TOWN TOPICS.
I now have my next store firmly occupied by Mr. Campbell, filled with a variety of stoves which I shall sell cheap for cash. Just received a car load of oil.—G. N. DAVIS.
The people up north are boasting of the Dunganon show, and some contend that it was up to the riding show in some departments, but all are of opinion that Sallow's photograph gallery is the place to go to if you want good photos at reasonable rates.
Nobody would imagine that Wm. L. Horton, the liquor merchant, was a disciple of Oscar Wilde, but an inspection of his windows reveal the beautiful sunflower in full bloom, while the words "Wines and Liquors" are fixed upon it in high colors sufficient to suit the most fastidious.

The finest collection of razors, shaving brushes and hair brushes in town are on sale at the hair-dressing establishment of J. H. Williams, corner of Montreal street and the square. Those who want these toilet requisites should not fail to call and inspect the stock.

The proprietor of the "Western Hotel" has an intelligent collic, which precisely at the hour of 10 p.m. seeks the night policeman, and accompanies him on his rounds until 4 p.m.
Mrs. E. W. Hastings, of Iowa, youngest daughter of Mr. William Wallace, of same place, and an old resident of Godefrich, visited last week her native town. She was the guest of her cousin, Mr. J. Reid.

On Tuesday last the Misses Ellen and Minnie Hamilton, daughters of Mr. Hugh Hamilton, left for St. Paul, Minn. Miss Ellen has been a resident of St. Paul for three years, and has persuaded her sister to share the pleasures of a residence in that thriving city.
Now is the time to become a member of the Mechanics Institute, as the long winter evenings approach. The reading matter is select, and the daily papers are always on hand. If any young men only thought of the pleasure and profit to visit to the reading room would give, a large number would join.

We had the pleasure last week of seeing some specimens of combination borders and decorations made up by Mr. E. R. Watson. Mr. Watson has the instincts of a true artist, and as he spent a number of years frescoing, his work as a decorator of walls and ceilings is always on hand. If any young men only thought of the pleasure and profit to visit to the reading room would give, a large number would join.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the North Huron Teachers' Association will be held in the Central School, Seaford, on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 19 and 20.
REFORM MEETING.—The different ward committees will meet in the Reform rooms this (Friday) evening, at 7.30 p.m., for the purpose of arranging matters to be brought before the Court of Revision on Monday. Let there be a good attendance of all the committeemen.
Some exquisite designs in borders and ornaments for fancy printing, have been purchased for the fall and holiday trade. Merchants and persons in business requiring circulars, cards or fine printing can get their work handsomely done at lowest prices at THE SIGNAL office.
Mr. Abraham Wilson has left with us a curiosity in the vegetable line, being a three-headed cabbage. The heads are solid and well-formed, and being on a single stalk are rather odd looking. We hope the three heads will prove better than one when we come to eat them.

In our report of the West Riding Agricultural Society's show held in Godefrich on the 19th and 20th of Sept., a number of 2nd prizes awarded to Messrs. Morton & Cressman, were inadvertently omitted, viz: two horse buggy, one horse luggy and covered buggy. Morton & Cressman took first and second prizes in the three exhibits named.
Prof. A. H. Kay, who has had charge of the 33rd Battalion Band for a number of years, is about to remove to Wingham and revive the band of that town. Mr. Kay is a gentleman who is worthy of all confidence and support, and it will not surprise us to shortly hear of the Wingham band being among the best in the district.

Mr. George Savage, of the well-known advertising agency of Savage & Farnum, Detroit, was in town during the week. Mr. Savage is a Canadian, and was 'raised' in Godefrich. His firm does an immense Canadian business, and are continually extending it. He is still a young man, and will doubtless make his 'pile' before he reaches forty.
Mr. Wm. E. Trainer has secured a position in the Pullman Car Company's office, Chicago, and on Tuesday left for his future home accompanied by Mr. James Trainer, who has been in the company's employ for a number of years. Loth as we are to part with our Canadian boys, we are pleased to know that their services are appreciated by our neighbors to the south of the line.

John Robertson, formerly of Godefrich, Ont., has now been fully initiated into his position of Deputy Sheriff, to which he was appointed a short time ago, as successor of Mr. Stranach. Sheriff Inkster speaks highly of him as an official, and he also finds favor with both lawyers and suitors. Mr. Robertson has had considerable experience in shrievalty business, and came here highly recommended.—[Winnipeg Free Press].

FALL RACES.—During the past week a Driving Park Association has been formed in Listowel and the following officers have been appointed: President, Dr. Taylor; Secy., W. L. Horton; Treas., D. C. Strachan; Committee of management—Capt. T. N. Dancy, Wm. Lee, E. R. Palmer and A. M. Polley. Already a subscription has been raised sufficient to ensure the success of the first races which will be held on the 19th and 20th inst., when purses aggregating $500 will be offered for competition. The owners of several fast moving horses have already signified their intention of attending the Godefrich fall meeting.

SOCIAL.—A very pleasant gathering was held at the residence of Mr. Wm. Acheson on Tuesday evening last. Under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the North Street Methodist church, the grounds were beautifully illuminated by Chinese lanterns, and the interior of the residence was placed at the convenience of the large gathering. After refreshments had been partaken of by all present, a lengthy programme was gone through with, consisting of instrumental and vocal music, readings and recitations, which were furnished by Misses Truman, Smith, Minnie and Lizzie Acheson, Wakefield, Weston, Oliver, Bond, M. and B. Trainor, Henderson, Seeguller and Smith, and Messrs. Henderson, W. B. Dickson, T. Henderson, and D. McGillivray. The chair was occupied by Rev. Mr. Wakefield, pastor of the North Street church, who, in closing, paid a high tribute to the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Acheson.

THE GOLD MEDAL.—On Wednesday last our townsmen, James Dickson, Esq., Registrar of Huron, received the gold medal offered by the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario, for the best managed farm in Group No. 3, comprising the counties of Wellington, Dufferin, Perth, Huron, Grey and Bruce. Mr. Dickson was the successful competitor of twenty-three first class farmers in the six counties mentioned. The medal is a handsome one, above the size of a 25 cent piece, and on one face is the inscription "Best managed farm in Group No. 3, James Dickson, Seaford, 1882, T. P. Tuckersmith, Co. Huron." On the reverse side is the Provincial Association "design," surrounded by the words, "Agricultural" and Arts Association of Ontario." A full description of the farm of Mr. Dickson appears on our second page. We congratulate our old friend on his success, and hope he will live long to point to the well merited trophy as a realization of his highest aspiration as a practical agriculturist.

THE FALL OPENINGS.
What our Milliners are Doing—"O, Father, Dear Father, Go to Town With the Stamps."
About this time of year it is usual for the millinery establishments to have an "opening day" upon which to display the latest novelties of the season in ladies' wear. On these occasions the lady of the family usually takes in the situation, selects what she considers to be the most becoming, and expects the head of the house to settle the matter in due time. The masculine portion of the community don't delight in fall opening, but the ladies (bless them) fairly doze on the displays. This week there are no less than three large millinery displays in contemplation, and the announcements elsewhere in this issue, give bills of particulars.

MISS STEWART announces a two days' display, to-day (Friday) and Saturday. She has recently moved into the commodious premises formerly occupied by H. H. Smith, and is making a heavy showing in fall millinery and dress goods.
THE CHICAGO HOUSE, on West Street, under the management of Miss Wilkinson, will give an opening on Saturday, to which all are invited, when the attractions of the season in ladies' head-gear, etc., will be on view.

