STRAIN SNAPS CRIPPEN'S NERVE RUSHED TO JAIL HOSPITAL

Suffers From a Complete Nervous Collapse-Counsel for Prisoner Says He Has Explanation of the Suicide Story.

[Associated Press Cable.] London, Aug. 30.-Dr. Hawley Crippen, accused with Ethel Clara Leneve, of the murder of his wife, has suffered a complete nervous collapse, and was hurried today to the hospital ward of Brixton jail. Solicitor Newton states that his client has given him an explanation of the farewell message found among the prisoner's effects by Inspector Dew, which will throw a different light on the matter when it is made public. The message was read in court yesterday at the arraignment of Crippen and Miss Leneve, and indicated that the writer contemplated suicide during his flight to Canada on the steamer Montrose.

A NORTH END CAT

Youthful Inventors Tied Puss to Sky-Craft With Disastrous Results.

London may yet have its Wilbur Wright or its Glen Curtis, if the ambition of two small youths in the north end of the city is fulfilled. The proprietor of a local planing mill much surprised a couple of days ago when the lads came to his place and wanted prices on the framework for oughly familiar with what they wanted. Further questioning brought forth the information that the lads had made one small aeroplane and that it had proved successful to the extent of carrying the family cat about half a block. The lads said they had tied the cat to the machine and started things going. The feline, however, did not take kindly to flying, and made such desperate struggles to free herself that she finally caused the aeroplane to bump into a tree, where it was wrecked. Puss managed to free herself. The boys hope next time to be that the province as a whole has not much more successful, and their next venture will be on a larger scale.

[Associated Press.] New York, Aug. 30 .- While surgeon in the Flower Hospital were making every effort today to save the life of a fashionably dressed young woman, who shot and seriously wounded herself in the waiting-room of the Hotel

Astor, late last night, the attempts of the authorities to obtain a clue to the woman's identity were unrewarded. She still persisted in refusing to answer questions. Whenever an effort was made to get her to say who she was, she would bite her lips and shake her head negatively. Surgeons today said the young woman's condition was serious, and that an operation probably would have to be performed during the day.

Letters to Mother. In the black silk bag which picked up in the waiting room of the Hotel Astor were found a manuscript and three letters bearing the date of Aug. 18, and showing from the discolcration of the envelopes that they had been carried for several days. They were addressed, "Dearest Blanche," "Dearest Sister," and to "Mother,

Dear." but from each the signature had been scratched so carefully, as to be practically illegible, although the police thought that they could read "Nora" in faint strokes in one of them "It is really deplorable that a girl cannot get along honorably in New York," ran the letter to her mother. "Ir some things I might have succeeded, had I conceded to the wishes of men cultured, usually moneyed, but minus morals. Suggests the Lash for Juvenile Criminals

Crown Attorney Mckillop, speaking to The Advertiser today, advocated in the strongest way the use of the lash for dealing with juvenile criminals.

"The time has come," he said, "when something has got to be done in London to stop the wave of juvenile crime that is spreading. In all my experience I have never known so many serious cases in the juvenile court as there have been this season. Crime among juveniles seems to have reached the epidemic stage, and the most effective means to check it is the lash. Under the present system boys have learned to feel reasonably sure of not getting any severe punishment for misconduct, and that they are taking advantage of this, and are growing bolder all the time, is shown by the very alarming increase in juvenile crime in London this season."

PROMINENT FEATURES OF JAP-KOREA TREATY

The Existing Korean Schedules Regarding Imports Continue For Ten Years.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The treaty beween Japan and Korea, by which the Hermit Kingdom is annexed as a sovereign part of Japan, has been made public to the state department. In addition to the text of the convention ,a declaration of the Japanese Government concerning the effect of the annexation upon powers enjoying treaties with Japan is made public.

Existing Korean schedules, covering imports from foreign countries and regulations governing coasting trade, will be continued for ten years. The copyright and patent laws of Japan will e extended to Korea.

