NINETEENTH YEAR

THE BANK ROBBERY

It is the Only Topic of Conversation in Banking Circles, and is a Puzzle to Police, Bank Officials and Everybody Else—All the Theorizers are Nonplussed—Bank Men Decline to Talk—What Greer Thinks.

The big bank robbery in Winnipeg was the one topic of conversation in bank circles in the city yesterday. Like part of the swag got by the Napane bank robbery, the notes taken are what are called "reserve fund," being kept in the treasury department, and not handled by the teller at all.

An order has been issued from the head office of the Missouri Bank to all its branches to take the numbers of the bills in their possession. By this means a list of the missing notes can be got. But it will take time, and very likely the whole swag will be circulated before the missing numbers are ascertained.

A Capable Manager.
Mr. T. B. Phelps, manager of the robbed bank, was manager of the Toronto Junction branch a few years ago. He is spoken of in the highest terms, and his transfer to Winnipeg was a tribute to his abilities.

No notification of the robbery has as yet been received by the local managers, but as members of the Bankers' Association they are bound to do all in their power to trace the missing notes, and the $25,000 in clearing house certificates will doubtless be turned up, as they are large notes and never used except in business relations among banks. For a man to present a note of $100 or $10,000 would be to arouse instant suspicion. Of the $37,000 there is little hope of recovery.

ALL IS MYSTERY.

Bank Officials, Police and Everybody Else at Sea—No Explainable Theory.

Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—Interesting developments in the Missouri Bank robbery were expected this morning by the hundreds of citizens who have been startled by the magnitude of the affair and lost in the mystery that surrounds it. These have not been forthcoming, however, and the public remains as much in the dark as before. The public are not the only persons mystified, but the bank officials and the police working on the case are entirely at sea. No theory seems capable of explaining as to how anyone could have gained admission to the well-guarded treasury, let alone carry off its entire contents. An effort is being made to get the numbers of all the notes of the Missouri Bank that are in circulation, in the hope of ascertaining the sums of stolen bills, as such information will be of great assistance in tracing them. The money was in the treasury on Wednesday, Sept. 28. At least, when the treasury was opened that afternoon the clerks said that the money was intact as to its bulk, although they did not count it. Tuesday afternoon last the treasury was opened for the purpose of making a deposit, and the compartment was found to be empty.

Five Combinations.

To open the compartment five combinations had to be known, and a key possessed. Moreover, two men were to be at the bank at night, for the express purpose of guarding the money. The lock combination and the vault itself presented no signs of having been forced in any manner, and whoever committed the robbery must have known the combinations. Chief Constable McEneaney was immediately notified. Each member of the bank staff was carefully questioned, and each firmly protested that he knew absolutely nothing of the crime. It seems almost impossible that the bank employees could have been concerned in the robbery, for there were five combinations to be mastered, and none of the employees knew more than one combination.

Inside Door Double Locked.

Besides the five combination locks, one key lock has to be opened to enter the treasury. The final door opening into the compartment has two combination locks. The men are required to open this door. One of the combinations is supposed to be known only to the bank manager, and the other to the accountant, or, in the absence of either, to some one appointed by the manager.

Since Sept. 12 two clerks have slept in the bank every night. It is said that this is in consequence of a warning received by Manager Phelps from a well-known private detective, that an attempt would be made to rob the bank. The man mentioned by the detectives was at that time in jail, and it would be impossible for him to be concerned in the present robbery.

Manager T. B. Phelps left on a shooting trip on Tuesday, but was recalled and came back to Winnipeg Wednesday night. Mr. E. McBeth, accountant, was sitting manager in his absence.

Mr. McBeth Seen.
When Mr. McBeth was seen yesterday morning at the bank he would answer no questions. Being asked whether there had been any plumbers at work in the building he said that one well-known plumber had been there fixing the sanitary apparatus, but that he (Mr. McBeth) saw him come in, saw him while he was working, and saw him depart, the whole time he was there being only a few minutes.

Further enquiries elicited nothing. Mr. McBeth referring the interviewer to the general manager.

Mr. Nelson, the teller, courteously but firmly refused to make any statement or answer any questions.

No Arrests Made.
No arrests have yet been made in connection with the robbery and the mystery is yet unsolved. When Manager Phelps returned Wednesday night a meeting of all persons connected with the bank was held upon his arrival, but investigation revealed nothing. Inspector Corning and the detectives are at work. The money taken would nearly fill a bushel basket.

WHAT GREER THINKS.

Ontario Detective Believes Someone Inside the Bank Must Know About It.

The Crown is still busy hunting retroual evidence in the Napane bank robbery case. Detective Greer returned yesterday from Napane, where he has been busily engaged since the examination in August, to arrange a little shooting party by way of recreation.

When seen last night by The World he stated that there were no new developments in the case. He still clings to his theory that the safe was cracked by an inside man.

"I am a straight story and a true one, which I have proven by investigation. The only trouble is will a jury believe him and place enough confidence in his evidence to convict?"

"Has Ponton as many friends as ever?"
"Just as many. The strong feeling against the American detectives causes a revulsion of sentiment in Ponton's favor."

