THE long anticipated call for a mass meeting of citizens of Calgary to consider a tentative platform framed by the executive committee of the Citizens' Progressive League has been issued for Monday evening, September 9. A place for the meeting has not yet been secured but will be announced later.

Ratepayers Reject Filtration Plant and New Water Intake Bylaw Together with Bylaws for Loan of $150,000 to Hospital and $32,000 to buy City Land

Project for Filter Beaten by Margin of 40 1-3 Votes Out of 383 Cast, and Land Purchase Measure Goes Down to Defeat, Lacking 80 1-3 Votes to Carry

THE spirit of conservatism evidently possessed the ratepayers of the city yesterday when they voted down the bylaw providing for the appropriation of $405,000 to construct a filtration plant and build an extension and new intake to the city gravity water system.

Duke of Sutherland Head of Gigantic Scheme of Colonization; from Coast to Coast Land will be Acquired Which will be Settled by British Farmers

Sir William Mackenzie, Sir William Whyte, J. S. Dennis of Calgary, A. M. Nanton and the Canadian Pacific Interested in Big Project

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—Steps towards completing the organization of the colonization company recently launched by the Duke of Sutherland, were taken at a conference in the Royal Alexandra hotel this morning, at which the Duke, Sir William Mackenzie, Sir William Whyte, A. M. Nanton and J. S. Dennis, of the C.P.R., at Calgary, were present.

At the mass meeting, which all citizens of Calgary are invited to attend and participate, a tentative platform calling for reforms in civic government will be submitted. While the platform, as framed by the executive committee, contains many radical planks, the committee exercised wide latitude in inserting them for the express purpose of giving citizens of Calgary an opportunity to debate them and decide what lines the movement for municipal reform shall take.

The total vote cast on the bylaw was 278 of which 211 were for the bylaw and 167 against. As a two-thirds majority of the vote cast is required to carry the bylaw, it lost by a margin of 40 1-3 votes.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—With the payment by Minneapolisians of more than $34,000 to treasurer of that department believe they have broken up in this city one of the most active rings of smugglers operating in interior cities in the United States.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—The Canadian Pacific railway's crop report for the week ending August 20 says: "The weather has been generally favorable in both Saskatchewan and Alberta during the past week, that of Manitoba being cool and dull, with only a few bright days. In Saskatchewan the weather on the whole has been more favorable, and in Alberta even better than in Saskatchewan. On Tuesday rain fell steadily in nearly all sections of Manitoba, and a heavy rain fell at Swift Current, Outlook, Portal and Moose Mountain sections in Saskatchewan. Yesterday the rain was again general throughout Manitoba, but reports from further east indicate weather was warmer and clearer.

When all details are settled they will proceed on an impossible scale. It is further rumored—but of this Sir William Mackenzie will go with them. It is further rumored—but of this Sir William Mackenzie will go with them. It is further rumored—but of this Sir William Mackenzie will go with them.

This being the case, The Albertan's prognosticating financier, basing his estimate on the Weather Man's meteorological guess, will place the value of the grain to be shipped today at $200,000.

In these days of rejected money bylaws, we may be glad and exult that this much belongs to us anyway. It will all help with the big fall business.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 24, 1912

THE VOTE AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE

The significance of the defeat of the three money bylaws submitted to the ratepayers yesterday is surely unmistakable. They provided for expenditures of the sort which might be expected to excite little or no opposition. The need for the installation of a filtration plant has been impressed upon the citizens of Calgary again and again during the past summer by the inconvenience which they have suffered when each rainstorm has thickened the water supply with mud. The proposal to loan $150,000, on the security of a first mortgage, for the construction of an addition to the general hospital and the appropriation of $30,000 for the purchase of sites for storage yards might be expected, in ordinary circumstances, to meet with the full approval of a great majority of the ratepayers. Yet the two first bylaws failed to secure the necessary two-thirds majority, while a heavy vote was polled against the third.

The only conclusion to be drawn from this action on the part of the ratepayers is that confidence in the present civic administration has received so severe a shock by the revelations and events of the past few months that they are no longer prepared to entrust that body with the responsibility of spending their money. It is not surprising that the public mind should have been unsettled by recent developments at the city hall. The most ardent supporters of the administration will not contend, in view of the difficulties in which it now finds itself, that it has exhibited any high degree of intelligence in the management of the city's finances. Add to this circumstance the revelations of incompetence and defective administration made public at the recent investigation, the fact that a majority of the council has joined in censuring the mayor and declaring a want of confidence in three of the most important city officials, all but one of whom are still in office, and few will venture to express surprise at action on the part of the ratepayers which seems to clearly indicate that they are not satisfied with prevailing conditions in the city hall.

The administration and the individual members who have been under fire have doubtless many sympathisers. Opinion upon the charges of incompetence that have been made will no doubt vary in the degree of credence which it attaches to the assertions upon which those charges are based. It has been evident for some time, however, that the feeling of dissatisfaction was growing and the defeat of all three money bylaws submitted yesterday makes it difficult to avoid the conclusion that this feeling has become general. Those members of the administration who desire to retain or recover the confidence of the ratepayers will do well to insist upon a thorough "house-cleaning" and re-organization.

OPINIONS AND TITLES

It is to be regretted that in the rapidly swelling band of more or less prominent Britishers who visit Canada, British Liberalism should have a representation, which is obviously disproportionate to its influence in the Mother country. That this should be so is not very surprising, in view of the fact that Liberalism in Great Britain finds its chief support among the middle and lower classes, while Conservatism monopolizes the support of the Big Interests, whose representatives have the means and the leisure to travel. These latter gentlemen come here, ostensibly for the purpose of seizing the opportunities which confront them everywhere in so profitable a field for investment. A large number of them are titled persons and despite our boasted Democratic instincts we are disposed to accord to a man who can boast a handle to his name a degree of respect (to use no more offensive term) that is often out of all proportion either to his intelligence or influence. Hence he is sought out by the interviewer and given the opportunity to pronounce, with the fine confidence which almost invariably distinguishes him, upon every question which is troubling the minds of those who are concerned with the welfare of the Empire. The interviewer is often an intelligent man, who smiles while he takes note of the ever ready solution for the most difficult problems, forced to do so by his knowledge that the superstitious regard of the public for the utterance of the titled Britisher makes them "good copy".

One of the latest of these visitors is a noble lord, by name Congleton, who in a two-column interview published in an Edmonton paper tells the people of that city what the population of the British Isles think of the Home Rule bill, the franchise reform bill, the bill providing for the disestablishment of the Welsh church and every other question with which Britishers are concerned at the present time. His declaration that war with Germany is inevitable receives the special prominence of heavy type extended over the full width of the front page. His interest in politics is declared to be characterized by "a devotion to the cause of his party and to the development of a national policy for which that party stands, which marks him as one of the most active of the hereditary peers in the political arena." The paper does not indicate the source of its information on this subject and but for the fact that it declares the noble lord to be a modest young man one might be tempted to trace it to him.

