SEVEN KILLED, DOZEN MAIMED
IN WRECK OF THE DIXIE FLYER

Train On the Atlantic Coast Railway Went Through a Trestle 400 Feet to the River Below, When Many People Met a Terrible Death.

SPECIAL TRAINS ARE RUSHING
DOCTORS AND NURSES TO SCENE

Accident Occurred at a Little Place Named Ocilla On the Alphapha River—Thirty-Six Hours Before Line
Will Be Cleared.

[Canadian Press.]

Ocilla, Ga., March 25.—Seven persons were killed and more than a dozen injured when the Dixie Flyer, on the Atlantic Coast Line, running between Chicago and Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked on a trestle over the Alphapha River, near here, at 7:20 o'clock this morning. The first and second class coaches and the first Pullman sleeper went into the river, carrying away about 400 feet of the trestle.

According to reports of some of the passengers who came to Ocilla, the crash came without warning. It was caused by the breaking of an axle on the engine when mid-way of the long trestle.

COACHES UNDER WATER.

The coaches in the river are about ten feet under water, and it is said, the list of dead may be increased when the debris is cleared. Seven bodies had been recovered at noon, and the injured were brought out and will be sent to the Atlantic Coast Line Hospital at Waycross, Ga.

First reports of the wreck were to the effect that the entire train went into the river, and that forty persons were killed outright. The scene of the wreck is in a remote section of the state, and it was several hours before accurate information was obtainable.

Relief trains have been sent to the scene from Waycross, Tifton, and Willacoochee, and it is stated that it will be 36 hours before the tracks are cleared for traffic.

THE COMPANY'S EXPLANATION.

Savannah, Ga., March 25.—The Atlantic Coast Line general superintendent's office gives out the following account of the wreck of the Dixie Flyer: "Train No. 36, known as the Dixie Flyer, running from Chicago to Jacksonville, Fla., was wrecked on the Alphapha trestle, three miles south of Alphapha station, on the Brunswick and western division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad at 7:20 o'clock this morning. The train carried down with it 400 feet of the trestle. The baggage car was telescoped, and the first and second-class coaches and the first Pullman sleeping car fell through the trestle.

"Conductor Charles J. Parnell, of Savannah, and a negro porter are supposed to be under the wreckage. A number of passengers were injured. THE AXLE BROKE.

"The accident was caused by the engine driving wheel axle breaking off, although the engine remained on the trestle. Hospital trains were sent from the company hospital at Waycross to the scene, and doctors and nurses on board.

"The train left Waycross at 8 o'clock this morning. Doctors were also sent from Tifton on a special train, and the doctors from one town went on a land car.

"It will be 36 hours before the track is cleared."

VACANT HOUSES ARE FILLING UP

Assessment Commissioner Grant
Is Hopeful That Population Is Growing.

NEED FACTORY BUILDINGS
City Would Get Ahead Industrially
If Such Structures Could Be Rented Here.

Assessment Commissioner Grant says that it is too early as yet to predict with any degree of correctness, but he believes that the city of London will show a considerable increase in population this year.

The assessment report that all through the city they are finding that the vacant houses are filling up, and especially does this appear to be true of the big ones.

Mr. Grant again stated that if there were a number of factory buildings in the city to rent, a big impetus would be given London industrially.

There are many men with small capital who are always looking to rent a building, as they do not want to invest their money in a structure, preferring to keep it to carry on their business.

The assessment commissioner would like to get in touch with many men of London who would be willing to put up a factory on a long lease.

On board were James Thom, Canadian manager White Star Line, and P. V. Mitchell, who is to be assistant Canadian manager at Montreal.

A party of 150 Salvationists landed here.

The Megantic made a new record in wireless telegraphy, sending a message last night to Pollitha, Cornwall, and the ship was 2,500 miles distant from that station. An answer was received from Liverpool this morning.

It is reported that the city will be able to distribute containing from 1,000 to 1,200 people for the purpose of making the census.

FRANK FORKEY WAS ARRESTED

Former London Man Taken in Toronto on Charge of Shooting a Man.

FRACAS WAS IN DETROIT

Prisoner Shot Simon Grace and Is Held for Attempting to Murder Him—A Love Affair.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Detroit, March 25.—Frank Forkey, or Forkey—as he prefers to call himself—who is wanted by the authorities here for having attempted to murder Simon Grace, a saloonkeeper at 799 Fort street west, four weeks ago, was arrested in Toronto last night, and according to a dispatch, he is willing to return without the formality of extradition.

The shooting was the outcome of a love affair, in which Mrs. Annie Hindson, who conducted a rooming-house at 240 Second street, and was afterwards married to Grace, was the attraction. Forkey and Grace had for some time been bitter rivals for the woman's affections, and when she finally accepted Grace, the rejected lover swore to be revenged.

Bride and bridegroom returned from a brief wedding trip Feb. 23, and took up their quarters over Grace's saloon. The following morning, when Grace appeared outside his door, Forkey was waiting and fired several shots at him, one of which took effect in the abdomen, inflicting a dangerous wound.

Forkey fled.

His capture in Toronto was made upon the strength of a descriptive circular issued by the Detroit police department.

Forkey is a former Londoner, and was a news butcher for years running out of this city.

Strengthen the Garrison
There.

An order has been received from headquarters ordering 21 men of the force at present at Wolsey Barracks to Halifax.

The men will leave on April 1.

No special reason for sending the men is given, but it is stated that it is just the usual season for recruiting the various garrisons.

London is one of the principal training stations, and the men who have been taken on here during the winter and trained, are now being sent out to fill up vacancies in other garrisons.

by the Government Regarding Disease at Ottawa.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Ont., March 25.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary, and Dr. McCulloch, chairman of the provincial board of health, arrived in the city this morning to confer with the citizens' committee, headed by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, on the advisability of holding an investigation under oath into the causes of the typhoid epidemic here.

A meeting was arranged for the supreme court chambers. It is now practically assured that the government commission will be appointed, and the meeting will take into consideration the exact form which the inquiry should assume.

The citizens' committee hopes to have a judge appointed chairman of the commission.

Hon. Mr. Hanna will address the Canadian Club this afternoon on prison reform.

Many complaints have been received lately regarding the practice.

QUEEN MARY IS TO SHARE IN THE CORONATION CLIMAX

King George Has Decided That Consort Will Be Crowned by Archbishop of Canterbury According to Precedent of Early Times.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 25.—King George has decided that the Archbishop of Canterbury shall crown the Queen, as well as himself, next June. This is in accordance with the precedent of the early times, practically the only exception being at the coronation of King Edward, when Queen Alexandra was crowned by the Archbishop of York.

There was no sermon at the coronation of King Edward, the service having been specially shortened owing to the fact that the King had not completely recovered from a serious illness, but at the approaching coronation the sermon will be preached by the Archbishop of York.

A Popular Monarch.

King George is gaining in popularity daily by the determination he is showing to obtain an insight into the very life of his people.

Last evening the King, accompanied by the Queen and Princess Mary, paid a surprise visit to the new general postoffice and spent two hours in investigating its immense ramifications.

The King and Queen sent cordial greetings to the European capitals and witnessed with interest the replies coming over the wires.

DAVID HARUM
HORSE TRADE

Horse That Was Paralyzed Was Exchanged, It Is Claimed.

THE POLICE APPEALED TO

Then Retstitution Was Made and the Matter Did Not Get into the Courts.

