PHAFF GIVES NAMES

On Trial in France, New Yorker Said to be But a Figurehead.

BY JOHN DE GANDT, (United Press Staff Cor.)

Brest, France, Oct. 2.—Max Phaff has saved his neck, and started two governments on a world-wide search that may have the entire business of rum running, and deal a death blow to the biggest smuggling ring.

French authorities have postponed for a week further examination of Phaff, first accused of piracy in connection with the raid on the French steamer Mulhouse, which netted the prizes $2,000,000 worth of liquor last June. They will proceed to press a slightly less serious charge of conspiracy in piracy against Phaff, after they have made an effort to capture some of his alleged accomplices. The men wanted were named by the young New Yorker yesterday.

Will Inform U. S.

It is only the desire of the authorities to avoid international complications that hinders the French in the chase. They hope to provide the United States authorities with the information about the run-running in exchange for assistance in capturing the Mulhouse plates.

Phaff, who was threatened with hanging if convicted on the piracy charge, escaped that danger when one of the crew of the Mulhouse declared to the French that Phaff will not be executed under any circumstances. Saved from the noose, the American is seeking to extricate himself from his predicament by telling what he knows of the run-running business, and especially by aiding the French to capture the Mulhouse raiders.

The American lawyers maintain he was merely a figurehead, and is a sub-agent for powerful bootleggers.

Meanwhile, others are attempting to break into the picture. A prisoner at Saint Briens, on Bernard Megge, claims to know Phaff's relationship to the master bootleggers. His price, of course, is freedom. One of the press corps left Brest today for Saint Briens, to interrogate Megge.

Bootlegger Named.

M. Fournier, the chief prosecutor, said the United States: "I do not believe Phaff was chief of the Mulhouse pirates, although he participated in that affair. He worked for a prominent bootlegger, most likely Alderman of New York."

St. John Is Named.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press)—United States District Attorney Hayward has ordered an investigation to be conducted here in connection with the statement of Max Jerome Phaff, under arrest in France, in which he named a number of men as members of a bootlegging pirate's gang.

Evidence which already has been gathered in an investigation started last February by Department of Justice men and prohibition officers has revealed the existence of a New York and Canadian gang of pirates which some time actually seized ships and at other times collecting insurance on cargoes which they represented as having been taken by pirates.

The headquarters of the band were in this city, according to Prohibition Director R. Q. Merrick, and they operated out of Canada, shipping liquor from St. John, N. B., presumably for Cuba or Bermuda, but discharging the cargoes off Long Island. One such cargo was seized by pirates off Long Island. Mr. Merrick said the investigation revealed, and said off Atlantic Highlands, N. J.

The Lottin Case.

The members of the crew on the Lottin from which the liquor was stolen, were handcuffed and held prisoners for more than two weeks, while (Continued on page 2, third column.)

BANKS UNITED

Joint General Managers Will Guide Affairs of Standard and Sterling.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—A joint announcement issued last night by the Board of Directors of the Standard Bank of Canada and the Sterling Bank of Canada states that approval has been obtained from the Federal Minister of Finance for the amalgamation of these two banks under the name of the Standard-Sterling Bank of Canada. Under the agreement two shares of Standard Bank stock will be given for three shares of Sterling.

Arthur F. White will be president of the amalgamated bank; G. T. Somers, chairman of the board of directors; Thomas H. Wood, vice-president. An equal number of directors of the Sterling Bank of Canada will be added to the board.

An interesting feature of the amalgamation with the appointment of N. J. McLeod, now general manager of the Standard Bank of Canada, and A. H. Walker, the general manager of the Sterling Bank of Canada, as joint general managers.

This is a new departure in Canadian banking circles, but the plan has been notably successful in England, where it is followed by some of the most important banking institutions.

NEW CHIEF JUSTICE IS CONGRATULATED AT COURT SESSION

Lawyers in Fredericton Extend Felicitations to Hon. J. H. Barry.

JUDGE REPLIES

In Turn Pays Tribute to His Predecessors on the Bench.

(By Times-Star Staff Correspondent.)

Fredricton, N. B., Oct. 2.—Before trial of the Hanson Gleaner libel case was resumed in the Supreme Court here this morning Chief Justice Barry was showered with congratulations by the lawyers and other citizens of Fredericton who were present.

When court opened Hon. W. F. Jones as president of the Barriesters' Society extended congratulations to the new Chief Justice and declared the members of the bar entertained an affectionate regard for him. His fairness and impartiality had endeared him to the bar. Mr. Jones said we had good reason to be proud of the high standing of the bench.

Hon. Dr. Baxter.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter joined in the expression of regard for the Chief Justice, referred to his long professional career and said it was a source of congratulation that the appointment should have fallen to him. He was proud to have a man of his high standing on the bench.

Dr. Fred R. Taylor, K. C. referred to a great tribute he had once received to the Chief Justice as a solicitor and to the patience and judgment that marked his career as a judge. It was a personal pleasure for him to join in these congratulations.

P. J. Hughes, K. C. spoke for the congratulations in a few graceful words.

Chief Justice Replies.

Chief Justice Barry said it was indeed pleasant to receive the commendation of members of the profession on honor conferred on him. Reviewing the changes in the judiciary, His Honor said he would never forget the high standard set by his two predecessors in the Kings Bench Division. He had been a member of the bench for 12 years and he had done exactly what he believed to be right. He always received the highest consideration from members of the bar.

He declared that it was obvious that the Japanese were determined to bring under the League of Nations' rules any disputes regarding immigration laws aimed against Japanese nationals.

Premier S. M. Bruce declined to comment on the matter but promised a statement there on later.

ELECTION BEFORE CHRISTMAS IS TALK

Crisis Reached in Parliament on Liberal and Conservative Resolutions.

London, Oct. 2.—Talk has again risen of the "imminent" fall of the Labour Government and the probability of a general election before Christmas.

It is recalled that similar expectations have been raised more than once since the Liberals assumed office, without power, but this time the forecast is declared to be the real thing.

The crisis—for so it is regarded on all sides—came sudden last night when notice was given in Parliament of two motions against the Government. One by the Conservatives, censures the Government's conduct in reference to the abandonment of criminal proceedings against James Ross Campbell, acting editor of the Workers' Weekly, a Communist publication.

The other by the Liberals, voices disapproval of the Anglo-Basutoland treaty, which, according to the wording of the motion, "instead of providing a genuine contribution toward dissolving the problem of unemployment, threatens to divert resources which are urgently needed for national and imperial development, and contemplates that the British taxpayer should be made liable for further loans to the Basutoland state, raised by means of a guarantee of the British Government as the condition upon which the private claims of certain British creditors should be recognized or met by the Soviet Republic."

Of the two motions the latter is regarded for the moment as more certain than the former to bring the Government down because the attitude of the Liberals towards the Conservatives' censure motion is yet rather obscure.

The same company purchased two square miles south of Canaan River, at the upset price of $20 a square mile.

PLAINTIFF IS ON STAND FOR ALL MORNING SESSION

R. B. Hanson, K. C., Cross-Examined by Counsel for Gleaner.

DENIES 'PHONE TALK

Says That He Received $5 From Merryfield for Consultation.

(By Times-Star Staff Correspondent.)

Fredricton, Oct. 2.—R. B. Hanson, K. C., resumed the stand this morning in the hearing of his suit against the Gleaner and was still giving evidence when the court rose for the noon recess.

St. John Article.

R. B. Hanson, M. P., resumed the stand when court opened this morning. Questioned regarding the article in the St. John Globe he would not say whether the Globe should publish such an article or not. He said he never thought the purpose of the notice was to get an apology from the Gleaner. So far as he knew there had been no apology. Dr. Taylor remarked that the Globe seemed to be willing to face a libel suit. Mr. Hanson said the Globe could speak for itself. He knew nothing about the Globe's standing. He would prefer not to express an opinion whether the Globe should publish such an article or not. He said that a paper should make most careful enquiry before publishing.

Paid Gleaner $5,000.

The Gleaner, he said, had cost him $5,000. In 1921 he ran two sections and every item, editorial or otherwise, in the Gleaner was charged for at full retail rates. He was amazed because the Gleaner was supporting the party; the bills were paid by his friends before he knew about it. There was no previous bargain. His money paid the bill.

Witness was questioned regarding the testimony of Mr. Dougherty and said that in one matter Mr. Dougherty was mistaken.

Mr. Regan's testimony will not settle the matter then and there. Mr. Regan's recollection was wrong. He never said that all the real estate in the Nevers case he left in the hands of the guardian, but only a portion to supplement the income.

Witness heard Mr. McKay's testimony regarding the telephone conversation of Dr. Allen. Asked if he regarded Mr. McKay as a reputable man, Hanson said "I could tell you things about Mr. McKay that would astonish you. His mind is a veritable confusion, you should see his desk."

In 1921, witness said a man died and his wife was pregnant. He never told her that she was pregnant. He was lost for three years and then turned up that showed lack of an officer's mind. In 1922 he noticed very markedly Mr. McKay's dislike for him. Dr. McKay asked how it was shown.

"His mouth goes all the time," said Mr. Hanson.

He declared Mr. McKay would not be a fair witness against him, and what he said would be tinged by his feelings toward witness. The Harris Hughes was not made for about a election. He did not recall hearing Mr. Hughes say he thought it was settled before the election.

Matter Was Serious.

Asked about his conversation with Chief Justice Hanson witness said it was shortly after a conversation with Judge White. He thought it was the Chief Justice who suggested that it might have been Mr. Dougherty who telephoned. The Chief Justice said the matter was serious. Questioned regarding the Harris check, witness said Mr. Harris was mistaken in saying the settlement was made before the election. Witness did not recall conversation with Mr. Merrifield and could not say whether Mr. Merrifield's version was correct. It was four or five years ago that Camp Bros. came to him about the case. A Miss Armstrong was in his office on trial for about a week in November 1923.

