

(Richibucto Review).
The curtain has lifted on the second act of the Kent county license comedy. When the three license commissioners appointed by the late government, were dismissed for no other reason than that they were Liberals, and three good Tories appointed to the board, it was expected that everything in connection with the matter of liquor licenses would be arranged to the satisfaction of the provincial government party in this county. But: "The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley." When the question of cutting out one of the licenses in the late municipal election, the board, the new commissioners on having exercised their good judgment, saw fit to sacrifice a publican of their own political complexion and then the trouble began. The provincial secretary was refused license to settle matters and incidentally to read the commissioners a lecture as to their duties in general and in regard to the Kenton licenses in particular. It was charged that the chairman of the board had been instrumental in having this particular license cancelled, and the reason given for his action was that the license had taken a prominent part against him in the late municipal election. To this charge the chairman pointed out that he had taken no part whatever in the matter; that the motion to cancel the license had been moved and seconded respectively by the two other members of the board. Thereupon it was suggested that the second of the motion had been misled through a similarity in the names of the applicants. The upshot of the inquiry was that the commissioners were ordered to meet again and rectify the mistake; they met, but refused to make any change, and as a consequence the government has cancelled the Kenton licenses. The next move will be awaited with interest. Meanwhile, the applicant who was refused license by the board has been permitted to sell liquor without license.

PREMIER McBRIDE TO HONOR LAURIER

Will Tender Him a Reception Governmental Function at Victoria Tomorrow Night

Sir Wilfrid Delighted With Tour Through the Moun- tains--Party Due in Van- couver Wednesday--Tour- ing Press Representatives to Entertain Premier and Colleagues at the Coast.

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Golden, B. C., Aug. 15.—After a Sunday of resting at Banff, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party proceeded westward this morning on the picturesque and winding trail of steel through the Rockies. After weeks on the hot prairies the cold clear air of the mountains was keenly appreciated. The premier spent much time on the rear platform and hearty shouts burst with every train. Varying in the day news of the fire at the International Exhibition at Brussels reached the train and Sir Wilfrid made several anxious inquiries as to the fate of the Canadian buildings.

Nearing the Pacific coast the premier is in the best of health and spirits. "I don't know that I ever enjoyed a trip more," he said today. "It has been like a revelation and education."

The party is due to reach Vancouver at noon tomorrow, proceeding to Victoria on Wednesday evening. Here the party has been advised that Premier McBride and the government of British Columbia will entertain them on Wednesday evening. British Columbia's action in this respect is the first provincial governmental reception on the tour and the action of Premier McBride has met with many expressions of appreciation from members of the party.

Sir Wilfrid and Hon. Mr. Graham will also participate in a function the touring press representatives propose to tender the party at the coast.
At Golden, where Sir Wilfrid, following a drive on the mountain trail, addressed a gathering from the platform on the main street, met two maidens twelve and fourteen years of age who had ridden some seven miles through the mountains to hear the premier. They were both mounted on behind the other on the same pony. The premier then spoke. He extended the greeting of the east to the far west, eulogized the glories of the scenery and appealed to the people to establish and maintain a high standard for Canadianism. Short addresses by Messrs. Graham and MacDonald followed.

JUMPED FROM BROOKLYN BRIDGE AND WAS UNHURT

Decorator Said to Have Won $500 but Police Gathers Him In.

New York, Aug. 15.—As a result of a wager made with a companion with whom he had visited Coney Island resorts yesterday, Wm. Cruikshank, a decorator of White Plains, today jumped from the Brooklyn bridge near the Brooklyn tower and escaped unhurt, swimming almost to the foot of Dock street, where boatmen took a schooner lassoed him and dragged him aboard.
With a companion, Melville Snow, Cruikshank started across the bridge from Manhattan on a trolley car. As they passed the Brooklyn pier, both men jumped from the car. Cruikshank hurried toward the railing, throwing off his clothes as he ran. He paused but an instant, then plunged toward the river, 110 feet below.
Cruikshank was arrested, and Snow also was held when he appeared, carrying the diver's clothes and spoke of a $500 bet which had induced Cruikshank to make the leap.

Stawa Field Battery Led.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—(Special)—Ottawa field battery won first and second places in the efficiency competition this year by large margins. The second battery led with 630 points, and the 23rd battery was next with 627 points. The nearest competitor had only 577 points.

MAYOR GAYNOR MAY BE AT DESK IN A MONTH

Doesn't Know Who Shot Him Yet Has Been Inoculated to Pre- vent Blood Poisoning— Brief Holiday in Adiron- dacks Will Make as Good as New Think Doctors.

(Associated Press.)
New York, Aug. 15.—Mayor Gaynor's progress toward recovery from the bullet wound inflicted by James J. Gallagher was not interrupted by any untoward symptom today. All official bulletins were of the same tenor as those heretofore issued. The surgeons in attendance predict that he will be able to leave the hospital for the Adirondacks in two weeks' time and be back at his desk in the city hall, if he so desires, within a month.
Rufus Gaynor, his son, is even more optimistic.

Mayor Gaynor and His Son Rufus Photographed Two Minutes Before the Shooting.