The noble lord is twenty-two years of age. In common with people who are not noble lords he has the right to his opinions on such subjects and perhaps must not be blamed if he gives expression to them when asked to do so. It is unfortunate, however, that they should receive a prominence so disproportionate to their real value.

THE INIQUITY OF THE BONUS

The following timely protest against the iniquity of the bonusing by municipalities of new industries appears in a recent issue of The Grain Growers' Guide:

"The passing of a bonus-granting by-law in Saskatchewan last week by the overwhelming vote of 710 to 34, shows how deeply ingrained is the popular belief that by this simple device a city may not only 'get rich quick,' but get big quick, 'as well, with the level of prosperity among the citizens rising to an equal degree. The fact that of all the municipalities which have been working 'this theory for all it was worth not one as yet has found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow ought to raise a doubt in inquiring minds whether it is not another case of the people being 'worked' by designing interests. Even so 'huge a majority as that registered in Saskatchewan is no mystery' when one contrasts the zeal and aggressiveness of that class who will profit by the granting of a bonus with the apathy of that much larger class who stand to lose more than the others gain. The ordinary citizen forgets that he must sooner or later pay the $85,000, the 'power below cost and the fixed assessment which he so readily hands over to a wealthy company. The payments being indirect and spread over a considerable period, everybody supposes that he himself will never be affected, but that everybody else must square the account. The citizens of Saskatchewan hope that this branch factory secured will be only the beginning of a great influx of 'new industries to be attracted to their city. But what will attract them? Are the people willing to hand over an $85,000 site, cheap power and 'low assessments to every factory that comes 'along? If it be answered that such a spendthrift 'policy would bankrupt the city before the new 'year, what justice is there in setting up one concern in business, while refusing to do anything 'for firms just as deserving? By what moral 'right does a 'new industry' levy tribute on all 'the other businesses which have made their own 'unaided way? But whatever real or apparent 'stimulation there may accrue to the business life 'of a community from the bringing in of some 'factory hands, the average ratepayer certainly 'receives no benefit. By heavier taxes on him 'must the prodigal bonus be met. Grant all that 'is urged for this encouragement to certain 'industries, and it is simply taking money out of 'the left-hand coat pocket and putting it in the 'right-hand pocket. While this would seem a 'rather doubtful way for a man to become rich, at 'least it does not make him poor. But when a 'city hands out a bonus from its municipal treas- 'ury, it really takes that money out of the pockets 'of the citizens and puts it into three or four 'pockets already bulging with the gains of an un- 'just economic system. If the civic bonus reduces 'ed the cost of the commodity manufactured, even 'for a limited period, that would be something like 'a return. But it never does so. If the place 'chosen is economically profitable and naturally 'advantageous, the bonus is just that much extra 'profit to swell the manufacturer's fortune. If the 'location is not naturally a good one, and the in- 'dustry has come only because of the liberal in- 'ducements offered, then either the industry will 'languish and die when the spoon-feeding ceases, 'or else prices must be advanced higher than 'they should be. To make citizens pay year after 'year the tribute of inflated prices is a poor re- 'turn to make for their reckless charity in pass- 'ing bonus by-laws. It is time to call a halt to 'this insane practice of Western towns and cities 'in bidding against each other to see which can 'hand over the biggest bundle of the people's 'money."

THE PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE ISSUES CALL FOR GENERAL MEETING MONDAY

Among other radical changes recommended in the city government is that the city commission be enlarged to include four members and the mayor, and that the council be appointed by the council. In other words, the recommendation is against the present method of plebiscite voting on the commission, and would have the provincial law complied with strictly, that the city commissioners be appointed by the council in fact as well as theory, and be responsible to the aldermen for performance of their duties.

At the last meeting of the committee, recommendations for proposed changes in the city charter were framed as follows: 1. That the city commission shall consist of four commissioners, each of whom shall be the head of a department, the mayor to be a member of the commission, and to have general supervision instead of being at the head of any one department.

Recall Petitions 25% of Vote 2. The Recall—That petitions signed by 25 per cent. of the voters who cast votes at the last preceding election for aldermen should be sufficient to institute a recall against an alderman or aldermen, and that the same percentage of signatures of the vote polled at the last preceding election for mayor be sufficient to institute recall proceedings against the mayor.

3. The Initiative. That if 10 per cent. of the number of voters at the total vote cast for the office of mayor at the last preceding election shall sign a petition demanding that any measure be submitted to a direct vote of the electors, it shall be mandatory to submit such measure, and if a majority vote is cast in favor of the measure, it shall become law, regardless of what the council may or may not do.

4. The Referendum. That if 10 per cent. of the number of voters at the total cast for mayor at the last preceding election shall sign a petition for the effect, they may compel a popular vote on any measure proposed by the council before it is fully enacted into law and if the majority vote "No," the measure shall not become law.

Three Year Term for Mayor 5. That the term of office for mayor shall be three years, unless the holder is sooner re-elected, and that aldermen be elected every year, and that aldermen be paid for attendance at each council meeting.

6. Abolition of the ward system in the election of aldermen. 7. Aldermen to be elected for two year terms, one-half of the aldermen elected each year, and that aldermen be paid for attendance at each council meeting.

8. The city comptroller to be appointed and subject to removal by the council instead of by the city commissioners as at present. 9. That broader legislative powers be given the city in purely local affairs.

10. That all taxes be levied on naked land values. Recommendations to be Debated. At an earlier meeting of the executive committee of the league, as outlined heretofore, the following planks were approved for submission to the mass meeting for rejection or adoption.

1. Declaring in favor of clean municipal elections and for candidates of high moral character. 2. Favor appointment of a municipal expert to make recommendations for improving the present system of municipal government.

3. Favoring the greatest efficiency in municipal government, compatible with the greatest economy. 4. Extending the voting hours on all elections, and for bylaws, to 8 p.m.

5. Fixing the regular voting day, preferably the first Monday in each month, and requiring the sending to voters of printed circulars worded in clear concise language describing the objects of the bylaws to be voted upon. 6. Establishing a municipal labor bureau.

7. An eight-hour working day for city employees. 8. Opposing tax exemptions on any property save property devoted solely to educational, charitable or religious purposes.

A hot debate on many of these measures is anticipated at the mass meeting as a number of members of the committee are expected to be present and only consented to their insertion with the understanding that they would be fully considered at the mass meeting.

URGE GRAIN COMMISSION TO MAKE THIS TERMINAL

terminal price unless he has secured an order direct from some local point. Better Prices Assured. "If we can have Calgary made a terminal point," he said, "it will mean that the farmers can secure a better price for their grain. I know many instances of where grain has been routed direct to Port Arthur or Port William and to British Columbia when there was a local demand whereby the grower could have secured from five to seven cents per hundredweight above the terminal price. If the grain can be routed via Calgary and held here 24 hours without the extra charges it will be possible for buyers to do business here and route the grain to whatever point it is desired."