Cowan Boyd, a young man residing on Worley road, promised to beat David Harum to a standstill when it comes to trading horses. Boyd appeared in court this morning to answer to a charge of fraud preferred against him by another horse-trader, named G. Rogerson.

According to the police Rogerson and Boyd met the other day on the street and had a talk about swapping steeds. A couple of days ago Rogerson was over to Boyd's and saw a horse in the stable, and it was decided that Rogerson was to give his animal and $20 for Boyd's horse.

Rogerson went out to unhitch his horse, and while he was putting it in Boyd's stable the other horse was taken out and harnessed. Rogerson says that when he went out and tried to drive his newly-acquired racer out of the yard, it managed to go a few steps and then fell over.

Appealed to Police.

The police say the animal is paralyzed. Boyd refused to make any reparation, and Rogerson appealed to the police.

In the meantime Boyd got busy and straightened out the affair and made full reparation.

"No proceedings will be taken against you under the circumstances," said the court, "but I understand that you had a horse in trouble for this sort of thing before. If you ever come before me again you will be severely dealt with. You must pay the costs in connection with this case."

Boyd did so, and left the court in a hurry.

BIBLE SUNDAY
IN CHURCHES

Tercentenary of the King James Translation Will Be Observed in London.

HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

Nearly All the Protestant Denominations
Will Recognize the 300th Anniversary.

Tomorrow is Bible Sunday in London churches, in almost every one of which at least one service will mark the tercentenary celebration of the authorized version of the English Bible. No other book has ever approached the popularity of this particular translation of the English Bible, which was made in 1611, by order of King James I.

It is not definitely known in what month of the year the translation was completed, hence the lack of uniformity throughout the English-speaking world in the matter of fixing the date for celebrating the 300th anniversary of the event.

Different dates have been decided upon by the United States, Scotland, Australia and different places in Canada. Bible Sunday has already been held in Toronto and some other Canadian cities, but London churches have been left to choose the date for their special services.

All Will Observe It.

A great many churches throughout the London diocese, the London Conference of the Methodist Church, the Diocese of Huron, and the Anglican, Baptist, Congregational and other Protestant churches, of which London is the centre, will follow the example of the London churches in observing tomorrow as their Bible Sunday.

Next Wednesday afternoon, the children of the public schools will meet in four different centres, the First Methodist, the New St. James Presbyterian, the St. James' Anglican and the Adelaide Street Baptist churches, where special children's services will be held and the little ones will be impressed with the value and importance of the English Bible.

BOY CAUGHT
BROKE INTO SCHOOL

Janitor Hutchinson Made a Timely Capture Friday Night.

TWO OTHERS ARRESTED

All Appeared in Police Court This Morning and Were Remanded.

Three East London youths all under 15 years of age, were in the police court this morning charged with breaking into the Lorne avenue school Friday night and stealing therefrom various articles.

One of the youths was captured in the school by Janitor Sam Hutchinson, who while doing some work there heard a noise, and on investigating found some boys going through the desks. He captured one lad and the others ran away.

The boy who was captured gave the names of two others.

The affair created some little stir among the members of the board of education, and the members were much in evidence at the police court today.

Deputy Magistrate Graydon decided to remand the boys for a week.

Principal Sheelgrove states that on three or four different occasions the school has been entered lately and various things taken.

Strangely enough none of the lads go to the school. One attends the Collegiate, another works down town, and another attends another school.

MEXICANS TORTURE
REBEL MESSENGER

Agony Drives Him to Tell the Position of Insurrectos.

FEDERALS IN BAD PLACE

Attacked on Three Sides, and May Be Compelled to Surrender.

[Canadian Press.]

Tecate, Lower California, Mexico, March 25.—An attack was made last night from three sides on the Mexican federal position on Tecate Hill by 150 rebels. The attack lasted only one hour, and ceased as unexpectedly as it began. There were no casualties on the federal side.

The rebels were close to the federal position, as bullets passed over a store about 800 yards north of Tecate. Wire communication was interrupted for half an hour, during the fight, but was restored later.

The federalists have had nothing to eat for more than 24 hours, and are unable to get supplies from the American side. It is believed that the federalists must either surrender or pass into American lines tomorrow of the rebels persist in their attack.

After he had been tortured all night by Mexican soldiers, a Cocopah Indian, who was captured yesterday, told of the position of the rebels, for whom he was carrying salt and mesquite seed to the ground all night.

The Indian was finally released, and put on a pallet of straw and blankets for three or four days, before being released. The federalists then prepared for the attack.

MAYOR IS EXPECTING
THE AMENDMENTS

But Local Lawyer Says the Dog
Act Only Applies to Rural Municipalities.

Mayor Beattie has received no further word from Toronto regarding the dog taxes.

City Solicitor Meredith has been taking the matter up with Mr. J. Hanna, and sent him some days ago an outline of the amendments required.

It was expected that some action would be taken in reference to them, but so far not a word has been heard.

Some definite information will probably come within a week. In the meantime Inspector McCallum is marking time so far as the collection of dog taxes is concerned, waiting authority from his worship.

"It is certain that the amendments to the act will be made as suggested," said Mayor Beattie, "our own bylaw will have to be amended in some particulars, but I do not know as yet in what respect the dog owners will have any redress as they were not overcharged last year within the meaning of the act."

However, dog owners are of a different mind, and a lawyer who has followed the matter very closely stated that undoubtedly the owners of dogs who paid $2 could collect the extra dollar.

"There is no question that the act specifies that the dog tax shall be $1," said a lawyer. "If the corporation charged $2, that was too much, and they are compel the municipality to disgorge."

The Canine Association are still investigating.

According to Mr. W. R. Barmann it is not necessary that the city amend its bylaw or secure changes in the provincial legislation in order to continue in the same manner.

He declared that the only laws affecting the course of the city are the act regulating the sale of dogs and the act relating to the protection of sleep and the municipal act. Subsection 1 of section 240 of the consolidated municipal act of 1903 gives power to pass regulations for restraining dogs being at large, he says.

CAME TOO LATE
SAYS SIR JAMES

Premier Whitney Sends Reply
in Regard to Temperance Memorial.

ARE NOT WELL PLEASED

London Temperance People Say That They Did Not Get Much Out of the Government This Session.

The temperance people of the city have been notified by Premier Whitney that their memorial to the Government regarding the early closing of the bars came too late for consideration at this session. In all probability the various societies interested in the matter will see that it is brought up again in plenty of time for the next session.

Taking it altogether, the temperance workers are not well pleased with the way Premier Whitney has used them this year.

"The results in our favor are decidedly meagre," said one of the leading workers to The Advertiser today. "We are absolutely opposed to the bill that was passed, providing for a tax of 5 per cent. on all bar receipts in excess of $60 a day. The only point we gain is in regard to 10 per cent. of the receipts being able to ask for a vote on license reduction."

Asked if there would be any steps taken to ask for a vote on license reduction here at the next election, The Advertiser's informant said he did not think so.

"London has not too much hotel accommodation as it is," he said. "As far as I know, we have no complaints to make regarding anything. Inspector Galpin is doing his work well. If the county inspector did his work as thoroughly it would be better for the county. The recent case at Grantham was clearly in his territory, and yet it was handled entirely by Inspector Galpin."

"We think that judging from what we see about the city streets that drunkenness is increasing. For some time the number of drunks to be seen about at different times is quite noticeable. This may be due to some extent to an influx of foreigners, but only partly so."

CHANGING NAME OF PRAYER MEETING

London Methodist Pastors Give
Their Views of Toronto Proposal.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Rev. Richard Whiting Says the Designation Is Not Important—Other Opinions.

