New Store 128 Yonge St. Old Store 199 Yonge St.

VOL. XII., No. 39

TORONTO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1904

PRICE FIVE CENTS

TORONTO WELCOMES JOHN

Crowds Throng to Listen to the Irish National Envoys

OVER FIFTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR ELECTIONS

Verbatim Report of Mr. Redmond's Exposition of the Home Rule Situation-Prospects of Near Victory Certain

Toronto sympathizers with the cause of Home Rule, collected under the auspices of the Toronto Branch of the United Irish League, filled Association Hall to overflowing on Monday evening, crowded also the adjoining guild hall and overflowed in the streets. Toky Redword Irish cause we recognize that though in both halls, but at that hundreds were disappointed. Better provision could not, however, have been made on account of Mr. Redmond's engagements elsewhere. Accompanied by Mrs. Redmond and his brother members, the leader of the Irish Parliamentary Party arrived in Toronto at 4.30 p.m. on Monday from Niagara Falls, where they had stopped over Sunday. They were met at the station by E. J. Hearn, Chairman of the local committee, and Mrs. Hearn, D'Arcy Hinds, Secretary; George P. Magann and Mrs. Magann, Peter Ryan and Miss Ryan, Dr. McMahon and Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Frank J. Walsh, John Hurst, J. T. Loftus, M. Keilty James McConvey and others. The visitors were put up at the station by E. J. Hearn, Chairman of the local committee, and Mrs. Hearn, D'Arcy Hinds, Secretary; George P. Magann and Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Frank J. Walsh, John Hurst, J. T. Loftus, M. Keilty James McConvey and others. The visitors were put up at the station by E. J. Hearn, Chairman of the local committee, and Mrs. Hearn, D'Arcy Hinds, Secretary; George P. Magann and Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. O'Sullivan, Frank J. Walsh, John Hurst, J. T. Loftus, M. Keilty James McConvey and others. The visitors were put up at the local girls and the local committee of the lrish people as well as the common organization of all classes and creeds under the United Irish League are sources of unbounded gratification to supporters of home rule in self-governed Canada.

As Canadians, contented with representative institutions, we pledge to the list provent development of the list pro til 8.30. The hall was well decorat- and national interests will never be ed in green and white bunting, Canadian and Irish flags and national emhlems. There was a distinguished audience, some of those present being Mrs. Redmond, Mrs. Edward Blake, audience, some of those present being Mrs. Redmond, Mrs. Edward Blake, Premier Ross, Senator Kerr, Speaker Charlton, Hume Blake, George P. Megann, Eugene O'Keele, P. F. Cromein Thomas Long Peter Ryan. nin, Thomas Long, Peter Ryan, L. J. Cosgrave, P. Jamieson, Edmund Bristol, George J. Foy, John Hanra-han, Thomas Mulcahy, Orillia; Thomas to the city of Toronto. I have on Tottenham; Robert Jaffray, Robert Orr, R. J. Fleming, T. P. Coffee, Charles Ritchie, Dan O'-Rev. Father L. Minehan, Rev. Father Burke, Rev. Dr. Parker, Rev. J. A. Macdonald, T. A. Moloney, P. Burns, J. W. Mogan, James E. Day, J. T. Loftus, Wm. Burns, Rev. Father McMahon, Thornhill; Andrew Cottam, Danford Roche, T. H. Lennox, Aurora, Frank Walsh, J. J. Power, M. J. Quinn, Dan Fitzgerald, Ex-Mayor O'Donoghue. Stratford: Ex-Mayor O'Donoghue, Stratford; John Fee, M. B. Ryan, John Regan, attend were read by the Secretary, Mr. Hinds, from Hon. Edward Blake, Very Rev. Dean Egan, Father Dol-lard, Father O'Reilly of Oakville, Mayor Urquhart, C. K. Fraser and others. Mr. E. J. Hearn, Chairman of the Reception Committee, opened meeting with a short speech and the following address of welcome to Mr. Redmond, M.P., Capt. A. J. C. Donelan, M.P., and Patrick O'Brien, M.P., was proposed by T. F. Slattery, se-conded by P. F. Cronin and carried by a standing vote: To John E. Redmond, M.P., and his Brother Envoys from the Irish Parliamentary Party to the United Irish League in North America: Whereas the existing political situation in 'the United Kingdom holds forth more favorable prospects to Ireland than have heretotore appeared in the long constitutional struggle for self-government conducted by the representatives of the Irish people; to the streets. John Redmond, M.P., and his brother envoys from the Irish Parliamentary Party, were announced to speak in Association Hall. They were obliged to speak in both halls, but at that hundreds were disappointed.

Toronto sympathizers with the | Resolved, that this meeting of sym-

Better pro-

sitors were put up at the spectful greeting to Hon. Edward King Edward Hotel, and did Blake, M.P., whose signal devotion not arrive at Association Hall unto the furtherance of Ireland's social forgotten by Irish-Canadians.

MR. REDMOND'S SPEECH

men,-In the first place I wish to exmore than one occasion been in Can ada, but never before have I had the pleasure of visiting your beautiful

John Fee, M. B. Ryan, John Regan, J. J. Walsh, John Lee, F. P. Lee, P. Clancy, Wm. Ryan, P. J. Mulqueen, Patrick O'Connor, M. P. Ryan, P. McCabe, J. McGlue, A. J. Gough, Dr. McDonagh, C. E. Burns, M. J. Cassels, N. Monahan, J. W. Mallon, J. F. Mallon, John J. Ryan, J. C. Brady, John Mohan, Thomas Mulvey. Letters of regret for inability to attend were read by the Secretary here in Toronto, to praise Mr. Blake, in saying this much from the fact that it was upon Mr. Blake's mo-tion that I was elected chairman of the Irish Party and it has been from that day to this my greatest pride that I have been able to retain his good will and his confidence. CRISIS IN IRELAND'S AFFAIRS

> Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have visited America and Canada on many occasions before, but I have never before come here upon an occasion so critical and at the same time so full of hope for Ireland. (Applause.) In the first place I have come to America to ask for money to help to save our people from starvation and I have come to America to ask for money to help us to fight coercion and I have come to America to ask for help to abolish landlordism in Ireland. (Applause.) But on this occasion I do not come for any one of these objects. In the first place there never again will be a need for any Irish leader to come to ask for money on this continent to save the Irish people from starvation. (Applause.) Ne-ver again can there be famine on the soil of Ireland and never again will an Irish leader have to come here to ask for aid to defeat coercion. (Applause.) We have had our last bout with coercion. It is not quite two years since coercion was in full swing in Ireland, trial by jury suspended, the right of free speech suppressed, all the most prominent leaders of the Irish people in perliament and the line of the l the Irish people in parliament and out of it thrown without trial into jail. But I say to you to-day that the defeat of coercion which we effected within the last two years, largely by the aid given us from this side of the world, has killed coercion forever more. (Applause.) And never again can any British Government, Liberal or Tory, hope to govern Ireland by PASSING OF LANDLORDISM. I have not come to ask for aid to abolish landlordism because, ladies and gentlemen, landlordism, as I have described it in New York, is in a somewhat peculiar position at this moment. It is not exactly dead, but it is in the condemned cell awaiting execution. Allow me for a moment to dwell upon this question of the land. First of all we attacked the right of the landlord to evict. You know what that right meant. He had the power to evict whether the I have not come to ask for aid to know what that right meant. He had the power to evict whether the rent was paid or not. At his own sweet will or caprice by serving notice the landlord could turn the tenant out upon the road and in a country like Ireland where there is a sentence of eviction from the land is a sentence of death. Well, we attacked and we speedily abolished it.

A MODEST COMMENCEMENT

CANADA PERMANENT MORTGAGE CORPORATION TORONTO STREET, TORONTO

We then attacked the right of the landlord to fix the rent and by the Land Act of 1881 we took that right away from him and we vested it in the Government Arbitration Board, and the operation of that act as you and the operation of that act, as you are aware, was to lift off the shoulders of the tenant farmers twenty mil-not one quarter per cent. of the arrears was due by the purchasing tenants, that the instalments by way of interest and principal were punctually paid over the country.

ENGLAND FORCED TO DEAL

WITH LANDLORDISM. That gave us a great lever and by ers of the tenant farmers twenty millions of dollars a year in the shape of rent. The next thing we did was to demand the abolition of rent altogether. (Laughter and applause.)

Now don't let anybody misunderstand me. It is one of the common cal many against our party and against ever its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal were its defects and the creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of the common cal
were its defects and I will creak of t me. It is one of the common calumnies against our party and against our movement that we are in favor of robbery and confiscation. Nothing of the kind, although doubtless all those landlords for the most part resorted to confiscation in the past. (Applause.) Although that is so, no responsible Irish leader ever suggested to take away the landlords property without the payment of the full value for it. And when I speak of the abolition of rent I mean the abolition of the system of landlords. I do not know whether abolition of the system of landlord- gentlemen I do not know whether ism by fair and equitable purchase. you are all quite familiar with what purchase and they proved their sin-cerity by providing 560 million dol-lars to carry the transaction out and yet when they came to fashion the bill to meet and to suit the re-cessities of Ireland so inherent is the incapacity of the parliament of one nation to properly govern the peo-ple of another that the Act as it left Imperial Parliament contains many grave defects. And so it will be to the end of chapter. When the English parliament has the desire through the centuries to do England's often they have these two things, but when the English parliament has the time requisite to govern Ireland, well it invariably turns out she has not the knowledge. (Applause.) DEFECTS IN THE LATEST BILL

Now I am not saying this by way of reproach at all, but doesn't it stand to reason? Do you think that in your local affairs, in the kind of land act which would be passed for brethren. We have fought your bat-Ontario, in the kind of education act tles. You put us in Ireland. We are which would be passed for Ontario do you think that the English parliament if it had the times and the desire would have to requisite local knowledge to enable it to legislate properly for Ontario. (Crier of "No, No.") No, it is not reasonable and it is not the experience of the world. Now this act has its defects. Its chief defect is that it is not com-pulsory. No landlord need sell un-less he likes. But as one witty member said in the House of Commons, there is what he called "compulsion by inducement," because this act provides the sum of 60 millions of dollars as a free gift over and above the price of the land as a free gift to the landlords who will sell. Now that is compulsion by inducement, especially to a needy body of men like Irish landlords is very powerful. (Laughter.) But it might not be universally effective. I am sure there will be some landlords who, in spite of this inducement, will refuse to sell. And you will say what is to be done with them? Well I will tell you. There are two ways that they have actually formulated of dealing with these gentlemen, one their scheme of Home Rule. (Apby law. Landlords in the past have men, when these Irish landlords, these been able to fight tenants only by Irish Protestant Unionist landlords, to deal with him by law, because it is only reasonable to suppose that the British parliament, having unanimously adopted the policy that the land question shall be settled by purchase and having provided the proof of what I say, that the L money necessary for the transac- Act of last year is removing tion will not allow a little handful of Irish landlords scattered up and down through the country obstruct that policy and it will be perfeetly easy when the proper time comes to obtain compulsory powers to deal with these men. therefore repeat that in ten or fifnot here to-night to ask your assistland question. (Applause.)

HOME RULE NOW THE ISSUE. now, what has brought me Well, great pleasure that it is for me to meet you and great honor though it be to receive such a kindly welcome from you, I did not come my month's touring in the United

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I say deliberately that in my opinion the chances of obtaining in the near future the great advance on the quesat this moment. Let me explain what I mean.

WAY CLEARED OF OBSTACLES.

The chief obstacles which stood in est and all of the principal will have the way of Home Rule in the past been paid off and these annual in- have disappeared. Now, what were stalments will only amount to about they? First was this question of $35 a year instead of $60. (Applause.) So that the tenant who was paying $100 a year when we Home Rule to Ireland it will place commenced will now be paying $35 a our properties, our fortunes, and per-year instead of $100 and he won't haps our lives at the mercy of the pay any rent. It will be all in repayment of the money which at the end of those years will make the land his absolutely and his children's as the landlords of Ireland were able forever. (Applause.) to make that plea to England there was, in my humble judgment, an almost impassable barrier between us and Home Rule. Remember who these landlords were.

the greatest musicians to mark the exclusive place held by the

Heintzman & Co. PIANO

For over fifty years we have been giving experience and study to the perfecting of this great piano.

ORIGIN OF THE LANDLORD PLANTATION.

They England. They were sent to Ireland as adventurers to conquer land. They drove the Irish off into bogs and to the mountain sides, 'to hell or to Connaught.' And they seized the and and their duty in return for the rich lands they seized was to hold Ireland for the British. dirty work in the misgovernment of them, and I may be wrong, but my humble opinion is that England would never concede Home Rule to Ireland unless the possession of the property of these men was first made safe. And the strongest appear which was made against Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill in 1893 was made by these landlords who came to England and said: "We are your your garrison and now you are going to desert us and hand us over to the Irish enemy?"

LANDLORDS WANT HOME RULE. Well, ladies and gentlemen, that obstacle has gone. The Land Act of last year removes that obstacle absolutely from our path. So much so indeed that those of you who are close students of the newspapers will have noticed that these very men, recognizing that their properties will be sold—and sold at a good price too, -very soon, have been moved in the direction of national self-government. Why, it is only the other day that a meeting of the Irish Unionist Landlords was held in Dublin to form a reform association. Lord Dunraven was in the chair and a number of the most prominent and influential Irish landlords were present. the first plank in the platform of the new association was what was called an extension of national self-government in Ireland, and I see by a cablegram in to-day's newspapers public opinion and the other plause.) So that, ladies and gentlereason of the fact that they have confederated together. Well, if there is only one landlord left in a country he cannot confederate all by himself, and I venture to think that where all the landlords around him have sold that public opinion will here speedily bring such a gentleman their scheme of Home Rule. Well, I very speedily bring such a gentleman their scheme of Home Rule. Well, I to his senses. But even leaving the means of settling the question to one details of their scheme. As reported I believe it will be quite easy in the cablegram, their scheme is indeed a meagre and defective one. LANDLORDS' PROPOSAL SIGNI-

> But I point to this matter as proof of what I say, that the Land greatest of all obstacles from path of Home Rule, so much so that we find the Irish Protestant landlords now getting together and instead of opposing Home Rule, actually proposing a scheme of Home Rule of their own. (Applause.)

Now, what are the other obstacles. teen years' time from now landlord- in the way of Home Rule? What ism will have absolutely ceased to were the other obstacles? There was exist in Ireland, and therefore I am the old, old, calumny that we were unable to govern ourselves. Apparance in the settlement of the Irish ently we could govern every other nation. (Applause.)

> CAPACITY OF IRISHMEN FOR GOVERNMENT.

I was told a story in the United States which was new to me, possibly it may be a chestnut to you. An American politician-a purely Yankee over for the pleasure or the honor. politician—was going on a holiday. I came here on a matter of business. and he selected Ireland, and his I came here not for my own plea- friend said, "Why go to Ireland?" sure or to receive your plaudits, but and he said, "I want to find out the I came here in fulfillment of a duty, only place in the world where the an honorable duty, but I can assure Irish people do not govern." (Laughyou and I can say with feeling after ter.) The only calumny that we were unable to govern ourselves has States, a very onerous duty. I have been by reason of recent events, abcome here to ask for assistance to solutely exploded. What do I mean? enable us in the immediate future to You are aware that the local affairs, win Home Rule for Ireland. (Ap- that is the affairs of the parish and county and municipality were, until quite recently, governed in Ireland by nominating boards. They were called grand juries. These grand juries were nominated by the sheriff tion of national self-government for and the sheriff was nominated by the Ireland was never as great as it is Lord Lieutenant, and these boards

The Delightful Touch Imparted by the Illimitable Repeating Action has made them Popular in Musical Institutions, among which Moulton College Toronto and Hamilton Conservatory of Music use them exclusively:-Send for Descrip tive Catalogue No. 64. (free)

Qualities That

Musicians

Desire

FACTORIES, GUELPH

TORONTO WAREROOM *******************************

JOHN E. REDMOND, M.P.

this land

LEGISLATION AGAINST THE SYATEM.

had set up in Ireland was an absurd periment in the direction of purchase.

TAKE NOTICE

We don't mean to tell you that w vices to do the same for you.

The Office Specialty

Mfg Co. Limited

55 Yonge Street

Factories Newmarket. New city premises 97-103 Wellington West.

Write us. We can help you.

Now, at first, we were denounced as communists for making such suggestions, but after a while English statesmen began to recognize that the system of dual ownership which they and illogical system and they tried, however timidly they tried, an ex-They passed a measure providing twenty-five million dollars for the purpose of trying the experiment whether it would be sufficient to lend the money at a low rate of interest to the tenants to enable them to buy their farms from the landlords. Well, the experiemnt was successful and then they went a step further and provided fifty millions for the same purpose. That also was successful.

ers probably are not, and it may be said in explanation in one or two sentences. Let me take the case of a farmer whose rent was one hun-plause.) dred dollars per year when we commenced our agitation. By means of the Land Act of 1881 we reduced that rent from $100 to $60 a year and now we come along with the purchase scheme by which the state provides the whole of the purchase money and the tenant repays that purchase money by annual instalments extending over 684 years, at the end of which time all the inter-***********

purchase really means

Some of you, I am sure, are, but oth-

Well, now, suppose every reasonable man will admit that that measure was a great and signal triumph know your business as well as you do yourselves, but we do mean to say, and most emphatically, too, that if your business is decreasing or stationery we can make it INOREASE. Doing it for others every day isn't it reasonable to expect our Office Labor-Saving devices to do the same for from for our movement. It came into op-eration on the 1st of November. Up landlordism will have ceased existing in Ireland absolutely. Now this act has many critics. It has many defects. God knows it would be a miracle if an act of parliament for reland passed by an alien ignorant parliament in England had no defects. (Applause) I know of no more pow-erful argument for Home Rule than the defects of this Land Act, because here was a case in which all the Eng-lish parties, Liberals and Conserva-TORONTO tives alike, joined in their desire to pass a satisfactory bill. They all declared unanimously that they wanted to settle the land question by

Ye Olde Firms of Heintz-man & Oc.

 fano Salon : 115-117 King St. W., Toron

FURRIERS Fur time is close at hand. Write to us for our new Catalogue if you intend to mail. Call at the big Showrooms.

purchase by

THE RUNAWAY

Folks would surely think she was key was under the kitchen door mat, the fire was out in the stove, and the cat locked in the barn.

She held her work-hardened hand to her side, panting a little, for it was a good bit of a walk across the meadow, and she was eighty years old on her last birthday. The cows feeding looked homelike and pleasant.

"Good-bye, critters," she said, aloud; "meny's the time I've druy ye home an' milked ve, an' I allus let ye eat by the way, nor never hurried ye as the boys done.

With a farewell glance she went on again, smoothing as she walked the scattered locks of gray hair falling under the hood, and keeping her scant black gown out of the reach of bri-Across another field, then through a leafy lane where the woods were hauled in winter, then out through a gap in a stump fence, with its great branching arms like a petrified octopus, to the dusty high

Not a soul in sight in the coming twilight. John and the children and unhappy, would not be home for an little figure, followed by an odd sha- help. by the tiny stones that rolled so see if a pursuer were coming.

"They's put me in the asylum stopped, and the passenger was taken purse; there was so little money in sometimes faltened, and the heads had room is so bare and white!"

aboard. He noticed she was a it, too, every cent made a big hole grown gray with care; but bit by A sudden thought came to

"How fur?" he asked Bastin.

"Git there in the morning," he buttoning his worn overcoat. said, kindly, waiting for the money, as she opened a queer little reticule, where, under her knitting, wrapped in a clean cotton handkerchief, was her purse with her savings of long years-the little sums Sam had sent her when he first began to prosper an the West, and some money she had picking.

At a cross road, as they went swiftly on, she saw the old sorrel She drew back with a little cry, pocket. fearing he might see her and stop that could not be, and the old horse ye?" joggled into the woods, and John never thought his old Aunt Hannah, his charge for twenty long years, was

"It's a long journey for an old lady like you," he said. "But I'm peart of my age," said, anxiously; "I never hed a day's sickness since I was a gal." 'Going all the way alone?"

"Thy works are marvellous," she her, "and I'll look after you as well er's house, Miss Johnson," murmured often, sitting with her as I can." hands folded, and few idle days "I won't had sat and rested so long.

the memory of our dead mother, as outward bound. for tired women and talked to the looking sharply from right to left. men of farming and crops, or told He had left Denver on the express to the children stories; but never a meet this train. word she said of herself, not one.

On again, guided by kindly hands figure. through the great bewildering city brave spirit began to fail a little. streaming down the wrinkled face.

ther, "so big I feel e'enmost lost in fit, but," hopefully, "across them deserts like this long ago Providence seerts like this long ago Providence seert a star to guide them wise men of the East, an' I hain't lost my write, for you had a stroke and was lone. I'm in the ''."

In lavel work, where wet and cold combined, are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular hot want to take it.

"No, no, dear, no!" choked the lady, huskily. "I am sure of what I say."

I say."

And Keziah law back in her chair of the injured or administered to the latter work, where wet and cold combined, are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular hot want to take it.

"No, no, dear, no!" choked the pains cannot but ensue. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Cil, when applied to the injured or administered to the latter work, where wet and cold combined, are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular hot want to take it.

"You re telling me the truth!—you're not playing with me!"

"No, no, dear, no!" choked the lady, huskily. "I am sure of what I say."

I say."

And Keziah law back in her chair of the injured or administered to the injured or administered to the latter work, where wet and cold combined, are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular hot want to take it.

"You re telling me the truth!—you're not playing with me!"

"No, no, dear, no!" choked the lady, huskily. "I am sure of what I say."

And Keziah law back in her chair.

"And Keziah law back in her chair."

But as the day wore on, and still sent you money. It's hard for a the long, monotonous land showed no human habitation, no oasis of green, lain."

here that little kindness of yours to her eyes dimmed, something like "We wun't, Sam," she said gently, a sob rose under the black kerchief "but just forgit; and I wouldn't be a "Here's the then she grew communicative, for she was always a chatty old lady, "Would they put her in the asy-lum," she wondered, "if they caught to tell the story of her weary years of waiting to a kindly listener."

She told him all the relations she Folks would surely think she was crazy. She stopped at the stope wall to rest, and looked back timorously at the old familiar scene.

Far behind her stretched the meadows, a symphony of olive and green in the late fall. Here and there the sunken boulder stood soldiery to the standard ways 'adventurous, and for ten years sunken boulder stood soldiery to the standard ways 'adventurous, and for ten years ways 'adventurous, and for ten years sunken boulder stood soldiery to the standard ways 'adventurous, and for ten years sunken boulder stood soldiery to the standard ways 'adventurous, and for ten years sunken boulder stood soldiery to the standard ware two grand-nephews and their families. That twenty years ago Sam (for she hade brought them girl's eyes.

"It—it's she circled him all the relations she had were two grand-nephews and their families. That twenty years ago Sam (for she hade brought them girl's eyes."

"It—it's she circled him all the relations she had were two grand-nephews and their families. That twenty years ago Sam (for she hade brought them girl's eyes."

