CHAMBERLAIN IS HEARD IN COMMONS

MAKES SPEECH ON LEAGUE MATTER

Many Foreign Diplomats Present In House Gallery

BRITISH STAND

Foreign Secretary Stresses Importance of Avoiding Any Friction

LONDON, March 4.—Speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon, Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons that Britain would not oppose a unanimous agreement of the other members of the League of Nations council to award a permanent seat to some nation besides Germany.

LONDON, March 4.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, opened his promised statement on the League of Nations question in the House of Commons this afternoon.

He declared he was conscious of the delicacy of the occasion, and hoped he would be able to give the House some satisfaction without increasing the difficulties of any one side. The diplomatic gallery was well filled, those present including the ambassadors of Belgium, Turkey, Japan and Portugal, and the Swiss minister.

REGRETS CLASH. He declared the British government shared the widely felt regret that these issues had arisen when the League was young, and that it was not his fault or anybody else's. It was, perhaps, inevitable he added.

BACK UNANIMITY. Sir Austen asserted that the British Government regarded it of first importance that the intention of the League should be fulfilled, and that nothing should interfere at the last moment to prevent Germany carrying out the intention she had expressed.

WANT RIGHT TO TAX SOLDIERS' LANDS

Saskatchewan and Alberta Municipalities Will go to Court if Necessary

REGINA, Sask., March 4.—If the Federal government will not grant the request of the Saskatchewan and Alberta municipalities for the right to collect taxes from the Soldier Settlement Board for the lands under the board's control, it is proposed to take the matter to the courts, and, if necessary, to carry it up to the Privy Council.

A suggestion to this effect was made at the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities, in Regina yesterday, when it was stated that up to the end of 1924 municipalities in these two provinces have lost as much as an estimated sum of about $125,000 and $200,000 as a result of the refusal of the board to pay taxes on lands which have been abandoned by the soldier settler, and reverted to the board as well as other patented lands under the control of the board.

BANISHED WITHOUT MONEY. "They did not give us time to take even our briefcases," he said. "We could gather together no clothes. We have no money. They made us come as they found us."

RESCUED BY CAPTAIN. "My own experience is typical," he said. "I was taken to my quarters when the police called. I was dressed in non-clerical clothes because in Mexico we are not allowed to wear our uniforms on the street. They told me I was under arrest. Their pistols showed they meant what they said."

Speaker At Toronto Says Irish State Ready To Quit Empire

TORONTO, Ont., March 4.—When the first favorable opportunity presents itself, the Irish Free State will break away from the British empire, Rev. F. C. Hammond, of Dublin, stated here yesterday.

"They are only in the British Commonwealth, because they can't break away at present, but they have no sympathy with the British connection," he said. "The Irish Free State loses no opportunity to minimize the British connection and to emphasize their separate rights."

Republicanism as a movement, Mr. Hammond said, was at present quiet.

"De Valera is said to have gone back to teaching mathematics at Black Rock College, but one-third of the Dail is Republican and about one-third of the electorate. The toast to the King is not honored at public banquets in Ireland, and now the appeal to the Privy Council is being abolished."

SECURITY VALUE CUT BILLION DURING WEEK

Prices Rally From One To 8 Points After Opening

TRADING LARGE

Confidence restored by Absence of Large Blocks Offered For Sale

NEW YORK, March 4.—The reactionary movement in stock prices, which has continued uninterrupted for over a week and has reduced the quoted value of securities by over $1,000,000,000, was checked, at least temporarily, today, when strong banking support was provided for a long list of high-grade railroad and industrial shares. A rally of one to eight points followed the initial outbreak of buying, with trading again in enormous volume.

One hopeful sign seen by stock market observers was the fact that large blocks of stock were no longer pressed for sale, regardless of bids, and that practically all the large individual transactions were on the side of rising prices.

BARGAIN HUNTERS. The increasing number of small lots of 100 and 200 shares, representing the purchases of what Wall Street regards as "bargain hunters" also helped to restore confidence in the market.

The rally was most pronounced in the railroad and steel prices. General Electric was bid up 5 points to 318, United States Cast Iron Pipe 7 to 171 and American Can 7 to 188 before the end of the first hour. American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Woolworth, International Telephone, Mack Truck and S. S. Kresge sold 4 to 5 points above yesterday's financial quotations.

HEAVY RAILS BUYING. Heavy buying of the Van Sweringen railroad shares probably was inspired by intimations of its financial sponsors that the proposed Federal Reserve act would not be abandoned as a result of the adverse Interstate Commerce Commission decision on the original plan.

Chesapeake and Ohio common, the only strong spot in that group yesterday, was quickly run up 8 1/2 points on special buying presumably in belief that its stockholders would receive better terms under the new plan as a result of the minority's successful opposition to the original proposal.

"Nickel Plate" common, which collapsed 83 points yesterday, rallied 7 points.

OTHERS RECOVER. Early advances of two to nearly three points were recorded by Pere Marquette common, New York Central, "Katy" common, Atchafalaya, Erie common, Rock Island common and Frisco common.

A break of 3/4 to 3 cents a bushel in wheat prices fluctuated the opening of the commodity market. Other commodities pointed upward, cotton futures rallying 10 points and coffee futures 10 to 64 points. Rubber prices, which were the only weak spot in yesterday's commodity markets, rallied 1/2 to 2 cents a pound.

As regards the widow, an amendment was inserted to provide that, at her remarriage she is to receive 12 months of rent.

LORD READING MAY AGAIN BE SEEN IN COURT

Future On Return From India Speculated On By Friends

LORD CAVAN WILL BE MISSED IN ARMY

References In Victoria Letters To Events of Other Days

Correspondence of Times-Star LONDON, Feb. 18.—Lord Reading's future is exercising the minds of the social gossips. His Lordship will return home on the completion of his term at Simla next April, and no doubt his first desire will be a genuine holiday among old friends. But he is still physically and intellectually a dynamic force, and is not the sort of personality to allow himself to be placed prematurely on the shelf. Will he seek occupation in public service, in politics, or perhaps in the law? It is difficult to see what other imperial post he could hold, and his genius is not suited to parliamentary life, so that there remains only the bar. I hear talk that he may seek fresh laurels and fees in that direction. But, though there is no prohibition on an ex-Attorney as there is on an ex-Chancellor, I cannot quite see Lord Reading, an ex-Attorney, pleading in wig and gown again.

