RAILWAYMEN AND TRANSPORT WORKERS ORDER WALKOUT IN SUPPORT OF COAL MINERS

Greatest Industrial Crisis in Britain's History Confronts the Nation—Miners Refuse To Meet Employers On Lloyd George's Invitation Because Stipulation Is Made That Question of Pumping Must First Be Considered—Every Effort To Avert Tie-Up of Transportation Services Is Being Made.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS.
London, April 8.—The intention of the British Government to issue an appeal for volunteers for the transport and other essential services, in view of the prospective triple alliance strike was announced in the Commons late today by Mr. Lloyd George, the premier.

London, April 8.—Great Britain today appeared to be face to face with an industrial crisis of unprecedented proportions. The National Union of Railwaymen and the Federation of Transport Workers decided to strike in support of British miners, who have been out since early this week.

The miners' refusal was because of the stipulation that the return of the pumpmen and engineers to work should be the first question settled at the conference.

Each body was invited to meet "to deal in the first instance with the question of pumping and the preservation of the mines," the letters suggesting "that this matter should be disposed of before any other question is entered upon."

The answer of the miners was that the condition laid down, providing that the safety of the mines must first be discussed, stood in the way of the resumption of the negotiations.

PUSSYFOOT SAYS OLD LAND WILL BE DRY SHORTLY

Declares Windle Pursued the Wrong Tactics With the Scotch People.

HAMILTON, April 7. — That the United Kingdom will shortly have prohibition, notwithstanding the fact that the big liquor interests on the other side of the herring pond are spending money like water in their efforts to stop it was the assertion made by Pussyfoot Johnston this morning. He stated that Charles A. Windle, anti-prohibitionist, who toured the old country at the same time as he did, was responsible for the dry vote being as large as it was. Mr. Johnston said that Windle, not understanding the Scotch mind and temperament, had pursued the wrong policies.

"The Scotch people do not favor such utterances as, 'Jesus Christ was the first sacon keeper,' which Windle made while on tour, said Mr. Johnston. 'He must realize that the people of Scotland are more religiously inclined than he gave them credit for.'

A Big Decrease. "Referring to the statements of Mr. Windle that crime has increased, I have taken the liberty to ask the chiefs of police in eighty different cities in the United States which went dry under national prohibition to send me in reports of the matter. So far I have received 61 reports from different chiefs. In 1917 figures show that for drunkenness there were 218,842 arrests, while in 1920 there were only 103,768 arrests for the same cause.

"In the arrests for general causes Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60c a box; 12 boxes, $5.00. Edman & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample box free if you mention this paper and enclose 2c. stamp for postage.

there has not been such a large decrease, but the statistics give arrests for 1917 as 988,301 and those for 1920 as 556,633. The backwash from the war is largely responsible for this, and even with this very good reason as a cause for an increase under ordinary circumstances there has been a decrease of about 100,000 arrests during that period.

Many Bootleggers. "The workhouses in my home town and Canton, Ohio, were almost depopulated a few years ago after prohibition came in, but now they are filled to capacity. Strange to say the occupants are now in the same class as Mr. Windle seems to think they are. About 90 per cent are made up of bootleggers. Now instead of the whiskey drinker mending the roads the shoe is on the other foot, and the whiskey runner is on the job."

Mr. Johnston said that although Mr. Windle was making a great many claims that crime in Chicago had increased for the year immediately following prohibition he had taken a period when the race riots were on, and a large number of whites and blacks were killed in the small war which took place.

"Despite this fact, I still maintain that there has been a decrease in crime in that city during the period mentioned, and I have wired the chief of police in Chicago for data which ought to be in Toronto at the present time," said Mr. Johnston.

MAIL THIEVES GET $500,000

National Gang Suspected of Big Robbery in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Special investigators sent from Washington in connection with the theft yesterday at the Dearborn street station of mail pouches containing cash and securities believed to total more than $500,000, tonight were proceeding on the theory that the robbery had been carried out by a national gang of mail thieves who obtained advance information of money shipments from postal employees.

The investigators were convinced that yesterday's theft was an "inside job," because of the fact that the robbers sorted a number of sacks on a mail truck in the station, and selected only those which contained valuables.

DR. THOS. F. CAMELON DIES IN DETROIT

Was Born in London in 1870—Had Distinguished War Service.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, April 7.—Dr. Thomas F. Camelon, who died at his home here today, will be buried Saturday with full military and Masonic honors. When the United States entered the world war, Camelon gave up his practice as a specialist in nose and throat diseases and entered the service of the Government as surgeon. He was commissioned first lieutenant August 4, 1917, and shortly afterwards went overseas for service in field hospitals in France.

There he won promotion to rank of major before close of the war, but he had undermined his health by his hard work in hospitals and never regained vitality. He was discharged from service June 1, 1919, and shortly afterwards resumed practice in Detroit. He contracted pneumonia from a patient a few weeks ago, and in his weakened condition succumbed to disease.

Dr. Camelon was the son of Rev. David Camelon, a Presbyterian minister, and was born in London, Ont., in 1870. He was a graduate of both Queen's and McGill Universities, and for the last 25 years had practiced in Detroit, with exception of time spent in the service. He was a member of American, Michigan and Wayne County Medical Associations, Palestine Lodge, King Cyrus Chapter, Monroe Council, Michigan Sovereign Consistory, Mostem Temple of the Mystic Shrine and Detroit Commandery Knights Templar, Detroit Athletic Club, Masonic Country Club, Learned Post, American Legion and officers of the Great War. Dr. Camelon is survived by a widow, two sisters, Mrs. William Delany of Cobourg, Ont., Mrs. Frederick Weir of Peterboro, Ont., and one brother, John M. Camelon, attorney, of Chicago.

U. S. NOTE TO GERMANY.

Some disappointment and even apprehension will be felt over Washington's reply to Germany's communications on reparations. It is true that the American Government has told Germany that she is guilty and must pay in full, but there is a distinct note of sympathy in Mr. Hughes' communication that, if it should become active, might greatly embarrass the Allies.

CURES IN BUSINESS. [Montreal Herald.] The use of money in business is extremely limited. It cannot be the substitute of repairs and replacements.

DE REASONABLE, MR. COP.

While admitting that Chief Robert Birrell has one of the finest bodies of police officers in the Dominion, the experience of an Advertiser reporter last night would appear to indicate that at least some members of the force need considerable education in "sweet reasonableness" when carrying out their duties.

GOING AGAINST THE GREEK.

The Greek forces are not making as rapid progress against the Turk Nationalist army as the world had hoped. In fact, there are indications that unless the Allies come to the rescue Constantine's campaign in Asia Minor may collapse altogether.

The Greek official statements show large losses in men and material. A Turk force is moving swiftly towards Ismid, a port not far from Constantinople. Reports from Athens show that recruiting is slow because of slackers making it impossible to stiffen up the Greek line by reserves and relief divisions.

DEMONSTRATION WOODLANDS.

Great praise is due the Drury Government for a movement it has started to plant trees on the barren districts of the province. Under orders from the minister of agriculture the department's agents are to discuss with township councils the establishing of demonstration plots of planted trees along the highways.

be made to produce a goodly portion of the average family diet. The garden plot when cultivated is a valuable asset. The day for planning the garden has arrived. It is well to devote attention to the matter. For the man who works in the garden is not only receiving a monetary return, but he is getting a much better and bigger return in wholesome bodily exercise that makes for prolongation of life, and keeps away sickness with its financial consequences.

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL R. R. SYSTEM.

[Vancouver Sun.] The business of giving the Canadian National Railways a bad name financially goes on apace. From the published reports we would consider these railways destitute of earning power. This is not true. It is important that the real figures be given to the public, so that there may be general knowledge of the fact that the National Railways have tremendous earning power, and that it is increasing steadily.