"We all expect my father to be able to leave St. Mary's hospital in ten days," he said, "and it would not be surprising if the physicians were to release him within a week."
Father and son discussed briefly the incidents of the shooting, but the mayor carefully refrained from asking the name of his assailant or his motive. He explained the circumstances of the tragedy as he had remembered it and remarked that at no time did he lose consciousness.
After the conversation he sent Rufus to New York to purchase toys for two nephews who are invalid ward cases in St. Mary's hospital with the wounded mayor.
Detectives are carefully investigating the rumor that Gallagher was the tool of others who sought to take the mayor's life, but so far not a shred of evidence to support this has been found. Gallagher reiterated today that he acted entirely alone.
It was learned today that the mayor was inoculated with tetanus and the other three a safeguard. No sign of blood poisoning in any form has developed.

NEW BRUNSWICK TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS AT FREDERICTON TODAY

(Special to The Telegraph.)
Fredericton, Aug. 15.—Tonight's Gleaner (Me.) arrived in the city this morning and left soon afterwards for Pokok to inspect the water power there on the Scott Lumber Company's property.
Mr. Gould is at the head of a syndicate of American capitalists who have secured an option on the Scott Lumber Company's property, including upwards of 55,000 acres of timber lands, as well as the Victoria Mills, this city.
It is unlikely that the option will be accepted next week by those interested with Mr. Gould, and the deal closed for the transfer of the property at a price said to be $150,000.
Sterling Thompson, formerly of this city, but lately station master on the Dominion Atlantic Railway, has definitely decided upon entering the ministry and will pursue his studies at Pine Hill College, Halifax, after the summer vacation.
There is a report that the saw mill at Hunters Ferry on Maguapit Lake has been completely destroyed by fire. The mill was the property of Henry Wasson and had recently been extensively repaired. From what can be learned the fire caught from a spark. Mr. Wasson had no insurance on the mill.
In Marysville on Saturday morning, an official fell from the water wagon and a number of young men who had been in the city leading up, started to wipe out a grudge against him, citizens interfered and finally got the official to the lockup. When they attempted to lock him up, however, they discovered that the key hole had been plugged, so that the door could not be opened. He was then taken home.
The maritime conference of Seventh Day Adventists will open here on Thursday evening. About thirty delegates are expected.

BIDDEFORD BANK CASHIER LIKELY TO RECOVER

Directors Hopeful That Ingersoll May Be Able to Untangle Shortage.

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 15.—Former Treasurer Richmond H. Ingersoll, of the York County Savings Bank, who has been critically ill since Thursday when a shortage in the bank's accounts was discovered, is much improved tonight and unless something unforeseen sets in, his recovery is now assured. As soon as he is able to discuss business matters, two officials of the bank will visit the sick man and endeavor to enlist his aid in straightening out the tangle of figures in which the books of the institution have been found.
President Prescott, of the bank, tonight declared that, in spite of all statements and rumors to the contrary, no member of the directorate or any other person has yet been able to explain the shortage which amounts to "We cannot hope to know how matters stand for some days," he said, "and then only through the co-operation of the depositors in the matter of bringing their pass books to the bank for comparison. Some have already brought their books, but many others have not, and it is imperative, if we are to know where we stand, that the books be turned in immediately."
So great is the faith in the stability of the closed institution that one prominent Biddeford man is already buying up the claims of depositors, paying an average of seventy-five cents on the dollar. He has, it is said, succeeded in gathering in a number of accounts, but the majority of the bank's depositors are satisfied to let matters rest and take their chances of getting the entire amount of their deposits.

DICKERING FOR BIG TIMBER LIMITS LOSS AT BRUSSELS FAIR FIRE UNDER $10,000,000

Belgian and British Exhibits the Chief Sufferers; Valuable Collection of Jewels Dug from Ruins.

Brussels, Aug. 15.—It will take many days to place the Belgian exposition in a fit condition for the re-opening, although a large majority of the buildings are still intact.
The American section escaped the fire. The art exhibit was in a building two miles distant from the flames. The French section is confined to the building in which various foods were displayed, and the pavilion of the city of Paris, containing industrial exhibits and models from the schools of art.
The recovery of valuable collections of jewels helped to reduce the first estimates of loss. The magnificent collection of precious stones owned by Belgians and valued at $3,000,000 was unearthed from the ruins unharmed.
There was considerable pillaging, after and during the fire, and thieves made a heavy haul. Gendarmes caught a number of the looters who had in their possession scores of rings and bracelets from the French jewel exhibit.
It is believed that parliament will vote extra credits for the purpose of clearing away the ruins and constructing new buildings.

CRIPPEN INQUEST OPENS IN LONDON

London, Aug. 15.—In consequence of the death of Coroner Thomas a week ago it was necessary to make a fresh start in the Crippen inquest today by the deputy coroner, Dr. Schroeder. The remains supposed to be those of Belle Elmore, were again viewed by the jury and the hearing opened with a brief recital of the known facts in the case by Mr. Schroeder, who intimated that the inquiry was apt to be a protracted one.
Solicitor Arthur Newton, who was retained by friends of Dr. Crippen and whose services were accepted by the latter by cable, was in attendance on behalf of Dr. Crippen. Solicitor J. H. Watts represented Miss LeNeve.
Some of the more formal evidence given at the first hearing was repeated and a new witness, Mrs. Bellinda May, secretary of the Masts Hall Ladies' Guild, of which Belle Elmore was treasurer, testified that at Christmas time Mrs. Crippen complained that her sleep was disturbed by a choking sensation as if she were being to die. On February 20 Miss LeNeve brought to her a pass book, check book and a letter in Dr. Crippen's handwriting saying that Belle was going away for a few months and asking that she should elect a new treasurer.
Supt. Frost, of Scotland Yard, informed the court that he expected Dr. Crippen and Miss LeNeve to arrive in England in about three weeks, after which the proceedings were adjourned until September 12.

