Kerosene Engines can be purchased on easy terms which will give a man two years to pay for his Engine, and if fish are plentiful a Ferro Engine will more than pay for itself.

FATHER TIME A SEVERE BUT HONEST JUDGE.

For seven years the Ferro Engine has held the leading place among the Engines used in the Newfoundland fishery. Other Engines have been introduced and have been claimed to be the "ONLY." But Father Time has been their Judge and they fell by the wayside. Hundreds of satisfied users all over Newfoundland declare the Ferro to be the best Engine on the market to-day.
Such an enviable and widespread reputation can only be based upon one thing—Actual Merit.

Ferro Users are Ferro Boosters.

The following are a few among the many unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving from users:—
(Copy.)

La Scie, Oct. 13, 1914.

THE L. M. TRASK CO.

Dear Sirs,—I saw by Advocate where you stated you would wish to hear from every user of a FERRO engine, and receive the number of same, and you would send a spark plug of your new make, or your own make, so I thought I would let you know the number. The number is 43233. It is a 7 1/2 H.P., and to just give you the truth about the engine, it is the best one made.
We used it last summer in a large motor boat, a deck boat about 7 1/2 ft. wide, and about 3 1/2 ft.
deep, and towed a trap skiff that would bring about 15 or 17 barrels round fish after her, and did good work fast enough, too good for the 9 H.P. F—; and this year we have the engine in a new trap skiff about 30 ft. long, 6 ft. 10 inches wide, 33 inches deep, and carries for nothing here; and there is lots of engines here of different quality.

The 8 H.P. A— is here in a boat about the same size and they cannot do it, and for some time the A— F— and all is here having plenty of trouble, and we have not had one hour's trouble since we had the FERRO engine. I say it is the best here.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Yours truly,
(Signed) MOSES BURTON.

Fishermen intending to purchase Engines should write for descriptive literature on our Kerosene Oil Engines and get prices on four payment terms.

Plot That Failed;

Love That Would Not Be Denied.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"No," said the Italian.

"I do," said a stranger who stood near, and who was none other than the club news-monger, Tommy Gossip.

"That is Lord Boisdale, eldest son of Lord Lackland. He's engaged—or going to be—to Miss Violet Mildmay."

The Spaniard bowed, smiled and departed.

At that moment Violet entered on the arm of Howard Murpoint. The Spaniard saw Lord Fitz approach and take her from Mr. Murpoint and frowned.

"Is it true?" he murmured to himself. "Is she going to marry him? Has she forgotten me?"

Then he sighed and sauntered off with a melancholy smile to a retired alcove.

He was not in the humor for the gay and talkative crowd, and wanted a little quiet.

He sank down in a cool corner of the velvet lounge and fixed his dark eyes upon the floor.

"Why did I come back?" he mused.

"They think me dead; they have forgotten me—they have ceased to mourn for me, and others have stepped into my place. I had better leave the world which knows me no more and try for a new life in some new land. I see the best and fairest—she whom I loved—has no thought, no faith that lasts more than twelve months. I see that the rogue flourishes. I am disgusted with the world, and I will leave it. That poor fellow, the escaped convict, has more gratitude and affection and faithfulness than all the rest put together. We will go together—he and I, outcasts—and see the world no more."

He sank down in a cool corner of the velvet lounge and fixed his dark eyes upon the floor.

"Why did I come back?" he mused.

He half rose in his bitterness as if to carry out his threat at once and the world, but at that moment two persons entered the alcove.

They were Fitz and Violet.

Fitz led Violet to a seat, then, murmuring something about the draught, let down a heavy curtain before the couch on which sat the melancholy Spaniard.

Thus the musier was cut off from the others, a listener, and made a spy much against his will.

Before he could move to make known his presence Fitz spoke, and his tone, more than his words, transfixed the listener to the spot.

"Miss Mildmay," said Fitz, plunging into his task with a nervous precipitation, "I am glad I can see you alone for a few minutes."

"Yes?" said Violet, looking up with a dreamy, calmly serene gaze, which had nothing of embarrassment and, therefore, nothing of love in it.

"Yes," said Fitz; "I have been longing for this opportunity for some time. Miss Mildmay, I am a bad hand at speaking what I mean, but you know I mean all I say. You know that, though I'm a poor, good-for-nothing wretch who oughtn't to be allowed to breathe the same air with one so good and clever as you, but you know that I love you."

Violet's face grew pale and very sad and mournful.

She raised her hand to stop him, but Fitz had made the plunge, and now, like all nervous people, was reckless.

"Don't stop me, Miss Mildmay; let me go on and say my say. I've kept it within my bosom so long that I feel bursting with it. I love you with all my heart, and no man, let him be as clever as he may, can do more; and if I'm not worthy of you—which I am not—I am sure no one else is Violet, look at me a little more kindly, you look so pale and sorrowful. Can't you love me—only a little—just enough to say that you will be my wife?"

Violet turned her pale, sad face to him.

"Lord Boisdale—I—how can I answer you? You know that I have no love to give. It was thrown with all my hopes in the sea; that sea which breaks beneath those awful cliffs at Penruddie. You see I can speak calmly. I can look back at that dreadful past bravely and without shame! I am not ashamed to say that I have no heart for anything but the memory of a vanished past."

There was a slight stir behind the curtain, but the speaker did not notice it.

"But," said Fitz, "you will not spend your life in utter mourning, you will not sacrifice your own happiness and my life to such a shadow as that memory—"

"It is no shadow to me," said Violet, softly, sadly, her voice dreamily distinct and low, her eyes fixed as if gazing upon something very far off.

"Oh, no! I see it all, day and night. I hear his last words—the man I loved—mingling with the roar of the sea upon the shore. I see that past life of mine ever, day and night, and I am wedded to it. You see," she said with a start, and evidently arousing from her reverie, and remembering, "that it is useless to ask me for love. You would not have me without, Lord Boisdale?"

