A BAD RECORD!

Four Months of Falling Revenue with Increased Expenditure.—And Rapid Growth of Debt.

TRADE DECREASE

Decline in Imports and Exports.—What is the Matter with Laurier and Fielding?

THE CASSELS INQUIRY

A Long Delayed Investigation.—Some of the Business
That Was Partly Investigated.—Federal Officials and Saskatchewan Elections.

OTTAWA, August 22nd, 1908.

We have now the full official statement of revenue, expenditure and debt for the first four months of the fiscal year. Take first the net debt.

July 31st, 1908	$275,511,372
June 30th, 1908	268,719,292
Increase in July	6,801,080
Debt, July 31st, 1907.	253,001,867
June 30th, 1907	250,666,312
Increase July, 1907	2,335,555
Increase in twelve mos.	22,509,505

During the year the gross bonded debt payable in England increased by over $14,000,000, and temporary loans obtained in England of over $18,000,000.

AN AWFUL DROP.

Now the revenue.

For the four months in 1907	$32,291,888
Same four months in 1908	25,562,249
Decrease	6,729,639

There is a decrease of nearly $6,000,000 in customs, a quarter of a million in excise, more than a third of a million in railway income, with a very small increase in postal revenue. For the month of July the following is the statement:

1907	$9,054,590
1908	6,803,460
Decrease	2,251,130

There is a loss of a million and three-quarters in customs, $100,000 in excise, $20,000 in post office, and $211,000 in public works revenue, mainly of the Intercolonial Railway.

NO DROP HERE.

Next we have the expense account.

Current expenditure for the four months, 1907	$17,191,663
Same four months, 1908	17,821,106
Increase	629,443

For the month of July, 1907

1907	9,595,339
Same month, 1908	10,857,163
Increase	1,261,824

While the expenditure seems to be a good deal less than the revenue for the four months, it should be borne in mind that certain charges, like interest and subsidies, occur at stated periods, and that many expenditure payments are deferred. The comparison must be made between the year and last year. But two things may be pointed out.

While at the end of July, 1907, there was a nominal surplus of $15,000,000, at the same date this year it is less than $8,000,000.

While in July, 1907, the current expenditure exceeded the revenue by half a million, in July, 1908, the expenditure exceeds the revenue by more than $4,000,000.

But there is to be added the capital expenditure, which is:

Four months, 1907	$4,561,641
Same four months, 1908	4,552,598
Increase	9,043

For the month of July, 1907

1907	2,065,860
For the month of July, 1908	2,084,502
Increase	628,682

Yet in 1908 only $93,300 was paid in railway subsidies against $446,237 in 1907, and only $504,041 in bounties against $678,916 last year.

DECREASED TRADE.

Lastly is the trade statement. Here is a comparison:

Imports, four months, 1907	$131,804,010
Same period, 1908	91,888,201
Decrease	39,915,809
For the month of July, 1907	34,557,998
For the month of July, 1908	22,967,094

er of Lights, testified that he was ordered by his superiors to certify to accounts of which he had no knowledge, and that when on the advice of the Auditor-General instead of certifying prices "fair and just" he certified "prices arranged by the Department at Ottawa," he brought down on himself official wrath and found a junior promoted over his head.

The Auditor-General testified that he had ceased to regard certificates from certain officers of the Marine Department as having any value. Among such worthless certificates which he mentioned as leading him to that conclusion were those of the highest officers of the Department.

ANOTHER FORTUNATE CONTRACTOR.

The Canadian Fog Signal Company is a Toronto concern which makes an instrument called the "Diaphone." No less than $696,462 was paid to this contractor at the end of the last fiscal year, and it was admitted on oath by the secretary of the contracting company that the instruments sold to the Government for $4,500 were made to order for the contractor for $400. This contractor has no customer but the Government, which gave the promoter a patent without protecting its own interest, and pays him 1,000 to 1,200 per cent. profit on his goods. Judge Cassels has not expressed many opinions, but he made the incidental remark that the Government should have refused to pay this man more than $25,000 profit on transactions out of which he has made $150,000.

THE OFFICIALS HEARD FROM.

