DR. CHAMBERS IN AMERICA FROM ASIA

Tells of Harsh Treatment Meted Out to Him and the Good Work of Consul.

New York, Nov. 26.—The Rev. Dr. William Chambers, who has been doing missionary work in Asia Minor for thirty years, his wife and a number of women and children from the mission at Adana, Asia Minor, arrived today on the Greek steamer Themistocles.

SCEPTICAL OF NEW GRECIAN ASSURANCES

Pall Mall Gazette Thinks Promise of Greek Premier Should Not be Heeded.

THEIR ARMY STILL MOBILIZED

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Nov. 26.—12.42 p.m.—The Pall Mall Gazette, recalling the assurances given by Eleutherios Venizelos, the Greek premier, and the way they were nullified by King Constantine's actions, regards present Greek assurances with skepticism and declares that the promise of Premier Skouloudis and his colleagues, whatever shape they may assume are not to be taken too seriously.

Roumania Now is the Problem in Balkans

Russian Forces Gathered at Odessa Believed to be Ready to Advance Into Bulgaria—Czar States He Will be There in a Week.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, Nov. 26.—Greek affairs having emerged from the uncertainty which for some time has been a potential menace to the allied campaign in the Balkans, Roumania's problem now commands chief attention in Europe.

Whatever German efforts have been made in Roumania it is believed here that they have been largely offset by the presence of large Russian forces close to the frontier, and the now rapidly developing Russian preparations, with Odessa as a base, from which no other inference is possible than her immediate entrance into the Balkan conflict.

Emperor Nicholas is said to have promised the appearance of Russian troops in Bulgaria within a week. There are increasing indications that this campaign will be launched by way of Roumania, and it is reported that conferences are now being held between representatives of Russia and Roumania to obtain the latter's consent to this move. This consent, as

MACHINE GUN MEETING NOT MONOTONOUS

Several Subscribers Declared That They Wanted Their Money Back.

One Suggestion Was That $5,000 be Given to Red Cross Society.

The council chambers last evening were quite full before the meeting started. It was by no means a peaceful session for some subscribers seemed determined on getting their money back. They stated that they had given their money for machine guns because the need then had been so great but because the government was supplying the necessary guns now they wanted their money returned instead of giving it to the Red Cross Society for ambulances and other equipment.

MR POWELL in opening the meeting, as chairman of the fund, said that the people of the city had subscribed most liberally. He had expected to close the fund sooner, but had been delayed by several factories. Nothing had as yet been done with the money. It was lying in the bank untouched, waiting for the recommendation of the committee as to what should be done with it.

The following statement explains itself: Total Subscriptions $27,783.67 Bank interest to Oct. 31st 55.80 From this should be deducted contributed for Special Objects as follows: For Battalion Fund $1,000.00 For Field Kitchens 1,677.50 For Home Defence 200.00 For Red Cross 13.00 For Tobacco Fund 4.00

Leaving for Objects of Fund as specified $24,924.97 After deducting the expenses incurred for publicity purposes, (not exceeding $100.00, being the expenses charged on the fund), and the Ex-Officers' Fund, expended direct, there remains at the disposal of

THE BROTHERS CHERNIAVSKY TALENTED TRIO

Patrons at the Opera House Last Night Enjoyed Rarest Kind of Treat.

Repeatedly Encored and Responded With the "Spring Song."

A more talented trio of artists than the Cherniavsky brothers has never visited Brantford, and those people who were at the Opera House last night enjoyed the rarest kind of musical treat. The brothers three, are Leo, Jan, and Mischel, and each in his respective sphere is an artist of the very highest rank. The programme opened with a trio for pianoforte, violin and cello, consisting of four Mendelssohn movements, anything more delightful in chamber music, than this perfectly blended selection could not be imagined.

A decided genius is Jan Cherniavsky, and in his three solo numbers, for piano (a) Nocturne-Chopin, (b) Studie-Chopin, (c) Rigoletto-Listz, he displayed the great versatility for which he is famous. The Nocturne, played with a smooth singing touch, to Rigoletto, which displayed the brilliant technique and natural interpretive ability of this young artist, who was repeatedly called upon for an encore, and responded graciously. The violin solos by Leo Cherniavsky were quite one of the best features of the programme, (a) Ave Maria-Schubert, (b) Humoreske-Dvorak, (c) Danse-Basque-Sarasate met with tremendous applause, and the talented violinist, after repeated calls, responded to two encores, which amply displayed his facile execution with bow and left hand, the muted strings being especially effective in his final encore number.

At the close of the programme, the brothers were repeatedly encored, and as an encore played the Mendelssohn Spring Song, which brought down the house. As a suitable closing number, the trio then played while the audience stood, the Russian National anthem and the French national anthem and the

READY TO HOLD OUT TO THE LAST

Serbia Will Never Abandon Hope, No Matter if Fortune Turns Against Her.

Paris, Nov. 26.—A prediction that no matter what happens Serbia will be "born again" was made by War Minister Bokovitch to The Matin's Monastir correspondent, who quotes the Serb general as saying: "We all are ready to hold out to the last. If fortune abandons us altogether, so much the worse, but we still shall hope. Serbia knew how to win liberty after five centuries under Turkish yoke. It will be the same to-morrow. Serbia will live forever. You cannot kill all Serbs and Serbia will be born again to grow greater in the future." When the despatch to The Matin was filed on the 19th the situation at Monastir was reported unchanged. Serb advanced posts were no longer in contact with the Bulgarians who were believed to have detached troops to reinforce the army attacking the French. The Serbians then occupied the village of Brod, north of Krushovo, although the town had changed hands several times being occupied several hours the day before by Bulgarian irregulars.

ONE MILLION PLUM PUDDINGS FOR SOLDIERS

Money to Pay For Them Pouring Into Fund in Small and Big Lots.

London, Nov. 26.—(In Montreal Gazette)—One million Christmas plum puddings are being turned out by one of London's biggest wholesale bakeries for the soldiers at the front. The big shop has been at it for a week and already 25,000 of the plum puddings have been made, packed and sent away. It may be when things get running faster and funds to buy puddings accumulate, the aggregate shipped off to the soldiers will be nearer two millions. Money for the puddings is pouring into one of the Christmas funds. It comes in big and small lots, from everywhere.

Kitchener in Rome.

Paris, Nov. 26, 2.40 p.m.—The arrival at Rome of Field Marshal Kitchener, British War Secretary, is announced in a telegram to the Havas Agency. The Field Marshal reached Rome from Naples and went directly to the British Embassy.

English national Anthem.

Alex. Czerny accompanied the solo numbers most acceptably, showing himself to be a thorough master of that difficult art. Mr. Whitaker hopes to get a return engagement of the trio and also later to secure the Elgar choir from Hamilton.

British Casualties Over 1000 in Two Weeks

Stafford Regiment Suffered Most Severely—Berlin Reports That the Ameer of Algiers is Stirring Up Arabs to a Holy War.

London, Nov. 16.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Officers' casualty lists for the fortnight ending November 8, show losses in British army of 356 killed, 609 wounded and 69 missing—a total of 1034.

Since the beginning of the war the number killed amounts to 6,383, wounded 12,561, and missing 1,752, a gross total of 20,702. During the fortnight, losses have been most severe in the Stafford regiments, which had 96 killed, 47 wounded, four missing; Royal Engineers 25 killed, 24 wounded; Lincolns, 13 killed, 23 wounded, 3 missing; Sherwoods 12 killed, 25 wounded; Yorkshires 15 killed, 24 wounded; Lincolns, 13 killed, 14 wounded, 11 missing; Lancashires, 6 killed, 29 wounded; Kent 16 killed, 13 wounded, 5 missing. Many other regiments have losses of more than twenty. Brigadier-General Forbes Trefusis was killed, Major General Walker

ROUSING THE ARABS.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—(By wireless to Sayville)—The Overseas News Agency says: "It is reported from Constantinople that Ameer Abdul Malik, grandson of the famous Abdul Kadir, Ameer of Algiers, has called on all Arab tribes to take up the holy war against the French. A large number of chieftains with their tribes, responded to the call. The general opinion is that Abdul Malik will obtain the participation of all tribes there. "It is reported from Tangier that Moroccan tribes attacked the French camp at Kreibia."

Abdul Malik is leader of the Moroccan rebels who have been reported in despatches from Berlin on several occasions previously during the war, to have won victories over the French,

The Situation.

The Grecian situation has at last been brought to a position which is satisfactory to the Allies. The Greeks have to depend upon sea routes to a notable extent, and it was John Bull's mastery of the waves which enabled the screws to be put upon the unwilling Constantine and his advisers. It has not been asked that the country should participate in the war, but that they give absolute pledges that they would not interfere with allied troops. This has been done, and a threatening aspect of affairs definitely cleared up.

A despatch makes the statement that Goritz has fallen, but this is not confirmed. The place is an important town of Austria situated on the river Isonzo, about 22 miles from Trieste, and when it is taken the way will be open for an attack on the latter place. It is the most important seaport of the Austrian monarchy and the most considerable trading town on the Adriatic.

With regard to the Serbs, the story is one of plucky resistance, but without much avail. The Czar has promised that in a week he will have troops in Bulgaria, and Italy has promised an expeditionary force of 40,000.

On the Gallipoli peninsula the Turks made another strong attack, but the effort resulted in a marked defeat for them.

John Bull's Way.

Under the above heading a well-known United States paper says: "Nervousness among those who sympathize with the Allies, over any cabinet shindy in England would probably be quite without warrant. That's the way John Bull usually does it. In the life or death struggle with Napoleon he turned out half a dozen cabinets. He had no sooner got the Crimean War neatly upon his astonished hands than he indulged in a parliamentary spasm and fired his ministry."

When foreign relations are bad as they can be and bricks are being coming through all the windows like hail, John's first idea is to grasp the government firmly by its whiskers, break a chair over its head and kick it under the table—after which he feels fit to attend to the little matter outside.

We have heard a good deal lately about British decadence, and maybe it is all so. But to judge simply by the past we should say that when England is all yammer and wail, with everybody shaking his fist in every body else's face, and there's a howl here over a broken head, and a shriek there as the stove lid catches papa in the eye—why, then everything is most promising and the outlook could not be better.

Judging by the past, if England fought as silently as France does, we should suspect it was out of wind and could not last long."

STAY ON GOOD TERMS WITH THE POLICE

That is Advice Handed Out by Sir Sam Hughes to the Soldiers at London.

DOWN ON THIEVING

Ordered Contracts Cancelled With Merchants Named in Investigation.

London, Nov. 26.—Sir Sam Hughes made his much expected visit to the 33rd Batt. yesterday, and instead of tearing into the officers and men as it was predicted in some quarters he would do so, he aroused the greatest enthusiasm among both officers and men by assuring them that he regarded them all as desirable soldiers, that he wished he had an army like them, and by making the happy announcement that the battalion would go to the front at the earliest possible moment. He advised them in the meantime to stay on good terms with the police.

Sir Sam was vitriolic, however, in his references to the men who had been guilty of the "petty thieving" as he termed it. "Petty thieves will creep into any regiment," he said. "When you find them out it is up to you officers to ferret out the dirty skunks and grind them into the earth."

Sir Sam condescended with the battalion that they had been kept so long on this side of the water.

"It's through no fault of yours," he told them, "that you were not in England long ago. However, I hope to get you out of here very shortly, perhaps in two or three weeks. If things go well, there's no reason why you shouldn't eat your Christmas dinner in England."

CASE OF OFFICERS

"If Col. Wilson, an old personal friend of mine, has erred, and I do not say that he has, it has been in trusting too much to his officers and non-commissioned officers. It is up to you officers to remember two things, pride and honor. Pride and honor are the things that will stand you in stead when you meet the enemy. I am sorry that this trouble has occurred, but since it has occurred I couldn't let you go away with this stain hanging over you. I don't care who the man is, be he of high rank or low, if I find that he has been guilty of wrong doing, off goes his head—like that," and Sir Sam illustrated his statement with a sweeping swing of his arm through the air.

INSPECTS 33RD

The Minister of Militia was at the parade grounds at the barracks by 8.30 and had each of the company officers of the 33rd take charge of the unit for a few minutes. Nothing escaped him. The fact that some of the men were without gloves attracted his notice and he ordered that this should be remedied. Before leaving, the minister received three hearty cheers from the men of the 33rd.

Learning at the camp that Frank Jackson, butcher, and Dean Bros. bakers, continued to supply rations to the camp, despite the fact that they were prominently mentioned in the recent investigation, the minister ordered that both contracts be cancelled immediately and new tenders called for.