Freight Wreck on Rutland Road.

Bellows Falls, Vt., Aug. 15.—A washout on the Rutland Railroad a few miles north of Bellows Falls, was responsible for the wrecking of a freight train tonight. Six cars and the engine left the rails, the cars rolling down the embankment. The engineer and fireman were slightly injured.

Veterinary Dies of Blood Poisoning.

Private Moir Who Slew Officer at Kingston the Leader

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 15.—Private Moir of London, and Robert Frederick Taggart of Toronto, both murderers, escaped from the asylum here this morning by sawing through the iron bars on the windows of their bedrooms.
It is thought the men had assistance. Their escape was discovered about 5.30 this morning, and a complete investigation shows they had been provided with a set of keys which insured the opening of the doors necessary to their escape.
Moir was in a room by himself. It was heavily barred, but the desperate man climbed through a six-inch transom into the corridor. He then went to the room occupied by Taggart and opened the door with a key. The two men went to the bathroom door which they also opened with keys. There they changed their clothing, helping themselves to apparel belonging to the guards. They next went to the door leading to a flight of steps. That door they also opened with a key. The attendants were sleeping in the next room but were not awakened. The two murderers walked down the steps and gained the open air by a side door, which they also opened with a key.
It is believed by the asylum officials that there was an automobile waiting for them and that the escape took place about 3 o'clock. If that is the case the two men have a big start and may be in the States by this time. The strangest part of the whole affair is that there were no guards, although it was known that Moir was desperate having twice before attempted to escape.
Just how he secured the keys is a mystery, and some significant statements are being made in that connection. Dr. English, medical superintendent, has sent a full report to the department at Toronto.
Taggart had been in the asylum since 1899, and Moir since January 1909. Private Moir shot and killed Sergeant Lloyd on Good Friday, 1902, at Wolsley barracks at London (Ont.) Moir was partly intoxicated at the time, and had been reprimanded by Lloyd. Seizing his rifle he followed the latter and shot him dead, then making his escape. Moir was captured, after a chase extending over several weeks, working on a farm north of Guelph. At the trial it was shown that he had been subject to insanity, and on this ground of insanity he received a life sentence in the Hamilton asylum.
Robert Frederick Taggart, who escaped with Moir, is also a murderer. His crime was beating his wife, Rebecca, to death, in Toronto, on November 25, 1898.

TWO MURDERERS ESCAPE PRISON

ROYAL COMMISSION VISITS MONCTON

Prominent Men in Various Walks of Life State Needs of People

Moncton, Aug. 15.—The Royal Technical Commission which arrived in Moncton this morning from Shediac, and spent the day visiting the new I. C. R. shops, cotton mill, R. F. & M. Co.'s works, gas and oil wells in Albert county, held its first session this evening. A large number of leading citizens were present and quite a number of witnesses were called.
After the chairman had explained at length the object of the commission, the following witnesses gave sworn testimony: Mayor Reilly, Hon. C. W. Robinson, Capt. Masters, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Marshall Gouvan, Walter Applinton, assistant superintendent of I. C. R. motive power; H. D. McKenzie, locomotive foreman, I. C. R., and Arthur Stockall, foreman of the blacksmith shop, I. C. R.
The commission adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. All the witnesses testified to the value of a technical education and industrial training as a means of bettering the country commercially, educationally and industrially.
Mayor Reilly spoke of the growth of Moncton and the importance of the city as an industrial centre, and advocated a night technical school for young men.
Hon. C. W. Robinson spoke of the benefit of manual training, and advocated a change in the school system that would give pupils more of the necessary elementary education.
Hon. Mr. Emmerson spoke particularly of the fishing industry and believed a technical training in curing and preservation would be a great benefit to the industry. He advocated special care being taken to protect the oyster beds which were being depleted, and he thought the people might be educated to realize the value of fisheries to this province. Technical education for the agriculturist was also advocated by Mr. Emmerson, and he also spoke of farmers being instructed so as to take more interest in beef raising, grains and fruits.
Marshall Gouvan, representing the labor organizations, advocated shorter hours for men in order to get the best results, and give them an opportunity to improve intellectually.
The three Italians arrested Saturday, charged with breaking into the house of Joseph Sommers, Salisbury Road, and stealing $300 worth of jewelry, were this afternoon committed for trial. Evidence was given identifying the three men and the goods found on them.

The Methodist and Presbyterian churches, library, public school, Pioneer printing office, several residences and new machine shops of the Granby Company are reported to have been destroyed. It was feared the whole town would be in flames and a train was got in readiness to carry the residents out of the city. The firemen gained a victory after a strenuous fight.

