THREE MONTHS EXTENSION.

Will Probably be Given the Saloon Keepers.

Who Were Refused a License This Year—Commissioners Will Decide the Question this Afternoon.

This afternoon the liquor commissioners will hold a meeting to decide whether or not an extension of time will be granted to those saloon keepers who were refused a license at the meeting held on April 18th. Those who were refused a license are Traverses of Mill street, Savage of Main street, near Adelaide road, Mrs. Burns of Britain street, and Graham of Sheriff street. Graham's license was cancelled owing to a protest made by Eben Perkins—the effect of it was too near the factory. He contended that if by any chance the factory was not opened promptly on time many of his employees would go up to Graham's and come back entirely unfit for work. This protest however is receiving some criticism, and according to many the conditions were not as bad as represented by Mr. Perkins. The Main street Baptist church people raised the chief objections against Savage, while Mrs. Burns' license was kicked against by the public generally. No one seems to know the exact reason why Traverses' license was cancelled, for it has always had the reputation of being a very quiet and well conducted saloon.

The opinion of many seems to be that the commission had more right to close several other saloons than they did the one in question. However, if the decision of the commissioners is carried out, these men will have to go out of business on Monday.

Dr. Smith, chairman of the commission, informed the Star this morning that at the meeting this afternoon they would decide whether or not it was best to grant the saloon keepers an extension of three months. Considering the fact that it would be rather hard on them to close up at short notice, he was of the opinion that an extension would be granted.

In past years it was transpired that extension after extension has been granted so that the saloon was not closed at all. This simply means it is more convenient for the proprietor, as he can pay $75 every three months, instead of $300 down. To this arrangement the saloon keepers would not raise any objection. The W. C. T. U. also raised a kick against Susan on Douglas avenue, and recommended that his license be taken away, as his saloon was too near the park. This, however, was not done, and he continues to do business as before.

SCHR. LOST IN HALIFAX HARBOR

One Captain and Crew of Six Men Perished—Thick Weather the Cause.

(Special to the Star.)
HALIFAX, N. S., April 29.—The schooner Ovea, of Halifax, was lost last night on Duncan's Reef, off Cheticamp Head, at the entrance of this harbor, and Captain Atkinson and the crew of six perished. The Ovea was bound from the West Indies with a cargo of molasses for Q. P. Mitchell, Sons, of Halifax. The weather last night was thick, with a strong wind blowing, and about 10 o'clock the schooner sailed into the reef, which is practically submerged, and stuck fast. The life saving crew of Cheticamp Head soon discovered what had occurred and assistance went out before midnight. They found the schooner on the reef with all sails set and the vessel listing, but not a soul on board. At daylight this morning a boat was found on the shore. One dead body was near it and a number of hats were floating on the water. The crew had evidently tried to save their lives by taking to the boat, which had capsized and all hands perished. Had they remained on board they would have been saved. The schooner will be a total loss. Captain Atkinson belonged to Rexton, N. B.

POLICE COURT.

A Sailor and a Man With Two Black Eyes Dismissed.

Joseph Murphy was fined eight dollars for being drunk on Prince William street. Michael Leer was discovered by the police, late last night, wandering about Britain street and evidently wondering where he was. Failing to give a satisfactory account of himself he was looked up for the night. This morning in court it was brought out that he was a sailor on an American vessel which is about to sail. He was on shore at the time under a leave of absence and when picked up by the police he was partly intoxicated. The captain of the vessel, who was in court, offered to take the man back. The magistrate let the man go.

Frank Coleman faced the magistrate this morning with two black eyes. He explained that he had previously been punished by some unknown man and at the time of his arrest was passing out to another person his misfortune. He said he was talking rather loudly but did not mean to be disorderly. He was allowed to go.

PATHETIC STORY OF MRS. OSGOOD'S MARRIED LIFE.

Wrote to Her Son That She Expected Death Hourly and Then Boarded the Train with the Man Who Killed Her—Her Last Letter to Her Husband.

An Augusta despatch to the Bangor Courier contains the following re the Osgood tragedy on the Boston express: Just what prompted the tragedy at that particular time, no one seems to know, although it was supposed to have been the result of a dispute as to where she intended to live, as some words to that effect could be heard by the passengers. Osgood had been married to the woman about a year and met her somewhere in Boston by chance acquaintance. He was her second husband, she having formerly married a fellow here, became the guardian of two of them, at his home on Bangor street, and Mrs. Cluff the girl, at her home on Capitol street. Morton died six or seven years ago.

