And Have Them Drilled According to Modern Methods.

Victory for British Forces on the East Bank of the Nile

Three Hundred Natives Killed and King Mwanga Made Prisoner-Reported Death of Capt. Marchand-The Colonies Loyal.

London, May 9. - Oriental advices state that the Empress Dowager of China has ordered the Tartar general of Kiang Ning to drill all Tartar troops in the Northern Chinese provinces, according to modern methods, the necessary arms to be furnshed by Viceroy Liu. Similar instructions have been sent to the Tartar generals at Kang Chow and Foo Chow. These generals have 50,000 Tartars under their command, intended for service along the Russian frontier, where disturbances have occurrred between the Russian Cossacks and Manchurian peasants.

DEATH OF MAJOR MARCHAND. It is persistently rumored in Paris that Major Marchand, leader of the famous Marchand expedition, which was returning from Fasheda, on the Nile, to the Red Sea, en route for France, has been killed by a band of marauders near Ras Jiboutil, the French post on the coast, and that Captain Baratieri was wounded in the same encounter.

THE COLONIES ARE LOYAL. The Duke of Cambridge yesterday opened Imre Kiralfy's Greater Britain Exhibition at Earl's Court, in the presence of a distinguished company, which included representatives of several colonial govern-ments. In the course of his speech Duke of Cambridge emphasized fact that he and other members of the royal family desired to do everything to strengthen the ties between Great Britain and the colonies. His grace said that it was a singular fact that with all the talk of peace, all the nations were going ahead with armaments. If the czar's conference resulted in any steps tending to lessen the burden upon the people and to insure peace, the suggestions would be sincerely welcomed by England. the same time the Duke of Cambridge said he congratulated his audience upon the preparedness of the country, and the undoubted loyalty of the col-

There was an enormous crush of people seeking admission. A cantata was rendered by 500 performers. Among those present was a descendant of Joan of Arc. Archbishop Ireland, the orator of the occasion, spoke in French. After a eulogy of Joan of Arc, Archbishop Ireland said that he was happy to seize the occasion to tell of unspeakable affection of France, which was the land of his youth and the school of his soul. After the ora-tion the cortege proceeded to the site of the old Fort Tournailles, which was captured by Joan of Arc on May 8, 1429. The route along which the pro-cession passed was lined with the troops. Afterwards the cortege returned to the cathedral, where a Te Deum was sung. At night there were fireworks and a torchlight procession.

CHOATE TALKS.

London, May 9 .- United States ambassador Choate was the central figure at the annual meeting of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society at the Mansion House, and the assemblage was a brilliant one. The Duke of Fife, in introducing Mr. Choate, said:

"But," added Mr. Choate, "every American is entitled to feel sympathy with such a society as this, in view of its historic interest, inasmuch as its founder. Admiral Gambier, signed the treaty of peace in 1814—a treaty which has never since been broken by the two nations, and, I trust, never will be." The sentence was greeted with prolonged cheers. Continuing, he said: "When we look across the page of history we see in Nelson the great typical sailor of all ages and all nations. But in the past year or two new heroes have come to stand by his side in our own Dewey and Sampson. (Renewed cheers greeted this sentence.) The letter from President McKinley expressed warm appreciation of the labors of the society, and said: 'This is a great year for the Anglo-Savon race and the for the Anglo-Saxon race, and the sallors of both nations are coming in for a full share of praise for their splendid achievements."

BRAVE FELLOWS. Manila, April 2, via San Francisco, Cal., May 9.—Instances of personal bravery have been quite as numerous in the American army in the Philippines, as during the campaign in Cuba, but the correspondents have not had the same opportunity to chronicle these deeds of daring in the Orlent, because of the thickness of the country penetrated and many heroic acts were un-

On the first day of MacArthur's advance, Captain Clay received a bullet through the neck. He lay six hours in the jungle before he was discovered, and as the wound was a dangerous one at best, his life was despaired of. His only thought when he was brought into the hospital was that his family should be informed that he was but slightly injured. He is now, however, well on the road to complete recovery.

RAILROAD COMBINATION

Including Lines Between Boston and Chicago-Details of the Big Deal.

Cleveland, May 9.-The Leader says: According to a high official of the Vanderbilt lines in this city, the details of a big railroad trust, which is to include all the lines between Boston and Chicago, are now being worked out and consolidation may be completed within the next few weeks. cent purchase of short lines in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois was in line with the plans for the consolidation which has been in contemplation. It is not the purpose to have all the lines under one management exactly, but to apportion them among the Pennsylvania Company, the Vanderbilt interests, the Baltimore and Ohio Company when it shall have been recognized, giving to each system the lines that it can use to the best ad-

The first inkling of the scope of the plan came when the Vanderbilts annow iced the other day that they con-troled all the roads in New England, with the exception of the Boston and Albany, with which they now have a traffic agreement and which they expect to take in soon. The Vanderbilts now control all the trunk lines between Buffalo and New York, with the exception of the Erie, the Lackawanna and the Lehigh Valley. The Erie, it of the Vanderbilts through the influence of the Morgans, while the Lehigh Valley may go to the Baltimore and Ohio. The Lackawanna is now operated in connection with the Nickel Plate, a Vanderbilt line. West of Plate, a Vanderbilt line. West of Buffalo the Vanderbilts have the Lake Shore, the Nickel Plate, the Pittsburg and Lake Erie, the Big Four, the Michigan Central, which, with the Flint and Pere Marquette, that is soon to be absorbed, will give a line to Michigan. The Big Four west is to be operated in connection with the Monon, recently purchased by the Morgans, and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton is expected to be absorbed soon, The Lake Erie and Western, acquired by the Morgans, is expected to give the Vanderbilts a line from Sandusky to Peoria, Ill. These roads, with the Hocking Valley, the Ohio Central, the Columbus, Sandusky and Hocking, and the Detroit and Lima Northern will about complete the Vanderbilt sys-The Pennsylvania, which has an immense system already under its control, is expected to acquire the Cle land, Akron and Columbus, with which it has a traffic arrangement at present; the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Cleveland, Canton and Southern and the Ohio Southern, as well as some minor lines. The Baltimore and Ohio is alloted the Lehigh Valley (possibly), the Cherry Creek road, which, with the Philadelphia and Reading, would form a through line from Pittsburg to New Years the Political Property of York; the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, giving a line to Cincinnati and St. Louis; the Pittsburg and Western, the Cleveland Terminal and Valley and the Northern Ohio, opening short lines through from Pittsburg to Cleveland and Chicago, as well as the Cleveland, Lorain and Wheeling.

