Public School Meeting

The annual school meeting was held on Wednesday, Dec. 29th in the Village Hall. Mr. R. Sparks was elected to the chair. The Auditors' report was read and adopted, showing total receipts of $10,612.44, with expenditures of $5,991.57 including two cheques for $234.85 not withdrawn, leaving a balance as per bank book of $4,855.72. The building fund showed total receipts including interest $75,785.73, with expenditure to date of $64,625.44, leaving a balance as per bank book of $11,160.29.

The retiring trustees, Mrs. A. M. Slater, Wm. Thompson and Dr. D. A. Hopper, were re-elected for a term of two years.

The insurance for the new school was discussed, and the majority of the ratepayers present were in favor of placing $75,000 on building and contents. This amount has since been placed by the Trustees.

Millgrove

The White Xmas given here on Wednesday evening was exceptionally well attended.

Rev. Albright gave an excellent address last Sunday on Christian service.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Mosher of Toronto spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cummins.

Mr. Robt. Flatt and wife and Mr. Chas. M. Flatt and wife spent Xmas with Mr. Walter Forester and family at Copetown.

Miss Ena Griffin of Hamilton spent Sunday at the parental home.

One of our returned soldiers Mr. Frank Mason spent Sunday at Mr. Roland Cummins.

Municipal elections are the talk of the village at this time.

Mr. Chas. Goodbrand has been appointed trustee of Millgrove Public School.

Mountsburg

Xmas passed off very quietly in this vicinity, a number took in the Xmas tree at Frelton in the evening.

Miss Mary Scott of Hamilton spent Xmas at home.

The Xmas entertainment of the Methodist Sunday School will be held on Tuesday January 4th, a good program is provided.

Mrs. Ed. Beaver of Guelph spent Xmas with her father, Mr. T. Woolley.

Cartage rates have taken quite a raise, the price is now one dollar every half mile, passengers not included.

Miss Bessie Leslie of Hamilton spent Christmas under the parental roof.

The concert given by the pupils of the public school which was held on Tuesday eve December 21st was a huge success. Miss Hanna, teacher is to be congratulated on the splendid way the children were trained.

Mr. Osborn Wingrove of Toronto spent Xmas at her home here.

Quite a number from here attended the Xmas Tree at Frelton given by the children of Mount Carmel Church

A Square Deal

To the ratepayers and residents of Waterdown

The Community League wishes to make a statement of facts regarding their stand towards the proposed Memorial Hall. During the summer a petition was circulated and signed by practically all the King's Daughters, Women's Institute and Patriotic workers, which organizations comprise the Community League, asking the Council to sign the following agreement, which they refused to do and threw back at us, the Reeve claiming it was an insult. We felt it was only business for ourselves and coming generations to have the papers to show our right to use the Hall or Women's Room without any cost or hindrance, considering we have paid $3200 for the site. We had the Deeds ready to hand over to the Council for the Corporation of the Village of Waterdown, we think was giving said Corporation a square deal.

Should the Hall be built the Community League are ready and willing to work to furnish it, or help in any way possible to make our village better.

Copy of Agreement

This Indenture made in duplicate this.....day of August, A. D. 1920, between The Community League of the Village of Waterdown, of the First Part, and, The Municipal Corporation of the Village of Waterdown of the Second Part.

Whereas the parties of the First Part have authorized the conveyance of Lots 19 and 21 in Block No. 16 in the village of Waterdown, to the parties of the Second Part, to be held by the parties of the Second Part in connection with Memorial Hall, under the Community Halls Act (1920) upon the parties of the Second Part executing this agreement, which the parties of the Second Part have agreed to do.

Therefore this Indenture Witnesseth that in pursuance of the premises and in consideration of the said lands being conveyed by the parties of the First Part to the parties of the Second Part, and of the sum of $1, now paid by the parties of the First Part to the parties of the Second Part, they, the said parties of the Second Part, covenant, promise and agree to and with the parties of the First Part that they will issue the first debenture for the Memorial Hall during the year 1920, and that the parties of the First Part shall have joint use of the said Hall, with the parties of the Second Part.

In witness whereof the parties of the Second Part have hereunto fixed their corporate seal under the hands of its proper officers.

Signed.....

The above agreement was drawn up by one of the best legal firms in Hamilton. The Deed is made out to the Village of Waterdown, and is dated August 9th, 1920.

The prayer meetings in connection with the Presbyterian Forward Movement continuation plan will be held in Knox Church Sunday room the first week in the new year. Subjects and dates will be announced on Sunday. It has been well said that when the church sets itself to pray with the same seriousness and strength of purpose that it has devoted to other forms of christian effort, it will see the Kingdom of God come with power.

Village Nominations

At the nominations for the village council last Monday the following candidates were nominated for municipal honors. For Reeve, R. Smith, H. A. Drummond, Dr. J. O. McGregor and Wm. A. Drummond, and for Councillors, D. Atkins, F. W. Crooker, Wm. A. Drummond, A. Dale, G. F. Dougherty, J. W. Griffin, John Kitching, C. P. McGregor, G. E. Nicholson and H. Stettler. Dr. J. O. McGregor and Wm. A. Drummond declined to run for the Reeveship, and J. W. Griffin, J. Kitching, C. P. McGregor and H. Stettler as councillors. A warm campaign is now being carried on, and all the candidates are confident of winning. A heavy vote will be polled on Monday next and we advise everyone to vote and vote early.

My Dear Boys and Girls:

How many of you have seen a rubber plant? There is a kind which many people have in their houses which grows to a good height and has broad green leaves. My little friend Jack was telling me about the one at his house and he asked whether I thought they would be able to get real rubber from it, rubber that would make such things as a bouncing ball, or an eraser to rub out lead pencil marks. This made me think of a story I used to read when I went to school about some children who asked their father where India rubber came from, and this is what he told them.

The Story of India Rubber.

"India rubber does not come from India only. If you were to take a walk in one of the forests of South America you would see groups of men going from tree to tree cutting deep gashes in the bark. As the gashes are cut cups are placed beneath. Presently the tree begins to bleed (you know how our maple trees drop the sap in winter time?) The juice which comes from these trees is milky white in color and very sticky. When the cups underneath are full the men collect them and the thick white juice is poured over large pieces of clay which are shaped somewhat like a bottle or a jar. To these the juice sticks and becomes firm. The men then set fire to a heap of palm trees which gives off a thick smoke. The juice covered clay is placed in this smoke until it gradually becomes hard and changes in color from milky white to a duller shade.

When the juice has become dry and stiff the clay inside is softened with water and scraped away leaving the outer covering which is then called bottle rubber, and this is ready to be sent away to be made into all kinds of useful things such as rubber dolls, soles of shoes and balls.

Many of you who go to school to-day will perhaps have learnt a great deal more about India rubber. Since the time that this was written rubber has been found useful in many other ways. I wonder who could give the best and longest list of uses to which rubber is put. Next time you have to write a story in school this would be an interesting story to write about.

Are you remembering the little birds? So far, no one has written me any news of our friend Robin Red-breast. We are getting near the time when everything will be frozen up so hard that little feathered friends will need your help to find a meal. Do not forget them. I shall look out for some bird news from country corners.

Our Mail Box.

Riverview.
Dear Aunt June:
I would like to join your League. Please send me a badge. I am twelve years old. I go to school every day, and when I come home at night I get the supper, wash the dishes, sweep the floor, milk three cows and do my home work. I have three brothers. One of them goes to school and the other two do the work.

STELLA WILSON.

By this time, Stella, you will have received your badge. I think such good helping deserves a badge. I wonder which of all the things you do like best of all. How splendid to have three brothers! I should like to hear more about your school some day when you have time to write again.

Dear Aunt June:
I am going to tell you what I have and what I can do. I have a little grey rabbit. It will eat right out of my hand at any time.

I go to school and am in the third book. I did not get to school for nearly two years because papa was sick so the work is a little hard. I go errands for papa and mama and I can plow and saw up wood, or most any kind of farm work. I am thirteen years old. I am putting in five cents for a badge as I have not a stamp. I must close now. Yours truly,

WILLIE PREST.