Slice of War Loan.

Winnipeg, Nov. 26.—The Standard Trust Company directors have decided to invest $100,000 in the war loan.

"Can't you tell me something more interesting?" This was the comment of Mrs. Francis Gaglio, who was told in the Bronx County Jail she had been indicted for the murder of her husband.

Old World Notes

A touching incident occurred the other day at North London Police Court. Corporal Arthur Drake, of an Australian battalion, introduced himself to the magistrate, and said that he did so at the request of a soldier who had died of wounds at the Dardanelles. The corporal explained that on the battlefield he recognized a mortally wounded comrade as a former member of the Queensdown Social and Athletic Club, Hackney Downs, which he (the corporal) was some time ago secretary. Talking of home, the dying man asked him to call and see the magistrate and thank him for his leniency when he (the dying man) was before the court some years ago. The soldier had been before the court charged with a small offence and had been discharged with a caution. The corporal was unable to give further details, as the man died, but he told the magistrate that he felt he must come to the court and deliver the message. The magistrate was greatly moved by the incident.

Eugen Sandow, the famous strong man, has been forced to appeal to the London Press for assistance in dispersing foolish rumors which have been widely circulated concerning his nationality. He told a newspaper representative that both his parents were Russians, and that he had been a naturalized British subject for many years; that his wife was British-born; and that he regarded himself as in every respect an Englishman, whose home and interests are all in Great Britain. Mr. Sandow is able to claim that some 70,000 officers and men in the British army have been trained in physical culture either by him or by sergeant-instructors and others under his direction; also, that thousands of them would never have been able to pass the doctor for military service without the curative courses of physical exercise which he prescribed for their minor ailments or defects.

A strange rent was paid the other day when the city solicitor of London and the secondary attended before the King's Remembrancer, Sir John Macdonald, K.C.B., at the Royal Courts of Justice and rendered the rent services annually due to the Crown by the Corporation of the City of London. Responding to a proclamation of "tenants and occupiers of a piece of waste ground called The Moors, in the county of Salop, to come forth and do your service," Sir Homewood Crawford, City Solicitor, cut one fagot with a hatchet and another with a billhook. As rent service for a tenement called The Forge, in the parish of St. Clement Danes, he counted six horseshoes and sixty-one nails, the King's Remembrancer saying "Good number." This was the thirty-first occasion on which Sir Homewood Crawford had performed this duty.

Two unique Nelson relics are shortly to be offered for sale at a London auction room—an epaulette of gold bullion surmounted by a silver anchor; the companion decoration to the one on the coat of the national hero in the collection at Greenwich Hospital, and the sash which Lord Nelson is wearing in the mural painting at the Royal Exchange. The relics were given by Admiral Nelson to Tom Allen, his close attendant and confidential servant, who vouches for their authenticity in an affidavit made at the time. In 1833 they became the property of the present owner's grand-father and in his family they have remained up to the present day.

Secret conference between army and navy officials, was attended by General Wood, Brigadier-General Montgomery and rear admirals from the Atlantic fleet.

A hot wrangle was brought on at a suffrage luncheon in St. Louis when Representative Meeker, an anti-suffragist, and guest of honor, charged that in a certain suffrage city business women sold their votes for $50 each.

C S OF ST LUKES

On Wednesday the congregational society of St. Luke's church held their regular meeting, which was well attended. The evening's subject was "The ornaments of the church and their meaning." After the usual business was transacted, Mr. C. Mavin, chairman of the religious committee, gave a very interesting talk on the above subject. He pointed out very plainly why the ornaments, the altar, altar cross, processional crosses, etc. were used, and concluded by stating that he would like to see more ornaments in St. Luke's church. Mr. Stout also commented upon the same subject in a very able manner. After the singing of a hymn, the meeting was brought to a close.

FELL TWO STORIES

Accident to Frank Jones—His Face Badly Cut and Other Hurts.

Mr. Frank Jones of 46 Rose Ave., a roofer in the employ of Messrs. Turnbull and Cutcliffe, met with a nasty mishap this morning.

He was at work with others on the roof of the A. Lamb building on Colborne street, opposite the premises of J. Mann and Sons, when he missed his footing and fell a distance of two stories.

Dr. Frank happened to be passing at the time and after he had rendered first aid, Jones was taken in the ambulance to the hospital.

When he awoke, his face struck a bottle, inflicting severe cuts, which necessitated seven stitches. No bones were broken, but he complains of his back and is suffering badly from shock. Mr. Jones, who is unmarried, resides with his mother.

SPLENDID WORK IS APPRECIATED

National Council Delighted at Services Rendered by Secretary Kneall.

The splendid work accomplished by Mr. J. A. Kneall general secretary of the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. while at Niagara Camp, is much appreciated by the National Council and the Military Service Council. On Wednesday he received the following communication acknowledging his services—

"By resolution at the joint meeting of our executive and military service committees we are rejoiced to communicate to you the thanks of both committees, and of the council as a whole, for the splendid, self-sacrificing and efficient work which you have done during the past season with the troops at Niagara.

"We know something of the conditions under which this service has been rendered and the strain which has been put upon you both physically and mentally in carrying on this work so continually during those past months. While you have your reward in the consciousness of work well done and "this unusual opportunity for service" it will in no wise detract from this to know that you have had and will continue to have the sympathy, appreciation and good wishes of the many members of the above committee, have been associated with you in this undertaking."

The letter which goes on to thank all the members of Mr. Kneall's staff, who labored with him, is signed, among others, by Col. J. G. Langton, Military Service Committee.

VICTORIA MILLS

An oyster supper was held by the members of St. Barnabas church, Town Line, last Thursday night, as a farewell in honor of Wm. F. Lewis, who has since left for Cayuga, where he has enlisted for active service. It was a huge success in every way. The programme was one of the best ever held in the church. Speeches and songs were of a patriotic nature and were greatly enjoyed by all.

Jacob Lewis and family have moved back to the farm, having spent three or four years in Hamilton. We are glad to see Mrs. Herb. Miller is able to be out again after a very lengthy illness.

Mrs. Chief Wm. Smith is very poorly; also Mrs. Chief A. G. Smith.

Goat-keeping by the small holder has increased considerably since the war, and suburban residents, too, have found the ownership of a goat or two less troublesome and more profitable than pigeons, rabbits, or even poultry. In the view, however, of the Rev. A. C. Atkins, founder of the new National Utility Goat Club, the keeping of goats for utility purposes should be more largely extended, and with this aim he is taking a census of all the goats in the country. "There are thousands of goats kept for utility purposes in the country," he says, "and everybody who has had one knows their value. They are little trouble; all you have to do is to keep them clean and provide them with a shelter, as they do not like wet. For trifling expense and a little attention you can grow your own milk, which is delicious for all culinary purposes and makes excellent cheese." Mr. Atkins, in recommending goat-keeping on economic grounds, speaks from experience. At his home at Uckfield, Sussex, he keeps two goats, which save him $100 a year! The industrious pair provide plenty of milk for a household of six.

POST OFFICE INSTRUCTIONS

People Sending Matter to Soldiers at the Front Should Read These Carefully.

The Post Office Department is in receipt of applications to have parcels carried to our soldiers in France sent free or at reduced rates of postage, there evidently being an impression that the Department has control of these rates and could do as it wished, but this is not so, as the question of postage is fixed by international agreement, so that it is not within the power of the Canadian Post Office Department to undertake to carry the parcels free or at a reduced rate of postage. Under international law, provision is made for the free transmission of parcels for prisoners of war, but this privilege does not extend to parcels for troops engaged in active service, nor is it within the power of this Department to so extend it.

The rate of postage required on parcels addressed to the troops depends upon the location of the addressee. If the addressee is in England, the rate on parcels for England applies, which is twelve cents per lb., whilst, if he is in France, the parcels are subject to the rates applicable to parcels for France, which are as follows:

1 lb. 3c; 2 lbs. 40c; 3 lbs. 48c; 4 lbs. 64c; 5 lbs. 72c; 6 lbs. 80c; 7 lbs. 88c; 8 lbs. $1.02; 9 lbs. $1.10; 10 lbs. $1.18; 11 lbs. $1.26

These are exactly the same charges which existed for years between Canada, England and France before the war, and are the result of an agreement or Convention made between these countries and Canada, and as these countries have not agreed to lower their rates between England and France, Canada has to pay them the same as before the war and must charge the same postage.

In all cases parcels for the troops must be addressed care of Army Post Office, London, England, but this does not in any way affect the rate of postage, which depends entirely upon the location of the addressee.

MEMBERS OF 84TH

Are Entertained at the Brant Avenue Church.

An enjoyable event took place last night in the school room of the Brant Avenue Methodist Church, when a banquet was tendered the officers and men of the machine gun section, signallers and scouts of the 84th Battalion. There was a splendid spread provided by the ladies of the church. After the supper, W. S. Brewster, K.C., took the chair and presided over a pleasing program as follows: Songs, Pte. Sutton and Pte. Taylor; recitation, Corp. Newman; song, Sgt. Green, violin solo, Miss Marjorie Jones; song, Miss Marjorie Sweet; recitation, Miss A. Ryerson; song, Keep the Home Fires Burning; recitation, Miss W. S. Brewster; Major Jones; Miss Hurley; recitation, Rev. A. E. Lavell; piano solo, Mr. Higgins; song, Miss Oldham. Addresses were also given by Messrs. E. B. Crompton, Chief Slemm and E. Sweet. Lt. Wickson and Lt. Fenton of the 84th returned hearty thanks.

Football Match

The football match between the 125th Battalion C.E.F. and the 84th Battalion C.E.F., at Agricultural Park yesterday was closely contested, resulting in a win for the 84th Battalion, the score being 5-4. This game was one of the best played in this city for a long time, some of the players being old professionals. On the side of the 84th, Sgt. McGrattan at back and Pte. J. Little at outside left played a great game. Little having not lost any of his speed. Pte. G. Richardson was at the old foot tricks, beating the centre as usual. On the side of the 125th, there was little room for improvement. Sgt. J. Archer proved conclusively that an old timer can come back, and did so by putting in a brilliant defense. Ptes. McCann and Maich worked like heroes; Ranson and Sgt. Martin, left and right wing men, deserve the greatest of praise for their neat passes across the goal mouth, also Capt. Carruthers the goal mouth, also Capt. Carruthers who scored twice in 3 minutes. It is expected a return game will be played in the near future, when the 84th will have to go some, and then some to win.

Professor Elia Volpi, millionaire art connoisseur and friend of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, was permitted to enter this country yesterday with his secretary, Mrs. Lizette Morosini.

FREE PANTS

TOMORROW, SATURDAY BIGGEST OFFERING OF THE YEAR

Saturday we are going to offer THE BIGGEST VALUE OF THE SEASON and it is going to be the largest ever put over by the Company, simply for the reason that we never had, nor never again expect to have, such magnificent stock of all-wool wools.

A FREE PANTS SALE WITH US MEANS that you have the absolute choice of any material in the house. You may have the trousers made from the same material as the suit or choose some other pattern. We guarantee the fit and finish as being the same as you will find in a Thirty-Dollar suit, and you pay but Eighteen Dollars for the whole outfit.

Free Pants, Saturday

With Your Absolute Choice of Any Suiting or Overcoating in the Store Tailored To Your Order

$18

Just Two Profits---Yours and Ours

The Trousers Alone Would Cost You $6 Beyond Our Doors

The reason that we believe this FREE PANTS SALE is going to prove the best and largest sale, and therefore the biggest bargain sale in our history, is because WE HAVE A POSITIVELY EXCLUSIVE LINE OF IMPORTED GOODS JUST ARRIVED FROM THE MILLS, AND WE HAVE A CROWD OF ARTIST TAILORS WAITING TO TURN THAT CLOTH INTO SUITS AND TROUSERS.

AN EXTRA PAIR OF TROUSERS FREE; and this does not mean that we will skimp or shirk the making to get even for the gift of the extra pants, but we do promise better goods, better trimmings, better style, better fit, better workmanship than we have ever guaranteed, and we have always tagged our products with the strongest kind of a warrant.

