FARMERS' MEMORIAL SAYS UNREST GROWS GOVERNMENT BY ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

Borden Is Told Through Statement Barred From Presentation To Commons That Assumption of Prerogative Belonging To Parliament Is Arousing Dangerous Spirit.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 15.—The memorial which it was the intention of the farmers to read to the House of Commons yesterday, had their appointees been granted entry, was read last night at the Arena, and consists principally of a protest against the delegation of Parliamentary functions and powers to the governor-in-council and against the curtailment of the privileges of the representatives of the people. The assumption by the Government of prerogatives rightly belonging to Parliament is strongly warned against.

The memo expressed gratification at "this new departure in Canadian parliamentary practice (permitting the delementary practice (permitting the delegates to address the House) following so closely upon the speech to the House and the Senate, of the President of the American Federation of Labor. "It is," says the memorial. "an agre-able recognition of the new relationship which the war is producing as between those who govern and those who are governed by consent." Gratification is also expressed that a larger independence of thought and speech than is all has been evinced in the new Prilament.

"The unrest in Country.
"The unrest in the country which has brought about the unexampled spectacle of thousands of farmers leaving their important work of planting their crops to come to the capital to remonstrate with the Government," continues the memorial, "is unknown to every member of this House. Objection is taken to the fact that after the Quebec riots instead of Parliament considering measures to deal with such disturbances, "a completed was submitted. Later another "astounding departure was launched, when a further order was presented, setting up an entirely new criminal code and creating several new methods of punishments created without the assent of the Parliament, says the memorial. "Naturally this tends to provoke a spirit of resentment."

The elements of the constitution, it is claimed, were also ignored by the recent military service order-in-council, which "virtually sweeps away the military service act," and which "cannot easily be justified to the constituents of a newly-elected Parliament." "Liberty Curtailed," Further objection is taken to "the curtailment of the liberty of written Attention is called to the danger of enforcing on the people a doctrine of the infallibility of the Government on "pain of a five-thousand-dollar fine and five years' imprisonment." ENEMY LOSSES THREE MILLION

Copenhagen, May 14.—The Germans still are of the belief that they will be able to reach the English Channel coast, bar navigation of the waters, and bombard Southern England, and that then it will be easy to begin peace negotiations, according to an interview the Politiken has had with a prominent German politician, a member of the Reichstag, who requested that his name be not used. He added that the German offensive thus far had proved a fallure, owing to the heavy losses, and that the German high command was waiting to obtain more artillery. Germany had lost in killed, wounded and made prisoner three million men, he said.

in Winnipeg today.

Trouble Started Before.

An effort has been made to find the real trouble germ that has affected the local department, and it would seem that it was first planted a few years ago. In a word, the small coterie of vote-seeking aldermen, usually found on each council and of which this year's council is said to be no exception, may be blamed.

"It's like dirt in the corner, it needs turning over to air," is the way Mayor C. R. Somerville regards the trouble in the fire department.

The mayor, with Ald. F. C. Harley, went into all the complaints which were sent to the Underwriters' Association and which led to its inspector coming to the city. The mayor and aldermen went with the inspector and inquired into each complaint. They do not take them seriously. The mayor believes that the members of the department should work out their own salvation.

The mayor agrees that there is a

The mayor agrees that there is a lot of dirty linen which may need washing, and there are those who favor the council going into the laundry business.

The question may be discussed tonight. The germ of dissension which seems to have struck the local fire department and threatened to impair its efficiency unless exterminated, seems to be fairly active in fire departments all over Canada.

