Clifford.

Mr. James Kidd will have considerable hay to sell on the Balaklava farm, and expects to be over from Brandon about New Years to dispose of it.

Word was received from New York city that W. H. Smith, eldest son of the late Col. Smith, died suddenly on Saturday, 16th November, from heart trouble.

A four-year-old son of Mr. E. L. Fulton, of Fulton Mills, swallowed a copper last week. The coin has been located by the X-rays, and the child was taken to Guelph Hospital to undergo an operation for its removal.

Mr. D. Kreller has disposed of his interest in the Mansion House hotel, here, to Mr. August Weinert, of Elmvale. The commissioners will meet at the hotel on Thursday, November 28th, to consider the transfer of the license.

The School Board, at a recent meeting, decided to comply with the requirements of the School Act, in regard to Continuation Classes in Clifford school. The necessary equipments have been ordered, and Miss McIntyre, the principal, will conduct the classes.

Ontario Liquor License Act.

GREAT BENEFIT TO FARMERS.

It is the unanimous opinion of successful up-to-date farmers that the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, is of more practical benefit to them than any purely agricultural journal. In addition to its splendid agricultural section it is also a weekly newspaper and magazine that no family can well afford to be without. At the small price of one dollar a year it is the marvel of the newspaper world. Any person wanting the best dollar's worth they ever got should give the Family Herald and Weekly Star a trial for 1908. The enormous demand for it at this season of the year makes it necessary to remit early to ensure getting the paper promptly.

—Nicholas Schwalm has returned from his trip to the West.

—Ed. Culliton is home from New York and will spend a few weeks here.

—Mr. J. O. Hymmen has gone to spend a couple of weeks with his brother at Berlin. We hope the change may completely restore him to health.

Nicholas Clegg, one of Listowel's popular young men, was to have been married on Nov. 13. A few days before, he was taken with cramps, and was soon too weak for an operation, and died on the very day that he was to have been married to a Listowel young lady.

J. E. Thompson, Commissioner of Industries for Toronto, reports that firms are laying off men, and instead of 500 men out of employment, the number is nearer 5,000. He predicts a bad winter for working-men, which in turn must materially effect business.

LAKELET.

You should get Tom Bennet's items under a different heading from ours, as we do not want to get into trouble over Tom's squibs. Tom does revel in getting a gag on another, but when it is turned on him it does not always take so well. Some time ago in our notes to a paper we made reference to the shoddy material Tom used in some of his "lad- ders" and for a time after that, when we met him, he would turn the white of his eye toward us: would grunt out something to the effect of his going to enter action against us, etc. To think that we had got even with him was pleasing in the extreme, and he got in high good humor after a time. The item re the hat floating may have been correct. Tom certainly made the most of it at the time and told us he had it in the Gazette.

Last Tuesday afternoon was the time set for the annual Bible Society meeting here, and it was a failure out and out. The agent, Mr. Ashdown, did not get here till 3.30, and when he did arrive there were the Pres., the Sec., and the caretaker of the church present. No meeting was held. The agent is going to try it again about the middle of December, on a Sunday afternoon. Our own opinion of the matter is that were the agents cut out entirely, the society would be away ahead. Any of our preachers could give an address on the work that would be just as acceptable to the people and money saved as well. We know too for a fact that were nothing done by any of the branches but what the agent does, very little money would get to its proper destination.

Mrs. Jno. Darroch and little boy, and Mrs. R. G. Nay went to the city on Friday and returned on Tuesday night. The latter went to consult a specialist re stomach trouble.

The annual fowl supper here a week ago Monday night was again a huge success. Some $35 were realized. There was a good program in which talent from Clifford, Gorrie and Fordwich participated. Mr. and Mrs. John Harper and little daughter, also the Harper brothers, Geo. and Robt. were present.

Mr. W. A. Cook of the burg, assisted by his son is this week putting the finishing touches on Albert Haskin's new house at Huntingfield. Albert and Wm. Wynn will have fine residences when completed.

Wm. Gaultie, our chopper, is very busy every Wednesday and Saturday. Notwithstanding the high price of grain and the comparatively low price of cattle and hogs, the farmers feed a lot of chop.

Messrs. Walter Pomeroy and Robt. McConnell, also Messdames Bushfield and Dellman have been quite ill during the past week. Dr. Harrison of Clifford is in attendance.

Andrew Allan drove out to Clifford last night, Monday, and tied his horse in the Presbyterian church sheds. When he went to get out his horse, it was gone. It is supposed to have got untied. The occupants of the buggy walked home and thought the animal would be there, but no. At time of writing it was not yet found. It is supposed to have gone south down the gravel road, as a blanket which was in the buggy was found down there.

BORN.

SCHMIDT—In Preston, on Nov. 19th, to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schmidt a daughter.

FARREL—In Carrick, on Nov. 21st to Mr. and Mrs. John Farrel, a daughter, still born.

ERNEWEIN—In Carrick, on Nov. 26th, to Mr. and Mrs. John Ernewein, a daughter.

There is considerable excitement in Hepworth, and it is just possible that the baby village of Bruce may have an oil boom. Last Saturday evening, at 7.30, while the Slater Co. were drilling away on the Harrison farm, quite near the furniture factory, they struck gas and up it came in such quantities as to prevent after night operations. They were down to a depth of 1430 feet and they are in the heart of the Trenton formation. They do not think they have struck the regular vein, but it is already evident that this well will produce as much gas as the other two in the vil- lage.

BEMORE.

Mr. S. McLeod met with a painful accident one day last week while engaged in splitting wood, a chip hit him in the eye.

Our school is to have a new teacher. It is with sorrow we learn of the departure so soon of Mr. Collins. His place will be hard to fill.

Mr. W. Edwards, our saw-miller, is doing a rushing business these days, with chopping and making applebutter. Mr. Edwards has almost more than he can do.

Mrs. Hugh Lowry, who has been visiting her son, William, was presented some time ago by the members of the Methodist church, with an address and a gift as an appreciation of her labors among them for many years. The gift consisted of a beautiful fur ruff.

The members of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met on Tuesday evening last at the home of Mrs. Richardson, who is about to leave for Clifford and presented her with an oak rocking chair. Mrs. Richardson was a moving spirit in the Ladies' Aid in every way, assisting in everything that was for the welfare of the church.

PREFERRED AGE.

"Yes," said the old man, addressing his visitor, "I am proud of my girls and should like to see them all comfortably married, and as I have made a little money they won't go to their husbands penniless. There's Margaret, 25 years old, and a real good girl. I shall give her a thousand pounds when she marries. Then comes Bet, who won't see 35 again, and she'll have two thousand, and the man who takes Dora, who is 40, will have three thousand with her."

The young man reflected a moment or so and then nervously enquired:—"You haven't one about 50, have you?"—The Tatler.

PROVINCIAL WINTER FAIR.

The Ontario Provincial Winter Fair will be held in Guelph on December 9th to 13th, inclusive. Reports received would indicate that the exhibits of Beef and Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry and Seeds will be larger and better than ever before.

Lectures will be delivered in the Lecture Room of the Fair Building each day during the Fair, starting on Tuesday evening. The topics dealt with will relate to questions of interest to breeders and feeders of the various kinds of Live Stock, Poultry and Seeds, and will be discussed by practical experts.

Mr. Tory Gibson was married yesterday in Hanover to Miss Kohler of this town. Both Mr. Gibson and his charming bride are well known in Walkerton and their many friends will wish them a long and prosperous life.—Bruce Herald.

