proprietors of these mines, it is not a charge at all. If there are adventurers from Australia and from the Western States, and dead-beats from England, who thought that the Yukon would be a country in which they might prey upon the industrious miners, they have been disappointed. It is well that they should be. The country is better without them, and neither the people, the Parliament, nor the Ministers have the slightest-interest in affording to them facilities that will enable them to appropriate to their own use, by gambling houses or by other illegitimate means, the gold that by the labor of others has been taken from the mines.

Two Important Bye-Elections.

What with general elections, and bye-elections, and municipal elections, the voters of free countries are not allowed to fall into stagnation. To those too much disposed to rest and be thankful, might be narrated the reply to the bishop, who was employing the example of someone said not to have had a single difference of opinion with his wife for twenty years: "Mighty flat, my lord! mighty flat!" These regular and occasional stirrings-up of electoral feeling are all right. Better fifty years of Canada than a cycle of Cathay.

Two bye-elections for the Ontario Legislature are at the moment attracting considerable interest-that in South Ontario and that in East Wellington. In South Ontario, Hon. John Dryden, the Provincial Minister of Agriculture, unseated the opponent who by bribery and corruption had defeated him. Mr. Dryden is now again in the field, and will be a winner.

The vacancy in East Wellington is caused by the lamented death of the late Mr. Craig, the Liberal member. By unanimous vote of the convention Hon. J. M. Gibson, the Commissioner of Crown Lands in the Ontario Government, who was defeated in Hamilton, has been tendered the nomination. He, also, will be a winner.

In both constituencies, nomination day, Oct. 20; polling day, Oct. 27.

United States cotton manufacturers express alarm at the prospect of China and Japan becoming large cotton manufacturing countries. United States cotton growers express pleasure at the prospect of China and Japan becoming their best customers for raw cotton. The more cotton China and Japan manufacture the more raw cotton they will buy from the United States. The wishes of the United States cotton growers are, therefore, diametrically opposed to those of the United States cotton manufacturers. They can fight it out between them.

The After-Clap of War.

Richard Harding Davie, in the current Scribner's, goes pretty straight for what he openly terms Gen. Shafter's mismanagement of the Santiago campaign. He says he was physically unfit for the command, but did not resign, as he should have done. "So great was the obstinacy, so great the vanity and self-confidence of the man, that though he held the lives and health of thirteen thousand soldiers in his care, he did not ask to be relieved of his command." "In spite of blunder after blunder, folly upon folly, and mistake upon mistake, he still believed himself infallible, still bullied his inferior officers, and still cursed from his cot." George Kennan, another noted correspondent, also intimates, not obscurely, that Gen. Shafter must be held largely responsible for going into the Santiago campaign before seeing beyond peradventure that he had plenty of vessels for landing purposes, plenty of mules or other conveyance for shore use, and plenty of medicines and necessary comforts for the wounded and the sick.

As everybody knows, all of these things were inadequately attended to, and that much suffering and much loss of life was the result.

On the navy side, things seem to have been well managed, so that the loss in killed, wounded and sick was surprisingly small.

The Three Days' Atlantic Ocean Passage.

Principal Grant, of Queen's University, has written to the London Spectator a very strong plea in favor of connecting Great Britain and Ireland by means of a tunnel. This project, which has occupied the attention of British statesmen for some time, possses a greater interest for Canadians than many may at first sight suppose. Dr. Grant regards this endeavor to connect the two islands by physical as well as by political ties as essential to complete imperial unity, and he points to Canada's expenditures for securing of the unity of her provinces as an example to the people of the old land. Canada, he says, has spent $50,000,000 to unite her Maritime Provinces with old Canada by the material bond of a railway, and when British Columbia demanded two or three times the amount to build another railway across "the impenetrable rocky wilderness north of Lake Superior, the uninhabited plains further west, and then a wide sea of mountains, as its condition of union," Canada assented to the demand, though wise men believed that she had consented to carry out the impossible. Dr. Grant is able at this early stage in the history of the country, and notwithstanding the extravagance and corruption that attended the construction of the national highway, to assert that the line has paid the Dominion-not in cash, it is true, but in assets more indispensable to the nation. Similarly, the construction of the submarine link between Great Britain and Ireland seems to be an absolute necessity as an imperial bond between the two islands, where the title deeds of the empire are, and where they must always remain.

