5TH NFLD. CHAMPIONSHIPS MEET.

St. George's Field, Wednesday Afternoon.

The Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association have finalized all arrangements for the 5th Annual Championships, which takes place at St. George's Field to-morrow afternoon commencing at 2.30 sharp.

In the various events many athletes of repute have entered from the S.B.C., C.L.B. and M.G.C.A. Clubs, therefore an interesting series of races, weight throwing and jumping, is promised.

In the past competition has been very keen, particularly between the S.B.C. and M.G.C.A. Both Clubs have entered strong contenders for each event, and the fight for the Hayward Trophy promise to be equally as interesting as other years.

The sports will be conducted under the supervision of Hon. W. J. Higgins, K.C., with a strong committee behind him, and it is the N.A.A.A.'s intention to make a special effort to have the programme run off on time and allow no unnecessary waits between the different events.

One of the attractions for the afternoon will be the music by the Mt. Cashel Band.

Thrilling Race Anticipated.

Although the entries for the "Telegram" Road Race, are only small, as compared with other years, nevertheless, the race promises to be a most thrilling one between Ron O'Toole, the present champion, and Jack Bell, the former champion.

Each has his host of supporters who will doubtless turn out in large numbers to cheer their favorites to victory. Gover Stone and Jake Ralph, are also to be considered as contenders for the honors, as both boys have been making wonderful strides in the past. The race will be started from a point inside the Octagon, at the hour of 3.45 p.m., by Mr. Gus Herder. The course will be over the Topsail Road, to Cornwall Avenue, thence LeMarchant Road and Parade Street, and finish with two laps of St. George's Field, the scene of the N.A.A.A. Sports.

The handsome silver cup, with 3 gold and 5 silver medals are now on exhibition in the Telegram window, and have been greatly admired by the many people who pass in that direction. Ron O'Toole has two successive years on the trophy, and should he win to-morrow he will become permanent owner. John Bell, first winner of the trophy, will enter the race in excellent condition and feels confident of annexing another year on the silverware. The outcome of the race will be awaited with interest.

In 1922 the "Telegram" Cup was offered for competition, and since then it has been won as follows:— 1922—John Bell. Time 56 min. 35 sec. 1923—Ron O'Toole. Time 55 min 50 sec. 1924—Ron O'Toole. Time 57 min. 5 sec. 1925— ? ? ? ?

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The contesting teams at St. George's Field to-night will be Gaelic and T.A. of the Junior League. Great interest is centered in this game, because if T.A. should win they will be champions. If on the other hand Gaelic should emerge victorious, it will be a three-cornered fight between Mount Cashel, Holy Cross and T.A. The game starts sharp at 6.30.

N.A.A.A. PRELIMINARY RESULTS.

The N.A.A.A. preliminaries for the Championships Sports Meet, took place at St. George's Field last night. Preliminaries were run off in the Hurdles and 220 Yards events, and in each case competition was very keen between the S.B.C. and M.G.C.A. Clubs. The results were as follows:—

Hurdles. 1st Heat—1st, G. Baker (M.G.C.A.), 2nd J. Cotter (S.B.C.), 3rd, W. B. Skinner (S.B.C.). Time 15 sec. 2nd Heat—1st, J. Herder (M.G.C.A.), 220 Yards.

1st Heat—1st, J. Herder (M.G.C.A.), 2nd G. Baker (M.G.C.A.), 3rd, E. Phelan (S.B.C.) Time 26 4-5 sec. 2nd Heat—1st S. Parsons (M.G.C.A.), 2nd J. Canning (S.B.C.), 3rd W. R. Skinner (S.B.C.) Time 28 5-5 sec.

The above competitors will compete in the finale on Wednesday.

HELEN WILLS' BRILLIANT VICTORY.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 25.—Helen Wills flashed a racquet of magic power across the center court of the West Side Stadium yesterday. With it she turned back the challenge of Kathleen McKane, ace of British women players, and won the National Tennis championship for the third straight year in as peculiar a tennis match as has ever been witnessed.

The 19 year old girl did not retain her laurels without a struggle. She lost the first set to the slim British star but came back after to sweep her opponent aside.

An hour later Miss Wills returned to the court to play a dominant part in carrying off her second title, in the doubles final, which she won with Miss Mary K. Browne, by defeating the veteran team of Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Mrs. Mary Sutton Bundy in an all-Californian battle. The scores of this were 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Wills not only rose to her greatest heights to-day in overcoming Miss McKane, but in the glow of her victory cast aside the mark of reserve that has been one of her principal characteristics for a burst of girlish enthusiasm. Tossing her racquet aside she jumped for joy as a shout from the gallery apprised her that the final and deciding point, which she had believed an error, was a placement for her instead.

Finish Was One-Sided.

Never before has Miss Wills shown such a rare combination of power, generalship and pluck as she did to-day in first checking her rival's early advance, then putting her to rout with astonishing decisiveness in the final two sets.

Desperately as she tried, Miss McKane could not check the hurricane power behind the champion's strokes or solve her baffling change of pace. In little more time that it had taken for the entire first set alone, Miss Wills had swept through the remaining two to victory, allowing her opponent only two games and twenty-four points.

ITALIAN MONARCH

Reviews Fleet

SYRACUSE, Sicily, Aug. 31.—(A.P.)—An imposing army of 3000 fighting ships of all types and tonnages comprising the entire naval force of Italy, sailed majestically Saturday through the glistening waters of the Ionian Sea at Cape Murro-di-Porcio, passing in review before King Victor Emmanuel, Crown Prince Humboldt and Admiral Acton, Chief of Staff of the Italian Navy, who looked on from the deck of the Royal Yacht Savaria.

Soon after dawn all the ships which participated in the manoeuvres of the last week in Sardinian and Sicilian waters were drawn up off Syracuse. Then for two hours an impressive double line of war craft passed before the King with the dreadnoughts, Conte di Cavour, Dante Alighieri, Andrea Porcia and Carlo Cesare, heading the procession.

BOWLING RECORD.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Maurice Tait, the brilliant Sussex bowler, by taking 4 wickets for 42 runs, in the first innings, and six wickets for 101 runs in the match against Northamptonshire, has brought his wickets for the season to more than 200. He is the first man to accomplish this feat this season, and he has also created a record inasmuch as this is the third successive season that he has taken more than 200 wickets and also scored more than 1,000 runs.

CAPTURES FLYWEIGHT CROWN.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—Fidel Labarba, 18-year-old, Los Angeles high school boy, knocked from the head of Frankie Genaro here last night the American flyweight crown. Labarba won by waiting for Genaro to come in and by left-handing him for nine rounds, then carrying the scrap to the thirteenth in the tenth.

Phil Bernstein, manager of Genaro, was astonished when Labarba received the decision. "I thought Frankie was winning all the way, but I have no complaint to make. Harry Ertle naturally called it as he saw it."