SINGLE TAX IN VANCOUVER.

[Vancouver World.] An inquiry has reached the World as to what happened to single tax in this city about the year 1918. It comes from a devoted adherent and personal friend of the late Henry George, resident in Brooklyn, N. Y. It seems that in Brooklyn a campaign to have new buildings exempted from taxation has been met with the statement that single tax was a failure in Canada, this city, apparently, being adduced as a leading example. "Vancouver, it is asserted in Brooklyn," says our querist, "undertook a single tax system in 1909, and by 1913 prosperity began to wane, and land values depreciated to a point involving the solvency of the city. Under this system Vancouver at first would not admit failure of the single tax, but in 1918, to assess 25 per cent of the value of improvements and in 1919, 50 per cent. Single tax was a proven failure."

They tread on your feet and upset your glasses as they play tag in every Spanish cafe. In every Spanish theatre it is hard to hear the performance through their din. "And yet his fact—the fact that Spanish children are unbelievably spoiled—enabled a Spaniard in Palma to knock me out completely in an ethical argument."

Also he is a novelty among "southpawers," being able to make good use of the extended right arm in delivering straight jabs at either arm or body. He is well proportioned for fighting. His arms are long and strong, his hands thick, and his shoulders and neck powerful. He is extraordinarily deep chested, having the lung capacity that gives quick recuperation and endurance. His waist is small and round, and his legs strong and a little light in proportion to the rest of his build, which is a good fighting feature.

DRAW IS DECLARED IN BIG CHESS GAME

New York, April 8.—(Canadian Press).—The details of the moves in the ninth chess match between Dr. Lasker and Capablanca played at Havana Wednesday night, have just been received in New York. The opening was a queen's gambit declined.

Dr. Lasker, as second player, pushed out his queen's bishop on his third move. Capablanca through a series of exchanges isolated his opponent's king's pawn and then developed his own king's bishop at K-RT2. Neither player made a slip of any sort. Eventually Capablanca massed all of his forces around the black queen's pawn, while Dr. Lasker in turn took as many of the black pawns fell as he could move, and as a wholesale exchange of major pieces was imminent, a draw was agreed upon immediately.

MOTION PICTURE THEATRES NOT HIT BY EXISTING STRINGENT CONDITIONS

DETROIT, April 7.—Receipts of motion picture theatres for 1920 are more than four times the receipts of all other kinds of theatres, according to a circular on the Famous Players-Lasker Corporation, just issued by Dominick & Dominick, members of the New York Stock Exchange. Stating that the 1920 report of Famous Players-Lasker Corporation is "in striking contrast to the almost daily publication of losses sustained by industrial, public utility and railroad companies in the past year," the circular shows that the corporation's earnings were nearly seven times divided requirements on the outstanding 3 per cent preferred stock, and amounted to $21.77 per share available for the common stock. Earnings so far in 1921 are reported as being at an even better rate than in 1920. Net tangible assets at the end of the fiscal year (good-will excluded) amounted to $262 per share of preferred stock outstanding, and net current assets to $124 per share.

NEW YORK WINTER GARDEN IS HOME OF A THOUSAND SONGS

Many Popular Hits Have Been Sung in Thirty Extravaganzas at Big Playhouse During Last Ten Years.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Most of the songs we sing whether they be sentimental negro melodies of Stephen Foster or the jazz melodies of Irving Berlin, have been born on Broadway. And it is certain as anything can be in this vale of Volstead that the New York Winter Garden was the cradle of more honest-to-the-box-office song music in the last ten years than any other playhouse in New York.

The Winter Garden is celebrating its tenth anniversary—to be precise, its doors opened for the first time on March 20, 1911. So it is fitting to recall some of the notable song successes that have helped to make it famous. In the Winter Garden's decade of entertainment 30 extravaganzas and 100 reviews have been presented, vested with the musical product of some of Broadway's leading composers, including Louis Hirsch, Sigmund Romberg, Harry Carroll, Bert Grant, Jean Schwartz, Jerome Kern, E. Ray Goetz and Otto Motzan.

SOVIET CONFESSES FAILURE OF ITS REIGN IN RUSSIA

Admits 249 Anti-Bolshevik Plots, 4,300 Executions, 29,000 Imprisonments.

MANY INSURRECTIONS

Bolshevist's Letter Plainly Shows Widespread Suspicion and Distrust Among Peasants.

Paris, April 7.—One hundred and fourteen revolts, 249 anti-Bolshevik plots discovered, 4,300 people executed and 29,000 imprisoned constitute, according to the Bolshevik's own statements, the history of their rule in twelve districts of Central Russia during the past six months. These figures, it is believed, did not tell the full tale. Certainly they do not serve to show that the Bolshevik regime is solidly established or accepted in Russia.

In all the communications from the Bolshevik leaders to their agents abroad the same tale is being told of the peasant revolts which it is impossible to cope. At present local rebellions and insurrections are going on in a dozen places, according to information received here. In the Astrakhan district, guerrilla war is raging between the Communists and the local leader, Bakustev. In the Kalmuk Steppes a former Bolshevik, one Litvinoff, has massacred many of his old associates. In the Briansk district village soviets have been wiped out by the hetman of the local Cossacks. At Saratov requisitions of wheat led to a great peasant uprising under a leader named Sapozhnikov, who has retreated toward the Ural Mountains after a defeat, but still controls a large band of insurgents. The Tartars have revolted in the Crimea and are raiding various districts.

All these revolts are, of course, unconnected and entirely local. Instead of decreasing with the continuance of Bolshevik rule they seem, according to French information, to be increasing in number and producing an even greater state of anarchy and unrest throughout the entire country.

The result of this is apparent at the very center of government, and one letter from the Bolshevik leader Baloff to Alfred Kresling, Litvinoff's secretary at Riga, which has come into the hands of the Allies, shows plainly how widespread the suspicion and distrust have become between the out-and-out Communists and the Bolsheviks, to whom Lenin's pretended volte face was a concession.

In his letter Baloff declares that all the functionaries of the foreign affairs commission are traitors, and he says that all their agents are losing their heads. He is suspicious of Victor Kopp, the Red emissary in Berlin, and declares his mission there to be the first victim of his own conduct.

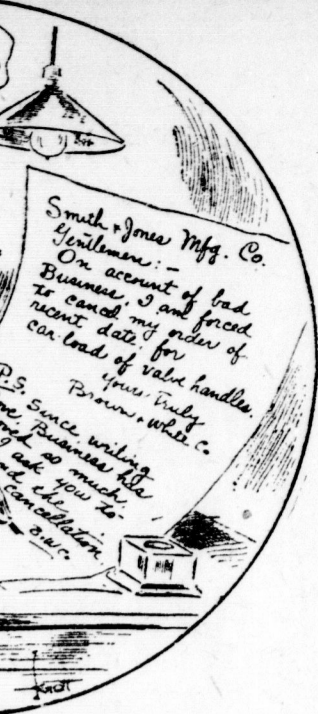

This letter was written some weeks ago, but since then the situation, both with regard to peasant revolts and internal insurrection, has become worse rather than better.

GEORGIA LOSING FIGHT ON REDS

Present Government Cannot Long Stand Against Bolshevik Onslaught.

Bucharest, April 7.—The fate of the little republic of Georgia, now at grips with the Bolsheviks, is being watched here with anxious interest. This is by no means the first time the sturdy peasant people of this small kingdom, nestling beneath the shadow of the Caucasus Mountains, have had to fight for home and freedom. Unhappily, it seems as if history will repeat itself and they will come once more under foreign rule.