How you must love the pet rabbit, Willie! I would like to see it. I wonder if you caught him yourself or whether he was always tame. I love to hear about the pets. Perhaps you will draw a picture of your rabbit for me one day. I am glad you are so handy on the farm, to be able to do almost any kind of work. You must be a very useful-helper when you can plow. I hope you will like the badge.

Dear Aunt June:

I wish to join your Club, but there was no pledge in the paper this week so I cannot sign it. I can do quite a few things to help, such as washing dishes, taking in wood, setting the table and milk, if necessary.

I have a number of pets but I think my favorite is a big white and brown collie dog. He is the same age as I am and we are great friends. Next there is a big cat and a dear little speckled kitten. I call her Spitfire. Then we have a colt called Joe. He is two years old, and an awful monster for his age. Sometimes when he comes up to me in the field I will throw my arms round his neck and he will lift up his head and raise me away up high. Well I must close now. With best wishes to the Club, Yours lovingly,

MARGARET FLEMING.

Your letter, Margaret, is one of the most interesting in our mail bag this week. The picture which you drew for me of the Chinese woman I have put on my desk. It is good. Is the one in the corner a true portrait of your sister? I notice she has plenty of hair.

Will you look out for the pledge in our corner again and sign it to send with your next letter. You certainly have a number of pets, and I am sure you love every one of them and must be very happy with them all. I should like to see you especially with the collie and the kitten. I wonder if they are good friends. This is just the kind of letter I love to get from my Helpers, with plenty of news about the things you like best. Please write again some day.

Thanks For Badge.

Dear Aunt June:
I received my badge a long time ago and think it very pretty, also saw my letter in the paper, and intended writing again, but time has gone so quickly. I did not realize how long it was since I last wrote. We have had a little winter and I have had a few sleigh rides, but the ground is bare again, although sleighing and skating time will soon be here and I expect to have some jolly times. I have finished the crochet yoke that I was doing for my cousin and it looks very nice. I help with the house work, but most of my time is taken up with my studies. The schools and churches have started practising for Christmas entertainments, so when I write again I will tell you something about them. I will close now, wishing Aunt June and all members of the Club a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year as this will be my last letter before Christmas.

LAURA CLIFFORD.

Thank you for your Christmas wish, Laura. It is just as well to get them in early, is it not? I shall have time to wish you a happy Christmas a little later. I see that you too were looking for and wondering where Jack Frost had gone, at the time you wrote this letter. I shall be delighted to hear about the entertainments at school.

New Members.

All girls who are Helpers must join the League of Service sent in the little pledge which will be found on this page with their name and address and write a letter to Aunt June giving an account of their daily needs of service, that is tell all about what you do to help others.

Yours lovingly,

AUNT JUNE.

WHEN BABY IS SICK

When the baby is sick—when he is cross and peevish; cries a great deal and is a constant worry to the mother—needs Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are an ideal medicine for little ones. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Philippe Payen, St. Flaven, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a wonderful help to me in the case of my baby and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE.

The feature of the week is the reduction made in paint prices. All lines of prepared paints have been reduced following the declines in white lead, turpentine and linseed oil prices, and quotations are back to the price of twelve months ago.

Other changes include further declines in metal prices; copper, tin and lead are all at lower levels. Black oil has been reduced in price.

Easier prices are noted on black sheets, solder and scrap metals.

Some lines of cast goods, such as bench screws, grindstone fittings, stove pipe dampers, etc., have been advanced in price.

Many lines of Christmas goods were scarce and stocks of English cutlery are low. The trade is quieter though seasonable lines are in demand.

Minard's Liniment For Diphtheria.

A CASH TRANSACTION.

Two tramps had followed a wealthy man through many miles of streets waiting for a favorable opportunity to rob him. Suddenly he stopped before the residence of a lawyer, rang up the steps, rang the bell, and was admitted.

The tramps looked at each other in disgust. "Well," said one, "what's to be done?"

"Suppose we shall have to wait for him to come out?"

"Not likely," said the other, "we shall have to wait for the lawyer now."

BANK OF MONTREAL

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING, HELD 6TH DECEMBER, 1920.

The 103rd Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal was held on Monday, December 6th, at the Bank's Headquarters. The President, Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., occupied the chair, and presented the annual report of the Directors.

Before moving the adoption of the report, Sir Vincent Meredith gave a comprehensive review of the economic situation. During the year, he said, an overwhelming demand for credit had taxed resources to the utmost. It had been difficult to make men who had grown accustomed to high prices recognize the fact that economic conditions, which no artificial means can alter, alone are the cause of price decline. "The demand for intervention through Government control is still insistent in some quarters," he said. "Canada alone cannot control world-wide conditions, and it is idle to turn to the Government for relief from falling prices." This applies to wheat as well as to other commodities.

Summing up, he said: "The situation in Canada at present, as I view it, is that while there does not appear to be any cause for apprehension, there is every reason for the exercise of the utmost measure of caution. Canada cannot dissociate herself from world conditions, and world conditions are not satisfactory. On this continent the two years' supervening upon the Armistice have been marked by unexampled trade activity and prosperity, a circumstance common to the conclusion of all great wars, but the reaction has set in and may not yet be in full play. Happily, Canada is well-tressed on many sides, and the exercise of prudence and sagacity should enable her to meet the shock of falling prices, restricted credits and deflated currency, without serious impairment of her commercial and financial vitality."

Expansion of Business in Canada.
The General Manager, Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, in reviewing the operations of the Bank during the year, said the payment of a bonus of 20 per cent. to the shareholders was not the outcome of higher rates of interest on current loans in OCanada but a reflection of the increase in current loans and of high interest rates on call loans in New York, the volume of which was governed by the Bank's requirements in liquid reserves. One anomaly which attracted attention was that with credit restrictions as acute here as it was across the line, the price of money was materially lower in the Dominion. This condition, he said, was regarded as a tribute to Canada's good banking system.

Dealing with the growth of the Bank's operations, he said: "It is noteworthy that the greatest expansion of the Bank during the past few years has been in our own country. This is revealed in our greatly increased loans and deposits in Canada and in the number of branches opened during the period."

Loans	Deposits	in Canada	in Canada
1914	$123,147,000	$168,557,000	173
1920	240,725,000	358,878,000	302

The annual report was unanimously adopted and the retiring directors were re-elected. The shareholders gave approval to the motion by Lord Shaughnessy to increase the number of directors from 16 to 18 and to the two new positions on the Board were elected Sir Lonner Gouin and General Sir Arthur Currie.

At a subsequent meeting of Directors, Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., was re-elected president, and Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., was re-elected vice-president.

Must you what makes you so cross?

Poor mother, has headache, dizzy spells, headache and is nervous, which are all symptoms of woman's trouble.

Most women neglect their health, and for this neglect they pay the penalty. Any woman who suffers thus will find that she loses flesh faster than Nature can put it on. She will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life and make her worries fewer. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-around vegetable tonic that braces the entire body, relieving nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

Dr. Pierce put his Favorite Prescription in the drug stores in 1870. For fifty years it has stood the test, and thousands upon thousands of women everywhere in Canada can testify that this non-alcoholic tonic made them healthy and well. Send ten cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package of Favorite Prescription tablets.

Trees on the Prairie.

The Canadian Forestry Association sent to the Prairie Provinces during the summer of 1920 a tree-planting car in charge of an expert. The object was to enlist and direct the enthusiasm of the prairie people for tree-planting—a movement that has attained much importance in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The experiment has been an unqualified success, for the help given to farmers and town residents in their tree problems will show splendid results in a few years—when the trees now set cut grow to normal size. The prairie need no longer be treeless, even in the dry belts, and no home need be without a protecting fringe. Near Lethbridge, one farmer has succeeded, in the driest years, in growing trees to fourteen feet. In another part of Alberta, an Englishman has succeeded in growing a wind-break of trees around his entire farm, and has a rich border of English perennials all along the side of the drive to his house. He does not suffer from drifting soil, as do his neighbors, and he has grown strawberries and other tender fruits under the protection of the trees. This widespread tree-planting movement is one of the solid constructive features of Western life, and can be made a great economic and social asset. We in the East often regard trees as a sort of nuisance, but in the irrigation districts, and on the monotonously unbroken levels of Western Saskatchewan, they are prizes to be cared for as we care for rare roses and rhododendrons.