SOUTH BRUCE.
Knox Ing Meeting for O'Connor at Lochalsh.
A meeting was held in the Temperance Hall of this place, on Wednesday evening 27th ult., by Mr. H. P. O'Connor, the Reform candidate for South Bruce in the coming election, and though the notice of the meeting had only been up two days previously, quite a number of the electors were present to hear the questions of the day, and that lately-hatched rickety platform of the Tory party discussed. At 8 o'clock the meeting was organized with Mr. Jno. McClung, President of the Lochalsh Young Men's Reform Club, in the chair. The chairman, after explaining the object of the meeting, introduced Mr. O'Connor who was well received, and who, in a speech of an hour's duration explained clearly and concisely the grounds on which he asked the suffrage of the electors of South Bruce. He discussed the Boundary Award and the Streams' Bill, and concluded by declaring his intention, if elected, to do his utmost to strengthen the hands of Mr. Mevart and his administration in the great battle for Ontario's territorial and constitutional rights.

Mr. Eckford followed, and spoke for an hour, during which time he was listened to in almost complete silence. He attempted to defend the course of Mr. Meredith and Sir John A. Macdonald, in the Boundary Award and Streams' Bill, and enunciated the policy of his party as embodied in the resolutions passed at the late convention at Toronto. Mr. Eckford seems to be rather a pleasant and agreeable gentleman, but his speeches prove clearly that he is far from being thoroughly acquainted with the questions which he attempts to discuss; at all events, if the reasons he gives are the only ones that can be given by Mr. Mevart and his party, then that gentleman is not likely to go for some years yet to come; neither is Mr. Eckford likely to go to Toronto as the representative of South Bruce.

Mr. O'Connor's reply was as effectual as was short. In ten minutes the arguments of his opponent, his platform and his policy, which had been framed by the combined intellectual capacity and talents of the chief lights of the great Conservative party of Canada were shattered and sundered.
Worse than the Russian.
By the six hundred.
The applause which Mr. O'Connor elicited proved that the audience was with him almost to a man. The meeting closed with cheers for the Queen, Mr. Mevart and Mr. O'Connor. We are satisfied that polling sub-division No. 5, Huron, will give a good account of itself on the day of the election.

Leoburn.
I. O. G. T.—The entertainment held in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening last was a success. Rev. J. A. Turnbull, B. A., the popular pastor of Leoburn Presbyterian church, occupied the chair in his usual happy manner. A pleasing and instructive address on "Ten per cent" was given by Mr. James Mitchell, of Godefrich. The lodge quartet, under the leadership of Bro. John Linklater sang several choice pieces during the evening. They were kindly assisted by Mr. A. C. Macdonald and Miss Macdonald, of Dunlop, the latter presiding at the organ, and also assisting Mr. Jas. Linklater on the organ and violin duet. Bro. G. H. Clutton and Harry Horton gave recitations in good style. The readings of R. E. Brown and S. B. Williams also "took." The refreshments were excellent, and the proceeds, including the voting on the most popular young lady amounted to $37.08. Votes of thanks were numerous, and were all carried unanimously.

After the entertainment, a second meeting was held with Bro. I. Cunningham in the chair, and voting for the most popular young lady in the room took place, the prize being an album. The candidates were Miss E. Rome, of Leoburn, and Miss Annie Salloves, of Butternut Row. The Leoburn lassie led for a long time, but the admirers of the Butternut Row brunette appeared to have the deepest pockets, and Miss Salloves was awarded the album. The vote $21; Miss Rome 183; Miss Salloves 271. Amount realized by the voting, $22.70. The hall is to be painted inside as well as outside, and other improvements are contemplated.

FINE SCOTLAND.—Mr. Jas. Strachan has given your correspondent some headier and will recently be taken from Scotland by his son, Mr. D. K. Strachan, of Godefrich. This fragment of the "mother land" were plucked at Mr. Strachan's native village, Leoburn, in Argyshire, after which place this hamlet is called.

Belfast.
Mr. Charles Rutherford left on Wednesday last for Knox College, Toronto.
Mr. Will J. Phillips is visiting at present at Mr. Mullin's of Lochalsh.
Mr. Hutchison and family of Lochalsh are residents of this place on Tuesday last.
Mrs. George Campbell, left on Saturday last to visit friends at Fergus and Hamilton.

Messrs. J. & D. Rutherford, butchers have bought about twenty head of cattle from Mr. Arthur McLean to supply their customers during the next few weeks.
Mr. B. D. Cameron has been again engaged to supply the market at the Wrexeter, Friday, Oct. 27th.

THE GOLD MEDAL.

The Best Farm in Western Ontario.

A Description of the Farm owned by James Dickson, Esq., in Tuckersmith.

It is with feelings of no little pride that we announce the fact that the Gold Medal for the best and most neatly kept farm in the Western District, has been awarded by the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario to a farm in the County of Huron. James Dickson, Esq., is the fortunate owner of this farm, and he has good reason to feel proud of the distinction he has won. The district embraces the counties of Huron, Perth, Bruce, Wellington, Dufferin and Grey. The judges appointed by the Association to examine the farms entered for competition were J. G. Hobson and J. P. Bull, two thoroughly practical, competent and disinterested gentlemen. The silver medal, or second prize, was awarded to Mr. George Hyde, of the township of North Easthope, in the County of Perth, and the bronze medal, or third prize, to Mr. Alexander McEwen, of the township of Hibbert, in the same county. The following is the report of the judges on the

GOLD MEDAL FARM.

We next visited the farm of Mr. James Dickson, Castlemount, township of Tuckersmith, two miles southwest of Seaford. This farm contains 200 acres, 155 of which are cleared and 45 of woodland. A few acres of this is timbered with cedar and black ash, the rest beech and maple. The Bayfield river runs through the south side of the farm and waters 39 acres, which are kept as permanent pasture. A great part of these 30 acres is good arable land, but producing, as it does, fine grass, it is considered more valuable as pasture land, and is rendered more so by being well watered. A few acres of this was top dressed with fifteen loads of leached ashes to the acre, and although this was done two years ago, the result is yet very noticeably marked; and what is also very noticeable is that both sheep and cattle prefer the grass on that portion of the field. The grass also is considerably thickened and very decidedly improved. The knowledge of this fact is of some value to farmers having land adjacent to asheries, for it was only during the earlier part of the day that we passed an ashery with an accumulation of many hundred loads lying around, the farmers not thinking it worth their while to use them. The soil is clay loam, with a very retentive subsoil. A great deal of draining has been done, in fact wherever it was thought to be an advantage to have a drain, one was put down, and in carrying out these draining operations occasionally springs were struck, and by good management these have been made to serve a useful purpose, for on the south side of the farm the water is carried to the yards and runs through a trough in a shed. This stream never stops running in the winter, nor yet does it freeze. It is only during the driest part of the summer season that it ever falls. The same good judgment has been displayed in carrying out similar operations on the north side of the farm. Here also springs had been struck, and the water carried to a line about the centre and towards the back part of the farm, making a convenient watering place for the stock in all those fields situated on that side of the property. Besides the water supply already mentioned, there is a spring convenient to the buildings on the north side of the road, making it altogether an exceptionally well-watered farm. While speaking of the drainage which has been done, we may mention that in one field, which before being drained was nothing but a bog, but is now absolutely dry, there was at the time of our first visit a crop of Russian oats so heavy, even, and luxuriant looking that we could not imagine anything better, and if that bog was not a very costly one to drain this year's return would be a considerable way towards paying the whole cost.

THE ARRANGEMENT FOR FEEDING.