The news that is filtering through suggests that the fall of the present Socialist government cannot be long delayed and that there may be even now a Red dictatorship in command. There is good reason to fear such a sequel to the present desperate fight. A Soviet government in Georgia would be a serious menace to the peace of the Near East.

GERMAN CHEAPNESS AGAIN BIDS FAIR TO GAIN CONTROL

Country Is in Position to Undercut All Her Rivals in World Markets.

WORKERS SATISFIED

Wages Raised, But Are Still Mere Pittance Compared With British Figures for Labor.

Paris, April 7.—Germany is in a position to undercut all her rivals in the markets of the world. Unless she is prevented, it is merely a question of time before Germany dominates the trade of South America and the Far East even more thoroughly than before the war. Do the English or French competitors talk of the quality of their goods—Germany will equal that quality. Do the Americans speak of mass production and overhead costs down by co-operation—Germany will produce in greater mass and her industrial combinations have been developed to the utmost degree of overhead saving and efficiency. For Germany has one great advantage over her industrial and commercial rivals—her workers, from the unskilled artisan to the high trade technical expert, are not fighting to retain the "new high standard of living." What that means in cheapness of manufacture—which is where Germany is destined to defeat her rivals—it will proceed to show.

Everyone knows that the workers of America, not to mention England or France, reached a new standard of comfort, even luxury, during the boom years of the war and the wild years of spending that followed it. The increased wages and war bonuses were translated into Ford automobiles and silk shirts. The result showed a corresponding improvement. Wages were forced so high as to change in the workers' favor their relation to the cost of living. Now labor in America and the Allied countries is naturally trying to keep what it gained and that attempt is not the least of the factors underlying the present industrial and commercial depression.

Different in Germany. In Germany things are very different. The rise in wages there was not sufficient to counterbalance the increased cost and the scarcity of food and clothing. During the past three weeks in the newly-occupied area of the Rhineland, one of the richest industrial sections of the whole world, I have visited dozens of workers' homes. Have eaten their food and seen for myself the conditions in which they live. I am prepared to state that no American or English workman would accept such conditions if he were content with such food and such clothes. It is not that it is good, but that it is so very much better than what they had before.

The world outside of Germany does not realize to what an extent the Allied blockade pressed on the mass-life of the German people and how the effects of that blockade were augmented by the greed and rank dishonesty of two classes of the Germans themselves. The first were the rich, who, not caring what frauds they practiced to obtain food share and more plentiful than their equal distribution. The second class were manufacturers and purveyors of "ersatz" food products—who sold toasted accorns steeped in coffee extract as and sawdust as bread and low-grade vegetable oils as butter. It was they who really appalled the strength and the spirit of the German masses and caused Germany to have no further heart for war.

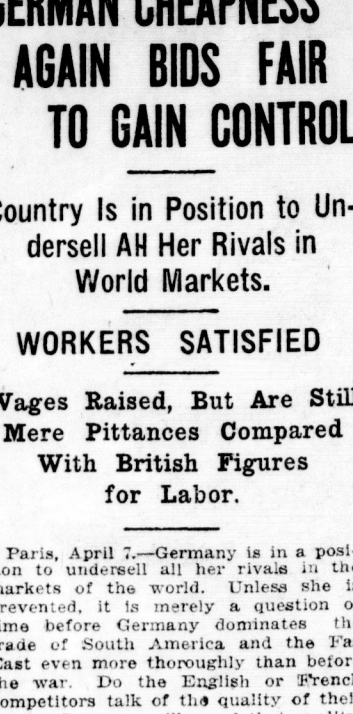

GIVE UP HOMES TO 'SILK BABIES'

Armenians Move Out So Weavers Have Congenial Place To Spin Cocoon.

NEW YORK, April 7.—For the first time since the world war the silk industry in Asia Minor is reviving. The silkworms for weaving were destroyed by the Turks, and it was not until the Near East Relief, America's organization, took up the task of repatriating the population and rebuilding their industries that the people were able to take up the work on which they had depended for their livelihood.

Melville Chatter, Near East Relief worker in Armenia, writes that the people there give up their entire household to the little silk worms. The garden or the roof of the sidewalk may now be cultivated. If he devotes his energies to growing cereals he can possess forty acres, while if his land is under pasture he can increase his holding to 110.

The scheme was devised to make it impossible to revert to the old system of very large estates and to prevent any monopoly in land by purchase. This transition from the old state to the new was simplified by the fact that the peasant farms eighty per cent of the population and most had their own houses and stock, while the fields they worked were in good condition.

Swagger Canes With "Stagger" Flasks, Latest

Women's Sticks Carry Load of "Tanglefoot," Then Aid Straight Walking.

WORKERS SATISFIED

Wages Raised, But Are Still Mere Pittance Compared With British Figures for Labor.

Detroit, April 7.—Swagger, swagger, who's got a swagger cane? While a diligent search on a recent Sunday did not reveal any of the fair sex tripping lightly down Woodward avenue sporting a swagger cane, it is next to a sure thing that the swagger cane is going to be just the next to indispensable thing with the smartest of the smart set.

Here is the reason why: The swagger cane for women like that of the swagger cane for men, contains a long tube, fully half the length of the cane, the whole neatly concealed by a smart knob at the handle. This knob can be unscrewed craftily while merrily enjoying afternoon tea at a swell restaurant, the tube can be withdrawn and the contents will add zest for a concealed cigarette case. Thus the gait of nations can be increased indefinitely.

It is said that vanity cases, now having a wide vogue in New York city, contain a small flask, as well as a cigarette case, but a search of numerous leather shops Thursday failed to discover any of the bags in Detroit—as yet. The nearest approach is a leather vanity case with a concealed cigarette case. This retails for the small sum of $35.50. In gold a vanity case which is large enough for cigarettes can be purchased for so slight a sum as $350. In the green gold, which is, of course, the latest thing, in silver, such a case may be purchased for as little as $25. But a silver flask, even the tiniest one, comes considerably higher.

Whether the vogue for the silver flask will be eclipsed by the advent of the swagger cane is, of course, a question. The silver is smart, but the cane holds more. So there you have it. And the cane is only $5.

