"December 21st, 1887. The last chapter in my book is by far the most brilliant and searching which I have yet added to that fascinating volume. Whatever Carliotta suffers in the present, she shall go down to posterity as the martyr of her sex. I will place her on a pinnacle as high as my own. Indeed, I was never so sorry when I had to tell her the story of the love-letter, and how I had been playing on her feelings all these months. At the same time, I looked forward to the explanation, because I knew that it would open up to me a fresh phase of womanly nature. And I confess that I did with vengeance. Carliotta turned pale. She stood there looking as if she were filled with the greatest physical agony. Her eyes filled with tears which did not fall. I don't know how many days it is since she spoke to me last, but certainly it must be upwards of a fortnight. This is not exactly what I expected. It is only when a woman talks that one can judge of how the experiment is progressing. Tomorrow, all being well, I am going to adopt a new scheme which I hope will have the desired effect."

December 22nd, 1887. Our little Vera has disappeared. Evidently she has been kidnapped with a view of a reward. The whole neighborhood is up in arms, and my wife is distracted. It has often been a favorite topic of mine that every man takes a second place in a woman's affections as soon as her first child is born. I look back now with a vivid recollection of the early days when I first met Carliotta. I look back to her passionate love scenes, and her declarations that I should be first with her. I look back to the day when I first met her. Even though I was very much enamoured, I had my doubts when I was alone, and in a position to debate the matter. The time has come to put the question to a test, and thus it became necessary for Vera to disappear. I might say at once that my theory has been vindicated to the letter. I now know that Carliotta cares far more for Vera than she does for me. The reflection is not so nothing to a woman's vanity, but there it is. There is a wildness and intensity in her grief, which I can never would have experienced had I been brought home to her in the last stage of dissolution. I must keep this up. I must work this phase as long as it lasts, while it will not be an indefinite time, because I must not drive my patient too far. She begins to show signs of collapse already. I think at the end of a week I must have Vera brought back again. By the expiration of that time, I fancy I can add another chapter of my remarkable book."

Walter stopped for a moment, his voice was full of loathing and disgust. In honest indignation almost choked. He saw now that his anger and contempt were reflected on the face of Ravenspur. "Do you want me to read any further?" he said, "or is that sufficient? Shall I tell you, for instance, what happened after the inhuman wretch brought his child home again? Shall I tell you of other tortures and tyrannies, and how this scoundrel rejoices in the fact that his neighbors like him and pity him because he is married to a bad-tempered woman, who makes his life a burden? That is the note that runs all through this extraordinary diary. The man uses it as a weapon to play upon the feelings of his wife. If you are not yet satisfied I will pick out—"

"No, no," Ravenspur cried, as he rose to his feet. "I have heard enough and more than enough. Flavio must have been a madman; and yet I regarded him as one of the best and noblest of men. I never dreamt he had an enemy. I never knew anybody say a word against him. Do you think that a man of the world like myself should be deceived in this way? Everything is now growing wonderfully clear before my eyes. Walter, I can even understand why the Countess left her daughter behind her. Fancy suffering all that trouble and humiliation to find, later on, that the child you had

ON THE GOLF LINKS.

Bright patches of color on the fashionable golf links this summer are the pretty linen jumper frocks, which the feminine golf enthusiast is wearing. White, of course, is always worn, and looks charming against the green background of the links; so, also, does the delicate blue or buff. Both these colors are seen in pretty jumper frocks that are sometimes trimmed with hand embroidery done in white to correspond with the white lingerie of lace embroidery or dainty lingerie material.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

TRIP TO THE SOUDAN AT THE NICKEL TODAY

The Nickel has a sterling feature for today and tomorrow—several in fact—but one especially good one, A Trip to the Soudan, that far-off territory which sprang into such prominence when Lord Kitchener took hold of it. The costumes of the natives, their work and play make great sightseeing for stay-at-homes. For the first time in several months the Nickel will show another Pathe colored transformation picture, The Magic Disc, a bewitching thing. The exceedingly funny Edison farce "Skinny's Finish" is a long picture that deals with the love affairs of the living skeleton in a circus side-show. The Lost Ball is a trick photo by Pathe Freres with a novelty chase. Altogether there is variety and real merit in this programme with Miss Foley's fine singing and Mr. Gurney's excellent tenor, the orchestra, etc., another two days of cheap but good entertainment is assured.