The Hamilton department is having throughe at present. In Toronto the firemen are having a wild time in trying to form a union, while in Winnipeg four-fifths of the firemen are on strike. About a month ago the firemen of Edmonton sent an ultimatum to the mayor

The troubles of the department seem to centre around the union. The union was formed some time ago. The necessity for a union was brought about by the fact that the men found it necessary to get what they wanted. They could not get what they wanted from the chief. MONSTER BARRIER OF MINES TO FOIL SUBS

London, May 15 .- The British admiralty restriction on navigation in the northern part of the North Sea in consequence of the laying of a great mine field for the purpose of folling submarines, became operative today, and hereafter all shipping in that area must comply with stringent regulations or ignore them at their own peril. After dark no ship will be allowed within the prescribed area, which lies between the coasts of Norway and Scotland, and any vessel finding itself there half an hour after sunset must anchor in accordance with the admiralty's direction. The regulations include strict rules affecting all except warships entering and leaving the ports of Northeastern Scot land, as well as the Orkney and Shetland Islands. The vast barrier, which seems to have been over-estimated in exten in earlier reports is now said to cover approximately 22,000 square miles.

Much interest is displayed in allied capitals as to the meeting between the German and Austrian emperors and their diplomatic and military assistants and especially in the truth behind the apparently purposely vague official statements on its result. That a more firm alliance between the two countries has been cemented is certain, and it is believed Austria-Hungary has been forced to make up for her delinquencies as an of the Military and Jugo Slav states. Mr. Buchanan produced a copy of a letter he wrote to the council on April 23 dealing with the case and notifying the city that its share of the cost would be about $125. He received an acknowledgement of the letter. He also points out that while the charge made to the city for the lane was only 17 cents a yard, the city engineer always quotes as a price 20 cents. The actual cost was 16 cents, but this did not allow for power used on the cement mixer, use of machinery, the overseeing of the job by the foreman, office work, etc. He said the London Life and the Wright Litho agreed to the charges.

The manager also points out that in the past the city has kicked on dirty lanes and encouraged the paving of lanes.

BOYS AT FRONT WRITE MOTHERS OF GREAT WAR

Battling With Barbarians To Ensure Freedom For Those at Home.

GUNS HAMMER ALL TIME

Patrols and Outposts Harass the Enemy by Day and Night.

Canadian Army Headquarters, May 15 .- By W. A. Willison, correspondent of the Canadian Press.-While the Canadian guns continue hammering the enemy day and night, our patrols and outposts continue active. Canadian troops have found an op portunity during the lull in the battle for recreation and amusement, spite the unseasonable weather, has been unduly cold and wet, officers and men of the many units have succeeded during recent days in securing some measure of relaxation from the time the great battle may make an unprecedented demand on the troops, but until that time. In addition twenty-five thousand special cards bearing a message to mothers were printed by the Y. M. C. A., and given to the men to send home. The message which expresses the unalterable determina-tion of the soldiers of Canada to the war until victory is geeured, reads in pant:

"It is really you, our mothers and our homes, for whom we are fighting. When the gift of freedom is ours then we will come home and lay reverently at your feet, for it will be hallowed by the blood of many comrades. Then we shall devote our lives to service in our country, in the upbuilding of happy homes and noble citizenship. Pray for us that this high and hely vision may never fade from our minds, and that we may be given courage and patience to finish our task. What a giorious home-coming there will be. In view of the extra work which will result from the calling up of young men of 19 years of age for military service, the staff of Acting Deputy Registrar H. F. Beresford has been increased and additional office room taken on the second floor of the Royal Bank building. The extra office room was taken over today.

A conservative estimate made by the military council, Ottawa, places the number of young men of the age of 19 years in this district at 7,000. As all men of this age will be called upon to reday to show their tickets before entering the trains. The order was made some days ago by the Canada Railway War Board and became effective today. The majority of passengers called willingly, while a few refused.

Trainmen are instructed under the order not to use force to compel any passenger to show his or her tickets. When the public understands thoroughly that the order was not made by the railroad companies, but by the Canada War Board, it is believed there will be no refusals to present tickets when requested. Today those who refused to show tickets were apparently under the Impression that the order was made by the railroad companies. when requested. Today those vyears in this district at 7,000. > Attempt to Establish Christ's Kingdom Called Wrong.

