The Fiction That Women Cannot Enter the House of Commons Preserved.

Perfection of the British Postal Savings Bank System.

Gosaip Regarding a Deal Between Rose. bery and Chamberlain.

Return of the Queen. London, April 29 .- Queen Victoria and her suite arrived at Windsor this evening from Cobourg

Mr. Gladstone's Condition. London, April 29 .- Mr. Gladstone has been so ill that he was confined to his room most of the past week and to his bed for two days. This fact was had from the chief paper of his party just six lines in

Don Carlos Takes a Wife.

PRAGUE, April 29 .- Don Carlos de Bourbon, the pretender to the throne of Spain, was married yesterday to Princess Marie Berthe de Rohan. Cardinal Schoenborn solemnized the marriage in the presence of a large gathering of the nobility, including many relatives of the bride and bride-

Discount Rates.

LONDON, April 29 .- The rate of discount last week was 11 for both three months and 30 days. The banks' stock of gold was £31,750,000, and there were no signs of a decrease. Silver fluctuated in response to a speculative demand. The business on the Stock Exchange was inactive. Prices of American securities relapsed under the | Forest Has a $1,200 Blaze-The Old Sugar influence of the coal strike.

The Law of Primogeniture. LONDON, April 29 .- The defeat of the law of primogeniture so that real estate undisposed of by will shall be shared by all the children of the deceased owner, has not raised such a violent Radical outcry as might have been expected. When election time comes it will be one of the strongest weapons used against the House of Lords, but just now the action of the peers excites little comment.

Dow's Bullet-Proof Cuirass BERLIN, April 29. - Emperor William has ordered that Tailor Dow's bullet-proof cuirass be tested before him at the new palace on Thursday. Rifle-Sergeant Kolmar experimented at the Wintergarten with the cuirass yesterday. After the cloth had been over an iron block he fired 15 shots at a range of 30 feet, One bullet stuck in the coat and the others fell to the floor. The inside of the cloth was hardly dented.

Cattle Disease in Great Britain. LONDON, April 29.-It is reported that a serious cutbreak of pleuro-pneumonia has occurred on the Island of Thanet, which is included in the county of Kent. Sixty cattle have been slaughtered. The disease has been traced to cattle which were bought in London last November and taken Regarding the embargo against Canadian cattle, Scotch dealers say the removal of the restrictions depends upon Canadian shippers sending at once as many good cattle as the market will allow.

British Postal Savings Bank. London, April 29 .- The postal savings bank system, which is already the most popular form of investment in England, has now been brought to still higher perfection. All accounts are kept in the centra! office in London and withdrawals are possible only after sending notice there. The new arrangements for telepraphic drafts are now so perfect that depositors in the neighborhood of London can collect their money at the branch postoffice within 40 minutes, or in the most distant parts of the kingdom within an hour of making the demand. The new facilities are already leading to a great increase in the amount of # Disestablishment.

London, April 29 .- The Welsh Disestablishment Bill as it now stands pleases the Weish fairly well, though more advanced Welsh members have some minor improvements to suggest. No opposition inside the ranks of the majority has been discovered, and it is certain that the bill will pass a second reading by at least the normal strength of that majority. Unopply there is only a faint prospect of its g more. The Opposition are going to ght it tooth and nail, and under the increatibly stupid rules of the Commons that been getting the worst of it inside the councils of Opposition leaders. The complications in the way, however, are these: The overwhelming bulk of Liberals grow sick at the mere thought of Chamberlain's return to them, and there could hardly be a deal with him save by the sacrifice of home rule, which both the Radicals and the Irish resent to the death. So the things remain in the mysterious demand of underhand intrigue, very well worth watching, but Pardridge, the Chicago Grain Specunot promising immediate results.

Beauty Behind the Bars. LONDON, April 29. - Herbert Gladstone's proposal to remove a portion of the grating | The Coal and Coke Operatives' Strike in front of the ladies' gallery in the House of Commons has created as great a disturbance among the members as a suggestion to unseat the Queen from the throne. No legislative body in the world, not even the House of Lords, is such a slave to precedent as the British House of Commons in ail matters affecting its private affairs. Lord Randolph Churchill is loudest in protest, but so much opposition has developed privately that the proposed change has been abandoned, and the fiction will continue to exist for the present that no woman can enter the House of Commons.

A Terrible Situation. ATHENS, April 29 .- Latest reports from Atlanta say that on Friday shocks of earth- strike began. quake were felt there more or less for eight hours. For two hours the rumbling of the earth was almost continual. For a radius of three and a half miles on every side of the town and the fields and highways have been torn with deep fissures. The sea has encroached on the shore 60 feet.

The shore of the large island of Euboae, which lie off the coast of Bocotia and Attica, has sunk six and a half feet. The Aidipso sulphur springs are emitting torrents of boiling water.

Dispatches from all parts of the kingdom indicate that former reports of death and damage to property have understated the loss. The list of dead and injured grows

The misery in the smaller towns of the stricken district is extreme. Nearly 100,-000 persons are said to have been left destitute of food and shelter in Locris district.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher Obliged to Vacate Her Home.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 29 .- Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, whose 82nd birthday will occur on Aug. 26, has been obliged by financial stringency and the hardness of the times to move from her comfortable little home at the corner of Hicks and Orange streets to a small flat in the Plymouth apartment house on Orange street, within a stone's throw of the church in which her distinguished husband so long ministered. Mrs. Beecher is entirely frank about the reason for the change. She said:

"I move out of this house because I can no longer pay the rent. It is $800 a year. Dearly as I love the place, I must go because the rent has become too much for me. I am unable longer to pay it. I love this corner, because Mr. Beecher a few months before he died had the ground picked out for a comfortable home he thought of building for us in our old age. Soon a ter his death I heard that a row of small louses were going to be built on the groun i, so I came here at once and engaged the camor belore even the foundations of es were laid. Provincetown to Washington.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., April 29.-The commonweal movement is having its effect on the unemployed in the sea coast towns in this vicinity, and the result is an "industrial navy" as well as the commonweal army. A fisherman named Holmes is organizing a fleet of boats which is known as "Holmes navy," and is preparing to sail from here to Washington.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29.-Kelly's California industrial army is comfortably housed to-night in a vacant stove foundry east of the town, and has provisions for two days. At the end of that time the citizens expect the army to continue its journey. Kelly's fol-lowers found a night of hardship, and if possible a worse day. The nineteenmile march from Van Meter was made in a darkness so complete that men ten feet apart could not see each other. Many lost their way, and Kelly found himself alone at daybreak eighteen miles north of Des Moines. Rain fell during the night and the men suffered great discomfort.

