BACKUS IS UNWILING TO BID FOR TIMBER AT PUBLIC AUCTION

But His Agreement With Kenora Has Not Yet Been Ratified.

BECK IS OPPOSED

The application of the town of Kenora for the ratification by the government of an agreement with the E. W. Backus interests was again before the cabinet yesterday. The affair now assumes not only local but provincial importance, inasmuch as Manitoba has been dragged into the discussion because of a possible interference with that province's water power rights.

At yesterday's conference there were present Sir Adam Beck, Hon. J. E. Lucas and other officials of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, which had been called in to advise as to the agreement's effect on the power situation in the north country generally.

The situation was also complicated by the presence at the conference of representatives of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. The company and the Backus interests are at present engaged in an action brought by Mr. Backus for payment by the company for water they have used from the Ontario Hydro dam which is the property of Backus. The government refused not to ratify the Kenora-Backus agreement unless the action for damages is withdrawn.

Further complications arise. The situation was also complicated by the presence at the conference of representatives of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. The company and the Backus interests are at present engaged in an action brought by Mr. Backus for payment by the company for water they have used from the Ontario Hydro dam which is the property of Backus.

They Have Little Redress. Either, Sir Robert Falconer Tells Students.

OPENING OF YEAR

That the conditions prevailing today in many countries which gave grave cause for anxiety were due to the machinations of the few, and that if the few could drag nations into broiling turmoil the few could likewise so direct the energies of the multitude as to make for the best type of civilization, was the keynote of a comprehensive address delivered by Sir Robert Falconer yesterday afternoon before more than a thousand students at Convocation Hall at the opening of the year 1920-21.

In the course of his address the president of Toronto University pointed emphatically to the need of improving the spiritual values of nationhood and of giving a better opportunity of doing so by making life worth the living and striving for the teachers of the race. He also pointed to the visits of the Imperial Press Conference and the ninth congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire as outstanding features of activities which entered into the life of the university during the summer months. He expressed the opinion that their visit would do much to provide for the immigration of the best of British men and women, and to foster a stronger spirit of union between empire and dominion. He commended to Ontario the example of influencing the administration of education in Great Britain under the guidance of the Right Hon. H. H. Fisher, minister of education in that country. And finally Sir Robert re-

FRAUD AND BRIBERY IN BASEBALL BARED, PLAYERS INDICTED

Gamblers' Money Induced Eight of Chicago Americans to Throw World's Series Last Year—Pitcher Cicotte Confesses to Grand Jury—Tells How He Helped to Lose Games.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Indictments were voted against eight baseball stars today, and confessions obtained from two of them, when the old Roman, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the off-time champion Chicago White Sox, smashed his pennant chasing machine to clean up baseball. The confessions told how the Sox threw last year's world's championship to Cincinnati, for money paid by gamblers.

Seven Sox regulars, and one former player comprise the players against whom true bills were voted by the Cook county grand jury, and the seven were immediately suspended by Mr. Comiskey. With his team only one game behind the league leading Cleveland Indians, the White Sox owner served notice on his seven stars that if they were found guilty, he would drive them out of organized baseball for the rest of their lives.

Co-operative Factory for Making Craft's Tools—Simpson Gives Views.

Reports received locally of the international convention at Rochester, N.Y., of the Machinists' Union, state that recommendations have been made to the body for the establishment of a co-operative factory for the manufacture of the craft's tools, and of a printing plant to take care of the requirements of the organization. Reports presented indicate the founding during the past 18 months of 371 new lodges, bringing the total membership of the organization up to 305,680 members. The receipts of the grand lodge for the past year were $2,705,034, an increase of $1,081,224 over the preceding year. The treasurer has recommended that the per capita tax be raised from 60 cents to one dollar per member.

Amplification of his views on the international trade union movement was given yesterday at the Labor Temple by James Simpson, editor of the Industrial Banner, who stated that he had been invited to give as favoring a national movement for Canadian workmen.

Mr. Simpson points out that he is not in sympathy with any national movement, and that the basis of the agitation attributed to him was a statement in which he explained that the Canadian worker lacked economic power in influencing his government because of his affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

When officials of the Dominion Trades Congress interview our government it understands perfectly that they can secure united action by the workers only with the consent of the American Federation," stated Mr. Simpson, referring to the fact that strike sanction must come from the States.

Remedy for this phase of the workman's position lies, in Mr. Simpson's opinion, in officials of the American Federation accompanying the Trades Congress' delegates to Ottawa, and thus lending weight to the Canadian delegates' position. It will be difficult, however, he admits, to secure the utmost interested action of the American Federation in Canadian matters, owing to the financial drain which might be incurred by a decided stand upon any matter.