> BIBLE CONFERENCE ENDS

Unusual Interest Displayed in Subject of Biblical Prophecy.

The closing of the Bible Conference was held in the Auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. Dr. James Gray of Chicago gave the closing address on "The Kingdom and the Church." The main theme of the conference has been along the line of the setting up of the Kingdom of Christ on earth. That Christ will personally come back to this earth and reign for one thousand years has been taught by Bible teachers for a number of years, but the general public has never before taken so much interest in the subject of prophecy as it is doing at present.

Dr. Gray last evening said that the great difficulty with the church new is the fact that it is trying to establish the Kingdom of Christ on earth, and this is not the work that Christ has laid out for it. Thus it is rowing against the stream. The work of the church is to teach the ones who Christ is gathering out for his name. These gathered-out ones will form the bedy church is to teach the ones who Christ is gathering out for his name. These gathered-out ones will form the body of which Christ is the head. When the day comes, and this will be soon, in which the body is complete, Christ will come for his body, the church. It will be caught up to meet him in the air, and then after a space of time Christ with the church will return to earth, and the kingdom will then be set up.

God's great purpose is the redemption of his people on this earth, thinks Dr. Gray. There are two agencies which he has chosen for this purpose, which are Christ, and the children of Israel. The speaker referred to Israel as the repository of truth, as the channel through which Christ's first advent occurred, and as a witness to other nations. This latter role is yet to be fulfilled by this people, and to do this Israel must first become a kingdom.

Dr. Gray read some passages from the Bible showing that the kingdom of David was to have been a permanent one. As Christ is a descendant of David, Christ's second coming and setting up a kingdom will fulfill the prophecy referring to the throng of David. is gathering out for his name. Thes ting up a kingdom will fulfill the prophecy referring to the throne of David.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

"People say to me, when is Japan coming into the war? Japan is in the war, has been in the war ever since August 4, 1914, when she decided to be true to her obligations to Great Britain. Since that time she has not given the slightest suspicion that she would do anything else but stand behind the Allies, and I challenge anyone to contradict me. Canadians should think better of the Japanese now that they have learned that the Pacific coast is being guarded by a Japanese fleet. What would it have meant had that fleet been an enemy fleet instead of a friend? The Japanese fleet has been co-operating with the British fleet, and now the Is Japan in the War? an enemy neet instead of a friend? VARLEY FINCH WAS BURIED AT WOODLAND

Lambeth, May 14.—Lambeth has lost one of her brightest young men, in the person of Varley Finch, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Finch, who died on Friday of heart trouble. He was in his 16th year, and had been employed for several months at the L. and P. S. stores department prior to his going to the hospital for treatment in February. Deceased was beloved by all for his manly qualities, cheery disposition and his kindness toward little folks. He was a member of the Excelsior boys' class of the Lambeth Methodist Sunday school, and a former member of Talbot Street Baptist Church and Sunday school of London. His parents, three sisters and a baby brother survive. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from his parents' home, and a very large procession of automobiles fallowed the remains to Woodland Cemetery.

The services were conducted by the Rev. H. H. Bingham, assisted by Rev. S. Anderson, Rev. Walter Rigsby and Rev. W. L. Wilson. The palibearers were chosen from among his classmates, Rex Copeland, Clarence Sharp, Ralph Clark, Harold Tichborne, Nelles Anderson and Ross Sadlier. His other classmates and young friends acted as flower bearers. The high esteem in which the deceased was held was shown in a very marked degree. The deepest sympathy of the community and of the many London friends of Varley and the family was expressed by the numerous beautiful floral tributes received.

Judgment for the plaintiff was given by Judge J. C. Judd in the case of Jones ws. Jones. David Jones took action to recover a house and garden on the Talbot road, township of West-minster, which has been occupied by his daughter-in-kaw since the leath of his son. The daughter-in-law claimed that there was an agreement between his son. The daughter-in-law claimed that there was an agreement between father and son whereby the son was to be given the house and garden and the farm on which it was situated. The son and his wife worked the farm until his death some time ago. Since then, according to the evidence, David Jones has been working the farm, and the daughter-in-law was allowed to remain in the house. By the judgment rendered David Jones regains possession of the place.