By 5 o'clock this evening 500 of the 1,100 in the army had assembled and the march through the city began. The army reached the unoccupied stove foundry just east of the city at 7 o'clock, and supper was then served. It was the first meal in 24 hours, and the men after their march of 27 miles fully appreciated it.

IN THE POLITICAL FIELD.

South Ontario Liberals Renominate Hon. John Dryden-Notes. Mr. S. A. Netler, of North Pelham, has been offered the P. P. A. nomination for Monck. A convention of the Liberal party of South Bruce was held at Formosa on Saturday, and adjourned until May 10. WHITBY, April 29 .- South Ontario Liberals met in convention at the town hall here yesterday afternoon and unanimously nominated Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, for election to the Legislative Assembly. Every polling subdivision throughout the riding was represented. In accepting the nomination Mr. Dryden spoke for an hour. At a mass meeting which followed the nominating convention, and which filled the hall to its fullest capacity, the Hon. A. S. Hardy, Commissioner of

Crown Lands, made a splendid speech. A COUNTY TREASURER'S EVIDENCE. George Graham, treasurer of the county of Peel, was a witness called by the fees commission recently. He said he had been 26 years in the office now held by him. He was decidedly in favor of the present system of appointment to office by the Government, on whom the responsibility of the general administration of justice should rest. He did not regard the office of sheriff and registrar, or kindred offices, as in any sense municipal, and advised the payment of officers by fees, as at present. In his own country, and in other of the smaller counties in the Province, he considered insufficient the incomes received by the sheriffs and registrars, He believed that the remuneration obtained by the sheriff of Peel was altogether inadequate, as during the past year he had received less than $800. Where the fees of any particular office amounted to more than would give an adequate income he thought the surplus should be used to supplement the incomes of officers who were not sufficiently recompensed. He was of opinion that appointment by county council or election by the people would result in the selection of inferior men. Those who were best fitted for the offices were not likely to possess the qualities that would make them successful in securing popular support. Mr. Graham was opposed to the introduction of the system employed in the United States. WANT NO CHANGE OF FLAG. TORONTO, April 29 .- The meeting of the Reformers of the north riding of Toronto, in St. Paul's Hall, for the purpose of organizing an association for this constituency, was a highly successful one, both in point of numbers and in the spirit of harmony, which manifested. A feature of the meeting was the able speech of Mr. Evanturel, M. P. P. for Prescott. In the course of his remarks he said there was room in this vast Dominion for all. He pointed out the fact that in Ontario the Protestant Church had made vast strides, while the Roman Catholic had stood still, and he considered it absurd that an overwhelming majority of the people should be alarmed at the minority, which had neither the inclination nor the power to injure it. He considered that all questions of race and religion should be let severely alone, as they were in the United States. He pointed out how Great Britain had grown in power and greatness with the different elements which constituted her people, and the different languages which were spoken in Wales, Ireland and the Scottish Highlands from that spoken in England. The secret of England's greatness was that she had found a place for all these divers elements. He said the French race had no desire to change the flag which they were now under for another

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Eim. CHATHAM, April 30 .- The story of Sherman Buchanan, living near Leamington, is worthy of notice. He says he was almost helpless, bloated and a wreck with kidney disease. His digestive organs were powerless and he was rapidly becoming a burden to himself and his friends. Naturally he lost all hopes of recovery, but a happy thought suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills, and these cured him, Dodd's was the first kidney remedy in pill form ever offered the public. Its wonderful success in curing all forms of kidney d/sease has led to the introduction of numerous cheap and worthless imitations. # CONVENTION NEXT SATURDAY.

East Middlesex Liberals Bestirring Themselves.

The Work of Organization - Chairmen Appointed to Each Subdivision-The Likely Men.

The meeting of Liberals of East Middlesex that was held in the Young Liberal rooms on Saturday afternoon was very largely attended and most enthusiastic.
Mr. W. B. Scatcherd, president of the association, was ill and could not attend, and the chair was filled by Mr. James Anderson, first vice-president. In calling the gathering to order, Mr. Anderson made a spirited address in defense of the platform of the Mowat Government. He knew the coming battle was going to be a great one, that crafty men were at work to try for Sir Oliver's defeat, but he had not the least doubt that he would be again returned to power by a large majority. Mr. Frank Love, secretary of the association, took the minutes. The members got down to business without delay, and it was moved by Mr. John H. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Chas. Trebilcock, and carried unanimously, that "In the opinion of this meeting it is desirable to hold a convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent the Liberal party of East Middlesex, at the coming Provincial election."

The work of organization was then entered upon and a chairman selected for each subdivision. These chairmen will each call a meeting of the Liberals and Sprays those friendly to the cause in their division on the night of Friday, May 4 (this week), and select delegates to the convention to be held on Saturday next, in the Young Liberal rooms, corner of Dundas and Clarence streets, at 1:30 p.m.

The following chairmen were chosen: WESTMINSTER. (1) Geo. McKellar, Belmont; (2) John H. Elliott, Hubrey; (3) John McDougall, Pond Mills; (4) Geo. Riddell, Wilton Grove; (5) Jacob Dale, jun., Glendale; (6) Harry Wickerson, Byron; (7) D. B. Burch, Lambeth; (8) J. B. Little, Lambeth; (9) James

Mills, White Oak. DORCHESTER. (1) E. J. Shaw, Dorchester Station; (2) James Wilson, Dorchester Station; (3) James Dundas, Putnam; (4) John Bell, Dorchester Station; (5) Whalen McConnell, Gladstone; (6) Duncan McCallum, Gladstone; (7) Thomas Scott, Mossley; (8) Murray Smith, Avon.