HUNTLEY STOCK CO. NEXT WEEK

Commencing Monday, July 27th, The Huntley Stock Co. supporting Jas. H. Huntley and Miss Sadie Hilton will open a three days' engagement in the pretty pastoral drama "Hazel Kirke." This organization is conceded to be the very best stock company in the east playing at popular prices. Previous to Mr. Huntley's starring tour in "Rip Van Winkle" he was at the head of the present organization which was permanently located at Atlantic City, N. J., where he set a standard for dramatic excellence and costly productions that has not been equaled in that city. In introducing the present company to the theatre patrons, they are assured of finished presentations and an exceptionally capable company to interpret the same. Popular prices will prevail during the engagement.

DECLARE OTTAWA WILL GO TORY

Civil Service Vote Will be Alienated Owing to Failure to Give Salary Increases.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

If the government were to bring on an election in Ottawa about this time the chances of its carrying either of the two seats would be lowered to the irreducible minimum. The civil service vote which is a very potent influence in political contests here has been alienated by reason of the announcement that there are to be no salary increases apart from what is provided for in the new civil service bill. To say that there is indignation all through the service is putting it very mildly. There was disappointment when no provision for a general increase was made in the bill. Then it was explained that the supplementary estimate would likely provide for some immediate augmentation. The later budget has at least been bright and cheerful, and still there is no provision for the civil service. Those who have been trusting that nothing more than a general increase was the desired result have consequently abandoned hope. Through all the departments the government is being slung right and left. Incidentally while no threats are publicly made, there is quiet indignation at the next and not far distant election. The main point emphasized before the civil service committee was the greatly increased cost of living and this was conceded in the report and while a general increase was not recommended consideration of deserving cases on a basis of 10 or 15 per cent. augmentation was suggested. The service claims that the pledge that nothing short of a gold brick. The sorest touch of all is that certain favorites already drawing big salaries are given increases amounting in some cases to $200 or $300, while the rank and file either remain stationary or will need wait a long time before receiving any benefit under the new act. It looks as present as though the government had deliberately thrown away the two Ottawa seats. At least this is the view expressed in circles friendly to the administration both in and out of the service.

The bride was given away by her brother, Florence McCarthy was attired in a tailor-made costume of navy blue and the bridesmaid wore a cream suit.

GET RIGHT TO WORK ON THE MARSH CREEK PROJECT

Plan for the Proposed Dam Submitted to Meeting of Citizens Last Evening—Committee Will Estimate Cost.

A meeting called by W. Frank Hatheway, M.P.P., to consider the question of placing a dam in the Marsh creek, was held in the Victoria rink last evening. Between twenty and twenty-five people were present. At the opening of the meeting Charles Nevins read a letter from Mr. Hatheway, in which he mentioned that he had been called to Hampton by the illness of his daughter and apologized for his absence. Ex-Mayor Sears was then voted to the chair and Mr. Nevins was appointed secretary.

A plan prepared by William Murdoch was laid before the meeting and the various points in connection with the proposal were explained. After a general discussion, a committee, consisting of the chairman, Mr. Hatheway, Mr. Murdoch, Mr. Wilson, J. E. Wilson, M.P.P., R. J. Wilkins, and H. C. Page, was appointed to see the property owners and obtain an estimate of cost and other details. The committee's report will be submitted at a meeting to be held at the call of the chair.