Private Moir Who Slew Officer at Kingston the Leader

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 15.—Private Moir of London, and Robert Frederick Taggart of Toronto, both murderers, escaped from the asylum here this morning by sawing through the iron bars on the windows of their bedrooms.
It is thought the men had assistance. Their escape was discovered about 5.30 this morning, and a complete investigation shows they had been provided with a set of keys which insured the opening of the doors necessary to their escape.
Moir was in a room by himself. It was heavily barred, but the desperate man climbed through a six-inch transom into the corridor. He then went to the room occupied by Taggart and opened the door with a key. The two men went to the bathroom door which they also opened with keys. There they changed their clothing, helping themselves to apparel belonging to the guards. They next went to the door leading to a flight of steps. That door they also opened with a key. The attendants were sleeping in the next room but were not awakened. The two murderers walked down the steps and gained the open air by a side door, which they also opened with a key.
It is believed by the asylum officials that there was an automobile waiting for them and that the escape took place about 3 o'clock. If that is the case the two men have a big start and may be in the States by this time. The strangest part of the whole affair is that there were no guards, although it was known that Moir was desperate having twice before attempted to escape.
Just how he secured the keys is a mystery, and some significant statements are being made in that connection. Dr. English, medical superintendent, has sent a full report to the department at Toronto.
Taggart had been in the asylum since 1899, and Moir since January 1909. Private Moir shot and killed Sergeant Lloyd on Good Friday, 1902, at Wolsley barracks at London (Ont.) Moir was partly intoxicated at the time, and had been reprimanded by Lloyd. Seizing his rifle he followed the latter and shot him dead, then making his escape. Moir was captured, after a chase extending over several weeks, working on a farm north of Guelph. At the trial it was shown that he had been subject to insanity, and on this ground of insanity he received a life sentence in the Hamilton asylum.
Robert Frederick Taggart, who escaped with Moir, is also a murderer. His crime was beating his wife, Rebecca, to death, in Toronto, on November 25, 1898.

TERRIBLE MONOTONY OF CANADIAN PRARIE LIFE

New Settler Has No Thoughts of Anything But Wheat—The New Towns Treeless and the Drinking Water Bad—The Telegraph Man on the Laurier Tour Advises Easterners to Remain at Home, Where They Have Many Comforts Unknown in the West.

Courtesy of Grip Co., Limited, Toronto.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier speaking to the newer Canadians at Weyburn, Sask.: "We welcome you all to this land where all men are free and equal before the law. We are prepared to share our country and our blessing with you—all we ask is that you become Canadians, and loyal subjects of His Majesty, King George V."

(From Telegraph Man on Tour.)

Edmonton, Aug. 5.—We have now traveled pretty thoroughly over the prairie, and everyone is becoming a little weary of the monotony of the journey. It is not any spirit of sectionalism that leads one from the east to the conclusion that this country is no place for an eastern man, of say forty-five or over, to come to. For a man from Great Britain, who has never known land-freedom, it is a good country for it gives him the chance of being his "own man," but for the man advanced in years from the Maritime Provinces to have the more advanced civilization and broader life of that older portion of the country and start practically where his great-grandfather did on the road to freedom seems to me to be practically setting back the hands of the clock for him and those of his family.

For the west thinks broadly but, as yet, not deeply. Their thoughts do not go below the black loam nor above the wheat tops. Of culture it knows nothing, and now I am speaking, of course, of that part of the west through which we have passed; on the Pacific coast there is a difference.

The west may produce statisticians but it will never produce poets. This may be an inconceivable deprivation; but man cannot live by wheat alone. They pride themselves somewhat in this country that they do not take their politics seriously, and rather laugh at us in the east because we are inclined to do so. Here it is nothing for men to be in business together, and yet on opposite sides of politics. Well, the calibre of their public men shows that the people do not take their politics seriously. They talk of the need of representation must be reduced to make room for the great and rapidly growing west." Let it. So long as they give us one to two, or perhaps four of their men, we shall still be on a fairly equal footing.

In Manitoba they have a government which gives considerable comfort to Conservatives everywhere. Prohibitionists should see how temperance is encouraged in Manitoba, where a Conservative government is in power. It is flimsy and few places of any pretensions can be found to call themselves anything smaller than a "city." Permanent streets are being laid down everywhere, and they were sorely needed, for in mid-time the condition of the western roadways is said to be something awful. The streets are in almost every case broad; there is no reason why they should not be for they were not circumscribed in the matter of room; and the general plan followed is of a central boulevard dividing the roadway into two.

The principal drawback to the beautification of western cities is the absence of trees. Trees were apparently not intended by nature to flourish here, and they do not. The government has made an effort to encourage their cultivation, distributing free all the trees wanted; but the strong cold prairie winds are against their growth, and it is generally said that western plains will ever be beautiful by trees. The result is a barrenness which tends to monotony.

Horses are extremely high out here, and some of those who have gone into the raising of stock are making an exceedingly good thing out of it. A very ordinary team sells for $500.

One of the hardships of life in the west is the lack of good water. It is nearly all extremely alkali, which cannot be used without serious inconvenience, particularly by those who are unused to it. Fair water is sometimes found by sinking artesian wells, but generally speaking the water is scarce and bad.