It is better than what is usually seen even in the best class of stables. From the feed room is a tramway on which a truck is used. The front of the feeding troughs fold down, making it a very easy matter to clean out troughs and put in feed. The stock is fed with cut fodder, pulped roots, and whatever bran and meal is considered necessary. This well mixed and allowed to ferment a little before feeding. The horse-power used for this work is in a building specially used for the purpose, so that at any time when feed requires cutting, there is nothing to do but put on the horses and go to work. The dwelling house is a handsome two-story brick building with veranda, and with its surroundings of beautiful lawns and flower plots, fine shrubbery, &c., it is a residence that the proprietor may well feel proud of.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

From Andrew Archer, of Fairfield, Me. (Seeing numerous certificates in the Maine Farmer, endorsing the Great Lung Remedy, Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, I take great pleasure in giving publicity to the great cure it accomplished in my family in the year 1856. During the summer of that year my son, Henry A. Archer, now postmaster in this place, was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of lungs, and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a seated consumption. He was under medical treatment for a number of months, but received no benefit. At length, from the solicitation of himself and others, I was induced to purchase one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which benefited him so much that he obtained another; which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—the Great Lung Remedy for the Times! The above statement, gentlemen, is my voluntary offering to you in favor of your Balsam, and it is at your disposal. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

HOW IT WORKS.

The purifying and healing properties of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry impart a healthy tone to the diseased mucous surface of the Stomach and Bowels. Its cooling, soothing properties counteract pain, its antiseptic properties correct canker and foul humor, and its tonic astringent nature corrects all exhaustive discharges—such as Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Cholera Morbus, and Summer Complaints generally.

A Word of Caution.

Beware of Opiates and powerful astringent drugs in the treatment of Bowel Complaints, they may lull the pain and check Diarrhoea, etc., but are liable to produce inflammation. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is guaranteed safe and reliable, even for infants, and is a specific for Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Colic, Acute or Chronic Diarrhoea and Summer Complaints generally.

THE SYSTEM OF FARMING.

varies somewhat according to the nature of the soil, but the general method which is carried out is as follows:—When the soil is broken up, if the land is at all stony, summer fallowing is resorted to, and the land is sown with fall wheat, otherwise it is sown with oats or peas or both. The old stubble is heavily manured in the fall with 25 loads to the acre for manure and carrots, for turnips the same quantity per acre, but applied in the spring broadcast and ploughed in previous to drilling up. Fall wheat on summer fallow is usually seeded down. Spring wheat or barley seeded down follows turnips. Spring wheat is preferred to barley, as almost invariably a good paying crop is grown. Last year the field was over 25 bushels an acre, and hardly any year has it been less than 20, but mostly considerably above it. For years past the white Russian has done better than other varieties. In growing wheat, as well as nearly all other grain crops, and also on the roots, Mr. Dickson used salt freely, the usual quantity being 500 lbs. to the acre, and almost invariably has he seen a marked benefit from it, the only exception being fall wheat, where the gain was not so noticeable. Mr. Dickson's testimony was similar to that of many other farmers with whom we spoke of on the subject, and it would appear that there can

FOR SEVEN YEARS.

That is the Sentence of John Raper, Forger and Embezzler.

Mr. Benjamin Allen, the wholesale jeweler, testified that the defendant had been in his employ seven or eight years—the last two or three as bookkeeper. Raper did the bank business, the cashier handing him the deposit tickets. He used to pocket the currency and prepare other tickets for the checks and drafts, writing Allen & Co.'s name on them. He also doctored his personal account on the books by which he came out ahead. When $435 were charged to him, he would erase the 4, leaving the amount $35. He had stolen in all $10,400, most of it within four weeks, but his peculations had extended over the whole eight years. In July he left the store to go to Austin, saying that his physician had ordered him to remain in a dark room. He, however, ran away.

Mr. Warner, Superintendent of Pinkerton's Agency, testified that they tracked Raper to New York, where he took a steamer to Glasgow, Scotland. A cabin-groom intercepted him on his arrival, and an officer was sent over with extradition papers. After his arrest he said there was $6,200 in his baggage, and that amount was recovered. He admitted his guilt.

Raper had no statement to make. State-Attorney Mills said that Mr. Allen, so far as he was personally concerned, did not desire any penalty imposed.

"Do you wish the matter disposed of this afternoon?" asked Judge Hawes, addressing Raper.

"I do, sir," he replied.

"You are charged," said the court, "with a very serious offense—serious in that you have not only broken the law of the land by taking property to a large amount that belonged to your employer, but serious in that you have betrayed the confidence placed in you by him. One who steals from the man in whose employ he is, knocks a strong prop from

and all honest business. He violates the moral compact that every man who enters into the employ of another tacitly makes, for he says, "I am worthy of confidence. I may be trusted." Now, you don't belong, naturally, to what we call the criminal classes—those men, many of whom never had any training in their lives—never attended school a day, who find themselves outcasts in society at the beginning, and against whom merchants and bankers, of course, put strong locks and bars on their doors, because they expect, when an opportunity occurs, those men will despoil them of their goods. And when such men are brought in here for trial and punishment they have to be dealt with as violators of the law, yet, at the same time, we take into consideration their surroundings, the circumstances under which they have been brought up, or rather come up. But when a man enters the employ of another and defrauds him, his employer has a right to say that he has been grossly abused, because every man doing business has to depend more or less upon the honesty and integrity of others. No man is able to do all his business himself. He has to intrust some of it to employees. And, therefore, I look upon it as a more serious offense, when a trusted employee proves recreant to his trust, defrauds his employer, than when a virtual outcast, who has come up under different circumstances, breaks the law, as is brought in here and tried for his crime. My understanding of the criminal law is that it is for the purpose, first, of punishment for the protection of society, and second, for the reformation of the prisoner. Such punishment should be awarded as to deter others and to cause the offenders to feel that he cannot trifle with the law. I am well aware that strong temptations are thrown in the way of young men here in Chicago, and in other large cities, when they look around them and see men making fortunes in a day—that they weary of well doing and must speculate, and frequently take the money of their employers and invest it not intending really to steal it, but hoping to be on the lucky side of the market and return it; and are finally caught and

SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY.

I know those temptations exist. At the same time I think it is the duty of every Judge on the bench to see to it that when these offenses are committed and the offenders brought before the court such punishment is awarded as shall have its proper effect. The law says not less than one year nor more than fourteen years. The term I fix upon I wish you to understand is for your benefit and for the good of society. I am very sorry to find a young man of your apparent standing and intelligence before the court at all. I take into consideration the fact that you have pleaded guilty, and also the fact that your employer does not desire that you should be severely dealt with. That is very commendable in Mr. Allen, after having been to the trouble and expense of bringing you back. I have no desire to be severe. The matter portion of the property was returned, but after the arrest was made. It is unfortunate for you that you did not return the property before making the confession."

"How old are you?" asked his Honor, stopping in the midst of his lecture.

"Thirty-two," answered Raper.

THE COURT AND THE STATE'S ATTORNEY.

held a brief consultation, and then the Judge went on:

"I understand there are other charges against you, but I suppose, however, they cover the same transactions, and that sentence in this case will practically dispose of them all. Had you been tried by a jury, I apprehend that your sentence would have been not less than eight years in the penitentiary. I will take into consideration your plea and the desire of your employer and fix it at seven years."

Everybody was astonished at this "dose," none more so than Raper himself, who expected to get about a year. He asked to be taken to Joliet as soon as possible, so that he could begin serving his time. If he behaves himself there, he will be released about March, 1883.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY.

"Here's that yeast," said a little girl to the lady of a family which had recently moved into the neighborhood.

"Why, couldn't your mother use it?" inquired the lady.

"Oh, we buy all our bread at the bakery."

"Buy all your bread! Then what did you want of my yeast."

"O, ma said she couldn't think of anything she needed to borrow just then, and she wanted to see if you could be depended on in an emergency, so she tried you on the yeast."