MACHINE GUN

the meeting the sum of $23,824.97. 3. The amount of subscriptions received by the Treasurer or paid out directly by subscribers is $15,429.27. The amount of subscriptions yet to be received is $12,354.40. Some $11,000 of this is in few hands. No doubt the whole will be paid in as soon as the question of the disposal of the funds has been determined upon at a meeting of the subscribers. 4. At the request of Captain Henderson, and the Ham and Not Co., and the employees of the Pratt and Letchworth Co., having requested that their contributions be devoted to the purpose, the committee authorized the purchase from the Brantford Carriage Co. of guns for training purposes, cost to be $450, which amount your committee understands is $50 less than the actual cost of the guns to the company. These guns were made in accordance with sketch supplied by Captain Henderson, and consisted of four canon and limber, and four ammunition wagons and limber. The guns were formally presented to the 32nd Battery on Saturday morning last by the Mayor, Mr. Spence, and the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Powell. The Treasurer has been authorized by the Committee to issue a cheque in payment of the cost of these guns. 5. Through the medium of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., the Minister of Militia, and Defence, was advised that "It was the earnest desire of the subscribers to the fund to aid in making the fighting powers of the Canadian Battalions more effective, by supplying them with Machine Guns in addition to their usual complement; and it is the special desire of the committee that the guns be assigned to the Battalions in which Brantford is particularly interested." Later it was proposed to supplement the eight machine guns to be supplied to each Battalion by the Government by providing two Machine Guns to each of the 4th, 19th, 36th, 58th, 84th and 125th Battalions. Through Mr. Cockshutt the following was received from the Minister—"I will be glad to see that their wishes are carried out." Mr. Cockshutt himself writes under last Tuesday's date—"The Minister of Militia, Sir Sam Hughes, has undertaken to deliver the Machine Guns that your committee asked for to the various units designated in your letter." 6. Your committee recommends expenditure as follows— For 11 Machine Guns $11,000 For 2 Fisher Ambulances 3,600.00 For 2 McLaughlin ambulances 3,150 For Artillery Training Guns 450 For hospital charges in connection with surgical operations regarding recruiting 1,550 For Canadian Red Cross Association, Balance of the Fund in Cash. In addition to the 11 Machine Guns is that contributed by the Dufferin Rifles Ex-Officers, making 12 Machine Guns in all to be distributed to the Battalions as follows— 4th Battalion, Lt.-Col. Colquhoun, 2 guns. 19th Battalion, Major Newman, 2 guns. 36th Battalion, Lt.-Col. Nelles Ashton, 2 guns. 58th Battalion, Lt.-Col. Genet, 2 guns. 84th Battalion, Lt.-Col. Stewart, 2 guns. 125th Battalion, Lt.-Col. Cutcliffe, 2 guns. 7. Your committee desires to recognize the services of Lt.-Col. Howard, Lt.-Col. E. C. Ashton, and Lt.-Col. Brooks, as commanding officers; as well as all other officers and men who have responded to the call of the Empire; but cannot see that this can be done by the presentation of Machine Guns. MR. F. COCKSHUTT. Now that the government did not need funds for machine guns, he proposed that field ambulances be purchased and about $5,000 given to the Canadian Red Cross Society. The money is more urgently needed in this society than anywhere else, because the task to be performed is such a huge and difficult one. He hoped that there would be no serious difference of opinion in the meeting. REV. G. A. WOODSIDE. Lord Lansdowne had sent word all over the Empire proclaiming the need of money for Red Cross work. Canadian societies had nobly responded to the call, but more was needed and would be needed until the conclusion of the war. The speaker had been asked by the local Red Cross society that he should point out to the meeting how great was the need for money for hospital work. The longer the war lasts the greater will be the need. MR. A. K. BUNNELL. Representing the city officials he said that they had not been backward in subscribing. It greatly surprised him some should want their money returned. After thinking the matter over, he felt sure that they would be sorry for asking. Why couldn't they stand together like the British Empire had done, and commonly agree to give the money to the Red Cross or other society that needed it. ALD. T. E. RYERSON. There was no other city in the Dominion which had given more liberally than Brantford. He felt that many more funds would have to be raised in the future, and so the people should get their money back this time if they wanted it. He thought that the people should decide themselves. Ald. Ryerson offered a resolution that one week be given all the subscribers in which to request the return of their money. At the end of

SPOKE ONLY FOR COMMERCE

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Nov. 26.—A cable to the Tribune from London says:— Another neutral country has entered into satisfactory arrangements with Great Britain whereby merchandise otherwise prohibited may be exported from England. Four Danish commercial magnates—C. C. Clausen, representing the wholesale association; Alexander Foss, representing the Industrial association; C. Gold, representing the Shipping council, and Emil Buckstad, foremost Danish banker, have left London after a stay of four days during which not as representatives of the Danish Government, but as spokesmen for Danish commerce, they arrived at a thorough understanding with the Foreign Office. They have given acceptable guarantees that no contraband goods exported shall reach the central powers. Under this pledge they will be allowed to receive all the goods they require.

SEPARATE PEACE IS OFFERED TO SERBIA

Was Categorical Rejected—Details of the Proposed Terms.

(By C. J. Stevens of the London Daily Telegraph.)

Saloniki, Nov. 26.—I am able to confirm authoritatively the report that Germany, through Field Marshal von Mackensen, offered Serbia a separate peace. The offer was categorically rejected by the Serbian Crown Prince at Prirend. The message proposed the immediate cessation of hostilities, the Austro-Germans, Bulgarians and Serbians to retain the positions they then occupied. This was to be followed by a meeting of plenipotentiaries for the conclusion of the peace treaty on the basis of the cession to Bulgaria of the northeast corner of Serbia from Knievezatz to Pirot, all of Serbian Macedonia, the vilayet of Uskub and old Serbia remaining Serbian. The battlefield between the Serbian and German lines was proposed as the place for the meeting of plenipotentiaries. The Serbians assert that they will refuse to treat with the Bulgarians. On Sunday they inflicted a defeat on the Bulgarians before Leskovac.

BRITISH SUB GOT CLEAR FROM THE NET

Rudyard Kipling Shows How Subs Have Many Exciting Adventures.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Nov. 26.—A cable to The New York Times from London says— Continuing his articles on "The Fringes of the Fleet" in The Daily Telegraph, Rudyard Kipling tells of some exciting exploits of the British submarines. He relates one incident of how a submarine was caught by a net in the North Sea and when she rose to cut the net away she was bombed by the Zeppelin and had to go down again. There, by slow working and weaving and wriggling, guided only by guesses at the meaning of each scrap and grind of the net on her bluish forehead," as Kipling expresses it, the submarine got clear. The commander pondered whether to hurry home and warn other submarines of the trap or wait for the destroyers, which the Zeppelin had undoubtedly summoned, believing the undoes craft was fast. He waited, and when he rose to the surface he torpedoed one of the destroyers there and then started for home, arriving in time to give warning.

that week, another meeting should be held to decide what was to be done with the money not returned. After some further discussion, much more heated than necessary, this resolution was finally passed and the meeting adjourned. Peter Cullen, "kidnapped" Sing Sing convict, was surrendered to Warden Thomas Mott Osborne yesterday without a fight. Meyer Kaplan, fined for obstructing a trolley car, says he has lived fourteen years in Brooklyn and cannot speak English.

THE DIAMOND FROM THE SKY

When Arthur, working on the Smith farm under the name of John Powell, came across the fields at sunset with his employer it was a merry group they found in the dooryard, Quabba and Clarence being regaled with the best from the board, as all wandering minstrels should be.

"I'm on my way to the tournament at Fairfax," Quabba said.

The Fairfax tournament! Arthur stirred with a sudden resolve. He would go! He would win the wreath and crown Esther queen of love and beauty!

It was a wild risk to take, a daring thing to do, but he longed to see Esther, and the love of romance and the inclination to the dramatic were the heritage of his gypsy blood that overcame all caution and discretion.

He would go! His heart beat like a drum with the resolution. Forcing himself to speak with a calmness he far from felt, he spoke up and said:

"If I can be spared for the day, and if you will lend me Starlight, Mr. Smith, and if you will make me a mask, Mrs. Smith, and lend me a plume for my hat. I'll ride and show them how we do in Kentucky!"

And Esther Was There to Keep the Tryst.

For it was as a young Kentuckian in hard luck Arthur had explained his plight and essence in that part of the country. Both the farmer and his wife had often discussed the stranger who had come to their door in the guise of a tramp, but they could see by his ways and manners he was no tramp.

They judged him by his open, manly countenance and gentle courtesy, and whatever was his secret they felt it was no dishonorable one.

On Starlight, then, the farmer's blooded saddle horse, in his new cheap best clothes, and with his black silk mask and ostrich plume the farmer's wife had furnished from her Sunday finery, Arthur rode away with the wishes of the farmer and his wife and his little girl, "to show," as Farmer Smith expressed it, "those stuck up Fairfax swells a taste of old Kentucky quality."

Quabba had been gone since the day before, but Arthur overtook him near Stanley hall. They waved each other as Arthur galloped past. And then Arthur reined his horse in a little copse of wood near the mansion. Did he but know it, it was the spot where he had been born.

He had last seen Esther at Hagar's camp, but he was not surprised to catch the flutter of her dress at the window of the balcony that overlooked the garden at the side of Stanley hall. He had well remembered Hagar's parting words that she would take Esther to dwell at Stanley hall.

Cautious and as quiet as he was in stealing toward the house, the keen ears of Luke Lovell, at Stanley hall that day with messages to Hagar from her gypsy folk, heard his cautious foot-fall and from a hiding place saw Arthur throw a hastily scrawled note, tied to a stone, through the open balcony to Esther's room. The note begged her to meet him at the old stile at the top of the hill, back of Stanley hall. And Esther was there to keep the tryst.

"You must not do this!" she panted wildly when Arthur explained his purpose. But Arthur laughed and paid her a brotherly compliment for her bright eyes and fair cheeks, set off all the better for her agitation and the beautiful white frock that she had loaned for the tournament.

"I will ride wearing your favor, Esther, dear," said Arthur, and he took the silken sash she wore and kissed her and rode away, placing on his mask as he adjusted the sash as a scarf.

At Stanley hall Hagar impatiently waited for Esther; the carriage horses restless at the portals of the mansion.

"Where have you been?" she asked, "gathering flowers, I suppose?" For as an excuse Esther had hurriedly gathered a handful of roses to account for her delay.

At the Fairfax fair grounds all was bustle and excitement. The gentry were driving in and taking their seats in the gayly decorated grand stand. Already Blair Stanley's mother, with her guests, Mrs. Burton Randolph of Richmond and the beautiful lady from

New York whom Blair was all attention to, Vivian Marston, had taken their seats and were smiling and nodding to friends and acquaintances.

Sheriff Sam Swain was bustling about and in his heavy, lumbering way teasing a hunchback organ grinder who, with a monkey, had been the subject of much amusement on the tournament grounds. Sheriff Swain was jocularly pretending he would arrest both the musician and his monkey, and he was shaking the official handcuffs at these coin gathering entertainers.

And now the master of ceremonies made the announcement that the masked knights were to tilt in a general melee with bamboo lances at a small wreath suspended some twelve feet from the ground. Hiding at full speed at this object, the masked knight who could bear it off on his spear point was to be adjudged the victor and as the best horseman of all the knights of Fairfax would crown the maid of his choosing as queen of love and beauty, and also by the presentation of great bouquets ready at hand select the queen's attendant ladies of honor.

The bugles blew, Sheriff Swain as knight senechal distributed the lances, and the knights lined up far down the track. The bugles blew again, and on they came, twenty of them abreast, wearing the sashes of their ladies, masked and plumed, and all intent upon bearing off the garden.

Blair Stanley, on a light bay hunter, wearing the crimson sash favor of Vivian Marston, was in the lead; close behind was a knight on a white horse with a black star on its forehead. A strange horse to Fairfax, where every horse and man of blood is known.

What horse was it, and who was the rider? He wore a snow white scarf and sat his horse as became a Virginia gentleman—or perhaps a Kentuckian.

Blair in the lead swerved to block the oncoming knights behind him, but the stranger seemed to be prepared for the ruse. He spurred his horse around and crossed in the very front of Blair. The shock threw the bay hunter over, and Blair fell headlong to the ground, and the strange knight's spear point lifted the wreath they strove for from the wire. As Blair fell he got a glimpse of the horseman who had unseated him, close up. And then Blair Stanley knew him. It was Arthur Stanley!

A surge of hate and humiliation raged in the bosom of Blair to be unseated in the presence of Vivian Marston, to whom he had boasted he would bear off the wreath and crown her on her first day in Fairfax as queen of love and beauty!

He limped from the scene to where Sheriff Swain stood by the end of the grand stand, watching the surprising end of the contest and ceasing from his clumsy jesting with his handcuffs at Quabba.

The defeated knights, with the exception of the unhorsed Blair, who had limped away, ranged their horses in a semicircle and held their lances at salute.