How do the prisoners stand their imprisonment?
"Mackie frets about his bail a great deal, but otherwise they seem to be all right. All are in good health. I saw Ponton yesterday. He seems in good health and spirits. He will not talk about this case, but leaves everything to Porter."

What do you think of this Winnipeg affair?
"Well, I don't know enough about it to form a positive theory, but I should judge from what I have read that it is a parallel of the Napane business. (The bank was robbed in broad daylight by some one in the bank. It may have been taken in parts at different times between the 20th and the discovery. Again a sneak thief might have entered and secured the money when the vault doors were all unlocked. Of course this would depend upon the position of the vault. At any rate if the money was taken when the vault was locked it was by, or by the aid of, some one in the bank for no stranger could work the combination without having knowledge of the numbers on which they turn. These bank robberies are funny things, but the perpetrator is generally caught."

BISHOP OF THREE RIVERS.

Rev. Abbe Mathieu Said to Be the Likely Candidate.
Montreal, Oct. 6.—(Special)—It is now stated that Rev. Abbe Mathieu of the diocese of Trois Rivières, who is the successor of Mr. Laficelle. The rumor of Abbe Mathieu's appointment comes from St. Martin's College and it is said that the Jesuit Fathers have advised from Rome to the effect that Abbe Mathieu will be the likely candidate to succeed the late Rev. Abbe Bischoff of Trois Rivières. Rev. Mr. Mathieu formerly sympathized with Conservative leaders in this province, but it is said that he has since become a member of the Archdiocese of Quebec would have a good deal of influence over the young priests.

SHE HAD BEEN MARRIED TWICE.

But the Judge Was Lenient and She Only Got Three Weeks.
Cornwall, Ont., Oct. 6.—(Special)—A case of bigamy was tried here today before Judge Pringle. The accused was Mary, the wife of Patrick Laughlin, who was married to John Trickey on June 9, 1897, at St. Andrew's, Lancaster, by the Rev. C. E. Gordon Smith. She represented herself as a widow.

She was married to Laughlin in Cornwall in 1874. It appeared that Laughlin left his wife (the accused) some seven years ago, and the prisoner declared that she believed him to be dead, not having heard directly from him since that time, but evidence was adduced showing that letters addressed to her, in care of a third party, had been returned to her. Laughlin did return last autumn he found his wife another man's bride.

The judge took a lenient view of her case, and, finding her guilty, imposed a sentence of three weeks in jail.

GOOD FOR TWENTY YEARS.
Geologist Tyrrell Gives a Good Report of the Klondike Region.

Vancouver, Oct. 6.—(Special)—J. B. Tyrrell, Dominion Geologist, sent in by the Canadian Government to report on the Klondike country, arrived by the Manneville today. He says the report to the Government will be that the country is very rich in gold, and is exceedingly favorable. The country is good for 20 years to come. The output next year will be double that of this. There is no more gold, as is popularly supposed. Ages ago the country was full of quartz ledges. Gold has filtered out of the rocks and been concentrated in the creeks and valleys. And now there is no gold left in the rocks.

DR. R. T. CORBETT KILLED

Struck on the Head by an Engine at Duck Harbor.

Stepped Out of the Front of an East-bound Train in Way of an Approaching Westbound Freight—Married Only a Few Months Ago—Port Hope, Ont., Oct. 6.—Dr. R. T. Corbett and Mr. Hector Reid went to Duck Harbor this afternoon in a buggy on a hunting expedition. From what has been learned it appears that the doctor had stepped out of the front of the east-bound train, while an east-bound freight train passed. After the train had gone he stepped on the track, not noticing a freight train coming from the east. The engine struck him on the head, when he gained the track, killing him instantly. The fireman said he saw a man's head appear the instant before the engine struck.

The train was stopped as soon as possible and the body carried to Port Hope station. The train was in charge of J. Foster, conductor, of Belleville; Fred Murdoch, driver; William Wallace, fireman of Toronto; George Wilson, formerly of Port Hope, and Charles Hafesteen, both of East Toronto.

Dr. R. T. Corbett was about 30 years of age, the eldest son of Dr. R. A. Corbett, and was held in the highest respect by the community. He was only a few months since the doctor was married to Miss Maud Mackie.

His Head Blown Off.

Bradford, Ont., Oct. 6.—This morning about 10 o'clock Fred Coates, a son of Mr. Albert Coates, about 15 years old, was cleaning a gun, with the intention of going shooting. After he got through he loaded the gun and then placed his left eye to the side of his head away. Death resulted immediately.

KILLED ON THE C. P. R.

Engine and Several Cars Derailed at Indian Head.
Winnipeg, Oct. 6.—On the Canadian Pacific at Indian Head, on Monday afternoon, members of the bridge gang at work at the bridge were unable to flag an approaching west-bound freight in time to stop the train before reaching the bridge. The bridge being on a grade, the trainmen gave up several cars left the track, the tender being forced over the engine, while the rear end was telescoped into a car loaded with flour from Winnipeg. One man was killed in the wreck. The name of the victim is McKnight, and he was employed as a wiper in the company's yards at Brandon.

Further Details Regarding the Runaway of the Queen's Horses at Balmoral—Members of the Royal Party Smiled as They Drove Home After the Adventure—Grenadier Guards Return From Egypt—Cable News.