"I would," said Fitz, his eyes filled with tears. "Violet, dear Violet, you need some one to watch over and guard you—you need some one who could and would devote his life to recalling the smile and the sunlight to yours. I am willing. I am anxious. Confide in me, Violet; trust yourself to me. My love asks for nothing at your hands, but yourself and the right to guard you. Oh, Violet, I have loved you so long—I—I would have died for you."

"Do not speak of death!" said Violet, with a shudder and a hurried gesture of entreaty. "I cannot bear that! I will have no one speak of dying for me! I believe—the dread clings to me—that he—Lester—came to harm through me. No, no; no one shall die for me!"

And she half rose, wild and pale.

"Be calm, dear Violet," implored Fitz. "See how wild, how frightened you have become. Confess now that you need some strong right arm to protect you, to save you from the terrible state into which you have fallen! Violet, I do not ask you to love me, I only ask that you will promise to try. Have pity on me! You have a little, you say, but remember how

I have been hoping for so long, and say that you will promise to try and love me."

Violet closed her eyes, and seemed lost in thought, then she opened them and smiled sadly.

"I have been thinking of all you say, dear Lord Boisdale," she said. "I am grateful, very, very grateful. I know how good, how true you are, and I would implore you to give that noble look to some one more deserving of it, but that I feel it would be an insult to do so. I know I am weak—perhaps that I am wicked. Oh, that I knew what was right!" she broke off wildly and with clasped hands.

"Say yes," pleaded Fitz. "You cannot trust yourself to any one who can understand you or love you better."

"Give me time, time," pleaded Violet. "I must have time to think."

"A week?" said Fitz.

"No, no; a month—a month!" said Violet, with a shudder and a hurried gesture of entreaty. "I cannot bear that! I will have no one speak of dying for me! I believe—the dread clings to me—that he—Lester—came to harm through me. No, no; no one shall die for me!"

And she half rose, wild and pale.

OXO CUBES at the War

Striking Letters Demonstrating the Value of OXO CUBES

A gentleman has kindly sent us a letter from his son in the Army Service Corps in which he says:—

I must tell you how delighted I was to get the OXO CUBES. They are great. You should have seen us preparing them. We made a wood fire by the roadside, and boiled the water in an empty petrol can—enough for three of us. The OXO was made in my dixie can, in which we soaked some biscuits. We then placed the can on the fire to boil; all the time it was raining hard, but we were repaid by the satisfaction we got for our efforts.

I shall be very pleased to get some more when you are sending again, as a good cup of OXO before we turn in at night considerably warms us up.

From a member of the London Scottish with the British Expeditionary Force.

And so after all these horrors here I am living in a cow byre some way away from the firing line to recuperate. Like manna, however, your glorious box has arrived, coffee and milk, butter, OXO—oh joy! Never was seen a more glorious box, and all my cow byre is interested in it. We start to-night on our feast, and I am to thank you both from all my section for being so generous.

Reprinted from the London "Globe," December 12th, 1914.

Follow the example of the men at the front, who have proved in emergencies that OXO CUBES give warmth and nourishment quickly and effectively. OXO CUBES build up strength to resist cold and disease; they increase nutrition; they remove fatigue. Added to stews and hashes they make food more nourishing and save expenditure on meat; they are handy for sleigh journeys and outdoor sports—with hot water they make a quick hot meal in a moment; in fact, they exactly meet the needs of all classes.

let, softly, sadly, her voice dreamily distinct and low, her eyes fixed as if gazing upon something very far off.

"Oh, no! I see it all, day and night. I hear his last words—the man I loved—mingling with the roar of the sea upon the shore. I see that past life of mine ever, day and night, and I am wedded to it. You see," she said with a start, and evidently arousing from her reverie, and remembering, "that it is useless to ask me for love. You would not have me without, Lord Boisdale?"

"I would," said Fitz, his eyes filled with tears. "Violet, dear Violet, you need some one to watch over and guard you—you need some one who could and would devote his life to recalling the smile and the sunlight to yours. I am willing. I am anxious. Confide in me, Violet; trust yourself to me. My love asks for nothing at your hands, but yourself and the right to guard you. Oh, Violet, I have loved you so long—I—I would have died for you."

"Do not speak of death!" said Violet, with a shudder and a hurried gesture of entreaty. "I cannot bear that! I will have no one speak of dying for me! I believe—the dread clings to me—that he—Lester—came to harm through me. No, no; no one shall die for me!"

And she half rose, wild and pale.

"Be calm, dear Violet," implored Fitz. "See how wild, how frightened you have become. Confess now that you need some strong right arm to protect you, to save you from the terrible state into which you have fallen! Violet, I do not ask you to love me, I only ask that you will promise to try. Have pity on me! You have a little, you say, but remember how

Violet closed her eyes, and seemed lost in thought, then she opened them and smiled sadly.

"I have been thinking of all you say, dear Lord Boisdale," she said. "I am grateful, very, very grateful. I know how good, how true you are, and I would implore you to give that noble look to some one more deserving of it, but that I feel it would be an insult to do so. I know I am weak—perhaps that I am wicked. Oh, that I knew what was right!" she broke off wildly and with clasped hands.

"Say yes," pleaded Fitz. "You cannot trust yourself to any one who can understand you or love you better."

"Give me time, time," pleaded Violet. "I must have time to think."

"A week?" said Fitz.

"No, no; a month—a month!" said Violet, with a shudder and a hurried gesture of entreaty. "I cannot bear that! I will have no one speak of dying for me! I believe—the dread clings to me—that he—Lester—came to harm through me. No, no; no one shall die for me!"

And she half rose, wild and pale.