LONDON TOWNSHIP. (1) John O'Brien, London West: (2) Chas. Fisher, Hyde Park; (3) T. S. Keys, Ettrick; (4) R. S. Douglas, Ilderton; (5) J. W. Rosser, Denfield; (6) W. D. Edwards, Evelyn; (7) Geo. Cairneross, Pottersburg; (8) Chas. Trebilcock, The Grove; (9) S. B. Gorwell, Fanshaw; (10) Frank Lewis, Ballymote; (11) Alex. Grant, Bryanston; (12) John Sinclair, Bryanston; (13) James McFarlane, Arva; (14) John Fraser, jun., Birr. Squire Lacey, London West, con-

(1) George Scatcherd, Wyton; (2) W. F. McGuffin, Thorndale; (3) Edward Henshaw, Evelyn; (4) Joseph Vining, Thorndale; (5) Roger Dunn, Plover Mills; (6) David Chambers, Cherry Grove; (7) John Gibson, Belton Postoffice; (8) James Henderson,

Mr. Thomas H. Purdom was present and was called on for an address. He was glad, he said, to meet with such an assembly, glad to see in them an earnestness of purpose and a fire in their eye that augured well for a winning election. His name had been mentioned as a possible candidate, but he told them that it would be impossible for him to stand. However, he would lend his ervice with pleasure to whoever was brought out. (Cheers.) He asked them to unite, and if united East Middlesex would surely be a Liberal constituency. The speaker urged his hearers to put a little enthusiasm and some of their best speakers into Westminster township and get out the vote there. It was so large it had ever yet been all polled. Nissouri last time did splendidly, Dorchester not so well as it could do this time, and London township did very well, but he wished they were all like Ilderton. After uniting they should get to work early. It would be a shocking injustice if Sir Oliver Mowat's Government was to be defeated by the false cries that had been raised against it. It would be directly telling all good men to keep out of politics. They would say to themselves that they might just as well do like they do at Ottawa and go in fer boodling and all that sort of thing. He was not a candidate, but had heard the following likely names mentioned: Mr. Odell (Belmont), John H. Elliott (Hubrey), E'ijah Ironsides (Ilderton), J. W. Rosser (Denfield), Robert Jackson, W. B. Scatcherd, Mr. Chas. Trebilcock, Dr. Routledge (Lambeth), Elliot Grieve. Adam Nichol, Reeve Coughlin and Ald. Parnell. Three cheers were then given for the Queen and Sir Oliver Mowat, and an anjournment made for one week.

The Fees Commiss ion.

TORONTO, April 29 .- Grand President Mallory, of the Patrons of Industry, in his evidence before the fees commission, favored the Patrons' platform on the subject of the election of county officials by the people and payment by salary. Ex-Lieut.-Gov. Aikins, of Manitoba, favored the present system, with the exception that he thought bailiffs should be appointed by county judges.

The M. C. R. Discontinues Receiving Freight for Shipment,

Also the tale of Tickets-John G. Laven in Town-The Board of Trade Will Try to Effect al Settlement.

The deep bass whistle of the M. C. R. engines will toot a farewell to London this evening, if they have not done so already, up. She was, at the time of her acquaintunless a settlement of present difficulties are adjusted. An emergency meeting of the Board of Trade, to be held to-day, may have the effect of countermanding orders received by M. C. R. Railway officials here on Saturday night.

Word was received on Saturday by the M. C. R. freight agent to discontinue receiving freight for shipment and to notify the merchants. The passenger department got word to stop selling trip tickets, and Mr. John G. Laven, Canadian passenger agent, who came up from Hamilton on the G. T. R. Pacific express last night, did not know for certain whether trains would be running to-day or not. The notification was generally unexpected, and a great deal of work will be done to-day by the Board of Trade and the directors of the London and South Eastern Railway, to induce a change of procedure. Mr. Laven will remain in town to-day. Mr. Paul, the local ticket agent, was out of the city yesterday, owing to the illness of a relative. The trouble is over an agreement relating to the respective rights of the new lessees of the L. and P. S. R. and the M. C. R. Every Londoner will hope that they will be so adjusted as to retain the services of the M. C. R. for the city.

Mayor Essery was not aware of any trouble until called upon by an ADVERTISER reporter. He said that when in Detroit everything had been arranged satisfactorily to all concerned, and in case of dispute it was agreed to leave the matter to arbitration. He did not doubt but what if any little diverence had arisen it would be settled during o-day.

New Reminiscenses of the Famous Poet's

(Wm. Wye Smith in the Seaforth Expositor.) Mary Campbell was a Highland girl, born near Duncon, on the north side of the Firth of Clyde, about the year 1763. I have endeavored, in vain, to obtain among the descendants of her sister the exact date of her birth. There seems to be no family Bible, or other record in existence, to tell us. Her father was Archibald Campbell. Her mother's maiden name, also, was Campbell. Mary was the eldest of eight children, three only of whom lived to grow ance with Burns, living at Col. Montgomery's, Coilsfield, which place Burns celebrates as "The Castle o' Montgomery." Their parting was on May 14, 1786. Burns gave her a pocket Bible, rather elegantly bound, in two volumes, as a parting gift and a pledge of love. She gave him a Bible in one volume. The latter has disappeared, but Burns' gift to Mary is to be Mary died in October, 1786. A late writer says.—I know not on what authority—the 20th of the month. I have convinced myself, however, from all the evidence I have, that it was later in the same month. She died at Greenock and is buried there.

Mary had one sister, Annie, who was then 12 years old. Annie married James Anderson in 1792. She, like her mother, had two daughters—Mary and Annie. I have had many letters from the surviving husband of the latter. Mary Anderson was said, by everybody, to be "the very picture of Highland Mary." There is a wonderful likeness, sometimes, in families. I have her photograph, but, alas! she was no longer young and fair when photography came in, and so I managed to get photographs of her two daughters and compared them with that of the mother. One was "her picture," and it is the best and only resemblance of Highland Mary that the world will ever see. I sent a copy of it to the late Dr. Charles Rogers, and he prized it highly and placed it in the new Burns monument in Kilmarnock, the town where Burns' poems were first printed.