If this tunnel were constructed, Principal Grant points out, the nearest British terminus to a short passage across the Atlantic Ocean would be on the west coast of Ireland -probably at Galway - and Green Bay, on the east coast of Newfoundland, would be the western terminus of the ocean passage. The distance between these two points is only 1,700 miles, or three days' steaming for a first-class Cunarder. Thus, 1,200 miles would be cut off the ocean passage, as compared with the distance now traversed on the stormy Atlantic when passage is taken by way of New York. Railway connection can be supplied by building a branch line of forty miles length to Green Bay from the most northerly station on the Newfoundland transinsular line, which has just been constructed across that island by Mr. Reid. Ten hours only would thus be occupied in taking passengers and mails across that island to Port aux Basques, and after six hours of steam-system. ing across Cable Straits, they would reach Sydney, Cape Breton, the terminus of the Canadian Intercolonial Railway, by which access would be given with all haste to the other great lines of railway in Canada and the United States.

Thus the new route here outlined will cut the present ocean passage in two, and it is almost sure to be adopted by some enterprising association of capitalists at no distant date. That it would be a success there can scarcely be any doubt, for few ocean passengers would care to undergo the tedium and sickness incident to the longer passage if this one were available. Dr. Grant does well to point out the importance of completing the link by providing for a tunnel between England and Ireland, and by making the eastern port of this phenomenally short and advantageous ocean route on the west coast of Ireland.

Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, M.P., has obtained a franchise from the Sultan for the electric lighting of Smyrna and Salonica. Sir Ellis visited the Sultan during the Armenian atrocities, and hastened to assure the world that Abdul was a sweet, angelic creature, who had been shamefully maligned. No doubt the foxy knight had the electric lighting contract in his mind's eye at the time.

It is odd to hear Conservative papers calling for investigation of the Yukon "scandal," so-called. Which of them would have called for the investigation of any scandal touching the administration prior to 1896?

The Italian Minister of Marine has renounced his sweeping naval programme for lack of funds. Had this kind of renunciation been practiced earlier in both branches of the military service, Italy would not now be facing bankruptcy and revolution.

The billeting committee of the Christian Endeavor convention, which opened in Hamilton yesterday, had trouble in getting billets for the delegates. This is no reflection on Hamilton's hospitality. It is merely another proof that the billeting system is nearly played out.

The New York Herald has a cockand-bull story about the Canadian commissioners blocking reciprocity by asking everything, and conceding nothing. Meanwhile the Conservative press on this side insists that the Canadian commissioners are yielding everything and asking nothing. Strike an average between the two statements, and you may come near the truth.

The latest Government report shows that there are 14,465,371 children in the public schools of the United States, but the average daily attendance is only 9,747,015. These require an army of 400,325 teachers, of whom 269, 959 are women and 130,266 men. There are 240,968 school houses valued at $455,948,164. The annual cost of the schools is $181,453,870.

Armour, of Chicago, has made arrangements by means of refrigerator cars and steamers, to land dressed beef in England every day. With dressed beef, chilled beef, frozen rabbits, foreign bacon and other meat products pouring in, what has become of "the roast beef of old England," which was once said to be the true source of British greatness? Has cold storage frozen it out?

The acquisition of Barotseland by the Chartered Company, again illustrates the fact that the greater part of the British Empire has been won without Government initiative. In fact, much of the territory under the Union Jack today has been forced upon reluctant British Governments by commercial corporations like the Chartered Company. The path has been usually blazed in the first place by the roving Briton prompted mainly by the love of adventure. In this way, the foundations of the British Empire have been laid unconsciously.

The old age pension bill, which has passed the present New Zealand Assembly, applied to all persons over 65 years old. The pension amounts only to $90 a year, or about $175 a week, and no one who has an income of over $5 a week or property worth more than $2,700 will be entitled to it. Again, $5 of the pension will be deducted for every $5 of income which a pensioner may receive from other sources. There are certain other qualifications, among them twenty years' residence in the colony and ten years' exemplary conduct-which shuts off the vagrant and the drunkard.

Only by discussion and consideration of what is rapidly becoming more and more the burning question of the day can an effective plan of civic government be worked out. I'm in sound health, well limbed, can knit stockings and fry flap jacks that will posed of the monstrous allegation

The Department's Efforts to Arrive at the Truth.

