And After Confessing His Crime, war Put to Death in the Court nouse Square at Corsicana, Tex.

Corsicana, Texas, March 14.-John Henderson, (colored), who brutally assaulted and murdered Mrs. Younger. a farmer's wife, Eving just outside this city, several days ago, was burned to death in the court house square here at noon yesterday. A written confession of the crime, attested by Justice Roberts, was secured from the prisoner. Five thousand people witnessed the burning, business practically being suspended for a time. Henderson was captured yesterday after a long chase. He was trailed by bloodhounds from the Younger homestead many miles back and forth across the country, and was finally captured near Hillsboro. The officers took him to the latter place and were impelled, through fear of mobs, to start for Fort Worth. When the train reached Itasca a party of Younger's friends overpowered the guards and hustled Henderson from the train. He was conveyed across the prairie, a distance of 45 miles, to Coriscana, where he was placed in jail to prevent infuriated citizens from tearing him to pieces. A committee was appointed to see him and pass on his guilt or innocence. Finally he made a written confession that he had myrdged an "unknown white he had murdered an "unknown white lady" three miles north of Corsicana, March 6. There was no one present, he said, but himself and the woman's two little children. He said he did not know why he had done it. When it became public that Henderson had confessed people swarmed around the jail. It was decided to burn the prisoner at the stake at 2 p. m., but news was received that troops had been started from Dallas and the execution was hurried. A railroad rail was driven into the ground in the corner of the court house square. Boxes and dry timber were piled around it and saturated with oil. Just before noon about forty men rushed from the jall across the square to the place where the rail had been planted. In their midst rail had been planted. In their midst was Henderson handcuffed. The men formed a circle, holding to a chain which surrounded the prisoner to prevent the crowd from tearing him away. The negro was fastened to the rail with wire and chains. Cans of oil were emptied over his clothing and dozens of lighted matches touched the inflammable material. The fire alarms were rung, and the stores of the city were deserted as their octhe city were deserted as their oc-cupants rushed to the square to wit-cupants rushed to the square to witness the burning.

Just as the pile was fired, Conway Younger, husband of the murdered woman, jumped at Henderson and slashed him across the face with a knife. Henderson gave no indication of pain and suffering. He rolled his eyes to get a glimpse of the angry faces which surrounded him, and there was a slight movement of the hands. In ten minutes Henderson was dead. He made no outery other than an occasional groan.

The object, he said, was to remove the disability which now pre-vents medical men of one province practicing in another; but it could not become effective till all provinces not become effective till all provinces amended their medical acts to the effect that any one having the qualification of the Dominion Medical Board may practice in the Province. As to the constitution of the Dominion examining board, he proposed that each province have three representatives on it—one the president of provincial association, one elected by each association, and a 'third appointed by association, and a third appointed by the Governor-General-in-council. In addition he would have three homeo-paths: Qualification would be five years' study of medicine instead of four, the last year to be devoted to the practice of medicine; The bill look-

The turnkey went into Spratt's cell to give him his supper, when the prisoner, who had armed himself with an iron leg from his bed struck him on the head. A vicious fight ensued until assistance arrived, Clench's injuries were found to consist of a serious scalp wound and a badly shattered wrist bone and left arm. Spratt will be arraigned on a charge of attempt to murder Turnkey Clench.

to say in reply to the Banner-News article. There is nothing to be said, The paper singled me out from five hundréd other citizens and questioned my right to sign a petition in favor of J. W. Shackleton. The Banner-News are against Shackleton while I am favorable to him, and I think I-have as much right to my opinion as the Banner-News, has to its.

"There may be better engineers than Shackleton, but at the price we taxpayers can afford to pay he is good enough for Chatham. Talking about taxes, I have had some experience in paying them, and when the Banner-News has as much it will be time for it to begin to lecture me. I am paying now for a sidewalk that Shackleton didn't put down, but which is not worth half the tax I will have to con-

"However, I am not going to enter into argument. I do not think it worth while. That petition was representative enough to show the views of the citizens. The council can of course do as they please. It is hardly likely, though, they will be influenced by the Banner-News' open letter to me. If they are, the aldermen are a weaker lot than I give them credit for. I think in the city's interests they should put Shackleton back, and that is why I signed the petition. It was not as the Banner-News insinuates, simply because I was asked to. simply because I was asked to.

"Further, I don't think the late engineer got British fair play. He was condemned without a trial. There was no investigation. The man got no show at all. Now, I'm a pretty heavy tax-payer in this city, and if we have a poor engineer I suffer as much as anybody and more than a great many, but all the same I do not believe we can do better than take back a man who was dismissed without even a charge being made against him."

Young Girl Lured Away and Then Drugged-Arrests Made.

New York, March 14.-Unconscious, Mary Paige, the 16-year-old daughter of C. B. Paige, lies in her father's home in Brooklyn, the victim of as-, sault. Since she was found yesterday wandering in the street she has been conscious only a few minutes, when she managed to gasp out that she had been lured to a livery stable by three young men, forced to drink a drugged drink, and then assaulted by the three. The police arrested George Abbott, Jr., 17 years old. He said he had taken Miss Paige for a walk Sunday night, and that two other young men had joined them, but declared that he knew nothing about her having been drugged, and denied that there had drugged, and denied that there had been any assault. He gave the names of the two other youths, and on Miss. Paige's complaint warrants were sworn out for their arrest. The physicians say that the girl is suffering from some drug, thought to be chloral, probably given to her in the form of "knock-out drops." They say that she has received so gneat a shock that the chances are all against her recovery. Last evening young Abbott. recovery. Last evening young Abbott was taken before Mary Paige and fully identified by her as the one who had given the supposed drugged liquor and assaulted her.