Mrs. Campbell gave Burns' Bibles (with a lock of Highland Mary's hair in one of them) to Annie's two daughters-I have this from the husband of one of themsaying, "Lassics, when ye come to the marry't, ye can sell that for as muckle as will buy each o' ye a chest o' drawers."
But their brother William (from whose children I got the photographs) bought the Bibles and the lock of hair for £5 sterling to each of his sisters, on the further condition that they should "never go out of the Anderson family." Years after, on a bush farm in Canada, near Orangeville, h e got into great straits for money, and some patriotic Scotsmen in Montreal gave him $100 for the Bibles and the lock of pale golden hair, and sent them to the town of Ayr, a sacred deposit for the public for

Mary is described by her sister's descendants as a little over the average height; florid, very high-colored complexion; blue eyes; pale golden hair, (her sister's son-inlaw tells me that the lock of hair has faded somewhat since it left his house 60 years ago); quiet, retiring disposition. Her mother's cousin, Mrs. Peter Mac-OTTAWA, April 29.—The first Aberdeen Pherson, whose house she died in, spoke of

The father was bitterly prejudiced against Burns, and after his daughter's death, burned everything connected with Burns except the Bibles, and Mr. Matthew Turnbull, who married Annie's daughter, writes me: "My wife told me there were a great many things." Among others, letters from Burns containing snatches of songs, which "sister Annie" used afterwards to sing to her children. Wm. Anderson, the Canadian immigrant, gave some of thescremembered frem his mother's singing-to Motherwell, who took them down from his recitation; but at Motherwell's premature death these were lost. Mary's mother got over her prejudice against Burns, and used to sing the song, "Highland Mary."
Annie, also, was a singer, and so, doubtless, was Highland Mary; and Burns would know that the songs he sent her would not Fatal Accident at Battle Creek. The Legislature has cut down their power to raise capital stock from $65,000,000 to $20,000,000.

-The Montreal Witness, referring to the serio-comic attack of Sir John Thompson on the Ottawa Free Press, says that "Judges and parliaments who condemn those who criticise them without taking evidence as to the grounds of the criticism and the justice of the attack, will not be sustained in doing so by public opinion in a democratic country, No one should be condemned without first having been heard." This is a correct view, but to have heard the Ottawa Free Press would have been to receive a remarkably strong defense, and that was the last thing Sir John Thompson desired to entertain.

-The Province will rest easy once more. In reply to Mr. Hammell, of Cardwell, Hon. Geo. W. The color and strength of the flour are approved by nample submitted with each tender, and accepted or rejected without regard to where the wheat may be produced. In no other way could the best possible results be secured for the expenditure of public money, and that is what is required by the Administration.

BRITISH VS. PROTECTIONIST. There is a moral in the following London cablegram: "Lord Tweedmouth was well advised in proving his father's will with unusual speed before the new budget was introduced. He saved £26,000 in extra duty. This shows the tendency of British taxation legislation. It is to put the burden of governing the country chiefly on the packs of those best able to bear it, In Canada the "protectionist" tariff presses most heavily on the masses, because it collects tribute from them at every turn. We are told that the Canadian worker should not object to this arrangement, because he is better off than the toiler in old world civilizations .. That is no argument. Why should not Canadians enjoy the advantages of living in a new country. with great netural opportunities, no war zen because he is better off than some one else in a foreign land is decidedly unjust.

THE CITY ELECTION.

A week or two ago, the Liberals in the various wards of the city selected delegates to attend a convention for the purpose of bringing out a candidate to contest the city at the ensuing election for the Provincial Legislature, leaving it to the Liberal executive to call the convention when an opportune time arrived. The executive met on Saturday night, and resolved to call the delegates together for action in the Young Liberal rooms on Thursday evening next at 8 o'clock.

There has been a good deal of talk about a candidate, and the names of several wellknown citizens deeply interested in the welfare of London have been mentioned in this connection. We have not the slightest doubt that among the number the Liberal and independent electors of London will be able to select a representative who will aid in promoting the cause of good and progressive government, and look well after the interests of London at the same time.

No doubt each delegate will have his own idea as to the qualifications that a candidate ought to possess. There are some characteristics that we know the Liberal candidate will not have. From what we know of the gentlemen whose names have been mentioned in this connection we can safely affirm that the candidate to be selected will be honest and upright, and devotedly attached to this beautiful city. He will be prepared to assert that in the Legislature, while taking a broad view with regard to the general welfare of the Province, the interests of the city which he represents shall be his first care. And if at any time his own private concerns should move him to cast in his lot with a rival city-to become its paid advocate, necessitating the declaration that his new client should have his first concernwe have not the slightest doubt that at the earliest moment he would return to London and resign the trust that he could no longer hold with justice to himself, to his new-found master, or to this fair municipality. It has recently been made abundantly evident that no man who has divided interests can be expected to serve London with acceptance, and that no candidate will be elected whose first duty is to uphold a rival city. The Liberal candidate, we venture to prophesy, will be a man who is devoted to the interests of the city beyond all

THE MILITIA REPORT.

The report of the Department of Militi and Defense, laid on the table of Parliathe other day, is for the year ending 30th June, 1893, and the inspection reports relate to the summer of 1892, now nearly two years ago. We submit that for the purpose of aiding the corps in perfecting their organization this report is practically useless. To serve a good purpose, it should be issued within a few months, at the latest, of the time when the inspections are made, and the strictures of the commanding general and his aides are made. The militia, like a good many more departments at Ottawa, requires more practical work and less circumlocutionary red-tape. We could easily set an example to Whitehall, instead of lagging away behind in matters in the House. of administration.

CLOSE OF THE LEGISLATURE. Much work has been done in the session of the Legislature which closes this week, though the proceedings have been unusually quiet for the closing days of the present Assembly. Usually the Opposition has been able to make things lively in the last session, but whether through the blundering of Dr. Ryerson, in beginning the session by making a series of unfounded charges against members of the Ministry, or the apathy of Mr. Meredith, because of his acceptance of the well-paid Toronto city solicitorship, the Opposition has not fought with much vim in the session now practically closed. Being largely administrative, it was to be expected that the accounts of the Ontario Government would be well overhauled; but so economically managed are the public institutions that little fault could be found even by the washing powders-imitations keenest opponent of the Ministry. The fact is that all supplies that can with advantage to the Province be bought by contract are so purchased, while other articles that cannot be so bought are obtained by purchase at fair market rates. Take our own asylum for example. Time and again inquiry has been made as to its management in addition to the scrupulous auditing of the accounts by the Provincial auditor, but so little fault could be found with its conduct that during this the concluding session of the Assembly the public accounts committee were not asked to consider a single item in its management bill. This can be taken as a sample of the general supervision of our public institutions. Misrepresentations have from time to time been made by mischlef-making politicians with tegard to the distribution of Provincial assistance to charities. The closing session of the Assembly presented a good opportunity for these carpers to put their objections to the grants to the test by moving against them. Baseless must these be, as not a single member of the Opposition took issue with a motion to cut down these grants.