Mr. Neely, a well-to-do farmer of Rocklyn, disposed of 24 fat cattle in Toronto and came home with the cash. While in Meaford he showed his wad to several alvenged friends and imbibed during the evening a little too freely. He lay down on a lounge, dozed off to sleep, and woke to find himself separated from $500. The police were notified but as he knew nothing of the number of the bills there is small hope of recovering. "When wine's in wit's out."

Mr. Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star, last week sent a kindly and most encouraging letter to Longboat, the Indian runner, in which he said: "If at the end of five years you are still in the athletic field, and it can be truthfully said of you that you have resisted temptation, kept temperate, and ranged yourself always on the side of clean sport, I shall be most pleased to hand you a check for two thousand dollars. If you should be selected to represent Canada at the Olympic games in England next year, you may, if you choose, go at the expense of the Montreal Star." Tom sent the following reply: "Dear Mr. Graham,—You are very kind. I know how you feel; you want Canada's name kept good. I feel the same. I will do my best. Five years from to-day I will send you a little bill for the two thousand dollars, and will buy a nice little wigwam for my best girl. Yours gratefully."

WAITING FOR EXPLOSION

Engineer Bound and Helpless in Hands of Burglars.

A despatch from Vancouver, B. C., says: Surprised by four burglars who held guns at his head and then bound his hands behind his back and threw him under a table, Walter Wittmeyer, engineer of the Vancouver breweries, waited for the burglars of the plant to explode and blow him and the robbers to pieces, on Tuesday night.

The night engineer was just turning water into the boiler after his lunch when four masked men covered him. They knocked him down, tied his hands behind his back and carried him to the main office of the brewery, where he was thrown under a table.

He watched the burglars prepare to blow the safe with nitro-glycerine, mentally calculating that within a very few minutes the lack of water in the boilers of the plant would cause an explosion that would bring the building down about their ears. At the first attack on the safe with explosives the police arrived and opened fire on the gang, who escaped. The engineer rolled out to the boiler and was freed. He rushed to the engine-room, and was just in time to save the plant.

GOVERNMENT FOREST RESERVES.

Many Square Miles Set Apart by the Western Provinces.

By the "Dominion Forest Reserves Act," of 1906, a number of tracts of wooded country throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta were set aside as permanent forest reserves. Of these a number had previously been set aside by order-in-council; the areas of some were, however, lessened, while a few new ones were added. The total areas now so reserved in the different provinces are as follows: Manitoba, 2,575 square miles; Saskatchewan, 740 square miles; Alberta, 186 square miles; British Columbia, 890 square miles.

In Manitoba there have been set apart six reserves. The largest of these is the Riding Mountain Forest Reserve, with an area of 1535 square miles. A short distance to the north is the Duck Mountain Forest Reserve, comprising some 1250 square miles; and to the northwest of this reserve is Porcupine Forest Reserve No. 1, with an area of nearly 325 square miles. West of Lake Manitoba is the Lake Manitoba West Forest Reserve, the area of which is nearly 250 square miles. Part of the area covered by the Turtle Mountains is included in the Turtle Mountain Reserve, with an area of nearly 110 square miles. A part of the sand-hill country south-east of Brandon has also been set apart as a forest reserve, and within this experimental work in forest planting has been done; the area of the Spruce-woods Forest Reserve, as it is called, is 110 square miles.

In Saskatchewan there are four reserves. Of these Porcupine Reserve No. 2, the largest, adjoins Porcupine Reserve No. 1; it has an area of 360 square miles. In the Moose Mountain district, north of Arcola, the Moose Mountain Forest Reserve, of some 160 square miles in area, has been created. The Beaver Hills Forest Reserve, in the Beaver Hills, west of Yorkton, covers two townships (Ranges 9 and 10, Township 26); area, 72 square miles. South-east of Prince Albert is "The Pines" Forest Reserve, covering 145 square miles.

In Alberta there are but three reserves. The largest is the Cooking Lake Forest Reserve, east of Edmonton; its area is 114 square miles. Right down in the south-east corner of the province, having the International Boundary as its southern limit, while its western limit is three miles east of the fifth Meridian township and a half of land has been formed into the Kootenay Lakes Forest Reserve. Another small reserve, the Cypress Hills Forest Reserve, consists of half a township (the south half of Township 8, Range 3, west of the fourth Meridian).

All the forest reserves in British Columbia are within the railway belt, i.e., the strip of country twenty miles on each side of the C. P. R., ceded by the province to the Dominion. These reserves are eight in number. The names and areas are as follows: Long Lake Forest Reserve, a short distance south-west of Kamloops, 190 square miles; McLean Hills Forest Reserve, a few miles east of the Long Lake reserve, area 106 square miles; Martin Mountain Forest Reserve, a small tract of 18 square miles lying just west of Boleyn River; Nis-

WILL RESTRICT EMIGRATION

Japan's Foreign Minister Says He Will Control It.

A despatch from Tokio says: In an interview with the Associated Press on Thursday Minister of Foreign Affairs Hayashi said that the relations between Japan and the United States were as smooth and cordial as ever, and the cause of civilization as well as community of interest demanded the lasting peace and friendship of the two nations.

Minister Hayashi admitted that the immigration question was the most serious matter, and was uppermost in the public mind, but he was positive that it would be settled without friction. Already it practically has been decided. The Japanese Government proposes to control emigration in such a manner as to benefit Japan and at the same time conform to the wishes of the American Government, and is taking most active steps in this direction.

The Foreign Minister believes that Japan will be able to solve the question in this manner, it requiring only the patience of the people of both countries. One thing certain is that the Japanese Government is not solicitous for the emigration of its people into any country.

PERISH IN FALLING HOUSES

A Terrific Hurricane Sweeps Over Marseilles, France.

A despatch from Marseilles, France, says: A hurricane swept over this city on Friday night, causing immense damage to docks and other waterfront property. The gas works were flooded by the terrific downpour that accompanied the storm, and the city was plunged into darkness. A number of people were killed by collapsing houses, but in the confusion and the darkness it is impossible to determine the extent of the casualties. All of South France continues to suffer from the floods following the excessive rains. In many places the inundations are worse than the horrors which followed the September storm. The extensive coal station at Grassessaic has been completely flooded and all work has been suspended.

FOUR MEN SWEEPED TO DEATH.

Trying to Cross the St. Lawrence Near Montreal.

A despatch from Montreal says: Details of a drowning tragedy that occurred on Friday on Cole St. Louis, near Beauharnois, have been received in the city. On Thursday night three Polish immigrants arrived at Cascade Point, opposite Beauharnois, which is situated about 20 miles from Montreal. The night was stormy, but the immigrants said they wished to cross to Mecheville, so that they could take the train at Beauharnois for New York. No one would take the risk, and the men stayed all night at the hotel kept by Mr. Arthur Perron. In the morning though the weather was still stormy, Coe, Valois, telegraph operator at the Soulanges Canal, consented to take them across, and Mr. Perron, the hotel-keeper, also decided to accompany them. When about two hundred feet from the shore at Mecheville a sudden squall upset the skiff, as it entered the rapids of the Pointe Au Glissant. The three Poles, who could not swim, were immediately drowned, and Mr. Valois was swept to death by the current. Mr. Perron clung to the overturned skiff, until Napoleon Fortier, a fisherman, reached him and dragged him safely into another boat.

ORDERS FOR COAL.

Pittsburg Concerns Decline to Supply a Million Tons.