"Be calm, dear Violet," implored Fitz. "See how wild, how frightened you have become. Confess now that you need some strong right arm to protect you, to save you from the terrible state into which you have fallen! Violet, I do not ask you to love me, I only ask that you will promise to try. Have pity on me! You have a little, you say, but remember how

Violet herself rose to her feet and stared wildly, but the Spaniard paused only for one moment, then, fixing his dark eyes upon her face, bowed low, murmured gravely "Pardon, senora," and vanished as noiselessly as he had appeared.

Violet, seated on a footstool at her aunt's feet, told her all that night, and Mrs. Mildmay, as in duty bound, informed Howard Murpoint.

In some way, before night fell, the world had got at it, and the clubs were rumoring that Lord Fitz Boisdale was engaged to Miss Mildmay.

In a few days a rumor still more exciting and relishing was produced, to the effect that Lord Lackland had accepted the wealthy millionaire, Mr. Wilhelm Smythe, as sutor for the hand of Lady Ethel Boisdale.

Bertie, at his club, heard the rumor, and dashed off in search of Fitz.

He found him seated moodily and dreamily in an easy-chair at the smoking-room of his favorite haunt.

"Ha, Fitz," he exclaimed, "is it true?"

"What?" said Fitz, flushing. "What have you heard? Don't say it's too good to be true; don't cast me down, old fellow; or don't know how my heart is set upon it!" he exclaimed, thinking that Bertie alluded to the understanding between Violet and him.

"What do you mean?"

"What do you?" asked Fitz.

"Why, this—this—false report that—that Ethel is to be married to that odious fellow, that miserable young money-bag?"

"I can't say I've heard," said Fitz, frowning earnestly. "If I thought that there was anything in it, I'd go for my big whip and thrash him."

At that moment a waiter put a letter in his hand.

He opened it, and his face grew red with indignation.

"Read it," he said, and he thrust it into Bertie's hand.

It was an intimation from the earl that Mr. Wilhelm Smythe had proposed and been accepted.

Bertie, in his passion, could not speak a word.

Fitz tore the letter into a hundred pieces, and threw the fragments into the grate.

"Cheer up! But," he said, "he shall no more have her than those pieces shall come together again. We'll show them that right is stronger than might in this case."

Bertie clasped his hands.

"You will come down with me?" he said.

"I will, and will put our plot into execution; no time must be lost."

"I'll go to-night," said Fitz. "You stay here and wait till I telegraph. I'll put it carefully so that nothing happens. I'll telegraph that 'what has gone up.' Then you'll know that you're to come down."

The two walked together for a few moments excitedly and eagerly, then Fitz went off, calling to a servant to saddle a horse at once.

He started that night for Coombe Lodge, and appeared there the following morning as fresh and as light-hearted as usual, but with the determination to stand by his friend and save his sister at all costs.

Ethel was not up when he arrived, and she entered the breakfast-room without any expectation of seeing him.

"Fitz!" she exclaimed, the warm blood rushing to her face as she sprang to him.

He held her in his arms, but would not show any emotion.

"Hello, Eth!" he said, "why you've gone pale again! where's that summer rose? I've heard the news—don't tell me any more—I'll congratulate Mr. Smythe when I see him."

Her face went paler, and her eyes filled with tears.

She crossed her hands upon her breast.

be used a great deal for the spring frocks.

Some of the new dresses for young girls show the flare cut.

There seems to be no end to the use of simple upstanding neck frills inside of blouses.

Paris decrees that daintiness and simplicity will be the leading features of spring fashions.

A new coat has a separate back which flies loose from the shoulder like a straight cape.

Long, full tulle sleeves of the Louis XVI type will be one of the new fashion features.

Neckwear is being made of the sheerest organdie lawn, fairly heavy linen and firm white pique.

To be fashionable the hair should be dressed so close to the head as to make it appear egg-shaped.

Some of the new pleated skirts have the pleats stitched down to the hip wherethey are allowed to flare.

There is a prediction that fur trimming will be as fashionable this coming summer as it was last summer.

Some of the new skirts of the cotton frocks have three flounces at the bottom which flare out to resemble three fans.

It is probable that many of the suits of the coming spring will have conservative skirts not more than two and a half yards wide.

Fashions slightly hints at the coming of the simple gown of Greek lines even though there is a growing tendency toward the fuller skirts.

Lace, it is said, will play an interesting part on the picture-que big sea for spring. Cream lace is especially good on black shiny straw.

There is a strong peasant tendency among the new serge dresses—a tendency shown in blouses and sleeves of contrasting taffeta, and in embroidered fronts.

There is a waist line to suit every type—the Empire for the slight youthful figure, the natural waist line for the conservative and straight ones for the stout figure.

The high Russian boot is the latest fad in footwear. It may have a vamp and heel of patent leather boot; these boots are laced in the side at the top.

Put a ruche of mulline in white or color on the winter hat—it will relieve the somber effect and make the hat seem like a new one. The ruche should be box-pleated and higher of one side than the other. It is fastened about the crown of the hat with a band of ribbon.

The two walked together for a few moments excitedly and eagerly, then Fitz went off, calling to a servant to saddle a horse at once.

The Searchlights

(By Alfred Noyes.)
Shadow by shadow, strip for light,
The lean black cruisers search the sea.
Night, their level shafts of light
Revolve and find no enemy.
Only they know each leaping wave
May hide the lightning and their grave.

And, in the land they guard so well,
Is there no silent watch to keep?
An ace la Oylar, and the bell
Rings midnight on a vaster deep;
But over all its waves once more
The searchlights move from shore to shore.

And captains that we thought were dead,
And dreamers that we thought were dumb,
And voices that we thought were fled
Arise and call us, and we come:
And "Search in thine own soul," they cry.