Several Los Angeles sporting writers not only gave Labarba seven of the ten rounds, but also described Genaro as "on the verge of a knock-out" in the final session.

An average of general ringside impressions indicated the advantage by rounds was fairly evenly divided until the 10th, when Labarba sailed into his opponent with a hurricane attack that brought spectators to their feet howling.

Harry Ertle, who refereed the Dempsey-Carpenter title match, lifted Labarba's hand without an instant's hesitation when the gong sounded at the finish. Labarba won the national amateur championship in Boston and later became the Olympic flyweight champion.

Veteran judges of boxing who have had experience with the California weather conditions predicted that Genaro would have his troubles with the "native son" because he did not allow himself sufficient time to become acclimated. A return match between the pair is almost a certainty, but little Labarba has established himself as one of the world's leading 112-pounders.

FAMOUS DAUGHTER OF MOKO DEAD.

The Real Lady, 2.03 once holder of the trotting record for two-year-olds and for three-year-olds, died recently at David M. Look's, Cassiton Farm, near Lexington. She was owned by A. H. Cosdon, of Southold, L.I., who bought her at auction as a yearling in 1915. Thomas W. Murphy developed her and drove her when she won the Kentucky Futurity. She was bred by the late L. V. Hackness, at Walnut Hill Farm and was by Moko (sire of Howard Mann 217) out of Fruity Worthy, 2.25 1/4, by Axworthy 2.15 1/4.

Little Jack Rabbit

Near the foot of the hill in a thick clump of hemlock trees Hooty Tooty Owl has his home. He had chosen a hollow tree in which to make a comfortable place to sleep during the daytime, for Hooty Tooty Owl was a night prowler. Yes, sir. He could see much better at night. No matter how dark it was he could spy a mouse even if it moved ever so little.

Everybody in the Shady Forest thought Hooty Tooty Owl a wise sort of a person. All day long he would sit either inside his hollow tree, or near his entrance, his eyes half closed. But as soon as the sun went down behind the western hills, he woke up, and in the early evening his mournful "Who, who, who!" sounded through the Shady Forest and across the Pleasant Pasture.

Timmy Meadowmouse shivered every time he heard the old owl's call. Even Little Jack Rabbit kept a bright lookout when the evening shadows were about, for no sooner was Mrs. Moon in the sky than Hooty Tooty Owl would start out to hunt for food.

One day as the bunny boy hopped along the Old Stone Fence he saw the old owl half asleep in the clump of hemlocks. Softly hopping up to the tree on which Hooty Tooty Owl sat, his black eyes only half open, the little rabbit shouted "Hello!" just like that, so startling the old owl that he made a great noise. Dear me, you would have thought that the whole forest was full of "Who's Who!"

"Ha, ha!" laughed the bunny boy, as Hooty Tooty Owl, seeing who had disturbed him, grew quiet again. "I thought I'd make you open your eyes."

"Very rude of you to make such a noise," rebuked the old owl, looking solemnly down at the little rabbit. "Don't you know that I like to sleep in the daytime," and his black eyes almost snapped with anger, making his great pale face look very solemn indeed.

"What do you do at night?" asked the bunny boy, thinking, perhaps, he might learn something new from Hooty Tooty Owl.

"Hunt little mice," answered the old owl. "Laugh and hoot, shriek and wail. I frighten lots of people when it's dark."

"Then you shouldn't mind me waking you," boldly answered the bunny boy. "Besides, I wanted to see the color of your eyes. You have no 'horns' or ear-tufts like Old Barney Owl."

"No, I'm a barred-owl," explained Hooty Tooty. "Do you see the bars of white across my feathers?"

"What else do you eat?" asked the curious little rabbit.

"Sometimes a chicken," admitted the old owl. "But they are usually in the hen-house by the time I go hunting. But if I happen to find one roosting in a tree—well, that's the chicken's lookout. I'm not passing up a nice chicken supper," and the solemn-faced old owl winked at the bunny boy with his big black eyes. Yes, sir, he winked both of them, the winky-blinky old rascal did.

"The little rabbit shouted 'Hello!' just like that."

"I'm going to tell Henny Jenny to warn all the pullets," cried the little rabbit. "And Timmie Meadowmouse, too." Then away hopped the bunny boy, clippety clip, hupperty lip, his little knapsack bouncing up and down on his back and his red-striped candy cane swinging from his left paw.

"Why don't you eat vegetables?" he shouted, as he turned down the Wind-ing Trail. But Hooty Tooty Owl never answered. Apd in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

School Opening Ceremony at Long Hr.

The following message giving an account of the opening of St. Jerome's school at Long Harbour was received by the Evening Telegram.

LONG HR., Whitbourne, Sept. 7.—This morning the boys and girls in attendance at St. Jerome's school at Long Harbour Centre assembled at 8 o'clock in the Holy Ghost hall, which was offered up by Rev. Francis O'Connell our Dear Lord this morning to our all manner of blessings on the children of the school. At the close of Mass he exhorted them to live holy lives, to be truthful, obedient, and diligent. He counselled them to apply themselves diligently to their studies, and said only strict application, love of study, and punctual attendance would crown their efforts with a grand triumph and certain success. He further told them to come to school clean, sweet and tidy. He said the parents should exercise vigilance and care in the direction of their children, and their labour to mould them high ideals in them would win for their parents their love, and as a stimulant to the children's efforts the priest offering premiums in gold for the essays on excelling in the virtue of purity and veracity. During the singing of the hymns of the Holy Ghost, "Sweet Spirit Hear My Prayer" and "O God We Praise Thy Name" were sung, and the beautiful Mass of St. Angela's was sung on the occasion.

"Will Visit Alberta Ranch

LEITHBRIDGE, Alta., Sept. 2.—The Duke of Wales, whose cattle and sheep have held the spotlight at the ranch, is planning a visit to the "E" ranch in the Alberta foothills in the fall of next year.

Prof. Cartwright, manager of the "E" ranch, informed the press that the Duke was the present hope of the royal party to visit the Dominion in August next, remaining at the ranch for two months. The Prince has a warm spot in his heart for his shortchort ranch in the restful foothills. His little grey home in the west is pulling him harder and harder, and next autumn will probably see his royal majesty back among "the boys" on the range.

A Booklet on Nfld.

Our congratulations are extended to Mr. P. H. Cowan, operator of the Nfld. Sales Counter at Wembley, on the production of a very attractive souvenir booklet of Newfoundland, a copy of which we received by last mail.

In a covering letter which we received with the magazine the author says: "We are doing our best to boost Newfoundland on this side of the water, and hope things are going well with our friends at home."

Message from Departing Visitors.

On the eve of the departure of the Imperial Parliamentary Delegation from Newfoundland, the Prime Minister received the following message from Captain Douglas King, the Chairman:

"On leaving the shores of Newfoundland the British Delegates tender their heartfelt thanks for all the kindness and hospitality shown to them, and hope their visit may tend to strengthen the bonds of Empire by mutual understanding and personal friendships."