A despatch from Pittsburg says: Orders aggregating 500,000 tons were received in Pittsburg and refused by local coal concerns in the past week, in spite of the fact that premiums were offered for prompt shipment, and it became known on Saturday that the amount of coal orders declined within the past few weeks have aggregated perhaps 1,000,000 tons, and all because of lack of railroad transportation facilities. The shortage of cars, which has become most pronounced recently, has become more acute through heavy demands by the South for cotton moving, and as the lake seasons ends Dec. 5, the Pittsburg coal kings could not see their way to take on more coal orders, as it is thought they have more orders now than can be filled. The great bulk of the coal was ordered from the Northwest.

$100,000 FIRE AT TORONTO.

A Repetition of the 1904 Holocaust Was Averted.

A despatch from Toronto says: A fire, which for a time threatened to develop into a repetition of the disastrous conflagration of April 19th, 1904, which wiped out nearly half of the downtown wholesale district, destroyed a wholesale house at 76 Bay Street on Saturday evening, inflicting a loss of $100,000 or more on five wholesale and manufacturing firms. The fire broke out only a short distance from the spot in which the big fire got its start, and the fact that its progress was checked is due to good work by the brigade. The building is five stories in height, and is one of those which was rebuilt since the great fire of three years ago.

AVERAGE THOUSAND A DAY

Rate of Immigration to Canada Since April Last.

A despatch from Ottawa says: For the first nine months of the present year ending September 31st the total immigration to Canada has been 236,608, an increase of 54,736 as compared with the corresponding nine months of 1906. The increase above is nearly double the total immigration for 1900, and for the nine months the immigration is nearly nine times the total immigration of that year.

For the first six months of the present fiscal year, beginning with April 1st, the total immigration has been 133,630, of which the number coming from the United States was 35,092, and the number via ocean ports was 158,538. The total increase as compared with the corresponding months of last year is 45,930, or 31 per cent. The percentage of increase via ocean ports is 44. Immigration from the United States shows a decrease of 2,891, or 8 per cent. For September the immigration from the United States was nearly 4,000. The number of arrivals via ocean ports for the month was 15,294.

Since the 1st of April last immigrants have been arriving in Canada at an average of a little over one thousand per day.

About the House

TESTED RECIPES.

Almond Salad.—Chop and stone six olives, add half a cup blanched almonds chopped, also half a cup of tender celery cut fine. Mix with salad dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

Noodles for Two.—One egg and water enough to fill half the shell, one-half teaspoon of salt and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Roll out thin, sprinkle with flour, roll and cut in fine strips and boil about ten minutes. Serve immediately.

Apple Butter.—Cook two parts apple and one part rhubarb until tender. Run all through colander. If set in the oven it will cook without spattering. Sweeten with sugar and flavor with cinnamon. For grape butter take two parts seeded grapes and one part apple, run through colander. Apple gives a much better flavor to the grapes.

Fresh Cucumbers in Winter.—Fill jars with cucumbers that have been slightly encased with salt. Remove all bubbles by passing a fork through them. Put the tops on the jars, turn them upside down, and let them stand for awhile as a test that there is no leakage. When put up in this manner cucumbers taste as fresh as if gathered right from the vines in summer time. Corn, string beans, and green peas are put up with the same success, and especially corn on the cob. It requires no cooking, and should be put up in cold water. It will last all winter, and be a surprise at the Christmas dinner.

Corn Cake.—A Southern corn cake recipe is a valuable addition to one's scrap book. Mix and sift three-fourths of a cup of corn meal, one and one-fourth cups of pastry flour, one-fourth of a cup of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and five level teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add one cup of milk, one egg well beaten and one and one-half tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Beat thoroughly, turn into a shallow buttered pan, and bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven. Cut in squares and arrange on a bread plate. If a richer corn cake is liked, two tablespoonfuls of butter may be used.

Ice Cream Cones.—One-fourth of a cup of butter, one-half of a cup of powdered sugar, one fourth of a cup of milk, seven-eighths of a cup of flour, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Cream the butter, add the sugar, and cream them well together; then add the milk slowly and last add the flour and flavoring. Spread thin with a broad bladed knife on the bottom of a square or oblong tin. Bake until light brown, then cut in large squares and roll up, beginning at one corner, like a cornucopia. If the squares become too brittle to roll up, place them in the oven again to soften. The lower end must be pinched together.

Soup Cake Without Eggs.—Strain soup, let it stand five or ten minutes. With a tablespoon remove all grease, put it in a syrup or molasses can, next day remove the soup that settles at the bottom, put the can of grease back on the stove, pour cold water over it, and let it boil, next day pour off the water, and you have a clear shortening that you can use for cookies and spice cakes. Even if celery and tomatoes have been cooked in the soup you never detect it as the spices take that taste away. Eggless cake to use soup fat.—One cup brown sugar, one-half cup soup fat, one cup sour milk, one cup raisins, two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, dissolved in the milk, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, allspice and nutmeg.

Season's End Pickles.—One gallon cabbage, one gallon green tomatoes, one quart green beans, one head cauliflower, one quart hulled beans (lima, kidney, or corn beans), 100 small pickles or one quart canned pickles, twelve large onions, one quart small onions, carrots, 10 cents celery, 5 cents white mustard seed, three pounds brown sugar, two tablespoons black pepper, one gallon cider vinegar, salt to taste. Chop fine tomatoes, cabbage, large onions. Let remain in salt water over night.

Cook cauliflower, carrots, beans, little onions until nearly done. Chop everything fine except the little pickles, little onions, and hulled beans. Cook twenty minutes and can. This makes twelve quarts and the best mixed pickle you ever ate.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Extra Space for Clothes.—Pull the bedstead out from the wall or set it cornerwise and put hooks across the back of the headboard. Easily reached and does not show in the room.

Keep Shoes Tied.—To keep shoes from untying, lace up the shoe or oxford to the top, then take a damp cloth and rub over the ends of the laces or ribbon and tie in the usual bow, and they will stay tied all day.

Wax to Keep Selves Clean.—Save all pieces of beeswax. After any work is done rub a little wax on top of sleeve with cloth. The heat will melt wax and will remove stains, and leave the sleeve bright and clean. Most excellent and simple.

How to Clean Knives.—A cork is good for cleaning knives, but better is to take a piece of raw potato and use this piece of the potato has splendid qualities for this purpose besides keeping the scouring material always moist.

Trim Heels of New Shoes.—The sharp corners on the heels of new shoes are constantly catching in the skirt binding and tripping one. This may be prevented by taking a sharp knife and slightly rounding off both corners. It is easily done and does not affect the appearance of the heel. This not only saves the skirt binding but may prevent a serious fall.

For Husband's Clothes.—To save men's trousers cut a broomstick so it will fit under the lowest shelf in the clothes closet, cover with cotton batting about three or four thicknesses. Then with black cambric and sew this stick with laces on shelf in closet, so stick will hang about three or four inches down; fold men's and boys' trousers by creases and they will look like new every time by hanging them across the covered stick.

Keep Tablecloth Unmarked.—The most practical way to prevent hot dishes from marking your dining room table is to get a piece of tablecloth, cut the size of your table, either round or square, put under your pad, and then your cloth on. And where a hot dish is placed on the table, you are sure there will be no mark. If at times you have to enlarge your table have the oil cloth spill through the center and that way it can be slipped to the ends and afford protection where most needed.

Shopping Bag.—Take a paper hat bag; get enough paper muslin (glazed) or unglazed cambric, a dark color or a light tan; make a bag a half inch narrower than the paper bag; put it inside the paper bag; let it come within one-half inch of the bottom and one and one-half inches from the top paste the cloth bag to the paper bag at the top. Then carry it in the hand the same as one would a new hat. A bag like this is not so conspicuous as a bag of other material.