A Pimply Face Is Unightly

Miss C. C. M. Smart, South Bedford, Sask., writes:—"A while ago I was troubled with facial blemishes, especially pimples, and was really ashamed to go out with such a bad looking face. I tried 3 or 4 different remedies, but they didn't help me any, so one day a friend, who had been troubled the same as I was, advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. After I had taken two bottles there wasn't a pimple on my face any more, and I now have a clear, smooth and velvety complexion." Put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Stratford Woman

Stratford, Ontario.—"After my first baby was born I started to work on the tenth day and did a big wash on the twelfth day. Being so young (I was married 2) I did not know what was the matter, so let it go until I was all run-down, weak and nervous, and had a bad displacement. For nearly two years I could not sleep and I would always complain of having "a head-ache, a brain-ache." My mother is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the change of life, and she recommended it to me. After taking two bottles I began to get a little sleep and to feel better and I have never left off since then, except for about three months. I can safely say I have taken thirty bottles since my second baby was born. I think it makes child-birth easier as I had terrible pains with my first three children and very few with my fourth as I was so much stronger. I am now able to do my work alone, but I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as I am nursing baby."—Mrs. Queen Paul, 42 Cherry Street, Stratford, Ontario.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Feeling Blue?

Everything seem all wrong and you don't care much whether school keeps or not? Probably all you need is a little Sal Lithofos. It gently eliminates waste products that clog the system, causing depression and a train of minor but intensely disagreeable physical ailments. Easily prepared and pleasant to take, having a sparkling freshness superior to mineral waters.

Also a recognised specific for the treatment of rheumatic and gouty conditions.

Lord Cavan will be much missed in the army, from which he severed connection today—tragedy enough for a second time. He, more than any other man, was responsible for improving the soldierly qualities of the young men who were sent to the front. He was, after the war—merely boys, in fact. With that end in view, His Lordship went all out for athletics, and cricket, football and other manly pleasures because obligatory for all officers and men. Prior to the war, the requirements of regiments were supplied through the generosity of the officers' messes. Now they are part of the Government expenditure connected with each unit, and become part and parcel of a soldier's physical training. Consequently for anyone that at the age of 35 he would be as fit as Sir Edward Clark. I met the veteran only a few days ago and he did not show a sign of wear. He is just the same compact, energetic little man with Dundreary whiskers, full of energy and go, and as keen about affairs as ever. No doubt his habit of strict moderation in all things, except perhaps at one time when in Liverpool, represented the last time I saw him in action was as a specially-retained counsel for Bootle, when Liverpool fought to save a hill. Balfour Browne, K. C., led for Liverpool and young "F. E." then a very junior barrister, was briefed on the same side. The neat and assured way "F. E." readjusted a witness whom Sir Edward had turned inside-out and thematically down—against the dories, but he can have had no prevision then of Lord Rippenhead's brilliant career.

WONDERFUL VETERAN. It would be a very pleasant thought for anyone that at the age of 35 he would be as fit as Sir Edward Clark. INTERNATIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS

At a recent international congress in Rome, of ex-servicemen's federations at which, among others, Major Cohen, M.P., who lost both legs serving on the Western front with a battalion of the Liverpool, represented Britain, one interesting recommendation was made. It was to the effect that a system of international scholarships should be established open to both sexes, with a full course of tuition at some recognized university, and a reasonable allowance for travelling and living expenses. An international committee, of which Major Cohen is a member, has been formed to investigate this project, and suggest the best means of carrying it through. The idea behind the proposal is a significant one, especially considering its source. It is the cultivation of a real spirit of internationalism. Within the last few years, there are nowadays no more fervent pacifists than the warriors of 1914.

BACK TO THE LAND.

A railway official tells me that there is a marked and growing tendency nowadays to remove town factories into rural areas. It is an entirely unexpected and perhaps slightly cynical realization of the stereotyped "back-to-the-land" slogan. My informant mentions the well-known West End firm, who have recently bought hundreds of acres in Bedfordshire, with the intention of erecting thereon not only a factory extension, but some good model houses for their workpeople. And this is only one of many instances of the same tendency. Within the next decade we may look, therefore, to see a thick dotting of factories over the rural areas 40 miles round London, mostly accompanied by garden-city suburbs of country life with-

It caused a great deal of itching and burning and my face was very sore. It troubled me for three or four weeks. I was treated without any benefit. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and could see a great change after the first night. I continued the treatment and in four weeks I was completely healed." DIPLOMAS FOR SERVANTS.

Active measures are being taken by a new organization with which some well-known feminists are associated to form an official diploma for domestic servants. It is hoped that this project may not only prove useful both to domestic employers and employees, but go far to help in the solution of the old domestic problem. The broad idea behind the new organization, which will be centred in London, with ultimately branches in all the principal provincial centres of population, is to award impartially to mistress and maid, and a sensible workable code for the protection of the rights and interests of both. The promoters believe that much may be done by appealing to domestic service up-to-date industrial conditions, and giving the work a definite status. "The national agency, when it is launched, will insist on its terms of service being recognized by both parties, and will establish diploma courses in domestic housework."

HUDSON BAY COMPANY.

The new role of the famous Hudson Bay Company, associated intimately with the history of Canada, will be one of the most important that it has ever undertaken. With headquarters at Trafalgar Buildings, Charing Cross, for a subsidiary association, known as the Hudson Bay Company Overseas Settlement, Limited, it will be prepared to advise and assist intending settlers in practically all the chief areas of the Dominion, the colony, owns over 3,000,000 acres in the rich western prairie lands, in addition to large areas suitable for colonization elsewhere. It has a network of railways, and these extend to the limits to which the project is being carried as yet taken the hardy sons of Great Britain as they are gradually spreading and unpopulated territory. The universal field available, not only for settlers, but for men of business enterprise, travelers, and even sportsmen.

LONDON-CONSTANTINOPLE.

One phase of our evacuation of Cologne to which little public attention has been directed is the effect it must have on our relations with the continent. The arrangement is that the present Col. line service terminates at the end of the present month. But Germany is making energetic and successful attempts in the development of commercial flight and the importance of Cologne as an air clearing depot is fully recognized by the German experts who are considering a system linking by airway London, Cologne, Paris, Prague, and Vienna in one service. Eventually the extension of this airway as far east as Constantinople is in contemplation. In view of these possibilities, it is almost certain that the London-Cologne air service now in being will be encouraged to continue and be welcomed by the German authorities.