It does not take a long residence in this country to turn a man into a "booster," as the enthusiastic ones are known here. When you see and hear every one around you boasting of the tendency to become infected and follow suit. We have not met one individual who was not full of the most absolute faith in the country, and all express themselves as being satisfied that they are very much better off than they were in the place from which they came. It is tiresome, but it is the spirit that is building up the west.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Aug. 6.—We entered Moose Jaw in a cloud of dust, and were more or less enveloped in the same during our entire stay. Moose Jaw is in the midst of the civic improvement stage, and going along its streets parties more or less of the nature of Alpine climbing, while thick clouds of dust hang heavy all around. Street paving and street car installing is the explanation of it all, and even more arrogant than the sworn rival, Regina, than it is at present.

There is nothing attractive about Moose Jaw any more than about any of the dozens of other prairie towns. It has a brilliant future, of course, which it is not only entitled to but which it is entitled to. It is a city in the making, and it is to be the biggest and best place between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Its principal claims to fame at present are its being a divisional point on the C. P. R. and having a flour mill.

The meeting here was simply a repetition of what has been experienced everywhere—the largest building in the place crowded to the limit. It was "Neds" meeting, everyone said. The member for Pictou spoke exceedingly well, a Conservative paper man sitting beside me said, at the conclusion of Mr. McDonald's speech: "You ought to be proud of your Nova Scotia."

The best part of the member for Pictou's address was that in which he pointed out the necessity of the west recognizing that it does not comprise the whole of Canada. There is a distinct tendency in that direction, as I have already mentioned. They regard us with a more or less complacent tolerance which is somewhat galling. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are known as places where some of their best people have come from, but not worthy of any particular attention apart from that. It is not merely faith in the west they have out here; necessity of paying any particular attention to any other part of the dominion.

The member for Pictou warned them that if the east is to be narrow and selfish, or if the west is to become too aggressive, then Canada will fall of her destiny, and we shall not attain the end we are all so ambitious of. We cannot and shall not be a mere dependent colony, but a great aggregation of nations joined together for the civilization and peace of the world, and this can only be attained by a unity of purpose and a desire to advance our nationhood. This ambition could best be attained by tying up to the liberal party, which, as its record of the past fourteen years has shown, is the party of progress, and the party of the common people. It is the one which can best advance Canada's interests.

The Tory Policy.

An English free trader coming here and speaking for the Conservative party was, he said, a spectacle for the gods. What do the Conservatives stand for in regard to the tariff? Some of the so-called English free traders out here, he said, would like the people to believe the Conservatives stand for a lower tariff. He quoted from the Ottawa Journal and Winnipeg Telegram to show that the Conservatives would carry on the fight along that line; that they were dealing with "a condition, not a theory." The manufacturers of Canada would speedily be controlled by those of the United States if they had no protective tariff. The leader of the opposition stands for protection. His close friend, the correspondent of the Toronto News who had accompanied him on his western tour, said that the leader of the opposition, Mr. Borden, "skated over the tariff question in all of his utterances in the northwest."

As to the record of the Liberal party on the question, he pointed out that in 1894 they had come out for a tariff for revenue only, and would work for a reduction of the tariff so as to make it bear as lightly as possible on the common people. The British preference, a great measure of tariff relief, had been introduced. The average rate of duty on goods coming into Canada in 1894 had been 18 per cent, today it is less than 15 per cent, a reduction of three per cent. In other words, if the Conservative tariff were still in force, $60,000,000 more would have been taken from the pockets of the people.

He warned them not to be misled by the cry that the Americans were offering reciprocity in agricultural implements. He showed what kind of reciprocity it was, there being "a nigger in the woodpile" in the shape of a duty of 45 per cent on parts of implements which would make the concession practically valueless. We will have fair trade with them or none at all.

He then made a statement of some importance; that a moderate degree of protection would be necessary for Canada for some time to come. The tariff is the easiest way that the people can contribute to the government the expense of carrying on the affairs of the country. He thought indirect taxation of this kind was preferable to direct. The Hudson Bay Railway, for example, had to be made profitable, and had to be paid for. How could it be done except by a moderate tariff and the British preference? The tariff is not to be one which will bear unduly on any one; if it does, the government will see to it that it is remedied. The easiest way to contribute to this and other necessary undertakings is by a moderate tariff.

Free Trade Not Possible.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke he endorsed what the member for Pictou had said. "Mr. McDonald," he said, "has presented our policy." We cannot have free trade as they have it in Britain, because that is a nation formed, and ours is one forming, but we can have free trade. The tariff has already been lowered, and he hoped he could give them some more free trade when the time comes.

This will not be particularly pleasing to the out and out free traders, and many of those we have heard from here get free themselves to be; but if the west gets free trade in agricultural implements there will not be much more heard from it for the present at least.

After the meeting, we adjourned to the base ball grounds adjoining, and saw a professional game in the Western League. The people here are base ball crazy. All the western cities have teams in this league, the players being almost without exception, Americans; yet they pay them good salaries and go out and about as though there were really something depending on the matter. It used to be put down as one of the signs of Roman decadence that they hired foreign athletes to provide their amusement.

"Strike" for Laurier.
The referee came out before the grandstand and announced that "Mister Wilfrid would pitch de foist ball," in a true American accent. And Mister Wilfrid proceeded to pitch the ball. It wasn't such a bad ball either—straight over the plate. The batter made a tremendous show of swinging at it, but a "strike" was called on it, to the satisfaction of all concerned, including the able pitcher, who returned all smiles to his seat.