"It—it's she circled him all the relations she had were two grand-nephews and their families. That twenty years ago Sam (for she hade brought them girl's eyes."

"It—it's she circled him all the relations she had were two grand-nephews and their families. That twenty years ago Sam (for she hade brought them girl's eyes." sunken boulder stood soldiery to the golden rod, or berry bushes clothed now in scarlet and gold. At intervals in the long slope stood solitary trees, where fluttering, brittle leaves fell in the gentle chill air. In summer time she remembered well the haymakers rested in the shade, and the jug with ginger water she made for the men was kept there to be cool.

She seemed as she sat there to remember everything. The house was all right, she was sure of that, the key was under the kitchen door mat, sunken boulder stood soldiery to the she did not hear from him; but John

"I growed so lonesome," she said, pathetically, "it seems I couldn't take up heart to live day by day, an' yit I knowed our folks was long lived. Ten years back, when Sam wrote he was doin' fair an' sent me money, I began to think of him; for he was allus generous an' kind, an' the greatfulest boy, an' so I began to save to go to him, fur I knowed I could work for my board for a good many years to come. Fur three years he ain't hardly wrote, but I laid that to the wild kentry he lived Is this you could talk so. in. I said bears and Injuns don't skeer me none, fur when I was a gal up in Arostuk kentry there was plen-ty of both, an' as fur buffalers, them horned cattle don't skeer me none, fur I've been used to a farm allus. But the lonesomness of these medders hav sorter upsot me and made me think every day Sam was further off than I ever calc'lated on."

"But what will you do if Sam ain't in Denver?" asked the farmer.

"I hev put my faith in Providence" she answered simply, and the stranthe scolding wife, who made her so ger could not mar that trust by any hour yet, for East Mills was a long off at the Nebraska line, and told Down the steep hill went the brave her to send him word if she needed little figure, followed by an odd sha-dow of itself in the waning light, and parted from her to join the phanby the tiny stones that rolled so toms in her memory of 'folks that swiftly they passed her often and had been kind to her, God bless made her look behind with a start to them," and then the train was rumbling on.

But many of the passengers had lissure," she muttered, wildly, as she tened to her story and were interest-trudged along. At the foot of the ed, and they came to sit with her.

At last the dull rumble sounded, a shrill whistle, and she hurried to the strack, waving her shawl to signal. This, in the conductor's vernacular, was a cross-road station, where he was used to watch for people waving articles frantically. The train is thoughtful act. and she thoughtful act. and she worked and this, however, had been the slender resources at this, however, had been the slender resources. Miss Barrington was silent. She wished and worked and willing heads had worked and willing heads had worked and willing heads had been turned, old clothes had been turned, old clothes had been made to serve double duty, and Paul had been kept at home to help. The hands had fingers, Miss Barrington, and this without seeing the glant. The train He thought of her and took out his at home to help.

aboard. He noticed she was a it, too, every cent made a big noise grown gray with care, but the money was raised and Ke Barrington. bright-eyed old lady, very neat and in his store; but the consciousness bit the money was raised and Ke Barrington. Why don o do many more," thought the lad, > station and sent a telegram to Den-"To Samuel Plair"-for he had caught the name from her talk-"Your Aunt Hannah Blair is on the W. and

W. train coming to you." It was only a straw, but a kindly earned herself by knitting and berry wind might blow it to the right one after all. When he was sitting there after his swiftly on, she saw the old sorrel message had gone on its way, she horse, the rattling wagon, and John leaned over and handed him a pepwith his family, driving homeward, permint drop from a package in her your busy fingers the cause of it all?" rugs? I guess, Miss Barrington, my ly receive a piano which I am send-

"You don't look strong, dearie," the train, but they went on so fast she said; "ain't ye no folks with

"None on earth." "We're both lone ones," she smiled 'an' how sad it be there ain't no one to fuss over ye. An' be kerful of the in rugs:" Boston a kindly conductor drafts, an' keep flannels allus on bought her a through ticket for Den- your chist; that is good fur the

> she afraid it is too late." Another night of weary slumber in the cramped seats and then the plain said: began to be dotted like villages, and "With Providence," she answered, brightly, alert and eager to help herself, but silent and thoughtful as the train took her into strange land

"Wow that I know where your sixty with reus and prowns and greens, and ter is, Mrs. Johnson, I'm going to keziah's eyes grew luminous. A new call on her some day. She isn't far out from the city."

"Now that I know where your sixty with reus and prowns and greens, and ter is, Mrs. Johnson, I'm going to keziah's eyes grew luminous. A new call on her some day. She isn't far dower-pots and dogs' heads of the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the period days—was furnished, and original design—quite unlike the flower-pots and dogs' heads of the flower-pots and dog scape where the miles went so swift- shining, as the train ran shricking in-Ty it seemed like the past years of to the labyrinth of its destination.

There life as she looked back on them. "This is Denver," said the lad to

"I won't be no burden," she said, had there been in her world where she brightly. "I've twenty dollars yet, an' that's a sight of money.'

In the day coach the people were The train halted to let the eastkind and generous, sharing their bas- ward-bound express pass, there was kets with her and seeing she changed an air of excitement in the car, poscars right and her carpet-bag was sengers getting ready to depart, gasafe. She was like any of the dear thering up luggage and wraps, and old grandmas in Eastern homes; or some watching the newcomers and to the grizzled men and women, like the rows of strange faces on the faint and as far away as the scent of The door of the car slammed sudwild roses in a hillside country denly, and a big bearded man with burying-ground. She tended babies eager blue eyes came down the aisle, His glance fell on the tiny black

"Why, Aunt Hannah!" he sried. by the lake and now through yet with a break in his voice; and she a stranger land. Tired and worn by -she put out her trembling hands wight in the uncomfortable seats, her and fell into the big arms, tears on the bowed shoulders, and the spectacles were taken off with trembling and and put away carefully in the worn tin case.

"Be ve goin' fur, mother?" said the spectacles will be a bid farmer.

"Be ve goin' fur, mother?" said the spectacles were taken off with trembling and put away carefully in the worn tin case.

"Here's the depot, Aunt Mannah, and you won't see 'bars and injuns, nor the buffaloes; sunniest city you ever set your dear eyes on."

He picked up the carpet-bag, faded and old-fashioned, not a bit asham-There are so few dear old aunts in this country, they're prized, I tell vou. Why, it's as good as a royal coat-of-arms to have a dear, hand-inght interest her.

KEZIAH

"But, mother, dear, you actually need a new gown." "Yes, Ia know, but-there's Aunt Keziah, Eunice; it's nearly time to send money to her again." A rebellious light flamed into

"It-it's always Aunt Keziah!"

"Eunice!" "I can't help it, mother. It-it seems as if I just couldn't bear it!

"I know, mother, dear, and I'm sorry—I said I was, but can't you see what I mean? If she'd only appretiate things and be sorry, or—on anything, I wouldn't mind so much. But here, month after month and year after year, we've been pinching 'and slaving and giving up and giving up. It seems as if all the money we could scrape together went into a great big bottomless well, and—"

Is this my Eunice?-my loving, kindhearted daughter?"

Eunice burst into tears and flung her arms around her mother's neck. "No-no-! I'm cross and ugly and I know it. But when I see your poor tired face and your made-over gowns, and father's old clothes, and Paul eating his heart out to go to college, and Jennie longing for a work, I fancy, Miss Johnson. piano and lessons and -and everything, it seems as if I couldn't bear

Mrs. Johnson sighed, and the lines around her mouth deepened.

they'll bring in a lot!" It was ten years ago that Caleb ed the dark green my lameness; it's Johnson had first undertaken the entire support of his invalid sister, Keziah. Keziah Johnson was not only crippled, but was afflicted with a mysterious nervous trouble, togetened to her story and were interest- ther with "complications," all of

of a good deed was worth something. "I mayn't have the chance All that long summer many boardodo many more," thought the lad, ers came to the neat, white farmstrong enough?" odo many more," thought the lad, ers came to the neat, white farmbouttoning his worn overcoat.

He slipped off without a word at a Barrington that quite won the hearts station and sent a telegram to Denof the Johnson family. It was she station and sent a telegram to Denof the Johnson family. It was she that wonderful light shone in her eyes; but the light quickly fied, and the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querulthat loaned books to Paul, and took the lips settled into the old querul-Jennie for walks; she that taught ous lines. and collars from bits of lace and

"'Twas Keziah, mostly-Mr. John-on's youngest sister," returned the "Not a bit of it!" laughed the

"You are very kind to take an integration was not told outright she terest in me," he smiled; "but I am quickly divined—the pinching, slaving afraid it is too late."

West on the day she day she wonderful and—splendid? Lovingly, Keziah."—Eleanor, H. Porter, in the day she developed.

"Now that I know where your sist with reds and browns and greens, and Johnson received, early in Septem- Miss Barrington's artistic direction nice and suave as he could be, called ber, a visitor.

"I've just come from your broth-from them. a keen glance that encompassed every delight.

a keen glance that encompassed every delight.

"Oh, it is pretty—isn't it?" she think I can succeed in taking her lovely face to perfection." "The folks are well, I suppose? — whispered, almost reverently. they generally are. Nothing ever ails It was then that Miss Bar

"Why, yes, they seemed well," she

"Hm-m! I thought so. Ella's as strong as a horse." "Mrs. Johnson has been working very hard this summer," began Miss rington, almost frightened at the Barrington, with quick aggressive strange look in the cripple's eyes. Likes it, too!" "Yes, but-" helpless, and I have written often and business. Give you something light? seemed to lift the weight of years.

"Justice!" snapped Keziah; "justice! my dear woman, there isn't any justice to it—she can walk, and go where she wants to." You are a little mistaken there, returned Miss Barrington, gravely "To my certain knowledge, Mrs Johnson wanted very much to come to New York for a few weeks change but she couldn't come.' "Hm-m-why not?'-the sick wo-man's bead-like eyes wavered under the steady gaze bent upon them. "She did not have the money, Miss ohnson. There-I thought as much! You meant that for a little hit on me; but it don't touch me at all. know I cost 'em some money, but they're able to earn it, aren't they? See—it's like this," she continued, indicating with her unger two imaginary points in her lap.

They walk. I sit. They're well, I'm sick. They can work, I can't.

They earn money. I spend it. Miss Barrington laughed in spite of the quick words of remonstrance that rose to her lips and clamored to be heard. She looked at the thin, drawn face and nervous fingers of the woman before her in silence for a moment; when she spoke, it was with a curiously abrupt change of subject. "I saw some of your handiwork said, with a bright smile. The invalid's face underwent an entire charge.

"Rugs?"-did you see my rugs?" she asked, eagerly.

this summer, Miss Johnson,"

Yes, and I was much interested in them. "Did you see the one with the roses and the flower-pot in the middle, and the one with a dog's head and-Miss Barrington, did you see the one-the little one with my name in the corner?" "Yes-all of them. You liked the "Liked it! Seems as though could feel the hook in my hands now and see the thing grow under my fingers!" The sick woman lay back in her chair and looked dreamily out "Yes, dearie, I know; I understand.

Paul and Jennie—I, too, wish that they—but never mind; perhaps it'll all come in good time. You know into that rug. Funny, wasn't it? But I was just beginning to be lame they'll bring in a lot!"

and I was kinder worrying. I call--there were pinks and blues in the terring, then. There's white there, and trudged along. At the foot of the fail she sat down upon an old log and waited for the train.

Across the road, guarded by a big sign, "Look out for the engine," ran two parallel iron rails, which were two parallel iron rails, which were to be her road when the big monster should come panting around the curve.

At last the dull rumble sounded a log tridle to her story and were interest—the there in the story and were interest—the there with "complications," all of which rendered her a misery to here of which rendered her a misery to here which rendered her a misery to here which rendered her a misery to here of which rendered her a misery to here of which rendered her a misery to here some bright red, too. It looks sort of which rendered her a misery to here some bright red, too. It looks sort of which rendered her a misery to here some bright red, too. It looks sort of which rendered her a misery to here some bright red, too. It looks sort of which rendered her a misery to here.

For eight years now Keziah had been in a Home for Incurables, where she was given every comfort and attention, as well as the very best of medical care. The necessary expense of all this, however, had been in a Home for Incurables, where she was given every comfort and attention, as well as the very best of medical care. The necessary expense of all this, however, had been in a Home for Incurables, where she was given every comfort and attention, as well as the very best of medical care. The necessary expense of all this, however, had been in a Home for Incurables, where she was given every comfort and attention, as well as the very best of medical care. The necessary expense of all this, however, had been in a Home for Incurables, where the course of the medical care. The necessary expense of all this, however, had been in a Home for Incurables, where the c

Eunice how to fashion dainty stocks | "Dear, dear, I'm strong enough most days," she acknowledged, wearscheme; but I can't tell it—yet." ribbon, and it was she that talked ily, "and the doctor has asked me with the tired mother when the work over and over again if there wasn't was done at night, putting new hope something I could do to take up my one day she said: "Mrs. Johnson, any pieces—and who do you suppose mind. But how could I? I haven't tents of which threw the entire Johnyou've a regular treasure-house of old is going to fetch their old clothes der. It read: rugs here; did you know it? Were way here for me to make up into .

the household; and what Miss Bar- Keziah's longing eyes and quaint fan-economy. It was on the day she New, all-wool material was dyed was to return to New York that she in the rich Oriental tones and brought to Keziah. The room glowed dully Keziah went to work.

her in all its finished beauty, she mother and said:

It was then that Miss Barrington told her that out in the world such time. Soon the photographer sum-Miss Barrington caught her breath. rugs were valuable now—that rich moned her back and exhibited a women would pay good prices for highly satisfactory negative. When "Buy my rug? Pay money to me?" cried Keziah. "Yes, gladly," returned Miss Bar-

"Well—she's able to, isn't she? buy that?" "I think so." "Miss Barrington"-Keziah's long,

"Look a' here, just suppose she had to stay propped up in this chair — suppose she had!"

"Yes, but—"
thin fingers closed over her friend's hand convulsively—"do you mean that I can do something in the world—that I can be something—that I can be

Before a week had passed the rug blighting words have been spoken, All the reference I want is was sold for a sum that to Keziah which send the hot, indignant blood that little kindness of yours to seemed fabulously large. With shin- to the face and head, if those to ing eyes and trembling fingers she whom they are addressed keep silent, started a new one, then another, and look on with awe, for a mighty work vet another. Time passed, and Miss is going on within them then. Dur-Barrington brought orders to her for ing the pause they have made a step

30 DAYS September

+ 1904 + S. Elizabeth of Portugal. S. Stephen, King. S. Philomena, Fifteenth Sunday after Pentecost Rose of Viterbo. Vesper Hymn, M. T. W. T. F. S. S. Laurence Justinian. SS. Cyril and Methodius. S. Hadrian III., Pope. Nativity of the B. V. Mary. S. Sergius I., Pope. S. Hilary, Pope Sixteenth Sunday after Pentecost Most Holy Name of Mary. M. T. W. T. F. S. 12 8. Augustine. Of the octave of the Nativity. 13 Exaltation of the Holy Cross.
Octave of the Nativity of the B. V. Mary. 15 16 SS. Cornelius and Cyprian. Stigmata of St. Francis. Seventeenth Sunday after Pentecost Seven Dolours of the B. V. Mary. Vesper Hymn, "O quot 18 Su. undis lacrimarum.' M. T. W. T. F. S. 19 SS. Januarius and Companions. S. Agapitus, Pope.
Ember Day. Fast. S. Matthew, Apostle.
S. Thomas of Villanova.
Ember Day. Fast. S. Linus.
Ember Day. Fast. B. V. Mary de Mercede. 21 22 23 24 Eighteenth Sunday, after Pentecost S. Eustace and Companions. Vesper Hymn, "Deus S. Eusebius. [tuorum militum." 25 26 Su. T. W. T. F. Eusebius. SS. Cosmas and Damian. 27 Michael. 30

Complete Plants Installed. Satisfactory results guaranteed.

McDonald & Willson

and the "complications came to be feyer and fewer as Keziah's heart grew lighter and her eyes grew brigh-It was in the early winter that she said to Miss Barrington: "I want to send a Christmas box to my brother's familyl' Could you manage it-select the things for me, I mean?

"Of course I could. That will be delightful, I'm sure.' "I'll put in books and candy, and a new gown for Ella. Poor Ella shut up in that farm-house-she don't

"Er-no-she doesn't," murmured Miss Barrington, with a sidelong

"Do you know," continued Keziah, without seeing the glance, "when we were girls, Ella used to like to make A sudden thought came to Miss rugs most as well as I did. I was A sudden thought.

Barrington.

"Why don't you make rugs now?" believe she got much chance nowable cried. "Could you?—are you strong enough?" and the could be th them know where it comes from. anything abiut my rug-making.

It was spring before Keziah's "scheme" was divulged. Then Caleb Johnson received a letter, the conson family into a state of dazed won-

"My Dear Brother,-You will shortson's youngest sister," returned the woman, quick pride in her voice. other, cheerily. "Just you wait and good many years now that you've keziah was a master hand for rugs, see!" And with that she went ing, with my love, to Jennie. I hope Miss Barrington, and—poor child—it was the only thing I ever knew that she really loved to det to hook lovely netterns and crude colors of In time Miss Barrington came to know all about the invalid charge of ton saw latent possibilities which and pay me lots of money. Isn't it the child all the sweet, endearing Once more the many-hued strands names he could think of, while using be- slipped through Keziah's eager fing- every device of gentle persuasion to gan Miss Barrington, pleasantly. "I ers, and when the rug—soft as silk thought perhaps you'd like to hear and with a velvety sheen—lay before Finally he turned to the despairing

Persuasive

"Hm-m!" commented Keziah, with drew in her breath with a gasp of "Madam, if you will leave your

The mother withdrew for a short they reached home the mother asked: "Nellie, what did that nice gentleman sav to you when I left you alone with him?"

"Well, he said," lisped Nellie, 'If you don't thit sthill, you ugly, squint-eyed monkey, I'll thake the life out of your trembling carcath.' Then I that very sthill, mamma!"-Baltimore Sun.

A Liniment for the Logger.-Loggers lead a life which exposes them Wounds, cuts and As the wide, level plains, lonely and drear, dawned on her sight she sighed often.

"It's a dre'ful big world," she said down beside her and with gentle

"Your sister is very sorry for you, that I can be something—that I c

When some of those cutting, sharp,

Educational

St. Michael's

IN APPILIATION WITE College

Inder the special patronage of His Gr Archbishop of Toronto, and directed Basilian Fathers Full Classical, Scientific and Commercial Courses

Special courses for students preparing or University Matriculation and Non-

Professional Certificates. TERMS, WHEN PAID IN ADVANCE : uition, per year...... Day Pupils..... 30

For further particulars apply to oretto Abbey...

REV. J. R. TEEFY, President.

WELLINGTON PLACE, TORON 10, ONT to study.

The course of instruction comprises every brasultable to the education of young ladies.

Circular with full information as to uniforms, &c., may be had by addressing

LADY SUPERIOR.

School of Practical Science TORONTO

The Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering of the University of Toronto.

Departments of Instruction. I-Civil Engineering, 2-Mining Engineering 3-Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. 4-Architecture. 5-Analytical and Applied Chemistry.

Laboratories. 2-Chemical. 2-Assaying. 3-Milling. 4-Steam. 5-Metrological. 6-Electrical. 7-Testing. Calendar with full information may be had on application. A. T. LAING, Registrar.

The Course of Instruction in this Academy Every Branch Suitable to the Education of You

Every Branch Suitable to the Education of Young Ladies
In the Academy Embraces
In the Academy Department special attention in paid to Moders Languages, FINE ARTS, FLAIR and FARCT NEEDLEWORK.

Pupils on completing the Musical Courses and passing a Successful Examination, conducted by professing a Successful Examination, conducted by professors, are awarded Teachers' Certificate and Diplomas.
In this Department put ils are prepared for the Degree of Bachelor of Music of Tolonto University.

The Studic is sfilliated with the Government Art School and awards Teachers' Certificates.

In the Collineary Department pupils are prepared for the University, also for Senior and Junior Leaving, Prinary and Commercial Certificates.

Diplomas awarded for proficiency '1 Phonography as, Typewriting. For Prospectur address.

MOTHER SUPERIOR

A Requisite for the Rancher .- On the cattle ranges of the West, where men and stock are far from doctors and apothecaries, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is kept on hand by the intelligent as a ready-made medicine, not only for many human illa, but as a horse and cattle medicine of surpassing merit. A horse and cattle rancher will find matters great-ly simplified by using this Oil.

Church Music in England and and put away carefully in the "Work, indeed! don't I owe you write has longed for you to come."

He pad brought her a cup of collect the hast station and had pointed ut on the way dings he thought interest her.

The hast station and had pointed ut on the way dings he thought interest her.

The hast pointed will be bound. The patron of the bullaloes; sunniest city you special designs and shapes. Creats and coats of arms were executed upon hall rugs, and charming jewel effects were introduced into the borner of pointers.

The hast station and had pointed with the last station and had pointed in the last station and had pointed with the last station and had pointed with the last station and had pointed in the last station and had pointed with the picked up the carpet-hag, faded and old-fashioned, not a bit asham had color, and the last with the with the day of the picked up the pause they have made as tem towards heaven or hell, and an item then. During the pause they have made as tem towards heaven or hell, and not a bit asham and color, and the last with the will remembe they have said the picked up the pause step towards heaven or hell, and on the last station and state of the picked up the picked up the pi

Children's Corner @ @

A LETTER FROM A CAT. Dear Editor: I hereby take My pen in paw to say, Can you explain a curious thing I found the other day?

There is another little cat-Who sits behind a frame And looks so very much like me You'd think we were the same,
I try to make her lay with me,
Yet when I mew and call, Though I see her mew in answer, She makes no sound at all. And to the dullest kitten It's plain enough to see

That either I am mocking her Or she is mocking me. It makes no difference what I play, She seems to know the game, For every time I look around I see her do the same.

And yet no matter though I creep On tiptoe lest she hear, Or quickly dash behind the frame, She's sure to disappear.

Oliver Herford.

DEEP LATIN.

Strange meanings are to be extracted from words. The most re-markable are sometimes the result to manufacture it. A teacher tells, in the Brooklyn "Eagle," this story of "drawing out" the power dormant in the pupil's mind:

He was explaining to a farmer lad who was studying Latin, and had been called on to recite, the fact that a preposition often intensifies the meaning of a verb. "Take cavo, for instance," he said.

"It means to hollow out. Now what will a proposition do to it?" "Intensify it, sir." "That's right. Now what would excavo mean?" "To holler out louder."

SLIGHTLY MIXED.

An angry woman walked into a grocer's shop in an Ayrshire village and banged a piece of yellow substance on

"This," she said, "is the soap that does the washin o' itself; the soap that makes every washin' day a kin glorified feast; the soap that gets the linen white as snaw an as sweet as a hazlenut, and lets the delichted hoosewife play wi' the chil-dren; and here I've been scrubbin' three mortal hours wi' that lump an' got nae mair lather oot o' it than could get oot o' a brick.'