The woman came originally from Rockland and worked in various hotels and residences. Her married life had not been happy in either instance, and once while Morton was living she took carbolio acid and nearly ended her life, but was only saved by prompt measures. Of late she has lived in Boston and plans seem to have been made with the time in Montreal. For the past two weeks she has been doing housework at the home of Q. H. Dunham, the grocer in Lambert court, not so much because she needed the money as to throw him off the scent as to just where she was located, as she has feared for a long time that he might kill her.

They have quarrelled much of the time since they were married, and while in Boston she has kept her secret for fear he would be able to locate her. She has had a strong premonition that death was coming to her at any moment, and all her plans seem to have been made with that idea in view. Tuesday she left the Dunham home and went to Boston on the boat, sending Mr. Osgood a telegram that she was going to her aunt's and took special pains to make the telegram confidential. Whether they met in Boston by appointment or simply by accident and why he was coming to Augusta does not appear.

A remarkable feature of the case is the fact that the woman wrote a letter to the train soon after leaving Boston, addressed to her little son, Lawrence, in this city, stating that she expected death and gave directions in this letter as to just where she should be buried upon her arrival in Augusta. That the woman should have thus deliberately walked into the jaws of death is accounted for only on the ground that Osgood intimidated her into the trip to Augusta. The letter is written in a scrawling hand as though penned under great tension of feeling. On his person was found this letter, which was probably the last one that she wrote before the tragedy. The letter is not dated and gives no address. "Dear Will—Well, I received your letter and do not wish to see you for you have broken my heart and I tried so hard to be a good, true wife to you. I am at work, but shall not tell you where. You know you did not do right and of course you know how you threatened me at Hayes. I pity you and sincerely hope you will be a man among men once more and let me alone. As for me, I only pray for death to come to me soon. I will work for my mail to be sent to an address where I can get it, but not where I am, so it is of no use to go there. I hope you will be good and do right. With best wishes from Tillie. P. S.—I shall not trouble you; all I ask is to be left alone in my misery. It appears that both of her husbands had been drinking men and in her last letter to her son, Lawrence, written on board the train in which she foretold her death, she warns her son against ever taking liquor. Her language was most eloquent and pathetic in this regard.

The woman is well spoken of here as being capable and smart but has always had a good many obstacles to contend with. Her daughter, Mary, the eldest of her children, wept bitterly when she heard of the affair and fell in a swoon in the arms of Fred Lawrence, her brother. Her language was most eloquent and pathetic in this regard. The woman is well spoken of here as being capable and smart but has always had a good many obstacles to contend with. BIG FAIR AT ST. LOUIS.

The Ceremonies Today Attended by Large Crowds.

The Gathering Unusual for Opening Day—The Buildings and Exhibits Well Arranged and a Success.

ST. LOUIS, April 29.—Notwithstanding the ominous predictions of the government forecaster, who prophesied rain for the earlier part of the day and lowering skies for the morning, St. Louis put forth her best and bravest effort today in honor of the opening of her great exposition. Promptly at the hour set the officers and detectors of the exposition, the members of the national committee and the board of lady managers were gathered at the administration building, where they formed in procession and marched to the plaza of St. Louis in the centre of the grounds, where the formal exercises of opening were conducted. When the column from the administration building entered the Plaza, a long line of representatives of foreign governments, which had assembled in the hall of congresses, came pouring into the Plaza from another avenue. The participants in the exercises quickly took their places at the base of the Louisiana monument, where a small stand had been erected and seats provided. The assembly was called to order by President D. E. Foy, of the exposition, who requested the audience to rise, while the Rev. Frank C. Connelley, of Chicago, delivered an invocation. Dr. Connelley concluded his invocation with the Lord's Prayer, in which the audience joined. President Francis, the chief executive of the exposition, then delivered an address.

DISASTEROUS FIRE AT FERNIE.

FERNIE, B. C., April 29.—A disastrous fire occurred here yesterday, which left nine-tenths of the town in ashes. About 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire broke out in the general store of C. Richards, near the southern end of the business part of the town, and spread quickly north and south along Victoria avenue. Every effort was made to check the fire at the offices of the coal company, but it was not until after it had reached the Central Hotel at the first corner southward that the fire was stopped. On the north side Victoria avenue was swept on both sides down as far as the Northern Hotel.

