A COMPLICATED TANGLE.

CHAPTER XX.

"Trust me," he said, with a sharp hard laugh quite new to him. "I will be as good as a Quaker, Kate, and keep as free of danger, as a thistle does of grapes. And now go, lass, dear, and let me hear the wheels in an hour."

He drew her to him again, and pressed a kiss upon her forehead.

She snatched one from him, covered afterwards, as if she expected a blow for her presumption, and glided from the room.

He stood looking at the door through which she had gone, for a full minute, then, with a sigh dropped into the chair again.

"Poor Kate!" he muttered. "She is the only woman who ever really loved me. What should I have done without her grand tact and courage? Poor Kate! Poor Kate!"

Then with a harsh laugh, he seized the bottle, but before he had poured the wine out he had gone off on another train of thought, and he sat drooping before the fire without lifting the glass, or moving hand or foot, until the rattle of carriage wheels went past the house: then he started up, caught up his candle, and muttering: "Poor Kate! Poor Kate!" ascended the stairs to his bedchamber.

In half an hour he came down into the little bar, with a face looking ten years younger, without wrinkles or hollows, with a bright bloom upon the full cheek, and a light-hearted smile upon his lips.

He called for another bottle of wine, and passed it to the men, with a gracious wave of the hand.

"Drink, my men," he said, "drink! It's long since I have seen an English face. I have just come from over the sea. Come, another bottle, my good woman. And now, can any of you tell me the way to the Hall?"

CHAPTER XXI.

As solitary as the man, Melchior, in the alehouse parlor sat Leonora, Lady Melville, in the luxurious drawing room. Dinner had been served in the small dining room, and her ladyship had toyed with the wing of a chicken and had been seen to eat a few grapes.

She was back now in the drawing room with its waxcandles and silver candlesticks, its costly hangings and built furniture. But for all the beauties and luxuries of the apartment, my lady had no eyes, her dark, somber brooding ones were fixed, like the man in the alehouse, upon the fire.

Miss Lucas, entering after her interview with the man, Melchior, found her thus, and started her into a semblance of life by telling her that she was summoned abroad by the illness of a relative.

"I thought you had no relatives," said Lady Melville, raising her eyes for a moment, then returning to the fire before the answer.

"I thought not, likewise, my lady," was the answer. "But it seems that I have, and that they need me. Have I your ladyship's permission to take a holiday?"

Her ladyship shifted uneasily in her chair, and her eyes flashed up again.

"Why do you go through the mockery of asking?" she said, hastily; "who is mistress here—are not you?"

Miss Lucas, beyond a smile, made no reply.

"When do you go?" asked Lady Melville.

"To-night, within an hour. My relative is at death's door."

"What relative is it?" asked her ladyship.

"My aunt," said Miss Lucas, with a dry cough.

"You may go, if you are waiting for my permission, as soon as you please," Miss Lucas still waited.

Lady Melville, who thought she had left the room—it was generally impossible to tell by the sense of hearing whether Miss Lucas was in the room, so snakily did she move about—when, looking up, she saw that she still stood there.

"What do you want—Money?" "It is the first time I have ever asked," said Miss Lucas.

Lady Melville rose, wearily, and walked to her writing table.

"How much do you wish?" she said. "Your ladyship can make it for five thousand pounds."

Wearily and indifferently she drew up the check, signed it and handed it. The two hands met in the transference of the piece of paper and at the contact her ladyship shuddered.

"Are you coming back?" she asked, as Miss Lucas folded the piece of paper and placed it in her bosom carefully.

Miss Lucas hesitated a moment. "Your ladyship shall hear from me," she said, and, with a smile cold and full of significant disdain for the weaker clay, the woman of iron left the room.

She had gone half an hour and then the weak woman began to wish her back.

She looked round the room fearfully and shivered as with cold.

"Alone, all alone!" she murmured, drawing nearer to the fire. "Better to have her to watch and guard than no one. Why did I let her go? Why did I let her go?"

She fell to rocking herself to and fro, and rubbing her thin hands, one over the other, muttering at intervals that one wall!

"Alone, alone!" A physician, skilled in the signs of incipient insanity, seeing my lady just then, would have shaken his head gravely.

Presently there was a ring at the front door, but my lady, who usually started against such summonses, took no notice of this, and, when a servant opened the door and admitted a gentleman, she still seemed unconscious of everything save her miserable solitude, and it was not until the stranger had stood in the center of the room looking at her for some minutes with a somber, pensive air that she raised her head.

When she did so, he came forward, dropping his cloak, and with a smile, held out his hand.

"Leonora!" She rose, fixed her eyes upon the bronzed face, and dropped into the chair again.

He started and looked at her attentively. The color forsook his face and left it for a moment livid.

"Great Heaven!" he murmured, hoarsely. "She's going mad!"

He wiped the perspiration from his brow, covertly; then going up to her touched her on the arm gently.

At that she sprang up.

"Who is it?" she asked, trembling. "I thought I was dreaming. Who is it?"

"It is I, Leonora; do you not know me?" he said, softly, bending over her and gazing into the thin, wasted face.

"I, Melchior Clifford, your old lover!" She looked at him, breathing slowly her eyes distending, her color coming and going at each pulsation.

"You!" she said, hoarsely. "You, come back from the dead!"

"No, Leonora; not from the dead. I am alive and well—give me your hand."

He put out his hand as he spoke, but she struck it away wildly.

"If you are Melchior Clifford!—and no ghost—give me back my boy, my child—my child!"

"Poor Leonora!" he murmured. "And you believe it all? Alas! think you if it had been I that had stolen him that I should not have cherished him for your sake?"

She stared at him for a moment, her lips forming the words over and over again:

"My child; my child!"

"Leonora," he said, solemnly, "the child died! It was not I that stole him. A man your husband had injured robbed you of your child. I was in France—have been in France ever since."

"It's false!" she retorted. "I heard your voice in my shrubbery a few days ago!"

He started and turned pale.

"So be it," he muttered, savagely. "I must change the tactics."

Drawing himself to his full height, he seized her arm roughly and brought his face close to hers.

"And, if you did, what then, woman! Look me in the face, the man you played false—the man whose life you ruined. Look me in the face and tell me what you see there. Is it a face you can conquer—or will it conquer you? Tell me, weak idiot! I am here to-night to pay back old scores in a new way. Collect your senses, Leonora, Lady Melville, for I, your old love, am here to woo again; this time to wed!"

She still stood like a thing of stone, looking at him with wild, distended eyes.

"Sit down," he said, "and listen. Drink this!"—and he took a small bottle of cordial from a side table and forced it to her lips. "Collect yourself. You used to be a sensible woman. Look at me. You remember me? I am Melchior Clifford, and I have come back to marry you."

"To marry me!" she breathed, with a shudder.

"Ay," he said, with a short laugh. "And to save you, to save you!"

"To save me?" she repeated.

"Ay," he said, again. "Do not ask what from? I reply—the gallows!"

She shuddered from head to foot, and shrank from the scolding interrogator as if he had been the loathed thing itself.

NEEDLES.

WALT MAYON

The grand old town of Needles has a long history of summer days; the coppers and the blades perspire their ways. The brass they evince no promise of a change; and clerks and merchant princes are tried, as on a range. The mercury is rising while yet the morn is new, to altitudes surprising, say ninety-one or two. When dinner horns are screeching the fact that morning's over, the mercury is reaching a hundred and a score. The days are hot at Needles, and changelessly they come, alike as those old tweedies dee and dum. In other towns men languish and suffer in the heat, until they, in their anguish, peruse the weather sheet; they mark the Needles reading, and cheerily they drool, "Why are our bosoms bleeding? This town is really cool! In Needles heat is getting the voters to their knees, the sidewalks there are melting, and charred are all the trees." Oh, Needles, grand old Needles. I would not in my dwell, though blithe the promoter wheedles and argues passing well. For me the cooler places along the ocean shores, where men don't cook their faces if they go out of doors. Yet you've a noble mission—to make men satisfied with their abject condition, when only partly fried. Their lives are dark and checkered, they think they're hot until they see the Needles record, and then they have a chill.

comparatively recent results in the use of the latest methods of treatment, according to W. H. P. Anderson, general secretary of the Mission to Lepers, with headquarters in London, England.

Mr. Anderson, who is a native of Guelph, Ont., has been engaged for the last 20 years in work among the lepers, 12 years of which were spent in India, and during the last nine months has visited 26 leper stations in various parts of the Far East in which there were 700 inmates. He reached Vancouver from Australia on the liner Acragart to-day.

"When I first went out to India," Mr. Anderson stated, "Lepers in their dreadful misery expressed a desire to die. To-day they say 'We are alive for the second time.'"

