A BANK MANAGER ON THE WEST LAD

Says Canada's Big Crop Will Square Her Accounts

A GREAT SHOWING

"With Deficits Staring at Us, We Have Been Spending Money Like Lords"—This Year's Big Income Will, However, Pay All.

"Canada's big crop this year will make a long column in the country's credit account," says Byron E. Walker to the Toronto News.

"With all the deficits of past years we have been spending money like lords. We have been drawing on the future. This year with its unprecedented big income from natural resources clear from the lead to the autumn country will put us square with ourselves. This is largely optimistic in the great Northwest."

"The money moving pretty freely in the West," said the reporter. "The banks are able to handle all the business with ease so far. When the crops begin to move out there will be some tightening, but when they do it will be no trouble to meet with our ordinary currency. Only in the event of a serious depression would it be necessary to go outside of ordinary bank currency for money."

"But the banks of Canada," concluded Mr. Walker, "are not inclined to expand the issue of currency. They have carried their policy of conservatism through as well as any set of banks in the world. They have not issued any of their currency since the late year of 1903 in Canada, with the exception of a few hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of a special issue."

"The West has the largest share of the big crop," said Mr. Walker. "For years it has been the source of the country's surplus. It is the only section of the country that has been able to put a substantial surplus into the treasury since the late year of 1903. It is increasing capacity to do so."

FREDERICTON NEWS
The inquest over the body of Samuel Wherry, who died suddenly here at noon yesterday, was held last night by Coroner McEwen. A verdict of death from heart failure was returned.

SALVATION ARMY MEETINGS
There will be special meetings at the Bentley street Salvation barracks on Sunday afternoon and night, commencing at 8 and 8. These meetings will be conducted by Mrs. Lieut. Col. Sherry, assisted by the "Sunshine Brigade." Mrs. Sherry, who is well known all over the maritime provinces for her ability on the platform, will give some very interesting and helpful talks in these meetings. Everybody is cordially invited.

THE LATE MR. CROKE

The writer was in Moncton on Sunday when he learned of the death of Mr. C. W. Croke. On all sides there was a sense of loss. Mr. Croke was a well known and popular man in the city. He was a member of the St. John's club and was a frequent visitor to the city. He was a man of high character and was highly respected by all who knew him. MANUAL TRAINING AND ITS SUCCESS IN PORTLAND, ME.

The Manual Training School crowded—Demand on Facilities Exceeds Supply—Seventh Grade Work Mitted for the Present to be Made Up Later.

(Portland Express, Sept. 14.)
The committee finds that with the opening of the Fall term, said Superintendent of Schools W. H. Brownson this afternoon, "the demand for manual training is getting beyond the capability of supplying the same. Last year the seventh grade pupils had one hour each week in the manual training department by the teachers doing overwork."

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1905.

THE EVENING TIMES.

The St. John Evening Times is published every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act, 1880.

TO OUR FRIENDS

The Times has entered upon the last two weeks of its first year as a newspaper, having been established in the Gazette building on Oct. 16, 1904.

During this year the Times has been printed in its own new building, with a new press and stereotyping plant, and is printed from linotype instead of movable type. It has increased in circulation and a rate never equalled in the period by a St. John newspaper, until now the circulation has an announcement to make, and the people finds in the Times a medium of the highest value.

It is the desire of the Times, naturally of course, but one with which its friends can sympathize, to make a further notable increase in its circulation during these two closing weeks of its first year. In this its friends, by a kindly word to those who may not yet be regular readers of the paper, can lend valuable assistance. The Times does not hesitate to ask them to do this, because it feels that its regular readers are its friends; that they appreciate the value it gives them every night for one cent; and that in aiding to secure another constant reader for the Times they would not only be encouraging laudable enterprise on the part of the publishers, but getting the reader in the way of getting both value and enjoyment for the outlay.

In another direction the friends of the Times can do it a most valuable service, without hardship to themselves. Even the most alert reporter cannot cover every item of daily news in a city the size of St. John. There are many friends of the paper, who, if they could but think of it when near a telephone, could give valuable hints to the staff of this paper—a kindly hint that would be fully appreciated. The aim of the Times is to get close to the people, to give them the best possible service as a newspaper, and to make its daily contents helpful as well as interesting to all its patrons.

Today's issue is commensurate to the attention of its readers as a fairly good illustration of the Times has done for afternoon journalism in this territory.

CRYING IN THE WILDERNESS

The Globe has discovered that "no far as can be judged from the ordinary expressions of opinion about the city, there is no ardent desire on the part of the people of St. John to rush the work of what building the present winter."

The Globe finds further that there are always people who want money to spend; and that there are people who would like to sell timber on a bare market, and that the harbor is likely to remain with a winter spring.

This is comforting and inspiring intelligence. We are hearing the beginning of what everybody having to do with transportation matters believes will be the greatest winter in our history as a winter port. It is known that last winter there was delay because of a lack of facilities. It is believed to be not only a profitable but a practical certainty that some additional accommodation can be provided before the heaviest portion of the winter traffic is reached. In the face of this the Globe pursues its usual tactics, and commences delay.

Fortunately the Globe's record in such matters is well known. If the Globe had had its way years ago, there would not have been the winter port development which is now of so much value to St. John. The latest news set forth elsewhere in the St. John people. They indicate a busy winter, and a growing trade. The immense crop of the west must be marketed. In Portland, Maine, this week General Manager Hayes of the Grand Trunk predicted that Portland would have this winter the biggest steamship season in her history. The ice is predicted for St. John. The city council should take note of the fact when it deals with the question of the new steamship berth.

AN OBJECT LESSON

The Ottawa Journal sees fit to record the celebration of the golden jubilee of St. Francis Xavier College in Antigonish an object lesson for the people of Ontario. Its comment is worthy of reproduction here.

"As some respects there has never been in the Dominion a more notable educational gathering than that which a few days ago assembled at Antigonish to celebrate the golden jubilee of the University of St. Francis Xavier's College. One of these respects was the exhibition of friendship, and good will. The venerable Bishop of Antigonish, as chancellor of the university, presided; and grouped around him were not only the members of the faculty and distinguished priests and representative men of his own church, but also a number of scholarly divines from sister colleges sent, in response to invitation, by the Anglican church and the great evangelical communities of the country. These men were given the places of honor; they were made the recipients of the highest academic degree in the gift of the university; they presented to convocation to address the immense audience they were heralded by words of kindly praise and fraternal appreciation. Then the head of the Baptist University College at Weyburn was introduced by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, president of the St. Francis Xavier, as distinguished educationalist; and his speech emphasized the good-will and cordiality prevailing and dwelt upon how much the speakers had in common and how greatly to the common good all could work together, each in his own sphere, to the upbuilding of the nation.

"It seems to The Journal that up here in Ontario we have something still to learn from Nova Scotia as to 'how these Christians love one another.' The good done by such a gathering as that at Antigonish is simply incalculable. It means the breaking down of barriers of prejudice, distrust, and jealousy. It means the elevation of the standard of Christian citizenship and civic and academic virtue. And—showing how men are moved by kindness and brotherly love—it was beautiful to see how the whole town and county of Antigonish and, indeed, the greater part of Eastern Nova Scotia, Catholic and Protestant, worked as one man to ensure a perfect success to the jubilee. They had it. And they deserved to have it."