Representatives of Local 363, International Electrical Workers Union, attended the regular meeting of the Building Trades Council, and reported that the inside workmen had expressed a unanimous decision to remain with the international movement.

Official James Marsh of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, Organizer Fred Molineux of the Painters and Decorators Union, and James Simpson, editor of the Industrial Banner, have returned from addressing meetings and conferring with officials of the North-western Labor Association at Owen Sound. This association has been recently formed, and contemplates a survey of the whole of the district in which it is located, with a view towards organizing the various crafts represented there.

The question of the blanket agreement for 1921 was discussed by the Building Trades Council at its regular meeting. The majority of the affiliated trades are said to favor the device, and it will be applied by those who voted for its adoption.

General Organizer Flett, of the American Federation of Labor, is in town and is reported to be looking after the interests of his organization as they are affected by recent secession-movements.

In connection with Hon. R. H. Grant's promised consideration of the proposal to make possible a university education for workmen, James Simpson, secretary of the Labor Temple, reports that he has received advice of a similar scheme which is in successful operation in New Zealand.

The Toronto office of the Street Railwaymen's Union reports the receipt of communications from the international body declaring false the reported secession to the O. B. U. of the Winnipeg car men.

General Organizer John Bruce, of the International Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, left yesterday for Winnipeg.

Business Agent J. T. Gunn of the Canadian Electrical Trades Union has received the buttons of the new organization.

CLINIC OPENS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Doctor Gives Services—G.A.U.V. Provides X-Rays and Laboratory.

A clinic, at which all ex-service men and women may receive free medical examination, was opened yesterday by the G.A.U.V., at 19 Gerrard street, under the supervision of Dr. J. L. Robinson, formerly a member of the staff of the Dominion Orthopaedic Hospital.

J. Harry Flynn, Dominion organizer of the G.A.U.V., said yesterday, regarding the establishment of the clinic: "There are constantly so many men who desire examination by a competent physician that we decided to include a clinic among our activities. As Dr. Robinson has been on the military medical staff for such a length of time, a report from him, substantiated by laboratory tests and X-ray plates where necessary, will have weight with the authorities when an application is made for disability pensions, allowances and so forth."

"Far from acting at variance with the pension board, it is rather our object to co-operate with them, and we have written to Ottawa, requesting such co-operation," continued Mr. Flynn.

The clinic for the present will be conducted two days a week, from 11 o'clock until 1 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

So many men turned up for the first clinic yesterday that only about a third could be attended to. Hereafter, arrangements for examination will be made by appointment with G.A.U.V. headquarters, 19 Gerrard street. All ex-service men and women, irrespective of whether they are members of the G.A.U.V., or not, may avail themselves of the privileges of the clinic.

Mr. Flynn said that it was the intention of Dr. Robinson, who is giving his services to the clinic gratis, to have a laboratory in connection. Arrangements for the taking of X-rays are also being made.

The laboratory and X-ray costs are being borne by the G.A.U.V., and, as these entailed a good deal of expense, Mr. Flynn stated that the society would welcome donations from any citizens to help meet the costs of conducting the clinic.

The Winnipeg and East Hamilton branches of the G.A.U.V. have recently opened clinics similar to that begun here yesterday.

The G.A.U.V. Dominion headquarters have received a reply from the G.W.V.A. to the suggestion of the G.A.U.V., that all veterans unite for political action. The reply states that it will be impossible to do anything of the kind until the G.W.V.A. decides whether they will become active in politics.

This entails submitting the matter to every branch in the country. Commenting upon the reply, J. Harry Flynn, Dominion organizer of the G.A.U.V., said yesterday: "The time for political organization has arrived. Delay is dangerous. It was our hope that the recent convention, at which the G.A.U.V. adopted their political platform, might have been a G.W.V.A. and G.A.U.V. joint convention, but when we realized that the G.W.V.A. would be a long time in reaching a decision on our suggestion, we decided that we could not afford to wait. We went ahead and developed a platform which we know all veterans, irrespective of their association connections, will support."

A new branch of the G.W.V.A. is being organized at Pontiac Hill near Welland, Ont. It was announced at the offices of the provincial command yesterday. According to Assistant Provincial Secretary McGreggor, a good many ex-imperialists are locating in the Niagara peninsula, and these are being recruited into the ranks of the G.W.V.A.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON ORANGE IMMIGRATION

No action to encourage emigration from the North of Ireland to Canada, as suggested by Hon. J. A. Calder, is as yet contemplated by the Orange Order, H. C. Hocken, editor of The Sentinel and grand master of the Orange Order, stated yesterday.