The Legislature had several views on the appointment of Provincial officials before it. It is well-known that a section of the debt, and no need for keeping up huge community desire the introduction of the armaments? To unnecessarily tax a citi- American system of election by popular vote, while various other views have been promulgated. The Government We wonder at any worker being contented being wedded to no particular system, so long as the public is well served, has appointed a commission to take evidence from every point of view, and submit it to the new Legislature, with the object of passing such legislation as may seem to be advisable. Meanwhile, a bill has been passed reducing the fees of the Provincial officials when too high, and diverting the whole of the surplus receipts, hitherto shared by the Legislature and the municipalities, into the treasuries of the municipalities alone. Intelligent public opinion will sustain this course.

Another important law was the passage of the measure conferring on the separate public school supporters the same right to elect their trustees by ballot as is now possessed by the supporters of the public schools. This change would have been brought about before now if there had been any demand for it by the separate school supporters. Mr. Meredith and his friends desired to force upon the trustees a compulsory ballot, in accordance with the crusade to which he is committed, but by one of the largest majorities registered during the session-25-the Legislature refused to indorse this view. Hon, Mr. Fraser, whose ill-health compels him to retire from the Legislature, much to the regret of the large majority of the electors of Ontario, whom he has served faithfully and well for over twenty years, voted for the optional ballot, not because he believed it was needed, but in order to show Mr. Meredith and his friends that, while the separate school supporters had no antipathy to the ballot as such, they would never accept a compulsory ballot from their enemies.

Mr. Meredith was also unsuccessful in securing indorsation for his proposal to have biennial sessions of the Legislature, Under British responsible government the idea of only calling a Government to account once every two years is out of the question. The people do not desire to oripple the importance and usefulness of the Legislature on the plea of economy. They will not vote to establish a limited autocracy in the Province to save a few thousand dollars when by abolishing the Dominion Senate they can save nearly $200,000 a year.

The bill for the registration of voters in the larger cities has met with the persistent opposition of the opponents of Sir Oliver in the Legislature. They are apparently afraid that this very fair system will militate against their welfare as a party. Perhaps so. But as it will secure a fair, honest registration of voter willing to go to registration office and comply with the simple requirements of the law, all independent electors will welcome it as a decided improvement upon the present system. What is needed is a full register of voters made up on the eve of an election, when the public is aroused, not at a time when there is comparative apathy, and when other infine may be worked in favor of either party.

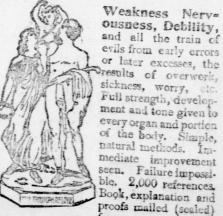

-It would indeed be shocking if the chicken coop from which women are by the gracious permission of the Imperial Parliament permitted to peer into the House of Commons should be removed, as Mr. Herbert Gladstone proposes. The fiction is that no woman must be admitted into he House, and this is the reason for keeping up the bars. There may be some good purpose served by the rule that prevents a visitor from reading a newspaper while waiting for the House to begin proceedings, or from making a note of what he sees or hears, but surely there can be none in keeping the wives, daughters and other female friends of the members, not to say women visitors generally, from being seen will take anything I give them; they believe what I tell them; and I mean to sell them what I make the most on," That is what one grocer actually gives as a reason for selling -instead of the original and best washing compound -Pearline. THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD. The match between James Wyllie, the "Herd Laddie," and James Ferrie, Coatdyke, the champion of Scotland, was commenced in Glasgow on the 7th inst. in presence of a large number of spectators. Ferrie won the choice of men, and electing to play the black, started with a Kelso game. It was drawn, as was likewise the return game. Ferrie then formed another Kelso opening, the result also being a draw. The fourth game he succeeded in winning. The succeeding five games were all drawn, but in the tenth Ferrie was again victorious. The eleventh game was won by Wyllie and the thirteenth by Ferrie, after which there was nothing but draws until the 24th game, which Wyllie won. This was at the close of the sixth day of play, and left the score-Ferrie, 3; Wyllie, 2; drawn, 19.

Miss Marron Wept-Clendennan in the Box-Denies All Impropriety-His Daughter's Evidence-The Judge Advised a Settlement.

TORONTO, April 29 - Yesterday morning the slander suit of Miss Rebecca Marron vs. Mrs. Agnes C. Youmans, president of the Women's P. P. A., was resumed. Defendant called Mrs. Mary Bruce, who swore that Mrs. Shepherd admitted at a Miller, where he and his father boarded, secret meeting of the society that she was after the separation of the parents, that his wrong about what Mrs. Youman's had told mother told him the bedroom story, and he her in regard to Miss Marron's alleged immoral life in Buffalo.

MRS. CLENDENNAN IN COURT. Mrs. Clendennan, to whose evidence so much interest is attached, came into court unaccompanied and took a seat in front of the prisoners' dock. She was called to the stand by Counsel Johnston, but Judge Mac-Mahon did not allow her to give evidence until he had made another attempt to bring the suit to a peaceable close,

HIS LORDSHIP'S ADVICE. "It might be well, even at this eleventh hour, to make another effort to bring these parties together," said his lordship to the opposing counsel. Of course after this witness has given her evidence it will be useless to attempt to heal the breach. "There seems to be a wish on the part of the plaintiff to exact the pound of flesh," said Mr. Johnston. "Men could come to some agreement in a matter of this kind, and I cannot see why women should be so relentless." FORGOTTEN ALL CHRISTIAN CHARITY. "Can not a little Christian charity be shown, or have things come to such a pass that all this is obliterated?"

"All that seems to have been forgotten," returned Mr. Johnston. I have used every lewful and honorable means to effect a settlement, but all to no end." "There has evidently been a misunderstanding, and if that could be removed there might be some reconciliation," urged his lordship, who seemed very unwilling that the case should go on.

THEY TRY TO SETTLE IT. Counsel Johnston and Gallagher held a long consultation, in which it is understood that Mrs. Youmans' counsel made an offer to settle the case, each party paying agree that the insinuations about Miss Marron should not be repeated. This offer was not accepted by Miss Marron, and the lawyer reported to his lordship that they were unable to agree. Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell and Miss Helen Byington, a sister of the defendant, corroborated Mrs. Brown's evidence in regard to Mrs. Shepherd's words at the lodge meeting. Mrs. Clendennan was then put on the stand and denied in toto every im-

MRS. CLENDENNAN'S STORY. She said that she had been separated from her husband by his attentions to Miss Marron. She saw him come out of Miss Marron's room at 12 o'clock on the night of Sept. 1, 1891. She asked him about it, but did not received an explanation that satisfied her. On Hallowe'en night Miss Marron and Mrs. Cledennan changed rooms.