Dyspepsia is the most common of all diseases, and under ordinary drug treatment the most difficult to cure. It is a chronic weakness of the stomach with indigestion. The sensitive mucous membrane coating of the stomach becomes irritated, and nearly all that enters the stomach continues to add fuel to the fire. Heartburn and Sour Eructations, Belching of Wind, Nausea, Headache, Variable Appetite, Costive Bowels, etc., are its prominent symptoms. Burdock Blood Bitters is a positive cure for this miserable disease. 2

If Catarrh has destroyed your sense of smell and hearing, Hall's Catarrh Cure will cure you. 75 cents per bottle. All druggists sell it. For sale by George Rhyms, sole agent, Goderich. 1843-3m.

Robert A. Wilson, Dispensing Chemist, Brockville, says under date of June 5th, '82. "I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has given my customers more satisfaction than any medicine in my store for the cure of Summer Complaints; Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Pain in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, Piles, etc., you can use my name, etc."

Point St. Charles. Wm. Cullahan, Water Police, 206 St. Etienne street, Montreal, says Dr. Smith's Great German Worm Remedy was a decided success in his family. Had tried other worm remedies and doctors for four years without success. 35 cents—of all dealers. Sold by Jas. Wilson, Goderich, Ont.

OUR CROWN LANDS.

Skirting the shores of our own great lakes is a territory which is destined ere long to take a place as a home for future settlers from Ontario.

Those who have settled in that section to the present time evince no disposition to leave, but are satisfied to grow up with a country that will in the time to come be of no small importance as a portion of our Dominion.

We are informed that the climate is superior to Manitoba in the winter by fully 15°, while in summer it is everything that could be desired for the promotion of vegetation; timber is abundant and good; water is of an excellent quality.

Our market reports confirm the fact that wheat is at a low figure. The buyers tell us that the Liverpool markets are low, and that local market prices are low in consequence.

Algonia will beyond question ultimately be a great agricultural and grazing district, and the "Highlands" of Canada will yet become as celebrated for its stock as the Highlands of Scotland now are.

Mr. Thos. Frood, assistant physician on the C. P. R. is well-known in Renfrew, Hamilton and other parts of Ontario, and his credibility can be fully vouched for by residents of this section.

The reports which reach the railway party from Indians who have penetrated the interior of the disputed territory, is that it is very fertile in places.

Our goods have been rather poorly patronized since 1876. Some of the Tory papers actually claim this improvement in morals for the N. P.!

WELL, what about that Tory protest in West Huron, anyhow?

INDICATIONS point to the fact that a sultry time is ahead of the Goderich township assessor. It is understood he is to be prosecuted for breaches of the law made and provided for the governing of assessors in discharge of their duties.

"The Federal Government have no right to a surplus. They should endeavor to get rid of it. And the best way to do so is that pursued by us and by the Government of Great Britain—by lightening the taxes of the people." Can any Tory object to that view?

The result of the final revision of the voters' list of the township of Colborne, held on Saturday last, was as follows:—The Reformers added 17, and struck off 12; the Tories struck off 2. Net Reform gain, 27. Decision was reserved on a few additional Reform appeals.

OUR Tory contemporaries, in their outcry against Government License Inspectors, betray great ignorance of the creation of those very useful officials. It may come as a surprise to some of them to learn that in a memorial presented to the Premier of Ontario in January, 1876, by the Licensed Victuallers, that body says, after pointing out the evils arising from the unlicensed traffic: "To counteract this, we think that Government Inspectors should be appointed. Experience has proven that such officers are far more efficient in suppressing such traffic and bringing the offenders to justice than the police force."

Our market reports confirm the fact that wheat is at a low figure. The buyers tell us that the Liverpool markets are low, and that local market prices are low in consequence.

At the Seaford fall show last Friday, Councillor McCracken took seven prizes. E. E. Wade, barrister, was a delegate to the Huron Synod, held in London, this week.

A Scott took eight prizes at the St. Thomas Caledonian games last week. He got five tall and three 2nds.

Several of our villagers visited the Forest City during fair week. Mr. Charles Washington started for Manitoba on Wednesday.

Mr. Thompson, of Donnybrook, purchased a horse and lot in this village from Mr. Fred Seal for $450. He took possession last week.

Our goods have been rather poorly patronized since 1876. Some of the Tory papers actually claim this improvement in morals for the N. P.!

FAILURE OF THE N. P.

A Downie Farmer Seeks Information from the National Politicians.

To the Editor of the Beacon.—Sir: Our wheat is threshed and ready for the market, but when we approach the buyers the following dialogue generally takes place:

Buyer (examining the wheat)—A good sample, worth from 95 to 98 cents. I will give you 98 cents for this.

Farmer—That is awful. Have you buyers formed a syndicate?

Buyer—No, sir. Look at the Liverpool market report, and you will see that I am offering you more than it guarantees.

Farmer—Look at your grandmother. The Liverpool market does not rule our market.

Buyer—Yes, it does.

Farmer—Has Sir John left the country, or has the N. P. collapsed, that wheat is so cheap. Come, how much are you going to give me for this load. You know it is first class.

Buyer—Mr.—, I have offered you all I can.

Farmer—I suppose I will have to take your offer for this load, but I must enquire into this business before I bring out any more of my wheat.

Now, Mr. Editor, for some time before the 20th of June last the farmers of this country were told by Mr. Guest, Mr. Benson, and all the lesser lights, that the N. P. was the cause of us getting $1.30 for our wheat last year and good times for the last four years, and if it was sustained we would still get good prices.

Farmer—Yes, I have offered you all I can.

THE C. M. congregation are making repairs in their church here.

Mr. John Caldwell of Winnipeg, paid a flying visit to Auburn last week. He has purchased a farm of 200 acres in the suburbs of that city, upon which he intends to engage in agriculture.

A son of Mr. Thos. McKenzie, of W. Wawanosh, died suddenly on Tuesday of last week. He was in apparent good health in the morning at 8 o'clock, and expired before noon.

ACCIDENT.—Mrs. James Johnston, of West Wawanosh, met with a painful accident on Sunday last. She was coming home with Mr. Johnston when the horse took fright and ran away, and threw her out of the buggy against a fence, breaking some of her ribs also inflicting other painful injuries.

Colborne.

A large number went from here to London to the fair. Most of them pronounced it a failure.

Apple buyers have bought up all the apples obtainable. The price paid is a remunerative one. Timber dealers have also secured some parts of the township.

Water is getting very scarce on account of the drought. The wheat needs rain badly.

THE ASIA DISASTER.

A Number of Bodies Recovered and taken to Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Oct. 2.—The tug Ann Long arrived here at midnight, having on board the following bodies lost off the ill-fated steamer Asia.—John McDougall, of Owen Sound, who was purser; T. Sparks, of Ottawa; Jackson, supposed to be a farmer from near Listowel; Mrs. Kirk, from near Cloverhill; Shepard, and one unknown supposed to be Silas Bernard. Two unknown bodies were buried at Killarney. Five of the recovered bodies were picked up by the steamer Africa, and three by the steamer Enterprise, near Lonely Island, and sent here by the tug. Capt. Noble, of the tug Ann Long, reports a large number of bodies floating around near where those were picked up, and could be easily recovered if a tug with proper appliances for the purpose was despatched at once.

FINDING ADDITIONAL BODIES.

The excitement in town was intense this morning when the news spread that additional bodies had been found, and groups of men continually gathered at the telegraph office, and eagerly read the bulletins which had been posted. Though deeply grieved at the assurance of the loss of poor John McDougall, the purser, people were in a measure consoled to reflect that his remains had been found, and much satisfaction was evinced when it became known that the Great Northern Transit Company had telegraphed their Vice-President at Owen Sound, Mr. Keough, to send out a tug to pick up the bodies reported to have been seen by the Ann Long. Mr. Keough has telegraphed back that he has sent out Ward's tug to do the work,

OTHER BODIES DISPOSED OF.