Japan's statement asserts that the efforts of both the Japanese and Korean Governments to reform the administration of Korea, carried on for four years, have shown that the existing system of government in Korea is not able to preserve peace and Effective Way to Keep Secrets—Appearance in Prussia Cause for tranquility, and that the spirit of suspicion and misgiving dominates the whole peninsula."

Exploring Party Examined the Place He Called Mount McKinley's Peak.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 30.-Belmore Browne and his party have arrived here on the steamship Portland from Professor Herschell Parker, Valdez. who with Browne headed the Mount McKinley expedition, however, is detained in Valdez by a slight illness. The party went in from the south, establishing a base camp on the Taekuta River, three miles above its junction with Chulitna River, and within three miles of the terminal Moraine of the Ruth glacier, named by Dr. Cook for one of his daughters.

For fifty days and nights the party marched wearily back and forth over this great expanse of ice, 25 miles in width, seeking in vain for an opening up the mountain side. At the end of every arm they were confronted Paris, Aug. 29.-M. Bielovucci made by cliffs of ice overhung at their tops by billions of tons of soft snow that

"With Dr. Cook's photograph in our hands we found the spot they call the peak, and with a dozen or even fifty photographs we are able to prove that he sat on a saddle below one of the lesser peaks and snapped his camera for the next picture. We can show every rock and every outlay just as his photographs displayed them. "Our highest altitude as we figure it was about 10,300 feet, about 6,000 feet higher than Dr. Cook climbed."

not bent on "seeing London" as such, any more than a bricklayer lays bricks, like a boy playing with blocks, Just for the joy of bricklaying. You could "see London" more comfortably and better at home by moving pictures at the five-cent theatre. But "Round the World in Eighty Days." These eighty Germans and Americans would like to put a girdle round the globe in a day. To rival such a feat the five-cent theatres ought to furnish their patrons with aeroplane views of the old world: London seen in a minute, the Rhine in half an hour.

Probably, however, not all of those eighty were of one mind. Most men where eise." are weaklings, led on by the stronger souls. There were no doubt in the party some stolid, plodding Germans who had made the most exact preparfor that trip by reading Baede ker's London to the smallest item, Like the German army, which conquered France in three months (another famous speed performance), they knew the locality beforehand by map and photograph, better than the nations themselves could know it. A to China and see more in a field in money I made in that mud hole." half a day than its Celestial owner has dreamed all his life of being there. So, perhaps, some of the quieter members of this party needed only a moment's glance at the objects already so long familiar to the eye of the mind. They may have preferred just a little longer time in the National Gallery, but lacking the energy to go to London on their own initiative. they had fallen into line with the strong-souled promoters of the trip, rate of fifty miles an hour?" the speed athletes.

Possibly another sort of tourist went along; the type anxious to be in fashion, with minds unraised beyond life's daily work, half-dazed by unfamiliar scenes and tongues and customs. For them what would be the difference between five hours and five weeks, after they had been back at home a year? Some wag has said that for all many persons get out of travel, they might as well have stayed home and rubbed their heads with a time-table. It should be a great educator: but what one brings back from one's travels depends on what one

THE NEW DOMESDAY BOOK.

The compilation of the new Domesday Book, required by the land clauses of the budget, has begun in Great Britain. Every parcel of property in the Kingdom will be valued, for the purposes of taxation. It is the first general valuation of land since the reign of William the Third. It is estimated that of the 77,000,000 acres of the kingdom, over 40,000,000 acres are owned by 2,500 persons, and that of the 34,500,000 acres in England and Wales, about 28,000,000 acres are in the hands of 38,000 people. The opponents of the budget are pretending to commiserate the great land-owners upon the task of valuing their property, but it is a hardship that landless people would cheerfully shoulder. Special difficulties will be raised by the owners of deer forests and game preserves. In Scotland this is assessed at an average of 10% pence an acre though it yields large rentals for sporting purposes. Before the appointment of the deer forest commission in 1892 there were not a few critics in the House of Commons who contended that there was no land in

Since that date the deer forest area has gone on in-creasing, so that in the Highland £132,041. In face of these figures there is ample evidence that the land available for occupation by the crofter population is at the present day very sioners in 1895.