WOULD MAKE EFFORT TO RETAIN PRINCIPAL

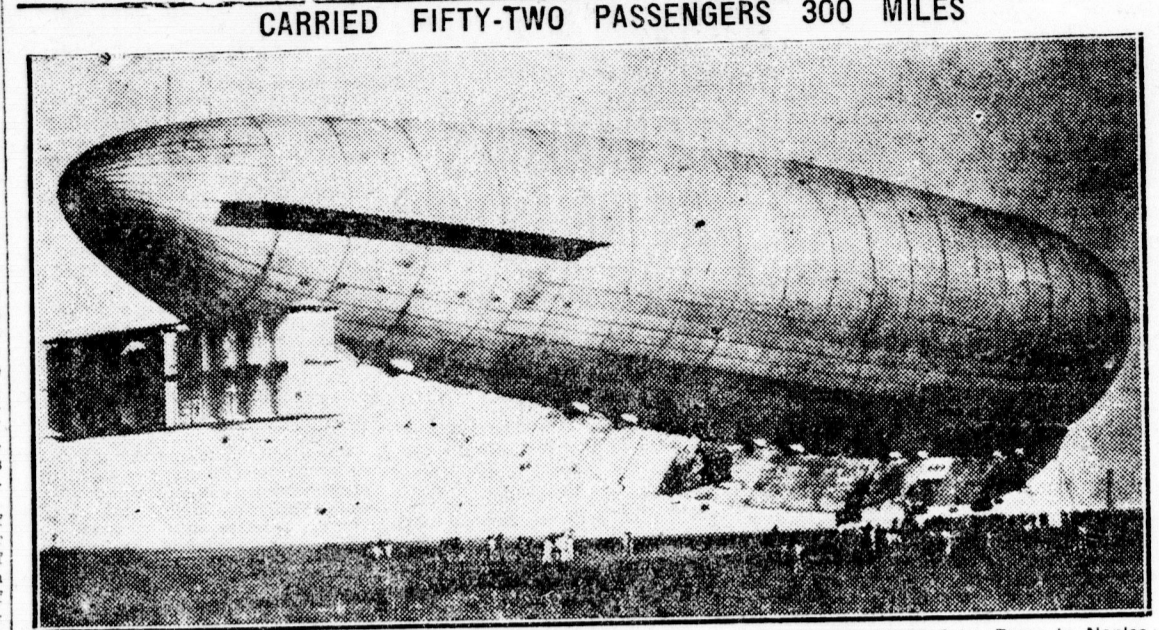

GUELPH, April 7.—Although reports are current that Principal Davidson of the Guelph Collegiate is to resign his position at an early date, it is certain that the local board of education will not accept it without making a strong effort to have him reconsider his decision.

Mr. Davidson came to Guelph 43 years ago, and for the last 19 years has been head of the institution. He has felt for some time that he is deserving of a rest from educational work and realizes that with the coming into effect of the adolescent school act his duties will be more onerous. His love for the collegiate has made him hesitate to take any action that would mean his severance with the school. The overcrowded condition of the collegiate during the past term and the extra work this entails have been very trying on Mr. Davidson, and a recent charge that gambling is being carried on among the students weighed upon his mind to such an extent that it is understood he intimated his intention of resigning.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Closes "Brunswick Week" at Crawford Piano Co., and It Is Your Last Chance To Get

Any BRUNSWICK Phonograph

FOR ONLY $10.00 CASH

On and after Monday all Brunswick Phonographs will again be sold on regular terms, which call for cash payments two to five times greater than this special $10 offer.

This is the first big opportunity you have ever had to choose any model, any finish, any priced BRUNSWICK from the entire line, without reserve, for such a small cash outlay. But you have only one more day in which to avail yourself of this.

The Brunswick Phonograph has steadily increased in popularity and prestige until today it is the leading line of nearly all the best stores from Halifax to Vancouver, and this tremendous growth has been achieved on sheer merit—because the Brunswick is the only Phonograph that plays ALL disc records properly.

"BRUNSWICK WEEK" at Crawford's is being held just to show you why the Brunswick is superior and to reveal how the Brunswick is made. Our exhibit includes demonstrations of the famous oval wood horn, the Ultona, the Brunswick Motor, and other features, together with a complete exhibit of all the various models.

Heretofore it has meant quite a cash outlay to purchase a Brunswick, but to make it possible for anyone to secure one of these "famous" Phonographs we are offering this Deferred First Payment plan, through which you select any Brunswick you prefer, pay only $10 cash, and the Brunswick is delivered at once.

TWELVE
STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY
 Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, flatulence, heartburn, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble is entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial stimulants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only bisulphated magnesia. This is specially prepared for the above purposes.—Advt.

NAPANOCH PRISON, FINEST OF ITS KIND, FACES REAL CRISIS

Model Institution Up in Ulster County Butt of Streak of Economy.

BUT BUSINESS IS DULL
 Trustee Pleads For Year's Delay in Closing It. As Crime Wave Grips.

NAPANOCH, N. Y., April 7.—The best little barred window hotel that the State runs, the Eastern New York State Reformatory, otherwise known as Napanoch Prison, is apt to be closed by an economical Legislature. It cost $25,000 to maintain this small prison de luxe, the Ritz-Carlton of jails last year, and there were never as many as 200 pris—patrons in the place. At present there are just 132. It costs $440 each a year, so a bill has been introduced by the Finance Committee of the State Assembly to cut off Napanoch's cash. The Legislature is planning to forget there is such a place, and that means that it will be next Christmas eve.

The trouble with Napanoch, nice as it is, is the trouble with most of the State prisons—falling off of business. The State, always hard up, and getting pinched and pinched, frowns at taking care of prisoners at about $440 each a year, so a bill has been introduced by the Finance Committee of the State Assembly to cut off Napanoch's cash. The Legislature is planning to forget there is such a place, and that means that it will be next Christmas eve.

What's it all about? Why the wherefore of the slack times in crookdom? In an effort to get answers to these questions a reporter for The New York Herald went into the far northwest of this state, bumping over the New York Ontario and Western to Ellenville and frisking by sleigh from Ellenville to Napanoch. Lovely in winter and unquestionably enchanting in summer, even ill doers may regret that Napanoch's fate hangs in the balance as the purse tighteners of the Legislature sit in judgment.

Would Be a Pity To Close It. With its five buildings, grey hued and beginning to take on the charming color nuances that time gives to stone and mortar, all set down in woods and meadows, with its own farm well tilled in the seasons, with sanitation and cleanliness and humanly watchwords of its officers, it seems a pity that Napanoch's doors may soon slam shut for good and that the cluster of buildings be given over to rats and the little farm to weeds and briars. The school, now run every day but Saturday and Sunday by Professor John Brunson, with the aid of inmates, and which has taught many unfortunate and needed youths their reading and writing and arithmetic and considerable more if they were there long enough and took real interest, will be given over to dust and cobwebs. Principal Keeper Delaney, guide in the absence of Warden W. N. Thayer, suggested some of these ideas, since the man loves his work and believes that Napanoch is one of those prisons that make most inmates better instead of worse; but the suggestions were fairly apparent at all time. If jails must be closed for lack of business, it might seem better to shut up the ugly ones and the badly conducted ones first, while keeping the nickel plated, marble tiled ones like Little Napanoch as long as courts have customers. Delaney is talking:

"The trouble is that no commitments are made direct to this prison by the courts. Napanoch takes only the overflow from the Reformatory, and since the war there hasn't been any overflow. Elmira itself has been only scantily filled. Therefore instead of having 600 inmates, such as we could comfortably take care of, we have less than 200—195 the books show today. They run in age from 16 to 80, and they are first offenders, or are supposed to be."

RACE VANISHES AS INDIAN DIES
 Born in a California Mission, Man, 106, Was Link With Past.

Los Angeles, April 7.—The death of Santo, Junco at the San Gabriel Mission marked the passing of the last of a vanished race. With him died the last vestige of personal remembrance of the golden age of the California missions—Junco, who had reached the age of 106 years, as attested by the mission records, takes with him to the happy hunting ground the last voice which told at first hand the story of the state's most romantic period.

He was born at the old mission in 1815, spent his youth and young manhood there when the institution was prospering, and engaged in many of the activities which the fathers taught the real men of that mission in the then little town of Los Angeles.

Near Family Bones. He applied himself to several of the arts he had learned in the mission days, and finally became part of the household of Col. Kuehn, where he lived for some time until he went to reside with the Denton Wilson family, where he stayed until it was thought his days of usefulness were over, when he again returned to the old mission, to be, as he expressed it, "near the bones of my forefathers," the last years of his life. His days were in no manner drawing to a close, however, as his return to San Gabriel was 40 years ago.

After his return he did little but dream of the days of the past and was one of the attractions of the mission town, being able at times to relate hitherto forgotten tales and bring to light what might have been forgotten history.

MOVED FOR DEFENCE OF AMERICAN DYES

Manufacturers and Hoover to Confer On Plans to Meet German Competition.

