A Song of Summer.

Soft, it the wind over Grand Bay, stirring the heads of the grass.

Of measuring time forever, murmuring songs of the sea.

The great blue sky all day, over the dunes and the dunes.

Wander the great cloud shadows, swaying as the passing air.

Softly, transparent, slow.

For spending her old enjoyment, of tender, birdlike wonder.

Smiling faces in the Northlight, flow about it all heart and hand.

—Miss CAROLYN B. BENTON

Business and Drink.

Trade papers are commencing on the remarkable change in business circles with regard to drinking.

Heavy drinking is neither encouraged nor tolerated as in the past.

The number of men in business is declining. Up to date business men do not consider it good form to flip up at the bar.

To be a good fellow it is not necessary to "sit 'em up."

On the contrary, the business man who drinks to a business "dissipation," for a credit to the business, is a man who requires that all his faculties be at their best.

And the drinking man dangles his mind and in the end loses out. Concerning the passing of the travelling salesman with the whiskey breath and the habit of wanting to treat everybody he meets, the "Mail Order Journal" has this to say:

"Gone forever is the swaggering, jocular, sauntering man with the whiskey breath and the cigarette stained fingers. His place has been taken by the clean cut, business like gentleman who makes his sales not by treating, joking and story-telling, but by salesmanship or brain intelligently applied. The change is of course, a credit to the craft, due to the inroads of advanced education."

It was not many years ago that a salesman was a "successful" man that a good story teller, a moderate drinker and a good liar.

Living Long and Remaining Young.

He has excellent advice to give to "this generation." Temperance in all things, including money-making, doubtless; conservation of energy, exercise and plenty of fresh air, an easy mind and a few friends—this is Mr. Rockefeller's formula for youth, health and happiness.

A good formula it is, although lovers of paradox have sought to discredit it. But a still simpler formula has just been given by Sir William Crookes, the great English chemist, who is 81, and therefore seven years younger than Mr. Rockefeller. Sir William is as alert as a boy in his laboratory and his face is without a wrinkle. Asked to explain the secret of his vitality and youth, Sir William did so in two words, hard work. By which, however, he meant interesting and absorbing work. Freedom from worry, mental activity, the pleasure of science or creative art or social reform he regards as essential. Monotony and anxiety are destructive of health and therefore of life.

We cannot all be chemists, artists or social workers, but we can all cultivate philosophy, make life interesting, exercise our mental and manual faculties, and practice moderation in all things. This may not insure a long life, but it will ensure youth to the end.

New Zealand's Ship.

The Dreadnought, New Zealand, will be in Halifax harbor for two or three days, at the end of November of this year.

She is the gift of the New Zealanders to the Mother Country, and the first addition to the Imperial Navy from their children overseas. She is destined for service in the North Sea, and is at present on the Pacific coast.

She was sent out from Devonport, one of England's most important naval stations, on a 40,000 mile trip to various points around the world.

The chief object of the cruise of this great battleship, was to let the people of New Zealand inspect their handsome gift to the Empire. The Admiralty thus arranged that other ports should have the privilege of a "visit of her."

The visit of this dreadnought, to Halifax will be a notable event. She will sail from there across the Atlantic to England, where she will at once go into active service.

Her crew numbers 900, and she has a band of 25 members. She is commanded by Capt. Lionel Halsey, who is well remembered in connection with the South African war. He is one of the youngest officers of his rank.

When Poverty mars Home Happiness.

If one could know the history of the average marriage, I'm sure one would find that money matters of one sort or another are at the root of many of the unhappinesses that enter married life, writes Mrs. Wilets, in the Woman's Magazine.

Much has been said and written about this lately, and the sad story is to lay the blame either on the husband for not giving his wife a "decent allowance" or on the wife for her lack of business sense.

No doubt these are common contributing causes. But I do not think that these accusations get at the root of the matter. To my notion the cause is just this:

Money matters are the most difficult in the world to handle fairly.

There is something inside of us all— I don't know whether it's pride or greed or stupidity or selfishness—but it is something that never allows us to see things as they are.

Then it sits up and makes us over-sensitive, overcritical and overreaching.

No matter how much a man loves a woman, no matter how hard she works, he cannot be her supporter without feeling the superiority that her dependence on him for the necessities of life gives.

And this is not because of a difference in sex. The feeling would be there were a man supporting another man, or a woman another woman. So many wives troubles that we lay to the account of sex are really only our human selfishness.

And no matter how a woman toils, no matter if she actually contributes more than her share of work to the marriage partnership, the fact that there is no just measurement of her labor, no money measurement, must always vaguely rankle, must make her always weigh and compare, work given for value received not only on her part, but on the part of her husband.

And I believe that the best way for a man and woman to handle money trouble is to recognize first of all that every human being is "money" where money is concerned.

Then having recognized this fact, to treat and put it in the sunshine of family publicity, laugh at it, own it, make it into a family joke, one of life's blessed, queer crookednesses, and presto! husband and wife have become philosophical about one of the meanest trouble makers between them!

I am sorry for anyone who is afraid of marriage. For it is in marriage and marriage alone that one sounds the height and depths of human living.

There is no sadness like the anger raised by the one you marry. There is no joy like the happiness of home-building. There is no tenacy equal to the grief of part from your mate.

There is no content like the peace that comes from first married adjustment.