Owing to conditions existing last year as to grading grain inspection is not performed at Winnipeg, by which route all grain is shipped to the terminals at Port Arthur and Port William. Should it be decided to make Calgary a terminal point, all consignments destined for this city would be inspected here.

President Dagg appointed the following committee to act with the committee from the Grain Exchange in presenting a committee to the farmers and setting forth the fact that the project had the support of the board of trade: E. A. Dagg, W. G. Hunt, E. M. Saunders and J. W. Campbell.

Want Five Representatives On the suggestion of Secretary D. O. McHugh of the Grain Exchange, the above committee, acting in conjunction with a committee from the United Farmers of Alberta, will appear before the grain commission and apply for the appointment of two representatives to act in future on the standard board in Fort William. This standard is appointed for the purpose of establishing a standard for wheat each year. Previously only one mem-

Walks Away While Demented, Lorain, Ohio, Aug. 23.—Miss Nettie Curie, a Cleveland music teacher who disappeared Saturday, and for whom the police of Ohio have been searching was found this afternoon by Mrs. C. C. Monroe near this city. In a demented condition "The girl had walked from Cleveland through the mud, and last night slept in a barn. When leaving her home in Cleveland she left a note saying she was going to commit suicide. She is said to be a relative of Madame Curie, the discoverer of radium.

Turk sto Relye Beranda, Salonika, European Turkey, Aug. 23.—The Turkish commander, David Pasha, with a force of troops, today left Petcha a town in the vilayet of Kossovo and is hurrying to the relief of Berana in the Albanian district on the Montenegrin border, where for several days a massacre of Christians by Mohammedans has been in progress. Montenegrins who invaded the territory to stop the butchery and who were driven back across the frontier by the Turks, are reported to have again occupied the district and are said to be besieging the Turkish garrison and the fort there.

Through the suggestion of Mr. Woodbridge the matter of establishing terminal elevators on the Pacific coast will also be pressed. It has not been definitely decided where the grain commission will hold its sittings while in session here, and the board of trade will take steps immediately to provide suitable quarters. It has been suggested that the example of Lethbridge be followed and have the meetings held in the council chamber at the city hall.

It was also decided to ask the commission to take action upon the appointment of members to the survey board of the Grain Exchange. The board of trade recently nominated six members and a secretary to act on the survey board. The grain commission will be asked to make this appointment in time for them to deal with any questions that may arise as to the present crop.

Mrs. Skinner is a well-known Winnipeg Press woman, who has just returned from England, where she has been lecturing for the Dominion government on the advantages that Canada offers to British women. Mrs. Skinner is an exceptionally bright, vivacious conversationalist, and an interesting hour was spent in discussion of questions that were of a special interest to women, such as the scheme of the building of a home for business women in Calgary, the funds for this being raised by each girl interested buying stock.

The table, at which covers were laid for eight, was set in one of the boxes at the Grosvenor Grill, and was very prettily decorated with vases of red and pink carnations.

The Grosvenor grill room has been recently opened, and is particularly attractive, the red finishing giving it the coolest appearance. The service is good and the menu includes a most tempting and appetizing variety of food-dishes.

Those present were: Miss Linsett Skinner, Miss Currie Love, Mrs. Clairhew, Miss M. Stewart, Mrs. A. Cunningham, Miss E. McClellan, Miss S. Forbes, and Miss E. Bailey.

EVERYBODY CAN HELP

All the girls over fourteen years of age and all the women in Calgary, whether married or single, have a chance to do their mite to help a worthy cause.

People in comfortable circumstances, and the majority of West-cravers are, do not always realize that during the winter there are a great number of needy cases in our city.

There is the homeless man, and the man who can not get work. There is the deserted wife, and the woman too sick to work. There are those homeless, helpless children in every community. All are victims of circumstances, and in the great struggle of the survival of the fittest these unfortunate ones cannot carry on the struggle alone and need help.

The Associated Charities, who have charge of the work in the city need funds and need them badly for this work of the coming winter.

They have decided upon the scheme of a "Tag Day" and Labor Day is the time chosen.

To carry out this Tag Day scheme they need helpers. If you can only work a few hours send in your name and the society will be grateful.

There are three prizes offered for those who succeed in collecting the largest amounts. The first is $10, the second $5 and the third $2.50. One hundred and twenty-five tag boxes have already been donated by the Royal Crown Soap company.

The arrangements of the day are in charge of Mrs. A. Cunningham (nee Uno) and she will be in the charity offices every afternoon from three to five p.m.

The society is putting forth every effort to make the day a most successful financial one and solicits the help of every person in the city.

Sweet Potatoes.

The problem in preparing the sweet potato for the table is how to cook it so as to retain all its delicate flavors and to make it digestible. Baking does both these things most surely; steaming is next best, and boiling is all right for those methods of cooking for which sugar is added.

The sweet potato which has its flavor best developed by such slow and yet hot cooking as was done in hot ashes. This potato is now in our markets for much the larger part of the year, and appears often and variously on the tables of those who believe always in having a plentiful supply of vegetables. Variety is secured by cooking this potato in many other than the two or three traditional ways. Even pies and puddings of an excellent sort can be made of it, but are not widely popular.

Like the white potato, the sweet potato may be baked around meat to extend its flavor while it retains its own character. As we shall see, it has most rigid requirements as to usefulness, and its desirable quality makes up for what it lacks in striking character.

The southern way, with all its variations, sometimes particularized as a Tennessee or Georgia way, is always a good way. So cooked, the sweet potato is a favorite with many people when served with roast pork.

Sweet Potatoes.—Boil four large sweet potatoes, and when done peel out in two lengthwise. Put in a pie tin with a little bacon fat, sprinkle a little sugar over them, and broil in an oven. Serve with roast pork.

Candied Potatoes.—Boil and peel carefully sweet potatoes for four people. Mash fine and add two tablespoons of butter, one of sugar, one of salt, and one of onion juice. Mix together for ten minutes. Sprinkle one-fourth of a teaspoon of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoon of ground cinnamon over the potatoes, and add one-half a teaspoon of butter to the sauce. Then pour the sauce over the potatoes and bake in a moderate oven until they are nicely browned.

Sweet potatoes prepared in much the same way are called place sweet potatoes, as well as sweet potatoes southern style. In preparing them by this latter method sugar is sprinkled over them, and then water or milk, but sometimes a cup of the water in which they were boiled is added.

Sweet Potato Spheres.—Mash thoroughly four good sized potatoes; season with salt, pepper, and butter. If necessary add hot sweet milk until the mixture is the right consistency to shape. Roll into balls, dip into flour, and fry in deep fat.

Sweet Potato Croquettes.—Mash sweet potatoes, add salt, pepper, onion juice, and one tablespoon of butter. When partly cool, mold into any desired shape, dip into beaten egg, roll in fine dry crumbs and fry a golden brown in hot fat. Serve with pork tenderloin or roast pork.

THE HEART DEPARTMENT

When a Woman Can Listen to what his sister says?

(Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.)