Cutting Down Waste.

People of average means can hardly afford in these days to keep servants. Households which formerly kept two or three now get along with one maid. Many manage with half a servant, sharing her with a neighbor. Not a few housewives have been driven to the necessity of doing their own cooking and sending the washing to a laundry.

This has meant a great deal of discomfort, but there has been an incidental gain. Waste is enormously reduced.

Servants make nearly all the waste of a household. Many housewives, deprived of "lady help," have been astonished to observe a shrinkage of their food bills, notwithstanding the present doubled and trebled prices.

When a domestic establishment employs half a dozen servants the waste is enormous. Nearly always in a house run on that scale the butler and cook "stand in" with the butcher and grocer, and their rake-off increases with the amount of food they throw away.

Recent investigations proved that the average family living in a private house, with one or more servants, throws away a pound and a quarter of perfectly good food every day.

It was found that the average apartment house family throws away only one-fifth as much—largely, doubtless, because such families reduce domestic service to a minimum.

In the tenement districts of Toronto one garbage can usually suffices to hold the food refuse of twenty families. But in the "private house districts" it was found that 163 families had 175 garbage pails, or more than a pail apiece.

Examination of the 175 pails revealed eighteen pounds of bread and rolls, fifty pounds of meat, thirty-five pounds of potatoes, sixteen pounds of cereals and large quantities of perfectly edible fresh vegetables.

Always the amount of food waste varies directly with the number of servants employed. As a matter of fact, the full garbage pail seems hitherto to have been regarded in this country as a manifestation of prosperity. Not until very recently have people begun to think that possibly this was a foolish idea.

An Industrious Beaver.

A beaver in a park was experimentally placed at work on a tree twelve feet long and two feet six inches thick, just as the town clock sounded the hour of noon. The beaver began by barking the tree a foot above the ground. That done, he attacked the wood. He worked hard, alternating his labor with dips in his bathing pond. He bathed and labored alternately, then he ate his supper of bread and carrots, which the keeper had brought him, and paddled about in his pond until half-past five o'clock. Ten minutes later, when only one inch of the tree's diameter remained intact, he bore upon his work and the tree fell. Before it fell the beaver ran as men run when they have fired a blast. Then as the tree lay on the ground he portioned it out mentally and began to gnaw. He worked at intervals all night, cut the log into three parts, rolled two of the portions into the water, and reserved the other third for his permanent shelter. The work done, he took a bath.

CURRENT COMMENT

HYDRO RADIAL SUCCESS.

With the purchase of the Mackenzie electric and radial properties by the City of Toronto a new impetus has been given to the proposal that the Hydro Radial Union should acquire the radials now operated by the Canadian National Railways, the offer of which at cost was made before the issue of the Radial Commission by the Ontario Government, which offer still holds good according to Ottawa authority. The lines in question are the Toronto Eastern, the Toronto Suburban, and the Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto railways, all of which had been provisionally recognized as to be included in the proposed provincial radial lines. The offer of the federal government is a most generous and advantageous one, and will enable the Hydro Radial Union should the offer be taken up to make a most auspicious start in the proposed radial system. The recent purchase of the Mackenzie interests provides a right of way from Niagara to Toronto and this in combination with the three lines comprised in the Ottawa Government, Ottawa constitutes the backbone of the new system. The evidence brought out at the Radial Commission sessions to an imprecise mind would warrant the flotation of a $100,000,000 company to carry out the project. The people do not want dividends, but service at cost and the lower the cost of construction and the consequent investment the more successful will be the service. No one who has watched the operation of the Hydro services has any doubt about the success of the radials. The London & Port Stanley railway has confounded all the critics, and a second example of Hydro Radial success is at hand in the Windsor & Sandwich lines. After nine months of operation they have done what the promoters of the radial inquisition said it was impossible to do, and have increased wages by 25 per cent. without any increase in fares. Private ownership could not do this, and critics of Sir Adam Beck asserted that he could not do it. Not only have the 25 per cent. increases in wages been paid, but for the last four months ten per cent. additional.

These facts are of more value than all the contrary opinions in Ontario, and Premier Drury appears to have a wholesome respect for facts.

KEEPING ONTARIO ORDERLY

Orders have been issued to arrest all men found carrying concealed weapons, sheath knives, bowie knives, daggers, stilettos, knuckle-dusters, life-preservers, revolver, pistol, bomb or other fire-arm. Since the war there has been a great increase in the number of people carrying concealed weapons and while the conditions are not so bad here as in the United States it is feared that evil communications may corrupt good manners. In United States cities conditions have become fairly awful. Since New Year in New York there have been over 100 unsolved murders. In Philadelphia 100 murders in eleven months and fifty hold-ups in one day recently puts the city of brotherly love on the Quaker map of violence. Records of murder in United States cities is appalling and it is to be doubted if Sodom and Gomorrah had such a lust for slaughter. Cleveland has had 70 murders this year, and Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Detroit and San Francisco acknowledge similar depravity. In 1916 New York with less than 6,000,000 people had six times as many murders as London with its population of over 7,000,000. Chicago in the same year, one-third the size of London had 105 murders or twelve times as many as London. In three years, 1916-18 Glasgow had 38 homicides; Philadelphia, about the same size, had 281. Liverpool and St. Louis are about of a size. In 1915 St. Louis had eleven times, and in 1916 eight times as many murders. Los Angeles, one-twentieth the size of London in 1916 had two more homicides. Cleveland, one-tenth the size of London, had three times as many killings in 1917 and about twice as many in 1918. It is believed that human life has never been so insecure in a "civilized" country as in the United States at the present time, and the number of murders and homicides in 1919 exceed all previous records. The authorities in Ontario cannot be too careful to prevent any spread of such violence to this province. Canada may be glad to be free of such tendencies the result of system, had temper, variety, and quarrelsome undisciplined characters combined with a too ready access to fire-arms.

THE ROUND TABLE

"Captain Macedoine's Daughter" by William McPee. Published by S. B. Gundy, Toronto.

Any one who reads "Casuals of the Sea" or "Aliens" needs no further recommendation of their author's latest book, "Captain Macedoine's Daughter," than the statement that this novel has the same durable excellence, the same maturity and depth that marked those two previous stories.

"Captain Macedoine's Daughter" is first of all, a masterful portrayal of two colorful personalities—the supreme illusionist, Macedoine, who retires from the sea with his bestow title of "captain," and his richly vital daughter, Artemisia. But it is more than that; it is a contrast between Occidental and Eastern civilizations and philosophies, a commentary on human nature, particularly an analysis of love, and an achievement in beautiful prose. More than all these, perhaps, is it an artistically restrained protest against the banishment of Romance from the world, and a plea for broadness in judging people whose outlook upon life differs from our own.

We know Captain Macedoine for exactly what he is—a pretentious, un-moral old fraud, pathetic, in his pose as a man of fine family and of large affairs, who tries to make his alluring daughter a pawn in his scheme to swindle sailors; we see the daughter in her true light as an unregenerate pagan of not too admirable conduct. Yet Mr. McPee succeeds in making us feel affection for Captain Macedoine, and both affection and admiration for the daughter, victim of an impalpable destiny.

Contrasted with this father and daughter are "good old honest Jack Evans," English sea captain, and his wife, "with her soul like a parched pie." And, inconsistently enough, the reader cannot help sympathizing with their viewpoint, too.

This ability to make his readers like characters as far apart in their philosophies as the poles is one of the most unusual feats Mr. McPee performs in his latest novel. Besides that, he is master of the secret of saying things by suggestion; of leaving to the reader's imagination just the things that, unwritten, stamp an author as an artist.

Miss E. A. H. Brantford—I would like to know of a thrilling story of adventure on travel to be given to a boy of fifteen. I would prefer that it did not belong to that class labelled "boys' books."

"The Flying Bo'sun," by Arthur Mason, is a sea story in which you take one long breath as soon as the action gets under way and let it go on the last page.

It is extremely realistic Swanson is as brutal as any sailor depicted by Jack London. One-Eyed Riley and Broken-Nose Pete and other individuals are as well characterized as those in "The Nigger of the Narcissus." They tell yarns like the old salts whom W. W. Jacobs describes. Most of them deal with the superstitions of the sailor, but as sea stories they make the book rank with the best of Jack London or Morgan Robertson.