Arthur, bearing the queen's crown and the bouquets, approached the white faced, trembling Esther and said in a feigned voice, "I crown thee queen of love and beauty!" Then he presented the bouquets of the ladies of honor to the nearest women—Vivian Marston and Mrs. Burton Randolph.

At the far end of the grand stand the raging Blair was pointing to the victor and saying, "That is Arthur Stanley, the murderer of Dr. Lee. Go and get him!"

Hardly knowing what he was doing, but in anger at the clumsy, jesting sheriff, a wild idea to discredit that official and the unsorted informer for the sake of the gallant looking victor seized Quabba. With a deft clutch of his quick fingers he clasped the dangling end of the handcuffs to the wrist of Blair. The other end was around the sheriff's wrist, and that eager official and the informer were soon wildly pulling in opposite directions. Leaving his organ and carrying the frightened monkey in his arms, the nimble hunchback ran through the grand stand and whispered his warning to Arthur.

At this very moment, obedient to a significant look from Blair's mother, were heard, "Stop that man! He is in on Arthur and, hemming him round, drove him and his horse towards the grand stand, struggling, fighting for life and liberty.

WHEN THE KING OF ENGLAND WAS VISITING THE ARMY IN FRANCE

PRINCE OF WALES KING GEORGE GREETING GENERAL JOFFRE IN FRANCE. During his stay in France the King journeyed into the actual zone of the armies. In company with an army commander, His Majesty went on a little cross road only a few miles away. Here he met President Poincare and Mr. Millerand, the French Minister of War, and with them he spent the day visiting various points of interest.

NEWS NOTES

Chas. S. Miller testified at the investigation into New Haven affair, that the acquisition of the Boston and Main Railroad was on the advice of former President Roosevelt.

Tunnels connecting the Union Station with the railroad yards in South Washington and passing close by the United States Capitol, are being guarded against bombs.

Thomas A. Edison has devised a searchlight, which, when attached to the rear part of an automobile and supplied with power by the engine, will give a powerful light for use at fires.

A doctor's bill for $99,568 against the estate of Mrs. Nellie M. Noe, who died March 9, 1914, leaving property worth about $130,000, was disclosed in the Surrogate Court, New York.

Louis A. Marillat, West Point graduate and former captain of the Army football team, was sued for $20,000 on a breach of promise complaint by Miss Helen Van Nest, of Wooster, Ohio.

Luigi Matroni was buried alive in the cellar of his home, near Corfu, in May, 1914, his body being trampled into a newly-made grave while he begged for mercy, according to a story told by his widow to District Attorney Coon of Batavia, N.Y.

Because he married Al Davis, the dancer, and Miss Eugenia Kelly when the former had been divorced, the Rev. Henry Cart, of Elk Mills, Md., a minister of the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ, of Latter Day Saints, has been unroofed.

Dr. David Allyn Gorton, New York, pioneer eugenicist, says he saved two defective baby boys, only to see one grow up a wretched consumptive and the other a criminal. He is the father of three-year-old twins, born when he was eighty.

A tragedy of play occurred in other day in London during a bombardment with stones, conducted by a party of boys. While watching the encounter, a "neutral" girl was struck and fatally injured. It was stated at the inquest that several lads, sheltering behind some trenches which they had improvised among the ruins of a demolished house, conducted a furious bombardment of each other's positions, using stones for shells. Unfortunately one of the missiles struck the little girl. Her head was so severely cut and she died shortly after.

A war picture exhibition was opened recently in Edinburgh. Maps, drawings, charts, and cartoons compose the exhibits. In one section the effects of the Mohammedan incursion into Europe are traced by means of charts showing the various stages of the rise and decline of the Ottoman Empire since the 7th century, with its influence on Balkan problems. The part played by Belgium in the great world drama naturally takes a prominent place, around which the British soldier has been making history during these past months, have a special interest. Louvain and Dinant also come in for attention, while a series of views shows the ravages made by the Germans on the village of Gerbeville, which was only saved from complete destruction by a woman's act of heroism. Nothing in the exhibition bears a more tragic interest than an ethnographical map of Poland, illustrating in striking manner how the Pole has been forced through circumstances to take up arms against his brother Pole. There is also included a photograph of the Rose Window of Rheims Cathedral by Dr. Inez Clark, which is understood to have been the last secured before the window was smashed by a German shell.

DINNER IN HONOR OF LIEUT. W. A. COCKSHUTT

Young Officer Returned From the Front Tells of His Experiences—Will be Transferred to the 125th Battalion and Go Again—General Sir Sam Hughes Coming to Brantford.

A very enjoyable event took place last night at the Brantford Club, when Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., was the host at a complimentary dinner to his son, Lt. Ashton Cockshutt, who recently returned home wounded, after partaking in some severe fighting at the front.

LIEUT. ASHTON COCKSHUTT, Son of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., in whose honor a dinner was given last night at the Brantford Club.

cliff and officers of the Dufferin Rifles. Capt. Henderson in charge of the 32nd battery and members of the Fourth Estate. Lt. Col. H. Cockshutt and Lt. Col. Muir of the Dragoons sent regrets at their inability to participate.

Grace was pronounced by Chaplain Barrow of the 84th, who is an old campaigner, having seen military service in the Boer war, West Africa and India.

The good things disposed of and the toast to the king, duly honored, Mr. Cockshutt, in an address of characteristic eloquence, reviewed matters appertaining to the war. As the fifth of Lt. Cockshutt, he was naturally proud to have him there, and he was sound, after he had been through many perils and he had felt that some such tribute was due him when his health had sufficiently recovered to permit of the holding of the event. He also had another son on the firing line and he and Mrs. Cockshutt were proud of the fact, as they felt that the Empire call in time of stress should be unreservedly answered. He would like to be there himself, but military rules as to age forbade that.

How ever, those who could not be accepted had other duties to perform at home and should do their bit to the top notch of their ability, both in service and contributions. During his remarks, Mr. Cockshutt stated that on a recent visit to Ottawa he had called on General Sam Hughes and they would be pleased to know that he had consented to come to Brantford at an early date to give a recruiting speech on behalf of the 125th Battalion.

Mayor Spence occupied the vice chair in a most happy way. "His Majesty's Forces" brought able replies from Capt. Henderson and Chaplain Barrow.

GUEST OF THE EVENING
Lt. Col. Stewart said he was proud as head of a battalion to propose this toast to a Lieutenant back from the firing line after heroic service. He heartily congratulated him upon his safe return and could well understand with what pride his parents had welcomed him home once more.

Col. Stewart is a speaker far beyond the ordinary and his well-couched address gave genuine pleasure.

Lt. Cockshutt was received with rousing applause again and again renewed. In a vivid, yet modest manner he told of his experiences at the front, on one occasion having a man fall on either side of him, and the relation was one of deep and moving interest.

At the close, Mr. W. F. Cockshutt said he would have to look to his own laurels when he had a son who could talk like that. It was certainly a notable effort.

OTHER TOASTS
"The men at the front," was ably proposed by Rev. C. Patterson-Smyth, who manifested all the eloquence of a true Irishman.

Lt. Col. Cutcliffe and Lt. Ransome Wilkes made appropriate replies. The Colonel, amid laughter, said that he had been inundated with applicants for commissions in the Brant Battalion, and at any rate he thought he would have to form one company of chaplains and another of paymasters.

Incidentally he said he could disclose the fact that Lt. Ashton Cockshutt would be transferred to the 125th as one of the officers.

In proposing "The men who want to go," Mayor Spence said that he was one himself. The military microphone had entered his system, and he would like to be of service. He paid a warm tribute to Mr. W. F. Cockshutt and Lt. Cockshutt.

Capt. Shultis, in his response, dwelt on the fact that speeches at recruiting meetings were all right, but they should be followed by organized work right at the time.

"The Press" was responded to by Messrs. Reville, W. B. Preston and Hastings Webling. At the close of his remarks, Mr. Preston proposed the health of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P. The latter, on rising, was received with vociferous applause. During the course of his acknowledgment, he returned his sincere thanks to those who had attended, and also the deep appreciation for the very kind remarks made during the evening—an appreciation in which he was sure his wife would join. In addition to two sons, she also had two brothers with the colors. He felt that the return of all who had risked life for the country should be suitably marked by their friends.

Lt. McLean, during the evening, rendered several patriotic songs in good voice, the company joining in the choruses. Lt. Thomas acted as accompanist.

Proceedings closed with "We'll never let the old flag fall" and "God Save the King."

Lt. Cockshutt leaves to-day on a visit to Calgary.

RANELAGH
The Little Lake Sunday School have arranged to have their Xmas tree on Dec. 21.

Mrs. Seldon and Miss Terryberry and brother Allen Terryberry of Canada spent a few days with their sister Mrs. W. Walker of this place.

Miss Orpha Terryberry has gone to Hamilton to visit friends.

Mr. J. Hoggard's sale was a success. The Burgessville Telephone Co. are extending their line to Kelvin. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wood took dinner with Mr. Edwin Butler and family on Thursday.

The gray buzzard, now almost extinct, is said to be the heaviest bird that flies, the young males, when food is plentiful, weighing nearly forty pounds.

GERMANY IS WEAKER EVERY DAY OF WAR

Mr. W. G. Raymond Gives Eloquent Address on Work of the British Navy.

FOUR MILLION MEN READY

Opening Meeting of Bellview Literary Society Was a Splendid Success.

It was a privilege to be present at the opening night of the Bellview Literary and Musical Society and listen to the eloquent and descriptive patriotic address given by W. G. Raymond.

The chief accomplishment in the present war as clearly shown by the speaker, was the fact that the Empire's navy, by controlling the shipping, had put the German merchant marine out of business. The huge industrial concerns, on which Germany as a nation, is largely dependent, had relied absolutely on the foreign trade and these manufacturers found their business disappearing along with their mercantile marine.

The German nation, the speaker continued, are getting weaker, nationally, every day the war continues, and their leading socialistic organs are now asking the question, What is Germany's objective in the present war?

If colonial expansion is the object, Germany is disillusioned. Practically all the German colonial possessions are under British rule. In striking contrast the speaker proved that Great Britain is one hundred times better equipped and prepared for war than she was fifteen months ago. A fleet of fast battle cruisers have been built and put into commission, and lion men ready and equipped for action, in reserve. The organization for war materials and supplies is now getting in its work and supplies are plentiful. The speaker pointed out to his attentive and appreciative audience that with control of the merchant shipping, Great Britain can, and will bring the battle on land to a victorious issue and overthrow the despots who have made men commit such acts as the murder of Miss Cavell.

Appropriate solos were sung by Mr. T. Callen of the 84th Battalion. The report of the previous year was read by the secretary-treasurer, J. D. Ansell, showing a balance of $2,000 in the treasury. Mr. F. Billo moved and Mr. T. Robertson seconded, a vote of thanks to W. G. Raymond and all those who helped to the success of the evening. The motion was extended by President Hugh Atwell in the usual manner. The debating committee have charge of the next meeting of the society and the subject is "Resolved that the Franchise should be extended to women." The Equal Franchise Club have consented to take the affirmative and the debate should prove both interesting and educational. The officers and executive committee for the ensuing year are as follows:

Hon. President, Mr. R. Henry; Hon. Vice-President, Dr. Linscott; President, Mr. Hugh Atwell; vice-president, John Bowden; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Doherty; 3rd vice-president, Mr. Norman Littich; secretary, James D. Ansell; chairman of debates, F. Billo; convener, municipal committee, Mrs. F. Littich; convener social and reception committee, Mrs. F. Billo; literary committee, Messrs. J. D. Ansell, F. Billo, J. Bowden; critic, John Robertson; usher, C. Campion.

How Tip Top Tailors Prepared for the Clothing Needs of Brantford Men

The woolen market situation has gradually assumed a very serious aspect. Almost every well-informed man knows how woolen prices have advanced as a result of the scarcity created by war orders.

Preparedness has been the watchword here since the outbreak of the war. We anticipated the drain on British woolen resources and made ample provision to meet the situation. Our woolens were contracted for at normal prices before the effects of the war were felt. We are prepared with vast stocks of suitings and overcoatings, and are now able to let our patrons benefit by our foresight. No other tailoring organization bought so advantageously and none can afford to make clothes to measure at our price.

SEE OUR WINTER OVERCOATS

The overcoating industries in England, Ireland and Scotland were affected by the European demand for heavy woolens, but our purchases were contracted long before the abnormal increase took place. The assortment we show is the greatest aggregation of overcoatings ever offered by any one store in the world at $14 to-measure. Order your overcoat from Tip Top Tailors—save $10.