Relative to the suggestion of Rev. S. W. Dean, superintendent of the Fred Victor Mission, Toronto, that the name and style of the old-time Methodist prayer meeting ought to be changed in order to render it more popular with the young people of the church, The Advertiser interviewed several of the local ministers of the Methodist Church in London today.

"The mid-week meeting," said Rev. Richard Whiting, of the First Methodist Church, "ought to be one of inspiration, with bright addresses and inspiring prayers. The name by which it is known is of no account. The same name used week after week loses its significance in any case. The secret of success lies in the meeting itself. If three or four of the older members will persist in repeating the same half-hour prayers week after week, and in making the same addresses and relating the same experiences every week, the meeting will, of course, be drab and lack inspiration. Young people under such circumstances will not attend. They will quit coming sooner than will older people. They have less patience, and the prayer-meeting habit is not so strong or so long formed with them. The secret of the perpetuity of the prayer meeting is the secret of the perpetuity of any other meeting. Young people especially want bright, inspiring and helpful meetings."

The Epworth League.

Dr. Manning, of London, Centre, thought the Epworth League is very largely filling the place formerly filled by the prayer-meeting in the lives of Methodist young people. Once a week, as often as they can be expected to attend a mid-week meeting, and the Epworth League is in the main satisfactory. The secret of the success of the Epworth League is largely responsible for the fact that it does not matter what the name of the meeting is. Whether we call the prayer meeting, or the Epworth League, or the young people's meeting, it is the same thing. Mr. Graham improves.

Mr. C. M. W. Graham, who was badly injured on Tuesday by falling at his store, was slightly improved at Victoria Hospital today. Mr. Graham was a fairly restless night, and the attending physicians have every hope now that he will improve steadily.

Two Specials in Ladies' Tailored Waists

White Linon, $1 and $1.39

Two Specials of more than ordinary importance in Ladies' White Linon Tailored Waists will be a strong attraction in our Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Section for next week, and we would advise all who are interested to see them early and secure one or more of these popular waists.

Linon is one of the most satisfactory materials to launder, irons up beautifully, with pretty smooth linen finish, and gives excellent wear.

Then show your appreciation of this movement by doing all your shopping before 6 o'clock today, and on all Saturdays and days preceding holidays.

Every store in London would close Saturdays at 6 if the public would demonstrate the fact that they were not in sympathy with keeping open at night until 10 o'clock or later by doing their shopping before that hour.

This store for years has closed on Saturdays at 6. Some others have recently adopted the same plan, and the way to make it general is in the hands of the ladies of London. Resolve to do all your purchasing before that hour.

The benefit of such a movement would be graciously appreciated by hundreds of girls who serve behind store counters six days in the week and are obliged to work until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

We ask your co-operation by shopping before, and not after, 6 o'clock on Saturdays.

Your Fare Paid to London and Return

During week of April 3 to 8—see advertisement on page 12.

Being members of the London Retailers' Association, all purchases made at this store will count on your total during Trade-London Week. This is a Western Ontario's store for general Drygoods, Millinery, Draperies, Housefurnishings, Carpets, Wall Paper, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Garments, Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishings; almost everything that men, women and children wear and for the furnishing of the home.

A restaurant, where you may lunch at any hour in the day. Course Dinners served from 11.30 to 2. A Checkroom on the Main Floor, where your wraps and luggage will be taken care of. Restrooms and Writing Materials for your use; Lavatories and Toilet Rooms. Every convenience for your use without fee or remuneration of any kind. Make this store your headquarters while in the city. For full particulars see advertisement on page 12.

LONDON'S POLITICAL SALONS ENGLISH WOMEN IN POLITICS

Wives of Public Men in England Still Able to Do Much Toward Making or Marring the Careers of Their Husbands—Conspicuous Hostesses of the Present.

POLITICAL hostesses in England have a status of their own. They may or may not belong to the court circle, the ultra smart set or the sporting set, but whether or not they have any other distinction they are recognized as an important element of social life.

To be sure, the advance of democracy has affected the influence of the political hostess somewhat. She has not the power she had in the day when in her salon questions of state were discussed and tremendous decisions used to be a tremendous factor in making or marring her husband's career. Now she does not count for quite so much in the political game, but whenever Parliament is in session her receptions, dinners, etc., are a part of the social life of London.

Just at present the political hostess is having things quite her own way. With the opening of Parliament she returns to town from continental wanderings or country house visits, and begins her social duties before the spring season is decided upon by other hostesses.

Of course, Lady Lansdowne and Mrs. Asquith are the most important of the political hostesses, and they set the ball rolling recently by each giving a reception. Mrs. Asquith entertained the Liberals, Lady Lansdowne the Conservatives. The two receptions were on the same evening, and, of course many members of both parties were first to one house and then to the other.

Lady Lansdowne is the old-fashioned type of English hostess, very exclusive and conservative and careful to a degree as to her guests and their pedigrees. Lansdowne House has been a centre of social and political influence since the days when it was erected by the unpopular Lord Bute, who signed the peace of Paris, and the present Lord and Lady Lansdowne have kept up the traditions of their home.

Besides her great reception, which opened the political social season, Lady Lansdowne will give several banquets and afternoon receptions as well as a number of informal dinners for Conservative members of Parliament and their wives.

Mrs. Asquith is distinctly the modern English hostess. Her receptions have been criticised by some persons because they are not purely political, because certain well-known actors and actresses, writers and dancers have mingled with the cabinet ministers and members of Parliament invited; but Mrs. Asquith cares little for public opinion, and as matter of fact counts more on having the salon of the day than any of her contemporaries.

Brilliant conversation flourishes where she is and the evening is enjoyed. She has statecraft at her fingers' ends, for she has always lived in its atmosphere. Some of her friends think she has not accomplished all she could have done in re-establishing the salon. They say that in spite of her efforts the dreary residence of the Prime Minister in Downing street, which are once described as "history but heavy," has crushed out some of the spirit of Margaret Tennant, but the fact remains she leads as a political hostess, not because she is the wife of the Prime Minister but because of her own personality.

Lady Lansdowne takes a great interest in political affairs and her house is another centre for entertaining members of the government. She usually gives a large garden party soon after the summer adjournment, and there has been the usual round of dinners, the Lady Ashby St. Ledger is another Liberal hostess. She is away from London and will perform her duties long and take up her duties. Lady Wintborne is an enthusiastic hostess for both parties, while Lady Grosvenor is a hostess for the Liberal party, as her husband is its leader in the House of Lords.

Among the younger political hostesses are Mrs. Reginald McKenna, wife of the third lord of the treasury, Mrs. Winston Churchill and Lady Grandford. Mrs. McKenna is very young, and looked a mere girl when she married her husband, who is only three years older than an admiralty reception. She has learned her lesson, and is one of the most capable and charming of the political hostesses. Churchill has hardly done her share of political entertaining. She is going to do so in a more practical way, and has sent out invitations for a reception and several dinners.

Lady Grandford, who is an American, has been a great help to the Liberal party, and has given by far the most elaborate entertainments of all the hostesses. Her beautiful house is always elaborately decorated with flowers, and the dinners which always precede the receptions are masterpieces. She has started this season with a banquet to Mr. and Mrs. Asquith, and will in a few weeks give a reception to Liberal members and their wives.