How to Wash House Plants.—A neat housekeeper always dreads to wash her plants in the bath tub on account of the washing of the earth from the pots. This can be averted by taking a piece of oilcloth, square or round, cut about twice the size of top of pot, cut a small hole in centre, and from one edge cut the cloth to the hole. Then wrap the cloth around stem of plant and top over the edges that were cut and top over on top of pot. Then turn on your spray and the leaves will be beautifully washed and no dirt removed or even wet. Try it.

Hang up Shoes.—A simple and convenient article for footwear, especially for those who like to have a place for everything. Take carpet binding, belting or old suspenders, tack on inside of clothes closet, two feet from floor, six and one-half inches apart, with nine and one-half inches of belting between each space. This forms loops of the belting in which to place the shoes, rubbers, and slippers with toe down. Any convenient place can be used. This is convenient where there are children, and saves time and worry for the tired mother.

A FARMER'S TRIALS.

Weak and Worn Out Through Over-work and Long Hours.

The farmer's life is always a hard one, but if he is weak or suffering it is almost unbearable. The hours are long and the work so hard that none but the strongest can stand it. An illustration of the fact of hard work on the system is given by Mr. Geo. Huntzberg, a farmer of Spry, Ont. He says: "I have lived nearly all my life in the Bruce peninsula. I am a farmer and have always had my share of hard work and like a good many other men I thought there was no wear-out to my system. In this I was mistaken, for about a year and a half ago I began to go gradually down hill. I would tire at the least exertion, my appetite failed me; I had a severe pain in my side and around my heart. The doctor told me I was suffering from pernicious anemia; that I was almost bloodless. I doctored for six months, but instead of improving I grew so weak that I could hardly move without assistance. I lost flesh till I was almost a skeleton. A friend from Stakes Bay told me of the great benefit derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and advised me to try them. My sister-in-law had also received great benefit from their use, so I decided to give them a trial. After using the pills about a month I began to gain strength and from that on I improved rapidly. New blood seemed to course through my veins; my appetite improved, tired in weight. After using about a dozen boxes of the pills I was again enjoying the best of health. I have nothing but praise for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they cured me after medical treatment had failed. I really believe they saved my life."

Good blood is the secret of health. Keep the blood pure and such diseases as anemia, rheumatism, scalds, indigestion, heart palpitation, eczema and the secret ills of women will not exist. The most perfect blood tonic and nerve restorer in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Doings of Some of the Prominent People On the World's Stage.

Queen Alexandra is taller than King Edward. The Czar of Russia is much smaller than his beautiful consort, and the German Emperor has a greater height than the Emperor. The King of Italy is known as one of the smallest rulers of his time, and scarcely reaches to the shoulders of the truly regal monarch of eleven years ago. The Queen of Portugal also is taller than King Carlos, and likewise the Queen of Denmark, Queen Louise is a Swede, and belongs to a nation of big people. The Queen of Rumania and the Queen of Spain are equal, if they do not exceed, their consorts in height.

Sir George Clerk is now in residence at Penicuik House, Edinburgh. As is the wont of Scotch baronets, he married the daughter of another baronet—the late Sir Robert Napier—and he holds his lands on a curious tenure. This obliges him to stand at the bend of a road near his house and blow three blasts on a horn if the Sovereign visits Edinburgh. And there are other landowners with similar rights or obligations. Major Henson-Crauford holds the lands of Broomfield, on the understanding that if the King should happen to cross Crauford Brig, at the gates of his residence, he presents him with a silver bottle filled with water in which to wash his hands. Then, should the Sovereign chance to visit Hopelou House, Lord Linlithgow orders that the chains which stretch across the principal avenue should be lowered so that His Majesty may drive up the central approach.

The new Lord Dunsmore is a keen soldier, and, with the exception of Lord Roberts, the only peer who holds the Victoria Cross. He has been in Egypt, Afghanistan, and South Africa, and won his badge of valor in 1897. At the time of the Boer War he raised a troop, known as Finca's Horse, and found a novel method to teach his men horsemanlike. He conceived the plan of making them ride up and down Arthur's Seat at Edinburgh, and after a few weeks at this his troopers became quite fitted to scale the steepest kopjes in South Africa. Lord Dunsmore is now the owner of South Harris, in the Hebrides, and he is intensely Scotch, and can both speak and write the Gaelic language. His marriage in 1904 made a happy end to a romantic attachment. He had been engaged for eight years to the beautiful Miss Kemble, whose home was in the Isle of Skye. The island folk watched this engagement with deep interest, and at the time of the marriage their gift took the form of a silver tripod, bearing the words, "We wish good luck to you, and no bad luck to you." This inscription was in Gaelic. Lord Dunsmore is a handsome man, and has been tersely described as possessing "good looks, good manners, and a good heart."

A striking romance of trade is recalled by the announcement that a marriage is to take place between Miss Ethel Lewis and Mr. Jeffrey Duveen, son of Mr. H. J. Duveen, principal of the famous firm of art dealers. By the wildest stretch of imagination one can scarcely picture a blacksmith becoming one of the world's greatest art connoisseurs. And yet Mr. H. J. Duveen, 50 not long ago paid over $20,000.00 for the famous Rudolph Kann collection, began life as a blacksmith. Mr. Duveen was one of a number of young Dutch Jews who left their native land for England. Emigrating to Hull, he followed his trade, that of a blacksmith, for some time; but soon his faculty for getting on asserted itself. He went to London, and became associated with a Holborn firm of jewellers, educated himself, and mastered every detail of his work. Eventually he and his brother established the business in Bond Street, which has become famous all over the world.

As a rule when Queen Alexandra is in Denmark she and her sister, the Dowager-Empress of Russia, with Princess Victoria, all go on great fishing expeditions to Lake Esrom. The Queen always uses a small light rod and the smallest fly, while Princess Victoria uses a heavier make. The more practical Princess Royal uses a hickory-wood rod, and she has designed an excellent fishing lure, which she has named the "Mar Lodge" fly. The Princess is the most expert angler in the Royal family, and beats even her father, the King, and the Prince of Wales in playing a salmon. Her favorite ground is just above the Linn of the great river, where she lands salmon which usually weigh from 10 lb. to 12 lb. apiece; but her finest record was two or three years ago, when she crealed two salmon weighing together over 80 lb.

His Highness the Khedive of Egypt, who is now making a somewhat extended tour on the Continent, Europe, possesses a wonderful personality, and is in many ways one of the most remarkable living rulers. He is a splendid linguist, speaking every European language with ease and fluency, German, perhaps, best of all, since he was educated at Vienna. At his receptions in Cairo it is nothing unusual for him to converse alternately in German, French, English, Arabic and Turkish. One of the most striking characteristics of the Khedive is his wonderfully retentive memory. He never forgets a face or a name, and is credited with having admitted, only a short time ago, that tabulated on his mind are the names, occupations, nationalities, and circumstances of the many hundreds who have shaken hands with him in the reception-room of the Abdin Palace, so that without hesitation he can greet each one by name and in his guests own language on meeting him again, no matter how long after the first introduction.

It is difficult to say how many thrones the Russian Emperor has. The three chief ones are those at the Imperial Palace and the Winter Palace at St. Petersburg, and in the Kremlin at Moscow. This last was a present to the Czar Alexis in 1680 from the Shah of Persia. It is entirely covered with thick plates of gold set with precious stones, and chiselled in high relief. The fact and date of the presentation are recorded in an inscription on the back of the throne. Just above are glistening double-headed eagles of Russia, with angrils on either side supporting the imperial crown. In the Imperial Palace at St. Petersburg the throne stands in an alcove of the marble throne room, with a wide stretching canopy with thick gold cords and deep fringes of gold embroidery. On the curtains behind are embroidered the arms of the Romanoffs surmounted by the crown, with a curious star-shaped border all around. Three wide steps lead up to the throne.