FARMERS CHEER LAURIER

OTTAWA, May 14.—After the 6 o'clock recess, while Sir Wilfrid Laurier was motoring home from the House he was vociferously cheered by groups of farmers for the entire length of Metcalfe street. When he stopped opposite the Chateau there was another group walting, and these also gave him an evation. Sir Wilfrid bowed and smiled to his friends.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OTTAWA, May 14.—Five thousand representatives of the great basic industry of agriculture gathered at the Russell Theatre here this morning, and in dispassionate terms presented a case to the prime minister on the strongest possible arguments. They came from every county and every township in the Province of Ontario and Quebec, and there were representatives from the other provinces there also. They merely asked of the Government what the Government during the election campaign solemnly promised them. That was all they asked; nothing more. And the election was held less than six months

Their demands were coldly refused, after the prime minister had read them a half hour lecture on the duty of Canadians in the war, in the course of which he ventured the opinion that no greater burden had been placed on the farmers since the war commenced than on other classes of the comm munitions workers. Talk of broken pledges, he treated lightly.

There was derisive laughter when the premier closed his speech. There as no cheering or applause as he passed out. The meeting, however, was derily.

Decide to Tell Parliament.

In the afternoon the delegates met at the arena. And it was decided to add a farmer ill his life. Therefore and a delegation of two to speak to the members in the Commons chamber in the evening.

In days gone past Sir Wilfrid Laurier adjourned the House to accommodate a degration of western farmers bent on lower tariffs. On the present occasion was no cheering or applause as he passed out. The meeting, however, was

The big crowd waited, thinking that at least some members of the Government would come out, and deliver the message of refusal and give the reasons therefore. But no member of the Government came; even the rural Ontario back benchers on the Government side remained within the closed (and for the farmers the barred) doors of for the farmers the barred. The others gradually dispersed and betook themselves again to the arena, where here was no legislator to hear.

Bonne Entente Here. Bonne Entente Here.
French and Ontario farmers mingled during the day in the most complete "bonne entente" ever witnessed at the capital. Their desires were the same. Speeches by French and Ontario farmers were mutually applauded. In fact if any good has come of this great conference at is that a better understanding has been reached between the if any good has come of this great conference it is that a better understanding has been reached between the farmers of the two provinces and understanding that the interests of the farmers in all parts of the Dominion are similar and that only by interprovincial organization and communication can these interests be safeguarded. "If this delegation had represented the Canadian manufacturers," one man the Canadian manufacturers," one man the Chamber, "they would have had no trouble getting in. You would have seen the ministers falling all over themselves to shake hands with them and to welcome them in. But we are only farmers. We don't count excepting during elections, when they want our votes. Then they call us the backbone of the country. And they make us promises, such wonderful promises, which are broken and forgotten as soon as the election is over."

Broad Hint With Kick.

As a matter of fact it is stated that the refusal to allow the farmers in was a demand that Molloy of Provencher, who moved the amendment to exempt farmers in the House when the order-in-council was under conscision, should address the gather-ing. He received a tremendous ovation when he rose, and his speech through-bout was punctuated with applause. He declared that if the Government had conscripted wealth as well as men he would have stood behind it, but that not even a serious attempt had been made to conscript anything but flesh and blood.

Viens of Lotbiniere, Pacaud of Megantic, Dan-Jou of Rimouski, all members of the Opposition, spoke briefly. But no voice was raised from among the rural Government members of Ontario, who had promised exemption to all farmers during the election camber to against the Molloy amendment and for the Government order or (worse still) who had evaded the vote altogether.

To Demand Resignation.

These men may now have to answer to their constituents. For it was moved soon as the election is over."

Broad Hint With Kick.