"I beg your pardon," said the gro-cer, calmly, "but that isn't soap. Your little boy was here yesterday life."—The Companion. for half a pound of cheese and half a pound of soap. That's the cheese."
"The cheese!" exclaimed the wo-"Then that accounts for the

"What other thing?" "I lay awauke the hale nicht winnerin' whit made the Welsh rabbit we had for oor supper taste sae queer.

ONE POOR BOY'S RISE.

He sometimes, but not often, spoke to me of his life as a boy. I remember in 1890, says a writer in "Scribner's." when we were staying in Cincinnati together, his asking me one afternoon to go for a walk with him. He took me through obscure back streets and down dirty alleys until we reached a wharf on the banks of the Ohio river. He stopped at the bottom of the street, which ran steeply down to the river, and pointed out a lad who was rolling a large cask of tallow from cellar down to the wharf. He said: "I have brought you here because I wanted to burban line to another. show you this place. It was in this street that I worked as a boy. I was doing exactly the same work as that lad, and, if I mistake not, of where he wishes to alight. that is the same cellar in which I worked." Who was "he," this man who had rolled tallow casks on a Cincinnati wharf? He was Sir Henry Stanley, the famous African explorer.

AN ENCOURAGING CASE.

Conan Doyle, on being asked why he gave up the practice of medicine, replied that it was too hard work, and related a story which is transcribed in the New York "Tribune." The doctor's first call took place on a cold January midnight.

The jangle of the door bell woke me from a sound sleep, and shivering and yawning, I put my head out of the window and said: "Who's there?"

"Doctor," said a voice, "can you come to Peter Smith's house at once? His youngest girl has took a dose of laudanum by mistake for paregoric and we're afraid she'll die."
"All right; I'll come," I said.
I dressed and tramped three miles through the cold and wet to Smith's. Twice on the way I fell on the icy pavement, and once my hat blew off and I was half an hour finding it. Finally I reached Smith's. The house was dark-shutters all closednot a light. I rang the bell. No answer: At last a head stuck itself gingerly out of the window in the

"Be you Doctor Doyle?" it said.
"Yes; let me in."

"Oh, no need to come in, doctor, said the head. "Child's all righ "Child's all right. Sleeping quiet."
"But how much laudanum did you

"Only two drops, doctor. Not enough to hurt a cat. Guess I better take my head in now. Night air is Sorry to have troubled you. I buttoned up my coat and turned homeward, trying to stifle my anger Suddenly the window was raised Suddenly the window was ra again, and the same voice cried:

"Doctor! I say, doctor!"
I hurried back. Perhaps the chil had taken a turn for the worse. "Well, what do you want?" I said. The voice made answer: "Ye won't charge nothing for this visit, will

JUST AS UGLY.

She is a woman's college sophomore and was returning from a visit to New Haven and transferring by street car from the station in She took the only available York. She took the only available seat in the car and just opposite two young men. Suddenly there entered a ladylike, plainly-gowned girl. "Why don't you offer her your place?" said the first man, nudging his companion. "She is too ugly," responded the other in a low voice, but the wind carried the remark to the sophomore and she looked up quickly to see if it hence the first man and she looked up quickly to see if it hence the man and call them by name without hem by name without hem by name without he without he without he without he summer comes—and Clement!—

To the hav-loft and to me!

—Guy Wetmore Carryl.

The gold of grace does not come from the greed of gold.

Perception — The happy faculty which enables one intuitively to say and do the right thing at the right time.

The gold of grace does not come from the greed of gold.

Perception — The happy faculty which enables one intuitively to say and do the right thing at the right time.

The gold of grace does not come from the greed of gold.

Perception — The happy faculty which enables one intuitively to say and do the right thing at the right time.

had reached the other girl. Apparently it had not. That young person was clinging to a strap in total unconsciousness that she was a subject for unlayorable criticism.

At the next corner a festive maiden concealed. It was a little hemisphere elaborately costumed, entered, and the first man bounded from his seat, which the newcomer graciously active hollow just below the edge of the slightly overhanging bank.

car. She surveyed him coldly.

"Thank you, no," she said in a clear voice; "I am still just as ugly as I was a few minutes ago." And the Baltimore girl longed to embrace her and give the college yell at the top of her youthful lungs. — Baltimore Sun.

A FORTUNATE MISFORTUNE.

Miss Sparhawk was nearly 75, but was a great shock to Cedarville to hear that she had been suddenly takhowever, she rallied, and before long was entirely herself again. Her brother explained the situation to one of the summer residents.

"You see," he said, thoughtfully, "Lucindy is one o' those that thrive on trouble, and all her life, till about four months ago, she's had a stock in hand. Left with five younger children at the age o' thutteen, an' a crippled father, mortgaged of desperation. If a boy "can't farm, epidemics o' measles, scarlet think" of his answer, he is likely fever and smallpox; and one fitty boy fever and smallpox; and one fitty boy —lived to be most 60, and had 'em frequent.

"When the girls married that startcaught in a mowing-machine, and the other had spells when he'd wander off; both girls lived at home. the years went on, everybody falling right on to Lucindy, and she h'isting the whole lot over hard places, and keeping a stiddy head on her shoulders the enduring time. But last spring everything got straightened how 'twas, but I couldn't do a thing -even my rheumatics held off. It went on from bad to worse; got so she lost all her stren'th and took to her bed.

"But when the doctor's begun to shake his head and thought the end was near, help came from Sister Their disappearance was like a bit Jane over at Scarboro. Her young- of hird magic. est has got a slight plumanory affection of one lung, and they thought a summer at the farm with Lucindy's conspicuous in the green grass, and nursing would cure her up. Soon as the letter was read out Lucindv asked for her shoes and stockings, and

A CLEVER BLIND MAN.

James Nicholas, a successful busistreet or a business house in the city, writes a Nebraska correspondent of the "Sun." He is a mine broker. Six years ago he lost his sight while working in a mine at Lead, S. He has been a miner all his life, and as soon as he recovered so that he could go about he took up the business of buying and selling mines. Here are some of the things this man -he is 50-had educated himself to

He can make his way about the city and go to any house number on any street at any time of the day or night. It is all night to him, but he requires no aid in going about. He can pick out the street car he wishes to take by its peculiar sound, which he calls its echo. The only time he has been deceived in recent months was when the company changed one of its big cars from one su-He always travels on what is known as the cemetery line, and can tell when his car is within fifty feet car has been run fast and slow at times in the attempt to deceive him, but in vain.

He can pick out the store or office he wishes to enter and rarely misses before.

He rarely misses the street cross-He carries a thin metal cane says he can tell by the sound when he has reached the crosswalk. He can tell men whom he knows well by the sound of their footsteps Last year this man made $3,000, and he says he will increase that clean-up this year.

"When I got out of bed after ten months spent there after my accident," he said, "I worked out my own methods before I tried to about. Some blind men have dogs to lead them, and others go stooped over, feeling along with a cane for a clear path. That doesn't do for

"I early learned that the world was full of echoes. My task was to dis-tinguish them and then catalogue them. This was a big feat of memorv, but I have accomplished it.

"When I first came here I lived in a block in the business section. That was my starting place. I first learned the streets about there, until 'I could go a block away and find my way back unaided. Gradually I enlarged my travels, until now I can go anywhere in town alone.

"If you give me the number of any house in town I can find it without any help, simply because I know all of the streets. If I were suddenly put down in some part of the city I believe I could learn to identify it within five minutes simply by sounds about me.

"All of my other senses have become more alert since blindness came but it grows on one so gradually that I have not recognized the growth. I live in a world of sounds, and these I can readily iden-

"The step of a woman or of a boy or a man I can distinguish with ac-curacy. One street corner has a difterent echo from another, and I need only search my memory to identify "The wife in time learns to tell the footsteps of her husband or her child, but it is rare that any one can be found who can distinguish the footfalls of any number of persons. I can do this with a hundred different friends and call them by name with-

No nest could well have been better which the newcomer graciously accepted. This left the second man at something of a disadvantage. He also rose and proffered the place to the girl who had first entered the car. She surveyed him coldly.

"Thank you, no," she sald in a clear voice; "I am still just as ugly in were three little wide-mouthed in the slightly overhanging bank.

A quantity of coarse red grass from last year hung heard-like from the top of the bank a third of the way down to the water, and made a thick screen directly across the snug little hiding place of the nest. With-little wide-mouthed in were three little wide-mouthed. birds and a bit of mottled egg shell. The discoverer simply said to him-self, "Sparrow's nest," and went his way. Later he took some of his friends to the nest, and they touched the inert nestlings while the parent birds looked on with uneasy cries.

led to the nest and the question was, she had seemed so well and strong which of the many kinds of sparrows until within a few months that it owned the home and its small occupants. One of the girl bird wardens of the region decided in her own mind en ill and might die. Within a week, that it was the nest of a field spar-

> But the excited little parents, who hopped and chirped in uneasy excite-ment on a tree hard by while this ornithological council was in session, lacked the reddish bill which characterizes the field sparrow, and the decision at length was that the and original discoverer had hit 'upon something that few boys find, the

that furnish milk to a good many New Yorkers must often as they feed make just such discoveries as the ed more calamities. One husband got vagrant boy had hit upon; but the vesper sparrow knows well how to hide its nest from human eyes. Perhaps the discoverery this time was owing to the fact that the birds had chosen a somewhat unusual, though what seemed an entirely safe site for their home.

When a curious grown person visitspring everything got straightened ed the pest the day after he had been out; the mortgage was all paid off led (to it by his young friends he was ton years back, the folks that haven't foolish enough to put in his hand and died were all well, and there wasn't take out one of the young. As he a cloud anywhere. Then 'twas that did so the other two little ones, now kell-fledged, fluttered out and hurried his career reeks of printer's ink and along close to the edge of the water, and at the same instant the parents came down from a tree with cries of alarmed protest.

The two nestlings that had escaped were in five minutes as effectually concealed as if they had not existed.

The fact is, that their coloring was such that they must have been into all intents and purposes invisible when the got among the dead grasses of last year. These nestlings only a few days old thus exercised all the inherited cunning of their race, to the complete mystification of a reasoning human being with ordinarilv keen eyes.

To disembarrass himself of an awkness man in Lincoln, has never seen the missing birds, the interloper re- by an admiring constituency. placed the captive nestling in nest. Then, with the parents calling from a tree just overhead, and the hidden nestlings answering from the grass underfoot, he vainly prosecuted his search for ten minutes more, with the hope of reuniting the familv in the deserted nest.

When his balked search was ended he looked into the nest to see how the lone little bird was getting on, and lo! the nest was empty. three little birds were probably within three or four yards of his very feet, but were as effectually beyond his reach as if they had ascended to the clouds or penetrated the earth. Human intelligence was nowhere when pitted against bird instinct.

An hour later the nest was still empty and the parents were yet exchanging signals with the nestlings, the several strange birds which had sympathically looked on while the sparrows outmanoeuvred the blundering human interloper had gone about their business .- New York Sun.

IN THE BARN.

The barn's the bestest place on earth in summer, when it rains; the door, if he has been at the place The drops make kind of corkscrews on the dusty window-panes: Our feet sound loud as anything, walking on the floor, And Clem and we we telephone through knot-holes in the door!

We peep in at the horses, and they always turn around. And chew, and chew, and chew, with such a funny, crunch sound, And their eves are kind as kind can be. I like them that way best, Just without the little shutters that they wear when they are dressed Their clothes are hanging near them, and they're proud of them, perhough they're nothing but suspend ers, buckles, chains and little straps. There's one whose name is Lady, but the rest of them are hims, And they all make snorting noises, just like Clement when he swims!

The hav is warm and prickly, and the dust gets in your nose, And on the beams above you sit the pigeons, all in rows. They are brown, and white, and purple, but vou can't get near to pat Though I think the ought to let vou 'cause they purr just like a cat!

But for sliding, and for hiding, and for snuggling in a nest. it The hav's the hestest thing on earth -and I stumped all the rest! They stumped me to go down the shoot: I wasn't stumped by them; I beat them all at sliding-essepting only, Clera! But though the barn's the bestest place in summer for a game, You find that in the winter it isn't just the same

It isn't that it's lonely and it isn' that it's cool, But Clement's down at Newport, at Mr. Someone's schoo!!

I'll tell you what I've found; What all the buds grow pudkle, and the leaves get big and round, They shut up Mr. Someone's school as quick as quick can be, d summer comes—and Clement!— to the hav-loft and to me!

Then I watch the lilac bushes,

FROM NEWSBOY TO NEWS-MIL-LIONAIRE.

There is Adolph S. Ochs. He is a man worth millions. He began his business career selling newspapers. If ever a man battled with almost insurmountable obstacles to gain his ambition, Adolph Ochs did. It is become a great newspaper proprie-tor. He worked and slaved and schemed with that end in view.

He went up the ladder step by step, tried his fortunes here and his tunes there, experimenting with that paper and this until he managed to The next day another visitor was "Times," This was in 1878, and just eight years after he had started in life as a newsboy. A newspaper proprietor at 20 years of age! It read; like a romance, doesn't it? It is a romance, but a true one, of successful ambition. From this time on Adolph Ochs trod the sunny road of aprosperity. He was daring, clear-headed, resourceful and possessed of a purpose that never faltered. In 1896 he came to New York to take charge of the "Times," and faced a proposition that would have made men tremble. He agreed to increase the circulation of the paper to a certain figure inside of a cer-These birds are plentiful in the pasted, he was to receive 51 per cent.

that furnish milk to a good many succeed. The paper was badly run down, it was in the hands of a receiver, and its circulation did not exceed 20,000 copies. It sold reluc-tantly, at three cents, but Adolph Ochs took a Napoleonic risk and placed it on the streets at a penny. The circulation went up with a throb.

> He now owns and controls the New York Times, the combined Philadel-phia "Ledger and Times," and some Southern newspaper properties. He is a power in the newspaper world his destiny is linked with the printing press. But does his triumphant march teach the theory of success I had formed?

To-day the edition is at the full capacity of the presses.

His career is paralleled in part by those of many others. St. Clair Me-Kelway, editor of the Brooklyn 'Eagle," raised from practically nothing to an honored position in the profession. J. A. Wheelock, editor of the "Pioneer Press," of St. Paul, Minnesota, fought his way to fame and competency. Herman Ridder, the well-known editor of the New York "Staats-Zeitung," created a newspaper published in an alien tongue, and made it one of the metropolitan pillars of journalism. White-law Reid-but everybody knows what he did with the means at his comward charge while he searched for mand and how he has been honored

> What of Joseph Pulitzer? What of this foreign-born American who fought for his adopted country almost before he could speak its language, and then fought his way into the proprietorship of a well-known St. Louis paper—in fact, two of them—before he was 32? When he first came to America he staved at a hotel on the present site of the Pulitzer building, New York city—the home of the "World." Mr. Pulitzer, so Mr. Pulitzer, so oes, was too poor to pay his bill and was ejected. his finger at the proprietor, he said, "I will own this property some

What of Page M. Baker, editor and aroprietor of the New Orleans "Times-Democrat?" What of this successful newspaper man who, reared in the luxury of a wealthy Southern home, went to work at 17 because of reverses, and, after a bitter fight with adverse fortune, became a managing editor at 26? What of Harvey W. Scott, of the Portland "Oregonian?" The story of his efforts to obtain an education forms a bright page in the book of human endeavor. He literally hewed his way to knowledge with the ax of a Western pathfinder. After working as a farm boy, disputing with nature the right to the wilderness, he won the honor of being the first graduate from the Pacific University. After he was offered a position as an editorial writer, at 27, on the Portland "Oregonian," he persevered until he became one of the proprietors of the paper. To-day he is one of the strongest, most rugged in honesty and best-known men in the Northwest. He is a determined, vigorous journalist who has made as many enemies as friendsbut his enemies all respect him.-

How, says Mary, with many sighs Shall I prevent those nasty flighs From spoiling this, the best of pighs? A welcome step is heard-"Arighs! Sighing will never win the prighs; Success is hers who only trighs-Poison the crust, and each one

Now Mary turns, and with surprighs Reflected in her wondrous eighs, Before her sees dear Cousin Lighs.

-New York Sun.

"A Grand Medicine" is the encomium often passed on Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and when the results from its use are considered, as borne out by many persons who have employed it in stopping coughs and eradicating colds, it is more than grand. Kept in the house it is al-ways at hand, and it has no equal as a ready remedy. If you have not tried it, do so at once.

One brave step makes the next one easier. True, the road seems piled up with obstacles as one goes along; but then, one is made stronger and more capable with every step, so that relatively we have an easy road always before us. At least, if not exactly easy, it becomes more interesting-one feels less inclined

A Pleasant Medicine.-There are some pills which have no other purpose evidently than to beget pa nful internal disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and per-plexities rather than diminishing

THE RHEUMATIC WONDER OF THE AGE

BENEDICTINE SALVE

This Salve Cures RHEUMATISM, PILES, FELONS or BLOOD POISONING. It is a Sure Remedy for any of these Diseases,

A FEW TESTIMONIALS

RHEUMATISM

What S. PRICE, Esq., the well-known Dairyman, says:

212 King street east.

Toronto, Sept. 18, 1903.

John O'Connor, Toronto: DEAR SIR,-I wish to testify to the merits of Benedictine Salve as cure for rheumatism. I had been a sufferer from rheumatism for some time and after having used Benedictine Salve for a few days was completely cured.

475 Gerrard Street East, Toronto, Ont., Sept. 18, 1961.

John O'Connor, Esq., Nealon House, Toronto, Ont. DEAR SIR,—I have great pleasure in recommending the Benedictine Salve as a sure cure for lumbago. When I was taken down with it I called in my doctor, and he told me it would be a long time before I would be around again. My husband bought a box of the Benedictive Salve, and applied it according to directions. In three hours I got relief, and in four days was able to do my work. I would be pleased to recommend it to any one suffering from lumbago. I am, yours truly,

(MRS.) JAS. COSGROVE

2561 King Street East, Toronto, December 16th, 1901. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—After trying several doctors and spending forty-five days in the General Hospital, without any benefit, I was induced to try your Benedictine Salve, and sincerely believe that this is the greatest remedy in the world for rheumatism. When I left the hospital I was just able to stand for a few seconds, but after using your Benedictine Salve for three days, I went out on the street again and now, after using it just over a days, I went out on the street again and now, after using it just over a week, I am able to go to work again. If anyone should doubt these facta send him to me and I will prove it to him.

Yours for ever thankful, PETER AUSTEN

198 King street East, Toronto, Nov. 21, 1902.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—I am deeply grateful to the friend that suggested to me, when I was a cripple from Rheumatism, Benedictine Salve. I have at intervals during the last ten years been afflicted with muscular rheumatism. I have experimented with every available remedy and have consulted. I have experimented with every available remedy and have consulted. I might say, every physician of repute, without perceivable benefit. When I was advised to use your Benedictine Salve I was a helpless cripple. In less than 48 hours I was in a position to resume my work, that of a tinsmith. A work that requires a certain amount of bodily activity. I am thankful to my friend who advised me and I am more than gratified to be able to furnish you with this testimonial as to the efficacy of Benedictine Salve.

Yours truly, GEO. FOGG.

12 Bright Street, Toronto, Jan. 15, 1902.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto: DEAR SIR,-It is with pleasure I write this word of testimony to the marvellous merits of Benedictine Salve as a certain cure for Rheumatism. There is such a multitude of alleged Rheumatic cures advertised that one is inclined to be skeptical of the merits of any new preparation. I was induced to give Benedictine Salve a trial and must say that after suffering for eight years from Rheumatism it has, I believe, effected an absolute and permanent cure. absolute and permanent cure. It is perhaps needless to say that in the last eight years I have consulted a number of doctors and have tried a large number of other medicines advertised, without receiving any benefit Yours respectfully,

PILES

7 Laurier Avenue, Toronto, December 16, 1961. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—After suffering for over ten years with both forms of Piles, I was asked to try Benedictine Salve. From the first application I got instant relief, and before using one box was thoroughly cured. It can strongly recommend Benedictine Salve to any one suffering with piles.

Yours sincerely, JOS. WESTMAN.

241 Sackville street, Toronto, Aug. 15, 1902.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—I write unsolicited to say that your Benedictine Saive has cured me of the worst form of Bleeding Itching Piles. I have been a sufferer for thirty years, during which time I tried every advertised remedy I could get, but got no more than temporary relief. I suffered at times intense agony and lost all hope of a cure.

Seeing your advertisement by chance, I thought I would try your Salve, and am proud to say it has made a complete cure. I can heartily recommend. it to every sufferer.

With the Boston Laundry.

Toronto, Dec. 30th, 1901.

John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto: DEAR SIR,-It is with pleasure I write this unsolicited testimontal and in doing so I can say to the world that your Benedictine Salve thoroughly cured me of Bleeding Piles. I suffered for nine months. I consulted a physician, one of the best, and he gave me a box of salve and said that if that did not cure me I would have to go under an operation. It failed, but a friend of mine learned by chance that I was suftion. It falled, but a friend of mine learned by chance that I was suffering from Bleeding Piles. He told me he could get me a cure and he was true to his word. He got me a box of Benedictine Salve and it gave me relief at once and cured me in a few days. I am now completely cured. It is worth its weight in gold. I cannot but feel proud after suffering so long. It has given me a thorough cure and I am sure it will never return. I can strongly recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was.
It will cure without fail. I can be called on for living proof. It will cure without fail. I can be called on for living proof. I am, Yours, etc., ALLAN J. ARTINGDALE,

BLOOD POISONING

Corner George and King Streets, Toronto, Sept. 8, 1904. John O'Connor, Esq., Toronto:

Dear Sir,-I wish to say to you that I can testify to the merits "of our Benedictine Salve for Blood-Poisoning. I suffered with blood poisoning for about six months, the trouble starting from a callous or hardening of the skin on the under part of my foot and afterwards turning to blood-poisoning. Although I was treated for same in the General Hospital for two weeks without cure, the doctors were thinking of having my foot amputated. I left the hospital uncured and then I tried your salve, and with two boxes my foot healed up. I am now able to put on my boot and walk freely with same, the foot being entirely healed. I was also treated in the States prior to going to the hospital in Toronto, without relief. Your salve is a sure cure for blood-poisoning.

Poronto, April 16th, 1902.

MISS M. L. KEMP.

John O'Connor, Esq., City: DEAR SIR,—It gives me the greatest of pleasure to be able to testify to the curative powers of your Benedictine Salve. For a month back my hand was so badly swollen that I was unable to work, and the pain was so intense as to be almost unbearable. Three days after using your Salve as directed, I am able to go to work, and I cannot thank you enough. Respectfully yours, J. J. CLARKE,

John O'Connor, Esq.:

Williams Cate Coesting

Toronto, July 21st, 1902.

72 Wolseley street, City.

DEAR SIR,—Early last week I accidently ran a rusty nail in my finger. The wound was very painful and the next morning there were symptoms of blood poisoning, and my arm was swollen nearly to the shoulder. I applied Benedictine Salve, and the next day I was all right and able to J. SHERIDAN, go to work. 34 Queen street East.