Witness said, when he found the change in the Nevers decree, that he did not expect they would give him that. Regarding Mr. Bridges' evidence as to his being excited in their talk with Dr. Allen, witness said he would not say he was excited but raised his voice at the close of the conversation.

Witness repeated that he said to Dr. Allen that he hoped the Gleaner would not get hold of it as they would try to put it in. In this conversation Dr. Allen said he could not say it was witness personally who talked with him over the telephone. His office staff had no recollection of such a telephone conversation. The Chief Justice asked, assuming Dr. Allen got word from Mr. (Continued on page 2, sixth column.)

American Woman Loses Valuable Necklace In Mysterious Paris Theft

Paris, Oct. 2.—Another important and mysterious jewel theft—that of a pearl necklace valued at $35,000—is now passing the Paris police.

Mrs. Edith Smith, described as beautiful, tall, slight, wealthy, and 27, arrived in Paris from New York six weeks ago and took a furnished apartment in a fashionable quarter. She has a collection of magnificent jewels, including several pearl necklaces.

Going out to dine with some American friends Mrs. Smith wore the pick of her collection. Her necklace was composed of three ropes of handsome pearls, which, she affirms, are worth $35,000.

She returned home later in the evening, and before going to bed laid the precious necklace under her pillow.

The next morning Mrs. Smith awoke about 9 o'clock and went to her bathroom, some six or seven yards from the door of her bedroom.

After breakfast she went to her pillow to take the necklace. It had vanished.

Mrs. Smith called a maid, and searched the bed, but in vain.

It is thought the necklace was stolen between the time Mrs. Smith left the room for the bathroom and the time she returned to it after breakfast.

Indecent skirmishes between the Wahabi tribesmen, and Mecca's defenders are reported near Zejura, 30 miles from the Holy City.

RANSACKS HOUSE, IS FOUND ASLEEP

Intruder is Discovered in Bed With Door Securely Locked.

London, Oct. 2.—Captain F. Broadwood, a county magistrate on the Chatham bench, recently went on holiday, leaving his residence, Hever Court, at Heve, unoccupied. A constable and a sergeant were told that a pane of glass in the garden door was broken, and they found the house had been ransacked.

Going from room to room, they came to a bedroom on the top floor, the door of which was locked on the inside. The door was forced, and a man found asleep on the bed. He gave the name of George E. Johnson and was brought before the magistrates at Chatham.

The sergeant said that when he aroused Johnson he asked, "Where am I?" and said that he was down and out. A Gladstone bag packed with clothing and silver spoons was found in the bedroom, with a fitted dressing-case. Johnson was remanded.

UNANIMOUSLY PASS LEAGUE OF NATIONS SECURITY PROTOCOL

France is First to Sign, Followed by Five Other Nations.

HISTORIC DEBATE

Last Speaker, a Woman, Pleads That War be Forever Banned.

BY HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Cor.)

Geneva, Oct. 2.—Representatives of 47 nations unanimously approved the League of Nations arbitration, security and disarmament protocol, today, and six signed immediately, on behalf of their governments.

France was the first to sign the protocol, which her spokesmen declared marked the end of war. Poland, Latvia, Estonia, Bulgaria and Serbia also signed.

In the closing debate, speakers declared that once the covenant providing for compulsory arbitration and reduced armaments should be ratified and put into effect, the next project would be an economic protocol to remove the causes of war.

Support Pledged.

Speakers from all the leading powers have pledged support of the protocol. The first recommended to governments and parliaments.

By adopting the protocol of arbitration, security and disarmament, the assembly summoned a reduction of armaments conference to meet at Geneva next June. The United States will be invited to send representatives.

Geneva, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press)—The fifth assembly of the League of Nations today solemnly concluded its work of peace by the unanimous adoption of a resolution urging that all governments ratify the protocol of arbitration and security, providing for the pacific settlement of international disputes.

Fifty-seven delegations supported the resolution, which was divided into two parts. The first recommended to the earnest attention of all members of the League acceptance of the protocol which provides, in addition to clauses covering arbitration and security, for the preparation for an international conference for the reduction of armaments.

The second part asks that all of the countries accede at the earliest possible moment to the compulsory arbitration clause of the world court of justice.

The memorable debate before the League, which closed with the adoption of the resolution, ended on the dramatic note of a woman's plea that war be forever banished because "its first victim is and always will be the mother." Mrs. Helen Swanwick, of Great Britain, the last of the delegates to mount the rostrum before the closing.

In introducing her, President Motta declared: "You will all agree with me, my fellow delegates, that it is most fitting that a representative of the world's womanhood should be the last speaker to adhere to our achievement of peace."

Mrs. Swanwick spoke gently and in low tones and yet her voice carried to every corner of the huge auditorium as she sorrowfully sketched the woe caused by past wars. Women the world over, she declared, abhorred vengeance and detested war.

Nine delegates participated in the closing debate today, but the discourse delivered by Paul Boncour, of France, in the unanimous opinion of the delegates stood out as the most striking of all as an eloquent exposition of the protocol and as a statement of the hope which the world attached to that pacifying instrument.

PASSPORTS LURE EXPERT THIEVES

Hamburg, Sept. 14.—(Associated Press, by mail)—American passports and foreign passports visced for the United States are now worth their weight in gold in central Europe, and passport thieves are busy on trains, in hotels and on steamers and wharves. Scores of stolen passports were reported weekly to American consular officials. It is a frequent occurrence for a foreigner who has obtained a visaed document for America to have his papers stolen before he sails.

SUGGESTS VISIT TO THIS PROVINCE

Visitor Says Different Parts of Canada Should be Better Acquainted.

That the immigration of 150,000 farmers with their families to Canada and their settling on the ready-made farms of the prairie provinces would solve the problem of all of Canada was the firm conviction of Robert Henderson, inspector of branches of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation who is at present in the city.

The immigration of these people, numbering in the aggregate 600,000, would solve the problems of the western provinces because their arrival would kill for ever the wanderlust of some of the farmers of the west which is forever stirring in their hearts.

Mr. Henderson declared that there were 150,000 ready-made farms, only waiting for occupants who could put in a crop and who would reap their first harvest next fall. After these farms were taken up there would be plenty of time to begin homesteading. Railways were recognizing this now and instead of advertising their own lands were advertising the farms which were ready for the farmer to send speakers west.

In his opinion, the Maritime Provinces could do nothing better than to send some of their best orators to Toronto and there address the Canadian Club, the Board of Trade and kindred organizations. They should not discuss politics but the problems and the solution.

He thought that these provinces should unite for the purpose of advertising what they have and felt convinced that such a programme would bring results.

Ontario people did not know New Brunswick nor did the people here know and understand Ontario. He thought that if the Board of Trade here would invite a delegation from the Toronto Board of Trade which numbered 2,600 members, to tour these provinces, banquet them, discuss the problems of the Maritimes with them and hear their story, it would create that feeling which was so necessary for the advancement of Canada.

Ontario this year had the highest valued crop of its existence. In New Brunswick he found through the records of his office that the farmers were doing well.

Mr. Henderson will spend several days next week touring this province.

PRaises LOCAL DOCK

Hiramah D. Delaney, associate shipping editor of the Boston Herald, and Mrs. Delaney are visitors in the city. They called on Mayor Fotts yesterday, bringing the greetings of Mayor Curley, of Boston, to the local Chief Magistrate. Mayor Fotts had the visitors shown over the city and they expressed themselves as much pleased with what they saw and the condition of the industrial development of St. John.

As a shipping man Mr. Delaney was much impressed with the St. John dry dock. He had been under the impression that the big basin at Boston was the longest in the world but said last evening that the local dock was considerably longer. He was particularly pleased with the approach to the dock, he said.

HEAR OWN SOLDIERS MURDERED GENERAL

London, Sept. 30—General Wang Hual Ching, one of Wu Pei Fu's divisional commanders, has been murdered near Jehol by his own men, the Daily Mail's Mukden correspondent hears.

Wang was bribed to desert Chang two years ago when he joined Wu with an entire division. If he has been murdered, a split in the Chihli (Peking government) party is likely, as it has been variously reported that many of Wang's generals had sympathies with Chang Tso Lin.

DR. MORGAN ENDS LECTURE SERIES

Large Congregation Hears Appeal to Individual—Speaker Thanked.

The Campbell Morgan meetings in Centenary church were brought to a close last night when Dr. Morgan in a magnificent climax to a week of Bible teaching presented the call of Christ, "Come unto Me," as a personal and immediate appeal to each individual in all humanity. Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole, of Germalin street Baptist church, expressed heartfelt appreciation of the priceless services rendered by Dr. Morgan in his addresses in St. John and said that no greater man had ever visited St. John or delivered a greater message. His visit of two years previous had wrought for good and it was with unexpressed delight that it was heard that Dr. Morgan was to come to St. John again. Dr. Poole assured Dr. Morgan that in the coming months, church services would be on a higher level as a result of his teaching and his hearers would be better men and women. For very many in St. John Dr. Morgan had made the Bible a new book. He would carry with him, Dr. Poole said, the love and prayers of his hearers in St. John and they asked God's blessing upon him in the service to which God had called him.

In his reply Dr. Morgan expressed his thanks for the kind and tender words of appreciation saying that if he had been able to do anything to strengthen the work of his brethren and the churches that was what he had most desired. He paid a tribute to his co-workers, Rev. Robinson, of the Presbyterian church, under whose auspices he had come and Miss Grunert, who was the pianist for the meetings and whose musical improvisations brought great inspiration and delight to the meetings.