As a matter of fact it is stated that the refusal to allow the farmers in was accompanied by a hint that enough time had been occupied upon them during the morning.

If the new realations were put into effect, Mr. Can went on, 200 butter and cheese mærs would be affected in Quebec and 200 butter and cheese factories woul have to be closed. These would aict 100,000 cows, which, for the most prt, would have to be slaughtered. Lance was asking for more cheese, ut how could more cheese be produed if 200 cheese factories were to beclosed?

Wheat prodition had greatly increased in Quec, said Mr. Caron, and this year it ha been hoped to produce 12,000,000 bushs. How could this be done without ung men. Flour mills all over the jovince would have to close.

"You have grea us your view of what is best in the national interest. I do not understand that the farmers whom I see before me here today or any other farmers in the country desire to be regarded as a clas to whom special consideration should be given as individuals apart from the national interest. That is not te spirit in which you have approached the subject. I have had communicatons with xou in you have approached the subject. I have had communications with you in writing already with respect to these conditions. It has bee said by gentlemen speaking for Onario that very great hardship, very great difficulty, very great inequality, ill be occasioned and are being occasioned in that province and in other provinces by the order-in-council which was pased on April 20, after, but not until aftr, it had been affirmed by the House (Commons and Senate of Canada. I desre that you will bear that in mind.

Realizes Hardhips.

"Mr. Caron represents to us that the conditions in Quebec are even more difficult and more arduous han elsewhere. I realize also that a miliary act order-in-council which was pased the order-in-council calling up the young men had the situation not been extremely grave. The Alberta farmers indorsed the action of the Government. Sir Robert asked the farmers present to co-operate with the Government and hold up its hands. The situation was a difficult one and every Canadan must try to do his duty. No matter what hardships we were called upon to suffer, they were nothing to what the men overseas were suffering. One of the delegates in the audience asked whether special consideration was a difficult one and every Canadan must try to do his duty. No matter what hardships we were called upon to suffer, they were nothing to work the men overseas were suffering. One of the delegates in the audience asked whether special consideration would be given to the many cases of earners.

expected. We all voted last election, according to our honest convictions, believing as always that the Government would do what it promised to do. The trouble with us farmers is that we have politics in a chronic stage. It is about time we dropped them and began to think and work for ourselves. What really has happened in the past is this: Out of every 50 electors 20 good Grits have got down to organization work and voted Grit. Twenty good Tories have done the same and voted Tory. The votes of the twenty Grits killed the votes of the twenty Tories, and vice versa. And the vested interests have come along with the bag, and quietly organized the other ten and made them vote to suit their own purpose. We should take the lesson to heart and organize for our own purposes, and not for the good of any group of politicians." ficult and more arduous han elsewhere. I realize also that a miliary act order-in-council (such as wa passed on April 20) must produce lardships and inequality. But the diliculty which my colleagues and I have to face is that, in a world welter of war such as this, it is impossible for my nation to participate without hardship, without inequality, and more than that, without very great bereavement and sorrow. Do you imagine that say man who stands within the ranks of the Govern-attitude of the meeting.

participate without hardany, which inequality, and more than that, without very great bereavement and sorrow. Do you imagine that any man who stands within the ranks of the Government of Canada today would find it in his heart to impose any unnecessary hardship or inequality on any man in Canada? I hope at least you will acquit us of that. It was a hard thing three years and more ago to ask the splendid youth of Canada to go overseas to fight in the greatest cause which humanity had ever taken up before. It was a still more serious and a sterner duty to say to the people of Canada that the time had now come when we could not fulfill our whole duty to humanity and the world, and more than that, greater than that, to ourselves, unless compulsory military service were adopted in There was a demand that Molloy of Provencher, who moved the amendment to exempt farmers in the House when than that, to ourselves, unless compul-sory military service were adopted in this country. It was still sterner duty when, on April 20, after discussing the matter in Parliament, we passed that order-in-council to which reference has been made and which empowers the Government to abolish exemptions in certain ages in any class called out.