These are the outlines only of the plan which is now being worked out, but those who have been watching the changes in the railroad world do not doubt that it will be carried through successfully. The purpose of the consolidation is said to be to prevent rate cutting and to accomplish practically what the Joint Traffic Association was organized to do.

The 1,200 Italian laborers on the Jerome Park reservoir work at New York, who went on strike on Monday, are still out.

Lord Aberdeen Was Backed by Mr. Chamberlain-The Meagher Outrage-After the C. P. R.

Ottawa, May 9.-In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Charles Tupper made another unsuccessful effort to have laid on the table the correspondence with the imperial government in relation to the refusal of Lord Aberdeen to sanction the appointment by the late government of a number of officers after they had suffered defeat at the polls. Sir Charles alleged that Lord Aberdeen had acted unconstitutionally in his action in 1896, that he was bound to assent to the recom-mendations of the defeated govern-ment, and that this administration had no choice but to acquiesce in what Sir Charles sought to do, basing the latthe contention on the charge that Sir wilfrid Laurier had been deserted on gratuity or grant of land, with house the Manitoba school issue by many of

THE PREMIER'S REPLY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied to Sir Charles, stating that if anybody acted unconstitutionally at the time referred to it was Sir Charles himself, who had sought to perpetrate a clear, manifest and violent invasion of the will of the people. The former went on to show that Sir Charles two days after the election had acknowledged his defeat, but that as time went on, and evidently acting under pressure, he had taken upon himself to tender advice to Lord Aberdeen. That nobleman had declined to accept advice on anything which did not pertain to the routine business of government, pointing out that Sir Charles had not the people at his back. Proceeding to narrate the subsequent occurrences, Sir Wilfrid told how the matter had been referred to the colonial office by Lord seph Chamberlain had cabled to Lord Aberdeen on June 10, 1898: "Your telegram of June 8 received. Cannot agree to the publication of any part of my secret dispatch of Aug-ust, 1896, but if necessary our government may state purport of third paragraph."

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S APPROVAL.

The paragraph referred to, Sir Wilfrid said, expressed Mr. Chamberlain's approval of Lord Aberdeen's attitude in respect of the illegal exercise of power by the Conservative administration. Thus it is seen that Lord Aberdeen, in taking the action which he did was acting under the authority and the approval of the colonial office when he frustrated Sir Charles Tupper's efforts to go beyond the principle of responsible government, and it is also to be seen that by the dis-patch received in June last Sir Wil-frid Laurier had the best authority for maintaining that Lord Aberdeen had high indorsation for his action, and that the first minister was precluded by Mr. Chamberlain's inhibition from giving more than the purport of a section of the dispatch forwarded by the colonial secretary. Sir Charles, the prime minister showed, had contravened the fundamental principle of British constitutional usage, which provides that the prime minister cannot give advice to the governor-general unless he has the country behind him, and as Sir Charles acknowledged his defeat to the Conservative press he cannot but have been aware that his government no longer enjoyed the confidence of the people. Sir Wilfrid showed that this fact placed out of court Sir Charles' contention, that Lord Aberdeen could not have known that the Conservative administration had been rejected on June 23,

SIR CHARLES WILL APEAL. Sir Charles was not satisfied. The premier, he asserted, must not only publish Mr. Chamberlain's dispatch to Lord Aberdeen, but should also make public Lord Aberdeen's dispatches to the colonial secretary, whom he accused of having but himself to blame for trampling down the constitution. Sir Charles concluded by angirly announcing that he would continue the agitation, if necessary, until it should reach the Imperial House of Commons.

AFTER THE C. P. R.

Mr. Richardson, of Lisgar, made a vigorous fight for the appointment of a commission to investigate the accounts of the C. P. R., with a view to arriving at the actual cost of construction, in order that the provisions giving the government control of the rates, when the profits reach 10 per cent, may be put into effect. The de-bate will be resumed on a future oc-casion. Mr. Richardson claimed that the C. P. R. was stocked for $65,000,000, not one-quarter of which was raised.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Mr. Morrison (New Westminster) asked if the government had received any communication on the subject of the Pacific cable recently, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier having replied that British Columbia had offered to contribute one-ninth of the cost, Mr. Morrison again inquired, "has any communication of a similar nature been received from any other province," the answer, of course, was "No."

CANADA SERVICE MEDAL.

The minister of militia informed Mr. Clarke that the Canada service medal has not yet been received by the government. The cause of the delay is unknown. The medals are being struck at the royal mint. The board of claims appointed to adjudicate upon applications for the medal was composed of Adjt.-Gen. Aylmer, president; Lieut.-Col. Cotton, A. A. G. A.; Lieut.-Col. Vidal, acting A. A. G.; Major Rivers, R. C. A.; Capt. Wastede, R. O. The board has met daily since its formation, except Sundays, without remun-eration, except Capt. Wastede, who received for 183 days $968.

A PETTY REQUEST.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper inquired: "Is W. Ogilvie, who was appointed to inquire into certain complaints preferred by the miners' committee in Dawson, a connection by marriage with the honorable the minister of the interior?" Mr. Sifton replied that he had already answered a question to the effect that Mr. Ogilvie was no relation of his. He added: "If the honorable member desires to make any more extended search into my genealogy he will have to rely on his own efforts." PENSIONS FOR CANADIAN SOL-DIERS. Lieut.-Col. Hughes, speaking of his motion in favor of pensions for officers and men of the Canadian permanent and outfit wherewith to begin farming, and insurance for each after a certain number of years' service. Col. Hughes, in the course of his remarks, made reference to the case of Col. Henry Smith, late D. O. C. of military district No. 1, at London, who, having served as a volunteer officer from the time of the Trent affair, through the Fenian rails of 1866 and 1870, and in the Northwest rebellion of where he greatly distinguished himself, was last year retired, on attaining his 60th year, although still in the prime of vigorous life. He should have received much more liberal treatment. Col. Hughes also mentioned the case of Col. Otter, an officer bordering on retirement, though still vigorous. Thus, after years of service as adjutant of the Queen's Own at Ridgeway, and afterwards in command of way, and afterwards in command of that corps, as well as on active ser-vice in the Northwest, Col. Otter will be retired, under the present sys-tem with a meager gratuity, although his example and discipline had been most valuable to Canada. These two distinguished officers were samples of the ingratitude of Canada, and their cases intensify the necessity for a proper system of pension, gratuities and insurance for those devoting their lives to the service of the coun-

Mr. Casey heartily supported the resolution as applied to officers of the permanent corps. The minister of militia agreed that if pensions were to be given at all, it should be to the officers of the service, to whom he paid a high tribute. He could not see why distinction was made in this way between the mounted police and the permanent service. The present pay of officers was, he admitted, totally inadequate. His own opinion was that by asking each officer and man to contribute a small amount a superannuation fund might be pro-

Sir Charles Tupper was heartily in accord with the scheme to make pro-vision for those who served their country, and he thought the proposal to use a portion of our great territorial domain for the purpose was a valuable suggestion.