"For there, too, lurks thine enemy."
Search for the foe in thine own soul.
The sloth, the intellectual pride,
The trivial jest that veils the goal.
For which our fathers lived and died;

The lawless dreams, the cynic art,
That rend thy nobler self apart.
Not far, not far into the night
These level swords of light can pierce:
Yet for her faith does England fight,
Her faith in this our Universe.
Believing Truth and Justice draw
From founts of everlasting law.

Therefore a Power above the State,
The unconquerable Power, returns,
The fire, the fire that made her great,
Once more upon her altar burns.
Once more, redeemed and healed and whole,
She moves to the Eternal Goal.

Elder W. C. Young has returned to this city from his visit to Catalina where he has been holding evangelical services during the past two weeks, assisted by Pastor R. A. Hubley, of Bay Roberts. A request has been made of Elder Young to repeat the lecture given here some time ago, on our "Greatest War" and its results to Turkey. He has consented to do so next Sunday evening in the Cookstown Rd. Church. Elder Young has lectured over a large portion of the island showing the righteousness of Britain's position among the Nations in this present struggle, and has won for himself the praise of both press and public for his public utterances on this present day issue. We learn that Elder Young contemplates leaving St. John's next Monday evening on a business visit to the Academies of the denomination represented by him in both Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario.

"CHARGE IT!"
By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Simash."
"Charge it!" is the slogan of the great American consumer.
Americans are great on peace but they are also the most gallant chargers in the world. An American who cannot sleep for fear our standing army of 60,000 will enslave the country will rise early in the morning and charge meat, potatoes, shoes, gasoline, automobile tires and diamond rings with an intrepidity which would cause unlimited awe in a Frenchman.

"Charge it!" is the greatest substitute for money ever invented. It enables a man to spend his next month's salary with ease and safety, to ride in an automobile because he hasn't the ready cash for street car fare and to cash his hopes of wealth into a large bale of "Balance Due" and "Pleas Remit" statements, renewed monthly.

"Charge it!" is the modern Al. Baba lamp. The worried citizen says "Charge it!" and appears five minutes later in joyful raiment, thus transferring the worry to the merchant. Armed with these two precious words an American citizen with a fairly good reputation can go down town with an empty pocketbook and return home reeking with luxury.

Later he may find it necessary to liquidate a large number of bills at 37 per cent. plus attorney's fees. This is what corrugates the brow of the American merchant whenever business slackens a minute in his mad pace. His industrious customers may owe him $100,000 but he has no means of knowing whether or not the $100,000 is worth $25,000 in real money.

It is now possible to buy food, houses, clothing, steam threshers, sealskin coats, pearl necklaces, theatre tickets, shoe shines, corner lots, American Beauty roses, baths, hair-cuts, operations, publicity and balloons on account. It is also possible, though not always easy, to pay cash for shoes, prunes, coal, water, beef-steak and underwear. It is usually easy to tell the difference between the man who says "Charge it!" and the man who says, "How much, please?" The former is better dressed but the latter is much more easily visible on the first of the month.

No more useful gift for a man than a Safety Razor. We sell the Giant Junior Safety at 50 cents. A perfect shaver and the wonder of all users. CHESEBURY WOODS, 146 Water Street, Manufacturer's Agent—Gee10,11

War News.

SIR JOHN FRENCH'S REPORT.
LONDON, Feb. 19. The Governor, Newfoundland: General French reports severe fighting at times. Near Ypres the Germans took one British trench, but were driven out by a counter attack, leaving sixty dead and numerous prisoners. Two other enemy attacks were driven back with loss. The ground recently gained by us was held without difficulty.
The French Government reports the gains in Champagne and Argonne maintained. Near Aisne after a counter-attack the enemy left several hundred dead. In Champagne three machine guns and several hundred prisoners were captured, and the last three days have been favorable to the Allies.
The Russian Government reports very stubborn fighting in Augustowo region. Austrian attacks were repulsed in the Carpathians. In Bukovina the Russians have fallen back beyond the Pruth.
Trustworthy reports state that another German airship, apparently the latest completed before the war, was lost on the Danish Coast.

FOR PRIZE COURT.
LONDON, To-day. The British Government announced to-day it had decided the cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmna should be held for the decision of the Prize Court.

SOME FRENCH SUCCESSES.

PARIS, To-day. French successes in the Vosges and Argonne are announced by the War Office to-day. The text of the French statement is: There is nothing important to report since the communication of last evening. The night was calm. There were artillery combats of some violence in the Valley of the Aisne in the section of Rheims. In the region of Perthes all positions conquered by us remain in our hands. Between the Argonne and the Meuse at Pont Des Quatre Enfants we captured a bomb thrower. In Vosges we repulsed two infantry attacks. To the North of Miscunbach in the region of Borhonne, in addition we strengthened and organised our positions, proceeding methodically to the north and south of Sudeil Farm.

NORWEGIAN TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-day. An official statement issued by the Admiralty to-night says the Norwegian tank steamer Belridge was struck by torpedo fired by German submarine to-day near Folkestone. Pieces of torpedo it is asserted have been found on the ship. A despatch to Lloyds from Dover reports the steamer Belridge is now anchored in the Downs and that arrangements have been made for her to proceed to the Thames Haven, convoyed by a tug.

USE OF NEUTRAL FLAGS.

LONDON, To-day. The British Foreign Office this evening issued a note in reply to representations of the United States Government concerning use of the American flag by British vessels. The note says the Cunard liner Lusitania on a recent voyage from New York to Liverpool raised the American flag to save the lives of non-combatants crew and passengers. It adds that in spite of the fact that American passengers embarking on the Lusitania on her outward voyage for New York asked that the American flag be hoisted, the British Government did not give any advice to the Company, as to how to meet this request and it is understood the Lusitania left Liverpool under the British flag. After discussing the Lusitania incident, the memorandum makes the statement that the British Government has no intention of advising their merchant shipping to use foreign flags as a general practice or resort to them otherwise than for escaping capture or destruction. In conclusion the statement says there is an obligation upon belligerent warship to ascertain definitely for itself the nationality and character of a merchant vessel before capturing it, and all the more reason before sinking or destroying it has been universally recognized. If that obligation is fulfilled the hoisting of a neutral flag on British vessels cannot possibly endanger neutral shipping. The British Government holds that upon the Government giving orders that it should be disregarded that the full responsibility for injury to neutrals ought to rest.