The fair this year is bigger and better than ever and visitors tonight were greatly pleased with the fine showing of the different exhibits, the fun provided on the dazzling midway and the free entertainment furnished by the Boston artist, Herbert Taylor. The exhibits are nicely arranged and the booths look very attractive.

A feature of the fair that is attracting much attention is the display of fancy work, quilts, mats and home cooking. This department occupies the whole of the end gallery and the rooms. There will be special attractions at the fair each night and a record attendance is anticipated. It will close on Saturday night.

WOMAN PARACHUTE JUMPER IS KILLED

Auch, France, Oct. 1.—Mme. Lilliane Darcy, a parachute jumper, was killed while giving an exhibition here recently. The jump was the feature of a fete arranged in honor of Captain Georges Pelletier d'Olay, who recently completed a Paris-to-Tokyo flight in 46 days.

Mme. Darcy went up in a plane with one of France's noted aviators, M. Froyal. When the machine had reached a good height over the Airborne she jumped, but the parachute failed to open until she was a few feet from the ground. She received terrible injuries from which she died in a few minutes.

Sussex, Oct. 1.—The Kings county fair got away tonight to a good start. A Crash of Quiet! "And then—quiet crashed in," said a soldier, describing the sudden stillness in the trenches when gunfire ceased on Armistice Day, 1918.

Similarly, when Remington Noiseless typewriters are first installed in offices accustomed to the rattle and bang of old fashioned machines, the quietness startles. But it does more than startle—it delights both business executives and stenographers and enables them to do more work with less fatigue.

DON'TS FOR THE HUNTING WOODS

Don't shoot yourself; don't shoot the other fellow; don't let the other fellow shoot you. So runs an old rule of the woods, and it is good enough to put on the record at the beginning of our hunting season.

Every man who goes to the woods this fall ought to do a little thinking about hunting tragedies, which are usually due to frightful carelessness, and resolve that he will in no way contribute to the list of accidents.

Men are killed in the woods, as a rule, because other hunters break the most obvious rules of safety. Men shoot at "something" they see moving in the bushes. That is criminal. The time to shoot—the only time—is after the "something" is clearly identified.

Men shoot in the dusk of evening and in the dim light before dawn, when proper and certain identification of the target is impossible, and the taking of such risks is a crime.

Men shoot too quickly because they fear that what they "guess" to be a deer or a moose is going to escape if they wait long enough to be sure what they are firing at. Their excuses sound incredible at the inquest. Their belated and futile regret does not bring the dead to life or help the merely wounded. How little it matters if a bird or a game animal does escape while the hunter is making sure! How much it matters if the gunner shoots a human being!

In October the woods are filled with hunters. In the old days they were comparatively few in number. With the increase in game and in the number of high-powered rifles the conditions have greatly—and dangerously—changed. Before any man goes to the woods to-day he should give deliberate thought to his chance of killing men instead of game. To think beforehand, not after a tragedy, is the duty of every man who handles a gun.

To the higher type of sportsman such warnings are unnecessary; yet because a great many of those who go to the woods are nervous or thoughtless, or temperamentally unfit to carry a deadly weapon, warnings, strong and repeated, are needed.

Let each individual who goes after game give some definite thought to the value of human life—his own or another's—and live up to the injunctions here quoted:—

Don't shoot yourself; don't shoot the other fellow; don't let the other fellow shoot you.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S TOUR

Canada's Prime Minister is off on an extended tour of Western Canada, taking with him Hon. Mr. Gardin, Hon. Hal McCreery, the new forerunner member of the Government, and Senator Haydon, formerly Liberal organizer, who is the Premier's chief aide de camp.

Hon. Mr. King's trip westward comes at a time when it is regarded as settled that the federal election will come a year hence. The coming session of Parliament will develop a great deal of oratory intended to get the stage for the election, and doubtless some legislation to that end. The Government may even have another go at the tariff, for during the last budget debate the Premier declared that in this respect the ministry "had not finished its work."

"We have a lot more to do, we have only started upon what we hope to be able to do for this country." It is to be noted that he was speaking then of fiscal policy alone.

His western speeches will more clearly define the chief issue between the two old parties. Hon. Mr. Meighen, in many of his recent speeches, has made it clear that he is prepared to stand or fall by the historic Conservative policy of protection. The Liberal leader, now going into territory where both Liberal and Conservative candidates met disaster in the last federal contest, may be expected to dwell upon the tariff reductions of last session. Both his supporters and his opponents will scan his utterances narrowly to see whether or not he is proposing still further tariff revision before the next election, in line with the party's platform pledges. Already there have been some defections because of tariff reduction, and these give comfort to the Conservatives, but the more radical Liberals have told the Prime Minister that the party has gained more than it has lost in placing low tariff sentiment. The election will test that view.

So far as the Prairie West is concerned, the Progressives, who will have none of protection, had it pretty much all their own way in the last federal struggle. The only Liberal survivors were Mr. Motherwell in Saskatchewan and Messrs. McMurray and Hudson in Winnipeg. The Conservatives were left without representatives from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. For many years the Prime Minister's western

Press Comment

THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

(Christian Science Monitor.) A somewhat discouraging view was indicated by Judge George W. Anderson, in the United States Circuit Court in Boston, recently, when he declared it to be his belief that the average small investor will never learn to guard himself against the wiles of the practicing swindler. The learned judge was not speaking carelessly or loosely. His opportunity for observation was qualified him to speak thoughtfully and wisely.

But it may be that because the lesson has not been learned in the past it is not true that it will not be learned now or in the future. There are indications that the impudent and the careless are learning to become cautious, and that those who have been somewhat wary in the past are becoming more and more difficult to deceive. Perhaps the completed record of losses sustained in questionable investments within the last two or three years will not justify such an assertion, but it is probable that at no previous time has there been so general a disclosure of get-rich-quick methods. The intelligent study and publicity now being carried on. It is safe to say that the great majority of those who now invest their savings in unwise or fraudulent ventures do so with full knowledge that they are taking a long chance, with the odds heavily against the probability of their ever realising a legitimate profit.

In the much-discussed P. O. case in Boston, a collateral issue of which was before Judge Anderson, was the making of an assertion, it has been shown, as has appeared in nearly all similar cases, that the investors had been misled by the promoters of all similar methods, was able to pay a pretended profit only as new capital flowed in. Disaster was inevitable when the swelling came and the inflow ceased.

It is hardly reasonable to insist that all, or even a considerable number, of those who invest unwisely are ignorant of the risk they are voluntarily taking. What is it, then, that makes them do it? The conclusion is forced that the chief contributing factor is the selfish desire to get much for little and to gain a profit that has not been legitimately earned. Speculation, rather than actual investment, is the lure which many find difficult to resist.

Therefore it may be impossible, as Judge Anderson says, to teach the lesson thoroughly. If, however, rather than mere ignorance, prompts the unwary to intrust their savings to the promoters of questionable schemes, something besides exposure, through publicity, will be required to check the tendency complained of.

ON THE UP GRADE.

(Halifax Chronicle.) The trade figures also furnish very encouraging evidences of growing activity and reviving prosperity. Our exports for July were the largest in four years, and that of April, June and August this year was exceeded by only one other month in the year. During the twelve months ending with August 31st, the value of Canada's goods and products shipped abroad was approximately sixty million dollars greater than for any similar twelve-month period since 1920-1921 when prices prevailed. And there is the noteworthy fact which the Montreal Gazette pointed out in the article we printed a few days ago, that Canadians are doing more than two and a half times as much foreign commerce in 1924 as they did in 1911, "and the remarkable fact is that this immensely increased commerce was carried on by substantially the same number of people."

With increased immigration and the return of tens of thousands of Canadians who were attracted to the United States by phenomenal boom conditions, the country may look forward to a still better showing during the closing part of the year and in the year to come. There are many signs of business revival. Mr. Roger W. Babson, the eminent American economist, holds out the hope and the promise that 1925 will witness the beginning of a new period of activity and prosperity in the Dominion. Canadian business is now distinctly on the upward movement and Canadians may well be cheered by the outlook.

WIFE DESERTERS.

(Kingston Standard.) The statement is made that Canada is the only overseas Dominion to which a man could come after deserting his wife in the Old Country, and ignore her claims, so long as he did not make himself a public nuisance. If he went to Australia, New Zealand or South Africa he could be dealt with under reciprocal laws. We believe that he can be dealt with as an undesirable under the immigration laws, but it would be far better if the same arrangement was made with Great Britain as in the case of the other Dominions. We are under the impression that it was only a short time ago that a reciprocal arrangement was made between Canada and the United States with regard to wife deserters, and it seems rather absurd not to have one with the Old Country. Canada does not want wife deserters.

DEEPEST POINT IN OCEAN FOUND NEAR JAPAN COAST

(Tokyo, Sept. 1.—Associated Press by Mail.)—The lowest known point on the earth's crust, the deepest known trench in the ocean, lies about 145 miles southeast of Tokyo. This discovery, made recently by the Japanese naval survey ship Manshu, has been announced by the navy authorities.

The new "deep" measures 82,636 feet, or more than six miles. It exceeds by 546 feet the hitherto greatest known ocean depth, the famous Marianne trench in which the United States naval ship Nero in 1899 found 82,088 feet of the east coast of the Island of Mindana in the Philippines.

The Manshu's "deep" apparently lies at the bottom of a precipitous declivity descending sharply about 106 miles from the southeastern coast of the main island of Japan. To the Japanese the first interest in the discovery lies in the seismic possibilities of this trench so near their coast. The sharpness with which the ocean bed plunges a few miles from Japan is held by scientists to be a contributing factor to the severe earthquakes which visit this part of the country.