The Re-opening of the Schools.

To-day the various schools re-open after the long vacation, long, that is, as measured in days and weeks and as compared with other holidays in the school year, but by no means regarded as of interminable length by those who have been enjoying a rest from their labours.

of experiences, the assuming of a position of greater importance in their respective spheres, and an opportunity to reach the aims of their ambitions.

There is no question that the work that lies in front of the diligent student is hard, harder in fact than it was in the days of students of our generation, but there are also many compensating advantages which we did not enjoy and many rewards that were not available then.

In welcoming both teachers and pupils back, we wish them god-speed in the work in which they are engaged.

Re-Opening of Church of England Colleges.

This morning at 9:15 Bishop Feild College re-opened after the Summer vacation and the attendance for the first day was unusually large.

The pupils and staff having assembled in the Hall, Rev. Canon Bolt who was present with a large number of the other Directors recited prayers and afterwards delivered a short address.

At the conclusion Rev. Canon Bolt announced that as soon as the preliminary arrangements for starting work had been made, the school would be dismissed until tomorrow.

Spencer College.

The Directors then proceeded to Spencer College, where they were received by Miss Cherrington, the Principal. The students then filed into the assembly hall from the various class rooms under the direction of the different teachers and prayers were read by Rev. Canon Bolt.

Both Canon Bolt and Dr. Blackall also paid a high tribute to the Association and warmly complimented the Principal, the staff and the pupils on the excellence of the report which had been presented.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

Sept. 7th.—This day my wife again on the subject of new clothes for the fall, nor may I avoid the discussion, being in the act of trimming my face, and 'was but finishing my latherings. Indeed, the wretch do know full well how to strike when opportunity offers, and so am compelled to listen to a catalogue of requirements that would indeed, so it seems, clothe the wives of a Turk for a decade.

Do learn this day how Mr. Judson of the Furness-Line, comes here on the "Sachem" and his business to make arrangements in connection with the tourist traffic for next year, which do seem a proof that we like to have a great influx of visitors, which methinks, will be to the great advantage of the country.

Farewell Meeting

TO REV. ANR MRS. HENRY GORDON.

A large number of citizens gathered in the Canon Wood Hall last night to bid farewell to Rev. Henry Gordon and Mrs. Gordon, who are about to leave for England after having been engaged in Missionary work on the Labrador coast. Among those present were Lady Allardyce and Col. Crosby, of the Allardyces, and Colonel Crosby, of the International Grenfell Mission, and comprising the gathering desirous of showing their appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon's great services, were members of several other congregations besides the people of St. Thomas' Parish.

Rev. J. Elliott, the Rector of St. Thomas' presided. Following a short prayer with which proceedings were begun, Rev. Canon Bolt, in the absence of His Lordship the Bishop, expressed on behalf of the Diocese his deep appreciation of the valuable work which had been performed by the devoted Missionary and his wife, and he felt certain, knowing them as he did, that they would regard as the best testimony and appreciation of their services, the assurance that the work would be continued. Canon Bolt regretted that it had been found necessary for Mr. Gordon to retire from the Mission owing to ill-health and he wished them both Godspeed and every prosperity in their new sphere of activity.

Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, who had acted as treasurer in connection with the establishment and maintenance of the Cartwright Public School, briefly referred to the circumstances which had led to its creation, and in speaking of Mr. Gordon's efforts in this direction, said that it would remain a monument to his memory.

Colonel Crosby could not speak too highly of the zeal and enthusiasm of Mr. Gordon and of his remarkable achievement in building at Cartwright not only the Public School but a Parish Hall, a church and a Parsonage. His reputation, he said, had reached to the farthest North and his example was an inspiration to all. Mrs. Gordon, he said, had been tireless in her efforts on behalf of the people by whom she was beloved, and her warm hospitality was something for which she would long be remembered by all who had occasion to visit Cartwright. On behalf of the Grenfell Mission he wished Mr. and Mrs. Gordon every success and happiness.

Lady Allardyce paid a great tribute to the St. Thomas' Women's Mission Society, for their loyal assistance to the Cartwright Mission, and she felt assured that the work would be continued. She told of her visit to Cartwright, and said that Mr. Gordon's loyalty and devotion was an example to every one.

Hon. Dr. Robinson said that he considered it a great privilege to be asked to speak of the work performed by "Cartwright" Gordon, particularly with regard to the public school, a school in which the other Churches which he represented were proud to have been identified. Mr. Gordon had had a vision and through his efforts it had materialized, and he was not only a benefactor to Cartwright, but was an inspiration to all of us.

Miss Doris Withers, at the request of the Rector, then favoured the audience with a song. She was heartily applauded and responded with an encore which was also delightfully rendered. The accompaniments were played by Miss M. Williams.

Rev. E. W. E. Godfrey, having referred to the keen interest taken in the Cartwright Mission by the Parish and particularly by the W.H.M.S., expressed his conviction that their efforts in its behalf would continue and that the work so splendidly performed by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon would not be permitted to languish because of any lack of support from them.

On behalf of the W.H.M.S. Mrs. Lewis, the President, said that the zeal and devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon had been an inspiration to the members and that they were proud to have been associated with the work. She pledged the Society to continue its support and as a slight token of the esteem of the W.H.M.S. she presented Mrs. Gordon with a cheque.

Mrs. Gordon, in thanking the President, said that her years at Cartwright had been one of the happiest periods in her life, and she was saying goodbye to it with very deep regret and that the Mission was under a deep debt to the Women's Home Missionary Association, without whose help she and her husband could have accomplished little.

Mr. Robert Watson, the People's Warden, on behalf of the congregation, made a similar presentation to Mr. Gordon, who, in replying, said that in his work he had possessed two great assets. First, the sterling stock among whom he had worked and, secondly, the able and loyal support of the W.H.M.S. Exhorting them to carry on the work for the work's sake, he expressed, on behalf of himself and Mrs. Gordon, his deep gratitude for the many kindnesses received, the generous tokens of their esteem, and the words of praise of the various speakers. In conclusion he thanked all those who had come to bid them goodbye.

Rev. Henry Gordon goes to St. James' Parish, Toxteth, Liverpool, from here, and his work on the Labrador will be continued by Mr. Gabriel.

Gayle Waldrop and Gwendolyn Meux

MARRIED UP IN THE CLOUDS.

A Large Party Witnessed at University Camp, Wedding of Two Popular University of Colorado People—Fine Bouquets, the Table Decorations, a Mountain Lake the Scene of the Honeymoon.

(Saturday, 29th August, 1925).

At University camp on Aug. 29th, Miss Gwendolyn Meux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mews, C.M.G., Deputy Colonial Secretary of Newfoundland, was married to A. Gayle Waldrop, Assistant Professor of Journalism of the University, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Waldrop, Dallas, Texas. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lucius F. Reed under the aspect trees which surround the camp. An informal luncheon was served in the dining room which was decorated with pine boughs and autumn leaves and was warmly lit by the log fire blazing on the hearth. The tables were strewn with pine boughs and autumn leaves.