Rockaway Valley, Que., February 19. (Special)—Mrs. Robert McArthur, well-known and highly respected here, has joined the great army of Canadian women who are shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.
"Last autumn I had a severe attack of Dyspepsia, which left me very nervous and ill," Mrs. McArthur says. "I tried several kinds of medicine and derived no benefit from them till one of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills. The result was that my nervousness vanished and I can now enjoy my meals."
"My daughter also used two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them very beneficial."
"On another occasion when troubled with sore back I found a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills."
If you keep your stomach right with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and your kidneys in order with Dodd's Kidney Pills, you can laugh at ills that make the lives of so many women a burden to them.

Notes on the Patriotic Tour.

The Meeting at Channel.

CHAPTER VII.
had been passed into Magistrate Squarrey.

We have said that on our arrival we found a certain amount of carelessness and indifference, but there are various causes in our outport life which contribute to these conditions. A good deal of it is misunderstanding; thus it was that when the meeting closed there was a better feeling, and England's attitude was more clearly understood, and some people who had been cold felt that the Nation's demands were just and worthy.

In speaking of the indifference which we noticed at several places, we wish it to be fully understood that it is not done in any spirit of fault-finding; but rather to show the public that there is in the minds of many people very grave misconceptions as to England's part in this war, and what it may mean to the Empire, and what it may mean to Newfoundland.

Whether it is that there has been a lack of patriotic training, or whether it be that we have so long enjoyed peace and protection that we think war cannot affect us; or whether it be that we have become superficial in our reading, and have permitted the trashy novel to supplant the page of history, may be somewhat difficult to decide; but we are certain that we need to develop a better public spirit, and to bear in mind that the liberties and protection which Newfoundland has always enjoyed is due to English ships, and to the brave men who composed their crews. We feel somewhat strongly of this point, and we are inclined to think that the adoption of a daily lesson of five or ten minutes in our day schools, and even in our Sunday schools along these lines, would not be out of place. There has been serious neglect in this aspect of our public life, and it should be the duty of those in authority to give the matter some little consideration, and thereby create a deeper feeling of respect and loyalty to the common blessings which we all enjoy "neath the folds of the Union Jack."

"Let it be here fully understood that this does not apply to any one part of the country in particular, but it applies to some people the land over. We are fully aware that the greater majority of our people are 'loyal,' patriotic, and zealous, but there are others who seem very lukewarm, and who need to be awakened from their apathy, and aroused from the possibilities of their false self-security. We again repeat that we do not wish to blame this class of people, but we blame the conditions which exist in our educational and public life, and which permit such a spirit to develop; and it is time that a higher note of national life were struck for the people generally."

Feildians Champions

Put up a stiff Fight With St. Bon's Last Evening and Won by Five Goals to Four.

In last evening's hockey match with St. Bon's the Feildians came off victorious, advancing them two points in the League and entitling them to the championship.

The exhibition was the fastest and undoubtedly the most exciting for the season. As the score indicated, the game was about evenly contested, because although the Feildians were the superior hockeyists as a team, Higgins and Callahan easily made up for what the St. Bon's lacked by their individual rushes.

Both sides settled down to hard work at the very outset, Higgins made several fine runs but failed to beat Strang. The Feildians forward line made a lively attack on the St. Bon's in whose territory play was confined for several minutes. Power proved a marvel in goal and saved many difficult shots. Callahan got away by himself and with a well directed shot stowed away the puck in the net of the Feildians goal.

Play then became very fast and exciting. The Feildians put forward all that was in them and soon equalized through White.

Just before the first period closed White repeated the trick for his side.

On resuming the St. Bon's appeared to show up better and had matters in their favour though their forward line did not show up well, nevertheless by a clever bit of stick handling Callahan again succeeded in beating Strang. The Feildians then combined but off-side frequently interrupted good play. White again took control and scored, followed by Callahan landing another. Payne then scored twice for the Feildians which put them two goals in the lead. Higgins swept the ice and notched up the fourth goal for St. Bon's. The tallies were now equal but Callahan got penalized and during his absence the Feildians scored the winning goal.

MUSKRAT FARMING.

The muskrat farming industry which has proven so successful abroad might well be developed in Canada, says Conservation. The country possesses great areas of marsh land, at present of little direct value, which might be made to produce considerable revenues. Muskrat fur is steadily growing in favor. The aggregate offering on the London market in March, 1914, exclusive of the Hudson Bay Co.'s sales, was 4,646,500 skins. While this figure probably shows an accumulation from the previous year, still the price quoted for April was 50 cents a skin. The demand for muskrat meat would be confined almost solely to the Indians unless it was found possible to utilize it as a flesh diet for other fur-bearers that are being farmed. Such an undertaking should prove of special value to the Indian and other trappers who carry on their work in the more remote portions of the country. At the same time, many areas of marsh land in the settled sections which now are of little or no use might easily be made to yield considerable financial returns.

CANADIAN NICKEL AND THE WAR

It is generally known that Canada is far and away the greatest nickel ore producer in the world. It is not so generally known that not a pound of nickel is made in Canada, the whole output being sent to the United States for treatment and exported from thence over the world. It is also well known that nickel-steel is the very best sort of steel for warships and other instruments of destruction. In peace times Germany has been a steadily growing customer, and now in war time she is feverish for it, and there seems good reason to believe that it is still being sneaked into that country to be forged into weapons for killing perhaps even some of the Canadian miners who mined it. This is being altogether too kind to the enemy, and must needs be carefully considered. We can of course exercise no sort of control over the American smelter's product, but the Government can pass an act absolutely prohibiting the export of Canadian ore and thus force into existence a smelting plant in Canada, the product of which can be carefully guarded in the smelting thereof. The double purpose will thus be served of stimulating our own industrial advance and making certain that British ships will not be sunk by the agents of Canadian nickel "manipulated by the foe.—Canadian EX.