In India, where the main work of mission was being carried on, the secretary was caring for about 35,000 lepers in its own aided institutions.

Government Submit Proposals for Settlement in Mines Dispute

Drowned and Immense Damage Done By Floods in Corea--Argentine Cruisers Will Escort the Prince to Home Waters--The Ruhr is Completely Evacuated of French Troops.

LOOK FOR SETTLEMENT HOPEFUL

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 1. The following statement was given by the Government at a meeting in Montreal, Quebec, on Wednesday last. The Government has formulated proposals, designed to effect a settlement of the strike, which have been submitted to the Board of Directors of the U. M. W. of America, Premier E. N. Borden, and the Executive of the U. M. W. of America, on Wednesday last. The proposals will probably be on Wednesday, at Montreal, and by the afternoon of the 25th, a referendum will probably be held also on Wednesday. In the meantime no de-escalation as to its acceptance or refusal can be made. It is the opinion of the Government that the outlook for settlement is hopeful.

MINERS' STRIKE PROPOSALS.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 2. A statement remained in the Empire Steel Corporation and the U. M. W. of America for a period of ten days pending full enquiry into the coal industry of the Province, and the 1924 working conditions and 1922 wage rates, or six and one-half per cent. below the 1924 conditions. A referendum by the Government to determine whether the check-off be continued, and an undertaking by the Government to rebate one-fifth of its royalties for twelve months, are some of the final proposals of the Nova Scotia Government made to the Corporation and the U. M. W. of America. The Government is endeavoring to end the five-year tie-up of the industry. The proposals were made public to-night.

by Premier Rhodes. The District Board of Miners have agreed to recommend the proposals to their membership for acceptance, it was also announced to-night; and that Directors of the Corporation will consider them at a meeting in Montreal, probably on Wednesday next. Acceptance by the District Board is made on the understanding that their case before the Commission of Enquiry will not be prejudiced by their present agreement to Government proposals. The Board, in making public their acceptance, made it known that when the first conferences instituted by the present Government, opened in Sydney, on July 21, the Corporation asked for twenty-five per cent. wage cut for three months, fifteen per cent. thereafter, and abolition of the Union check-off.

EVACUATION OF RUHR COMPLETE.

PARIS, Aug. 1. Official announcement was made today that the French evacuation of the Ruhr is complete; that not a single French soldier remained in the mining and industrial basin after midnight last night.

ARGENTINE CRUISERS TO ESCORT PRINCE.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 2. Four cruisers and two scout cruisers of the Argentine Navy will meet the Prince of Wales about forty miles outside the port of Buenos Aires and accompany the cruiser Curlew, on which he will arrive on August 17th, for a visit to Argentina.

C. P. R. STEAMER ASHORE.

VICTORIA, Aug. 1. The Canadian Pacific Railway steamer, Princess Beatrice, went ashore at 1.30 a.m., south of Skidgate, Queen Charlotte Island. All the passengers are ashore.

CONSTRUCTION TRAGEDY.

ST. CATHERINE'S, Ont., Aug. 1. Edward Lynch and youngest son are dead, Thomas Alder, Superintendent of construction, is reported dying in hospital, and eight men are suffering from injuries, as the result of the crash of a heavy blow from section three of the Welland ship Canal here to-day. The structure, which is used for pouring cement for the gigantic canal walls, entombed Lynch and his son and the bodies have not been recovered. All the injured men were at work on the form when the shackle gave way below and the huge steel mass, crumpled like a piece of tin.

FIGHT TO GAIN CATHEDRAL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. With Archbishop Phillipovsky in jail, after being forcibly ousted, Archbishop Platon Rodzevsky was in possession of the Cathedral of St. Nicholas. For five weeks the Archbishop's followers, armed with court orders, had besieged the Cathedral in an attempt to remove Bishop Adam and his faction but they refused to vacate. The Cathedral is the seat of the Russian Orthodox Church in the United States, properties of which are worth forty million dollars.

PEACE RIVER WHEAT CROP.

EDMONTON, Aug. 1. The cutting of wheat started in Peace River District yesterday. Harvest is early over the whole north and cutting will be fairly general the first of next week.

FLOODS HEAVY TOLL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2. Four hundred persons drowned and 225,000 rendered homeless and property damages estimated at about thirty-three million dollars was the toll of vast floods which inundated the River Districts of Corea, according to a cablegram to the Methodist-Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions.

DIED AT ROME.

ROME, Aug. 2. Rev. Alberta Lepid, Master of Apostolic Palace, has died at the Vatican.

COOK'S ADVICE TO MINERS.

LONDON, Aug. 2. At a Labor meeting, at Kenilshaw, near Chesterfield, A. J. Cook, Secretary of the Miners' Federation, declared the crisis was over for the present but that the fight was only just beginning. He advised the miners to concentrate on the whole coal industry because he said, it was going to be theirs. The miners, he added, need not be afraid of the fortnight's suspension, it was a fight now between the Government and the owners.

Commercial Failures in Canada

Statistics of commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada for the second quarter of this year, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., show a slight increase, both as to number and liabilities, over the corresponding period of 1924. There were 549 mercantile defaults in the second quarter of this year with $12,143,313 of indebtedness, these figures contrasting with 527 insolvencies a year ago for $11,653,847 of liabilities. The increase in number is wholly in trading lines, 392 trading failures in the second quarter this year comparing with 355 a year ago, trading defaults in the Province of Quebec being considerably more numerous this year, also in Alberta and Saskatchewan. The indebtedness due to trading failures this year is, however, somewhat smaller than a year ago. Manufacturing defaults show a decrease in number this year, but liabilities are larger owing to the failure of a large manufacturing concern in Montreal. There were more manufacturing defaults likewise in the Province of Quebec this year than last. As to the other Provinces, a decrease is shown both in number and liabilities. For Ontario fewer defaults and a smaller indebtedness is shown this year in both the manufacturing and trading divisions.

The statement for the second quarter by Provinces follows:

Province	Number	Liabilities
Ontario	150	$2,595,019
Quebec	218	7,905,768
British Colum.	22	188,586

Alberta	21	294,500
Saskatchewan	80	544,857

STOCK MARKET NEWS

(From Halifax Chronicle, July 25th, 1925.)

THE ASBESTOS CORPORATION.

MONTREAL, July 23.—W. G. Ross, President of Asbestos Corporation, says: With regard to the suggested consolidation, your directors desire to place before you a short statement as to the reasons for the termination of the same.

1—Your directors were assured that the entire undertakings and assets of all companies to the merger would be transferred to the new company, but it was found that with respect to three of the companies a controlling interest only in the securities and creditors claims was to be acquired at the outset and there was considerable doubt as to whether these companies could eventually be acquired in their entirety.

2—Your directors considered it necessary that full information be given as to the other companies and complete disclosures of the terms and conditions of all contracts, undertakings and arrangements should be made prior to the meeting of the Asbestos Corporation shareholders to be called to approve of the merger. This the bankers refused to do.

3—Your directors all along understood and considered it necessary that the proposed issue of bonds were to be underwritten by the bankers. This the bankers declined to obligate themselves to do.

Mosquito Bites!

Let Minard's take the itch out of them. Excellent for all stings and insect bites.

4—Whilst the proposed agreement provided that the Corporation was not obliged to transfer its assets until all the terms and conditions of the option agreement were fulfilled, the bankers, however, explained that the situation was such that they could give no guarantee whatever, and accordingly declined to obligate themselves to create or perform these conditions, or to guarantee the financial structure of the new company, or assume any responsibility in effecting the consolidation. Several other matters, including the method of dealing with the situation of various companies, were not finally dealt with.

As regards our own company, we are pleased to say that our operations continue to show satisfactory increases. The earnings for the six months ending June 30, before deducting Government taxes and depreciation, in spite of lower prices, were $286,000, as compared with $216,000 for the same period last year. It is anticipated that the second unit in our Kings mill will be completed by the end of the year, when the costs should be still further lowered and earnings increased.

CHRYSLER SIX

WHY CHRYSLER SIX OWNERS Find Greater Enjoyment in Motoring

On every hand you will hear Chrysler owners, many of whom have owned or now own cars far higher in price, declare there is no possible substitute for the flashing brilliancy of the Chrysler Six.

Women of taste—both those who seek restful riding and those who enjoy zealous driving—find that Chrysler ease of handling, roadability and smoothness give a new pleasure to motoring.

The reason, of course, is that the Chrysler Six in its steadiness, safety and security, strips away every element of nervous strain. Instead of sluggishness, it charms with an eager swiftness. It offers compact roominess in place of cumbersome heaviness. Ball-bearing tires, Chrysler-designed spring suspension and Writson stabilizers which eliminate all the shock of road inequalities, replace the usual wearing tension with the luxury of perfect comfort.