New York, Oct. 6.—The Journal prints the following special despatch from Balmoral, giving a full account of the runaway accident, which might have terminated fatally the career of England's beloved Sovereign:

Balmoral, Scotland, Oct. 5.—Great Britain and her dependencies very nearly lost a monarch on Monday, when a pair of fringed carriage horses tore along the high way near this place, completely beyond the driver's control, with the Royal barouche rocking from side to side at their heels.

In the back seat were the aged Queen and her favorite daughter, the Dowager Empress of Germany. Facing them was Princess Adolphe of Schaumburg-Lippe. All three Royal women behaved with great composure. When the horses first bolted Queen Victoria uttered a few words which she probably did not hear, as he was bent forward in a vain attempt to secure a better grip of the reins.

Pedestrians who saw the runaway barouche, with the well-known scarlet livery on the box, sweep along the road, observed that Her Majesty and her daughter sat upright, looking to the front, as calmly as though they were jogging through a park. Row. Mother and daughter had clasped hands—that was all.

All at once the horses swerved aside into the woods, imminent as the peril of a wreck had been on the road, it was doubly imminent now. Would-be rescuers in the wake of the carriage expected every instant to see it dashed against a tree, but by a marvellous piece of good fortune the horses sped between two great oak trees, whose distance apart was nearly the width of the barouche, that the vehicle was jammed there immovably, and the traces broke.

Queen Victoria and her guests were severely shaken, but that was the extent of the harm they suffered, and it did not prevent them from smiling at their adventure as they drove home in a pony carriage amid the cheers of the villagers.

KANG TELLS HIS STORY.

Urges the British Government to Take Prompt Action to Save the Emperor.
London, Oct. 7.—The Hong Kong correspondent of The Times telegraphs the substance of a long interview he has had with Kang Yu Wol, the Chinese Reformer, in which the latter recounted his story of the arrest. Kang Yu Wol said that on June 16 he had a two hour's audience with the Emperor, who, anxious about the Russian encroachments, was ready to listen to any plan to secure the integrity of the empire. The Times' correspondent continues:

"Kang advised replacing the conservative ministers by young, progressives and the employment of Englishmen and Americans to effect suggested reforms. He advised the Emperor to study the progress of Japan and Western methods. The Emperor, admitted the cogency of his arguments, but expressed his regret at being unable to remove high officials, because of the Emperor's position. Kang then urged His Majesty to strengthen his friendships with foreign powers and particularly to seek an alliance with England. The Emperor said he realized that foreign countries were no longer insignificant states and observed that it was a pity that his ministers had not averted the impending trouble. Kang said that a sham council, and that the Emperor's illegitimate son, Chun-Ming will probably be made Emperor."

In the morning of Sept. 18, Kang received the letters from the Emperor, dated respectively Sept. 16 and Sept. 17. The first represented the difficulties of his position, the Emperor Dowager's anger and his fears that he would be unable to protect his throne and commanded Kang to consult with his colleagues as to how to save the Emperor.

Could Not Describe His Sorrow.

In the second letter His Majesty said: "I have commanded you to superintend the establishment of an official organ. It is strongly against my wish. I have great sorrow, which I cannot describe with ink and pen. You must proceed immediately outside to devise means to save me without a moment's delay."

The letter concluded with an expression of gratitude for Kang's faithfulness, warning him to take care of himself, and an expression of hope that matters would mend ere long. Kang promptly visited the American missionary, the Rev. Timothy Richard, whom he asked to call upon the British and American Legations, Sir Claude Macdonald (British Minister) was at P'ou-Tai-Su, and the American Minister (Mr. Conger) was at Si-Shaw. ominous rumors were in circulation that day, and Kang G. He was astonished that England protected him, and he urges the British Government to take prompt action to save the Emperor."

KERWIN AND BENNETT

Crested A. C. Completes Arrangements for 15-Round Bout Between Celebrated Lightweights. It was not until yesterday that the Crested Athletic Club completed arrangements for the match between Jack Bennett of McKeeport and George Kerwin, the Chicago Mystery, in the Ontario Municipal Stadium.

The date is Saturday night, Oct. 15, at 10:00 p.m. The men have been training the past ten days for the contest; in fact, Kerwin only rested three days after his recent bout in Toronto.

Both men are winnery in Toronto and have been equally played for the long end of the purse. A good judge like Dan Kelly, formerly a boxer, says that Kerwin is the more interesting of the two, notwithstanding the abnormal reach of the Mystery. Bennett is a heavy fighter and is expected to win Monday night, while Kerwin and Bennett will be along no later than Wednesday.

John Condit, the Detroit sportsman, said that he was ready to put up a stake of $20,000 for the bout.

Perfection in Clothing

If there is such a thing as perfection in Ready-to-Wear Clothing, our stock—so far as we know, and we have been in the business long enough to know—is the nearest approach to it.

There's every reason why this should be so. We command the best wit and skill that money can provide to look after our Clothing interests.

That means expert designers and cutters, careful makers and finishers, shrewd buyers and experienced salesmen who understand the wants of the public.

Nothing has been stinted or overlooked, and every advantage has been used to make this, as it is, the best store for clothing—the best for style, fit, finish, fabric and value.