"The Terrible Island," by Beatrice Grimshaw, is another absorbing tale. This author is very popular in England and it is easy to understand why, for she knows every trick to keep the reader reading.

Both these stories are meant for grown-ups as well as young folks.

THE IMPORTANCE OF MICA.
The main importance of mica in modern industry lies in the fact that it is one of the poorest conductors of electricity and therefore desirable for the purposes of insulation. It is almost indispensable in the electrical industry.

Each year Americans use $320,000,000 worth of buttons.

BEST VARIETIES OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

A country as large as Canada and with so many differences in climate, needs fruits and vegetables that can be grown under a great variety of conditions. There is still room for improvement in these varieties yet available, particularly for the oldest parts of the Dominion, but efforts are continuously being made by the Horticultural Division to originate better sorts.

Fruits.

Apples: There are between thirty and forty varieties of apples which might be called the best for planting in Canada, and in the following list they are given in about their relative importance:

Summer: Duchess of Oldenburg, Red Astrachan, Yellow Transparent, Crimson Beauty, Williams Favorite, Charlamoff, Bushed Calville, Lowland Raspberry, Langford Beauty.

Autumn: Wealthy, Gravenstein, Alexander, Bismarck, Dudley, McMahon, Hibernia, Antonovka, Patten Greening.

Early Winter: McIntosh, Jonathan, Tompkins King, Rhode Island Greening, Fameuse, Ribston, Hubbardston, Wolf River.

Crab Apples: Transcendent, Virginia, Florence, Martha, Hyslop, and for the severest parts of the prairies, Osman, Columbia, Jewel, Silvia, Robin, and Elsa.

Winter: Baldwin, Northern Spy, Wagener, American Golden Russet, Grimes, Delicious, Stark, Roxbury (Nonpareil), Yellow Newton, Winesap, Bethel, Scott Winter, Milwaukee.

Of the winter apples in the above list, Delicious Yellow Newton, and Winesap are only satisfactory in parts of Canada where the seasons are hottest and longest, and they succeed best in Southern British Columbia.

Peaches in Order of Ripening: St. John, Early Crawford, Greensboro, Champion, Bridgton or Garfield, Fitzgerald, Reeves, Niagara, Alberta, Carman, Beers, Smock.

Pears in Order of Ripening: Giffard, Clapp, Bartlett, Boussock, Flemish, Howell, Louise, Duches, Boss, Clairgeau, Anjou, Kieffer.

The Flemish Beauty is one of the hardest pears, and Dr. Jules Guyot is a variety which has done particularly well in British Columbia.

Plums in Order of Ripening: European—Bridshaw, Imperial Gage, Shipper Pride, Lombard, Yellow Egg, Reine Claude, Golden Drop, Italian Prune, Grand Duke, Shropshire Damson, Rosaroch.

Other varieties succeeding well in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are Arctic, Field, Guell, and Quackenbush, and in British Columbia Diamond and Pond.

Japanese—Red June, Abundance, Burbank, Chabot.

American and Nigra—Assiniboine, Cheney, Mammoth, Schley, Brackett.

Hybrid—Emerald, Omaha, Shiro, Waneta.

Cherries: Sour—Early Richmond, Montmorency, English Morello, Olivet.

Sweet—Black Tartarian, Governor Wood, Napoleon, Windsor, Elkhorn, Lambert and Bing succeed particularly well in British Columbia.

Grapes: For districts where grown commercially in order of ripening: Black—Moore, Campbell, Worden, Concord, Wilder.

Red—Delaware, Lindley, Agawam, Veronique.

White—Diamond, Niagara. Additional varieties where earliness is the chief consideration: Black—Early, Daisy, Manito, Mer-rimac, Peabody.

White—Winchell (Green Mountain), Red—Brighton, Moyer.

Blackberries: Agawam, Snyder, and for warmer sections, Kittlenny, and for west coast, Loganberry, Himalaya, Mammoth and Evergreen.

Currants: Black—Champion, Victoria, Black-koop Giant, Saunders, Climax, Magnus, Kerry.

Red—Perfection, Red Cross, Red Grape, Fay, Victoria, Red Dutch, White—Grana.

Gooseberries: American Varieties—Pearl, Downing, Josselyn (Red Jacket), and Oregon Champion especially for British Columbia, and Houghton for the Prairie Provinces.

Raspberries: Black—Older, Cumberland, Gregg, Red—Cuthbert, Herbert. On the Prairies Sunbeam is desirable because of great hardness.

Strawberries: Parson (per.), Glen Mary (per.), Senator Dunlap (per.), Portia (imp.), Williams (per.). In British Columbia Mazoon is one of the best, and Marshall and Paxton do well. Beder Wood is one of the best early strawberries.

Everbearing Strawberries: Progressive, American.

VEGETABLES. Asparagus, Argenteuil, Palmetto.

Beans. Dwarf—Round Pod Kidney Wax, Stringless Green Pod, Early Red Valentine, Refugee or 1,000 to 1.

Pole—Kentucky Wonder, Scarlet Runner.

Beets—Detroit Dark Red, Early Model, Crosby Egyptian.

Borecole or Kale—Dwarf Green Curled Scotch.

Brussels Sprouts—Improved Dwarf, Cabbage—Early Jersey Wakefield, Copenhagen Market, Succession, Danish Ballhead, Drumhead Savoy, Red Dutch.

Cauliflower—Early Snowball, Early Dwarf Erfurt.

Carrot—Chantenay, Danvers Half Long, Early Golden Horn.

Celery—Golden Self Blanching, Winter Queen, Evans Triumph, Perfection Heartwell, White Plume is desirable for the prairies and cooler parts.

Corn—Golden Bantam is the most popular early variety, but still earlier Stewells Evergreen and Country Gentleman are good late sorts.

Cucumber—Davis Perfect, White Pine.

Egg Plant—New York Improved, Long Purple.

Lettuce—Grand Rapids, Iceberg, Giant Crystal Head, Improved Hanson, Salamander, Crisp as Ice.

Muskmelon, green fleshed—Long Island Beauty, Hackensack, Montreal Market.

Salmon or yellow flesh—Hoodoo, Emerald Gem, Paul Rose, Surprise.

Onions—Yellow Globe Danvers, Early Red Wetherfield Early Flat Red, Prize Taker is good for transplanting. Dutch sets are desirable where the season is short.

Parsley—Double Curled, Parsnip—Hollow Crown.

Pepper—Harriet Earliest, Early Neapolitan, Cayenne, Chili.

Peas: Early—Thos. Linton, Gradus, Sutton Early Giant, English Wonder, Gregory Surprise is earlier but pods are rather small.

Medium to late—Sutton Excelsior, McLean, Advance, Heroine, Stratagem.

Tall varieties—Telephone, Champion of England, Quite Content.

Potatoes: Early—Irish Cobbler or Eureka Extra Early.

Main Crop—Green Mountain, Gold Coin, Wee MacGregor, Carman No. 1 (all of the Green Mountain Group).

Early Ohio is a good extra early pink sort but is not so productive as Irish Cobbler. Rural Group including Dooley where summers are hottest.

Radish—Scarlet White Tipped Tarnish, White Icicle.
Salsify—Long White, Sandwich Islands.
Spinach—Victoria.
Squash—Long White Bush, Summer Crookneck. Late—Delicious, Hubbard.
Tomatoes—Extra Early: Alacrité, Sparks Earliana. Early and Main Crop: Bonny Best, Chalk Early Jewel. Late good sorts are Matchless, Trophy, Livingston Globe, Plentiful, Swede Turnip—Champion Purple Top.

TORONTO SURGEON PERFORMS UNUSUAL CHILD OPERATION

REMOVES UNDEVELOPED "TWIN" FROM BASE OF SPINE OF 16-DAY-OLD BABY GIRL.

An unusual operation has been performed in St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, upon a 16-day-old girl, who was born with a misdeveloped "twin" attached to her at the base of the spine. The "parasite," as surgeons term such a growth, grew with the baby's growth and is said to have weighed five pounds. It occasionally underwent spontaneous contraction independent of the living child.