Mrs. Lewis, Balfour's wife, is another hostess who is not purely political. Her husband's Liberal friends, while Mr. Balfour is in office, will do the same thing for her Conservative friends. Mrs. Lloyd George does not attempt to do very much except entertaining her husband to his affairs, and some of the most elaborate dinners in the house are given by her. The Labor members and their wives ignore the necessity of entertaining as a part of political life. They sometimes accept invitations to receptions or dinners, but they do not venture to give any entertainments of their own.

As you can see, the political hostesses of London are a very important element of social life. They are not only the wives of public men, but they are also the wives of public men.

CHURCHILL CONTRASTS

and even earlarks to the life of man. And they are not restraints which make the life of the ordinary humble person more interesting, more dignified, more purposeful, more conscious of tones and values than the careless, indifferent indifference of this vast London caravan. Are they not restraints which are true and necessary foundations of culture?

A Contrast in Culture. Of the wealth of the mighty prodigious forces here at work I shall speak with all respect. But what shall we say of the culture when we consider that this great Metropolis cannot afford to sustain, or at any rate is not able to sustain, its money of interest a popular autumn opera, or to produce from its multitudinous wealth a fund necessary to create a national theatre, or even with rare exceptions to maintain amongst a profession of despotic men more than one or two at the outside, theatres which pursue consistently the serious drama? (Cheers.) When we consider all these things, which are the qualities of London life and the qualities of this great city, what even recognition of what is the immense forces for good actively at work in this immense community, I believe it is true to say that culture is more characteristic of the Welsh than of the English.

COLD UPSETS THE KIDNEYS

AND URIC ACID POISONS BRING PAINS AND ACHES TO BACK AND LIMBS.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You feel pain in the back, find the urine heavy and muddy colored, have indigestion and irregularity of the bowels and there may be rheumatic twinges. You wonder what has gone wrong until you recollect that you have been exposed to sudden change of temperature, perhaps sitting in a draft or passing from a very warm room to be chilled by the outdoor air. The kidneys are most susceptible to cold, and a sudden lowering of temperature throws an extra burden on them by closing the pores of the skin, which are ordinarily a great aid to the kidneys in removing poisons from the blood.

The danger lies in not understanding the meaning of the symptoms given in the first paragraph. Once you know that the kidneys need assistance you can help them promptly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Every day you put off treatment you are taking the risk of developing Bright's disease, dropsy or rheumatism. Because of the inactivity of the failing kidneys your system is being loaded with poisons and uric acid, and that means pain and suffering.

Get Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills today. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Asturias in the north of Spain, cut off by mountains from the movement of the peninsula behind it—this small community, without hesitation, without inquiry, took the step of declaring war on the Emperor. So, at the summit of his power, and sent envoys to England, where they were received by Canning, and thus began the Peninsular War. Who, reading such a story, can feel much doubt that it is possible to combine the highest development of local and of national development, the necessary strength of all, the Imperial and united power?

The Powers With a Destiny. I will say first: Happy the man whose head is strong enough to feel his controlling brain. Happy the great power which, in the hour of peril, but also in the long years of strain and rivalry such as we are passing through in this present phase, can rely not only upon the life and opinion of the capital but also upon the strength of its vital springs of energy and vitality, which arise in all parts of the land. Happy indeed, will be the great power which, in the hour of peril, but also in the long years of strain and rivalry such as we are passing through in this present phase, can rely not only upon the life and opinion of the capital but also upon the strength of its vital springs of energy and vitality, which arise in all parts of the land.

MR. BIRRELL ON HOME RULE; A DEBATE AT OLD OXFORD

Irish Secretary Says Union Has Been a Failure—Favors Home Rule All Round—Does Not Fear the Religious Issue.

AT THE OXFORD Union Society recently there was carried, by 285 votes to 294, a motion in favour of Home Rule for Ireland. The motion was carried by a large majority, and the Irish Secretary, Mr. Birrell, who was present, said that he was not at all surprised at the result.

Mr. Birrell, who on rising, late in the evening, and after a long and interesting speech, said that he had heard that night convinced him that government by talk would do nothing, and that the only way to get the question of the day was settled in solemn silence. He said that he was not at all surprised at the result, and that he was not at all surprised at the result, and that he was not at all surprised at the result.

portunity of guiding the ever-expanding activities of the great power. The toast of "Cynru" (Wales) was proposed by Mr. J. L. Griffiths and responded to by the chairman.

DON'T KILL SNAKES AND TOADS.

The French town authorities post village bulletins, for public instruction. One of these reads: "Hedgehog: lives upon mice, snails and worms. Do not kill a hedgehog. Toads: helps agriculture. Killing 20 to 30 insects every hour—do not kill a toad. Cockchafer: Deadly enemy to the farmer. Do not kill a cockchafer. It would be a good idea for our own Government to post bulletins of this sort instead of printing so many for circulation."

In the south most of the snakes are of great value, and that is relatively true everywhere. The blue racer, a handsome fellow, is estimated to be worth $10 a year to destroy insects. In the north the little water snake, which is long and slender, is a great pest to the farmer. It is a good idea for our own Government to post bulletins of this sort instead of printing so many for circulation.

tunity was lost of reminding the Canadian ministers of the regard which it was right and fitting they should have to imperial interests while doing their best for Canadian interests, and such reminders received on every occasion a cordial response. Mr. Bryce in that was fulfilling the duties of a British ambassador, he ought to have kept the home Government, and the home Government ought to have kept the home manufacturers acquainted with all the details at the latest possible moment.

"It was desired by both parties to the negotiations," Sir Edward Grey replied, "that they should be kept secret while they were taking place. The right honorable gentleman says we did not consult British manufacturers. At what stage could we have done so? We could not do so whilst the negotiations were going on. The board of trade have been examining the details of the treaty from a British trade point of view, and the embassy did the same whilst the negotiations were taking place. One thing we could not do, but that we could never have done, that would have been to forbid Canada to conclude an arrangement which she had a perfect right to conclude until we had the whole thing over here, and British manufacturers had been consulted. We would never do that. (Ministerial cheers.) Unless we had done that I don't see what more we could have done to keep the commercial experts in touch with the Canadian ministers, to keep British trade interests before them, and make their comments, and those comments I may say were sympathetic." (Ministerial cheers.)

The right honorable gentleman also spoke of the declaration by Sir Wilfrid Laurier for a policy of preference. That is the preference which Canada gives to British trade. That is the side which is within Sir Wilfrid Laurier's power, and the side which I understand him to adopt.

"What I referred to," said Mr. Balfour, again interrupting, "was his intention to bring up this question at the Imperial Conference, and to ask what we were going to do, not merely to say what he was going to do."

"The Canadian ministers have been more than once," retorted Sir Edward Grey, "that they adhered to the policy of preference, and to giving the preference to us irrespective of what we do. Mr. Fielding stated that Canada reserved the British preference, and that in the reciprocity negotiations Canada retained full liberty to deal as they pleased with the existing preference. REMINISCENCES OF CARMEN SYLVA, QUEEN OF ROUMANIA

(From the London Daily News.)

From Memory's Shrine—The Reminiscences of Carmen Sylva (H. M. Elizabeth of Roumania). Translated by Edith Hughes.

THIS IS a year of remarkable autobiographies. First we had the brilliant and dispassionate memoirs of Goldwin Smith. Then, a week ago, came the sword-flashes of the passion and brightness of Sir William Butler.

And now these autobiographical sketches of Queen Elizabeth of Roumania. They are a book of life, but not at all of gossip, a book with the sincerity of literature.