ZONES OF SILENCE.

Parts of the Ocean Where Ships Are Deaf and Dumb.

The news that the Deutschland, in the course of a recent voyage to New York, encountered off the Banks of Newfoundland an aerial zone of silence wherein other vessels' syrens were as inaudible to her as were hers to them, has served to direct attention anew to one of the most puzzling problems of maritime acoustics.

That such zones exist has long been known to scientists, and the danger they constitute to navigation may be inferred when it is understood that their effect is to at once render deaf and dumb any vessel entering them.

In this way many good ships have been sent to the bottom. The great French liner La Bourgoyne for instance, and the British ship Stella. The former collided with the British barque Cromartyshire, neither ship hearing the other's syren, although both were being sounded continuously, with the result that 545 lives were lost. In the latter case the unfortunate steamer ran full tilt on to the dreaded Casquet Rocks, off Alderney, although warning foghorns were loudly sounding close to her. Of this there was abundant evidence, as was there also that no one on board heard them. She had run into a zone of silence, and she paid the penalty.

Attempts have been made to show that these silent zones remain constant, but this is doubtful, although they undoubtedly affect some parts of the ocean more than others. Thus the fog-horn at the Lizard has been several times reported as being heard, and then again unheard, by vessels approaching the land, although inquiry has subsequently elicited that it has all the while been duly and uniformly sounded. And the phenomenon has even, upon occasion, been repeated over and over again, proving that not only one silent zone, but several, have been passed through by the incoming ship, each lying parallel to the other, and separated by belts of ordinary sound-carrying atmosphere.—Peasants' Weekly.

ON TRIAL.

Mr. Wiggles, who has a polite way of being rude to persons who deserve it, was paid a visit the other morning by an undesirable, who usually brinks in to Wiggles's privacy regardless of all etiquette.

This morning, however, owing to the mat being occupied by a large dog, he paused and knocked.

"Walk right in," called Wiggles. "Don't mind the dog."

"But will he bite?" was asked cautiously.

"That's what I want to find out," was the reply. "I only bought him yesterday."

"A SPLENDID PRESCRIPTION."

An eminent physician informs us that he has used the following prescription in his practice for a number of years, and found it very successful in the treatment of Kidney, Liver, Bladder, and all Urinary affections. He claims that a very few doses will relieve the most severe pains in the back, arising from disordered kidneys and impure blood: One ounce of sweet spirits of nitre, one ounce of sweet Compound, and four ounces of syrup of rhubarb. These ingredients can be obtained at any reliable drug store. It should be taken in desertspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime in water. It is unsurpassed for the cure of rheumatism, driving the uric acid entirely from the system. The ingredients are inexpensive and harmless, and can be given to children with safety.

THOUSANDS TRY THEM

HOME-MADE MIXTURE SAID TO BE CURING RHEUMATISM.

The Philadelphia and New York Newspapers Print Simple Prescription Which Cures Thousands.

Some remarkable stories are being told in the large Eastern cities of this simple home-made mixture curing Rheumatism and Kidney trouble even after the noted health resorts failed. Here is the recipe and directions for taking. Mix by shaking well in a bottle one-half ounce Fluid Extract Bandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Take as a dose one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

No change need be made in your usual diet, but drink plenty of good water.

This mixture, writes one authority in a leading Philadelphia newspaper, has a peculiar tonic effect upon the kidneys; cleansing the clogged-up pores of the eliminative tissues, forcing the kidneys to sift and strain from the blood the uric acid and other poisonous waste matter, overcoming Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary troubles in a short while.

A Toronto druggist who has had hundreds of calls for these ingredients since the first announcement in the newspapers last October stated that the people who once try it, "swear by it," especially those who have Urinary and Kidney trouble and suffer with Rheumatism.

Any druggist can supply the ingredients, which are easily mixed at home. There is said to be no better blood-cleansing agent or system tonic known, and certainly none more harmless or simple to use.

Though the present representative would no doubt make a strong candidate he is not likely to have a "walk over" for the honor of being again the party standard bearer. The name of Mr. R. D. Complaint has been laid to Rev. T. Albert Moore, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, in the matter of the Western Portland Cement Co., of Atwood. GOING TO TOWN TO LIVE.

The old, worn-out farmers—the farmers who have rented their "places," the farmers who have sold out to the boys—have ceased to go to town to live.

It was a species of insanity in the first place, but at any time could be diagnosed as a big mistake. They are out of place in town. The sidewalks tire them out. Their "Howdy do" as they pass people is unnoticed except by a curious stare.

There are no chores to do. There are no pigs to chase out of the orchard, and their cattle never get into the oats. There is no sheep washing time, no threshing days, no seeding, no haying, no hog-killing, no cider making time.

They lived like lords out on the 'place,' because their food practically cost them nothing. A smoke-house full of hams, shoulders and side meat was a matter of course. Eggs could be had for the going to the barn for them; a chicken on state occasions was never missed from the flock, and butter only cost a strenuous quarter of an hour churning it.

But now, when they have got to buy 'most everything, it is awfully different. They stint themselves on butter at 35 cents a pound—that's too ridiculous a price altogether.

They never see a fresh egg, for it would be a sin and a shame to pay 40 cents a dozen for them. And do you know what that means? All the nice dishes on the farm, in which fresh eggs were the living principal, are seen no more. For it takes eggs to make the batter-cakes, and the johnny-cake, and the custard, and the like—real nice things, but you can't make 'em without eggs.

Pretty soon he wants to go home—when he has no home to go to. Every evening he feels like hitching up, but there is no horse nor buggy. He haunts the market places and the farmers hotels in the hope of meeting some old neighbors from "back home." They are glad to meet even their ancient enemies; the men who beat them for council, who defeated them for reeve, who moved their line fence in on them, who put their steers in pound, who humiliated them doing road work—they are glad to see them, and they wonder why they quarreled out yonder and spoiled the good time they might have had.—The Khan.

Tuesday's evening papers report that the Stark Telephone, Light and Power Co., of Toronto Junction, is in financial difficulties—that it has made an assignment and that an effort will be made to re-organize. The stock of this company was industriously peddled around the country for the past two years and the present crisis will no doubt entail hardship upon many who invested in it. A number of persons in Teeswater and Culross are unfortunate enough to be owners of small blocks of the stock.

At the Woodbridge Fair there was, of course, some "speeding in the ring," a form of contest that may be described as a goodly good race. Some good races were pulled off. One of the trotters was driven by a man with notable nose—a nose so large and distinguished that it attracted general observation. In a very close heat the horse driven by this man won by a very few inches, and after the excitement had died down there was silence while the judge announced that he had won by a nose. "Which nose—his or the horse's?" enquired a wag in the crowd, and the blushing horseman drove his steed to shelter amid a storm of laughter.

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by J. Coates.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.
TORONTO.

Receipts of live stock at the City Cattle Market amounted to 53 cars, containing 945 head of cattle, 1,560 sheep and lambs, 200 hogs and 131 calves.

With a run of hardly forty loads of cattle trade was naturally brisk, with prices on the whole firmer. There were practically no really choice cattle offered and buyers who were after this class had to be content with medium quality.

No good export cattle were offered and trade was confined to a few heavy bulls which sold between $3.50 and $4. The number being marketed is small and it generally takes buyers a week to get a load together for shipping. The scarcity of choice cattle on the market recently has compelled large exporters with space to fill to go to the country after supplies. Farmers have been holding back their best cattle, sending in only the poor stuff, which will not pay to winter-keep, and the only way shippers can get the kind they want is to go after them. This method generally means paying higher prices, but when there is space that must be paid for, whether filled or not, buyers have to put up with it.