THE CZAR'S VIEWS.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 29.—An official announcement is expected today explaining that the emperor is refusing all applications of foreigners for permission to serve as volunteers in the Far East, because he considers the individual belong above all to his native country. ST. PETERSBURG, April 29.—The Japanese troops are still concentrating in the neighborhood of the Yalu river, but nothing of particular moment has so far been reported. The Emperor received a telegram from General Kurapatkin under today's date as follows: General Samuilovich reports that the night of April 28-29 passed quietly. Small bodies of Japanese are moving on the right bank of the Yalu, at the mouth of which steamers are arriving. On April 28 at about two in the afternoon, Japanese columns were seen going from Yungampo towards Wiju and a party of Japanese scouts was seen on a mountain to the southward of Sinsui. The Japanese have not yet undertaken any active operations.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

During the fight in Chicago, that recently ended in a vote of five to one in favor of municipal ownership and operation of street railroads, it is notable that the demand for public ownership apparently knew no party lines, and the men in both parties who claim to represent the will of the majority in their parties are henceforth bound to support the policy which a few years ago was looked upon as dangerously radical.

A writer in a leading American magazine discussing this says that one reason why the voters gave so large a majority in favor of public ownership was doubtless the difficulties they have found in regulating private monopoles by ordinances reducing fares, requiring transfers and the like. Of course, the general principle of the law is that the rates charged by monopoles may be reduced by legislation so that the capital actually invested in them shall yield no larger return than well-managed capital in competitive business. But the endless litigation which the attempt thus to regulate the monopolies has brought, and the few concessions the public has gained thereby, have made general the belief that the public must directly own and operate the monopolies. If they are to be conducted so as to secure the largest public service instead of the largest possible private profit.

Under city ownership the public need hereafter only pay interest on capital actually invested, and the low rate of interest at which cities can now borrow (by reason of the good faith they have kept with their creditors in the past) enables them to establish public ownership under terms that promise much lower fares and better service.

A MAN AND A SERMON.

There is a man named William E.
Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation at a salary of about a thousand dollars a year, whose career is a good sermon for those men clerks, bookkeepers, or laborers—whose greatest aim is apparently to reduce to the finest point the amount of work which they must do to earn their wages.

Fifteen years ago this man Corey was pushing a wheelbarrow in the yard of Carnegie's mill. He was getting small pay and working ten hours a day. He didn't like his work, his hours or his pay, but instead of trying to better his condition by kicking for a shorter day or bigger wages; instead of trying to get even with his slave-driving employer by doing as little work as possible, he proceeded to wheel so much more iron a day than hard himself as he did before, it was noticed he got twice as much work out of him than other foremen. He never grumbled at their boss. They respected him. Carnegie began promoting Corey. And Corey worked hard. He had only a fair common school education. He studied at night.
He took up a course in a correspondence school. In time he became an expert chemist. By and by he was an authority on armor plate. He knew more about armor plate than any one in the mill. There was only one thing for Carnegie to do. He made Corey superintendent of that department.
Under his superintendence the mill rapidly increased the quantity and quality of its output. Soon he was put over the whole works. Now he is the head of the biggest corporation in the world.

If William E. Corey had used his energies in a fight for shorter hours and more pay for less work he would probably have succeeded along this line too, and might today have been earning $25.00 for only eight hours' labor.

MAY.

(By Walworth Wilson.)
With drifts of snowy petals floating down,
When winds are warm and sweet with apple bloom
And smothered quite in fragrance, bess now bloom,
E'er smiling still where late was April's frown,
Abides young May and every hill re-joices
Wherever she doth tread the blossoms spring.
To welcome her did tiny woodlands ring
With songs of birds that to her raise their voices.
So in my heart I saw the balmy May In love I deemed thou bore me, dearest one,
Where my rapture nudged my hopes to stay
Because the winter of my life was done;
Yet meadows whisper sadly that in vain
My heart shall hope its vernal love to gain.

May.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

MOVING.

The "moving habit" is nearly as pernicious and quite as hard to break off as the cigarette or drink habit.
Many people move because it is the first of May and they see other people moving. Others move because the chance is too large or too small and the closets are too dark or too light, there are too many windows or not windows enough, or they do not like the pattern of the wall paper. For these weighty reasons these migratory people pitch their yearly tent a year's march nearer the poor house. Others move for the excitement of house-hunting and some who do not intend to move can't go by a house where they see the legend "To Let" in the window.
Just as the same class go shopping with no thought of buying and no money to buy with if they had the thought. Just to see the goods and keep the clerks from getting too flashy.
Some move to get away from bad neighbors. It is needless to say no matter where such people move they have bad neighbors each side of them.
There are few habits more expensive than the moving habit. There will be breakage and loss. The old carpets will not fit the new room; the old curtains will not fit the new windows. And there is much "distress and jetman" which accumulates in the home that must be left behind; to move it costs more than it is worth, and they have to leave it to those who have tumbled over it so many times that it seems like an old friend.

