CITY WILL PROTECT MR. E. B. STOCKDALE SHOULD CATARACT SUE HIM

City Solicitor Henderson Points Out Way in Which Power Contract Can be Broken—Amendment Made to Draft Agreement for Purchase.

TORONTO, March 4.—City Solicitor Henderson has gone over the tentative agreement drafted by the receiver's counsel, and approved by the bondholders' committee, for the purchase of the Grand Valley by the city of Brantford...

"You will observe," writes Mr. Henderson, "that I have altered the terms to make them agree with the provisions of our offer of purchase. The only amendment to it suggested by the bondholders was that we should assume the liability, if any, of the receiver, as such, under the contracts for power with the town of Galt and the Western Counties Electric Co."

It is understood that contracts were in existence at the date of the appointment of the receiver between the Grand Valley Company and the Western Counties Electric Company, and the Grand Valley and the town of Galt, for the supply of electrical power, and that during his term as such receiver power under said contracts has been supplied by the Western Counties Company and the town of Galt for operating the railway, but without any contracts or arrangements being entered into by such receiver.

Mr. Henderson's amendment is not likely to cause any very serious conflict. A vital clause in Mr. Henderson's agreement form is this: "It is understood that contracts were in existence at the date of the appointment of the receiver between the Grand Valley Company and the Western Counties Electric Company, and the Grand Valley and the town of Galt, for the supply of electrical power, and that during his term as such receiver power under said contracts has been supplied by the Western Counties Company and the town of Galt for operating the railway, but without any contracts or arrangements being entered into by such receiver."

All this, of course, is conditional upon two things: The ratepayers of Brantford must say "Yes," and the Legislature of Ontario must empower the municipality to make the purchase.

Miss McIntosh gave selections from each author or poet after the different papers were read, and her selections were certainly very much enjoyed by the guild, and showed that she is a very talented elocutionist.

CITY RELIEF CONTRIBUTIONS

Disbursements are running away ahead of contributions and the work of relief is still pressing in the city, according to those actively connected with the work of the Associated Charities. Unexpected demands are being made daily by those in straightened circumstances, and the organization is doing its best to meet these. The last report of the treasurer, Mr. H. T. Watt shows disbursements to the amount of $56.20, while only one contribution of $10 has been received that being from Mr. G. H. Muirhead of Toronto. Treasurer Watt reports that the funds of the committee are rapidly nearing an end and further assistance is required.

VEGETABLE GROWERS

Will Make Move to Eliminate the Profits of the Middlemen.

The Vegetable Growers' Association have made a strong move for the elimination of the middleman with his profits, and also to reduce the cost of production to the actual producer of vegetables. They have purchased a car of salt and a car of baskets which will be sold to all members at cost. They think that the middleman in the past has considerably increased the cost of living to their members and the new move is an evidence of their attitude. In view of the privileges it would offer it was decided to increase the membership fee from 50c. to $1. with a time limit of three months to pay all dues. A very strong objection was made to the use of the market for Old Home Week, the members contending that it was a breach of one of the conditions upon which the site was bequeathed to the city in perpetuity. Members were in favor of waiting on the City Council in reference to the matter and arrangements will probably be made for a deputation to attend the matter. The formal business of the association was then conducted and the meeting dispersed.

CONCERT PROVED ENJOYABLE ONE

Echo Place Talent Delighted Large Audience Last Evening.

The concert given by the Echo Place Improvement Association was a grand success. Congratulations were in order for Miss Josephine Whitney, who was in charge of the affair. Echo Place residents can be rightly proud of the talent that is in her midst. Each and every one who took part in the concert were highly praised.

The program consisted as follows: "Reception given by England and other Nations," "Queen on the Throne," Miss Margaret Patterson, who took the part as queen, made a very handsome and dignified queen. Mr. Morley Myers acted as chairman as well as body guard for the queen. The first part of the program was where the bodyguard introduced the different nations to the queen. After all nations had been presented to the queen, a song was very prettily rendered by Mrs. Wm. Lewis, entitled "Land of Hope and Glory," and joined in the chorus by the different nations.

A very pretty Irish lilt was led by Ireland, which was greatly applauded. Lassie Song by Sweden, consisting of 16 little girls, and every one made a very pretty picture on the platform. German Folk Dance, by eight young ladies, who presented a very pretty moving picture. The next was Iceland Bell Drill by Iceland, consisting of eight young boys. This was enjoyed very much by the audience. A Japanese lantern drill provided a very difficult drill on account of there being so many young girls taking parts. It had a very pretty effect. A song, Pinky Panky too by eight young boys was given. They were enjoyed very much. The Highland fling dance by Miss Grace Williams, who proved herself a graceful dancer, was enjoyed by the audience. An Indian dance by three little Indian maids, consisting of Aerial McConkey, Rhoda Drury, Emily Davidson. One of the hits of the evening was sung by Miss Jennie Patterson and Miss Davidson, two little girls, entitled, "Don't you Play," a doll song which was enjoyed. The next on the program was where all who took part gathered on the stage and sang "O Canada," and the audience joined in and ended by singing Good Save the King.

The social committee who were in charge, consisted of Mr. A. Williams, Mr. Morley Myers, Mr. E. G. Gamm, Mr. Wm. Lewis, and Mr. P. T. Morrow. The ladies committee was Miss Josephine Whitney, Mrs. A. Williams, Mrs. Wm. Lewis, Miss Patterson. The social committee has been requested by a number of the people who were present last night that this affair be put on again in the near future, as they enjoyed it very much. There were about 350 in attendance. The proceeds of this concert will go to help furnish one of the vacant rooms in the school building. The Echo Place Improvement Association is very grateful to each and every one who assisted in this concert, and it is through their co-operation that the concert was a success.

Miss D. Heligan, who danced the Irish lilt, was encored, and also proved herself a very pretty dancer.

Miss Johnson was the pianist for the evening, which was appreciated by all. The piano was from T. J. Barton and Son.

A CONCERT AT OXFORD STREET

Ladies of the Red Division Put on a Splendid Program Last Night.

The Red Division of the Ladies Aid of Oxford St. Methodist church last evening gave a splendid concert in the church before a well filled house. The Ladies' Aid of the church is divided into two divisions the reds and the blues and the former gave last night's concert.

The artists last night acquitted themselves in an especially pleasing manner and great credit is due the ladies of the red side for their selection. Every number was thoroughly enjoyed and it would be hard to name any one particular star. Perhaps the feature of the evening's entertainment were selections from the City Male Quartette. Every number they rendered was of a pleasing nature and received well merited applause.

Rev. A. I. Snyder of Sydenham street Methodist church, was in the chair and opened the entertainment with a few witty and humorous remarks which put the audience in exceedingly good humor. During the intermission, Rev. Mr. Marshall, pastor of the church spoke a few congratulatory remarks to the ladies for their splendid entertainment.

At the close of the concert the artists of the evening sat down to a dainty supper, at the close of which the City Male Quartette rendered another selection.

Miss Bier of the Conservatory of Music and Miss Ecraet made very efficient accompanists for the evening.

The following was the programme: Chairman's address, Rev. A. I. Snyder; quartette, City Male Quartette, Messrs. B. Jago, Chas. Johnson, Wm. Darwin and Glennville; solo, Miss Heaman! reading, Miss Smoke; duet, Messrs. Harold and Houghton; reading, Miss Campion; intermission; address, Rev. Mr. Marshall; solo, Miss Della White; reading, Mr. T. Harry Jones; quartette, Messrs. Harold and Houghton; reading, Miss Smoke; solo, Miss Heaman; quartette, City Male Quartette; solo, Miss Campion; reading, T. Harry Jones; solo, Miss Della White; God Save the King.