The witness woke up in the middle of the night and went into her husband's room. He was not there, and she walked to Miss Marron's room where she found her husband asleep in the bed which Miss Marron and her 10-year-old daughter May also occupied. She put her hand on her husband's shoulder and he could not answer her question.

A BAD MAN FOR FIFTEEN YEARS. Miss Marron declared to her that sha been asleep all the time and she wa aware of Mr. Clendennan's present called God to witness the truth of ment. Mr. Clendennan had told he had been a bad man for fifth and that Rebbie had been savi the last two years. She was and he had imposed on her.

nan did not have the slightest effect on her statements. Mrs. Clendennan said that Rebbie told her it was none of her business that Mr. C. was in her (Rebbie's) room. She said that she told her busband it was very improper to keep Miss Marron in the house, but he insisted upon it, and said he would leave it if she did not remain.

WHAT MAY SAW. May Clendennan, a daughter, 13 years of age, the next witness, said she and Miss Marron and her father slept in the same bed on that Hallowe'en night in '91. She saw her mother going out of the room and her father getting out of the bed.

Charles Clendennan, the eldest child, swore that he remembered the Hallowe'en night. He had a talk with his father, whom he called "Mr. Clendennan," and he practically admitted the above occurrence. He denied that he told a Mrs. didn't believe it.

AS THE NURSE VIEWS IT. Mrs. Hume, who nursed Mrs. C., swore that Miss Marron would sit up till 1 or 2 o'clock till Mr. C. came home. "They were quite familiar and too friendly; his wife was treated very coolly. Miss Marron told me Mrs. Clendennan was jealous of her, and I told her the quicker she left the house the better."

MR. CLENDENNAN'S SIDE OF IT. Mr. Daniel W. Clendennan was the next witness. He detailed a number of incidents about the affair. His wife upbraided him for going into Rebie's room; he thought his wife was there; "she accused Miss Marron of ruining an innocent man," he said. He defended Rebie, because it wasn't true. After that he and his wife got along together better than before for a while. He moved to Fern Hill because he had a vacant house there; his wife wanted a deed of that property, and she objected to moving there because he didn't give it. "What was the cause of your separation ?"

"It began the day we were married and kept widening; we drifted apart foolishly; it was the fault of other people more than ours, and it got bad and couldn't be

Some clever fencing between counsel and witness followed. Counsel had occasion to ask witness if he carried the note containing the words, "Webin's own, own dear," between the leaves of a Testament in his vest pocket. Witness answered, "A T

MARIE TEMPEST COMING.

New York's Favorite Prima Dona in "The Fencing Master."

The coming engagement of the Whitney Opera Company is attracting much attenhere of that dainty little prima dona, Miss Marie Tempest, in De Koven and Smith's most tuneful opera "The Fencing Master." It was Miss Tempest who created the leading role in this opera when it was first pro duced at the New York Casino, and where it enjoyed an unprecedented run of over 250 consecutive nights. The make-up of the Whitney Company shows careful, considerate and liberal management, as the cast includes such well known operation stars as Mr. Julius Steger, formerly baritone of the Algerian Opera Company; Miss Lilly Post, formerly prima dona soprano of the McCaull Opera Company; Mr. Richard F. Carroll, principal comedian of the Duff and New York Casino Opera Companies: Miss Julia Spencer, the Australia prima dona; Mr. H. W. Tre Denick, leading comedian of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, and Mr. A. M. Holbrook, basso and late stage director of the New York Casino, where this opera was produced under his supervision. Miss Tempest will assume the leading role and will positively appear.

THE WHEEL.

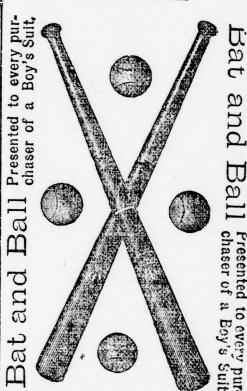

JUDGE ELLIOT CRITICISED.

At the twelth annual meeting of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, Mr. E. B. Ryckman, chairman of the committee on rights and privileges, read this report: Gentlemen,-It is a matter for great congratulation that the duties of this committee during the year that is passed, have been very light-so light, indeed, that they have approached the vanishing point. This happy state of affairs we trust may be traced to the universal recognition that is given throughout this Dominion by courts of law and the common sense of individuals to the rights of wheelmen on the road. The only departure during the year from this general recognition, was a case in London which came before Judge Elliot, of the county bench there, but with which your committee was not directly concerned, nor was its aid in any way invoked by parties interested. The decision in the suit in question was against the cyclist, but this very fact, owing to the apparent flagrant miscarriage of justice in the case, has, we think, worked more substantial good to the interest of wha controlled by t

. "Turn to the Right.

I reflected; and the longer I did so the more teasible seemed the suggestion. A single word, and I might sweep from my path the man whose existence threatened mine; who would not meet me fairly, but, working against me darkly and treacherously, deserved no better treatment at my hands than that which a detected spy receives. He had wronged my mother; he would fain destroy my friends!

And, doubtless, I shall be blamed by some and ridiculed by more for indulging in acruples at such a time. But I have all my life been prejudiced against that form of underhand violence which I have heard old men contend came into fashion in our country in modern times, and which certainly seems to be alien from the French character. Without judging others too harshly, or saying that the poinard is never excusable-for then might some wrongs tione to women and the helpless go without remedy-I have set my face against its use as unworthy of a soldier. At the time, moreover, of which I am now writing the extent to which our enemies had lately resorted to it tended to fix this feeling with peculiar firmness in my mind; and, but for the very desperate dilemma in which I stood at the moment-and not I alone-I do not think I should have entertained Simon's proposal for a minute. As it was, I presently answered him in a way which left him in no doubt of my sentiments. "Simon, my friend," I said and I remember I was a little moved-"you have something still to learn, both as a soldier and a Huguenot. Neither the one nor the other strikes at the back.'