Marriage spells only greatest opportunity for dignity, fullest living, and happiness is only a by-product of its fundamental usefulness.

Good Blood the Secret of Health.

TO BE HEALTHY YOU MUST HAVE THIS BLOOD RICH, RED AND PURE.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful in any disease caused by thin or impure blood, and the list of such diseases is astonishingly large. Anemia literally means a condition in which the blood is thin and watery.

In rheumatism the blood becomes thin and watery, and in many other diseases. After an attack of a gripe or acute fever the blood is always thin and impure, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the tonic to use during convalescence. When the blood is poor and thin the stomach suffers. The food remains, gas and certain acids form and the trouble is pronounced indigestion or dyspepsia. The nerves receive from the blood all of their nourishment to keep up their energy or repair waste or damage. Some forms of paralysis are caused by thin blood. The progress of locomotor ataxia is stopped in many cases when the blood is made pure, rich and red. This is only a partial list of the troubles having their origin in impure, watery blood, and all can be cured by applying the blood with its missing constituents.

This is exactly what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. Their chief mission is to make rich, red blood, and this good blood reaches every organ and every nerve in the human body, thus driving out disease and bringing renewed health and strength to thousands of weak, despondent people.

Ask your neighbors. There is not a habitué doctor in Canada whose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have not restored some sufferer, and all over this country there are grateful people who do not hesitate to say they owe health—and some cases life itself—to this great medicine. If you are ailing begin to cure yourself today by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail—25 cents a box or six boxes for $1.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Novelties for the Forthcoming Fair.

WORKS BY DAY AS WELL AS BY NIGHT FOR THE VISITORS TO THE PROVINCIAL FAIR AT HALLIAN HORSE RACES, WOMEN'S WORK DEPARTMENT.

Manager Hall has decided to make a change in the fireworks display in the forthcoming exhibition at Hallian, which will be presented on special features and novelties in the form of a fireworks department, but there will be fireworks by day. This seeming paradox will be a reality and during the afternoon show on the Grand Stand pyrotechnical balloons will ascend and explode with loud reverberations and display of brilliant colors.

The biggest field of horses ever seen on the track is expected at the fair which opens on Sept. 3rd and continues until the 11th. The second payment on the stakes has been made and the horses heard from number for the six races of this class.

The final payment will be due on the 15th of August and on that date will also close the entries in the straight classes.

Rule 9 as published in the domestic department of the prize list will not be enforced this year as many of the exhibitors may have had their work ready for exhibition before seeing prize list. The reason for making this rule is that after work has been washed it is very difficult to tell whether it is of recent date as it may be one year or ten years' old. It is also to teach intending exhibitors to keep their articles clean while working. In all probability, however, this rule will be enforced in 1914.

Do not forget that judging will begin in the Domestic Department on Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. An exception will be made in House Keeping, Class 125. Exhibits will be received in this class up to 9 a.m. on Wednesday morning. Judging will begin at 10 o'clock.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colds, diarrhoea or other forms of stomach trouble, he is sure to feel a great deal better when he has taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in the case of a severe attack where life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

The Discordant Note.

Every kind and condition of string may find its place in the orchestra if only it is kept in tune. Some are coarse of fibre, and lose in tension, giving low tones; others are finer and are keyed up tight, sometimes almost to breaking; but across both the bow may be drawn by the musician who knows how to bring out their best tones. He knows how much stretching each string needs to keep it true to the key, and to blend its tone with all the others.

Some one has remarked on the fact that a low note in tune with others is not noticed, while a tone in discord with others, though insignificant in itself, will command more attention than many in harmony. It is a painful fact that there are persons who would rather make a discord and be noticed than harmonize and be obscure.

Knowing that their powers rightly used may never bring them into conspicuous notice, they deliberately produce discords to draw attention to themselves. They would rather be notorious in meanness, or quarrels, or crime, than unnoticed in virtue—daring and constitutional in hostile criticism of folly, than earnestly and obediently to praise where praise is due, if it is to be for the faith of our fathers.

Many a man or woman is like the string to the harp that refuses to stay in tune. The celebrated harpist sat down last at an expectant audience and began to play. Just as the harpers were becoming entranced with the exquisite music, one of the strings gave back a harsh discord. The musician stopped in dismay and tightened the string in bringing it back in tune.

Hardly had the unpunctual effect passed and the hearers were coming again under the sweet spell of the melody, when suddenly the string rebelled and answered the touch of the harpist with another discord. Of what avail was the perfect harmony of all the other strings? One discordant note ruined the whole.

Only a single string, yet chosen by the great Musician for a part in His perfect symphony of life. Only a single string, yet related to all the rest so closely in the harmony that they were depending upon the single string and cannot go on without it.

Only a single string, yet the Master's fingers will gently touch it, and expect it to respond in answer to His will. Shall the response be harsh with discord, or shall it be pure, and true, and tuneful as He expects it to be?

A Touching Scene.

Montreal—Sobbing mothers and sisters, moist-eyed fathers and brothers, gazed through their tear-dimmed eyes for the last time up into the smiling faces of the three black-robed young Sisters, who stood waving a last farewell from the observation platform of the Imperial Limited as it thrashed out of Windsor station a few days ago.