In the course of the discussion, Mr. Wilson mentioned that Hon. John Morrissey, chief commissioner of public works, accompanied by A. R. Wetmore, the provincial engineer, was coming to confer with the city engineer on proposed improvements to the Marsh bridge. They will also look into the question of responsibility for keeping the abutments in repair.

After the meeting, the committee, accompanied by Mr. Murdoch, to the approximate site of the dam, which it is proposed to place opposite the centre of the Marsh bridge and near the spot where the creek turns east. Should this site be selected it would leave sufficient area between the dam and the bridge for the sewage to be discharged.

OAK HALL, - SCOWBROS., LIMITED, St. John, N.B.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1908.

The Evening Times.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 15, 1908

The St. John Evening Times is published at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd. A company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE EVENING TIMES, THE DAILY TELEGRAPH. New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These newspapers advocate British connection. Honesty in public life. Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion. No graft! No deals! "The Thistle, Shamrock, Rose entwine, The Maple Leaf forever."

THE WINTER PORT The Telegraph this morning prints a statement showing the revenue derived by the city from the Sand Point terminal facilities in each calendar year since 1894. In that year the receipts were $4,382.75. In 1907 the amount was $26,023.00, and for the year 1908 it is estimated that the sum of $38,000 will be received. This is reckoning for the calendar year. The actual receipts for the winter season of 1907-8 were $33,860.57. It is estimated that if all the wharves, including the one now being completed by Clark & Adams, were actively in use throughout the winter season the revenue would easily amount to $50,000 per year.

These statements, it must be remembered, relate only to the Sand Point wharves, on which construction work was begun in 1892. The record is a very satisfactory one, and indicates the growth of winter port business in four years. The Telegraph quotes as an interesting part of the record this sentence from the report of the director of public works in 1893:—"The collections (from Sand Point wharf) were considerable, but not sufficient to warrant the belief that it will ever be a paying investment."

In 1894 the same official wrote in his report that—"The C. P. R. has apparently given up the idea of making St. John the winter port for grain shipments." In 1895 the winter port service was begun, and the director's report that year was of a different tenor, urging that more wharf and warehouse accommodation be provided, for, said he, "There is no doubt that St. John is to become the winter freight port of Canada."

The gradual change of mind which came to the late Mr. A. Chipman Smith, and is thus set down in his annual reports, remains as a useful evidence of the doubt and prejudice to be overcome by those who had faith in the future of the port, and who put their faith into works at Sand Point. The position of St. John as a winter port is assured, and we are now called upon to consider the question of a harbor commission, which is deemed desirable in order to provide for a further great expansion of trade in the not distant future.

Six berths for ocean steamers have been constructed since 1892, and another can easily be provided within a year whenever those now in existence are unequal to the demands made upon them.

MR. SIFTON AND OTHERS The activity of Mr. Sifton in the matter of the All-Red Line has revived the discussion of the possibility of his re-entry to the cabinet. The Toronto Mail and Empire recently declared that Mr. Sifton wanted the public works portfolio, and also demanded that four of the present ministers be forced out of the cabinet. We quote:—"The Sifton programme demands that four ministers be dismissed. These are all Ontario men, namely: Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. R. W. Scott, Mr. Aylesworth and Mr. Paterson. The two first, it is argued, ought to be dropped because of age, and because they are far removed from the party, and are in no sense leaders. The other two are attached on the ground that they are wanting in magnetism and usefulness. Young, active and attractive men, according to Mr. Sifton, ought to take their places. But where the men to fill the bill are to be found, the ex-minister does not say. Immediately after the session closes, certainly before an election is held, this question must be settled, and it looks very much as if the settlement will be made on the basis of the return of Sifton."