Queen Elizabeth, who is better known to the English public under her pen-name of Carmen Sylva, does not attempt in this volume to give a connected and complete account of her life. Her book is rather a collection of memories, of childhood and youth. Her first chapter, for instance, mainly concerns Clara Schumann, at one of whose concerts in Cologne she seems to have attracted the notice of the young Prince of Roumania.

She heard from Mrs. Schumann herself the story of Schumann's wedding and the tragedy of his final madness—a story which she repeats here. Schumann was only 18 and Clara 14 at the beginning of the joy. Before long they had become severely engaged, in spite of the hostility of her father. How desperately her father fought against the marriage! Mrs. Schumann related in her own words:

"Four years later it had come to open war between my affianced husband and my father, and I remember having to appear between them in the court of law, in which the struggle for my person was being decided. Schumann proved to the entire satisfaction of the court that he was of age, and perfectly well fitted to support a wife, whilst my father, lacking no just grounds for refusal, was not allowed to give his consent."

Home Tyranny. Even more interesting than the Clara Schumann chapter are those chapters in which the author gives us some idea of the life of the small German courts, of which she is the child, her grandfather being a Duke of Nassau.

"Grandmother," her step-grandmother, is the first of her relatives whose figure has before us in this vivid panorama. She was the ideal of a perfect step-mother, and the story of the duke's wedding of his deceased wife's dress, of his daughter and herself, is a grotesque and touching tale. His widow did not prevent his treating his new wife in the most tyrannical way, so that there might be no mistake at all.

as to the position he intended to assume, the wedding ceremony was no sooner over, and the newly-married couple alone in their travelling carriage, than he proceeded to light his pipe, and, closing the windows, smoked hard in her face for a few hours just to see if she would venture to remonstrate or complain. "Grandmother," however, seems to have been schooled in suffering to such a degree as not to be wounded too severely by superannuated like these. Her parents' married lives had been excessively unhappy, "her father having even, in order to rid himself of a wife he detested, gone to the length on one occasion of actually hiding a man in her bedroom, and then burning in upon her the flames of the whole court, in the hope that his unsuspecting victim's confusion might lend her an appearance of guilt."

It was of little advantage in those days to be the daughter of a despotic prince. Given the governor was allowed to be a tyrant. "Grandmother's" death, for instance, seems to have been caused by her governor forcing her to stand sometimes for a couple of hours at a time before him in his nightgown on the stone floor.

No Fiction Allowed. Carmen Sylva herself was brought up in an atmosphere, not of old-fashioned cruelty, but of old-fashioned seriousness. She tells us that "The Wide, Wide World" was the only "book in the least resembling a novel" that she was allowed to read while in her teens. This is typical of her upbringing. She and her sisters learned to use their hands when quite young, and they were never idle. "I could give first-rate sewing lessons," she writes in Roumania even I have taught many a young girl to embroider. "It is for the picture it gives in a hundred different positions of the hand, which is a true school for the life which may be said to have included frequent travel, from Petersburg, now to the Isle of Wight, now to the West-Indies."

For this picture that Carmen Sylva's new book is most memorable. Her memories of the poet and patriot, Arad, of the noblest of Roumanian, of the portrait painter, Karl Schick, make fascinating reading, but it is when she speaks of the members of her own family, the teachers, the servants, that the book reveals most surely a winning and queenly personality. Of her later life as queen and author, Carmen Sylva has little to say. Her most important reference to her adopted country concerns the alleged persecution of Roumanian Jews, which created such a scandal a few years ago. Carmen Sylva declares that the Roumanian Government either sanctioned or connived at "the so-called persecution of the Jews."

Jews, she declares, were not driven away by anything except a succession of bad harvests, which ruined commerce. "They emigrated voluntarily from a land which could no longer afford them the means of subsistence." This contradiction is at least worth putting on record as giving to our own side of a well-known story. It should be added that the Queen of Roumania is herself no anti-Semite. Though this does not mean that she has not been misled by her Roumanian patriots. Her pages are full of charity. No excellent book of memories deserves to be so widely read.

ing that their detention would be very long. But when the deaths began to come rapidly, especially in the worst times, a panic struck them, and they escaped to carry the infection where ever they went. The weather being still bitterly cold, they could not travel far afoot, and the railways were no longer taking passengers.

Dr. Jackson would line up the occupants of each inn, go down the line, cut out suspects, and send them off to another inn, where certain death awaited them.

Friends of Dr. Jackson say that when he discovered of himself the first symptoms of the disease he tried to hide, to keep away from any other being to whom he might impart it. Fellow missionaries, however, noticed and properly clad, went to him and endeavored by injections of Hoffman's serum to save his life. But no man recovers from this disease, and their efforts were of no avail.

A VICAR'S OUTBURST
Says the Devil Was the First Dissenter.

STEAM runs purest nearest its source. Dissent is the sewage in the river of God, and the devil was the first dissenter.

So writes the Rev. E. R. Cornford, vicar of St. Matthew's, Southsea, England, in his parish magazine, in which he makes a violent attack upon Free Churchmen, who have been visiting the town for their annual conference.

He denounces them as "two thousand heretics," remarking that the Rev. R. S. McDowell, vicar of Portsmouth, was to entertain "a luncheon of the most capable and able" of the dissenting clergy, and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's Word.

Dissenters, says the Rev. E. R. Cornford (who, by the way, is director of the Portsmouth football club), today deny the deity of our Lord, his miraculous birth, and the atonement. His New Testament told him to "mark those who may cause divisions and avoid them." Why was it said that an honor was conferred on Portsmouth by the arrival of all "these false teachers and political desperadoes?"

"I know and love many dissenters, but dissent I hate as contrary to the mind and prayer of the Saviour of the world. This flitting with the enemy is objectionable to me. The King, the Catholic faith, and the dear old church that has existed in this country since the thirteenth century, after Christ, and you dissenters, what rubbish will be proclaimed as religion?" THE MAKING OF ALFONSO
The Young Queen Credited With Making a Real King of Him.

[From the American Review of Reviews.] WHEN the Spanish attempt was made on the life of Alfonso and his Queen, after their marriage, the people began to wonder what would happen to him on his ideal, a true descendant of the great Bourbons, and the youthful monarch was placed on the highest pinnacle of power.

That was six years ago. Extraordinary in the royal household, unwise political favoritism, and decidedly English tendencies slowly forced Alfonso to depart from his ideal, a true descendant of the great Bourbons, and the youthful monarch was placed on the highest pinnacle of power.

Chews the Way to Health

What are you doing to give your children sound and healthy teeth? Out of 11,374 children inspected by the Medical Inspector in the schools of Toronto nearly 3,000 cases of physical defects were found. Of these 2,027 were credited to decayed and imperfectly formed teeth. Sound teeth and good bones come from thoroughly chewing a food that is rich in the phosphates. You can't build them with mushy porridges, soggy pastries or sweetmeats. Shredded Whole Wheat contains all the necessary phosphates in a digestible form. You HAVE to chew

SHREDDED WHEAT

The crispness of the shreds compels thorough chewing and a thorough mixing with saliva, which is the first process in digestion.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit every morning for breakfast, served with milk or cream, will build sturdy, robust youngsters and is a preventive of stomach and bowel disorders so common to children. Being ready-cooked and ready-to-serve it is so easy to prepare a nourishing meal with it in combination with fresh or preserved fruits—a meal that is deliciously satisfying to grown-ups as well as youngsters. Your grocer sells it.

ENGLISH HERO OF PLAGUE DR. JACKSON'S LAST DAYS

Viceroy of Manchuria Pays Eloquent Tribute to Him—Gave Up His Life for the Sufferers.