Now that the back districts of Saskatchewan have been heard from, all the contingencies at first reported "in doubt are claimed for the Scott Government. Homestead inspectors, land agents, interpreter, seed grain distributors, and the general body of Federal officials distributed in more remote and scattered districts where they could not be watched, have evidently got in their work. It remains to be seen how many polls were held after the fashion of the "rabbit skin" poll of 1905, where the three officials sat down on the prairie and all by themselves recorded 150 votes unanimously in favour of the Government candidate. Doubtless there will be inquiries and accounts. But in any case the opposition has carried some sixteen constituencies, and appears to have obtained about half the vote of the electorate. Unfortunately for the ministers they contested constituencies which were comparatively well settled and independent. So three out of the four were beaten, though one of these got returned in a second and thinly settled constituency.

WHERE ARE THE MINISTERS.

One of the Government organs in Montreal figures out that Canada in twelve years has had $1,000,000,000 more trade than she would have had if there had been an excess over 1896. The organ gives the Premier credit of all this growth. Then why is the Premier not keeping it up? Has he lost his grip or decided that it is time for a depression?

It has also been the custom to praise Mr. Fielding for the large revenues and surpluses. What is the matter now with the Finance Minister that his revenues are all going to pieces, his expenditures are climbing up, and the country is rubbing into debt about four times as fast as it ever did before?

On their own arguments, Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding must admit that it is time for a change.

A DELAYED INVESTIGATION.

Judge Cassels is due to resume his inquiry into Marine Department scandals early in September. When his Court adjourned, the Commissioner explained that if the Government had carried out its undertaking and provided a substitute judge for the Exchequer Court he would have had the investigation completed. But as things were going, the Government had no desire that the inquiry should be finished before Parliament was in session. Nor it is likely that the two Government counsel prosecuting the inquiry will conclude it so that a report may be made public before the elections. One of them has done good service to the machine in Ontario, and the other was a law partner of the Minister of Marine, under whose rule many of the scandals began. They will not get the Government into more trouble than is necessary.

A FEW DISCOVERIES.

It will be remembered that proceedings in Judge Cassel's Court were adjourned in the midst of an investigation of the Willson buoys and the Canadian fog signal contracts. Concerning Mr. T. L. Willson, and his carbide, it has already been found that the Government paid him and his companies $1,054,215 down to three months ago. These further statements were made:

By contractor Willson himself, that he gave to a minister of the crown $10,000 of stock in his carbide company in consideration of the services of that minister in getting other capitalists to take stock. Mr. Willson did not need to say that the proposal of Government contracts was the strongest inducement which a minister could offer to these other capitalists.

Col. Anderson, Chief Engineer of the Marine Department testified that he opposed the Willson contract and it was in consequence of his opposition that the light and buoys were taken from his control. He believed that the Willson influence brought about the appointment over his head of the Commissioner of Lights by whom the Willson inventions were purchased.

Ireland's Tribute to American Scholarship.

At the banquet following the dedication of the new Hall of Theology at St. Bernard's Theological Seminary, Rochester, Rev. Walter A. McDonald, D. D., president of the Danbyne Course in Maymonth College, Ireland, paid a generous tribute to American scholarship in his speech on "Ecclesiastical Education."

This is Dr. McDonald's second visit to the United States and he said then that he was sure to go home this time more impressed than on the occasion of his previous visit by his view of Catholic educational institutions.

"You are a most modest people," said Dr. McDonald, "You don't realize how big you are. I marvel at the work done here along educational lines, hardships notwithstanding. To my mind the greatest evidence of your capacity for improvement is shown in the recent edition of the Catholic Encyclopedia. This couldn't have been done by any other people than those of the United States. I believe that when time and leisure are given you will do even greater things. I consider it one of the greatest privileges of the seminaries of the United States that they were young and could be molded by those who had charge of education here."

"It is a grand idea Bishop McQuaid has of sending men abroad to the greatest universities, there to receive the seeds that will eventually develop and produce mature fruits."