"THE 'ENCORE' NUISANCE.

"Walter Damrosch's refusal to al low encores at the Sunday night con certs at the Metropolitan Opera House, is already beginning to have excellent results," says the New York Sun. "The audiences, which had declined discouragingly, are now coming back to their former size. It is easy to understand this result. It was always a small minority of the audience that insisted on encores. There it. was never any discrimination in the applause to indicate that the noise makers knew one song from another or made the least distinction in the degree of their approval. This had more than anything else to do with the public loss of interest in these entertainments, which have just begun to recover their vogue since the introduction of Mr. Damrosch's reform. So long as the concerts are made merely the excuse for a riot of applause the only persons who enjoyed the evening were the men who made the noise. Now that they have been suppressed the general public will undoubtedly return with enthusiasm."

This reference to the encore fiend will be appreciated by many musiclovers in Chatham, whose enjoyment of a musical performance has been frequently spoiled by the exasperating indiscriminate applause of a few persons. A proper amount of applause is appreciated by both audience and performers, but when it comes to compelling professional performers to double the program surely it is time to protest. This is no exaggeration; the program is doubled often by a few people who persist in clapping and stamping until an encore is given and the performance allowed to continue. The result is a surfeit of music and an unduly long evening. The response to an encore is a courtesy only, not a right, and it is bad taste to force an unwilling response. What would the encore fiends say if the musician were to come into their places of business and say, "I found that tea I bought from you simply delicious; give me a pound of it for nothing! And we never enjoyed anything so much as those pickles; present me with another bot-

STOLE MILLION BY SWINDLING

Dead Millionaire Gilman's Half-broth

New York, March 14 .- Surrogate Fitzgerald has granted letters of administration in the New York end of the estate of George F. Gilman, the wealthy Bridgeport, Conn., tea merchant, to Theophilus Gilman, a halfbrother, and Edward L. Norton, a grand nephew, who represent the interests of the two classes of natural

Frazier Gilman, another half-brother, has brought suit for all the New York real property of the estate, nine parcels, aggregating in value over

The unknown quantity in the contest is Mrs. Blakeley Hall, formerly Helen Standish, an actress, who claims the entire estate of $20,000,000 as her own, and retains possession of the mansion in Bridgeport, Conn. Frazier Gilman resides at Atlanta, Ga., where his family is in moderate circumstances. He stands 6 feet 3 in his stockings, is broad-shouldered and has heavy, square jaws. When asked why he had come from his home in Georgia, he sain : "To get justice. Once upon a walked the streets of New York and lived upon 10 cents a day. It was for George Francis Gilman that I did this, He had used up $5,000,000 of our father's money and tried his best to starve us to death.

"While we were starving he lived like a prince. He swore that the $5,000,000 of our father's money left by our father was only $1,000,000. He wouldn't even allow us car fare.
"Finally we forced him into a settle ment. That was in 1880. We him one day on Broadway and he came frightened and made a settle-ment! It called for $65,000 for each of us, but what we really got was $24,000 'Then he lived in deadly fear for th balance of his life and was forced to flee to his Black Rock palace. There he enjoyed what he might have called a good time, but I am satisfied that he never had a really contented and happy day. "And, best of all, he had to leave h heloved millions—the millions of which he had robbed us—behind. It is to recover some of these millions that were stolen from us that I am here. They belong to us, and I for one will have the stolen from th No actress, nor anyone else, shall have one cent until those that George Francis Gilman in the heyday of his health and strength robbed come into their

THE GUEST OF A SUMMER.

With all that made mirth or gave pleasure.
Soothed sorrow, or ministered fest,
He bade such as ran at his hest Serve mine, without stinting or

Sightly his fair demesne Set well on the verge of the land.
And he said: "From this cliff thou mayst lean
And hearken the while the gray sea,
Pacing all day the bright strand,
Makes a lute of each scattered shelf.
And hereby I cede unto three
This, my cool sylvan cell,
All around curtained with green—
Live green of the evergreen tree; Live green of the evergreen tree; All above, frescoes divine, Shot in the changeable woof Of the magical music-swayed roof, All this, with its service, be thine."

I was a simple guest,
To think he could make such bequest,
Or my hands with his treasure be crowned!
For soon, that the matter was one,
And the servant another—I found,
Unfair at my hidding to run.

Unfain at my bidding to run.
The sea on the shingle did beat—
No lute-tone I heard in the sound!
The wind through the pine tops ran

The stars through the pine-tops did shine; But I saw not the frescoes divine

Wherefore, I now understand None but himself can have seen How fair is the poet's demesne, Set well on the bourne of the land; And none but himself can have heard De sounds that his spirit have stir-

THE COURT CRIER.