All is well that ends well, but our experience after leaving Moose Jaw was anything but a pleasant one and might very easily have ended more tragically than it did. I do not of course refer to the impending of sixteen able and intelligent members of the newspaper profession, but to the fact that Canada's premier stood with the rest of us, in imminent danger of his life. A head-on collision is an unpleasant affair, and had this one occurred on a curve there would have been little enough left of us. The engines were interlocked and our driven back into the baggage car, which was completely wrecked. Four and other goods from the wrecked freight car were scattered all over the prairie. Even in Sir Wilfrid's car, which was in the position of safety at the rear, the shock was enough to smash the typewriter of his private secretary. Sir Wilfrid was clipping some newspapers at the time and was thrown to the floor, but was not injured in any way, and was calm and unperturbed as ever. The conductor of our train, who was in the car into which the other engine ploughed its way, was seriously hurt. The operator at Regina, the cause of it all, decided that any explanation of his carelessness he had to offer were not good enough, and fled.

We have now nearly finished our tour in Saskatchewan. We have traveled about many miles, and have held meetings in various corners of the province, held various large meetings, and innumerable small ones. Each place where we have held meetings has tried to outdo the other in the warmth of its reception. They are all so lively and apparently prosperous that it is hard to name the best; but the consensus of opinion would probably be that Prince Albert has it as a place of residence, and Saskatoon as a place to do business in. We have seen wheat until the eye grew weary and are all fully ready to accept all the claims or boasts that are made for Saskatchewan. Its capabilities in that respect are enormous—so enormous as to be scarcely conceivable. They expect a 60,000,000 bushel crop this year and are still practically unsettled, because of at least uncounted acres of wheat growing province. gineer on the Panama canal, is enjoying a few weeks' vacation and expects soon to return south, where he has been engaged in the canal work for several years. Mr. Wells, who has got along well in his profession, is a son of the late Asael Wells, of Lower Cape, Albert county, his mother being a daughter of the late T. Moore, barrister-at-law, Moncton. His wife is daughter of Dr. C. C. Heald, of St. John, formerly of Moncton. In connection with the great engineering work at the Isthmus, Mr. Wells reports steady improved sanitary conditions of the work, and corresponding reduction in the death rate. Among other efforts in the work is being waged against the mosquitoes, who are considered responsible for much of the trouble. The expenditure for the year being expended towards the extermination of this pest alone, Mr. Wells, who has been eight years on the canal, has charge of the locks of the Atlantic division, with headquarters at Gatun, overlooking Colon. Mr. Wells states, however, that the humidity is great. Eighty-five degrees is not unusual in the summer and the lowest he had experienced was 63 in the cold season. Some idea of the gigantic proportions of the canal work may be had from the fact that the expenditure amounts to $1,000,000 a month. It is expected that the work will be finished in four years. Trains will not be able to cross the Dudgeon creek for some little time yet. As no heavy machinery is transferred over the creek, heavy freight is being hauled from Daniels station.

The contracts for the driving of the vans for which notices have been posted, were sold on Monday by the secretary, E. C. Copp. The contracts on all four routes were let to J. Frazer. The balance of the grounds south of the Salisbury & Harvey railway and what is known as Minor's Island, including in all a little more than 100 acres, have been purchased by the Consolidated Paper Company for a playground, has been nearly enclosed by a dyke.

Mr. Kinnie, who had quite a supply of lumber on hand, has sold the entire stock to the government. The lumber will be forwarded shortly to London, where it is to be used for the construction of a bridge over the St. Lawrence river.

STANLEY WARREN DROWNED IN HARBOR, SATURDAY AFTERNOON Was Member of Crew of Schooner Lucia Porter and, His Companions Say, Had Been Drinking—Little Girl Saw Him Struggling in Water and Gave Alarm.

What appears to have been a particularly sad drowning accident occurred in the harbor Saturday about 5.30 p. m., when, according to the statement of nine-year-old Annie Muller, Stanley Warren, a member of the crew of the schooner Lucia Porter, doctored at the Pettigall wharf, while in a seemingly intoxicated condition, fell from the schooner's main deck into the harbor.

unless washed ashore by the tide, his remains will never be recovered. Annie Muller, who is the nine-year-old daughter of William Muller, Walker's wharf, told a Telegraph reporter Sunday that she was playing on board the schooner when suddenly she heard a splash. She ran over to the side of the vessel just in time to see a man sink beneath the waves. When she first saw him, with the exception of one arm which was raised out of the water, his body was submerged. He disappeared very quickly. Previous to the accident the Muller girl said she saw the man leaning over the side of the Lucia Porter. He appeared to be intoxicated. She was of the opinion that the man fell overboard while trying to cross over from the Lucia Porter to the Witch Hazel, which he would have to do in order to get ashore. The little girl was at a loss to account for her not crying out for assistance when she saw the man struggling in the water.