Many landlords are credited with being in favor of a scheme of land know whether owners of deer forests who are the recipients of enormous rentals, would be prepared to sell on the basis of the valuation as supplied by themselves to the assessors. No wonder the land valuation proposals of the Chancellor of the Exchequer meet with such virulent opposition from an interested landlordism.

The Ideal Remedy For Young and Old

Nature's gifts do us good, if used fudiciously. We eat bread from babyhood to old age without ever tiring of it. We drink water, year in and year out, with the greatest benefit to our health. So too, we eat fruit in season and are better for the change of diet. This is true, because such things are the natural foods and drink of manwind. It is for this reason that "Fruita-tives" may be used for years in correcting some ill of the body. As is well known, "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and Falsifying of Accounts Had Been Going On for Fifty Years.

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 29.-A sensation was caused here today by State Bank Examiner W. B. Previous predictions had placed the loss the stage, the term landscape bearing at $100,000. Hundreds of the 3,800 depositors are mill operatives, whose were behind the banker's savings Examiner Skelton's estimate was based on a discrepancy between the trial balance drawn on Aug. 6 by Richmond H. Ingersoil, the aged and deits of $1,194,290, whereas the amount should have been $1,544,290, and a book value of assets of $1,287,717. This shows a discrepancy of $350,000 in the depositors' accounts, or a shortage of house a sort of country seat. On the other hand, the farm hands live in tween the book value of assets and "melancholy-looking cottages, and their wives and children are objects actual deposits.

The shortage, as given in today's statement, was based on the comparison of a large percentage of the pass books. A full and accurate statement will be issued by Examiner Skelton when these are all in.

Thus far the examination has not shown any of the shortage to be due to recent irregularities, except by the compounding semi-annually true interest on pass books, but not on the bank's ledgers. It was learned that the falsifying of

The water commissioners are in a mood to go slowly. They will name an assistant to Mr. Dark in a few days. Several men are in view to succeed Mr. Roberts, and the choice will be made in a short time. It is understood, although Mr. Dark himself refused to discuss the question, that the manager does not think a head engineer is at all necessary. It would gard complicate his work, and he insists some that if given a chance, he can make his end of the business go ahead. Several of the members of the board are of the opinion that they should go slowly, until they find out where they are at.

ANOTHER FIRE ENGINE

Matter Will Come Up Again Before Number Three Committee.

At the meeting of No. 3 committee to be held on Wednesday night, the question of purchasing another fire engine will be taken up, and it is likely that a recommendation will be made to make the purchase. Ald. Ashplant, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Eckert, Ald. Stevenson, Ald. Rose, Ald. Jeffries and others are in favor of the purchase, it is said, the only difficulty being the method of financing the deal.

It is rumored that that matter has been properly arranged, and that there will be no trouble on that score. "We should purchase the engine as soon as we possibly can," said Mayor Beattie. "It will mean a great saving to the citizens in insurance rates, and that should be taken into considera-

To such an extent is this the case that the department is sometimes overtaxed to handle business as expeditiously as it requires, and it has had to look about for devices to assist it in its work. The selling of its postage stamps to meet the exacting demands of a public who are peremptory in reto its postal service has for some time been a vexing problem. Mr. Lemieux, postmaster-general, has been following these experiments with interest, but until recently the results have not been such as would warrant the postoffice in embarking on a gineer," said Ald. Tancock. "We are scheme of this kind. The machine is a British invention, and has been tried thoroughly at two points where the demand for stamps in small quanties is greatest. One is in the British House of Commons, the other is in Threadneedle street what is probably the most crowded square in the world. The tests were so satisfactory that the British postoffice has ordered a number of these machines for use in the principal postoffices in London and in the leading towns of the kingdom.

The Postmaster-General has ordered fifty of these machines, and by way of satisfying himself as to whether the machines will meet the demand in Canada, which he anticipates, is having them erected at central points in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. It is interesting to note that twelve machines have sold over 250,000 stamps in five months. If a man were to serve 500 customers a day, more than one a minute, he would take 500 days to serve 250,000 cutomers.