The Victoria Colonist, while admitting that there is something to lend color to this statement does not regard Mr. Sifton's return to the cabinet as a foregone conclusion; but it does look for a reorganization of the cabinet. Thus:—"The government is hopelessly weak in Ontario, and the four gentlemen named, while of excellent personal repute, are hardly qualified to win the electorate of that province over to the support of the Liberal party. Sir Richard is yet a good deal of a fighter, but he suffers from physical infirmities and is not of that quality of mind and disposition likely to attract the younger element of the voters of his province. Senator Scott is as fine an old gentleman as ever lived, but he too has reached a stage in life when he can hardly be counted upon to do much to extricate his political party out of the ditch into which it has fallen. Mr. Paterson has more to recommend him in point of vigor than his colleagues just named, but he too belongs to an older school than is likely to become dominant in Ontario politics. Mr. Aylesworth, though an exceedingly able man, is a good deal of a political failure. He is one of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's mistakes, for he does not possess the faculty of dressing people to him. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways, is badly handicapped by such colleagues, and in the very vigorous fight that will have to be put up, unless the Liberals are going to be swept away by a political avalanche, it will be necessary to reinforce him in Ontario by younger and more attractive men. It must be conceded that, after allowing as much as possible for political principles, the personal equation counts for very much, and young men grow tired of working for a party in which all the avenues of promotion are blocked by persons who might seriously consider if their public usefulness has not gone. Therefore, it seems as if the Mail and Empire cannot be far astray in thinking a very decided cabinet reorganization is not very far away."

"As for Mr. Sifton himself," adds the Colonist, "He has exhibited during the past few years an activity and reticence, which are calculated to set one guessing as to his future intentions. They are quite reconcilable with a determination to remain in private life, and possibly the enthusiastic Westerner may prefer to play the role of kingmaker rather than be king."

The Manitoba Free Press itself declared against any separate schools restricted applying to the new territory to be added to the province of Manitoba saying in part:—"Any proposition of this nature by the Dominion government will be followed by a political explosion, the consequences of which we do not care to contemplate. We are very well aware that meddlesome busybodies have been hoping to make out a technical case for separate schools in the new territories, but we do not think any leading member of the Dominion government is in sympathy with them. The existing laws of the province must be extended without let or hindrance to the new area. We do not believe that the Dominion government proposes any such stipulation, but should it do so then there is no doubt as to the position of the legislature with the electors of the province solidly behind it."

It was a kindly thought of Mayor Bullock that he should give an afternoon of pleasure to the children of the supervised playgrounds. The children will have a delightful time at Rockwood Park this afternoon, and the only regret is that there are not more people interested in their welfare and in the success of supervised playgrounds in this city. However, much has been done in two years, and there is no cause for doubt as to the future. These playgrounds have come to stay and to increase.

Quebec now becomes the centre of interest. The events about to transpire at the ancient capital are of national and international importance. They will tend to draw closer the English and French in Canada, and to increase the friendship between old England and old France.

In securing the services of Dr. Kierstead as professor of philosophy and economics the University of New Brunswick will bring to its staff a man of brilliant parts, who will add to the popularity as well as the strength and effectiveness of the institution.

The scheme to dam the Marsh Creek has found strong advocates. The thing to do now is to press for a full enquiry as to the feasibility and cost of the work, so that if there is no difficulty in the way the work may be completed before next spring.

The provincial government cannot too soon perfect its system of forest protection. What is everybody's business is nobody's business, and fire travels fast.

The railway subsidies brought down at Ottawa are another good indication of coming elections.

The progress recently made in increasing the efficiency of the incandescent electric lamp seems to indicate that the future of the arc lamp is doomed.

GIBRALTAR

England, we love these better than we know—And this I learned, when after wandering long. 'Mid people of another stock and tongue, I heard again the martial music blow, And saw the gallant soldiers and the brave, Keeping guard at ease of those huge gates. Two giants watching the Herculean straits. When first I came in sight of that brave show, It made my very heart within me dance, To think that now thy proud foot should advance Forward so far into the mighty sea: Joy was it and exultation to behold Thine ancient standard's rich embroidery, A glorious picture by the wind rolled. —Richard Chenevix Trench.