The Monstrous Charge Against the Ontario Cabinet-Fair Play for the Doukhobortsis.

Ottawa, Oct. 10 .- Matters in connection with the Yukon administration are gradually assuming definite shape, and the efforts of the department of the interior to arrive at the truth and remedy such evils as may be proved to have actually existed are being rapidly brought into practical form. The minister himself has stated succinctly that no charge has been laid before him, but that the strictest investigation shall at once be made when material comes to hand. Major Walsh, whose appointment as commissioner was hailed with universal satisfaction, has stated that every effort on his part failed to produce a single witness who would testify to wrong-doing. The correspondent of the Toronto World, who has just reach-Victoria, and who will certainly not be suspected of favoring the government, states that no charges have been formulated and so on. The dispatches further declare that Commissioner Ogilvie is ready to begin a thorough investigation directly definite charges are made to him. THE THUNDERER TAKES A HAND. Perhaps the most important development of the last few days is the appearance of a letter in the London (England) Times, in which its correspondent severely criticises the mu-nicipal administration at Dawson and distinctly charges corruption to the officials, though still without giving the essential details. Following the lead of the Canadian Liberal papers, the Times emphasizes very strongly the necessity of prompt official action to the end that the truth may be arrived at, and points out that the sending of Mr. Ogilvie into the country as commissioner is evidence of the determination of the government to shield no one, but to get at the facts at all costs, adding, "there is a general conviction, fully shared by people of the mother country, that the Canadian Government have neither any sympathy with such practices nor the slightest disposition to shield the guilty persons. There is not in Canada any more than here any organized system of corruption." The Times in common with all other unbiasedmobservers thoroughly appreciates the difficulties of the situation.

A MONSTROUS CHARGE DROPPED The Ontario election trials are going on apace, and so far have proved just as satisfactory to the government as was to be expected. The most notable event of the week has been the dismissing of the petition against the commissioner of public works, after failure on the part of the prosecution to prove a single charge out of the 287 originally alleged. The only charge that was proved was of so little importance that the prosecution did not even know of it until they stumbled across it during the proceedings.

Not only was the case satisfactory to Mr. Harty and his friends; it was of wide-spread importance, as it dis-that the entire provincial cabinet had conspired to raise a boodle fund of $10,000 for the express purpose of debauching the constituency. The counsel for the petitioner, on behalf of the Conservative party, admitted that there was not one word of truth in, or even suspicion of justification for this charge, an admission which drew from the court a stern but richly deserved castigation.

Though knowing full well that this atrocious charge was without the slightest foundation, Mr. Whitney, with his chief supporters and leading papers, has worked it for all it was worth for some months past. It is not by such means that they can expect to obtain the confidence and support of the country.

DOING THE SQUARE THING.

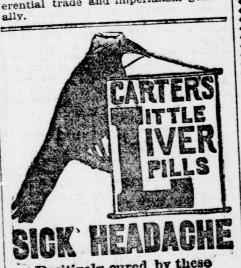

It gives one more than ordinary satisfaction to note an editorial in the Ottawa Citizen this week upon the Doukhobortsis, the Russian colonists whom it is proposed to locate in the Northwest. When first the project was made public, it was prophesied in these letters that the papers which with such evident pleasure persistently maligned the Galicians would quickly turn their mud batteries upon the new comers, and the prophecy has been amply verified, for within 24 hours the assault began. Further information, however, showed the more than ordinary injustice of this course, and the Citizen is manfully striving to atone for its error. The article in question admits that there is excellent reason to believe these people are moral, intelligent, thrifty and industrious, that their continued existence in Russia has been made well-nigh unbearable on account of religious persecution, and that they are akin in their religious convictions to the Society of Friends, than whom there is not a better sect in the Christian Church. It further gives publicity to the statement, before suppressed, that all who are brought to Canada will have sufficient means to establish themselves without assistance from the state, and that there is every reason to believe that they will make good citizens.

It is to be hoped that the Citizen's contemporaries will show like commendable desire to be kair in the treatment of this matter.