Washington, April 7.—Defence of the nation's war-born dye industry against competition of the German dye and chemical trade will be taken up shortly by the department of commerce in conference here with representatives of American manufacturers. Rapid revival of the German dye industry, especially as a factor in foreign trade, department officials said tonight, must be taken into account by American interests in order that the industry may be secure here and the country remain independent of foreign sources of supply.

Other American products needing the co-operation of the government in the field of foreign trade, according to Secretary Hoover, will be given the attention of the department one at a time. Mr. Hoover is to meet with the war finance corporation and southern bankers tomorrow in an effort to develop a workable plan for building up cotton exports.

The credit angle in the trade revival program, officials said, is in the hands of the war finance corporation, which is expected to aid the exporters through corporations organized under the Edge act in different sections of the country. In addition, formation of combinations for extending foreign commerce under the Webb-Dominion act has been advocated by Secretary Hoover as the most practical method of moving commodities after credit has been obtained and also as a defence against similar combinations by foreign exporters.

CAMERA MAN TRACKS ROYALTY TO FILM BIG GAME HUNTING

Following Duke of Connaught Through Jungle in Henry Ford's Masterpiece Not Without Its Humors, Says One Who Did It.

Montreal, April 7.—The Duke of Connaught is hunting in India, and while he tracks the tiger, various "official" photographers who make those films for the "topical events" are tracking him with their cameras. One American cameraman, U. K. Whipple, writes about the humors of filming royalty in the jungle:

"When it comes to a show-down in big game India holds a royal flush in the royal Bengal tiger. It is not every cinema sharp that gets a square chance to fix royalty on the movies, but now I have a double chance, for the hunter is royal as well as the hunted. H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught is going gunning for H.R.H. the Tiger, and I have been detailed to go gunning for both with my little cinema camera."

"It has been done before in Africa, and the only reason why Teddy Roosevelt in his African big game expedition missed the movie screen was that he could not draw a bead on his rifle and turn the handle at the same time, and he was not one to allow any other bad man to shoot in his section."

"When the duke started off in his car for the shooting camp we got left, though we piled our movie gear into Old Henry Ford and dusted out in chase with the throttles wide open and rocking the fuel for the final lap fifteen minutes before we got there."

"The royal automobile, however, was as fast as a defaulting cashier on his way to the Argentine, and had us beat all the way. We found H.R.H. had got away with his lunch and struck the trail for the final lap fifteen minutes before we got there. "We let out Henry F.'s masterpiece some more, with a dim idea of running down the dual flyer, and we felt with all that pep in it something had to give; either old time had to give up 15 minutes or the road a few miles."

"Something gave all right, but it was the tires, which popped one after the other until the score was three and no spare tubes. After that there was nothing for it but to Weary Willie into camp."

"One day we were promised 200 deer. It seemed ages that I stood motionless as the beaters closed in. My machan (a sort of bird's nest reached by a ladder) was so situated that I could not see any of the others, and when a shot rang out from H.R.H.'s machan I was most curious to know what he had hit. Other shots rang out, but nothing passed our machan except some pigs, and they were too far off to present me with a picture. I was most disappointed. The 200 deer must have been notified, for after the beat was over the total result of the shoot was one pig, one stamhar, and a chital."

MODERN STYLES DOOM ROMANCE

Mary Pickford Says Ankles of Present-Day Girl Not Built for Abbreviated Costumes.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Cobweb silk, hosiery, short dresses, high-heeled shoes and low neck waists should not be worn on the streets. The afternoon shopping district parade is a disgrace."

In this manner "America's sweetheart," Mary Pickford (Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks), scores dame fashion and her latest deers.

"Present day styles destroy illusions and kill romance," says Mary. "The average girl of today has not the shapely ankle or foot that is becoming with short skirts. In fact, it seems they have weak ankles."

"The styles of 1850 and 1860 were much more dainty, attractive and even practical than those of today. And I make no exception to the hoop skirt, either. "Shop and school girls make a mistake in trying to dress like women of wealth. To do this they have to buy cheaper and tawdry materials. Silks should not be worn on the street except by middle-aged women. Lisle or woolen stockings and simple frocks should be good enough for anyone."

day," she says. "I guess pretty soon they will start reforming the Bible."

Asked about censoring the movies, Miss Pickford has little to say. "There are too many reformers toion to tell them what to wear." Mary did not know she was to discuss "fashion" when interviewed, but appeared in a neat dark blue serge dress that was neither short nor cut "low."

The Dread Pyorrhea Begins With Bleeding Gums

Pyorrhea's infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

NAME SHOULD NOT BE STRICKEN OFF

HAMILTON, April 7.—A committee composed of Rev. T. T. Shields, pastor of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto; Gideon Grant, K. C., Toronto, and Christopher Cook, Brantford, which was appointed to investigate a charge brought by A. W. Chandler, a member of Barton Street Baptist Church, this city, that his name had been unfairly stricken from the roll of membership in that church by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Connor, has reported that Mr. Chandler's complaint was well founded, and that his name should not have been stricken off.

The report finds that Rev. Mr. Connor "made reckless charges in the church against Mr. Chandler," and makes caustic reference to the deacons of the church having acted in an unchristian and un-British manner toward the complainant.

WILL INVESTIGATE MENACES TO HEALTH

TORONTO, April 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Ontario Medical Association and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario today appointed a joint committee to "investigate all matters that are inimical to the health of the public of the province, and to advise the two medical organizations of the province as to what remedial action should be taken from time to time."

The representatives from the college on the committee are: Drs. E. E. King, Toronto; Brodie, Woodstock, and J. F. Argue of Ottawa, and from the association Drs. G. S. Cameron of Peterboro, G. S. Burt of Owen Sound, and T. C. Routley of Toronto.

Dr. King was elected chairman of the committee and Dr. Routley secretary.

FAIR RENT BILL IS WITHDRAWN BY MINISTER

Hon. Walter Rollo Was Only One To Support It. PREMIER IS OPPOSED

Dewart Opposes Roney's Bill Regarding Jurisdiction of Magistrates.

[Special to The Advertiser.] TORONTO, April 7.—No measure introduced into the Legislature during the present session experienced such a stormy reception as that accorded Hon. Walter Rollo's fair rentals bill when it came up tonight for second reading. The minister of labor stood practically alone in its support, and suggested that the bill receive the consideration of a special committee. Even the premier, however, declared himself opposed to the proposed measure, and finally Hon. Mr. Rollo withdrew it. The surprising feature was the entire lack of support from urban members.

Minister Explains.

In asking for a second reading for the bill the minister of labor said that it was only permissible legislation. His own idea had been that there should have been a bill establishing fair rents courts, rather than a measure fixing rentals. Incidentally the minister remarked that if labor was expected to accept lower wages they would have to be some move in the direction of lower rentals.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader, said that the only sane way to decrease rentals was by increasing the supply of houses.

Persistent Demands.

Premier Drury said that the bill was introduced as the result of persistent demands made last summer. A feeling of distrust had sprung up against landlords. Personally, he said, he was very much opposed to any measure that interfered with the law of supply and demand. If he were a private member he would vote against the measure, as he thought it was a dangerous piece of legislation. In his opinion, the premier said, the bill might prove a deterrent to house building in the future. The Government was not committed to the purpose of opening up the discussion, he explained.

"Is it a Government bill?" asked Major J. C. Tolmie, Windsor.

"Yes, in the sense that it is brought in by a member of the Government, with the consent of the Government," the premier replied.

"It may not be tactically right, but we do know that there is distress and a situation that calls for attention. It is proper that something should be done. The Government is not committed to the bill, and a vote against it will not do any harm to the Government."

Would Not Help.

Major Tolmie held that the bill would not do anything to alleviate present conditions, but would place a penalty on the landlord who has postponed raising his rent until absolutely forced to do so. "The Government says this is not our child, so kill it," said Major Tolmie.