Fate in its deepest, most tragic sense is the one word that describes that touching scene in the railway station for those three smiling, black-robed young Sisters, who were waving their last farewell to their weeping relatives, are the three Nuns who eagerly volunteered to bury their young lives forever in the leper colony on Shek-lung Island in China, from which there is no return.

"My daughter, my God, my daughter!"

With a wail of despair, an aged mother, who had borne the strain of parting to the very last moment was led away, almost in a collapse. Happily in the excitement, the black-robed daughter did not notice her mother's condition and bent over to kiss the cheek of the Superior of her convent, from whom she was parting forever.

Then at the last moment a shrill voice shrieked in the sober crowd around the train, and strong arms lifted up the tiny form of the five-year-old sister of Miss Clara Hebert, who will work among the lepers under the name of Sister St. Francis. The young Nun clasped the little girl in her arms for one last moment, pressed a last kiss against her cheek and let her down again in the crowd, while the little girl sobbed bitterly, though she did not realize the poignant tragedy of the moment.

All aboard! shouted the conductor, but, although the train started to move, another woman in the crowd rushed for the car steps, ascended them and kissed the three Sisters for the last time.

As long as the black-robed Nuns could be seen standing on the rear platform of the train rapidly gathered speed, the crowd stood in the station gazing at the three who thought so little of leaving everything behind them forever. There were few dry eyes in that crowd. The sobs of heart-broken mothers and sisters pierced the air and many a stern business man attracted by the scene, to whom this was not a personal question, felt the tears gather in his eyes when he realized what it meant to see these three Sisters, far out from the station now, but still waving to the crowd on the platform.

For the three heroic young women—Sister St. Francis (Miss Clara Hebert), Sister St. Raphael (Miss Melvina Biran), and Sister Mary Bernadette (Miss Alma Leeger)—it was not a tragic moment. No tears dimmed their eyes as they said farewell; they smiled cheerfully while consoling anyone who could tell from their bright faces, they might have been just starting out on a pleasure trip instead of going for the last time up their own cross.

Before the train left, a touching scene was witnessed when the three brothers of Sister St. Raphael (Miss Melvina Biran), ascended the car steps and kissed their sisters on the cheek in turn. They were strong men, but they were also brothers, and it was no disgrace because their eyes were wet with tears.

There were two mothers in the crowd which watched the train disappear, and for mother love to stand the trial of this departure was the hardest task of all; both of them bore up till the last moment, and then broke down, and who could wonder? "When will they return?" asked a bystander, looking up at the three Nuns on the platform.

"They will never return," replied a priest nearby. "They are going to live in a leper colony for the rest of their lives."

"For their lives," re echoed the astonished bystander. "I did not know there was that much courage and heroism left in this age!"

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., AUG. 1, 1913.

Editorial Notes.

Last year a campaign was waged against the 'burdock' nuisance with good results. This year, however, the weed is again very much in evidence, and demands immediate attention. Swat it!

The street authorities are procuring a number of car-loads of broken stone from Torbrook for use on the Main street construction, being unable to get a sufficient quantity hauled in. The cost is about the same as for that broken here.

Arrangements are being made for extensive repairs to the government wharf at Kingsport which has been in a neglected condition for some years past. Our energetic young representative at Ottawa, Mr. A. deW Foster, is doing good work for Kings county which is fully appreciated by his admiring supporters. THE ACADIAN is glad to see the needs of our county recognized at last by the federal authorities.

For the past few weeks a detachment of the Salvation Army has been holding meetings in Wolfville, at the Tabernacle and on the street. Up to the present our town has not been successfully invaded by the Army although several attempts have been made to effect an entrance. The Salvation Army has done a good work and we gladly give it welcome to Wolfville. Any agency that is calculated to make our people better and happier will always have the support of THE ACADIAN.

There is nothing that calls attention and draws people to a town equal to a good newspaper. In order for a man to make a good newspaper he must have the patronage of the people among whom he lives. If he has halfhearted support it tends to reason that he must make a poor paper and in doing this every man in the town and surrounding country has to bear a portion of the loss. For this reason, if for no other, the man who tries to make a good newspaper should have the support of his town people, all of whom reap fully as much benefit from his effort as he does himself.

It is very little wonder that complaint is made of reckless driving on the part of owners of automobiles in, as a contemporary claims, a Kentville car recently made the trip between Kingsport and that town, a distance of about fourteen miles, in twenty-three minutes. While this is not a very wonderful performance on an ordinary good road with a modern car, the law of the province does not warrant such a speed. In this particular case we are somewhat surprised that the owner of the car, who for the time occupies a position of public trust, should allow himself to be so represented as a law-breaker.

At the recent session of the Legislature of Nova Scotia an act was passed to enable the inhabitants of Brunswick to arrange for domestic, electric lighting and water for sewerage, fire and other purposes. On Saturday last Thomas H. Morse, Warden of the county, held a poll at his building at which all persons were asked to record their votes for or against bringing into force of the said Act. At five o'clock in the evening the vote was recorded as follows: For, 66; against 33. It is expected that a public meeting will be held in the near future to discuss the question of bringing water into the place and lighting the town with electricity. THE ACADIAN is glad to record this evidence of progress on the part of our sister town.