THE WIDOW OF WINDSOR

Queen Victoria's letters, two more volumes of which, edited by G. E. Buckle, published by John Murray, cover the period from the Prince Consort's death, leaving the widowed Queen at the disposal of her accounts, to her death, are now being prepared by a capable editor, with a vast repertoire to rule and a large young family to manage. She set herself to the task with a gallant determination that almost settled into principle. Whether imposing her will on Prince Edward, resisting the popular opinion to Charles, or disputing with a statesman, the Queen perpetually quotes her late husband's wishes, and her own own form widowhood. It is all very human, but sorely regal.

THE BURDEN OF STATE

After the Prince Consort's death Queen Victoria scarcely spent any time in London. She preferred to be either at Windsor, Osborne, or Balmoral, and, when her absence caused a popular comment, bitterly protested that she would not "be treated by popular clamor into doing what she physically cannot." Yet she showed a strong disinclination to allow the Prince of Wales to deputize for her in affairs of state. Her outlook, even allowing for the more progressive modern spirit, was far less democratic.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., MARCH 4, 1926.

NATIONAL THINKING.

In a recent address, delivered before the Ontario Good Roads Association, Sir Arthur Currie said: "I shall not introduce any political color in my remarks, but I ask you tonight if there is a single man or woman in this country who believes our legislators at Ottawa are thinking nationally. You know that what they are thinking about is what they consider will be to the advantage of their own political party."

The Border Cities Star is in hearty agreement with Sir Arthur Currie. It declares: "The attainment of the great objects for which we, as a nation, should be seeking, is embarrassed, impeded and blocked by the unfortunate state of affairs in the Dominion capital, and the refusal of politicians to waive party advantage for the sake of national well-being. Instead of making the best of a bad situation and trying to do what is obviously in the public interest, previous time and precious dollars are being wasted in a futile and empty discussion."

"There are many Canadians who share the Currie view. It is not too much to say that they are in the majority. Their collective voice cannot be heard, however, for the good reason that they are unorganized. The old-line party politicians hold the stage. No matter how much in the minority they may be, they are organized and, being organized, are able to articulate shrilly. "One of these days—and it may come sooner than many of us suppose—Canada is going to get a new deal politically. Our people will throw off the ancient chains of petty partyism that have fettered national development. A leader will arise. A new spirit will be breathed. Worn-out hatreds and jealousies will give way to something substantial and real and worth while. We will begin to live and prosper and succeed as she has never done before."

It is a healthy sign to find a growing section of the press of the country protesting against too much political partyism. A member of the Dominion Government lamented recently that the tendency seemed to be toward an independent press. To the violent partisan such a development cannot, of course, come itself, but if there is one thing Canada does not need at the present time it is the narrow partisan. The country has been divided against itself by too much sectionalism, and too much slavish adherence to party. National thinking alone can save the situation.

TORONTO HORRIFIED.

Toronto is horrified. The experience is not new, but this time it is more horrific than usual. Again it is New York that is the cause of the agonies. A partial explanation is found in the following sentence from a news story in the New York Times of Saturday: "Earl Carroll, host at the party early Tuesday morning in his theatre, where Joyce Hawley, a model, appeared nude in a bathtub of wine, from which some of his guests later drank, spent a half hour yesterday before the Federal Grand Jury."

The news, however, did not reach Toronto in that form. It was presented in an illustrated New York paper, with a picture showing the lady of the bath serving wine from the tub to gentlemen in evening clothes, who seemed to relish the new type of bar and barmaid. The accompanying story explained that the bathtub, with its unveiled occupant, was wheeled upon the stage at 4 a. m., which is only a few days before the occasion being a birthday celebration for a Texas millionaire, who financed the whole affair. The report said that the tub contained champagne, and Mr. Carroll said it was ginger ale; but that is a minor detail. Lady Cathart was said to have been present in the early stages of the celebration, but did not remain to inspect the bathtub. We are told, however, that Harry Thaw remained. The New York Times report of the affair says that the nymph of the bathtub was to get $10,000 and a part in one of Carroll's productions, and that she will insist upon getting both.

We are not concerned, however, about the morals of New York. It is Toronto that engages our serious contemplation. It is true the great majority of the people did not see the illustrated New York paper, and would therefore not have been able to enjoy the thrill of virtuous indignation; but a Toronto daily, eager to serve their need, not only printed the ghastly details, but printed over two columns of interviews with more or less prominent persons, giving expression to their views of the whole affair. One New York Journal has lately been placed under the ban in Canada. There may now be another. Possibly there should be many more. There may perhaps be the less hesitancy to adopt that course because of the conviction that the Toronto press will not leave the people in ignorance of what is going on in New York. And, then, there are things going on in Toronto.

The mayor of Hamilton has been asked to write to Sir Henry Thornton and ask if an application for a new railway station in that city will appear in the C. N. R. estimates. A letter sent by an alderman did not elicit a reply, and Hamilton is on the anxious seat. The need of a new station is conceded by every visitor to Hamilton. Saint John is in the same position.

NOT SO VERY FUNNY.

The Winnipeg Tribune offers the following light and cheerful comment on the proposed secession meeting in Amherst: "Amherst was the birthplace in Nova Scotia of Sir Charles Tupper, who brought that province into Confederation. The name of that country town of Cumberland now figures in the news despatches as a proposed meeting-place for those who would raise the banner of secession, or raise their voices in favor of it, with a certain Mr. Tennant leading the movement. Eitherto in Nova Scotia—since 1882, at any rate—the 'separators,' as they were then called, have not been much heard of. At that time the provincial elections were carried on under the secession banner, with Mr. Fielding leading the van. But immediately after he won the cry was dropped, except as raised sporadically and rather hysterically by one James A. Fraser, who is now an octogenarian editor of an always interesting little New Glasgow paper. Today a banner with secession upon it, in the Eastern-most province, surely bears a strange device. By way of analogy it may be mentioned that Mr. Tennant is a soda water manufacturer. There is little doubt that his latest excursion into politics will be as abortive as the one that fell flat, when he once unceremoniously spoke for the secessionists in the Dominion."