JOHN O'CONNOR LAST, TORONTO

J. A. JOHNSON & CO., 171 King St. E And by all Druggists

POBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY PATRICK F. CRONIN, uniness Manager and Editor

SUBSCRIPTION ing delivery..... OFFICES -9 JOSDAN ST., TORONTO.

Approved and recommendshops, Bishops and Clergy. ADVERTISING RATES Fransient advertisements, 10 cents a line,
A liberal discount on contracts.
Remittances should be made by Post Office
der. Postal Order, Express Money or by Registhought Letter.

When changing address, the name of former great Office should be given.

Telephone, Main 489.

MONTREAL AGENCY 6 Richmond Square

R. J. LOUIS CUDDINY, MONTREAL REPRESENTATIVE

LOCAL AGENT IOSEPH COOLAHAN Is now calling upon Toronto Subscribers

THURSDAY, SEPT. 29, 1904.

CANADA'S RESPONSE TO MR.

Mr. John Redmond and his con-

freres who are collecting a Home Canada. The foremost public men of this country have come upon their are forthcoming everywhere. The press is sympathetic, reflecting, indeed, the changed tone of public opanion in Great Britain, where, since the settlement of the land question, at is taken for granted that an adequate measure of Home Rule must REV W McDONALD, come without delay to round out the chances of Ireland's national recovery which but for the efforts of the political organization would now have passed beyond the bounds of hope. Even as things are, with peasant proprietorship quickly and safely spreadwing itself over the face of the land, with the old class differences disaptocrat. There would be nothing unpearing and a democratic spirit of co- seemly in his standing to-day with operation and progress growing up, at is still a matter of supreme diffi-who will be made to sell. But that culty to check the tide of emigra- John Redmond is what he is, the star tion. When we discover by recent of the mighty drama now unfolding occurred at her late residence, 169 statistics that the proportion of aged itself in the House of Commons, is people and young children in Ireland one proof of his genius.

"The son of William Archer Redamazing that enough vitality and en- blue-blooded Norman Catholics, he respected resident of the east end for the choir assembled at her parents' eargy have remained in the popula- was sent for his education to Con- many years, whose death occurred on- residence last Friday evening and pretion to impart enthusiasm to a Jesuit institution of Ireland. He to mourn her loss her husband, J. J. veiling case. Miss McDonald will be revival that embraces industrial and finished in the equally exclusive and Lynch of the fire department, social conditions as well as the na- aristocratic surroundings of Trinity brother, Thomas Shea (printer), and tional aspirations and ancient lan- College, Dublin. His family connec- six young children of tender years, sical accomplishments. guage of the people.

say that there is still danger of Cel- Redmond when he stepped out to en- faithful wife and a loving mother of tic extinction in the cradle of the ter upon a career. At Trigity the a gentle and retiring disposition, and race, and we can gather from the ventherment assurance of his language that history of his country had proved an won the esteem of all who knew her. She was a devout Catholic and a self face to face with the world at member of St. Paul's Church, within his highest hope is to settle the a time when Ireland was in the Home Rule question in the next par- throes of a struggle that needed new cradle to the grave. The funeral diament in order that the whole enthusiasm of the popular movement of Charles Stewart Parnell were may be devoted to the saving of the dazzling nations. Redmond home population. Whatever reserve his ears to the voices of the times: he has put upon himself in this re- bis conscience was touched by what gard is significant only of his care lived in the neighboring county of to show the people of Great Britain Wicklow, and asked to be permitted and America that Ireland will not to follow bim."-William Brown Melact desperately or impatiently in a time of crisis where diplomacy and delicacy of treatment are essential to a just patriotic and enduring settlement of a struggle that has so long disturbed the relations of Ireland World Mr. John Redmond, when askand Great Britain and has affected ed concerning Edward Blake, M.P. more or less the attitude of Irish- and his work for Ireland, Mr. Redday evening when he declared that by his prestige, experience and elothe people of Canada or any other quence. On the question of home rule parliamentary struggle.

The universal reflection that re is listened to with more respect by spoken in the course of this tour is friendly portion of the British popu- quet was given him in the dininglation to be still more favorable to room of the House by the Irish Parcitizens of the United States and close attention to his duties and his Canada that the Irish Party are us- work for our cause he has injured his ing the recently enlarged powers of health. He never thinks of himself, ing the final and satisfactory consummation of national autonomy. 'This consummation will be the safeguard to the British empire and the salvation of the vast and compli-evening Mrs. Redmond, wife of the Great Britain, which threatened to break down more than once during shake hands and say a few words to the last session of the Imperial Par- this estimable lady who so ably se-

even the Unionists are turning for month of touring could deter from relief to the prospect of Home Rule, being his helpful companion on this and that the Unionist Home Ruler is likely to be the newest description of candidate in the forthcoming general elections. His Canadian audiences have marked how disinclined Mr. Redmond is to anticipate the possession by his party of the balance of power in the Imperial Parmament after the elections. At the same time the Irish leader is perfectly frank. What he desires to anticipate most is not the exercise of the balance of power, but the same and a half, is changed to St. Bridget's parish. Very Rev. Canon McCarthy, Chancellor of the Archdio-he wants the Irish vote for his dear took policy, and he has already on various occasions thrown flies over the balance of power, but the same of the balance of power, but the same to California for the winter.

The Rev. Dr. Sheehan is about to pullish a new volume, entitled "A Spoiled Priest." Maynooth College is the scene of the story, which proance of power in the Imperial Par-

The Catholic Register CROAGH PATRICH PILGRIMAGE

THE CATHOLIC REGISTER PUBLISHING CO A Chapel for the Summit of the Holy-Mountain—Letter from the Archbishop of Tuam

> The Rev. Father McDonald, Adm. Westport, has received the following letter from His Grace the Archbishop of Tuam, on the subject of the proposed Oratory on the summit of Croagh Patrick. The work, we understand, will be commenced as soon as possible in order to have it completed for the Pilgrimage of 1905. Subscriptions, no matter how small, will be thankfully received either by His Grace, the Archbishop of Tuam, or by the Rev. Michael McDonald, Adm., Westport;

ST. JARLATH'S TUAM all agreed, if we are to have an An-

of the Pilgrims' Mass or Masses to build some kind of a little Oratory death, and who have the sympathy on the crown of the Sacred Hill. I a large number of relatives and will take the opinion of a competent friends on Wolfe Island, Winnipeg and architect as to the most suitable design, etc.; but meanwhile, I think you ought to invite subscriptions from all quarters to carry out our holy project. If I am to judge from the vast crowd of fervent Pilgrims, who made the ascent of the Holy Mountain in the face of wind and rain on the 14th of August, and who saw for themselves the crying need of a weather-proof Oratory, and a of the stomach and liver.

little room for the Priest, I believe The deceased was an hor you will have no difficulty in getting trious man, much respected by all and the passengers alike treated the the necessary funds. An Oratory, who knew him and was an employe Irish leader with marked courtesy; Rule campaign fund on this contin-ent, have reason to feel gratified over the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak ent, have reason to feel gratified over the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak the necessary funds. An Oratory, who knew him and was an employe of the Coyne House for the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak the necessary funds. An Oratory, who knew him and was an employe of the Coyne House for the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak the necessary funds. An Oratory, who knew him and was an employe of the Coyne House for the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak the necessary funds. An Oratory, who knew him and was an employe of the Coyne House for the past but Mr. Redmond did not speak the necessary funds. An Oratory, and if possible a suitable cross be-fore it, will be a most appropriate 14 years. He bore his great suffer-at the usual concert held in the salthe response they have met with in and enduring memorial in honor of ings with perfect patience and resig-oon, though the passengers were all St. Patrick on the Holy Hill which nation and had the happiness of re-desirous of histening to him. was the scene of his prolonged pray- ceiving the last sacraments the day was met in New York harbor by the ers, and fasting, and tears for all the previous to his death. The funeral United States Government revenue platform and generous subscriptions children of the Gael. From my heart took place on Wednesday to St. I pray God and St. Patrick to sus- Mary's Church, where, in the absence bless all those who will, in any way a solemn requiem mass was celebrathonor of our National Apostle.

I remain yours faithfully, JOHN HEALY, D.D. Archbishop of Tuam Administrator, Westport.

The Irish Leader

Says a writer in Harper's Weekly: There is much that is heroic in this figure of Redmond, this man by all instincts, by training, and by early surroundings should be an rristhose landlords of Ireland who, abnormal, it must appear mond, of Wexford, of a family of of the late Thomas Shea, an old and of Music, Toronto. Mr. Redmond does not hesitate to ferent kind of young man than John left motherless. Mrs. Lynch was a blood, and blood trained as was his, in took place Friday morning, Sept. 23, a time when the brilliant attainment of Charles Stewart Parnell were dazzling nations. Redmond opened was said by Rev. Father Hand, who he heard, and he went to Parnell, who oney, in Harper's Weekly.

John Redmond's Tribute to Hon. Edward Blake

In an interview with The Toronto men all over the world to the British Canadian career in order to assist Ireland, and for the cause of home Premier Ross of Ontario was rule, of which he has been a supspeaking with moderation on Mon- porter all his life. He brought enpart of the empire would not have and on financial questions affecting tolerated or submitted to what Ire- Ireland, he has delivered many powland endured and overcame by a erful speeches in the House of Commons. There is no man in the House who carries more weight and mains wherever Mr. Redmond has the English statesmen of all parties. "Mr. Blake has taken a very active that his mission will effect great and is a most popular man in our good. It will help the practical or party. Recently an elaborate ban-Interest to be still more lavorable to ty, in recognition of his great work. I am afraid, however, that by his local government logically, hasten- lreland."

Mrs. Redmond Gave Reception

After the addresses on Monday formal reception. Many availed themselves of the opportunity to conds her husband's efforts, and The London Times declares that in connection, with a continuous whom not even the arduous work side of the water.

at rength in the Irish Parliamentary Party. It cannot be denied that Mr.
Redmond is a capable general.

It the power to do hard work is selves together in the National Conmises to recur to the vein worked unsuccessfully by the same author in successfully by the same author in substitute for it.

Then why should she on the ground federation of self-defence.

Cruelty and outrage perpetrated by strumental in depriving us of such nrivileges?"

Then why should she on the ground federation of self-defence.

Cruelty and outrage perpetrated by substitute for it.

OBITUARY

REV. P. FOGARTY DEAD London, Sept. 23.-Rev. Patrick Fogarty of Montreal arrived yestersay at Southampton from the West Indies, where he had been for the benefit of his health, accompanied by his sister and a nurse. He took train for London, where, upon arrival at Waterloo Station, he was found dead. The body now lies at the Lambeth mortuary.

DEATH OF MR. EDWARD O'REIL · LY.

The announcement of the death Mr. Edward O'Reilly at Winnipeg was received in Kingston, his former home, with great regret. He had been a resident in Winnipeg and Port-August 21, 1904.

My Dear Father McDonald,—We are years. He was married to a daughnual Pilgrimage to the summit of Railton, and sister of the lamented ter of the late Mr. James O'Brien. Croagh Patrick that it is absolutely Rev. Father P. C. O'Brien, and Jas necessary, for the proper celebration E. O'Brien, of Railton, and leaves six children to mourn his untime Kingston.

> MICHAEL HART, MOUNT FOREST On Monday, Aug. 29th, there passed away at his late residence, corner of Main and Wellington streets, Mouot Forest, Michael Hart, who had been ill for some months with cancer you in your efforts, and to of the pastor, Rev. Dean O'Connoll, assist us to accomplish this work in ed by the Rev. Father Kehoe of Ken-

> Interment was made in Kenilworth Cemetery, where all that was mortal of Michael Hart was laid to rest beside that of his beloved wife (Ellen McQuinn), who predeceased him 18 vears. Two daughters, Mrs. Thos. Breen. (Mary) of Enterprise, and Miss Kate , at home; and one son, James, in Washington, B.C., are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father. Another son, John M., was accidentthree years ago. R.I.P.

MRS. J. J. LYNCH.

Many readers of The Catholic Register will regret to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. J. J. Lynch, which Sackville street, on Wednesday morning, Sept. 21. She was a daughter tions, his friends, his associates of all the case being doubly sad owing to his class should have produced a diff- an infant child of two months being whose fold she remained from the also assisted at the grave in St. Michael's Cemetery. The Catholic Register joins in deepest sympathy with Mr. Lynch and family in their sad bereavement and pray God and His Blessed Mother to comfort them in their hour of deep sorrow and watch over the motherless I ttle ones. May the Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on her soul and may the light

> TWO SISTERS OF CHARITY KILLED AT LIAO YANG.

bulance, killing two others.

Irish Reform Association

dog a bad name and hang him." Call parison with their anxiety to make Home Rule devolution and you imme- things comfortable for themselves in Association, and altogether it looks short of this, and killing with kind-

FATHER JOHN KELLY AT HOME GOLDWIN SMITH AND CROMWELL

Rev. Father John Kelly, of St. Mary's Church, who has been on three months' visit to Ireland his health, has returned to his duties considerably benefited and greatly impressed by all that he saw in the old land. The operation of the Land Purchase Bill, he told The Register, is the most interesting and in a tion of the country. The estates are selling so rapidly that it is becoming a question whether the tenants are not paying too high a possible to crowd into so small a price. Father Kelly's own opinion space. Many of these misstate-

Political faction is dead in Ireland. Mr. Healy has lost whatever hold his name had with a section in the midlands, and the confidence of all classes in the triumph of Home Rule is everywhere expressed. The Irish Party must be diplomatic and able to properly use the great power they are sure to possess after the elec-tions; but sensible Englishmen as well as Irishmen trust Mr. Redmond to keep his head and not misuse his opportunity. He is universally respected in England.

Father Kelly was present at the consecration of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Armagh, when Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli was surrounded by the entire hierarchy and seven hundred priests at a gathering like to which nothing has been seen in Ireland since the glory of Tara departed.

of the stomach and liver.

The deceased was an honest, indusYork. The captain of the Teutonic cutter as a personal honor. scene that marked his arrival was most inspiring. His first speech made an excellent impression and put the stamp of public success upon his mission to America.

Barrie Correspondence

Mr. John Patterson, late of Rosedale, Toronto, has purchased the fine residence and grounds which belonged to the late Mr. Murchison, where Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, with their bright young family, have come to reside. We all heartily welcome

Mrs. Francis Adams and Miss Adams, Toronto, are in town, the guest of Mrs. John Moore.

Miss Marie Carpenter, who been spending the summer at her mother's home, left Monday for Chicago, where she will resume her profession as nurse.

Miss Mamie McDonald, who has been organist in St. Mary's Church during the past two years, is leaving to fill a position in The members of greatly missed in town on account of her amiability and distinguished mu-

Bitter Invective

The Protestant Bishop of Kilmere, Ireland, has worked himself into a passion over the reforms achieved and impending in favor of the Irish people. Addressing the synod of Elphin he is thus reported: Where but in Ireland would public credit be pledged to create a reasant proprietorship for those who boast of their disloyalty? For those are they for whom it is done, not for this exterminating war, they had a small minority of Protestants who will incidentally benefit by it. Legislation is made revolutionary in alaves, and multitudes more exiled favor of malcontents, and law is di- themselves from the land where they vorced from morality that sedition could no longer be free. The few may be appeared. The strongest that were left were converted into-Government in the world allowed it- slaves to till the soil for the robber self to be blackmailed by threats, and murderer, and bleed under the lawlessness and evil deeds. As a re- iron scourge that was laid on their of the Holy Ghost lead her to that sult, the people are demoralized, and backs. of the Holy Ghost lead her to that in the average Irishman you have one who will cheat you within the ed, their worship made a capital of dation of a people and the debasefour corners of the law if he can, and fence, and bloodhounds were employif he cannot he is ready to defy you ed to hunt down the priests. Priest er proceeded from the perverted inand the law, if he have the least hunting became a favorite field. chance of success. This demoraliza- sport.' It has always been the proud boast tion extends to the blind guides who of Catholics that where suffering hu- play the part of leaders. They have theatre of Cromwell's exterminating effect the laws of the penal code. manity required ministration the declared their intention to sell them- fury. No sooner had the garrison of good Sisters of Charity would be selves to either of the political par- the town submitted, on a promise of he says, "that greater ingratitude or found. The services rendered by the ties in the State—that is, their votes quarter, than he gave orders for an perfidy was never found among Sisters of Charity to the work will not be given on moral grounds, indiscriminate massacre. Cromwell, mountaineers or border robbers than writing to Parliament, makes it a among those fanatical rogues." sive wars have done more than will right, but to turn the legislative boast that, despite the promised ever be told to alleviate the horrors scale in favor of their religious and quarter, he himself gave orders that for historical truth, tells us that Some weeks since it was political ends. One does not know recorded that 700 Sisters from the whether to marvel more at this po- slaughter of the inhabitants continu- united her to Great Britain, thus front; and it is to be regretted that lessness with which it is avowed. troops spared neither age nor sex, despised and oppressed dependency to one was severely wounded, while two are Home Rule and a Roman Cashowere lilled. In the attack on the lic University. Whether or not they Charles II., to convey the intelligence from the pen of a man who has a re-Russian position the first Japanese will be granted we cannot tell, but to of the fall of Drogheda, declares that putation for erudition. shell injured one Sister and while assume that they will not would be the Russian wounded were being en- very rash. Past experience may well anything he had ever heard of, in history has proved during the three encourage the agitators, for what breach of faith and bloody inhuman-hundred years of British rule, since cromwell, it is that Ireland is "a the unjust judge in the parable, has been wearied by their continual coming, and yielded to their importunity.

Speaks of it as an "extraordinary severity," and indeed, Cromwell's own letters present sufficient data to justice that England's hostility to believe that England's hostility to London, Sept. 26.—In the course of We know there are politicians both tify these statements. a leading article the "Star" to-day in the Government and in the Opposition" is a league of landlords which other of those claims, and as to has been formed under the presidency Home Rule, it is said a specious of Lord Dunraven for the express scheme is now put forward to obtain purpose of promoting "devolution" it piecemeal, and under a less offenof legislative powers from the Im-

The "Irish Reform Association favorably disposed to one or the fled to the Church of St. Peter as a | The decrees of Farliament, the laws Many of the citizens of the town motives. perial Parliament to a local representative body in Ireland. Now it is not true that a rose by any othics and the settlement of those questions. Neither name would smell as sweet. There er their sentiments nor their services whom the soldiers took the next day is no truth in the saying "Give a will weigh with our rulers, in com- and made an end of." diately get rid of a vast mass of Ireland. They cannot see that Irish lates that a multitude of the most prejudice. It is believed that Sir discontent will not be satisfied with defenceless inhabitants, comprising all Autony MacDonnell and Mr. Wynd- anything but complete separation the principal ladges of the city, were ham are in sympathy, if not in actual alliance, with the Irish Reform premacy of the Church of Rome. Stop of the church; thither the blood-Rev. Father George Fitzgerald, who again to its Carnarvon period, and is ideas will not ensure contentment nor Anton. Wood.) has been curate of St. Patrick's parish, Ottawa, for the past three years and a half, is changed to St. Bridlain is behind the Dunraven-MacDon-class and creed will set their faces ment to Cromwell. For this unparalleled brutality a vote of thanks was passed by Parlia-

Father Shanley on Cromwell's Alleged Toleration and Benfits to Ireland

Many of our readers have doubtless read Mr. Goldwin Smith's article on Cromwell in the Atlantic Magazine for September. In dealing with sense important evidence of the im- Cromwell's treatment of the Irish provement taking place in the condi- Mr. Smith has set down not only as many misleading conclusions but misstatements of fact as it would be possible to crowd into so small a is that too much is being paid in ments have been reprinted by the press throughout the country. Such a reprint in the Hartford Times brought forth the following effective and authoritative rejoinder from the popular and able priest, Father Shanley, rector of the Hartford Cathedral and honorary president of the Gaelic Society of that city: To the Editor of the Hartford Times.

The editorial page of Friday's issue of The Times has an extract from the pen of Goldwin Smith on "Cromwell and Ireland," in which the writer gives his views on Cromwell's treatment of the Irish.

In reply I wish to present the facts of the case, as attested by impartial historians. Mr. Smith tells us that Cromwell "could not give religious liberty and equality to the Irish, and that he meddled with man's conscience." The oath devised by Cromwell, which his officers were specially deputed to receive in every town, disproves Mr. Smith's state ment. It reads as follows:

"I, A.B., detest and abjure the authority of the Pope, as well in regard to the Church in general as regard to myself in particular. I condemn and anathematize the tenet that any reward is due to good works. I firmly believe and avow that no reverence is due to the Virgin Mary, or to any other saint in heaven; and that no petition or adoration can be addressed to them without idolatry. I assert that no worship or reverence is due to the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, or to the elements of bread wine after consecration, by whomsoever that consecration may be made. I believe there is no purgatory, but that it is a popish invention, so is also the tenet that the Pope can grant indulgences. I also firmly believe that neither the Pope, nor any other priest, can remit sins, as the papists rave. And all this I swear," etc. (Morrison Threnodia,

p. 31, Ant. Broudin, p. 95. De Burgo, p. 708.) The penalty enacted against all who should refuse to take this oath was the confiscation of two-thirds of all their goods, which was to be repeated each time that they should prove refractory. As to the poorer class, the penalty was slavery in the Barbadoes. The officers received instructions to tion.

proceed in the matter with the greatest energy. In the face of this fact history how can Mr. Goldwin Smith say that "Cromwell meddled with no man's conscience?" When Cromwell landed on the shores of Ireland he addressed his soldiers and declared that no mercy be shown the Irish papists and that they should "be dealt with as the Canaanites in Joshua's time." (Dr. Anderson's Royal Gen. 76.)

Mr. Charles E. Lester, an American Protestant writer of authority, thus speaks of Cromwell in this regard: "He and his fellow English Protestants regarded the Irish Catholics as Canaanites, and proclaimed themselves as commissioners of God to pursue them with fire and sword. "Mercy to the conquered was rebellion against God. massacred the peasantry by thous-

The city of Drogheda was the first Puritans who framed and carried into all should be put to the sword. The "Cromwell gave Ireland peace. ed for five days, and the Punitan raising her from the condition of a so much so that the Earl of Or- equality with the other kingdoms. "cromwell had exceeded himself, and secure asylum. But the Puritans respected no sanctuary of religion. "In this very place," writes Cromwell, "near one thousand of them Thomas Wood, one of the Puritan officers engaged in the massacre, rehounds tracked them, and not even

General Ludlon in his despatches

AND LOAN COMPANY

In business as a Savings Bank and Loan Company since 1854.

HEAD OFFICE:

78 Church St., Toronto

BRANCH "A"

522 Queen St. W. Cor. Hackney

Assets $3,000,000

. Interest allowed on De-posits from Twenty Cents

Withdrawable by Cheques

Office Hours :

9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

OPEN EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT 7 to 9 O'Clook.