The Canadian Magazine for August is particularly strong in short stories by Canadian writers. 'The Edict Upon the Wall,' by Ed. Cahn, possesses fine snarl and a good plot. 'The Homecoming of Jim Sanders,' by Lloyd Roberts, introduces an exciting love-bribe contest as an incident to a love affair. 'Regan's Del,' by Rene Norcross, displays the heroism of a half-breed girl in British Columbia. 'Her point of View,' by George W. Hall, is a good western story of rivalry and love, while 'The Rabbit,' by D. Douglas Eppes, is an extremely strong and absorbing tale of sacrifice and stern sense of duty. There is a fine sketch of 'Changing Halifax,' by Archibald MacMechan, with pictures by Gyth Russell; poems by Isabel Ecclestone MacKay, Erya Brace, MacKinnon and Violet Crear, with reproductions of paintings by the Canadian painter John Russell, I. W. Buxley and Gertrude DeClay.

Baptist Ministerial Changes.

Owing to illness Rev. J. W. Webb has been compelled to resign his charge at Hammond's Plains after five years' service. He will rest for a while at Springfield, Annapolis. Rev. J. W. Manning, D. D., of Wolfville is supplying at Cassin, while the pastor, Rev. C. R. Peterson, is on a vacation. Rev. A. H. Chubb, son of Prof. Chubb, Wolfville, supplies West End Baptist church, Halifax, during Rev. A. T. Dykeman's summer holidays. Prof. H. M. Kesteven, of MacMaster university, Toronto, is spending some weeks in the province. Rev. E. B. Cassin, who recently graduated at Newton, has been posted to New River. Rev. I. D. Gault, of Gloucestershire, accepts a call to New River.

First Wolfville Conference

OF THE MISSIONARY EDUCATIONAL MOVEMENT.

The first Annual Conference of the Wolfville Summer School for the study of the Bible and Missions, under the direction of the International and Interdenominational Missionary Educational Movement, was held July 22nd to 29th, inclusive. It was one in a chain of Conferences across Canada, the others being held in Edmonton, Saskatoon, Brandon, Whitby, Ont., and Knowlton, Que. The year 1912 marked the close of the first decade in the history of the Movement.

Organized in 1902 by representatives of the Home and Foreign Boards of the United States and Canada, this Movement is a federation of Christian forces in the work of missionary education. It is an agency through which the denominational boards unite in providing the required literature and in conducting missionary conferences, institutes and similar gatherings, the primary purpose of which is to stimulate interest and train leaders for service in the various churches.

According to the constitution of the Movement the majority of the members of its Board of Management must be Mission Board Secretaries, thus placing the controlling power in the hands of the Denominational Boards. The work in Canada is directed by a Council and its Advisory Committee. The Wolfville Conference, like the others in the 'chain,' was held under the immediate auspices of our Canadian Council. While the Conference was interdenominational in character its aim was to stimulate denominational activities, and to inspire the local churches with a new vision of faith and service.

The delightful combination of the romantic, intellectual and scenic, places Wolfville in the forefront as a 'home' for Christian workers. The splendid equipment of Acadia University and Seminary, a panorama of surpassing grandeur and a storied countryside combine in appealing to those in quest of that popular form of summer vacation known as 'mental mobility.' While we cannot boast that our rivers flow from Alpine glaciers, nor have we a background of snowy peaks, yet from the standpoints of culture, refinement, natural beauty, and spiritual stimulus, in our town and the charming country contiguous to it, we have an environment in which those desiring physical rest, mental recreation, and moral uplift may roam and revel to their heart's content.

Here, on this historic hillside, and where 'Blomidon, a senny grin, his endless watch doth keep,' our recent visitors, for eight days, learned aright the secret of success in Christian service. The morning hours each day were devoted to Bible exposition, mission study classes, open parliament, and platform meetings; the afternoons to rest and recreation; the evenings to life service talks, and platform meetings. Prof. Falconer, of Pine Hill College, Halifax, conducted the expository studies. Mission study classes were led by Revs. Corey (India), Hennigar (Japan), Cropper (South America), and Beaton (Immigration problem). Mr. Harry W. Hicks, of New York, General Secretary of the Movement, directed the work of the Conference. Morning and evening platform meetings were addressed, among others, by President Cutten, Revs. J. E. Hughson, of Winnipeg, E. C. Hennigar, of British Columbia, P. P. Dennison, of Moncton, K. J. Beaton, of Toronto, and Mr. Hicks. On Friday evening moving pictures, descriptive of 'Missionary and Native Life in China and Japan,' instructed the mind, and inspired the heart through 'eye gate.' Next to seeing with one's own eyes, and hearing with one's own ears the motion picture is the most effective means of removing the prevailing prejudice toward Foreign Missions. During the Conference what are known as Denominational Rallies were held, where initial steps were taken with a view to the holding of Missionary Institutes at different centres throughout the Maritime Provinces during next fall and winter. Next to the work of the Summer Conference, that of the Institute is the most important. This agency is designed to reach the largest number possible of local church leaders who cannot attend the eight day Conference.

The note of consecration and positive Christian service characterized the recent gathering. The vision of enlarged service came to not a few of the fifty odd registered delegates. Mr. Hicks, in one of his characteristic thought-provoking, heart-searching, service compelling addresses, reminded his hearers that the present was the decisive hour.