The danger of this sort of comment is that it tends to cause irritation where a recognition of conditions and circumstances would prove most useful. Perhaps no other town in the Maritimes has been as hard hit by the competition of the Central Provinces in industry as has the town of Amherst. Its loss of population has been pathetic. The effect upon its business and its business men could not be other than discouraging. The continued failure of governments at Ottawa to remove the disabilities under which these provinces labor has aroused a feeling of bitterness that extends far beyond the bounds of Amherst. During the last year it has been learned that there is throughout the country a deep sympathy with the Maritime Provinces, but apparently Ottawa has other things to think about, and these provinces must wait. There are, apparently, some citizens of Amherst who are weary of waiting. The thing for the rest of the country, and especially Parliament, to do is to see that this weariness does not spread.

The town of Pleasantville, near New York, is looking for a town-manager, to whom it expects to pay about $8,000 per year. An amendment to the Consolidated Village Law is being sought at Albany, which would give villages the right to employ village managers. The village, or small town, of Scarsdale employs a village engineer and pays him $6,000; and it is claimed he has saved the taxpayers two or three times that amount since he has been in office. The action taken by Pleasantville is non-political. It has been found that with the growth of the town, there are matters relating to streets, sewers, water supply, disposal plants, fire and police protection that cannot be attended to by a board meeting an hour or two each week, and hence the decision to put the town's affairs in the hands of a competent manager. Cleveland, with nearly a million people, has a city manager. Now it is proposed to have village managers. Apparently the new system finds growing favor in the United States as well as in Canada.

AN ADVERTISING MANAGER going home one night in a taxicab. It was late, and the man who sat next to him began to talk. "What business are you in?" he asked. "The advertising business," replied the man. "Is that so?" he asked. "I used to be in the advertising business myself. I gave it up, though, and went into the rag and old-bottle business. I was a sandwich man for a theatre for six months. Say," and he leaned over confidentially, "ain't it hard work when the wind blows?"

A SERGEANT was trying to drill a lot of raw recruits, and after working hard for three hours he thought they ought to be getting into some sort of shape, so decided to test them. "Right turn," he cried. Then, before they had ceased to move, came another order, "Left turn."

One hoodlum left the ranks and started off toward the barracks-room. "Here, you!" yelled the angry sergeant. "Where are you going?" "I've had enough," replied the recruit in a disgusted tone. "You don't know your own mind for two minutes' turn!"

THE little boy dashed wildly around the corner, and collided with the benevolent old gentleman, who inquired the cause of such a mad dash. "I gotta git home fer ma' to spank me," the boy panted. Who's Who IN THE DAY'S NEWS

SIR WALTER COWAN ON June 1, Great Britain's naval forces of the North American and West Indian stations will become the charge of Vice Admiral Sir Walter Cowan. He is the new commander-in-chief of the British Fleet in the Atlantic.

Sir Walter is 68 years old and married. In many campaigns Vice-Admiral Cowan has been mentioned in the despatches and decorated. While serving at Benin in 1897 he was honored and again a year later communications from the Nile gave him mention and the D. S. O. was conferred upon him.

In 1901 he was appointed aide-de-camp to Earl Roberts and continued to fill this office until 1910, when he was promoted to the rank of captain. During the World War Sir Walter was engaged in the Battle of Jutland Bank, June 1, 1916, and part of 1917 he was captain of H. M. S. Princess Royal. Then he was transferred to the command of the first light cruiser squadron of the Grand Fleet.

The rank of vice admiral was conferred upon him in 1923.

Work out its unquestioned benefits to humanity. It can be done. It is being done. If the idle rich persist in making a sport of the prohibition law, the day may come when the boulevardiers, valet in the minority, will have to be salvaged out of their attractive places for secret drinking and rescued, if possible, by the Salvation Army—just as the poor saloon victim used to be. In that event the sober and progressive working classes will automatically become the aristocrats, and society, so called, will be turned upside down in its system of organization. In other words, drinking and flouting the prohibition law are a tad and will die out.

Poems That Live

THE POPLAR FIELD. The poplars are fell'd, farewell to the shade, And the whispering sound of the cool colopade. The winds play no longer and sing in the leaves, Nor ease on his bosom their image-recaptives.

Two laves have elapsed since I first took a view Of my favorite field, and the bank where they grew; And now in the grass behold they are laid, And the tree is my seat that once lent me a shade.

The blackbird has fled to another retreat Where the hedges afford him a screen from the heat; And the scene where his melody charmed me before Resounds with his sweet flowing diad no more.

My fugitive years are all hasting away, And I must ere long lie as lowly as they. With a turf on my breast and a stone at my head, Ere another such grove shall rise in its stead.

A short to engage me, if anything can, To muse on the perishing pleasures of man; Short-lived as we are, our enjoyments, I see, Have a still shorter date; and die sooner than we.

—William Cowper.

"MAXIMUR" WALLPAPERS

A Triumph of Canadian Manufacture All 30 Inches Wide

The Canadian-made Maximur wall-papers, introduced about a year ago, have very definitely proved their excellence. Quality and economy of price combine in making them favorites. Colors have proved lasting, and a variety of attractive designs provide for every taste.

COLOR IS STRONGER There's a distinct vogue for stronger colors and larger patterns in wall-papers and Maximur wall-papers embrace these new features, and include a wide range of papers, and provide for every room in the house. For instance:

IN JAPANESE STYLE A dignified pattern for living or dining rooms, contrasts gold or silver flowers and branches with deep toned backgrounds. The design is much in the Japanese style, and comes in deep blue with gold and silver, tan with gold, rust with gold, and grey with silver.

STIPPLED PAPERS When furniture coverings or hangings are patterned, there is nothing so effective as a plain-toned paper of the walls. Maximur wall-papers include many stippled papers, where misty tints of rose and blue are blended, with a fine network of gilt. These come in a wide range of colors, from pale shades to the very dark tones.

Turkish Bomb Maims British Now in Service in China

GENERAL SUTTON'S
CAREER STIRRING

Fought at Dardanelles and Mesopotamia and Then Visited Siberia

The following is from the Vancouver Province:

The age of the adventurer is not past, and commercialism cannot strictly wipe out the interesting figure of the soldier of fortune. This fact was brought to notice when the British tramp S. S. Huanchao arrived here from the Orient. On her decks are great wooden cages, built especially to house pedigreed bulls from England and destined to lead herds on the Argentine pampas. The ship, recently operated on the Atlantic run from England to South America, was purchased by Gen. F. A. Sutton, Fleetin and Mukden, a British officer high in the service of the Manchurian war lord, Chang Tso Lin.