On the unnatural growth, technically termed a "multi-locular cyst," two large black spots had appeared, and this determined the doctors immediately interested in the case to have the growth removed in order to save the life of the baby. Dr. Gliden Silverthorne performed the operation which is said to have been successful.

NEED NOT EAT WHOLE EGG.

The late Ambassador Walter Hudes Page was formerly editor of The World's Work and, like all editors, was obliged to refuse a great many stories. A lady once wrote him: "Sir: You seat back last week a story or mine. I know that you did not read the story, for as a test I had pasted together pages 18, 19 and 20, and the story came back with these pages still pasted; and so I know you are a fraud and turn down stories without reading same." Mr. Page wrote back: "Madame: At breakfast when I open an egg I don't have to eat the whole egg to discover it is bad."

The cats of New York state, it has been estimated, destroy 3,500,000 birds annually. Strong winds are created for the movies by large motor-driven propellers mounted on trucks.

FOOLISH FRANCESCA

By Olive Wadsley

Savege got in beside her and the car started.

Her confused thoughts were broken by Savege's voice. "I think I ought to tell you," he said in rather a strained voice, "that before taking you to the opera, I am taking you to a lawyer's office where we are to be married."

Frankie had not listened to the first part of the sentence; the last words awoke her like a heavy blow. She caught Savege's coat sleeve. "It's a lie; you aren't do it. I won't marry you; no one can force me to—"

"I think you are wrong there," Savege said in the same cheerfully controlled voice. "I think you will agree to marry me when I explain a few things to you."

"The first is, that there will be no 'Carmen' at the opera house tonight if you do not marry me. The car will simply drive about till midnight, that is all, and I think you will own I am strong enough to conquer any physical struggle for freedom you may make. The second reason is that I have already notified the leading papers of our marriage this evening. That is all."

Frankie covered in a corner. Wild thoughts of jumping from the car, of screaming, of trying to fight Savege and escape came to her, but all the while she knew she was trapped. Either she must marry him or else make herself and Mme. Kaine a laughing stock.

Tears gathered in her eyes and fell. Savege saw them fall, and did not take his eyes from her.

"That you should be so absolutely cowardly and despicable as to do this," Frankie said, her eyes burning through the tears.

"I do not propose to play fast and loose with in the way you affect," Savege said indifferently. "Neither do I"—his voice hardened—"propose to become a laughing stock on your account. Our engagement had been announced by Mme. Kaine, and I do not quite see myself being twitted by all my friends tomorrow morning, when the truth is published."

"Yourself, your wounded feelings, your name," Frankie flashed at him. "And yesterday I thought I loved you!"

"You acted magnificently," he assured her bitterly. The light of the streets flashed into the car. The clang, clang of the motor buses, and the cries of the Presse, the music from the lighted cafes.

Time was going, there was only another hour left before the opera began, and Frankie had to dress, and already she knew Mme. Kaine would become anxious.

A sick dread clutched her at the thought of marrying Savege—she was afraid of him now, afraid of marriage, terrified by everything. Another train of thought held her.

Mme. Kaine had given her this marvelous training, had been so boundlessly generous to her she could not fail her at the last instant. The chief orchestra of the opera house had only given her Carmen after endless debates, and at the end of it all it was really Mme. Kaine's word which had won the day.

She had been so certain of Frankie's voice that she had forced others to believe in it too. Could she fail her? After all she had done for her, after all the forbearance and gentleness and belief?

"I'll marry you," Frankie said, "for Mme. Kaine's sake. I can't go back on her, I can't fail her, and I tell you that with all my strength I loathe and despise you. So drive to your lawyer's and be quick; if I am late I will tell every one what you have done, whatever it costs me."

"You will not be late," Savege assured her gravely. "And I told the porter at the flat to telephone to Mme. Kaine as soon as we had started saying you would be a little late as you wanted to go for a drive."

Frankie flushed. He had been assured of her as that then! He had actually prepared for this thing to happen. The ceremony at the office was so short that Frankie would almost have believed it of no value, had she not signed the paper with its government stamp and had not Savege carefully placed a wedding ring on her finger.

CHAPTER XIII.

Bis-Bis! Bis!

They drove in silence to the theatre. What was to happen later Frankie did not know, but she did know that she meant never to go to Savege. Carissima would help her. Save her from that.

She sat huddled up in a corner of the big car; from his corner Savege looked at her curiously, but he did not speak.

At the opera house Mme. Kaine was waiting impatiently. "Late, Bebe, you will be late." Then to the dresser: "The frock so—the shawl—ne like this, idiot, so draped on the left—the rouge. Gott, how pale you are! Yes—so—and so—and the powder, no idiot, a bit of it on her nose, so—yes, now then the lips, yes—now the shoes, so—look at yourself, Bebe—look—"

Francesca saw herself in the large winged mirror, a small, vivid scarlet-faced being, her hair wound round her head, a scarlet passion flower stuck over one ear.

She looked wild, Bohemian, attractive, and alluring.

"My throat is absolutely dry," she said; "utterly dry."

Mme. Kaine actually laughed. "That we know! Wasn't until the hour arrives and then you all have something which make it feel absolutely, utterly, dry. Think of that long second song; do not wait so long at that first note in the duet, if your breath is falling; do not try to hurry on, wait, let it come, it will come. The bell, I must go." She looked at herself in the mirror, a large personage, beautifully dressed, beautifully jeweled and scented.

"Adieu, mon Kind," she said with tears in her eyes.

Frankie sat quite alone for the next few minutes in her dressing room. She could hear the sounds of laughter coming from some of the other rooms, which were shared, and far away the faint sound of seats falling into place.

This was perhaps the greatest night of her life, she thought; it did not seem so.

And suddenly, as she sat there, the vast impenetrable night seemed to close all round her; it was as though she was alone, a tiny unit, to fight against huge massed forces that combated with her. This was real stage fright, she knew that.

She rose and walked up and down, for the time she had forgotten Leon's very existence, she was simply a singer who was to sing.

"Carmen—Carmen," she heard the caller's voice, the double roll on the r's. She caught up her shawl, her cigarettes, and ran swiftly down the corridor.

The opera house in Paris is perhaps more suited to the first production of a voice than any other in the world, it has that reputation to boast, but the description should be amplified a little so that to the uninitiated it may be meant to be a profound, not an indulgence, but the audience itself. A French audience is expressive, appreciative, in a way which no other nation quite understands, a fact which is very largely a result of the "star" performance prevalent there.

It is said that every artist feels the mood of his or her audience, Frankie felt as she came up the stage just as though some rather kindly person smiled at her. Mme. Schubert Kaine was adored by the Parisians, the girl was her protegee, the audience was pleasantly anticipative. The house was packed, Frankie had been skilfully "boomed," and all Paris which counted for anything was there.

One or two men in the stalls said something about her plainness when she appeared; then, as she began to sing, complete silence pervaded the auditorium. Her voice trembled distinctly in the first note; the note was even flat.

Mme. Kaine gripped her fingers in her hands. Then, as though fear did not exist, Frankie recovered herself. Carmen sang as only Carmen could sing—fire, devilry, sheer gorgeous music was in her voice. A tear slid down Mme. Kaine's face making a little furrow in its powder.

"Wait, wait," she told the audience silently. Frankie was bowing her thanks, her face aghast, her hands clapping and unclapping nervously.

"Bis, bis, bis," the audience roared; no claque was needed here! "Bis—"

The curtain fell, the lights flared up long before the clapping was stilled.

The English ambassador returned the intense grip warmly. He had heard Mme. Kaine sing "Carmen" in that very house ten years before, and she reminded her of it.

The half-dead memory of Frankie stirred faintly in his mind; little by little the ship episode came back. "Cad—What a beastly dull voyage it had been," Frankie had helped to brighten it a little, at any rate. He smiled as he remembered the moonlight walks and talks, and the child had adorned him in her run little way, though, of course, the Paris incident, Frankie actually calling at his hotel in the evening and expecting him, like some medieval knight, to metaphorically catch her in his arms, marry her, and bear her away to an enchanted land, had been deuced annoying and too absurd!