Seven bearing crankshaft and camshaft combine with perfect balance to give the Chrysler Six a soothing smoothness of operation. Such engineering advances as Purolator, which filters the crankcase oil as the motor runs; the air-cleaner, which keeps all dust and dirt out of carburetor and motor; Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes, which add the final factor of safety, give to Chrysler motoring a new and unequalled delight.

Low to the ground, lithe and graceful, every line and contour is restful to the eye. Here is a new style—expressed—distinctively Chrysler—which fittingly expresses the inherent fineness, high quality and superior craftsmanship which make Chrysler value unapproachable.

Your nearest Chrysler dealer is eager to have you; experience the revelations and thrills of the Chrysler Six type of motoring.

British Iron Ore

PASSING ENGLAND FOR GERMANY.

(Daily Telegraph, July 7.)

A dinner was given by the Newfoundland Club at the Hyde Park Hotel last evening to meet the Colonial Secretary of Newfoundland, the Hon. John R. Bennett, at present on an official visit to Great Britain. Captain Victor Gordon, High Commissioner for Newfoundland, presided over a distinguished company representative of the social and commercial interests of the oldest Colony.

Lord Morris, proposing the toast of "Our Principal Guest" (the Hon. John R. Bennett, Colonial Secretary), said that they were there to appreciate the great part their guest had played—and the part he was playing to-day—in the public life of Newfoundland. (Cheers.) No man could have been more loyal and more honourable in his public career. (Hear, hear.) Alluding to the administration of the Colony, Lord Morris said it was pleasant for them to know that to-day they had a strong and stable Government. (Cheers.) It was pleasant for them to know that very considerable developments were taking place in the Colony. The time was when they had carried all their eggs in one basket, and had depended upon their fisheries. That was no longer the case. (Hear, hear.) Referring to the pulp and paper trade, he said he looked forward with confidence to substantial developments and a great expansion of that industry. (Cheers.) Few people appreciated the fact that Newfoundland came second to Great Britain in the production of iron ore. Every year a million and a half tons of iron ore passed by British shores and went to Germany for manufacture in that country ("Shame!") It was a deplorable state of affairs, but they had to leave it to politicians to say why such a thing existed when so many factories and men were idle in Britain. (Hear, hear.)

Responding, Mr. Bennett paid a warm tribute to the work Lord Morris had done for the oldest Colony. He expressed a sense of deep appreciation upon the appointment of Captain Victor Gordon as High Commissioner. No man was better qualified for that high office. (Cheers.)

The component parts of the Empire should, he said, stand together in the domain of economic affairs. (Hear, hear.) They had to come together. (Hear, hear.) The British Empire had to become a more co-operative association. (Cheers.) They had fought together in a great world struggle, and they of the Empire, and that included the Old Country, should in peace respond as they had done in war. They should all call themselves together now in the struggle for peace and stand together in Empire development. (Cheers.)

The Dominions and Colonies had been ready to do their share at the call of arms, and they were ready now to do their share in the domain of economic affairs of standing together. (Cheers.)

Sir Edgar Bowring, proposing "Prosperity to Newfoundland," traced the progress of the Colony and predicted a wider sphere of usefulness for its great potentialities in the domain of Empire development. Sir Glynn H. West and General the Hon. Sir Newton Moore, M.P. (a former Premier of Western Australia), responded.

The health of "The Chairman" was honoured at the instance of Sir William Goode, and Captain Victor Gordon acknowledged the compliment.

Other guests included Sir Fredk. Lewis, Sir James Allen (High Commissioner for New Zealand), Lady Lewis, Colonel W. H. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Job, Sir William Goode, Miss Bennett, Sir Francis and Lady Newton, Commander and Mrs. Cooper-Rawson, M.P., Mrs. McNeill, Mrs. J. E. Mann, Colonel and Mrs. de Satge, Mr. N. W. Smith-Carlington, M.P., Mrs. Smith-Carlington, Sir A. Gibb, Mr. E. J. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Gilmour, Mr. Walter Letroy and Mr. R. S. Fulton.

Local Bird Protection

WINNIPEG, July 30.—(Can. Press)—The Free Press says:—One of the most striking instances of local bird protection is provided by the sanctuary of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McDougal, in East Kildonan, Man., on the Red River. Here birds for many years have been encouraged through feeding devices, nesting boxes, provision of shrubs suitable for nesting, planting of berry-bearing trees and eradication of bird enemies and the birds have increased surprisingly as a result. This season, however, a new record was made. Thirty-two pairs of birds nested in the garden and bush immediately surrounding the house, an area of about two acres, and the list shows 13 different species. Another splendid bird sanctuary of a different type is that of Mr. and Mrs.

Just Folks.

By EDGAR GUEST.
AS WE PRAYED.
Often as we watched her there From our lips there fell this prayer: "God, give us the pain to bear! Let us suffer in her place, Take the anguish from her face, Soothe her with Thy holy grace. Then the angels came, and they Took her lovely soul away From the torture house of clay. As we prayed, they brought release, Smoothed her brow with gentle peace, But our pain shall never cease.

Ours is now the hurt to bear, Ours the anguish and despair, Ours the agony to share! When our hearts with grief were stirred, Thus we prayed and thus were heard, Shall we fail to keep our word? Was our promise all in vain? Would we call her back again Just to spare ourselves the pain? We are hurt, oh, that is true! Desolate and lonely, too, Suffering as we pledged to do. Lovely now her life shall be Safe through all eternity Always beautiful to see; Now the pain is ours to know, But we prayed to bear this blow That she need not suffer so.

Making Ears for the Country

BRANDON, Man.—Indians like many others practice "get rich quick" schemes. A case in point was brought to light here at the Indian reserve at Griswold, Man. Collecting bounty returns on wolf ears, manufactured from skins of young cubs, was the ingenious method employed.

The ears were turned in to secure the wolf bounty from the municipality. The Redskins figured it was much easier to make ears than to catch wolves. So well did they make the artificial ears, that municipal officers were fooled for some time. Finally the authorities discovered the ruse and provincial police started an investigation. Three men and a squaw were apprehended. They pleaded guilty to the charge and were warned with a year's suspended sentence.

Little Jack Rabbit

by David Cory

All out of breath at the top of the hill Old Daddy Longlegs was glad to stand still. And the bunny boy, too, on the pushmobile, Because of a stone in his shoe at the heel.

And now I hope, Little Readers, you remember what happened in the last story, but in case you have forgotten, I'll remind you that the little rabbit and the old gentleman insect had been running a race up the Old Cow Path. "Why!" exclaimed Daddy Longlegs, wiping his forehead with his pink silk pocket handkerchief, "I'm all out of breath and hot as a cinder. I wish I were home looking out of the window." Excuse me, Little Reader, for not spelling the last word correctly. But if I had, it would not have rhymed, you see. "I guess neither of us won," sighed the little rabbit, looking wistfully at and the anxious old insect hurried down the hill as fast as his eight tired legs would take him,—but they wouldn't take him as fast as the two little tired wheels on the pushmobile. No, indeed. These two little wheels weren't tired in the same way!

But all's well that ends well, and pretty soon, mighty quick, the bunny boy came to the bottom of the hill, and pretty soon, not so very long, Daddy Longlegs, all breathless and dusty, stood beside him. All of a sudden mischievous Billy Breeze began to blow so hard that poor Daddy Longlegs found it almost impossible to stand up. With his small body raised so high in the air on his still-like legs, he found it impossible to keep his balance, and the next minute a strong puff carried him off his feet and up against the Old Stone Fence.

"Are you hurt?" asked the kind-hearted little rabbit, hopping quickly over to the poor old gentleman insect, whose little red cap had fallen to the ground and pocket handkerchief blown right out of his pocket. "Dear, Oh dear," sighed 'battered Daddy Longlegs, "won't you please ask Billy Breeze to be more gentle? He wouldn't hear my weak voice even if I begged him 23 times to stop blowing."

"Billy Breeze! Billy Breeze! Please stop blowing, if you please. Daddy Longlegs you have blown Up against a big hard stone."

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

The little rabbit hopped on the pushmobile and started down the hill.

The Issues of the New Brunswick Election

Electors in New Brunswick go to the polls on August 10 to choose their representatives in what will be known as the ninth legislature of the province, and the following survey of the history of the present Government and the issues at stake, which has been prepared by the Canadian Press will prove of interest at this juncture.

For some weeks the election campaign in New Brunswick has been underway and not in many years has so much interest been manifested in a provincial electoral struggle. Forty-eight members are to be elected and candidates are in the field representing the Liberal, Conservative and United Farmers parties, while one and possibly two Independents will be in the field before nomination day.