BOMB BLOWS OFF ARM

General Sutton is described as the ideal soldier of fortune. Standing 6 feet 8 inches, and proportionally built, with his right arm gone from an explosion of a Turkish bomb in Mesopotamia during the war, he is still an all-round athlete, and an exceptionally fine golfer. Born in England about 40 years ago, he was educated at Eton and then entered business life as an engineer. When the war broke out he was in South America, but he hastened home and enlisted, being given a commission as captain in the Dardanelles, where he was killed in the trenches. He was thrown into a hospital, but he was not long in getting on his feet. After the war he went to Siberia, where he was engaged in the pleasure of seeing the Bolsheviks taking it all. From Siberia he went to Manchuria, where he was engaged in the Szechuan province, China, far up the Yangtze river. He was engaged in the army of General Yang Sen.

LIVES AT MUKDEN

He started an arsenal for Lin, and took part in the campaign against General Wu Pei Fu, beating him in the campaign of 1924. Sutton's guns were important factors in the victory. With his aid Chang Tso Lin extended his territory to Shanghai. Sutton then started arsenals at Tientsin and Taitan for General Li Ching Lin. He is now at Mukden, one of Chang Tso Lin's chief advisers. Only two other Europeans hold as high posts in the Chinese army as he does. Both of these are Russian officers of the Czar's army.

LIBERAL M. P. NOW IS "KING" OF EGG

WASHINGTON, March 3.—An entirely new species of violet dug from hillside in the heart of Asia, near the northeastern corner of Tibet, by one of its scientific expeditions was announced to the world by the National Geographic Society, under the name of the Viola Chingiana.

New Violet From Asia Is Added To American Flora

The plant was collected in the summer of 1928 by B. C. Ching, a Chinese botanist attached to the staff of F. R. Wulshin, who conducted the National Geographic Society's expedition which employed camel caravans and goatskin pack animals in its Kansu Province explorations. Carefully dried and packed, the violet specimen found it way several months later by coolie-back and mule-back to the Chinese coast, whence it was shipped to the United States National Museum at Washington.

Dorothy Dix

A Warning to Parents Whose Children Try to Take Their Money and Independence From Them— Shall He Give Up His Son to Please His Second Wife?— How to Get Rid of Interfering In-Laws.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Just what does an old mother owe her married daughter who has married a n'er-do-well and has a family of five little children? My daughter comes to me and says, "Mother, if you don't give me $200 to pay my husband's fines in court, then you need never expect us to take care of you when you get helpless from age."

DOROTHY DIX

Should I give my daughter everything that I possess, and leave myself penniless, because she demands my money? LONELY MOTHER.

ANSWER: No! No! No! A thousand times no! Don't let your daughter rob you to pay a worthless man out of the scrapes he has got into. He deserves to suffer for his wrongdoing, and perhaps his punishment may teach him a much-needed lesson and make him behave himself.

Don't believe your daughter when she tells you that if you will give her all that you have now that she will take care of you in your old age. She will do no such thing. After she has wrung the last cent out of you, she will throw you aside with no more compunction than the world an empty purse.

Besides, if she is not able to support herself and her own family now, when she is young and strong, and if she is married to a man who not only won't work, but is "in trouble" out of which he has to be paid, what guarantee can she offer you that she will be able to take care of you in the future?

The most terrible form of graft in the world is that which selfish children practice upon their old parents. Compared to it, robbing a blind beggar, or taking candy from a baby, is almost a chivalrous proceeding, because the child trades upon the mother and father love which makes it almost impossible for parents to say "no" to a son or daughter in distress.

And it is so easy for the children to hoodwink their parents by representations of affection, by specious promises, by lovely pictures of how they are going to cherish dear mother and father in their declining days, and how the dear old people are always to have the warmest seat by the fire, the softest bed, the sunniest room! So, taken in by this glib line of talk, the credulous old mother or father deers over the house to Mary or John, or gives to Mary or John all the hard savings of a lifetime.

And then when Mary or John have got it all, and the poor old man or woman has become a penniless dependent, what a different story there is!

Many a poor old man and woman are kicked out of their own houses. Many a poor old father and mother are turned into servants in the homes of which they are rightfully master and mistress. Many a father and mother are abused and insulted, their opinions derided, made to feel themselves unwanted by the sons and daughters who, having got hold of their money, regard them as nothing but a burden.

So I urge all parents to hold on to their own pocketbooks. Help your children if their children really love them, and mean to do their duty by them, they will not try to rob them. They will not sacrifice father and mother to themselves. They will want father and mother to keep their own money and be independent.

For there are always the in-laws, you know: Between mother-in-law and father-in-law with their own homes, and their own bank accounts, and between mother-in-law and father-in-law who have to be supported, there is a great deal of work.