The wedding cake, which came from Newfoundland, was cut by the bride. During the morning telegrams and messages of congratulations were received by Mr. and Mrs. Waldrop, who left after the luncheon for Fern Lake, where they will begin their honeymoon.

Miss Eleanor Mews, who came from St. John's, Newfoundland, and Dale Waldrop of Dallas, Texas, were attendants. The bride carried a bouquet of butterfly roses.

The list of guests: Miss Eleanor Mews, St. John's, Newfoundland; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Waldrop and son, Dale, Dallas, Tex.; Miss Elizabeth Andrews, Norman, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. William Dale, Corning, Calif.; Miss Imogene Hadley, Florence, Colo.; Mrs. Arthur Penn, Norman, Okla.; Mrs. Elias Cohn and daughters, Regina and Ruth, Boulder; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Crossman and daughter, Grace, Boulder; Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Hargrave, Denver; Dr. Severance Burrage, Boulder; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hutchinson, Boulder; Sam J. Rucker, Osborn, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Lucius F. The wedding is the result of a romance that had its beginning at the University Camp last summer while Miss Meux was teaching art there and painting, and Mr. Waldrop was directing the recreational activities of the summer school. A pretty mountain in the Crater Lake region was named by Mr. Waldrop in honour of Miss Meux and adopted by the Colorado Mountain Club.

The bride has been a member of the Conservatory of Art of the University of Oklahoma for a number of years, and was on the faculty of the University of Colorado Summer School. She has made a great many friends in Boulder and university circles during the two summers that she has been coming here.

Mr. Waldrop has been a member of the University Faculty for three years, coming here from Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex., where he had founded a department of Journalism. His work has been so satisfactory here that he was recently promoted to Assistant Professor.

Mr. Waldrop was graduated with a degree of Bachelor of Arts from Southwestern University, Georgetown, Tex., in 1920. The following year he took a degree of Bachelor of Literature at Columbia University. After working for short time at the New York Bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, he came to the University of Colorado as an instructor in Journalism.—From a Boulder Journal.

WILLYS-OVERLAND.

The Willys-Overland statement showing profits before taxes of $10,596,000 for the first six months of 1925, of which about 70 per cent, or $7,328,000, came in the second quarter bears out the spring predictions of prosperity for the big Toledo company. The balance of $3,268,000 in the second quarter, $46,63 for the first half—explains with the absence of bank borrowings, the resumption of preferred dividends in April, after a lapse from December, 1920.

The extent of Willys-Overland's achievement is best measured by the statement that in the first half year, after allowing for taxes it earned all of its preferred dividends for the year, all of its 2 1/2 per cent back dividends, all of its interest charges and about 75 per cent of the $1,000,000 sinking fund for its $8,000,000 bond issues, and to accomplish this it sacrificed nothing.

Company turned out 109,000 cars the first half year with the second quarter running about 20 per cent ahead of the first. In all last year it turned out only 149,000 cars so that it is likely to top the 1924 total very substantially. And from President Willys' remark, regarding his return from Europe it would seem that efforts will be focussed upon holding sales volume even if profits have to be materially reduced.

Under the circumstances it seems doubtful if any steps are taken in the very immediate future to liquidate the back dividends.

The Law's Long Arm EXCHANGING CRIMINALS.

As a result of the League of Nations and various independent treaties, the apprehension of a criminal in a foreign land is becoming a comparatively simple matter. At one time a man who had committed a crime in this country had merely to cross to Europe to elude his pursuers, for no agreement existed between Britain and European countries to effect his extradition. Now, however, there are only a few small States where the fugitive from justice may live with impunity.

At one time there was no extradition treaty between Great Britain and the Argentine Republic. This fact enabled James Balfour, the financier, to leave this country a few hours before his planned arrest and escape to South America.

Mems. for Madam

Eau-de-Cologne, rosewater, and glycerine mixed together help to whiten the skin.

Freckles can be removed or, at least, rendered less obtrusive, by sponging them twice a day with a weak solution of peroxide of hydrogen.

To effectively free the hair from dandruff shampoo with germicidal soap, obtainable from a chemist. Cleanse the scalp thoroughly with this, and rinse well.

To clean powder, rub it briskly with a cloth moistened with lemon juice and dipped into the ash. For very dirty powder try onion juice mixed with pumice powder.

A cream made by mixing glycerine and one-fourth part of lemon juice with powdered starch is excellent for whitening the hands and keeping them in good condition.

The juice of three lemons, thoroughly mixed with half a cupful of olive oil, makes a good complexion lotion. Apply a little at night, wipe off with a silk handkerchief, and sponge the face with cold water. Repeat the process in the morning. Only a little of the lotion is required at a time.

Old-Time Firm Fails Through Failure to Advertise

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 30.—(Canadian Press)—More than a touch of sentiment is aroused at the passing of the ancient firm of Day & Martin, makers of sheepskin, or hacking as it is commonly known in this country. The stockholders have just resolved on a voluntary winding-up. They all "got-out" very well, and the goodwill, etc. of the old house is taken over by another firm.

Day and Martin got into difficulties some years ago, and it was admitted openly that the falling behind in the race for public favor was almost entirely due to the failure to advertise their goods. How long the firm has existed it is impossible to state with accuracy.

Readers of the Pickwick Papers will remember that Sam Weller was using Day & Martin's hacking on Mr. Jim

A Real Partner

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 30.—(C.P.)—"My wife can do everything that I can," said James L. Clark, assistant director of the American Museum of Natural History. He has twice been to East Africa and he has covered many parts of North America, but this is the first time he has visited British Columbia, where he is to collect specimens of the Osborn caribou. Mrs. Clark has been his companion on all these trips. One does the shooting while the other takes motion pictures. They are going to Wrangell and from there to Telegraph Creek, head of navigation on the Stikine River, where they will outfit for two months in the Cassiar. They will be nearly 40 days on horseback.

Mrs. Clark was one of the first women to go on a hunting trip in Interior East Africa, her husband taking her there on his honeymoon in 1906. In 1921 they returned, alone except for native guides, after big game, and spent two years in East Africa.

Facts

About the size of a starling, yet able to run so swiftly that they can race a horse, three tiny birds have arrived at the Zoo from South Africa.

Barking dogs which become a nuisance can now be "cured" by having their barks removed, as a result of experiments carried out by the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Smoking cigarettes, bobbing her hair, and using lipstick and rouge are among the "luxuries" forbidden to a rising young film "star" by her agreement with a big American producer.

When a case full of Treasury notes was retrieved from the lake at the British Empire Exhibition, the owner was able to prove his claim by giving the number of all the notes. He was a Scotman.

Great Show at the Nickel

Rupert Hughes' Farce One of Season's Funniest Productions.