Paris News

PARIS, March 4—Those present at the monthly meeting of the school board last night were Chairman Whitley, Messrs. Inksater, Hillborn, Munn, Martin, Marker, Dunton and Secretary Logie.

The auditors report was received and adopted. The total receipts for the High School amounted to $9759.75 with expenditures of $8,451.14, leaving a balance on hand of $8,451.14, leaving a balance of $1,308.61.

For the Public school the receipts were $10,897.35 and expenditure $10,087.45, leaving a balance of $809.90.

The eight lady teachers applied for a raise in salary to the maximum figure of $600 which was fixed at the last meeting of the board. On motion of Messrs. Dunton and Inksater their applicants were referred to the School Management committee to report at the next meeting of the board.

Principal Dickson's report for February showed a total roll call for the Public school of 506, with an average daily attendance of 450, or 89 p.c. In the opinion of the board that although this was a better showing than January it was not satisfactory. Penny bank deposits for the month of February amounted to $85,455.

Secretary Logie had written to the Ontario Department of Education in respect to the grant for manual training which was not up to what had been expected. He was in receipt of a reply stating that 15 p.c. had been deducted throughout the province.

In passing the usual number of accounts two came in for some discussion. G. H. Carroll rendered an account for $8.00 for one blackboard. The board in question was about 8 feet by a feet and the trustees thought the amount excessive.

The caretaker came in for some criticism when a bill was received for replacing two broken radiators. It was claimed that had the radiators been drained they would not have broken.

The question of buying a photograph for use in the teaching of stenography was left to the management committee.

There was a large meeting of business men in Board of Trade rooms last night when it was decided to put on a "Dollar Day" in Paris. A committee was formed and the meeting adjourned until to-night when the report of the committee will be received.

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, March 3.—Speculators sold wheat today with more courage than they showed in some time. Opinions by crop experts that the plant was entering spring with best promise in many years, took attention away from scattering views of damage. The close was weak, 3-8c to 7-8c under last night. Corn finished 3-8c to 1/2c down, oats off 1-8c to 1/4c, and provisions varying from a shade decline to an advance of 5c.

Arrested in New York.
Kenneth Gorton, formerly a clerk in the employ of William Graham and Co. shipping merchants, was charged at Manchester with forging an endorsement of a cheque for five hundred pounds, and counsel stated that there were two similar charges against him, one for five hundred pounds and the other for one hundred and eighty pounds. Gorton was arrested in New York, it was stated, and arrived in England last week.

Evidence was given stating that the accounts of two firms to whom Messrs Graham owed money were increased, in one case by £500 and another by £680, and that the cheques for these amounts, which a partner of Messrs. Graham signed, were endorsed by prisoner and paid into prisoner's wife's banking account. Prisoner, who reserved his defence, was committed for trial. His wife fainted as he left the dock.

HOSPITAL FIGURES

It will be noticed that the estimated expenditure at the Hospital for the present year is $24,000, an increase of $1423 over last year. This leaves a balance of $9500, which the city of Brantford will have to provide, less the sums received from the county and townships. At present the county has contributed $500 per annum and the township of Brantford $250. The other townships have not given anything. The stand they apparently take is that they are represented in the county grant. It is to be sincerely hoped that they will reconsider this view. The facts are that general patients who come to the institution from the urban districts do so on the basis of a charge of seventy cents a day. This amount, it can readily be understood, does not begin to meet the average cost per capita, and it is the people of the city who have to put up the difference.

A hospital is of just as much advantage and importance to county residents as to city ditto, and an inefficient institution would be keenly felt in both directions. The Courier feels sure, when the facts are presented to the Township Councils not now contributing, that they will receive the representatives in a cordial and fair-minded manner.

THE STREET RAILWAY

At the Board of Trade meeting Mayor Spence gave a very lucid address with reference to the Street Railway and the events leading up to the possibility of municipal ownership. He stated that there was no present intention of junking the line between Brantford and Galt via Paris, and this is undoubtedly a wise decision. It is understood that the service between here and the neighboring town is on a paying basis, and that business is showing steady improvement with reference to the Galt end. The fact that the road is paralleled by the Lake Erie & Northern will, of course, have to be faced, but dismantling should not be considered except as an extreme necessity.

It is altogether likely that the system may not pay for a little. In St. Thomas, for example, where the local road is owned by the municipality, deficits have so far been recorded, and in January last there same totaled $220, the lowest yet reached in any month. Even under such circumstances the people of the Railway City are most emphatic in the declaration that they would not go back to the old order of things.

And, be it remembered, St. Thomas is not Brantford. We possess a population of some thousands more, and have many hundreds residing in the township as a city overflow, to whom car extension would be a benefit eagerly welcomed and used.

One of the main features of the proposed acquisition is that the city will secure the return of a franchise which still has 38 years to run—a franchise, be it noted, very loosely drawn and faulty in many important essentials. We know now more about how such privileges should be framed than in the earlier period, when the desire was to obtain cars at almost any price.

Can any thoughtful man doubt that long before the elapse of the best part of half a century, said franchise will be worth many times more than the entire financial obligation which ratepayers are asked to assume at this period?

TESTIMONY FROM AN ENGLISH LABOR LEADER

When the indisputable fact is affirmed that wages are much higher in two such protected countries as Canada and the States than they are in Great Britain under her fiscal system, Free Trade fanatics resort to the plea that it costs more to live on this continent than it does in the Old Land. That is undoubtedly true, but the ratio of wages here and across the border is much higher than the difference in living expenditure.

Not long ago Tom Mann, the noted labor leader, toured the Dominion and the States, and during the course of a recent article in the London Daily Herald he said:

"That which is always uppermost in the minds of workmen when dealing with conditions in other countries is: 'Are the conditions better than here? Could I improve my position as a workman by going there?' To these questions there is no difficulty in replying. I say emphatically 'Yes' to both.

"As to the purchasing power of money, I estimate it to be one-fourth less in Canada than in the United Kingdom, so that the sixteen shillings received by the hod-carrier in Canada would be about equal to twelve shillings in this country; but in this glorious country the hod-carrier is fortunate if he receives fifteen cents an hour—certainly less than half that his fellow-worker in the Dominion receives.

HON. MR. MONK RESIGNS

The resignation of Hon. F. D. Monk from the Commons is announced. He has been a very sick man for some time past, and the step is taken upon the advice of his physicians.

Mr. Monk has been a member of the House for some years, and in the last general contest carried his riding (Jacques Cartier) by a majority of 1340. Upon the accession to power of the Borden Government in 1911 he was made Minister of Public Works, but resigned over the proposed grant to Great Britain of the price of three dreadnoughts. He adopted this course because he deemed himself pledged to have this matter first go to the people. The incident was characteristic of the man. In thus acting he did not get into any clash whatever with the Administration, which in all other respects continued to have his hearty support.

He is a man of very scholarly attainments, and the grind of public life was never very enticing to him.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Tilbury gas is not a fine article, but at any rate it leads to fine results.

The municipal debt of Montreal now amounts to $140 per head; mainly because it is headquarters for graiers.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell is to be tendered a dinner at Ottawa by members of both sides in connection with the recent celebration of his ninety-third birthday. At that the venerable Senator will be one of the youngest there for age does not seem to wither him.

Seventy cents per day is the price charged for general patients at the Brantford hospital. Figures show that the average outlay is $1.30 per day, including medicine and so on, for each, hence the decision of the governors to present the matter to non-contributing Townships.