CARDS TELL THEIR TRAVELS

draw $1,000 from his bank, and while they were in a coffee shop the stranger entrusted McMahon and Mr. Saunders with his wallet, when they went outside, McMahon whispered to Mr. Saunders. "There are only two persons I would trust in the world. One is the priest I am going to Rome with, and this man, because he has trusted me. I shall make him a present of a ring worth $300 or $500 in notes."

Mr. Saunders afterwards agreed that he trusted McMahon as the stranger had, and handed to the men his wallet

PLAN WORLD AIRWAY.

CONFIDENCE GAME WORKED IN LONDON

Slick Stranger Gets $1,000 From Agent of Indian Firm.

London, Oct. 2.—A young man from India exploring London, a general stranger who had "lost his way" and entered into conversation with him, a lightning friendship, and the young man suddenly the poorer for it by $1,000.

This story of the "confidence trick" was told at a London Court a few days ago when James McMahon, aged 39, was committed for trial on a charge of conspiracy and obtaining $1,000 by fraud from James Saunders, an agent for an Indian firm.

Prosecuting counsel said that on July 20 Mr. Saunders was sighted in West London, when a stranger inquired the way. A conversation followed, and the stranger suggested that they should have coffee together in a restaurant.

"Over the coffee," said Mr. Eastwood, "the stranger mentioned that he had two tickets to visit Buckingham Palace the following day, and as a friend of his was unable to go he invited Mr. Saunders to accompany him instead."

"They met again and went to Cook's in Ludgate circus because the stranger stated that he wished to arrange a tour. "The stranger entered Cook's alone,"

"There are only two persons I would trust in the world. One is the priest I am going to Rome with, and this man, because he has trusted me. I shall make him a present of a ring worth $300 or $500 in notes."

Mr. Saunders afterwards agreed that he trusted McMahon as the stranger had, and handed to the men his wallet containing the $1,000. The two men then left the restaurant.

PLAN WORLD AIRWAY.

London, Oct. 2.—Plans for a round-the-world airway, with wireless, light-houses and illuminated landing fields at regular intervals along the route, have been drawn up by August Hopper, well known London aviation expert. The plan takes into consideration the experiences of the recent round-the-world fliers.

DEATHS

John Fenwick Boyne.
Death came suddenly to John Fenwick Boyne at his home 39 St. Andrews street, last night at about 7 o'clock. He had been in failing health for some time but had been able to get out and had been around as usual yesterday. He had retired from active life some time ago but in his younger days he was employed as a mason and was a workman of great skill. He was very widely known in the city and had warm friends. He leaves no near relatives, those closest of kin are nephews who reside elsewhere and are expected to attend the funeral. His sister died about a year ago.

John Conway.
The death of John Conway occurred suddenly last evening at the home of Mrs. Stevens, North street, Fairville, where he boarded. Mr. Conway had been working at his automobile yesterday afternoon and was apparently in good health. He came to the house last evening about 10.30 and went into the kitchen. A young son of Mrs. Stevens about that time also went into the kitchen for a drink of water and found Mr. Conway lying on the floor, who summoned Dr. V. D. Davidson, but when he arrived he was beyond medical aid. Dr. F. L. Kenney, coroner, was notified and gave permission for the removal of the body, the doctors being of the opinion that the death was due to heart disease. Many friends will sympathize with

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barque

EENA MEENA AND THE SOUR OLD WOMAN.

Instantly there stood Eena Meena, the magician, in flowing robes. "Lands alive, gracious me on us!" exclaimed the Sour Old Woman when she lifted the board in her kitchen floor and peeped down into her cellar. "The Twins and the Sand Man have escaped and taken the magic sand with them. They must have had magic along and I never knew it. But suddenly she heard a snore and upon looking more closely didn't she see the Sand Man himself with his head on a sack of potatoes, fast asleep. "Humph!" said the Sour Old Woman. "He must have used some of his own sleepy sand for snuff. But the sand's gone, that's sure, Sand Man or no Sand

Care Of The Feet

"Looks like you couldn't put your best foot forward," scoffed the office wit as Mr. Mann arrived limping. His pet corn was at it again and his head was on his feet, at it were. There are not many people who try to make their feet behave. They watch their falling hair and their decaying teeth and all such matters, but their crippling feet get scant attention. Shoes and stockings are important items, and they will be later remarked upon. But care of the feet themselves is important. The feet should be washed thoroughly with a good antiseptic soap. This habit should be established from the day shoes and stockings are first donned. Wipe them thoroughly, particularly between the toes. Cut and file square and be careful they are not trimmed below the top of the toes; otherwise ingrown toenails may develop. The proper time for the foot bath is at night. Whether hot or cold water is used depends upon the condition and habits of the person. For persons of advanced age a tepid bath is best, particularly if they are subject to rheumatism. Quite old people should, as a rule, take regular foot baths but a sponge bath once or twice a week will suffice.

Dickens and Broadstairs

Broadstairs, which Dickens, in writing of "Our Watering Place" in 1841, described as "one of the freshest and purest little places in the world," was originally Broadstowe, and, says an English exchange, some exigent remains of Our Lady of Broadstowe, the shrine in whose honor the coastwise sailors went to lower their topsails in passing, may yet be found in the little chapel of St. Mary, in Albion street. If the more dignified Broadstowe has become corrupted by colloquial negligence into the modern Broadstairs, its present inhabitants cannot complain if "Dickensville" is suggested as a yet more appropriate designation of the name of the great writer to almost unbecomingly long ends. Undoubtedly, Charles Dickens knew Broadstairs well; visited it at frequent intervals, and wrote a certain amount of his work there, although, with one possible exception, he did not select it as the scene of the adventures of his characters. He had no thought of endowing it with immortality (the lodging-house landladies and shopkeepers have seen to the immortality), but was well content to enjoy its concentrated charms, its repose and restfulness on their own merits. Dickens described the queer, squat pier, which looks like the carcass of a stranded Leviathan, as being "fortuitously without the slightest pretension to architecture, and very picturesque in consequence. So much for Dickens and Broadstairs. It may be doubted whether the great novelist ever dreamed that his name would be sprawled and blazoned about the holiday resort as it is today—more, one fears, in a spirit of advertisement than of reverence to his genius.

Black House Fashion. Like Good King Wenceslas, the footsteps of Dickens are recorded, with more or less faithfulness, throughout the narrow thoroughfares of the town. Mural tablets, street nomenclature shop titles, testify to his all-pervading presence. It is as he is asserted, modern youth refuses to read his pages the bare-legged, unburned boys and girls who are today rioting on the detestable Broadstairs sands must wonder, if he paused for a moment to think, at the heated competition to state, and should result in a noticeable improvement in the general morality and conditions of their children. By the establishment of the court, which is, incidentally, one of the few new courts to be set up in New York City in a century, a new bench is provided which will put an end to any dealing with children as criminals. As such, it is a commendation which the sponsor of the bill for its establishment has accorded it, namely, that thereby the court will become a place "not for reformation, but for formation and prevention." It is indeed, in this last respect that the most significant aspect of the new law is to be seen, for, by taking the court out of the criminal court system and thereby eliminating the question of punishment, it enables those in authority to grapple with the problem of child welfare from the standpoint of remedying the true cause of the children's troubles. As Edward F. Healy, who presided at the opening ceremonies at the Manhattan branch, said, "We can advise and, when necessary, compel parents to do what is necessary to remedy the environments of their children. We can rebuild families. We can, in short, serve as the great father of the nation, representing the State of New York."

NEW YORK CHILDREN'S COURT. (Christian Science Monitor). With the opening of the new Children's Court in New York, a step has been taken which does credit to the State, and should result in a noticeable improvement in the general morality and conditions of their children. UNKNOWN FOSSILS FOUND IN MONGOLIA

Russian Scientist Uncovers Hundreds of Skeletons of Strange Species.

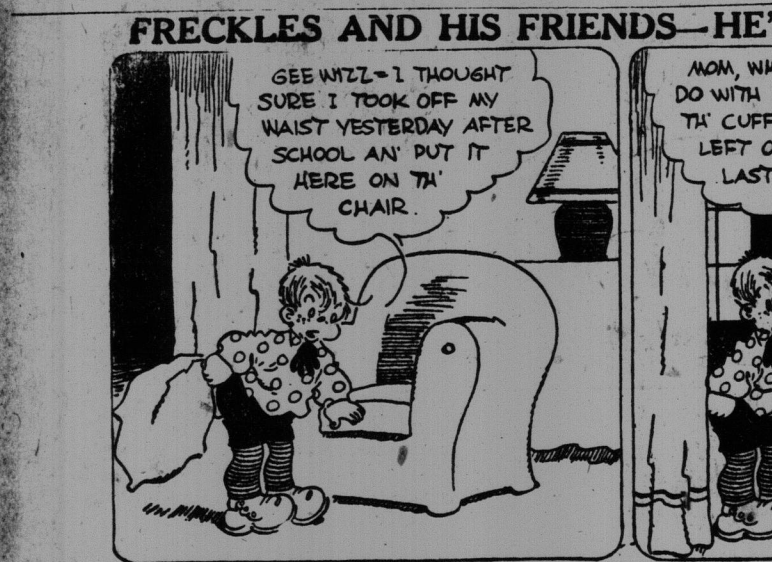

Urga, Mongolia, Oct. 2.—Professor Peter Kozloff, Russian explorer, has discovered near here an enormous number of skeletons of hitherto unknown animals and many human remains, which lead him to believe that Mongolia may have been the birthplace of man and the point of origin of a considerable part of the animal and reptile world. Among the fossils already unearthed by Professor Kozloff and his assistants are those of 25 quadrupeds of undoubted species, 100 birds of varying sizes, 100 reptiles, snakes and fishes and more than 1,000 insects of giant size. It will be recalled that Professor Kozloff last June discovered several remarkable tombs here belonging to the Chinese emperors and princes who ruled Mongolia at a time ante-

Elopement by Air Proved a Failure

Prague, Oct. 2.—How an unfaithful wife attempted to elope with her lover in an aeroplane is reported here. Recently the police received a message from Lemberg, Poland, stating that Amalie Alexandrovic, wife of a merchant, eloped with an unknown man. The police, after making inquiries, have seen to the elopement. She had remained in a leading hotel at Prague overnight, and early the following morning had gone to the aeroplane for a hasty flight to Paris. Shortly afterwards news was received that the elopers had returned to Prague, as the aeroplane, owing to a storm, had been forced to descend at Tauschau, near the German border. Mrs. Alexandrovic, when questioned by the police, declared that she had become acquainted with her companion, Victor Simon, at Franzensbad, and that she had agreed to go with him to Paris. Simon, who claims to be a Hungarian journalist, stated that he thought Mrs. Alexandrovic was divorced from her husband. After visiting Paris, he said he intended to go to North Africa. Simon has been detained pending the arrival of the woman's husband.