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON. The Mail-Empire has discovered that the present area of prosperity is foretold by Solomon, when he declared that "the Liberal soul shall be made fat." The Mail-Empire and its friends might learn a greater eco-nomic truth in the previous verse to that in which their quotation occurs, where it is stated that "there is that scattereth and yet increaseth, and there is that witholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty." omon pronounced many a truth that might be studied advantageously even in these latter days and this, that "expenditure" and "extravagance" are not synonymous terms is not the least of them. The Conservative organ is to be commended for its study of the Scriptures.

A JOURNALISTIC RIP VAN WINKLE. La Minerve, the resuscitated French Conservative paper of Montreal, appears to have been doing the Rip Van Winkle act during the time of its non-appearance. A few days ago it reproduced that old charge, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier destroyed any possibility of reciprocal preferential trade with the mother land, "which was the undoing of imperial federation and put the colonial secretary in a humiliating position." If La Minerve would only look up the fyles of some of its contemporaries it will find that, while it has been asleep, this fallacy has been entirely exploded, and that imperialists, from the colonial secretary himself down, are very fully alive to the immense practical value of the Canadian premier's policy in helping forward and developing preferential trade and imperialism gener-

THE RAILWAY RATE WAR

C. P. R. Will Be Represented at the Passenger Meeting-Operators Want More Pay.

Montreal, Oct. 12 .- The story from Toronto that the C. P. R. will not be represented at the passenger meeting called for today in New York is without foundation. Mr. McNichol left last evening for New York, and will represent his company at the eneeting. The rate situation will be discussed, but what the outcome will be is as yet When asked an unknown quantity. how long the meeting would likely last Mr. McNichol said: "Probably only about an hour. All I have to say won't take five minutes.'

"Is it true that the western lines are boycotting the C. P. R.?" asked the newspaper man. "Yes," responded the general passenger agent. "The Grand Trunk is now being paid its price for fighting us. The steamship companies are giving it immigrants from Europe and endeav. oring to cut us out altogether from that business. We are prepared to take action on the restoration of local rates as soon as the Grand Trunk shows a disposition to live up to the decision of the interstate commerce commission and restore its Manitoba rates to where they were before the rate war began. At points which are competitive with us the G. T. R. is still selling tickets to Manitoba at less than regular fare. When this difficulty is settled we will be prepared to do something toward restoring local rates.'

G. T. R. OPERATORS WANT MORE

Toronto, Oct. 12 .- It is understood that for some time past the operators and dispatchers of the G. T. R. system have been organizing and preparing a statement of their requirements, which a committee will place before the general manager this week on his return to Montreal from the west. They will ask for an increase of wages and a change in the working hours, dividing them into three shifts of eight hours each.

The Caradoc fall show was pretty nearly drowned out yesterday. In the early morning it rained softly, as Then, lest anybody might be bold enough to start for Mount Brydges, in spite of the steady drizzle, it began to rain in gusts and torrents, driving down diagonally at an angle of 45 degrees, so as to get in under umbrellas and lap robes. And it kept at that sort of thing till nearly four o'clock in the afternoon. There were few visitors, and the exhibits made only a handful. It was a severe disappaintment to the directors, because, though the Caradoc show has been waning of late years, the number of entries received up till the night before the fair indicated that this would be the biggest fair on record for Caradoc township.

"LADY" BANK ROBBER

Was Chased for Fifty Miles by Horsemen Before She Was Caught.

Perry, Oct. 12.—Dora Cox, a woman bank robber, horse and cattle thief and whisky seller to the Indians, is in jail for the tenth time. Dora is said to be a hypnotist, and thus escapes jail. This time the officers chased her on horseback 50 miles before they caught her. Dora is charged with assisting the Dalton gang of bandits in robbing banks. In the fall of 1893 four persons, all in men's clothing, robbed the Bank of Commerce of Pawnee, and it is said that Dora Cox, Bill Doolin, Dynamite Dick and Bitter Creek, members of the Daltons, did the work. The cashier, C. L. Berry, who has since been sent to the penitentiary for looting his bank, was tied on Dora's horse behind her and carried for miles out of town to shield the robbers from bullets. But unprovided for a sudden blow Like Niebe, we marble grow, And petrify with grief.

Dryden's words were exemplified in Gerard. His eyes were grave, his complexion pale, his bearing silent and weary. The very lethargy of grief was upon him. That he and Lucille must part he recognized as one of these tacts which dared not be disputed; also he acknowledged the plan she had adopted the best. Better for her to go; better for the marquis-the worldto learn the truth from his lips, and that the truth should be accompanied by the intelligence that he, the deepest wronged, forgave and pitied.