An elevator man in Toronto underwent a severe test at the Observatory there, with three exceptions, recalled from memory the weather conditions of each day morning, noon and night for a period of twenty-four years, or 26,280 in all. The result was not only climatic, but also reached a climax. He is probably one man at any rate who has never forgotten to post his wife's letters.

At a meeting of the Stratford City Council it was decided subsequent to a conference with Hon. Adam Beck, to ask the Hydro-Electric Power Commission to have their engineers report on the feasibility of four lines running from Stratford, as follows: Stratford to Guelph, via Wellesley; Stratford to Grand Bend; Stratford to Brussels via Monkton and Stratford to London via Thamesford. This great movement under the auspices of the Conservative government has certainly become an epoch making event.

OFFICE HOLDING

A man holds office for a while, and bleeds and dies in costly style to save our bulwarks from decay, and then upon a fateful day he finds he is an also ran—the office job has dumped the man. And does he then gird up his loins, and say: "I'll go and chase the coins as in the sunny days gone by, ere I began to bleed and die?" Ah, no! He's done with useful toil; you will not see him till the soil, or scurry down old Doblin's legs, or scratch around to find the eggs. He will not plant the corn in May, or bale the fragrant, juicy hay, or paint the fence or prune the trees, or herd the humble bumble bees. The office term is in his brain, and all your pleadings are in vain. He has no use for sweat-earned kale; he'll camp upon the Party's trail, where all the dreary has-beens throng, and beg for handouts from the strong. He'd rather have some dinky job awarded by the "statesmen" mob than ornament his native town by holding some position down. You learn a lot of tricks and guile, you lose your grip on things worth while, to useful work you close your eye, when once you've learned to bleed and die.

Birthdays Note

WEDNESDAY, MARCH FOURTH

This is the natal day of Senator William Dennis, proprietor and editor of the Halifax Herald.

Senator Dennis was born in England fifty-eight years ago and came to Canada when a lad of seventeen. He started his newspaper career soon after, beginning as a reporter on the paper which he now owns. After being well trained he went to Winnipeg where he was employed for a time on the editorial staff of the Winnipeg Sun. He returned to Halifax and became news editor of the Herald. From this position he rose to be editor-in-chief and then proprietor. As head of the Herald Publishing Company he has been active on various occasions in raising large sums of money for public and philanthropic purposes.

WHOLE GANG TO APPEAR THURSDAY

(Continued from Page 1) stirring. Trimming the trees did not mean mutilation, and as his orders had not been carried out he was not chargeable.

Mr. Henderson characterized the depredations as dastardly. The Magistrate thought it advisable that an adjournment be granted and the whole gang who were working on Brant avenue will be summoned to appear in the morning.

Boy Was Fined.

The boy who was charged by Brad-dick of stealing bicycles was fined to the extent of a half share of $28.75. He was admitted to be guilty and along with another boy, they had taken another bike away from the Collegiate Institute, and his accomplice had to pay his portion of the fine. Both boys had taken the wheels to Brad-dick and sold them for $2.50 and $3 on the market. At had not been recovered and the fines practically covered the cost of the missing machines.

H. Clouse on a charge of stealing a watch was dismissed. The evidence against him was purely circumstantial and it was not considered strong enough to convict.

V. H. Hazell struck a fellow workman who accidentally knocked down some material which he had stacked. He pleaded provocation but three witnesses testified against him, and as the man he struck was over sixty years of age, he was found guilty of assault and ordered to pay $10 and costs amounting altogether to $14.85. For the privilege of taking the law into his own hands he paid dearly.

MANY VISIT THE MILLINERY OPENING

The Spring Millinery Opening of the Enterprise Millinery Parlors, 77 Colborne street commenced today. This popular and high-class emporium was visited yesterday by scores of ladies who showed deep interest in the new styles.

Some of the new hats that were featured ere the Bolera Toques and the popular Wateau hats for dress wear and were very much admired. For early spring wear the Al Ribbon Hats were shown and a various collection of trimmed saliors. Others were in the Mimerat effect. The latter's effect in ready to wears and dress hats and the Palm Tree effect in trimmings were much in evidence.

Laid at Rest

The late Richard Frankland. The remains of the late Richard Frankland were interred yesterday at Greenwood Cemetery amid scenes of deep sorrow. Mr. Ayllife sang in an impressive manner "Lead, Kind Light" at the residence of Mr. Lewis Anquish, 16 Ballour street, from whence the cortege proceeded to the burial ground. The Rev. T. E. Helling conducted the last inspiring services, and the pallbearers were Ed. Hutchinson, H. J. Bailey, Walter Thompson, Lewis Anquish, A. C. Graham, S. G. Read. An abundance of floral tributes were offered to the memory of the late gentleman.

ROYAL MOTORS HELD UP

King Alfonso of Spain had a curious experience the other day when he was motoring from La Granja to Madrid to preside over a Cabinet meeting.

Being pressed for time, the Royal car was allowed to travel at high speed, and, as a result two mounted policemen stopped the vehicle. The King informed them who he was, but failing to recognize the Sovereign, they insisted on him accompanying them to the nearest police station.

Here the inspector realized the identity of the "capture," and was being driven in a motor to Linreprimanded his indiscreet subordinates. King Alfonso, however, treated the affair as a joke, and shortly afterwards sent the men a box of cigars.

This reminds us of the amusing adventure which befel the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary when they were being driven in a motor to Lighthov. When the car reached the west end of Prince's street, Edinburgh, the chauffeur found that the police had stopped all the traffic in connection with the laying by King George of the foundation stone of the new Ulster Hall in Lothian road. The policeman on duty refused to give the motor a passage and when the driver sought to explain whom the occupants were, his words fell on deaf ears. At this embarrassing stage, Mr. A. Horsburgh Campbell, the Burgh Engineer, came up and recognizing the Prince succeeded in curing a pathway for the motor.

A good story concerns the late King Edward and the toll-bar keeper at Lymington. His Majesty was out motoring with the present Lord Montagu, in the summer of 1902, and when their car reached the toll-gate, owned by the London and South-Western Railway Company, at the end of the causeway which crosses the Lymington River the man in charge refused to let the motorist through, declaring that earlier in the day some motorist had rushed the gate without paying.

Lord Montagu endeavored to impress upon the keeper that the King was in the waiting car, but the king kept on repeating, "King, or no King 'oo was it 'oo rushed me gate." Eventually he imagined that his lordship could inform him who the offending motorist was, and could recover the toll fee he had been cheated of. Eventually, after much grumbling, Lord Montagu and his Royal passenger were allowed to pass through the gate on payment of the usual fee, and this Majesty laughed heartily at the amusing contretemps.

An equally amusing incident concerns the German Emperor. It happened when he paid a visit to Kew Gardens, on May 17, 1911. The hour fixed for opening the gardens to the public was two o'clock, and when His Majesty of Potsdam's carriage drew up at the gates facing Kew Green before that time, the keeper in attendance declined to allow the Royal visitor to enter, declaring that his orders were to admit no one before the right hour save by special order of the Curator. Notwithstanding that he was informed that the Kaiser desired admittance, he remained politely obdurate. As a result the German monarch had to drive to the Curator's office in order to secure the necessary permit.

As is known, the Kaiser is very fond of making surprise visits to barracks and dockyards in his domains. Early one morning he surprised a naval detachment with a submarine section. An elderly colonel came upon the scene and seeing another officer in the distance, whom he thought he recognized, he advanced towards him and, pointing a finger towards the submarine crew, said: "I see that Godofa Willy has fished up the aquarium this morning." "I see he has," was the reply; and it was then that the colonel discovered that he had addressed the German Emperor.

Missing Man Drowned.

STREET RAILWAY DEAL WAS APPROVED LAST NIGHT BY THE BOARD OF TRADE

ways be proud. Because of the nature of his art, Mr. Allward cannot promise even an approximate date for delivery.