Somebody once said that laughing makes you fat, but that very hearty convulsions are thinning Consider this premise, all thin people had better stay away from "Excuse Me," which came yesterday at the Nickel Theatre, for this picture is just about the most girly reducing entertainment of the year.

"Excuse Me" was a famous stage farce by Rupert Hughes, and this indefatigable worker adapted his play and supervised its production for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization. The laughs brought by this picture are not just occasional squeaks, but continual roars.

"Excuse Me" is swift, joyous farce, and it is deftly acted by an excellent cast. Norma Shearer, played Marjorie Newton, a society girl, who is persuaded by her fiancé, Harry Mallory (Conrad Nagel), to take a chance of finding a minister on the train, so that she can accompany him as his wife to his new Navy post in the Philippines.

Of course, the difficulty of finding the minister forms the centre of the amusing plot, but other interesting trouble and trouble-makers enter in. One of the latter is Francine, an old friend of Harry's, played by Renee Adoree, who is running away from her husband. She plans to fool any detectives that may be around by having Harry pose as her husband. Her precocious child calls him "papa," just as Marjorie comes upon them.

Bert Roach appears as a bibulous travelling salesman, and his acting is excruciatingly funny. Walter Hiers was never before as amusing as he is in the role of the long-suffering and over-curious porter.

Promenade

Band Concert

The promenade band concert held in the Prince's Rink last night under the joint management of the C.L.B. and C.C.C. Bands, was successful in every particular. Both bands were in good form and there was a continual programme of music, so that there was not a dull moment throughout the three hours. The dance music consisted of the latest hits and the programme was varied to suit all patrons, and a large number participated in the dances, making the scene a happy one. The closing item was a one-step entitled "Striking Fire," which was played by the massed bands. The bands announce that the second joint promenade concert will be held on next Friday night when the programme will, they hope, again please all patrons. The proceeds of both concerts go towards funds for providing uniforms for both of the bands.

Linotype Operator

Has 2 Errorless Days

The Daily Tribune of Hastings, Neb., boasts of a linotype operator, Jack P. Turley, who recently turned out a whole day's string without making a single mistake. He not only had one errorless day, but two, which came about two weeks apart. In between times his corrections ranged from two to 12 a day.

Turley made these records on an ancient and honorable Model 15. On one of the perfect days Turley's linometer registered 1672 lines, while on the other he stepped his string up to 1718 lines in eight hours.

What other newspaper can offer a candidate for the Errorless Day Club? So well did Henry Garmerszell, foreman of the Tribune composing room, think of Turley's good work that he ran a story in the paper as follows:

"There is a new club in Hastings, but so far it has but one member. There are potential members wherever linotypes are in operation, but so far as known Mr. Turley, a member of the Hastings Tribune linotype crew, is the only man to qualify in the new organization, which will be known as the 'Errorless Day Club.'"

"On two different occasions Turley turned out a whole day's string of type without a single mistake. On one day he set 1672 lines of reading matter and on another day 1718 lines. As there are an average of 35 letters and spaces in a line, this means that Turley hit the keys of the linotype approximately 59,000 times without an error. His two errorless days came about two weeks apart. Had they come together he could be credited with 118,000 strokes without a mistake.

"Like its prototype, the 'Hole in One Club' of the golfers, the new organization promises to be a bit exclusive in membership. Old time printers have never heard of any other operator going a whole day without an error."—Linotype News.

Lord Inchcape and Reds

Opening a fete at Glenapp Castle in aid of a new public hall for the adjacent district of Ballantrae, Arr-shire, Viscount Inchcape said:

We hear a good deal about Bolsheviki in these days. They are madmen who want to upset the whole Constitution under which we live, their desire being to bring about in our country what has happened in Russia. They are a blatant few, and if I read our people rightly they will have none of their nostrums. There is no more democratic country in the world than Scotland, where it is open to every man, by intelligent industry, honesty, thrift and sobriety, to rise to almost any position in the Empire.

Sir Robert Horne said that so long as the country had the benefit of free discussion rather than the menace of force, so long should we be able to resist the disastrous doctrines of Bolshevism. A public hall for such a purpose was a necessity to every democratic country.

Long Hair Will Come Back

Montreal, Que. (C.P.)—"Long hair will soon be in style again, though I cannot state even approximately the date at which it will begin to be a general fashion," said J. M. Perron, of Toronto, Secretary of the National Hairdressers' Association of Canada, speaking of proposed alterations in dressing of women's hair.

The change is taking place in England and France. It will be hard for the Canadian girls to grow used to the idea at first, and so they won't bother much about the kinds of ornaments they will choose for their locks, for some time yet. Among the wealthy people transformations will be very much worn. Having been abroad and having been in contact with people who know the profession thoroughly, I am safe in saying that in Canada we have as good dressers and workers as in any of the other countries. In Canadian hair-dressing parlors I have seen graduates from schools of England, Belgium, France and the United States.

Long Lost Parent Found

Watford, Ont. (C.P.)—An interesting story is told of the first settler of Hamilton, Robert Lund, whose descendant, Mrs. Mary Jane Stapleford, of this place, has just celebrated her 100th birthday. Her direct descendants number 128. Mrs. Stapleford, speaking of Robert Lund, says that he, born on the banks of the Delaware River, took sides with the British when the Revolutionary War broke out. Carrying despatches, he was severely wounded and the same night Indians burnt his cabin. His family searched in vain for him and then followed Loyalists to New Brunswick, while Lund, believing his wife and children murdered by the Indians, fled to Canada. He settled first near Niagara and then, in 1778, taking up 300 acres on the site of Hamilton. Several years later his family moved to Niagara and heard of Lund, walked to Hamilton, and found the long-lost father.

A Little Lesson From Two Toys

"My toy can go faster than yours." one of my little boys triumphantly told his brother. And it was true. He had a toy automobile which, when wound up, went round in circles at a great rate. The other fellow had a tractor. It had to be wound up by laboriously rubbing the wheels along the ground. But it could drag two tiny wagons over rough ground and up a hill. Its owner replied that his toy was the better one because it could pull trucks uphill. As I sat watching and listening, I couldn't but liken the two toys to human beings. You have seen fellows who start off at a brilliant pace, without having undergone any laborious preparation. But, somehow, they go mostly round in circles and soon peter out. Other men, who have spent more time and effort in getting ready, start off slowly, but they contrive to overcome obstacles, and to climb steadily up the hill of success. Is it not more true to-day than ever before that "the race is not to the swift" but to those who make the soundest preparations and

Reports From the Salmon Pools

WEEK ENDING AUG. 29TH.

Little River, Cadroy—2 rods, 10 salmon, 10 to 25 lbs. each.

Grand River, Cadroy—No rods from Mouth to Falls, water low; from Falls to Forks and North Branch, 4 rods, 13 salmon, averaging 6 lbs.; South Branch, 3 rods, 7 salmon, 11 to 25 lbs. each; no salmon going up now; lots of salmon in Winter Pool and Little Trout Pool.