The overcoat we make to measure for you will be precisely the same in tailoring, style, quality and fabric, for which tailors without our resource and buying power and organization must ask $25 for:

Aristocracy in Chocolates

There is an aristocracy of chocolates as of men and women. Some chocolates are distinctly of the lower class, others are fair or middle class, while others again are high class in every way.

Our Chocolates are of the elite, each piece a triumph of the confectioner's art. To begin with, the outer coating of all Russell & Company Chocolates is of that rich, velvety texture and delicious flavor that only pure, fine chocolate possesses.

The interiors are a constant succession of hidden delights—rich candied fruits, rare nuts from all corners of the earth, smooth honey-sweet creams that melt on the tongue, piquant tart fruit juices and nectars, crackly thin wafers of plain and nut-filled toffees, Oriental preserves like ginger, dates, figs and candied rose and violet leaves, slender sticks of crunchy buttery brittle, vigorous flavored mint, wintergreen and other fondants, cubes of finest genuine Turkish delight, marshmallow light as air and whipped up into a delicious snow, caramels nicer than you ever thought caramels could be, soft yielding maple cream and dozens of other palate surprises.

We Sell Chocolates from 30c to $1 a Pound and give full value whatever price you pay. A great advantage in buying your chocolates here is the assurance of absolute freshness—we make them daily.

Fighting in the Balkans Different From Flanders

No Long Line of Elaborate Trenches, But Shallow Dugouts Scattered Here and There--No Concealment is Necessary, as Enemy Has No Aeroplanes.

(By George Renwick.)

French Headquarters near Strumitsa Station, Nov. 20.—With the permission of Gen. Sarrail, in command of the French troops in the Balkans, I have spent an interesting day at the French front on Belachitsky mountains in the north part of the so-called Doiran enclave in South-east Serbia. It is a picturesque corner, this. It is Serbia's Macedonian ultima thule. The higher mountains to the north are Bulgarian. The first radiance of white dawn illuminates the Kruscha mountains to the east, and the Payik plateau in the south, and these are Greece. At breakfast time Gen. Bailoud received me and placed an officer and motor car at the disposal of a small party, so that we might visit the French position to the right of the line in this part of the country. We sped along past camp after camp. Here were the French; there the British batteries were hidden in corners, and activity was everywhere.

The first place to be visited was Hill No. 156, which the French took a few days ago after a severe fight. The tower of eminence was pockmarked with shell holes and shrapnel bullets could be picked up by handfuls. From there we crossed the Bulgarians' artillery fire zone to reach Hill No. 516, which dominates the surrounding region. "In single file," cried out the officer to the little party and just at that moment the enemy's shrapnel began to scream overhead and burst on the brow of the hill to the south. The aim was wide, or the range was too long for the shells found a harmless billet on the vacant bare hillside.

Hill No. 516 was much as it was when the French a few days ago put the Bulgarians out of their position there. The hill having been thoroughly searched with heavy shell fire, the French took it with a splendid rush, and their losses were well under 150. The Bulgarians lost at the lowest estimate, 500 men. One trench, a half dozen yards long, had 50 of the enemy dead in it, and many dead were found on top. Rifles were abandoned by the hundred and cartridges by the thousands. The Bulgarians have several times attempted to retake the hill, but were easily repulsed.

BRIAND SENDS MASTERPIECE TO AMERICA

Work of Art Symbolic of Peace to be Shown for Benefit of Artists' Families.

Paris, Nov. 25.—Correspondent of the Associated Press—Monsieur Aristide Briand, the new Premier of France has just authorized the under secretary of Fine Arts to send to America to be exhibited for the benefit of the widows and orphans of artists killed on the field of battle, the masterpiece executed by Monsieur Albert Besnard, director of the French art school in Rome, to be presented to the Peace Palace of the Hague. This picture, ordered by the state long before there was an expectation of war, was finished and signed July 24, 1914, just a week before war became certain. It is symbolic of the spirit of arbitration. A female figure seated at the summit of a mountain listens attentively to the pleadings of two persons who are exposing their arguments. With the right hand she makes a gesture imposing silence on one of the pleaders who speaks with too much violence and brutality, in order that she may hear and meditate upon the reasoning of the other who expresses himself with more calm. From this impartial arbitration proceeds peace symbolized by a figure standing out before the composition like an apparition detached from the canvas. Behind this figure on the slope of the mountain, two armed horsemen, representing disputing nations, are separating to return to their firesides. Surmounting the composition in the Heavens in a sort of halo are the scales of justice. This work of art, said by good judges to equal some of the classics, would already adorn the halls of the Palace of Peace at the Hague had war not broken out.

CIVILIZATION LEAGUE WILL END FIGHTING

Bernard Shaw Proposes a New Cure for the Evils of Militarism.

London, Nov. 25.—Bernard Shaw has a new cure for war. He outlined it as follows in a lecture last night—"All wars are bound to stimulate militarism. There is no hope in a pacifism that is merely a negation of war. In the future pacifism must be militant. More than that, it must be constructive.

"Instead of a Minister of War we want a Minister of Peace. That Minister should be the strongest figure in the Cabinet of any country, and it should be understood that immediately war broke out the Minister of Peace should be shot."

"The war," Shaw continued, "was not the fault of Germany. It was the fault of the Democrats and Socialists of this country. Western democracy has not done its duty."

Discussing what would follow the war, Mr. Shaw suggested a league of western civilization from the Rockies to the Carpathians, organized on a democratic basis.

The iron cross of the German army is not a casting, but is struck with steel dies in heavy coining presses. After being stamped out the crosses are taken to the silversmith's where the soldering is done, a fine silver border added, and the finishing completed. The silver border is polished on electrically driven polishing and grinding motors.

HE STRUCK IT RIGHT AT LAST

After Suffering Almost Two Years, "Fruit-tives" Brought Relief.

MR. WHITMAN
382 St. Valier St., Montreal.

"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years. I was in constant misery from my stomach and my weight dropped down from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Several of my friends advised me to try 'Fruit-tives' and I did so. That was eight months ago. I began to improve almost with the first dose. No other medicine I ever used acted so pleasantly and quickly as 'Fruit-tives', and by using it I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble, and all pain and Constipation and misery were cured. I completely recovered by the use of 'Fruit-tives' and now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise 'Fruit-tives' enough."

MUNITION WORKERS ARE WELL TREATED

British House Assured That the Contract They Signed is Carried Out.

London, Nov. 25.—Mr. McKenna gave the House yesterday the first official confirmation of reports that the Government had begun negotiations with large holders of American securities for the purpose of obtaining control of these holdings. The negotiations, Mr. McKenna said, were confidential for the present.

Replying to a question on the reported sufferings of British prisoners in Germany, Harold J. Tennant, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of War, said that conditions in the majority of the war camps in Germany and the treatment of those in them had materially improved of late owing to the unremitting exertions of the United States Embassy in Berlin.

Mr. Tennant said he had no knowledge of reciprocal measures by the French, which his questioner stated had had excellent results in securing proper treatment of French prisoners in Germany. He expressed sympathy with British prisoners who were forced to endure hardships in that country, but did not propose, he said, to alter the treatment accorded prisoners of war in this country.

Mr. Henderson asked the President of the Board of Trade whether he was aware that for a considerable time after the beginning of their work here Canadian munition workers received no subsistence allowance, and many received far less in wages than they had been led to expect, and whether numbers of them were finding it impossible to keep their homes going in Canada. Some sent passage money for their wives and children to come here, thus imposing a serious burden upon this country's resources.

Mr. Kunciman replied that Canadian munition workers received from the outset the full amount of all allowances to which they were entitled under the agreement signed by them.

"I have ascertained that no exaggerated statements as to wages obtainable here were made by the Board of Trade representatives in Canada. Special privileges were granted later by the payment over and above the allowance due to them under the agreement, of an allowance to their dependents in Canada. These subsistence allowances are now being paid and there is no ground for speaking of delay in granting subsistence allowances. I do not think the Government could undertake to extend these allowances or pay any compensation of the kind suggested. I may mention that the agreement signed by the workmen expressly provided that no families should be transferred at the Government's or employers' expense," he said.

NEW MENACE TO ALLIES FROM AUSTRO-GERMANS

Teutonic Army Under Von Gallwitz Marching Towards Vardar-Cerna Line to Join Bulgarians—Men Rushed From Saloniki to Meet the Danger.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 New York, Nov 26—A cable to the Herald from London this morning says:

"The Anglo-French army concentrated in the Vardar valley from Krivolak to the Greek frontier, is faced by a new menace from the north and northwest, to which constant reinforcements are being hurried up from Saloniki to meet. This threat comes from the Austro-German army under General Von Gallwitz, which is marching down the valley towards the Vardar-Gerna line. Having opened the Kosovo plain with the aid of the Austrian army from the east, General Von Gallwitz has detached a part of his force to assist the Bulgars in the south who have been held fast by the Allies. This force, joining with the Bulgars in the valley due north of Prilep will provide not only additional strength for an attack at Krivolak, but a column for the occupation of Monastir, which the Bulgars have refrained from entering.

Reports from the fighting west of the Sinitica River, behind which the Serbs retired from Pristina and Mitrovitsa, have been meagre. The British and French naval brigades, which have been with this army since the retreat from Belgrade began, are known to be safe, although their losses are presumed to be heavy. The French sections have arrived at Monastir, and a telegram from Admiral Troubridge, commanding the British, has been received from Mitrovitsa, under date of November 26. In this the commander said all was well with his brigade. The message was sent out three days before the town was seized by the Austrians.

All this is really known this morning is that the Serbs are making a desperate fight against heavy odds in the little fringe of territory between the Sinitica and the Albanian and Montenegrin frontiers, where they are drawing scant provisions from Scutari over a mountain road built by the Montenegrins during their occupation of northern Albania.

The Russian emperor has addressed a personal telegram to the Serbian premier, Mr. Pachitch, according to a Saloniki despatch of Wednesday to the Daily Telegraph, in which he promises the appearance a week hence in Bulgaria of Russian troops. The Italian government, according to this despatch, also has promised to send an expeditionary force of 40,000 men

CANTATA

Last Friday evening the Girl Companions presented the Cantata "The Coming of the Roses," in the B.K.'s Armory. The building was crowded with a large and appreciative audience and the work was well rendered, the choruses being taken up with snap and precision. The solos and readings being given by the young ladies with expression and the results of the last few months work was certainly most gratifying. A unique feature of the evening's program was two very pretty patriotic drills under the direction of Mrs. Lockyer. The intricate movements in these were well carried out and were very much enjoyed by the audience.

Mr. W. Eastman made a fine address and presented prizes to H. McCormack, T. Harrington, Secy. May Sears, Drummer Farr and R. Bond. The percentage of B. K. being present at all parades will run far higher than that of a year ago.

SUNDAY PARADE

Despite the disagreeable weather, the parade to Zion Church was largely attended. The excellent service of Zion Church was enjoyed and Rev. Mr. Woodside's striking address, "The Divine Touch," much appreciated.

WELLINGTON ST. CHURCH.

The parade will be to Wellington St. Church on Sunday.

The young ladies taking part in cantata and drills on Friday were Phyllis Hills, Alice Houghling, Phyllis Edwards, Alice Edwards, Ada Lynch, Lizzie Finch, Dooley Finch, Doris Sterne, Violet Fear, Annie Eastman, Violet Spurme, Clara Lockyer, Mildred Cross, Violet Eastman, M. Lockyer. The mothers were also of great assistance.

BUSY WEEK.

Sergt. Maj. Sears' fatigue party has certainly had a busy week of work. Boys, when they are interested can at times accomplish wonders.

TARGET WORK.

Charles Sterne, among the juniors obtained high score during the past week. Chas. Finch and F. Farr got the chickens. What are you doing for Boy Knight's week?

A week from Sunday, the officers of the Junior B.K. company will hold a camp supper in the Armory and will attend service afterward in a body.

The seniors will have their's a week later.

The senior boys will hold their banquet about Christmas time and one of them has promised to supply the turkey if "Fessor" will cook it.

JUNIOR B. K. BANQUET.

The juniors say they will have the best one for they will have a larger turnout, and will make up in enthusiasm what the others will obtain by its special features.

"Pic." This is the subject for Friday evening. Most boys are interested in this subject and the crowd will be a record one.

Many members were added to the rolls during the week and are eager to get into harness. The Mother's Guild are continuing their good work and are planning to have an old time Christmas tree for the boys and girls.