IN LIGHTER VEIN KINRED SOULS. "I'm weary of being a bachelor-girl." "Well." "Do you know any fellow who's tired of being a spinster man?"—Kansas City Journal.

SAYING A GOOD DEAL. Said Bore: "You think my jokes, no doubt, too broad, and therefore, wrong." "Well," answered the tractable youth, "you would probably advise me to put in some time as a baseball umpire."

WRONG KIND. Miss Sweet (in the country)—"Boy, can't you get some corn?" Country Boy—"Yes'm. Long ones!" Miss Sweet—"Well, mum, I guess I'd better just bring you the corn, 'as you can cut the tails off to suit yourself."

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY. (Washington Star), said the experienced person, "you must not be afraid to make mistakes." "Then," answered the tractable youth, "you would probably advise me to put in some time as a baseball umpire."

AN ACCURATE GUESS. (The-Bits) A smart Irishman was leaning against a post when a funeral procession passed. "Who's dead?" someone asked him. "I don't know," answered the Irishman, "but I presume it's the gentleman in the coffin."

PREFERENCE. (Pick-Me-Up) A chap may have a touring car of sixty horse a French chauffeur and score to hire a French chauffeur. Yet, though it be a boundless joy To chauffeur your own machine, Me for a quiet seat with her, Right back in the limousine.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED. "Will," said a newly married friend to Will Maupin, the Nebraska poet, "I'm in a quandary as to just what I should call my wife's mother. I don't like to call her 'mother-in-law' on account of all the comic paper jokes on that name, and somehow there's a certain sacredness about the word 'mother' that makes me hesitate to apply it to any but my own." "I can only tell you of my own experience. The first year we were married I addressed my wife's mother as 'my' after that we called her 'grandma.'"

THE INGLENOOK PHILOSOPHER OF KENNEBECAS BAY. I remember the drought that prevailed in Maine, in the time of Neal Dow and the drought that demoralized the North End of St. John under the Scott Act, but I cannot recall such a period of dryness as is now being experienced at Whitehead and elsewhere (including Hornbeam Settlement as I am informed) in Kings Co. And the dryness is no more excessive than the heat. A neighbor says the mercury registered 120 degrees the other day. I keep no thermometer and no barometer—one may guess the mercury is up to 100 or down to 120 below zero, and retain his senses, but if he were certain that such was the case he would "go plum crazy" as Uncle Remus might say if he were still lingering in these "lowlands of sorrow." Seriously the drought is likely to reduce the strawberry crop more than one half, the hay crop at least one quarter and the crop of grain and vegetables quite as much. The number of cattle kept in Kings Co. is much smaller than it was a few years ago and it is likely to grow still smaller. Between droughts and floods, bugs and beetles, and innumerable other pests, the farmer's lot is not a happy one, but whose is!

I met Aaron the other day for the first time in several weeks. He looks much in appearance, and has the name of being a thinker as well as a worker. He told me that he thought his estimate of the products of the farm would be justified and that Mrs. Pollard would be able to bank some money on the year's operations as well as himself. Said he "Mrs. Pollard has been a mother to me from the first; she has assisted me in my studies, advised me as to my vocation, and preached to me, not as some ministers preach, but as Christ preached, every word that I have heard. Her kindness to you will be repaid to her in her childless old age, for old age is clutching at her (and at you, too), just the same as it is clutching at me. Your goodness to her will also be repaid, and it will be repaid right here on earth. Both the good and evil that we do to the chickens, come home to roost." Aaron said, "Amen! Peace of mind is better than money and it is something that money cannot buy." Whitehead, Kings Co., July 12.