IF the funeral service for Dr. A. H. Jackson, a young Cheshire man who had recently gone to China, a pathetic story of the plague now ravaging Manchuria, was given in striking form. The speaker was a Chinaman of the old school, a man of great ability, for the difficult office of viceroy of the vast province of the north, where only a statesman can reconcile the conflicting ideas of Russia and Japan with those of his own countrymen.

Using Purgatives INJURES HEALTH
WHAT YOU NEED IN SPRING IS A BLOOD BUILDING TONIC.

A spring medicine is an actual necessity to most people. Nature demands it as an aid in carrying off the impurities that have accumulated in the blood during the long winter months of indoor life. Unfortunately, thousands of people who recognize the necessity for a spring medicine do not know what is best to take and dose themselves with harsh, stimulating purgatives.

This is a serious mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of purgative medicines weakens the system, but does not cure disease. In the spring, the system needs building up—purgatives cannot do this—they weaken you still more. The blood should be made rich, red, pure, and only a tonic medicine can do this. The best blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic medical science has discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every bottle of these pills actually makes new, rich blood. This new blood strengthens every organ, every nerve and every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure headaches and backaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, indigestion, constipation, and give a glow of health, pink cheeks, and rosy lips. Men, women, and growing girls and boys who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills eat well, sleep well, and feel better. If you need a medicine this spring, most likely you do—try this great reviving tonic and feel the new life, new health, and new strength it will put into you.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50. From The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PLAYERS OF CARDS.

If a tailor be the ninth part of a man, it must be a consolation to the card player to be at least a fourth.

Indeed, he is a fourth. He need not be a tailor's dummy. The whole range of human emotion is his. The triumphant holder of four trumps, the pained and innocent victim of a "grand slam," the pitiable and irascible winner whose truck has been doubly won by a sleep partner, are subjects for caricaturist and tragedian alike. For in a game of cards one has the mirror and measure of a man. A fourth might sharpen his pencil or a Lamb write a whole series of essays on the card player. THE WIFE OF AN OWNER OF GOLD MINES IN PERU

Booth Tarkington says he is tired of the theatre and will forsake playwriting, at least for some years, and devote his time to fiction.

Grace Merritt has a new play called "The Golden Age." It is by Margaret Turnbull, co-author of "Classmates," and is a story of political life.

Percy Haswell is soon to appear in Baltimore in the Shakespearean playlet written for her by her brother-in-law, Allan Fawcett, called "Master Will's Players."

It is reported that Bernstein was so much angered by the opposition to his play "Après Moi" in Paris that he will have his next play produced in America.

Lieber & Co. have secured the much-sought-after lease of the New Theatre, New York city, and will devote to it big attractions, the opening one having been chosen, but not yet named.

"The Golden Age," a new musical play on the order of "San Toy," has been given a copyright performance in Canada. The author and composer is J. Nevill Doyle, of New York.

A musical comedy is to be produced in London called "The Belle of London Town," with music by Franz Lehár, the composer of "The Merry Widow." The title is reminiscent of "The Belle of New York."

The clergy of Cincinnati are going to start a crusade against the open Sunday theatre and the problem play with the "eternal triangle" as its main theme, and the pictures of domestic unhappiness on the stage.

"The Little Rebel," by Edward Poppe, in which Dustin Farnum has been starring in vaudeville, is to be made into a four-act drama. Dustin and William Farnum will be co-stars in the production under the management of A. H. Woods.

Margaret Mayo, author of "Baby Sister," is coming to the Grand.

Maxine Elliott made good-bye to America for at least two years when she departed last Wednesday for England on board the Mauretania. America may never see Maxine Elliott again on the stage. Although she said she "might inflict herself on New York city in 1913," she admitted she had no definite plans for a return to the stage.

Billie Burke's leading man in "Suzanne" is Julian L'Estrange, the young English actor who was with her in "Mrs. Dot." Mr. L'Estrange was formerly a member of Sir Herbert Tree's company in London. Miss Constance Collier, now appearing in "Thais," in New York, is Mrs. L'Estrange's old stage.

Blanche Bates in "Nobody's Widow," is leaving the Grand to go to the Lyric.

The Hippodrome has had to put on a new spectacle to bolster up a waning business, and to renew interest while the circus shows at Madison Square Garden.

Maudie Arlene will shortly conclude her engagement at the Knickerbocker. While "Chatterbox" has been unfavourably spoken of the enormous personal popularity of the star has been efficacious as a draw.

"The Spring Maid," at the Liberty is doing a steady $15,000 a week business.

"The Deep Purple," tenth week, at the Lyric, runs along to a gross weekly income that varies between $7,500 and $8,500.

"The Gaudlers," at Maxine Elliott's, is in its twentieth week. The small capacity of the theatre will permit its continuance for the entire season.

The Aborns are making good money at the Mafese with their English grand opera company.

"Baby Mine" is back at Daly's, once more having moved to the Lyric, and has again to its original home. The double shift hasn't helped business any.

"The House of the Rising Sun," at the Republic, is just opening, but fine notices received help along the gross on the week.

"Fondle Me," at Wallack's, is getting better each week. Now doing between $7,500 and $8,500.

"Alma," at Wallack's, is still doing a fair business considering that it has run all season and discarded its original stars.

Richard Carle, in "The House of the Rising Sun," appears to be the only production not doing a native business that hasn't been withdrawn. This is the show's second week.

ROSEMARY VICARIO, AN AMERICAN COLORATURA SOPRANO, IS A SECOND "TETRAZINT" were not far wrong. At least, that was the unanimous opinion of a group of about sixty people who had an opportunity last Sunday afternoon to hear the young lady sing at a private hearing arranged by her teacher, Arthur Lawton, at his studio, No. 22 West Fifty-second street, New York. Miss Vicario presented the following programme, with the assistance of H. Hiedelberg, flautist, and Charles Baker, accompanist.

Aria, "La Perle du Brésil," David; old French song, "Je Connais un Berger Discret"; and "Marianne Dites-Moi"; "Romance," Debussy; "Chanson Provençale," Debussy; aria, "Andrea Chénier," Giordano; Spring Song, "Well, To a Messenger," La Forge; "Birds," Woodman; aria, "Lucia," Donizetti.

Evidently nature intended that Miss Vicario should be a singer, for she is endowed with a voice of exceptional flexibility and a naturally good quality. With this advantage, she has been fortunate in her teacher, Mr. Lawton, who is a London, Ont., boy, and by diligent and intelligent study she has advanced to an enviable position. Her high notes are brilliant and of real musical value, and quite different from many otherwise successful coloratura sopranos, she has a middle register of considerable warmth and strength.

It is, however, the technical side of Miss Vicario's art that justifies the glowing comments made by the western critics during her engagement with the Grand Opera Company. She has shown to special advantage in the three operatic arias included on her programme Sunday. The difficult trills, arpeggios, chromatic runs, and staccato notes were delivered with certainty, absolute master of her voice and with remarkable brilliancy. To an artist of such attainment, one may safely predict a future of great achievement. Mr. Baker, as is his custom, provided most satisfactory accompaniments.

Lulu Glaser has left the cast of "The Girl and the Kaiser." Her place was taken by Edith Decker.

William Norris is to be seen in a sketch called "The Food Tester," by Edgar Allan Woolf.

Mary Richmond, having recovered from a long illness, has rejoined Thos. J. Ryan in vaudeville.