We have all heard that procrastination is the thief of time. There is much more that might be laid at the feet of procrastination. The woman who fails to make the most of herself while the opportunity is hers has had herself to blame for a misspent life.

The young woman who has wealth at her command has not her future to worry over; that is, not troubling herself as to where the bread and butter is to come from in the after years. It is the woman with no future prospects, she who must toil for her bread, who should make the best bargain that she can with time. Time—at once the custodian and destroyer of all that is beautiful, great, and wonderful in human-kind!

In this age young girls are thinkers. They do not all look toward marriage as the end of their life, but they do look round about them and choose a career. The young girl who thinks it beneath her to earn her living as long as she can, who chooses to bring in her support, wasting her best years from 18 to 35 in sitting about the home finds but few positions open to her if she is without resources.

It is then that she wishes she had put her shoulder to the wage earning wheel while she could. The beautiful girl who believes in the old-fashioned idea of winning for her admiration and hand of a millionaire walking rough shod, as it were, over the true earnest hearts of her fellow sufferers falls far behind away as the years roll on. She realizes that she should have won and worked, but she has not time to do so. With her beauty only a faded relic of the past, she knows that few men of her age want her. And the older men are making for themselves a younger and fairer than she.

It is quite true that Cupid puts no bar on ages. All are eligible to be on the list. But, like all of his sect, he favors seemingly young and pretty girls to give lovers and husbands to.

Another thing which I have noticed about Cupid is that he chooses in factory, shop and work places for good candidates for matrimony, skipping by the girl who sits expectantly in the parlor with her feet under her lap waiting for him to call upon her.

There is a little lesson for wives to learn. She who will not do a duty, if her husband's love while it is within her power by making him happy for him by daintily cooked meals and a pleasant neat dainty wife sitting up for him, will find that it is too late to grieve over what she might have done when it was within her power. A woman should never shirk a duty. If she does, there will come a time when she is unable to cope with it.

Her Mother is Opposed

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am an engaged girl of 19. My fiancé is a business man of 22. He has only been here since last fall. I have been going with him for six months and I know him as a man of good habits and a Christian. My mother has old-fashioned ideas and is opposed to him because she knows nothing of his people. She likes him and has no other objections, but she is obstinate and will not consent to my marrying him. My older sister ran away and was married because mother opposed it. I do not intend to run away because there was much talk about my sister, and I despise slanders. I want your advice in this case. I know that I am young, but do you think it is right for mother to act as she does because she does not know my fiancé's people. I love him too much to give him up easily. WORRIED."

I would suggest that you have your fiancé talk with your mother and ask her what his people are. I am sure the difficulty can be adjusted without any unpleasantness if you use a little tact and diplomacy.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I long to renew the acquaintance of a boy I went to college with, but owing to the fact that we have moved to the south side and he lives on the north, I seldom see him. We are both about 30, and I know this young fellow likes me very much, but does not know my address. I have done my best to find out when he is in the city, but he never comes. I am sure he would like to see me. Please advise how we can become friends. I have asked some of my boy friends to invite him to go places with me, but they are too jealous, and will not ask him.

Why not drop him a note asking him to call at your home? In that way it will let him know where you live and he will be glad to see you. It won't be long before he will take advantage of your invitation.

Is It Proper?

"Dear Miss Libbey: Do you think it is proper for a young man to call on a former sweetheart, now married? This old sweetheart was a school chum of mine. I am 24 years of age, and she is 32. She has asked me to come and see her real often. Her husband is out of town and before he left he told her to have a good time. It is proper for me to take her to the theatre and to dance?"

"If I should be forbidden to see her, it would be as if the world were a bad end. I love her better than words can tell. When she married I was thoughtful of miles away, and when I wrote her my letters never reached her. I was away for two years, and my intention was to ask her to marry me when I came back.

"This is my first, and the only sweetheart I ever had, and I've almost condemned myself to die an old bachelor."

No, it is not proper unless her husband is at home when you call. No, don't take her to the theatre. You will get over it in time if you work hard, keep good hours, and save your money.

He Says He Won't Live

"Dear Miss Libbey: As I am in need of good advice I hope you will answer as soon as possible. I am a fine looking girl of 19 and truly in love with one of the finest young men that ever existed. I have been keeping steady company with him for over a year. He has often told me of his great love for me and has asked me to be his partner for life. I have not decided what to do, because my folks will not listen to me or think it wise for me to marry at this age. They want me to go abroad for a few years and study music. Now this young man says he could not live that long without me. He wants me to marry him, soon. Really, I don't know what to do.

Sylvia.

Your parents are sensible in refusing to allow you to marry at your age. He will live all right. Don't worry about that score, Sylvia.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am much devoted to a charming young lady, but she has a number of admirers. I expect to propose soon. I am doubtful of my success, for I am slow to think of the right thing to say.

"Would you suggest a proper proposal? Please have it short, for I am a busy stammer, and I do not want to appear foolish. If I am refused shall I try another girl or retire from social life?"

Stammering Henry.

Tell the girl you love her and ask her to marry you. That is about the best proposal to make. Poetical effusions and drooping on the knees are things of the past. You do not seem deeply in love with the girl, when you are planning for a second onslaught of affection.

They Talk About Her

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 20 and live in a small town. I keep company with several young men around town, which shows that when I was in the village the village gossips. They say I am a flirt. I do not want to go steady with any one of my friends, because they have not promising futures and I think a girl of my intelligence and refinement ought to marry a city fellow who will make his mark in the world. In a small town a girl goes with a fellow certain length of time, and then they marry and settle down, which tells I am trying to avoid by not showing all my favor on one young man. Please advise me what to do in this regard, for I realize I am at the critical age when a girl must carve her future.

You seem pretty well satisfied with yourself. There is no harm in going about with the different boys you are providing you are not engaged to any one. Pay no attention to the gossip, but make sure you furnish no food for their eager tongues.

His Sister Don't Like Her

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a woman of 48 and am divorced from my husband and have been for one year corresponding with a rich man of 55, and his sister live on a farm alone his parents are dead. The man likes me and I like him. The man wants me to marry him, but his sister is very angry against it. What shall I do, let him go and not marry him, or not marry him?"

HEAD OFFICIALS OF UNION BANK IN CALGARY

Increased demands of the rapidly growing communities. The Union Bank of Canada has something over 170 branches throughout western Canada, some of which have grown into institutions equally as large as the parent organization.

Impressed With Calgary. Speaking of the outlook in the west, President Galt and his associates expressed themselves as much struck with the development, especially in Calgary, where the city has advanced by leaps and bounds from an unimportant centre to one of metropolitan dimensions. One thing that impressed Mr. Galt was the large number of big steel buildings now being erected and the eagerness with which they are being sought by tenants. Another was the fact that everybody apparently had money, and there was a total absence of poverty.

Wherever the party has travelled they have been impressed by the splendid crop conditions and the outlook for a good harvest and consequent prosperity. After spending the day in Calgary, the party will continue on its journey over the province, visiting all cities and towns where there is a branch of the bank.