This election, however, marks the decline of the United Farmers Party or Progressives in New Brunswick. Whereas in 1920 the United Farmers succeeded in electing seven candidates, they have to date nominated but three, and all these in Carleton, the only county in the Maritime Provinces that sends a supporter of Robert Forke to the general House.

A. Chase Fawcett, who was the House Leader of the Progressives in the last legislature, has retired from the political arena and is now a member of the recently re-organized New Brunswick Power Commission. Thus it may be said generally that New Brunswick has turned to the two-party system and the present election is really a fight between the Liberal government of the day, led by Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, and the Conservative Opposition led by Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter.

Premier Veniot assumed administration of affairs in New Brunswick on April 23, 1921, following the resignation of Hon. W. E. Foster, who led the Liberal party to victory in the general elections of 1920. Hon. Mr. Foster retired from the Premier's office owing to pressure of private business, but he retained his seat in the Legislature as one of the representatives of the City of St. John. The Veniot ministry included all those who had been members of the Foster cabinet but since April, 1924 there have been several changes in the personnel.

Hon. C. W. Robinson, Minister of Lands and Mines, was appointed to the Senate, and the portfolio was taken over for a time by Hon. J. E. Hetherington, Provincial Secretary. Later Hon. J. P. Byrne, Attorney General, was appointed to the Supreme Court Bench in New Brunswick and Premier Veniot called Hon. van C. Rand, of Moncton, to the government. Hon. Mr. Rand contested the constituency of the City of Moncton, in which Hon. Mr. Robinson, K.C., of Moncton, nominated as standard bearer of the Conservatives, succeeded in defeating Attorney General Rand. Premier Veniot then had Hon. Mr. Rand nominated for the vacancy in Gloucester County made vacant by the elevation of Hon. Mr. Byrne to the Bench. The Conservatives nominated J. L. Ryan, of Bathurst, to oppose Attorney General Rand, but the result was a victory for the cabinet minister. When Premier Veniot met the House in March last he still had Hon. Mr. Hetherington as Acting Minister of Lands and Mines, but cabinet re-organization was delayed until a few weeks ago, when Hon. Allison A. Dysart, of Buctouche, and M.L.A. for Kent, was taken into the government as Minister of Lands and Mines, and Hon. Burton M. Hill, former Chief Highways Engineer, was made Minister of Public Works. The Premier himself formerly held this portfolio, but he resigned as Minister of Public Works on becoming chairman of the re-organized New Brunswick Power Commission, at a salary of $8,500, the same amount which he received as Minister of Public Works. Hon. Mr. Dysart was Speaker in the last House, and is again a candidate in Kent, while Hon. Mr. Hill has been nominated as a candidate in the new rural constituency of Charlotte.

Hon. Mr. Veniot is New Brunswick's 16th premier since 1867. He is the first French-Canadian and Roman Catholic in the province to hold the position of first minister of the Crown. Premier Veniot is a native of Richibucto, Kent County, N.B., but was educated at Pictou Academy. He was first elected to the New Brunswick legislature in 1894 and remained in the House until 1899, when he became Collector of Customs at Bathurst. In 1911 he retired from that position and a few years later became French-Canadian organizer for the Liberal party in New Brunswick. It was largely due to his efforts that the Liberals were able to carry the French-Canadian counties in the general elections of 1917 and return to power in New Brunswick. Hon. Mr. Veniot became Minister of Public Works in the Foster government of that day and he retained the portfolio after assuming the Premiership.

Leading the Conservative forces in the present election campaign is Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, K.C., former Minister of Customs in the Meighen Government. He resigned as Leader of the Opposition in New Brunswick in September 1921, to accept the portfolio in the Federal Cabinet, and returned to the Provincial arena this year to again lead the Conservative party. He was elected as federal member from the constituency of St. John-Albert in 1921 and only a few weeks ago was unanimously chosen Leader of the Conservatives at a convention held in St. John. From the time of Hon. Mr. Baxter's resignation as Leader of the Opposition to accept the Federal portfolio until his re-appointment a few weeks ago, the Conservatives had as House Leader Charles D. Richards, of Fredericton, who is now a candidate for the new constituency of Fredericton, the Town of Devon and the Town of Marysville.

Hon. Dr. Baxter was born at Carleton, St. John, N.B., in 1868 and educated at the public schools and at King's College, Windsor, N.S., (D.C.L.). He was first elected to the New Brunswick legislature at a bye-election in 1911, for St. John County. He was re-elected at the general elections of 1912 and in December 1914, became Attorney General. He held that portfolio until 1917 when the government of Hon. J. A. Murray was defeated at the polls.

Perhaps the outstanding issue in the present campaign is the proposed hydro electric development at Grand Falls. At the last session of the legislature the government introduced and succeeded in piloting through the House legislation which provides for the expenditure of $10,000,000 to complete the initial development at Grand Falls. This money will be spent under the direction of the New Brunswick Power Commission, of which the Premier is Chairman, the other members of the executive board being James Burgess, ex-M.H.A. for Victoria and Dr. E. A. Smith, of Shediac, former chairman, while the advisory board to the commission consists of Hon. W. E. Foster, former Premier, A. Chase Fawcett, former leader of the Progressives in the New Brunswick House, and Elwood Burt, of Fredericton, candidate for the Liberal party in York in 1917. The Government has stressed the fact that they propose to develop and operate Grand Falls as a public ownership enterprise, and claim to have the market for all the electrical energy available which the initial development provides for. Premier Veniot and his party argue that the future of New Brunswick lumbering industry depends on the utilization of the soft wood areas in the province for the manufacture of pulp and paper, and taking this premise, make the further point that pulp and paper mills will not come to New Brunswick unless power is provided. The Grand Falls development is the most pretentious undertaking New Brunswick has ever attempted, but the plan when completed, according to Premier Veniot, will produce hydro electric energy sufficient to supply the economical and industrial needs of the province.

The Conservatives do not oppose the Grand Falls development, but argue that the scheme is being proceeded with before sufficient information is available to ensure its success. They ask that further data be supplied as to the amount of power which can be generated at Grand Falls, the cost of the operation of the plant, and definite assurance with respect to markets. Further the Opposition take the stand that in view of the tremendous financial outlay involved the people of the Province should be given an opportunity to say at the polls, whether they desire the Province to take hold of the project and operate it.

There is also the issue of the government's general record, the Premier appealing to the electors on the results of his highways policy, and administration of the other public services. The Opposition charges the government has been extravagant, and that the highways expenditures have been far in excess of what they should have been. The financial position of the Province is another issue being discussed on the hustings. But the other outstanding issue, aside from the hydro electric development at Grand Falls, is the administration of the Prohibition Law. The Opposition charges that the law is being flagrantly violated, and that the government has been lax in its efforts to enforce Prohibition, while considerable criticism has been made of the New Brunswick Vendors' Commission, which dispenses liquor, under government supervision, for medicinal and sacramental purposes. The government in its reply points out that the Federal duty on liquor has put a premium on bootlegging in the Province, and many, attracted by the huge profits in this traffic, are engaged in the illicit business. To offset the activities of these people, who are aided in securing their products by the long coast line of the Province would require a greatly augmented police department, according to Premier Veniot, and the Province is not in a financial position to make the financial outlay which would be necessary for such an increase.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the list of nominated candidates of the parties in the field.

50 TO 25 MILLIONS REQUIRED FOR COAL SUBSIDIES.

LONDON, Aug. 2. As Parliament gathers to-day it enters what is intended to be the last week of the session prior to the adjournment for the long summer vacation. The main business will be to vote the money necessary to carry out the scheme of financial assistance by the Government to the mine owners until next spring. It was this proposal by the Government that led the mine owners to agree to withdraw their notices ending the present working agreement with the miners and preventing the coal strike which was set to begin on August first. The Treasury and other departments will spend the next two days calculating the amount which will have to be appropriated for the purpose, and a full statement probably will be issued Wednesday and submitted to the Commons on Thursday. The estimate originally suggested was £10,000,000, but unofficial calculations since have arrived at a much higher figure, twenty to twenty-five million pounds sterling now being put forward as a nearer mark. Opinions continued to be aired respecting the arrangement for aiding the mine industry varying between the contention that the Government weakly surrendered to the Trade Union threats and the view that the decision was an act of statesmanship.

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 3. The distributing of liquor profits to the amount of $381,545 to the Municipality of British Columbia was ordered by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Finance Saturday. The money being distributed now represents liquor sales profits for six months ending March 31 and is a decrease of $45,000 from the last payment.

PROHIBITION FLEET DAMAGED BY WATER.