Mr. Hocken further stated that he was unaware that the desire to emigrate prevailed to any extent among the Ulster Irishmen. "In fact," he added, "I had not seen Mr. Calder's statement until it was called to my attention." He was unable to intimate whether action to encourage such immigration would be decided on by the order.

It is a fact that at afternoon and

Chancellor McCormick, of McMaster University, having been granted leave of absence for twelve months, both Dean Farmer and Dean McLaughlin are pating a registration of not less than 300. That of 1919-20 totaled 281. Two new names have been added to the faculties. Professor Allen J. Moon,

Stage Tickets to Be Put on Sale at Noon Tomorrow.

The great musical event of the season will be the Caruso concert tomorrow night in Massey Hall. The culture not only of Toronto but of the province, and it will be a memorable event in the musical history of this city. Mr. Caruso is averse to having people on the stage when he is sing-of Massey Hall, in comparison to the large arenas, etc., in which he sings, he has waived his objection for the concert, and therefore, seats for the event will be put on the stage. These seats will go on sale at the box office at 12.30 tomorrow instead of tomorrow night, and will be sold at $4.00 each and war tax of 25 cents.

Why This Dread of Being Self-Sustained?

But a few days ago we hailed our good neighbor, the Toronto Star, as a brand plucked from the burning. It had apparently been converted to the doctrine of protection by the admirable arguments presented to the tariff commission by Mr. Thomas Findley, president and general manager of the Massey-Harris Company. Twelve and a half, or even fifteen, per cent. duty seemed then to the Star a mere bagatelle. It was ready at once to give its blessing to any tariff duty that might be requested by the Massey-Harris. It showed no prejudice or spleen against that great corporation. Naturally we concluded that a paper which feared not to champion a bogey man by the free traders in the west was a convert to protection. Indeed, in our delight we compared our neighbor to Saul of Tarsus, and prophesied that it would remain converted.

How, then, are we to interpret its recent editorial inveighing against the ideal of a self-contained nation? The Star would have us follow the line of least resistance, selling our natural products abroad for the highest possible price and buying with the proceeds wherever we can buy the cheapest, and we are told:

Produce most at home, whether it be grain or agricultural implements, of what you can most advantageously produce, sell the surplus abroad, and buy therewith what you can least advantageously produce. That is the simple rule of universal economy.

Now evidently what we can most advantageously produce for trading purposes are natural products, whether grain, minerals, fish or timber. We cannot manufacture as cheaply as they do in Japan, or as they did in England or Germany before the war. The Star would have us buy whatever we need in the cheapest market; we are not to attempt to supply ourselves with what we use, but to buy what we need from the bargain counters of the world. This is the free trade theory, pure and simple, notwithstanding that saving clause about "agricultural implements." It is the old advice to "sell in the dearest and buy in the cheapest market."

The protective policy is not ashamed of being National. It concerns itself solely with the welfare of Canada. It wants the Canadian artisan to find suitable employment and high wages in his own country. It is more concerned for the sturdy development and the self-reliance of the people than it is for bargain sales. Its ideal is a nation self-sustained as far as possible, importing nothing that can be manufactured at a reasonable cost in Canada and not dependent for its existence, or even for its prosperity upon the ebb and flow of export trade. It wants to see refined and manufactured in Canada our great reserves of nickel, asbestos and pulpwood. It is the policy which would bring American capital across the border to build branch factories in Canada, instead of sending Canadian workmen across the border to seek, cap in hand, jobs in American factories.

But the Star tells us that if we try to be independent and self-sustained, we will endanger the League of Nations, and we read:

The vain attempt to gain our exclusive self-sufficiency breeds jealousies and antagonisms and fears, and is a great obstacle to the firm establishment of that League of Nations on which the hope of the peoples of the earth is fixed.

If the self-sufficiency which comes to Canadians thru the development of Canada by the National Policy is bad for the League of Nations, then we can only paraphrase a famous phrase and say: "So much the worse for the League of Nations. There is no friendship in trade, but each fellow must look out for himself. The main business of Canada is to look out for Canada, and if that causes 'jealousies, antagonisms and fears,' so much the worse for those who entertain such feelings against it. We will make our tariff to suit ourselves without the slightest regard to their wishes.