NICARAGUAN PRESIDENT BLAMES UNITED STATES

Will Ask Republic to Undo the Harm That Has Already Been Done

Estrada Resigned When American Legation Insisted on Release of His Rival

New York, Aug. 23.—A Washington dispatch to the New York Herald says: It became known here tonight that General Juan Estrada, until recently president of Nicaragua, is in New York and is ready to communicate with the United States take measures to help his country and undo the great harm which has already been done here, and the revolution led by General Luis Mena.

General Estrada says the cause of all Nicaragua's present woes is directly traceable to the usurpation of power by Mena and the action of the American minister, late in 1910, in demanding that General Mena be restored to power after he had been ousted by a dangerous conspirator against the government's safety.

Estrada Ordered Arrest. According to General Estrada's statement, he was minister of war in 1910, using his efforts to further his own personal ambitions, and became so alarmed that he ordered him arrested on the recommendation of General Menéndez, minister of the interior. Then, he says, to his surprise, the American minister called on him and insisted that General Mena be forthwith released and restored to power.

The demand of American legislation was so determined and exacting, according to General Estrada, that he replied to the American minister: "Very well, if you are president of Nicaragua and not I, the best I can do is forthwith to turn in my resignation."

Accompanied by General Menéndez, President Estrada asserts he then did resign and turned the reins of government over to Alfonso Osejo. General Mena was restored to power, and continued his activities until the present time, when he has begun a revolution which the State Department characterizes as the most "barbarous" undertaken in Latin America in recent years. Under General Mena's leadership the rebels near Managua have shelled unprotected houses, killed women and children by their fire, and only desisted from their military jackets and matines threatened to use force against them for the protection of humanity.

Fought Zelaya's Appointees. General Estrada was president of Nicaragua following the revolution against Magdo, whose Zelaya named as his successor. During the revolution he had the support of foreign nations, including the United States, who were anxious to rid Nicaragua of the influence of Zelaya.

General Estrada and General Menéndez are understood to be in favor of some action on the part of the United States to bring about a change in their country. Elections supervised by American marines is one of the suggestions they endorse. Both disclaim any interest in Nicaraguan politics at present.

In making his position clear to the Washington government, General Estrada expected to convince it of the truth of his statements, which he claims to have proof of in the form of correspondence and documentary evidence which came into his possession during the last months of his presidential regime.

BINDER TWINE BY EXPRESS. North Bay, Ont., Aug. 23.—The shortage of binder twine in the prairie provinces is strikingly emphasized by the transportation of four hundred tons of twine from the United States, which is being rushed west on express time to relieve the situation. The train of binder twine was handed over to the Canadian Pacific Railway at Newport Vermont, Wednesday morning, and was sent through from Montreal at the second of the western express, passing through North Bay at eleven o'clock last night. Every precaution is being taken by railway officials to see that this important consignment reaches its destination on schedule time.

DUCHESS' HEALTH IS GOOD. Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews, N. B., Aug. 23.—The report that the Duchess of Connaught was once more indisposed and unable to go on the western trip is officially denied.

THE WAY OUT. Change of Food Brought Success and Happiness

An ambitious but delicate girl, after failing to go through school on account of nervousness and hysteria, found in Grape-Nuts the only thing that enabled her to build her up and furnish her the peace of health.

"From infancy," she says, "I have not been strong. Being ambitious to learn at any cost I finally got to the High School, but soon had to abandon my studies on account of nervous prostration and hysteria.

"My food did not agree with me. I grew thin and despondent. I could not enjoy the simplest social affairs. I suffered constantly from nervousness in spite of all sorts of medicines.

"This wretched condition continued until I was 25, when I became interested in the letters of those who had cured like mine and we were getting well by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had little faith, but procured a box, and after the first dish I experienced a peculiar satisfied feeling that I had never had before. I slept and rested better and in a few days began to grow stronger.

"I had a new feeling of peace and restfulness. In a few weeks I was a great joy, the headaches and nervousness left me and life became bright and hopeful. I resumed my studies and later taught ten months with ease—of course using Grape-Nuts every day. It is now four years since I began to use Grape-Nuts, I am as healthy as a horse, and I have a happy home, and the old weakness has never returned."

MUST DEFINE POSITION ON WESTERN FREIGHT RATES

Before Government Grants Permission for Increase of Capitalization

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—That careful consideration will be given before the government's permission is given to the application of the C. P. R. for power to increase its capital stock seems to be the general impression in official circles. The application is not likely to receive consideration until after the return of Premier Borden from England, and then it will be considered in all its aspects. That the inquiry into western freight rates now in progress will have an important bearing on the question is generally believed. As a matter of fact, his definite decision until after October first, the date fixed by the railroad board for the C. P. R. to put in its reply to the findings of the board that the existing rates in the west are too high. The report could not be confirmed.

GOTHAM WILL HAVE CHAMPIONSHIP CARNIVAL IN SEPTEMBER; BIG BOUTS ARRANGED

Wolgast-McFarlane Mill. Will be Real Sporting Proposition; Johnson vs. Jeanette Possibilities and Probabilities; Johnnie Kilbane and Johnnie Coulon Also Will Perform

The following story was written for the Albertan before it was definitely known that the New York commission would prohibit the fight between the two colored heavyweights, Johnson and Jeanette. It is, however, the less interesting as showing a former heavyweight champion and up the fight situation.

—Sporting Editor, Albertan.

(Special to The Morning Albertan) New York, August 20.—A championship carnival for Gotham this season will be a certain plan of the promoters in all the classes of professional pugilism participating. Now what they think of that?

Jack Johnson, the champion kid in as far as changing his mind is concerned, will be started in the big ten-round bout with Joe Jeanette, the persistent challenger. The Nicholson Brothers, quelling spirits in the St. Nicholas Athletic Club, will be the prize, if it may be referred to.

Not to be outdone in the star performance line, Manager Billy Gibson of the Garden, trekked westward and heading Ad Wolgast and Packer McFarlane on their home grounds, clinched for his club the long-promised meeting between the celebrated exponents of lightweight pugilism. September 25 is the date selected for the Johnson-Jeanette match, and Ad Packer will mingle two nights later.

Johnny Kilbane has also been persuaded to visit us some time next month and to give Johnny Dundee that chance he has long hankered for. The date for this racket have not yet been assigned. It matters very little to the little fellows have not been slighted in arranging the plans for the boxing carnival. Johnny Coulon has been signed to box here as often as the promoters find him an opponent and come through with the "sugar."

Johnny is only a little fellow, but he has ideas when it comes to appreciating his services. Kid Williams, the Baltimore whirlwind, who has been drumming all the little fellows around here, may be the first to tackle the Chicago fighter. Williams is the coming talent champion, so the wise men say. He knocked out Young Giesberg recently, something Coulon could not accomplish.

All of which, added to the intense rivalry existing between the two big local clubs, and the prospects that several new organizations will enter the field this fall, assure New Yorkers an abundance of high class fight entertainment for some time to come. It is found necessary, foreign fields will be invaded and the best talent imported.