A British company was formed year ago to operate the British rights. The chairman of the company, Sir William Preece, the well-known consulting engineer, was at the head of the telegraph department of the British postoffice for many years. The British company is placing its machines very successfully, not only with the postal authorities at home and abroad, but likewise with various firms, hotels, etc., where they find commercial application.

Mary Roberts Rinehart Goes to Lilvdale and Hob-Nobs With Mediums

EXCITING RIDE HOME

Dr. Stanley M. Rinehart, of Allegheny, and his wife, Mary Roberts Rinehart, the well-known novelist, are spending the summer at Bemus Point, Lake Chautauqua, New York. Last week they put in a day at Lilydale, the Spiritualistic camp-meeting, where all sorts of mediums, slate-writers, clairvoyants, etc., etc., do congregate, and where the air is said to buzz with the whizzing of spooks. Dr. Rinehart is interested from the medical standpoint in all forms of neurasthenia Mrs. Rinehart is interested in any nove their automobile they had a terrible experi ence, being caught in a cloud burst after night —on strange roads, with lamps that wouldn't light. For an hour they worked in darkness, wind and howling storm to get the chains on the car. And then they beat it back to Spook ville, a wild, waltz-me-around-again ride, hub deep in mud and water, skidding every inch of the way, and only recognizing the road by flashes of the lightning.

Mrs. Rinehart's readers do not need ghosts, cloudbursts and spirit rappings for excitement. All they need to do is to sit in the chair or lie in the hammock and read her latest romance, "The Window at the White Cat." It sends up and down your spine de liciously cooling thrills and chills. Agreeable remors of nervous interest shake you. If some one rings a bell unexpectedly, you jump five feet in air while the spell of the story is on you. And yet all the time you're laughing your head off, it's so funny and smart Mrs. Rinehart seems to have a monopoly on this combination of mystery and humor. She constructs a plot as intricate as any of Anna Katherine Green's. She solves it with an ingenuity worthy of Conan Doyle. And she adds to these virtues the priceless gift of ringing laughter.

Of all her stories "The Window at the White Cat" seems to us the best. Never have so much fun and excitement been concentrated between the covers of a book.

Apparently they made no discovery, and at length they abandoned the quest, at all events for a time. It was rumored that the documents, if able have elicited the following facts found, were expected to throw some light upon the "authorship" of some of Shakespeare's plays.

> Paterson, N. J., Aug. 29,-Albert Frolich, of this city, and his 16-yearold daughter. Henrietta, were instantly killed last night, when an express train struck his automobile squarely in the side at a crossing here. Chester Foyle, an 11-year-old boy, has serious internal injuries, and may die. Three other children were slightly cut and bruised.

Only the promptness of a trolley conductor in throwing a derailing switch saved a moving car, loaded with passengers, from following the automobile to destruction. The gate tender had just lowered he gates for one express train, and did not see, when he raised them, that another express was bearing down from the opposite direction. A tower man realized the danger and shouted a warning. He was too late to save the automobile, but the conductor of the trolley car, who had just stepped off his car, and gone ahead, heard him and let go the handle of the derailing switch which he was just throwing into alignment. A spring threw the switch back into derailment, and the heavy trolley, grinding around a sharp curve, brought up against the curb,

MAN MANY MONTHS

Detective When Caught

in New York.

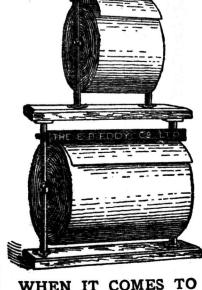

New York, Aug. 30.-Flora Landen, a quick-witted English girl of 20 summers, has been masquerading as a man in New York city for several months, working successively as amateur detective, a grocer's boy and a waiter in a Broadway restaurant. With her hair close cropped and still dressed in man's clothing she is now under the care of a police matron at her own request. She will don woman's attire and will be sent back to her home in England by the next steamship.