When it was learned that Acadia's invitation to make Wolfville the permanent home of the Maritime Conference had been accepted the interested friends felt that Drs. Cutten and DeWolfe and their associates were deserving of high praise, not only for a generous hospitality this year, but also in anticipation of future pleasures and privileges from year to year. Doubtless, when the Conference of 1914 convenes in beautiful Wolfville it will be found that the number of registered delegates, among whom will probably be a number of representatives from our local churches, is considerably in excess of this year's membership.

The Christian public should be acquainted with the fact that this Movement, though vitally related to the Denominational Boards, solicits nothing from them, but constitutes an appeal to individual friends, assuming that the response will be both generous and adequate. G. Buxley.

Pulpits.

The Missionary Education Conference which was held in the College premises from the 22nd to the 29th inst., was of marked interest and most prove of great value to the churches and communities represented. It is much to be regretted that the attendance was so small. Next year's conference ought to have four or five times as many present.

Last Sunday the pulpits of the town were opened to the officers and members of the conference, and the congregations all heard excellent discourses.

In the Baptist church the speaker in the morning was Mr. H. W. Hicks, of New York, the general secretary of the movement. His topic was the object of missionary education. This he declared to be the creation of a generation of Christians characterized as follows: 1. Intelligent, 2. Reevolving, 3. Beneficent, 4. Peace Loving, 5. Praying, 6. Believing, 7. Sacrificing, 8. Triumphant. Mr. Hicks presents his thought with force, directness and choice diction. He is in a unusual power and winsome spirit.

In the evening the Rev. H. Y. Corey, of the Telegu field, spoke and gave an excellent address graphically portraying the modern India as she stretches herself under the influence of the contagious world spirit of progress. He showed how this progress aided the spread of the gospel and emphasized the great need India has for the gospel. He was heard with much interest.

The Methodist church was favored with the services of two prominent members of the 'Missionary Congress.' Rev. K. J. Beaton, B.A., secretary of the Missionary Educational Movement in Canada, who has just been appointed to China by the Methodist church, spoke in the morning upon 'The Challenge of China.' The address abounded with most interesting information in reference to the history, customs, character and religion of the Chinese, past and present. With inborn eloquence and sanctified enthusiasm the youthful speaker captivated and thrilled his hearers as he presented the challenge of the cross.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Tedford who has been laboring in India in connection with the Baptist Missionary Society, gave an address based upon Mark 16:15. The congregation listened with earnest attention to a most interesting and informative discourse upon the work of that far off land as he went in and out amongst them telling the old, old story of the Redeeming love.

The services in the Presbyterian church were especially interesting to the congregations assembled. Rev. J. B. Cropper, of Better Hope Maus, Demerara, occupied the pulpit in the morning and gave a brief account of his sixteen years' work for the one hundred and twenty five thousand East Indians in the colony of British Guiana. These East Indians are to be the evangelists of equatorial South America but they must first themselves be evangelized. Mr. Cropper has settled in this task, and he made his congregation feel that the work was well worth while. He is anxious just now to establish a Boys' School in Berbice. The church will doubtless do this thing, for a Boys' School is never a mistake.

The evening service was conducted by Prof. James Falconer, of Pine Hill College, who was one of the most energetic workers at the late convention. He chose as his text, 'Many are called, but few are chosen,' or as he rendered it, 'Many are called but few are chosen.' His sermon was a plea for excellence, for the choice character and the choice service.

Big Sunday School Convention.

THE ACADIAN is indebted to Rev. J. W. Brown, of this town, who with Mrs. Brown has been attending the World's Sunday School Convention at Zurich, Switzerland, for a comprehensive report of the proceedings of that body, which closed its session on July 15th. The convention is described as one of the most remarkable religious gatherings in the history of the world. Twenty-six registered delegates, representing seventy churches, with thousands of unregistered visitors, made earth's ends meet in this World's Seventh Sunday School Convention, and contributed to its success. North America sent 1,344 accredited representatives; Great Britain registered 288; Asia, 83; Africa, 56; Australia, 30; and South America 24. The allotment for Continental Europe was 500 delegates, but the enrollment was 728. Every state except Utah and New Mexico and every province except Manitoba was represented at the Convention.

The Convention was a remarkable one in many respects, not only in its unparalleled attendance, but in its personnel; in the tremendous importance of the messages which were delivered; in the high intellectual and spiritual quality of the presentations; in the enthusiastic interest manifested in each of the forty five sessions of the eight days; in the participation of splendidly equipped men and women Sunday School specialists, missionaries, pastors, publicists and other leaders from many lands, who contributed to a program of rare quality, inspiration and helpfulness.

The Boy Scouts.

The annual camp will be held at Black River Lake, starting on Monday, August 11th, and continuing for two weeks. All Scouts who intend to go are requested to meet at the new club rooms this evening (Friday), at 7 o'clock, to give in their names. Wednesday, Aug. 20th, will be Visitors' Day at the camp and it is hoped that a number of people will come out from home to visit the boys. A good program of water sports will be provided, including a 'wahoo hunt.' Visitors are asked to bring plenty of grub.

On Wednesday afternoon the Scout baseball team drove to Windsor and after a close game was defeated by a score of 6-5. The teams expect to meet on the campus on Wednesday next, if it can be arranged and an exciting game is assured.