Quite a few letters from old boys, have been received during the week, all showing their continued interest in the work. Even the boys at the front like to be kept in touch with the work, one of them recently sending a clipping from the London Graphic with an item on our Boy Knight work. So that our circle of influence is continually widening.

A magnificent casket of pure gold from Her Majesty the Queen accompanied by a graciously worded message, was recently presented to Mr. and Mrs. Master of Montrose House, Peterborough, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The family gift took the form of a beautiful cup, the plinth of which bore the inscription—"This cup was presented to Dr. Richard Master by Queen Elizabeth, is a gift to John Henry and Gertrude Emma Master, on the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. A token of love from their four daughters, four sons-in-law, and twelve grandchildren."

To be buried alive was the greatest fear of a doctor who died recently at Kidderminster. It was found that he had instructed his trustees that his remains should be cremated five days after his death, but unless he died of some disease which necessitated it, his body should not be enclosed in a coffin during this period, and, if so, he desired the trustees to personally ascertain that he was extinct, "my chief dread being lest by accident I may be cremated or otherwise disposed of while I am still alive," and he directed his trustees to carry out his wishes concerning his cremation and burial as contained in a sealed letter given to them respectively in his lifetime.

Three disabled Sepoys, a Rajput and two Gurkhas, exchanged for prisoners, are now in a Brighton hospital after ten months' captivity in Germany. They were visited in their camp by the Kaiser. The Rajput describes the German "Padishah" as a short, stout, smiling gentleman, with big moustaches, wearing a uniform covered with crosses and medals. He spent fifteen minutes with the Indians, asking them a number of questions, and laughing and smiling all the while. As he left the sepoys' cot, he touched the sabre by his side, and said—"I will not make peace until this sword is snatched out of my hand."

The Rigid Censorship, However Allows no Recognition of Gallant Deeds to be Published—Regiments are Facing Fearful Odds, But Censor Gives No Praise.

London, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The bitter cry against the censorship heard from the front is that neither regiment nor individuals are allowed to gain any recognition or publicity for unusual exploits. This is one of the handicaps a democracy meets in trying to conduct a modern war on the most modern lines of secrecy. The Japanese army in the war against Russia was the pioneer in this policy. The Japanese carried their attempts to keep the enemy in the dark so far that none of the soldiers wore any regimental marks on their uniforms. Very few officers or enlisted men have been made popular heroes through this war, and no regiments stand out conspicuously in the public eye, although officers say that several of them have achievements to their credit equalling the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. So far as the regiments of the old army—"The Little Contemptibles," are concerned, more than a majority of their members have figured in the casualty lists months ago.

John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, cited one of the grievances of Ireland in the debate which followed Premier Asquith's speech on Nov. 2. He said: "How could it bring help to the enemy to let the people of Ireland, of Scotland, of England and of Wales know what their own regiments are doing?" He said that the landing at Sedul Bahr in April, which was the most difficult operation in that battle, was carried out by the Dublin Fusiliers and the Munster Fusiliers, but that Ireland had no knowledge of their work except in letters from the few surviving officers. He continued: "That kind of thing is doing us untold mischief in Ireland. One of the Dublin Fusiliers was known as the 'Pals.' It was made up of well-educated young men from the universities, public schools and the professions. They were all practically annihilated. I know scores of families in Dublin who are in terrible anguish over the death of their children. I have seen numbers of letters from survivors who speak in the highest terms of the gallantry of those lads." Referring to the landing at Suva Bay, Mr. Redmond said: "I have received communications relating to the Irish Division, not from men in the ranks or subalterns, but from officers of high position, which I dare not read to the house. I have felt it my duty to send them to the War Office and the Prime Minister. Sir Ian Hamilton is back here now, and some of these things will have to be inquired into and when they are known I think it will be found that never in your military history have troops been subjected to such horrible sufferings, or have shown such gallantry as the Tenth Division commanded by Sir Brian Mahon. Yet not one word of recognition has been written about them."

Mr. Redmond dealt particularly with the War Office censorship over official reports in this speech. In the earlier months of the war the government had an official "eye-witness" in the field to fill the void, caused by the prohibition of war correspondents, and to attempt to satisfy the public demand for descriptions of the work of the British army. His messages, however, were robbed of nine-tenths of their possible interest by the absence of the names of organizations and individuals. Since a limited number of British correspondents have been permitted at army headquarters during the past season the official "eye-witness" has been withdrawn, but the same restrictions of writing mostly in generalities.

GAS HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

Time! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

TRIUMPH IN GREECE DUE TO KITCHENER

Constantine Agreed to the Terms Laid Down by the Secretary of War.

RESULTS NOT YET ANNOUNCED

Attention Will Now be Fixed on Attitude of Roumania Toward Allies.

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, Nov. 26.—A cable to The Herald from Athens, dated yesterday, says:

King Constantine has granted all the allies' demands, the triumph of Entente being due to the solidly agreed agreement between the Hellenic ruler and Lord Kitchener. The field marshal told the king that the allies frankly admitted the right of Greece still suffering from the burdens imposed by the Balkan wars—to remain neutral, but demanded complete safety for the allied troops on Greek soil, control of railways and other means of communication, the use of Salonika harbor and the right to land troops or occupy such other parts of Greek territory considered necessary for military operations.

Greece, through her king, accepted these demands and Lord Kitchener pledged the allies as soon as the war is ended, to restore all the occupied territory and indemnify Greece for all damage done. Minor details still are to be settled, but I am confident, owing to Lord Kitchener's trip, that the Kaiser will be unable to influence King Constantine or the Greek army to lift a finger against the allied troops.

In consequence of this happier situation all restrictions imposed upon Greece commerce have been removed and a seventh son is predicted that when the allies have landed the full complement of troops required in the Balkans, Greece which, like Roumania, has been simply demanding guarantees which will insure her national preservation, will be found fighting on the side of freedom.

WHAT ABOUT ROUMANIA New York, Nov. 26.—The London correspondent of The New York Herald this morning says: Although the premier, Mr. Asquith, announced in the House of Commons yesterday that he was not yet in a position to discuss the results of the negotiations between the allies and the Roumanian Government, the conviction here is that the Greek problem has been settled definitely by the assurance that any troops forced back across the frontier from Macedonia will not be molested and that railway and telegraph facilities in Greece will be at the disposal of the Entente forces whenever needed.

With the anxiety caused by the attitude of Greece removed, attention now is directed to the stand Roumania will take in the Balkan muddle and the strengthening of the allied forces there by the intervention of Russia. That Roumania by any chance will be drawn in on the German side is considered out of the question. It is known that the Roumanian Government and the people have been watching the negotiations in Athens and that the nation was certain to be influenced greatly by the outcome of those negotiations.

Russia has a great army well equipped with heavy guns and ammunition concentrated on the Roumanian frontier. What the first move of this Russian force will be will depend upon the policy adopted by the Roumanian Government.

That Greece is pleased with the attitude of the allies as revealed in their joint note and wide made by it fully, is indicated in the despatches from Athens. That the guarantees promised by Athens meet with the desires of the allies is shown by the prompt release of Greek grain cargoes which had been held up at Malta. By this action Greece has escaped a serious shortage in bread supplies which was certain to result if a commercial blockade was maintained for any length of time.

The allies, it is understood, have promised a monetary indemnity to Greece after the war for any damage resulting from occupation of Greek territory.

Women's Institute

TERRACE HILL BRANCH The monthly meeting of the Terrace Hill and Grandview Women's Institute was held in Grandview School on Nov. 17th with Mrs. A. McWebb, first vice-president, presiding. Excellent reports from the recent conventions were given by Mesdames McWebb, Kinney and Wood. While only gleanings, many encouraging thoughts were brought back by each of the three. The following are some of them: Mr. Putnam considered it almost pre-arranged that such a band of workers had been organized and ready for work at this particular time, when our country was in such need. It took a war to bring some of our capable women into active service, but they surely are doing their bit. In the province of Ontario alone there were now 30,000 members and their givings to Red Cross Work was $200,000, averaging $7 per annum, surely they had chosen a true motto, "Home and Country." Women's Institutes are also recognized by the Department of Education as one of the strongest forces in making Public Schools what they should be. All elevating things should be effective and they are. In the pioneer days of the Institute it was considered to be only a passing fad, but when we are reminded that it takes three conventions to hold these, held in Ottawa, Toronto and London, it has proved itself more than a passing fad. Many an individual has discovered herself through the Women's Institute and local talent unearthed had made the Institute a success. Particular thought was given to the care and training of a child. Mothers should not be ruled by the likes and dislikes as a cruel Disbedience was denounced as a cruel injustice to the child. A vivid picture was drawn of a mother more interested in a novel than in her child. At the close of the reports, Mrs. Savage sang and Mrs. G. T. Wood gave a recipe for a war-time cake. The December meeting will take the form of an "at home" for the members and their families.

WORN, WORRIED WOMEN

Her Many Duties Affect Her Health, and Often She Breaks Down Completely

It is little wonder that there are many times in a woman's life when she feels in despair. There is no nine-hour day for the busy housewife. There are a hundred things about the home to keep her busy from the time she arises until it is again bed time. What is the result. Often her nerves give way, her good looks suffer, her blood becomes thin, her digestion is disturbed and her system threatened with a complete breakdown. Every woman should do all possible to protect her health and good looks, and there is one way in which she can do this, and that is by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These actually make new, rich blood, strengthen every nerve and every organ, bring the glow of health to the cheeks and brightness to the eye. These pills have done more to make the lives of thousands of women sunnier than anything else in the world. Mrs. Daniel Theal, Waterloo, Ont., says: "I was very much run down, my blood was thin and watery and I would faint at the least excitement. I suffered from headaches and dizziness and often it seemed as though there were clouds before my eyes. Finally I was forced to go to bed with weakness. I doctored for six weeks while in bed without receiving any benefit. Finally I was induced to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and when I had taken ten boxes I was completely cured, and never felt better in my life. I am convinced that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me they will do for others and I warmly recommend them to all weak women." You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"THE UNIQUE BY GO"

"Me, I am looking for a young lady in a white dress and a few across her." Freddie laughed aloud.

"Another," he exclaimed, "you get it you find her?"

"I get a good bit, Freddie, one that finds her for me first gets half of it."

"I can find her," said Freddie.

"You've done queer things you do, it's a go. You take and we'll share and share."

Then Freddie went down. Celestia was still there. She had almost walked his leg he was still game. So he fetched Sweetzer and showed to him through a crack in the door.

"How'll I get her?"

"To-morrow at ten, Nellie be at work; pa's going to and I heard her say she'd and do chores."

Not without difficulty Freddie lectured the $50 which even promised him. With even Freddie he wrote a note to Barclay and Mrs. Baxter O'Gorman.

He wrote: "Be at my place before 10 o'clock and I'll be there."

"Freddie the more missed, or I won't."

All Freddie's victims excused met in part of Freddie's little before 10 o'clock. O'Gorman was enough zed. He knew that he had and he slunk off, cursing. Freddie opened the front door.

"Walk in."

They walked in. Then them into the parlor, and Celestia.

But she wouldn't go. Tommy, and O'Gorman, authority to take her away.

"That's up to the Professor said."

But when Stilliter found was with good people and go with Tommy; he was content matters rest where they shall read.

Celestia's real work had been on the lips of the Elias, and always in his heart, the belief that Celestia would tolerate no other than any one. To Celestia's world, reformer he listened and in a humble way.

Mrs. Douglas and Nelly lied that Celestia had heaven. Freddie, however, Mr. Baxter's, but for some other he did nothing to speak knowledge. And, indeed, it way he began to worship her and acquaintances of the family came to the home of osty and remained to wonder. Her effect upon the people-minded folk was extraordinary. They asked no questions, seemed to take the last way when they carried that women who had not seen her so convincing always. It was more than her logic that to her way of thinking.

Stilliter, after ten minutes Mr. and Mrs. Douglas (the short absence of Celestia). Indeed, it had been in a silly that he had intended to "She says," Douglas every man jack of us ought a real share in the country, must treat misery and poverty necessary evils, but as pious stamp 'em out. And I tell man who runs that playing a heap of votes in this dist body ever tries to argue with just listen and believe.

Stilliter reported to Barclay other members of the family. And those who had begun to in Celestia once more became stastic.

"Don't hurry her any," they. "Let her doctrines up the house she's living in, naturally, until she has a religion. Then when we do believe her it will be more and cheaper."

"I'm only afraid of one thing," said Stilliter. "She is interested"

"THE GODDESS"
UNIQUE SERIAL STORY
BY GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

"Me, I am looking for a beautiful young lady in a white dress, with a crown of jewels across her forehead."