In Miss Landen's capacity as an amateur detective she spent considerable time in the Italian and Chinese quarters and came near winning a $5,000 reward for the finding of a kidnapped child. Three years ago, she told a New York magistrate, she left a comfortable home in London and took steamer to Boston, then coming directly to New York. Her money went quickly, and before she realized it she was penniless. She was too proud to home for aid and got a place as waitress. Her experience as a waitress were not pleasant or profitable and she decided to disguise herself as a man. The discovery of her masquerade came about through the assignment of a headquarters detective to a minor larceny case in an uptown boarding While searching for information there he met Miss Landen, who was in men's clothes, and was introduced as a private detective. The headquarters man became suspicious, and the girl confessed.

CLARKE OR E. RUSE, AGENTS. PASSING OF THE BICYCLE

Tremendous Falling Off in Exports From the United States.

New York, Aug. 30.—Bicycling as a pastime is rapidly decreasing in popularity abroad, as well as in this country. Government statistics how a tremendous falling off in exports of bicycles from the United States, Explanation of the decrease is found in the fact, it is said, that bicycles now are used chiefly for business. When bicycles were at the zenith of their popularity in 1897 they were exported to the value of $7,005,323 In 1900 the exports decreased to $3,553,149. During the last fiscal year bicycles exported aggregated only $620,760. The greater share of them went to the United Kingdom. In Japan local manufacturers largely are supplying the exhibition, arrived in Montreal on demand for the bicycle.

The prisoners said they were Ella and Mabel Brown, 21 and 22 years old, respectively, of 59 Quincy street, and Mrs. Lucille A. Cook, 30 years old, of

The complainant against them. partment store detective, told the magistrate that after she had caugh the sisters filling their pockets with small pieces of plated jewelry, one had offered a bribe of $2,000 and another a bribe of $5,000, if no charge would be made against them. Miss Clark said she had noticed the three richly gowned young women enter the store and go from counter to counter in a nervous manner. At last she saw the married sister stand off from the plated ware counter while the young girls sidled up to it and helped themselves to little pieces of jewelry. Then they went back to their sister and the three started out of the store.

The young woman detective had signalled to a police detective to arrest the Double three sisters, and they were led pro-base on testing to the superintendent's office. The Working Men Who Save are the ones who get ahead

Most of the wealthy men in the Dominion started to build their fortunes on a small scale. They saved industriously. And with their savings they were enabled to take advantage of opportunities to make more money, and thus become wealthy. You don't want to be a working man ALL your life. Take the first step towards independence by starting a Savings Account with us THIS week.

Mysterious Death of a Wealthy Scottish Lady—Exposure Probable Cause.

LOOKING FOR HER MAID

Woman Identified as Lady Marjorie Erskine-Maid Has Suddenly Disappeared.

Glasgow, Aug. 30.—On the 26th inst. he dead body of a woman was found on the moors, in a remote part of Scot-land. A large sum of money was on her person, and the body has now been identified as that of Lady Marjorie Erskine, second daughter of the Earl of Buchan.

There is no evidence of foul play, and t is believed that she lost her way and died of exposure. A man, who was searching for white peat here, found the body lying in a secluded spot on the historic rock of Craigillachie.

Lord Card Ross, the deceased's brother, identified the remains from the clothing. Among the papers found on the body was a receipted bill bearing the name of a hotel at Kingussie. Inquiries show that Lady Erskine, accompanied by a maid, arrived at the hotel on July 30. She left the following day, requesting the management to keep any letters sent to her there, as she intended motoring past in a few

The maid stayed at the Kingussie day longer, and then wenth to Perth. Letters were sent to Lady Erskine at the Kingussie Hotel. The maid, who had since returned to England, is being sought to answer questions regarding her mistress' movements. At resent there is nothing to indicate the cause of death. The body had apparently laid on the spot where it was found for a month. It was taken to In- Methodist Conference Leaves It verness, where a post-mortem will be held. The police are very reticent.