SETTLERS FOR ONTARIO

Ontario is receiving immigrants in fairly large numbers. The record is one which should stimulate the authorities in New Brunswick to more vigorous action. In 1899 only 789 immigrants settled in Ontario. Of this year's record the Globe says:—"During the whole of 1904 there arrived in Ontario from all countries 25,000 immigrants, 60 per cent being from overseas and the vast majority British-born or English-speaking. Already this year the record of 1904 has been almost surpassed by immigrants entering through Toronto alone, their number up to September 1 being 24,883, most of them British. A considerable number of immigrants to old and new Ontario do not pass through Toronto, and returns regarding these will not be available until the end of the year. It is quite clear therefore that the record of 1904 will be much ahead of that of last year."

The Montreal Witness will not be charged with any leaning toward Mr. Soretti. With regard to the charge that the papal delegates inspired Sir Wilfrid Laurier to attack Keewatin to the North West Territories in order to extend the sphere of separate schools, the Witness says:—"It is unfair to ascribe what has been done to the machinations of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Soretti, and all for the glory of the Roman Catholic church. We believe the association of the two names by the Manitoba Conservative politicians to be a pure slander. It is well to remember that the whole cabinet is equally responsible for what is done and not done in the matter, and that the majority of the cabinet is Protestant. Party considerations are far more likely to enter into this justice than are ecclesiastical ones."

The Woodstock Sentinel justly observes:—"The Montreal Transcript is doing its best to prevent the St. John Valley from getting the G. T. P. We should think the Transcript could afford to let the road be located down the Valley, since this would in no way prejudice Manitoba's position. The Transcript is generally regarded as being pretty well informed. We certainly hope it may be mistaken with reference to the route to be selected."

With several cases to hear from the city of Montreal has been compelled for the year 1904 to pay the sum of $38,194.31 in damages for one cause and another, such as flooding through sewers, bad sidewalks, illegal crossings, loss of life, etc. For the same period Toronto paid $9,086.13. St. John ought to equal both these records in 1905, when the water claims are all in.

Beauregard's note the fact that so far this year Canada has shipped to Europe 1,294,290 boxes of cheese, against 1,236,897 for the same period last year. This year's butter shipments have totalled 401,948 packages, against 311,856 in 1904. Not only have the shipments been larger this year, but prices which the farmers have received have been higher than those of a year ago.

Mr. J. S. Larke has arranged to visit Montreal on Sept. 25, when he will meet members of the Board of Trade and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and discuss with them Canada's business relations with Australia.

When the city council has received and considered tenders it will be time enough for a St. John newspaper to talk about the impossibility of adding to the terminal facilities of the port for next season's business.

COL. WILSON HERE Col. Wilson, Quebec, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, arrived in the city yesterday. He was made recently the colonel commandant of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

On Sunday last Col. Wilson left "Canada's old stronghold" and visited Charlottetown and Halifax, where he inspected the artillery stores and equipments of the latter places. Today he will inspect St. John's armories.

Col. Wilson says that the central camp established this year at Petawawa, Ontario, will, he thinks, become a permanent feature, and that Fort Dufferin will be abandoned as an artillery camp. The latter, however, he says will be an important quota in Sir Frederick Borden's scheme of defense.

By Col. Wilson's promotion he is now in command of the artillery forces of Canada, both field and garrison. Last evening the Colonel and Mrs. Wilson were entertained at dinner at the Garrison Club by Col. White, D.O.C. The other guests were:—Mrs. White, Col. and Mrs. G. W. Jones, Capt. Clibb, Mrs. Norman Leslie and Mrs. C. J. Coster.

Col. Wilson will go this afternoon to Cobourg and thence to Petawawa.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL GEM OF THE EARTH'S SCENERY

There is only one small outlet, about 100 yards wide, to this awful chasm, and the noise and turmoil—a veritable and mighty "troubling of the waters"—where the seething mass thunders through the opening into what has been aptly named the boiling pot, in terrific and bewildering. From the boiling pot the contents of the Zambesi river rush with unbridled fury along a narrow and deep gorge of basaltic cliffs, which extend in many zigzag windings for over forty miles. How long ago this splashing up of the old bed of the Zambesi took place, no one, of course, impossible to say. Dr. Livingstone, who was the first European to view the Falls, thought it was not geologically very remote, but, whenever it was, the result is certainly one of the most marvelous works that Nature has ever accomplished.

The importance of the Victoria Falls as the greatest water power in the world cannot be exaggerated. It has been estimated that during the flood season at least 35,000,000 h.p. is continually running in the Park of Peace, and every effort is being made to harness this enormous quantity of water power is being lost. Without a doubt, in the very near future, some of this great force will be utilized, as has been done at the Niagara Falls, for the generation of electrical power, not only for lighting but for the working of machinery in the mines and manufacturing throughout the greater portion of Rhodesia. Arrangements are being made for the erection of a five-story hotel, which is to contain, besides 100 bedrooms and the necessary lifts, all the luxuries to be found in an up-to-date hotel. It is intended to build it in the architecture of the Byzantine period, in the "Park of Peace," which is being laid out on the south side of the Falls. No other building is to be erected in the Park of Peace, and every effort will be made to preserve unimpaired the beauty of the Falls and their surroundings. On a commanding site will be placed a museum in the case of the late Mr. Watta's statue of "Physical energy," which he allowed to be made for the purpose. In order to protect the Falls, who are already visiting the Falls, a few pretentious but thoroughly first-rate hotels have been built. It has good accommodation, is fitted with electric light throughout, has ice-chambers and electric fans to counteract the effect of the tropical heat in summer, and is under the management of the Grand Hotel, Bulawayo. There will be another park on the north side of the Falls, but some distance from them, which will be more of a People's Park, and will contain zoological gardens, sports grounds, etc.

Though a township is bound to spring up in time, the site has not definitely been decided upon, but it will probably be two or three miles from the cataract. The steel suspension bridge has been made in three sections, which are thrown across from the top of the rocky ledges, and the river above the Falls, in some parts nearly two miles wide, is dotted with islands covered with rich tropical vegetation, including the scientific Babab tree, and several varieties of palm. On one of these islands, called Tova, forms a long and most important link in the great chain which one day must connect Cape Colony with Egypt.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Another large audience was present last night at the Opera House to witness Joseph Murphy's family drama of "The Kerry Gow." It was an audience which was vastly pleased with the capable company. Allan Doone sang very sweetly and acted well. His love-making is earnest and his comedy admirable. The setting of the blacksmith shop was excellent with two horses on the stage, one of which is there fitted with a shoe. An interesting character is that of Major Gruff, and the jockey by Miss Pauline Fielding, was bright and interesting. A number will be trained superlatively well. This afternoon and tonight will be the last chance to see "The Kerry Gow."

Miss Nellie Donahue, accompanied by Miss K. Agnes Murphy, has returned home from New York, Boston and Portland (Me.).

THE SUSSEX SCHOOL
Arnold Hill Site Chosen by a Plebiscite Yesterday.

Sussex, Sept. 14—The ratepayers of Sussex today exercised their franchise on the question as to the site of the new school building for which at the annual school meeting held in June last the sum of $25,000 was voted.