And now she had become a celebrity apparently! He had come in very late, and had heard and seen her without connecting the adorning, shabby child of the steamer days with the girl about whom all the house was apparently going mad.

As he smoked his cigarette in the foyer, he let his memory run back over the episodes of the voyage.

He lounged back in his seat as the curtain rose, and sat with his glasses up during the whole act.

He felt neither languid nor amused as he went of the foyer when the curtain had fallen.

Not pretty, perhaps, but, by Jove, how amazingly seductive! And what fire of life, what intense attraction! He bit the end of his short mustache, a habit he had when he was excited.

This girl, this being of flame, had once been the outie little kid who had clung to him and kissed him and actually believed his easy acceptance of her childish ardor meant anything serious.

GETTING THE SHORTHORN INTO AFRICA

The American thoroughbred stock-breeder, who thinks he encounters trials and adverse conditions, is invited to take a look at this picture. It shows the difficulties of the South African breeder in trying to introduce the shorthorn into Northern Rhodesia, and a plan recently adopted in getting shorthorn bulls from the Union of South Africa, through the Teete-ty country. The animals are enveloped in a specially constructed khaki mackintosh, leaving only the eyes, horn and nose exposed. The exposed parts are covered with wagon grease and the herd marches only by night when the fly is less on the wing. The native cows are then bred to the shorthorn.

It seemed too amazing to be true, but it was true, and if Frankie had cared for him then—

He was swept off his feet by her sudden brilliant charm, her appealing, heart-searching, liquid voice.

His usual dilettante embarkator on a love affair deserted him, leaning against the wall he hastily scrawled a note on the back of his card asking Frankie to see him for a moment; he signed the message "Kit." A loud in an attendant hand insured its safe transit.

He sat through the act memorizing every detail of that long-forgotten voyage on the troop ship, his eager vanity aflame, his sense of conquest mounting.

When a slip of paper with the word "Yes" on it, signed "Frankie," was pushed into his hand, he gave an involuntary, almost noiseless laugh of sheer triumph.

During the long wait Leon, in a box was conscious of an old woman touching his arm. He knew that some one had been pushed into the box just as the curtain rose, and he turned to hear an English voice say:

"You'll excuse me, sir, but I know Carmen!"

Leon faced round swiftly, his glass in his eye. He saw a middle-aged woman in black satin heavily trimmed with bugles, smiling at him a little anxiously.

"Do you?" he asked. "Nursed'er when she was a baby," Mrs. Baggs said proudly. "Lived with me till madame took her up eight months ago."

"Lived with you?" Savege repeated. "In my boarding-house, sir. Miss Frankie was in a tea shop then, was to 'ave gone on the 'alls; but was ill and lost'er voice for a bit—lived with me, working 'ard, I tell you, sir, for more than a year."

"I should think Miss—er—Treat would be successful in her work in any work she took up," Leon said. "Successful!" Mrs. Baggs snorted. "Ten shillings a week, sir, you'll be generous as they're made." He could picture Frankie laughing and paying week after week.

Carmen, was singing the love-song love me and tips; and she paid me penny for penny all she owed every time. She's that sort, Miss Frankie, just as generous as they're made. A favorite, too; we were all fond of'er. She was never too down to try and keep us up. You know what I mean, sir—"

The curtain rose and she stopped speaking.

Leon watched the stage; watched Frankie, his wife, the girl he had married to save himself from ridicule. He had never heard much about her life.

He had indeed rather taken it to himself for generosity; that he had been willing to marry her without knowing. Through the deadening layer of selfishness his life had created on him a thought of shame pierced.

The old woman's story of Frankie had influenced him, too: "She's as her lithe, thin body alive with infectious abandon and youth."

"Si Je t'aime, prends garde a toi," and yesterday she had lain in his arm and kissed him frantically—yesterday—and since then what had he done to her? A sudden feeling of real remorse was smitten feeling of real remorse was bread in him, Frankie had given way about the marriage for Mme. Kaine's sake.

All through she had given that others might take.

The curtain fell again on the thunder of applause. The last scene came on—Carmen's death scene—Carmen, who, too, gave right to the end.

Leon made a swift resolution. Love—poor, weak love—which would not be denied, came to him at last—not as a power with which he obtained, but as a power with which to give.

Beast, brute that he had been! He could have kissed Frankie's feet in his humility.

(To be continued.)

ONTARIO SELLS A $15,000,000 ISSUE

ORIGINAL $6,000,000 RAISED WHEN ABSORPTION WAS DISCOVERED TO BE EASY.

Ontario's bond sale came to a successful climax when the syndicate of eighteen bond houses handling the issue were able to announce, that, instead of the original $6,000,000 offered to the public, they had actually disposed of no less than $15,000,000. When it became known that the issue was meeting with unexpectedly good welcome from the investing public, it seemed desirable to extend the offering beyond the original plan, and the first step was to raise it to $12,000,000 which was afterwards again enlarged to the $15,000,000 mentioned.

The situation surrounding the Ontario issue was uncommonly interesting, and not without its anxieties to those engaged in it.

The re-listing of Victory bonds established a new level of values in Canada, and Victory bonds must always be the basis of bond values in this country. The province of Ontario loan came upon the market at a time when these new values are being established and created confidence which not only resulted in the absorption of the Ontario bonds, but had a steady effect on the Victory bonds. Frequently during the last year or two in the United States, which is the one large free market for securities today, a new issue placed by a strong group in a comprehensive way has restored confidence, and re-opened a buying power which seemed to have disappeared.

Facts About Canada

Lying to the eastward of the coast line of New Brunswick is the Province of Prince Edward Island—a small portion of the Dominion—but one of its most beautiful areas. So charming did the early adventurers who came across the Atlantic find it that they sought the land from the English King. As a result in one day he virtually gave away the entire public domain to absentee landlords. At the time this seemed of little consequence, but later it was destined to delay the progress of the island a great deal. It became necessary for the local Government in the last century to repurchase the land from the overseas holders. In 1873 it was estimated that about 450,000 acres of the 1,390,720 acres given away was repurchased and transferred to actual settlers.

When the question of federation with the other provinces became a live issue one of the difficulties encountered was the land question and the Dominion was forced to make a big money grant to the island in order to provide for the administration of public business. The first suggestion was a gift of $800,000 for the loss of such public lands, the proceeds of the sale of which could, as in the other British colonies, be apportioned towards local improvements and the maintenance of Government. Another suggestion in the proposals of the island electors was that the Dominion Government should assist it in the policy of buying back the Crown lands that had been alienated in the pioneer days. This agreement was ratified at length and although it was a costly process it has resulted fairly satisfactorily for Prince Edward Island. As a result, partly of the policy, partly from the natural wealth of the island and also from the thrift of its inhabitants that part of the Dominion is making rapid progress.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

THE ONLY REAL NERVE TONIC IS A GOOD SUPPLY OF RICH RED BLOOD.

"If people would only attend to their blood, instead of worrying themselves ill," said an eminent nerve specialist, "we doctors would not see our consulting rooms crowded with nervous wrecks. More people suffer from worry than anything else."

The sort of thing which the specialist spoke of is the nervous run-down condition caused by overwork and the many anxieties of today. Sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited and unable to keep their minds on anything. Any sudden noise hurts like a blow. They are full of groundless fears, and do not sleep well at night. Headaches and other nerve pains are part of the misery, and it all comes from starved nerves.

Doctoring the nerves with poisonous sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich, red blood. Therefore to relieve nervousness and run-down health Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. These pills make new, rich blood, which strengthens the nerves, improves the appetite, gives new strength and spirits, and makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. If you are at all "out of sorts" you should begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BEST FERTILIZERS FOR POTATOES.

The advantage of the use of fertilizer are shown in the results of a potato experimental plot on the farm of Stanley Merrill, Caradoc Township. An acre of potatoes was planted in five sections. Three of the sections were treated with varying amounts of fertilizer, the other two sections being on ground on which no fertilizer was used. The yield from the whole acre was more than 200 bushels.

The greatest yield was obtained from a plot on which an average of 1,000 pounds of fertilizer to the acre was used. This section of the plot gave a yield of 300 bus. to the acre. A plot on which 750 pounds of fertilizer to the acre was used gave a yield of 216 bus. to the acre, and a plot on which 500 lbs. to the acre was used gave 187 1-2 bus. to the acre. The two plots on which no fertilizer was used showed a yield of 137 1-2 bus. to the acre.