Don't Squeeze Black Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple application of the powder—about two little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briefly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has dissolved, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

Little Miss Jean Stetson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stetson, was the occasion for a delightful party on Tuesday afternoon, to celebrate her ninth birthday. The party was held at "The Grove," the home of the little girl's grandfather, Major General H. E. McLean. There was the time honored cake, candies and lovely gifts and the young guests enjoyed their games on the lawn. Most of the guests were from Rothesay, with a few going out from the city, who were Miss Constance Mullin, Miss Roberta Peterson, Miss Frances Vassie, Miss Dorothy Mathews, Miss Jane Crosby, Miss Charlotte Crosby, Miss Patricia Harrison, Miss Janice Harrison, Miss Charlotte Foster and Miss Barbara Sayre.

Miss Marion Belva is being showered with gifts in honor of her approaching marriage. On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Alex. Christie was hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. A. Ewing, Peters street, for 85 girl friends of the bride-elect, who brought pretty and useful gifts in a generous variety. Yellow, which is the vogue for decorating was used in the color scheme. Those assisting the hostess in entertaining were Miss George Springer, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Miss Florence Warwick and Miss Frances Ewing, sister of Mrs. Christie. Mrs. Freeman Hamm, the sister of the bride-elect, presided over the tea cups at the supper hour. There will be other showers before the marriage takes place.

Among the young men going from here to McGill University was Mr. Ralph Warwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Warwick. He is entering for his first year and left for Montreal on Sunday.

Many Suggestions In French Style Displays

(United Press)

New York, N. Y., Oct. 2.—While the majority of French designers and couturiers favor sterner lines with widening hem features, long sleeves, and short skirts, there are details of variations sponsored by their various style leaders which offer many suggestions, as may be seen in the following fall style summary.

Callot favors straight, sheath lines with wide decorated bands extending about the hips. These low hip bands may be embroidered, or beaded and in some cases the decorative motif extends in front only. Apron front effects are another Callot idea and these are used in conjunction with the wide hip band on many of the afternoon frocks. Callot's sleeves are frequently long with fullness above the elbow and a tight-fitting lower portion. Prings are also sponsored by Callot and these are added to give the dounce idea to the otherwise straight-lined frock. Callot's favorite colors this season are russet, brown and maroon for day time wear and yellow, Madonna blue, salmon pink and coral for evening wear.

No Radical Change.

Luellen Lelong declares that fall will see no radical change in the silhouette as frocks will continue to be slender, straight and bellies as far as below the hips, then widening all the way around the skirt in some sort of fullness. Lelong's skirts remain short. His evening wraps all have sleeves and he is not including one cape model in his fall display. Tailored suits will either be strictly tailored or "ensembles"—dresses with suits to make the coat of these "ensembles" extend within a few inches of the bottom of the frock with a tendency toward a flare at the coat bottom. For evening wear, Mr. Lelong likes chiffon combined with fur. For day time he favors ribbed silks and shiny surfaced silks. His sports coats add a new note to the sports selection as they are all trimmed with spotted furs among which are leopard and burunduk—commonly known as chipmunk.

Slender Lines.

Charlotte who has made many of the frocks for American motion picture stars is slender lines with low waists. Belts are placed extremely low in many instances. What fullness is introduced is suggested in the tunic skirt which is cut on the bias and passes over a very narrow model in the front. Charlotte's foundations, by the way, are always separate from the gown itself. Charlotte favors the long, light sleeve and believes that they add slenderness to the silhouette. Collars in many instances are high. Others are upstanding affairs in back terminating in a V-shaped front.

Panllette Frocks.

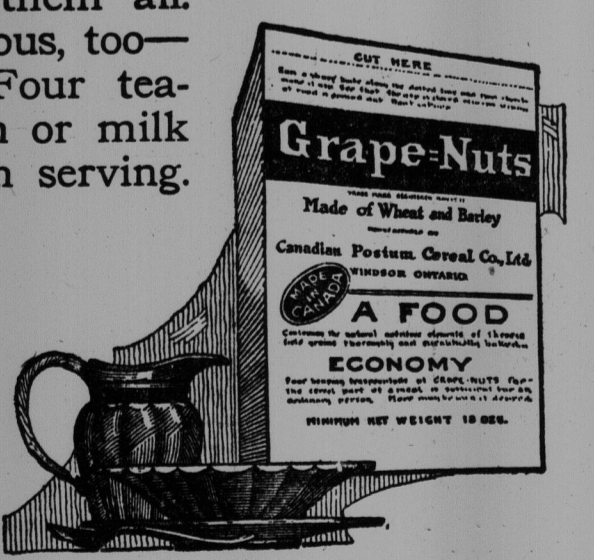

Cheruit is featuring panllette frocks for evening wear, the panllette, however, do not extend beneath the skirt and they are only noticed when the skirt is raised. Full, ruffled frocks are those which choose the panllette as an accessory. Many of Cheruit's evening frocks follow 1880 lines.

For daytime wear Cheruit is featuring straight, bellies frocks with a slight widening at the hemline.

Lavin, whose lines are always graceful, carries out the long sleeve idea by using wide, pleated sleeves which are gathered into a wrist band. Lavin's sleeves generally begin from an off-shoulder armhole and they may be embroidered or made of several colors of belof, sewed together to form wide stripes and then finely pleated. Apron fronts and low waistlines are favorites of Lavin. Crepes are generally sponsored for daywear and beaded and embroidered effects are popular.

LAURIER STATUE DESIGN CHOSEN

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—The sub-committee of the Cabinet which, with the assistance of experts, have been passing judgment upon the 50 designs submitted for the statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, have accepted that of Emile Brunet, of Montreal. He is a young sculptor who has been studying abroad and who made some of the ornamental designs of the Parliament Buildings.

The statue is to be in bronze and life size and will be on an imposing base with steps leading up to the pedestal. The model is very lifelike. It will probably be cast and completed by next summer and the unveiling will be the occasion of a ceremony fitting the distinguished statesman who is commemorated.

on the League of Nations given by Miss Pitcher, who is its representative in the League of Nations Society, and also heard Mrs. K. I. Campbell's excellent report of the National Chapter annual meeting. Money was voted to send a box to a needy soldier's family in a provincial centre. Very satisfactory reports of the rummage sale held on Saturday were given the meeting. The Duke of Rothesay Chapter at its last meeting this season voted $80 towards the war memorial of the order.

THEY ARE WORRIED OVER LA FOLLETTE

Republican Chiefs See Senator With Great Strength in West.

Washington, Oct. 2.—(By Canadian Press.)—The possibility of big changes in the political situation between now and November is engaging the attention of keen observers of conditions. Based on the present conditions, the general expectation here is that President Coolidge will be elected, but at the same time there are new reports to the effect that Senator LaFollette is strong in the west and that this strength may be sufficient to prevent Coolidge getting a majority of the electoral college vote. This would throw the election into Congress. On the basis of present surveys of sentiment, John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee, cannot be elected.

President Coolidge has considered a western trip, but has been told it would be a mistake; that it would be interpreted as a sign of a Republican panic and would do him great harm. The President, therefore, will probably not go west. It is made plain at the White House, however, that he has made no final decision and if later the demands are strong and the need too great he will go. In other words, it will depend on the outlook several weeks hence.

Are Worried.

Meantime, reports are constantly coming here of great strength for LaFollette in most of the states west of the Mississippi. Even in Iowa, normally Republican by a large vote, there is strong LaFollette sentiment, and some of the LaFollette chiefs even say he will carry the state. The constant procession of reports of LaFollette strength in the west is worrying the Republican managers. They believe LaFollette will cut into the Democratic strength rather than the Republican in the east but fear the farmer vote may turn heavily to LaFollette in the west.

This is the explanation of the action of the Republican organization, following conferences in Chicago, in turning loose its heaviest batteries on LaFollette. Up to date these guns do not seem to have damaged the Wisconsin senator. The Democratic leaders, especially Davis, are also turning loose a barrage on LaFollette. This is accepted by the LaFollette people as another demonstration of LaFollette's strength. The reasons for Davis' action are several. One is found in the danger that the LaFollette forces will practically wipe out the Democratic organization in a few states. Another is that the present widespread talk that the race is between Coolidge and LaFollette is calculated to hurt Davis. In general, the purpose is to prevent drift of Democratic votes to LaFollette and to prevent what some look on as a possibility—remote but still existing—that the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket will have more votes in the electoral college than the Davis ticket. This might mean the choice of Wheeler for vice-president and his accession to the presidency if the election went to the House and there was a deadlock. Were it not for the fact that Davis will get the solid south, the chance of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket standing second would be strong. The powerful political organization of the Republican party, when all is said and done, is a great factor and it is not likely it can be beaten. On the other hand, the real enthusiasm of the campaign is among the LaFollette men. They have no such well-knit organization as the Republicans, but it is zealous and enthusiastic and fired with the desire to advance the progressive cause. This makes it formidable.