There should be good work for the Board of Trade during the year. Brantford proposes to purchase the property of the Grand Valley Railway Company, which includes the Brantford Street Railway.

In order that the meetings of the Board of Trade may be of the most interest to the members, it is suggested that speakers of prominence from outside be invited to address us on important questions of the day.

The question of fees for membership in our board should receive early consideration. The present fee of $2.00 is, of course, not sufficient to cover the duties of the board.

The Greater Brantford Board has its organization now developed with information and experience to bring prompt and satisfactory results. Several plants are now being erected in the city through its efforts and the members are very enthusiastic for the future.

Before the close of the year we hope to see trains running on the Lake Erie and others, not only to Galt but also to Port Dover. This will be of great importance commercially to Brantford.

present us on a committee with members of the City Council to consider the question of bridges over the Grand River.

We will also this year begin to reap the benefits of Hydro Electric. Brantford will soon have the best lighted streets in Canada.

My idea of the functions of a Board of Trade is that it should initiate movements to advance the interests of the city and also supply, as the necessity arises, the means for proper consideration of any questions that may affect the welfare of the community.

C. Cook thanked the new president for his splendid report and said that he thought the board would endorse what had been said in his opening remarks.

Communications.
Communications were read from the secretary of the Panama Exposition and the General Passenger Agent of the Pacific Union Railway.

The former asks for a date in this city to lecture to the Board of Trade and citizens of Brantford. He is making a tour of Canadian cities giving illustrated lectures on the Panama Exposition and the Panama Canal zone.

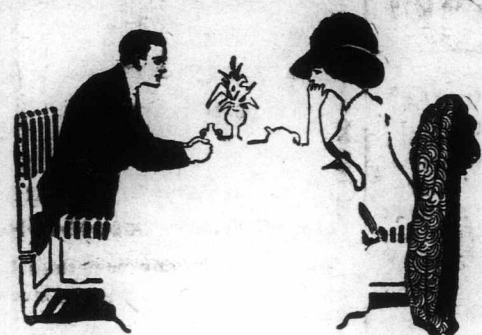

Street Railway.
The matter of the purchase of the Street Railway by the city was opened by an address by Mayor Spence: "I don't think anyone will have the nerve to say we have a street railway in this city," said Mayor Spence.

In going over the matter in the City Council it had been decided that a sum of money will be required to put the road on a paying basis. The council figured on $70,000 to set the road running.

The city of St. Thomas now owns its street railway and while not being a paying proposition yet the citizens should be prepared to take advantage of the special opportunities this railway will offer us in that territory.

For the Blood

road it could be made a paying proposition. He said that although it would cost a considerable sum of money to put the road in shape, still he was of the opinion that the city would get their money back.

Mr. Powell was of the opinion that the road to Galt should not be discontinued as the commercial relations between Galt and Paris were too great to let this road be closed. He said he thought that the interests of the community lay in the continuation of this road.

Mr. A. L. Baird asked the mayor why they had steered clear of the Canadian General Electric Co. The Mayor replied that the city and the Electric Co. were working in harmony.

Mr. J. H. Ham one of the committee who went to Toronto in connection with the purchase of the road, pointed out the value the city was getting for its money in purchasing the road bed. Brantford had a population which could easily make the road a paying proposition.

Mr. H. H. Powell said he thought that if the city were to take over the line should run over the hill on Erie avenue and make a loop to join the end of the present line on Cayuga street.

The Mayor, in reply to Mr. Powell's remarks as to the continuation of the line to Galt, stated that for the present at least the road would be left in operation.

Mr. John Fair gave two reasons why the city should buy the road. The first was that the city was getting a bargain. At any other time the road could not be bought for half a million. The other reason was that the men who invest in railroads today are the shrewdest business men and some of these had had their eyes on this road.

Mr. C. A. Waterous said that the city could not afford to suffer though they may not make it pay for the first few years.

Mr. Muir asked what the taxes on the road would amount to each year. The Mayor replied that the taxes would amount to an annual tax of about $600 for the next eight years. The reason there were not a number of men bidding on the road was that the one who bought it would buy a lawsuit.

Mr. A. L. Baird said that the present company is one of the most lawless companies in the country. There was absolutely no law that could deal with them. If a child was killed not one cent damages could be collected, and he thought it was an important point in favor of the purchase of the road.

Mr. Kellett's bid was for himself only, and had nothing whatever to do with the L. E. & N.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Moved by J. H. Ham, seconded by A. L. Baird, that this Board of Trade is in favor of the purchase by the city of the Grand Valley and Brantford street railway, and trusts that the ratepayers will give assent to the by-law to be submitted to them for their approval.

Novelist Gardener.
Mr. Charles Garvice, at a meeting in London, claimed to be the only novelist that knew anything about gardening, and in support of this tribute to himself quoted a scene from a recent novel by a lady, in which the heroine in the month of March was made to "put up a snowy white arm and pick a pear from the wall beside."

Golden Heart

A Story For St. Valentine's Day
By CLARISSA MACKIE

Among all the gay valentines in the window of the bookshop one stood out distinctly.
Jack Edmonds saw nothing save that golden satin heart, dainty with lace and ribbons and bearing a message for whoever might read:
Here's a message for you, heart of gold. I am waiting with a secret yet untold. Oh, heart of gold, accept this valentine! It bears the message—love, be mine!
"Heart of gold," murmured Jack grimly; "that's what I used to call little Rose before she grew independent and ran out into the world. I wonder if I will ever find my heart of gold?"
"Good morning, Mr. Edmonds," a gay, sweet voice broke in on his musings. "Are not the valentines perfectly dear?"
"Very pretty indeed," laughed Jack, shaking hands with Margaret Mordaunt. "It would be hard to make a choice."
Margaret made some laughing rejoinder and they chatted a few moments the girl all sparkling with a most betraying lovelight in her eyes.
More than once his eyes wandered to the golden heart in the middle of the window, and she, guessing that perhaps he desired to enter the shop and purchase it for her, bade him a laughing farewell while he handed her into the waiting motorcar.
"I hope you have not forgotten the St. Valentine's ball," she cried eagerly as the machine rolled away.
He smiled and nodded and replaced his hat and returned to the window. A few moments later when he left the shop the golden heart was gone from the window.
On the morning of St. Valentine's day Margaret Mordaunt entered the library, where her mother's secretary was sitting the morning mail.
"Good morning, Miss Blakely," said Margaret, with pleasant carelessness; "I hope you have a lot of letters for me this morning."
Rose Blakely smiled over her task. Miss Mordaunt was a beautiful, sophisticated woman, but on that morning she wore a dress of embossed envelopes, heart shaped boxes of sweets, and on a table were several boxes of flowers.
Margaret hastily scanned the boxes and tossed them aside. Then she glared the letters and tore them open, looking for the golden heart, but in vain. She was another with an eagerness that surprised the little secretary, so different was it from Miss Mordaunt's customary pose of cool indifference.
At last Margaret grasped the missives which Rose still held in her hand. One by one she tore open the large square envelopes, only to cast them aside. Then she pounced on a flat, square box, ripped off the wrappings and gazed entranced at the golden heart.
So he had sent it to her after all!
"The heart is very simple and not fit for preparing for her day's work, happened to glance over Margaret's shoulder as she passed. She saw the large golden heart and Margaret's rapt face. Rose smiled sympathetically. She wondered which one of Margaret's many suitors had sent this one; it was evidently the favored lover. Who was he?
"Look, Miss Blakely," said Margaret, with unaccustomed condensation. "Isn't this perfectly lovely?"
Rose took the valentine, and as she read the message addressed to "Golden Heart" her sweet little face went very white, and she laid the valentine down without a word.
"What is the matter? Don't you think it is pretty?" asked Margaret jealously.
"It is very pretty," gasped Rose, "but the name is not mine, and I don't think so!" She swayed a little, and Margaret hastened to support her to a couch. "I will ring for Sarah to bring you a glass of water."
While Rose sipped the water and lay back with closed eyes and pale face Margaret picked up her letters and packages.
As she picked up the white paper which had inclosed the golden heart Margaret glanced at the superscription. Her startled gaze concentrated on the blue-black characters, and the letters swam before her vision. Again and again she read the address, and each time she looked furtively at the pale face of the little secretary.
"It is mine, in spite of all!" muttered Margaret, as she swept from the room. "I don't understand it, but he must have sent it to me! He doesn't even know her—they have not met."
Mrs. Mordaunt faced her daughter with anger in her blue eyes.
"Not invite Miss Blakely downstairs?" she repeated. "Why, my dear Margaret, you invited her yourself."
"Please, mother, I'd rather not have her. Well, her come down until she unmasking then."
"Another Cinderella?" asked Mrs. Mordaunt quietly as she swept from the room.
Margaret made no answer. She was thinking of Jack Edmonds and his evident indifference to her own charms.