Oh there is so much that we have to leave behind when we move, so much that will not fit in the new home and life, so many associations and memories that we cannot take with us. Home, like many other things, grows more valuable time —like a Cremona violin for instance—that grows sweeter and more mellow with every added year.

Children who are taught the "moving habit" by object lessons will of necessity be more superficial in character than those who are taught to build up for a summer's day, but for many winters and summers. Study the nomadic crises and you will see how transient and fleeting are their attachments. It is "off with the old love and on with the new" with every new house and with every new man.

Those who acquire the "house moving habit" are always on the move mentally. They are never long with any one place, and are never with their party in church. One Sabbath in one church the sexton Sabbath in another, they have "flying cards." The church of the "isms" and are the fruitful fields where the missionaries of every "cult" gather their disciples.

FR. MCGOLDRICK'S DEATH.

The Boston Globe says of the late
Fr. McGoldrick:
On April 7, 1892, a portion of St.
Peter's parish was set aside and Mr.
McGoldrick was placed in charge of the new field. His appointment was a great success. Only a few enter into this "strait gate."

His death was more than a loss to the parish. He was a man of great energy and his health failed him in the fall of last year, just as success had crowned his career.
His death will be a source of deep regret, not alone in Dorchester where he ministered, but in the whole parish, large circle of friends throughout the diocese who had learned to love and admire him. His career, though short, was a notable one. He was of a literary turn of mind, and had written several books, the most prominent being a life of Cardinal Newman.

The funeral services will begin tomorrow morning at 9.30, will be at 10 o'clock a solemn high mass will be celebrated by Rev. Fr. Winn, C.S.C. of the Mission church, assisted by Rev.
Fr. Brannon of the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Hallahan of St. Peter's church, subdeacon. The eulogy will be preached by Rev. Fr. Roman. After the service the body will be removed to the parochial residence of St. Leo's church, where it will lie in state until Sunday evening. The interment will be at St. John, N. B.

FAST IN THE ICE.

HALIFAX, April 28.—The Donaldson liner Salacia, from Glasgow for Montreal, is fast in the ice in the St. Lawrence. Other vessels attempting the passage of the St. Lawrence have also been caught in the ice.
The ship, Corinthian, which returned to Halifax last night, after an unsuccessful attempt to force her way up the St. Lawrence, will renew the attempt as soon as a favorable report is received.

MOVED TO FAIRVILLE.

Miss Beatrice Waring, manager of the St. Beatrice Waring, removed from her place of residence on Germain street, to Fairville yesterday morning. It is understood that her reason for moving from the city was due to the excessive taxation which she had to pay here, as compared with the rate of taxation in Fairville. The Waring family have an office in Fairville and will also do business at their office at the wharf of the Springfield Steamship Co. at Fairville. They are at present living in the home interested by the Presbyterian minister at Fairville.

The steamer Aberdeen did not arrive from Woodstock until six o'clock smoke stack of the steamer striking the wire of the ferry at St. John's, which tore the stack from its fittings.

Repairs will be made at once and she expected to proceed to Woodstock tomorrow as usual. She brought a full load of cattle and produce and

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES.

A way to flavor a salad with garlic in the most delicate manner is to let a clove of garlic remain for twenty-four hours in a quart bottle of salad oil before the latter is used. This gives just the indefinable tang that much improves the salad without in the least overdoing the garlic flavor.

Stewed apples are prepared after a formula given at the Boston Cooking School, and they are now a seasonal dessert. Select five or six large, fair apples, which should be cored and pared, and the surface of each rubbed with a cut lemon. Make a syrup of sugar, water, and a little lemon juice, in which cook the apples until tender, turning them often. Remove and drain, boil the syrup and pour over the apples. When cold put on the top of each apple a teaspoonful of meringue that has been delicately browned, and a spoonful of currant jelly or raspberry jelly or jam.

Sour potatoes is a variation of potato salad that is often served in Germany. Boil four good-sized potatoes. When done and cold, skin and cut into cubes. Place these in a bowl and add salt and pepper to taste. Now mix in another bowl, half a pint of sweet oil and vinegar, one good-sized onion, grated fine, and sprigs of parsley finely chopped. Mix these together well, pour over the potatoes, and shake until well mixed. Garnish the dish with lemon slices, cut in halves.