"I was awfully afraid," she said, "and ran ashore immediately. I met a policeman and told him everything." The last man of the crew to see Warren alive was the cook. He said that he served the man his supper, after which he saw him leaning over the side of the schooner. He appeared to be ill. The cook was positive the man had been drinking. Speaking of the accident, Captain Sprague, who is a St. John man, said he was greatly shocked when he heard the news. Warren, he said, had been with him a very short time, having joined the crew when the schooner left Bangor a few weeks ago. He never knew him to take a drink and always considered him a steady, industrious worker. When Warren joined the crew, the captain said, he belonged to Bangor. After sailing, however, he said to members of the crew that he hailed from Sydney (C. B.). Warren was about 20 years of age.

"ANGEL OF THE CRIMEA" DEAD

Florence Nightingale Passed Away Yesterday, Aged Ninety

A NOTABLE CAREER Organized and Led a Band of Nurses in Work of Mercy in Crimean War—Was Recipient of $250,000 Testimonial Afterwards, and Signally Honored by King Edward.

London, Aug. 14.—Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse of the Crimean war, and the only woman who ever received the Order of Merit, died yesterday at her London home. Although she had been an invalid for a long time, rarely leaving her room, where she passed the time in a half-reclining position, and was under the constant care of a physician, her death was somewhat unexpected. A week ago she was quite ill, but she improved, and on Friday was cheerful. During that night alarming symptoms developed, and she gradually sank until 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when an attack of heart failure brought her end.

Her funeral will be as quiet as possible, in accordance with her wishes. During recent years, owing to her feebleness and advanced age, Miss Nightingale had received but few visitors. On May 12 last she celebrated her ninetieth birthday and was the recipient of a congratulatory message from King George.

Florence Nightingale was born May 12, 1820. She was the first woman to follow a modern army into battle at a nurse, and in the Crimean war she gained the title of "The Angel of the Crimea." She studied nursing under the Protestant sisters of mercy at Kaiserswerth, Germany, and returned to England when the Crimean war broke out. She organized a corps of volunteer nurses, whom she led into the field, and was especially celebrated for her noble services at Scutari.

At the close of the war she was enabled by a bequest amounting to $250,000 to found an institution for the training of nurses, the Nightingale Home at St. Thomas Hospital. She was also the means of calling attention to the unsanitary conditions in camp hospitals. In 1908 she received the freedom of the city of London. King Edward bestowed upon her the Order of Merit, the most exclusive distinction within the gift of the British sovereign. The membership of the order is limited to 24, and it includes such men as Lord Roberts, Lord Wolsey, Field Marshal Kitchener, James Bryce, Prince Yamagata and Admiral Togo.

THE TURF Moncton Races.

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 14.—(Special.)—About 800 people attended Saturday's races on the Moncton speedway, and no better racing has ever been witnessed on the local track.

In the 2.35 pace and 2.38 trot it took six heats to decide the race. Prince Wilkes and Baby Logan going a dead heat in the fourth. In the 2.21 trot and 2.18 pace there were five heats, and the owners of Queen Marie and Mary Cromwell then got together and divided first and second money, each having two heats.

In the free for all, the first heat Simmasie, which finished second, got the heat. P. E. had a little patching and the removal of a few stones in some places, nothing has been done. The photographer whose artistic work is reproduced here today has some other roads, and his friends are urging him to send copies to the local government and to the newspapers. The holes in the Grand Bay bridge are unfortunately situated, and teams or automobiles seeking to avoid one hole have been likely to strike the other one.

DOUBLE FUNERAL AT GOLDEN GROVE

Bodies of Two Boys Drowned in Lake Followed to Their Graves by Large Procession of Sorrow-Stricken People.

Upper Golden Grove, Aug. 12.—The saddest spectacle ever witnessed at Golden Grove or vicinity took place Wednesday afternoon when the bodies of Percy Smith and Allen Johnson, the two victims of a sad drowning accident, were laid in their last resting place. The funeral service was read at the home of John Smith at 2.30 o'clock and in the home of George Johnson at 3 o'clock by William S. Irvine, student catechist, in charge of the Presbyterian church of Golden Grove, after which the two corteges met in the little churchyard, where the funeral sermon was preached over the two open graves. Mr. Irvine took for his text, Jeremiah, 15, 33 and 37 verses: "Oh earth where is thy sting, Oh grave where is thy victory. Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

The wife of the deceased, who came to pay their last respects to two of their brightest boys, who had won their way to the hearts of all with whom they had come in contact by their frank and generous natures, their good and noble characters. The two sad processions, the meeting at the little churchyard and the two graves, side by side, will never be forgotten. The deepest sympathy from all, both far and near, is extended to the grief-stricken families.

PROF. E. STONE WIGGINS DEAD

Predictor of Great Saxby Gale Passed Away at Ottawa

A NATIVE OF QUEENS Had a Varied Career as Doctor, Educationist and Politician; Later Was Appointed to the Civil Service—Was an Author of Some Note.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, of Ottawa, known as a weather predictor, died here tonight, aged 71. He was a clerk in the finance department. The body will be sent to Queens Co. (N. B.) for burial.

Ezekiel Stone Wiggins was born in Queens county, New Brunswick, Dec. 4, 1839. He was the son of Daniel S. Wiggins and Elizabeth Titus Stone and was a direct descendant of Capt. Thomas Wiggins, of Devonshire, England, who was sent out by the Lords Saye and Brook in 1630 as governor of one of the Massachusetts colonies. Prof. Wiggins was of U. E. Loyalist descent by both his parents. He was educated at the Oakwood grammar school, afterwards graduating from Albert University, Belleville, B. A., in 1870 and M. A. in 1872. Previous to his graduation he was local superintendent of schools in Prince Edward county.