JAMES MASON, Managing Director

Does not Mr. Goldwin Smith know that all historians agree that "Henry VIII. attempted, Mahomet-like, to convert Ireland, sword in hand, to the principles of the reformation? Does he not know that under the rule of Queen Elizabeth Ireland was reduced to a desert? Has he never heard of the declaration of one of her lieutenants, Lord Gray, that "little was left in Ireland for her majesty to reign over but carcasses and

"The favorite object of the Irish governors," says Leland, "and of the English Parliament, was the utter extirpation of all the Catholic inhabitants of Ireland."

"It is evident," says Warner, "that they hoped for an extirpation, not of the mere Irish only, but of all the English families that were Roman Catholies.

"The Parliament Party," writes Lord Clarendon, "had grounded their own authority and strength upon such foundations as were inconsistent with any toleration of the Roman Catholic religion, and even with any humanity to the Irish na-commence with such persons as would Parliament passed an act to the efnever 'be tolerated in Ireland, "that no quarter should be given to any Irishman, or to any papist born in Ireland."

The Protestant historian Borlase declares that "the orders of Parliament were admirably well executed.' (Hist. Reb., p. 62.) The celebrated author of Cambrensis Eversus (Vol. III, p. 181) thus depicts the excess of English barbar-"All the cauelty inflicted on the city of Rome by Nero and Attila, by the Greeks on Troy, by the Moors on Spain, or by Vespasian on Jerusa-lem—all has been inflicted on Ireland by the Puritans," etc. Volumes can be written to prove that English barbarity forced the Irish to self-defence, and that England carried on a prosecution of Catholics in Ireland which has no parallel in the history of Christian nations. History attests that a penal code was enacted by the Cromwellians for the avowed purpose of rooting out Catholics from Ireland. "The code," says Edmand Burke,

'against the Roman Catholics was a machine of wise and elaborate contriment in them of human mature as evgenuity of man." King James gives his opinion of the

Ireland was grounded on political by which Ireland was governed and the enforcement of both are evidence that religion was the motive of a persecution which in cruelty has no equal explicitly stated.

WALTER J. SHANLEY Hartford, Conn.

The end which at present ealls forth our efforts will be found when it is once gained to be only one of the means to some greater end. The natural fights of the human mind are not from pleasure to pleasure.

Real Estate

48 VICTORIA ST. TORONTO

E. MURPHY

N. MURPHY

STRATFORD

OUR STRATFORD LETTER.

Stratford, Sept. 26 .- Mr. J. M. Mc-

ter Lizzie here for the past two

St. Louis' Roman Catholic Church.

Waterloo, was the scene of a very fashionable wedding on Tuesday morning, Sept. 20th. The contracted lady, formerly of this place, the groom, Mr. Alfred W. Fischer, a prothe bride and groom one need only take a look at the many handsome, useful and ornamental presents which their f iends had showered upon them.

The groom has been for many years an active member of St. Louis' Roman Catholic church choir, president of the organization for some years of the C.M.B.A. of Waterloo for a number of years and is an energetic worker in the cause, and has brought the Waterloo branch up to a high

The bride's many friends in Stratford wish for her and her husband

Furlong-Hart

In St. Mary's Church, Mount For-

Detroit, and Mr. Will. Lynnet per-

The bride wore a dress of cream

satin crepe with trimmings of white brocaded satin and chiffon. Her hat was a white Gainesboro trimmed with satin and ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridesmaid's dress was a champagne voile trimmed with white silk and insertion. She wore a hat of white lace with trimmings of lilacs and lilies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Owing to the death of the bride's father one week previous the wedding was a very quiet one, only the imme-

The newly wedded couple left on the morning train to visit the groom's relatives in Paris and Brant-

The bride's many friends and well-wishers will sympathize with her in the sorrow and rejoice in the joy of which she was a partaker simultane-

Congress of Free Thinkers

Rome, Sept. 20.—In the "Osserva-tore Romano," the organ of the Va-tican, the following notice appears:

"Innumerable telegrams have reached the Pope from all classes of people

You know what a man lives for when you know what he looks at when alone.

the centre of the Catholic diate relatives being present.

formed the duties of best man.

standard of excellence.

months, has returned home.

industries

friends.

How about Your Coal. Ring us up and get a few pointers on your supply for the coming winter. VEATHER WAS THE

The Imperial Coal Co.

HEAD OFFICE-1184 YONGE ST. PHONES - North 2082, North 2083 and North 1901.

MONTREAL CORRESPONDENCE

(From our own correspondent.)

and winning the handsome trophy presented by Lieut.-Col. Burland for the most successful of the rifle teams of the Cadet Corps of this district. The weather was simply awful, rain descended in torrents at Point aux Trembles. Over thirty contested, being from the Mount St. Louis Cadets, the Highland Cadets, and the St. Patrick's Cadets. St. Patrick's and Mount St. Louis teams carried off the honors in individual prizes. The showing of St. Patrick's Cadets is all the more creditable on account of being the latest addition to the cadet corps and their first appearance at the ranges. The Register congratulates the young heroes in their honors won.

ST. ANTHONY'S PARISH.

A series of euchre parties and a grand drawing of prizes will form lege, Berlin, and pastor of the Waan attractive programme for several terloo church.

met and played in torrents of rain and a field three-quarters of which was covered with water. the Shamrocks wished to postpone it; yet the Capitals wanted to play. Today they are sadder but wiser men. The result was a surprise of a surprising kind, all surprises to none more so than the Capitals themselves to be whitewashed. Even the most ardent supporters of the "Boys in Green," never thought for a moment of such a beating as twelve straight games. Such a home as Capitals have, composed of players who have made their names famous by their playing and scoring abilities. Such men as the Murphy Brothers, Allen, Westwick and Butterworth are heroes of many hard fights on the lacrosse field and are sterling athletes. The defence of the Shamrocks must have played a terrible game to keep such men from scoring. Kavanagh, that man of wonderful length, captains the defence with great'skill and judgment. He has willing hands and willing hearts to back him up. Kenny, the able defender of the goals; Howard, the great point player; Kavanagh, the great sky-scraper, often spoils the opposing team's best chances. O'-Reilly, the impregnable, Mcllwaine and Smith, the two great defencefielders, formed an unbroken army the Capital home players could not break through. Currie, the little human wonder, was the star of the day. Hennessy, Hoobin, P. Brennan, J. Brennan and little Hogan, form a home which no defence can keep out and no goal-keeper can ward off the great and lightning shots of such a quintette of home-players as the Shamrocks have to-day. The Capitals have a fairly strong fence, but not anything like the Irishmen's defence. The following is the summary of the games scored:

I-Shamrocks...Hoobin Second Quarter. 4-Shamrocks...J. Brennan 5—Shamrocks...Hoobin 6...Shamrocks...P. Brennan Third Quarter. 7-Shamrocks...P. Brennan 8—Shamrocks...Hogan 9—Shamrocks...Hogan 10-Shamrocks...Hoobin Fourth Quarter. 11-Shamrocks...Hogan 12-Shamrocks...J. Brennan Referee—Mr. Joseph Lally, Corn-vall. Umpires—Messrs. P. Murphy and Guy Pettigrew. Timekeepers -Messrs. McLaughlin and W. E. Foran:

First Quarter.

ST. MICHAEL'S PARISH.

His Grace, Archbishop Brouclesi will solemnly bless the new church on October 31st. Rev. Father Liernan, the zealous pastor, is working hard to have the new church a per

A man loses force as soon as he begins to worry over his feelings.

Thoroughness in Washing

No Stained Edges on Shirt-bands or Cuffs

New Method Laundry HEADACHE

187-189 Parliament St.

JOHN REDMOND'S SPEECH

(Continued from page 1.)

levied all the taxation, some good many million dollars of taxation, for local purposes, and spent it as

The people who paid taxation had no representation at all in the body that distributed it. Well, that was one of the perquisites of the ascendancy party in Ireland and we were the South African war or anything always led to believe that if the of that kind—the result is that all forth. Well, one of the achievements question of free trade and protection. of the Irish Party was that we fore. So long as that is agitating the pub-Gowan and children, of Chicago, are in the city on a visit to the mother Miss Hattie Coyle, of Detroit, plause.

PLE.

The common people, the ignorant, It is the intention af the Massey-Harris Co. of Toronto, to purchase their chance, and these elected countries plant and stock in trade of the well-known Kemp Manure Spreader Co., of this city, who purpose continuing this business as well as their own in this place. The fact that such a well-known and wealthy firm is to establish a branch in Stratford is evidence of the Classic City's property as well as their own. ST. PATRICK'S CADETS.

St. Patrick's Cadets of Montreal have distinguished themselves on Saturday last by taking first place Saturday last sometime during the coming year.
This new industry will be quite an addition to the many beautiful factories which have been built here during of the Land Act what other stable people that we are unfit to govern ourselves. In view of the working of the Land Act what other ing the past few years. Stratford is certainly being last recognized as a leading centre for manufacturing great arguments remain? These were two great objections to Home Rule. INTOLERANCE DEAD OR DYING.

> A third objection, no doubt, was that the Irish people were not only an ignorant people, an intractable people, an unstable people, but that ing parties were Miss Mary Hergatt, they were an intolerant people. In daughter of Mrs. Enoch Hergatt, formerly of Stratford, the bride also being a well-known and accomplishtat if a Catholic majority obtained power in Ireland that the first thing they would do would be to march up minent and popular young man who is manager of the Waterloo Produce Co. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Theo. Spetz, C.R.D.D., formerly President of St. Jerome's College, Berlin, and pastor of the Wawere being prosecuted in the reign with some individuals, because the So I say that this great fiscal quesP. Jamieson, Toronto

English people when they were told tion does not, therefore, concern us. The groomsmen were Mr. Albert English people when they were told Ellerburn of Guelph and Julius Klaho they would be sacrificing the property and perhaps the lives of Protes-After the ceremony the bridal party tants in Ireland naturally, where they repaired to the spacious dining-hall of were ignorant of the facts, were moved. Still that argument, too, has the City Hotel, where a sumptuous disappeared. Thus the spirit of sec-tarian animosity is dying fast in Ireland. (Applause.) I have no dewedding breakfast had been prepared by mine host Albert Hergatt, brother of the bride, when the newly wed-ded couple were made the recipients of the best wishes of their hosts of lusion upon this subject. I myself am a Catholic; but I have no delu-To be assured of the popularity of sion upon this subject and I admit freely in the past there have been faults upon both sides. The fell spirit of sectarian animosity has been the greatest curse of Ireland. (Applause.) And the man who would even fan by a single breath the dying embers of sectarian animosity in Ireland is in my opinion a criminal of the deepest dye. (Applause.) Thank God that spirit is dying. in succession. He has been president

SOUTH, WEST AND NORTH All through the south and west it does not exist at all. In those parts of Ireland the Catholics are in an overwhelming majority. The Protestants are only a little handful, many years of happiness and best prosperity. The Register joins in wishing the young couple a happy and prosperous wedded life. scattered here and there, and yet where is there an instance where a man, in the south or west of Ireland has suffered because of his creed On the contrary, I say to you that wherever the Irish Protestant through the south or west of Ireland is found to be a man of patriotic instinct and has a national sentiment that the Catholic people go out of their way est, on Monday, September 5th, took to pay honor to him and to exalt place the marriage of James P. Furhim. (Applause.) You have one of long, of the Canada Manufacturing them on this platform to-night, my colleague, Capt. Donelan (applause), the Protestant member of the Catho-Co., to Kate C., youngest daughter of the late Michael Hart. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean O'Connoll. The 'brides-maid was Miss Anna Bodendistle of County of Cork. (Applause.) Therefore, when we speak of religious intolerance we must confine our attention to one little corner of Ireland, consisting of Belfast, and about half two other counties. Now, I thank God that even there the spirit of religious animosity is disappearing. There is still some bit-terness, but those of you who have watched Irish affairs will have been gratified to see that the cables no fast either on the 12th of July or St. Patrick's Day. This spirit is dying out, and I am convinced that the calumny which was spread about religious intolerance in Ireland all through England when the Home Rule Fill was under discussion, can never be repeated, because we will be able to point to the facts of the situation in Ireland, and in that way be able to give the most ample guarantees that might be required by anyone who is nervous upon this ques-

WAY OPEN FOR HOME RULE. What, then, stands in the way Home Rule? I honestly do not know Ladies and gentlemen, look at it for a moment from an English point of view. Here is England, its one legislative chamber, the House of Comin Italy protesting against the sat-anic Congress of Free Thinkers liament for Ireland and a par-which, under the auspices of Free ment for Wales. Why, the mere Masonry, was inaugurated to-day in statement of that fact is enough to ment for Wales. Why, the mere statement of that fact is enough to show you the absurdity and impossibility of the attempt. It cannot be done. It is a physical impossibility. There is no time to do it. (Applause.) The whole time of the House of Commons ought to be devoted to purely English domestic affairs if English domestic affairs are to be properly governed, the whole time ought to be devoted to Scotch affairs if Scotch affairs are to be pro-

IRELAND DECIDES IMPERIAL QUESTIONS.

Why, when any great Imperial ques-tion arises—let me take for example people, the common people, the com-mon working people, were allowed to Irish and Welsh, have to be thrown domestic affairs, English, Scotch, have any hand or say in the man- to one side and are not considered at agement in these affairs that every- all. Take for example what is gothing would go to ruin, that there ing on in England at this moment, would be intolerance jobbery and so this great fiscal controversy, the ed from the British parliament a lic mind the House of Commons will measure abolishing these grand juries and placing all these local affairs in the hands of the county councils elected by the people. (Applause. Mich., who has been visiting her sis- CAPACITY OF THE COMMON PEO- hard to believe, but it is true, that we cannot in any of our cities in Ireland grant a charter for the build- to bear your share in raising the moing of a trolley line; we cannot allow water works to be created in any town, or in any matter of that kind can they pass a bill, but it must be passed in all solemnity through parliament, through the English House of Commons and the House of Lords and all the rest of it. The thing is an absolute absurdity. Now, lieve me, this is coming home to the minds of English politicians. I saw the other day just before I left Ireland, a letter written to the Times newspaper by Lord Hugh Cecil, son of the late Lord Salisbury, therefore a gentleman who was brought up in rather anti-Irish traditions, a gentleman whose father as you may re-member, had classed the Irish race with the Hottentots, said we were about as well fitted to govern ourselves as a race of Hottentots.

LORD HUGH CECIL'S OPINION.

Therefore, Lord Cecil is not likely to be prejudiced upon our side. What did he say? He said his experience of recent sessions had proved to him that if parliamentary institutions in England are to survive at all, if the House of Commons is not to sink in the contempt and ridicule of the people, they must lighten the load. That is his way of describing Home Rule. And if you come to think of it for a moment, I think you will see how forcibly we are proving this argument in on the minds of Englishmen. This great fiscal question does an attractive programme for several evenings' amusement in connection with St. Anthony's Parish. They promise to be a great success, and the zealous Father Shea has charge of the arrangements.

THE SHAMROCKS' GREAT VICTURE SHAMROCKS' GREAT VICTURE SHAMROCKS' GREAT TORY.

Well, the great lacrosse match of the season is over. The giant teams pink roses. ample, would be of very little benefit to Ireland. What we would have of the protectionists would be a tariff to protect Irish industries against Hritish industries Britain and not It does not matter to us very much whether Mr. Chamberlain wins or Toses, but it matters considerably England. Could any man imagine a question which more vitally touches the whole future of the mass of the English people. free trader and protectionist this is which most vitally affects the welfare of the British people. Well, now that has to be decided by the House of Commons and the free traders and the protectionists are about equal in number, and what is going to happen? Is that the question? This great English question is not going to be decided by England; it is going to be decided by 80 "scally-wags" from Ireland. (Laughter and applause.) INVOLVES HOME RULE ALL ROUND. I commend that as a thought, I suggest that as a thought for those gentlemen in this city or in this country who may be opposed to Home Rule for Ireland. Will they still be opposed to Ireland when they understand that refusing Home Rule to Ireland when they understand that refusing Home Rule to Ireland means refusing Home Rule to England, because so long as we are kept in the Imperial parliament against our will we will have no other object than seeking every chance of wriggling something for our country from either one side or the other. (Applause.) So long as the decision of all those great imperial and British questions will be given not by the votes of the English, but by those of the Irish. (Applause.)

CONFIDENT HOME RULE IS COM-

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I have said something to explain to you why it is that I am confident on this question of Home Rule. I am convinced in my mind that given two conditions the near future will see big developments upon this question. onger send accounts of riots in Pel- These two conditions are: First, that we remain united in Ireland. (Applause.) Without that we can do nothing. The second is that we receive from our countrymen abroad as well as at home, sufficient assistance Rev. Fr. Dollard, Uptergrove to enable 'us to meet our opponents upon equal terms. We need assistance for what we call our parliamentary fund, that is a fund which is maintained for the purpose of assisting to keep 86 of our Irish members in London for a part of the large transfer of the larg year away from their homes, away from their professions, away from their businesses. That fund is subscribed by the Irish people themselves at home. We are asking no assistance for our organization fund. This is the fund to maintain and broaden our organization all over Ireland to C. Flynn, Toronto attend to registration work and so Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Strange... forth. That fund also has been suffimons, trying to govern the affairs of a world-wide empire with hundreds of millions of subjects, trying ergency has arisen. I am told that our people in Ireland. But an em-ergency has arisen. I am told that Mr. Mullin, Toronto you are on the eve of a general elecion in Canada. I do not know whe- M. S. Hearn, Toronto ther that is true or not, but there Miss Hart, Toronto seems to be some idea of it in the J. J. Landy, Toronto air. Well, we are in just the same A Friend, Toronto i..... air. Well, we are in just the same position in Great Britain and Ire- P. Burns, Toronto GENERAL ELECTION AT HAND.

At any moment an election may be sprung upon us. My personal belief is that it will come very soon, and I found that belief on the fact that undoubtedly the longer the government are putting it off the weaker they are hecoming and the worse seems to be their chances. Therefore I believe we they are the sprung that th perly governed and to Irish affairs and to Welsh affairs if they are to be properly governed. And to Imperial affairs, those great affairs which affect the welfare of hundreds of mil-

them, but in the hope of exhausting our resources. We have to attack several seats held by our opponents. A Friend, Toronto We have to organize about 100 constituencies in Great Britain where Irish voters have properly organized P. Foley, Toronto P. Foley, and hold the balance of power. All A Friend, Toronto this needs money. In this country A Friend, Toronto I believe you can do it without a A Friend, Toronto fund. (Laughter.) Well, now, we Mr. Hanlan, Toronto do not ask you—I have not asked our Miss Mooney, Toronto fellow countrymen in America-in Canada and the United States - to provide the whole of the fund necessary. We will provide most of it ourselves. But in view of the fact that emergency may arise at any moment, I have come to this country to ask for assistance, and if you be lieve that our prospects were never brighter than they are at this moment, then I confidently look to you dest sum of money that I have ask-ed from our fellow countrymen on A Friend, Toronto the continent of America.

A FINE PERORATION.

And now, in conclusion, let me say A Friend, Toronto just one word of encouragement. I say to you, Irishmen and Irishwomen, who perhaps, some of you, have got tired of this Irish question, who perhaps, some of you, have lost

Amount received by Tree heart in it, who perhaps, some of you, have grown almost to despair of it-I say to you lift up your hearts and be thankful that you are living in this day; be thankful that you are not living in the old dark days of oppression, when your fathers were driven from Ireland by oppression unparalleled in the history of the world. Thank God that you are not living in the days of famine and slaughter and eviction in Ireland; but that you are living in a day when eviction is gone forever, when land-lordism is doomed to early death, and when all the signs of the times point to a triumph of the national cause. Would that your dead fathers had come to see the light that is breaking over Ireland's sky to-day. I ask you to remember those days that are gone, but to lift your heads and greet the light that is at last falling upon the hills and valleys of Ireland; and I ask you: Do something now to bear your share, so that when the day of triumph comes, each one of you will be able to say, "I, too, did my part for freedom

A SPONTANEOUS SUBSCRIPTION by a protective tariff At the close of Mr. Redmond's adagainst German made goods for ex- dress the Charrman invited subscrip-

> Edmund Bristol, Toronto George Foy, Toronto L. Cosgrove, Toronto Peter Ryan, Toronto
>
> Hume Blake, Toronto
>
> John Hanrahan, Toronto
>
> Thos. Mulcahy, Orillia
>
> Canadian Home Ruler, Toronto Scotch believer in Home Rule, P. F. Cronin, Toronto .. A. Moloney, Toronto Burns, Toronto .. J. G. O'Donoghue, Toronto W. T. J. Lee, Toronto .. M. C. O'Donnell, Toronto T. Herbert Lennox, Aurora Wm. Burns, Toronto .. Senator Kerr, Toronto P. O'Connor, Toronto P. J. Mulqueen, Toronto Rev. Fr. Minehan, Toronto....

J. Hurst, Toronto

Wm. Delaney, Toronto

10.00

10.00

10.00

10.00

10.00

10.00

10.00

John Mohan, Toronto J. C. Brady, Toronto D. O'Connell, Peterboro Mr. Foley, Toronto
T. B. Winterberry, Toronto
Jas. W. Mallon, Toronto
John J. Ryan, Toronto A. T. Hernon, Toronto A Friend, Toronto F. Mallon, Toronto N. Monahan, Toronto.
M. J. Cassells Monahan, Toronto Chas. E. Buras, Toronto Dr. McDonogh, Toronto John Ryan, Toronto John Ryan, Toronto
A. J. Gough, Toronto
Prof. Cavanagh, Toronto
Dan. McGlue, Toronto
Jas. E. Day, Toronto
P. McCabe, Toronto
Mr. Miles, Toronto M. P. Ryan, Toronto T. Loftus, Toronto A Scotchman, Toronto Rev. Fr. Jeffcott, Stayner Rev. Fr. McMahon, Thornhill Andrew Cottam, Toronto Danford Roche, Newmarket Wm. Ryan, Toronto P. Clancy, Toronto John Lee, Toronto Mr. Egan, Toronto J. J. Walsh, Toronto

John Regan, Toronto

Dan Fitzgerald, Toronto ... A Friend, Toronto J. Phelan, Toronto Jas. McLaughlin, Toronto Ryan, Toronto Thos. McGillicuddy, Toronto

Friend, Toronto

J. J. Hurley, Toronto Arthur Stewart, Toronto Friend, Toronto Ryan, Toronto E. E. Mullins, Toronto Bernard Ryan, Toronto ... J. W. McCabe, Toronto ... McDonald, Toronto ... A Friend, Toronto Geo. Gardiner, Toronto Clancy, Toronto Head Toronto Friend, Toronto Friend, Toronto A Friend, Toronto

$1,379.75 Amount received by Treasurer in cash from friends of the cause whose names are not obtainable

Capt. Donelan, M.P., Patrick O'-Erien, M.P., and Premier Ross fol-Next the address of the evening was that of the Ontario Premier, who excelled himself in sympathy for the cause of Home Rule and witty allusions. Mr. Redmond ap-plauded at frequent intervals, es-pecially when Hon. Mr. Ross declared Canadians would not put up with what Ireland had suffered from, and the allusions to the authors of the Act of Union, who, he said, could never have stood the test of an Ontario election court, for not only would men outside and inside the parliaments of England and Ireland have been reported for bribery over that historic transaction, but Lord Cast-have been disqualified. A vote of thanks was moved by G. P. Magann and seconded by A. T.

elreagh himself would undoubtedly

Subsequently at McConkey's, Mr. H. Blake and his friends were dined by the following members of the committee: Peter Ryan, G. P. Magann, E. J. Hearn, Dr. McMahon, W. 25.00 Donoghue, Gus Gough, Michael Barry, S. O'Connor, L. D'Arey Hinds, Patrick O'Brien, Peter Ryan, James E. Day, Patrick F. Cronin, James Mc-Laughlin. Rev. L. Minehan, Walter Mills (Ridgetown), John Lee, William Ryan, Frank Ryan, Frank J. Walsh, J. W. Mallon, T. B. Winterherry, Andrew T. Heron, Hugh Kelly, R. Scollard, John Mohan, W. T. J. Lee.