Don't accept our statement for it. Examine and judge for yourself, and the more of a clothing expert you are the better will we be pleased.

We need not remind you that colder weather is at hand. These suggestions for Saturday are right in line and may interest you enough to come and see our stock:

- Men's Suits, dark Canadian tweeds in single and double-breasted waques, neat patterns, good strong Italian cloth linings, well trimmed, sizes 36 to 44. 5.00
Men's Black Worsteds Suits, fine imported clay twill and Venetian finished cloths, sacque and morning styles, best Italian cloth linings and trimmings, sizes 36 to 44. Special 10.00
Men's All-Wool Tweed Suits, dark colors, single and double-breasted, sacque shape, Italian cloth linings and good trimmings, sizes 36 to 44. 6.50

THE TORONTO WORLD ONE CENT MORNING PAPER. No. 25 YONGE STREET, Toronto.

A CLERGYMAN'S BLUNDER.

Rev. W. J. McCaughan as a church financier may be all right in Ireland, but has gained a sorry reputation as such in Toronto. In his capacity as Finance Minister of St. Andrew's Church, to which position he seems to have been self-appointed, he has labelled one of the wealthiest and most respectable congregations in Toronto. It is not fair to this congregation nor to the people of Toronto that the reverend gentleman's libellous statements should go unchallenged.

Rev. Mr. McCaughan's criticism briefly amounts to this: (1) The managers of St. Andrew's Church do not understand the principle of financing, and (2) they have allowed the church to run into debt during its incumbency. The financial statement of Mr. J. W. Langmuir, Chairman of the Board of Management, proves that the latter charge of the reverend gentleman is entirely untrue. The facts speak for themselves.

Since Rev. Mr. McCaughan has been reduced by the church debt to a net showing for 18 months, especially when it is remembered that the church carries on outside work, which is more or less of a drain on it. In addition to this the church has been under unusually heavy expenses since Rev. Mr. McCaughan took charge. Among this extra expense has been the payment of six weeks' salary to Rev. Mr. McCaughan before he assumed his duties; the payment of the travelling expenses of himself, wife and servant from Belfast to Toronto; duty and freight on his household effects; and other similar items, which in the aggregate amount to a considerable sum.

As to the reverend gentleman's dislike to overdrafts—well, no one but a financial diabolist could really comprehend it. As a rule banks do not allow an account to be overdrawn unless they are satisfied the overdraft will be met. If the bank was satisfied to take the risk, we do not see why the reverend gentleman should object. The collections made at the church last Sunday—$3600—showed that the bank was perfectly justified in allowing the church to overdraw and that the church was equally justified in using the overdraft as a convenience.

Rev. Mr. McCaughan has failed lamentably in the charges he has brought against his congregation. His statement that the church could not and did not pay its debts is extravagantly untrue. The position he takes as to overdrafts is ridiculous. No wonder the congregation is much worked up over the affair and that further relations between the pastor and his people are impossible. It is difficult to understand why the head of a church would seek to thus publicly discredit the members of his congregation, and belittle the efforts they have made to extend the influence of the church in outside work. If the reverend gentleman had expostulated with the managers privately, there would have been less cause for complaint. But the charge of the congregation's shortcomings being made in public, especially when the charge was untrue, has naturally led the members of the church to regard last Sunday's deliverance as a libellous insult. Certain it is that Rev. Mr. McCaughan's usefulness is gone as far as St. Andrew's Church is concerned.

It is regrettable that Rev. Mr. McCaughan should have roused this discord between himself and his congregation on the eve of his departure for Chicago. At the time he exploded his bomb he knew that he either was about to accept the call that had been extended to him from Chicago, or that there was a strong probability that he would accept it. Under the circumstances he should have refrained from insulting the congregation from whom he was about to sever his connection. Never had any stranger coming to Toronto received a more cordial welcome than was extended to the reverend gentleman in the spring of last year by the people of St. Andrew's Church. We hardly think it was a spirit of Christianity that prompted Rev. Mr. McCaughan to insult his congregation. We know that the instincts of a gentleman would not have dictated such a course.

ONTARIO FORESTS AND AMERICAN LUMBERMEN. There is one aspect of the question respecting the exportation of saw logs from Ontario to the United States which has hardly received the attention that its importance demands, viz., its relation to the problem of forest preservation. While the Americans have talked considerably about the need of practical forestry, Canada and more especially Ontario has made substantial advances in that direction. With the general approval of the public, irrespective of party, the Provincial Government has taken several steps towards the permanent maintenance in timber of land unsuited for agriculture, and the Forestry Commission before it finishes its labors may be expected to make further recommendations with the same end in view.

Now the removal of the embargo placed last year upon the shipment of Ontario saw logs to American mills means the reversal of this policy and the abandonment of the principle of economizing our forest wealth for the needs of the future. The idea of scientific forestry contemplates not the hoarding of timber, but the treating of the forest as a farm from which the crop should be taken at maturity without exhausting its possibilities of future productivity. In place of the wasteful and extravagant methods it seeks to induce lumbermen to regard their holdings as permanent sources of wealth material to be economically worked with as little waste and loss as possible. When the cutting of the timber is carried on in connection with the waste refuse and the by-products of the forest and timber, thus establishing many dependent industries.