Further depreciation in the quality of butchers' offering was noted to-day, and a bunch of what were probably the best cattle on the market sold at $4.10, medium grade steers sold from $3.50 to $4. Common to medium, $2 to $3.40 and canners at $1 to $1.50.

Stock trade was fairly steady but there were not enough cattle of the right weights. Good quality stockers of 800 to 900 lbs sold at $2.60 to $3, with light medium quality of 600 to 800 lbs selling $3 to $3.50; common, $1.60 to $1.75. There was no demand for distillery feeders.

Choice milkers were in demand at $45 to $60, with medium at $30 to $40. Offerings were light.

Calves were in steady demand under a very light run. Quotations unchanged at 3c to 6c per lb.

Sheep held steady with little change in quotations. Export ewes, $3.50 to $4; bucks and culls, $3 to $3.50; lambs, choice, $4.75 to $5.25; common to medium, $4 to $4.50.

The prospects of further declines in hog prices acted as a check upon deliveries and today only about 200 hogs were marketed. Quotations were 25c lower at $5.50 for select and $4.50 to $4.75 for lights and fats.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

A man is not happy when he is continually being made to feel that he has acted like a brute. Nor does any man like to have a woman, however dearly he loves her, peering forever into the recesses of his mind with a view to finding out if he cares for her as much as he did yesterday. I have seen many a decent fellow made almost brutal by this sort of affectionate inquisition. No man enjoys having his affections pulled up by the roots to see if they have grown or not since yesterday. In short, every human being feels the need of a little decent mental privacy. Every one has a right to thoughts of his own, a right to variations of emotions that he is not bound to tell about. Women do not think this; they will relentlessly track every feeling their husbands have to its last hiding-place. Then, when all spontaneity is dead, they mourn for it.—A "Husband," in Harper's Bazar.

Thomas A. Richardson, convicted bigamist and thief, was sentenced to seven years in Kingston penitentiary. Married September 2nd, he was arrested for bigamy on October 19th, and committed for trial. Arraigned in Owen Sound before his Honor Judge Widdifield on the bigamy charge and one of theft of a furlined overcoat from Mr. J. S. Findlay, a former employer. Richardson pleaded guilty to both charges and was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary for the bigamy charge and three years for the theft. The sentences will run concurrently.

For eight months I had intense pain in my right side between the shoulders. I was almost incurable with weakness and lack of vigor. Often I scarcely ate any breakfast and felt miserable all day. Nervous, easily excited, troubled with heart weakness, I was in bad shape. Ferrozine restored and nourished me back to health in short order." Whatever your weakness may be Ferrozine will cure. EASY TO MIX THIS.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder trouble in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic affections with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

OPTIMISTIC BROWN.

Brown's cheerfulness was a source of wonder and admiration to his friends. Either his religion or his philosophy taught him to accept everything as a wise dispensation. But then he had a large share of worldly goods, his friends argued, and nothing but adversity would shake his faith.

Therefore when a promising crop was washed away by a flood the neighbors were much astonished to hear him say: "It's all for the best. I was blest with an overabundance last year."

In the winter his house was burned to the ground. To his neighbors' solicitations he calmly responded: "The house never suited us anyway, so it is all for the best."

Other calamities befell Brown, but still he refused to be disheartened. The climax came when he was in a railroad accident. Both feet were so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

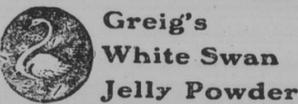

Sympathetic friends gathered from all quarters. They dreaded to hear the lamentations they were sure would greet them, for even Brown could hardly be expected to pass this lightly by.

"Guess you are pretty well discouraged aren't you, with both feet cut off?" ventured some one. "Do you think this is all for the best?"

But Brown nodded his head, smiling wanly, and said: "They were always cold anyway!"

FRANK RUETZ, Prop.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—The police yesterday made an arrest in a sensational manner, when they took into custody Louis Levi, a well-known metal dealer; W. Brooks, Joseph Goldberg, Albert Dunsmore and Harry Weinstein, charged with the theft of nearly a ton of copper wire from the Brantford & Hamilton Railway. For several months complaints have been made by the Toronto & Hamilton Railway, and others, about thefts of this kind. A squad of detectives waited all night five miles from the city for the men to call for wire, which had been hidden. The five arrived yesterday morning. The officers watched them chop the wire up, and tracked them through the marsh to Levi's place. P. C.'s Barrett and Brannon rushed in on the men and knocked them down with their clubs. Brooks escaped, but surrendered after several shots were fired. The five were handcuffed at the point of a revolver. Bail was fixed at $2,500 each.

Recently a young lady in Stirling boarded a tram car and began to distribute tracts to the passengers. One man who looked like an artisan handed his back with the remark: "Much obliged Miss, but I'm a married man, and my wife might object if she knew it." The title of the tract was "Abide with me." The lady blushed, and left the car hastily at the next stopping place.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the mortared limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible, but I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore such dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as holy as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

BEER MAKES BLOOD

MALT has certain food-elements which the body can transform into healthy blood quickly and with the least digestive effort.

HOPS contain a medicinal principle which tones the nerves without reaction, and so supplies nervous energy and saves it as well.

BEER as brewed in Ontario is made from choicest Ontario barley malt, selected hops, and the purest of water, dealt with under conditions which insure purity and quality.

THE BETTER the blood the sounder the health, and the surer the body to combat disease effectively. Beer, by some counted an intoxicant, is not so—it is a blood-maker with barely enough alcohol in it to help the stomach do its work far better.

Beer with meals is good for 997 people out of every thousand—and is specially good for women. Ask your own doctor about it—beer is probably good for you.

BEER is a term which covers lager, ale, pilsner, and stout; and in the practice of Ontario brewers, implies beverages made under most hygienic conditions from Ontario barley, the best in the world, malt, hops, and pure water.

...but a ... to the ... attendance ... meeting ... London County Council.

... Education Committee had proposed that the practice of awarding medals for regular and punctual attendance should be discontinued, but the Progressives were successful in moving that the proposal should be sent back, and further, that the committee should consider the possibility of extending the medal system.

During the debate it was pointed out that these medals are an exceedingly popular institution in London schools. Queen Victoria allowed her effigy to appear upon them, and quite recently King Edward gave a special sitting for a like purpose. Consequently the award of medals has the very highest approval.

The system was started in 1888, and in that year 4,000 medals were distributed. Last year no fewer than 57,442 scholars earned them. Therefore, the medal system must exercise a marked influence upon the attendance returns.

Mr. Hastings Jay mentioned a boy who was competing for his seventh medal, but lost it through falling in the playground and breaking his leg. The lad felt it so keenly that he actually wrote to the King that he had lost his medal. Mr. Jay, apprehensive lest other little boys might do the same thing, appealed to the Council to stop the system.

A Small Pill, but Powerful.—They that judge of the powers of a pill by its size, would consider Parnelle's Vegetable Pills to be lacking. It is a little wonder among pills. THE CUSTOMER FLED.

A gentleman in a restaurant the other day thought he would have a joke with the waiter, and asked him if he had ever seen a sausage roll.

"Yes," replied the waiter. "I have not only seen a sausage roll, but I have seen a biscuit box, a fable spoon, a bicycle pump, a penny stamp, a chimney sweep, a chain link, a nose gay, a camera slide, a garden fence, a sword fish, a spoke shaver, a wall flower."