At the meeting there being a diversity of opinion as to where the new structure should be placed it was very prudently resolved to give the ratepayers in the district an opportunity of voting on the several sites that were spoken of.

This vote was taken today on the following locations:

The present site of the school building, the Jonah site (so called) on the hillside south of the I. C. R. track; the McFee site on the southern hillside adjoining the Kirk Hill cemetery, and the Arnold site next to the McFee lot to which access is had from the main road between the Methodist parsonage and residence of Dr. J. U. Burnett.

A vigorous canvass was made by the friends of the various sites and much interest was taken in the matter.

At 4 o'clock the poll closed and on the vote being taken resulted as follows:

For the Arnold hill site. 139
For the Jonah hill site. 87
For the McFee hill site. 7
For the present location. 12

MR. PERKINS GOT HIS BUMPS
IN A SEVERE EXAMINATION

Startling Expose of High Finance in Insurance Investigation Yesterday—First Vice-President of New York Life on the Stand, made to Appear in Unfavorable Light—A Grueling Cross Examination.

New York, Sept. 15—George W. Perkins, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and first vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, was the star witness at today's session of the special legislative committee held in proving the methods of life insurance companies in this state and his testimony was replete with revelations in the development of finance as applied by insurance companies.

Mr. Perkins was first called just previous to the hour for luncheon. He returned immediately after the recess and was on the stand when adjournment was taken for the day.

The climax of the day came when Mr. Perkins was asked concerning an entry of $48,700 in a ledger, marked "ordered paid by the president of the company," the treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Company who had been on the stand earlier in the day, had been always questioned as to the purpose of the entry, but he was unable to explain it. He thought no one but the president could. Mr. Perkins had been called to testify as to some of the transactions and after the recess he was asked to produce the check. It was made out payable to J. P. Morgan & Co., and Mr. Perkins frankly stated that it was a contribution to the national Republican campaign committee and had been paid to Cornelius N. Riles.

Mr. Perkins said: "This payment was made because we felt that the assets of the New York Life Insurance Company would be jeopardized by Democratic success."

Mr. Perkins said contributions were also made in 1900 and 1902.

This bomb exploding created a stir in the densely packed room.

Pursuing the check inquiry further, Mr. Hughes brought out that this expenditure was never brought to the attention of the finance committee, the witness testifying that "I merely received it."

Witness here interposed: "I would like to make a statement. The fact that the check is drawn on J. P. Morgan & Co. has no significance. I paid out the money and it was merely because of a convenience of payment that the check was made payable to J. P. Morgan & Co."

Assemblyman Rogers then expressed his desire to ask a few questions about the sale of bonds on Dec. 31 to J. P. Morgan & Co. and the repurchase on Jan. 2.

"Now, Mr. Perkins," he said, "you noted in the transaction for the Life Insurance Company and also for J. P. Morgan & Co. that the house was the

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Kent County Teachers Hold An Interesting Session At Rexton—Will Meet in Harcourt Next Year.

Rexton, Sept. 15—The following teachers enrolled at the Kent county teachers' institute yesterday afternoon: Miss Margaret Graham, Main River; Mrs. John Barton, Pine Ridge; Mrs. W. Williams, H. Call, Brown's Yard; total, 23. In 1903, there were 29. Yesterday's heavy storm prevented many coming.

Miss Miriam L. Dyart then read a five-minute paper on reproduction of stories. Her paper was discussed by A. E. Pearson, James A. Edmunds, C. D. Steel and Misses McInerney, Mary Chrysler and Agnes Ferguson and Inspector Hebert.

Mr. Edmunds followed with an illustrative talk on the teaching of arithmetic from text books. A discussion was carried on by Misses Ferguson and Chrysler, A. E. Pearson, H. H. Stuart, Misses Graham, Kenwick, MacLean and Foster, and the inspector.

Institute reassembled at 2 o'clock. Short addresses were given by Dr. G. U. Hay, St. John, and Rev. Mr. Meek, of Richibucto.

After the arithmetic discussion, Principal G. D. Steel read his paper on the importance of reading in the lower grades. Discussion by Dr. Hay, J. A. Edmunds, Miss McInerney and H. H. Stuart brought forth general endorsement.

Miss Kenwick's paper on "Relation of Teacher and Pupils" discussed the conditions necessary to obtain and keep order in school and hold the pupil's respect. It was discussed by Rev. H. A. Stuart, Miss Dyart, F. E. Pearson, H. H. Stuart and the inspector.

H. H. Stuart spoke on professional etiquette, discussing the failure of some teachers in courtesy to trustees and districts, the unwise practice of some who belittle their predecessors' work; and condemning the frequent practice of under-estimating other teachers in order to secure schools near home, etc. The New Brunswick Teachers' Association, numbering last year about four hundred dues-paying members, had been instrumental in promoting understanding, and in many places of raising salaries.

During the day nearly every teacher enrolled joined the New Brunswick Teachers' Association.

Institute adjourned for public meeting at 8 o'clock in hall. Music was furnished by Mesdames Archibald and Meek, Misses Isabella Dickinson and Pauline Lennox, Rev. A. D. Archibald, F. G. Girvan and J. A. Edmunds. The chair was occupied by W. J. Braith. Addresses were made by Inspector Hebert, Rev. Mr. Archibald, Rev. Mr. Meek and Dr. G. U. Hay.

This morning the fourth session opened at 9 o'clock, Inspector Hebert, chairman. A. E. Pearson spoke on care of school grounds and H. H. Stuart on the productive value of history. Miss Dyart then followed on school room decoration.

The afternoon was given up to a natural history lesson by Dr. Hay, followed by an excursion under his guidance. This year's institute was one of the best ever held in this county.

The institute will meet in Harcourt next September.

The following officers were elected: President, Inspector Hebert, vice-president, Kate Kenwick; secretary, A. E. Pearson; executive, Minnie Buckley, H. H. Stuart.

PANIC SPREAD; SEVEN DEAD

Explosion of Fuse in Crowded Factory Caused Panic—Seven Employees Killed and Many Wounded.

Avon, Conn., Sept. 15—The explosion of a fuse, followed by a fire in a building of the Clinton Fuse Company, this afternoon, caused a panic among twenty employees in the building and resulted in the death of seven and injuries that doubtless will prove fatal to several others.

There was no way of coping with the flames, which spread rapidly, and in less than an hour after the explosion occurred those who were unable to escape were in the clutches of a fire that eventually burned the building to ashes. The explosion in the hamlet saw the bodies of men and women roasting in the flames.

The list of dead and injured follows: The dead: William Burke, 60 years old; Robert McCarthy, aged 35, married; James Joyce, about 35, married; Robert McCarthy, aged 18; James Wallace, married, whose wife lives in Springfield (Mass.); Molly McCarthy; Miss J. Sullivan; Mrs. M. B. Tucker.

The injured: Cassie Edmunds, severe burns, probably will recover; Michael McCarthy, severely burned; Lyness Burke, severely burned; Earl Tucker, severely burned; Nora Ryan, badly burned about the neck and back.

The explosion took place in the finishing room whereabout twenty persons were employed. There were about fifty hands at work on the entire plant. For some time it was not known how many were dead but tonight an accounting was made for Dyart, F. E. Pearson, H. H. Stuart and the inspector.