If lands are simply to be lumbered over for the present crop only, the pick of the timber which it will pay to transport a long distance will be taken. The interior timber and the waste will be left on the ground. The American lumberman who simply seeks to supply his mill in Michigan with the raw material, which his reckless methods of cutting and neglect of obvious precautions have exhausted in his own state, will not regard his limit as a permanent investment, but will seek to dispose of it of the best timber as quickly as possible. He has no interest in the country apart from what he can take out of it. The Canadian, on the other hand, as a man with a stake in the country and identified with its future prosperity in many ways, has an object in co-operating with the Government in an enlightened policy of forest preservation as a factor in the national welfare.

The retention of all our raw material in the way of forest products, whether saw logs or pulp wood, in our own hands for the building up of a class of Canadian industries for which we have special facilities should be insisted on as a matter what concessions may be offered by the United States. They have exhausted their own once magnificent forests by sheer recklessness and improvidence in their exploitation. They must now come to us for supplies, and it is both our interest and a duty we owe to posterity to see to it that instead of being permitted to devastate our remaining woodlands at will, as they have their own they get nothing but the product of Canadian manufacture.

DAWSON SEEKS INCORPORATION.

Petition Presented to Commissioner Ogilvie Asking That It Be Made a Municipality.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 6.—Dawson City wants to be incorporated. According to news received here today, a petition has been presented to Commissioner William Ogilvie, requesting the Yukon Territorial Council to pass an ordinance for that purpose. The petition states that there will undoubtedly be many cases for poor relief during the winter which cannot be adequately dealt with unless by a municipality.

At an organization meeting of the Miners' Association of Yukon Territory, President George Armstrong gave formal expression to the general indignation of what he called "unwise laws enacted in ignorance of the true state of the country." He called attention to the bad condition of affairs that had existed, and will exist, in the Gold Commissioner's office. He referred to the Crown Prosecutor as the "Too-Bad" of the administration, holding many of the miners and using them and all the information he derived therefrom to dispossess honest miners and deprive prospectors of their fair rights. The Klondike miner, he added, ought to be relieved of the burden of official incapacity. Americans would and ought to help in redressing the wrongs inflicted on them and on Canadians.

George Hutton has been succeeded by gas in the shirt of No. 28, on the Upper Division of the true state of the country. There are about 150 cases of sickness in Canadian Bank of Commerce has $600,000 boxed up. When this is shipped the bank will have sent out $2,800,000 since June to its.

New Westminster Exhibition. Lieut.-Governor McInnes, in opening the great New Westminster Exposition yesterday, referred in cordial terms to the friendly relations between Canada and the United States, and hoped for a closer Anglo-Saxon union. New Westminster has every reason to congratulate herself, for never was such an exhibition held in the province. The phoenix way in which the city has arisen from the ruins of the burned out portion of New Westminster now sinks into insignificance with the energy displayed on every hand in making the provincial exhibition a success.

Hearing Restored. We wish to draw the attention of those who are afflicted with deafness to the fact that we are now prepared to give practical demonstrations of what we can do in the way of restoring your hearing. MOWAT GOES TO MARKHAM

Michigan Central Official Visits Toronto—Addition to C. P. R. Telegraphers—Railroad News. The Grand Trunk special train yesterday morning to Markham carried a large number of city residents to Markham Fair.

There arrived at the C. P. R. offices yesterday Mr. W. A. McConnell, one of the fastest telegraphers on the staff of the company. He comes from the office in Duluth. He will be at the local despatching office permanently, and will be under Mr. James Wilson.

A number of local railroad men went to St. Catharines yesterday to attend the funeral of Conductor Jenson, who was killed in a train wreck near Markham. Manager Tait and Superintendent Leonard are still in Galt, where they are conferring with the Board of Works of the C. P. R. in regard to the action of the C. P. R. in raising the tracks five feet to the north of the town without having the consent of the Council. Mr. C. D. Dickson of the Grand Trunk returned yesterday from Montreal, where he was attending a meeting of the numerous ticket scalpers who are at work on the other side of the line the Grand Trunk has issued instructions to its conductors to examine all excursion tickets, to take up all tickets that are presented by other than the original purchasers and to make those presenting these tickets pay full fare.

ROBBER GAGS AND BINDS Mrs. Eagan, 874 King-Street East, on Tuesday Night—A Daring Attempt to Steal.

Mrs. Eagan, 874 King-street east, had an exciting experience on Tuesday night with a robber, that will linger in her memory for some time. Between 11 and 12 o'clock a stranger knocked at the door, and as soon as Mrs. Eagan opened it the man pushed his way in and closed the door. Mrs. Eagan was alone in the house. Street Railway Company and does not get home until after midnight. The man demanded money, and when told there was none in the house he commenced to search for valuables. Mrs. Eagan attempted to raise an alarm, but the robber tied and gagged her. After thoroughly ransacking the house the man departed with only a silver bracelet for his trouble. Mrs. Eagan remained bound and gagged until her husband's return at 3 o'clock. The police are investigating the case.

