THE SPIRIT OF PROTESTANTISM. Too much restiveness is being shown in some quarters over the reported utterances of Father Bernard Vaughan concerning the comparative merits of the Protestant and Catholic forms of Christian faith. After all, there was nothing particularly novel in his individual opinion, which, indeed, is common to members of his church. It simply records conclusions which are inevitable consequences of Roman Catholic dogma, only the place and occasion of its deliverance endowed Father Vaughan's prelection with fictitious importance. As to his main thesis, the Protestant reformation was really much more than either a negation or a dissent. In appearance a revolt against a theroly materialistic conception of Christianity, it affirmed its true spirituality, and that without which it cannot fulfil its highest purpose-individual liberty. Protestant churches in their present shape may or may not endure, but the spirit of Protestantism cannot be destroyed, and that spirit never was more powerful or working to greater purpose than to-day.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND COAL LANDS.

President Taft's speech to the conservation congress at St. Paul was marked by strong common sense and thoro realization of the nature of the problems involved and remedies available by the laws of the United States. Perhaps the most interesting and relevant part of his address, to Canadians at least, was that dealing with the reserved coal lands. In this connection he strongly recommended what The World has on various occasions urged, that the state should deal with these areas as private proprietors do-let them on lease under conditions fixing a rental, and a royalty, specifying the character of the work to be done, providing for the safety of employes and denying the right to transfer the lease except with the written consent of the government authorities, so that this might be withheld in cases where it is proposed to transfer the leasehold :0 persons interested in establishing a coal monopoly. "As one-third of all the coal supply," said the ex-president, "is held by the government, it seems wise that it should retain such control over the mining and the sale, as the relation of lessor to lessee furnishes." The World thinks that this principle should apply to all provincial mineral lands, and that the lessees should be the working company. In this day speculation and over-capitalization would be eliminated to the advantage both of the public and the shareholders. There is no good reason why the government should act differently from a private proprietor or be less solicitous to have the mineral properties of the state properly safeguarded and

An exhibit that is attracting the atention of all classes of people visit-ng the Canadian National Exhibition, of the Canadian Independent Telephone Company, Limited. O those who have telephone communi-tion with their neighbors, the busin houses they deal with, with profess al men such as doctors, lawyers, etc., and in fact in many directions too numerous to mention, realize to the and in fact in many directions too numerous to mention, realize to the fullest extent the value of a telephone service. The man who has a telephone in his house is able, at a moment's no-tice, to get in touch with the world outside without leaving his own house, and the saving of time which results is of almost inestimable value. And then again in cases of emergency, such as a need for the doctor, or a call for aid in case of fire, the telephone is the best mechanical friend a man can nave. This applies to everyone-those who live in cities and those who dwell in the rural districts-but it is the people who live in the rural districts who are really in a position to appreciate the telephone and the multitudinous ad-vantages that it affords to those who enjoy its use. The rural independent telephone system is to-day a part of our country life. It brings the farmer into direct touch with the city and into direct touch with the city and with his market, and this means to him a great saving of time and effort, and insures him against any emergency that may arise when the quick trans-mission of a message means much to him. A Comprehensive Display. The exhibit of the Ganadian Inde-pendent Telephone Company is, per-haps, the best of its kind that one could imagine. Finished telephones of the most modern type for all purposes are to be seen, including desk and wall sets; large and small switchboards for all kinds of service, particularly four and eight party selective boards, and together with this the construction of the telephone is shown in all its stages. the telephone is shown in all its stages, from the raw material to the finished product, and while perhaps the process product, and while pernaps the process of manufacture is not of any great in-terest to the average telephone user. it enables the prospective buyer or buyers of an equipment for a telephone service to see exactly what quality they are getting, and to see the kind of workmanship that is put into the inthey are getting, and to see the kind of workmanship that is put into the in-struments and parts. A telephone is a more or less delicately constructed instrument, and while with care it does not easily get out of order, the work-manship that is put into the various instruments on a service makes con-siderable for the character of the zer-vice. During the past year this company has been busily engaged in redesigning and perfecting its instruments, and it is safe to say that no instrument on the market to-day is superior to that manufactured by the Canadian Inde-pendent Telephone Company, which is the only independent company in Can-ada manufacturing telephone equip-