Fruit fillings for layer cake are not numerous. A peach cake has a filling of one cup of whipped cream, and one-half cup of powdered sugar. A lemon cake is in reality a cream cake, the filling merely well flavored with lemon juice. For an orange cake the filling is made by dissolving one teaspoonful of gelatine in a little hot water and adding one-half cup of powdered sugar, two stiffly whipped egg whites, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of orange extract, and the juice and grated rind of one orange.

Lacquered brass furniture which has become dimmed may be restored to original lustre by the application of a varnish composed of one-eighth ounce of powdered gamboge, one ounce of pale shellac, one-fourth ounce of Cape aloes, and a pint of alcohol. Put the ingredients in a quart bottle, shake well, and when thoroughly dissolved strain through a piece of cheesecloth. Apply the preparation with a small varnish brush, taking care that the brass is clean, and, if possible, warm.

Rice toast is delicate and delicious, and as a foundation for minced chicken, broiled tomatoes and the like, will be found a delightful variation from the ordinary bread toast. Wash a cupful of rice carefully, throw into a saucepan of boiling water, and boil uncovered at a gallop for half an hour; add salt just before taking up, throw into the colander and all on a plate in the oven to dry off a little. Press the rice half an inch into a dish, put on a weight, allow it to stand until it becomes solid, then cut it into slices. Dip first in crumbs, then in egg, and again in crumbs. Cook in boiling fat.

A delicious and attractive fruit salad may be made by mixing equal parts of orange, lemon and pineapple juices and gelatine. Turn it into a border mould or into individual moulds to harden. If a border mould is used fill the centre with oranges, pineapple, Maraschino cherries or any fruit in season. Cover with the dressing.

A shad-roe salad needs a pair of roes boiled a half hour in salted water, to which a tablespoonful of vinegar has also been added. Remove from the fire and plunge into ice water. Drain, skin, and slice thin with a silver knife, and serve with a French dressing made as follows: Put one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt in a bowl that has been rubbed with a halved onion, cover with pepper, then with cayenne, add six tablespoonfuls of oil and two of vinegar. Before stirring at all add a piece of ice the size of an egg and then stir all with a fork for five minutes. Remove the ice and beat until thick. Use at once. Garnish the roe salad with pieces of cucumber cut in cubes and a teaspoonful of finely chopped chives.

A salad made from green peas is much improved if a little mint is added. For the salad a half-pint of tender, cooked peas that have been thoroughly chilled is arranged in a bed of lettuce hearts on a flat dish or platter. Sprinkle over the peas a teaspoonful of very finely chopped mint leaves, pour a French dressing over and serve. If it is desired to serve the salad for luncheon dress with mayonnaise.

FABLES FROM LIFE.

Once there was a Young Man who decided to learn the Drug business from A. to Z. He had read in Oliver Optic books how Excellence in any line of Work is bound to elevate the ambitious far above the horizon. He had read that the Little fellow gets Lost in the Shuffle, and that the Thorough, exact Young Man is bound to Center under the wire several lengths Ahead of the Field.

He was started in at washing bottles. There have been Many bottle washers in the Past, but Doubtless there never was Such an artistic Washer as our hero. He studied the Bottle from all sides and treated it as if it were a Science. He became so Exact in his work that when he asked to be Promoted he was told that he couldn't be spared, and as there wasn't Any raise in that department he must worry him some Eight dollars a Week. A young man who wore a Pink Shirt and was an awful Shirk was made Billing Clerk in the Wholesale department just to get him out of the way.

Moral—Never Commit suicide by being Too Good.

When the young Henry procured employment in the Large dry goods store He decided that the Chance of Life had come. His Forebears were the first passengers to Step a foot on Plymouth Rock and From his infancy he had been absorbing the Gern that While you may Sidestep the Golden Rule in business life You must be Strong on your Church connection.

The gifted Ribbon counter man who was Called "Jim" and who had a reputation for being a Scamp. He knew that the Boss was Strong on religion and at once Allied himself with His church. On the first Sunday after he had Drawn the Messge envelope he put on his natty suit and went to Church and butted into Mr. Injun's pew.

"Horror," said the Boss, in a sotto voce, "can't I escape Business even in Church?"

When Henry felt himself Strong and declared that he must have a raise or quit, he was shown Seven different Parts of the Building's Anatomy that swung outwards and are sometimes Called Doors.