Hon. W. S. Rollo, in asking that the bill be withdrawn, complained that the Toronto members of the Legislature had not given the bill the support which might have been expected of them, in view of the fact, he said, that the bill was brought in as the result of representations from Toronto.

Little Opposition.

Only two bills, out of a score, or more, that came up for third reading in the Ontario Legislature today, met with any opposition. Malcolm Lang (Cochrane) made a last effort to have the House amend Premier Drury's bill incorporating the town site of Kapuskasing, and his motion was voted down.

H. H. Dewart moved to have sent back to committee attorney-general Roney's bill extending the jurisdiction of magistrates. His amendment was lost on a division. The numerous third readings constituted the first sign of the present session drawing to a close. The Premier's Third Reading.

Premier E. C. Drury's bill establishing the town of Kapuskasing received its third reading. In connection with the bill, Malcolm Lang, Liberal member for Cochrane, asked the premier for a statement as to the progress which had been made at Kapuskasing by the Spruce Falls Company.

The premier produced a statement, which, he said, had been prepared for him by Hon. W. D. McPherson, K.C., former provincial secretary of Ontario, the statement having been furnished on behalf of the company. According to it the Spruce Falls Company had expended $3,000,000. The company has 350 employees, not including those engaged in wood operations, and this number will be increased as the time for operating the plant approaches.

Building Big Mill.

The company is proceeding with the completion of the sulphite mill, which will have a daily capacity of 150 tons. For the present the erection of the ground wood mill and the waterpower has been deferred, though part of the machinery, involving an expenditure of between $400,000 and $500,000, has been contracted for.

A third reading was given to the attorney-general's bill providing for the appointment of magistrates with extended jurisdiction. At the eleventh hour for the purpose of placing himself on record, H. H. Dewart, K. C., moved an amendment so that one magistrate could not be sent to a district where there was already a magistrate, except with the consent of the sitting magistrate or in the event of illness. The amendment was lost on division.

Will Welcome Action.

Before the orders of the day were called in the Legislature this afternoon Hon. C. Howard Ferguson drew attention to a news article in The London Advertiser headed: "Drury Government May Take Legal Action Against G. H. Ferguson."

"I only desire to say if the attorney-general intended to convey that impression to the House, or has it in mind, I will be glad to welcome any proceedings that he may desire with regard to the files from my department," declared Mr. Ferguson.

With reference to the charge recently that R. T. Harding had rendered an account of $600 to G. E. Farlinger, N. P. Hill, West Ottawa, said the name should have been the Harrison Company, instead of Farlinger.

Wanted It Killed.

When W. A. Crockett's bill respecting the two-platoon system for the employees of policemen's departments came up for third reading, J. A. Calder (North Oxford) moved that it be killed. He said that no bill during the present session had been made the cause for so much "log-rolling" and lobbying on the part of the city of Toronto as this bill.

After discussion it was decided to have the bill reprinted before coming up for a third reading. This was done on account of the numerous charges that have been made on the measure in committee.

On Other Duty.

"I have it in mind to ask Lannin to assume some other duties, which will probably occupy his attention for two or three months," was all the information Hon. W. E. Roney gave to Major Tolmie, when, in the Legislature this evening, he asked as to the attorney-general's intentions regarding the divisional superintendent of law enforcement.

"I think he is a good officer, and qualified to perform the special duties I have in mind," the attorney-general said.

"Will he continue to be superintendent of law enforcement?" Major Tolmie persisted.

"That is impossible, when he will be hundreds of miles away," was the answer.

The attorney-general refused to give any further information.

MUST PAY $2,000 AND LOSE $6,000 WORTH OF BOOZE

Big Shipment of "Sweeping Powder" Seized by the Police.

KITCHENER, April 7.—Fines of $2,000 and confiscation of $6,000 worth of good whiskey was the result of five O. T. A. cases in police court today. Nichol Jeffrey, prosecuting for the department, was in fine form and B. O. T. A. experts were no match for him. J. Veitch was fined $1,000 for keeping liquor for sale, and the defendant, Schmuek was the recipient of the other fine for $1,000. The liquor confiscated was shipped to a fictitious merchant as "sweeping powder."

Considerable indignation was expressed by local citizens here this afternoon following the announcement that Kitchener's public utilities bill had been turned down by the private bills committee. The delegation in long distance conversation from Toronto declared the bylaw will be again submitted to the ratepayers.

DECLARES SEARCH WAS ALTOGETHER ILLEGAL AND INEXCUSABLE

Justice Meredith Scores Appointment of Spracklin and Also His Actions.

TORONTO, April 7.—Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin's appeal against the judgment of Mr. Justice Middleton awarding O. E. Fleming, barrister, Windsor, Ont., $500 damages for trespass on Mr. Fleming's yacht on the Detroit River, while Rev. Mr. Spracklin was acting in the capacity of a license inspector, was dismissed with costs here today by the appellate court. The inspector was looking for liquor on the yacht. At the time a party of young people were on the yacht, including Mr. Fleming's son.

The whole five judges agreed upon the dismissal of the appeal and ruled that the award of $500 damages to Mr. Fleming was not excessive. Two of them, Justices Riddell and Lennox, dissented as to the meaning of the words in the act "any vehicle upon a public highway," and contended that they did not apply to a vessel upon public waterway. Mr. Spracklin had claimed the same right to search a boat on the water as a vehicle on land.

The judgment of the appellate court was delivered by Chief Justice R. M. Meredith. "The search of the defendant took without any kind of experience or training," said the judge, "was one for which he has in this case proved himself entirely unqualified."

After stating that the proper exercise of the duties of a peace officer required knowledge, coupled with impartiality, and that the law is to be respected and properly enforced, the enforcement of it must never be committed to such persons as the defendant.

Comparing the boarding of the yacht by Spracklin and his men to a stage burlesque, Justice Meredith said: "The experienced officer does not go, even among criminals, with a senseless display of firearms; to do so among a few highly respectable persons in a private yacht was altogether stupid and inexcusable." Having become aware of the character of the party, the chief justice said, "the search was altogether illegal and inexcusable."

TO BE DYSPETIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and anyone who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after. Nearly every thing that enters the weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach into such a condition that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For over forty years' Burdock Blood Bitters has been toning up and restoring weak stomachs to a normal healthy condition, so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required without fear of any unpleasant after effects.

Mrs. Alice Beckwith, Fesserton, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years. I could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended, I tried a bottle and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfect health."

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

[BY MAY CHRISTIE]
(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

LVL—At the Piano.

Betty rose to her feet and came into the living-room. She would play a love scene this time. She would play the role of the bewitching aviator.

"Do you wish to speak to me, I'm here on the spot," she said, looking grave.

"The latter snatched his hat from his hand, bowing and smiling pleasantly. He firmly believed that in this little country girl's eyes he was irresistible.

"An unexpected pleasure, my dear," said Miss Gordon, "I assure you. This is a delightful. Won't you come and have some lemonade with me?" he smiled.

Betty looked uncertainly at April.

"Do go with Charlie and have some lemonade—you look so hot and uncomfortable," was that young woman's characteristic comment. She started at Betty impatiently, hoping to see a disconcerted look on the latter's pretty face.

But Betty—to a certain extent—had summed Miss April up. She knew her to be jealous—and she had already grown accustomed to the veiled spite in the majority of April's remarks. She was thirty—and the thought of lemonade was pleasant. She did not like Charlie, and did not in the least desire his company. But she did not wish to appear churlish, so aloud she merely said:

"It certainly would be nice to have some lemonade. Let's all go over to the table and get some."