After taking a course in medicine and graduating M. D. from the University of Medicine and Surgery, Philadelphia, he was for some years head master of the high school at Ingersoll (Ont.) He was the first president of the institute for 1871 and at Brantford, holding the office from 1871 to 1874. In the latter year he established a boys' college in St. John. In the dominion general election of 1878 he was an unsuccessful candidate for Queens county and was shortly afterwards appointed clerk in the finance department at Ottawa. Prof. Wiggins published a number of books, among the number being The Architecture of the Heavens, The Days of the Creation, and two English grammars for the use of dominion high schools. Prof. Wiggins, however, owed his chief fame to his predictions of storms, many of which were said to have come true. Among others he is said to have predicted the celebrated Saxby gale. In 1892 Prof. Wiggins married Susie Anna, daughter of Capt. V. W. Wiggins, who has quite a reputation as a polemical writer.

COLPITTS' FAMILY REUNION AT COLPITTS, ALBERT COUNTY

Five Hundred Were Present at Last Gathering Five Years Ago and More Are Expected at One Planned For Aug. 25.

Family gatherings are not uncommon in New Brunswick, but perhaps the largest affair of the kind is that of the Colpitts family, centering in Albert and Westmorland counties. Three reunions have already been held and at the last one, five years ago, nearly 500 were present. A call has been issued for another such gathering, to meet on the old homestead on Little River, at Colpitts, Albert county. An all-day picnic will be enjoyed, dinner and tea being taken on the grounds.

Hon. C. W. Robinson and Dr. R. C. Weldon have been invited as the guests of honor for the day. It is hoped that both will be present. The date set is Thursday, Aug. 25. Only in case of heavy rain will the postponement take place. Under such conditions the gathering will be held the following day. This family name first appears in New Brunswick in 1783, when Robert Colpitts and his wife, Margaret Wade, with six sons and two daughters, came from New-castle, England, and settled on Little River. Now the name is found from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Of those at a distance many are expected home for the reunion. Some new correspondence in regard to the family connection in England will be read and a very pleasant day is anticipated.

(Special Record.) J. C. Hood, superintendent of the great Jersey breeding farms at Lowell, Mass., owned by G. L. Hood, of Sarasparilla fame, was here this week examining the herds of Walter McMonagle and Robert Robinson. Mr. Hood was in Maine previous to his visit to Sussex, and bought 30 head of Jerseys for the Hood farms. He came here with the idea of purchasing stock and will likely return later. Mr. Hood is the second United States breeder who has been here within a few days looking for Sussex pure bred dairy types. It speaks volumes for the class of stock bred here and should prove an example for those maritime province breeders who think it necessary to go to Upper Canada for Kings county animals and when they can so many miles to get them, it does not seem that eastern breeders are alive to the opportunities right at home.

ONE MAN KILLED; ANOTHER BADLY INJURED IN FALL FROM STAGING

James Boyd Lost His Life When Hook Broke While They Were Painting House in Elm Street—Did Not Regain Consciousness—Other Man in Hospital.

Saturday, Aug. 13. James Boyd, 140 Adelaide street, dead; James Quinn, 49 Sheriff street, at the General Public Hospital with arm and leg broken. This in brief is the story of an accident in Elm street yesterday afternoon, when a swinging stage on which they were working painting a house, fell to the ground. The accident happened with awful suddenness. Without a moment's warning the men were precipitated about twenty feet. Boyd never regained consciousness and dying a little more than two hours later. The dead man, who was a master painter, was painting a house owned by Henry Mahar near the corner of Elm and Main streets, North End, and about opposite T. J. Durick's drug store. They had shifted the staging to the sill between the top of the house and the ground when the hook on the woodwork on the outer edge of the roof gave way, to the inner end of the stage to fall part that held, was thrown backward and fell his full length on his back and should have struck on his side.

The accident happened about 3.30. James Taylor, of the firm of Taylor & White, and George Burton, who were standing on the corner of Elm and Main streets, and T. J. Durick, who was in his store, were about the first on the scene, having been attracted by the crash of the big staging as it struck the ground. They hurried to the men and both were found to be unconscious and covered with paint. Mr. Durick hastened to his phone to get medical assistance and soon Dr. James A. Walker were on the scene, the latter hastening to be in the vicinity at the time. Quinn almost once regained consciousness but waved the doctors away, saying "I'm all right; look after him." Quinn's arm and leg were broken. Every effort was made by the doctors to revive Boyd but without avail. In the meantime the ambulance had been summoned and Quinn was hurried to the General Public Hospital while Boyd was taken to his home on an express wagon. They were worked over by Dr. Melnyre and Dr. Emery but to no purpose and died at 6 o'clock. It was feared at first that Quinn was injured internally but it soon found that, though badly hurt, he would recover.

Boyd is survived only by his wife and she is prostrated with grief. Quinn lives with his mother, Mrs. Rose Quinn, and sister. At the hospital, Quinn said that he noticed that the stage had a foot overhang and spoke of this to Boyd but the latter only replied, "I guess it's all right, Jim." It was soon after this that the accident happened.