Moral—If you can't rival the Boss in elegance, don't in Religion.

He was Drawing Ten dollars a week in a wholesale grocery Emporium and was Much Impressed with his position. In his mind the Sun only Rose and sank as the head of the Firm gave the Word. So when the active partner was about the young Clerk felt Humble and lowly and Knew that his knees were Shaking.

When the Partner's only daughter, a beautiful creature with Raughy eyes, entered the Joint, the Young Clerk looked for Trap Doors, whereby he Might throw himself into the Cellar. But his companion, a Corn haird, Romped with Teasing ways, used to laugh in scorn and Make eyes at the girl. At the end of the week he Married her and is now half Owner in the business. The humble Young man is still drawing his Ten dollars a week with a promise of Eleven if he is good.

Moral—When You Hire out, remember you sell Only your Legs and Hands.

"So you are the Man who carried the Message to Garcia?" inquired the gentle Office boy in a small way, "I have lived on crackers and molasses for Seven years and have saved up $600," explained the Second Bookkeeper to the Boss. "And I want to be Taken into the Firm."

The boss examined the young man's improving Pace and said, "You have Taken off Too much weight and would not have the Fettle to last. I have and as a foundation for minced chicken, broiled tomatoes and the like, will be found a delightful variation from the ordinary bread toast. The new sweaters or golf jackets show improved models in shape and in variety of stitch. They are getting entirely away from that straight up and down expression that looks so drawn and uncomfortable, and now follow more nearly the lines of the figure. Most of the new ones are built high in the neck with small turn-over collar and cuffs that fall over the narrow wool bands that are knitted with a fine elastic stitch to give the snug fit. They are buttoned up the front, generally with pearl buttons. The waist is held in a closely fitted belt, and is put under the dress belt, or is left outside basque-like. Another style is much like the Norfolk jacket, with straight sleeves to correspond. Very pretty fancy knitting stitches have been utilized for these sweaters, some of them all-over patterns, others in stripes, and others with raised dots for decoration. White seems to be the choice in color, though a good many red ones are seen. The old styles are yet to be bought, some of them having silk sleeves—The Examiner.

Many women are now having the drop skirt made short at the back. This second skirt always was a nuisance, half the women allowing it to sweep the streets, but unconscious of it, thinking, of course, they were holding up two skirts all the time; so with this short drop skirt the long skirt will be much easier to hold up.

The new foulard silks are charming both as to coloring and design. They are seen in many shades of blue, metal, champagne, gray and green. There are some with polka dots of different sizes, others in very pretty designs.

ANOTHER NEW SCHOONER.

Word reached St. John yesterday of the successful launching during the day of the scho. Rothesay from the yard at Bellevue Cove, N. S. This fine vessel was built under the supervision of Capt. J. W. Phipps, who formerly had command of the sch. Joseph Hay. The Rothesay is owned by Homan & Puddington of New York, and her dimensions are: Keel, 118 feet, beam, 32 feet; hold, 11 feet. She is said to be one of the most staunch and best looking schooners ever turned out of a Nova Scotia yard.

THE BLACK WATCH BAND.

It is probable that the famous band belonging to the still more noted Black Watch Regiment, will tour Canada this autumn and it is rumored that F. G. Spencer may bring this organization to St. John during exhibition week. If suitable arrangements can be made this splendid band may give a series of concerts in the amusement hall and would undoubtedly prove a popular attraction.

STEAMER MINTO TO RESCUE.

Has Been Ordered to Break Ice in the St. Lawrence—Government Party to Winnipeg Exhibition.

OTTAWA, April 29. An inquiry is to be made into the accounts of immigration agents. The conservative members moved for details of a number of accounts.

Mr. Bennett is asking for the details of an account of McCarthy, Oler, Hoskins and Harcourt of $3,000. The services were performed by Oler. The auditor general stated that the checks sent to him for his approval were drawn in favor of McCarthy for appearing before the privy council and supreme court.

The conservatives purpose attempting to prove breach of the independence of parliament from this account. McCarthy, of the firm, is the member for North Simcoe. The payment was in two sums, one for two and the other for one thousand dollars. Bennett asked examining the two thousand dollar statement, claimed the figures had originally been for half that amount, but had been subsequently doubled. The conservatives purpose submitting the paper to an expert.

The minister of marine has ordered the str. Minto to proceed at once to St. Lawrence to break ice at Cape Rouge, between Montreal and Quebec, which is the only impediment to navigation by the St. Lawrence route.