LEWIS AND RUSSELL IN A DRAW IN BANGOR

Bangor, Me., July 15.—In the Auditorium last night, Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia, champion of the welterweight title, and Unk Russell, of Philadelphia, boxed six rounds to what would have been a draw had a decision been allowed under the Maine Law. Lewis had the skill and speed, but Russell took all that was handed to him and constantly came in for more, forcing the fighting throughout with a brief interval of holding on both sides. He forced Lewis around the ring steadily, the champion constantly breaking ground and on the defensive.

REPORT OF DISCUSSION ON THE TOBACCO BILL

The Senate Fixed the Age at 18 Years but Afterwards Reduced it to 16—What Senators Power, Ellis, Ferguson and Others Said.

In the senate on Thursday last the bill to restrain the use of tobacco by young persons was taken in committee. Senator Power thought that the bill had been made in advance of the age at which tobacco is forbidden to boys from sixteen years as proposed at first to eighteen years. Criminal law recognized sixteen years as the dividing line between boyhood and manhood. Senator Power said he favored the object aimed at by the act, but no good would result from pushing the restriction too far. He moved to substitute sixteen for eighteen years.

WARSHIPS REACH QUEBEC AHEAD OF TIME

Five British Ships Anchored in Stream Yesterday. Their Arrival Was Unexpected. French Men-of-War Due on Friday Will be Next to Arrive.

Quebec, July 14.—Five British warships that will anchor in the stream of Quebec during the coming tercentenary celebration arrived in port this evening at 7 o'clock. The five to arrive today are all British, four battleships of the line and one first-class cruiser. They will be followed probably on Friday by the French men-of-war and others will follow from day to day, until the last, the prince's flagship, the Indomitable and her escort arrive on Wednesday, July 22.

The arrival of the five this evening was unexpected by the citizens and there was an absence of the usual crowd of sight-seers on the terrace. The vessels made a gallant appearance as they steamed slowly up the harbor, rounding St. Joseph de Lewis and anchoring under the Citadel at Wolfe's cove.

The battleships are the Albemarle, Exmouth, Russell, and the Duncan, and the first-class cruiser The Argonaut. The Exmouth is the flagship of Vice-Admiral the Honorable Sir Asbston G. Curzon-Howe, who is in command of the fleet, while the Albemarle is the flag of Rear-Admiral Sir John Jellicoe. Officers and men of the naval force in the front of the city were met by Generals Otter, commander-in-chief of the forces and the word given out from his office this afternoon was not favorable to the citizen's rejoicing.

BUSH FIRES MAKE MANY PEOPLE ANXIOUS

Dangerous Fires Raging at Loch Lomond and South Bay. Fumes are Now Within one Mile of St. George—Much Damage Reported from Studholm and Havelock.

The forest fire at the back of South Bay, which has now been burning for nine days is still making headway and a desperate effort may be necessary today to hold in the conflagration from crossing the Back Lands road. Indications point towards a northwest wind, in which event the fire will be considerably lessened. The fire started near Ludgate Lake on Monday, July 6, and has now spread over a section seven miles long and three miles wide and estimated at about 3,000 acres.

Yesterday was reported by the men from Studholm and South Bay who are fighting the fire to have been the worst since it started. On several occasions it sprang up in the undergrowth across the Back Lands road, and was extinguished with difficulty. It is feared should the fire once again hold in this district it will sweep the county to Westfield.

James Lowell, M. P., who had been in the woods today, said last evening that during the last day or two much good timber had been destroyed. The fire had burnt some of the green wood owned by W. Lowry and W. A. Quinton and narrowly missed the home of George Craig. As it was, the family moved out of the house and the house was not to be saved.

ELECTION BILL IS READ SECOND TIME

Another Long Debate on It Occupied House Yesterday. Opposition Takes Stand Against Injustice to Ontario. Mr. Foster and Mr. Conmee in Lively Tilt.

Ottawa, July 14.—The house spent all day on the Aylesworth election bill, rigorous opposition being put up on the sections of the amended Clause 1, providing for the making of federal lists in the unorganized districts of New Ontario. Mr. Boyce (Algonia) moved an amendment in committee to strike out these sections of the clause but this was negatived by the committee.