When the back ache, when the bowels get congested, when the liver becomes clogged and inactive and you suffer from indigestion you cannot afford to treat these troubles waiting away.

'Tis Prudent to Prevent Disease

A Little Care and Attention Now May Add Years of Comfort and Happiness to Your Life.

Disease does not, as a rule, develop in a few days or a few weeks.

When you hear of people becoming victims of Bright's disease or dropping dead from heart failure you can depend on it that they have been suffering for months and years.

If you are on your guard against the first symptoms which tell of serious disease you can prevent the painful and fatal result.

Canada Atlantic Railway Will Pass into the Hands of the Grand Trunk on That Date.

Ottawa, Sept. 15—(Special)—October 5th has been fixed as the day for the taking over of the Canada Atlantic by the G. T. system, the work of signing the bonds and perfecting other details of the transfer is nearing conclusion.

The Grand Trunk has also commenced the work of strengthening the bridges over the whole system from Parry Sound to Swanton. The intention of the Grand Trunk, it is stated, is to boom the hideous Lakes route bringing tourists from Kingston by that way and then taking them east and south over their lines. Ottawa will have a new hotel and a new depot.

ADAM BELL'S BARGAIN

Adam Bell feels that he hasn't made any mistake in spending over $100 (spot cash) on those unclaimed goods in the I. C. R. shed.

Among other articles of bulk and promise purchased yesterday morning was a trunk. Mr. Bell paid $48 for it. The speculation was the reverse of unfortunate. It contained several dozen overcoats—the cloth of excellent material and all fresh from the tailors. Mr. Bell said he considered the trunk and contents worth $500—if it is a good year for overcoats.

Another box contained five dozen driving whips. Mr. Bell said he paid $2 for the lot. There was another large case of new tan slippers, bought for 85. Mr. Bell has not yet opened all of his property, but so far he is reasonably content with what his bidding has brought.

Among the goods sold yesterday morning were several articles stolen by an I. C. R. employe named Weyman, who was sentenced to prison.—Telegraph.

LETTER FROM ROME

Vatican and National Government in Accord—Catholic Chaplains for Emigrant Steamers—Perquisites of Priests Removed.

(Boston Transcript.) ROME, Sept. 9.—Further evidence of accord between the Vatican and the officials of the government recently came to light when Pius X. complained to the Italian authorities of the scurrilous attacks made on religion and the pope by some socialist publications of wide circulation. The pope's complaints were more than justified, but this is the first time since 1870 that the government has undertaken to curb the attacks of the anti-religious press of this capital because of a request from the Vatican. The judicial department of the government acted promptly and caused the publications to be seized every time that article or caricatures offensive to the head of the church appeared. As every seizure carried a heavy fine and other penalties it has not taken long for editors to realize that war on religion and the church was unprofitable. It now seems likely that the socialist organs will relinquish the church alone.

By the special order of the pope parish priests throughout Italy will read in their churches on Sundays the bulletin issued by the Italian Emigration Department giving information as to the condition of Italian emigrants in foreign countries. It is the pope's purpose to discourage so far as possible the emigration of Italians, which in recent years has assumed such alarming proportions.

At the suggestion of Mr. Cocchi, recently on a mission to the United States, the pope has also approved the idea of placing a Catholic chaplain to care for the spiritual needs of Italian emigrants on every transatlantic steamer. Some of the steamship companies have already granted special passage rates to such chaplains, the expense of whom will probably be borne by the society founded by the Bishop of Cremona for the assistance of Italian emigrants to foreign lands.

The condition of many priests in Rome has called the attention of Pius X. to the fact that many clergy, Italian and foreign, leave their dioceses without authorization and come to Rome hoping to find a better living in the centre of Catholicity. Many such priests derive their only incomes from fees for celebrating mass or by attending funerals in parish churches. This condition has caused the pope to arrange with the vicar general of Rome that only those priests who come here to prosecute their studies, or to attend to business with the congregations, will be permitted to celebrate mass. This permission will be granted for but a limited time and only to those who have documents from their bishops showing their consent to leave their dioceses has been obtained. All others will be deprived of the faculty of saying mass or of officiating at any ceremony, and will thus be practically forced to return to their homes. Hundreds of priests now in Rome are likely to be affected by this decision of the pope, but it is general opinion that the decision will end an abuse which has existed for many years.

NEW MISSION FIELDS

Trusting to Japanese Protection the Missionary Organizations Expect to Develop New Manchurian Territory.

With the return of peace between Russia and Japan, and the certainty of a Japanese protectorate for Manchuria, missionary propaganda in Manchuria is taking on new life. Plans for extension of work in that great country have already been announced. The reasons are two: One is that the number of new fields in which missionary societies can be pioneered is not so great as formerly. The other is the confidence in England and America, the two great missionary strongholds, in Japanese fairness to missionaries, and ability to protect them and their work. The great pioneers in Manchuria are the Scotch and Irish Presbyterians. Their work was begun some years ago in connection with medical work, but it has been hampered for the last few years by Russian influence, which here and there has been the Russian Orthodox church. With the coming of the Japanese across into Manchuria, after the fall of Port Arthur, Presbyterian missionary interests revived, for they were assured by the Japanese general that they would be protected. There are claims made that Marshall Oyama and other Japanese leaders actually contributed money to the missionaries, but that is also denied. The United Free Presbyterian Church of Scotland, an immense advance work in Manchuria under Japanese protection, and it is said to be likely that some American missionary societies will enter the field as well.

HELPING RAILROAD Y.M.C.A.

More and more each year railway superintendents, managers and even presidents take active part in the railroad department convention of the Young Men's Christian Association. The international conference of the railroad associations meets in Detroit on Sept. 28 and among prominent railroad men who will attend, and some of them speak, will be President Harding of the Pere Marquette, President Stevens of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Vice-President Brown of the New York Central, General Manager Garret of the Queen and Crescent, and W. A. Patton, prominent in the management of the Pennsylvania. The growth of the railroad department of the Y. M. C. A. during the past ten years has been enormous, the lines having arrived when companies themselves have taken the initiative in providing buildings, and even in paying the running expense, for association work. The meeting in Detroit is for the hands of the department, and will result in finding out how the work may be improved and extended.

We have certain work to do for our daily bread and that is to be done strenuously; other work to do for our delight and that is to be done leisurely; neither to be done by halves and shifts, but with a will, and what is not worth this effort is not to be done at all.—Carver.

REGARDING THE ABUSE OF SUNDAY

The Pronounced Interference in the Pursuit of Pleasure Which Must Result in Mental and Moral Deterioration—The Views of Bishop Ludden and Andrew D. White Commented on.