A Syracuse woman brought suit against her sister because she would not go home after her six weeks' visit was "up. A Cleveland judge has decided that "any woman is justified in scolding her husband if he comes home drunk and ill treats her and the children."

In a recent case which is fully reported in the law journals the supreme court of Iowa held that it was no defense to an action under a statute making the owner of a dog liable for personal injuries inflicted by it to show that several months before the injury the plaintiff threw stones at the dog. The court said "A dog has no right to brood over its wrongs and remember in malice."

HAD A PLEASANT EVENING. Last evening Court Pride of Kent, No. 9, Juvenile Foresters, held their usual monthly meeting when a good attendance of the boys was present. One initiation took place. At the conclusion of the business of the court, Mr. Fenning gave a large and saried program on his phonograph. The adult court was well represented, considering the inclement weather, and helped in the entertainment of the boys by songs by George Webber, Wm. H. Bensen and B. Longley. Speeches were also given by prominent members of Court Hope. Refreshments were served to the audience which were highly appreciated. A unanimous vote of thanks on behalf of the Juveniles and Court Hope was tendered to Mr. Fennings for entertaining. Mr. Fennings thanked the courts and deemed it a pleawithout charge, his only remuneration be ing to give pleasure to his hearers. He would in a short time have some new records which he would be only too pleased to give them at a future concert.

NO FURTHER NEWS.

Inquiry by The Planet at the home of Mrs. Rogers, King street, this afternoon ascertained the fact that the family here have no intelligence concerning the dreadful reports in the press concerning the son Naylor and his wife, beyond the telegram referred to yesterday. Under the belief that it was her son's death the despatch initimated Mrs. Rogers left for Cleveland yesterday, but on reaching Windsor she yesterday, but on reaching trace Rogers, learned it was the wife, Mrs. Grace Rogers, Mrs. who had suddenly passed away. Mrs. Rogers returned home to this city and her son, E. O. B. Rogers, of Windsor, proceeded to Cleveland.

MRS. BROWN BURIED.

The remains of the late Mrs. Peter Brown were reverently laid to rest in Maple Leaf Cemetery this after-noon. Mrs. Brown was numbered among the oldest residents of this city and during her life had watched Chatham grow first into a town and then into a city.

The funeral took place from the residence of Mrs. N. J. Bogart, Adelaide St., and was largely attended. Rev. Dr. Battisby conducted the services at he obsequies.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from the many relatives and friends left to mourn the departure from this life of one endeared to them by many acts of kindness and love. The pall-bearers were: Warren Lambert, Caleb Wheeler, Jas. Waugh, Edward Smith, John Holmes and Hy.

Sensational Case in Which She Charges Hubby With Beating Her and rer Little Child.

St. Joseph, Mich., March 18. - The nost sensational bill for divorce filed in the county clerk's office for many moons is that of Mrs. Lucy Jaquway a charming and accomplished Benton Harbor lady, and the supposed happy wife of Irving Jaquway, a prosperous young man doing all arge nursery the domestic trouble started within a few weeks and she left Jaquway a few-weeks and she left Jaquway and returned to her parents, but that after coaxing and pleading for three weeks she finally consented to go to her husband. He promised he would treat her kindly, a promise which he soon broke. She charges that he cursed her and several times struck her in the mouth and knocked her down. A few weeks ago, she charges, he started to whip the baby, and Mrs. Jaquway protested. He became enraged and chased her into a bedroom, where he struck her and knocked her down and threatened her down and threatened her.

Feb. 21, so the declaration says, they had a violent quarrel and agreed to separate. A lawyer was summoned and a contract was drawn summoned and a contract was drawn up supposing to give her the house and lot on High street, occupied by the parents of Mrs. Jaquway, and which her husband pretended to own; he also agreed to pay her $1 per day. She now says the contract is illegal, and asks that it be set aside. She further says that all the claim her husband has to the property is some tax titles which he purchased. Mrs. Jaquway for many years was a leadour special in Worsted—$6.00 gen-uine worsted pants, for $5.00; $5.50 worsted pants for $4. A genuine wor-sted suit, worth regularly $25 for $18. THE REWARD THE IT BROUGHT TO A PAIR OF SHARP MEN.

ow a Grateful Wool Broker Became a Millionaire and an Intelligent/Immigrant Became a Tavern Keeper - A Story of New South

One of the most interesting spots in Sydney is the point in the famous harbor known as "Mrs. Macquarle's chair." It is the eastern point of the omain, and the great natural seat in the rock facing down the harbor is said to have been a favorite resting place of the wife of Governor Macquarie, who epresented the British governmentiso as governor general of Australia-Sydney in the early days of the nineteenth century. "Mrs. Macquarie's chair" has long been the favorite resort of suicides and sweethearts, and many murders have been committed near the spot. It was also the main resort of shark fishers in the days when a reward was given for each shark fin deivered at the water police station, the object, of course, being to thin out the dread man eaters from the harbor, where they became plentiful and dangerous as the city of Sydney grew in