"THAT IS DYSPESIA"

A remedy which has rarely failed to give prompt relief and effect permanent cures even in the most obstinate cases, is

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

It acts by regulating and toning the digestive organs, removing catarrhs, and increasing the appetite, and restoring health and vigor to the system.

Mrs. Alice Stevens, Springfield, N. B., writes:—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in Stomach Troubles and Dyspepsia. I was troubled for years with Dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried B. B. B. I took three bottles and became cured, and now I can eat anything without it hurting me. I will recommend it to all having Stomach Troubles.

MISCELLANEOUS.

RIGHTS RESPECTED.

"You will admit that even a man who disagrees with you is entitled to his opinions."

"Of course he's entitled to them," answered Sirus Baker. "That's why I insisted on his keeping his opinions to himself instead of carelessly scattering them around."

Mrs. Fred Laine, St. George, Ont., writes:—"My little girl would cough so at night that neither she nor I could get any rest. I gave her Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and am thankful to say it cured her cough quickly."

HAD HEARD NONE.

"That man is an idiot. He simply won't listen to reason."

"How do you know?"

Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff.

THE USUAL TRAVEL TALK.

"Biggins is going abroad."

"Is he?" said the man of languid interest.

"He should have something to tell when he returns."

"Perhaps. But the chances are he will do what everybody else does—merely praise the scenery and abuse the hotels."

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powder gives women prompt relief from monthly pains and leave no bad after effects whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 20 and 25 cents. All dealers.

GRITTY'S AMBITION.

"Der is one time," yawned Gritty George as he helped himself to strawberry shortcake, "when I'd really like to be president."

"Ah, what a noble ambition!" responded the housewife, and when it was that?

"Why when he takes his vacation moon?"

Sprained Arm.

Mary Ovington, Jasper, Ont., writes:—"My mother had a badly sprained arm. Nothing we used did her any good. Then father got Hagyard's Yellow Oil and it cured mother's arm in a few days." Price 25c.

THE TRUTH ABOUT IT.

"Stimson told me the other day that Grimley is awfully close."

"Yes Grimley told me that Stimson tried to borrow a couple of hundred from him the other day, and he could not let him have it because Stimson's brother held him up the day before and took all the ready cash he could command."

Minard's Liniment Cures colds, etc.

There is really no use in being unhappy just because you aren't happy.

Was Weak and Run Down

WOULD VERY OFTEN FAINT AWAY

Mrs. J. H. Armstrong, Fort Elgin, Ont., tells of her experience with MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

She writes:—"It is with gratitude I tell how your Heart and Nerve Pills benefited me."

"I was very weak and run down, had headaches nearly every day and very often would faint away. In fact, my doctor said that sometimes I would never come out of the faint. It was through one of your travelling agents that I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and after taking these pills I am glad to relate it has been a number of years since I had a fainting spell and scarcely ever have a headache. The much cannot be said in praise of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, for as they have effected a perfect cure."

Mr. Foster's Meetings.

The public meetings in the three counties of this Province addressed by Hon. George E. Foster last week were among the largest, the most orderly and the most enthusiastic ever held in Prince Edward Island.

It is impossible for us to report at length Mr. Foster's able and exhaustive speeches. Our limited space precludes that. Without doubt Mr. Foster is the ablest debater in Canada; this is generally admitted by the public men of the Dominion.

Mr. Foster, in beautiful language, called attention to the duty of our young men. They would have soon to take the place of those who are now growing old. They should prepare themselves well for the serious and important duty coming to them.

Referring to the grievances and disabilities special to this Province, Mr. Foster said that a way could surely be found by which the decrease in our Federal representation would be made good, and our original number of six members be restored to us.

the manner our claims were submerged. He considered that if our delegates had been wide awake, energetic and resourceful, something more could have been accomplished for this Province.

On the great and all important questions of taxation, expenditure and debt, Mr. Foster referred to the promises made by Laurier and his friends in 1896, and contrasted these promises with their manner of fulfillment.

Referring to the discussion on the motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the increased subsidies to the Provinces, Mr. Foster pointed out that when $100,000 extra was voted for British Columbia, the Conservative members from this Province considered we, too, should receive something extra proportional.