Having elicited these favorable views, Col. Hughes withdrew his motion. THE MEAGER OUTRAGE.

Mr. Cowan (South Essex)) moved "copies of papers, including affidavits, and all correspondence between the government and the government or public officials of the United States, or other parties, concerning the case of Thomas Meagher, who was arrested by United States customs officers in Canadian waters, in the River St. Clair, on Aug. 19, 1898; was in custody and grossly ill-treated by said officials for some time, and afterwards imprisoned, and who was finally dis-charged without trial by order of the United States Government." Mr. Cowan asked that representations be made to the United States, in order that restitution might be made to Meagher for one of the grossest outrages ever committed upon a British subject. (Hear, hear.) As to Avery, he urged that the attorney-general of Ontario should make a demand for his extradition, and see that full justice is done in the case.

The solicitor-general said, briefly, that the correspondence would show that the United States Government had admitted there was no justification for the arrest. After some further discussion the motion carried.

AGAINST LONG SPEECHES. Mr. Charlton moved his resolution deprecatory of long speeches, and concluding with the suggestion "that a special committee should be formed to consider the question of parliamentary debate, length of speeches, general conduct of debate and proper methods of securing the greatest promptitude in the dispatch of business consistent with the parliamentary rights of the minority, and the general interests of the public, and report its recommendations to this house.'

After some discussion pro and con, Sir Wilfrid Laurier joined in. He said he deprecated long speaking, but thought the only law was that of taste and good sense. While he would not dictate of the opposition how they should fight their battle in debate, he did think they would often strengthen their cases by shorter speeches. However, he trusted that the day would never come when the closure would be applied in Canada. The more he saw of the United States porlighmentary system. United States parliamentary system, the more he thought of our own. Without wishing to see Hansard abolished, he would suggest that the debate committee consider the propriety of reduc-ing the bulk of the volume. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper agreed Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper agreed with much the premier had said, but would remind him that no opposition had ever been confronted with such a mass of broken pledges on the part of the government, and, he added, the subject was not yet exhausted. (Laughter.)

On the suggestion of the premier, Mr. Charlton withdrew his notion,

The child was first attended by a physician, who said the affected member would have to be amputated. The parents refused to consent to this and called in Mrs. Miller, who, it is alleged, said she could cure the child by laying on of hands. The patient grew rapidly worse and a physician was again called in. He ordered the child to a hostated, but the case had gone too far, and it is feared death will ensue.

Paine's Celery Compound Does a Wondrous Work for Every Rundown Man and Woman.

"Tired feelings!" These two words cover a multitude of dangers and perils, and should, when fully comprehended, be taken as serious warnings. "Tired feelings" result from a viti-ated and deranged condition of the blood and nerves, which causes a general weakness of the entire system. Constipation is usually one of the dominant troubles; digestive vigor is lacking, appetite is poor and sleep is never refreshing.

To banish "Tired feelings" the blood must be cleansed and purified, and the nerves toned and braced. This foundation work is easily and quickly accomplished by using Paine's Celery Compound, the world's famous spring medicine. This noted remedy, purely vegetable, pleasant to the taste, is in every case just what is claimed for it. It is the one spring medicine that our best physicians vouch for; it is the great health restorer and strength giver that the people of Canada talk about in the home and on the street.

A few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound used during the month of May, will banish all the troubles that regularly contribute to "Tired feelings" and ill health. If you are nervous, sleepless. have indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, heart trouble, kidney or liver affections, your doctor or druggist will, if asked, promptly advise the using of Paine's Celery Compound.

Women in

that olden time had clear, bright eyes and fine complexions, which lasted until late in life. Why? Because they did not dose themselves continually with medicines, nor use mineral poisens on their faces to try to cover up the effects of bad, impure blood. They had work to do, and must keep themselves well, and did so with these teas made from the herbs of the field. A German scientist, one of the leading physicians of the time, has revived the use of Clover in medicine. This is known as Karl's Clover | 50c. throughout the United States and Canada,

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. F. G. Harding, retired farmer, living at Nilestown, Middlesex county, Ont., writes as follows: "I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered in-tense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was."

Mr. Thomas Dophin, Tara, Bruce county, Ont., writes: "I had itching piles for ten or twelve years, and tried everything that I could hear or read of, and found that none of them did me any real good. Mr. Hilburne, the druggist, gave me a sample of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and after the first application I was able to go to bed and sleep. Then I purchased a large box, and it cured me, so that I have not been afflicted since; that is over a year ago." Mr. A. Hayes, Brigden, Lambton county, Ont., says: "I have been troubled with blind and bleeding piles for twenty years; tried everything I heard of, and got treatment from best physicians, but nothing did me any good. Sent to New York for medicines, but they did me no good. I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. I got a box, and used it, and never have been troubled since, and that is three years ago. It has been a great boon to me." Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of blind, itching. bleeding or protruding piles. At all dealers, of Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Colonies and the Mother Country.

The London Spectator, referring to the protest of the British colonies against the new wine duties and stamp tax, proposed by the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, says:

"Nothing could check the growing feeling between the mother country and her colonies so much as an attempt on the part of the latter to interfere with our internal fiscal legislation. We do not interfere with theirs, even when opposed to all sound principles, and must claim the same independence of action for our own country. England to entitled to be as free in her internal management as Victoria is, and Englishmen will feel this protest to be, at least, ungracious."

This statement may fairly be taken as reflecting British sentiment. The Government have refused the request of the colonies, and it is certain this decision will be indorsed by the Opposition. The only dissentients in the House will be the small clique of protectionists who are animated not so much by imperial sentiment as by the hope that preferential treatment of the colonies would be the entering wedge of protection. In face of the overwhelming free trade sentiment of Great Britain, the resolutions now before the Canadian Senate and House of Commons urging a complete reversal in the fiscal policy of the mother country, are ill-advised and presumptuous. Their effect, if they have any effect at all, will be to injure the cause of imperial federation by coloring the British mind with the suspicion that we are merely after the loaves and fishes at the mother country's expense. There is no more ardent imperialist than Lord Rosebery, yet this is what he said in 1897 on the question of an economic federation of the Empire:

"Anything in the direction of an Imperial Commercial League would weaken this Empire internally and excite the permanent hostility of the whole

"It would permit checks on the import of the food of the people. • • • If practicable and done in the name of this Empire, it would only succeed in making the Empire odious to the working classes of this country.