SENSATIONAL SPEECHES.

Sir Auckland Geddes Reads Industrialism a Lecture.

The Canadian Bar Association owes its origin and rapid growth chiefly to the fostering care of Sir James Alkins, who, being impressed with the utility of the American Bar Association, has devoted his energies to creating a parallel organization in Canada. At the recent meeting held in Ottawa, two very sensational addresses were delivered which will have echoes up and down the land for some time to come.

Mr. W. E. Raney, the Attorney-General of Ontario, in moving a vote of thanks to Lord Cave seized the opportunity to condemn the main reasons urging this change: firstly, it is quite inconsistent with our new claims to full national status that Canadian courts should not be good enough to interpret laws made by Canadian legislatures; and, secondly, the heavy expense of Privy Council appeals imposes an unfair handicap upon poorer litigants and often forces inequitable settlements. Mr. Raney's daring venture was backed up by Mr. W. D. Gregory and received support from an unexpected quarter in Mr. R. B. Bennett. Naturally the Attorney-General brought down upon his head the stern disapproval of most of the delegates, though he probably reflects the opinion of a large majority of the general public. Sir James Alkins and other leading legal lights were obviously pained, but wisely held their peace and it was left to Mr. Hartley Dewar to make common cause with an unbending Tory, Mr. White of Pembroke, in expressing angry horror at what they considered the disloyal and improper proposals of the Attorney-General.

But if Mr. Raney behaved with impropriety, his crime paled its ineffectual fires beside the misdeeds of Sir Auckland Geddes. In Britain Sir Auckland is classified as a Tory and an Ambassador is supposed to have no political or economic opinions. But to the astonished association he delivered a speech which had a flavor of earnest radicalism, and while it gained him many fresh admirers, lost him some old ones. Consider the irony of the situation. Here has the Labor Department been spending funds on pamphlets seeking to prove that the country is honeycombed with Bolshevik agitation. And now along comes Sir Auckland and tells his audience in categorical terms that denunciation of agitators is about as profitable a pastime as swatting mosquitoes, and that just as malaria cannot be got rid of until the swampy pools in which the mosquitoes breed are drained, so industrial unrest will continue till industry is humanized and intelligent and drastic readjustments of the existing system come to pass. He also brushed aside the theory that democratic unrest is merely a temporary aftermath of the war and will soon subside. Sir Auckland knows better and gave a moving account of his discoveries as Director of Recruiting in Britain, which apparently made him a reformer. Without undue emotion he narrated how he found on every side terrible evidence of the evil effects of unbridled industrialism, the physical ill-being of millions, the ghastly overcrowding, the destruction of home life and the reduction to mental stupor produced for multitudes by the dull task of minding soulless machines. His measured indictment of industrialism will not secure him an early invitation to address the C. M. A. in session. But his speech made a deep impression upon his audience. He spoke with a Calvinistic force and sincerity and obviously has not only thought deeply and clearly upon all current problems but he also claimed for himself complete freedom of utterance when the opportunity to strike a shrewd blow for sane progress offers.

The Sunday School Lesson

Lesson I. THE CHILD AND THE KINGDOM.

Golden Text.—"Whoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven."—Matt. 18: 4.

Monday, December 27.—The Child-like Spirit (Matt. 18: 1-7). Tuesday, December 28.—God's Care for Children (Matt. 18: 10-14). Wednesday, December 29.—The Model Child (Luke 2: 40-52). Thursday, December 30.—God Calls a Child (1 Sam. 3: 1-10). Friday, December 31.—A Child God's Messenger (1 Sam. 3: 11-19). Saturday, January 1.—A Child Dedicated to God (Luke 2: 21-32). Sunday, January 2.—The Pure in Heart (Ps. 24: 1-6).

The Lesson Text.
1. In that hour came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?
2. And he called to him a little child, and set him in the midst of them,
3. and said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye turn, and become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven.
4. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.
5. And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me:
6. but whoso shall cause one of these little ones that believe on me to stumble, it is profitable for him that a great millstone should be hanged about his neck, and that he should be sunk in the depth of the sea.
7. Woe unto the world because of occasions of stumbling; for it must needs be that the occasions come; but woe to that man through whom the occasions cometh!
8. And if thy hand or thy foot causeth thee to stumble, cut it off, and cast it from thee: it is good for thee to enter into life maimed or halt, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into the eternal fire.
9. And if thine eye causeth thee to stumble, pluck it out, and cast it from thee; it is good for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into the hell of fire.
10. See that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you that in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father who is in heaven.
11. How think ye? if any man have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and go unto the mountains, and seek that which goeth astray?
12. And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth over it more than over the ninety and nine which have not gone astray.
13. Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

Comments.
Verse 1. The "hour" was when Peter paid the tribute money. The dispute about greatness was probably between Peter, James and John. They had been peculiarly favored, but now stood shamed and silent. In the kingdom of God greatness is a matter of character.
Verse 2. It is not too much to suppose that children were always near our Lord. There was that in His personality that attracted them. Christlikeness attracts children today. The love of children is a high tribute.
Verse 3. This verse shows the superiority of the Revised over the King James' Version. The old version says "be converted." The kingdom of heaven is the church of Jesus Christ as He sees it now and forevermore.
Verse 4. The world has never realized Christ's conception of greatness. It is the unassuming worth of a righteous character.
Verse 5. This passage aims to teach not the love of children, but the love of spiritual excellence.
Verse 6. Whatever hinders people from coming to Christ is a stumbling-block.
Verse 7. So long as there is inclination to sin there will be teachers of sinning.
Verse 8. Sacrifice any material thing rather than dwarf the spiritual life.
Verse 9. The word "hell" (Gehenn) means the same as the Valley of Hinnom. There idolatrous Jews burned their children in the worship of Moloch. Thus the valley became the most vivid picture of future torment.

Illustrated Truth.
False pride is a hindrance to real progress (v. 4).
Illustration.—A man of experience in handling men declares that it is the "white-cuff" tendency among young men that is responsible for so many economic failures and near failures among men. "We are always ready to give a young man a chance," he said, "but to too many of them a 'chance' means a desk in the mail office with a personal telephone and a stenographer to do the real work. The young fellows who make good are almost invariably those who are willing to go down and make an entry at the very bottom. Such a course isn't always easy, especially with those who have a pretty high opinion of themselves, but it pays."

Does verse 8 teach a spiritual lesson, and, if so, what is it? 8. What is the literal meaning of the word "hell"? 9. The Father's Will (vs. 12-14). 9. What values does God place upon the humblest disciple? 10. What is God's desire as to the future state of all? 11. Why does not God compel men to be good? 12. What is the full meaning of the comparison in verse 12? 13. Whom does the Lord mean by "one of these little ones"? 14. How can red-blooded men conform to the teachings of Christ in His gentleness and peace?

Advice to Girls

By Miss Rosalind

Miss Rosalind welcomes letters from young women asking for advice on any subject. All you have to do is to address your letter to
MISS ROSALIND,
34 King William St., Hamilton, Ont.

Dear Rosalind:
I am a young girl just came into town and I have met recently a young man whom I admire very much, he does not come up to my standard, that is, he doesn't seem to be in the social class that I am, would you continue acquaintance?
COUNTRY LASS.

My Dear Girl:
The only class distinctions recognized in Canada are breeding and brains. If the young man is intelligent and as well educated as his circumstances and ambition permit; if he is well-bred enough to respect himself and his friends—you would be foolish not to benefit by his friendship.
ROSALIND.

Dearest Rosalind:
Seeing other girls seeking advice from you, I have also taken the advantage.
Is a young girl of seventeen too young to go to dances with a select crowd, in company with a young man? Thanking you in advance for your advice.
JUST OUT.

If the dances are properly chaperoned, if the girl's mother approves of the boys and girls who make up the crowd and if the dances are not in a public dance hall, a seventeen-year-old girl is not too young to join the party.
ROSALIND.

Rosalind, Dear:
With others I am asking for your advice:
Firstly—What is true love? Everything is camouflaged?
Secondly—How can you tell when a boy loves you or when he is after your money?
WITS END.