"But if he will not fight?" the lad re-torted rebelliously. "What then!" It was so clear that our adversary gained an unfair advantage in this way that I could an uniar advantage in this trib as an answer the question. I let it pass, therefore, and merely repeating my former

He promised reluctantly to do so, and, after spending some moments in thought, went out to learn whether the house was being watched.

When he returned, his countenance wore so new an expression that I saw at once that something had happened. He did not meet my eye, however, and did not explain, but made as if he would go out again, with something of confusion in his manner. Befinally disappearing, however, he seemed to change his mind once more; for, marching up to where I stood eyeing him with the utmost astonishment, he stopped before me, and suddenly drawing out his hand, thrust something into mine.

'What is it, man !" I said mechanically. "Look!" he answered rudely, breaking silence for the first time. "You should know. Why ask me? What have I to do

I looked then, and saw that he had given me a knot of velvet precisely similar in shape, size, and material to that well-remembered one which had aided me so opportunely in my search for mademoiselle. This differed from that a little in color, but in nothing else, the fashion of the bow being the same, and one lappet bearing the initals "C. d. l. V," while the other had the words, "A moi." I gazed at it in wonder. "But, Simon," I said, "what does it mean? Where did you get it?"

Where should I get it?" he answered jealously. Then, seeming to recollect, he changed his tone. "A woman gave it to me in the street," he said.

I asked him what woman. "How should I know?" he answered, his eyes gleaming with anger. It was a woman an' owned up ter not gittin' a bite."

Was it Franchette?" I said sternly. "It might have been. II do not know," he

I concluded at first that mademoiselle and her escort had arrived in the outskirts of the city, and that Maignan had justified his reputation for discretion by sending in to learn from me whether the way was clear before he entered. In this notion I was partly confirmed and partly shaken by the accompanying message; which Simon, from whom every drop of information had to be dragged as blood from a stone, presently de-

"You are to meet the sender half an hour after sunset to-morrow evening," he said, on the Parvis at the north-east corner of the cathedral.'

'To-morrow evening?" "Yes, when else?" the lad answered ungraciously. "I said to-morrow evening."

I thought this strange. I could understand why Maignan should prefer to keep his charge outside the walls until he heard from me, but not why he should postpone a meeting so long. The message, too, seemed unnecessarily meagre, and I began to think Simon was still withholding something. "Was that all?" I asked him. "Yes, all," he answered, "except-"

"Except what?" I said sternly.
"Except that the woman showed me the gold token Mademoiselle de la Vire used to carry," he answered reluctantly, "and said, if you wanted further assurance that would satisfy you."

"Did you see the coin?" I cried eagerly. "To be sure," he answered.
"Then, mon Dieu!" I retorted, "either von are deceiving me, or the woman you aw deceived you. For mademoiselle has not got the token! I have it; here, in my possession! Now, do you still say you saw it man?"

"I saw one like it," he answered, trembling, his face damp. "That I will swear. And the woman told me what I have told you. And no more."
"Then it is clear," I answered, that mademoiselle has nothing to do with this, and is doubtless many a league away. This is one of M. de Bruhl's tricks. Fresnoy gave him the token he stole from me. And I told him the story of the velvet knot myself. This is a trap; and had I fallen into it, and gone to the Parvis to-morrow evening, I had never kept another assignation, my lad."

"Simon looked thoughtful. Presently he said, with a crestfallen air, "You were to go alone. The woman said that." Though I knew well why he had suppressed this item, I forebore to blame him. "What was the woman like?" I aid.

"She had very much of Franchette's figure," he answered. He could not go beyond that. Blinded by the idea that the woman was medemoiselle's attendant, and no one else, he had taken little heed of her, and could not even say for certain that she was not a man in woman's clothes.

I thought the matter over and discussed it with him; and was heartily minded to punish M. de Bruhl, if I could discover a way of turning his treacherous plot against himself. But the lack of any precise knowledge of his plans prevented me stirring in the matter; the more as I felt no certainty that I should be master of my actions when the time came.

Strange to say the discovery of this momement on the part of Bruhl, who had sedulously kept himself in the background of administering a fillip to my spirits; which the cold and unyielding pressure of the Jacobin had reduced to a low point. Here was something I could understand, resist, and guard against. The feeling that I had once more to do with a man of like aims and passions with myself quickly restored me to the use of my faculties; as I have heard a swordsman opposed to the powers of evil regains his vigor on finding nimself engaged with a mortal foe. Though I knew that the hours of grace were fast running to a close, and that on the morrow the priest would call for an answer, I experienced that evening an unreasonable lightness and cheerfulness. I retired to rest with confidence, and slept in comfort, supported in part, perhaps, by the assurance that in that room where my mother died her persecutor could have no power to harm me. Upon Simon Fleix, on the other hand, the discovery that Bruhl was moving, and that eonsequently peril threatened us from a new quarter, had a different effect. He fell into a state of extreme excitement, and spent the evening and a great part of the night in walking restlessly up and down the room, wrestling with the fears and anxieties which beset us, and now talking fast to himself, now biting his nails in an agony of impatience. In vain I adjured him not to meet troubles halfway; or, pointing to the pallet which he occupied at the foot of my couch, bade him, if he cou'd not devise a way of escape, at least to let the matter rest till morning. He had no power to obey, but, tortured by the vivid anticipations which it was his nature to entertain, he continued to ramble to and fro in a fever of the nerves, and had no sooner lain down than he was up again. Remembering, however, how well he had borne himself on the night of mademoiselle's escape from Blois, I refrained from calling him a coward; and contented myself instead with the reflection that nothing sits worse on a fightingman than too much knowledge-except, perhaps, a lively imagination. I thought it possible that mademoiselle might arrive next day before Father Antoine called to receive his answer. In this event I hoped to have the support of Maiginjunction, bade Simon think out another nan's experience. But the party did not arrive. I had to rely on myself and my own resources, and, this being so, de-termined to refuse the priest's offer, but in all other things to be guided by circum-

-An Amherstburg dispatch says: The trial of the Rev. W. G. Wye still drags along slowly. The evidence given by Dr. Hooley, the last witness for the prosecution, was by far the most sensational since the beginning of the trial. He testified that in January, 1894, while returning from Windsor with Mr. Wye, the latter was in a beastly state of intoxication, and incapable of driving his horses. He also used language in the presence of the witness which was so impure as to be unfit for repetition. At its conclusion the commission will go to London to hear the evidence of Dean Innes and Canon Davis, who are familiar with the case. A Narrow Escape.