It was there one night that a broken down immigrant came to a strange turn in his fortunes. Not able to obtain employment, he spent his last shilling in a fishing line and shark hook and cast off from "Mrs. Macquarie's chair." After patiently waiting for some time, another tramp joined him, and this changed the luck, for he immediately got a fine "bite." It took the two all their time to haul the shark ashore, but when they got him in he proved a beauty-25 feet 10 inches long. They cut off his fin-15 shillings' worth in the morning-and, being anxlous to make all they could out of the haul, proceeded to "rob" the monster. They had often read of diamond rings, gold watches and pocketfuls of sovereigns being found inside sharks, for, while these fish can digest a man, they are not able to negotiate metal. Inside, among other things, they found the body of a Germ in, and from the papers in his pocketbook it was apparent that he must have been in London about three weeks before. Indeed in his overcoat pocket there was a copy of a London newspaper dated 20 days previously. It was in 1870, before the cable was laid between Europe and Australia, and the steamships took over six weeks on the voyage between London and Sydney. The paper contained news of the outbreak of the war between France and Germany, and it was apparent that the German, living in London, had been recalled home to serve in the army of the fatherland. had either jumped or fallen overboard in the channel and had been picked up by this great shark, which belonged to the fastest of his species.

In the morning the immigrant had a feed on his 10 shillings, having given 5 to his companion and sent him about his business. He had conceived a great idea and wished to have as few confederates as possible. Asking a policeman who was the greatest wool broker in Sydney and getting the address, he went straight down to the office, where his peculiarearnestness soon got him an audience with the busy broker. No one in Sydney at that moment dreamed of war between France and Germany, and woo! was being sold merrily at ninepence a pound. "Well, my man, what can I do for you?" asked the broker. "I want you to tell me," said the poor immigrant, "what the price of wool would be in Sydney should war break out between France and Germany. It is ninepence now.' "About 3 to 4 shillings," said the bro-

"Very well," replied the visitor. "Now, the French troops are marching on Berlin, and what promises to be a long and bloody war has actually be-"Nonsense," said the broker, "The mail from London came in yesterday. bringing news up to six weeks ago, and there is no news of that wild sort." The immigrant thereupon unfolded the London paper, dated three weeks previously. There was no humbug over that. There could be no humbug about it, for such a paper could not be produced in Sydney, and besides its matter gave abundant proof of its genuineness. Wool was already 4 shillings a pound on the London market.

On the Wool Exchange people thought that broker mad when they saw him buying up all the wool on the market and wiring offers all over the colonies. He made a "corner." at any rate, purchased all the wool in Australia and looked happy. Sure enough, in a few weeks' time out came the news by the mail steamer, and up went prices. The broker sold out for 3 shillings and more a pound and realized some £4,000,000 on the deal. He gave the intelligent immigrant an old suit of clothes and a £5 note for his "tip," and this set the poor chap up in the world. He has got along so well through the lucky stroke that he Is now keeping a public house in Wooloomooloo,-London Free Lance.

PRIVILEGES WHICH ARE ACCORDED BY LAW TO PEERS.

What Constitute the Necessaries of Life - They Widely Differ From Dake to Ordinary Mortal.

Recent hankruptcy cases in London have brought up various legal decisions which have been reached in England on the subject of what are necessaries of life for men of various stations and degrees who are not in command of their own incomes.

A duke, for instance, or even a ma quis or an earl is entitled by law to one bottle of champagne a day if his trustees hold the money to pay for it. In the case of the former Duke of Manchester the law decided that seven botties of champagne a week are neces sary to a duke whose affairs may be ! the hands of trustees and that if he had not the control of his own income he must be allowed to have a carriage with one horse, a riding horse as well, one manservant and a house with a rent of not less than £250 a year; otherwise he must be allowed to have the use of £2,000 a year, while the rest might be allowed to accumulate for the good of the estate till the trustee period expired. A viscount or a baron is allowed by law to describe as necessaries things which smaller fry might struggle along without. But a viscount's incomeprovided there is anybody to pay it-is fixed at £1,500 a year and a baron's at £1,000. He is supposing any guardians have a few thousands a year to pay out to him according to discretion, only entitled to claret as a beverage. for his yearly wine allowance only runs to £60, which would not keep him in champagne unless he drank it very seldom. The duke's wine bill may run to £150.

The viscount must have a carriage, but it may be attached for debt, and he cannot force his guardians to give him a horse. Of course, if he has no guardians, nor any income, either, he must do as other people and go without, but these things are considered necessary to peers. A manservant is allowed to a viscount or baron, but the house rent need not exceed £200, nor can it be less than £150.

A doctor is better off than a viscount in one way-his carriage cannot be seized in most cases, nor can the expenses of it be reckoned in his income tax returns. In selling up a doctor for debt he may retain one horse, and two of his carnets are considered as necessaries to his business-in the hall and consulting room-and reckoned at £20 apiece. He may have surgical instruments and medical appliances to the value of £1,000, and these cannot be seized.

An ordinary man can retain nothing but his clothes, his hairbrushes and a few stern necessaries of that kind. No wine is allowed to a doctor, but if a good wash and brush up and a full student in the hands of trustees, he can demand a couple of servants and a house rent of £60 per year.

The son of a well to do merchant or tradesman making about £1,000 a year can demand neither wine nor horses nor servants, but the law may allow him a rent of £50 and another £150 or £200 to keep himself on, supposing he is in the hands of guardians, whether under or over age. As to debt, he can be sold up, bar his personal necessaries and his clothes, though he is not generally allowed to keep more than six suits of the latter.