As a purely sporting proposition the Wolgast-McFarlane mill is the class. To Johnson-Jeanette, they make big money to the box office, but the sporting sentiment and feeling will be lacking. It matters very little to the white sports at large whether Johnson beats Jeanette or not. Possibly those who would not mind seeing John Arthur off his black knocked off are in the majority. Ad Wolgast will draw something like $25,000 for boxing Packer McFarlane also a slice of the picture money. The Garden manages had to come through liberally. Manager Gibson will have to lose his piggy bank.

tion the night of September 25. I am not trying to knock the match, and for that matter no amount of knocking would hurt the attendance. The champion occupies a peculiar position in pugilism. Thousands of good people will come up to see the big smoke who battered the once great Jeffries. Johnson is a sort of curiosity. So much has been printed pro and con (principally con) about the champion and the facility of the white sports cause that many have come to regard Jack as a bit out of the ordinary run of human beings, and will cheerfully contribute to get a peek at close range.

The bout might be worth while if Mr. Johnson will loosen up and fight. But the only fighting I look for will be done by Jeanette. Johnson is not as good as he was two years ago by a great deal according to the best authorities. The unpleasant half hour in the ring with Flynn at Las Vegas as compared with the manner in which he toyed with the "Poodle" man in their former engagement made it plain that Johnson's work has greatly deteriorated. A Arthur will no doubt be content to operate on the defensive in the ten rounds with Jeanette, take it from me. Those who attend the bout with the expectation of seeing the champion cut loose and make a sucker of his opponent will be sadly disappointed.

Johnson is not a versatile scrapper. By that I mean he knows and employs only one system and clings to it throughout a contest. He is never aggressive, or if so he fails to show it of recent years. Jack is satisfied to play a waiting game in the ring and let the other fellow come to him. A clever boxer who could use his feet a little, just enough to keep the champion at long range, could stay in the ring with him for a week without getting hurt. Jack never goes after a man; should his adversary refuse to take the initiative and make an inclination to carry the battle right up to his breastworks, then there's no fight, that's all.

Johnson will have ample time to round into good enough shape to carry him through ten rounds with Jeanette. I look for the bout to go the limit, with neither man badly injured. It is unlikely that Joe will succeed in solving Jack's defense in ten rounds, provided the champion is anything resembling fair condition. One round should be pretty much the same as the other, with Jeanette forcing matters and Johnson covering up at the slightest suggestion of danger, and only attacking when openings are inviting and the risk of a counter slight. The papers the morning after may can the champion and say he is no longer there with the gods. But then Jack will be on his way by that time, some thirty thousand richer and future dividends to come from the "movies."

Johnson will run little risk of losing the title in ten rounds with Jeanette. In a finish fight I think Joe would triumph, but there's no chance to get the champion to consent to a long bout. Joe realizes that and thinks himself lucky to get the match at the shorter distance. One thing may be depended upon, Jeanette will be trying every inch of the way, and there is such a thing as anxiety to accomplish a big task in a short time may prove his undoing.

In the Twilight League

"In the Twilight League" is the name of an interesting and well written article which appears in the current issue of Canada Monthly. It is written by a lady fan—Miss Irene Currie Love—and to say the least, proves that the ladies still take some interest in the game. The article is written to appeal to the Easterner rather than the Westerner and is well illustrated with photographs taken at the beginning of the season. Miss Love's selection of "Big League Timber" may be a little amusing to the close follower of the game, but that is as it may, her article will advertise the league among a class of readers which "Sporting Life" and "The Baseball Magazine" would never reach and will inform eastern fans that we Westerners are not outside the bounds of baseball civilization.

(By Currie Love)

Peanuts, cigars and chewing gum! Fresh ham sandwiches and ice cream cones! Nice, fresh, roasted peanuts, five cents a bag. The small purveyor of these succulent delicacies came at an uplifted finger and as he pocketed his dime, chortled delightedly. "Gosh, two dollars I've made today. Say, this Twilight League is great for me! All these guys come up here from the office for these 315 games, and they ain't had a thing to eat but a sandwich and a piece of pie since breakfast, and they are strong for these ham sandwiches and cones. Hot stuff, ain't it?" And he dashed away to supply the hungry innards of another enthusiastic fan.

The Western Canada Baseball League is its real name, but the fans call it the "Twilight" because nearly all games are played after six o'clock at night. That's partly because in Western Canada, they're all too busy making money to take the afternoon off for a ball game, but mostly because the long bright evenings make it possible to see the ball up to nine o'clock at night or even later.

It isn't a very old league, because Western Canada isn't a very old country. The first ball played there was in what was known as the Northern League, which was organized in 1907. Winnipeg and Brandon are the only Canadian teams against Fargo and Duluth as their American opponents.

In 1907, John Lamb, an enthusiastic Winnipeg fan who had been acting as secretary to the Northern League, got together several devotees of the game, who decided that Western Canada could support a league of its own. They thought the cities of Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge could afford to be in this league and it was decided to send Lamb over the course to meet the principal baseball men in each city. He spent three weeks at this task, and finally a meeting was called in Regina, at which delegates from every city were present. It was decided to organize under the name of the Western Canada League, playing a team from each of the eight cities represented. J. H. Fleming, of Medicine Hat, was elected president, and John Lamb, secretary-treasurer.

He was a veteran player, who had been in several of the big American leagues, and who had come to Calgary from Seattle. The National Commission, at the end of the season, raised the league from class D to class C, which gave it a little better position in the minor leagues.

The season of 1910-11 started out with Eokstrom still president, and the same eight teams playing. Near the end of the season, Regina dropped out, and three weeks before the season closed, Winnipeg and Brandon retired. Moose Jaw, under the management of "Bill" Hurley, won the pennant.

GAMBLER, ONCE RICH, DIES IN POVERTY

George V. Hankins, Once Power in Chicago, Spends Last Days on Charity of Friends

War With Corrigan Consumed Vast Realty Holdings and Wife's Jewels

Chicago, Aug. 22.—George V. Hankins, one time Chicago gambling "king" who in the height of his career is said to have been worth more than $1,000,000, died on Sunday in the residence of John Stoney at 714 St. Lawrence ave. Hankins had run through all his money and for a long time prior to his death had been living on the bounty of his friends.

In May of last year Hankins had been stricken with paralysis. Prior to that time he had been conducting an unpretentious saloon at Gary, Ind. Before coming to Gary he had been at Leavenworth, Kas., where, after losing the last of his fortune in a gambling house that catered to soldiers, he was making a bare living as "lookout" for another gambler.

DRIVING RAILWAY INTO THE MOUNTAINS

Some of the Difficulties Encountered by Builders of the Grand Trunk

Four Thousand Men at Work Pushing the Steel Westward to Prince Rupert

Edmonton, Aug. 23.—"Kinks of nature made straight while you work" is not the legend over the doors of the engineers' log shacks in the Rocky Mountain country west of Edmonton, but it might be, as that is what they are doing on the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern transcontinental systems, which are running grades and laying steel to the Pacific coast.