The King vs Stephen Ballard

JURY DISAGREES.
At 2.30 p.m. yesterday the case was resumed. The examination of witnesses occupied the whole afternoon. At 6 p.m. recess was taken until 7.30 when Mr. W. J. Higgins addressed the jury on behalf of the accused, followed by Gibbs, K.C., for the Crown. Mr. Justice Emerson then charged the jury. At 9.30 the jury retired to consider their verdict returning at 11.30 and through their foreman, Mr. G. Byrne, reported that it was impossible to agree upon a verdict. His Lordship thanked the jury for their services and discharged them. A new trial was ordered for Wednesday next when the accused will be arraigned again. Ball was asked for, but refused. During the absence of the jury from the court room, and while the verdict was under consideration, Mr. Higgins was complimented by the Judge on his able defence.

Income Tax.

Soon I'll have to make report of my earnings, every sort, to the cold official clam who collects for Uncle Sam. And my nerves are on the blink, as I fill my pen with ink, and prepare to fill the blank with some figures from the bank; for I hear the Preacher say, "Be as honest as the day! In your age or in your youth, never jump upon the truth! Though temptations you beset, Truth is still the one best yet! You would profit by a lie? It will wing you by and by! When your falsehoods are unloosed, they will homeward come to roost! Tell the truth, whatever the cost! Falsehood always is a frost." So I sit here in my den, and I sadly chew my pen, for I know not what to do—does that trouble trouble you? I could beat old Uncle Sam, fond of fiction as I am; I could fill this blooming blank with some figures lean and lank, which would scarcely represent more than thirty-nine per cent of the coin I have amassed in the good old year that's passed. But the Preacher says, says he, "From the taradiddle flee! Do not stoop to tell a lie—it will sweat you by and by!" What's a weary soul to do—does this trouble trouble you?

This Player Was Branded.

Ernie Butterworth, the Ottawa referee, vouches for the following:—
During the L. O. H. L. game at Hull last Friday, between Rockland and Hull, a Rockland player was struck on the forehead by a flying puck. The rubber was flopping end over end and landed with the flat side against the victim's dome. It happened to be a new Spalding puck and the word "regulation" was stamped reversely on the player's head. This the first known case of where a hockey player has been literally branded.

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, Bradshaw, Jackson, Mulhally, McGraith and Withers attended last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting Mr. Mulhally called the attention of the Board to an omission in the records, which matter was rectified by the Chairman.

Mr. Mulhally also complained of delay in the furnishing of information for which he had asked some weeks ago. He had been informed that the officials were too busy to attend to his request, but in view of this fact the Secretary had recently been granted leave of absence for six weeks, during which he would be spending the citizens money—the bonus voted by the Board.

The Chairman considered that Mr. Mulhally was altogether out of order and that his remarks were not in keeping with the dignity of his position. He said that it was not the Board's business what the Secretary did with his money, and stated that he would not tolerate the introduction of a personal matter into business discussion.

Messrs. Harris and Bradshaw endorsed the decision of the Chairman. Mr. J. J. Mahoney, Acting Secretary, at the request of the Chairman, informed the Board that the information asked for would entail considerable research and could only be prepared in the required time, at the sacrifice of more important work in connection with the office and the city's book-keeping.

Mr. Bradshaw moved that all applications for information should be made at the regular meetings, and furnished at a subsequent meeting for the benefit of both the applicant and the Board. Mr. Harris supported the motion.

Mr. Mulhally thought that if this resolution were passed, applicants would have to be content with a stereotyped reply such as the following:—"The matter is in course of preparation; I hope to have it for my honourable friend next meeting." He further added that the Board was evidently attempting to follow the form of procedure at the House of Assembly, of which such replies, as the above, are characteristic.

Mr. Jackson then moved that in future requests for information requiring preparation be made in writing to the Chairman, which would remove responsibility from the clerks and ensure better satisfaction to the applicant.

Mr. Ayre seconded the motion, which was carried.

A letter from the Colonial Secretary, stating that the Government had no objection to the publication of the estimated revenue and expenditure of the Board, was read. The statement referred to has already been published in the Telegram.

Inspector Rooney submitted a supplementary list of houses in the city without water and sewerage.

The Chairman recommended that the matter be taken up by the Sanitary Committee immediately so that work may begin as early as possible, and so help to relieve the labor depression.

In reply to a request of the Chairman, the Solicitor reported that as the Nickel Theatre is now operating for charity the management is not liable for the usual taxes. Mr. J. P. Kieley will be so informed.

Permission to repair and alter the building at the corner of New Gower and Adelaide Streets, was granted to W. J. Ellis, such alterations to be subject to the approval of the Engineer.

The reports of the Engineer, Sanitary Supervisors and Road Inspectors were read and adopted.

The Chairman announced that on Monday afternoon next he was convening a meeting of the employers of labor to discuss the existing depression, and wished to extend an invitation to the members of the Board.

Before the passing of the pay rolls Mr. Mulhally drew attention to the uneven distribution of patronage, citing an instance that had come under his own observation. The suggestion will be favourably considered.

The meeting adjourned at 9.15 p.m.

Kilt, Thomas and Churchill. Rev. H. Uphill, Hon. John Harvey and Captain Saunders addressed the students, laying particular emphasis on the importance of their "work" which called for "accuracy." Brief references were made to the war and to the good work being done by Newfoundland in the cause of the Empire.