If he has more a judge might allow them to be taken with the other chattels, and he can be left without a chair to sit on or a spoon to eat with. Jewelry, if he has any, can be taken; but if he has, say, two pairs of valuable sleeve links he can keep only one of them. In the same way he may keep a dress suit, but if he has two an order may be made to sell up one of them.

A lawyer can have 500 books on legal subjects or in some way pertaining to law, and these have to be left alone by the brokers. There are extreme cases in which everything, even necessaries. may be taken, but the lawyer may also demand exemption even in such cases for his wigs, or at least two of them, and two gowns. As a student in the hands of guardians he can make them pay him £80 a year for chambers, and they must pay his examination and other fees. A clergyman or minister of any kind is worst off of all and can keep very little for himself. He can make his guardians come down with the fees his profession needs, however, and if he lives in the country as a curate and has some trustees and also a guardian he can make them supply him with a gardener.

Why She Wept.

Among the Mainutes, descendants of the Spartans, thieving is considered a very honorable employment. An English traveler, being entertained at the house of one of the mountaineers, took some silver articles from a packing case he had with him to eat his dinner with. At the sight of such costliness an old woman began to cry, the Englishman having asked what affected her so much:

"Alas, my good sir," she replied, "I weep because my son is not here to rob you of those beautiful things!"

"Mame," said the girl in the red shirt waist and plaid skirt, "ain't be just a prince?" "Oh, rats!" replied her lady friend, with dignity. "Any one kin see that be

"In addition to the development of the coal and coke industry, the pro-posed railway will open up a pros-will prove, from a public standpoint, of the very greatest importance.

"The success of the smelting indus-try depends upon the ability to astial to profitable smelting at the low

"I order to illustrate what I have said, permit me to point out how suit able a place Fernic, or some point adjacent thereto, would be for the establishment of a smelting industry. There we have the coke without any charge for hauling, while, to carry it to any smelting point south of the line would involve a hauling charge, as well as an American duty of 60 cents per ton. The limestone requir-ed is to be found at Fernie, with no expense expect the cost of quarrying. "The lead area of Southern British to find, and those adjacent to the soal fields could, at a trifling cost for transportation, be laid down at Fernie, or some other convenient point. The dry ores necessary to make workable and profitable mixtures and blends are not at present to be found in British Columbia, but are to be found through the adjacent mining States along the lines and connections of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railways; and the ore cars taking the coal and

and the ore cars taking the coal and coke from the mines at Fernie to supply the railways and established industries in these states, instead of coming back empty, would, at a low cost of transportation, bring back these dry ores to such a smelter. THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS. "In congratulating you upon the success of the last year's operations, it may be worth while to refer to the erroneous ideas that have gone abroad with regard to the management and control of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company. We are, in every respect, a Canadian enterprise, with a large majority of Canadian stockholders, under Canadian control and management, and are giving employment to a great force of labor on Canadian soil. We are developing Canada's natural resources in one of the most important economic minerals, and are building up an immense Canadian industry, which is bringing wealth to the Dominion, and which, we feel assured will constitute a most import ant factor in the Canadian industrial development of the future, unless our operations are restricted by a limited market and inadequate railway fa-

"It affords me great pleasure to announce that we are prepared to pro-ceed at once with the construction and development work, involving an immediate expenditure of $835,000, and we already have this money in the treas-ury of the Company for this purpose. This large sum does not include the railway project, to which I will refer later, but will be devoted exclusively to development work, the building of coke—evens, dwellings, offices, and other works in connection with the coal and coke industry of the Company. We intend to build at Fernie, Michel, and at another suitable point, 720 coke ovens, which will involve an expenditure of $540,000 under this head alone. We will then have 1,032 ovens, which will increase our capacity for production from over 450 per day, as at present, to more than 1,500 tons per day. Our expenditure will also include more than a quarter of a million dollars on mine improvements, offices, and miners' dwellings.

"These expenditures and the exten-sive and coke-producing operations that-are to follow will create and maintain two new towns in the coal district as large as Fernie, which now owes its existence to the works carried on by this Company.

"There is a prospective demand, provided we obtain access to the American market, as I shall hereafter mention, for 4,500 tons of coal per day within a year, and in three years we expect to increase our output to about 6,000 tons of coal per day, a large portion of which will be converted into coke in our ovens, and within five we expect to have a pay roll of sufficient to maintain three important industrial centres in the coal district.

"All business men will at once realize how important such a development will be to the country at large, as mining camps are invariably extensive consumers of suppliies. Not only will there be the direct employment for several thousand additional Canadian workingmen, but a new and more extensive demand will be created for the products of Canadian factories in the East, and the food supplies from the Western farms and cattle ranches. "It is only fair to you, however, to state that the present demand of British Columbia for coal and coke would not justify any such expenditures as we propose to make. This is self-evi-dent when I state that the present demand of British Columbia does not exceed 1,000 tons of coal and coke per day, and we cannot expect this demand to increase in the near future, even under most favorable conditions, so as to justify such expenditures.