The movement seemed somehow to restore Miss April to good humor. She purposely left Davon alone with Betty, engaging one of the curates in what promised to be a spirited flirtation.

Davon, meantime, was doing his best in a more or less one-sided dialogue with Betty.

"Be sure you make a hit with her!" April had adjured him only that morning. "She's a sentimental little goose, so you needn't be afraid!"

The flirtation, however, did not flourish. Betty's answers to his most pointed innuendoes and most delicate battery were so devoid of sentiment that, in the face of them, he could not carry on.

"Fair lady, you are cruel," he observed at last, with mock woe and considerably disconcerted. "You have gotten me into a heart of ice!"

"An excellent thing to carry on a day as hot as this," responded Betty, "I don't mind being as cold as a piece of ice."

Charlie's gallantry had fallen flat. He was annoyed to think that a little country girl could get the better of him in repartee.

As soon as they had their lemonade Betty made a hasty excuse, and left the disconcerted aviator to his own devices. She wandered through the woods until she came to a steep little path which would climb beside a waterfall. The ascent was difficult, and the path was slippery. But Betty was in a mood for difficult undertakings. Anything, anywhere, to make her forget the happenings of five days ago.

Why had Jack been so cruel? Why had he ever entered her placid life, to disturb its tranquility?

April Moore and Charles Davon—why had she ever met them? They were not of her world—a world of freshness, and truth, and innocent happenings.

"I used to be so happy—once upon a time!" whispered Betty pitifully.

"But I mustn't let this spoil my life," she added, squaring her sin shoulders.

It was weak to be so "down" because fate had dealt her a few hard knocks. She would fight this feeling of loneliness to the bitter end. . . . Jack wouldn't give in to it. . . . Jack

What Is a Hair Restorer?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Chapped Hands.

At what stage is measles most contagious, and how long should a child with measles be kept indoors and away from other children? (Mrs. S. N. T.)

ANSWER—Measles is most contagious, or communicable in the stage called "cold" which precedes the skin eruption. The child should be isolated from ten days to three weeks, or as long as there is any expectation of nasal discharge.

Some time ago there appeared in your column a recipe for chapped hands. Will you kindly repeat it? (D. E.)

ANSWER—Boric acid . . . half ounce
Glycerine . . . one ounce
Powdered tragacanth . . . 86 grains
Water . . . one pint
Oil of rosemary . . . 2 drops

Boil the tragacanth in the water (preferably rain or distilled water) and stir constantly until dissolved, adding water to make up for evaporation. It is well to let it stand simmering for hours. Add other ingredients. A little may be applied two or three times a day after washing hands and before they are quite dry. It is also soothing to apply to the face irritated after shaving. It tends to soften and whiten the hands.

Sweaty Hands.

Can you recommend anything one can use to overcome sweaty hands? I don't think it is from nervous tension. (Miss E. L. S.)

ANSWER—Rub in for a few minutes each night for a week a little of this ointment (do not wash the hands immediately afterward):

Solution of formaldehyde one-half dram, menthol two grains, lanolin one-half ounce. To be dispensed in a collapsible tube, labelled Formaldehyde Ointment.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

It is so much easier to live with a selfish person than with one who is self-sacrificing—and knows it.

Wants Casey Jones.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am returning the crochet patterns I received a week ago and I thank you for them. Am sending a dime for the S. C. H.

1. I am 15 years, brown eyes and light brown hair. Do you think I should wear brown? Different colors have told me not to wear brown or red. What do you think would be my color?

2. Am I too young to attend dances?

3. If I am, at what age may I begin?

I would like to correspond with any girl my age, about 15 or 16. If any can hand out copies of the paper called Glory, I have some everlasting flower seeds, if anyone would care for them. The flowers are straw and will last a tiny knot in her hand, and know that she had snatched a picture of Betty and himself—a distinctly compromising picture, with Betty in his arms!

Tomorrow—The Camera Cannot Lie (Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

4. What kind of cloth does this use to make those sachet bags? I would like to know as I would like to send some for her the next time. I wish we weren't having so good a weather these days. One day it is nice, then the next day it is cold. Well, I think I will ring off for this time as my letter is getting rather long. Will sign as before, PEARL BROWN.

—Cynthia Grey, tell if brown is becoming to you? I should imagine it would be. 2. Yes. 3. When you are out of your 'teens is thin enough to attend large dances. 4. White cotton, Ann—You must have forgotten to include envelope, Christina. Can anyone supply this recitation?

Dear Miss Grey,—I saw where someone sent in the words of "Casey Jones." May I have the piece? Also can you supply me with a Wart On His Nose? "The Wart With a Wart On His Nose." Inclosed you will find a stamped, addressed envelope, and will try to be of some use next time. —CHRISTINA.

Jack—Kindly send in your name and address, as it has been requested.

"Beans, Beans, Beans."

Dear Miss Grey,—I guess you will be flabbergasted to hear from me. I have been going to answer you for some time, but which you appealed to me on your Page, such as "How long should I wear my skirts, should I kiss my boyfriend good-bye, would glasses suit me with bobbed hair, do I look sweet, etc." Say I get so upset when I read them, that I cannot eat my dinner. I think I'll write to them and tell them what will suit them, but then as soon as I get cool I think, Oh, how, what's the good? I can put up with a little more. Then comes the little girls, of say from 10 to 16. I need not say any more. If they were about 18 or 20 they would be more interesting. What do you think? I brought me to the page at last! Why I saw in the issue of Saturday, March 20,

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

SILK.

THE LIVING-ROOM.

Whether we have a formal drawing-room or not, whether we have a den, a library or study, we all must have a room to which friends may be admitted, where we sit with them, to chat, to sew, to have a cup of tea or a game of cards. For the average family, this room has been called the parlor until recently, and is now called the living-room, the great change being that the stiff, little aired parlor of a stricter day has become the comfortable, book and magazine-strewn room where the family and friends gather often and informally. The first thing to be desired for this room is the open fireplace. Nothing adds so much to the cheer and comfort of the family social life as this. It makes a natural centre, and it satisfies a very ancient craving of the human race—to see the fire, which has made human life and civilization possible.

Wood, canned coal or hard coal all make warm and beautiful fires, and a gas grate is much better than nothing. Restful wall paper, a few good pictures, simple, straight-hanging curtains, one big rug or several small ones on a hardwood floor, comfortable chairs, a bookcase, a piano, and a table with a good, becoming light for reading and sewing—these are the furnishings we need for the living-room. For bric-a-brac we want something good, not too much, but vases or oddities that are especially our own, and mean something to us.

As far as possible the furniture should be uniform in wood and design, not a hodge-podge of mission oak, Victorian walnut and Georgian mahogany. Yet good pieces of furniture, like good people, can make friends through long association, however great their differences, and sometimes a room whose details when analyzed seem an impossible mixture, is nevertheless just right, because it is just what the people who live in it want.

COCOOKS BUILT BY SILK FIBRE MANUFACTURERS.

Silk fibre is a secretion emitted by the silk worm in making its cocoon. It is the strongest of the four fibres being smooth and structureless and very elastic. It may be reeled from the cocoons in lengths varying from 400 to 1,200 yards. It dyes better than cotton or linen and is very lustrous. It is a poor conductor of heat and very absorbent of moisture.

For good silk fibre, great care is needed in rearing and feeding the worms and in reeling the fibre from the cocoons. The fibres are ejected from two small openings below the worm's mouth, but united into one thread by a gummy liquid which hardens in air. The worm attaches this thread to a branch, and throws it in irregular loops by a motion of its head. When the cocoons are complete, they are gathered, heated to destroy the chrysalis, and sorted into lots whose color, fineness and lustre agree.