In clear and concise language, Mr. Foster pointed out to his hearers the responsibility, along with the privilege, that rested on the people in the choice of representatives.

Mr. Foster pointed out that in all the endeavors of the members of the Opposition, in the House and before the Public Accounts Committee, to probe to the bottom the stealing and squandering of the people's money Mr. Hughes, the member for King's County, threw himself in the way and favored the middlemen and the rake off men. Was he thus representing the wishes of those who elected him? "What would be the state of things in this Dominion of Canada," asked Mr. Foster, if there were no opposition members in Parliament and no opposition press in the country.

—nothing left, and that all the development was the result of their efforts. What did the new stewards really find in 1896? An estate completed and united from Atlantic to Pacific.

publican neighbors was to put the Liberals in power. The Conservatives told them it was impossible, well they got in and failed to secure reciprocity. They then came back and said they never had much of an opinion of reciprocity, anyhow.

tonight put the municipal loss at $250,000. The loss of cotton is not severe, only 3,500 bales being reported water damaged. The loss to freight in deposits will not be more than $200,000, including the loss of the southern bridge.

In Colorado, too, floods have been doing much damage to life and property. Advice of the 28th. from Trinidad Colorado, are as follows:—A flood in the Cimarron River, following a cloudburst, washed away a number of dwellings at Folsom, N. M. last night.

Folsom is in the northeast part of New Mexico, near Raton, on the Santa Fe railroad. Its elevation is about 7,000 feet and it is constantly in danger of floods, which sweep down from the surrounding mountains whenever there is a cloudburst or heavy rain in the hills.

A WORD BEFORE LEAVING.

"My meetings in Prince Edward Island have been entirely satisfactory. Each of the three places in which I spoke found the largest available hall crowded and the audience most intelligent and attentive. Nothing in the shape of disorder appeared at any place, and the patience of the people notwithstanding the heat and other discomforts was very pleasing.

"I believe the people are thoroughly awakening to the condition of things, and to my mind the outlook for the Liberal-Conservative standard bearers in P. E. Island is very encouraging.

"Messrs. McLean, Martin and Lefurgey, are abundantly deserving of the confidence given them in 1904. I know their work in Parliament, and it has been conscientiously and ably done."

The Cost of the Transcontinental.

The minister of railways, assisted by the minister of finance, made the best defence he could in attempting to relate the statement of the cost of the Transcontinental Pacific given to the country by the leader of the opposition. It embodies the sort of financial reasoning which in the case of private enterprise would land the promoters in a lot of trouble.

According to the statement of Mr. B. L. B. rder, the cost of the eastern section would be about $250,000,000. This estimate included interest on the bonds of the mountain section because that item is part of the agreement under which the Transcontinental is being built.

When the work is completed the country will own the Montreal-Winnipeg section, and in the meantime it will have to incur the liability mentioned in order to secure this asset.

In his effort to refute Mr. Borden's figures the minister of railways assumed the debonair manner of a high financier and explained at considerable length that great speciality of getting something for nothing.

According to his financial ideas, if you can borrow money to build a railway the cost of that railway is simply the interest on the money which is borrowed.

Coming down to hard pan, however, the minister admitted the items as cited by Mr. Borden to the amount of $166,423,000, but he rejected $878,000 in respect of the Winnipeg terminals, $14,400,000 for the Quebec bridge, and the interest for three years additional on the eastern section, during which no rental is collectible unless the earnings are sufficient, a total of $26,500,000.

The item on the Quebec terminals is such a mere bagatelle of a transaction, which runs into the hundreds of millions, that it is of no account one way or the other; of the Quebec bridge was calmly put to one side on the ground that it is not part of the railway; the interest charged was similarly put aside with the statement that the eastern section will pay from the drop of the hat, coupled with a lecture on patriotism and confidence in the future of our country.

As to the latter there may be honest difference of opinion. None will be more proud of their country, or better satisfied that the present members of the opposition, if the eastern section is successful as a money earner beyond all expectations.

Pains in the Back

The symptoms of a weak, aching, stagnant condition of the kidneys are, as a rule, neglected, so important is the healthy action of these organs.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures kidney and liver troubles, drives the back, and builds up the whole system.