(New Bedford Evening Standard.) Considerable interest has been excited by a letter written by Hon. Andrew D. White to Dr. Ludden, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Syracuse, who has announced that he will deny "the honors of Christian burial to those who die by accident on the Lord's Day, having culpably violated their duties and obligations." Dr. White's letter commends this decision, and as Dr. White stands before the public as a man representative of all those who are emancipated from the bondage to theology, what he has to say attracts attention which would be accorded to no clergyman, not even Dr. Ludden, and brings the bishop's decision into bold prominence. There is a distinction, not noted by some of those who have commented on the subject, between "Christian burial" and the "honors of Christian burial." It is not the former, but the latter—that is, burial with full ceremony in the cathedral or perhaps other church—which the bishop refuses, in cases where death has occurred in the course of what the bishop considers as a violation of the Lord's Day. Dr. White recognizes the distinction, which he says, "seems to me thoroughly well taken, and will, I believe, set large numbers of thinking men and women into trains of thought on this subject which will be profitable, not only to themselves, but to the country at large." He goes on to protest strongly against what he calls "the complete paganism of American life as regards the first day of the week," and says:

"Although I was brought up under Puritan ideas as regards Sunday, and they have had considerable effect upon me, they have been so far modified by observation and reflection that I am quite willing that the earlier religious services are over, shall be given to reasonable rest and recreation, beyond, indeed, what I formerly thought was. But the extreme to which our communities have gone of late in appointing every sort of game and amusement through the morning hours and of making Sunday resorts less and less decent are such as to create just alarm among all thinking citizens."

The Independent cannot resist saying that "if Dr. White will read a book entitled 'The Warfare of Science with Theology' he will find in it much interesting information on the use of such ecclesiastical penalties in the Middle Ages." This is distinctly in the line of the abused paragraph, even if The Independent is smart enough to refer Dr. White to his own very able work, and is fails to comprehend the broader spirit of both the bishop and the public. As a merely formal ecclesiastical penalty, we take it that Bishop Ludden knows enough of the temper of the times to have small faith in its efficacy; and Dr. White is certainly not to be suspected of trying to pass as a defender of any dogma of exclusive Sabbatarianism. Evidently the bishop desires to make the strongest protest in his power against the growing disregard of what he considers one of the most effective means of teaching a genuine religious life, and as evidently Dr. White is equally in earnest in making as strong a protest against what seems to him a sadly demoralizing tendency of modern American civilization. We suppose there are those who will counter on the bishop and the scientist with the charge that they are bigoted and narrow. Such may be dismissed with a word of pity for their ignorance. Dr. White has too long been known as one of the ablest advocates of broad liberty in theological and religious matters to be set aside with such charges; and his indictment of the masses who crowd the great amusement places of the country every Sunday, what they are after is far spiced with excitement. It is just as well to be honest. Now, we have no objection to fun spiced with excitement—if in reasonable quantity. But there is every danger of overdoing it—on Sundays—and tens of thousands of the American people are overdoing it, and they are overdoing it not because they want to be sacrilegious, but because that is the most accessible day. There is a pronounced interference in the pursuit of pleasure on Sundays, which must operate inevitably to mental and moral deterioration. It is not a good sign. Strength and sturdiness of character, the capacity for accomplishment, the doing of things that are best worth while to be done, are not acquired by men and women who are incessantly bent on finding amusement, and finding it all the time—as is characteristic of large sections of the American people of today. Our forefathers may have carried the church-going habit to an excess—we certainly think they did. But the opposite extreme is already reached by some of their descendants, who are so lapsing their intellectual and moral forces that they could never rival their forefathers in their task of building a nation. The men who have done things in this world have not always been the men who have spent Sundays in church, but they have rarely been those who have spent Sundays in search for exciting amusement. And, as Dr. White says, the symptom in one which creates alarm among all thinking citizens.

Dr. White spoke on the "regaining" of American life in a vein of protest. It is more noticeable on Sunday than on other days, because the traditions of Sunday connect the day with formal religious observances and, on the whole, it is not pleasant to those who believe that for the profit of individuals and the nation specific attention should be given to those things which stimulate and inspire the higher moral and spiritual life. We are not greatly concerned about the future of the church as an ecclesiastical organization or a social institution. In our view, it is only a means to an end, and if some other means can be found of working out that end, well and good. Nor do we think that, in spite of some dubious tendencies of the times, the American nation is being sapped, largely because they do not know how to use Sunday, competently, or knowing how, will not.

The chief point of contest is more distinctly mental and moral in its application, and is suggested by the observation that Sunday is more and more becoming the day of the week in which the cries of large numbers of people for amusement; and all holidays is most equalized. We used to hear a good deal about worshipping God in the fields and by the seashore, and how much more sincerely and effectively this could be done than in the temples made by hands. It is in the interest of honesty, at least, that most of this talk has been abandoned for it was largely cant. Nobody seriously believes that there is any element of worship present in the minds of the majority of the masses who crowd the great amusement places of the country every Sunday. What they are after is fun spiced with excitement. It is just as well to be honest. Now, we have no objection to fun spiced with excitement—if in reasonable quantity. But there is every danger of overdoing it—on Sundays—and tens of thousands of the American people are overdoing it, and they are overdoing it not because they want to be sacrilegious, but because that is the most accessible day. A WIDENING BREACH

Gulf Between Conservative and Advanced Schools of Theological Thought is Rapidly Being Emphasized.

The gulf between the conservative and the advanced schools of theological thought, especially in Germany where these antitheses find their sharpest expression, has recently received emphasis and definition by official declarations that are being made from both sides. Such a declaration, recently published, and signed by such leading conservative men as the theologian professors Cremer, of Greifswald (now deceased), Kohler, of Halle, Schluter, of Tubingen, Braun, general church superintendent, in Berlin, Faber, holding a similar position, and the influential apologist, Dr. Johannes Lepsius, of Grosslichterfelde, contained in appeal for an unofficial "Silent Union," of the conservatives (a union no account suggested than accomplished), on the basis of the following principles:—

1. The current scientific spirit, as this has gained currency in the learned world of the day, and not lost in the theological methods and manners of the times, has accomplished the following results:— (a) It has practically ruined theological science; (b) it has barred the way to faith for the peoples of our own times, even for those who are well disposed and has deprived them of the proper appreciation of the value of the Word of God and of the church and its divine mission and its practical work.

2. In conscious and decided opposition to this line type of theological thought it is imperatively necessary to emphasize the true Biblical teachings, as these find their expression in the faith, in the living God, and in the catholicity of the Son, the crucified and risen Lord, as these things were confessed by the apostles and the reformers. This work is to be done:— (a) with all the means of a thorough, theological, and Bible-believing investigation; (b) with the corresponding influence in the practical life of the church; (c) with the aggressive struggle against the opposing views, in all of their consequences, also in the public life of the people; (d) with the full power of a personal Christianity on all occasions.

FOR CATHOLIC UNITY

A Gratification to the Protestant Episcopal Church Was the Attendance at Portsmouth of the Russian Commissioners.

The attendance of the Russian peace commissioners at Christ Church, Portsmouth, N. H., and the service in that church after the signing of the peace treaty, has afforded immense satisfaction to the element in the Protestant Episcopal Church in this country which seeks for the unity of Catholic Christianity. At the head of this element or faction is Bishop Grafton of Pond du Lac. There is marked anxiety to have closer relation with the Church of Rome. The claim is put forth that that Church errs in some respects, but that it is at least Catholic, and that therefore unity with it ought to be maintained. As a step toward this Catholic unity, close relations with the Orthodox Church of Russia is sought. It will be remembered that the Russian church sent the Bishop of Finland to represent it at the jubilee of Queen Victoria some years since. This incident afforded the Anglicans much gratification. Recently Bishop Grafton went to Russia, and was well received. His accounts of his visit have been glowing and have provoked some criticism at home. Now, when the peace commissioners attend the Episcopal church at Portsmouth, taking any Russian church as a model, the commission is a mass of thanksgiving there, even if they do import Russian priests and singers, the gratification of the Episcopal element referred to cannot be concealed. Catholic unity is, as they declare, a step nearer.

more than a solid column of names of prominent men who have joined hands for this cause.

