PRESSURE OF PUBLIC OPINION IS NOW AWAITED BY MR. KING

No Law to Compel the Company to Arbitrate Its Differences With Its Employees—Public Now in a Condition to Judge Who Is To Blame for the Prolonging of the Great Industrial War.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, July 25.—The Minister of Labor stated this morning that in view of President Hays' refusal to submit the strike differences to a board of arbitration, as suggested by the Government, there was now little further that the department could do at present beyond awaiting the result of the pressure of public opinion, which is on all sides, demanding a speedy settlement of the strike.

There is no law to compel the company to accept the principle of ar bitration, and if, as is apparent from President Hays' last reply to the minister, the company is now prepared to fight the strikers to a finish, the Government has no power to intervene and compel the appointment of a board President Hays' reply to Hon. Mr. King's third request for a definit statement of the company's attitude is apparently final. The minister, in acknowledging it this morning, calls the attention of the Grand Trunk president to the fact that so far as the records of the department show there has never been any real offer of arbitration from the company.

AN EXPLANATION. Mr. King notes that President Hays' request for a board under the railway and labor disputes' act, did not involve any binding arbitration proceedings, as proposed by the Government, but merely a second investigation, which would in all probability have simply duplicated the work of the board of conciliation and investigation under the Lemieux act. The chief result of the correspondence of the past week between the Local Grand Trunk officials are greatly interested in the move that Mr. Berry made on Saturday in allowing the Wabash men to go back to work, pending arbitration.

"Why should Mr. Berry discriminate and allow the Wabash men to return to work under the schedule that the Grand Trunk issued for their men on the mornng of July 18, and not allow the G. ing this matter, and was informed that the statement was correct, and that the Wabash men had returned to work and were receiving the wages according to the new G. T. R. schedule. St. Thomas officials could give no explanation of how this was allowable. May Strike Again.

At the strikers' headquarters it was stated that the Wabash men may go on strike again tomorrow, although they are at work today and worked yesterday and part of Saturday.

"They are simply at work pending a satisfactory arrangement," said one com-mitteeman. "If things are not arranged to the satisfaction of the committee and conditions for the road work agreed to, the men will go out again.' Among the trains that went through today was a special train from Windsor en route to Fort Erie, and loaded with horses.

An Explanation. The Toronto Globe publishes a state-coaching and such merry reviling of an umpire. The hits, as the score shows, were not few, but plenty of hitting makes a lively game, and the game was certainly lively. The Trunks had as their battery, Messrs. Graham and McColl, while Messrs. Wood and Mc-Falls were pitcher and clutcher respectively for the Grips. The twirlers produced a vast assortment of curves and shoots, spit balls and drops, but the batters were there all the time with the eagle eye, and walloped them all about the diamond. The Trunks, however, had a little the best of the swatfest, and when Umpire Arthurs called the game the score stood 15 to 8 in their favor.

An even more strenuous contest, as many of those who took part in it found out, was the great pushball game. For about half an hour the players pushed and struggled, rolled in the sand and tugged and tackled with might and main to get the giant ball into their opponents' goal. The winning team was composed MacLaren, J. Dyer, A. T. Edwards, L. E. McGugan, A. Johnston, E. B. Gandier, A. Skelton, William Pegelr, William Harding, Jack Sussex and

The new edition of Lloyd's Register Book contains statistical tables showing the total ocean tonnage of the world to have risen from 21,508,000 in 1886 to 41,915,000 in the current year. Of the 1886 tonnage 10,291,000 was steam and 11.217.000 sail. The present tonnage is: Steam, 37,291,000, and cluded in the table. In the 1900 edition of the Register Book the tonnage of vessels trading on the great lakes was given at 576,000; in the present edition the total amounts to no less than 2,147,000, or nearly three and three-quarters times that of ten

The final table shows the number of iron and steel steamers of 2,000 tons and above now in existence, distinguishing whether built in the United Kingdom or abroad, and includes 422 vessels trading on the great lakes of North America. If, however, only seagoing vessels be taken into account it is found that of the total number now in existence over 80 per cent has been built in the United Kingdom.

Champions.

I thought I had my bowls with me and on the green did stand.

Pittsburg, July 23.—Pittsburg hit Scanlon freely today and won the fourth and last game of the series with Brooklyn rather easily. Maddox was taken off the rubber in the middle of the fifth inning and Leifield substituted. However, the Brooklyns were never dangerous. In the ninth inning they were allowed to roam the bases at will, and registered three steals. The score: Now, I was in the Trophy Match and in the Final Round, Yes, I had reached the final game, and still I held my ground.
But I'd fought hard to get there, and there I meant to stay, For I'd trimmed many a champion that I met in the fray. Among that winning number that I had turned aside Were mighty Trophy winners, and some were Toronto's pride. Well, Billy Jackson had his turn, and Well, Billy Jackson had his turn, and also Dick Gosnell,
With Abbott, Ed. Weld, Doc Del Marr and poet-skip Waddell.
My runners were astounding, and my draws were always there,
While my opponents' cannon balls just merely fanned the air.
The Final was an awful game, as close as close could be as close could be.
And witnesses said we'd have lost if it had not been for me.
The last end came—they lay three shots I drew the first and won—
And then I jumped, rolled out of bed—
alas, my dream was done.

Five Men Charged With Assaulta Late Arrival From the Queen City,

Samuel Straussburg, a Hebrew, living at 173 Clarence street, and who, it is said, came here from Toronto about a week ago, was very badly beaten up in a row which occurred at a dance in Africa in quest of big game. Cullis' Hall late on Saturday night. Straussburg, it is alleged, was attacked by five men, Louis Rothmann, Abe Cohn, Isaac Hershow, Harry Wilmer and David Teppermann, of 247 Horton street. Some of the party were armed with beer bottles, and used them with such effect that Straussburg has a broken nose and innumerable cuts and bruises about his face and head.

The row, it seems, originated over a young and very pretty Jewess, who gives the name of Minnie Davidson, of Toronto, Mrs. Davidson told Acting Magistrate Beattie, before whom the examination was conducted, that she thought the row was due to jealousy. Straussburg said he was at the dance and Rothmann came over and wanted to fight with him. Straussburg said he was going downstairs to get a policeman, when Rothmann and the others followed him down.