Averting Commercial War.
President Wilson refuses to set in motion the machinery of the Jones act, and thereby averts a commercial war with other maritime nations. The Jones act, passed at the last session of congress, and approved by the president, gives a preferential tariff rate to dutiable goods imported in American ships. The act, however, does not come into effect until certain commercial treaties now in force shall have been abrogated by mutual agreement or by the action of the U. S.

government. The president is required by the terms of the act to open negotiations for the amendment or cancellation of these treaties within six months.

The six months has expired, but the president declines to act. Indeed, he has informally notified the various legations interested that he does not intend to move. In a semi-official statement given to the public it is stated that the time is most inopportune for the United States to enter upon a commercial war which would certainly be inaugurated by carrying out the provisions of the Jones act.

The president, of course, is being denounced by the Republicans as a despot. Hannis Taylor, at one time U. S. minister to Madrid, and an authority upon British and American constitutional law, says Mr. Wilson is exercising the "dispensing power," a power first exercised by the Tudor kings, and which, when exercised by James II, led to the revolution of 1688. This was the prerogative once claimed by the crown to suspend the execution of acts of parliament. The Republican specters of a less literary turn than Mr. Taylor will be declaring that Mr. Wilson is the chore boy of the British government, always willing to sacrifice the United States for the benefit of the mother country.

Why Mr. Wilson did not veto the bill in the first place for the same reason which now prompts him to ignore its provisions is hard to understand. He is probably well advised not to embark upon a commercial war at the very time when the United States is most anxious to increase her foreign trade. Congress is helpless to deal with the president even were it in session, because, after all, the president and the president alone, carries on all diplomatic negotiations and he must do it in his own time and in his own way.

How far the carrying out of the Jones act would have benefited the American merchant marine no one can say. Government help of some kind must be extended to the marine if it is to compete with British ships built at half the cost. Using the tariff for such a purpose is by no means a new idea. Indeed, it is such an old idea that it may be considered antiquated. Meanwhile the president ignores the will of congress, and congress, until it meets next December, must perform remain inarticulate.

Start With Standard Gauge.

The Transportation Commission of Toronto is at work. A first question to be settled is whether to keep the existing wide gauge or adopt the standard railway gauge of 4 feet 8 1/2 inches.

We believe the right and the best thing to do is to change to standard gauge and thereby even up with the steam and radial lines all over the continent. All other cities are of standard gauge.

But we do not need to do it all at once. It will be for the new manager, H. H. Couzens, and his consulting associates to work out how the change can best be done. It might be that an underground tube system north and south, east and west, might be the solution. This was The World's plan when the tubes were talked of years ago.

But let the commission settle the gauge within a short time; in the meantime let it order the rails and the trimmings for the Mount Pleasant line.

Remark in Passing.

It is to be hoped that the local Sinn Feiners will not demand suppression of the city council meetings on the ground that they are a menace to law and order.

Now that the transportation commission has got down to work, with money to spend, residents of North Toronto will be justified in looking for the long-promised transportation relief.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo of New York City says arrests for drunkenness have tripled since prohibition came into effect. Evidently those in the business have discovered something just as good.

Governor Smith of New York has signed the housing act, making evictions illegal, and is thus said to have abolished moving day. If only somebody would come along and abolish rent day we all could be happy.

Monday's session of council demonstrated that lots of things can happen that the compilers of the manual never thought of. There is nothing in the rules compelling the mayor to call a policeman and have himself removed from the council chamber, yet a point in the proceedings was reached where this was the only logical step.

MRS. TORONTO: What an Example to Set! Don't Listen to Them, Willie!

HIGH PRICES AFFECT PEOPLE ON SALARY

ferred to a number of changes which had been made in important departments of the faculty, at the same time paying high tribute to the late Dean Ellis and the late Major Galbraith-Dean Ellis, it will be recalled, spent 50 years with the faculty of the university, and was beloved both for his scholarly attainments and his lovable, frank nature.

Most Affected by Prices.
In part Sir Robert said: "The men and women in the community, who have been most affected by the rise in prices are those who on fixed salaries conduct those services which preserve society on its spiritual side—the school teachers, those on a university staff, the ministers, judges, permanent government officials. And they have little redress. They cannot and will not hold their society by strikes. They endure hardship and carry on as best they may, but the society must not deal unjustly with them, for in the long run injustice brings evil results. If the public does not come to realize that a reasonably good livelihood shall be given to those who serve it in education and all that constitutes the spiritual side of human life, it will suffer by being led by inferior and blind guides, and will some day find itself in the ditch."

"We have had a fine harvest; better, by far, than we had anticipated at the close of last semester. It is, indeed, stated to be 21 per cent. above that of the average. And we may feel assured that with the richness of the summer, the bountiful harvest and other blessings, the tension anticipated for the coming winter may be considerably relieved. For, as we look beyond the surface, we can see much to cause anxiety. There may be unemployment. We see, too, each country in an alarm lest it may be the next to suffer for the horrors which have been experienced by some in Europe. Fortunately for us, however, our face is toward the light."

The speaker then dwelt upon the influence of the intelligent minority upon the majority of the peoples of nations, and, while uttering a warning, presaged much good from the channeling of that influence into the best avenues of endeavor. "Let us rest assured, had not autocracy enslaved the multitudes of Russia in the past, Bolshevism would not be stalking the land today," said Sir Robert. Also, had the worker thought more of life than of the material, and the accompanying it, we would not ourselves be where we are today."

Continuing, Sir Robert dwelt at length upon the factors involved in the real progress of civilization, which he said, was based upon a thorough understanding of the laws governing mental and bodily health, upon the control of nature as exemplified in the application of the sciences, and upon the control of the imagination as exemplified in the application of the best principles of the arts and fine arts, all of which formed the touchstones of collegiate and university training and education.

In conclusion, Sir Robert expressed the hope that the students would enjoy themselves with greater moderation and restraint than was evinced last year. Simplicity in dress, he said, was, he believed, the keynote of enjoyment of all life had to give, no matter whether this enjoyment was for the freshman at the university or for the captain of industry and profession. There was, need, too, in a measure of restraint in the field of athletics. "Remember, men, the university is the guardian of sports, and it is a wise maxim always to realize that you are playing for sports' sake alone," said the president.

Facilities Improved.
Improvement of registration and other facilities has so far resulted in much less discoloration within Varsity halls than was noted last year. While the speaker is larger than that of undergrads and co-eds is being carried out very smoothly. It is estimated that while there will be a much larger registration than was the case last year, it will not attain to the figure of 6,000, although the number might surpass 5,500.

Large numbers of freshmen are arriving hourly, and the Meds alone are expected to have not less than 200. In the S. P. S., freshmen registered yesterday, less in number than the sophomores, the latter registering 135 strong, as against 117 freshmen. But the total in registrations in the S. P. S. alone is expected to be near the 1,000 mark.

Board and room are at a premium in the environs of the Varsity, and it is estimated that at Hart House the cost for each student will be not less than eleven dollars a week.

DAMAGING STORM NEAR BELLEVILLE
Lightning and Gale Destroy Several Barns and Silos.
Belleville, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—A severe electrical storm accompanied by a gale swept over the city and vicinity last night, causing considerable damage to property in the country. In the township of Thurlow a barn, the property of Mr. F. Canill, was struck by lightning and burned with its contents, entailing a heavy loss. A cow near the barn was killed by the bolt. In the same township, three silos were leveled, while trees and fences were overturned. H. K. Denyes, M. L. A., had a stack of hay strewn over a field. The steeple of the Reform Episcopal Church opened this evening, presided over by Bishop Brewing, of Toronto. Bishop Brewing gave an address referring to the church's attitude to the Lambeth appeal.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Quincy of this city, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding, having been married here 50 years ago by the late Rev. Dr. Wild. The event was fittingly commemorated by a reception at Holloway Street Church.

NEW ELECTION ACT WORKED OUT WELL

Wigmore Reports on St. John Vote—Early Polls Were Unnecessary.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Despite the many changes made in the elections act last session, there was little confusion among the returning officers and other officials in the St. John by-election, held recently, according to Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs and inland revenue, who returned from St. John yesterday. Mr. Wigmore stated to the Canadian Press that the new act had worked out very satisfactorily in St. John, the only complaint heard being from those officials and other election workers who had to open the city polls at 6 o'clock in the morning. Large numbers of voters, he stated, there were scarcely a dozen votes polled until after 8 o'clock, and the laboring men, for whose benefit the additional two morning hours were supposed to be provided, did not take advantage of the new system at all. As most of the men were allowed time for voting during working hours, the minister thought the early opening had been shown to be unnecessary as far as St. John was concerned.

WILL EXPLAIN HOW NEW TAX APPLIES

Hon. R. W. Wigmore to Make Special Tour—Stamp Office for Toronto.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—In order to remove many of the misapprehensions now existing in regard to the luxury taxes, Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs and inland revenue, with the two deputy heads of his joint department, is planning a tour of several towns and cities. It is expected that a trip thru the eastern provinces will be arranged to start about the middle of October. This plan will be to arrange meetings thru the board of trade in each of the larger centres, and have the merchants present to explain their difficulties to the authorities and have any misunderstandings cleared away. In this way it is hoped to secure a greater measure of co-operation from the merchants thru the country, and thus bring in greater returns from the new taxes.

To Have Enough Stamps.
The stamp system of collecting the taxes, it is expected, will be started Nov. 1. Merchants will then attach stamps for the amount of the luxury tax to the package in which they wrap the goods sold.

Details of the method of affixing and cancelling stamps used for this purpose have been worked out, and it is hoped to have a plentiful supply of special stamps of different denominations available to the dealers in plenty of time for starting the new system on the above date.

The stamps will be sold to the merchants thru the banks in most cities, but in some larger centres, such as Montreal and Toronto, it is likely that an office will be opened by the department, where the sales of the stamps will be taken care of. The stamp method is expected to provide a much easier means of checking sales, and also to bring in the returns from the luxury taxes much more quickly than under the present system.

THE HOUSE 'ROUND THE CORNER
By GORDON HOLMES

"You policeman little rat!" murmured Armathwaite, and seized him. Walker was young and active, and by no means a weakling or cowardly, but he resembled a jackal in the grip of a tiger when the hands closed on him which had choked the life out of Nasr-ulla Khan, chief cut-throat of the Usman Khel. There was no struggle. He was flung face downwards on the table until the door was thrown wide. Then he was bundled neck and crop out of the house, and kicked along the twenty yards of curving path to the gate.

There Armathwaite released him, a limp and prostrate object. "Now, go to Nuttobay, and stop there!" was the parting injunction he received. His bitter humiliation lay in the knowledge that Marguerite Garth and Betty Jackson, hearing the racket, had rushed to hall and door, and were gazing over his discomfited figure. A drop of bitter gall was added by his assailant's subsequent behavior, for Armathwaite turned his back on him, and sauntered slowly to the house, seemingly no counter-attack. And, indeed, James Walker retained sufficient sense in his frenzied brain to realize that he had no chance in a physical struggle with this demon of a man. So he climbed into the dog-cart, not with his wonted agility, and drove away to Nuttobay without ever a backward glance.

But he vowed vengeance, vowed it with all the intensity of a mean and stubborn nature. He had visions, at first, of a successful action for assault and battery; but, as his rage moderated, he saw certain difficulties in the way. His only witnesses would be the hostile, and it was even questionable if a bench of magistrates would convict Armathwaite when it was shown that he, Walker, had virtually forced an entry into the house, and refused to leave when requested.

But he could strike more subtly and vindictively thru the authorities. Marguerite Garth had said that Stephen Garth was living, and Robert Armathwaite—that compound of iron knuckles and whipcord—muscles—had tacitly endorsed the statement. If that was true, who was the man buried in Stephen Garth's name and identity in the churchyard at Belleville? He had a vague recollection of some difference of opinion between the coroner and a doctor at the inquest. He must refresh his memory by consulting a file of the "Nuttobay Gazette." In any event, he could stir a hornet's nest into furious activity and search the innermost recesses of the Grange with anguish-laden darts. Curse Meg Garth and her cousin! He would teach both of 'em, that he would! If they thought that James Walker was done with because he had been flouted and ill-used, they were jolly well mistaken, see if they weren't!

Marguerite Ogilvie was as tender-hearted a girl as ever breathed, but it needed superhuman qualities—qualities that no woman could possibly possess and have red blood in her veins—to restrain the fierce joy which thrilled her being when she saw her persecutor driven forth with contempt. Betty Jackson, the village maid, was delighted but shocked; Marguerite, the educated and well-bred young lady, rejoiced candidly. "You've done just what I would have done if I were a strong man like you!" she cried tremulously, when Armathwaite faced her at the door. There was a light in her eyes which he gave no heed to at the moment—the light which comes into the eyes of women when she is defended by her chosen mate—but he attributed it to excitement and hastened to calm her. "I may have acted rashly," he said, "but I couldn't help it. Consequently, one has to take the law into one's own hands. Surely this is one of the occasions!"

"He'll keep clear of Elmdale for a bit," chortled Betty. "Praps he thinks no one saw you kickin' him across ourselves. He's wrong! Half the village knows of old Mrs. Bellam's nearly fell out of an upstairs window with cranin' her neck to see what was goin' on, an' there's the little Johnnie Hiclam runnin' down the ten-acre field now to tell Mr. Burt ar' his mate all about it."

The girl had thoughtlessly brought out a fact of far-reaching import. Armathwaite swung on his heel, and found gaping faces at every cottage back window, and above every hedge. Betty Elmdale had waked. His usually a deserter of small accounts, he was with child life. The sharp Walker was somewhat too sharp on the tongue, and were cordially hated, polyanthous. The bouncing of Walker, junior, was not made him popular; his trouncing would provide a joyous epic for many a day. As for Marguerite Ogilvie, her presence in the house it was known far and wide already. She had been recognized by dozens of people. Elizabeth Hamlyn had lost sight of her, highly probable outcome of his action, nor did it trouble him greatly. The major happening, which he had viewed validly to avert, had come about thru no fault of his, and minor issues were trivial and might be disregarded. In an earthquake the crumbling of a few bricks more or less a day. As for Marguerite Ogilvie, he had almost forgotten the downfall of Goldsmith's deserted village five miles earlier, was now a thriving place, all eyes and cackling tongues.

"The heavens don't miss a meal." said Marguerite, holding her hands pressed close to eyes and said Armathwaite—"that is, Meg has not had her tea." It nodded, and hastened into the room, where, it appeared, he was waiting. Armathwaite's return Walker arrived on the scene, carrying a teapot, and the kitchen. Marguerite was sitting silently. When the man in the arm, mistaking her for the woman in the drawing-room, she to a very tempest of weeping, a child yields to an abandonment of grief when most assured of safety and protection. continued Tomorrow Morning.

TROPHY GUN GETS SOMEWHAT ASTRAY

Found at Exhibition Ground After Consigned to Mayor of Todmorden.

Following many days of enquiry at railway freight sheds and interviews with all kinds of officials, the trophy gun belonging to Todmorden by the director of war supplies at Ottawa on July 20, at the request of W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York, was found at the Exhibition grounds by the World yesterday, having been delivered by order of the Grand Trunk Railway to the parks department, city hall, which has the gun delivered by the Hendrie Cartage Company to the Exhibition grounds on August 15, in time for the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition, and paying the $1500 freight and cartage charges. Why the trophy was delivered to the city of Toronto by the G.T.R. when the consignment note or bill of lading states "To be delivered to the Mayor of Todmorden, and why the parks department accepted delivery and paid the freight charges without notifying the York township authority, has yet to be explained. Two other trophy guns were also delivered with the Todmorden gun, one labeled, "The Mayor of Toronto," and the other stated to be without a tag, and which was for the Fairbank district.

FOUR MEN KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK

Stock Train Struck by C.N.R. Freight Near Canora—Two Also Injured.

Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—(By Canadian Press).—Four men were killed and two injured at 4:30 a.m. today in a rear-end collision when a freight train on the Canadian National Railway ran into a stock train running ahead several miles west of Canora, Sask. VARDON AND RAY GET THEIR REVENGE

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 28.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the British professional golf stars, defeated the Massachusetts amateurs, Francis Guilmet and Jesse P. Guilford, 4 and 3, in a 36-hole, best-ball foursome, on the links of the Country Club today. JONES WANTS SHAMROCKS.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Con Jones, the well-known Pacific Coast hockey and lacrosse magnate, announced today that he had offered the Shamrock lacrosse team $5000 and fifty per cent. of any gate money taken in excess of $10,000, to play a series of three games on May 21, 24 and 28, in Vancouver, for the Minto Cup.

MONTREAL WORKING WITH WHITE BALL.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—The M.A.A.A. rugby squad was sent through another whirlwind practice tonight on the Westmount grounds by Bill Hughes, and it was well after dark before he gave the signal to stop. He was able to keep the players on the field later, using a couple of whitewashed balls, which were easily followed in the increasing darkness. Formation practice against the second team was started with the players which will most likely compose the team when they take the field against Argos next Saturday. But since there are two or more players eligible for almost every position on the team, an attempt to name the line-up would be mere conjecture.

LACROSSE GOSSIP.

All roads between Toronto and points west of Orangeville will lead to that thriving lacrosse centre, Orangeville, this afternoon, when Conter's last stand will be staged in the final intermediate game of the season between Orangeville and Mimico. The fact that the home birds have a four-goal lead is nothing to crow over, when one considers the past reputation of Mimico's boys, who have shown to good advantage miles from their bed and room. Another feature in their favor is that the speedy, slick field of Orangeville will help rather than hinder Messrs. Thomas and Cooper. On the other hand, however, when that trio of Orangeville will help rather than hinder Messrs. Thomas and Cooper. On the other hand, however, when that trio of Orangeville will help rather than hinder Messrs. Thomas and Cooper.