> The subscription list is still open, so that any friend of the cause may s bscribe by sending amount to L. D'Arcy Hinds, Secretary, 9 Jordan street, Toronto. Make all cheques payable to Treasurer John T. Loftus,

Bishop Urges Support of Catholic Press

In opening the convention of the Catholic Knights of Ohio in Mansfield last week, Right Rev. Bishop Horstmann spoke strongly in favor of the support of the Catholic press, urg-ing all the members to subscribe for a Catholic paper. The convention, a summary of the proceedings of which was given in last week's issue, was the most successful ever held by the organization. A number of clergymen interested in the society were present at the sessions and the following made addresses at the ban-quet Tuesday evening: Father Sch-reiber, of Mansfield; Father Meyer, of Cincinnati; Father Nigsch, of Ottawa; Father Schir, of Dayton; Father Kuebler, of Shelby Settlement; Father Boesken, of Crestline, and Father Kessing of St. Mary's. Addresses were also made by President Wittrock, Vice-President John Connolly, of Galion; Secretary Anthony, Peter Mettler, trustee, of Toledo; George Mathauer, of Cincinnati, editor of the C. K. of O. Messenger; Dr. W. H. Wenning, medical examiner; Alois Kessler, President of the Mansfield branch; ex-President Pater of Hamilton, and Richard Massman, President of Hamilton Council.

Father Schreiber, in a concluding address, warned the Knights not to forget the spiritual side of life in too great anxiety for the material. He said he had noticed that the proceedings were almost entirely taken up with material things to the exclusion of more vital concerns. His words made a deep impression.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

Sir Nicholas O'Conor's illness has been received with great regret by his many friends, who trust it is only of a temporary character. Seldom in the history of diplemacy has there been a more brilliant career than that of Sir Nicholas.

The marriage of Daniel P. McKenna, of the C.P.R. office, Montreal, and a native of Briley Brook, Antigonish, and Miss Agnes Hayes, the well known elocutionist attached to the staff at Mount St. Vincent Academy, daughter of Capt. John Haves, took place at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Halifax, in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. Alexander P. Doyle, the well-known Paulist, is leaving New York where he has been stationed for many years, to become rector of the Apostolic Mission House at the Catholic University, Washington, D.C.
Right Rev. Mathias C. Lenihan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Marshalltown, was to-day consecrated Bishop of Great Falls, Mont.

RATING OF MISS BOND

The current belief in Belford's innermost circle that Miss Bond was a good woman was shared by Miss Bond herself. Not that she ever said she was good; on the contrary, she called herself a great sinner, and would expatiate at length to a pa-tient 'listener on her faults,' which somehow, in her narration of them, were made to appear as virtues in disguise. Father Cudahy, her pas-tor, may have doubted her qualifications for immediate canonization, but he carefully kept his-doubts to himself. The rapid succession of servants who served her for periods more or less short were not diffident. They said there was no standing her temper, and spoke of her economies with contempt and with allu-sions to misers and their habits.

When Miss Bond heard how her character was aspersed, she did fly into a passion. All she did was to sigh and say that she knew her faults and that stinginess and temper were not among them. If anything, she was too meek and patient; and, though not a spendthrift, her heart was open to give.

One servant had remained with her ten years, and great renown she gave her mistress. The women of her set said it was perfectly lovely in dear Miss Bond to put up with Margaret Callaghan. Margaret was so stupid. She never did seem to learn, and the mistakes she made were enough to try the patience of a saint. "But, then, Elizabeth Bond is a saint, if ever there was one.' On a certain Wednesday, the eve of the Ascension, Miss Bond was instructing Margaret in duties appertaining to a luncheon she was about thing of the kind ever before given "You will bring the dishes to the door only. Luella will hand them round. Under no circumstances are you to enter the room," she said, to give, and that was to eclipse any-peremptorily. "And what, ma'am, if you's be pleased to tell me, is a green and white luncheon?" asked Margaret, with visions of dear knows what in For she was very patrihaving nothing else to otic; and, give, gave her quota of prayers to 'cherished country.' Miss Bond's countenance assumed look that forbode trouble. "I wish you would pay attention, Margaret," she reproved. "You will "You will bring nothing to Luella but what cook gives you to bring."

"And if she be short of a knife or a fork-it might be a spoon-Pshaw! I mean the eatables. You are to bring them in the order cook hands them to you. Do you understand?" "Indeed I do ma'am," said Margaret, and shook her head wisely. 'And I remember now," she continued, "the knives and forks are in the cupboard by the sideboard-''

"And there's another thing," hur-(Margaryou ought to attend to."

a courtesy she had learned at home, she exclaimed, with assured confi-

"Trust me for that, ma'am!" Miss Bond nodded her head and "That's all for the present," dismissed Margaret, and turned her attention to the writing table before almost every penny of her wages her, which was littered with note goes? paper of various sizes and divers

"I should have a secretary. these notes to write, my correspondence; and that upstart Symthe woman, whom I'll have to invite, has one!" she grumbled to herself as she rummaged through a heap of envelopes, pausing to extract one with a

'Father Cudahy's everlasting col-"Father Cudahy's everlasting collections for the church!" she said, half aloud, and glanced over the printed matter on the envelope's face. "We had one at Easter; does he think people have nothing else to do with their money but hand it over the lections for the church!" she said, half aloud, and glanced over the printed matter on the envelope's face. "Something like shame sent the color to Miss Bond's cheeks. She had never been gentle with Margaret, had with their money but hand it over the mistress for your god a proof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry with Luella, she approved of her, and felt she could beg the girl's pardon for the scandal she had given—a thing she never did, unless a changed to have the mistress for your god makes her seem stupid: though studies a proof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry with Luella, she approved of her, and felt she could beg the girl's pardon for the scandal she had given—a thing she never did, unless a changed thing she never did, unless a changed to have the mistress for your god makes her seem stupid: though studies a proof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry with Luella, she approved of her, and felt she could beg the girl's pardon for the scandal she had given—a thing she never did, unless a changed to have the mistress for your god mistress."

I well know."

Something like shame sent the color to Miss Bond's cheeks. She had never been gentle with Margaret, had the mistress for your god approof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry with Luella, she approved of her, and felt she could beg the girl's pardon for the scandal she had given—a thing she never did, unless a changed the mistress for your god and proof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry with Luella, she approved of her, and felt she could be given—a think the mistress for your god heart that the proof of the innate goodness of her heart that, far from feeling angry

A sharp knock at the door, its flying open suddenly and the entrance of Luella with cap strings streaming, brought Miss Bond's soliliquy to an abrupt conclusion.

"I do wish, Luella, you would enter a room without creating a draught!" she ejaculated, testily. Not noticing the reproof otherwise than by a sharpening of her chin, the girl handed her a letter.

"It's the dressmaker's bill; she left it herself. This makes the third time she's left it," said Luella, in a voice without sentiment and nasally

Miss Bond's face grew very red.
"Sure but very slow," was what the people said of her payments.
"Do you know that you are very impertinent?" she said slowly.
Luella's chin was lifted higher, and there was a warning in the meek tones of her reply. "Indeed, miss, I never knew it was an impertinence to speak the truth."

Miss Bond would have liked to order the girl out of the house; but, the luncheon in view, she contented herself with ordering her out of the

Her voice slightly elevated, Luella retorted that she would gladly give ly pay her her wages.
"Why, Luella!" grasped the

"Why. Luella!" mimicked the girl. "What you'd like to do is to box my ears, and I don't blame you for my ears, and I don't blame you for that, for you're thinking about your luncheon. But won't Margaret do for the green part of it? For, dear and went over its items, every one of all these years and for thanks nothing but nag, nag from morning till night, and every pinch of salt you recknned up and counted again And it is mean keening a ladv waiting for a bill as you've kept ened conscience told her it should be. Miss Haydon, and she is member of your church—which I haven't a word to say again', for that poor, patient Margaret of yours has made me most she would call in a day or so about to say again', for that poor, patient Margaret of yours has made me most to love it. But I'd hate it if all to love it. But I'd hate it if all some work she contemplated for Miss Catholics were like you. And T'm sorry to have to speak so, but the truth's the truth. And I can't stand it longer—I cannot!"

Luella fairly servered.

One-third of a housekeeper's life is spent in her kitchen.

One-half the labor of housekeeping is at the cook stove.

Your range can double or halve the cooking slavery of housekeeping.

A poor range adds worry as well as work, and worry multiplies the

Get a range that reduces the work and eliminates the worry. The Pandora Range is as easily and accurately managed as an engine—it responds to the touch as quickly and certainly as the huge engine obeys the hand of the engineer.

The Pandora Range saves worry, and because worry kills, it prolongs

London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N.B.

from nature, but she was not a foolish woman. By no means did she believe the charges brought against her to be true to their full extent; but she did acknowledge to herself that she had been somewhat at fault. She remembered how civil and gen-Luella had been when first in her employ, how she had taken to going to Mass with Margaret, her gradual deterioration to insolence,her dropping of Mass altogether. Luella was still sobbing when Miss Bond had composed herself to say, not without dignity:

"If you really wish to leave me I cannot keep you, but suppose you give me another trial? We both might do something to restrain ourselves. I am not thinking of the iuncheon; I am thinking of Margaret, who, as you say, is a good woman. It is true, though, that you serve beautifully in the dining room." Luella gazed at her mistress in astonishment. "I thought all along, miss, that I was not giving you satisfaction," she stammered. "You thought very wrong," returned Miss Bond, and she was about to add that no one could complain had taken credit to herself that Lujustly to Luella's service, when it occurred to her that she herself had ried on Miss Bond, interrupting. often found fault with it, and had "Luella's hands will be full of things never till to-day given it a word of commendation.

intentionally rude, and she was about to say so with considerable asperity when Luella continued:

"I don't think, miss, you know half the good there is in Margaret. She is slow in her ways and hard to learn, but, miss, do you know where

"No," Miss Bond replied, "I do

"To her old mother in Boston, and she hasn't seen her since she's been here-not having the time or the money to pay her way, though it's a trifle of $3 going and coming. Her mother is often very sick; and I've sometimes thought, miss, the trouble of, it and not seeing her is what makes her seem stupid; though stu-

with their money but hand it over considered herself a model of fore-to him—" bearance in keeping her in her employment now came this story of hidden sacrifice, and a full knowledge that, after all was said that could be said to the contrary, the girl was a treasure in her household.

"I am glad you have told me this,
Luella; and now that you have concluded to give me another trial," she said, toying with the papers before her, "I'll go on with my correspon-

"I'm sorry I spoke to you as I did, miss, and if I had the chances you have I'd go to confession for it," said Luella, and she slipped noiselessly out of the room. She had gone last Easter. She thought for a long while, and the end of her thoughts was to ask herself if she was not a wicked woman. And as she asked herself this question, her eyes fell on the envelope containing the dressmaker's bill. Mechanically she picked it up, mechanically she opened it. The bill she knew by heart, not so the pitiful letter that accompanied it—a letter in which many sores were exposed. If the well-to-do knew one-half the pain it causes the independent poor to expose their individual sores, surely they would feel sorry to care for as best she could. "She

the bill, and apologized with evident sincerity and simplicity for having misjudged Miss Bond. "I thought you niggardly and hard-hearted, Elizabeth—I may call you so again—and the depressing ills of spring. In the winter the blood gets thin and watery. It lacks the richness and vitality necessary to rebuild the tished back to her convent school days, when she and Julia Haydon had been bosom friends and classmates. Reverses of fortune came to the Haydons, and disease. The system is so weakened and enfectled as to invite the germs of infection.

It is an easy matter to keep well. was to ask herself if she was not a half the pain it causes the independent poor to expose their individual sores, surely they would feel sorry for them. Miss Haydon begged for what was her own, and to get it she felt herself obliged to tell of a brother maintained at the seminary mainly by the fruits of her toil and of a grinding poverty at home.

Miss Bond folded the letter careful-which she had, to use a vulgar phrase "jewed down." Not without a sigh -for people do not instantly overcome bad habits, least of all penurious people—she altered the sum to-tal of the bill to the figure her awak-

'Margaret''-she spoke so gently that the girl flushed with pleasure—"I wish you would take this note to Miss Haydon with my compliments. It is only a step, you know, and when you return come directly to me. I have something to say to you." "Luella has been instructing me about the luncheon-"Bother the luncheon!" interrupted Miss Bond; and she continued, in a milder tone: "What I have to say is of more importance than green and Again alone, her minu those words of Luella that, more than ought else the girl uttered, had brought her roughly to a true knowledge of herself. Poor, despised ledge of herself. Poor, despised Margaret had made Luella love the Schurch, and "if all Catholics were church, and "if all Catholics were containing the donations for the much-needed decorations of this church, one that was anonymous sufficient of itself to ary of the faith. For this reason, she had schooled herself to believe, she had cultivated the St. Jude's set —St. Jude's being the fashionable Protestant Church of Belford. If she did not make converts-and she did not—at least she removed prejudices, she had taught herself to believe. She ella went to Mass instead of to the particular meeting house she had been wont to frequent. "The girl been wont to frequent. "The girl must think to herself that if I, who et's countenance fell.) "You will have to answer the bell. I give you credit for neatness; be your neatest on Monday."

Margaret was all smiles now. With

Margaret was all smiles now. With

The girl's speech struck her as untable to the sorry to part per speech struck her as untable to the sorry to part per speech struck her as untable to the sorry to part per speech struck her as untable to the speech struck her as untable to the speech struck her as untable to the speech am, socially, head and shoulders told herself that she was a snob.

eges. How often did she enter the leadership. at Mass. Neither could it be said the priesthood. she was indifferent to the faith. She a woman who had no true knowledge of herself till rudely awakened to a consciousness of her defects by the insolence of a servant. And it was more infrequent as time went on. Her humbling meditations were interrupted by the return of Margaret, breathless from rapid walking. "Miss Haydon was very pleased, ma'am, and she bade me give you this," she said, handing her mistress

a sealed envelope. Miss Bond made a motion with her hand for Margaret to remain, and proceeded to read the letter the dressmaker had enclosed with the re-ceipted bill. The letter in a manner was a postscript to Luella's rating. It thanked her for the payment of the bill, and apologized with evident

"Margaret, sit down," she said. "Ma'am?" stammered Wargaret. "Sit down. I wish to talk to Margaret looked about for the least comfortable chair in her proximity, tain the nervous system, and there and having found it, seated herself is bound to follow sleeplessness, iron its edge and smoothed her long ritability, irregularities and severe white apron on her knees with ner- nervous exhaustion. vous hands.

you have an old and sick mother." you have an old and sick mother."

"I have, ma'am," said Margaret, not one day too soon to fortify in alarm; "but indeed she'll never against the ills of spring. You may through excesses in living. They require no testimonial. Their excel-Catholics were like you. And I can't stand it longer—I cannot!"

Luella fairly screamed the last words and then burst into a flood of tears.

Miss Bond sat upright in her chair, too stunned to speak. Gross rudeness she had received from servatars she had received from servatars she had received from servatars to stune to speak. Gross rudeness she had received from servatars but never had she been so betaled to her lare. A close and nagging woman she was from habit and—not live some some persuate.

Miss Bond started in first chair. These reiterated confirmations of the change of temporature. The latest truth's the change of temporature. The cannot in the both started in first chair. These reiterated confirmations of the change of temporature. The latest persuate in the change of temporature. The latest confirmations of the change of temporature. The latest power is stand to longer the body started in first chair. These reiterated confirmations of the change of temporature. The latest power is started in first chair. These reiterated confirmations of the change of temporature. The latest power is started in first chair. These reiterated confirmations of the charge of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to follow the change of temporature. The latest power is seems to f

"And who wouldn't be with green-horn like myself? And I doubt that's what I'll always be. And, then, the weather is sometimes trying to a lady like you."

"But sure, ma'am, why would I be troubling you? And I'd a mind for my place," faltered Margaret. You thought that I would send you away if I learned your mother Her voice sounded hard and unsympathetic, not that she was either at the present juncture. She was only striving to repress her feelings.

ed to keep my place, for my mother needs the wages, and I had a dread of being troublesome like."
"And," Miss Bond went on, "you have worried about your mother, and et would understand. Margaret understood, and her tears

"Well, it's true, ma'am," she re-plied, and believing the dread expul-sion close to come, she added, with heartfelt resignation, "The Lord be should think me cruel."

amazement. "I never said that, ma'am, nor not long before he found out that Miss Bond was the donor.

support herself.

ored guest was a Miss Julia Hay-don, 'at which the St. Jude set would have rebelled had they dared. The girl, too, had spoken of confession as one of her mistress' privil- for them to attempt to upset her tribunal of mercy? It could not be when, years after, a new church said she was a Catholic who altoge was erected in Belford for the inther neglected the practice of her re-ligion. About three times a year er Michael Haydon called it St. Elishe knelt at the altar rail, and, zabeth's, in remembrabce, perhaps of though a slight indisposition had been made to stand in the way, she was quite regular in her attendance to extend his course of studies for was simply a woman who had per-mitted weeds to flourish in her soul; any that Miss Bond, passing down

Fortify Agair st

Build Up the System and Strengthen the Nerves by and say: the Use of

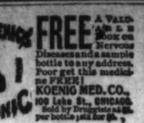

Dr. Chase's

Nerve Food

Julia was left with a little brother to care for as best she could. "She is better born than any of the Jude set, and she has been but my dressmaker to me all these years! God forgive me!" she said. For the second time that day she sighed; this time for her sins.

It is an easy matter to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. That "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to diseases of the blood and nerves. If the gums, line and eve-lids grow pale, the appropriate to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich thicker, E'en when shells fall hot and quick Than the lava of Vesuvius o'er It is applied and nerves. If the gums, line and eve-lids grow pale, the appropriate the second that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to diseases of the blood and nerves. If the gums, line and eve-lids grow pale, the appropriate the second that the second that the second that is an easy matter to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich thicker, E'en when shells fall hot and quick that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to diseases of the blood and nerves. If the gums, line and eve-lids grow pale, the appropriate the second that is an easy matter to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich thicker, E'en when shells fall hot and quick that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to diseases of the blood and nerves. If the gums, line and eve-lids grow pale, the appropriate the second that the second tha lips and eye-lids grow pale, the appetite poor and digestion imperfect you recognize that the blood is getting thin and watery in quality.

Nine out of ten persons require just trouble you, ma'am — not in the as well keep well this spring and lent qualities are well known to all

But your mother-why did you never speak to me of her?"

"You see, ma'am, it was this way," hesitated Margaret. "I want-that has made you at times-not careless, but not in sympathy with your duties." She hesitated for a word to express herself, and now that it was uttered, she wondered if Margar-

"You poor, dear soul!" cried Miss Bond, no longer able to control her "But I deserve that you Poor Margaret stared in unfeigned thought it either. Indeed and indeed did not!" she exclaimed.

That afternoon Miss Bond went to confession. Intentionally she had never made a bad one—perhaps in reality she never had. But to-day she made the best of all possible good confessions; the kind which the motive for contrition is love-love for

for the desired altar. It was Margaret's mother came to Belford to live, and the invigorating air, as well as the proper food provided by one who never ceased to be her friend, gave her new life, and, no longer entirely dependent on Margaret, she helps by plain sewing to demeanor be a way of begging par-don. It must not be supposed that when Luella came to be confirmed, this new manner she cultivated was she provided the frock and veil, and without lapses, for lapses there were, but they became more and Maria.

The IIIs of Spring eralls and say:

seems to follow the change of tem- those who have used them and they

J. E. SEAGRAM

BRANDS

The O'Keefe Brewery Go. Idmited TORONTO.

EVERY LOAF OF OUR BREAD IS PERFECT

Telephone Park 553 and have one of my waggons call with a sample loaf. It Will Only Cost You 5 Cents. . . .

420-22-24-26 Bathurst St. TORONTO THE DOMINION BREWERY CO.. Limited

MANUFACTURERS OF THE

White Label Ale

Use Your Knowledge Mr. M. B. Thrasher in his little Mr. M. B. Thrasher in his little RENTING. sound sense in the frequently repeated advice of Booker T. Washington to students of either his own or other schools: "Learning is of no use to vou un-less it makes you better at le to live. The knowledge you acquire from books is of no use only as you apply it. Young man, use your geometry in helping your father lay out his cotton rows, your chemistry in showing him how to raise better and wash, your skill in embroidery to assist her in the family mending. "Young man, when you go home from school to-night put on your ov-"'Father, go and sit in the shade and rest while I hoe the crop or do the milking.' "Young woman, tie on an apron " 'Mother, you must be tired. Sit down and rest while I wash or iron or get the supper.' "-Youth's Com-To the Palace of the Czar

Now amid the boom of arms, And the darkness of alarms, Comes a little trooper tripping to the palace of the czar; He the darling of his father, And a goodly mother-rather-

may hap in war. E'en when shells fall hot and quicker

And a scion of Victoria whatso'er

The baby prince of Russia,

Than the lava of Vesuvius o'er Ital-Till we wish all peaceful blessings To the baby prince of Russia; To the palace of the czar.

Toronto, Aug. 12, 1904.

-W. A. Sherwood.

A Purely Vegetable Pill.—Parme-lee's Vegetable Pills are compounded from roots, herbs and solid extracts "Margaret," said Miss Pond, such a tonic as Dr. Chase's Nerve of known virtue in the treatment of thoughtfully, "I heard to-day that Food at this season of the year to liver and kidney complaints and in enrich and purify the blood. It is giving tone to the system whether or working for someone else, why not get a farm of your own in NEW Young woman, use your chemistry in helping your mother to cook ONTARIO

TORONTO, ONTARIO

IF YOU ARE

For Particulars Write to HON. E. J. DAVIS

TORONTO, ONT.

JAS. J. O'HEARN PAINTER DECORATOR CALSOMINER

GLAZIER 161 QUEEN ST. WEST Telephone Main 2677

Residence Phone Main 377

TERMS: $1.50 PER DAY Electric Cars from the Union Station Every Three Minutes, RICHARD DISSETTE - PROPRIETOR

We have stock of

KIND HEARTS AND GORONETS

J. HARRISON Kind Hearts are more than Coronets, And simple faith than Norman Blood.

Copyrighted 1903, by Benziger Bros.