In the house this afternoon Clarke of Toronto, asked letters from the German government, had refused to talk. Capt. Bernier with the Arctic steamer er Gauss, leave Bremen because a balance of $5,000 had not been paid over.

La. Col. McLean arrived tonight and met Gibson, M. P. for York, it is understood, with the taking over Canada Eastern railway as a feeder for the Intercolonial. Seen by the Sun Col. McLean declined to talk.

Fred W. Henback, secretary and manager of the Dominion Fair, Winnipeg, was in town today and laid before the prime minister and his colleagues the proposal to start a special parliamentary train from Halifax to visit the Winnipeg fair during the first week in August. The idea is to invite senators, commissioners and members of the press gallery to visit the exhibition. The train would be augmented at Montreal and North Bay to accommodate Quebec and Ontario contingents respectively. The ministers took the suggestion very favorably. R. L. Borden also promised his hearty support.

PAPER CHANGES HANDS.

F. P. Williams of Campbellton Evenings Takes Leave of His Readers.

Announcement is made that with May the first the proprietorship of Events changes hands, the present publisher to be succeeded by Anslow Bros., of Newcastle, publishers of the Union Advocate, the editorial chair is to be occupied by Harry B. Anslow. We wish for our successors every success that enterprise on their part and progressiveness of the people will warrant. We thank the people of the Bay of Chaleur country for the most generous patronage accorded us during our sojourn of three years and four months in Campbellton, the Mecca of trade for this country, and will not soon forget our pleasant social and business relationships with the admixture of well defined French, English, Scottish and Irish, not forgetting the Micmac dialect of the North American pioneer which is still an element.

While we are passing we are very pleased to note the best friendship between Protestant and Catholic; may that spirit deepen and broaden this racial and religious discord may be eternally buried beneath the glorious sentiment of "Canada for the Canadians—a united people."—Edith Events.

EXTRAORDINARY AND UNPARALLELED OFFER!

Grand Opening on Monday, May 2nd,

Of the Largest and Finest Dental Offices in Canada! Five Skilled Operators-Eight Dental Chairs
-Best Workmanship-Lowest Prices! Teeth Extracted and Replaced the Same Day!

Last October the "Saint John Globe," under the caption "Dentistry Cheaper--Will it Materialize?" remarked: "If reports be true and Dr. J. D. Maher's plan matures everyone will be flocking to him for artificial teeth. It is said he will make teeth for $5.00. He will undoubtedly have followers before long, but to him will belong the credit of first establishing the rates in the public interest."

Shortly after this the Canadian Bank of Commerce purchased the building in which our King street branch office was located. Unable to secure the location we desired in the South End, we decided to concentrate all our forces at our only offices, 527 Main street, North End, by May 1st, and then immediately carry into effect Our New Dental System.

All our efforts in the past have been crowned with success.

The excellence of our workmanship has never been questioned. We now purpose giving the public the finest dental system ever offered.

Commencing Monday, May 2nd, we will throw open to the public the largest, best equipped and most up-to-date offices in Canada. We have converted the whole building, at 527 Main Street, into dental offices.

Five skilled operators from England, United States and Canada have been engaged.

Eight dental chairs are being installed and we expect to add to this number in the near future.

We have placed in electric engines, dental lathes, heat regulators and all the latest dental appliances.

There will be a lady in charge on each floor. Both floors have been elegantly furnished and thoroughly lighted by gas and electricity.

Our offices will remain open from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. A staff of dentists will be on hand evenings in order to enable those who cannot come during the day to avail themselves of the opportunity of having work done at low fees.

We are most desirous that patients should feel satisfied with our workmanship, and any cause for dissatisfaction should be made known to the proprietor, who will immediately look into the matter.

In order to introduce Our New System of Dentistry we make until further notice this extraordinary and unparalleled offer, never before made by reliable dentists:

HERE IS AN EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY WHICH MAY NOT LAST.

Don't fail to avail yourself of it while it does. There will be no excuse in future for any man, woman or child appearing in public with unsightly teeth. Parents will be enabled to look after the temporary as well as the permanent teeth of their children.

You know the quality of our workmanship. The above offer gives all an opportunity who wish reliable dentistry at low fee. TERMS CASH.

During the past twelve years thousands and thousands from all over the Maritime Provinces have had dental work performed by us and the testimonials we have from leading Gov't officials of New Brunswick, leading clergymen, physicians, etc., etc., and which have from time to time appeared in public print, is the best evidence of the satisfaction we have given.