"You've done queer things, Well, it's a go. You take me to her and we'll share and share alike."

"To-morrow at ten, Nelly and I'll be at work; pa's going to a meeting and I heard her say she'd stay home and do chores."

"Not without difficulty Freddie collected the $50 which Sweetzer had promised him. With even more difficulty he wrote a note to Tommy Barclay and Mrs. Baxter and to O'Gorman."

"P. S.—Bring the money you promised, or I won't be there."

"Why, Celestia," he said, "I don't deny that you have some mysterious power over people, and that if you keep on as you are going you will end up by being a great loud noise in the world."

"Walk in." Then he showed them into the parlor, and there was Celestia.

But she wouldn't go away with Tommy, and O'Gorman had no authority to take her away.

"That's up to the Professor," he said.

But when Stilliter found that she was with good people and wouldn't go with Tommy he was content to let matters rest where they were, as Celestia's real work had begun.

"Mrs. Douglas and Nelly also believed that Celestia had come from heaven. Freddie, however, knew better. He knew that she came from Mrs. Baxter's, but for some reason or other he did nothing to spread this knowledge."

"Don't hurry her any," said Barclay. "Let her doctrines spread from the house she's living in slowly and naturally, until she has a real following."

"I'm only afraid of one thing," said Stilliter. "She is interested in that boy of yours, Tommy Barclay, and when she is with him she seems to shake her mind almost free from the control that I had been establishing over it all these years."

"Any young man," said Barclay, grimly, "who seems to be making trouble for me, I will have to be sent away somewhere and kept there."

"But Celestia, having begun to work converts, was engrossed in the work and had no longer the leisure, or, indeed, the wish to waste her precious time in philandering with individuals."

"How'll I get her?"

A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

THE PENALTY OF UNTHANKFULNESS

Gratitude For Mercies Enhance Their Value.

Unthankfulness Breeds Discontent and Undermines Happiness—True Christians Accept Their Life's Experiences Cheerfully, Knowing the Lord's Measures to Be Just—They Alone Can Give Thanks in the Full Sense of the Word.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 21.—Pastor Russell spoke here to-day on the subject of Thanksgiving.

Our experiences in life are to a considerable extent controlled by the will of God.

True Christian people in every land and under all conditions have found peace and happiness, even though they have had their share, or more, of life's difficulties.

Excuses for Unthankfulness. We are ready to concede that the world is full of people who are unthankful.

But does the rejection of these absurd theories represent an intelligent Creator and disprove the Bible declaration that He is a God of Love?

In opposition to this irrational theory we note that mankind in general, even those of humble birth, have organs of the mind which they rarely use, and which cannot, therefore, be evoked by them.

Discontent the Viper of Anarchy. We have noted that unthankfulness means discontent, and that discontent means unhappiness and misery.

Replies to the Unthankful. Our reply to this reasoning must be along two lines: first, philosophical, and second, practical.

Our reply to this reasoning must be along two lines: first, philosophical, and second, practical.

Our reply to this reasoning must be along two lines: first, philosophical, and second, practical.

Our reply to this reasoning must be along two lines: first, philosophical, and second, practical.

in their own minds and in the minds of others.

(2) Let us now analyze the foregoing complaints. Who can prove to us that there is no living and true God—that there is merely a god of gold and silver which has been placed in us by the power which holds our earth in its orbit around the sun?

What philosophy can prove to us that these things have happened by chance and that we are wrong in accepting the Scriptural suggestion "Day unto day uttereth speech and night unto night showeth knowledge and there is no place where their voice is not heard"—proclaiming an all-wise and beneficent Creator?

Let us not boast ourselves as possessed of so much greater courage than those in feudal times. Let us note, on the contrary, that the patriotism which demanded and obtained the Magna Charta of our liberties was as noble and courageous as that which we have today.

The Scriptures fully assure us that this is a special mark or evidence that the New Era of Divine blessing, prophesied in the Scriptures long ago, is now at hand.

But does the rejection of these absurd theories represent an intelligent Creator and disprove the Bible declaration that He is a God of Love?

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Lesson IX.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 28, 1915.

Text of the Lesson, Amos v. 1-15. Memory Verses, 14, 15—Golden Text, Jer. xxiii, 28—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The message of Jonah was to gentiles, suggestive of foreign missions; that of Amos was to Israel, and thereby a home mission lesson reminding us of the need of the church today to be awakened to see her privileges and opportunities and responsibilities.

They bore the name of Jehovah, but were false to Him and worshiped idols. "They know not to do right, saith the Lord" (iii, 10). There was self and sin in all their worship. Therefore the Lord said, "Offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving with leaven, . . . for this is the way" (iv, 4, 5). Leaven is always a type of evil.

Consider the growing rich by fraud that abounds today even among those who hold high positions in the church, the oppression of the poor, the formalism in worship, the false teaching that all are children of God, that Jesus Christ was only one of the sons of God, better than the others, but not God; that there is no hell, no lake of fire; that if people are not saved in this life they can be in the next and that a God of love will never allow any one to perish eternally; the Bible cannot be taken literally. It does not mean what it says—consider all these horrible things and then think how God in His mercy sent forth a Daniel Crawford from the heart of Africa and a William Sunday from the baseball field to show His people their sins and to uphold the honor of His word.

How does the Lord plead by Amos? He reminded them how He had brought them out of Egypt, led them forty years in the wilderness, given them the lands of others, raised up prophets and Nazirites from among their sons and revealed to them His law, His prophecies (ii, 10, 11; iii, 7, 8, 9); therefore He would have them seek Him and, assuring them of an abundant pardon if only they would turn to Him with the whole heart (v, 4, 6, 14; Isa. lv, 6, 7). He also pointed them onward to the future glory, for in spite of all the sin of Israel it is the purpose of God to restore Israel and bless all nations through them. He will raise up the tabernacle of David (ix, 11), and James said at the great council in Jerusalem that would be after He had gathered the church, or, as he put it, taken out of the Gentiles a people for His name. Then he said that all the Gentiles would after that be gathered (Acts xv, 13, 18). Note how in the very last words of Amos prophecy the Lord says that He would bring again the captivity of Israel, that they would build their waste cities and inhabit them; that He would plant them upon their land and that they would no more be pulled up out of it (ix, 13-15). Abraham was encouraged and sustained by the assurance of the city—Moses by the recompense of the reward, David by the kingdom, Paul by the glory to be revealed and our Lord Himself by the joy set before Him. I know of no way by which the church of today can be turned from its worldliness and indifference to successfully be setting clearly before her the great love of Christ Jesus, the greatness of the salvation He has provided and the glory of the kingdom to which we are called.

Men are trying to remedy the evils that exist, to reform or uplift them by their own efforts, but "They know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they His counsel" (Mic. vi, 12). They do not know that the babe of Bethlehem was born to rule in Israel and that there can be no kingdom of peace on earth till He shall come again (Mic. v, 24). People are so filled with their own thoughts and ways, just as Israel was, that they will not be agreed with God and therefore cannot walk with Him (Amos iii, 3). Because many preachers in pulpits and teachers in seminaries are turning away from God to the wisdom of men there is a famine of hearing the words of the Lord (Amos viii, 11). As in the last lesson, those who have knowledge of God are disobedient and asleep and will be awakened. As it is written in Eph. v, 14, "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." "Be not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is" (Eph. v, 17, 18). "It is never before that the end of this age is near and that it is a time to be specially separated unto God from all evil and unbelief."

Old World Notes

Only one girl was present at Windsor town hall the other day, to make application for a marriage portion for long service, in connection with local charities. The lack of applications this year is explained by the fact that so many young marriageable men have gone to the war. Applicants for marriage portions must be of not less than eighteen years of age, born in the borough of New Windsor, and members of the Church of England. Each must have served one master consecutively for at least three years. A merry convalescent boy officer back from the front relates this incident. For twelve hours he and a "Tommy" had lain helplessly wounded and unobserved, mutually consoling each other. At last they saw four German soldiers approaching. "All up now," was the thought as the enemy halted beside them. No such thing. The enemy asked to be taken prisoners. Our boy officer consented on condition that the four Germans should support the two Englishmen into camp. The conditions were duly observed. A romantic story is told of a lady tramway conductor who married an officer from Chatham. When the tramway co's some time ago could not find enough men for their trams a charming young lady offered her services as a conductor and was accepted. She proved most successful, and passengers were wont to remark on her refined and pleasant manner. But one admirer went further. He made the acquaintance of the fascinating puncher of tickets, and now she is the wife of a gallant Irish lieutenant. Blind oarsmen scored a victory the other afternoon when the St. Dunstan's first four beat the first four of Emmanuel College, Wandsworth Common, over a course of three-quarters of a mile on the Thames at Putney. The crew was the same one as that which beat the first four of Worcester College for the Blind, but this time the blind soldiers have showed their superiority over sighted oarsmen. They won easily by four lengths. They showed excellent form, and rowed in perfect time. The darkening of the streets of London has resulted in the revival of "link boys," who invest six-pence in an electric torch and then offer their services as guides to nervous persons. Soon after nightfall they take up their positions at suburban stations and when they spy a likely customer they flash their little torches and ask if they may conduct the traveller to his destination. The police authorities are raising no objection to the use of these torches, providing they are used with discretion, but the use of a large lamp, which throws rays in all directions is prohibited. A scarcity of bread is beginning to be felt in London, not on account of any lack of flour, but owing to a shortage of bakers. Before the war some five thousand German bakers were employed in London and district, but now these have all been interned. In addition to this many English bakers have joined the army, and as a result of this depletion of their staffs, the master bakers cannot till their orders. In many of the bakeries women and girls are being employed but this help is inexperienced and the hours are very unsuitable, baking being mostly done at night. One of the features of the Royal Horticultural Society's show at the Horticultural Hall, Westminster, was the exhibition of autumn-grown vegetables. The exhibit was designed to demonstrate how quickly the food supply of the country can be increased by the use of early-maturing strains of vegetables. There were in view samples of fine lettuce, carrots, potatoes, onions, peas, beans, spinach, etc., all of which had been grown in the open under ordinary methods of cultivation and had been planted at the beginning of August, with the exception of the potatoes, which were planted at the middle of July. One day a week the beggars of Costa Rica are privileged characters. On each Tuesday they are allowed to beg from shop to shop. It is the custom for business houses to prepare for the weekly visit of the mendicants and to hand over to them small coins or articles of little value. Mr James Smith spent a few days last week with J. B. Henry. James McNeiles visited Mr Henderson's furniture to Woodstock on Monday. Mrs William Bartholomew spent a few days last week in Hamilton. Miss Martha Robert spent Sunday with Miss Claryn Henry. Born to James and Mrs Ripley on Friday, Nov. 19th, a son. Miss Will Lewis is spending a few days under the parental roof. GORIZIA NOW IN RANGE OF ITALIAN GUNS

General Cadorna Has Ordered That City be Saved From Damage.

Four Out of Five Defences of San Michele Have Fallen.

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, Nov. 26.—A London cable to The Herald says: "The reports from the front state that the Italian army against the Austrian positions on the Carra plateau, dominating the great fortress of Gorizia are progressing with unusual success. The city itself is now within range of the Italian guns on the north and west, but General Cadorna has the Italian chief of staff has given orders that, as far as possible, no artillery fire be directed on any part of the city. Before an attempt is made to occupy the fortress all the dominating positions on the amphitheatre of hills which surround it must be captured. The work is being carried out in detail and its completion is now believed to be certain. The most difficult approach and attack operations which the Italians have been obliged to undertake on the hilly plateau were in the Monte San Michele district. Five peaks dominating each other, were fortified with all the most modern devices by the Austrians. Three of these are reported taken and the entrenchment works on the fourth are now announced to be in the hands of the Italians. The resistance made by the Austrian troops is of the most desperate character and fierce counter-attacks have been delivered after each gain made by the Italians. The superiority of the Italian mountain guns, however, continues to be manifested and the assaults of the Bersaglieri and the Alpini prove irresistible. When the conquest of San Michele has been completed, it is believed that the Italians will enter Gorizia. The city proper has been practically executed by the Austrian military forces.

"Yes," Bert Randolph rattled on. "Aunt is a stunner—she's broad minded, too, not stiff and narrow like our Fairfax women folks. I do not know why she is going to visit Blair Stanley's mother instead of mine, but anyway, Aunt Burton Randolph will be here to attend the Fairfax tournament, which comes off in a couple of days. I have a bill of it with me. It's the biggest event we have in Fairfax, and poor Arthur Stanley was set on winning the wreath this year. How he practiced for it. He would have won it last year, but Blair Stanley, who is older and much heavier than he, beat him out by a nasty bit of interference. Didn't he, Ralph?"