The remains of Frederick Sparks will be sent on the 5 o'clock train to Toronto to his friends at Ottawa. Jos. Jackson's remains were taken in charge by his friends, and will be taken to Listowel for interment. The body of Mrs. King was also taken in charge by friends this evening, and will be taken to Clover Hill for burial. The remains of the unknown man supposed to be Silas Bernard, will be buried here by the town if not claimed on his person whereby he could be identified. The body of Jonathan Sheppard, supposed to be Cook on the Asia, is still unclaimed.

THE FLOATING BODIES.

This morning's report that Captain Noble saw a large number of bodies floating around might be misconstrued, and cast a reflection upon the captain for not picking them up. The bodies recovered were picked up by the steamers Africa and Enterprise, and given to Capt. Noble at Killarney to bring here. He consequently saw no bodies afloat on his way here, but says the other named steamers saw them in quite a large number, but could not well pick them up, it being much easier done with a tug.

THE COMMISSIONER'S OPINION.

Captain Scott is of opinion that the heavy seas stove in the gangways of the Asia, knocking her over on her side, and gradually filling her with water. The water drove the air out of the ship, and forced the upper works off. The Captain thinks the canal model of boats radically wrong for lake traffic, and will probably condemn her upper works and recommend that the vessels be better secured by stanchions right through to the upper deck.

Release of Dwyer Gray.

DUBLIN, Sept. 30.—Judge Lawson today ordered the release of E. Dwyer Gray on payment of a $5000 fine, Gray's bail being remitted. Mr. Justice Lawson, in ordering the release of Mr. Gray, pointed out that since his imprisonment a considerable change for the better had taken place in the tone of his paper, the Freeman's Journal.

Big Things.

The largest suspension bridge will be the one now building between Brooklyn and this city. The length of the main span is 1,595 feet 6 inches. The entire length of the bridge is 5,989 feet.

Fortress Monroe is the largest single fortification in the world. It has already cost the government over $3,000,000. The water battery is considered the finest military work in the world.

The loftiest active volcano is Popocatepeti (smoking mountain), thirty-five miles southwest of Pueblo, Mexico. It is 17,784 feet above the sea level.

The largest university is Oxford, in Oxford, England. It consists of twenty-five colleges and five halls. Oxford was the seat of learning in the time of Edward the Confessor. It claims to have been founded by Alfred.

The largest ship in the Great Eastern. She is 689 feet long, 83 feet beam, and 60 feet deep, being 22,926 burden, 18,915 gross and 13,344 net register. She was built at Millwall, on the Thames, and was launched Jan. 31, 1857.

The most extensive park is Deer Park in the environs of Copenhagen, Denmark. The inclosure contains about 4,500 acres, and is divided by a small river. The largest pleasure ground in this country is Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, which contains 2,740 acres.

The largest body of fresh water on the globe is Lake Superior. It is 400 miles long, 160 miles wide, and its greatest breadth, and has a surface of 32,000 square miles. Its mean depth is said to be 200 feet, and its greatest depth about 900 fathoms. Its surface is 635 feet above the sea.

The largest tunnel in the world is that of St. Gothard, on the line of railroad between Lucerne and Anseran. The summit of the tunnel is 900 feet below the surface at Andernach, and 6,600 feet beneath the peak of Kastorn, of the St. Gothard group. The tunnel is twenty-six and a half feet wide, and nineteen feet ten inches from the floor to the crown of the arched roof. It is nine and a half miles long, one and five-eighths miles longer than the Mt. Cen's tunnel.

The most extensive cavern is the Mammoth Cave, in Edmonson county, Kentucky. It is twenty-eight miles from Bowling Green. The cave consists of a succession of irregular chambers, some of which are large, situated on different levels. Some of them are traversed by navigable branches of the subterranean Echo River. Blind fish are found in its waters.

The largest trees are the mammoth trees in California. One of a grove in Tulare county, according to measurement made by members of the state Geological Survey, was shown to be 276 feet high, 106 feet in circumference at base, and 76 feet at a point 12 feet from the ground. Some of the trees are 376 feet high and 34 feet in diameter. Some of the largest that have been felled indicate an age of from 2,600 to 2,500 years.

The largest inland sea is the Caspian, lying between Europe and Asia. Its greatest length is 700 miles, its greatest breadth 270 miles, and its area 1,800 square miles. Great Salt Lake, in Utah, which may properly be termed an inland sea, is about 90 miles long and has a varying breadth of from 20 to 25 miles. Its surface is 4,300 feet above the level of the sea, whereas the surface of the Caspian is 84 feet below the ocean level.

The largest empire in the world is that of Great Britain, comprising 8,557,657 square miles, more than a sixth part of the land of the globe, and embracing under its rule nearly a sixth part of the population of the world. In territorial extent the United States ranks third, containing 3,580,242 square miles, including Alaska; in population it ranks fourth with its 50,000,000 people. Russia ranks second; 8,252,940 square miles.

The highest monolith is the obelisk at Karnah, Egypt. Karnah is on the east bank of the Nile, near Luxor, and occupies part of the sight of an ancient Thebes. The obelisk is ascribed to Hatshepsut, sister of Pharaoh Thothmes III., who reigned about 1600 B.C. Its whole length is 122 feet, its weight 400 tons. Its height, without pedestal, is 198 feet 10 inches. The height of the obelisk in Central Park, without pedestal, is 68 feet 11 inches; its weight about 168 tons.

The Chinese wall is the largest wall in the world. It was built by the first Emperor of the Tain dynasty, about 220 B.C., as a protection against Tartars. It traverses the northern boundary of China, and is carried over the highest hills, through the deepest valleys across rivers and every other natural obstacle. Its length is 1,250 miles. Including a parapet of 5 feet, the total height of the wall is 20 feet, thickness at the base 25 feet, and at the top 15 feet. Towers or bastions occur at intervals of about 100 yards.

The largest library is the Bibliotheca National in Paris, founded by Louis XIV. It contains 1,400,000 volumes, 300,000 pamphlets, 175,000 manuscripts, 3,000 maps and charts, and 150,000 coins and medals. The collection of engravings exceeds 1,300,000, contained in some 10,000 volumes. The building which contains these treasures is situated on the Rue Richelieu. Its length is 540 feet, its breadth 130 feet. The largest library in New York, in respect of separate works, is the Astor. About 190,000 volumes are on its shelves.

The largest bell in the world is the great bell of Moscow, at the foot of the Kremlin. Its circumference at the bottom is nearly sixty-eight feet, and its height more than twenty-one feet. In its stouter part it is twenty-three inches thick, and its weight has been computed to be 433,722 pounds. It has never rung, and was probably cast on the spot where it now stands. A piece of the bell is broken off. The fracture is supposed to have been occasioned by water having been thrown upon it when heated by the building erected over it being on fire.

A Good Story Anyhow.

Fourteen years ago, when Chester A. Arthur was a struggling local politician in New York, of what is known there as the Custom-house variety, he numbered among his friends the mate of a vessel, named Kennedy.

Just about that time Arthur made an unsuccessful effort to obtain some minor municipal appointment. The mate concluded with his political friend upon his disappointment, and soon after sailed for Washington with a cargo of hardware. While ascending the Potomac a block and tackle fell upon the mate's head, indenting his skull in such a manner that the man became practically an idiot, and was placed in the District of Columbia Insane Asylum.

A short time ago the famous surgeon Dr. Gross, of Philadelphia, visited the asylum, examined the case, and straightway performed an operation invented by himself, which resulted in the almost immediate return of the patient's reason; the intervening 14 years being, of course, a complete blank.

A day or two after his recovery, the mate walked out, and began strolling through the Capitol building. Almost the first person he encountered was President Arthur, who was just leaving the Executive chamber in the Senate wing.

"Why, how are you, Kennedy?" said the first citizen, affably extending his hand. "Glad to see you."