The Bread Benefit at Rossley's

On Friday, Feb. 26th, there will be a monster benefit concert given by Mr. Jack Rossley to buy bread for the poor. He will give the whole and entire proceeds to the poor and supply loaves of bread just as far as the money will go. The Rossleys always go one better every time, and this affair will not be behind, providing the public helps. The programme will have many splendid features and the prettiest show ever seen. Rossleys are not forbidden by the church dignitaries and therefore will run their performances as usual with the best pictures that are on the market. Good clean songs and sketches, and a well known fact Rossleys entertainments beat by the test.

Nickel's Grand Show Help Swell Fund

This evening the whole show will be repeated and we strongly advise our readers to attend, if they were not present yesterday, as the show is well worth seeing. This is also the last chance to hear Mr. Cameron sing this season. He will be heard in one of his best songs to-night. Don't forget that by attending you help on the fund. Everyone is anxious to swell the Nickel fund and as the only way to do so is by attending. Then it is no wonder that the attendance was large last evening in spite of the disagreeable state of the weather. The pictures were all of a high class and were faultlessly shown.

Nfld War Contingent Association.

In Session at Colonial Office.

At a meeting of the members of the Newfoundland War Contingent there were present:—

Lord Brassey, the Rt. Hon. Sir Wm. MacGregor, Col. Sir E. Ward, Sir T. Berridge, the Hon. E. R. Bowring, Rev. J. Bell, Rev. Father Bennett, Mr. E. Rogue, Mr. W. B. Boyd-Carpenter, Rev. C. V. Cogan, Dr. F. H. Croft, Mr. D. Davidson, Captain C. H. Elgee, Mr. C. Freeman Murray, Mr. W. A. Goode, Mr. R. H. Goodsham, Colonel G. E. Holman, Mr. T. D. Holmwood, Mr. F. L. Marshall, Mr. W. Martin, Mr. E. R. Morris, Mr. H. C. Thomson, and Mr. E. E. Watson.

The following regretted their unavoidable absence:—

Lord Emmet, Sir T. H. Gratian Esmond, Sir Henry MacCullum, Vice-Admiral Sir Alfred Paget, Sir Thomas Bowring, Professor Dunstan, Dr. E. Greene and Mr. C. A. Hanson.

The members were welcomed to the Colonial Office by Lord Islington who complimented Britain's Oldest Colony on the part she was playing in the present great national struggle. In addition it was mentioned that Newfoundland had supplied the mother country with a fine contingent of naval reservists as well. Sir William detailed the work of recruiting and training at present going on here.

Sir Edward Ward, who was requested by Earl Kitchener to represent him in connection with the Comforts of the Overseas Dominions, intimated the great pleasure it gave him to be associated with the Newfoundland Contingent.

Lord Brassey said he always took a great interest in Newfoundland matters and was proud of the splendid physique and soldierly appearance of Newfoundland's sons.

Mr. Bowring expressed his gratitude for the kind references made towards the Newfoundland Contingent which, he said, was fortunate in having so many friends. He was also particularly struck with the smartness and efficiency of our volunteers.

Lord Islington thanked the members of the Committee for their attendance and exhorted their co-operation. At the close a vote of thanks was accorded Lord Islington for presiding at the meeting.

Eczema for Two Years Cured by Zam-Buk

Mrs. A. Warwick, Cooksville, Ont., writes:—"For two years I was badly troubled with eczema on my legs. I used various salves and lotions, but could get no relief. The sores kept getting worse until finally I was obliged to give up my work. I was in despair when one day a friend advised me to try Zam-Buk. I did so, and I cannot tell you how pleased I was with the result. Zam-Buk quickly allayed the itching and smarting sensation, and finally healed the sores. My leg is now as well as ever."

Hundreds of others suffering from eczema have ended this disease by applying Zam-Buk, some even after suffering twenty-five years—and spending hundreds of dollars on medical treatment.

Zam-Buk is purely herbal. Unlike ordinary ointments it does not contain harsh minerals, poisonous coloring matter, or coarse animal fats which in a short time go rancid. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or sore its herbal essences penetrate to the very root of the trouble, kill the disease, and relieve the pain.

Use Zam-Buk for cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, piles, pimples, chronic sores, chapped hands, frost bites, and all skin diseases and injuries. At all druggists and stores, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price, 50c. box, 3 boxes $1.25.

K. of C. Lecture.

Before a large audience of Knights of Columbus and their friends, Mr. P. J. Summers, Grand Knight of Terra Nova Council, lectured at Columbus Hall last night. The subject of the discourse was "A Nation of Heroes" and in an interesting manner he dealt with Belgium and her heroes, making particular reference to the heroism of the Queen of that little martyred country. Her devotion to her subjects during the awful struggle at the outbreak of the great war will forever illumine the pages of history. The discourse throughout was most interesting and was delivered in eloquent language. At the close a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. J. M. Kent, M.H.A., was accorded the lecturer by acclamation. Following the lecture the Belgian National Anthem was rendered by Mr. E. J. Devereaux who presided at the piano during the evening. Dr. V. P. Burke, M.A., Lecturer of the Council, who presided, announced that the next lecture of the series will be given on March 1st by Mr. W. R. Howley, K.C., Advocate of the Council, who will take as his subject "When the Kaiser came to Paris." The singing of the National Anthem brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

An informal meeting of the members of the Order of the S.U.F., now residing here, was held last night to consider the advisability of forming a lodge here. Harbor Grace had a branch of the Society of United Fishermen working here in the long ago, but it was allowed to die. It was called "Buckland" Lodge, and was No. 14. Of those present last night three were from the last named lodge, one from Belleoram lodge, one from Harbor Berton lodge, one from Pouch Cove lodge, two from St. John's lodge and one from Twillingate lodge. After some discussion a committee was appointed to finalize matters and to report at another meeting to be held in March.