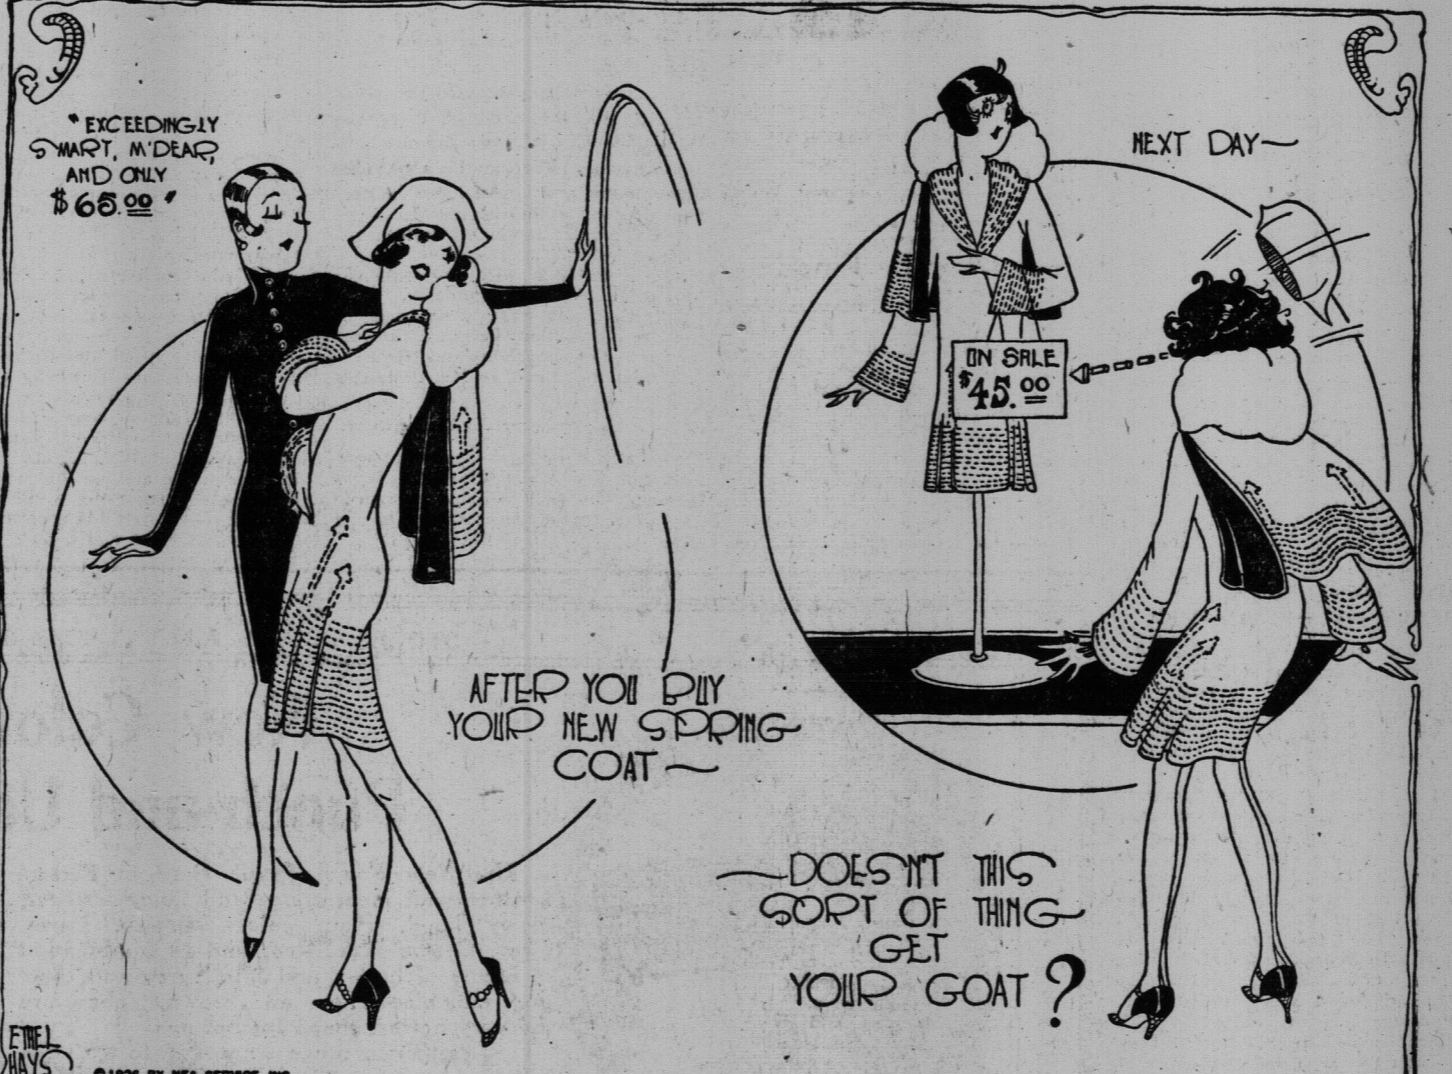

In deciding the money question, parents may well bear this in mind—That if their children really love them, and mean to do their duty by them, they will not try to rob them. They will not sacrifice father and mother to themselves. They will want father and mother to keep their own money and be independent.

And against the children who are willing to take father's and mother's last cent, father and mother should protect themselves as they would against any other confidence people who are trying to do them out of their property.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower with a very bright and attractive little boy, 6 years old. Since his mother's death, I have been living with my sister, who has taken care of the child. I am engaged to be married again, but my prospective wife dislikes my boy very much and wants me to let him continue to live with my sister. But sister is moving away soon to a distant State, and that would separate me from him entirely. What would be best for me to do—marry this girl or not? WIDOWER.

ANSWER: Either give up the girl or give your child to your sister, for if she is jealous of the little boy even before she marries you, she will make a cruel stepmother to him.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

CHARLES CHAPLIN has done it again! He's picked an unknown actress to play opposite him in his new comedy, "The Circus."

Her name is Merna Kennedy. She is of Irish descent, born in Chicago, has auburn hair, green eyes, is five feet two inches tall, and weighs one hundred pounds. "Vivacious and of tomboy type, but not a flapper," is the studio's description of her.

Merna Kennedy is a dapper, and has been ripping over the boards since she was a child. She was featured in a dancing act which trouped through vaudeville theatres throughout the country.

When Chaplin discovered her she was playing a comedy part in "All For You," a musical comedy in Los Angeles.

Charles Ray and Eleanor Boardman are featured in "Baby Mine," an adaptation of the play in which Marguerite Clark and Ernest Glendinning starred a decade ago. It's an M-G-M picture.

"The Isle of Rebirth," featuring Robert Fraser, Mildred Harris and Lillian Rich is an F. B. O. picture.

First National is planning to produce "Don Juan's Three Nights," with Lewis Stone and Shirley Mason among others.

"Crashing Timber," Universal, has in its cast Henry B. Walthall, Viola Dana and Kenneth Harlan.

Both Norma and Constance Talmadge declare they are planning to retire from the screen. Norma would have no believe she may make her exit from the silent drama after the expiration of her present contract which requires her to make one more picture for First National and then several for United Artists.

The contract which Constance has with First National will terminate this year.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

SCATTERED notes from an afternoon's ramble: Two midgets from a nearby museum carrying on a courtship at Forty-second street and Broadway. The traffic drowns their tiny, piping voices. A crowd begins to gather. "Ain't that too cute?" The crowd becomes a small mob. The midgets, now quite flustered, are buried among a mass of legs and finally emerge, hand in hand, bravely negotiating the perils of the street crossing.

Parades of girls wearing gaily colored gophers that match their gaily colored raincoats, gray spots of vivid red and green in the froth masses milling through the rain.