Days of Camp at Topsail

turned out to be one of the days of camp. In the morning the boys went for a route march under Capt. Lewis' command, and the marching comments were made by the band, etc. In the afternoon the football game was played. The Test Championship in each year. The victors were No. 1, No. 1 Co. and No. 2 Tent, No. 2 Co. The night a grand sing-song was held in the Orange Hall and was attended by all in camp, but only a large number of Topsail boys. The Camp Commandant, the Chairman, and the following were also present: Lt.-Col. Lewis, Lt. Mott, and R. S. M. Best. "Our orchestra" supplied the music and were the choruses sung from the song sheet. Capt. Lewis, Lt. Mott, Q.M.S. Burke, Sgt. Saunders and Cpl. Morgan contributed items.

of the evening was supplied by the Roberts and Butler and efforts to amuse the boys were appreciated. A singing contest was held for the junior boys and so the contest was forthcoming that it was very hard to pick the winner. The first prize was awarded to the second to Pte. Scurry. The chairman then expressed his appreciation to the large number of boys at the sports on Wednesday, which made the events so closely packed and then asked Lt.-Col. Rendell to present the prizes, and also for Best Tents, etc. These were presented by Cpl. Reid and No. 1 Tent, No. 1 Co. and Cpl. Morgan, No. 2, No. 2 Co. The prize for the Best Tent in camp was won by the Bugle Band in camp of Cpl. Wiseman.

medal presented by R.S.M. Best to the best tent in camp was won by the Bugle Band and the prize presented by an old Comrade, a member of the O.C. for the best tent, attending for the first time, of 13 years of camp was won by Pte. Hawkins. This closed the programme, and after the sports for Col. Rendell and Camp Sports Committee, "God Save the King" brought a very successful sing-song to an end. Monday was also a lonely day. In the morning the O.C. took the Battalion a farewell march round Topsail, after which preparations were made to bring the 1925 camp to a close. Tents were struck and the Col. arrived at 4:15 p.m. G.O.C. thanked the appreciation to the Grand and the East-Port, and the Battalion for the way they had made to make everything run smoothly and hoped to see larger numbers next year. Cheers were then given by the St. John's Co's and then by the outside detachments. On the evening the Bay Roberts detachment had marched off, headed by the Bugle Band for Manuels Station. The leaving the O.C. also expressed appreciation to them and hearty wishes were given and returned by all.

Moose Charges a Train

SASKATOON—Seek—Infiltrated at the "iron monster" which the saw bearing down upon her calf, a moose cow, while crossing a railroad track between Hudson's Bay Junction and Prince Albert, recently, bunted the calf off the track and charged blindly at the oncoming locomotive. The moose was killed instantly. So fierce was the force of the cow's charge that a bar of the cow-catcher was splintered.

Straits Report

Belle Isle—Light west wind, good sign fish Saturday evening. From 30 to 35 barrels taken in from berth. This morning from 20 to 30 barrels taken in from berth. One schooner sighted going north from westward.

With discretion a sowers costume may be brightened by a novel pocket-book and decorative shoes.

Again we see that charming fashion of using both the dull and the satin sides of crepe in a single frock.

Big Feature at the Majestic To-Day

JOE STETCHER FAMOUS WRESTLER IN A THREE REEL BOUT.

The Regatta features at the Majestic to-day will appeal to every patron as included in the big show is a special additional feature one of the greatest wrestling bouts ever held when the famous grappler, Joe Stetcher, one of the best wrestlers the world ever knew won a sensational victory. This bout takes every inch of three reels to describe. The regular feature "For Your Daughters Sake" is a gripping melodrama starring Nita Naldi, Grace Darling and Monte Bita. It is a strong story of the great mistake so very often made by parents who seem fit to force their daughters into marrying wealth despite age, differences and lack of love. Those two big features are well above the average and patrons of all classes will have something to think about.

(From Halifax Chronicle, July 29th, 1925.)

THE SITUATION.

The Boston News Bureau says: The developments in the country's most important industry, steel and iron, are lately quite encouraging. Pig iron is strengthening, with leading interests refusing business at current quotations and with scrap steel up $1 a ton. Strength in these directions often precedes a substantial buying movement. Meantime pig iron operations for two months now have ceased to recede. The recovery from the low point is rather slight, but enough to suggest that the worst has been seen. It is logical, therefore, to expect distinct quickening in the autumn when general trade is normally stimulated. Industrial earning power is indicative of widespread national prosperity. Very few lines are subnormal. Steel companies in particular have in the past quarter shown an earning power far greater than figured, as the Bethlehem Steel statement emphasized and as the Steel Corporation figures a week hence, it is hoped will show.

Railroad net earnings particularly have been making a gratifying showing. June results for such roads as have reported have been almost uniformly good. Car loadings continue at a high rate and, with the indications pointing to a seasonal uplift in business in the fall, it would not be surprising if new peaks in car loadings were attained. The railroads, during the first six months of this year, have bought very sparingly of equipment. The principal reason has been that their needs were largely anticipated, but they are expected to come into the market more freely in the next six or eight months both for equipment and materials and supplies.

GENERAL MOTORS.

Earned $8.19 a Share 5/8 Common First Half Year Against $4.57 a Share in 1924.

BOSTON, July 27.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corp. says:

Our earnings for the first six months were $48,082,235. This is after taxes and depreciation. After deducting $3,519,771 for preferred dividends this equals $8.19 per share on outstanding common stock. Total earnings applicable to dividends for the corresponding period in 1924 were $27,065,990; after deducting preferred dividends this was equivalent to $4.57 per share on outstanding common stock.

General Motors equity in earnings of Fisher Body Corp. and General Motors Acceptance Corp. in excess of dividends received for the first six months was $30,848, equivalent to 33 cents per share on General Motors outstanding common stock.

Cash and government securities as of June 30, 1925, were $139,376,062, as compared with $30,552,452 for the same date a year ago. There were no liabilities except current accounts. This is the most satisfactory statement, both with respect to earnings and general position, that General Motors Corp. has ever made. A detailed statement will be promptly issued.

Breeding Cattle for Agriculture Dept.

Owing to numerous applications for a better class stock than is at present available, the Agricultural Department has secured from one of the outstanding breeders of Ayrshires in Canada, a bunch of young bulls, which will be distributed around St. John's and in some of the outports. This shipment of bulls arrived during the week by the Canadian Sapper. One animal, the progeny of a cow with 13,000 lbs. of milk, has been sent to the Macpherson Farm, Freshwater Road. The animals under present arrangements remain the property of the Department, which allows about $75.00 per year to the keeper of each for its support. He is also allowed to retain any fees collected for services. A periodic inspection of the animals will be carried out by one of the present officials of the Department. We understand that the services of Mr. Salter have been dispensed with. This gentleman was some time ago given the job of inspecting the animals and other property of the Department. It is also learned that the Agricultural Specialist, Mr. C. Stuer, placed at the disposal of the Department, has been notified that his term of office ceases about the 15th of this month. In reference to the shipment of cattle imported by the Sapper, a recent issue of the Family Herald contains the following account:—

AYRSHIRES FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

"Further business in the dairy cattle trade was manifested at the port of Montreal last week when a shipment of fifteen Ayrshire bulls left on board the Canadian Government Merchant Marine S.S. Sapper, bound for St. John's, Newfoundland. Consigned to the Government of Newfoundland the majority of the shipment were picked up in the Howick-Huntingdon, Que. district by W. F. Stephen, Secretary of the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association, that society having received the order. Assisting the Secretary were Gilbert McMillan and Earl Ness. The latter accompanied the lot on their journey. They are expected to arrive at their destination on Friday next.

"Those in the consignment were from twelve to eighteen months old, all from accredited herds. One individual, that from the herd of Peter Dickson, Ormatown, is the possessor of Advanced Registration Certificate number 18. He is the progeny of a cow with a record of over 13,000 pounds of milk. Balsam Lodge Sir Andrew, formerly owned by G. McMillan and sold at his recent sale is the sire of this youngster. Several others in the shipment were from record cows.

"That the animals in the lot will make their mark upon the stock already on the island there is no doubt. Bred and raised in the district which might be termed the stronghold of the red and white in Canada they have everything in their favor as regards early attention in life. As it is the intention of the Newfoundland Government to distribute the fifteen head around about St. John's, the advantage that will be gained by their presence is obvious.

"The following breeders contributed to the shipment: S. Stewart (2 head); R. Stewart, R. Roy, P. D. MacArthur and J. J. Peddie, all of Howick; R. T. Brownlee, (2 head); T. Stewart and D. R. Pinnett, of Hemmingford; T. Irwin and M. Robb, of Huntingdon; Peter Dickson, Ormatown. Two of the fifteen head were from the Shawbridge district. W. Clark consigning one and the Boys' Farm the other."