To Whom It May Concern: Middleton, July 19th, 1913. As the pecking season is drawing near, I would like to call the attention of growers and packers to the fact that the Inspection and Sale Act calls for a barrel holding not less than 'ninety-six quarts, with dimensions as follows: 15 1/4 inches between the ends, 18 1/2 inches in the bulge, and 17 inches in the head inside measurement, and any violation of the Act in this regard will be followed by prosecution. In view of the fact that the Department of Agriculture has given ample notice both last season and the year before, with reference to small barrels, we think a word as a reminder will be all that will be necessary. A Message to the Citizens of Wolfville and Surrounding Towns.

The Committee of the second Maritime conference of the Missionary Education Movement of the United States and Canada, held in Wolfville July 22nd to 29th, desire to express on behalf of the Missionary Education Movement, the Mission Boards of Canada and the fifty delegates and guests of the conference their sincere appreciation of the interest in the conference of all citizens in Wolfville who have attended any of its sessions. The Committee particularly desire to thank Dr. Cullen, President of Acadia University, Dr. DeWolfe, Principal of the Seminary, and the trustees and friends of both these institutions, through whose hospitality and co-operation the conference has been generously entertained and successfully launched for the future. The ministers and churches of the town also have manifested on every side a desire to foster the spirit and purposes of the summer school in a most gratifying way.

The Canadian Council of the Mission Boards of the Missionary Education Movement, composed of the secretaries and a group of Christian laymen from the different communities, decided to hold their summer school of missions annually at Wolfville hereafter. The dates of the next year's conference will be determined and announced early in the fall of this year, but it may be assumed that it will occur between July 20th and August 10th. The co-operation of the officials of the University is assured. Already many plans are under discussion for the organization, conduct and program of the conference in 1914. A notable group of teachers, leaders, missionaries, speakers and workers will be present.

In Canada and the United States there are at present about sixty summer schools of missions modelled generally after the plan of the Wolfville Conference. The distinguishing features of these conferences, as contrasted with general religious assemblies, chautauques and camp meetings are the emphasis laid on religious education, organized study in classes under experienced leaders, thorough discussion of methods and forms of missionary organization, education and giving to the local church, the study of missionary instruction for the different ages, from childhood to adult life, the recruiting of the ministry and missions with volunteers for Christian service as a life-work, addresses on the outstanding fields, problems and achievements, and the general elevation of the standards of missionary efficiency in the local church.

Those whose attendance at future conferences is most desired are ministers, Sunday school superintendents, officers and teachers; officers and leaders of women's missionary societies, young people's and men's organizations, theological and other students in training for Christian work, teachers of colleges and other schools, laymen who desire to equip themselves for voluntary leadership, and picked young men and women who, with special training may become active leaders in the missionary activities of local churches.

In order to meet the expenses of the conference a registration fee is paid by each delegate of $1.00. Regular attendance at all sessions and residence in the seminary and college buildings are considered essential in order to get the most benefit from the training afforded. Since many of the residents of Wolfville may desire to participate in the work of the conference as many as this desire will be admitted to the work of the mornings by the payment of the regular registration fee. It is customary for those who cannot attend the morning session but who can be present at the open air life-work meeting at 7 1/2 P. M. and the platform meeting at 8 P. M. to pay a special but reduced fee of $1.00 for the entire conference. Special announcements of next year's program and provisions for the citizens of Wolfville will be distributed during early summer in 1914 that all may be informed.

The continued cooperation of the ministers, churches, and citizens of Wolfville is desired in giving wide publicity to the nature of the Wolfville Conference and its dates and plans for next year. It may reasonably be expected that within a few years several hundred influential Christian workers of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island will annually come to this conference, thus making the summer school the most notable centre of missionary training and influence in the Maritime Provinces.

With his family he sailed from Boston on the 21st July and will visit London and Edinburgh, after which he will spend some time at Oxford and Cambridge and at leading educational centres on the continent.

OUR clientele embraces ALL classes of investors. They range from the ultra-conservative who demand the maximum of safety, with a certain though necessarily limited return, to the more liberally-disposed who prefer such as may be termed "business men's investments," affording not absolute yet satisfactory security—but with larger income and greater possibilities of appreciation.

Therefore we aim to carry at all times a representative list of securities intelligently classified to suit the needs of every class of investor.

We happen now to have a security—the capital stock of the Eastern Canada Savings & Loan Co.—that we can recommend for conservative investments, and which also possesses potential appreciation in that it is undervalued so that the dividend will shortly be increased. If absolute safety and a return of nearly 6% interests you we have some interesting figures to present about this desirable security upon your requesting the same.

A MESSAGE FROM A WOMAN TO WOMEN

"Every Woman Should Take 'Fruit-a-lives'"

LAKELAND, ONT., MAY 12TH, 1911
 "Kindly publish this letter of mine if you think it will benefit other women who might be afflicted with the disease I have had in the past, but am now, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives', completely cured of. It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-lives' if she wants to keep herself in good health.

Before taking 'Fruit-a-lives', I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Nerves' or severe nervousness. This nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking doctors' medicine without any permanent relief. Constipation was also a source of great trouble to me and for which the doctors said 'I would have to take medicine all my life', but 'Fruit-a-lives' banished all these troubles and now I am a well woman.

Boy For Sale

Does anybody want a boy
 To take away and keep?
 We have one that we do not want,
 And we will sell him cheap.

He comes down in the morning with
 A scowl upon his face;
 He has no merry whistle, but
 A whine to take its place.