She had surprised a strangely tender look on his face that morning as she came upon him at the bookshop, and, fool that she was, she told herself fiercely, she had believed that he was thinking of her!
And that telltale wrapper that had come around the golden heart!
Margaret went into her room and, unlocking a drawer of her desk, took out the paper.
"For Miss Rose Blakely, 107 Galbraith Terrace, City. Please Forward," Galbraith terrace was Rose Blakely's old address, and the missive had been forwarded from one place to another until it had reached the Mordaunt home, where Rose, now in reduced circumstances, was living.
"But she cannot want it as I do!" cried Margaret passionately, as she tossed the telltale paper in the fire and watched it turn to black ashes. "Why, out of all the men in the world, should it be the only one I care for—and why should he be indifferent to me?"
Thus poor Margaret Mordaunt voiced the wail of unhappy women since the world began. For a long time she sat there gazing into the fire's heart, thinking of many things. At last her maid came to her for the bath.
Margaret listlessly gave herself into Pauline's skillful hands, and presently, when she emerged dressed as the Queen of Hearts, no one would have suspected that her own heart was sore and aching.
As she tied the little black mask over her eyes she said to Celeste:
"Perhaps Miss Blakely would like some assistance, Celeste."
"I have asked her, Miss Margaret, but she sent word that if you would excuse her she would not come down. She has a bad headache," care fore and am sorry," said Margaret, but she could not help the relief in her heart.
She stopped at Rose's door and urged her to come down later, but the girl looked so pale and unhappy that Margaret closed the door gently and came away.
Three hours later the rooms were glittered with lights and gay with the varicolored costumes of the dancers. Mrs. Mordaunt, stately and handsome as Queen Elizabeth, was unmasked. Once she beckoned the Queen of Hearts.
"Margaret," she said, "Miss Blakely is feeling better, and she is upstairs in the little brown study. I have urged her to come down later, and she has half promised. She will wear a little red domino. Don't forget."
"No, mother, dear," said Margaret, with unaccustomed gentleness.
"Who is the tall man garbed as the melancholy Dane? The one you have danced with so often?" smiled Mrs. Mordaunt.
"Oh, Hamlet?" laughed Margaret. "I suspect it's Mr. Edmonds. It's so puzzling, and such fun!" She danced, and Mrs. Mordaunt smiled because Margaret was so beautiful and sighed because she knew the girl was unhappy, which was a way that mothers have.
"Oh, prince," said Margaret suddenly, "if you will step up and do me a favor."
Hamlet bowed gracefully. "As your majesty pleases."
"Please go upstairs," ordered Margaret with trembling haste, "to the cozy room we call the 'brown study.' It is at the head of the stairs. There you will see a committee on the way you can gain possession of it if you bring it down here and wear it. I wish you success!"
For an instant Jack Edmonds surveyed the girl through the narrow eye-holes of his mask. He recognized Margaret Mordaunt, as so many of her guests had done, but he wondered at her gay mood with him.
Again he bowed and made his way toward the door, many a charming eye following the progress of his tall, graceful form. It was not often that Jack Edmonds ventured into society. He was a busy man, and the urgency of affairs called him away from home very often. But in the last few months he had become well acquainted with the Mordaunts, and now he felt quite at home in the hospitable mansion.
He paused at the door of the brown study. "I wonder if I shall find the rose," he smiled as he turned the knob. The rose was there, but it was not the luthouse flower he had expected to find.
It was Rose Blakely, his rose, Rose of the golden heart.
She glanced up as he entered and a startled look came into her eyes. She was in the act of fastening a crimson domino over her little black frock, and the entrance of the masked man had surprised her.
"I was sent here to find a rose," said Hamlet softly.
At the sound of his well remembered voice Rose Blakely trembled and hid her face in her hands.
"Margaret Mordaunt sent me here to find a rose," he went on, "and if I could win it I was to wear it against my heart. Rose, my girl of the golden heart, haven't I waited long enough for you?"
And then Rose came to him.
Later they went downstairs together, the demure little form in the crimson domino and the black garbed prince of Denmark. Their masks half concealed their happy faces.
Margaret Mordaunt saw them coming, and her lips whitened. One jeweled hand clutched her heart, against which lay the golden satin valentine which was all she had left of the day's joy, all that remained to her save the knowledge that she had been tempted and had resisted.
And although Margaret Mordaunt did not know it then, at that moment when she met these two and smiled bravely upon them, at that moment her own heart became a golden one, and the beauty of it lighted her whole life and that of the man who afterward won her love.

TARZAN OF THE APES

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company

Inside the den they saw the strange white ape lying half across a table, his head buried in his arms, and on the bed lay a figure covered by a sailcloth...

Noisefully Kerchak entered, crouching for the charge, and then John Clayton rose with a sudden start and faced them.

The sight that met his eyes must have frozen him with horror, for there, within the door, stood three great blue apes, while behind them crowded many more...

When Kerchak released the limp form which had been John Clayton, Lord Greystoke, he turned his attention toward the little cradle, but Kala was there before him...

As she took up the little live baby of Alice Clayton she dropped the dead body of her own into the empty cradle. The call of the living infant with its mother's wild wailing which the dead could not still.

High up among the branches of a mighty tree she hugged the shrieking infant to her bosom, and soon the instinct that was as dominant in this fierce female as it had been in the breast of Kala, the great ape...

The cleverly constructed latch which Clayton had made for the door had sprung as Kerchak passed out, nor could the apes find means of ingress through the heavily barred windows.

Kala sometimes talked with the older females about her young hopeful, but none of them could understand how a child could be so slow and backward in learning to care for itself.

Had she known that the child had given thirteen moons before it had come into Kala's possession they would have considered its case as absolutely hopeless.

Tublak, Kala's husband, was sorely vexed and but for the female's careful watching would have put the child out of the way.

"He will never be a great ape," he argued. "Always will you have to carry him and protect him. What good will he be to the tribe? None. Only a burden."

"Let us leave him quietly sleeping among the tall grasses, that you may bear other and stronger apes to guard us in our old age."

"Never, Broken Nose," replied Kala. "I must carry him forever, so be it."

Tublak went to Kerchak to urge him to use his authority with Kala and force her to give up little Tarzan, which was the name they had given to the tiny Lord Greystoke...

But when Kerchak spoke to her about it Kala threatened to run away from the tribe if they did not leave her in peace with the child...