Thousands at Work Four thousand laborers are at work, timbering, tunneling, grading and preparing for the rails on the first main line. In addition, forty steam shovels, two river boats, hundreds of horses, dump carts, scrapers, cranes, tractors and all sorts of tackle are employed on the last leg of the ocean-to-ocean road. Engineers are confident that the golden spikes will be driven about twelve months hence, midway between Edmonton and the coast, but the contractors who have charge of the actual work say the job cannot be completed earlier than the fall of 1914, and possibly not before the middle of 1915.

The Final Stretch Graders are now entering the most difficult part of the task, the final stretch of 210 miles, all of which is along steep side hills composed of slippery shale. The engineers who planned the route through the Yellowhead Pass, which makes other transcontinental grades appear as if they were handers, are now working a constituent that defies practically every law known to railroad science, and will keep the shovels busy for two years after all the steel is laid.

Mica Clay Deposits The nature of the ground between the rail head and Fort George presents numerous problems in engineering. The mica clay slides easily; in fact, in scores of instances it has been necessary to dig out the same places two or three times. With a mountain of this jelly-like mixture, needing only a light rainfall to start it shifting, the Grand Trunk Pacific has a problem in railroading not encountered elsewhere in the Western country. Between Pochontas and Tete Juan Cache the mountains rise to heights of from 5,000 to 10,000 feet. The highest peak is Mount Robson, 13,000 feet from base to apex.

The Busiest Place Mile 52, the present head of steel, five miles below the Juan, is the busiest place on the line. Two steamers, the Constructor and the Conveyor, were built last spring by Foley, Welch and Company, to transport supplies down the swift-running Fraser river. The boats are of the stern-paddle type, 150 feet in length, with 24-foot beam, driven by 150-horsepower engines. The boats are of green spruce timber, sawed on the spot, and, considering the material, they are remarkably good craft. However, on account of drawing too much water, the boats can only be used when the stream is at its highest point. So far only half of the supplies have been forwarded, and as the season is nearing its close, there will be delays.

Supplies on Hand Five steam shovels and several hundred cars of equipment and material are piled up at the head of steel, and there is much other apparatus coming up every day that one wonders how the contractors can send even a fraction of it down the Fraser river before navigation closes. The lighter supplies will go down in scows, which are built at the head of steel and abandoned before conveying the cargo to the canyon, 100 miles below Stuhard. Four experienced men, with 20-foot sweeps at bow and stern, are necessary to navigate one of these scows.

Loading a Shovel Loading a steam shovel and transporting it down a swift river is a job that would give even a seasoned sailor some uneasiness. The shovel is run over a temporary track to an open space, 40 feet in length and 20 feet in width, lowered into the bottom and lashed to the nose of the conveyor. When the craft swings into the current and heads down a stream, the workmen hold their breath and the owners begin to figure the probable loss. If the shovel has been taken down that way—just turned loose and allowed to drift, so far without mishap, the Fraser river, however, has already claimed fifteen human lives, mostly by accidents with rude rafts, handled by inexperienced workmen, against which even the strongest swimmer has little or no chance.

Deserted Buildings At intervals along the route between Edmonton and the head of steel are vacant store houses and other buildings of log walls and cant roofs which were once occupied by builders and grading gangs, broken shovels, remains of worn-out machinery, discarded clothing and footwear, and heaps of tin cans are rusting and decaying in the varied changes of climate, and here and there a littered stone tells that the work of railroad construction, which draws its materials from the whole civilized world, must also take its toll of human life.

Thirty-two large and small steel bridges will be constructed between Respendant and Fort George. After leaving Tete Juan Cache the road will cross the Fraser river four times before reaching the fort. The first of these bridges is 47 miles below the present railroad. At the canyon, 85 miles further west, the survey crosses the river twice within a few miles, crossing it at the canyon. There is also a bridge at Respendant.

Flutter About Dancers at the $50,000 Louis XVI. Ball Given by Mrs. Fish

Newport, R. I., Aug. 23.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish's Louis XVI. ball at Crossways, tonight, was the most brilliant and beautiful entertainment of the season.

Everybody who is anybody was there. The hostess had excelled herself after six weeks of thoughtful preparation. By her orders a greater ballroom had been added to her home. It is only temporary, 60 by 50 feet, and more than 15 feet high. Its walls were paneled with mirrors, which reflected the gay scene.

The ball was given in honor of Miss Helena L. Fish, younger daughter of Hamilton Fish and niece of Stuyvesant Fish. Miss Helena Fish and her elder sister, Miss Jeanette Fish, received with the hostess.

During the course of the evening the "Eighteenth Century Fancies" was given. The lights in the ballroom went low, and a lot of boys dressed in the silks and satins of Louis XVI. entered. They held blue silver candles from which were suspended bright lanterns hung with rosettes and ribbons.

The boys grouped themselves and then danced. At the moment scores of doves and butterflies were released and fluttered about the graceful dancers.

Even the most weary of Mrs. Fish's guests were impressed by the originality and beauty of the dance, which was arranged by Mrs. R. W. Hawkes Worth, assisted by C. K. Slater, of New York.

Those who do not care how much they pay to amuse themselves may be interested to know that with all its appointments the affair cost $55,000 at least.

HICKS MURRAY TRAGEDY PROMISES MYSTERY

Police Have Difficulty in Identifying Murderer-Suicide; Was Not an Officer

Belief Gains Ground That Murray Was Black Sheep of a Prominent Family

EASTBOURNE, Eng., August 23.—One of the greatest mysteries in the annals of English crime seems likely to be placed on record in connection with the four murders committed by Hicks Murray here August 19.

Ever since that date the detective department and a host of reporters have been investigating every possible clue to the murderer-suicide's identity, but no progress has been made in solving the problem. He was supposed to have been an officer in a Scottish regiment, but that has been disproved.

The belief gains ground that Murray was the black sheep of a prominent family. Although there is nothing to demonstrate this, his marriage certificate gave his father's occupation as a barrister, but no trace of such a person can be found. Beyond his certificate and his claim to have been a soldier in India, Murray never spoke of his past.

The burial of Murray and the women and three children who were his victims, will take place tomorrow at the expense of the town.

SAYS FAMILY ALIENATED HUSBAND'S AFFECTIONS

Mrs. Katherine White Asks Court to Award Her $100,000 as Heart Balm

Milwaukee, August 23.—Charging a conspiracy on the part of her husband's family to alienate his affection, and that the conspiracy was successful to such an extent that on May 20, 1910, he fraudulently procured a divorce which she was visiting in New York City, Mrs. Katherine White, of White, it became known today, has started suit for $100,000 against Arthur G. White, her husband's mother, Mrs. Catherine Scammon; his aunt, Mrs. Helen Tuttle, and Charles H. Gilman, son-in-law of Mrs. Scammon.