Nearly all the work is press. work, and this insures a uniformity of quality, size and workmanship that can only be obtained in this way, and this is an essential feature of telephone supplies where repairs have to be made and new machines of the same type are required. A feature of this company not4to be overlooked is the fact that they are in a position to take in hand rural dis-tricts desiring to secure a telephone service, giving advice that only an ex-perience such as they have had can make possible, and superintending th-installing of the system from its com-mencement to its completion. This is a factor that should be of more than or-dinary interest to many who are inter-ested in the independent telephone-movement. The men who manufacture the in-struments shown at this exhibit are the same men that manufacture the parts of the Lorimer automatic ma-chine telephone system, and this fact of itself is a guarantee of the fighest workmanship being put into all the magneto telephone instruments manu-factured by this company. A sight probably never before wit-nessed by those who were present in the vicinity of St, James Church this porning, was that of fully three thous-and members of religious orders, who filled the church at the solemn mass said for their especial benefit. Curlous to many, tho not to Montreal, must have been the numerous black robed and while bonneted sisters of charity, the grey gowned nuns of the Hotel Dieu, the brown garbed Franciscan, with the cord of St. Francis girding his habit and the sandals alone covering habit and the sandals alone covering his bare feet. A Pretty Scene. The fact that the meeting was un-der the auspices of the weaker sex was guarantee for the tastefulness of was guarantee for the tastefulness of its environment. The pretty platform was draped with the papal flag, and potted ferns and foliage adorned the footlights. While the seating was in progress the ladies, true to their re-putation, chatted incessantly and tried to squeeze themselves into every avail-able coign of vantage. ' When the meeting opened the plat-form contained a goodly number of churchmen, amongst whom were sev-eral bishops and archbisheps, wearing their long red cloaks, and adding to the picturesqueness of the scene. In the audience were many of the visiting and resident priests and members of priests from all over the American con-tinent. From the sanctuary the papal legate addressed the multitude, every ear be-ing bent to receive his message. His grace of Montreal also added encoura-ing words of appreciation and encour-agement. The sanctuary was a scene of beauty, the gorgeous scarlet and gold of the vestments and the costly appointments of the altar being in strong contrast with the sombre garb-ed congregation, who feasted on its beauty. Crowds 'were assembled, as usual, as the church emptied itself of its unique congregation, and many curious comments were heard from the lips of strangers, unused to the relig-ious life of the City of Montreal. Some of the papers read at the morn-ing session were: "Faith in the Eu-charist and Modern Unbelief." by Bis-hop McDonald of Victoris, B.C.; "Sur-pliced Choirs." by Rev. William Finn. C.S.R.; "The Eucharist and the First Canadian Misisonaries," by Rev. Thos. J. Campbell, S.J. New York; and "Communion Among the Working Classes," by Rev. E. S. Fitzgerald. Holyoke, Mass. Visits Italian Colony. There was a very successful demon-stration to-day at the church of the Italian colony, Dorchester-street east, some 2000 sons and daughters of sunny Italy gathered to do honor to the Pope's legate. Cardinal Vannutelli was moved to tears as a little school girl presented a bouquet. His eminence, speaking in Italian, declared that at no recent eucharistic congress held in the old world, had 'he Pope's representative been received with such open-handed enthusiasm us has been the case since the legate land-firis in large centres of the world. The census report, showing 356,000 balts grants in the close is inned to Sept. 1, against 338,000 last year, and 402,000 in 1998, had little effect 'on the local market, altho the detailed figmes confirmed the theory that the crop, with the exception of Southern Texas, is several weeks late. Bullish speculation aras fot in evidence and the market promises to finded conditions and the early movement operating against an advance. Irregularity is to be expected until the spot demand broadens enough to absorb early offerings, and the market promises to continue in the trading position, with the tendency toward a lower level.

BECHATS ON CHANGE

Erickson Perkins & Co. wired J. G. Beaty the following: As we anticipat-ed, the government crop report was a good one, altho stocks went off a little when the news came out. Then prices rallied as much as they lost and closed fairly steady, but generally lower. A feature of the day was a break in more low priced specialties. This sort of thing always disturbs sentiment. According to the government crop re-port corn stands to have an output of some 2.943,000,000, or fully 170,000,000 more than last year, unless reduced from now on by frost. Even allowing for a liberal damage, it would appear that the output will be larger than last year. Both spring wheat and oats have improved. The total wheat crop promises to be very good, considering the great loss in the spring wheat belt. The action of stocks to-day appeared to show smaller liquidation and the reaching of a dead level, whereat in-vestors are contented to hold. The short interest is apparently increased.