Another evidence of the aggressive character of the conservative school appears in the transactions of the Eleventh Continental Mission Conference, held in Bremen. This immense and influential international body adopted a declaration, published in the Allgemeine Mission Zeitschrift, of Berlin, in which it is claimed that the destructive teachings of modern theology is a fatal blow to the work of Christian missions, as it drives all that upon the preaching of which Christian mission work lives and thrives. On the other hand, the Radicals are not afraid to declare what they consider their rights. They had been asked to leave the church whose faith they no longer share. At a meeting in Goslar they made in substance the following "declaration of their rights":— "We protest emphatically against the demands made by orthodox conventions and papers, that the adherents of a more liberal theology voluntarily withdraw from the existing church organizations and form organizations of their own. This demand is a gross injustice, as the positions we represent are only legitimate and permissible developments of Protestant principles and practices. We claim a right to remain in the church the reformation—Translations made in The Literary Digest.

THE PROBLEM OF LIQUOR

A Toronto Paper Argues for Regulation and Moral Suasion.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) The problem arising out of the excessive use of liquors cannot, according to the report just presented to the General Synod of the Anglican Church, be solved by drastic legislation. The Gothenburg system, from which much was expected, is said to be a failure. There is whole sale drunkenness under the plan which gives the State control of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. If the scheme is not satisfactory in its operations elsewhere it does not seem probable that it will work well here. The distribution of liquors by the government of any of the provinces would not be an edifying spectacle, and it is scarcely probable that it would contribute to good morals. Apparently the dispensary system tried in certain of the European States has not worked well. At all events the attempt is made on behalf of South Carolina that the sale of liquor by the State is demoralizing in its effects. It is producing a generation of political cowards, rum-suckers, drunkards and criminals. The State dispensary are alleged to be huge political machines. They influence politics and manufacture a bad sample of humanity. It was thought that the taking over by the State of the authority to sell would limit consumption. That it should have failed in this regard, and that it should have promoted a condition the reverse of that aimed at, is disappointing. It is not safe to say that prohibition where tried has failed of its object, for controversy will as once be provoked. But the syndicate reports venture that opinion, and mentions Maine, with its dry laws, and its consequent demoralization, as a proof. While legislative experiments have not been successful, it appears that the attempt to substitute model liquor places for the regular saloons has failed. The other day that it was announced in New York that what is called the "biabop's saloon" — a venture on the principle of the Public House Trust in England—had been forced to close for want of patronage. This enterprise was designed to become a substitute for the tavern, by selling alcohol in liquors having the smallest possible proportion of spirit in them, and by pushing the sale of soft drinks. It was a nine days' wonder, and when the curiosity had been rubbed off the place was deserted. Philanthropic and legislative efforts to deal with the subject have not been fruitful of the results desired. In this situation it does seem that the best and most impartial public regulation accompanied by moral suasion. There has been during the past half century a wonderful change in the drinking habits of the people. While there is too much drunkenness, the practice of excessive drinking is not nearly so common as it was, and socially the evil is frowned upon. The temperance campaigns of the early days, no doubt, helped to produce this improvement. The new generation is, happily, liberally provided with common sense, and is ready to accept of that education on right lines — example as well as precept — will give us a sober community.

ARRAIGNED THE BREWERS

They Are Charged With Adulterating their Liquors—Six Cases.

(Boston Transcript.) That Dr. Charles O. Harrington of the State Board of Health has not ended his pure food crusade was made evident to five brewers who were arraigned in the supreme criminal court today on charges of adulterating their liquors. In all of the cases except those against one of the dealers the adulterating substance used was a compound of hydrofluoric acid, which was used as an antiseptic. In the case of the other dealer, the adulterant was salicylic acid. Charged with using the hydrofluoric acid in ale, the Massachusetts Breweries Company was arraigned on six counts, the ale in each instance being purchased from a different dealer. The corporation entered a plea of not guilty. William Albrecht pleaded guilty on two counts of using the same adulterant in ale, and on one of using it in beer. He pleaded not guilty, and was fined $500, which he paid. The Harvard Brewing Company pleaded not guilty on one count of adulterating ale and beer and one count of adulterating ale. Frank H. Adams pleaded not guilty to one count of adulterating ale and was placed under $1000 bonds. The Waddington Brewing Company was arraigned at yesterday afternoon's session, one count of using hydrofluoric acid in beer being brought against it. The company pleaded guilty and paid $100 fine. When the four continued cases will be brought to trial is not yet known. With interest in the cases was created because these companies pleaded not guilty to the charges, for in all of the cases of alleged adulteration of liquor hitherto brought before the court during the board of health's campaign the defendants have pleaded guilty and promptly paid their fines.

CONFECTIONERY AN INTOXICANT

The Increasing Manufacture of Sweets Containing Alcohol.

Sweets in which liquids are imprisoned have been a puzzle to many people; they have wondered why the sugar did not dissolve. The answer, of course, is, says the Lancet, of London, England, that the liquid, whatever it may be, is first of all saturated with sugar, so that it is incapable of taking up more sugar. A simple solution of sugar in water for this purpose does not answer, for a saturated solution of sugar is apt to crystallize, while if it is not saturated it will dissolve the sugar coating when placed in it. A most convenient vehicle for the purpose is alcohol, in which sugar is far less soluble than in water. Until quite recently sweets containing a liquid prepared on these lines were fairly extensively manufactured. But the sale of alcohol of a strength exceeding two per cent is, of course, illegal, unless a license is held by the manufacturer, and the liability to prosecution under the excise laws, and the penalties are severe. On these being represented to the various quarters the sale of alcohol in the surreptitious way in England was practically stopped, and we believe that sweets with liquid contents are now made which are free from alcohol. Evidently another vehicle has been chosen which serves the same purpose. Some recondite source, however, of the sale of alcohol in sweets is reported to have taken place recently in the form of "liqueur chocolates." The chocolates were found as a sufficient quantity of the liquor varying in strength from 8.7 to 11.0 degrees. Our contemporary punnery, says the Daily News, that this means degrees of proof spirit, and if so, the actual alcohol present would amount to about five per cent by volume. But it is obvious from the calculation that it would be quite possible to obtain a toxic dose of alcohol by taking a sufficient quantity of the sweets. The practice, however, is likely to be quickly suppressed by the excise authorities, who, in regard to the excise duties of the revenue, check at the same time the spread of what might easily be a demoralizing traffic.

COMMENT ON THE "SUBWAY"

Bishop Potter Not Downcast—New York Sun is Caustic on the Subject.