As Tarzan grew by the time he was ten years old he was an excellent climber and on the ground could do many wonderful things which were beyond the powers of his little brothers and sisters.

Many ways did he differ from them, and they often marvelled at his superior cunning, but in strength and size he was deficient...

From early infancy he had used his hands to swing from branch to branch after the manner of his giant mother, and as he grew older he spent hours upon hour daily speeding through the treetops with his brothers and sisters.

He could spring twenty feet across space at the dizzy heights of the forest top and grasp with unerring precision and without apparent jar a limb waving wildly in the path of an approaching tornado.

He could drop twenty feet at a stretch from limb to limb in rapid descent to the ground, or he could gain the utmost pinnacle of the loftiest tropical giant with the ease and swiftness of a squirrel...

His life among the fierce apes had been happy, for his recollection held no other life, nor did he know that there existed within the universe anything else than his little forest and the wild jungle animals with which he was familiar.

Social Service Congress Is In Session At Ottawa

Welcome to 800 Delegates by Premier Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Betterment of Humanity is Aim of Congress.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3—"We at this congress stand on guard for Canada, to materialize the forces of an enlightened and patriotic people—that is why we are assembled here at the headquarters of Canada where the men in power have the ability to grant what this congress will pray for."

This was the opening statement of the address with which Rev. Dr. Carman, president of the Social Service Congress of Canada and General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, opened the first Social Service Congress ever held in the Dominion, held in the Normal School today.

"We are here to redeem the land, to help our fellow citizens to live a higher life, to exalt the morals of the country and inspire the manhood and womanhood to better things," explained the chairman with an earnestness that was felt throughout the great audience.

Inspiring addresses of welcome to the delegates, who have come from all parts of Canada, representing all the churches and several religious organizations, were given by Premier Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Controller Dr. Parent.

That the family life to-day had not the influence on the children for good that it had thirty or forty years ago was one of the convincing statements of the Premier. He said that one of the greatest needs of to-day is the enforcement of laws that are on the statute books. It is a significant fact, however, said Mr. Borden, that laws which are passed contrary to public opinion are not a success.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that as leader of the opposition he would do all possible to advance the objects of the congress. He fully appreciated that the purpose of the organization is to elevate and improve the condition of mankind.

This Social Service Congress is one of the most notable gatherings ever assembled in Canada. It has attracted some of the leading dignitaries connected with every church and religious organization in Canada and also the leaders of the trades and labor congress, the National Council of Women and the Canadian Purify Education Association.

For three days the congress will be in session and during that time a variety of subjects dealing with the ethical, economic and religious problems confronting the state will be discussed by some of the best known men and women connected with those movements.

There are equally as many women delegates as men in attendance. At this morning's session there were fully 800 present.

"In the age of rapid development, when the cry of the market and materialism is louder than ever, you must make the people of Canada understand there is a higher and a greater consideration on which the foundations of this nation are to be laid," said Premier Borden at the outset of his address.

I am an old man, but it seems to me that within the last 40, even 30 years, there was in the family life a more powerful influence on child life than there is to-day.

"You are to discuss church and industrial life, the radical changes in the life of the working man, neglected and dependent children, and the commercialization of vice and white slave traffic. All these subjects have a great and urgent importance. You have alluded to the part the government may be expected to take in passing co-operative legislation. You may talk on matters that require remedy and redress. I think the government of to-day and of the past has ever been ready and willing to co-operate, but so far as the government and parliament are concerned, I must say that it is as bad to have no law as a law that is not enforced. I have seen laws placed on the statute books of my own province, and I believe it is similar in other provinces, which are treated with contemptuous disregard. It would have been far better if no such laws had been enacted."

"Whatever decision the congress will come to regarding the co-oper-tion to be sought from the government, I would say the legislation must not only be effective, but there must be an effective means for enforcing it. An attempt to go beyond public opinion, has never been successful in the past.

"Some of the recent examples of political corruption have startled us. Would to God the conscience of the people of Canada would be aroused," said Right Rev. J. C. Farthing, bishop of Montreal, in his reply to the welcome.

He maintained that the spirit of the church and the state can never be separated if the good of the country is to be considered primarily.

"The church, not the hierarchy, but the spirit, must be in the state, in the family, in business, in social life, in short, it must be everywhere. If the church were more in the social life we would not see such caricatures of womanhood parading the streets. We would not have scandals in the halls of legislation, if the church and state were closer together."

Bishop Farthing scored the politician who thinks he is privileged to lie or be crooked in public life. He is as responsible for lies and corruption in political or public life as he is in his private life, declared the bishop.

"The prime minister or any other public official is as much a minister of Christ as a recognized minister of the gospel."

A few more public scandals such as we have had recently will effectually lower the social standard, he said.

Rev. W. A. Rochester, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada, spoke on "the weekly rest day and the national well-being," in which he advanced the advantage of everyone having one day per week for rest.

Rev. Canon Tucker of London spoke on the Indians and their relation to Canada, advocating the appointment of a general superintendent of Indian affairs. The time had arrived for the passing of the reserves and Indian children should be reared as citizens of the future. In reserves to-day, Indians were cooped up in schools and bedrooms which were hot beds of tuberculosis, the scourge of the Indian race.

A Tangle Not a Tango; Nuptial Affair

The make-up man in a rural weekly newspaper office got full of hard cider a fortnight ago and mixed up items reporting an auction sale and a wedding ceremony. The description ran as follows:

"William Blank, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Blank, was disposed of at public auction to Margaret Dash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Alexander Dash, of Lot 14 sixth concession, in the presence of eighty guests, including two mules and one head of horned cattle. Rev. Mr. Binks tied the nuptial knot, averaging 1,200 lbs on the hoof."

"The beautiful home of the bride was very tastefully decorated with one set of double harness, newly new; before the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was given softly by twenty-one five-year-old mitch cows, looking perfectly charming in a light spring wagon, top buggy, open buggy and wheelbarrow."

"The groom is a well known young man, popular in society circles of about thirty-eight Berkshire hogs, while the bride is an accomplished and talented teacher of a splendid drove of Poland-China shoats, pedigrees furnished if desired."

"Among the many presents were one hundred bushels of potatoes, one dray-harrow, hay-fork, rope and pulleys, also other articles too numerous to mention."

"The bridal couple left on yesterday morning's boat on an extended trip, six months on approved joint notes. Four per cent. off for cash."

ANOTHER AD. EXPERT JOINS BAKER AGENCY.
The Baker Advertising Agency, Toronto, with the idea of giving still greater service to their clients, have enlisted the services of Mr. Vern S. Smith of Chicago. Mr. Smith is recognized in the United States as one of the three greatest advertising campaigners, and his long and varied experience will, no doubt, be of material benefit to the clients of the Baker Agency in particular, and Canadian advertisers generally. Mr. Smith's scene of activity has been Chicago, which is the recognized centre of all that is advanced in the science of advertising and selling.

Greetings by Aeoplane.
Miss Clough of Oshawa, Surrey, who made the journey from Leeds to Bradford in twelve minutes as a passenger in the aeroplane of Mr. Harold Blackburn, was the bearer of greetings from her sister, the Lady Mayoress of Leeds (Mrs. Ratcliffe), to the Lady Mayoress of Bradford.

DEATH OF A WOMAN WHO ACCOMPANIED HUSBAND TO WAR

Mrs. Elizabeth Evans Went to the Crimea--Mended Colors After Battle of Alma.