Famous Battle Speeches

Much might be written of historical speeches of commanders. Napoleon's utterances must, of course, be the first place, not only because of their undoubted authenticity, but because each of his great victories was preceded by its own particular motto—"Victory or Westminster Abbey." When his words before the opening of the Battle of the Nile. "I have only one eye, and have a right to be blind some times," he said at Copenhagen as he placed his telescope to his blind eye when the signal for recall was hoisted on the admiral's flagship. "I really do not see the signal," he added, and sailed on to victory.

The immortal "England expects every man to do his duty" flew at Trafalgar, where the hero fell, the original sentence being "England expects the day." But the latter word not being found in the signal code it was changed to "expects" to avoid spelling mistakes.

Waterloo (the site of which was again being a battle-ground) was productive of several famous phrases. Wellington's "Up Guards, and at them" is endeared to the heart of every Briton, though unfortunately the Duke denied having used the particular words. In all probability he said something like "Stand up, Guards."

Famous Battle Speeches.

Much might be written of historic battle speeches of commandants. Nelson's utterances must, of course, take the first place, not only because of their undoubted authenticity, but because each of his great victories was preceded by his own particular motto. "Victory or Westminster Abbey," were his words before the opening of the Battle of the Nile. "I have only one eye, and have a right to be blind sometimes," he said at Copenhagen as he placed his telescope to his blind eye when the signal for recall was hoisted on the admiral's flagship. "I really do not see the signal," he added, and sailed on to victory.

The immortal "England expects every man to do his duty" flew at Trafalgar, where the hero fell, the original sentence being "England confides," but the latter word not being found in the signal code it was changed to "expects," to avoid spelling out the word.

Boomerang Criticisms.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"When people delight to tell the faults of others they tell at least one fault of their own."—Madeline Bridges.
 How often criticism is a boomerang that rebounds from those against whom it is directed and wounds our standing more than theirs.
 For instance, a woman criticizes another woman's housekeeping. "My dear, the dust behind her radiators is perfectly disgraceful. And last time I was there I caught a glimpse of a closet and it was in such disorder!"

The Dust Behind the Radiators.
 Of course it is not particularly nice to have dust behind the radiators and disorderly closets, but is it any more praiseworthy to go visiting in that spirit of criticism, and to snoop around looking behind radiators and trying to catch glimpses of closets.

Another woman I know is always criticizing the food one of her friends serves. "What nourishment is there in all that bakers' and canned stuff," she fulminates. "I don't wonder her children look pale." Now, of course, she could not know about the other woman's meals if she had not accepted her hospitality and is there not some strange old tradition that to eat another's bread and salt and then go out and criticize it is dishonourable? To my mind, at least, that criticism is a boomerang which wounds the reputation of her who flings it as much as that of the woman she is attacking.

"It is perfectly outrageous the way that silly girl next door to us talks to her man over the telephone," says one woman to another woman. "She says the most foolish things." Of course it is safer and better breeding not to use the telephone for love making. Nevertheless I think there is a pretty boomerang in that criticism, don't you?

 Boomerang criticisms are always reminded me of Dr. Johnson's famous response to a woman who criticized his dictionary. She told him she did not approve of it because it had too many improper words in it.
 "Madam," said the great lexicographer. "It is evident that you have been looking for them."

Questions and Answers.
 Question: P. D. B. wants to know whether there is an opportunity for her to become a writer of moving picture scenarios.

Reply: Yes, if she has special talent in that line. Otherwise not. The moving picture producers have their own corps of writers and I understand that there are not more than fifty people in the country outside of these who make a regular income writing for the movies. The producers pay for novel or striking ideas or for finished scenarios embodying same. Scenarios must follow a special form.

Question: H. T. C. wants to know how much it will cost a year to send her daughter to one of the smaller colleges.

Reply: That depends upon the size of the tuition fee which varies widely in different colleges and in whether the girl will live at home. If she lives at college and pays an average tuition she might possibly do it on $400 a year. Conditions, of course, vary in different parts of the country.

Are you "Nervy"?

Do you "jump" at a sudden sound? Do you have headaches or neuralgia? Are you irritable? Are you depressed? Are you troubled with sleeplessness? If so, you need a short course of "Wincarnis" (the Wine of Life). There is nothing so good as "Wincarnis" for re-energizing the nerves—no drug—no prompt in giving them new life. "Wincarnis" possesses the great advantage of getting right to the root of nerve troubles, and by means of an enriched blood supply to give new vitality and new life to the whole nervous system. That is why over 10,000 Doctors recommend "Wincarnis."

Begin to get well FREE.
 "Wincarnis" is made in England, and you can obtain a liberal trial bottle—no charge—just enough to do you good, by sending 6 cents stamps (to pay postage) to COLEMAN & CO., Ltd., Wincarnis Works, Northampton, England. Request supplies can be obtained from all leading Grocers, Chemists, and Wine Merchants.

Proposed Charity Hockey Match.
 The proposed charity hockey match, which was alluded to first in the Telegram, will in all probability take place next Friday evening, the entire proceeds to be devoted to relieve the poor and distressed in the city. As previously mentioned, the game will be played under Canadian rules, three periods of 20 minutes with six men on either side, the rover being left out. As the Federians are the champions they will play a team picked from the Terra Novas. St. Bon's and Victorias. The probable line-up will be:
 Some positions may be played by two men, who will take alternate periods, as under professional rules. The game will be well worth witnessing apart from the object.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.
 Crowds attend this classy little theatre all the time. There's a reason. The pictures are good, the house the prettiest in town; good clean songs and all new but the name. Don't forget the Big Bread Benefit at the Roseley East End Theatre Feb. 20th. The Best show ever seen in St. John's.

Takes Off Dandruff Hair Stops Falling

Girls! Try this! Makes hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful—No more itching scalp.
 Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair—and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.