"Get-Rich-Quick-Wallford," the George Cohan play, is now in its fourth week in Chicago.

Amelia Bingham has purchased the home of the late Joseph Jefferson on Riverside Drive, in New York.

A new play is to be produced by Edward Rose, author of "The Rosary," called "The Rock of Ages."

"Everywoman" is such a success in New York that it is to remain there until the end of the season.

The Gordon & North Amusement Company is managing Hugh Hurlbert during his spring season in vaudeville.

Henry E. Dixey has joined the company of Mrs. Fiske. He will have an important role in a new comedy.

Since Billie Burke was here in "Mrs. Dot," she has joined the former class. Miss Burke bought a big farm in Devonshire, England, last summer.

Hamilton Revelle is to appear in London in a short play by Kate Jordan called "Susan's Gentleman."

A play called "Maud" has been produced in Paris. It is founded on "The Luck of Roaring Camp" by Bret Harte.

Louise Gunning, star of "The Balkan Princess," has received word to contract with the Shuberts for another year.

This seems to be a hard season on stage vocal singers, and there are complaining of the prevailing throat trouble.

George Grossmith and Leslie Stuart have written and composed a new musical play called "Peggy," which scored in London.

Lionel Barrymore and McKee Rankin are making a southern tour in "The White Slave," and are meeting with success.

H. S. Sheldon, author of "The Haves," has a new play, "The Fool's Creed," which will be produced in New York next September.

"A Man's World," in which Mary Manning will shortly be seen, discusses the old question of the double moral standard for men and for women.

Robert Hitchen's novel, "The Garden of Allah," will be dramatized and produced by Liebler & Co. The scene is laid in the desert of Sahara.

Dorothy Russell, the daughter of Lillian Russell, is to become a dramatic star. She is now Mrs. Dumas.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, breaks the chest and lungs.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried—Cure Followed in 5 Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the use of it. It is a simple tonic cough syrup, which can be made at home by anyone, and the formula is for benefit for those who pass sleepless nights in painful prostrations. Those who have tried it say it is magical, and beats any high priced, slow-acting cough medicine ever sold.

Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence carded and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age. This will cure up and rid the system of deep-seated coughs every time.

WOULD TIP PORTERS TO STOP BRUSHING

Tuberculosis Authority Condemns Activity of Pullman Servitors as Unhealthy—Dust Spreads Disease.

BRESH "You, sir," is an expression which sends the Pullman porters who utter it either to punishment or "on his knees," in the view of Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf, an eminent authority on tuberculosis, who has written in the current number of the Medical Record on "The Hygiene of Public Conveyances."

If the public must give quarters to the porters Dr. Knopf proposes that it subsidize them for not brushing. At the first threat of "Fresh you off a little, sir," the passenger might say, "Not on your life or mine," and pass over the necessary tribute.

With rare humanity the physician thus gives the porters a chance to still live as befits their station and to keep their diamonds and automobiles.

"The parlor cars of our railroads," writes Dr. Knopf, are veritable cesspools. They cannot be overcrowded because their seating capacity is limited, and the ventilation can be improved upon by appealing to the conductor or the porter. There exists, however, one great nuisance in parlor and Pullman cars alike, and that is the brushing of passengers by the colored porter. The word "nuisance" hardly describes this practice, unless we use the adjective "criminal" in front of it. The persistency with which this practice is carried on is explained, of course, by the fact that the porter expects a gratuity for this service.

"Flying Dust a Menace."
The brushing of the passenger in the middle of the car takes place at nearly every station where passengers leave, and the traveler who remains until the end of the trip will have had the benefit of having brushed all the dust that could be raised by the assiduous porter from the garments of all his fellow-passengers. A more sure way of irritating the respiratory mucous membrane with animal, vegetable and mineral dust, mingled not infrequently with all kinds of pathogenic micro-organisms, can hardly be conceived.

Some companies have given orders that the brushing be done in the corridors, and although this does not do away with the nuisance, it reduces it to some degree. If I were a lawmaker or railroad president I would see to it that this practice would be stopped, and any attempt to resist it by the colored porter would be met by the immediate dismissal of the Ethiopian employee. I would have a large sign placed conspicuously at both ends of the car, reminding passengers and porters that brushing was forbidden. It is as it is sometimes said, the Pullman Car Company does not pay its porters sufficient wages, and that they are largely dependent upon the gratuities or tips they receive from passengers, which, by the way, is hard to believe, then let this also be stated publicly.

I truly believe that I am not the only one who would gladly give the porter a quarter at the end of the trip on condition that his whisk broom should not be used on any of the passengers in the car. In return to the company, however, we must question whether even if the salaries of the porters would be doubled their desire for earning extra money by tips for parting brushing would not still exist.

Suggests Vacuum Duster.

"The only way out of the difficulty," it seems to me, would be to use the automatic duster not only for cleaning the Pullman car upholstery, but also the garments of the passengers. We must inhale enough dust at the best in the car, and should not be subjected to the additional amount which passengers must bring in with their clothes, and which may contain all kinds of pathogenic micro-organisms. Even when sterile this dust causes irritation of the respiratory tract, and there is no doubt in my mind that many a case of croup, and perhaps pneumonia and tuberculosis, has had its origin in the inhalation of germs with this dust."

Dr. Knopf also criticizes the railroad companies for allowing so little consideration for the passengers in the day coaches, and declares he cannot see why in a democratic country only the passengers in Pullman or parlor cars should have the luxury of screened windows which will allow the entrance of air minus insects. All of which he respectfully refers to the lawmakers.

GIRLS WILL BEAR QUEEN'S TRAIN

Queen Mary's Choice of Six for the Coronation.