It will be made one of the planks in the municipal election in December.

Argonauts got down to hard work again last night in preparation for their opening Big Four game here with Montreal on Saturday. Coach Rodden ordered a stiff signal drill and a line-up for a wind-up that had all the earmarks of a real fixture.

Lanky Rowell failed to get his matrix and will be unable to attend practice. He is coming out of Argos tonight. Romeril has not been out to practice for a week.

Varsity seniors looked much better last night. Laddie Casella gave them a hard time. The scullers were out last night, getting in a workout in preparation for the Old Boys game against Varsity.

Grand Prix in Paris the Closest to Coming Meet at Kenilworth.

Chicago Farm: When the coming race between Man of War and Sir Barton is decided, it will establish a high point in racing history. The most valuable horse ever won by a race horse in any country.

HYDRO NOT AFRAID OF EVERY INVESTIGATION

Colonel McInnes Makes Statement Before Sutherland Commission—Hydro is Trustee for Municipalities, Mr. Gaby Says—Changed Conditions Cause of Difference in Any Estimates—Nobody to Blame for Delay of Inquiry, Counsel States.

"No one is to be blamed for any delay in commencing this inquiry," said I. F. Hellmuth, K.C. acting for the Ontario government yesterday at the first public sitting of the Hydro Radial Commission of investigation held at Osgoode Hall.

A fresh element cropped up at yesterday's proceedings when R. S. Robertson, representing the "dissenting" municipalities, voiced open hostility to Hydro radials. He pointed out that the Hydro was now quoting different figures from those on which the ratepayers had voted.

Mr. Robertson asked if one portion of a line could be tacked on to another line. He instanced the portion from Toronto to Port Credit, which, he said, originally was to form part of the line to London, and now it was proposed to tack it on to the Toronto-St. Catharines line.

Mr. McKay said it always seemed to him quite clear from a perusal of all documents that the Toronto-Port Credit portion stood by itself, and that the Port Credit-St. Catharines was in a like position. The logical result would be that the one would form a link with the other if so thought advisable.

Mr. McKay's Evidence. Mr. Hellmuth then called Mr. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro, a position the witness had held from inception of the Hydro movement. Mr. Gaby told the commission that the first road proposed was what was known as the Toronto-Northeastern section, which embraced Markham, Unionville, Newmarket and Whitby.

Mr. McKay said that the estimates, with the exception of operating expenses and revenue, in connection with the three roads were now in. He stated that the Hydro officials had been working on the estimates for some time, and that the estimates were not complete. He warned some progress made at the sitting and suggested that Mr. Gaby or some other official of the Hydro should make a statement.

Revenue Estimates Higher. Taking the Toronto and Eastern as an example, Mr. Robertson pointed out that revenue estimates on this road were now considerably higher than the original estimates voted. He could not be expected to state his position until all the information he requires was forthcoming.

Mr. McKay replied that it was not a question whether the past judgment of the Hydro Commission was erroneous. "The question is whether the present program of the Hydro should be approved. The estimates to which Mr. Robertson referred made several years ago and the Hydro would be crassly estimate if it stuck to the original estimates, despite more recent information."

a lifetime, when the finding of the commission would be of no use. Mr. McKay took the stand that the original figures and estimates and population were cumulative, and it would be impossible to put it in any shape to be of service to the commission unless one knew exactly what was wanted.

Mr. Hellmuth read from the order defining the functions of the commission, and said these were to enquire generally into the Hydro program, which called for an expenditure of around $20,000,000. In reply to an observation by Chairman Sutherland, Mr. Hellmuth said that if the proposition now before the commission was not the same one made to the government, it might alter the attitude of the government. He, of course, could not say.

CHILDREN MUST BE GIVEN CHANCE

Health Important as Education, Canon Scott Tells Canadian Club.

In an address that closely held the attention of more than 400 members of the Canadian Club yesterday, Canon Scott painted a vivid picture of Canada's future. Her maturity had been hastened when her manhood had returned, molded anew in the furnace of war, and the time had come when each Canadian had a solemn part to play in the building up of the nation of the world.

Too many things were neglected in the desire for wealth, said Canon Scott. Our children should not alone be taught the meaning of citizenship, but that of health and religion. The health of every child was as important as its education, and the state should see that neither was neglected.

Another serious danger was the lax view of marriage which was so common. Public opinion in the matter of divorces was becoming looser, and our national life without ideals was unworthy.