The stirring days of the Crimean war, when British women as well as soldiers "smelt the powder" in that memorable struggle, was recalled by the death at Richmond, England, of Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, one of three women at least who went through the Crimea with their husbands, to cheer them with their presence in the hour of battle and tend them in their sickness. Mrs. Evans had a life full of adventurous incidents, and among her neighbors was regarded as a heroine, and very rightly so. Often she would chat of her experiences and to one interviewer she gave a vivid description of her career shortly before her death.

"It was," she said, "in 1851 that I joined the King's Own Lancashire Regiment with my husband and my home was a corner of the barracks room, in which twenty-four men slept. Our part was curtailed off at night; that was all, and soldier's wives of the present day have no idea of what we had to go through. We almost fought for the privilege of doing the 'Tommy's' washing at a halpenny a day, for this meant quite an addition to our pay."

"Three of us only went out to the Crimea, and on getting there we parted, and for two years I never saw a woman. Our troubles started before we got to the seat of war, for cholera broke out, and then, when we were sent to Varna, the order went forth that no women were to accompany the men. We are not going to be left behind," Mrs. Evans used to declare, with emphasis "and we all sneaked aboard somehow, but when we came to land there was no more trouble. My husband, however, got me through all right by going straight up to Lord Raglan and telling him that he would rather see me drowned than leave me with those foreigners. That settled it, and I was never parted from him again till he fell sick and was taken prisoner."

Mended the Silk

Only a strong woman could have endured the fatigues of that awful winter, and Mrs. Evans, even when over eighty, still preserved a strong frame. "My feet were sore and blistered," she said, "and I was dead tired, but I had to keep on, and that was how I saw the battle of Alma. I was standing near the general officers, and looking at the French, English and Turkish troops storming the Russian heights when an officer rode by, and throwing his arm out over to where the men were fighting, said: 'Look well at that Mrs. Evans, for the Queen of England would give a great deal to see that sight. I was in terror lest my husband should get killed, but, thank Heaven, he came through without a hurt. Our colors were shot terribly though, and I had the proud honor of mending those tattered silks.'

"I got quit used to dodging the shots and the shells after a time," Mrs. Evans said, explaining that in the light they were guided by the hiss and at night by the flames of the missiles. There were a terrible number of wounded, and their sufferings Mrs. Evans described as frightful, for there was practically no accommoda-

WHITE SWAN BAKING POWDER

THE SECRET OF SUCCESSFUL BAKING!

"It all depends, madam, on the kind of baking powder you use."
"White Swan Baking powder makes every baking an assured success, because it is chemically pure and its materials are accurately combined by experts to give proper strength."
"You can always rely on 'White Swan' to produce light, sweet, digestible and wholesome biscuits, cakes and pastry."

Scientific Reasons

Baking Powder is primarily a preparer of food, when mixed under proper conditions, a chemical reaction takes place, giving off a leavening gas. The residue left in the food you eat is not the original baking powder, but an entirely new substance.
In cream of tartar baking powders, the residue in the food is 70% of its weight Rochelle Salts, which are medicinal and harmful to the system when taken in this way.
White Swan Baking Powder is a phosphate, leaving only a 30% residue, which is a fibrous bone building substance—recommended by authoritative physicians as the best baking powder for kitchen use. Order it from your grocer—in 1 lb. or 25c. tins.

tion for them. Tents were packed to suffocation, and the men had to lie there practically unattended. Florence Nightingale had not come out then, and when she did she went to Scutari. Mrs. Evans caught fever at Alma and had to lie on the bare ground for days until she was taken to some sort of hospital and eventually sent home. She had no idea of what had become of her husband, and did not see him again until she had returned to England. "For years past she has lived in a small house in North Sheen, maintaining herself by running a little laundry.

"The Last Post"

It is fourteen years since her husband died, but the regiment never forgot the woman who had mended the colors, and every Christmas a card came from the old regiment, and the colonel had given Mrs. Evans the privilege of wearing the medals and badges which her husband had won. And now Mrs. Evans has answered the "Last Post" in her eighty-fifth year, and another old lady at Chiswick is the sole survivor of the three women who went through the horrors of war in the Crimea with their soldier-husbands.

Killed by Motor Cycle.

Going out to test a motor-cycle belonging to a friend, Bernard Gould, aged 29, an engineer's draughtsman, of Grantham, was found lying on the road two miles outside the town with the machine on top of him. He died in the hospital.

Hospital Board Strikes Estimates For The Year

Governors Met Yesterday—Hydro Electric Will be Installed in the Hospital—Other Business Transacted.

The regular meeting of the Hospital Governors took place yesterday afternoon.

Present, C. H. Waterous (president), Geo. Watt, Symonds, Preston, Reville, Dr. Bell, Mayor Spence, A. K. Bunell, Sanderson.

A letter was read from Green and Wicks, architects, estimating cost of a second operating room at $3,500, exclusive of electric fixtures, sterilizing equipment, etc. (This sum up to $3,000 comes out of the Shaw bequest.) It was decided to authorize the above expenditure.

A letter was read from Dr. Bruce Smith stating that the Ontario government grant this year would be $2,331.16. Last year the sum was $1,749.

Miss Carson, Superintendent, reported 67 patients during the month, 2 died, 63 discharged. Number in residence at date 63. "The work is steadily increasing and we find the greatest difficulty in providing suitable accommodation for our patients." There are sixteen nurses in training and four probationers. Miss Carson referred highly to their excellent and willing work.

Caused by Gas Company.

Among the accounts Mr. Bunell pointed out that one of $328 had been caused by the Gas Company. The Tibury gas was entirely unfit for use at the hospital and wiring had to be put in.

Coal Purchase.

It was pointed out that there was much coal now consumed and it was suggested that all civic institutions should secure said supply through a civic purchasing department.

Report of Finance Committee.

To the Board of Governors, of the Brantford General Hospital:

Your Finance Committee appointed to prepare estimates for the current year, to provide for maintenance of the Hospital report as follows:

The total cost for the year ended Sept. 1st last, as per the report of the to the books of the Board was $22,757.77.

In view of the obvious fact that the demands upon the Hospital are greater than ever, it may be anticipated that the expenditure for the current year will aggregate $24,000.

Against this there will be received the Government grant $2,331, and possible receipts from paying patients $12,169—$14,500.

Leaving a balance of $9,500, which less any amounts received from the County, and the Townships, will require to be provided by the City of Brantford.

In the past the County has contributed $500 per annum, and the Township of Brantford $150. Of late the other townships have not contributed anything. Your committee recommend that a copy of this report be sent to the Councils of the City of Brantford, the County of Brantford, and each of the Townships.

That the Council of the City of Brantford be requested to appropriate not less than $8,850, and the Councils of the County and the Townships asked to increase their grants, where same have been made, and the Townships which have not heretofore contributed, be asked to do so.

In addressing the Council of the city your committee will point out that while the City of Brantford is called upon to meet any deficit in the finances of the Hospital, the Board of Governors is endeavoring in every possible way to make the burden as light as possible, consistent with proper management for the relief of the suffering and afflicted.

The Mayor pointed out that demands by all the civic boards this year would be heavy. After discussion it was decided that no cut could be made and the report was adopted.

Charge for Patients.

It was pointed out that non-paying patients from the County were charged 70c a day and that this sum did not begin to meet the cost and the city put up the difference. The matter will be looked into.

Special Committee.

Dr. Bell reported the satisfactory result of a conference with representatives of the Women's Hospital Aid. Having completed their task in connection with the Nurses' Home they would now help with the equipment of the new buildings.

Medical Memo.

A letter was read from Dr. E. S. Hicks, Port Dover, stating that as he was coming to Brantford to practice he would like to be added to the medical staff of the hospital.

The matter of appointing a new house surgeon to succeed Dr. McCann whose year will soon be up was left in the hands of Dr. Bell.