The Park Avenue Hotel, once the center of fashion, and now in the limelight because—so it is charged—someone staged a nude dance during a bachelor's smoker. Umm, is there anything new under the sun. This isn't the first one-time fashionable hotel to feel the stings of scandal.

There was, for instance, the famous case of the Hotel Brunswick. In it's day, nothing was ruder than the Brunswick. Bow down to the Bowery, there was one Billy McGilroy, who had made a regular "butter and egg roll."

Billy didn't see why his money should not buy his way into any place his fancy dictated. "Very well," said Billy and bided his time. A ballroom was retained through subterfuge and before anyone realized what was up the place was filled with painted women and a motley crew of men, who all but tore the place down. Within a few years the social glory of the place had fled.

And there was the famous Barnum Seelye party at Sherry's. One of the attractions was a dance by "Little Egypt." Use your own imagination. It happened that a certain reporter tried to get in and found the doors barred. He managed to get a police captain excited and the scandal that followed is still laughed about over the highballs in bachelor gatherings. But at the time it all but ruined Sherry. He shut up his place for a time and re-opened in a new location.

Broadway Note: Large wads of money are now referred to as "big butter rolls" in honor of the butter and egg men who are presumed to have them.

THE TRUFFLE HUNTER'S STORY Would you like to hear the story of my life? "Yes," squeaked Paddyfoot impatiently. "If it doesn't take too long." "It won't," answered the Truffle Hunter. "Besides, what if it does? The hill isn't there anyway. It has bounded away and probably won't be back until it hits the Rocky Mountains and bounces back again. Cherry Bounce Hill is as bouncy as if it grew rubber trees instead of cherry trees. They say that rubber trees used to grow on it and that the roots are still there. But to go on with my story: "Once upon a time when I was a little boy I had a little hen called Ambrose. She was a nice little hen and used to crow to show how much she loved me."

"Dear me!" cried the Truffle Hunter. "That's because I ate eggs for breakfast!" "Eggs for breakfast?" cried Jups and the Twins. "What has that to do with breakfast?" "That's what I should like to know!" said the Truffle Hunter. "That it seems that every single time I eat eggs for breakfast something happens that day."

LADY ASTOR OFFERS TO GIVE UP SEAT

Would Make Way For Mrs. Pankhurst, Who Declines Honor Now

NEW YORK, March 4.—The New York Times says this morning—"It may be said as reasonable of the present pace of downward reaction, it was made by prudent people of last autumn's advances in the stocks that the move is being greatly overdone. Recent loss and misbehavior of the manipulative pools on the rise have certainly been. But has not a terrific reaction of such a market as this week's makes it not only possible, but certain, that the decline itself will be carried beyond all reasonable limits. When reaction comes from a decline of this character it is likely to be of considerable scope."

The decline must have already carried brokers' loans down considerably. It seems likely that for the total carried by the large houses have been reduced to 25 per cent. The liquidation has been most drastic, having been 50 per cent. in some cases. These houses were, of course, those which have been the quarters of various pools whose collapse would wipe out their entire investment. There are probably more accounts of forced liquidation must be met as each day's decline creates new weak accounts. The one thing that can be said of yesterday's market when trading set new levels at declining prices is that there was no hysteria. Stocks were being supported.

BROKERS' OPINIONS

NEW YORK, March 4.—Hornblower: "No one can do anything more than speculate in the market. The science of speculative movement, however, certainly would suggest a reactionary reaction, but it is not clear, no matter what that occurs or how long it takes to accomplish. Clark Childs: "One may venture that the liquidation has been so drastic to correct a good many weaknesses. Hutten: "We feel that C. & O. shares should ultimately fall somewhat in neighborhood of $10."

On the other hand Kuomintang headquarters here reports the capture of Tangchow, 85 miles south of Tientsin, and behind the front line occupied by General Li Ching-Ling, former civil governor of Chihli Province, who was driven from Tientsin by Marshal Feng last December. LADY ASTOR OFFERS TO GIVE UP SEAT

LONDON, March 4.—"I feel that I have been in the House of Commons as a sort of a preliminary center, awaiting for a real horse to come along," declared Lady Astor, M. P., last night, as she offered to resign her seat in favor of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the one time militant suffragette leader.

There is no sacrifice any woman would not make to get you into the commons, Lady Astor added. Mrs. Pankhurst gratefully declined the offer of Lady Astor, but expressed willingness to contest some seat which may fall vacant. She said she was a Constitutionalist but denied a rumor that she had accepted an invitation to become a Conservative.

Mrs. Pankhurst recently returned to England from Canada with the intention of permanently residing here and putting them in shape to strain all the imperatives out of the system. The Good that men do Lives after them

More than sixty-eight years ago, Rev. Father John O'Brien was in charge of St. Patrick's Parish in Lowell, Massachusetts. In order to remove the effects of a severe cold which had resulted in chest and throat trouble, Father John as his people called him, consulted his physician.

At that time went on Father John found it necessary to send one or another of his parishioners to the Apothecary Shop calling the attention of the pharmacist to ask for some of "Father John's Medicine." The number of those who came for the medicine in this way has steadily increased from day to day, month to month, and year to year until now the medicine is successfully used from sea to sea.

The old Apothecary Shop still exists. It is still a drug store, modernized, of course, and brought up to date. Not far away stands a modern, up-to-the-minute equipped Laboratory and manufacturing plant whose thousands of feet of floor space, specially built machines and carefully chosen chemists are devoted exclusively to the production of Father John's Medicine.

Father John's Medicine contains no drugs, no alcohol. Its base is cod liver oil, which Nature has provided to rebuild, repair, invigorate and restore impoverished, undernourished, overworked or tired body cells. This food medicine, used by doctors for many years, is regarded by them as of special value in the treatment of diseases of the air passages, in anemia, resulting from poor blood, in chronic rheumatism, nervous exhaustion and during convalescence from acute diseases.

Father John's Medicine is time tested and trial proven, used by thousands of people, recommended by them to their friends, a strong example of the saying, "the good that a man does lives after him."

JUDGMENT TO BE GIVEN ON MAY 5

Arbitration Proceedings Close After More Than Two Years

Mr. Justice LeBlanc is to Announce His Decision in Moncton

The arbitration proceedings between the Englewood Pulp and Paper Co. and the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission were finished yesterday afternoon before Mr. Justice LeBlanc. May 5 was set as the date for giving judgment. The company claims an amount in excess of $840,000 and proceedings have been going on for more than two years.

Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., closed the case for the company at yesterday afternoon's session, and P. J. Hughes, K. C., of Fredericton, for the commission, was heard in reply.

Dr. Taylor in completing his address at the morning hearing, said that the company valued its lumber on the land expropriated for hydro development at $200,000; hunting and fishing rights at $160,000; the land at $220,000 an acre, and a substantial sum to be determined for the water rights.

Mr. Hughes in reply, dealt with the argument on the Mitchell report. He said that the report was rendered on Sept. 15, 1920, and was based on insufficient information.

Mr. LeBlanc's decision has been attacked by the opposing counsel because he would not rely on flow figures based on the records of three to six years. These records were not sufficient, especially as the three years dealt with had been of greater than average precipitation.

Dr. Taylor: "As a matter of fact they were dryer than the average."

Mr. Hughes went on to say that the Vermule rule was not unknown as the company's lawyers had claimed. He produced a textbook in which it was discussed.

Massachusetts, he said, was built up month by month and was a record of what had taken place and what could have been used. If the records regarding it were available for a long period a slight possible decrease. The available Massachusetts figures showed nothing like the amount the Brown report stated was available for the average year.

Mr. Blanchard had proposed to all the storage at the first of the year and hoped that it would carry him through to the spring floods at the first of the next year.

It was present values which must be considered and not something in the indefinite future. The land in question had no agricultural value and would not have for years to come. The $2,000,000 acres would not be worth paying taxes on as a lumber proposition.

The evidence was that the annual growth was only two per cent. On the evidence placed before the arbitrator the award should be small. The New Brunswick Electric Power Commission was appointed by the province to carry on a certain stated work. It was an arm of the government. The award should be reduced to the limits suggested as the land had no practical value. The company were trying to get something for nothing, he concluded.

Judge LeBlanc set the time and place of judgment at Moncton in the Supreme Court chamber on May 5 at 11:30 in the morning.

Dr. Taylor said last night that he had been reported wrongly in saying that a price of $500,000 to the company would increase the cost of production a cent per kilowatt hour. What he had said was that such a figure would increase the production cost one eighth of a cent. Taking the figures of the Mitchell report the production cost, allowing for such an increase, would be .875 cents.

"The executive of the Conservative association of this constituency have thoroughly discussed the advisability of placing a candidate in the field in opposition to the Hon. Charles Dunning and have decided not to oppose the new Minister of Railways at the present time."

"Canada is today without stable government, and only a general election can alter this situation, and had the Hon. Charles Dunning been equally concerned for the welfare of Canada as he is for party advantage and personal elevation, he would inform Mr. King that his duty is to place his resignation in the hands of the Governor-General and precipitate a general election."

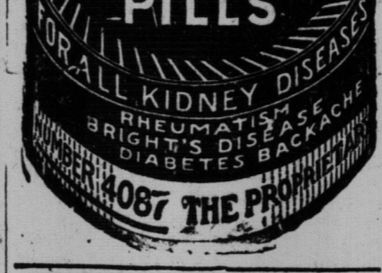

"This must come within a few months and then Mr. Dunning will be opposed."

G. McA. Blizard and H. A. Porter were before the committee of the Common Council this morning in connection with the application of Mr. Blizard for certain concessions from the city to allow of the building of a coal pocket on the Lawton and Carritte wharves.

POINTS BROUGHT OUT

Commissioner Wigmore asked if the coal dust nuisance could be done away with if a coal pocket was located at the proposed site and Mr. Blizard said it could if the proper precautions were taken.

Mr. Porter was heard in connection with the modification of the leases and said certain concessions would have to be made by the city to allow of the building of a wharf along the whole frontage.

Commissioner Frink asked if the proposed wharf would extend into the harbor beyond the line of the McLeod wharf and Mr. Porter said it would not.

Commissioner Bullock asked about the fixed valuation referred to in the letter of Mr. Blizard to the council.

Mr. Blizard said they would have to secure the right to run the rails to their wharf and expected to pay the city for this privilege.

Commissioner Bullock said he had received a protest, which he understood was from the shipping interests against any development of harbor frontage by private parties and they wished to be heard before the council before the matter was decided.

Mr. Blizard said he was quite willing to have the shipping people heard and he believed when they heard the whole proposition their opposition would be withdrawn.

He had options on all the properties and it was up to the city whether he went about with the larger proposition or confined his activities to the local market and used only the Lawton wharf.

VERY IMPORTANT.

Commissioner Frink said this was a very important matter and would be given serious consideration by the Council.

He had always been of the opinion that the city should be the owner of all the usable water frontage and had supported the proposition of Commissioner Bullock to buy the properties which Mr. Blizard was now seeking to develop.

He also expressed the opinion that a matter of such importance as this should be dealt with until after the civic election.

ACCIDENT CLAIM.

Commissioner Frink reported that he had taken up a request of George McAuley for compensation for injury sustained by Mrs. McAuley when she fell into a hole in the street in front of her home, No. 1 King street, West Saint John.

He moved the communication be referred to Commissioner Bullock for a report, and this was adopted.

Warning Bells Ring at Mill Street Crossing as Trains Approach

Warning bells of unmistakable sound have been installed at the Mill street crossing gates and were electrically connected today for the first time although they have been in position for some time. When the gates are down and as a train reaches a certain point of approach the bells will ring. This measure is expected to break up the growing habit of pedestrians—some of them faulty in sight and hearing—of joggling around the barriers and leisurely walk over the tracks as the speedy expresses approach. There have been some narrow escapes at this point through such practice.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times-Star reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "when some of these women in the movies, and certain ladies of rank who are getting a lot of notoriety these days are reduced to some bones and a hank of hair—or to Ashes, as Lady Cathcart might say—what will it profit them?"

"An' it's the same with them that act in the movies or don't hev handles to their names—that wakes snakes an' brings gray hairs in sooner to the grave. Mister—ve'se all human—an' human nature don't change much in years—when some folks hev money—or he's it give to 'em—an' nothin' to do—they're always lookin' for a noo sensation an' not 'carin' whether it's what they use to do in Babylon in the old days—or somethin' wuss. I'm mighty glad I staid in The Settlements, with Hanner—where folks don't do sich things. Yes, sir—I be so."