The single button closing is used on a coat of softer cut with darker braid used as trimming.

A REQUEST TO MOTORISTS—
 "SAFETY FIRST".

While a forty foot roadway (sufficient for two cars to pass) has been left on Bannerman Road, owing to the large number of children who are likely to patronize the Circus it is respectfully asked that motorists (and other vehicular traffic) avoid using Bannerman Road (between Military and Circular Roads) as much as possible during the time the Circus is in the city. This is merely a request to motorists and not an order. This request does not apply to Regatta morning and afternoon, during which time it is understood the Circus will operate in order not to interfere with the city's special Sporting Day.

The new Chrysler Four, Walter P. Chrysler's latest achievement, carries a name with a world of meaning to the buyer.

Thanks to the quality of the wonderful Chrysler Six, the name Chrysler stands for pre-eminent results in motoring. Because the new Chrysler Four likewise delivers results unequalled in the four-cylinder field, it bears the same standard of quality and fine engineering as the Chrysler Six.

The new Chrysler Four represents in a very definite and practical sense the application of the same quality and fine manufacture that raised the Chrysler Six to its peak of popularity. Consequently, the new Chrysler Four—true companion to the Chrysler Six—is already hailed as the most modern and soundest contribution to finer four-cylinder motoring. It is receiving a welcome unmatched for its enthusiasm.

See it to appreciate the beauty that is so distinctive Chrysler.

Ride in it to understand the new interpretation it sets on ease and roadability, enabling you to travel all day with no sense of fatigue.

Drive it to know fully its powerful engine—power that means better acceleration, greater ease of handling, and finer performance under all conditions of motor car driving than any four-cylinder car has given.

Forty-Six Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

The Circus Opens

The Carnival and Circus Show, on Bannerman Road, was the centre of attraction on Saturday evening and night, for some hundreds of people, young and old. Entrance to the fair grounds is free and much may be seen by a walk through. An admission fee of five cents or fifteen cents is charged for a visit to the tented attractions such as an alligator pool and the Fat Man. The merry-go-round was well patronized during the opening day. It is a very compact affair and spins without noise. The horses and other animals are made to move with a life-like, up-and-down motion, as they move around at a fairly good but safe speed. Music is supplied by the Wurlihtzer Orchestra. For small children the aeroplane ride supplies the same thrill as the merry-go-round and the many youngsters who took a ride on the machine appeared to enjoy thoroughly the experience. The show has many "Try Your Luck" schemes and games of skill. The latter include knocking down a pyramid of milk bottles with baseballs, placing balls in a tub, a speedway, race track, bowling alley. A feature which attracts considerable interest is the making of cotton candy. The apparatus consists of a large pan in the centre of which revolves a disc into which sugar (granulated) is poured, about a cupful of sugar is placed in the receptacle and after it has revolved for a minute or two the candy is ejected in threads which collect on the sides of the pan. This, when rolled off on a stick resembles a ball of cotton wool. The fat man and the alligator farm appear to be the best attended of the tented attractions. The fat man "Baby Jack," is of immense size, weighing, it is said, 650 pounds. His height is 5 ft. 8 inches; ankle, 25 inches; calf, 30 inches; knee, 35 inches; thigh, 43 inches; waist, 78 inches; chest, 56 inches; neck, 25 inches. His age is 22 years. There are eight live alligators in the farm. Seven of them are rather small, but one is about 5 feet long. The smaller ones are very small and go from the pool of water to the land quickly. The large one is tame and opens its mouth when it is desired to do so.

The affair is under the auspices of the Playground and Recreation Association, and no doubt will be well patronized.

"Mysteria" Opens at the Crescent To-Night

PRESENTING SENSATIONAL ACT OF MYSTERY AND ILLUSION.

To-night for the first time in Newfoundland, the amusement loving public will have the opportunity of witnessing a real oriental mystic. "Mysteria" has arrived and opens a short engagement at the Crescent Theatre. This act is baffling, mysterious and amusing. Consult him about your troubles, fears and desires. Write out your questions on a slip of paper, and sign your name, initials or a number—the correctness of his answer will startle you.

There is another vaudeville act with this bill entitled "The Maid of India" which is distinctly different from anything ever witnessed on a local stage. Also "Dancing Babe De La Ferre" aged 10 years. This number in itself is an attraction worth going miles to see.

A reward of $1000.00 is offered to anyone who can prove that the lady is not in the cabinet while words are passed through. This feature will amaze and startle you.

Don't miss this extraordinary attraction at the Crescent. It's something never before offered to the amusement public. There is also a big program of feature motion pictures.

Missing the Flavours, etc

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—The interest you have been taking for the protection of the health of the public is more than worthy of mention. I am sure if the points raised by the Evening Telegram were carried out we would have a healthier and better city to live in. There are lots of things done at the present time that could be avoided; for instance, in some of the small grocery stores in the city at the present if you visit them what will you see? Kerosene, beef, pork, biscuits, fruit, etc. all stored in one corner, and you can smell the kerosene when you open the door. Now that is a thing that could be avoided, but there is another point worthy of mentioning and that is the man working at a place where he is handling gasoline, kerosene, tar, pitch, etc. all day long and serving customers with groceries at the same time. Do you think for a moment that is justice to the public? These clerks would want a good decent wash after handling any of the above before they are fit to serve our groceries, but the motto is anything is good enough for the customer as long as you get the money.

Thanking you for space and also the interest the People's Paper is taking to protect the health of the public, I remain,

Yours truly,
TRULY DISGUSTED CUSTOMER.

White Man's Diseases Exterminating Natives

EDMONTON, Alta., July 31.—Not many years will elapse before the Eskimo will be exterminated by disease through adopting white man's method of habitation, declared Dr. D. E. Scott, who recently returned to Edmonton after spending one year at Aklavik, in the delta of the McKenzie river. He has been acting as medical officer to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Arctic posts, and working among Indians and Eskimos in behalf of the department of Indian Affairs.

While this prediction has been made by others in the past, Dr. Scott adds that Eskimos and Indians of the Delta are suffering from intestinal parasite attacks, due to eating raw fish, rabbits and other meats. This, however, he claims, is not a serious problem to contend with, but such diseases as cancer, appendicitis, he states, are becoming too prevalent among the Indians.

In the old days when snow houses were their temporary homes, the Eskimos were healthy, states the doctor, but since they commenced living in cabins and shacks, tuberculosis has broken out among them, and this dread menace threatens to wipe them out. Among the Delta Indians, Dr. Scott found that in all but ten per cent, here were symptoms of tuberculosis. Their methods of living were such that the disease was on the increase.

Speaking of law and order in the North, Dr. Scott declared that the Eskimos and Indians of the Western Arctic regions are the most law-abiding people in the world and he could not recollect one police case during the year he was among them. In the Eastern regions, however, where missionaries have not penetrated, an occasional murder was committed, but this, the doctor says is the Eskimo's own law at work.

Excellent fur catches were reported by trappers in the district, and in the Eastern Arctic, two Swedes have begun shipment of their three-year catch, which is estimated at $120,000. The Eskimos also fared well, the average catch being around $2,000.

Dr. Scott plans to return to the North and after a year in government service will leave for London, Eng., to take up post-graduate work.

The handy one pound can of the basket conveniently and will be found most useful in the country. For frying trout or salmon Crisco is ideal, so easy to use, and no smoke or odor.

Religious Sister in Far North

REGINA, Sask., July 23.—By canoe and train for six days—through swift torrents, pumpled along by brawny Indian guides, shooting rapids and skirting cataracts, Sister Carrier of the Grey Nuns' Order recently travelled 500 miles to Regina, primarily to see a dentist.

Sister Carrier comes from that inland mission in the cold hinterland of Northern Saskatchewan, Notre Dame of the Sacred Heart, Beauval mission, five miles west of Lac la Plonge. This is her first peak at civilization in five years.

"I like my mission so much. I would not like to be transferred to another one, unless I am commissioned to go farther north, to work among the Eskimos," Sister Carrier declared. She gave a colorful picture of life in this outpost.

Beauval Mission and that lie in a Croese, are generally recognized as the two most difficult missions in the North. In the spring and fall, the Mission often is cut off from all except telegraph communication. No mail comes and none is sent out. If the Mission cook runs out of tea or other supplies, members of the community do without. In the summer time only the minimum of travel is attempted on the rivers, owing to its treacherous rapids. The winter season for travel and the hauling of supplies.

The expense and labor of hauling, Sister Carrier explained, is tremendous, when it is considered that the Mission feeds and clothes an average of 100 persons. Considerable food also is raised in the district. The wheat fields are large and thriving, while all kinds of vegetables are grown.