"Howdy, old man," said the sailor. "How's things? Got a job yet?"

"Well, I believe I have," said the Executive with a smile. "A pretty big job too. You must come up to the White House and see me."

"To the White House?" repeated the amazed mariner.

"Yes, just ask for my private secretary, and he'll show you right in," and the President walked on.

"Poor old Chet!—clew gone," mused the mate. "Actually believes himself to be President of the United States. Smart man once, too. That just shows you, gentlemen," he continued, turning to the bystanders, "that just shows you what politics and disappointment will bring a man to. Poor old Chet!"

How Salmon is Canned.

San Francisco Chronicle on salmon canning:—"While wandering about a town upon piles I strolled into the pioneer canning establishment of the Columbia River for the purpose of describing the mode of transferring salmon from the boat of the fisherman to the cans and cases packed within steamers or ships bound for an eastern market. This canning, like each of the thirty-six similar establishments upon the river, extends out into deep water. The fleet of boats arrives in the morning, after fishing all night. A hook attached to a rope is fastened in the gills of each fish, and is hauled up from the boat, counted and cast in a pile within the cannery. The fish is then headed, gutted and washed, passing from hand to hand until it lies piled upon the tables, nice, clean and fresh, in pieces long enough to fit into an ordinary pound can. All this indoor work is done by Chinamen. A dozen or more fill the cans to their utmost capacity with chunks of salmon fresh from the water. They pass to a table, where the fish is pressed down by a revolving machine, while a jet of salt water washes the outside of the can. Then they receive a top and are passed to a machine, where they are placed sideways and rolled down an incline, so that the edge of the top just adjusted passes through a groove filled with hot solder, which solders the head. They roll down the incline to three Mongolians, who critically inspect them to see if they have been well soldered. If not they pass to other Mongolians, who finish the soldering. Here they are packed in circular iron trays, containing 110 cans, and a Chinaman pricks a minute hole in each can for the escape of steam. They are now hoisted by means of chains and machinery and dropped into tanks of boiling water, one tray upon the other, until each tank is filled. They boil slowly for one hour and a quarter. Then they are fitted by machinery to a dome-shaped steaming tank of wrought boiler iron, which holds a thousand cans. This dome is closed and secured by bolts and screws, and the cans undergo a steaming process of one hour and a quarter more. On being taken taken out the air-holes are soldered up, the cans cool and are passed to two white girls, who rapidly and skillfully paste labels upon them. As they are labelled they pass to Chinamen, who place them in cases, two-dozen in a case, nail them up and they are ready for shipment. They now pass out to the wharf to be shipped to San Francisco or Europe. The salmon thus passes from its native element—the waters of the Columbia—into cans and cases within a few hours. No fish is kept over night. The fish thus prepared is the best we get in the market, as it never becomes stale and always retains its natural flavor. Everything is scrupulously clean in and about these canneries, as copious applications of water are applied to the work-rooms daily."

Dr. J. W. Fairchild of New York, says: Personally I believe in Phosphatine; I use it myself and in my family and practice I prescribe Phosphatine with a confidence that I can attach to other remedies. It is safe—it is effective. For sale by all druggists. 2m

It has finally gained its point and no less a personage than the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Commons, Mr. D. W. McDowell, Ottawa, was introduced the Great German Remedy. "St. Jacobs Oil is a splendid remedy. I used it on my left hand and wrist for rheumatism, and found it as claimed to be. Mrs. McDowell used it for a most severely sprained ankle; by the steady use of the article for a few days a complete cure was effected. St. Jacobs Oil does its work very satisfactorily and also rapidly; such at least is my opinion."

Mr. Wm. Hanson, of South Norwick, says: For sixteen years I suffered from Biliousness, never had any medicine done me any permanent good until recommended by our druggists. (J. Weale Fish & Co., Otterville,) to try Dr. Carson's Stomach and Constipation Bitters, which have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I would, with the utmost confidence, recommend them to all suffering from Biliousness, etc. Sold by all Druggists at 50 cts. a bottle.

Do Not be Discouraged. In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters were made up for me as a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at 50 cents a bottle, by Jas. Wilson. [3]

Phosphatine Is a wonderful thing, yet so natural, so reasonable. Why? If you have feelings of goneness; too weak and dragging to rally; too nervous to sleep; your appetite hardly sufficient to keep body and soul together; headache, with pains across the back; the whole system relaxed; perhaps coughs and sore lungs; and will use one to six bottles of Dr. G. L. Austin's Phosphatine as the case may demand; it will not fail to make you an enthusiastic friend. Why do we say thus? Because Phosphatine supplies a want, the very properties the system is lacking and yearning for. It is not a medicine, but nutriment instantly converted into blood, bone and tissue. It is also delicious to the taste. Try it. The result is as certain as that cause and effect go hand in hand. All druggists, Lawson & Co., Sole agents for the Dominion, 55 Front St. East, Toronto.

Fun and Fancy.

"If it were customary in this country to confer titles upon individuals of rank in literature," asked a shallow but contented journalist of an old one, "what would I be?" "Baron of ideas," was the response.

Brother Gardner, of the Detroit Linnæan Club, is a philosopher who keeps his eyes open. According to the Press Free, he closed the last meeting of the club with this check of common wisdom: "Remember, as we percolate homeward, do while a pouson may have a voice like a tordayn an' a muth like a woodshed, do m'n who winks with the left eye allus gets the best glass of sudy water."

A letter addressed to "Mr. Obedient Servant, Custom House, New Bedford," recently found its way to the proper office. It was a reply to one sent from the custom house, and the writer evidently had Obedient Servant was the person who had written to him, while the scrawl under these words was interpreted by him as a flourish which so many people make under their names.

While Judge Joseph F. Barard was presiding in the Supreme Court recently a lawyer, not over stocked in the upper story, and noted for verbosity and shallowness, was trying a case before him. The case was plain, so there was little use for argument, and Master Shallow had the strong side, but he was determined to "improve the occasion." The Judge leaned over and said: "Mr. — the Court is still with you, notwithstanding your argument."

A lady had in her employ an excellent girl who had one fault. Her face was always in a smudge. Mrs. — tried to tell her to wash her face without offending her, and at last she resorted to strategy. "Do you know, Bridget," she remarked in a confidential manner, "it is said if you wash the face every day in hot soapy water it will make you beautiful?" "Will it?" answered the wily Bridget. "Sure it's a wonder you never tried it ma'am." Another mistress who had just hired a new cook, made a tour of inspection after she had kept her a week, and found a policeman locked up in the pantry. "How did this man get here?" asked the lady, severely. "I'm sure I don't know," answered the girl; "he must have been left over by the old cook!"

Fashions' Fancies.

Mahogany is the newest shade in red. Watered and shaded ribbons will again be worn.

Hungarian braid patterns trim many fall jackets.

Marlborough is a new and delicate shade of copper red.

The favorite point of the corsage bow is the top of the left shoulder.

Colored handkerchiefs are studies of color in combinations and design.

Laces of all kinds are in fashion. Even the old black Chantilly is revived.

The longer the beak of a bird the more is it sought for as a hat ornament.

French shoe polish lightly brushed over a rusty chip hat makes it look new.

The new cloaking plushes imitate seal, beaver and other furs to perfection.

All the medieval and renaissance points are revived in the modern imitation laces.

The jackets and ulsterettes for early fall wear are longer than those of the last season.

Plush saques and dolmans will, in a great measure, take the place of sealskin next winter.

Small and silver blue will be combined in new fall suits with terra cotta and mahogany shades.

Dark purple and hazzar dresses are fashionably piped with terra cotta and Marlborough reds.

The new English alpacas come in grey shades and black, with softer finish than the old-time goods.