"In order that we may proceed with the development it will be absolutely necessary to secure access to the Am erican markets by a route that will put us in a position to successfully compete with the coal and coke producers already in the field. If denied access to the American markets ex cept by roundabout routes; if delayed in our operations by legislative obstruction; if prevented in any way from cutting down the cost of production to the narrowest possible margin, our success in the field will be proportionately cramped, and it will be quite impossible to undertake the development now proposed. "Recognizing, therefore, the necessi-ty of obtaining direct access to the adacent markets of the United States, liament by five of your directors for a charter to build a railway from the coal fields to the boundary, where is is intended to connect with a spur line from Jennings, on the Great Northern railway. This is simply an effort to secure entrance by the best possible route, to an almost unlimited marke for coal and coke, where we must mee the keenest competition, and withou this market any large development of these British Columbia coal fields will be practically impossible. "The fear has been expressed in some quarters that the establishment of could so easily or so profitably be established.

"If a smelting industry for Canadian ores were established south of the line, there would be, as above mentioned, the cost of transportation of the coke to the site of the smelting industry, the duty on this coke entering the United States, the cost of transporting the lead ores from British Columbia to the site of the proposed smelter, and the American duties on the lead ores entering the United States, which, upon the quality of ore found in some of the best mines in British Columbia, would probably be about $9 per ton.

"Simply on the items of transportation there would be the serious handicap of the ore cars bringing down the seakes and the see from British cap of the ore cars bringing down the coke and the ore from British Columbia to a smelter on the American side being compelled to seturn empty, and this would necessarily entail a proportionately higher freight rate.

"Not the least important factor in the situation is the fear in the minds of American capitalists interested in the mining industry of the West that an export duty may be put upon ores by the Canadian Government, and this would cripple any smelting in-dustry established on the American side dependent upon Canadian ores as its source of supply.

"That this is not simply theory, but the mature judgment of practical smelting men, is evidenced by the fact that we have the most positive assurances from a smelting man of large capital and experience that if we obtain the proposed railway con-nection he will at once commence the erection of a large smelting plant in British Columbia adjacent to the coal fields; and we have assurances scarcely less definite, from others, of the establishment of three or four more smelting industries at other suitable points in Southern British Columbia, provided the proposed road is built.

"The prospect, therefore, for South-ern British Columbia would appear to be exceedingly bright. Once the charter for the railway is assured, the construction of the coke ovens, the building of the homes for the miners, and the virtual establishment of two new towns in Southern British Columbia will await only the opening of the season. Scarce more time will elapse, from the assurances we now have, before more than one large smelting industry will be put under way, and hundreds of thou-sands of dollars will be invested in developing this important industry in that country. "With improved transportation fa-cilities, as well as the improved smelting facilities which would be seopen up without notice as often as they might feel inclined, and the cured, a smelter could secure freight charges and give rates for treatment side only require about 300 tons of coke per day. If we are restricted as to markets, there will be higher inithat are now impossible.

"It is hardly necessary to dwell at length on the resultant benefits to mining and other enterprises in Brit-ish Columbia. These benefits are self-evident.

"In every lead mine there are mass-es of ore that will not pay at the present rate for treatment; in every camp there are propositions and mines just too lean to tempt operaon the continent. There will be competition from the existing sources of supply—from Cokedale, on Puget Sound, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Utah and Colorado. There are also immense coal deposits in Montana, Washington and other places, which may prove when tested to be of green tors or investors. Every dollar tak-en off the charge for treatment means thousands of tons more of ore means thousands of tons more of ore available and proportionately swells the pay rolls of every camp. Every dollar reduction in smelter charges widens the pay streak of every mine, and brings new mines within the pay-would be a great misfortune to British Columbia and to the Domin-ion at large if this opportunity should be lost through the failure to secure adequate means of transportation There are rival projects south of the boundary. Immense coal areas in the States of Washington and Montana are in process of development, and if the parties interested in these prop-erties once secure possession and con-trol of the market in these states for coal and coke, I fear the coal and coke of British Columbia will stand a very poor chance of ever taking it from them. "The promoters of this railway ask no cash bonus or land grant of any kind; they simply desire the opportunity of expending their own money to construct a railway which will be of great public benefit.

"We now have a prospect of building up a city as large as Butte in the Crow's Nest coal district; and I can-not think it possible that either the parliament of Canada or the Legislaparliament of Canada or the Legisla-ture of British Columbia, will place any barrier in the way of the indus-trial development of our country, or will adopt a course which may delay that development half a century. therefore look forward with conf lence to a charter being granted; and this being done, the development which I have outlined will be at once proceeded with; but, unless the charter is granted, the development outlined cannot be undertaken."

Mr. Elias Rogers, Managing Direc tor, gave an interesting address destailing the last year's operations of the company. The usual formal resolutions were adopted, and all the the members of the Board were relected for the ensuing year.

HE GOT ONLY THREE VOTES

Bourassa Gets Poor Support for His Pro-Boer Resolution.

Both Parties Unite to Snow it Under Sir Wilfrid's Patriotic Speech.

Ottawa, March 13 .- Mr. Bourassa, of Labelle, made his usual flamboyant and bombastic anti-Imperial speech yesterday in support of his stop-the war resolution on motion to go into supply. It called practically for the restoration of the independance of the Orange State and Transvaal, and protested against sending out any more troops to South Africa or permitting enlistment of recruits for constabu-

Mr. Bourassa contended that his motion did not mean that he had receded from his position that Canada should not interfere in South Africa-a position held by the govenment up to October, 1899. But having taken part in the war Canada had the right to demand that she should be consulted in the settlement of the war for which we had been taxed with our blood and money. He contended we had a right to a voice in all Imperial affairs, although he maintained our military ex-ploits should be confined to the defense of Canada. It was time, he said, to put a stop to the speculations of Sir Alfred Milner and Mr. Chamberlain, on the generosity and enthusiasm of Canadians. This, in connection with the enenlisting of men in Canada for the South African constabulary. Denouncing the new Imperialism, he said that the new Britisher, the bigger he grows in Empire the smaller he gets in respect for the opinions of others. Mr. Chamberlain had misused the resolution of the Canadian parliament to serve his own ends, he said, and then went on to talk of the growing audacity of the "master of the Empire." Sir W. Laurier had said the other day that Canada had not been consulted yet Mr. Chamberlain declared he had the opinion of all the colonies on the terms of settlement. Would Canada stand this manufacture of opinion for her by Mr. Chamberlain? Was Cana-da to accept the position of the deceiv-ed but contented husband? Reaction was setting in in his (Bourassa's) for or, but he would admit it was not yet so marked as to justify the declarations, of his friends, the Liberal can-didates in the late election, that Imperialism in Canada was a thing of past. Quoting from the Lo don Times in regard to the unwilling Wilfrid Laurier to send a con which the Times said was due to be educated upon the point, Mr .Bourassa said:-"Now, I would like to ask belief that French-Canadians needed to the Premier how far and on what lines he proposes to carry out that process of education?" Speaking of the election result in Quebec as bearing upon the contingent question, he declared both parties there were blaming each other for having forced the govern-Brunswick and Manitoba the Conserives had lost everywhere except where their candidates were pro-Boer.

(Laughter.) The tame recept on given to the second contingent upon i s return was another evidence of reaction in the province's opinion, and in this connection he quoted words of the Woodstock Sentinel Review to the effect that the reception there was more like a funeral. All these evidences convinced him that loyalty was about as clastic as a politician's conscience. He quoted also the Militia Gazette against helping Canadians to join the South African constabulary. And he oined in the regret that the Canadian lovernment should assist in recruiting men n Canada for the benefit of Cecil Rhodes. He then went into a half-hour's review of ncidents of the election in Quebec to prove that Laurier's successes in that province was not an indication of an approval of the war, nor of the sending of the contingents. The action of the Government was not approved in Quebec, but excused on the plea that it would have been worse if the Tories had been in power. Mr. Charlton came in for denunciation at Mr. Bourassa's bands. He deciared there was no need to station a British garrison in Quebec. The great loyalty of French-Canadians was evidence of that; but such talk as Mr. Charlton's was enough but real Boers. Mr. Tarte applauded.

As Mr Tarte had said in France As Mr Tarte had said in France, the speaker continued, 99 per cent. of French-Canadians were against the war, but only as other British subjects were, as all the civilized nations were. He concluded with denunciation of the Imperialists and a glorification of the Little Englander, arguing that he had been branded as a traitor merely because he refused to traitor merely because he refused to slander the Queen by holding her re-sponsible for the policy of Mr. Chamberlain.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, scored Mr. Bourassa for inconsistency in opposing the policy that Canada should fight for the Empire in South Africa and then asking to force our opinion on England as to how we should set-tle the war. Mr. Bourassa claimed to be the sole champion of liberty; yet he refused liberty to British sub-jects in Canada to enlist in the constabulary or any other force in which they might choose to serve their King. As for Mr. Bourassa's proposed advice as to the terms of settle-ment of the war, Sir Wilfrid Laurier held it was tantamount to asking that the South African republics should be restored to independence. But why should the Boers complain of annexation since at the very outset they overran and annexed part of Natal and Cape Colony to the re-publics? They had appealed to the god of battles, and the issue had been decided against them. (Cheers.) The Boers had misused the independonce granted to them by Mr. Glad-stone in 1881, and broken faith pledged stone in 1881, and broken faith pledged in the Sand River convention, refusing the franchise promised then to the Outlanders. To this, as documents found after the capture of Pretoria showed, even Dr. Villiers, the Boer Chief Justice of South Africa, attributed the downfall of the republics. The only solution of the war settlement was the formation of a South African confederacy, in which Britain and Beer would have equal rights, liberty and justice under the British flag. He con-

AFTER EFFECT OF GRIP

Are Often More Serious That the Gip itself.

Physicians and grip sufferers alike are agreed that the after effects of the disease are more to be feared than the acute attack; agreed that the after effects of the disease are more to be feared than the acute attack; you can never be sure that the disease has left the system completely.

La Grippe naturally attacks the weakest organ and leaves it still weaker.

Not only pneumonia, consumption, bron chitis and throat trouble follow the grip, but kidney, liver and stomach are troubles just as liable to result, provided any of these organs should happen to be in a weak condition at the time of attack.