Such an Empire as ours cannot be built up without exciting great jealousy. We are regarded abroad with envy and suspicion. This is a central fact. Is it not worth your while to walk warily upon the path of the Em-

"Suppose, in face of this suspicion, i was proposed to establish an Imperial Customs Union. * * * It would place all nations of the world in direct antagonism to it. It is something which, if possible, they would all combine to

"Our Empire has peace; it makes peace; it means peace; it aims at peace. But an Empire spread over all the world with a uniform parrier of a Cus toms Union presented everywhere in the face of every traveler would bewill not say an Empire of war, but a perpetual menace—a perpetual incentive and invitation to war.

"Our Empire is peace. As at present constituted under the wise guidance of the free trade policy-it makes for peace, for commerce, for enlighten-

The scheme Lord Rosebery then denounced so strongly is what the Opposition in the Dominion Parliament are unging the mother country to sanction. Lord Rosebery was but expressing the rooted conviction of most leaders of public opinion in Great Britain, that free trade is the salvation of the mother country and the empire. Politicians in this country who talk so glibly about Canada refusing preferential trade, ignore the tremendous obstacles in the path. Mr. Chamberlain is the one British statesman of the first rank who has identified himself with the principle of en Imperial Customs Union and then only on the condition of absolute free trade within the empire. The Conservative party of Canada, protectionlet to the core, would never consent to that, if it came to the test.

The mother country may never reverse her policy for the advantage of the colonies, but if she ever does it will be after long process of deliberation, which can only be retarded and not hastened by the selfish interference of the colonies. The latter would, of course, be serving their own interests by accepting the boon if it were freely offered, but they cannot demand it.

The Regeneration of Cuba.

The Americans have as much reason to feel proud of their present achievements in Cuba as of their more dramatic successes during the war. The work of reconstruction on the island has, judging by results, been undertaken with a generous and sincere purpose, and intrusted to competent hands. British and American correspondents have united in testimony of the splendid reforms effected by Major-General Wood, the military governor of Santiago de Cuba. General Wood,in the May number of the North American Review, modestly outlines the policy he has adopted in Santiago Province, and it shows an enlightened conception of duty and responsibility, combined with administrative skill. The revenues of the Province have been spent in public improvements, and in issuing rations, only in return for work. This method has been sucessful in relieving the misery into which the war had plunged a great portion of the population. Many roads have been opened up, towns have been put in order, and people are scattered over the country in honest labor. Wherever great destitution prevailed, officers have been sent immediately with money and authority to start needed public works. The result is that all through the Province people have gone back to employments of some kind, and though they are tion. All the large towns, and many of the little ones, have become selfsustaining from their own municipal taxes. In many of them men are serving in public positions for no salary, from motives of pure patriotism. Disorders are few and travelers find everywhere open-hearted hospitality and cheerful greeting. The people are anxious to learn and keenly appreciate every effort to re-establish the schools. The issue of rations to indigents has now ceased in Santiago Province. which, since last October, has been self-supporting and has paid for all its own officials, schools, lighthouses, desperately poor, there is no starva-

courts, etc., besides doing a great deal in the way of road making and public works. In addition to all this the province has been able to accumulate nearly a quarter of a million of dollars for sanitary work in Santiago city and harbor. Gen. Wood believes the revenues of Cuba, as existing today, suffice for the present situation, even to the furnishing of food to indigents. He refutes the statement that the Cubans are not fit for self-government. In Santiago Province every appointment has been made on the recommendation of Cubans themselves, and the American authorities have not found it necessary to remove a single official. Some patience and tact, with a good deal of firmness, have been necessary at times, but on no occasion has it been necessary to resort to force. Gen. Wood is very emphatic in asserting the absolute necessity of keeping Americans and all others than the inhabitants of Cuba out of office in Cuba. The appointment of Americans is regarded as a great injustice by the natives. The military governors and their immediate staffs are absolutely all the Americans required, except possibly a collector in each customs house. Taking all things into consideration he believes the re-establishment of civil government in Cuba, on an independent basis, will be easy of accomplishment, if wisely gone about.

Gen. Wood's article is almost concurrent with the annual report of Lord Cromer, which records another year of notable progress in the betterment of Egypt. The magnificent results and the unselfish spirit of the work performed by the Americans in Cuba and the British in Egypt constitute the ideal imperialism, as distinguished from conquest for conquest's sake.

New York's Social Disgrace.

It is fortunate for the American peo ple that they do not take their social ideals from what is called in open cynicism, the "upper circle." The sanctity of the marriage vow sits more lightly on New York "society" than on the aristocracy or elite of any other civilized country on earth, to say nothing of population of England and Wales, as heathen nations where the conventions, if primitive, are at least clearly defined and rigidly adhered to. The latest sensation in Gotham is the wedding of hours after Mr. Sloane had obtained his divorce. It was stipulated by the court granting the decree that Mrs. Sloane could not marry again during the life of Mr. Sloane. As no clergyman in New York could solemnize the marriage, Mrs. Sloane and Belmon't had the ceremony performed in Connecticut. The marriage cannot be legally recognized in the State of New York, but Mr. and Mrs. Belmont will return there without much risk of being "cut" by the swell set in which they have been shining lights. It is no wonder that Cardinal Gibbons felt constrained to publicly denounce this shocking conduct, as a defiance of the law of God. This Perry Belmont is the brother of Oliver Belmont, who not long since married the divorced wife of W. K. Vanderbilt. The latter is the father of the Duchess of Marlborough. At the recent wedding of young Vanderbilt, brother of the Duchess, to Miss Virginia Fair, the groom's father and mother (now Mrs. Oliver Belmont) were both present. A pretty example they set for the young couple! The brothers Belmont are millionaire bankers, Perry being in addition one of the local leaders of the Democratic party. The Vanderbilts, the Belmonts and the Astors-these are among the "first families" of the United States, and the trail of the divorce court is over them all. "God bless our old nobility!"

British Columbia's Minerals.

The annual report of the Minister of Mines of British Columbia has reached us, and a very handsome volume it is, full of cheering information concerning Life," The first authority quoted is the wonderful mineral development of the Province. The total production of the mines of British Columbia up to and including 1898 is given at $123,417,-326. The amount has steadily increased each year, the output in 1898 being $10,906,861, as compared with only $2,-608,803 in 1890. The value of the var-ous mineral products last year	was:

Gold, placer	643,34
fold lode	2.201.21
silver	2.375.84
Copper	874.78
lead	1.077.58
Coal	3.407.59
oke	175,00

Other materials ..... 151,500 The production of the lode mines last year showed marked increases in gold and copper, and decreases in silver and lead, as compared with 1897. The falling off in silver-lead ores is due entirely to depreciation in the value of silver, which now shows signs of recovering. The output of coal from the Vancouver Island collieries broke all records last year, and the immense coal deposits of the Crow's Nest Pass are only beginning to be opened up. Cheaper fuel and cheaper transportation promise an immediate stimulus to the native smelting industry. Altogether the outlook for the Province of British Columbia, one of the world's greatest store-houses of mineral riches, is radiant in the extreme and full of hope for the Phone 1046. whole Dominion.