Mr. McCarthy, a clerk in the Bank of Commerce, had a narrow escape ou Saturday night about 9 o'clock. Mr. McCarthy, in company with Mr. Chas. Dinn, was driving down Richmond street, and when near the City Hall, the horze shied at a passing rig. It started south at a lively gait, and on reaching King street, Mr. Blinn turned east. The street car tracks threw the rig around, broke the shaft, and Mr. McCarthy was thrown against a telephone pole. He was picked up and carried into Dr. Graham's office, where it was found that the injuries amounted to a severe bruise over the right eye and a bad shaking up.

Londoners in Strathroy. A large audience gathered in the Strathroy Baptist Church on Thursday evening to hear the organ recital and sacred concert. The Young People of the church, having lately purchased from the Bell Organ Company's agency in London a double manual pedal base organ, applied to Mr. J. W. Fetherston, organist of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, to give an evening of sacred music. Mr. Fetherston, with Mr. A. Stockwell and the Misses Hartson, went to Strathroy Thursday and gave the people of that town a musical treat gave the people of that town a musical treat such as is not often enjoyed. Mr. Fetherston's powers were well displayed in the overtures of "Zampa," the "Poet and Peasant" and the "Wedding Triumphale Marches." Mr. Stockwell's voice was delightful in the aria, "Jernsalem," and the song, "Judge Me, O God." The Misses Hartson, both in duet and solo, fully satisfied an audience prepared by previous quality. Miss Hattie Graham, daughter of Rev. John Graham, one of the Methodist pastors of the town, contributed two very excellent readings. The Strathroy people know good music when they hear it, and will gladly welcome again the quartet of musicians who served them so well on this

Thomas Lee Pardoned.

As recently announced in the ADVER-TISER, Thomas Lee, formerly of East Lonion, was lying at the point of death in the Kingston Penitentiary, and had been given up by the doctors. Lee is the young man who two years ago was given a ten years' sentence for being implicated in an affair at Dreaney's Corners. His accomplices, Geo. Lee, George Armstrong and David Moore. were given three, seven and ten years respectively. Thomas Lee, since his incarceration, has been employed in the machine shop, and about three weeks ago caught a severe cold, which turned into pneumonia. His condition gradually became worse, and Mr. James Lee, of Brydges street, East London, and wife, went to Kingston about ten days ago to wait on him during what was thought would be his last hours. While there Mr. Lee communicated with the Ottawa authorities and asked that on account of the condition of the young man a pardon be granted. A reply has been received stating that an order had been issued for his release. Lee will be brought home as soon as he recovers. Among others who were sent to the penitentiary from London are Burke and Wilson, the slavers of Detective Harry Phair. Burke is employed as messenger in the carpenter shop, while Wilson works in the stone cutting department. Alex. Freeman, serving a life sentence for the murder of P. C. Rankin near Chatham, is on the sick list.

The Trouble Supposed To Be Over Traffic Privileges.

Mayor Essery and Mr. J. W. Little in Detroit.

The Lake Eric and Detroit River Train Arrives-The Early Morning M. C. R. Train Refuses Passengers and Baggage.

The news of the meditated withdrawal from the city of the M. C. R. was a surprise to most citizens. On all hands it was thought that arrangements had been madesatisfactory to the M.C.R. and the city. Neither the mayor or the directors of the London and Southeastera Railway had any intimation of trouble, and it had been agreed between the M. C. R. and the city to leave any possible dispute to arbitration. The orders telegraphed from Detroit on Saturday night to stop receiving freight and baggage and the sale of tickets thus came like thunder from a clear sky. Today all that is possible is being done to retain the road in the city. J. W. Little, president of the London and Southeastern, and Mayor Essery went to Detroit, just before noon, where an M. C. R. board meeting is in progress. The real point of dispute has not yet been made public. On one hand it is said that there is a wrangle over terminals, but as Mayor Essery assured an ADVERTISER reporter that these had all been arranged amicably that is probably not the cause of discord. Again, it is said that the Lake Erie and Detroit River people want all the intervening local traffic between St. Thomas and Lendon and do not care to allow the M. C. R. any pick up on lay-down traffic whatever between here and the Railroad City. This is more likely to be the cause of the trouble than the first named.

Baggage as well as passengers were refused by the crew of the early morning M. C. R. train to-day. The mails, however, were carried as usual. Baggage was brought back to the Grand Trunk station left for St. Thomas on the 9:30 train. This train took what passengers and baggage were offered. To a friend Mr. Laven said that the order of Saturday night was probably due to a misunderstanding, and unless something unforeseen occurred at the board meeting in Detroit te-day the trains would be running as usual to-morrow.

THE L. E. AND D. R. TRAIN ARRIVES. There was an unusual scene at the Grand Trunk station shortly after 11 o'clock today. It was the arrival of a spick and span Walkerville train, consisting of an engine and tender, baggage car, second-class car and first-class car. Pedestrians' attention was first called by the unusual deep tone of the bell as it rang for crossings. The

Wonderful Cure.

Mr. and Mrs. Chute, of Aylmer, desire that we should publish their testimonial and let other sufferers know what Williams' Royal Crown Remedy (Nature's Liquid) has done for Mr. Chute. He writes: "For ten years or more I have been a sufferer with dyspersia, and doctored with six of the most skilled doctors in this part of the country with but little relief and no benefit in return for the very large doctors' bills that I paid. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, tut all to no purpose, until April, 1893, when I took to myself a wife, and it so happened that three years previous to our marriage she had been in poor health, and used part of a bottle of Royal Crown Remedy, and, knowing of its excellent qualities, she prevailed upon me to give it a trial. I purchased one bottle of the Remedy and Pills. and by the time I had them used my general health was much improved, and by the time I had taken three bottles I was restored to good health, and my neighbors say that I am looking better than I have done for years. I believe Royal Crown Remedy to be the best value for the money on earth, and am thankfully yours.

James Porteous was the driver, and it was not the first time that he has reversed a throttle in the G. T. R. yard. As soon as the train came to a standstill a big crowd gathered and kept the hands of the different members of the crew going with the latest Walkerville shake. Driver Porteous is an old Grand Trunk man and had to use both hands. He could have found use for one or two more for a little while if he had had them. All the trainmen were resplendent in uniform and good looks. So much so that one of the platform news butchers exclaimed to a chum:
