DONT MISS THE POINT

There is a man in this part of the world who represents, to our thinking, a pretty good average of human nature. Whenever the preacher in his church delivers a very hot sermon against some special kind of sin, this man gets enthusiastic and goes around to the vestry to tell the preacher what a fine sermon it was.

Early next month the biggest public campaign ever put on in Canada will be opened to get subscriptions for the fourth Canadian war loan, the Victory Loan. The thing people in this district must bear in mind is: that the appeals are directed to each and every one of them. It is not merely the well-off men and women who are being asked to invest. It is everybody. The little sermons which will be "preached" in the advertising should not be taken as hints to the well-to-do people only. Every man and woman should watch for these advertisements and start now to gather up the necessary money to buy either a fifty or a hundred or five hundred or a thousand dollar bond.

The first thing anyone should do, in our opinion, is to get rid of the idea that there is any sacrifice involved in investing in this loan. It is true that the patriotic spirit is appealed to and it is equally true that a great and generous response is expected on that ground. But the new war loan is a straightforward business proposition: safe, profitable, pressed, to "do away with the middleman." Such goals may be partially achieved. How or how little can be done will be made known to the public from time to time as I find necessary.

But however great may be the hardship of present food prices, however popular would be the movement to have the government sell fish or any other commodity at cost, however overburdened Canada may be with the class of people known as middlemen—radical measures cannot be promised, except upon such terms as I have just indicated.

I must remind those Canadians who are perhaps unaware of the facts, that seven main factors may be said to govern the present prices of food:

First: the disproportion between demand and supply, consumption and production; food cannot be cheap while there is such a growing disparity between the numbers of producers and the numbers of consumers.

Second: unrestrained competition between great foreign buyers of food-stuffs in our markets.

Third: unequal distribution of the available supplies being unavailable in one province being unavailable for provinces in which were shortages.

Fourth: the food speculator.

Fifth: the greedy middleman.

Sixth: the supernumerary, unnecessary and inefficient middleman.

And seventh: the waster.

The first of those is a word condition and can be affected by the efforts of one food controller in a short period of time. The second has been corrected by the creation of central buying officers for the entente powers. The third is being overcome by close co-operation with the railway companies. The fourth is being checked as rapidly as our committees and staff can gather correct information as to costs, and device remedies and penalties. The seventh we are hoping to eliminate by appeal and by education.

But the sixth, the supernumerary, unnecessary and inefficient middleman, whose presence in the community is one of the most serious economic wastes of the day, whose low standards of efficiency set the standards of the whole community—beyond any but the mildest powers of the Food Controller. This, one of the most serious aggravations of the high-price situation should own one of these new bonds, and not only that, but should help to show others the worth of these bonds by recommending them; everywhere. The readers of this paper are among the most thrifty, prosperous and public spirited in the Dominion. When the subscriptions to the Victory Loan are added up from the various districts and sub-districts we expect them to show that this part of the great Dominion has been true to its traditions and just to its opportunities.

CAPTAIN C. O. ALLEN IN HUN PRISON CAMP

Two letters were received here Thursday from a prison camp in Brandenburg, forty miles from Berlin. They are from Captain C. O. Allen, of the steamer Strathcona, of the Canada Steamship Lines, which was sunk by a submarine early last spring.

The letters, which bear the stamp of the German censor, are remarkable for the statements which that official has allowed to pass. The Captain is allowed to go into the town once a week to do some shopping. "If I had a cart load of canned stuff," he says "there would not be much left in the country which I could not buy even at the enhanced prices of everything."

Another statement is, "I am looking to hungry stomachs, not big guns to bring the end. Another winter campaign would be too great a strain on humanity."

In the camp at Brandenburg from 40 to 500 parcels of food arrive daily for the prisoners, and they have a good variety. The letter is dated August 15. —Halifax Chronicle.

SUBMARINE TOLL FOR THE WEEK

LONDON, October 24.—An increase in the loss of British merchantmen thru mines or submarines is noted in the Admiralty report for the current week. Seventeen vessels over 1600 tons and eight under 1600 tons were sunk. In the previous week 12 British merchant vessels over 1600 tons, 6 under that tonnage, and one fishing vessel were sunk.

MISS PARKER BRIDE OF JOHN HODGE

A very pretty busy Canadian city and town, was and still is dependent for its wages upon the movement of farm goods to the city and city goods to the farm, and all the over-specialized, over elaborated, processes which a luxurious civilization imagines are necessary to its happiness.

While the average consumer in our cities is giving vent to his resentment against the middlemen in general and against the big middlemen (the packing and distributing corporations, for example), in particular, he overlooks two vital facts: first, that he himself is probably a middleman of the least essential and least efficient sort and dependent for his living upon the continuance of an effete economic condition; and, second, that any government regulation tending by radical means to reduce the middlemen's "spread" or marginal profit, tends to wipe out the unnecessary and inefficient middlemen and to make still richer the big middlemen and his corporation. I do not say this is just. I only point out that it is true and that so long as it is true the food controller cannot "cut prices," or "wipe out the middlemen," or "sell goods at cost."

The Food Controller knows, for example, that cod steaks can be sold at a profit by certain large retail organizations in Toronto at fourteen cents a pound. It would seem to be in the immediate interests of the Toronto householder to direct that fourteen cents be the maximum retail price for cod steaks in Toronto. But indirectly such an order would ruin the very man it aimed to benefit. For such legislation, directed against one class of trade, could not consistently be denied against other classes of trade. It would force out of the business not only the ordinary dealers in cod steaks but, to be consistent—all small dealers. The small milk dealer must then be asked to operate on as small a "spread" as the large milk concern—a thing he cannot do owing to his smaller volume of turnover. The ordinary butcher would then have to give way to the department store butcher, the modest bakery to the large bread factory, and the little grocer to the big one.

There has not, been, and there will not be, an instant's hesitation to bring to bear all the powers of the Food Controller against any producer or middleman whom we find in our present investigations to be making an solemnized Thursday afternoon at 130 Ogden Street, was united in marriage to John A. Hodge.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's uncle, Fred Meek, 1732 Race Street, and was witnessed by about 13 relatives and friends.

Rev. A. H. G. Morse of the First Baptist church officiated, using the ring ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Metcalf as maid of honor, and little Minnafred Manley was flower girl, while Master Rupert Meek, Jr., acted as ring bearer.

George F. Hudson attended Mr. Hodge as best man.

The bride was attired in a suit of burgundy with a hat of white velour, and wore a corsage bouquet of white bride's roses and gardenias.

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Clara H. Van Buren, assisted by Miss Ruby Beal on the violin. After the ceremony, refreshments were served and the newly wedded pair departed on a brief honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs and Glenwood Springs.

The young people have resided in the city for several years and have a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Hodge holds a responsible position with the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. They will be at home after Nov. 1 at 1250 Ogden Street.—Denver Post.

Mrs. Annie Meek Parker lived in Canning and went to Denver four years ago where she and her daughter have since resided. Miss Parker is a niece of C. H. Meek, Canning. She was a stenographer in Halifax before going to Calgary five years ago.

Dr. Morse is a Nova Scotian, a graduate of Acadia and a cousin of T. H. Morse, Berwick.

REV. THOMAS SPURGEON DEAD

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Rev. Thomas Spurgeon, former pastor of the Metropolitan tabernacle died here Saturday. The Rev. Mr. Spurgeon was born in 1856, the son of Charles H. Spurgeon, the famous English Baptist preacher.

interfered with owing to the tabernacle of butter, those who seek public favour by crying out against middlemen, those who—by the way—decline to co-operate with the Food Controller because he cannot lend his office for the promotion of this or that propaganda, study for a moment the complexity of connection and cross-connection in the economic fabric. Let them observe not just the first, but the second and third effects of the legislation they ask.

It may be said by the hasty that the Food Controller is defending the big interests, or that he condones a condition in society which, at the same time, he blames for causing high prices. But it is not so necessary that he should be proven free of prejudice and disinterested as it is important for Canadians to realize the truth of their condition. The thoughtful, the public-spirited and the just-minded men and women who constitute the great bulk of our country's population will be quick to understand me when I say that the Food Controller will be among the first to welcome any reduction of the cost of our middleman system, if and when the Canadian people show that they understand the price and are ready to pay it—to accept temporarily, ruin to every city and town in the country.

THE MAN IN THE TRENCH.

(By James Benard Fagan.)

Can you not hear me, young men in the street? Is it nothing to you who pass by, Who down the dim-lit ways in thousand rooms? From here watch you, through the driving sleet, Under the evening sky, Hurrying home. Home!—how the word sounds like a bell— I wonder can you know, as I know well, That in this trench Of death and stench I stand between your home and hell.

I am the roof that shields you from the weather, I am the gate that keeps the brigand back, When pillage, fire, and murder come together, I am the wall that saves your home from sack, Man! when you look upon the girl you prize, Can you imagine horror in those eyes? You have not seen, you cannot understand, This trench is England, all this ruined land Is where you wander, street, or field, or strand, Save for God's grace, and for the guns that rest Upon this dripping wudbank of the west.

Our blood has stained your threshold—will you strain Your soul, give nothing and take all our gain? Why did I come? I ask not, nor repent; Something blazed up inside me, and I went. The khaki fringe is frayed, and a rent Needs men—needs, men and I am almost spent. Night, and the "ready" so sleep well my friend. The guns again are going I must stick it to the end.

ed up two hours by a boat from one of the other sunken steamers. It is reported from Utvar that seventeen men from a British destroyer arrived there at three o'clock in the morning Friday. It was at this port that a Norwegian torpedo boat touched with thirty-seven survivors from various sunken steamers.

LONDON Oct. 22.—The British destroyer Mary Rose fought single-handed against the German cruisers in the convey action in the North Sea according to a story ascribed to a British officer rescued off Bergen, and transmitted by the Christianian correspondent of the Times. The other destroyer, which should have been present, never appeared, and it is thought likely that it was destroyed at the beginning of the action.

After fighting heroically for half an hour, during which she was subjected to the most terrific concentric fire, the Mary Rose sank. The members of the crew were found clinging to buoys and rescued.

The correspondent says that the reports of the butchery of the crews of the merchantmen pass description. Two women on one ship waved a piece of white cloth, which was perfectly visible. They were silenced by a volley from the German cruisers.

UNION GOVERNMENT HAS ABOLISHED PARTY PATRONAGE

The decision of the new Union Government to abolish party patronage lists will be a great mental triumph for the whole of the Dominion. It is a necessary change and an enlargement of the latter body. The present head of the Commission is Sir Edward Kemp, and his other members are Messrs. George E. Galt and H. H. Porter. Sir Edward is going to London, however, and a new head must be found, together with possibly two additional members. It is stated that a prominent Liberal will be found for chairman of the Commission.

DEATH OF LEADER S. DICKIE

Word has just been received here of the death of Philadelphia on Thursday, Oct. 18th of Leader S. Dickie, a man well known and most highly esteemed in that city.

Mr. Dickie had been in only 12 days of Philadelphia and the last word received was that he was improving.

He was a son of the late George Dickie of Lower Canada and his mother died two years ago at the advanced age of 107 years. He left Kings County many years ago and of late has been engaged in the manufacturing of hats in Philadelphia. In business circles he was prominent and well informed on questions of the day and prominent in charitable work and needs.

He leaves a sorrowing wife who has been in hospital for some time at the result of an accident. His brothers and sisters are as follows: Mrs. James Borda of North Grand Pre, James Borda of Kentville, Messrs. Herbert S. and Elmer of Lower C. and Mrs. M. sister Amanda who was summoned to Philadelphia from near by at the time of his death.

BREAD AND POTATOES WILL BE BULK OF RATION

THE MIDDLETON, OUTLOOK

COPENHAGEN, October 22nd (The Press).—The session of the Budget Committee of the Provisional Diet, the session of which was held behind closed doors, shows that except for the potatoes crop, which promises to be satisfactory, the food situation is by no means as rosy as the Government has been trying to paint it.

Bread and potatoes will be the bulk of the ration as the meat allowance will almost certainly be reduced. Milk and butter will be available even in smaller amounts than now, when infants must be fed on milk.

READY FOR RAIN

THE FOOL

(By Robert Service) "But it isn't playing the game," he said, "and he slammed his books away."

"The Latin and Greek I've got in my head 'Will do for a commoner day.' 'Rubbish!' I cried. 'The bugle's call. Isn't for lads from school.' 'Dye think I would listen? Oh, not at all!'"

So I called him a fool, a fool! Now there his dog by his empty bed, And the fute he used to play, And his favorite hat . . . but Dick he's dead.

Somewhere in France they say, Dick with his rapture of song and sun, 'Dick of the yellow hair, 'Dicky' whose life had but begun, Carried out there.

Look at his prizes all in a row, Surely a hint of fame; Now he's finished with nothing to show 'Doesn't it seem a shame? Look from the window! All you see Was to be his one day, Forest and furrow, lawn and tea, And he goes and chucks it away.

Throws his way to die in the dark, Somebody saw him fall; Part of him mud, part of him blood, The rest of him—not at all. And yet I'll bet he was never afraid And he went as the best of 'em go, For his hand was clenched on his broken blade.

And his face was turned to the foe, And I called him a fool! I how blind was I, Oh, the cup of my grief's abrim, Will Glory o' England ever die? So long as we've lads like him? So long as we've fond and fearless fools, Who, spurring fortune and fame, Turn out with the rallying cry of their schools, Intent on playing the game?

A fool! Ah, no, he was more than wise; His was the proudest part, He died with the glory of faith in his eyes, And the glory of love in his heart. And though there's never a grave to tell, Nor a cross to mark his fall, Thank God! we know that he "batted well" In the last great game of all!

MR. ROSENBERG 589 Casgrain St., Montreal, April 20th, 1915.

"In my opinion, no other medicine in the world is so curative for Constipation and Indigestion as 'Fruit-a-lives'." I was suffering from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis—with waxy Headache, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and Pain in the Back. I tried pills and medicines of physicians, but nothing helped me. Then I was induced to try "Fruit-a-lives", and now for six months I have been entirely well.

A Favorite In Canada

The steady demand for Overland Light Four touring cars in the Dominion is the strongest argument we can advance in their favor.

This sturdy little Overland traveler has proved a favorite right from the start.

It appeals strongly to those who want and need a moderately priced car—one that is not too big and costly to maintain or too small for riding comfort and pride of ownership.

The Overland Light Four strikes a happy medium. Let us show you this car. Let us demonstrate its advantages.

A ride in it is mighty convincing.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT

Mrs. Sheldon Spent $1900 for Treatment Without Benefit. Finally Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Englewood, Ill. — "While going through the change of life I suffered with nervousness, flashes of heat, and I suffered much. I did not know what I was doing at times. I spent $1900 on doctors and not one did me any good. One day a lady called at my house and said she had been as sick as I was at one time, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her well. I cannot understand why women don't see how much pain and suffering they would escape by taking your medicine. I cannot praise it enough for it saved my life and kept me from the insane hospital." — Mrs. E. Sheldon, 5577 E. Halsted St., Chicago, Ill.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, but this case steadily grew worse, do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complication exists, says the doctor, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, N. B. for special service.

WIN THE WAR POLICY

WINNIPEG, October 22.—I believe in the Union Government, this is the only government that will have some into it," declared Hon. T. A. Cresser, minister of agriculture, this morning.

The outlook should be the very best. The people of Canada have been waiting for a Union Government for two years, and now they have one. Our policy is to win the war and to build up a comprehensive domestic enterprise.

TRAGIC EVENT OCCURS NEAR SPRINGFIELD

AMHERST, October 21.—Alfred Smith, who resides a few miles from Springfield, was killed in a tragic accident on Sunday morning by having his car run over by a train.

His wife passed away and since then he has been suffering from melancholia. Apparently he has been a trifle out of his head. The family however had no idea the disaster would lead their father to take such a step. A doctor was summoned but could not resuscitate the victim of the tragedy. The late Mr. Smith was sixty years of age. He is survived by six sons, five near at home.

His daughter, Annie, who lives at Springfield, is also a victim of the tragedy. She is now in a hospital.

PROSPECTS FOR COUNTRY AND UNION GOVERNMENT

The following resolution was passed at the recent Synod and ordered to be read in all the Presbyterian churches:

"The Synod does not consider it necessary to reaffirm in detail its former expressed convictions in regard to the nature of the gigantic struggle in which the country is at present engaged. Suffice it to state that in its judgment the defence of the fundamental principles of a Christian civilization—justice, liberty and honor among the nations—demanded that it would be entered upon by the British Empire and by Canada as a constituent part thereof. These convictions, deliberately affirmed by the first Synod after the beginning of the war, far from being lessened have been only intensified and deepened by the progress of the struggle. The unrelenting ruthlessness and ferocity which are the most marked characteristics of the war, carried on by the enemy, the employment of every inhuman device and device which have placed within man's reach—these have only emphasized the fundamentally moral nature of the struggle in which we are involved and have increased the conviction that there can be no stopping short of the complete overthrow of German militarism for the maintenance of the basal principles of civilization."

"But the Synod would very earnestly point out that the end is not yet in sight. The strength of the enemy, although weakened, is far from destroyed, and the high interests at stake are such as to demand for their vindication and preservation, still, further and greater efforts and sacrifices than as a country we have yet made. In particular at the present time, in the Synod's judgment, the following demands are imperatively made upon us as a people, if we are to make our worthy and effective contribution to the winning of victory:

(1) The maintaining of unity within our own Dominion and the discouraging of everything that would tend in any measure to stir up or create an internal division of spirit.

(2) A vigorous and complete support of the Union Government, which will enlist the sympathy and active support of all parties for the winning of the war.

(3) Government control of the munitions and warlike power of the country and all its resources, public and private, for the purpose of the war.

(4) A vigorous and complete support of the industrial and commercial life of the country, which are the basis of our strength.

(5) The maintenance of the highest standards of morality and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the moral standard of the people.

(6) The maintenance of the highest standards of education and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the educational standard of the people.

(7) The maintenance of the highest standards of health and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the health standard of the people.

(8) The maintenance of the highest standards of industry and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the industrial standard of the people.

(9) The maintenance of the highest standards of patriotism and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the patriotic standard of the people.

(10) The maintenance of the highest standards of loyalty and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the loyal standard of the people.

(11) The maintenance of the highest standards of courage and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the courageous standard of the people.

(12) The maintenance of the highest standards of honor and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the honorable standard of the people.

(13) The maintenance of the highest standards of justice and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the just standard of the people.

(14) The maintenance of the highest standards of mercy and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the merciful standard of the people.

(15) The maintenance of the highest standards of peace and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the peaceful standard of the people.

(16) The maintenance of the highest standards of love and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the loving standard of the people.

(17) The maintenance of the highest standards of hope and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the hopeful standard of the people.

(18) The maintenance of the highest standards of faith and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the faithful standard of the people.

(19) The maintenance of the highest standards of charity and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the charitable standard of the people.

(20) The maintenance of the highest standards of kindness and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the kind standard of the people.

(21) The maintenance of the highest standards of gentleness and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the gentle standard of the people.

(22) The maintenance of the highest standards of meekness and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the meek standard of the people.

(23) The maintenance of the highest standards of mildness and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the mild standard of the people.

(24) The maintenance of the highest standards of sweetness and the discouraging of anything that would tend to lower the sweet standard of the people.

LIFE IN A WAR HOSPITAL

Written by a Port Williams Boy to his father A. C. Murphy, Church St. County of London, War Hospital, Horton, Epsom, September 16, 1917.

Dear Father:
 Just a few lines this morning. I have been transferred again.

I left Hursley Park a week ago tomorrow and came to Epsom to Woodcote Convalescent Hospital I was there for a few days and came down here Friday.

My right eye has gone bad again the poison is still in it and yesterday it started paining in earnest and bled for half an hour so by the looks of things I will be here for awhile yet. They found a bit of shrapnel about half the size of a match in the corner of my eye so it will come about better now. This hospital is the largest in the British Empire it has seven miles of passages and covers three square miles of ground with all of the buildings.

It is a peace time hospital and everything is fixed up in quite a change from the dug-outs of the front line with two or three inches of mud and water on the floor and only a rubber sheet to keep yourself dry (and great coat). The sisters and nurses will do anything for you here.

They keep me in bed all the time here, will not let me do anything for myself at all and all they give me to eat is bread made up as pap and milk but lots of it. I have not had a meal since Thursday and I have all kinds of thoughts all the other cots having eggs for about the M.O. when I see the boys in breakfast, chicken for dinner, and cake and fruit for supper, and me going to the bread and milk like a year old baby and I am supposed to be a soldier. But I ought not to complain for there are two chaps in this ward who have lost both eyes from that new German mustard gas, I can still see with my left eye and hope to see O.K. again with the right before very long.

I wish Grant or some of the boys in the class would write me. Tell Harold Newcombe I received his letter and will answer as soon as possible but I would like to hear from some of the other boys I have to lie in bed all day long and no one whom I know to call on me so a letter from home cheers you up a good bit so give my address to anyone in the school who may wish to write.

When I left Lens (the front line) all the Port boys were first rate we went over the top and the regiment got a bad cutting up so I don't know how the boys fared after I left.

There are only Ralph Smith, Ed Price and Bertie Spicer in the regiment now. Henry Harper is here in England wounded. Bob Watson came down in the Hospital train to Etaples with me (this is the base in France) I was sent on to Rouen so I do not know whether Bob has made Blighty or not. We had a beautiful trip down the river when we left Rouen We left Rouen at 12 noon the 28th of August and travelled down the River Seine there are many large and beautiful towns and old towns called Chateaux all along the banks. We arrived at Le Havre at 8 p.m.

There was a very heavy sea on but we steamed out in the Channel at 10 p.m. It was so rough that you could hardly keep your feet had to hold on for dear life. I was some seasick and no mistake but we arrived at Southampton safely at 8 a.m. the next morning now as I am getting run down for news I will close for this week.