Tenders.

The House Committee were authorized to secure the necessary tenders for the year.

Hydro-Electric.

It was decided to introduce Hydro-Electric into the Hospital. Mr. Bunell thought that an effort should be made to secure a special rate for all public buildings. The Mayor promised to look into the matter.

The laundry will be run by this power with perhaps individual motors for some of the machines. The matter will be taken up with Mr. Ireland, the Hydro engineer.

John Cross of Cross and Palford, a leading Leamington citizen, dropped dead on the street on his way home at 6 o'clock, and died in a few minutes.

REV. E. B. SIMPSON SPEAKS IN CITY

Missionary Work Was Theme of an Address at Y.M.C.A. Last Evening.

Under the auspices of the Rev. Mr. North, the Rev. E. B. Simpson, D.D. of New York, was in the city, and conducted a splendid meeting in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium last night. He came in quest of funds in aid of a special endeavor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance of New York, to put more missionaries on the field in Tibet, where it was said the population was tremendous and the missionaries few. It was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the incorporation of the society. And this 25 years is full of worthy achievements in testimony and service for Christ. The society, which is international and interdenominational, has for its object the giving of the gospel to all who have not heard it, and to its credit is the first missionary work done in Tibet, South China, in Hunan (China), in the Congo and in the Philippines. Last year there were 6000 communicants and 700 baptisms.

In view of the renown of the principal speaker, the auditorium was full to overflowing.

Rev. Mr. North, in an introductory speech, said it was seventeen years since he had first attended a convention. Since then he had been going to conventions ever since. He then made way for the speaker of the evening.

He said he was very much cheered by the spirit of the afternoon meeting, and rather than take the wind out of the sails, as it were, it had acted for the better, as the evening's attendance evidenced. Referring to Mr. Whitmore, the speaker said he was the greatest evangelistic speaker he had ever heard. If you want your friends to be filled with the spirit, take them to hear Mr. Whitmore. He said he was glad to see the Lord come down and accomplish in one day more than we have been able to accomplish in twenty years. This final day and the day when men could join hands around the world was the glorious end to all things. It was the missionary era. The second point was the missionary conscience. It was no light matter that one man in every three was a Christian in one in every three hundred out there. It was no light matter that a vast number should pass out of life and know nothing of Christ. It was upon the head of the church. Yes, it was upon the conscience of the church. The third point was the missionary heart. It was granted to have the missionary heart. We needed the passion of the heart of Christ. The heart was necessary, and just as necessary were the missionary feet.

You must be ready and willing before the call comes to you. He was proud of the fact that he had had to fight the way up from his youth. He remembered when he was a boy he had had to fight hard. There was no reason why every farmer boy should not be a missionary. There was nothing to prevent any young man becoming a missionary and working for the Lord. A young Scotchman with the missionary spirit and fire has risen to the roof of the world in China. A good servant girl had repeatedly brought home $100 gifts until he had also grown ashamed to take them. She had to make it two hundred. A woman from the humble beginning of one crazy quilt was supporting several missionaries in the foreign field. Waxing eloquent and with a voice full of pathos and pleading, the speaker rendered praise to the Lord. He then led in a brief prayer and concluded his address after an appeal for funds for a special missionary effort. This fund had already been generously responded to, and he hoped they would give accordingly. A hymn was then rendered and Mr. E. O. Jago, of Palestine, spoke.

He gave some very interesting experiences of his work in the East, comparing conditions of the civilized West with those of the savage East. "Ladies be thankful that you are living in a Christian country, for in the East the woman is a slave. She looks upon her husband as her master, and knows not what it is to receive a kind word from a man. For that reason missionary work in Palestine is very difficult as the women shrink from all men and cannot believe there is any good in them. He then touched upon service for God and the heights to which a young man in missionary work can rise. In parts of China there were millions of people and Christian workers were totally inadequate, whilst in one instance he knew of two missionaries who had a field of over two million souls. "Is the proportion fair?" he asked. Even if any one was unfitted for the work on the foreign field they could be equally useful here and by diligent effort they could reap a great reward. Indeed the Lord gave an interest of 100 per cent, but the estimate of the former speaker the interest was over 10,000 per cent. With an earnest appeal for financial support, Mr. Jago sat down.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Jago was born in Hebron, and in close vicinity to the house in which he was born is the graveyard of Abraham and many of his seed.

With a cheerful countenance, Mr. Paul Ruder of Pittsburgh, gave some particulars of the scheme by which a payment could be made to the funds of the Alliance, and spoke of the glory of giving to such a cause. The Alliance had manifold objects, and every dollar was made to go to the last cent. It was economical and well worth supporting.

With a distribution of collecting cards, which may be sent in 6 months from now, and a short prayer, the meeting closed.

Mr. Paul Ruder in a very good voice, gave a splendid rendition of "Tell the Story."

JUNIOR CHAMPIONS ENTER THE FINALS

OSHAWA, March 4.—(Special)—In the last of the games in the semi-finals of the O. H. A. junior series played here last night between Oshawa and Orillia the game resulted in a tie at four all. As Oshawa came down with a lead of four goals from the first game played in Orillia on Friday last, they thus win the round by four goals. The game started off at a fast pace, Oshawa forcing the play and storming the Orillia goal. Both teams played splendid hockey for the first twenty minutes, but the ice became very soft and made the going hard. The soft ice also made brilliant playing impossible, and the players continually bumped.

In the second half the game became rough, many players being penalized. Oshawa played hard all through and stormed dozens of shots on Jonhson in goal, who played the star game for Orillia. Oshawa however got three past him, and with the score 4 to 2 in favor of Oshawa an easy one rolled in past Jacobi, and the game ended. Riordan, for Oshawa did not shine as in past games, his playing being marred by trying to get the man and not the puck. Weiler and Williams played the best game on the Oshawa team, while Draper and Butterfield showed up best for Orillia. Draper being the fastest man on the ice.

It was a hard fought game and regardless of being slow hockey very exciting from start to finish for the large crowd present. The Orillia team are well balanced and aside from Tudhope are all large husky boys. Their chances look very good for the championship.

A Talk About Investing Money

You often hear people talking about how to make their money make more money.

Every day you see them purchasing this or that investment because they are offered a quarter or half per cent more for their money than it would earn them in some other way--which is right and proper

BUT

There is ONE form of investment which leads ALL THE OTHERS all hollow in dividend paying, and you find your chance to get in on it by reading the sale ads in the papers, on dodgers, street cars, posters, or where they are to be found.

Take for instance the Roberts & Van-Lane Shoe Co. Sale now going on at 203 Colborne Street Brantford.

Everybody wears shoes --wears them all the time. Shoes are as necessary as bread and butter, or clothing or any other human need.

Besides which, shoes are an article upon which a person or a family can stock up away in advance of their actual wants, and do it intelligently and with a certainty that the goods will not deteriorate in the slightest.

The average family's shoe bill runs up into quite a lot of money in a year, which helps considerably to keep the family purse in a thin and unhealthy condition. But for the wise ones who think into the future a little, this R. & V.-L. Sale offers a mighty real opportunity to let their money earn a whole lot more than it would in the bank, or buy any other form of investment.

If your family spends twenty dollars, fifty dollars, or a hundred dollars a year on shoes, this R. & V.-L. Sale now going on lets you save forty per cent of the amount --and that forty per cent is forty per cent earned.

Talk it over at home. Make a list of the shoes that your family this year.

Bring your list to the Roberts & Van-Lane Sale at 203 Colborne St., Brantford, and get your pick of $30,000 worth of the newest, most fashionable and most reliable footwear to be found in this or any other city at 40 per cent less than regular prices.