The feeling of the executive was expressed in the following resolution:

"The executive of the United Farmers of Alberta, after full consideration of the information presented to us regarding the effect of the order-in-council drafting men of the ages of 20, 21 and 22, hereby resolves:

Not Giving Taffy.

Sir Robert Borden described conditions as he had seen them at the front, in an effort to bring home to his hearers the horror of warfare as waged by the Germans. Over in France, he said, 364,000 Canadian boys were standing shoulder to shoulder, that their country might be saved from just such conditions. It was not, he said, in the heart of any member of the Government to deal arbitrarily with the farmers. He appreciated the splendid loyalty of the farmers.

A voice from the audience, "We don't want taffy, Mr. Premier."

"I am not giving you taffy," Sir Robert retorted. "I am speaking from my heart. I say again: "The Government appreciated the splendid loyalty of the farmers, but they have not been called upon to contribute any more heavily than any other class in the Dominion."

He then quoted figures to show how the various classes of Canadians had emisted, saying that a total of 54,510 farmers and ranchers had gone to the front.

OTTAWA, May 14.—The prime minister yesterday received a message from the Great War Veterans' Association. Montreal district, protesting against an attempt being made to persuade the Government to grant exemption from military service to certain individuals, otherwise coming under the military otherwise coming under the military emisted, saying that a total of the farmers and ranchers had gone to the front.

It was suggested, he said, by Mr. Caron that farmers be exempted altogether. If the Government should do this, what could they say to shipbuilders and miners and other men engaged in just as assential occupations?

All May Go Yet.

Events might arise from which the Government would feel justified in putting every man in the audience of military age under arms. Supposing the Germans should land in Quebec and start throwing shells into Mr. Caron's ancestral home, it would be up to all Canadians to get under arms.

The Government, said Sir Robert, was giving the most serious consideration to the closing of non-essential industries. He referred to the order-in-council forbidding idleness and the new registration as steps in the proper organization of industry throughout the country. Unskilled labor, he realized, was of little value on the farms, but he thought that labor from the citles and towns might be of some assistance.

Loud shouts of disapproval from the audience and cries of "No" greeted this statement by the premier.

Approved in Alberta.

But Sir Robert insisted that what he said was right. He then read a teleotherwise act. The message states that in the opinion of the veterans, men constitute the greatest present need of the Allies, and suggests that men experienced in farming located in cities might be brought back to the farms.

Are Canadian bills worth their face value in the U.S. A.? Is Canadian silver accepted in the U.S.A. at a discount?

Victory Bonds are guaranteed by every foot of ground, every residence, every tree and every asset of the Dominion. They are worth their face value now, and will continue to be worth it until they are paid in full by the Government, unless the Germans win the war and take Canada, which will not happen. She called the errand boy, arranged the roses daintily in their box, and, as the boy went whistling on his way, she turned with thoughtful eyes to her entry in the record book that lay before her.

"Mr. Carlton Esmond," she had written, "Bellevue Hospital."
Suddenly her thoughts slipped back over the years and she saw herself a little girl again. Her father had taken her out on the edge of the city, where setly agreeable to the kaiser's government and traitorous pro-Germans that are in this pountry."

"Carlton Esmond—Noted Polo Player Seriously Injured." With a queer little ache in her throat she read of his terrible fall. With wistful eyes she looked out into the autumn sunshine and offered a little prayer for him. During that morning no less than five young women ordered flowers sent to Esmond, and with an unusual tenderness Ione sent the dear blossoms out to him each one the unusual tenderness Ione sent the dear blossoms out to him, each one the message of some other girl's love. At length she wandered back to look at her new rose, the flower that had sprung from her own heart, and patience and desire, and as she cupped its golden brown fragrance between her slender hands, she thought of the little dark-haired boy who had raced with her over broad, spacious lawns beneath high old trees. Then with a little impulsive sigh, she clipped the rose long on its stem, and wrapped it gently; then without name or card it gently; then without name or card it modestly followed its sisters to the place where young Esmond lay. The next morning, Ione was arranging some long-stemmed lilies in a tall vase, when Carlton Esmond entered. She heard the door shut, and turned to find his glance full upon her. For an instant she inspected him doubtfully out of her golden brown eyes, then she smiled and extended her hand shyly. "They say," he said, holding her hand caressingly, "that my interest in a certain golden brown rose pulled me through. And—and last night I saw another at the Flower Show. Do—do you remember a certain day—a—a long time ago, Ona?"