Highlands River—3 rods, 4 salmon, 3 to 10 lbs. each.

Crabbe's River—No one fishing, water low; August run of salmon would not go up, but the upper pools have lots of salmon in them 12 miles up the river.

Middle Barachok River—Still guarding upper pools where salmon are; no rods.

Robinson's River—No fishermen on river.

Fischel's River—Everything O.K.; nobody on river; more fish than last year.

Flat Bay Brook—3 rods, 28 salmon, 4 to 9 lbs. each; lots of fish; saw 1 cow and 1 bull moose; good sign of bears.

Barachok River—All salmon gone up river; no one fishing.

Harry's River—No fish taken during week; river high; salmon plentiful.

Humber River—This season's fishing best for 15 years; several salmon taken at Little Rapids on the 27th weighing from 20 to 25 lbs. each and one 15 lbs. taken later; lots of salmon keep moving, probably on account of so much timber driving down river.

East River, Main Arm, Bonne Bay—1 rod, 1 salmon, 6 lbs.; salmon all gone to spawning pools; trout plentiful, ranging from 3 to 4 lbs. each; river in good condition.

Portland Creek Rivers—Plenty salmon; water high; no one fishing.

River of Ponds—1 rod, 1 salmon, 6 lbs.; birds more plentiful than other years; no violations reported.

East and Torrent Rivers, Hawke's Bay—2 rods, 6 salmon, averaging 7 lbs. each.

Castle River—Fish plentiful; no one fishing; birds plentiful.

Hare Bay—Lots of birds, more than warden has seen for good many years.

Canada Bay—Brooks alright and warden reports seeing a lot of game.

Sop's Arm, White Bay—Water low; salmon all gone up.

Harry's, Middle and Southern Arms Brooks—Warden partially paralyzed while on duty at Middle Arm; place taken by his son; nothing else to report.

Tommy's and Sop's Arms' and Badger and Seal Bays' Rivers—Nothing new since last report.

Indian Brook, Hall's Bay—Most of salmon have gone over the Falls and those in pools now will not rise to fly; good many trout caught; water lower than at any time during the summer.

South and West Brooks, Hall's Bay—Water has risen during the week; seen more salmon than last week; trout scarcer around mouth but more plentiful above; no one fishing; rabbits still plentiful; few birds; squid in abundance at mouth of Squid Brook.

Exploits River and Stoney Brook—6 rods, 15 salmon, 3 to 6 lbs. each; water a bit higher in Stoney Brook and few more salmon going up; quite a lot of salmon lying in the pools all along the Exploits River from the four mile rapid.

Northern Arm Brook—Water low; salmon seemed to go up earlier than usual; some trout caught.

Lewisporte, Scissors Cove and Campbellton Rivers—No one fishing.

Gander River—No one fishing; water low; lots of game birds around the river, more plentiful than last year.

Ragged Hr. River—Salmon and trout practically all gone up river; water very high.

Indian Bay—Salmon all gone up river; nets all taken up; catch about the same as last year; saw a good many salmon while walking the Brooks; couple of parties did well fishing on the river.

Traverse and Middle Brooks—All salmon gone up these Brooks now; water low; rabbits and birds fairly plentiful.

Gambe River—2 rods, 15 salmon, average 8 1/2 lbs. each; large catches trout, averaging 1 1/2 lbs. each; river low; fish plentiful.

Terra Nova River—Very few salmon seen going in now; must have passed in; heavy rain on 28th raised water; 2 rods, 5 salmon, 4 and 5 lbs. each.

Fort Blandford—Nothing new to report; rivers very low; no salmon to be seen outside.

Salmon and N.W. Brooks, Trinity—River rising; salmon pretty well all gone in; no rods.

N.E. River, Trepassey—Greatest flood ever seen on August 20th; no one fishing.

N.W. River, Trepassey—Salmon plentiful at Falls; strong current all week.

Salmoner River—Very few salmon seen at Mouth; none at Pilsent's Falls; lots of fish at Murphy's Falls; river very high; no rods reported.

N.E. River, Placentia—3 rods, 10 salmon, 4 1/2 and 6 lbs. each.

North Hr. River, Placentia Bay—

Water lower, trout plentiful up river; fishing good.

Come by Chance River—No fish taken in lower part; salmon and trout gone up.

Black River and Piper's Hole—No one fishing; think fish all gone up.

Cape Roger and Non Such Rivers—Water lower and not many salmon to be seen going in.

Mortier Bay Rivers—Not much doing on the rivers now.

Salmon Brook, Burin—Salmon all passed up.

Garnish River—River still in good condition; salmon breaching all the time; 1 taken, 6 lbs.; also 2 dozen fair sized trout.

Burnt Islands Brook—3 rods, 47 trout, from 1 1/2 to 2 lbs. each.

Ile aux Morts Brook—2 rods, 49 trout, 1 to 1 1/2 lbs. each.

Grand Bay Brook—No person fishing during week; most all salmon gone up; river very low; quite a lot of salmon gone up this season and nothing to hinder them getting to spawning grounds.

Are Executives Paid Too Much

Are executives paid too much? Many who do only routine duties unquestionably are. The prospect is that there is to be a rigorous weeding out of this class during the next few years. The presence in an organization and on the payroll of a superfluity of mediocre executives drawing not-moderate salaries has a bad influence upon the attitude of workers and workers are quick to size up executives not worth their keep.

The announcement by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation that three high salaried executives are to retire and that "the respective offices would be abolished, and the duties distributed to other officers of the corporation," is likely to be followed by similar announcements by other large organizations. Often men are engaged at large salaries to undertake responsible duties which, through changes in conditions, become relatively unimportant duties. But the men are retained year after year although not earning their pay.

Again, many executives, after a while, train a lieutenant to do their tasks and then take life very easy.

On the other hand there is one class of executive who often is not adequately rewarded: those responsible for sales. Speaking broadly, it has become easier to make than to market merchandise. Yet, the highest salaries usually are paid to those concerned with production.

Under modern conditions, it ordinarily takes more brains, more effort, more resourcefulness to distribute successfully than to produce successfully. Readjustment of executives' salaries and of executive personnel unquestionably is coming. Part of the money saved by eliminating deadwood will go to livewire sales executives. And the net results will be profitable to stockholders.

Have you any deadwood in your organization?—Forbes Magazine (N.Y.)

A Deal in Millions

BERLIN—Reuter's correspondent here learns that a gigantic financial deal, probably the biggest since the war, is now being negotiated. It is a question of the sale of the entire property in the Spanish zone in Morocco and in the Rif territory of the famous Mannesmann brothers to an Anglo-American syndicate, the names of the members of which are being kept secret for the present.

The property, which is of vast extent, includes harbour works at Alhucemas and other coastal ports, zinc, sulphur, and other mines in the interior, and large tracts of agricultural land.