Mr. Foster alleged as reason for British Columbia being originally included in the provision for the new voters lists was that the prime minister did not want to appear as making an assault on Manitoba alone. The proof of this was seen when not a single note of protest had been heard in regard to a British Columbia district.

Hon. Foster declared that Sir Wilfrid had "deserted the stalwarts of Manitoba," climbed down and was hanging by his heels to the unorganized portion of Ontario. Why did he desert the stalwarts of Manitoba for one lone man from Rainy River? This spokesman dove from Fort Arthur. The prime minister, the leader of a moribund and disintegrated government was bucking up against Mr. Whitney fresh from the people, with a majority of 85,000, in a province that had refused to recognize his sovereignty and how to the leadership. There were more than Tories in Ontario, he said, there were fair-minded Grits, who would not stand it. Had the prime minister had the courtesy to communicate with Mr. Whitney and ask him to redress the alleged grievances in Ontario with regard to voters lists? He had not been honest, courteous or fair.

MR. DOWNIE TALKS OF MARITIME PROVINCES

The business in the Maritime Provinces was closely identified with the New England states but since the completion of the road business with the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, and even to British Columbia, occupies a monopoly.

The people of New Brunswick are enterprising. As an example I might cite the city of St. John which during the last few years expended a million dollars in providing dock accommodation for ocean traffic. A big trade with Europe has resulted and business has increased four-fold in the last five years, both as regards exports and imports, and as St. John is the winter port of Eastern Canada, she has a future which, if perhaps a little less brilliant than her sister on the Pacific, is at the same time just as assured.

HOME FROM HONOLULU

Miss Elizabeth S. Colwell arrived at her parents' home in Paradise Row yesterday, after a journey of thousands of miles. Six years ago Miss Colwell, who is the daughter of W. S. Colwell, of 89 Paradise Row, left St. John and went to Honolulu to accept a position as teacher in a seminary there. She is a graduate of Acadia Seminary, Wolfville. She has had leave home for a visit of a year, and needless to say was warmly welcomed yesterday.

The voyage from Honolulu to Vancouver occupied eight days and Miss Colwell then journeyed by C. P. R. to Montreal, and from there came to St. John by Intercolonial. She likes her adopted home very much. A big trade with Europe has resulted and business has increased four-fold in the last five years, both as regards exports and imports, and as St. John is the winter port of Eastern Canada, she has a future which, if perhaps a little less brilliant than her sister on the Pacific, is at the same time just as assured.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

FOR SALE AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

In the evening the committee adopted Clause 1 and went through the other clauses which had been held over. Clause 17, which declares that ballots shall not be rejected because of marks thereon, was rejected because of a mistake made on them, was again debated. Mr. Borden consented that a ballot thus inadvertently marked might be accepted, but wanted all precautions taken to provide that the officer did not make the marks for purpose of identification. The opposition leader proposed an amendment setting forth that the officer who marked ballots would be precluded from doing so maliciously unless he proved the contrary.

EQUITABLE LIFE OFFICIAL DIES SUDDENLY

When the Armstrong committee investigation had come to a close, Jordan put in an appearance and it was then learned that he had been in Europe. As a result of the disclosure to the Armstrong committee, the grand jury found eight indictments for forgery and one for perjury against Jordan. Only one of the indictments appeared before Justice Goff, in the Criminal branch of the supreme court, led not guilty to the indictment. The other seven were returned by the fall term of the criminal branch. Since his indictment, Mr. Jordan has remained before the public eye as little as possible.

"I've acquiesced Mr. Borden," the Hon. gentleman has had a great many. The opposition leader contended that Mr. Borden had not urged the present lists were unfair. Mr. Paterson replied that he had. He said that the only inference to be drawn from the remarks of the Conservatives was that the lists were unfair.