Garrison Parade in the Hat Section

Over two thousand men will be in line for the Hat chance of the season.

One of the big wholesale hat stores doing an import business for hundreds of hatters in the towns unbosomed its dilemma to our Hat buyer this week. Results—

1. One of the biggest hat deals on record for many a day.
2. No danger that the wholesale man will have to sell them over again—this time the order holds—but at what a sacrifice!
3. First benefit to Saturday shoppers lot 1, consisting of two thousand one hundred and fifty-six hats, more particularly described as follows—

Lot No. 1 for Saturday—154

WYCLIFFE ALUMNI IN SESSION.

Representation on Council and Financial Question Discussed.

The Alumni Association of Wycliffe College was in session all day yesterday, opening the proceedings with a satisfactory luncheon, which was enjoyed by a large audience. The program was classical, and showed that the vocalists at least are not without talent. The first item was "Attilla," the opening number, given by Mrs. Woodland, Messrs. Beard and Mr. Flitch, and the same vocalists closed the program with the grand finale, "Faust," Mrs. Woodland sang a grand aria from "Romeo and Juliet," Mr. Beard's solo numbers were a recit and aria from Verdi, and Beethoven's "Ode to the Night," Mrs. Woodland sang a grand aria from "Robert le Diable," Miss Beard contributed an aria from "Eugene Onegin," one by Beethoven and a song by Lockung, and Mr. Flitch, the Toreador song by Trobret, Mr. Tripp's selections were a recit and aria from Verdi, and "La Campanella," by Liszt. The audience showed full appreciation.

Another High-Class Attraction.

In the offerings of the Toronto Opera House this season there have been several attractions which have tended to increase the popularity of the Adelphi-street theatre. One of these attractions comes to the Toronto next week, in the person of Joseph Ott, who is known from ocean to ocean, as a straight comedian of unquestionable standing. For many years Mr. Ott was the leading comedian in New York, and when he became a star, his success was so great that for six consecutive seasons he appeared in the comedy, "The Star Gazer," a record which few actors of the world devote.

An Address Given.

At the high-teen given in the evening, beautifully illuminated and was presided over by the alumni to Dr. Sheraton, congratulating him on the fact that his college had successfully attained her 25th birthday and thanking Dr. Sheraton for the share he had contributed to the suit. The address also touched upon the personal debt the alumni owed individually to their former principal, and a gratifying tribute was paid to Mrs. Sheraton's untiring efforts to help the students during their residence. Dr. Sheraton, in reply, briefly reviewed the work of the college and the singleness of its aims and purposes during 25 years. Its future rested with its graduates.

To-Day's Work.

The association will meet again this morning for discussion of ways and means for raising this sum of money. Nothing definite has been decided upon as yet, but this direction beyond the fact that it probably will be spread over as long a period of time as possible—probably over some years at the least.

DIVIDEND NOTICES.

The Dominion Bank

DIVIDEND NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a Dividend of 3 per cent. upon the Capital Stock of this institution has this day been declared for the current quarter, being at the rate of 12 cent. per annum, and that same will be payable at the Banking House in this city on and after TUESDAY, the 1st DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT, at the office of the Treasurer, who will be closed from the 21st to the 31st of October next, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

M'CAUGHAN IS IMPOSSIBLE.

Intense Indignation Rife Among Members of St. Andrew's Congregation.

The World interviews many prominent members, who, with one accord, express emphatic opinions—The finances of the church presented—a pastor who has been liberally dealt with.

The topic in church circles in Toronto, not only among Presbyterians, but also among all sects, is the recent public rebuke from the pulpit, delivered by the Rev. Mr. McCaughan to the congregation of St. Andrew's Church on the state of the church finances.

The World interviewed prominent members of the church yesterday, and even the mildest betrayed a deep feeling of remonstrance against the course of the reverend gentleman.

"Is it not true?" asked The World of one of the most prominent members of the church, "that Mr. McCaughan has been treated with great liberality by the church?"

"Certainly is. His salary was paid from the moment he accepted the call. His own passage over, and that of his wife and secretary were paid, as well as the freight and duty on his furniture, and personal gifts from Mr. McCaughan's father-in-law in Philadelphia. Mr. McCaughan's recent action has, in my opinion, rendered him an impossibility in connection with work of St. Andrew's Church."

Finances All Right.

The following statement explains the true state of the finances of the church, when Mr. McCaughan came and now:

1. The mortgage debt and liabilities of St. Andrew's Church since the erection of St. Mark's Church and St. Andrew's Institute have never been less than $50,000, until the present year.
2. The liabilities of the church on the induction of Rev. Mr. McCaughan, on March 25, 1907, amounted to about $22,500. Since that date nearly $80,000 has been paid on account of the St. Mark's liability (from which St. Andrew's is now entirely relieved). The bank overdraft of about $8000 has been consolidated with the mortgage indebtedness, and the entire debt now stands as follows:

Mortgage on church property.....$25,000
Mortgage on St. Andrew's Inst..... 7,500
Total $32,500

The small bank overdraft incurred during the holidays, owing to the absence of many members of the congregation from the city, will be more than met by pew rents and envelope contributions now due.