The Subway Tavern, which was dedicated by Bishop Potter a year ago with prayer and hymns, has ceased to exist as a philanthropic institution. Henceforth it will be run as an ordinary grogshop. All those who bitterly denounced the Bishop for perpetrating what they chose to call this outrage of "mixing whiskey and religion," are now expressing their gratification at the failure. On the other hand, says the New York Times, "most people who have considered the temperance question seriously will regret with respect to the news of the failure of this novel sociological experiment. There seem to be many causes which contributed to the defeat of Bishop Potter's scheme to establish a decent and law-abiding saloon in the slums of New York. It was impossible to follow God and chase the devil," said the proprietor in venturing his scheme, and the regulations which forbid him to cater to the low elements of society, or to sell drinks to anyone after the last liquor was sold, were therefore, perhaps, the greatest of his misadventures. But however the proprietor found that the man who wants a drink, while the act of quenching his thirst has to be "rubbed" by a delegation of W. C. T. U. women, or a group of sociological students or curious strangers who are taking in the sights in a "Seeing New York" automobile, is therefore, perhaps, the greatest of his misadventures. But the New York Sun thinks that the Bishop's idea is impracticable and deplorable. "The notion that under any circumstances or without any sort of surroundings it may have appeared to be more than it is, a place in which to get a drink and wholly removed from the possibility of any religious association and influence, provoked only amusement among people accustomed to such places, however serious they may have appeared to be. The fact of sentimental and whimsical philanthropists. If a rumshop was a religious institution the proper place for it would be in a church as a feature of evangelism."

HUMORS OF HISTORY---145

Arrest of Charles I. The Civil War which followed as the result of Charles's attempt to usurp the supreme power proved disastrous to his cause. The Puritans, or Roundheads, as they were called, soon had matters all their own way, and Charles was arrested at Holby House by one Cornet Joyce. After being lodged, practically a prisoner, in various houses, he was tried on a charge of high treason in Westminster Hall, condemned to death, and executed 30 Jan. 1649.

PROHIBITION IN NEW ZEALAND

Dr. Rutherford Says It Will Come Within Ten Years.

Dr. Rutherford, professor of physics in McGill University, who is a native of New Zealand, has just returned from a four months' trip to the Antipodes. In the course of an interview Dr. Rutherford declared that the extension of the political franchise to women had not had the disturbing effect in politics that had been predicted of it, and its effect, in so far as the cause of temperance was concerned, had been strongly felt on the side of the reformers. He believed that the next election would show a large extension of the franchise to women in New Zealand, and the people voted upon the liquor license question when they voted for the members of the legislature. If the temperance movement continued its present rate of progress the probability was that the whole country would be in ten years in prohibition. In that case it would be an ideal place for the demonstration of the efficacy of the principle in the people separated as they were from those of other states, would be able to give it a better trial than most countries could give.

A LEGAL DECISION

A State May Prohibit Absolutely or in Part, Says U. S. Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States held, in the case of State ex rel. Lloyd vs. Dollison, that the power of a state over the liquor traffic is such that the traffic may be absolutely prohibited, or prohibited conditionally, and that the fact of a local option law makes it a crime to sell liquor with in a certain territory and not in other territory does not necessarily amount to a denial to any person of the equal protection of the laws; that it is not necessarily a deprivation of liberty or property within the meaning of the Fourteenth Amendment to the judgment of a court in the manner provided by a statute of Ohio the amount of punishment to be meted for the local selling; that the judgment of a state court will not be anticipated by the United States Supreme Court by deciding in advance of trial what persons are qualified to act as jurors, and that one who is to be tried cannot complain until he has been made to suffer, and that the Ohio local option law for the regulation of the sale of intoxicating liquors was not unconstitutional on the ground that it deprived one attempting to sell liquor within territory to which the law had been made to apply of his liberty or property without the process of law.

IT WORKED BOTH WAYS

Here's another one, brought over by a visitor to the other side: A member of parliament, while electing, visited a workingman's home in which he saw a picture of King William facing a portrait of the Pope. The man, who was the queer mixture, and found from the wife that she was a Roman Catholic, while her husband was not only a Protestant, but an Orangeman too. "How do you get on together?" asked the astonished politician. "Very well, indeed," answered the wife. "I tell you, my husband goes out with the Orange procession and comes home drunk. Then he always takes the Pope down and jumps on him, and then goes straight to bed. The next morning I get up early, before he is awake, and take down King William and pawn him and buy a new Pope with the money. Then I give the old man the ticket to get King William out."

Take a Friend's Advice advertisement. Text: "That's a bad cold you have. Yes; and getting worse. Going to keep it? Hope not. Can't seem to get rid of it though. Cough too? Bad. All night. Well, listen to me. I've cured five men this week, and the advice is free. Do as I tell you. Get a bottle of HAWKER'S BALSAM OF TOLU AND WILD CHERRY. It's the real thing nowadays."

The Inches of Eminent Men

In a discussion of the Napoleonic idea that the greatest men of the world have been small in stature the Strand Magazine this month publishes some interesting figures regarding the height of the leading men of the day. An examination of the figures given in a study of the characteristics of fact, height and brains stand in no relation whatever to each other. In the line of European sovereigns we find the King of Italy the smallest, standing a trifle over 5 feet 2 inches; the Emperor of Japan next, 5 feet 6; the Emperor of the Kaiser, 5 feet 7; Edward VII, 5 feet 8; the King of Portugal, 6 feet; Leopold of Belgium 5 feet 6 inches; and the statesman of England Lord Rosebery is the shortest, being 5 feet 6 inches, with Joseph Chamberlain an inch taller. Mr. Asquith is 5 feet 7 inches; Lord Morley, 5 feet 8; Mr. Balfour, 6 feet; and the Duke of Devonshire, 6 feet 1 inch. In the British army we find Lord Kitchener standing 6 feet 2 inches; Gen. Baden-Powell, 5 feet 9 inches; Lord Wolseley, 5 feet 7; and Lord Roberts, a little man, 5 feet 6 inches. Lord Kelvin, the greatest of electrical scientists, is 5 feet 7 inches; Marconi, 5 feet 9; Lord Ray is 6 feet 2, and Sir Oliver Lodge 6 feet 3. Most of the best known English writers are men under average height. Sir Conan Doyle is a six-footer, and Anthony Hope measures 5 feet 6 inches.

WORK FOR EVERYBODY

(Congregationalist and Christian World.) The world today is sensitive to the sympathetic touch of any one who wants to guide it toward higher moral levels. In whatever direction we turn our eyes we may see nations and races ready to be helped or ready to help others. In every corner our fellow-citizens are at work to hold forth Christian ideals and to bring the whole world to accept the leadership of Christ and all parts of the world are brought into such close relations that what influences one part affects the whole. We who believe that through prayer we work with God, who bear the call to give what we can to establish his kingdom, should be able to follow ourselves as to what is needed in all these lands surely do not lack opportunity to make our own count largely. It seems a wonderful thing that one man, President Roosevelt, should act effectively to end a terrible war, and to win the grateful applause of the world for securing a peace in which all the world rejoices. But how many unnamed men and women have labored and are laboring to make that act possible, and to make that peace lasting! In these any one anywhere who cannot have a share in this world work?

CHURCH AND COLLEGE

(From the Congregationalist and Christian World.) This month will witness the departure of many young men and women from church circles to begin their college career. No fruitless than its cooperation with educational institutions to exalt their spiritual side and increase their influence. Let the church by frequent references in speech and prayer keep in mind where these youthful representatives are and what they are doing. Why does not the pastor in public petition name the schools and colleges where the absent ones are preparing to represent it in larger fields? And why should not the particular churches be mentioned in groups of students assembled for worship and religious conference? Closer fraternity between church and college would promote the spiritual welfare of both institutions. "Which would you rather lose, Jack—me or my money?" "Me, 'cos I've got it." "But I would. Because, don't you see, dear, if I lost you I have the best start you ever used, that we could get you a large reward for your recovery, and get you back again." Write today.