To get rid of the grip germ, to get it entirely out of the system and blood, few remedies are so good and none safer than Stuart's Catarrah Tablets; they are not a compound of powerful and dangerous drugs, but a pleasant, palatable, convenient remedy in tablet form, composed of the wholesome antiseptic principles of Eucalyptus bark, blood root and similar germicide remedies which are perfectly wholesome and harmless to the system, but death to the germs of grip, catarrh, consumption and diseases of the throat and air passages.

Mrs. Chas. Gormley, of Memphis says: Last winter an attack of the girp left me with weak back, a persistent cough and loss of flesh and appetite and after using various remedies for months with little or no improvement I finally, bought a 50 cent package of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my drug store and as they were pleasant and convenient to take I used them at all times of day and night and I was astonished to secure such fine results from so pleasant and convenient a medicine. In two weeks my cough disappeared, my appetite reand convenient a medicine. In two week my cough disappeared, my appetite re-turned. I improved in flesh and color and no one would now think that I ever had such a thing as the grip.

My druggist told me he sold more of

grip, colds and catarrh, than other similar medicines.

length redingotes.

A still greatly favored, simple, but effective trimming for the edge of dress skirts of silk, light wool and costume satin is a narrow shirred or plaited ruche of the dress fabric finished on each edge with a band of bebe velvet ribbon.

The newest designs in cutwork in cloth or velvet are outlined either with a tiny thread of gold cord or chenille, and girdle ends, collars and rever points trimmed with this brightened cutwork have little gold ferrets or sequins as a finish.

For Lenten wear high class designers are already preparing some elegant black costumes, both in princess and skirt and jacket forms, designed both for church services and for quiet Lenten dinners, sacred concerts and general evening uses. The revived Louis XV style of dress introduces a decollete bodice slightly pointed and framed with a drapery of costly lace headed with soft, dainty folds of satin or chiffon, ending in full choux on the left shoulder and upper portion of the bodice near the arm.

THE VERDICT.

A miser who lived in one filthy room in England has just died and left $5,000,000 to charity. Who will say that man lived in vain?-Cleveland Leader.

That Harvard professor who proposes to make burning at the stake a legal penalty evidently belongs to the middle ages instead of the twentieth century .-- Pitts burg Times. The British are calling for army re-form. In fact, all around there seems to be a general demand for a prompt and vigorous locking of empty stable doors.-Baltimore American. Although better roads are demanded by farmers and citizens generally, the demand is now being made doubly emphatic by the growing use of the automo bile.-Syracuse Post-Standard. Even old Rome is paying the penalty of denuding forests. The Tiber has re cently been on a tear which cost the inhabitants in its vicinity $7,500,000. Protect nature, and nature will protect you. -St. Louis Star. Contemplation of the probability of a coal famine in the west is not pleasant, but it is an effectual reminder of the fact that this country has expanded faster than people realize. This impending famine is due solely to the fact that the coal is used faster than it is dug.

WEST POINT TACTICS.

Hazing is one of the last relies of barbarism which the nineteenth century did not eliminate.—Philadelphia Press. When some of the exercises in hazing are described, it becomes a little difficult to decide whether the custom is brutal or merely idiotic.-Washington Star.

It seems pertinent to inquire whether the nation maintains West Point for the education of officers of the American a my or for the training of efficient valets. -Indianapolis Press.

Some day the right wild western boy will be sent to West Point, and then the dudish hazers will hide away in the rocky bluffs of the historic Hudson until he can be roped and brought back home.—Den-

It is a nice question whether a man would prefer to go through the battle of Gettysburg or sit in ice water and drink a bottle of red pepper sauce as a fresh-man at West Point.—St. Louis Globe-

Democrat. The conduct of the Military academy at West Point has been shown to be both ridiculous and vicious. The government of the United States should not be ex pected to run an elaborate establishmen for the entertainment of "Silly Billies."

ELIXIR OF LIFE. The newly discovered elixir of life, it salt really does turn out to be that long sought boon, ought to be cheap enough to place longevity within the reach of all. The preservative of tissues, the protection from and prevention of diseases, the surgical as well as therapeutic skill that marks modern medicine, all tend to give the human being who is endowed with phenomenal vitality an unusual length of life. But all this is far from indicating anything so absurd as the discovery of an elixir of life.

LAUNDRY LINES. When washing flannels, get rid of as much dust and dirt as you possibly can by shaking and brushing before plunging Use corn flour instead of ordinary starch for stiffening laces. This makes them firm and does not detract from the

'lacy" appearance. Wash flatirons occasionally with warm water to every two quarts of which has been added half a tablespoon of melted lard. Wipe thoroughly and set in a warm place till perfectly free from mois-

CONGRESSIONAL CUTS.

When we read that 287 lawyers are members of congress, our wonder grows at the number of bills passed which law-yers on the bench find constitutional.— Louisville Post.

When congress can learn the art of veting on legislative questions with the unanimity and dispatch that it votes on a motion to adjourn for the holidays, we shall win the world's record for legislative speed.

TABLOID JOURNALISM.

Perhaps Mr. Alfred Harmsworth could find a good field for labor in editing the almanac.—Baltimore American.

It isn't size that makes or unmakes a newspaper. If it were, the yardstick would be mightier than the pen.—Boston Herald.

Mr. Harmsworth fails to explain hor his coming newspaper trust can have a brisk controversy with itself.—Philadel-phia Ledger.