Had it not been for the generosity of the congregation in establishing St. Mark's as a mission church, at a cost, according to the last annual report, of $20,729, besides giving large amounts annually towards its maintenance, aggregating upwards of $10,000 more, and expending for the erection and subsequent maintenance of St. Andrew's Institute upwards of $20,000, in addition to most liberal subscriptions to all schemes of the Presbyterian Church, St. Andrew's would have stood to-day without a dollar of debt.

In the opinion of some, the expenditure of so much money, even for the worthy objects indicated, instead of paying our own legitimate debts, may be styled "careless financing," but on the other hand not a few will give us credit for unselfish liberality. Be that as it may, St. Andrew's Church has now fully resolved to take the advice of our friends of the Westminster, and wipe out as speedily as possible our debt altogether, and the first step in that direction was made yesterday by the mortgage placing more than $3000 on the collection plates.

J. W. Langmuir, Chairman of Board of Management, St. Andrew's Church.

Indignant Congregation.

The congregation are at present very indignant at the action of the reverend gentleman, in attacking publicly from the pulpit the conduct of the church by the Board of Management and the adherents themselves.

It is affirmed that there is a shadow of excuse for the stand taken, as regards the finances, which were never in a better condition, and have not been for 15 years, since they show $10,000 less debt than when Mr. McCaughan first came. "Is it usual for the church to have an overdraft?" asked The World of one of the "pillars" of the church.

"It is certainly usual, and besides, the overdraft was all arranged for."

A Bank From the Bible.

"You are Mr. McCaughan's cheque for $1000, for quarter's salary, have been honored by the bank, if presented?"

"Certainly, or $10,000 for that matter," was the emphatic answer.

"Did the managers have any previous knowledge of the coming explosion?"

"Certainly not. If such a thing had been hinted at, the matter could have been smoothed over immediately. As it was the statement that the very large collection was due to the discourse is evidently untrue, unless the people carried pen and ink and check books around in their pockets. The money was laid on the plate almost before the last words of the sermon were uttered. There was not the slightest objection for the outbreak; look over the names of the board, you will find some of the best known men in the city."

An Immediate Passport.

From words such as these it is evident that Mr. McCaughan's resignation will be accepted at once by the church and that a popular idol has been thrown down.

"If Mr. McCaughan considered he had a grievance, his proper course was to come to the board and have it adjusted, or even to meet with the congregation. He had no right to do as he did, was the statement of another member.

Mr. McCaughan left town last night. Inquiry at the manse elicited the information that he had gone to Philadelphia, and the date of his return is uncertain.

S. Ackerman, commercial traveler, Belleville, writes: "Some years ago I used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for Infant's Rheumatism, and three bottles effected a complete cure. I was the whole of one summer unable to move without crutches, and every movement caused excruciating pain. I had not been for the road and had to be carried to all kinds of wells, but have never been troubled with Rheumatism since. I, however, keep a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Oil on hand, and I always recommend it to others as it did so much for me."

Only those who have had experience can tell the torture corns cause. Pain with your boots on, pain with them off—pain night and day; but relief is sure to those who use Holloway's Corn Cure.

LITTLE GRACE IS NO MORE

Her Scant Wages Could Not Support Her and Her Mother.

Therefore She Decided That the Burden of Life Was Too Heavy—Sorry to Leave Mama and Others, But She Was "So Tired"—A Touching Story.

New York, Oct. 7.—Gone is Grace Van Hovenberg. Pretty and bright, she has dropped completely out of sight. The news-gatherer smiled a bit, and guessed she was not drowned, but her mother took to her bed and wept softly to herself all day long.

"My little Grace," she sobbed, "was not the kind of girl to write these letters and then run away. No, no; my little girl is dead and I am all alone!"

Home was not happy for the girl. Father and mother had separated. The older daughter, Addie, married George Muller of Broadway-avenue, and left her home. When she did the father went along. At the same time he brought suit for divorce against his wife, and his daughter helped him with the testimony which he drew up and presented to the Master at Chancery. The case is now pending.

But Grace—"Baby," they called her—being to her mother. Mrs. Van Hovenberg took two floors at No. 116 Mechanic-street and let furnished rooms. The child—she still wore short dresses and had a mass of beautiful chestnut hair that hung below her waist—went out as assistant in the insurance office of Samuel Wright, No. 602 Broadway-street. She got $5 a week, and on this the two managed to live.

Occasionally Mrs. Van Hovenberg got copying to do. Her chief employer was Jacob Lichtenstein, a constable of No. 90 Wickliffe-street. The husband named him as co-respondent. It broke little Grace's heart. The struggling and heartaches and the presence of Lichtenstein were too much for the child—she decided to die, if her letters could be believed.

Monday morning she started for the office as usual. By the 11 o'clock mail came two letters for Mrs. Van Hovenberg. She opened them. They were written in the beautiful copper-plate hand of "Baby" Grace. She knew so well.

"When you read this," one of them ran, "I will be at rest."

With a shriek, the mother swooned away. When she came to she begged for the letters. One ran, in part:

Our suffering and struggle for life and daily bread is more than we can bear. You are sick and not able to work, and I work at the office during the day, and at night I have to work at home with you until midnight; and, oh, I am so tired! No rest, but in the grave. Do not look for me; I shall destroy ever yours of finding me, and I shall see a watery grave, no matter where I rest.