But one thing he refused himself, with the indomitable resolution of a. just, right-minded man; this was-again to see Lucille. His very soul craved for her; hence his determina-He had acquainted her with it, and she, from her own feeling readily understanding, had approved. Not lip to lip, not heart to heart; merely with one long hand-grasp-one passionate, pittying gaze—they had parted, breathing farewell forever. On the morning of her departure, for appearance sake, Gerard intended to drive her to the station; but, there, leaving her with her attendants, he would come quiely back and see the marquis. After which he purposed to bury himself at Lethrington, the livmonument of a dead memory. Until Lucille left he remained in his study, tutoring himself to support his trouble. It was no easy task; his very life seemed plucked away with The following morning, looking from the window on hearing carriage wheels, he saw Lucille veiled, pass quickly into the brougham. She was going out—why? On some mission, no doubt to do with her departure.

"Poor, poor child!" he murmured;
"and she so ill! May not this blow kill her, after all? Heaven! why was she, so innocent, so beautiful, born to so cruel a destiny?' Then he thought of her hour of trial which one day must come, and, ing his head, the strong man sobbed

It was some space before the earl could conquer this outburst of sorrow. He had hardly succeeded when there was a tap at the door, and the footman, entering, announced that a visitor desired to see him. 'Did I not give orders, Fern, to be denied to everyone?" demanded the

After a few seconds there entered a man, middle-sized, with an ascetic expression, and attired in the garb of a priest.

"You desire, I understand, to speak to me on business of a peculiar nature?" remarked the earl, after greeting him.

Exactly, my lord," answered the Fra, taking the chair the footman placed. Then, having remained until he had watched the domestic from the apartment, he proceeded: "I am the bearer to you, my lord, of a death-bed confession; for I did not leave the poor penitent until her eyes had closed on this world."

"Your words convey a mystery to me," said Gerard. "I know no one in Italy who could feel interested enough or have cause to occupy their last mo-

Your uncle's rather erratic mode of traveling evidently prevented the letter reaching him; and the nurse, finding the sum placed at an agent's for the child's maintenance a great benefit, did not write again, but returned to the hamlet where she had been born, taking the child with her.

"Now, my lord, comes the important part of my story. Fantina had passed herself off as a single woman, when, in fact, she had been married, and was a widow. Her husband, a fisherman, and a man of violent temper, had treated her most harshly. One evening he quarreled with her, and, despite the delicate state of her health at the time, struck her to the ound. Then he went off to sea in boat; he never returned. All she told the neighbors was that it was a little nurse-child, and it was her delong after her arrival, however, during a village festa, some Bohemians came and displayed their amusements. #### POISONOUS MUSHROOMS

The Fatal Species-Real Characteristics of the Amanitae.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Horticulturist Coryell's remarks on "Mushrooms," reported in Monday's Advertiser, are interesting reading. He truly states that there is no artificial test of the wholesomeness of a toadstool; the silver spoon test, the color test, the habitat test, and the cuticle test, are all unreliable. He gives wise advice when he tells mushroom eaters to learn the characters of the class called the Amanitae and to avoid them. One author says that a piece of one of the species the size of a bean is sufficient to kill a man. And yet, not all the amanitae are poisonous. Caesar's mushroom, which has been styled by an epicure "the food of the gods," is an amanita. It and at least two other edible amanitae grow in Canada and the United States. Mr. C. states that the three marks of an amanita are (1) the sheath at the base of the stem; (2) the ring around the stem, and (3) the scurfy top. He also states that they are probably rare. the forty-two species of amanita reported in America, five are usually said to be common. Two poisonous ones and an edible one are not rare in this county, Middlesex. I wish to point out the danger of relying on the three characters above enumerated.

First, the sheath or valve is so friable in some species, for example the rubescent amanita, that it disappears in full-grown specimens; or even when membranaceous it may be so closely adherent to the base of the stem that an inexperienced observer may overlook it, as has happened within my own knowledge with the fly-poison aman-Further, the sheath in some species is so deep and loose that when the plant is pulled up it is liable to be left in the ground and overlooked.