"There is a seat to spare here, sir,

He hesitated, as the maid gathered the bundles from beside the girl Leigh also. Then he settled down in quiet-long silence. By and by the older lady leaned over, and whispered some-

He gave a start of surprise.

went on. "Colonel Fenton of Kentboro. We and the Lindsays are great hiends—this is my daughter, Leigh. You are the next nephew, Hugh? Mr. Lindsay was speaking to us of you."

"I have heard Mrs. Lindsay men-tion your name also," said Hugh. "I am delighted to know you, Mrs.

She made smiling answer, and soon they were engaged in earnest glad to feel that her eyes rested on him once or twice in a not unplicity which tells so much to an ob-serving world. The girl's slim figure was full of indefinable grace; the perfect outline of her lovely face, from the low white brow to the round chin, was exquisite. Everything the first time in his life, that he was

"Perhaps I can be of some service to you," said Hugh. "I am in New York most of the year, although my home is in Connecticut. I have just been on a flying visit to Uncle Eric-my little cousin has been with us for a while."

"Yes-Gertrude Waring. Of course

"Gertrude?" It was Leigh spoke now. "Is that the one?"

"Fairly well," She shrugged young ladies of Lindsay Manor."

shoulders. "I do not see much of the

"No?" in a wondering tone, that implied very plainly what he thought. She smiled, and relapsed into silence.

"Have you heard Vertucchi?" ask-have not. But it is because I have been quite busy. I am very fond of music, and the violin is my favorite "Really?" said the girl., A shade of animation crept into her features.

"I think the capability for understanding music must be developed, as well as the genius for interpreting it," said Hugh. "I never let the opportunity pass of hearing our best

"Nor I," said Leigh. She sat up and her eyes kindled. Hugh almost lost his head, she was so wondrous-ly beautiful. "I have within me, I as it should be played-oh, it is hea-

Hugh looked at her gravely. How sweet and full her tones were-like the ringing of a deep nell. He began to talk, hardly knowing what he said in his eagerness to keep her

"Perhaps I do not confine my admiration exclusively to violin-playing," he said. "A beautiful voice, for instance-do you not think more expression may be given the vocal or-gans than can be put into a violin or piano, no matter how complete

"I don't know-the violin is the only instrument that can carry me out

"A man may have a soul to speak two languages," said Hugh. "The one, breathed into his fiddle, may be all fire and nobility-the other quite

"Quite the reverse? A man who,

by his magic power, can raise thousands from this dull earth to heaven itself? Who can make his hearers for-plause is the food of the gods-the nectar that we read about must have tre had succeeded in arousing her, then. He forgot to be surprised; she was so wonderful in her beauty that he would have liked to have agreed

He saw Mrs. Fenton look at the girl

"ith her and let it rest at that been the praise of the multitude!"

Leigh drew a deep, long breath.

the mastery one gains over it?'

I could not live without mu-

And when one plays the violin

"The violinist? No, madam, bring him nearer to her.

the Trans Show.'

you know her?"

instrument."

ven then."

interested.

the reverse."

It is mine also.

young man.

if you would care to take it."

CHAPTER IX. "Indolence."

It was a changed little girl whom but the temptation could not be re-Hugh Lindsay escorted to the manor sisted. He helped to put the bags on Saturday morning. She was so and bundles into the rack, and found quiet and so reserved that he thought place for his own dressing-case there it due to her parting from his people—only he felt that one mood, with ness, prepared for the three-hour ride her, had never lasted quite so long to Charleston. Every once in a before. Uncle Erro's reception of while his eyes turned, as if by accihad a sm le of welcome, and even profile of the girl showed so clear-Mildred stooped to kiss the little, ly. It was a privilege to feast his girlish face. Mildred, to Hugh's eyes, looked just as beautiful and serenely unfeeling as she had been ed out of the station and there was a even profile of the girl showed so clear- out: four months previous. But when she spoke her manner was almost cordial and her eyes rested on him in friendly fashion. For she was grateful. She appreciated his efforts to carry out her wishes, and his letter to her, when he sent her the one from Banks and Belding, had been so earnestly expressive of his good will and sympathy that she cherished it yet with a warmth of heart of which one, looking at her, could scarcely believe her capable.

And now Gertrude became a sudden source of perplexity, and Hugh knew that Uncle Eric's eyes sought her quiet face with an almost anxious look, she was indeed pale and downcast. That evening, after dinner, he spoke to the young man about her. "Did she really feel so badly over having to come back?" he asked, in a hurt tone. "What is the matter with the child?"

"I don't know, Uncle Eric—unless that is really the case," said Hugh, frankly. "She had France and Phil, frankly. "She had France and Phil, you know, to make things lively—and she is such a baby—" "Why can't she have France and Phil down here?" quickly. "You didn't give me Phil last year—let your mother send the two on now for a few weeks so as to get her accustomedto the change." "Phil goes back to school on Mon-conversation. Leigh Fenton did not speak to him at all, but he was too remarked Hugh, cautiously. perhaps mother would allow France to come for a while." "If she does, I'll send Matthew straight through to Charleston to approving fashion. Both ladies were dressed with that perfection of simmeet her," said Uncle Eric. "She won't get lost. I'd like those ch ldren to see Lindsay."

But when he told Gertrude what he had done she put her arms about him and hid her face on his shoul-am sorry, Uncle Eric," she "I did want to be alone with you-indeed I did. I am angry a Lindsay. Somehow it seemed to at myself that I stayed away from you so long. But never mind. France is lovely-you will surely like

Hugh left the manor in a thoroughly uncomfortable and disappointed state of mind. The change in Gertrude was almost too noticeable. She was just as sweet as ever, but there was a strange thoughtfulness about her, and—she avoided him. That was the worst of all. She had been his pet, his special property, and this new phase of hers annoyed him very

'Tell mother that her daughter loves her and will love her always. And ask her 'to pray for me, Hugh.' She looked up at him, and her fingers clung almost beseechingly to his hand. "Tell her that the black thoughts have come, but that I am doing my very best. Tenderness and patience, she told me. I am fighting

So she spoke to him when they parted, and he gazed at her with, tender eyes. Words trembled on his Great pity filled him. found, somewhat to his surprise, that he wanted to take her in his arms and kiss that small white face, and then to take it back with him, away from this life into the sunshine o his own home.

That was as far as his thoughts ent. He felt as if it were France or Agatha whom he was leaving surrounded by coldness, where should have had naught but aifection. She was with him during players." the long drive to Kentboro. His mind was full of her as ne entered the station and got out his ticket for Charlestown. He seemen to see her face, to hear her last words. Excited voices near him roused him from his preoccupation. He looked up in a casual way, his eyes testing on three women standing close to the door of the station-room-two of them angry and disputing. He glanced at the third, who, somewhat apart from the others, stood quiet and silent, a half-smile on her curved lips. And at sight of her the thought of Gertrude, the memory of her face, her voice, left him.

"My dear," said the older woman turning to the silent girl, "we have lost our tickets."

asked she, indifferently, "We will have to buy new ones." Glancing about him as he neard these words, Hugh saw a crumpled envelope lying almost at his feet. He picked it up somewhat gingerly. He could see the tickets inside.

"Buy new ones! It is easy for you to talk that way, Leigh. You are into a fiddle."

"A man must have a no-ble, high-spirited soul to put music into a fiddle."

"A man may have a soults speak very unconcerned, aren't you? Not alone tickets to Charleston, but through to New York and return. What your father will say to me—"

The girl lifted her eyebrows somewhat imperiously.

what imperiously.
"In public? Mother, this is too bad!" She spoke almost warningly, for at that moment Hugh proached and raised his hat.

proached and raised his hat.

"May I ask if these are the tickets you have lost? They were lying on like—like some I have heard! Ap-

"Oh, thank you, thank you, a thousand times!" said the older lady. "Take these, Marie, you chatterbox, and be more careful with them now that you have them again. I am very much indebted to you, sir."

vounger lady bowed graciously and her lips parted in a slow, guorous smile that somehow they praise you. To-morrow a dancer comes, and they praise her. The next day a circus performer, who holds on to a tight rope with her teeth. And they praise her. And they'll talk about her long after they have forgotten you."

Leigh looked at him in astonishment, for he spoke a little warmly. Then her mother came in with a slight remark. She was one of those persons who could make a friend of every polite, well-dressed stranger she met. Leigh was a salutary restraint—but even she could not control the good woman's love of gossip. She allowed Mrs. Fenton to chatter on pow only putting in a word here on now, only putting in a word here and there, when the conversation became too personal for her liking. This word was sufficient to check the voluble lady.

Nothing seemed clear to Hugh by this time. Some strange vapour seemed stealing over his brain. He wished that Mrs. Fenton would go to sleep-anything, anything so that he could look at Leigh. And just then, to his infinite surprise and disboth was heartfelt. Aunt Estelle dent, towards the window, where the gust and dismay, the guard called

"Charleston!"

Mrs. Fenton did not say a single word to her daughter about Hugh until they reached their rooms in the hotel. Then, as the girl stood combing out her hair before the long mirror, the mother came in and thing to her daughter's ear. The girl opened her eyes indifferently — long mirror, the mother cathen turned them on Hugh. He saw shut the door behind her.

"It is good to get into a loose gar-ment," she said. "Do you want Marie to brush your hair? I'll call that they were almost purple, fringed with heavy, curling lashes. She shook her head. "I prefer to do it myself," answer-

"You can if you wish, mother," she said. "Curiosity will be the death of you, I am afraid."
The older lady promptly turned toed Leigh, indifferently. "Quite a fortunate occurrence—our meeting, wasn't it, Leigh?" she went on, seeing that the girl did not offer wards Hugh.
"Am I mistaken in thinking you a Lindsay?" she asked, addressing the to keep up the conversation.
"Quite," said Leigh, with a shade of sarcasm in her voice. "What do you think of him?" "Awfully unsophisticated. amusing."

"No; you are not," he said. "My name is Hugh Lindsay."
"There, Leigh—I knew it! What did I tell you? You have the characteristic Lindsay face, sir."
"I have so been told," answered "Is that all?" "That's all," she laughed unpleas-antly. "That's sufficient, if Gertrude Waring has told him anything about Hugh, courteously.
"I am Colonel Fenton's wife," she the other Lindsay." "You know, Leigh, I warned you

"I am aware that you did. But the name Lindsay makes me feel positively ill. I wish you'd go to bed. Yes; I know what you're after. Write home to father to-morrow-tell him I think his choice is a clean-looking fellow and an aristocrat, though he evidently doesn't know it."

"I'm glad you like him. Goodnight, Leigh.'

'Good-night, mother." France did not go to Lindsay, nor had Gertrude paid another visit to her friends, though it was September again—the last of it. For twelve months now life had passed uneventfully for Hugh Lindsay. After that *never-to-be forgotten evening, Leigh Fenton had gone out of his existence. He did not see her when he left Charleston, for he took train to New York before either of the ladies about her bespoke the aristocrat. New York before either of the ladies "Why, mother?" he asked then. Looking at her Hugh was glad, for the first time in his life, that he was ever, to hear Vertucchi. The senior "Oh I knew—I felt it the minute." partner died just then, and when affairs were wound up the junior "We are going to New York," co-lunteered Mrs. Fenton, at last. "We got back from Italy only two months member offered his confidential man an interest in the concern. Hugh plunged into business almost feverishly-he had no time to waste. But ago. But Leigh is anxious to hear he had moments of abstraction, hours of dreaming, of reverie, from which Vertucchi, and we intend staying for he would rouse himself to greater absorption in work. He entered for the next academy exhibition, 1 however. And this time his study was not from still life. He called it "Indolence," and it was the portrait of a gloriously beautiful woman with lips of scarlet and violet eyes. languorous smile just touched both > picture of the exhibition. Hugh was not unhappy, If love had found him and gone again he was content to think of it as a beautiful dream—something to brighten his life, to glorify it. There was one less in the family circle. Agatha had married and was now in her own home, and John Perry made her a good husband. Hugh wondered at the calmness and evenness of their married life. Had he not seen Leigh Fenton such a thought would never have entered his mind. But new ideas were stirring within him. In spite of himself his thoughts strayed often to the beautiful girl of whom that one fleeting glimpse had been vouchsafed him. He wondered if he would ever see her again. Further than that brief speculation he never ventured.

eyes and lips—a dreamy, sensuous smile. It was the most talked of

He heard often from Lindsay Manor. Uncle Eric notified him of the death of the mother of Laurence and Harly beautiful. "I have within me, I old in Kentboro. He heard, too, am positive, an undeveloped, artistic from Aunt Estelle and once from Mildred. The latter wrote him a pretty little note, couched in most conventional phrase. Reading between the lines he imagined that she regretted very much her betrayal of her real feelings. He did not cast about for means or ways of reassuring her now, for the grave young philanthropist had changed much during the past year-he was becoming more wrapped in self. One thing did annoy him. Gertrude no longer wrote to him, and at first he missed the sprightly little letters. But between his mother and herself and France there was kept up a continual cor-

And now that the year was over and things seemed growing smoothly once more, Hugh felt that a rest was imperative. He really looked pale and careworn the evening he reached home; his step had lost its sprightliness, and his mother, with anxious worr . saw that there were heavy lines about her boy's bright blue

His picture had again taken first prize, and a splendid offer was made for it. But he refused to sell, and carried it home with him to Westport. And there his mother found it one day. In the brief glimpses last few months she had often wondered if it, were her own imagination or if there was really a change in him. Was it possible Hugh was not well? Or in love? Mother-like, she laughed over the last self-question as absurd. Her Hugh in love:

"Take a look at my Academy picture when you go upstairs, mother," he said to her. Perhaps his carelessness was a little overdone—at any rate, she felt there was more in it than he would have her think "I

You have no busi so important as the solvency of your estate and the safety of your family."

INSURING IN THE

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE

meets both demands on you We would like to have an opportunity of sending you full information on the

CONTINUOUS INSTALMENT POLICY

whereby you can secure to your beneficiary, at your death, an income for life.

Write to the Home Office - Toronto, Ont.

J. L. BLAIKIE, - - - President L. GOLDMAN, A.I.A., F.C.A., W.B. TAYLOR, B.A., LL. B, questioning it with her wise mother eyes. Then she took a chair and sat down before it. It was in this position that Hugh discovered her. "Do you like it?" he asked, indif-ferently. "Like is a poor word to use. Hugh, come here.' He came obediently, struck by the new note in her voice. "I want you to look at it with me, son. Is this -she?

He started as if struck. She had not taken her eyes off the picture, but that quick start told her all she wanted to know, and a sudden chill crept over her. Then he turned towards her with his usual frankness and his eyes met hers fearlessly. "This is she, mother."

The mother sighed and her head drooped.

looked at it.' "And-what do you think of her dear?" His voice shook a trille over the question. "I had hoped to see you happy," she answered with a sigh. girl will not make you so." "Mother-"My boy, my boy, listen to me. Oh, doesn't a mother know, child. She is so beautiful, dear-almost too beautiful for earth. I have never seen such a face. She was not raised in our Northern climate with that imperious loveliness.

'No; she is Southern. And, mother-I only met her just once, we met by merest accident, although her people and the Lindsays are neigh-She may be married now, for all I know, or engaged, or something. She is simply my ideal, mo-

"Your ideal, boy? Can you read what lies hid behind those purple or lurks behind those scarlet There, I know you cannot help loving her-she is royal, child. Only I pray God another has found her wived her before you meet again. "Ah, mother-" "Foolish words from a foolish woman, maybe, but I read anguish for you there-anguish and pain and bitterness of heart. Oh, Hugh, my boy, only remember, when wading in the dark waters of disappointment, that your mother loves you.'

When he met her that afternoon he had taken down his picture and hidden it at the bottom of his trunk. His mother's face was bright and smiling, and she was altogether her own self again.

"A letter from Uncle Eric," "I thought you were asleep Phil brought it, so kept it when waiting for you." He frowned angrily, and tore at the envelope in an irritated fashion. "Uncle Eric seems to haunt me," "Every time I come home a letter from him turns up. I want peace and quiet and I am going have it, and I don't care what he says, I shall not go to Lindsay—"

He glanced carelessly through the letter. His mother, watching him, saw his face change as the vehement

words died away on his lips. "Uncle Eric is giving a reception on the 27th and wants me to be present," he said. His voice had such a strange, new note in it that his mother wondered. "Funny thing about Uncle Eric. I'll bet if I had taken that five thousand dollars he'd never have bothered with me again. Now I'm to be introduced to his guests as the future master of Lind-

I suppose I shall have to attend that, mother?" "It would seem churlish to refuse, said the mother, gently. "In fact, I was going to suggest that you go to see him some time this fall. Unhad had of her darling these cle Eric is an old man, dear-it is best to honor him."

He did not contradict her. After a while he went into the parlor, and sitting down to the plano, started to pick out a 'song with his fing-er. It was "Father O'Flynn." Mrs. Lindsay stopped reading and listened to him. He began to whistle it.
A big tear splashed down on her book. Let him play it—but would and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and her lips parted in a slow, language of heaven, and heaven overgone—at a little extended the care troop back to a little anxiously and purse her lips together. He shook his head.

"It is a fine thing to raise poople in than the would have her think, "I heard strange noises in the seventh heaven of delight. Or soul and one mind? And one heart, too, she shought, with a heavy sight too, she shought the care troop of the many? To-day you speak to on his ears.

He saw Mrs. Fenton look at the girl anxiously and purse her lips together. He shook his head.

"It than he would have her think, "I heard strange noises rather late," she answered, smiling—in the seventh heaven of delight. Or that postscript Uncle Eric's rather late," she answered, smiling—art, love of mankind. But what represents the soul and one mind? And one heart, too, she shought, with a heavy sight too, she shought to that happy time ever come back to her again? That care-free, honest

Companies

ASSURANCE COMPANY MCORPORATED

FIRE and MARINE HEAD OFFICE - TORONTO, ONT.

CAPITAL $2,000,000

DIRECTORS

J. J. KENNY,
VICE-PRESIDENT AND
MANAGING DIRECTOR Hon. GEO. A. COX, PRESIDENT. Geo. R. R. Cockburn J. K. Osborne. E. R. Wood. Hon, S. C. Wood. H. N. Baird, Esq. W. R. Brock, Esq. C. C. FOSTER, Secretary.

WM. A. LEE & SON, GENERAL AGENTS 14 VICTORIA STREET.

Phone: Office Main 592 & Main 5098 Phone: Residence Park 667

THE ork County Loan and Savings Company

Plans suitable for those desiring to own their homes instead of continuing to pay rent. Literature free.

Head Office— Confederation Life Buildin Toronto..... JOSEPH PHILLIPS, Pres.

THE EXCELSIOR LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Insurance In force $5,170,816.30

Men of character and ability to write Insurance can obtain with this Company an agency which will give them an ever increasing income apply to HEAD OFFICE. TORONTO "Oh, I knew—I felt it the minute EDWIN MARSHALL, Secretary. DAVID FASKEN, President.

CONTRACTOR OF A PRIVATE TRUSTEE

May become bankrupt, may become a defaulter, may leave the country, may become incapacitated through accident, illness, or mental derangement, and in the course of nature roust some

A Trusts Corporation Has perpetual existence, never becomes insolvent, never changes its residence, keeps complete records and accounts, and cannot shirk any of its responsibilities.

THE TORONTO GENERAL TRUSTS CORPORATION

Paid-up Capital $1,000,000 Reserve Fund - $300,000

59 Yonge St., Toronto

ROYAL INSURANCE CO. OF ENGLAND

ASSETS $62,000,000 DOLLARS

C. Mc. L. STINSON Local Manager

WM. A. LEE & SON GENERAL AGENTS Victoria Street, Toronto Phones Main 592 & Main 5098 Residence Phone Park 667

trait, for now he was her own jolly good-hearted lad again, and did much to bring back the old time, homelike air to the house. "It's just like it used to be when Gertrude was here and before Agatha got married," said France. good to have Hugh with us, moth-

And Hugh, ere he went to bed read for the hundredth time the little postscript appended to Uncle Eric's

"It gives me pleasure to write you that the Fentons are home and are coming also. Miss Leigh, it seems, is indebted to you for a 'courtesv rendered her the last time you were She would like to thank you again, she says."

So she remembered him! Hugh's heart bounded high, and had been

Legal

JAMES E. DAY

ANGLIN & MALLON BARRISTER AND SOLICITOR

Office, Land Security Champers. W. Corner Adelaide and Victoria Streets, Toronto. Telephone'Main 1268.

HEARN & SLATTERY

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Rte Proctors in Admiralty. Offices: Canada Life Building, 46 King Street West, Toronto, Out, Office Phone Main 1040. T. FRANK SLATTERY, Residence, 285 Simcos St. Res. Phone Main 876. EDWARD J. HEARN, Residence, 21 Grange Ave. Res. Phone 1058.

LATCHFORD, McDOUGALL& DALY BARRISTERS AND SOLICITORS. Supreme Court and Parliamentary Agents.

OTTAWA, ONT. F. R. Latchford K.C. J. Lorn McDougall Edward J. Daly.

T EE & O'DONOGHUE MARRISTERS, SOLICITORS,

NOTARIES Etc. Dineen Bldg., Yonge and Temperance Sta.
Toronto, Ont. Offices—Bolton, Ont.
Phone Main 1583 Res. Phone Main 2075
W. T. J. Lee, B.C.L., John G. O'Donoghue I,I, B.

MCBRADY & O'CONNOR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. Proctors in Admiralty, Rooms 67 and 68
Canada Life Building, 46 King St. West, Toronto.
Telephone Main 2625.
L. V. McBradf, K.C.
T. J. W. O'Connor
Res. Phone North 458

SCOTT, SCOTT, CURLE & GLEESON BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc. Supreme and Exchequer Court Agents CARLETON CHAMBERS OTTAWA, ONT

Hon, R. W. Scott, K.C. LL D. D'Arcy Scott W. H. Curle, M. A. E. P. Gleeson D'Arcy Scott, Deparmental Agent and Parlia-mentary Solicitor authorized under the Rules of the House of Commons of Canada,

I INWIN, MURPHY & ESTEN C. J. MURPHY, H. L. ESTEN ONTARIO LAND SURVEYORS, Etc. Surveys, Plans and Descriptions of Property. Disputed Boundaries Adjusted. Timber Limits and Mining Claims Located. Office: Corner Richmond and Bay Sts., Toronto. Telephone Main 1336.

Architects

ARTHUR W. HOLMES

ARCHITECT 10 Bloor St. East. TORONTO Telephone North 1260.

Moofing

CORRES POOFING COMPANY Slate and Gravel Reofing; Established forty years. 153 Bay Street. 'Phone

E. MCCORMACK 1 BOOK SOUTH OF TORONTO.

McCABE @ CO. UNDERTAKERS 222 Queen E. and 319 Queen W.

F. ROSAR 240 King St. East, Toronto Telephone Main 1034.

Tel. M, 1406

Late J. Young ALBX. MILLARD UNDERTAKER & EMBALMER MAIN . . . 679 359 YONGE ST.