He's tired running errands, thinks
 It's mean he has to work;
 Can't see why he has to study,
 And does his best to shirk.

Our Tommy is a darling child
 When this boy isn't near;
 But he's a bad companion, and
 Is spoiling him, we fear.

So, if you want this other child
 His name is Tommy, too—
 Just give us your address, and we'll Express him straight to you.

—Pauline Frances Camp.

Does License Help

We sometimes hear people say that it does, though not so often as we used to.

If you live in a license town, just sit down and think it over for a few minutes and decide who it helps.

Probably it does help the saloon keeper and the brewer and the whole sane liquor dealer to buy fine clothes, handsome houses, automobiles and things like that, but what about their customers? Are they helped in those directions? Probably it does help the court to business, the jails to boarders, the asylums and almshouses to inmates, but are these really necessary parts of a town's prosperity?

Does it make property more valuable or boost the business of the grocer or butcher, or sell more boots and shoes and dry goods?

Does it keep the children in school, or make the homes happier?

Does it make better workmen for farm or shop or factory?

Where does it help, anyway?—Conscientious Citizen.

A Mother's Answer

"The most-to-be-regretted act of my life," says a lieutenant commander in the navy, "was a letter which I wrote home to my mother when I was about seventeen years of age. She always addressed her letters to me as 'my dear boy.' I felt at that time I felt a man or very near it and wrote saying that her constant addressing me as a 'boy' made me feel displeased. I received in reply a letter full of reproaches and tears. Among other things she said: 'You might grow to be as big as Goliath, as strong as Samson, and as wise as Solomon. You might become ruler of a nation, or emperor of many nations, and the world might reverence you and fear you, but to your devoted mother, you would always appear, in memory, in your childish, impetuous, unsubstantiated, unacquainted boyhood. In those days, when I washed and dressed, and kissed, and watched you, you were my boy. Nowadays, you are but a part of a gross world, by a woman and held in steel embrace.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. E. P. Pinkham's Medicine, (inserted in this issue), your letter will be answered, read and answered by a woman and held in steel embrace.

Happy Married.

It is related that at the Woman Suffrage headquarters in New York, the other day, a bright, cheerful lady, upon being asked if she favored woman suffrage, replied: "Oh, no, I am married." When rebuked by the stern reminder that many ardent supporters of suffrage were to be found among the married women, the cheery one chirped: "O! yes, I know, but you see I am happily married."

A Brooklyn judge has sentenced a seventeen-year-old boy to attend Sunday school until he is twenty-one years old. "I think there is still a chance for you," he said to the youth, "but the first time you fail to reach Sunday school you will be brought back here and I'll send you away. If you had gone there regularly you wouldn't be here." The judge also sentenced the lad's companion, a man of twenty-four, to attend church. The off-nee of one was that of smuggling cocaine to a prisoner in jail, of the other, trying to kill cocaine.

Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Charles Lovell, Agassiz, N. C., writes: "Seven of our nine children had whooping cough the same winter and we obtained their cure by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licenced and Turpentine. We always have it in the house, and recommend it as the king of all medicines. I was formerly completely cured of prostrating diphtheria by using Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Whooping Cough.

The heresy charges against the Rev. George Jackson, formerly of Toronto, but now in the mother country, have been dropped by the Wesleyan Convention of England. Out of six hundred votes only seven were in favor of proceeding. English Methodism is evidently more liberal in its theological views than that of Canada.

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis.

Mrs. Nellie Massey, Concord, Ont., writes: "I have suffered my troubles as psoriasis, and one said it could never be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head and the itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and am entirely cured—not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this Ointment enough."

"That Mrs. Naylor dropped in this afternoon and got off a lot of cheap talk."
 "Cheap talk?"
 "Yes, she used our telephone for a full half hour."

Ephraim Lockhart, son of the late Captain E. Lockhart, died rather suddenly at Lockhartville, King's Co., July 14th. He was a man of considerable ability, wrote much for the public press, delivered lectures on various subjects, and at one time was preparing for the Christian ministry. His ambitious failed to round out, owing to a somewhat delicate constitution. The funeral services were conducted at Lockhartville by Rev. J. W. O'Brien and J. M. Fisher, of W. O'Brien.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals, such pains and cramps, severe dizziness, and sometimes vomiting, until I was nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Restorative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed sixty-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-four pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Restorative Wash."—Miss James Hanson, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accumulated, proving its reliability in the most convincing manner.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine, (inserted in this issue), your letter will be answered, read and answered by a woman and held in steel embrace.

An Operation For Appendicitis

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months or years of derangements of the liver and bowels.

Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctor had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine.

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he had had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely disappeared. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

Such is Life.

This little gem appeared in the local paper at Honey Brook, Pennsylvania: "Mister Elatur; jem Banga, we are sorry to stat, has desized He departed this life last mundy at the age of 23. He went ath without any struggle, and sich is life. Tu day we are as pepper grass, mighty smart, to Morrer we are cut down like a cow-cumber of the ground. Jem kept a nice stoar, which his wife now waits on. His wivech was numerous to behold. We never new him to put sand in his sugar, tho he had a big sand bar in front of his hoar; nor water in his milk, tho the River runs past his dore. Peece to his remanid. He laves a wife, 8 children, a cow, 4 horses, a grocery stoar and quadro pets to moan his loss, but in the splendid langwidge of the poet, his loss is their eternal gamp."