I am sorry to see and leave you, mamma, but it is best. When I am gone you will not have to try to keep a home. My friends will care for you, and it will not be long until you need never part again. I regret to leave my employer and my friends, but what can we do? Winter so near, and no money to buy the necessities of life, and you are too sick to work. Hardly had she finished when Lichtenstein came in with another letter, when the child had written to her mother. It was rehearsed the same story—suffering and poverty until she could stand it no longer.

"Little wages," the child wrote, "cannot do everything. Mama's sickness will need money. It is much harder to live in winter, for we then need fire. I see no money to come pay insurance, doctor's bills for mama, to pay rent and get food and clothing. When the waters I have loved so well have rooked me to sleep I know you will still stand by mama's side and comfort her."

The girl's other letter told how she supposed going to the water's edge and leaping in to drown her woes forever. Then Mr. Wright got another letter. It was couched in a similar strain. The out-gone man wept as he read it. Two passages were:

"Dear Mr. Wright—it is very hard for me to write to you this, but I must do so to let you know what I am doing. I do not drink the love of drink, has driven him from all that dear to me. He does not seem to care if he starve and die. Do not try to find my tired body. The money spent in rewards would give bread to poor mamma."

"My daughter had no boy or girl friends," said Mrs. Van Hovenberg, when a World reporter called at her little home. "Her daily routine was always the same. She began her day at 5 o'clock. In the evening she taught a few little children music—she had a clever hand for that. She sewed, making her own hats and dresses. I loved her so, and now she is gone!"

The police took the case in hand, but were unable to discover a single trace of the young girl after she left her home on Monday morning. They could find no young people that she knew or young men who had been attentive to her. Capt. Congrove professed to believe that she would be found all right.

"She never committed suicide," he said. "If she wrote that she was going to drown herself," sighed the mother; "she kept her word."

Mr. Wright, the girl's employer, could not be found. On the door was a notice that he would not return until to-day, having gone to a funeral.

Died in a Moment.

Clinton, Ont., Oct. 6.—Joseph Townsend of Goderich Township, while walking across a field on his own farm, accompanied by his wife, without a moment's warning dropped dead. The deceased was known all over the township in which he lived as one of its best farmers, and his sudden death has cast a great gloom over this section, this being the second sudden death in less than a week.

Launching of a United States Battleship.

Fort Monroe, Va., Oct. 4.—The launching of the United States battleship "Illinois" took place here to-day, in the presence of a distinguished company. An elaborate luncheon was afterwards served at the Hotel Chamberlain, and the health of the navy was drunk in G. H. Munn & Co.'s famous "Extra Dry Champagne," which was highly appreciated.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

Crowds to See the Twins.

There is no let up in the attendance at the Toronto Opera House, and "Bobby" Gaylor faced two more big audiences yesterday afternoon and evening. Only three more opportunities remain to see "McSorley's Twins," and to-morrow's matinee will be given at the customary "bargain" prices of 15 cents and 25 cents.

Cast of "The Girl From Paris."

The book of "The Girl From Paris" is by George Dance, author of "The Geisha," and the score is by Ivan Caryll. The collaboration of these two gentlemen has resulted in an exquisite entertainment. It is a comedy and a musical in a series of magnificent dances, beautiful choruses and effective songs.

One of these attractions comes to the Toronto next week, in the person of Joseph Ott, who is known from ocean to ocean, as a straight comedian of unquestionable standing. For many years Mr. Ott was the leading comedian in New York, and when he became a star, his success was so great that for six consecutive seasons he appeared in the comedy, "The Star Gazer," a record which few actors of the world devote.

Princess.

The advance sale of seats opens at the Princess Theatre this morning for "Trippy," which the Cummings Stock Company are going to present next week. He is held to any one person at a time unless the buyer is alone. This new rule is a good one and is done for the benefit of the regular patrons of the theatre. "Trippy" has never been done here before, and then for only three nights, at the Grand Opera House, and so great were the crowds that one-hats the people did not get a chance to see it. It has never been done since, and the presenting of such a play as this at popular prices this time is a treat that local theatregoers will not overlook by any means. The cast includes the entire strength of the company, and will be made up of the best of the company. Miss Florence Stone appears as Trippy, in which role she should make an immense hit. Miss Stone is thoroughly familiar with the character, and nature has given her every advantage of being an ideal Trippy in appearance. Mr. Ralph Stuart, if it is expected, will make his biggest hit yet at the theatre. One of the stage's greatest characters, Mr. Robert Cummings appears as Trippy. Mr. Cecil Kingsford appears as the Land, and Mr. Barry O'Neill as Little Billie. These three characters are familiar to everyone as the three "Musketiers" of the Brush. Mr. Thomas J. Gray will surely make a hit as Zen-Zen, as will Miss Lillian Andrews as Mlle. Vinard, and Miss Nettie Marshall as Honorable. These familiar characters all through will certainly prove an ideal one. A local contractor will sing "Sweet Chatterbox," and the play is to be staged in a most thorough and complete manner. "Trippy" will undoubtedly prove the biggest hit of the season so far.