German-American Vote. Despite professions of the utmost confidence that Coolidge will be elected to succeed himself, some of the Republican chiefs are much worried over several recent manifestations of LaFollette's strength, and one of these relates to reports that the German-American vote will support LaFollette.

This vote is strong in Missouri, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and some of the other states. In recent years most of it has been Republican. Should it go headlong to LaFollette it would be a hard blow at the prospects of President Hoover. Not only did the Steuben Society, a German-American organization, recently pledge its support to LaFollette, but soundings of sentiment recently taken in Missouri and other mid-western states by the Republican organization indicate a big German-American vote for LaFollette.

The significance of this is that the average German-American voter is conservative in economic matters, and for him to go over to LaFollette means that he is stirred politically to an unusual degree. Republican leaders, apprehensive over the reports as to the German-American vote, will take steps to try to hold this vote in line. It will be worth while keeping a close eye on what happens in this respect. Many a campaign prediction may be smashed if the Republicans fail to hold something like their normal share of the German-American vote.

The reason for sending Dawes into Wisconsin was to try to help hold this vote in line. But it is doubted by some Republicans whether his bitter attacks on LaFollette will be effective in accomplishing the result for which the Republicans seek. In other words there is a feeling that personalities will not get far in this campaign in which the voters are interested chiefly in economic questions.

NEW GAS MASK DEVELOPED.

A gas mask, to be used by firemen as a means of protection against the poisonous gases and vapors encountered in fighting fires, has recently been developed by scientists of the Federal Bureau of Mines of the United States. Equipped with the mask, the wearer may work in atmospheres containing the deadly carbon monoxide, ammonia vapors and acid gases with safety for a period of at least four hours. The mask complete weighs five and a half pounds. The face-piece forms an air pocket over the face of the wearer and allows breathing through the nose. The rubber tube connects the face-piece to a canister worn on the chest. This canister contains a certain kind of charcoal that removes poisonous vapors from incoming air, filters of cotton wool for removing smoke, dusts and mists and various chemicals which purify the air from carbon monoxide, ammonia and acid gases.

Wife Spends Last Dime For Poison

New York, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Nora Hoover, 19 years old, who said she was homeless, spent her last ten cents for a two-ounce bottle of poison. As soon as the clerk in the pharmacy handed it to her she swallowed it. The clerk administered an antidote. Dr. Rivers, of the Knickerbocker Hospital, said that the young woman probably will recover. In the opinion of the police, domestic troubles, aggravated by the want of food and shelter, are responsible for Mrs. Hoover's attempt to take her life.

RED ROSE COFFEE For particular people Grown from the seed of the rare old Javas and Mochas

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter: (Address on Request.) Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money. You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipe on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Toronto, Canada.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Dear Sir: I am 45 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rashes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically I admit, your Krumbled Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemies, no more old Dr. So-and-so's Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., ad infinitum! you have

for the best true stories
on What Fleischmann's
Yeast has done for you

THE first Yeast for Health contest—announced a year ago—brought an instant and astonishing response: letters from all over America, from men and women in every walk of life.

But during the past twelve months the increased demand for this simple fresh food has been more astonishing still. There are literally hundreds of thousands more Yeast enthusiasts today—hundreds of thousands of former sufferers whom Yeast has restored to health.

And so we are announcing a second contest.

During the past seven years a long series of experiments, conducted by eminent medical authorities in the leading scientific institutions of the country, has definitely established the value of Fleischmann's Yeast as a health food.

Constipation conquered—stomach troubles relieved—vitality restored and skin disorders removed—from every state in the Union comes confirmation of these amazing facts.

And every one of the thousands of letters which reach us has its definite value. Classified, analyzed, these reports play an important part in studying the effects of Yeast on American health.

Adding Fleischmann's Yeast to the daily diet has literally transformed the lives of millions of men and women. We know that. We have heard from thousands of them. We want to hear from thousands more.

JUST sit down and write the story of your experience with yeast. You can write freely, without restraint, for your letter will not be made public without your permission. Just glance below at some of the extracts from letters received recently. Your own experiences with Fleischmann's Yeast may have been even more remarkable.

Remember, the contest closes November 5th and this is the only announcement that will appear. Follow the rules carefully—keep them before you. Then send us your story. The names of the prize winners will be published in this paper about the middle of December.

If you have ever eaten Yeast—decide to enter now!

"When all the other girls were wearing their first low-necked dresses, I was staying at home—all on account of a breaking-out on my back that I simply couldn't get rid of. It was awful. One day my chum told me about Fleischmann's Yeast and urged me to take it. I took half a cake dissolved in water before every meal—it is not only easy to take but delightful—and in two weeks every trace of the eruption had disappeared. It worked like magic, really, and made me feel like a different person."

(Miss Esther Shaw of Sanford, Calif.)

"I felt 'fagged' in the morning when I went to the office. At luncheon I ate my food with a growing resentment at the necessity of eating. At dinner I merely nibbled at morsels of food. I was nervous and irritable. Then I began eating yeast—Fleischmann's—and noticed my appetite returning. My face lost its sallowness, and the pimples on my skin disappeared; my grouch went the way of the eruptions."

(Extract from a letter of Mr. A. F. Lockhart, of St. Louis, Mo.)

"I did not eat six cakes of Yeast and feel myself improving immediately. In fact for one month I used 3 cakes a day without any visible improvement. But by the middle of August, my chronic constipation commenced to give way—I again consulted our family physician, who told me to use no other remedies but Fleischmann's Yeast. . . . Today my troubles have become ancient history—thanks to the remarkable effects of Fleischmann's Yeast."

Bribery Case in National League Sensation on Eve of Series

JIM O'CONNELL AND COZY DOLAN ARE UNDER BAN

Former Charged With Trying to Bribe Philadelphia to Throw Game.

SANDE REFUSED

Frisch, Kelly and Young are Absolved by Judge Landis.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Commissioner K. M. Landis has announced that Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan, of the New York National League Baseball Club, had been declared ineligible after charges of bribery against them had been investigated.

The suspension was based upon a confession made by O'Connell and evidence furnished by Dolan, and followed information furnished by Heinie Sande of the Philadelphia National League Club. Sande stated that on September 27 O'Connell had offered him $500 to throw the game between the Giants and the Phillies, played in New York on that day.

Sande refused. He immediately gave his information to Manager Fletcher of the Phillies, who brought it to the attention of Commissioner Landis. The investigation, in which President Heydler of the National League and officials of the New York club also took part, followed.

Commissioner Landis will continue his investigation in Washington today in an effort to discover who put the $500 into the hands of the substitute outfielder, who originated the scheme. The investigation, which was conducted by Dolan, and to what extent it was practiced during the season.

Heine Sande, Philadelphia shortstop, who is the hero in baseball's latest family tragedy. The commissioner acted upon information furnished by Sande, who charged that O'Connell had offered $500 to him to throw the game between the Giants and Philadelphia on Sept. 27. New York won the contest, 5 to 1, and clinched the pennant.

O'Connell, called before the commissioner, President Heydler, Commissioner Landis and John McGraw, manager of the Giants, confessed to offering the bribe and implicated Cozy Dolan, coach of the team, Captain Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young, the latter two composing the backbone of the team.

Frisch, Kelly and Young were completely absolved by the commissioner following a hearing, but Dolan, whose testimony in favor of himself was "such a character as to be unacceptable," the commissioner said, was blamed as the man who instigated the plot.

It was dumfounded when called before Commissioner Landis. Frisch said, "I hope the whole matter will be sifted to the bottom and that if any player has been guilty of wrongdoing, he will be properly punished."

Neither Manager McGraw, President Stoneham, Secretary Tierney, or Treasurer McQuade, of the Giants, could be located. Stoneham is awaiting trial in the Federal court on November 10 in connection with the failure of a brokerage firm of which he was a member.

Dolan, to whom present implication points the most severe finger, has been a base-running coach for McGraw since 1921. He was formerly an infielder on the Phillies, Pirates, Reds, Cardinals and Yankees, and has been playing professional ball for the last 20 of his 35 years.

The newest blow to baseball has landed most heavily on the Pacific Coast where Jimmy O'Connell, "875,000 beauty," purchased by New York in 1921, but who did not report until the end of 1922, occupied the same relative position in public esteem that Babe Ruth now holds in the national field.

He was lionized wherever he went and was especially popular with the younger boys. Before he left for New York an O'Connell day was held at the San Francisco baseball park, and fans presented him with a home.

O'Connell's failure to immediately burn the National League was attributed to the National League was attributed to the fact that he was waiting for "Jimmy" to fulfill the promise of a bright future.

Jimmy O'Connell is a native of California, 22 years of age and a right-handed batsman. His first professional experience was confined to a San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League for which he played such wonderful ball that the New York club in 1921 was induced to pay $75,000 for him conditionally on his playing as good ball in 1922 for the San Francisco team. O'Connell made good on this and in consequence went to the Giants with a wonderful record as batsman and fielder. From the start with the Giants, however, he proved a serious disappointment in batting at least as never got into the 200 class and missed the season with an average of

BROOKLYN NOT A HIGH-PRICED CLUB

Many of the Players Were Picked Up at Bargains.

New York, Oct. 2.—(United Press).—One went, where the baseball bugs breathe fire and snort smoke at the mere mention of New York, there will have to be a new squawk organized if the Brooklyn Robins win the National League pennant.

Even if the Robins fail to land no better than second or third place, the theory advanced, and generally believed in the west, that this is the biggest factor in baseball will have been exploded.