The mission workers have themselves installed an electric plant and steam heating system. They also built their own telegraph line and completed the connections.

The only neighbors are scattered bands of Indians. "They are friendly, and 'fire water' is unknown to them," said Sister Carrier. The country which is heavily timbered, is dotted with lakes and threaded with rivers. The fur catch, she said, in winter was usually very good, while the fish catch and wild fruit crop materially added to the food supply.

Sister Carrier will return to her post after a short holiday with relatives here.

Yours truly,
TRULY DISGUSTED CUSTOMER.

REGATTA MEETING.
A meeting of the Regatta Committee will be held in the T.A. Armoury at 8.30 to-night, when all matters in connection with the big day will be finalized.

REGIMENT VS. CITY.
At St. George's Field to-night, a football game has been arranged to take place between teams from the Regiment and City. The teams will consist of the best players from the Senior League, and a good exhibition of football can be looked forward to.

WONDER SWIMMER.
Gertrude Ederle Shows Great Form In Practice For Channel Swim.

BOULOGNE, July 25. Gertrude Ederle, the girl who is shortly to attempt to swim the English Channel, from Cap Gris Nez, France, to the Eanglish side, yesterday had a three hours' practice swim outside the Boulogne breakwater and into the Channel.
Miss Ederle tried her speed with a tug in attendance and, in the words of experienced channel men, showed more speed for a short distance than any man or woman who ever has tried to negotiate the watery separating the British Isles from France. During her swim, Miss Ederle fought for a full hour against the strong incoming tide and made good headway.

Former Achievements.
Miss Ederle is well-known in France for her accomplishments in the Olympic Games. The team of American girl swimmers furnished the real sensation of the Olympic meeting, winning every event they entered—they looked well in bathing costumes, but they were not what really could be called swimmers. Miss Ederle leaped into fame in 1922, when at fifteen years of age she won the 2 1/2 miles international swim in New York. She has been on top ever since. Within a year she had become the holder of more records than any woman in sports history, including every world's record from 100 to 800 yards, ten in all, besides nine American records. At Long Beach in 1923 she broke seven national records in one race. Last June she swam the 21-mile classic from New York Battery to Sandy Hook in 7 hours, 11 minutes, bettering even the men's record of 7 hours, 18 minutes, which had been held for 11 years by George Meehan, of Boston. On the last two miles of this race she actually raised her stroke and finished with a 100-yard sprint. She took no food during this swim, and used the 8-beat crawl all the way except for brief changes to rest her muscles.

THE COMING SEASON.
Revised Off-Side and Throw-In Rules.
AN INTRODUCTORY SURVEY.
(By OLYMPIC.)
Although the generally-accepted view is that there will be little to distinguish the start of this coming football season from any other that has gone, the fact remains that the same usual keenness and ill-concealed anticipation is being shown by those who consider that no other sport is comparable to the game which monopolizes the best part of the year, and which counts peer and peasant amongst its patrons. The secret of the success of the football game may never be satisfactorily explained. Few ever attempt to prove the reason for the extraordinary hold it commands on the general community. For a sport in which an actual participant interest must necessarily be confined to reasonable numbers there must be some lucid explanation as to why legion upon legion of people prepare each season not only to take a deep and intelligent interest in a general survey of the League clubs' positions, but also to attach their presence at the games in which their favourites are engaged, from Aberdeen to Ayr.

The Real "Booster."
Some people actually go the length of making a real "feed" of the business! Perhaps that explains the whole thing. Rivalry, I mean. In most of us, I should think, there still exists a taint of the cave-man fellow. The comic artist has perhaps done more to perpetuate his memory than the historian. Be that as it may, there is always a certain amount of satisfaction in being the actual winner of any event, or even one of many combined winners. There is a type apart—the cynical, blasé chap, who just drops into be "one of the crowd." Nobody considers him an enthusiast. The real "tyed-in-the-root" camp-follower of any club considers himself as "one of the side." His personal feelings sway with the fortunes of his pet side, and he's either as rabid as a wolf at bay or as keen as a hungry lion on the scent of a tender gazelle. It all depends on "how the game's going"—for his side. Yes, the successful appeal which the sport of football makes is writ largely around—emotions.

Types You Know.
At the height of the football season, and perhaps more particularly when the Cup-ties are being waged, the peaceful serenity of this office is considerably wrecked by the ruddiest sort of vehemence. In certain corners of this shack one need only intimate the announcement that such-and-such a team, or so-and-so a player was well and truly whacked at the week-end in order to rouse generally well-behaved citizens into a frenzy bordering on madness, and if you are bold enough to hold in the vicinity of the "victim" after airing your humble opinion it is not unlikely that you'll learn sufficient by about your own deficiencies as a critic as to propagate the thought that you certainly have a lot to learn about the game. Actual violence is never just outside of Michigan City. Tom Gibbons and Georges Carpentier fought there a year ago last May and the Munn-Lewis wrestling match was decided there last Memorial Day.

GREB WINS DECISION.
WICHITA, Kas., July 28.—Harry Greb, middleweight champion, was given the newspaper decision here last night against "Fighting Ralph" Brooks of Hunnewell, Kas., heavyweight, in a 10-round exhibition bout. Greb landed on his opponent almost at will.

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL GAME—A GOOD EXHIBITION PROMISED.

Once again the call has come and some of the old vets will go over the top to-night in order to solve the difficult question often raised nowadays, as to which team gained the supremacy in the days immediately after the war. This game has been asked for time and again, both by players and spectators, many of whom still remember the hard fought games between these teams which always ended in a draw; so to-night both teams are determined to win and solve the question for all time.

The city team are confident that they can uphold their laurels and are out for a decisive victory to-night, while on the other hand the Regimental team have never known defeat, for it is not in keeping with their traditions, and they are determined to make the city bite the dust in this game, so that a real lively contest is assured all those who will be on hand this evening. The following will be the line-ups:—

reorted to—but just never, and so more! Still you're a poor fish in this locality if you cannot form the nucleus of a ripe row about the particular form of this or that club and player.
What We Tolerate.
During my brief but hectic career as a football scribe I have reason to believe that I have imperilled many friendships of mature standing as a result of having uttered certain opinions, or after having given prognostications which did not materialize. In this office we have to tolerate men who are from Aberdeenshire, Perthshire, Ayrshire, and others who swear their allegiance to Queen's Park! They have come singly, and at times in a body to my sacred sanctum in order to demonstrate just how frankly an opinion can be given. Having reduced me to a plastic state they have endeavoured to dictate a policy to me. Do I fall for it? Not me! But I exercise extreme care for a par, or two, and then proceed to forget all about the most recent "deputation," and just say what I think about the state of football in general—in my own way. I'll just have to risk that threatened sticky end!

New Off-Side Rule.
All of which, of course, has nothing to do with the coming season, you will say. But there's really practically nothing in the footer world at present worthy of becoming controversial about. What about the new off-side law, and the principle which will hereafter be adopted by a player taking the throw-in? Well, that should keep us going for a bit. Considering the beneficial effect which the new off-side ruling may have on the game as a spectacle, surprisingly little comment has been heard on the subject. Most of us are perhaps betraying that caniness characteristic of the Scot, being content to await how the new law will work in actual practice before passing any opinion on the reform. Personally, I shall be content if the revised rule on the off-side law reduces the number of stoppages which accrue from an eager centre-forward being "out of play" following upon a free kick. However crude certain full-backs may have been in their methods, few of them ever failed to successfully work a scheme which rendered opposing inside-forwards impotent after a half-back had sent the ball through from a free kick. It is unnecessary for me to recount how the plan was operated.
Nothing Involved.
Under the new rule which allows of a player being considered on-side when only two players separate him from goal when the ball is last played by one of his own side, instead of three players as was formerly the rule, it is certain that greater emphasis will require to be developed by full-backs before they can put a line out of action by a move which was generally more apparent than subtle. That they will devise a plan to combat this new "privilege" to forwards is certain but I do not profess to know how the scheme will be worked. If the revised law should protect referees from being exposed to abuse and ridicule, that alone should make it a popular reform. Certain referees could not absorb the stated additional clause to the off-side rule that it was not a breach of the law for a player to be in an off-side position until he interfered with an opponent or with the play. The new rule should prevent amongst spectators, many of whom found the old law—simple though it was—an abstruse problem.
Less Noise Now.
Regarding the new method of throwing the ball in from touch, it is difficult for one to understand why the old procedure was dispensed with. Whereas, before, it was an offence if a player taking the throw-in did not stand on the touch-line when delivering the ball, it shall now be reckoned as non-compliance with the laws of the game if the throw-in is taken when the touch-line is encroached upon by the player throwing in the ball. He shall now stand outside the line when throwing the ball over his head, when, as before, both hands must be used. On consideration, it will be understood that it should now be easier for a linesman, and also the spectators, to observe when the throw-in is properly taken. When a player taking the throw-in raised his heels the movement was invariably accompanied by claims for a "foul-shy" award. Players and spectators who claimed this conveniently ignored the fact that the throw-in was taken while the player still covered the line with part of his boots. Again, there should be less occasion for demonstrative abuse of players, linesmen, and referees on the part of the fanatical enthusiast.