Obviate satin buttons of medium size, in all shades to match the new goods, appear among new trimmings.

Ottoman reps in silk and wool, figured and striped with velvet and plush, appear among new fall dress goods.

The latest caprice in handkerchiefs is for narrow borders in combinations of esthetic colors on white centres.

Ottoman repped and satin-backed velvet ribbons form the bulk of the importations in this line of goods up to this date.

The golden Hamburg cock's back is most in demand for hat trimming, as it shows natural shaded effects in mahogany tints.

The new plushes come in all lengths of pile, from the short moleskin plush to the long-mapped silk and mohair goods that resemble the heavy furs.

The first chevrons for fall wear are of light texture in shepherd's checks of heather mixtures, to be combined with chevrons that come with them in inch square plaids in the same colours and mixtures.

Some of the new satins are brocaded in lace effects in black and white on grounds of color embracing all the new esthetic and fashionable shades. These will be trimmed with white and black lace matching the design of the brocaded lace effects.

A Cabot at the Zoo.

Capt. Harry Piper, Alderman and Superintendent of the Zoological Garden lately communicated the following facts to a reporter of one of Toronto's most influential papers: "Some time ago we purchased from the collection of animals at Central Park, New York, a monstrous Russian bear, which we have named 'Peter the Great,' on account of his tremendous size. Not long after 'Peter' arrived we found that he was suffering from the rheumatism, and in a pretty bad state. Peter was not the only one in the 'Zoo,' which had a touch of that delicious torture; the lion likewise had it and in fact I was just being cured of a bad case of rheumatism, myself, by the use of St. Jacobs Oil. The German Remedy. I found St. Jacobs Oil an excellent remedy, for it cured me in a short while, and my case was a very aggravated one. I argued that if it cured men it must be good for animals as well."

Farm and Garden.

When sows eat their young it denotes that the wants of the system have not previously been supplied. It is often owing to the failure to give them a liberal supply of salt before farrowing.

Stuff the skin of a cat until it looks like life, then set it on the limb of a tree, or in some natural position on a strawberry bed; if the position is changed every day it will effectually frighten away birds.

At three feet apart each way there are 4,800 hills on an acre. Potatoes yielding only one bushel to every 30 hills would give upward of 160 bushels per acre. That is much above the average crop, even good years, shows how great are the possibilities for improvement in potato growing.

A preparation made with one pound of soap (soft or hard) with an ounce of carbolic acid crystals dissolved in water, will destroy vermin, itch, scurf and m. use. The preparation as given above should be diluted in warm water before being applied to the animal, and it will not injure the hair.

A piece of rye near a poultry house is very useful during the fall and spring, and sometimes in the winter, as a hen pasture. The sowing of grain in their yards is also an excellent plan. What is scratched out will be eaten up clean, and plenty of scratching and green food are what they need.

Gooseberries delight in a heavy soil, rich and well drained. When grown in the single bush form the berries become yearly fewer and smaller, and soon cease to be profitable. Encourage the growth of shoots from the root by removing the old wood as often as necessary, and let the new shoots and much new fruit will invariably be the result, whether in garden or in field culture.

Experiments have established the fact that there are no bad results from breeding large sized stallions to small mares; but, on the contrary, the offspring make most desirable roadsters and coach horses. One Western farmer bred a Percheron stallion, weighing 2,300 pounds, to an Indian mare, weighing only 600 pounds, producing in the cross an animal 16 hands high, of fine muscle and action.

It is a mistake to suppose that a tile drain two and a half or three feet deep will drain a hollow ten to twenty feet distant. Perhaps it may slowly, but in a very wet season, wheat and clover will kill out at such a distance from a drain. If the ditch is made four feet deep it will drain a wider surface; but a better way is to make a side drain to the places where water is known to stand in a wet time.

Leached ashes are good for almost any crop, but should be applied with other fertilizers that contain vegetable substances, like barn manure; thus applied on most soils, and for nearly all crops, 25 cents a bushel would be cheaper than commercial fertilizers. Fifty bushels of ashes applied to an acre of land in connection with two cords of good stable manure would produce better results for most crops than 150 bushels applied without other fertilizers, or five cords of stable manure applied with no other fertilizer with it.

There are many ways of preparing soft food for poultry that we could not recommend, though practiced to a great extent by experienced poultrymen. By far the greater number of beginners mix it too wet and sloppy, and give it as a thick, porridgy mass, which clings to the beaks of the fowls. Such feeding often causes diarrhoea, and in any case will rarely produce a proper egg return. All meals, whether intended for young or old fowls, should be mixed firm and short, so that the whole mass will crumble by handling. Food so mixed does more good, for the reason that it is more wholesome in itself and more enjoyed. Meal combined with potatoes need not be mixed quite so dry, but all soft food, rightly prepared, will be hard enough to break and crumble if thrown upon the ground.

Force of Imagination.

During a recent lecture, Dr. Noble vouched for the truth of the following anecdote of M. Boutibouze, a French savant, in illustration of the power of imagination:—M. Boutibouze served in Napoleon's army, and was present at many engagements during the early part of the present century. At the battle of Wagram, in 1809, he was engaged in the fray; the ranks around him had been terribly thinned by shot, and at sunset he was nearly isolated. While reloading his musket he was shot down by a cannon ball. His impression was that the ball had passed through his legs below the knees, separating them from the thighs, for he suddenly sank down shortened, as he believed to the extent of a foot in measurement. The trunk of the body fell backward on the ground, and the senses were completely paralysed by the shock. Thus he lay motionless amid the wounded and dead during the rest of the night, not daring to move a muscle lest the loss of blood should be fatally increased. He felt no pain, but this he attributed to the stunning effect of the shock to the brain and nervous system. At early dawn he was aroused by one of the medical staff, who came along to help the wounded.

"What is the matter with you my good fellow?" asked the surgeon.

"Ah! touch me tenderly," replied M. Boutibouze. "I beseech you; a cannon ball has carried off my legs."

The surgeon examined the limbs referred to, and then, giving him a good shake, said with a joyous laugh:

"Get up with you; you have nothing the matter with you!"

M. Boutibouze immediately sprang up in utter astonishment, and stood firmly on the legs which he thought he had lost forever.

"I felt more thankful," said M. Boutibouze, "than I had ever done in the whole course of my life before. I had not a wound about me. I had, indeed, been shot down by an immense cannon ball; but instead of passing through my legs, as I firmly believed it had, the ball had passed under my feet and had plowed a hole in the earth beneath, at least a foot in depth, into which my feet suddenly sank, giving me the idea that I had been thus shortened by the loss of my legs."

Grace in Little Things.

There is an old story of a certain minister, who, in arranging his toilet for his parochial calls, found a button gone from his shirt collar, and all at once the good man's patience left him. He fretted and scolded and said undignified and unkind things, until the tired wife burst into tears and escaped to her room. The hours of the afternoon wore away, and it was when the parson called on brother Jones, who was all bowed down with rheumatism, and found patient and even cheerful; upon young brother Hall wailing away with consumption, and found him anxious to go and be with Christ; upon good old grandmother Smith, in her poor, miserable hovel of a home, and found her singing one of the good old hymns, as happy as a bird; upon young Mrs. Brown, who had a few weeks before buried her only child, and found her trusted and serene in the view of God's love which had come to her through her affliction. The minister went home filled with what he had seen; and when evening came, and he was seated in his easy chair, his good wife near him, busy with her needle, he could not help saying:

"What a wonderful thing grace is! How much it will do! There is nothing beyond its power! Wonderful! It can do all things!"

Then the little wife said:

"Yes, it is wonderful, indeed; but there is one thing that the grace of God does not seem to have power to do."

"Ah, what can that be?" asked the husband.

"Why, it does not seem to have power to control a minister's temper when his shirt-button is gone."