THERE WAS A REASON

(Scottish American.) They were sitting by the fire one stormy night. The husband was reading extracts from the newspaper, while his wife sewed. "There has just died in Leicester," he read, "a man who may be considered a model husband. During his fifty-three years of married life he never spent an evening out of the house." "Look at that, now!" exclaimed the lady. "Nothing could tempt him away from his fireside at night. He was never detained late at the office; he never had an important engagement at eight o'clock. He didn't go to clubs; he—" "Never spent an evening out of the house," continued her husband. "He was paralyzed."

OBITUARY

Hiram Thompson

The death of Hiram Thompson occurred on Saturday morning last, at his late residence, Cunard street, Richibucto, in the 78th year of his age. Mr. Thompson survived by his widow, and one brother, Jeremiah, who lives in St. John.

The deceased gentleman, though not a native of Richibucto, came here so many years ago that he was always looked upon as a native of the county. Born in the city of St. John, in May, 1828, he removed to Richibucto with other members of his family in 1844, and in 1851 was here married to Miss Jane Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson a few years ago celebrated their golden wedding and at the time of Mr. Thompson's death were over fifty-four years married. About forty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Thompson removed to Nova Scotia, and after living there twenty years came back to New Brunswick, settling in Chatham, from which place they returned to Richibucto some fifteen years ago, and have resided here since then.

Miss Laura A. Belyea

After a lingering illness of more than three months the death took place yesterday of Miss Laura A. Belyea at the residence of her uncle, Samuel F. Belyea, Brown's Flat, on the river. Miss Belyea had lived with her relatives since childhood. She was second daughter of James L. Belyea, proprietor of Rockdale Hotel at Brown's Flat. She is survived by her father, two sisters—Miss Della Belyea and Mrs. Wallace Cameron of St. John; also two brothers—Bayard W. Belyea, and Don Belyea, who is employed with Manchester Robertson Allison, Ltd. A sad feature of the bereavement was the departure of the deceased young lady, who was only an hour previous to the passing away. He will therefore not know of his sister's demise until he arrives in New York a week hence. Miss Belyea was greatly missed in her home section, where she was active in young people's circles and in the affairs of the Baptist community. Up to the time of her serious illness she was organist in the village church. The funeral will be held Monday after the arrival of the steamer Victoria. Interment at Brown's Flat.

Mrs. Robert Staines

About midnight last night Mrs. Robert Staines died at her late residence, 101 McMillan street. Deceased was in her eighty-seventh year. She had been invalid for a long time past. A number of sons and daughters and one sister in the States survive.

Work at Newville will be resumed next week. The Newville Lumber Company have rented the mill and machinery which is now being installed on the site of the buried mill and will be used to finish the season's cut. The machinery and fittings are on the ground and are being put up. It is the intention of the company to rebuild this mill in time for the cut of next season and to put in a first class double rotary and other machinery which will give the mill the full capacity of the old one.—Leader.

F. L. Canby and E. C. Hooley, of Dayton, Ohio, and F. E. King, of Indianapolis, were at the Queen on Thursday en route to Rocky Brook on a big game hunting expedition. C. O. Dudley and E. K. MANY SEPTEMBER BRIDES

AMHERST, Sept. 15—At the residence of T. X. Campbell, secretary-treasurer of the Amherst Boot and Shoe Company, Laura S., third daughter of Rev. Dr. Hearta, of Yarmouth, president of the Nova Scotia conference of the Methodist church, was married to Dr. S. W. Williamson, a prominent physician of that town, in the presence of a few immediate friends of the contracting persons. The spacious rooms were adorned with floral decorations in white and yellow.

The bride, who is a sister of Mrs. Campbell, and Dr. Jesse Hearta-Bell, of Halifax, entered upon the arms of Mr. Campbell as Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Kate Campbell.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Hearta, assisted by Rev. W. P. Gault, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. Dr. Chapman. The bride was assisted by her sister, Lena Hearta, B. A., and Walter Killam, of the Royal Securities company, Halifax, attended the groom.

The bride wore white crepe de chine with embroidered chiffon trimmings over white tulle, with a bridal veil fastened with a ruby tiara. The bridesmaid's gown was of white organdy. The going-away gown of the bride was of green chiffon with a cloth with trimmings of white and gold, and she wore a white hat. They left for a tour to Quebec and Harry, New York, and Boston, whence they will return to Yarmouth to reside.

Hicks-Kinney

A very pretty wedding took place in Providence Methodist church at Bridge town, on Wednesday morning, Sept. 13th, when Annie Mace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kinney, was united in marriage to Henry Brandon Hicks, junior member of the firm of J. R. Hicks & Sons. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. H. Langille.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with asparagus, golden rod, autumn leaves, white asters, poppies and ferns.

The bride wore a handsome white silk dress, with pearl trimmings, and well and carried a bouquet of roses, being attended by her sister, Miss Emma Kinney, of Ottawa, who wore a gown of Nile green silk, and Miss Mary Spence, of Truro, who wore pale blue silk.

The bride's sister, Miss Ethel, acted as flower girl, carrying a basket of pink and white sweet peas, and Miss Josee as ring bearer.

The groom was attended by his brother, Edward, Hicks, of Truro, and his sister, Mrs. M. L. Hicks, of Halifax.

The Misses Lenora Lloyd, Bonnie MacMillan, Katharine Piper, Emma Johnson, who acted as ushers, were becomingly attired in white organdy.

The bride and groom, over which & the handsome floral arch, with bell, had been erected, and here the marriage rite was performed.

After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a choice repast was served. The presents which were costly and numerous, evinced the popularity in which the bride and groom are held by their friends.

The happy couple took the eastbound express to Middleton, where the groom's car was waiting for his audience. They will make a driving tour through the province, extending over several weeks.

YOU CAN'T BELIEVE YOUR EYES

Prof. Floyd, the magician, has been chosen with the very best in his profession. In speaking of a performance at the Opera House, Boston, recently, one of the local pressmen said:—"Floyd, the prestidigitator, delighted a very large audience with his surprising dexterity in handling ropes, wires, and feats requiring skill of hand. He certainly proved that the hand can be trained to move so quickly that the eye cannot follow the motion. His entire performance differs very much from other magicians in many points. His tricks and illusions are evidently new and are presented in an original manner; during each part he does not leave the stage or turn his back upon his audience. The set settings and paraphernalia are elegant, and during the evening he appears in three costumes of new design and striking in appearance. The program concludes with a 'Trunk Mystery' in which a startling substitution is effected in an incredibly short space of time. The Professor's repertoire seems inexhaustible, for he always something new and novel to present."

This is one of the ten acts at York Theatre all next week.

Ladies' Fall and Winter Coats.

Our coats were purchased late in the season so that we have the very newest shapes and makes. No need to worry about the style, for our coats are correct.

This year's garments will look well because they are made with just enough fullness to improve a slight figure or moderate a stout one. The cloths are Coverts, Kersey, Frieze, Scotch Tweeds, Heather Mixtures, etc.

The place to select a nobby coat is