The reason for the sale is stated

On Women in Business

"To-day a woman's chance of rising from the ranks to a position of real guiding authority in any big industrial concern is practically nil." Lady Rhonda told a Daily Chronicle interviewer recently. "And it will remain so until both fathers and the commercial community in general get used to the idea that there is an immense amount of talent for business organization among women, and that it is perfectly natural they should be given the chance to use it."

The Crown Raises Rents

"The figures given in Parliament recently as to the Crown's revenue from Great Street illustrate most strikingly the difference between London to-day and the London of the Regency. The annual rents received from Nash's Street under the old leases were £26,388 9s. 7d. When the work of reconstruction is completed, it is estimated that the new rents will yield about £450,000. Such is the difference in the rental values, created not, in the main, by the enterprise of particular persons, but by the vast growth of the Empire's metropolis," says the Daily Express.

"In this case it flows into the pockets of the community, as represented by the central Government. But similar increases elsewhere in London have mostly enriched private individuals. Surely it is a mistake which a provident community would do more to rectify than we have."

Youthful Bandit Has Queer Excuse

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—When Fred Campbell, alias Leonard, a Vancouver youth, entered the Canadian Bank of Commerce, east end branch, Powell Street, Thursday night, he had no intention of staging a hold-up, but was only seeking a revolver, according to the story he told the police authorities Saturday.

Campbell, who was captured by the manager of the institution, said he got into the bank about 10 o'clock Thursday, secured two guns and just as he was about to leave heard the voices of passing pedestrians; whereupon he decided to wait a more opportune time. He sat down in a comfortable chair and dropped asleep and when he awoke there were many people passing the bank so the youthful desperado decided to wait and attempt the hold-up.

Tropical African Facts

"I define Tropical Africa as being that central portion of the Continent which lies to the south of the Great Sahara Desert and to the north of the Zambesi River," said the Hon. W. Ormsby-Gore, M.P., in a speech at the Royal Society of Arts meeting recorded in its journal.

"This vast fertile and well-watered stretch of the earth's surface comprises over 5,000,000 square miles (Great Britain is 90,000 square miles). Of this area nearly half is under British administration, being comprised of 1,000,000 square miles for the five British territories in East Africa, 1,000,000 square miles for the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and half a million square miles for the British West African Colonies."

"After Great Britain, with two and a half million square miles, comes France with 1,500,000 square miles in West Africa; Belgium third with 900,000 square miles in the Congo; Portugal fourth and Spain fifth. The British territories have an approximate aggregate population of 42,000,000, i.e., about the same as Great Britain. The French area has a population of about 12,000,000, as also have the Belgian territories."

GIFTS WITH A STRING ON THEM.

We were comparing notes on a motor trip we took last summer with some friends who had gone over the same route.

"Did you see the moonlight cave?" we asked. "No, we didn't!"

"I like that," said Henry. "I'd like to give you pleasure and I would stop anywhere you want."

"Why didn't you tell me you had to stop there? You know very well I would have stopped if you had."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

"Wait," said Henry. "I don't want to stop here. I want to go on."

tell me before? That's another thing about you women, you never tell a man you want to stop anywhere until he's half a mile past. Sit still, I'm going to back up. I'll bet it isn't the place you want anyway. You never do have any idea of locality. It's probably 100 miles out the other way. All right now. Don't stay an hour, will you. We've got to get to Jackson's some time before dark you know."

On the way back he asked his wife if she still wanted to go down the brook road she had heard was so pretty, and when she had the temerity to say she did, he delivered another harangue on similar lines. "You women are always wanting to go off on some new road that may be rotten. They said it was all right? Yes, that's what they always say. Besides that was last fall. Roads don't stay the same forever, you know. They always go that way? Yes, I don't doubt they do, and I'll bet he has new springs on his car every season. Of course I'll take you down that road if you want to go."

She Had Changed Her Mind. But his wife assured him she didn't want to go down that road. Strange as it may seem.

Yes, I can see very plainly why she doesn't ask for what she wants. Even when he has expressed his entire willingness to give it to her.

I call that man an Indian giver. He would doubtless wonder why, and think I did him a great injustice.

An Indian giver is one who gives gifts and then asks for them back again. Isn't one who gives a privilege and then cancels all the pleasure of it by making the person who has accepted it feel thoroughly uncomfortable a kind of Indian giver? And a very trying kind?

Receding Glacier Proves Another B.C. Port

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 30.—British Columbia now has a new port at the northwestern tip of the province open for twelve months in the year through the recession of the Grand Pacific Glacier, according to J. P. Forde, district engineer of the Federal Department of Public Works.

The port is at the head of Tarr Inlet, one mile beyond the international boundary line dividing Alaska and British Columbia and on a Canadian territory. While the water is open the year around the country back of it is ice-covered and further investigation will be necessary to determine if a road can be built to make use of the new discovery.

Mr. Forde is now preparing his report for the authorities at Ottawa on investigations and consequently could not disclose at this stage the full significance of his find.

The Grand Pacific Glacier has receded a total of sixty-five miles in 130 years, the date of the last survey of that region. Moving back at the rate of half a mile a year the ice field has laid open a strip of navigable water which does not freeze over. It is now possible for vessels to sail into a Canadian port at the tip of British Columbia and if the hinterland proves accessible the discovery may be the means of opening up the northern, which heretofore, has been impossible.

The importance of the discovery lies chiefly in the possibility or otherwise of connecting the port with the Yukon by rail, thus obviating the necessity of depending on the port of Skagway, Alaska, as the port of entry for all shipments to the Yukon.

Where the Gold Goes

The world's output of gold is enormous. Thirty-five years ago it was little more than twenty millions a year; now it is over one hundred millions. Even so there is not enough to go round. The reason for this is the quantity of the precious metal used in arts and crafts, and the even larger quantities hoarded and lost.

Jewellers are the heaviest consumers. Every year they work up nearly a hundred and fifty tons of gold, scarcely an ounce of which is ever recovered. Gold leaf absorbs huge amounts—in Britain alone some forty thousand ounces a year. Vast quantities of gold are used for plating other metals and for ornamenting pottery.

But China and India are the worst offenders. A form of piety in India is to re-gild the dome of some religious building. Such an operation often absorbs £10,000 worth of gold. Not long ago an Indian rajah used seventeen thousand sovereigns to form centres to each minute pane in the windows of his palace.

Between two and three millions sterling in gold vanish yearly in India, and quite as much in China. This is all buried, and as a rule the owner dies without revealing the secret of his hiding-place, so that the gold is lost for ever.

Prince Praises Argentine Skill

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 31.—(C.F.P.)—The British colony had the Prince of Wales as their guest of honor at a banquet Saturday night on the eve of the conclusion of his official stay in Buenos Aires. The banquet was held in Prince George's Hall, a handsome building erected by the British residents in commemoration of the visit of King George as a young Prince in 1891.