But when he got to "a fire escape" the gentleman thought it was time he escaped, too.

As he was going the waiter went on with—"a tap turn, a cake walk, a mountain climb, a sky lark, a honey comb."

But by this time the customer was hurrying down the street in a dazed condition.

A Time for Everything.—The time for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is when eruptive symptoms appear in the children; when rheumatic pains beset the old; when lumbago, asthma, coughs, colds, catarrh or earache attack either young or old; when burns, scalds, abrasions, contusions or sprains come to any member of the family. In any of these ailments it will give relief and work a cure.

They are Carefully Prepared.—Pills which dissuade themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome costiveness the medicine administered must influence the action of these canals. Parnelle's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines is forwarded in action until they pass through the stomach to the bowels.

TAUGHT HIM A LESSON.

A young chemist's assistant, who had heard the story of the negro who was asked for flesh-colored court-plaster and was given black by the observant shopman, placed the incident away in his mental storehouse and decided to use it at the first opportunity.

After many months of waiting, his opportunity came when a young negro one day walked into the shop where he was employed.

"Ah, wants some coult-plastah," she said.

"What color?" inquired the youth.

"Flesh color," said.

He handed the woman a packet of black court-plaster.

She opened the packet with a deliberation that was ominous, but she was unflinching when she noted the color of the contents.

"Ah, guess yo' mus' a misunderstood mah ordah. Ah asked for flesh coulah an' you've given me skin coulah."

The young man is still a little dazed from the encounter, and he has firmly resolved to subject every joke to a rigid laboratory test hereafter before using.

TIME TABLE

Matrimonial Troubles

The matrimonial troubles of Mrs. Florence Clements, who summoned her husband at Stratford Police Court, London, England, for persistent cruelty, may best be judged from the following time table of the said husband's doings on Sept. 24, as related by the wife:—

1.30 a.m.—Caught her by the neck and flung her to the floor.

10 a.m.—Thumped her on the head with his fists and threatened her with a saucepan.

11 a.m.—Scratched her and said, "Now I'll do you in."

11.10-11.50—Short interval for sleep.

12 noon—Threw her down again and again; threatened her with a knife and again said, "I'll do you in."

Previous to this the woman had had the following articles thrown at her:—

Paal of water. Chepper. Stones. Jug ditto. Leaves of bread.

Continuing her story, Mrs. Clements said she had been assaulted fifty times in the last six months. She had gone away from her husband once, but he begged her to return. She did so, and within twenty-four hours he had felled her to the ground.

The husband then gave his version of the family disagreement. He said he and his wife got on very well until others came between them.

It was his wife's mother and a young woman who came there as a servant. There had been no cruelty whatever; it was all a pack of lies. He was quite willing to be bound over for her.

The bench adjourned the case for a week to hear other witnesses.

If your children moan and are restless during sleep, coupled, when awake, with a loss of appetite, pale countenance, picking of the nose, etc., you may depend upon it that the primary cause of the trouble is worms. Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is agreeable to the taste, and is a certain relief for irritation of the throat that causes hacking coughs. If used according to directions it will break the most persistent cold, and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek a sure remedy and are in doubt what to use, the advice is—try Bickle's Syrup.

A FEAT IN FASTING.

Victor Beaute Subsists on Plain Water and Cigarettes.

A recent issue of the Aberdeen Evening Gazette contains a reference to the feat of endurance the fasting man, M. Victor Beaute, was at that time attempting and apparently with some good prospect of success. The notice reads: Although he (M. Beaute) has now been enclosed in his glass prison at Hummer's Waxwork, George Street, for 34 days, M. Victor Beaute is still alive and hearty, although he has subsisted the whole of this time on either soda water or plain water to the extent of about one pint daily, and a couple of cigarettes per day. Throughout the ordeal M. Beaute has been always cheerful and ever ready to discuss any subject. Besides transacting his own correspondence and keeping himself well in touch with the various topics of the world. Naturally he has had curious experiences since he has been cooped up in Aberdeen. Audiences, which have averaged some 2,500 daily, have different needs, according to their varied temperaments. A fairly large proportion of the visitors to the museum have not hesitated to say that the whole thing is a "fake," and some of their arguments for this opinion are, to say the least, amusing. As a matter of fact the mere wasting of a strong, healthy man to the extent of over two stones in four weeks ought to convince the most sceptical among the audience that there is something in it. If this were not required, a glance at the photographs would tell the same tale. The most dangerous part of the whole performance takes place on Monday night at the Northern Hall, when M. Beaute will break his fast in the presence of any who care to attend. He has received over two cwt. of various styles of patent foods, and is rather amused at the rush of the merchants for the sake of advertisement. His first meal, however, will take the form of a cup of Bovril and a biscuit. Mr. James Mearns, our local swimming champion, acceded to M. Beaute's request to be present to administer the stimulant.

THE SACRIFICE;

—OR—
FOR HER FAMILY'S SAKE.

CHAPTER XVI.

It was true Lora's condition had suddenly improved. Whether it was her great strength of will which had banished the fever, or whether the illness was only the consequence of her terrible excitement, however it may have been, she awoke, after a short sleep, to full consciousness, and then fell asleep again. Frau von Tollen was able to return home the next day without anxiety, and Lora sat in her boudoir and gazed at the fire.

She was, indeed, strangely pale and still; she made no answer to the sympathetic inquiries of the anxious mother-in-law, who appeared in her room in a rustling black silk, corded with jet, and with a lace berbe on her dyed brown hair, after her maid had inquired if the young Frau Becher would receive a visit from her "mamma."

A low "Yes" and "No" were all the answers that Lora made.

But her talkative mother-in-law scarcely noticed it. She spoke with emotion of the excellent qualities of her Adalbert, and of the estimation he enjoyed in the great world. In New York, almost all the fashionable world of Fifth Avenue had sighed for the honor of being taken into her family; but he was such a good son, he loved his mother so deeply! "It shall be a German!" he said, like his mother; and as all his mother's hopes were fixed on ending her life in Germany, he had come here with her. And now he has found his happiness here too. "Ah, Germany! One never knows what it is to have a country until one is in a foreign land. You may believe me, child, Adalbert never could have fallen in love with an American."

During this flood of words, Lora had taken a crochet-needle out of a little work-bag, and began to work.

"For Heaven's sake, you must not do that! It will make you so nervous!" screamed Frau Elfrieda, snatching the work from the hands of the astonished Lora. "What do you want to do it for? Let other people crochet; Adalbert would be furious if I should allow it!"

She laid the work on a little table, near a charming copy of the "Nile" of the Vatican, which stood on a pedestal covered with blue velvet.

"That Berlin decorator really had very queer ideas," she began again, in her shrill voice; "how could he put a group like that in a lady's boudoir? That is an ogre, isn't it, Lora? Those poor little babies that are scrambling over him so unsuspectingly—really it makes your heart beat—and the monster looks so harmless, too. Oh, oh! It is tasteless, my darling, to perpetuate such a thing in marble."

The young wife's eyes opened for a moment in amazement, and the corners of her mouth twitched a little; then she dropped her head. This was the woman with whom she was to spend her life!

"I think we had better dine together till Adalbert comes back, dear child," continued Frau Becher, looking through her lorgnette at an oil painting over the lounge. "You need not trouble yourself to keep a separate table; and Sundays your relations can dine with me—your mother and your aunt and the little one. They are not likely to have every day such—"

She cleared her throat and looked at Lora's old writing-table which was placed in the deep bay-window, and on which all the little ornaments were placed which she had brought with her from her little Mansard room.