Nine or ten species of amanita are devoid of a ring or collar, For these Saccardo proposed a separate sub-genus:

Those that have a membranaceous volva splitting longitudinally above are usually quite smooth on the No whiter, smoother mushroom can be found than Amanita verna, popularly and properly called the Death-It and its congener, Amanita Cup. phalloides, have probably caused more fatal poisonings in this country than all other kinds of toadstools combined. The real characteristics of the amanitae cannot easily be stated in words intelligible to the ordinary reader, although they can be easily shown from the living specimens. The spores as thrown down on paper are white, gills are generally, but not invariably, white; the young plant is enveloped in a sheath or volva or veil which is attached below, but free or distinct from the epidermis or cuticle of the Sometimes fragments of this veil remain on the top and give it its scurfy appearance. The stem can be pulled out of the top without break-ing the tissue to which the gills are attached. In scientific terms the amanitae are characterized by their white spores, membranaceous, furfuraceous, orflocculose universal veil discrete from the pileus and stem detachable from the hymenophore. ### MUSIC AND DRAMA

'A Female Drummer" Tonight-"Girl From Paris" Thursday Evening-"What Happened to Jones," Two Performances on Saturday-"Side Tracked."

"FEMALE DRUMMER" TONIGHT. "A Female Drummer" will be the attraction at the Grand tonight. The production is on a magnificent scale, interpreted by artists well known throughout the country, and is destined to eclipse all the many efforts of the author as a money-maker. Three acts are necessary for the interpretation of the work, and their scenes are laid in the business offices of Smooth & Silk, the two old proprietors of a large department store; an interior view of the store in which a bargain day sale is on, and lastly the tropical gardens of a well known New York hotel, with the annual ball of the salesladies in progress. The mirth is long and hearty through the efforts of the funmakers.

"THE GIRL FROM PARIS." Edward E. Rice's latest success, "The Girl from Paris," crowds every theater it plays in to overflowing, just as it did the Herald Square Theater at every presentation. The secret of the success of the latest venture of Mr. Rice is its up-to-date spirit. It is thoroughly in touch with the times. There is something which pleases everybody in it, from the child at the matinee to the jaded men of business at the evening performance. The music of "The Girl from Paris" is singularly pretty and catchy, the mirth unbounded and spontaneous, and the action crisp, not lagging. The cast is an exceptionally strong one; not only are the members artists of repute, but each one has a part to present which perfeetly suits his or her peculiarities. It numbers some 50 persons. The production will be presented here tomorrow night by Mr. Rice's organization, with all the stage settings used at the Herald Square Theater.

"WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES." Just now the catch-phrase is, "What Happened to Jones," and various indeed are the inquiries and conjectures as to what really did happen to him. These will all be settled to the satisfaction of lovers of amusement on Saturday, matinee and night, when the funny farce will be presented at the Grand. Prepare for a big laugh, and get your seats early, for such a treat is not offered here every day.

"SIDE-TRACKED."

"Side-Tracked," a sensational comedy, was the offering at the Grand last night, and drew a bumper house. The scenic and mechanical effects were excellent, and a number of catchy songs and dances were introduced. The company is a capable one through out, and made a decided hit. It will be assured of a large house on their return to this city.

HE IS TOO YOUNG

A Child Under the Age of Seven Years Before Magistrate Lacey.

It is seldom indeed that Magistrate Lacey, or, in fact, any other magistrate, has to deal with persons of such tender years as little Jimmy Gilmore, charged with firing the barn of Chas. Willsey, of Westminster. That the boy set the building afire there is little doubt in the minds of the constables. but the little fellow's parents claim he is not yet 7 years of age, and therefore not amenable to the law.

When the case came for trial before Magistrate Lacey on Monday, three witnesses were examined. The boy's parents swore that Jim was born on St. Joseph's Island, in December, 1891, and would not be seven years old until next December. Mr. Christopher Anderson, who has known Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore for six or seven years, was called, and thought Jimmy was past seven years of age.

The case was adjourned in order to have the date of the child's birth ascertained from the records. Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Willsey

Annual Meeting of the London W. O. T. U.

Election of Officers Postponed-Dele gates Chosen to Attend the County and Provincial Conventions.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon, but owing to the bad weather and small attendance only one report was presented. On the platform were Mrs. Gordon Wright, president, Mrs. Frank White, secretary, and Mrs. (Rev.) T. S. Johnson.