My Dear Girl:
When it comes, you will know the genuine article. I would not bother questioning myself about it. It is rather an inexpressible, indescribable sort of thing.
Secondly—By the exercise of ordinary, everyday common sense.
ROSALIND.

Dear Rosalind:
We are three young girls and while out to a garden party last September we had our fortunes told, is it wise to believe in them, as some of the things have come true? Also, dear Rosalind, while out for a joyride or walk with a young man when is the proper time to come in and also is it alright to accept invitations from young boys or should we have just one friend?
WEE 3.

Dear Girls:
It may not be wise to believe in fortunes, but it is lots of fun—especially if the fortune told happens to be the kind you would like to believe in.
Ten or half past ten is late enough for girls to be out on ordinary occasions.
Young girls do not have "just one friend." They have as many as possible.

DO ALL MY HOUSE WORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly get about.
Cobourg, Ont.—"For many years I have had trouble with my nerves and have been in a general run down condition for some time. I could not do my work half of the time because of the trouble with my monthly sickness. I was told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and advised to try it. It has done me good, and I strongly recommend it. Since I have taken it I have been able to do all my own work, and I also know friends who have found it good. You can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. ELLEN FLATTERS, Box 761, Cobourg, Ont.

Why will women continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?
For forty years this good old fashioned root and herb remedy, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, etc.
If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Symptoms That Tell of Biliousness

How to Prevent and Relieve
Are you dizzy?
Does your head swim?
Does everything turn dark when you rise after stooping?
Are you constantly suffering from headache?
Are you short or breath after going upstairs?
Is your tongue coated and furred?
These symptoms give warning that your system needs a thorough cleansing—all poisons must be flushed out. The remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Marked benefit immediately follows their use.

These famous pills loosen the bowels and stop constipation; they act on the liver and kidneys, make them strong and vigorous.
This ensures health and purity for the blood and consequently the whole system benefits.
No other medicine tones and braces like Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they at once relieve biliousness, headache, dizziness, poor color, coated tongue, and all diseases arising through fault of the stomach, kidneys, or liver; try them.
Results prove the merits of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box.

FARMING OF SMALLER FUR-BEARERS.

The rearing in captivity of fur-bearing animals is largely a question of the price of fur. Twenty years or more ago, when the earliest attempts were made to encourage in fur farming, the silver fox was about the only animal whose pelt offered sufficient inducement to experimenters to face the many difficulties and the risk of loss. Some of these men succeeded, however, and reaped considerable pecuniary rewards for themselves, besides establishing a new Canadian industry.
Today, the breeding of smaller fur-bearers presents opportunities to men with a liking for the business who are willing to "take a chance." The recent spectacular rise in fur prices has been mainly in the cheaper grades—muskrat, raccoon, mink, skunk, etc. The stimulus thus given to trapping threatens these animals with extermination, in spite of close seasons. Fur farming must come to the rescue and assume Canada's great fur industry a continuance of its raw material.

Miller's Worm Powders will drive worms from the system without injury to the child. The powders are so easy to take that the most delicate stomach can assimilate them and welcome them as speedy easers of pain, because they promptly kill the worms that cause the pain, and thus the suffering of the child is relieved. With so sterling a remedy at hand no child should suffer an hour from worms.

NEEDLESS ALARM.
"Are you the plumber?" asked Mrs. Nearme.
"Yes, ma'am. I'm the plumber, right enough."
"Well," she replied, "I just want to caution you to exercise care when doing your work. All my floors are highly polished and in perfect condition."
"Oh, don't worry about me slipping, lady. I've got nails in me shoes!"

LIVE STOCK REPORTS

Toronto (Union Stock Yards).—The total offerings of stock during the month amounted to thirty-nine thousand four hundred and fifty-seven cattle, three thousand three hundred and eighty-nine calves, seventeen thousand three hundred and sixty-eight hogs, and fifty-seven thousand four hundred and forty sheep, including left overs. Through-billed stock consisted of eight thousand and sixty-two cattle, two thousand nine hundred and forty-nine hogs and six hundred and seventy-six sheep. The offerings of cattle were heavier than during the previous month, but calves and hog receipts were lighter. Cattle prices showed a steady decline standard steers (1,000-1,200 lbs.) selling at an average price of $10.50 during the first week of the month and at $9.00 at the close. Western cattle arrived in considerable volume at the Stock Yards and at packers' sidings. Local gutting the market with unsaleable stock and adversely affecting trading in general. Carry-overs often amounted to two thousand head. At the close of the month, receipts narrowed considerably and from the condition of the offerings it appeared that all the common grades were in. Good butcher heifers averaged $10.50 at the opening and $8.75 at the close. Cows moved at $8.50 the first week of November and moved indifferently even at reduced prices; feeders opened at $10.50 and closed at $8.75; stockers opened at $8.50 and dropped at the close to $7. Most of the calves received were of grass quality or else heavy roughs; these were not wanted by the packers at any price and were absorbed by the butchers' trade. Prices for poor grades dropped considerably during the month. Choice veal sold at the close, from $1 to $1.50 lower than at opening. For the last two weeks the market was steady at $17. Lambs opened the month at $14, dropped to $11.50 and rose again to $13.75, closing a little weak at the latter price. A lot of sheep have been received which should have been left on the farm. The packers did not seem to want sheep even at low prices. Good handy weight sheep dropped $1.50 during the month.

Packers cut hog prices several times during the month affecting a total reduction of $3 per hundred. This was not done without strong protests from the shippers. However as the American markets were $2 to $3 below the local market, packers consider that they were doing well to offer even the new level of prices. At the close there was a firmer tendency to the trade.

A Remedy for Bilious Headache.—To those subject to bilious headache, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are recommended as the way to speedy relief. Taken according to directions they will subdue irregularities of the stomach and so act upon the nerves and blood vessels that the pains in the head will cease. There are few who are not at sometime subject to biliousness and familiar with its attendant evils. Yet none need suffer with these pills at hand.

TRICKY.
"I simply can't understand the combination of my wife's clothes."
"What puzzles you?"
"Well, when she wants to hide anything she pokes it down her neck, but when she wants to get it again it's always in her stocking!"

Soft corns are difficult to eradicate, but Holloway's Corn Cure will draw them out painlessly.

Crude Canada.

We hear many things from the English papers about the prince's visit that we did not hear during his stay here. Note the following paragraph from the Saturday Review. "It is needless to say that the Canadian press married our Heir Apparent to at least three young ladies by name; and hardly a newspaper omitted the headline, 'Is it a Royal Romance?' Indeed it was not safe for any young lady with tolerable pretensions to beauty and position to be seen in Canada within a hundred miles of the royal train. And dire were the social feuds left in the track of the illustrious tourist! At Windsor, Ontario, the president of the Canadian Ford Company, we are informed, drew lots for 250 out of 2,600 applicants to dine with the prince; and one lady wrote that she had a special claim to be invited because she was 'familiar with finger-bowls and English etiquette.' At another place, which will be nameless, the governor's lady had long been at war with female society. But when the prince landed she was de par le Roi the first lady in the province, and dealt out remorseless punishment to her foes."

No Apples for Australia.

That the Australian embargo will prevent the importation by Australia of any apples from British Columbia this year is the word contained in a cable received by the Department of Trade and Commerce from D. H. Ross, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Melbourne. Mailed advices from Mr. Ross, just received, explain that in a recent interview the Commonwealth Minister of Commerce expressed a desire to maintain the established trading connections between Canada and Australia, but the Minister held out but little prospect of the embargo being lifted during 1918. Mr. Ross says that up to the time of writing not a single case of Australian apples had been exported, apart from a contract made with the Imperial authorities for 1,800 tons of evaporated apples.

That Is the Question.

A Calgary lady has brought suit against that corporation for damages allegedly done a fashionable walking dress through tar oozing from the pavement. The defence naturally raises the question how a fashionable walking dress could come in contact with the pavement.

Fish Safe on Sundays.

Under the direction of the Lord's Day Alliance, prosecutions are being initiated at Flesherton against visitors who are unaware that in Ontario it is a crime to fish on Sundays.