Take it with you camping, fishing and pic-nicking. It is convenient and useful in the woods, Crisco—aug.21

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

DO JUDGE OTHERS BY YOURSELF.

We, my neighbor and I were talking yesterday about an invitation we had both received, and trying to decide the momentous question which all ways preoccupies any woman the minute she receives an interesting invitation.

My neighbor is a lady who always seems to me to have the right kind of clothes, the kind of clothes I would have if I had the taste to buy as wisely as she does.

I asked her what she was going to wear.

Said she: "I don't know. I suppose, disconcertedly, 'I'll have to wear that blue, I never seem to have just the right thing to wear."

I thought she always had the right thing.

She meant it, too. She wasn't just trying to get a reaction from me. You can tell the difference, you know, unless a person is a consummate actress—which few of us are.

As my new England mother would have put it, I was "struck all in a heap" by that discovery. So she felt that way, too. Why I thought she always had just the right thing to wear.

And yet she is just as disconcerted with her clothes as I am with mine!

What a revelation of the similarity of the insides of people's minds!

Every once in a while, I think, one gets one of those little glimpses of the way other people feel and is struck anew with the fact that the best way to measure other people (our childish proverb "don't judge other people by yourself") to the contrary is by the footstep of your own emotions and reactions.

Do You Ever Feel This Way?

When I apologized for arriving late for a week-end visit recently my hostess laughed and said: "So long as you're not early, I'll forgive you. It just knocks me out when people get here before they say they will for I generally plan to use every minute up to the time of their arrival."

And I had always thought I was the only hostess in the world, or at least one of a small class, who was foolish enough to be upset when guests came early.

The widow of Sam Waller Foss told me that one of her favorites among his poems was the one containing the lines, "You'll find he's just as scared of you as you are scared of him."

They're Just as Much Afraid Of You. It is a homely expression of a truth that has many ramifications. Many times you'll find not only that the people you are afraid of are afraid of you; but that the people you think haughty and standoffish think the same of you; that "the people you envy, envy you, and that the people whom you think are free of the little troubles and annoyances that make up so much of your days, have just as many little troubles and annoyances of their own, but think you have none.

If some scientist discovers the wave length which makes mind reading possible and people's minds are opened up to each other willy nilly and without power of concealment, the world will be turned topsy turvy. But one good thing will come—we shall lose a lot of the discontent that arises from thinking other people are happier or luckier than we are.

Wedding at St. George's

A very pretty wedding took place at St. George's Cathedral, St. George's, on the 29th of July, when Miss Sadie Cashin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cashin, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Leo O'Rourke, of Portland, Me., and formerly of Prince Edward Island.

The ceremony preceded by nuptial mass at which the bride and groom, bridesmaids and groomsmen, received Holy Communion, was performed by His Lordship Rt. Rev. H. T. Renouf, Bishop of St. George's. After the ceremony His Lordship addressed the bride and groom on the duties of the Holy State into which they had entered and closed by wishing them every happiness.

The bride was charming in a dress of duchesse satin with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Annie O'Reilly, cousin of the bride, and Miss Norah Cashin, the bride's sister, were dressed in rose pink silk, with hats to match, and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Leo J. O'Reilly, cousin of the bride and Mr. Leo F. Healey.

After the bridal party left the Cathedral the organist played the Wedding March and the joy bells pealed in harmony. At the Cathedral steps the party entered the gaily decorated automobile waiting to take them to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding breakfast was served to the near relatives and immediate friends of the family.

The reception which followed kept the young couple busy until the arrival of their train. The bride received many beautiful presents, as well as cheques, etc. The groom's present to the bride was a set of costly furs and to the bridesmaids a gold writing set and a string of pearls.

At 1.50 p.m. the bride and groom took the train for P. E. Island, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will make their future home at Portland, Me.

Our Salmon

Salmon above the dam and comparatively few trout. Still the damming of the river has had this advantage as it can give one a very good idea of the number of salmon going up. Before these pulp wood operations started the Barachois was in very good shape. I have fished in most of the rivers round the island, and I have rarely seen so many salmon jumping at one time as I have seen in these lakes, but when the brook was dammed, one did not see such a large quantity of salmon as one expected. This spring when a few logs were taken off the apron, about a dozen "barrels," according to the brook warden, went up. Even now that the river has fallen, and the dam sills are dry and wide and the salmon cannot get up, there are not a great many, but they are lying under the part of apron left and at the bottom of the deep part and are hard to see, but not to "fig." This scarcity may be accounted for by the bad treatment last year, but on the whole I think it can be shown that there is no danger of the spawning beds in any of our rivers being overcrowded, partly on account of the earlier salmon going up further to spawn and partly because of the amount of spawning ground available when not interfered with.

Yours truly,
C. CARTER,
Lieut. Commander.

First Circus at St. John's in 1847
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—The arrival of the circus in our city reminds me of what I have read in relation to it. I believe was the first circus ever seen at St. John's, this was in 1847, seventy-eight years ago. It was called the New York Circus Company, Rockwell & Co., Proprietors, B. J. Banks, Manager. It contained twenty-seven performers, the same number so I believe as are in the one now in our midst. It performed in a field near Monkstown Road, the property of Mr. Brown. It was composed of blood horses, trained ponies, a band of musicians, a corps of equestrian and gymnastic performers, pantomimists, negro actors, etc. A pavilion was erected in the field, the price of admittance was five shillings, two and sixpence, and one and three pence. Hoping this may be of interest to your readers, I subscribe myself,
Yours truly,
TELEGRAM READER.

Nfld. Exports to U. S. A.

The volume of declared exports to the United States from Newfoundland for the six months ending June 30th, 1925, reached $1,675,308. The declared exports for the second quarter of this year exceeded those for the same period of the year 1924 by $448,037. Heavy shipments of newsprint, cod oil, and sealskins, are responsible in great part for this very noticeable gain. Declared exports for each half-year, ending June 30th, covering the past five years, are shown below:—

1921	928,659

Decrease in Passenger Traffic Yesterday

Owing to the disagreeable weather yesterday, very few people availed of the excursion trains to spend the day out of town. The steam coach was in operation, but was not so largely patronized as formerly.

Immense Holiday Show at the Nickel

HEADED BY HAROLD LLOYD IN HIS LATEST COMEDY.

Harold Lloyd heads the big holiday bill which opens at the Nickel commencing to-night. In his latest comedy entitled "From Hand to Mouth" Harold Lloyd again proves his capabilities as a comedian of originality. This is one continuous scream from start to finish, so come prepared to laugh hearty.

The feature attraction to-night is "The King of Wild Horses." The film contains a wonderful plot besides some wonder exhibitions by a magnificent stallion. The leading roles are portrayed by Leon Barry and Edna Murphy.

The Black is a magnificent stallion, and a short time ago was the undefeated leader of a band of wild horses in Colorado. And there he is shown on the screen, the wild and rily ruler of an immense and picturesque range country. He fights to retain his supremacy, too, and leads his herd in triumph after beating off an invading white rival.

One marvels how this action was ever staged—how it was kept within range of the camera, or how the camera was kept in focus with the action. One sees this wild horse, riderless and untethered, galloping down the side of a mountain; two horses fighting, breaking apart, running, then returning to the battle—here, there, everywhere—and the camera-man right there in the thick of the fray. But you soon become so thrilled and enraptured that you cease wondering how they got it and abandon yourself to an emotional spree.

"The King of Wild Horses" cannot be classified as an "animal picture," nor yet as a "western." It is both of these things, and superior to each. In fact it is an unusual and beautiful production, never without sustained interest and chock-full of sensational thrills and amazing achievements. It's a Pathé-picture produced by Hal Roach.

Street Lamp Needs Attention

Complaint is made that for some time past the street light on Carleton Road has been out of commission. Citizens, no doubt, are being charged for the light, and those whose duty it is should see to it that it is put in working order. Whilst the claim is made that it is impossible to keep a globe intact in this locality owing to stone-throwing, the difficulty could be surmounted if a properly adjusted screen were used and the road nearby put in proper condition. At present the place resembles a beach.