MONUMENTS

The McIntosh Granite & Marble Co. LIMITED, 1119 & 1121 YONGE ST. (Terminal Youge St Car Route.)

Telephone North 1249 TORONTO

50 YEARS'.

In and Around Toronto

our churches on Sunday we heard announced the regulations and suggestions regarding the exercise of this beautiful devotion. The origin and meaning of the fifteen mysteries of which the rosary is composed were also explained, and the method of meditation illustrated. There is, therefore, nothing left for us to do but to comply with the spirit and letter of the instruction given, in order to gain the many and great inder to gain the many and great in-dulgences attached to this grace-giv-booted and the same number of little Last, but by no means least from an dulgences attached to this grace-giving month.

A VISIT TO "SUNNYSIDE."

Quite by accident I made a visit o and through the Sacred Heart Orphanage at Sunnyside on an afternoon of last week. A friend wished to see some of the institutions of our city and Sunnyside was chosen almost at random as a beginning. As we stepped from the car the beau-ty of the site was the first thing that caused comment and then the homelike character of the flowers and shrubbery that border the paths leadto the by no means unpicturesque house. The large and airy reception room into which we were ushered is familiar to most of people in Toronto, but doubtless there are many whose business or inclination never took them further. we had come "forth to see" making our wishes known we were guided well and graciously through almost every corner of the institution never took them farther. But halls ending in pretty alcoves in which a statue of the Sacred Heart, the Blessed Virgin or St. Joseph stood enshrined, meeting here and there a sunny window through which the beams came generously, bathing the growing plants which met one everywhere in a perfect deluge of God's own sunshine. Our first call was at the classrooms where the boys and girls had just come in from recess. Our en-trance into the first of these was the signal for about fifty boys between the ages of eleven and fourteen to unexpected, not the slightest disorder was anywhere visible; every boy stood by his desk and during our stay not one movement caused dissisting her old home. Mrs. Maltraction either to his teacher or the visitors. In response to our request ing-room, where Mrs. Scully, looking they sang for us the song of their choice, "Dixie," and they sang it west, and wearing her white silk lustily and well. In the room of the wedding gown, had a few bright junior boys the patriotic element prevailed and we got a new ver-sion of the Maple Leaf. The girls' classes were next in order; they, too, could sing, and they gave us the old favorite, "Oft in the Stilly Night." favorite, "Oft in the Stilly Night." ir. The table with its dainty con-Here again everything was pleasing fections, was handsomely decorated to the eye and gratifying to the sense of orderliness. In all the rooms good lighting, prettily tinted walls, ed on either side by silver candelebra pictures and prints, numerous windows filled with potted plants and garnishings. The hours passed all foliage-these and everywhere bright- too quickly under the deft hospitality ness, were the things that met one. of Mrs. Mallon and her daughters and and helpful wife. Not many knew A remarkable change in the mien and farewells were all too soon in order of her presence until it was referred demeanor of the children, by comparison with that of a few years ago, was very apparent. Former visits, in which a dull, down look was Former seen on the countenance of nearly every boy, seemed to fade into something that never could have been, in presence of the bright and happy countenances facing us. The old aspect may have been a remnant of the results of the days when all, old and young, maimed and healthy, were housed together at the House of Prowhere the conditions under childhood could properly flourish were altogether an impossibility. The children wore no uniform, and girls were dressed just as other boys and girls in our outside The little girls gave us a delightful treat in the way of pret- more than animated; every seat and ty dancing they had taught one an- every available spot of standing imagined than the tiny tots of six and enthusiastic assemblage of men or seven dancing the perfect movements of the Irish Jig, while their companions lilted in unison the Irish Washerwoman or other old-time airs. A wee Hieland lassie of seven summers gave us the Highland Schottische and the Sword Dance, and herself and others presented the Spanish

Dance with all the grace and abandon of childhood. The readiness of the little ones to entertain and their total lack of self-consciousness were very pleasing things to see.

Bidding the children good-bye, we visited the dormitories, and such dormitories! Large, lofty rooms with hardwood floors, each with its several and the applause of the great gath-rows of little white bedsteads — ering greeted its members. After mostly iron-with springs, each, too, with its spotless white quilt, and crowning touch of all, a snowy and befrilled pillow-sham looking as though fresh from the precincts of a Chinese laundry. But no, they had never felt the touch of the Orient; they were all made and laundried in the house and the only expense in connection with this seeming luxury was merely the time spent by patient hands on their beinging forth.
A visit to the chapel showed us the senior boys making the "Stations" and a peep into the sewing room saw the elder girls now engaged in the house-wifely art of sewing; many comfortable and even pretty garments hung on the walls having been made over from second hand arti- wave of applause having subsided, cles sent to the house. The upper flat was pointed to as the latest and special glory of the establishment; and no wonder, for just a few stepped forward. A single glance months ago this was merely the "at- was; sufficient to see that Mr. Redtic," now it is the isolation hospi- mond is one who carries his mission tal of the institution. It has been with a seriousness and dignity befitted up with two dormitories, a coming its import. From first to last dining-room, sitting-room, kitchen and plumbing complete; there is also nesslike air, seem to be the things occasion not many years ago, when a room for the Sister in charge, so which characterize him. His ap- the Irish delegates were given welthat in the event of an outbreak of pearance is impressive and distin- come on their return from the Irish any infectious or contagious dis- guished, and one would never mis- Convention. How many of those who cut off and still be comfortable, inde- is, a great leader of men. Mr. Red- missing! The late Archbishop Walsh pendent of any outside service. Even mond rarely smiles, but the rare vis- the inspiration of the movement is the toys are not forgotten; dolls' car-riages and waggons and a noble-face, though highly expressive in ac-man, Patrick Boyle; Mr. Hugh Ryan looking hobby-horse are there ready tion, has in repose the slightly sad and the Rev. Mr. Burns are all now to beguile the hours of convalescence. and spiritual look so often seen in no more; their places are taken by The views of lake, park and wood the Celtic countenance; he has, too, others, but it will be long before as seen from these upper windows the often spoken of Irish eves and a such a gathering will not recall their were delightful; they showed us, too, somewhat small and beautifully form- presence and revive the memory of girls in one vard and the boys in an-other, disported themselves. lengthy address Mr. Redmond spoke and so earnestly with the cause of Ireland. other, disported themselves. So far we have seen only the bright pleasing and at times fired to enthu-

So far we have seen only the bright side of the picture, the poetry as it were, of the whole thing, but there is also the side of dry facts and figures. Four hundred and twenty children are on the register of the house for the year, over three hundred of these are at present inmates. The only positive means of support for the institution are the Government and city grant, which, together are

MONTH OF THE HOLY ROSARY.

October the month of the Holy Rosary, will be soon with us. In our churches on Sunday we heard ditional income upon which the house depends. Sunnyside Orphanage, like the House of Providence, St. Michael's Hospital and similar institutions, is altogether self-supporting by them as their representative in the churches is the auditional abroad degree of discernment could have placed himself so in touch with a people alien to him in religion and tradition, as to be chose in the churches is the auditional abroad degree of discernment could have placed himself so in touch with a people alien to him in religion and tradition, as to be chose in the churches in the churches is the auditional income upon which the house could have placed himself so in touch with a people alien to him in religions and tradition, as to be chose in the churches in the churches is the auditional income upon which the house could have placed himself so in touch with a people alien to him in religions and tradition, as to be chose in the churches of Providence, St. Michael and a broad degree of discernment could have placed himself so in touch with a people alien to him in religions and tradition, as to be chose in the churches in bodies are to be warmly clothed. One item alone will give some idea of the enjoyable point of view, was the expenses of the house; last year the Mr. Ross. In response to vociferous fuel bill reached all too closely to the cries Mr. Ross arose and his coming sum of three thousand dollars, and six hundred of this is still unpaid, and a new winter with its new necessities is close at hand. Addi- the Premier that it must have been tional plumbing for which an esti-mate of two thousand has just been teners, whether Irish wit, as exemplipresented, is a necessity, and up to fied to Mr. O'Brien or Scotch huthe present at least, the wherewith mor as portrayed in Mr. Ross, were to do it is an unpossessed quantity. the most felicitous and engaging.

To anyone with means to help Those speeches are all given else-To anyone with means to help others the Sacred Heart Orphanage where, so they can be only referred should appeal strongly. Its inmates to here. Mr. Ross spoke in a much are those who have almost the stronger tone than at this time last ment and training depends most of their career for good or evil. The Sisters who have charge of the career for good or evil. The sisters who have charge of the career for good or evil. The sisters who have charge of the career for good or evil. whole of life before them and on year, and the old-time vim, which Sisters who have charge of the insti-tution are just now storming their gence of the audience regarding evpatron, St. Joseph, to come to their ery matter brought before them. The assistance in the solution of their many household problems. Perhaps some kindly disposed readers of The Catholic Register will make themselves her agents in the matter and thus earn for themselves the reward promised to those wno give even a cup of water in His Name, and the sweet smile of approval from the Good Shepherd who took the little children under his special care when He said, "Suffer the little ones to come unto Me, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.'

A DELIGHTFUL TEA.

About one hundred and fifty guests accepted the invitation of Mrs. John Though our coming was quite Mallon to an afternoon tea on Tuesday of this week, for the purpose of lon welcomed her guests in the drawwell after her year's sojourn in the wedding gown, had a few bright words for all old friends. The Misses Mallon assisted in the entertainment of the many callers, and the tea-room was presided over by Mrs. James Mallon and Mrs. John Mallon, Mrs. Scully leaves for her home in Brandon at the end of the coming weea. GREETING TO IRISH ENVOYS.

It would be difficult to imagine a more enthusiastic gathering than that assembled on Monday evening at Association Hall to greet the Hon. John E. Redmond, M.P., leader of the Irish Nationalist Party, and his colleagues, Capt. A. J. E. Donelan, M.P. for Limerick, and Mr. Patrick O'Brien, M.P. for East Cork. At 7.15 p.m., the hour announced for the opening of the hall, the entire breadth of McGill street was blocked by a densely packed crowd, awaiting admission. The scene within was No happier picture could be ground, was occupied by an expectant and women, whose countenances plainly showed the earnest interest they had in the object in hand. The decorations of the hall were bright and suggestive. Green and white was the color-scheme introduced; graceful designs in bunting circled the walls of the gallery and the rostrum and floor of the platform were outlined in vivid Irish green; the golden harp on its emerald background hung conspicuously in many places, interwoven at intervals with the red, white and blue of the Union Jack. "The Wearing of the Green" were the first notes struck by the orchestra some delay, borne by the assemblage with much good humor, the expected guests arrived. Their appearance was the signal for the house to rise and a mighty breath of welcome went out from the vast audience towards the men who came to them fresh from the land of their fathers, and whose lips would relate to them the present day story of Erin and Erin's children.. To the strains and words of "God Save Ireland," those who accompanied the Irish party took their places upon the platform. A good-ly entourage, too, they made, learned and intelligent, each seeming as plause. The dancing, too, was a weland intelligent, each seeming as though his native right had given him place amongst the representative steps of the Highland Fling and the men of the evening. The immense and the speakers introduced in a short speech by the chairman, Mr. E. J. Hearn, the man for whom all waited only a little over three cents per capita per day. The annual collection taken in the churches is the adamiration in his credentials, only a man with a great sense of justice forward was the signal for renew-ed cheering. So full of ready and local suggestions was the address of climaxes and telling points of each speaker seemed to be grasped and digested even before they were completely uttered and spontaneous bursts of applause punctuated periods of the different addresses. The appreciation of the audience was not, however, confined to expressions of an intellectual order. The hearty response given to the call from the chairman for financial aid was answered generously. Mr. Redmond had told us that he came to ask our assistance to obtain Home Rule for Ireland, and to obtain it immediately, and the help asked for was read-ily given. Fifteen hundred dollars was the sum announced as contributed, and additions will still be taken during the coming week by any member of the committee. It is hoped that the amount, though handsome, will be considerably enlarged. The meeting of Monday night was one will long be remembered in Toronto, and while serving to fill its first end, which was to give substantial aid to the Irish at home, it has also ser-

> iled sons. MRS. BLAKE WAS THERE. Though unable to be present himself, owing to somewhat poor health, that loved Canadian and Irish patriot, the Hon. Edward Blake, was represented at the greeting given to the Irish envoys by his sweet-faced to by one of the speakers, neverthe less she was there, in a seat the front, and sat almost throughout the entire evening. dressed, wearing her soft white hair in a simple fashion about her pale, refined face, her presence was the greatest compliment in the absence of Mr. Blake in the power of either to bestow.

ved the additional purpose of fanning anew the flame which is never dead though sometimes lowly smouldering in the hearts of Ireland's ex-

McCORMACK-EICHHORN. Amongst the late weddings is that of Miss Marion Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. A. Eichhorn, and Mr. Edward F. McCormack. marriage took place at St. Paul's church, Rev. Father Hand, P.P., officiating. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Dr. M. Wal-She was prettily attired in champagne silk eolienne over taffeta and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Minnie McCormack, sister of the groom, dressed in green silk eolienne and Miss Olga Wallace, niece of the bride, dressed in white silk with lace finishings, were bridesmaids. Mr. M. Costello was best man. Breakfast was afterwards served at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. M. M. Clancy, 269 Carlton St. Mr. and Mrs. McCormack left to spend their honeymoon in New York and other American cities

THE BLACK WATCH BAND. The Irish Celt had not the day all to himself on Monday last, his Scottish brother shared with him its pleasure and glory. The band of the Black Watch, as heard at Massey Hall at the afternoon concert, gave one a far higher idea of its excellence than that given by its open air performances. The fine execution of which the instruments are capable was here heard to advantage, and it was generally conceded that the high enconiums placed upon the band were The entrance of not exaggerated. the pipers in their elaborate and showy dress, accompanied by the skirl of their pipes and the flowing come feature, the light and springy graceful figures in the Scotch Reel. being cheered again and again. It was altogether a performance dear to the Scottish heart, one bringing with it the scent of the heather and a glint of the bonnie blue-bells fair to every Scottish eye.

A GLANCE BACKWARD. A gathering such as that of Monthe patients may be altogether take him for aught but that which he were then the leading spirit are now where the little ed mouth and chin. Throughout his those who were identified so long

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

Young men and women obtain hand some renumeration for securing sub-scrintions to "Men and Women

T. E. KLEIN, 93 Yonge street. COMMENCING

JULY 3 CANADA'S NEW TRAIN

OCEAN LIMITED

Will leave Montreal 7.30 p.m. Daily except Saturday

Arriving

Halifax 8,15 p.m.

The following day, making close connection with

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Via Point du Chene.

Through the Famed Metapedia Valley by Daylight

Grand Trunk Day Express from Toronto makes direct connection at Montreal.

Toronto Ticket Office 50 King Street East

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY LOW RATE EXCURSION

Going Sept. 22, 23 and 24th. Detroit.....$ 6.60 Columbus$11.60 Pt. Huron. 5.10 Dayton ... 17.20 Chicago ... 12.40 Indianapolis. 13.80 Saginaw... 7.40 Cincinnati 13.90 Bay City.. 7.50 Grand Rapids 9.35 Cleveland Via Buffalo and C. & B. Steamers $6.35. Via Lake Shore $8.15 Via Nickle Plate $7.40.

Cleveland Via Detroit and D. & C. Steamers $9.10. Via Lake Shore $11.10

St. Paul or Minneapolis, Via Chicago or North Bay $35.40 Via N. N. Co. $38.90 All Tickets Valid Returning on or ore October 12th.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS $30.00 to $40.00

To Points in Manitoba, Assiniboia, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Good Going Sept. 27th. Valid Returning until Nov. 28th.

TO THE WEST

Reduced One Way Rates to Points in British Columbia, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montano, Oregon, Utah, Wash-ington. On Sale Daily Until Oct. 15th. WORLD'S FAIR ST. LOUIS $19.20

R UND TRIP FROM TORONTO With Stop Over Privileges at Chicago, Detroit and Intermediate Canadian

For Tickets and Full Information call Town Agent, Depot Ticket Agent.

POPE PIUS X. AND MEN AND

MOMEN Special offer from now until Jan. st, 1905.

colored 'picture, for A beautiful framing, of the Holy Father with one year's subscription to The Catholic Magazine "Men and Women," for ONE DOLLAR ($1.00.) Men and Women is of interest every man and woman. Ably edited, handsomely illustrated. Its departments are the best and its special timely features are unexcelled. It is the most interesting, brightest and best Home Magazine published anywhere for one dollar ($1.00). Per single copy, 10 cents. Published monthly. Order now.

T. E. KLEIN, District Manager, 93 Yonge St., Toronto.

MEN WANTED.

Let us start you working for us tacking up show-cards and distributing advertising matter at $840 year and expenses ($2.50 per day.) We want one good man in each locality, local or travelling. Write at once for particulars.

SALUS MEDICINAL CO., London, Ont.

H.E.STGEORGE LONDON ONT

TYPEWRITERS.

All makes rented and sold on instalment

UNITED TYPEWRITER CO. Limited; TORONTO

Acids; no inconvenience. SOUTH DER SANATORIUM, 1520 E. Monu-saltimore Md. Write for book

BEST QUALITY

At Lowest Prices

OAL

TORONTO, ONT.

Strictly first-class in all departments. Magnificent catalogue free. Students admitted at any time. Corner Yonge and Alexander Sts. W. J. ELLIOTT,

TAKE NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE

That there will be offered for sale by public and the auction rooms of C. J. Townseld & Company, 68 King Street East, in the City of Toronto, on Monday, the 10th day of October, 1904, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the foremoon, ALL AND SINGULAR those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situated bying and being in the City of Toronto, in the County of York 10th to number 4a according to registered Plan D 57, and also part of Town Lot 10 on the South side of Richmond street in the sale City of Toronto, which said lands and premises may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point in the easterly limit of simcostreet distant truthy there from the north-westerly snagle of said Lot No. 15, the said point be lang to make the southern and of the southern according to the lands immediately to the north o'the premises herein described: Thence easterly laced in the land is situate, receive and solding now standing on the lands immediately to the southerly wall of a brick building now standing on the lands along the said fortherly face of wall suid along the said casterly face and aseven the set of the casterly face of a shed. Thence northerly slong the said casterly face and and seven the set to the casterly face of a shed. Thence northerly along the said easterly face and parallel to the said limit of Simcos Street for feet to the line of an old fence forming the boundary between said bot 1, and 1; Thence enterly along the said easterly face, being about parallel to the said limit of Simcos Street five feet and seven luches to the existerly face of a shed. Thence northerly along the said easterly face, being a should be shoulding from the lands into the said casterly face of she shoulding for the land into the said casterly face of she shoulding for the land into the said casterly face of a shed. Thence northerly along the said easterly face, being a should be shoulded to the said limit of Simcos Street wenty-the feet and seven luches to the existerly face of she shoulding

SAMURL KING, 18 Wellington Street East, Vendors' Soliciton Toronto, Sept. 13th, 1904.

The C. S. BEL L Ce., Hillsboro, O.

WORLD'S GREATEST BELL FOUNDRY Church Peal and Chime Bells Best Copper and Tin Only THE W. VANDUZEN COMPANY Buckeye Bell Foundry Cincinnati, O. ESTABLISHED 1837

DR. JOSEPH LOFTUS DENTIST

114 St. Paul St. Opposite James St. ST. CATHARINES

FOR SALE

Twenty-six volumes of the True again thrown open for entry. Witness, commencing with its first issue in August, 1850, edited by the fate lamented George E. Clerk, These volumes are nicely bound, in perfect three years, before the Local Agent, order and consecutive, containing Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspecmost valuable information regarding tor. English-speaking Catholic interests in Canada, it being at that period the missioner of Dominion Lands at Otexponent of their views in the countawa of his intention to do so. try. This is the only known complete set of the publication. Address "True Witness" Office, Montreal.

Shorthand

20 Lessons to-date methods; position guaran interference with regular occupation; North-west Territories.

JAMES A. SMART. no difficulties; everything simple and clear; indorsed by toards of education and leading newspapers; thousands of graduates; first lesson free for stamp.

Department 51, Campaign of Education

211 Townsend Bldg. NEW YORK

WANTED. middle-aged Catholic A refined, woman as housekeeper. References required. Address The Catholic Re-

LIST OF OFFICES 3 KING ST. EAST

415 YONGE STREET 793 YONGE STREET

QUEEN STREET WEST 1352 QUEEN STREET WEST 415 SPADINA AVENUE 306 QUEEN STREET EAST 204 WELLESLEY STREET ESPLANADE EAST, Near Berkeley Street

ESPLANADE EAST, Foot of Church Street BATHURST STREET, PAPE AVENUE. YONGE ST., at C.P.R. Crossing LANSDOWNE AVENUE, Near Dundas street Cor. College and Dovercourt Road. Cor. Dufferin and Bloor streets.

HOMESTEAD RECULATIONS

Any even numbered section of the minion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Territories, excepting a and 26, which has not been homesteaded, or reserved to provide wood lots for settlers, or for other purposes, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

stead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining pa-tent may be satisfied by residence up-on the first homestead, if the second homestead is in the vicinity of the first homestead. (4) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

The term "vicinity" used above is meant to indicate the same township or an adjoining or cornering town-

A settler who avails himself of the provisions of Clauses (2), (8) or (4) must cultivate 80 acres of his homestead, or substitute 20 head of stock, with buildings for their accommoda-tion, and have besides 80 acres substantially fenced.

The privilege of a second entry is restricted by law to those settlers only who completed the duties upon first homesteads to entitle them to patent on or before the 2nd June, 1889.

Every homesteader who fails to comply with the requirements of the homestead law is liable to have his entry cancelled, and the land may be

APPLICATION FOR PATENT Should be made at the end of the

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Com-

INFORMATION

Newly arrived immigrants will receive at the Immigration Office in Winnipeg, or at any Dominion Lands Office in Manitoba or the North-west Territories information as to the lands that are open for entry, and from the officers in charge, free of expense, advice and assistance in securing lands to suit them. Full information respecting the land, timber, coal and mineral laws, as well as respecting Dominion Lands in the Railway Belt in British Columbia. Absolutely most complete and up- may be obtained upon application to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; the Comteed; lessons by mail exclusively; no

Manitoba; or to any of the Dominion

Lands Agents in Manitoba or the Deputy Minister of the Interior N.B.-In addition to Free Crant Lands, to which the Regulations above stated refer, thousands of acres of most desirable lands are available for lease or purchase from Railroad and other Corporations and private firms in Western Canada.

THE BEST ALE!

THE BEST PORTER! (From Pure Irish Mait only)

THE BEST HALF AND HALF

ALWAYS ASK FOR THE BEST

COSCRAVE BREWERY CO. TEL. PARK 140. And of all reputable dealer

MEN WANTED

If you are not satisfied with your present position in life and are reliable, write us and we will start you, local or travelling, tacking up show-cards and generally advertising our goods at $840 a year and expenses ($2.50 a day). For particulars

SALUS MEDICINAL CO.