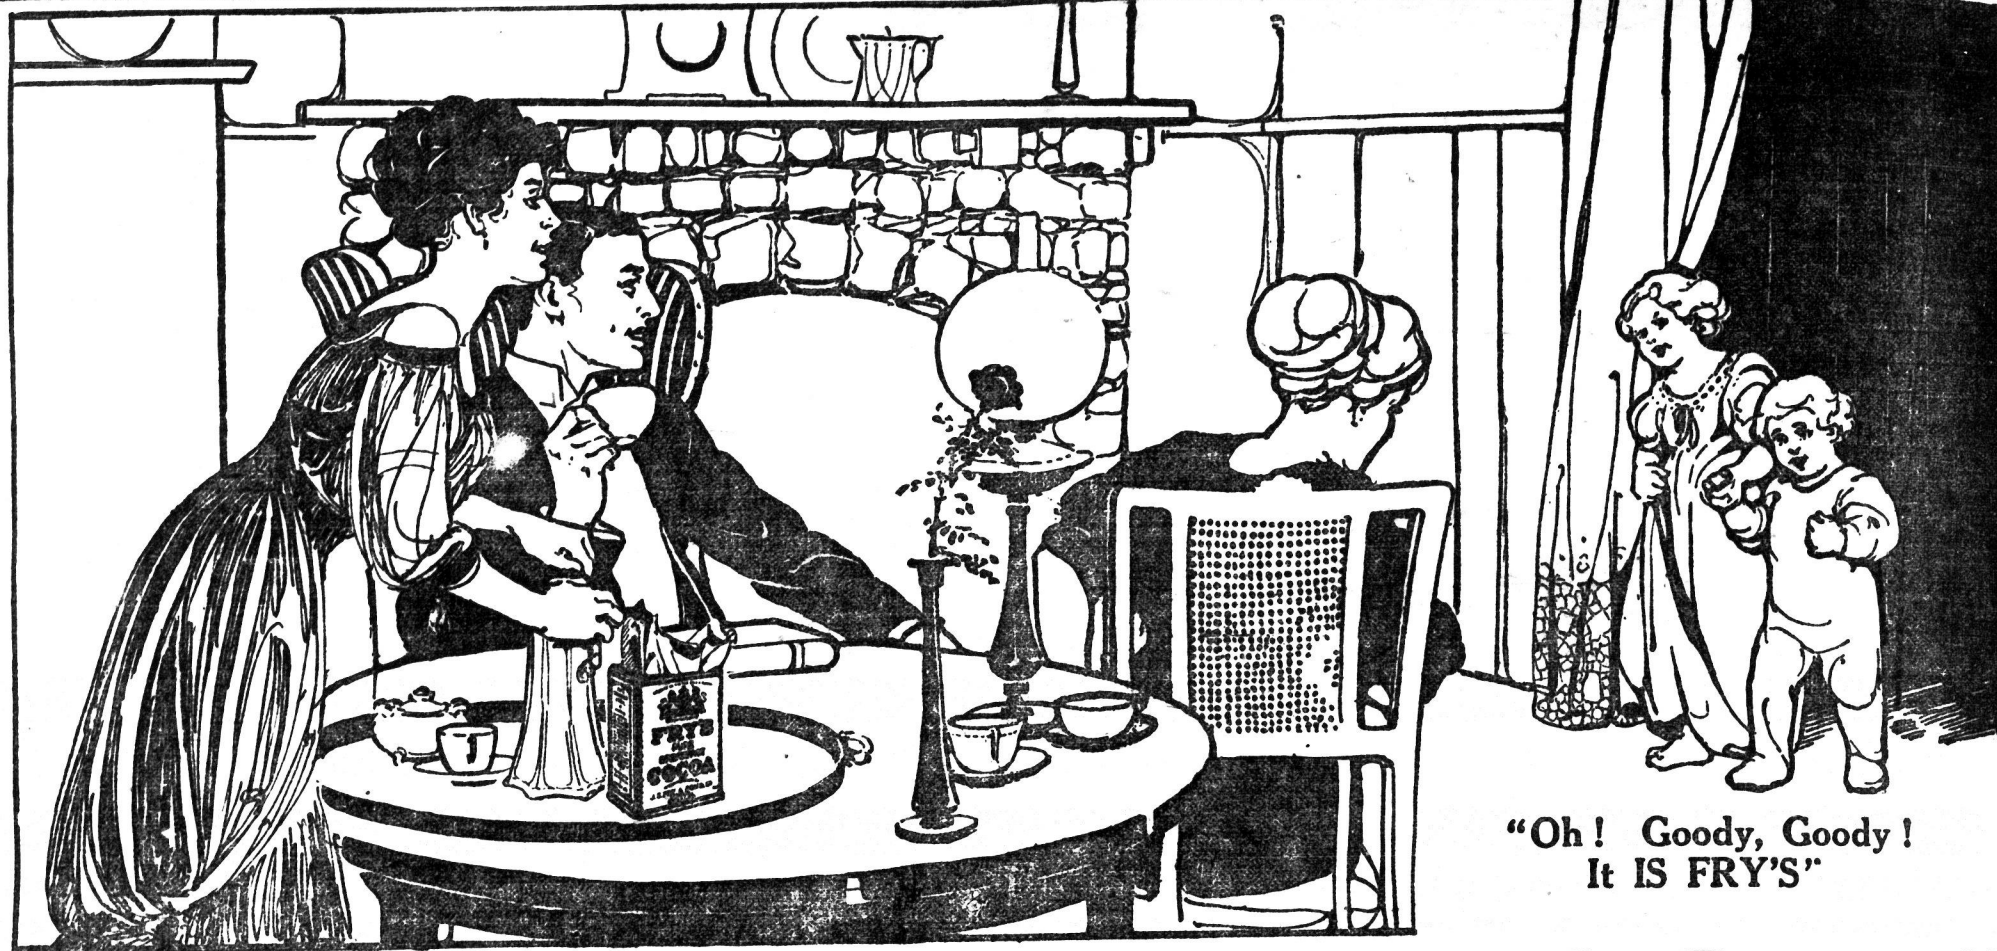

GREAT interest has been aroused since the announcement that Queen Mary intended to select a number of young girls for her train to bear the royal mantle on the occasion of the coronation of her daughter, the Princess Mary, in the case of Queen Alexandra, and the publication of the names of those who are to be thus honored has been eagerly awaited.

The six girls are Lady Mary Dawson, daughter of Lord and Lady Dawson; Lady Mabel Ogilvy, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Atholl; Lady Ellen Butler, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Lonsdown; Lady Dorothy Browne, daughter of Lord and Lady Kenmare; Lady Victoria Carrington, daughter of Lord and Lady Carrington; and Lady Ellen Knox, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Ranfurly.

Nothing can yet be said as to the form of dress these selected of young girls will wear, but they are certain to add a picturesque touch to the procession.

EXERCISE BEFORE BREAKFAST

Old-Fashioned Ways of Entertainment at an English Country House.

WHEN I stayed in country houses a year ago a very different programme, says a correspondent of the London Daily Mail, was unfolded from the one that now obtains recognition in those quarters. We thought we were a genteel people then and talked a great deal about leaving the simple life, but we certainly indulged ourselves to a considerable number of lapses that would not be tolerated now and made ourselves excessively comfortable. As my first introduction to the fresh air of things took place when the eldest daughter of the house said good-night to us at 10:30 punctually and asked me, as a newcomer, whether I meant to join the morning march to breakfast. I inquired for particulars and was informed that the old "early to bed and early to rise" rule was being practised by a certain section of the house party and that only the very middle-aged refused to patronize it. "The really old are keen on it," she added, "it is like renewing your youth to them to rise before 7 and get out of doors, for we are following the plan that used to be fashionable 50 years ago."

There was a merry little twinkle in her eye as she said this, and I gathered that to refuse to join the morning march to beauty would be to argue myself a tenant between the debatable land of youth and venerable age. So I consented and was forthwith hailed to bed.

Now this, to begin with, was an absolute bouffant of an idea. I had expected, "There are always people who go to bed early, but the excellent plan used to obtain that those who wished to do so stayed up later to play bridge and partook of a dainty little supper in the early hours of the morning. They then sought repose and were at liberty to have their breakfast."

Needwork baskets were produced, and soon I found that a very pretentious set of cases, boxes, tables and other attributes of the needlewoman's craft in old times was evolved. For a very long time I had not seen so great a variety of needlework, Crochet and tatting, broderie Anglaise, tapestry pieces, crevel work, and knitting had their various votaries and

WAR OF THE INSECT WORLD.

So far, from personal observation, I have found that the grasshoppers are by far the most irritable class of insects among themselves. They seem to enjoy fighting better than eating, and frequently fight until each has lost one or more limbs, and sometimes even until one succeeds in killing the other. So great is their interest in these deadly battles that they will allow themselves to be picked up and carried about, continuing the conflict in one's hand in the most unconcerned manner imaginable.

The katydids constitute the less quarrelsome members of the grasshopper family. Their fights are far and few between, but extremely violent when once started. I remember vividly a battle between two of these insects which I witnessed several years ago. It happened close to the edge of a small patch of woodland where several trees had been cut and the stumps left standing from two to three feet above the ground. To the top of one of these stumps a large katydid and his mate had crawled, perhaps to enjoy their honeymoon. As