As long as the Giants keep on winning the pennant the fans can keep themselves into a whirr and ask questions upon a club that can buy pennant winners. The Giants have spent a lot of money on players, but Charley Ebbets certainly has never been accused of recruiting with the cash of the Brooklyn club. He has taken as much kidding in the public print about his frugality as the Pirates' Walter has read about his horsemanship.

In answer to any more thrusts about his relation to Harry Landis, Ebbets may be able to say this winter: "Spend money? Why should I be a sucker. I win pennants, and look at my roll!"

Compared with Babe Ruth and Jimmie O'Connell and several others there isn't an expensive ball player on the Brooklyn team. There are several, in fact, that were picked up off the bargain counter or salvaged from the baseball dump.

Jack Fournier came to the club from St. Louis in a trade for Hy Myers. Andy High was purchased from the Memphis club for $5,000. Milton Stock came from St. Louis for Mike Gonzales and some cash. Johnny Mitchell was bought from Minneapolis for a small sum.

Jimmy Johnston was obtained in a trade with Oakland. Irv Osborne came from Cleveland for the water pipe.

Zach Wheat cost $1,200. Ed Brown came from Indianapolis in a trade. Jack Deberry cost $10,000. Denny Vance cost $5,000, and he's worth $100,000.

Bugs Grimes came from the Pirates in a trade. Red Reuther was secured from the Reds in a trade for Marquard.

Bill Doak was passed off by the Cardinals to Ebbets. He did not cost the Robins a cent. On his actual cost to the owner, the Robins are worth on Babe Ruth, and if the profit is rated on the investment, the Robins probably have made as much money as the Yankees.

Red Ruth, of course, has paid, or will pay for the Yankee stadium. But who is going to buy the big plant going when Babe goes?

During the baseball meetings in Chicago last winter, Ebbets had made the news to become public that he had offered $200,000 to the St. Louis Cardinals for Rogers Hornsby.

This was the greatest amusement, and it was the general opinion that Ebbets would have gone home dead if the Cardinals had taken him up on the offer.

Ebbets insisted, however, that he was sincere. He said he was going to reward his customers by putting some of it back in the club.

He did not put some of the cash back into the team. He didn't spend a whole lot, because the player market is decidedly stagnant, but what he did spend certainly came back to him with a little to spare.

Ebbets is the smartest baseball man in the game. He has the starring advice of "Uncle" Wilbert Robinson to help him in appraising the ability and value of players.

Another sock at a well-established theory would result from a Brooklyn victory. The idea is that there is a plentiful sprinkling of youth on a team may hold in many cases, but it doesn't go with the Robins. They have one of the oldest teams in the big leagues.

HARRIS YOUNGEST FOOTBALL LEAGUE MANAGER IN MAJORS

Played in Minors Until Washington Bought Him From Buffalo.

Stanley Haymond Harris, manager of the Senators, is the youngest team leader in the two major leagues.

Appointed to succeed Donie Bush shortly before the opening of the present season, Harris has performed one of the most sensational feats in all baseball history by leading the Washington team to its first pennant. The appointment of Harris as manager of the Senators by Clark Griffith, formerly manager and now president of the Washington playing managers, is a tribute to followers of the game, as it had been supposed that Roger Peckinpaugh, former captain of the Yankees, would be chosen for the post.

Harris, who will be 29 years old Nov. 8, is one of the five playing managers in the two major leagues. Four of these are in the American League and one in the National League. The American League playing managers, in addition to Harris, are Ty Cobb of the Tigers, Tetsie Speaker of the Indians and George Sisler of the Browns. Dave Bancroft, formerly of the Giants, and now leader of the Braves, is the only playing manager in the National League.

Harris was born at Port Jervis, N. Y., on Nov. 8, 1896. He started his professional baseball career in 1915 as a member of the Pittsford club of the Eastern Pennsylvania League. In the following year he was traded to the Detroit Tigers, who were then under the management of Hughie Jennings, now assistant manager of the Giants.

Gets Trial With Detroit. Harris was with the Detroit club for a month, and was then turned over to the Scranton club of the New York State League. For most of the season he was a member of the Muskogee club of the Central League, the club to which he was traded in 1917.

While with Muskogee Harris played third base and took part in fifty games. His batting average for that season was only .166.

In the following year he joined the Norfolk club of the Virginia League. He was present and he also spoke with regard to scout ideals and activities.

Norval Lambert, who will be the scoutmaster of the new team, and Donald Colwell, who will be assistant scoutmaster, attended the meeting and took an active part in getting the boys started learning to the knits in readiness to take the tenderfoot test. Scout songs were sung with much zest and when the gathering dispersed the boys were looking forward eagerly to the next meeting. It was decided to have meetings each Wednesday night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

PROMISING YOUNG PLAYERS IN MAJORS

Many Tried Out at Close of Regular League Seasons.

New York, Oct. 2.—(United Press).—Young baseball players of great promise fairly swarmed over the major league fields in the closing days of the hectic pennant races.

Managers with teams out of the running started working for 1925 material and they trotted out the most impressive bunch of youngsters that has been seen since the war days.

The regular season itself was featured by the discovery or development of a number of new stars who were prominent in putting several teams in the race.

Pittsburg had the best luck in finding four young stars who kept the team in the running all the way over the course. Five game pitchers were given the start.

The Cincinnati Reds landed Crix, a young second baseman, and a sure starter, and a youthful shortstop. The Washington Senators found McNeely, Pacific Coast outfielder, just when he was most needed to help the club in its hard fight.

GILL IS FLOORED SEVERAL TIMES

Jersey City, Oct. 1.—Paul Berlenbach, of New York, gained a newspaper decision over Jimmy Gill, York, Pa., light-heavyweight, in their 10-round bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight.

Although the knockout king floored Gill twice in the fifth and four times in the tenth round, he failed to bring over the sleep producing blow and the York fighter stayed the limit.

around longer than they care to admit, but they are still able to play ball to manage a club. Speaker is 34 years old, and he has been around for 16 years. Cobb is 38. He has been the terror of American League pitchers for 19 years, and they still give him headway on the bases.

Then there are the comparative youngsters of around 30 and 32, a ripe old age for baseball, where year after year they up legs, tie up arms and take the edge off batting eyes.

Everett Scott and Wally Schang would be youngsters in any other business, but they are veterans on the baseball field. Ray Schalk and Steve O'Neil are in their early 30's, but they are almost worn out. Heinie Groh, bald and gnarled up, is just a little over 30. Hank Gowdy and Frank Snyder are past 30 and the Giants are feeling the need of young catches.

It is not until you go through the record books and find that most of the age-worn veterans are comparatively young men that you can begin to understand the reason for the hold-up against Walter Johnson, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Babe Adams, Zach Wheat and Jimmy Johnston to be there holding their own against the rush of youth.

Editor's Note.—Since this article was written by Henry L. Farrell of the United Press, Vincent Shields, who pitched for Frederick and St. Stephen was given a tryout with St. Louis and made a favorable impression.

NO FEES REQUIRED FOR SCHOOL BOYS. Will be Given Amateur Registration Cards Free on Application. School boys athletes of the Maritime Provinces will not be required to pay the customary fee for registration with the M. P. B. A. U. of Canada. This announcement was made yesterday by A. W. Covey, president of the Maritime branch, when he returned from Winnipeg. The athletic governing body decided several months ago that the junior as well as the senior athletes must be registered and the fee for all was placed at 25 cents. It had been brought to the attention of Mr. Covey that school boys were not among the money earning class and in some cases it might be difficult for the boys to provide the fee. So it was decided that the payment of the fee would be done away with, beginning Oct. 1.

Mr. Covey pointed out that the boys should all be registered and receive their amateur cards. Those without cards will not be allowed to compete against registered performers. It was also suggested that each application for registration be accompanied by a birth certificate. This would be kept on file and the question of age could be determined at any time by reference to the governing body's files.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion of the world, successfully defended his title here tonight when he knocked out Bobby Barrett of Clifton Heights, at the Philadelphia National League park in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

The knockout blow was a right to the jaw, 1 minute and 33 seconds after the start of the sixth round. Barrett had just arisen to his feet after taking a count of nine. The challenger did not have a chance at any stage of the fight. He was smothered from the start by the champion's two-fist attacks.

JOHNSON TO PITCH
FIRST OF SERIES

The Washington Ace Holds
Many Records—Started
Career in 1907

Much of the interest in the coming world's series centres around Walter Johnson, one of the few really great pitchers of all baseball history, who is about to enter one of the annual classics for the first time after serving with the Washington club for more than seventeen years. For many followers of baseball this will be a dream come true, for they have waited and waited with the hope that some day the great pitcher might get a chance to pitch in a world's series. Just when his career seemed to be drawing to a close Johnson suddenly regained much of his wonderful form and his work this year has been one of the main factors in the Senators' sensational victory in the American League race.

Johnson will be 37 years old on Nov. 4. He was born at Humboldt, Kan., and started his professional career with the Tacoma club of the Northwestern League, with which team he struck in 1906. He never actually took part in a game with the Tacoma team and later in that season he was with a semi-professional club at Welser, Idaho. He also was with the Welser team for part of the 1907 campaign. In 1907 he joined the Senators and he has been with the Washington club ever since.

Johnson pitched only fourteen games in 1907, winning five and losing nine. In the following year he scored fourteen victories to fourteen defeats. In 1908 Johnson won thirteen games and lost twenty-five. In 1910 the Washington star registered twenty-five victories to seventeen defeats, and during the next season he won twenty-three games and lost fifteen. In 1912 Johnson won thirty-two games and lost twelve. Then in 1913 he compiled one of the greatest pitching records in baseball history. He scored the remarkable total of thirty-six victories to only seven defeats for a percentage of .837, and he compiled the splendid average of allowing only 1.09 runs per nine-inning game.