Ralph was quick to say he thought Blair had ridden unfairly, and Bert went on with his chatter concerning his stunning aunt and the coming tournament.

"I would be surprised if Aunt Burton didn't go wild about Esther," Bert continued. "She loves to have pretty girls around her, and any girl she clings to is made a belle of Richmond, for Aunt Burton Randolph surely does queen it mightily in Richmond society."

While he was speaking the young Randolph of Fairfax produced a handbill printed in old English text, which read:

YE OLDE TIME
TOURNAMENT!
YE GALLANT CAVALIERS AND SQUIRES AND KNIGHTS OF
FAIRFAX COUNTY WILL HOLD AN
OLDE TIME TOURNAMENT
AT YE FAIRFAX GROUNDS
NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON.
ALL RIDERS MUST BE MARKED.
YE VICTORIOUS KNIGHT SHALL
CROWN HIS LADYE FAYRE
AS
QUEEN OF LOVE AND BEAUTIE!
CHAPTER XII.
The Tournament.

"But poor Arthur Stanley won't be here to ride this year," explained the good natured young man when they had all finished reading the announcement.

"The idea of them suspecting he killed old Dr. Lee!" chimed in the equally generous minded Ralph Hunter. "Why, Arthur for all his wild ways had the best and kindest heart in the world. And he loved Dr. Lee like a son, even if they did have some jolly old rows about the way Arthur spent money like water and got in debt."

"But why did Arthur run away? None of us believe him guilty, and we may have our faults in Fairfax, but we are all kin, and we all stand together when outsiders make trouble," asked Ralph Hunter.

"Shut up, you big silly!" cried Bert Randolph impulsively. "Can't you see you are making Miss Esther cry? Didn't you promise me we wouldn't say anything about Arthur's troubles? You know Miss Esther liked him best of all of us."

"Oh, pray, do forgive me, Miss Esther," cried the contrite young Hunter. "But I just can't keep quiet about Arthur. Keeping quiet implies we do believe those awful suspicions."

"I thank you for that," said Esther tremulously. "Let us talk about him. We know he is guilty of nothing except being a reckless boy, with no father and no mother."

Hagar spoke up for the first time. "Yes," she said huskily, "he had no mother."

"I'll tell you something about Arthur," spoke up Bert Randolph. "It was a secret, he had only told me. He was going to ride in the tournament this year and wrest Blair Stanley as the best rider in Fairfax from him. You know why? Well, Arthur was determined to win this year. It was when Miss Esther was at Dr. Lee's he told me. He was resolved to win so he could crown Miss Esther queen of love and beauty."

"Well, we'll do it for him," cried young Hunter. "All the girls of Fairfax are wild for the honor. But we'll win it for Miss Esther. One of us will block Blair Stanley, and the other will win the wreath."

"Ho!" chuckled young Randolph. "Is that the chivalry of a masked knight in the tournament of Fairfax? That's a trick like Blair Stanley played almost. I am astonished at you, Ralph," he added, with mock seriousness.

All laughed, relieved of the tension the mention of Arthur's plight under its terrible suspicion had brought upon the little group, and soon after the young men rode away, declaring that Esther should be crowned at their hands and the socially powerful female relative from Richmond should take the young mistress of Stanley hall under the benediction of her esteem.

It was about at this same time, on this same afternoon, that a glum faced hunchback organ grinder with a monkey limped into the dooryard of Fugate Smith's. Poor Quabba! Well could he realize that riches seldom bring happiness—especially when we lose them almost as quickly as they have been gained.

But the joy and glee of the little

Sir William Lever, besides being celebrated for his wonderful business capabilities, has also a reputation for wit. Shortly after he received his title he said that the College of Heraldry had no difficulty whatever about his pedigree.

All they had to do, he said, was to take away the "L" in front of my name and the "R" at the end and they had my pedigree at once.

PEACE AND WAR
It is estimated that over 80,000 officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army are now arrayed against each other in the European war, which began less than two months after a great international congress of Salvationists was held in London in June. Delegates were present from fifty different nations and colonies. Germany had about two hundred in the Congress, and of these 95 per cent are now fighting.

FIGS
The first known tree referred to in the Bible is the figtree. We are apt to think of figs as very sweet dried fruit, brown in color, packed into long wooden boxes. When newly gathered, figs are rather like pears in shape, and of a green or purple color. Eaten in this state the people of the East consider them the most delicious of fruit, but the figs are also dried, and in that form are included in almost every meal.

When the system gets "all run down" build it up with

A NOVEL COMPETITION.
An amusing story is told by Lord Saye and Sele. He once attended a book dinner at which all the guests were expected to appear with an emblem denoting the title of a book. Lord Saye and Sele went in ordinary evening dress, but he carried a 'sdy' petticoat over his arm. No one could guess what book he represented, but when he told them every one laughed. He represented Kipling's famous book, "Life's Handicap." His Lordship won the first prize.

TINNED CHEESE.
For a number of years the United States Department of Agriculture has been testing the merits of cheese put up in air-tight tins, and the results are said to be satisfactory. It is found commercially practicable to press cheese of the Sholdar type in cans of small diameter, cut it into pieces of the desired weight, and seal it in the tins. This process not only conduces to the preservation of the product, but also prevents loss by evaporation and the waste entailed in cutting. Moreover, the tinned cheese has no rind, and this fact represents a gain which helps to offset the cost of tinning.

THE ROYAL PREROGATIVE
Some years ago when the Duke of Connaught was raised to the position of Lieutenant-Colonel of the First Rifle Brigade the late Queen Victoria commanded that he should only be saluted as a regimental officer, and not as a member of the Royal Family. On one occasion however an Irish sen-try, seeing the Duke and Duchess approaching, turned out the guard and gave the royal salute. The Duke was much annoyed, and proceeded to give the sergeant in charge a piece of his mind. But the quick-witted Irishman was equal to the occasion.

"The guard, sord," he said in the richest brogue, "is for her Royal Highness, who, as a member of the Royal Family, is entitled to it!"

THE "HORSE CHESTNUT"
Why the horse chestnut is so called is a debatable point, but at least one passable explanation of the name may be found in a peculiar characteristic of the tree. If, when it is mature, a leaf be broken off cleanly at the point where its stem joins the branch it will be discovered that the base of the stem is the exact shape of a horse's hoof, and if one looks further one will see plainly marked upon the "hoof" the nail marks of the horse's shoe. The similitude of hoof and nails is at least remarkable. It might be supposed, in reference to the name of this tree, that horses were fond of the fruit, but one believes that this is not the case; nor does any other creature, except perhaps the rat or mouse, attempt to eat this natural and abundant product.

LADY COLONELS.
Now that Princess Mary is officially of "full age" several regiments in the Army are anxious that her name should be entitled with them and that there should be a "Princess Mary's Own." Among the claimants to this distinction are the Sixth Dragoon Guards—the senior cavalry regiment without the name of some member of the Royal Family identified with it—the Sixth Inniskilling Dragoons, the Thirteenth Hussars, and the Twentieth Hussars. The Norfolk Regiment too claims that as her Royal Highness was born in that county they should have the honor of bearing her name. To have a royal name coupled with a regiment is an ambition throughout the Army, and particularly in this case, in the cavalry. Three of these regiments indeed now claim royal titles as the Seventh Dragoon Guards (the Princess Royal), the Eighteenth Hussars (the Queen), and the Nineteenth Hussars (Queen Alexandra). These honors were bestowed by the King about twelve months ago.

SEEING BACKWARDS.
The hare can see objects behind as well as in front. Its eyes are large, prominent and placed laterally. Its power of seeing things in the rear is very noticeable in coursing, for, though the greyhound is mute while running, the hare is able to judge to a nicety the exact moment at which it will be best for it to double. The giraffe, which is a very timid animal, is approached with the utmost difficulty on account of its eyes being so placed that it can see both ways with equal facility. The faculty enables it to direct with great precision the rapid storms of kicks with which it defends itself.

EQUAL TO THE OCCASION.
A certain conceited colonel, who is as yet quite unknown to fame, had a great idea of his own importance, and was always boasting of what he would do if he went on active service. His military friends did not believe that he was so anxious to get into the thick of the fighting as he professed to be, and they laid their heads together, with the result that one of them rushed upon him with the false news—

"Have you heard the latest? You are ordered off for active service immediately!"

The colonel started to his feet. "Good heavens!" he cried. "Has French been killed already?"

THE AMERICAN CLAIM.
One of the strangest creatures known is the pholos, or boring clam of America. When still very minute the animal bores into the sandstone ledges at extreme low water 1 by means of its sharp shell, which is replaced by secretions as it is worn away. It penetrates the rock to a depth of six or eight inches, and hollows out its burrow as it increases in size. Shaped roughly like a top, it could not leave its rock dwelling even if it wished to do so. For food it depends on the animalcules that float in sea water, which it seizes by its long siphon or tongue.

The pholos is in great demand at the seaside resorts along the Pacific coast, for its meat is very tender and makes excellent soup. The clams are dislodged in great numbers, from the ledges by means of dynamite, although it is possible to obtain them with a pick and crowbar.

A FOSSILISED FOREST.
Of the fossil forests which have so far been discovered probably the most remarkable is to be seen in Yellowstone Park, America, where the greater part of the trees stand upright in their natural position instead of being recumbent and scattered about the ground as in other parts of the world. In Arizona the fossilised trunks have evidently been carried a long distance from where they originally grew. In the Yellowstone the trees now stand where they grew, and where they were entombed by the outpouring of various volcanic materials.

Now as the softer rocks surrounding them are gradually being worn away, the trees stand erect on the steep hillsides just as they stood when they were living; in fact, it is difficult at a little distance to distinguish some of these fossil trunks from the living covered stumps of kindred living species.

It should not be supposed, however, that these trees still retain their limbs and smaller branches, for they are left standing erect on the steep hillsides just as they stood when they were living; in fact, it is difficult at a little distance to distinguish some of these fossil trunks from the living covered stumps of kindred living species.

EXCHANGING COMPLIMENTS.
Here is an anecdote told about Adjutant-General Soukhomlinov, Russia's war minister. Once he was travelling incognito near Nice, accompanied by his wife, and they entered a modest village inn. But the landlady learned from the chauffeur who the illustrious guests were. Having brought in what was required, she then sat silently down to an old piano and played the Marseillaise to the great delight of all present.

RISE OF NEWFOUNDLAND
Newfoundland has had a curious history. Cabot, sailing from Bristol, discovered the country in 1497, and in 1583 Sir Humphrey Gilbert annexed its wild and rocky shores for Queen Elizabeth. Yet until one hundred and thirty years ago it was illegal to build a permanent house there. The island was held by "merchant adventurers" for the sake of the fisheries. They hired their fishermen in England, took them across the Atlantic each spring and brought them back at the commencement of winter. Newfoundland's importance in the cod fishery arises to a great extent from the fact that it is only within her waters that the small fish desirable as bait can be obtained in the necessary quantities.

edible, threatens the supremacy of the potato. It is being cultivated in Florida with much success and with much profit to its cultivators, according to an American journal devoted to the gardening industry. The dashen stalks grow to a height of four to six feet. The plant has shield shaped leaves not unlike an elephant's ear. Each hill of dashen contains one or two large spherical corms, or bulbs, which grow to five pounds in weight; round them are developed numerous tubers. Both corms and tubers are like the potato in composition but they contain less water. One plant will produce from four to ten pounds of tubers in good rich soil. Both corms and tubers have an agreeable nutty flavor and are easily digested. The cook can serve a dashen in the same way that she serves a potato, and she can also prepare the blanched shoots, forced from the corms in hot houses, as she does asparagus. The leaves, when tender, can take the place of spinach.

VARIATIONS OF A WATCH
Those who wonder why their watches occasionally exhibit vagaries may be interested in the paper which Mr. J. J. Shaw, who assisted the late Professor Milne in his seismographic work, has communicated to the Royal Astronomical Society. Tests have shown that a watch which normally varies only to the extent of a second a day may gain or lose a quarter of a minute in the 24 hours if it is hung up on a stand or a bedpost. Mr. Shaw also suggests that the well known fact of a watch keeping bad time when worn by one else than the owner is not due to bodily temperature or animal magnetism, as is generally believed, but to the different rhythm of motion.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS' SICK FEVERISH CHILD
Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they come tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one— if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Governor Harris, of Georgia, signed the last of a series of bills designed to banish from that State all breweries, locker clubs, and "near beer" saloons.