That was a new doctrine of grace to the parson, but it was such a version as many another religious man needs to remember. As it takes greater skill to engrave the Lord's prayer upon a five cent piece than upon a broad steel plate, so it takes more grace to live a good Christian at home than in public.

DUNGANNON SHOW.

A Fine Day and a Good Display.
A Large Turnout of Spectators—The Prize List.

Wednesday last was like a midsum-mer's day, and the inviting weather
drew a large number to Dungannon,
where the annual fall show of the Ashfield and Wawanosh Agricultural Societies was held. Among the spectators were a number of pretty girls, who caught the beauty-loving eye of the bac-chelor editor of the Star, who once exclaimed during the afternoon: "By God! old Joe Williamson wasn't one bit out when he wrote about Dungannon's lovely daughters." Dungannon would get a prize for handsome lasses
every time if the presman were judging.

The exhibition was up to the mark in almost every respect. The indoor collection was very creditable. Samples of grain, especially fall wheat, were first class. The show of vegetables was typical. The potatoes put in by Mr. A.
Sproule were among the best ever shown in the county, and the collection of vegetables shown by his son Willie Sproule,
a lad of thirteen years of age, was ahead of anything we have yet seen. Almost every vegetable raised was represented in this exhibit, and of beans alone some 20 specimens were to be seen. As a raiser and exhibitor of vegetables this youthful agriculturist beats the record.
The show of fruit was also of some importance, the best being obtained. A collection of ten varieties of grapes by W. J. Hayden was especially worthy of notice, and the choice bunches shown by Mr. G. Harris showed careful culture.
Mr. Harris also bore off the first prize for some mammoth onions. The ladies department was very attractive, and competition was keen. Among the prize winners will be observed the names of some Goderich ladies. The butter makers of Dungannon must meet with rapid sales and high prices, if we judge by the excellent samples shown.
In butter making, bread making and needlework the ladies who patronize the Dungannon show make a very worthy exhibit. We were surprised to see the large number of cattle upon the ground.
The show of horses was rather small,
but some splendid animals stood before the judges. There was a falling off in the exhibits of poultry and swine, but some first-class sows were in the pens.
There was a good show of sheep.

The judges' books were well kept, and our labors in copying were much lightened by the assistance of the regular and efficient secretary, Mr. W. Mc-Arthur. The names of the ticket winners can be seen in the following:

SHOW SKITS.
The hotels did a tremendous bar
trade.
Mr. P. J. Sullivan, the active and engaged agent of the Seegmiller chilled plow, was pointing out the beauties of that popular implement to a large number of agriculturists during the day.
The candidates for the Legislature
were on hand
A spirited team belonging to the Messrs. Nafel, of Goderich township, ran away, but were pluckily managed by the driver, and after three quarters of a mile run, were brought back safely.
No damage to man, beast or vehicle resulted.

ON GEORGIAN BAY.
A Lady's Observation of the Scene, During a Storm.

To the Editor of The Evening News:
After reading the account in The News of the Manitoba's escape from destruction, it occurred to me that two people, even from the same standpoint, see things differently. For one who can appreciate a joke, no matter who is the victim, it was great fun to be on the good steamer Manitoba on the forenoon of September 14, 1882. There were about 200 passengers, considerable freight and baggage, and a consignment of horses and cows, the live stock fastened secur-ly to stanchions in the bow of the boat.
Wednesday afternoon it rained, and there was a slight wind. Thursday morning there was still a breeze and a pleasing appearance of white-caps, while the "in-fantic" so pleasantly alluded to was waxing in strength. By this time a lover of nature would have been enraptured with the scene, viewed of course from the shore. The lake was covered with "white caps," the spray seeming to form
a mantle of lace over the mass of foam.
The sun shining coldly down on the watery confusion, transformed each dash of spray into a succession of brilliant rainbows. But the attention of most of the passengers was devoted to "casting up their accounts" and wishing they could "throw up their situations" and go home. Even the gravity of the steward was upset by a sea washing over him through the after gangway. The captain was watching affairs at the top of the pilot house, hanging on by the steps, the rail being broken. I, too, am a firm believer in the protecting power who watches with tender care all those "who go down to the sea in ships," but I think if Captain McGregor had not combined with that faith, remarkably good seamanship, several aspirants for newspaper honors would have lost the grand opportunity of their lives.

The boat was in a perilous position.
The engine was working at full capacity, yet the force of the winds was so great as to cause her to drift slowly but surely towards the breakers, at one time not over 200 feet away. The scenes inside, to say the least, were interesting. The waves sweeping up to the pilot house found entrance through the skylights, and those of the staterooms were drenched. One of the men was sent up to hammer fast the skylights, lest the roof should evince a disposition to part company with us. The sound of the hammer had a pleasant accompaniment in the smashing of glass, the uproar of the dishes as they danced a merry-go-round, and the majestic boom-boom of the piano and sofas as they solemnly undulated back and forth. One sofa carried a young lady, but that did not seem to make any difference.

Down on the main deck was "confusion worse confounded." The horses and cows not having on their "sea legs," nor any others of any account, had managed to break loose, stanchions and all, and for the rest of the time there was a wild waste of legs where only an orderly assortment of backs should appear. Every motion of the boat sent them higgledy-piggledy, one even standing on his head endeavoring to get at rights of the affair. The kitchen was in confusion, the steam pipe conveying the steam to the heaters in the cabin burst consequently in contact, as I was solemnly assured, with the cheek of a circus man.
And the baggage and freight wandered about at its own sweet will. The only thing animate, or inanimate, which showed no signs of confusion was a certain English coach, who, evidently thought it
"bad form" to notice anything unusual, and smoked with great contentment and perfect serenity throughout
the morning.

It was rumored that a prayer meeting was attempted, but in every heart must have arisen, even unconsciously, a cry for relief. One who, evidently thought it
"bad form" to notice anything unusual, and smoked with great contentment and perfect serenity throughout
the morning.

The ladies' maid passed around the cabin, like a human shuttlecock, on her errands of mercy. An unhappy mother, with a child in her arms, concluded to seek the seclusion that the cabin wanted. The first step precipitated her forward, sending the child spinning along the dining table and the mother into the compassionate arms of the steward, who hugged her into the cabin, she being too utterly limp for anything.
The cook, after several "clutches" after the unobtainable, rescued the infant and restored it to its mother. Until we reached the shore we drank tea from goblets and ate in sections, there not being dishes enough left to set the tables.
After the storm we spent the time in telling each other how brave we were,
and in preparing an address for the captain, or as our clerical friend puts it,
"A resolution of thanks to Almighty
God, and under him to Captain Mc-Gregor." That gentleman received it with great gratitude, and in responding said, in effect, that in studying and perfecting himself in seamanship he had laid aside things of less importance, the gift of gab among them. He thanked the passengers for their kind words and hoped always to do his duty and van-could live for an instant, in weather in which it would be madness to think of launching a small boat, and none would have been whole five minutes after it struck the water, if it could be launched, stood calm, resolute, perfectly self-possessed, trusting to no "lucky chance," determined, as he afterwards said, "to do the best he could, and then if he went down no man could say he died a coward." Last, but not least in the recollections of that memorable day, comes the remark of the phlegmatic old Scotchman, "It was no so much feared as I was seck."

A LADY PASSENGER.
Detroit, Sept. 23.
A FRAUD.—Billemly, the fellow who pressed himself upon the press representative at the Lucknow games as a bona fide reporter on the Confederate and was allowed to run in the press race on that account, proves to be only a "run" (correspondent), and therefore not entitled to the silver medal which by this bar-faced manœuvre he managed to capture.
The managers of the games will look out for this kind of "animité" next year or the race will soon be run by others than bona fide journalists.—[Walkerton Telescope.]