Judge Lawrence W. Halsey today signed an order charging the plaintiff to show cause on August 24 why certain parts of Mrs. White's complaint should not be stricken out as being irregular and scandalous.

The suit has aroused much interest because of the high social prominence of the Scammons, Tuttle and the immense amount of money said to be represented by the defendants in the action. It is said that the combined wealth of Mrs. Scammon and her sister, Mrs. Tuttle, is between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000.

In Milwaukee the family has immense property holdings, and his property in New York City and Ashbury Park, N. J.

Chronicles of the Khan

OLD BILL TEEPLES' GHOST

The last thing I heard as I fell asleep was the hoarse night hawk hunting in the jungles of the sky. When I woke up I thought there was someone in the room, but it was only Old Bill Teeple's ghost clearing his throat. He had picked up a paper lying on the floor, and was reading it. "Huh!" he said; "here's a scientist over in Europe who claims that inside of two years we will be able to speak to the Martians. I doubt it. I know quite well that the thing is perfectly feasible and quite simple, but the Lord won't stand for it, and I'll tell you for why. Half the people in this world don't speak to each other as it is. There's unnumbered thousands in every great community who are starving for a kind word and a smile, and they don't get them. Their neighbors pass them by as if they were dogs. When you people have exhausted all the opportunities of being sociable with your own kind, maybe the Lord will permit you to have a confab with the Martians too, maybe He won't just the same. It's not too great a distance to send bulletins to Mars, but it's too far to send a gunboat, and the admiralty wouldn't have it anyway.

"In this here town of yours, Missus Jones doesn't speak to Missus Spilpin, and Missus Spilpin won't speak to Missus Sockdologer, and Missus Sockdologer don't notice Missus Smoke, and that's the way it goes. I can assure you that this sort of thing doesn't go in Mars, and you'd better leave that wise old planet alone, or they may start sending missionaries to you, and they'll send a gun-boat along with them to see that they get a fair show, and if you get sassy with those missionaries they'll confiscate part of this world to heal their injured national feelings.

The flag follows the missionary, and trade follows the flag, and the gunboat goes along with trade to keep her company.

"It won't be pleasant for a missionary from another world to tell you that this here earth is the rowdy planet of the whole universe. The Lord has visited every planet in this system, and there's a whole lot of planets that you've never heard of or located yet, and He was received cordially in every danged one of 'em but this one. 'This is the only world in the universe that crucified its Saviour! That's quite a rep. to have, ain't it? 'This is the only planet in the constellation where folks think they're better than their neighbors, and where they don't speak to anyone that's not in their own set. Yet they know this is wrong, for they frankly admit that heaven is an ideal democracy where everybody is as good as his neighbor.

"The last time I was in church down here on earth the closing hymn was 'Well Know Each Other There.' And Old Bill Teeple's ghost was gone.

"We'll know each other there. We'll know each other there. In heaven above where all is love, 'We'll know each other there.' 'But they don't know each other here. They don't know the people next door or across the street. They don't know anybody when it comes down to a fine thing. The only regrets I have had since I've been dead is that I didn't know certain people better, and I had every chance to know them. An angel came up to me the other day and he says— 'Cook-a-doodle-doo-coo! 'That darn rooster!' started Old Bill Teeple's ghost. 'He's like a cathedral clock—he chimes the half-hours. Well, slong!' And Old Bill Teeple's ghost was gone.

CLASH BETWEEN STATE TROOPS AND MINE GUARDS IN WEST VIRGINIA IS FEARED

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 23.—Resistance by mine owners to the executive proclamation issued last Friday night commanding the disarmament of all persons in the Cabin Creek strike zone may result in a clash between the guards and state troops, which were sent to Cabin Creek to enforce the command for disarmament.

TURKO-ITALIAN PEACE IS NOT IMPROBABLE

Paris, Aug. 23.—The discovery for the formula for the suspension of the Turco-Italian war is confidently expected in diplomatic circles to result from the unofficial peace "conversations" now proceeding between Turkish and Italian representatives in Switzerland.

read a short article on 'The Five Thousand Brides for Canada.' Here no one had heard a word about any such matrimonial scheme for this Dominion over the seas.

In the next letter, dated September, when the threshers had finished their share of "harvest home," the girl tells of her first visit to church since her arrival in Canada.

two and a half miles from here. Neither the interior nor the exterior was exactly ecclesiastical.

In the last paragraph of the letter the bride's secret is disclosed.

In the last letter, dated "Departure of 1911, arrival of 1912," the bride writes: "Billy left the ranch November 15 for his homestead, twelve miles distant, and, with the help of two other boys, he soon transformed it into a home to which he took me as a December bride."

WOMAN FINDS A HUSBAND IN ADVERTISEMENT

London, Aug. 23.—A pleasant story from Canada is printed in The Mirror. It tells of the experience of a young English woman who went to the Dominion in the spring of 1911 as a result of the appeal of Thomas Howell, the Canadian Northern Railway immigration agent, for "five thousand brides."

On the registers of this hotel there was one "Mother's help wanted at once." I trudged to the address given and found the mother, a young creature of about 22.

The first extract is from a letter dated May, 1911, and deals with the manner of the girl's first employment.

"On the registers of this hotel there was one "Mother's help wanted at once." I trudged to the address given and found the mother, a young creature of about 22.

"Here I am in the land of Nowhere, miles away from anywhere, the only woman in this otherwise Adam's Eden. It is an enormous ranch, owned by one of Winnipeg's capitalists. He keeps five men here to manage it for him.

"The manager, Billy, has left for a month to work on his own section. I shall be glad when he returns, for besides being a particularly nice man, he has a good influence on the others here. Without a good man at the head life would be very hard, well-nigh impossible, for me on this lonely Canadian ranch."

RASPBERRY CIDER TURNED INTO GUTTER

Saskatoon, Aug. 23.—There was a beautiful ruddy stream flowing in the direction of the nearest sewer yesterday afternoon in the wholesale district when Food Inspector Davies dumped five barrels of alleged raspberry cider into the gutter from a local fruit house.

For some months now he has had suspicions that this fruit house was engaged in the manufacture of this dubious product, but he was never successful in catching them at it until yesterday. This was in spite of the fact that the manager of the firm in question had steadily denied that such a plant existed in the premises.

The stuff was manufactured under the worst possible conditions," said Mr. Davies last night.

FRENCH ARMY WILL MOVE IN FORCE ON EL GLAWI

Tangier, Morocco, Aug. 23.—A French army has been ordered to march to raise the siege of the headquarters of El Glawi which is now beleaguered by the Moors.

Several Frenchmen are with El Glawi, who is friendly to the French. Grave fears are felt as to their fate.

These Frenchmen are Vice-Consul Jacques R. Mairet and three French officers who were engaged in organizing the local police at Marakech.

The four men left the city after its abandonment and tried to make their way to the coast. It is known that they found the road barred by hostile Moors, who compelled them to return to Marakech, which in the meantime was occupied by El Hiba.