She nodded with downcast eyes, then with uplifted face she said simply: "I prayed for you to get well—and—and now—you are well!" Then like a flash—"there is another rose out this morning—would you like to see it?"

JIMMY COON ALMOST SHOT. Jimmy Coon had a corking time up as if he saluted the Flag and the Major.

It was a very close call for Jimmy in that big oak tree, watching the soldiers fire their rifles at the target on their rifle range in the old pasture. But at last several of the soldiers failed to "pot" the tiny bulleyes on the target, and the major blurted out, "What's the matter with you chaps today, that you can't shoot as straight see usual."

The soldier wanted to have Jimmy Coon for dinner, for you know his flesh is very toothsome. It would have been awfully sad if Jimmy Coon had been shot as a Spy, or as an Alien Enemy! For Jimmy Coon at heart is a wonderful Patriot. He loves our country with all his heart, and he thinks that Mirror Pond and the Great Forest are the leveliest places on earth today, that you can't shoot as straight as usual?"

And one soldier spoke up, "Mayor, look up in that oak tree! Do you see that Coon watching us every moment? That is the trouble with the boys' shooting!" And the Major was astonished to see Jimmy Coon sitting on a branch of that oak. Well, it was enough to make a dog laugh to see Jimmy Coon watch that rifle practice. Why he was grinning from ear to ear, and from that distance he looked as if he wore black goggles on his eyes. It made the soldiers laugh, and you know that when soldiers laugh at rifle practhat when soldiers laugh at rifle practice on the rifle range they cannot shoot

So Jimmy Coon was really hindering the soldiers! And, therefore, he was an Alien Enemy of the Government! And one soldier blaurted out, "Major, I'll kill that little spy!" and that soldier brought his rifle to his shoulder and had his finger on the trigger, as he pointed that big rifle right at the heart of Jimmy Con. pointed that big rifle right at the heart of Jimmy Coon.

It certainly looked as if Jimmy Coon's last day had come. But just in the nick of time the Major called out, "Stop that; don't any soldier dare shoot that Coon! Don't you know that a high angle bullet from a powerful rifle might kill some farmer or some member of his family one or more miles from here?" And that soldier quickly lowered his rifle, and Jimmy Coon's life was spared

To study the various ways by which different plants bear their fruit is a most interesting occupation, and should be practiced by all gardeners who would be practiced by all gardeners who would be practiced by all gardeners who would be produced on wood one year old. Every year new shoots are sent up from the underground root stocks. These grow all season, until, at the time of fruit picking, they are often higher than the old fruit-bearing canes. The next year they, in their turn, become fruit-bearing canes, while the canes of the previous year die and are cut away. It used to be the custom to cut back the new shoots at fruit picking time, thus making the picking easier by doing away with much heavy leafage. Co-operation between families and neighborhoods, among the members of fraternal organizations, political parties, communities, and in war, a whole nation or several nations, carries the principle of "one front," "one purpose," "one plan," almost to the point of perfection.

Co-ordination between the structures of your anatomy, between the various groups of your muscles and senses, flesh and blood is in the same fashion, co-operation among these tissues. A house divided against itself must fall, or at least be less efficient than one that works, plays and performs as a unit.