Then they are dropped into hot water to loosen the gum; all silk for reeling is removed; and then with a brush, the reeler finds a beginning of the unbroken fibre of each cocoon, which he passes through an agate ring, twists with a fibre coming from another ring, separates again and passes through still another ring to the reel, where they are wound into a skein. Bundles of these skeins of silk still harsh because of the adherence of gum, are called books. The books are wound on bobbins and cleaned: then the threads from several bobbins are united to form one, which is spun to give it the necessary twist.

Two kinds of thread are made; organdyne to be used for wary, and gauze to be used in opposite directions, then together, so tightly that the lustre is lost; and tram, the filling thread, two or more threads twisted together only enough to hold for weaving. The silk is then boiled to remove the gum, and chemically bleached, if all coloring is to be removed. Silk can be dyed either in yarn or cloth, or can be printed in color.

How to Meet the Shortage of Dwellings in America

When the call came to feed starving millions across the seas, American generosity, efficiency and foresight were not wanting. Now comes a call to provide shelter for a great nation without homes enough for its growing population—and that nation is the United States. In the largest city of the country, 100,000 families are doubling up with one or more other families; there are places in the city where twelve persons live in three rooms; where four persons sleep in a kitchen every night; and hundreds of rooms in which four or five persons sleep. There is tuberculosis and there have been isolated cases of typhus. These conditions exist and this description appears in a report of a committee of the United States senate which calls for Government action to help build homes for our people.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, April 9, the leading article is devoted to the housing shortage and the steps that are being taken by federal and state governments, builders' associations and other agencies toward alleviating the condition.

Among the other striking news-articles in this number of THE DIGEST are:

GREAT OVATION TO SIR MARTIN HARVEY and Applauds Brilliant English Actor.

Rollicking, roystering, devil-may-care, soldier-of-fortune, ready to sell his sword and prowess to whomever offered him the chance of adventure, Lieut. Reresby, familiarly known as the rat, and holding a commission in the army of King Charles, made hundreds of new friends at the Grand Opera House last night, when he was presented to the playgoers of London by Sir Martin Harvey, in such a manner that the personality of the noted actor and Lieut. Reresby with all his virtues and all his faults alone lived.

Recalled after each of the four acts of John Rutherford's dramatic story of the days when parliament and king were at throat's grip, "The Bred of the Treshams," Sir Martin was, after the closing act, accorded an ovation, the house standing and applauding until the actors were obliged to leave the stage. The Bred of the Treshams, a play which has been acknowledged London's greatest and the excellent support given him by Miss De Silva and his company of English players, by a few brief words of thanks.

The action of the play centres at Faversham Castle, the last stronghold held by the cavaliers of King Charles, and separated by only a few miles from the country from Cromwell's roundheads under Gen. Monkton. The castle is under the command of Colonel the Hon. Clement Hungerford, son of Lord Dorset, who still holds the nearby tower of Evesham for the king. Col. Hungerford, cleverly portrayed by Gordon McCord, is in traitorous correspondence with Monkton, using as his go-between Lieut. Reresby, whom later he was prepared to allow to be hanged to save his own neck.

Thursday's Morning and Evening Advertiser contained a six-column advertisement of Grafton & Co., in which three mistakes occurred in advertising certain classes of men's furnishings. THEATRES

AT THE ALLEN. Many times you have wished that you could bring back those days when you used to play "hooky" from school, and annoy the girl who sat in the seat in front of you, but all you could do was wish. Charles Ray brings back those days for you, and you can go through those wonderful experiences again by seeing his latest success, "The Old Swimmer's Hole," at the Allen Theatre during the last half of this week.

In this picture Ray takes the part of a boy who is a combination of Tom Sawyer and Peck's Bad Boy. He naturally hates school, but will attend in preference to taking a dose of castor oil as the price of his absence. When in school he carries out many mischievous plans, but there is generally a boomerang attached to all his schemes. He engages in mud fights at the old swimmer's hole and tries to win a pretty but naughty girl, who sits across from him in school. She jilts him on several occasions, the last one being on picnic day. He swears that when she is through with "swimmers," but when a girl whom he always looked upon as homely comes in her Sunday dress, she is the girl who has jilted him. He is through with "swimmers," but when a girl whom he always looked upon as homely comes in her Sunday dress, she is the girl who has jilted him. He is through with "swimmers," but when a girl whom he always looked upon as homely comes in her Sunday dress, she is the girl who has jilted him.

ADVERTISER REPORTER GETS CONGRATULATIONS

Report of Louis Balsam's Lecture Commended by His Private Secretary. Mr. Louis Balsam, secretary of the Direct Mail Advertising Association, Detroit, who delivered his instructive talk to the members of the London Advertising Club on Tuesday evening was so gratified at the report that appeared in the London Advertiser that the following communication has been received from his secretary: Detroit Mich., April 6, 1921. Editor The London Advertiser: Dear Sir,—We kindly send us fifteen (15) copies of the morning's issue of April 6, 1921. All we want is the back page, which contains a description of the talk delivered before your ad Club by our secretary. Will you immediately remit the necessary amount upon receipt of your bill. It gives me real pleasure to state that whoever the reporter was that "copy" that assignment he certainly did a splendid piece of work. Mr. Balsam has delivered similar talks in practically every state in this country, and seldom have I had the pleasure of reading a newspaper write-up following his lecture that handled the thing with as much judgment and understanding as this particular reporter showed. Yours very truly, (Signed) E. HOCHMOM, Secretary to Mr. Balsam.

"MISS BOB WHITE" PLEASING COMEDY

Presented Under Auspices of Knights of Columbus in Parish Hall. Most clever was the presentation of "Miss Bob White," a pastoral comedy in three acts at St. Peter's Parish Hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. The proceeds are to be given to the Children's Memorial Hospital.

Costumes, music, scenery and acting were all excellent, and three love affairs running through the play held the interest of the capacity audience until the last curtain. Miss Marie Brady of Chicago was splendid in the leading feminine role as "Miss Bob White." She possesses an unusually sweet soprano voice and executed her solo work in excellent style. Her acting in the different roles as Miss Bob White and a little miss in love with a far-off sailor, but her father (played by M. McKeough) tried to marry her off to another lover unsuccessfully. Mr. McKeough, in playing the role of the farmer, handled this rather difficult role in fine manner, and proved a hard taskmaster for tramps who visited the farm.

all, but millionaires in disguise, but because of losing an election bet are forced to become tramps for two months. Their parts, which were rather heavy, were well played, and lights every time and caused mirth among the audience. The tramp costumes were realistic in the extreme.

Sydney Wood, as the Duke of Highittles, was most successful with his English accent and "buttonhole," but his many love affairs with members of the Quaker family proved futile, despite the attraction of a title and a host of blue-blooded ancestors. His work and that of his son, played by Harry Shaw, was undoubtedly good. Joe Murray, as a farmer lad, afterwards a Jack Tar, in love with Goldenrod, and Tom Holland, as the policeman, were two parts, though minor, which were portrayed well. Miss Mary Bray, Miss Alma Connor and Miss Mary Flinnay played their parts in equally good style.

Fine Choral Work. Last come the choruses. Too much cannot be said of the musical work. The voices all blended perfectly, and they were recalled by the audience over and over again. The Quaker costumes, the gay hunting habits and the sailor costumes were very pretty. As clever an amateur play as "Miss Bob White" has not been presented for a long time, and should draw capacity audiences again this evening. Those taking part in the choruses were: Village Maids—Misses L. Field, M. Cox, C. Lewis, B. Goode, E. Mullins, M. Cox, D. Mullins. Quaker Maids—Misses M. Meaden, V. Traher, C. Terry, J. Morkin, R.