Observations.

The charm of fishing is not in the number of fish caught, though an occasional success adds zest to the recreation. The charm really lies in the attractions of nature—the sunlight, the verdant trees, the green grass, the sound of rippling water, the release temporarily from ordinary avocations and duties. The way to enjoy these natural sights and sensations is to take them, not too consciously, but rather as only half-recognized incidentals. strung on the thread of the slight occupation which the fishing rod supplies. If one does not catch many or fish, it does not matter a great deal to those who think the best part of fishing is the fresh air and the murmuring sounds of nature. Fishing and catching are two different things. The latter is not to be entirely despised, of course; but it is not the essential thing.

There are people who want to live as long as possible. Mr. Fred A. Mc-Kenzie, in the April Windsor, gives his second paper on "The Secret of Long Mr. T. Sidney Cooper, R.A., now in his 96th year. After explaining the regular order of his life in the country, Mr. Cooper added:

"I must tell you that I attribute my long life to the merciful care of God's providence, for he was the father of the fatherless boy, and has preserved him through all his trials and difficulties, prosperities, sunshine and shadow." The late Mrs. Keeley (93) said to her interviewer: "If you come to me and ask me how you, too, can live long, I say that I cannot tell you. All I can

TEXAS WATERSPOUT

Dallas, Texas, May 9 .- A report from Benjamin, Knox county, says a terrific storm with rain, approaching a waterspout, swept over the country, about 30 miles west of that place, and that the family of George Humphreys, composed of four persons, were drowned by the sudden overflow of a branch of the Brazos River. Other disasters are believed to have occurred on the Pan Handle. Cleveland, Ohio, May 9.—According to the Conneaut Post-Herald, fishermen who were on the pier of the harbor in large numbers, Sunday of last week, were given a bad scare by a monster wave which came down the lake. Suddenly, as they intently watched their bobbers floating on the still surface of the water, the pier seemed to be sinking, and they all ran very short time the water rose between four and five feet, and that as a big wave rounded the pier a vortex was caused which would have swamped the largest tug. #### REPRIMANDED THE COMPLAINANT

Case Against F. Willard Ready Dismissed This Morning.

Meyers' Condition Still Serious-Buckley and Mitchell Held for Watch-Stealing-Drunks and Scorchers.

The audience that assembled at the police court this morning was considerably larger than usual. The prisoners grew restless before the magistrate arrived at 10:30. When the court was formally opened the business was rapidly disposed of.

A SHARP REPRIMAND.

T. Willard Ready was called to answer a charged preferred by W. H. Fitzsimmons, of malicious damage to property, and cruelty to animals. Mr. Ready had settled with Fitzsimmons, by paying $50, being hire and damages, and after explaining the matter, the court dismissed the case, ordering Mr. Fitzsimmons to pay the costs. The magistrate expressed the opinion that Mr. Ready had been subjected to a great injustice, and warned Mr. Fitz-simmons not to again tamper with the

YOUNG BONSER'S CASE.

John Bonser, the young lad who struck Edwin Meyers on the head with a stick a week ago, was further remanded. Young Meyer's condition is critical, and as yet the physicians are unable to say what the result will be. Meyers is suffering from a skull fracture. He appeared better last night, but was worse again this morning.

THOSE STOLEN WATCHES. James Buckley and Frank Mitchell, charged with stealing two watches from Mrs. Wasnidge's boarding-house on the market, on April 19, pleaded not guilty, and elected trial by jury. It possibly occurred to them that after-having been sentenced to six months for being mere vagrants, they might get ten years if the theft was brought home to them. Evidence was adduced to show that Mitchell had prowled around other people's rooms while he was the "guest" of Mrs. Wasnidge, and that the stolen watches when found by Edwin Gardiner in Ferguson's lumber yard, were wrapped in Mitchell's handkerchief. Both men were committed for trial. THE DRUNKS. Wm. Carlyle has sobered up after three days in jail. He implored the court to grant him liberty. He prom-ised to go straight to Hamilton, and the court believing that to allow the man to go to the Ambitions City was man to go to the Ambitions City was sufficiently severe punishment, discharged him. Charles Crawford and J. E. Dewar were fined $2 or 10 days. George Logie, of St. Thomas, was given another chance. He looked at the matter in a very practical way: "I am a single man, and, you know, that's a good job."

"Yes," replied Chief Williams: "It's a good job for your wife you are

Over 2,000 Tons of Dollars To Be Moved.

Farmer Plants $120 in Gold Coin in His Field-The Yukon Output.

Philadelphia, May 9.—The 68,000,000 of silver dollars now in the vaults of the mint and postoffice buildings here, and which secure the issue of silver certificates, will be transferred to the recently completed vaults on the new mint site, beginning tomorrow. The money is inclosed in 68,000 boxes, $1,-000 to the box.

The silver weighs 2,040 tons, and, each wagon carrying three tons, 680 loads will be necessary. Alloging six loads per day, 113 consecutive days will elapse before the final transfer shall be made. The government will have two representatives at each vault and will also be represented by one guard

Vancouver. B. C., May 9.—The Yukon Sun estimates the total output of the Klondike region for the winter of 1898-99 at $20,000,000. It is doubtful if this estimate is up to the mark, which may reach twice that amount. NATIONAL LEAGUE REVOLUTION. The National League magnates are scheming to bring about a reorganization of the circuit, to the end that two eight-club leagues may be formed under control of a new national agree-ment. It is said that the eastern circuit will be confined to Boston, Brooklyn, New York (under new management and ownership) and Philadelphia, with Chicago, Cincinnatl, Pittsburg and St. Louis in the west. The Sunday ball question bids fair to be the pivot upon which the whole baseball world will turn in the next year or so. The Sunday games in the west have been so profitable that the magnates believe that the practice should be further developed rather than discouraged. The new league, composed of Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, in the east, and Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Pittsburg, in the west, will be con-trolled, therefore, in such a way that seven clubs will play Sunday ball, the Boston club being the exception. Sunday games are not permitted in Pittsburg, that club and Boston can rest every Sunday that the eastern clubs are in the west, while Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis are meeting New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia. The proposed new American Association will, according to the slate drawn, within a week be made up of Provi-dence, Athletics of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington in the east, with Buffalo, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Louisville in the west. As all these towns, except Providence and Buffalo, will be controlled by league club promoters, this circuit will be un-der the guidance and protection of the larger organization.