The Housing Problem.

We are in receipt of a paper on the Housing Problem, read to a large audience in the Technical College, Halifax, on June 6th, by Mr. G. Traford Hewitt. This is a subject which is interesting to all of us in every land. The immigration into Canada of so many families from different parts of Europe, large numbers of whom are disposed to congregate in the cities, makes this problem one of special importance to Canadians at the present time.

There can be no doubt that there are slum districts in some of our cities which rival in squalor and filth any thing that can be seen in the home land and make it almost impossible for those occupying them to live clean and wholesome lives and bring up their families with habits and tastes essential to good citizenship.

Mr. Hewitt proposes to visit several of our principal towns to speak upon the method of town planning for convenience and beauty. He is also interested in an effort to bring English capital into the province to be invested in our various industries.

Are Flocking to Canada.

The Speaker of the United States Senate has taken alarm at the number of American farmers who are trekking to Canada. He takes the individual farmer at an average physical valuation of $1,000, plus his cash in hand and personal effects and by a simple arithmetical calculation estimates the monetary loss to the United States per annum. He says:—

In one week not long since, 1,845 American farmers with $388,500 in cash and $420,000 in effects crossed into Western Canada to settle permanently. That week was below rather than above the weekly average of emigrants to that region alone. How many go to other countries I do not know.

Blessed be honour! Would there were more of it at the table! It is bile and logic which is responsible for most of the home wretchedness about Lady's World.

There are 25 lepers in the two Canadian lazarettos, according to figures given by the Director General of Public Health. At the lazaretto at Tracadie, N. B., there are 21 patients, consisting of 11 males and 10 females. Seventeen of them are French-Canadians, two English, one Irish and one Russian. One man was recently discharged as cured of the disease. At the lazaretto at D'Arcy Island, B. C., there are four Chinese at present.

The U. S. federal fisheries bureau has given the world a new food, fish, the cisco, which is now being caught in large quantities in Lake Erie, and which meets with ready sale in the markets of the lake cities. The cisco is the result of three years' experimenting in crossing the herring and whitefish. The new fish is very similar in appearance to the herring and its flesh tastes like that of the whitefish. It has the pungency of the herring, which means that it will be well able to take care of itself.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 155 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief, writes H. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. O. For sale by all dealers.

IF LOVE GROWS COLD

How Henry Found the Way to Woman's Heart.

By VIOLA BRIDGEMAN.

"Then you are bound to leave us all tomorrow, Rose, and go to the city?"
 "Yes, of course, Henry," a trifle impatiently.
 "What makes you want to go, Rose?" with deep tones in the voice.
 "Why? Henry? What a question. Because I am just sick and tired of the same old thing day after day. I have spent all my life in this town, and I want to see something of the sea, happy world of the city," and a stray moonbeam lighting up the girl's face amplified the youth and inexperience her words indicated.

"Now, see here, Rose," the man broke in, speaking earnestly, and yet as one who was holding back a just resentment, "you just can't know anything about the way folks feel in the city. I've been there, and, honestly, I can't say I saw many happy ones. 'Nonsense,' the girl said impatiently. "Of course there is trouble there, but think of the things to see, the people to meet! Yes, I'm off," and she smiled absently as though in imagination she saw the thronged streets, all filled to her with throbbing interest and what she believed was real life.

All unseeing, she sat there in the soft August moonlight with Henry Joyce, whose love for her was such an everyday thing she had ceased to think about it, this pretty little Rose Hallam, daughter of one of the modern farmers of 1912. He did not forget it, nor could he release her, although he knew as yet her heart was unswayed. He, too, was one of the progressive farmers who believed in the dignity of agricultural labor, and had no longings for the congested life of a great community. Strong, earnest, true-hearted, he knew that this girl, reared in a simple country home, had no place among the dangers and temptations of a large city.

The Thought of Lizzie in That Little Home Was Very Distasteful.

but he did not seem to be able to make her comprehend him. For a few moments she sat there, as far apart in spirit as though the separation she contemplated had already taken place. Then he broke the silence by asking hesitatingly:
 "Will you give me something before you go, Rose? I've never asked you before, but if you are willing to leave me I want something to remember you by."
 "Well, what is it?" she asked a little absently, for her thoughts were far away.
 "You know I love you," Henry queried.

Plaster, Casts.

Many women may desire to reproduce an article on plaster. This is not a difficult matter if these directions are followed.

The material required are Plaster of Paris, cast iron water, a mixing spoon and a bread board two feet square.

When you first attempt it, try some things—simple—half-cup plaster for instance.

An extra precaution would be to mix a little bluing with the plaster to designate it from the mud. Keep the half-cup water on the outside. Place it flat side down upon the moulding board and build a mound of softness cast around it. When this has hardened, mix the powdered plaster with water until it is the consistency of panada. Pour this into the mould of clay. When it has hardened, separate the mould from the rest of the mud. While of an object, mold one half at a time and soap both sides of the inside of the mould thoroughly. Make a hole in the top of the mould which is formed by the union of the halves. Through this opening pour liquid plaster.

When the cast has hardened, it may be shaken out or broken.

This is extremely interesting try it some time and see.

See Experiment.

"Why did you strike him, my son?"
 "I wanted to see if I could get him a rush of blood in the nose."