Most of the speeches paid tribute to the traditional virtues of the British race and the friendly relations between the two countries as evidenced by the celebration of the centenary of the treaty of amity and commerce. But the Prince devoted much of his talk to sports and sportsmanship and the skill of the Argentine polo team.

He spoke also of the generous hospitality of Argentina and made reference to the Welsh colony at Chubut, "who," he said, "have maintained their National traditions and to whose members I send my best wishes and an expression of sincere regret that I have been unable to visit that distant outpost of the principality."

The British Minister, Sir Billy B. F. Alston, who proposed the toast to the Prince of Wales, declared that President de Alvear and his Government could not have done anything better calculated to please both countries than to extend an invitation to the Prince to visit Argentina.

BORROWED BOOKS. Long I've wrung my hands and sorrowed in the shadows of my den, for the books my friends have borrowed never come to me again. And my friends are splendid fellows, everyone a shining star; and my old heart warms and mellow when I think when I see them.

They are, Jipps, a gentleman and scholar, lives in the adjacent shack; if he asked me for a dollar he'd be sure to pay it back. If I lent my sausage grinder to my neighbor, Chivern Chee, he would need no stern reminder, but would bring it back to me. Neighbors borrow all my chateaus, borrow hammers, wrenches and jacks, borrow shears and baby rattles, and they always bring them back. But I have a sigh of sorrow when they come for Borrow or the yarns of Water Scott; when they'd have the rather emely tale that Zola used to tell, or the mystic pomes of Shelley, or the works of Harold Bell. I would treat them all, with pleasure, to the contents of my shack, but these books are things I treasure, and I'll never get them back. Oh, my friends, are perfect ladies when they are not perfect gents; they would see themselves in Cadiz ere they'd beat me of a cent; they'll return my congress garters, and my hat and buttonhooks, they'll return my nutmeg grater, but they won't return my books. Now my shelves seem all forsaken, all the pomes are gone away; where are now the works of Bacon, where the books by Bertha Clay?

What It Means to Fire a Man. To the man of ambition and vision, the loss of his job may mean the wrecking of a long-cherished desire to get on in the world, to attain a position which counts among his associates. His ambition may have been to give his children a better education than he himself enjoyed, which ambition is thwarted. Children may have to leave school to replace his lost earnings. Perhaps he has been buoyed up by a vision of prosperity in which he and his wife might take things easier in their mature years and live without worries in their declining days. The loss of his job means a thwarting of all these ambitions, and the loss of these ambitious leaves a void in his life which is very likely to be filled by uncertainty, worry, suspicion, hate, and possibly despair.

Purely selfish interests, therefore, impel any business concern to avoid firing a man just as far as possible. But larger and higher interests are involved. Any company whose management has a due regard for human values in terms of the human emotion and human psychology concerned in the employ-employee relation will fire a man only after every means of fitting him into the organization has failed.

Every man, be he a horon or a genius, or in the wide reaches between these extremes, has abilities which can be used in a large organization where there are frequently as many as a thousand different jobs, each with different requirements. To fire a man is frequently an admission that the company is either unable or unwilling to make the analysis of his job and its men necessary to fit each man into the niche where he can best serve himself and the company.

The Plimsoll Line in France

SPENDING LIMIT SHOULD BE FIXED. (By Lt.-Col. Cuthbert James M.P.) While the preaching of the doctrine of rigid economy in our national and local administration is a daily habit among all sections of the community, our practice leaves much to be desired. Whenever retrenchment is effected it is more than balanced by increased expenditure. Payors of rates and taxes are hindered from saving and thwarted in their desire to improve their business or trade.

Committees by the score sit and deliberate, formulating proposed economies. From time to time profligacy and waste are pilloried in the Press. Yet all the time the burden of taxation gets no lighter, and future comments grow. It seems evident, therefore, that instead of piecemeal savings, simpler and more certain remedies must be devised.

Fifty years ago Mr. Samuel Plimsoll was vainly attempting to pilot a Bill through the House of Commons to prevent the overloading of ships. In the year 1876 the Merchant Shipping Act, giving effect to the principle of the Plimsoll Line, was passed through Parliament.

Is it outside the limit of practical politics to apply this principle to taxation? Surely not. The safe percentage figures of taxation in relation to income could be given with almost mathematical certainty by a group of actuaries, who could also tell you the corresponding figures which, when reached, would convert taxation from a benefit to the State to a real source of national danger.

I submit that, in consultation with actuarial experts, the Government should, by Act of Parliament, fix a definite safe-load line for national taxation, this line being calculated on a percentage basis of taxation to income; that, in collaboration with the banks, insurance companies, chambers of commerce, and the Institute of Chartered Accountants, the Treasury should annually estimate the mean national income, and see that in the framing of the annual Budget the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the departments of State be compelled to conform to these figures. When the safe-load line was in danger of being exceeded all departments of State should be called upon to reduce their budgets by a predetermined and statutory percentage.

For the purposes of this letter proposal the departments of State should be divided into two main groups—departments of necessity and departments of luxury. The brunt of retrenchment would have to fall mainly on these latter, such as the departments of Overseas Trade and the Ministry of Transport. We have done without them and could again.

If these reductions were statutory, arbitrary, and compulsory, the responsibility for adapting would fall upon the shoulders of the departments themselves. There would be no necessity for committees to sit, and in the meantime some small opportunity might be given to the nation to live within its means.—Daily Mail.

Four Deaths in Alps

PARIS, Monday.—The French Alps have been the scene of two fatal mountaineering accidents recently. Three of a party of six French climbers from Grenoble who were attempting one of the most difficult of the French Alpine climbs, that of the Cols des Ecrins (11,025 ft.) in the lofty Meije group, lost their lives. The climbers, roped together, had almost reached the summit and were passing over an ice-ledge, when two of them slipped and the rope suddenly snapped under the strain.

The accident was seen from the valley, and it was at first thought that the whole party had been killed. Guides were at once sent out, and it was found that the leading three of the party were safe.

On the same day Mme. Dickmayr, a writer whose works are well known in France and who has been prominently identified with Socialist research work in France, was killed by a fall while climbing the Petit Mont Blanc (8,785 ft.) at Pralognan-la-Valnoise, in the Savoie Department.

Photographs have been taken by means of a solid steel ball in place of an ordinary lens. The light goes round, instead of through, this novel metal lens.

Banknotes recently circulated in "Republic" by the Riffs were printed in three languages. First came, in English, "State Bank of the Riffs"; then an Arabic inscription, followed by a statement of the note's value in both English and French.

"GIFTS THAT LAST."

Periodically through the newspapers we read of many unfortunate accidents which occur on the water front. Why not have an easy mind and take out a Workmen's Compensation Insurance with our well known Company, who issue adequate covers against liability imposed by the Laws of our country.

We handle all classes of Insurance except Life.