FOR THE FANS.

Both Stratford and Guelph will have unofficial half-holidays for their first games at home.

MILLINER HORSEWHIPPED THE MAYOR.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, May 9.—Mayor John Cassidy was horsewhipped yesterday by Miss Minnie Crawford, milliner, on the main street of the city. Miss Crawford had recently been subpoenaed as a witness in the mayor's court, and had failed to respond. Drawing the whip from under her cape she lashed the mayor over the head and shoul-ders, forcing him to take refuge in a drug store.

DRAFTS PAYABLE IN THE YU-

KON DISTRICT. The following from the Klondike Miner will be of interest to those doing business with the Yukon: As a passing word of advice to persons intending bringing negotiable drafts with them into this country, we would advise them to do so through the local institutions. as otherwise they will be at a considerable loss. There are various banking institutions outside, not represented here, who are advertising that they will issue drafts on Dawson trading companies at 1 per cent. When those drafts are presented the parties drawn on are forced to pay in gold dust, which when sold to the banks here realizes $15 per ounce. Hence, a $100 draft, costing at the rate of $101, outside, realizes $93 in Dawson. APPEAL DISMISSED IN DIVISION COURT.

THE CASE OF MARION BROWN

Minister of Justice Expected Here Tomorrow.

Within the past week a decided change is said to have come over the condemned prisoner, Marion Brown. Up to a few days ago his conversation was of a very unbecoming nature, but as the day appointed for execution draws near, the doomed man realizes his awful fate. He reads his Bible daily, and eats and sleeps well. His anxiety to learn the result of the petition for commutation increases as days go by. Brown is very modest in his request for delicacies. A day or two ago he asked for some pigs' feet, which were supplied. He greatly enjoys a cigar, and spends the greater part of his time reading and reflecting. It has been stated by those in a position to know that if Brown is executed he will make a general confession at the scaf-

CITY HALL NOTES

The board of education has been called to meet at 4:30 this afternoon, the finance committee at 5 o'clock and the council at 8 p.m. The business of each meeting is to discuss estimates

The mayor has been making an effort to have the board of education reduce its estimates $4,000. Then a 23-mill rate would be possible, he says. Members of the board express their willingness to make every possible concession, and say that in view of the high rate this year they would rather risk a small deficit than a surplus; but no reduction can be made on the public school estimates. Trustee Mac-Robert left the city on a business trip this afternoon before the meeting. When asked if he was favorable to a reduction, he said he was not. The high school estimates might be cut, but not those of the public schools. The overdrafts for the high school had to be honored, anyway, and even if the council appropriate only $10,000, the board might spend $30,000. So the reductions of the estimates on that score made very little difference on the board.

London, May 9.-There was a scene during today's sitting of the archiepiscopal court, which convened yesterday for a hearing of the charges of ritualistic practices against Rev, Henry Westall, vicar of St. Cuthberts, Philbeach Gardens, and Rev. John Ram, vicar of the Church of St. John, Timber Hill, Norwich.

During the proceedings John Kensit the noted anti-ritualist, arose from his seat at the back of the guard room of Lambton Palace, where the court is sitting, and shouted: "I wish to protest against the holding of this court." Mr. Kensit then began to read a written protest agains the "so-called spiritual court," and especially against an inquiry "by your graces, who for two years have deliberately set at nought your solemn ordination. set at nought your solemn ordination vow and allowed and often promoted well-known lawbreakers in the church."

A storm of hisses greeted the protest, and the Archbishop of Canter-bury, the most Rev. Frederick Temple, cut Mr. Kensit short by adjourning the court for luncheon, amid cheers and derisive laughter.

BUFFALO'S STRIKE

Inspector, Debarry Has Something to Say on the Subject.

Buffalo, May 8 .- The strike situation tonight is practically unchanged. All efforts made to bring about a settlement have been balked by the absolute refusal of the strikers to consider any proposition that did not include the abrogation of Contractor Conners' tract, and the refusal of the Lake Carriers' Association to cancel the contract. Buffalo, N. Y., May 9 .- Inspector Debarry's attention was called today to an advertisement inserted in a Toronto paper yesterday for 100 laborers. These laborers, it is said are wanted in Buffalo to take the places of the striking grain shovelers on the docks. All I have to say, said Mr. Debarry, is that if Mr. Conners brings into this country those 100 men it will cost him $100,000 in addition to costs. It is a violation of the United States alien labor law to encourage the importation of alien labor to this country by promises of employment, and for every man arriving here Mr. Conners is sub ject to a penalty of $1,000 and costs. The inspector has written to Charlotte and Niagara Falls to look out for the coming of these men, and should any arrive here they will be deported and proceedings taken against the import-

It has the record of having completely cured every case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Heart Failure, Urinary Disease, Diseases of Women, or Blood Impurity, in which it has been used. Our people claim that it is the only medicine on earth that will cure these diseases. A still further claim is made by those who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills. They assert emphatically (and to speak the truth, they bring convincing proof), that Bright's Disease and Diabetes are as easily cured, if Dodd's Kidney Pills are used, as is a common cold.

Mrs. Peter O'Brien, of Smith's Falls, whose cure is the latest reported, has many friends in Kilmarnock, and her complete recovery amazes, while it delights them. Her case was a severe one of Kidney Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills worked a wonderfully quick and complete cure.

As to his father relenting, he knew such a thing would be utterly contrary to his nature. To slight his paternal authority, the son was aware, with him was past forgiveness. Consequently be, Rowland, must immediately put his Shoulder to the wheel, or starve. Starve! How difficult it is for youth to comprehend what that word means! They are so full of vitality, of healthtul strength and energy. When hope is so vigorous, the contemplation of failure is impossible.

Thus Rowland's real grief laid in the necessity to run counter to the will of a father he loved. Still, as it was necessity, he could not hold himself to blame. So, leaning out of his bedroom window, smoking and feeling the frosty air refreshing to his heated brain, he planned his future as far as he was able.

He decided, without demur, that, from the starting point, he must put pride in his pocket. He had no time to wait to choose his employment; he must seek and accept it in any form It presented itself, or go without a din-

This instantly led up to an idea. One of his particular friends was a young and rising barrister; through him he might get law-copying. Awfully bad pay certainly; nevertheless, it would bring him bread and cheese until he could look about him for something better. His desire was soon to procure some engagement abroad.

He was so willing and eager for action, and to feel the sweet atmosphere of independence, that the future pos-sessed rather a roseate than a gloomy hue when, finally, he flung himself on his bed for a few hours' sleep, as he would have to rise early the next morn-ing, having to say farewell to Gwyn before he left by the first train to Lon-

Edward Pensleigh was within, and, fortunately, idle. They were on very intimate terms, and he greeted Rowland with an unfeigned welcome. "'But what, in faith, make you from Wittenberg?" he cried.