He has won more games than any other American League pitcher. His total is now 373. The major league record is 373 and is held by Christy Mathewson. Johnson holds the major league record for strikeouts with a total of 3,058 before this season. He is a joint holder with Joe Wood, formerly of the Red Sox, of a career record of sixteen consecutive games, the longest ever made by American League pitchers. He holds the American League record of pitching and winning three consecutive games and he holds the major league record for shutout games, with a total of 109.

Johnson's record since he joined the Washington club, including games won and lost, winning percentage, strikeouts, bases on balls and the average number of earned runs allowed per nine-inning game, follows:

Following the disposal of Bancroft, Frank Frisch was appointed as captain of the Giants. The post of shortstop was turned over to Travis Jackson, who had been with the club during the previous year as substitute infielder. Jackson was purchased by the Giants late in the season of 1922 from the Little Rock club of the Southern Association.

Of the Giants' three other regular infielders, Kelly, Frisch and Groh, all have been with the club for several years. Kelly first came to the Giants in 1915 from the Victoria club of the Northwestern League. He was loaned to the Pirates in 1917 and finished that season with the Rochester club of the International League. He was repurchased by the Giants in 1919 and has been with the club ever since.

THE BIGGEST, REDDEST-BLOODED HEROIC STORY OF OUR CANADIAN WEST ever converted into motion pictures. This is not a fake wild-west show, but a powerful depiction of life in the lawless days when the women folks had to be protected with shooting irons and downright heroism. A charming romance, a tender love story, yet fraught with excitement and tribal warfare that sets one's blood a'tingling. Possibly the most interestingly beautiful scenic story of the year, done in the heart of our Canadian Rockies and in Alaska. PROSPECTORS, COWBOYS, INDIANS, RAIDERS, ANIMALS

McGraw has made only one big trade since the series of 1923 but that deal was an important one. This came in November of last year when Dave Bancroft, captain and star shortstop of the Giants for more than three years, was traded to the Braves to become manager of the Boston club. Along with Bancroft went Bill Cunningham and Casey Stengel, and in exchange the Giants obtained Pitcher Joe Oeschger and Outfielder Billy Southworth. Oeschger has since been disposed of as a regular as it had been expected he would.

Of the Giants' three other regular infielders, Kelly, Frisch and Groh, all have been with the club for several years. Kelly first came to the Giants in 1915 from the Victoria club of the Northwestern League. He was loaned to the Pirates in 1917 and finished that season with the Rochester club of the International League. He was repurchased by the Giants in 1919 and has been with the club ever since.

TO BURN SHANGHAI IF ROUTED, REPORT (United Press) London, Oct. 1.—General Chi Hai-hung has issued a warning to residents of Shanghai, that Lu Yung-hsiang has bought large quantities of arsenic for the avowed purpose of burning the city if driven out by Kuangsi forces, according to the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent.

ALLEGED FORGERY CASE. Some excitement has been created in Fredericton over the issuing of a warrant for a well-known young man on a charge of passing bogus checks. It is said that several for amounts ranging from $10 to $20, and bearing the name of a well-known North Devon man, have been cashed by merchants and others. On being presented to the banks the checks were returned, marked "no account" or "no funds." Recently one complained to the police magistrate and had a warrant issued. The man is reported to have left the city.

Johnson To Get A Record Salary
New York, Oct. 2.—Walter Johnson, whose magnificent pitching chiefly is responsible for the victorious achievements of the Washington American League team, will receive a new contract for next year, calling for the highest salary ever paid to a boxman in fast company. Monkey Eats $128 Worth of Canaries
New York, Oct. 2.—A monkey in the bird and animal store of Humpty Jackson, reformed gambler, in 612 West 125th street, got out of his cage and dined on $128 worth of canaries before he could be captured by a boy who, lowered inside the room over the transom, wrapped a rope around the monkey's neck and carried him to the cage.

Sleeping Sickness Making Criminals
London, Oct. 2.—Criminal tendencies are apt to develop after "sleepy sickness" in persons whose conduct previously has been above reproach. This is one of the outstanding revelations made by Dr. Charles Glen, assistant medical officer at the Darenth Training Colony, in an article dealing with the appalling after-effects of the disease, appearing in the Metropolitan Asylum Board's annual report, just issued.

Pen. Armstrong and L. W. Peters This Week for Handicap Trophy.
The Weldon cup contest at Riverside, the only trophy in which competitors are allowed to use graded handicaps, has reached its final stage by the defeat of H. H. Peters, who recently won the club championship, by Fenwick Armstrong, one of the younger set and a first year golfer. The latter eliminated the champion by 3 up and 2 to play, in the 18 holes. Mr. Peters allowed the younger player a net handicap of six strokes. This brings Mr. Armstrong into line with L. W. Peters, another experienced player, for the final match, which is expected to be played this week.

TWO MORE HERE FOR LIQUOR LOADS

One Schooner Clears for the West Indies; Other Awaits Cargo.

Two more schooners are in port loading liquor for a reported destination in the West Indies. They are the Hiram D. McLean and General Ironsides. The former cleared this morning for Hamilton, Bermuda. She was loaded at the Pettigill wharf but shifted this morning to No. 2 Extension, San Point, in readiness to sail at the first favorable opportunity. The local Customs authorities cannot give out the individual cargoes of vessels leaving this port, according to an order received about three years ago from Ottawa...

The General Ironsides is at the McLeod wharf awaiting her cargo. She arrived here from Halifax in charge of Samuel Shaw. The vessel had her name painted on her stern with Grand Banks, Newfoundland, as her port of registry. The local customs officials, it is understood, on examining her papers found that a mistake had been made as the vessel really was registered at St. John's, Newfoundland.

The vessel was built at Grand Banks and it is said that the mistake occurred by the owners noting the place where she was built instead of her port of registry. The local officials informed the captain that no clearance would be granted until this matter is rectified. It was said that the change will be made at once.

Vessels in the liquor trade from this port receive their consignments in bond. The liquor is either shipped to St. John from Europe and is then held here in bond for trans-shipment to other vessels, or it arrives here from some other province in bond billed for outside ports. There is a steady stream of shipments of this kind through St. John.

MARRIED TODAY

A wedding of much interest took place in St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock this morning when Miss Stella Lovetta, daughter of Mrs. Helen and the late John Green, became the bride of James Leonard, son of Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Leonard, 155 Bridge street. Rev. James Cloran, C.S.S.R., was the celebrant at the nuptial mass and officiated at the marriage ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, John E. Green, was gowned in a tailored suit of sand tricotine, with hat to match, and wore a black fox fur, the gift of the groom, and carried a white prayer book. She was attended by Miss Gertrude Steele, who wore a tailored suit of navy tricotine, with hat to match, and a squirrel tie, and carried a white prayer book. The groom was supported by his brother, William L. Leonard.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, which was prettily decorated with leaves and cut flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left by C. N. R. for a trip to the northern part of the province. The going-away suit of the bride was of navy serge, with hat to match, and seal scarf. On their return they will reside at 82 Main street. Many presents were received, showing their popularity. Among them were substantial checks from the bride's mother and the groom's parents and grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Holt. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and immediate friends only. The gift of the groom to the bride was a gold ring, with pearl setting, and to the groomsmen a pair of gold cuff links.

PLAY FOR MARITIME TITLE UNLIKELY

There was Talk of the Portlands Meeting Westville, N. S., Team.

Baseball fans in Moncton were endeavoring to arrange to have the Portlands, winners of the City Amateur League, and the championship of the province, meet Westville, champions of Nova Scotia, in a play-off for the Maritime title here next Saturday. The Portlands won the N. B. title when they defeated Hillboro in a home and home series and Westville carried off premier honors in Nova Scotia by defeating Springfield.

From present indications this play-off will not take place. It was said this morning by A. W. Corey, president of the Maritime branch of the A. A. U. of C. that it was too late in the season now to hold a championship series and that it would not be a fair proposition to consider playing only one game for the title as proposed. Another feature was that the Saturday half-holiday was over for the majority of fans and this would interfere with the attendance. The cost of bringing Westville here or sending the local boys there was considered too heavy at this time of the year. He said the local fans would not take kindly to the Portlands going to another city to play for the title. If a series had been arranged it would have been a case of home and home games and in event of a tie, playing the deciding game on neutral grounds.

D. S. REID HAS MOVED TO MONCTON

D. S. Reid, formerly proprietor of the Reid Studio in Charlotte street, left yesterday afternoon for Moncton where he will open a modern, ground-floor photo studio in the Mabel block. Mr. Reid went to the railway city by motor, accompanied by his wife. Both have many friends in St. John who will regret their removal from the city, but they will be followed by best wishes for a continuation in their new home and home success and in event of a tie, playing the deciding game on neutral grounds.

Mr. Reid opened his St. John business about 12 years ago, and since then had carried it out with great success. His work was particularly interesting during the war, copies of his photographs having been sent to practically every part of the British Empire. He had the distinction on two occasions of making pictures, by special appointment, for the Duke of Connaught, then Governor-General of Canada. Mr. Reid disposed of his local business about six months ago.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I have been gadding about some in recent weeks and meeting folks."

"I 'spose," said Hiram, "you found out this aint the only town on the map."

"I confess," said the reporter, "that I did meet people who were thinking about something else."

"An' you found lots o' people that 'ud still hev somethin' to think about if they didn't hear nothin' 'bout St. John fer a week," said Hiram.

"What you say is quite true," said the reporter.

"Kin you see the lesson stickin' out there?" queried Hiram.

"I'm not sure that I do," said the reporter.

"Well, sir," said Hiram, "here it is, the rest of the country when you stay home an' holler. If you want folks to know about this here winter port an' what a town you got, you'll jist hev to go an' tell 'em—yes, sir."