Rev. Dr. Saunders gave a brief Bible reading on "Eyes Open, or Seeing Things as They Are." Speaking of the recent plebiscit, the reverend doctor said that it was the greatest victory on record. All the provinces with the exception of one-Quebec-had voted in favor of prohibition. This was surely the voice of the people. With God's help great things would be accomplished in the future.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and adopted, Miss Wiggins, of Toronto, spoke briefly, and gave some interesting information to the members.

On recommendation of the executive committee a lecture committee was formed of the following ladies: Mesdames Saunders, Johnson, Saunby and White. They will also call a meeting to discuss the recent plebiscit, and form plans for the future. It was decided to hold this meeting on Oct. 25-the regular meeting night-and it will take the form of a reunion. The election of officers was postponed until the regular meeting night on account of small attendance. A communication was received asking how many churches used fermented wine. This was left with the corresponding secretary to report.

The following committees were elected for the coming reunion: Reception—Mesdames Wright, Thornley, Darch, Saunby, and Messrs. Bowman, Sayer, Claris and Daly. Programme—The executive of the W. C. T. U., and the plebiseit committee. Decoration-Mrs. Burgess and Mrs. Arnott. Refreshment - Mesdames Wilson, Wallace, Scollick, Harris, Darch, Harvey, Powell, Swift, Johnston, Heaman, Keenleyside, White, Woonton, Scarrow, Keast, McLeod, Heaman, Cottam, Thompson, Mitchell and Vanstone A number of reports were presented. Mrs. Johnson spoke on "Systematic Giving," and said that owing to the plebiscit the work had not been going on in this department for some months.

Mrs. Williams, speaking on "Hospital Matters," stated that 48 visits had been made during the year, and some 1,200 papers and magazines distributed. Mrs. White, on "The Prese," said that a great many articles had been contributed on the plebiscit and other matters. Mrs. Burgess, on "Literature," stated that some 5,531 papers and magazines and 2,245 pamphlets had been distributed, not counting those distributed at the fair. Mrs. Watts stated that the jail had been frequently visited during the year and the prisoners impressed with the mighty power of Jesus to save. Mrs. Vanstone also spoke for the library committee. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $505 08.

The business of the day was brought to a close by the appointing of delegates to the provincial convention in Ottawa, and the county convention in Glencoe. Mesdames Darch, Wright, Johson and White will attend at Ottawa. Some dozen members signified their intention of attending the county convention at Glencoe.

Of the Askin Street Methodist Sunday School Last Year-Anniversary Services-Financial Prosperity-Good Programme.

An entertainment at the Askin Street Methodist Church last night marked the Sunday school anniversary. A pleasing programme was presented by the scholars, and interesting reports were read by the school officers. The prosperity enjoyed during the past year was well indicated by the treasurer's statement. Mr. C. A. Case reported receipts of $418 32, of which $343 76 was | collections, and $59 96 a balance from the preceding year. The expenditure was $315 07, leaving the handsome balance of $103 25; $63 26 was contri-library at a cost of $60. During the evening, the school orchestra gave several selections that were much appreciated. The infant class, under the direction of Miss Goulding, sang a couple of motion songs very sweetly. Percy Wilkins recited "Papa and the Boy:" Mamie Armstrong, Ethel Harrison and Retta Caldwell sang solos. Clara Abbott swung clubs in an accomplished fashion. ### PRESENTATION TO MRS. DAVIS

President of the W. M. A. in Connec tion With St. James' Episcopal Church.

The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. James' Episcopal Church held a meeting of special interest last evening in the school room, which the Senior Mission Band had elaborately decorated with flowers and foliage plants for the occasion. Ven. Archdeacon Davis presided. The Bishop of Huron and Very Rev. Dean Innes were also present.

During the evening a beautifully framed and illuminated certificate of life membership of the auxiliary, accompanied by a purse of $25 was presented to Mrs. Davis, who was taken wholly by surprise, and the archdeacon replied on her behalf. The recipient has been president of the auxiliary for several years, and still fills the office in a manner giving the greatest sat-isfaction to all interested in the work. At the request of the ladies, the bishop made the presentation, and was fol-lowed by the dean in a few congratulatory remarks. An address from Mrs. Baldwin was postponed, owing to her unavoidable absence. Miss Griffith