"Dear me! how dull, how naive all these little things are!" she cried. "When I was first married I had plenty of such little souvenirs of my girlhood; but one so soon gets over sentiment of that kind in America. Really they are charming little knick-knacks; and what a funny little blotter! Didn't Adalbert give you one of Russia leather, darling? No? Then I will."

Lora sat perfectly still. She wished for nothing but quiet, but that she did not get for a long time. Aunt Mollita also appeared on the scene. And when Lora expressed a wish to breathe the fresh air, the carriage came round and Frau Becher sank down on the satin cushions beside her daughter-in-law, and spread the fur-lined robe over them both.

And Lora would so gladly have walked and walked through the loneliest ways in her old, coarse leather boots, that she knew were in the closet of her home, only to fire herself out, to be alone only once to meet him and to be able to entreat him not to despise her, but to have compassion on her as a victim!

This was the one thing the young wife now had to long for.

When she had wandered about her mother's garden in the snow, the weary, but still had found no relief save in the desperate resolve to die; and then she had thought she must first claim his forgiveness. There was time enough if she should die the day before her husband's return, that would be soon enough. First, she must speak to him; that gave her strength, made her observant, and steeled her energies. She gradually became aware that she was watched, that every act of hers was closely observed.

It was very remarkable that she could not stir a step out of the house without her mother-in-law happening to be going the same way. The ubiquitous lady accompanied her when she went to see her mother; she even went to walk in the park, on clear winter days, when Lora declined driving, and puffed snidingly along, beside the slender black figure, with a locomotive-like majesty, in her costly fur-trimmed cloak and her diamond ear-rings, which flashed in the sunlight.

At first, Lora had thought it mere chance, but at length her eyes were opened; her husband had charged his mother to watch her.

She made one or two attempts to leave the house quietly in the twilight.

In vain. Once the maid met her on the stairs and raised a great outcry at the madam's going out in the dark alone; the second time she found the park gate locked; and as she was going to call the gardener, whose house stood near the gate, Frau Elfrieda, having hastily thrown on her hood and fur cloak, came trundling along the garden-paths, greatly surprised to meet her daughter here.

She wanted to go to visit her mamma, no doubt; and Frau Becher didn't she tell her there was the horse and carriage. "Ah, and the gate is locked? To be sure—oh, yes, my love—I gave orders for it, you know. I gets dark so early now, and with no man in the house—I am—so timid."

Lora turned without speaking, and walked back to the house.

"Won't you go with me, then?" screamed her mother-in-law after her. "No," she replied coldly; "I wish to speak to mamma alone."

She did not hear that Frau Becher called after her. She sat upstairs in her little room, with clenched hands and angry tears in her eyes. She was literally a prisoner. A feeling of helplessness raged overpowered her; she had never felt like that before, and she was frightened at herself. And then came Frau Elfrieda, with her sugary smiles and her shrill voice.

"I have sent the carriage for your mother; my poor little mouse shall have her own way. It is quite natural that you should have a great deal to talk over with your mamma. Would you like to have your dinner up here alone? Heaven forbid that I should disturb you! You cannot think that of me. Make yourself perfectly comfortable. I am just finishing to-day with an interesting romance, do you know, where I account poisons his wife with powder and riz. Just fancy, what an idea! To think that such things can happen! But my darling, I will say good-night! Adieu, wiedersehen!"

And she kissed the young wife, without seeming to perceive that she had rather rudely turned her face away and left the room.

A quarter of an hour afterward Frau von Tollen arrived; she looked pale and agitated. When she saw Lora on the lounge, with flushed cheeks and bright eyes, she said, "Oh—heavens! thought so; you are ill, Lora."

"No, I am quite well, mamma."

"Indeed! Then you might have come to me, Lora. I have got a headache this evening, and I am sure it is your wonder."

Lora was silent and looked at her mother, who lay back languidly in her chair, with dark rings under her eyes brought there by care and grief.

"I have been looking for a house whole afternoon," continued Frau von Tollen, declining the bottle of eau de Cologne which Lora silently offered, "and have found nothing. The cheap ones are too poor; we could not live in them; and the better apartments have risen in price so in consequence of rumor that a regiment is to be quartered here, that I might as well stay where I am, if the landlord had not raised our rent, too. And I had just got home, had taken off my boots and sat down before the stove, and was thinking you would be sure to come to me, when the carriage drove up."

"Stay with me this evening, won't you, mamma?" said Lora.

"I cannot, Lora; Katie does not know where I am, and will find no tea where she comes back."

"I will send for her. Where is she?"

"Where she always is now, at Frau Schonberg's."

Lora, who had her hand on the bell, turned and looked at her mother. "The Schonbergs?" came hesitatingly from her lips.

"Yes."

"And she goes there so often?"

She told the maid who entered to send a servant across the street, to ask Frau von Tollen to come to tea.

How did it happen that Katie went to the Schonbergs every day? Lora walked up and down the room, pondering over the answer to this question while her mother's eyes wandered over the luxurious room. If Lora would only reconcile herself to her fate, she fraud to himself, and was dressed he struck the best burglar and knocked him round. The leader of the robbers, who had killed him and they required the money. Mr. Brault put a heavy blow on the man's head, sent him reeling to the floor. He carried him down stairs and left him three minutes to open the door. Mr. Brault fumbled at the combination. Then, making the excuse that the loss of blood prevented him, he was knocked down, carried up stairs again. One man left to guard him, while the other saw him open the safe with nitroglycerine and decamped with $2,400 in gold and over $800 in gold. Napierville, midway between Montreal and the United States border, and it is thought the robbers got across the border.

JURY ACQUITS TRAINMEN.

Conductor and Engineer of the Caledon Wreck Go Free.

A despatch from Brampton says: After listening for four days to a mass of technical and other evidence, the jury who have been trying the engineer, George Hodge, and Conductor Matthew Grimes on a charge of negligence in connection with the terrible railway disaster which occurred at the Horsehoe Curve, near Caledon, on September 3rd, returned into court at 8.45 on Saturday night with a verdict of "not guilty" against both defendants. The announcement of their verdict was the occasion for one of the most remarkable outbursts of popular enthusiasm ever witnessed in the old Court House here. Although both of the defendants are strangers in Brampton, there has been marked sympathy shown by people of the town and district on their behalf. They are young men; and both seemed to feel the seriousness of their position. Hodge, especially, was looking pale and worn from the first, and his pallor increased as the trial progressed.

GOOD CROPS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Secretary For Agriculture Issues Annual Review of Season.

A despatch from Halifax says: The Secretary for Agriculture has issued the annual crop review for Nova Scotia. His report shows that despite unfavorable weather, the large crop has been housed in a fairly satisfactory condition. He estimates the yield of potatoes in the province at 6,000,000 bushels, the hay crop at estimates at 70,000,000 tons. The value of the products mentioned is $16,857,000. Taking an average crop as 100, Principal Cunningham estimates the crop yield of Nova Scotia as follows: Hay, 90 per cent.; oats, 100; wheat, 95; barley, 95; potatoes, 110; corn for ensilage, 90; manures, 95; buckwheat, 99.

FRENCH CANADIAN BIRTH RATE.

More Than Double That of Other Races in Montreal.

A despatch from Montreal says: The annual report of Dr. L. Laberge, Medical Health Officer for the city, was issued the other day. He states that in the year 1906 the death rate of the city was 4.2 per 1,000 of population, being 1.32 less than that of the previous year. The birth rate of the last year is returned at 37.35 per 1,000 of population, or 1.54 per 1,000 more than in 1905. The birth among French-Canadians was 47.66 per 1,000, or 10.31 more than the other races.