Obviously, the individual who disciplines and trains his various muscles and other structures to co-ordinate well nigh perfectly to perform for the best welfare of the state, is able to recognize and selze opportunities which the unco-ordinated individuals can scarcely understand,

This said day of marked characteristics, with some radical changes impatience and persistence is wasted. This said day of marked characteristics, with some radical changes imment. Old or long-standing delays, disappointments and obstructions should be removed and crystallized conditions be broken up. These sudden changes may manifest upon the plane of mind or spirit entirely to mature later in changed conditions or circumstates in Instances in Point.

Plainly, then, if you would rise out of the rut of a mere day's labor, out of the slough of discontent, incompetency, habit and mere human automatism, you must develop muscle and sense co-ordination.

A person who trembles, who lacks quickness and accuracy, who is not wholly himself, well and vigorous, whose every muscle is not alert and swift to act simultaneously and with precision beside other muscles and senses, lacks co-ordination.

F POLLY'S WISH WERE GRANTED.

"Oh, dear!" cried Polly, with a pout on her rosy, ips, "I wish that old, hot sun would go down and never shine again."

"Oh, no you don't!" laughed a merry voice, and Polly saw the head of her little friend, Squeedee, pop up from behind the rose bush.

"Yes, I do!" cried Polly. "It shines so hot I cen't riley out in the yeard."

"But stars only shine at night when the sun's gone down," laughed Polly.

"Yes, but if there wasn't a sun to shed its rays on the tiny stars we couldn't see them," laughed Squeedee.

"For some stars get their light by reflection from the sun."

"No, without the sun to cast its light on the moon we'd see no moon, either," replied Squeedee. "The sun, after all, plays a very important part in this old

HOW THE TROUBLE STARTS

If more people knew how Rheuma-tism and kindred ills started there would be infinitely less suffering.

It should be a matter of popular knowledge that the blood stream completes the circulation of the body in approximately three minutes, gathering up waste matters. It is the function of the Kidneys to remove these impurities or poisons from the blood and eliminate them from the body. Should so hot I can't play out in the yard."

"Why don't you play under the trees?" suggested Squeedee. "It's shady there."

"I don't like it under the trees, for the blood stream, to accumulate slowly the blood stream, to accumulate slowly "I don't like it under the trees, for there the grass isn't nearly so nice and green." pouted Polly. "I hate the old, hot sun, and wish it would forget to shime for a whole year."

"Oh, dear!" laughed Squeedee. "You don't know what you're saying or you wouldn't even think such a thing let along say it out loud. Why, if the sun were to stay out of sight for 48 hours the world would be covered with a deluge of rain and buried in piles of smow." no real health is possible. MADGE EVANS GEORGE MAQUARRIE Gates of Gladness'

At the Patricia Theatre today and Thursday. The story centres around the life of Roger Leeds, a stern, uncompromising, selfish recluse. He was alienated from his brother and, though immensely wealthy, his life was a failure so far as getting happiness and joy out of it were concerned. Then Beth came into his spasm willing and opened the gates of gladness for him.

CLASS DINNERS OF WESTERN "U" MEDS HELD LAST EVENING

Officers for Next Term Were Chosen at Meetings.

Gathering together for the last time before the long summer vacation sends them far apart, the members of the third and fourth year classes of Western "U" medical students held their annual class dinners last night.

Along with the pleasure and good-fellowship preparatory to the pressure.

Along with the pleasure and good-fellowship preparatory to the parting of the ways went the business of the election of the officers on whom will rest the guidance of the classes for the coming school year.

The fourth year men enjoyed a theatre party at the Grand Theatre, after which they went to the home of L. W. Pritchett, Wharncliffe road, for the class dinner. Music and speeches were followed by the election of officers. The third year men met at Wong's Cafe, where the class dinner was held. The election was preceded by a musical program, several of the numbers of which were selected from the new university song book.

The members of te hfirst and second years did not hold any class dinners this year. Many of the men have already left the city for their homes, and owing to the uncertainty of their status years. The following officers were elected the fourth-year men: President omas Murray; vice-president. L.