Wittenberg?" he cried.
"By no means 'a truant disposition, good my lord,'" repried Rowland, in the same strain. "In truth, Ned, being a beggar, I have come for your advice and help."

"A beggar!" The barrister's brows reject then he laughed heartily

When I am such a one, Rowley, I'll forswear law, and give my wig and gown to the first briefless barrister who will accept it."

"Nay, it is no jest, I assure you, but very earnest. My father has disinher-ited me, Ned; and from this moment. the lot of the generality of mankind is mine. I must work or starve." "Your father disinherit you! In pity, what for? Rowley, old fellow, what confounded scrape have you been get-

"And you intend to marry this fishergirl?" he inquired.
"Certainly. What other would you have me do?"

"Give her up, old fellow, for her sake as well as your own."
"Never. Ned, both my father and myself owe our lives to her. Do you think if even I could put my affection aside-which I cannot-that I would break her heart?"

"Tut, tut! Women's hearts, Rowley, are not brittle."

"Possibly, but there may be exceptions to every rule, and I will not try the experiment with Gwyn Rebna." The barrister's lips contracted, as if the outlandish name had put his teeth Then he remarked sen-

"No doubt, in the opinion of a world, which is not renowned for its useful-ness," said Rowland, coldly. "But I hold a woman's love too priceless to be played with. If anyone suffer, that one, by right, is myself. Thus, I say, I have to work; can you assist me?" Edward Pensleigh knew his friend, and felt no word of his would alter his decision—at least, as yet. So, hoping secretly that the hard life he seemed so eager to adopt would its own way, and poverty and toil bring him down, using his own words (from his stilts), he said:

"What have you thought of doing?"
"As yet I have thought little. I only am aware instant work is imperative.

I fancied, therefore, Ned, you might procure me some law-copying." "It's frightfully badly paid."
"Beggars must not be choosers," smiled Rowland. "But, my dear fellow, people seem to imagine that law-copying is a thing every one can do. It requires, however, a peculiar hand."

"Starvation! Bosh!" grinned his friend; but, seeing the other's persistency, passed over a specimen.
Rowland examined it attentively, then made no bad imitation.

"Yes, it will do. Still, it will be awfully slow work," said the barrister, half-regretfully. "I'll give you a letter to a law stationer in Chancery Lane. If he can do anything for you I know he will. But something else has occurred to me. You are a Cambridge man, and, besides, a good Greek and Latin. A friend of mine, the proprletor of a first-class review, wants a corrector of the press. I'll give you a letter of introduction. I believe you are not devoid of literary capabilities, and perhaps you might get on for writing small articles. It would suit you better than law-copying."

Rowland Gower thanked his friend warmly, and, all anxiety to set to work, rose to go. The barrister wrote the letters, and, as he passed them over, said:
"Dine with me today at six, my dear

Rowley, and let me know your success. Also, make me your banker, and, to commence, borrow this for present ne-cessity. We are too old friends to have any mauvaise honte in the matter.

was not mauvaise honte which made Rowland hesitate to accept the ten-pound note the barrister offered; it was the sensation that to do so would destroy that new and pleasur-able feeling of independence which possessed him—the knowledge of having to work, and that his very meals de-pended upon it. The originality of this mode of living, in his case, had taken such a hold upon him, that he would rather have enjoyed going without a dinner than otherwise.

Ned Pensleigh, however, laughed him out of these scruples, which he was ashamed openly to confess. So he placed the note in his pocketbook, resolving secretly to keep it intact, if Within an hour the letter had been delivered, and had met with success. Mr. Rowland Gray—for, by the barrister's advice, he had dropped his own name—had been engaged as a corrector of the press, by the editor of the Con-troversial Review; and the law-sta-tioner—after much "humming" and "ha-ing" had given him some law-papers to copy. It was a proud moment when, with these in his possession, Rowland, for the first time feeling himself really his own master, procured a lodging, and set at once to work. Days went by, and Rowland Gower really enjoyed his new life of action. At the end of the week the Controversial Review wanted in a hurry a short article on no very important matter. Their corrector offered his services, and turned out one which the editor found satisfactory.

Here was another new sensation.

When human beings get bitten by authorship, the pleasure of seeing themselves in print obliterates many of he hardships of life. Before a fortnight had passed. Rowland felt so contented that he could not see why he should hide himself, like a pariah, from his family. So he wrote to Capt. Darnley. Besides, he wanted news of Gywn, to whom he had written, and received no answer. She could write easily, and well; why, then, was she silent? Had his family been persecuting her?

To ascertain this he was very arxi-ous for a letter from Steinwood. On returning from the office of the Controversial Review the next day, he found one awaiting him on the table. Seizing it, to his astonishment, found it was from his uncle, and not

In haste he tore off the envelope to white, then red, and gave a quick, sharp cry. "It is a trick-a falsehood!" he ejec-ulated; "a mean, base plot to part. Gwyn and me! By heaven! they shall not succeed." (To be Continued.)

PREMATURELY OLD.

A man ought not to feel old, or to be old now-a-days you don't see many such men. Instead, you hear people no older than 40 giving out, of shattered nerves, of lost energy, of aversion to work.

These men have thought more of dollars than of health. They forget that money is almost worthless without health to enjoy it. If men and women will take Dr. Pierce's it. If men and women will take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, they needn't worry much about old age. The years will go by, but they won't show it. This medicine makes digestion perfect, and changes a disordered stomach into a healthy one that works as Nature intended. It regulates the liver, enriches the blood and tones the nerves. It prevents consumption by curing nerves. It prevents consumption by curing bronchitis, lingering coughs and bleeding lungs. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol; no false or uncertain stimulus; the power it gives is the power of Nature: deep, genuine and lasting. It does not create a craving for stimulants. In serious cases of sickness, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., will give free advice and counsel to those who write him.

"The reason I delayed writing was because I wanted to wait one year after I had taken the medicine before giving my statement, and now I can send a good, conscientious testimonial," writes Chas. H. Sergeant, of Plain City. Madison Co.. Ohio. "During the summer and fall of 1896 I became all 'run-down,' nerves and stomach were out by order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I used six bottles. Since I stopped taking it about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good, I can cat three square meals a day, and I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after esting."

Oshkosh, Wis., May 9.—The engine-room of the saw mill of the Paine Lumber Company was wrecked by a boiler explosion during the night. Pottsville and vicinity was shaken, and many windows in the houses were broken. Five minutes after there was a second explosion, when the drying house, containing 400 kegs of powder, went up. #### A SURGICAL FEAT

How a Quick-Witted Surgeon Saved Would-Be Suicide's Lite.