Our patients who all along insisted on having the very best kind of skilled workmanship may rest assured that the low fee system will in no way interfere with the excellent quality of the work we have always given them.

We do all kinds of high-classed work. We make gold, silver and aluminum plates, we regulate teeth, place gold teeth on artificial plates or insert gold fillings in artificial teeth.

Here is a chance to get a gold crown that is a gold crown at a moderate price.

We make a specialty of crown and bridge-work. Owing to our large staff you can obtain immediate attention at our offices. If necessary we can extract a set of teeth and give you a set of artificial ones the same day.

All contracts made by Dr. Langstroth at the King street offices during the past two years will be faithfully carried out by him in person at our present and only offices, 527 Main Street.

As we expect an unprecedented rush it would be wise to call and see us as early as possible.

Remember that for the next ten days we will extract teeth for the nominal fee of 15 Cents.

Thanking the public for past favors and trusting for a continuance of the same in future, we remain,

Yours very truly,

NOW ALL IS PEACE.

Prognostication Hunter and His Neighbor Gregory Lobb Agree to Let Each Other Alone.

Professor Hunter, who is skilled in the reading of bumps and the reading of fortune cards, and whose fame extends even unto the land of Nova Scotia, where in fact he spends most of his time prognosticating, appeared before Magistrate Ritchie this morning, hearing a complaint against one Gregory Lobb, a neighbor, and incidentally bringing a message of deep mysteries unfolded and awful catastrophes averted by means of the powers with which he is endowed of piercing the veil of the future.

The professor says, as he came out of his house on Hylard street, the other day, Gregory Lobb, who was standing a few feet distant, peering around an alleyway, yelled: "Ha, ha, you ——" Not only once but a dozen times did he repeat the opprobrious expression.

Mr. Lobb, it might be mentioned, resides in the same house with Professor Hunter, and according to the professor, has for some time past been carrying on a systematic campaign of abuse and insult. Mr. Lobb was represented by J. B. M. Baxter.

Question by Mr. Baxter, the professor said that Lobb has been in the habit of calling him all kinds of names, of which "Old Hunter" would be about the mildest. "Day and night, you at midnight," went on he who foretells man's doom, "by a horrible whooping, jumping and hollering over my head."

Last fall, he said, he came to Clerk Henderson, and sought advice, but Mr.
Henderson's advice was always "peace, peace."

"None of your business," shouted the professor.

"If you would exercise your powers," said Mr. Baxter, "you could probably foretell his honor's judgment."

"It's none of your business," again shouted the frate mystic.

Magistrate Ritchie said there were one or two things to take place in the future which he would like the professor to tell him.

The professor, with a courteous bow said he would be most pleased.

His honor then advised him to make it up with Lobb and the case was dismissed.

SPLENDID QUARTETTE AND JOYOUS BAGPIPES.

Of the new people in the coming production of Ian MacLaren's Bonnie Brier Bush, Damon Lyon is a dignified and effective Earl of Kilmahide, Julius McVicker, well remembered here from his visit with the Florence Roberts Company, is a handsome and manly Lord Hay, and Wallace Jackson is a fat and round enough as Tammas to be a good comedy foil for Pearl Redding, assisted by her own assistants as Annie. Robert V. Ferguson, who has been here several times before as Lindsay, is a capable MacLaren.

The new leading woman, Mabel Brown-nell, is a clever and most acceptable heroine, and she is capable of stodard. There is a splendid quartette and a joyous bagpipes.

The settings of the piece are all that could be asked.

at 165 pounds, or run any professional sprinter in the country for a good stake, and would give a handicap.

HANDSOME BOOKLET.

The Tourist Association booklet has just been issued and presents a very neat appearance. In the front is a well marked map of the maritime prov-

AN EXCITING VOYAGE.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The big railroad ship Bonaventure, eight months out from Chinese ports, came up the Narrows yesterday with a bare stump where her mainmast ought to stand, says the Sun. She lost the stick in a hurricane off Madagascar last winter, and sailed the remaining thousand miles of her voyage under her fore, China Sea, she picked up two Malays and a Chinaman who had been for twelve days in an open boat, after the foundering of their own vessel, a native coaster. The shipwrecked men were transferred to a steamer bound for Singapore.

IT IS BETTER FOR THE AVERAGE GIRL TO IMAGINE THAT SHE CAN THINK THAN THAT SHE CAN SING.