It is good. The country will need a big crop if it is to be able to pay its bills. But, while a good crop is commonly thought to be a landmark for a government appealing to the country, no crop now can be big enough to obscure the scandal which have become public since the present session of Parliament opened.

In the face of these facts, the government, after asking for $119,237,994 for the services of the current year, and after incurring a debt of $2,850,000 in the purchase of seed grain for the West, comes down with supplementary estimates calling for $13,665,000 more.

This makes the expenditure proposition for the current year no less than $132,752,000. If we want to know what this means, let us contrast the figures of today with those of a few years ago. Here they are:

Table with 2 columns: Year and Amount. 1896: $41,729,383; 1906: $103,775,000; 1907: $132,752,000.

In 1896 our outlays stood at $8.14 per head. For the present year, the estimate, which stood at $20 per head a few days ago, has now been lifted to $22 per head.

For the fiscal year ending last March we had a deficit of $12,688,000, so far as acknowledged by the government. This was when we spent $18,878,000, and had a large income. This year we are to spend $132,752,000, and we have a reduced income. That the deficiency will be large goes without saying. We shall be fifty or sixty millions behind. Where is that money to come from? We must borrow it from the money-lenders who today refuse to lend us money at 3 1/2 per cent, and who tomorrow will be asking 4 per cent, and perhaps more.

We are now getting a taste of the effects of graft. The policy of graft works in many ways. We meet with it in the "rake-off," under which the partizan of Sir Wilfrid charges the country for supplies or for land twice the proper price. We meet with it again in such operations as the North Atlantic Trading Company, in which the country pays hundreds of thousands of dollars for nothing.

Keenan, who will be remembered as the author of a series of articles on Siberian exiles some twenty years ago which did much to stop the cruelties of that system. Mr. Keenan has made a translation of General Kurpatkin's book and the first instalment has been published in an American magazine. It deals with the cause of the Russo-Japanese war in an authoritative manner and the facts are not very complimentary to the Czar in his capacity as an angel of peace.

A year or two before the war a promoter got a large franchise on timber limits on both sides of the Yalu river, that is both in Manchuria and Korea. He needed a man with a pull, so he sold out to a Russian ex-civil servant, who knew how to pull wires at St. Petersburg.

This man formed a company which included the Czar himself, who invested two million roubles, the dowager empress and several of the grand dukes. The promoter seems to have been a Russian Col. Sellers with a gift tongue and an extra quality of persuasive power, who succeeded in thoroughly impressing the Russian court that there was millions in it.

He also took Admiral Alexieff in on the deal and had him made viceroy of Manchuria. The correspondence in the case reads wonderfully like an ordinary grafting deal in our own politics. In the correspondence the promoter refers to the Czar as "the Master" and tells how he handled the powers that be in St. Petersburg.

He also writes that if Viceroy Alexieff's hands are prevented the evacuation of Manchuria he will "put many things into his hands."

The upshot was that the Russian government held on to Manchuria in contravention of an agreement with Japan and other countries in order to protect this big investment in the Yalu timber limits and when as a natural consequence, war was threatened, the Czar gave official instructions that it was to be avoided at all hazards.

This was for public consumption. As a matter of inside history, Nicholas did wish to avoid war, if he could do so without impairing the value of the imperial investment in the Korean timber company. But up to the time of the declaration of war he continued to disregard the sane advice of Witte, Kurapatkin and other patriotic men and pinned his faith upon the assurances of the grafting promoter until it was too late to save the situation.

Then Kurapatkin, who had done his best to prevent the war and save the Czar from humiliation, was rushed off to the front to fight the battles with a poorly organized army.

The Cost of Graft

The recent session at Ottawa, in its final hours, unscrupled further disclosures of graft in one department or another. Among other things were the topics of government printing and the Indian lands, which fell into the ready hands of friends of Mr. Sifton for a song. For eight months the news the country has had from Ottawa has been mainly concerning the diversion of public money to the pockets of favorites and the attempts of Liberal members to head off investigation of these matters by the opposition. Government newspapers are beginning to talk about the crop outlook. For-