When Dr. Christian, the youngest surgeon on the staff of Bellevue hospital, had pushed his way among the hysterical tenants who were clustered about the room on the third floor of a rear tenament, he found himself confronted with a very grave case, in-deed. Daniel Egan, distracted by the death of his mother, had cut his throat with a razor. At first sight it seemed that Daniel Egan must surely die; but closer examination showed that an unusual accident might yet be his salvation if it could be taken advantage of very promptly. To avoid technical terms, the wound was fortunately be-low the Adam's apple. Still more fortunately, the severed end of the wind-pipe protruded slightly, and through this the patient was breathing. The problemn before the quick-witted Dr. Christian was to check the bleeding without interfering with this odd breathing process.

He worked with a rush, for it was important that Daniel Egan should be landed on the operating table in as few minutes as possible. Having applied the temporary bandaging used in such emergencies, he caused the patient to be carried swiftly but carefully down to the street and lifted into the ambulance. Then, swinging up to his seat behind, he shouted to the driver not to spare horseflesh.

It was one of the fastest runs ever made by a Bellevue ambulance—eleven minutes—but the point of this story is what happened inside the vehicle as it tore over the cobblestones. Not many blocks had been covered before the young doctor realized that the life he was trying to save would flicker out before the hospital was reached unless the operation of tracheotomy could be performed meanwhile. Tracheotomy, under favorable conditions, involves the insertion of a silver tube to piece to-gether an injured windpipe.

Dr. Christain had no silver tube, for nobody ever heard of tracheotomy being performed in an ambulance. But he did not search for precedents. He searched for a tube.

And he found one. It was a part of his stomach pump, and he cut away a six-inch section of it. Kneeling over the patient he removed the suffocating bandage. His work was greatly ham-pered by the jolting and swaying of the amulance, but it was a matter of life and death in any event. With a delicacy of adjustment amazing under such circumstances, he fitted the rubber tube in such a way as to splice the divided trachea. And Daniel Egan breathed again.

They rattled up to the hospital a few minutes later. The patient was on the operating table as quickly as he could be placed there. Dr. McSweeney, the house surgeon, made ready his paraphernalla for the operation of tracheotomy, waited on by nurses and juniors. and watched by the entire surgical staff, including young Dr. Christian.

When he found that his work had been temporarily forestalled, that the patient had already an artificial breathing tube, that it was part of a stomach pump, that it had been insert-ed in the course of a swift ambulance ride, and that but for this wholly original treatment Daniel Ega: could not have lived to reach the hospital, he look dumbfounded. But not until the rubber tube had been replaced with a silver one, and the patient's wound had been dressed with deliberate care, and he was resting comfortably, with a chance of living to a green old age, did the house surgeon turn to his youngest of all his juniors and tell him, in front IN A HOT BOILER of all his juniors and tell and fellow he of everybody, what a fine fellow he was, and what a bold, clever, resource, was, and what a bold, clever, resource was, and what a bold, resource was, and resource was, and resource was, and what a bold, resource was, and resource ful feat it was to have performed successfully the operation of tracheotomy in an ambulance.-New York Journal.

IN THE PHILIPPINES

Old Westminster Boy Gets a Share of the Fighting.

Mr. John Grieve, of Central Point, Ore., and formerly of Westminster township, sends The Advertiser the following letter from his son, who is a soldier in Uncle Sam's volunteer army in the Philippines. In his letter to The Advertiser, Mr. John Grieve signs himself a native-born son of Westminster: "Powder Magazine, near San Juan del Monte, March 18, 1899:

"Prof. G. A. Gregory, Medford, Ore. Dear Friend,—While I have the opportunity this evening, I'll write you a few lines, and attempt to describe in a general way the present condition of hostilities here. Perhaps a few words from the front at this 'stage of the game' might be of some interest to yourself and friends, but I will necessarily have to make this letter rather brief, owing to the limitation of time.

"Hostilities commenced on the night of Feb. 4, and there has been hardly a day since but there has been firing at some point along the line. The largest fight, or the fight in which the greatest loss of life occurred at any one time, was at a point about two miles from the city of Manila, called Fort Malate. Unfortunately, I am unable to give the exact number killed on either side, but on the afternoon of the 5th the American troops buried over 2,000 insurgents in the vicinity of this place, most of their wounded having been carried from the field by their own forces. The American loss was heavy on the 5th, compared with the loss since then, and at this time 150 men will include the number both killed and wounded on our side. Companies C, G and K, Second Oregon Regiment, came to the front on Feb. 6, and since that time I have been in Manila twice. The remainder of the regulars, except Companies A, H, and F, came to the front March 11, but are several miles to the right of us. Most all of the boys have seen service by this time, and are quite willing to return to their native land. Company G (the company in which Grieve is) has taken part in three large engagements and several small skirmishes; have three men wounded thus far, and are all getting along nicely. We expect to have another fight in a few days, as the enemy is only two miles in our advance, and can be seen throwing up entrenchments as though they were preparing to make a hard fight. I neglected to mention the fact that we are under the command of Col. Stotsen-berg, of the First Nebraska Regiment, and this regiment has won greater laurels than any two regiments in the Hurrah for the boys from Nebraska! To read the San Francisco Examiner one would conclude that the First California Volunteers were the only fighters in the Eighth Army Corps, but they have done very little fighting that I am aware of, and were taken from the field at one time for firing into the rear and wounding several of the Washington boys.

TOOK POSSESSION

Deadman's Island Seized by Ludgate's Men-British Columbia's Offer Re a Cable.

Victoria, B. C., May 9.-Theodore Ludgate took possession of Deadman's Island yesterday, with 50 men, and at noon great gaps had been made among the trees, while the island is in a perfect halo of smoke. The whole matter of possession was brought off very quietly, and few people knew of what was to take place. Ludgate says he will resist by force any attempt to retake possession of the island, and any forcible proceeding as well as any attempt to arrest his men would now be accomplished by a riot at least. Mayor Garden did not go near the island, but after consulting with City Solicitor Hammersley, he left the mat-ter in the hands of the Provincial Government, whose inspector is now awaiting instructions from Victoria.

THE CABLE PROJECT. Referring to the offer of the British Columbia Government to bear one-ninth of the cost of the Pacific cable, the Victoria Colonist (opposition) says: "It thinks itself safe in promising on behalf of the opposition that such a measure will be unopposed," and it congratulates Mr. Semlin and his colleagues upon "their prompt and patri-otic action."

English wedding cakes are now imported by fashionable brides. Science tunnels mountains while faith is figuring on moving them. LIFE SAVED-Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine. and less than half a bottle cured me; I ertainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.
