Hr. Grace Notes.

Rev. Mr. Endicott, returned missionary from China, preached in the Methodist Church here yesterday morning. The congregation very much enjoyed the missionary discourse. The rev. gentleman will give a lecture in Coughlin Hall to-morrow (Tuesday) evening.

Mrs. Collis, mother of Mr. A. Collis, of this town, was suddenly stricken with what appeared to be a serious illness on Sunday morning. Dr. Parsons and Canon Noel were quickly summoned. We are glad to report today that the sufferer is very much better.

Mr. Thomas Makinson's house at the Gouds was destroyed on Saturday night by fire with all its contents. Mr. Makinson, who was at the Gouds, intended to come to town by the night train, but the latter had made better time than usual and Mr. Makinson consequently missed his passage. He returned to his home and retired. Some time after he woke to find the place in flames. He called the neighbors and it was with difficulty the factory and other buildings were saved from the devouring element. The loss is a very heavy one to Mr. Makinson. He had a narrow escape himself from meeting death in the burning house.

Some industrious men are now making a nice bit of money selling muscels, which are always plentiful in the upper part of the harbor. These shell fish sell readily at 20 cents per bucket.

The court news this week promises to be interesting. Head Constable Sheppard has a case or two for she-beeing that cannot fail to be interesting. Watch the Telegram.

Cruelty to animals seems to be taken little notice of here. Our attention has been drawn to another case of a horse, a look at which will convince any person it has not been stall-fed during the winter. The poor animal seems scarcely able to walk, and it is said, but we cannot say with what truth, that a large sore is at present on its neck. The poor brute was harnessed to a wagon yesterday and received pity from every one but the driver. Give us a representative of the S. P. C., and let him put a stop to this inhuman practice. It would be a noble work and one that would be sure to bring its reward that of looking after poor dumb animals. We have suggested this on more than one occasion, but to our knowledge nothing has been done to have a person appointed who would ferret out such cases of cruelty.

CORRESPONDENT. Harbor Grace, Feb. 24, 1913.

Feel Bully? Take Cascarets Tonight.

A 10 cent box will keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh for months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath — always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your liver clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

Snow Storm West

Last evening and night the snow storm which had been threatening all yesterday forenoon broke on the West Coast and East as far as as Clarville there was a bad night of weather. The wind blew with hurricane force from the N. W. with heavy snow and drift and most of the cuts were filled. Sunday's express was held at Millertown Junction until the abatement of the storm. Both rotations will be out in commission to-day. No. 1 which was at Gaff Topsails last night going over the plateau to clear it, and No. 2 going west from Bishop's Falls.

A BAKING SUCCESS WHICH YOU CAN DUPLICATE IN YOUR HOME WITH BEAVER FLOUR

All this talk about Western wheat flours being "pastry" flours, is just plain talk. Anyone who knows anything about wheat, knows that Western wheat flour cannot and does not, make as good Pastry as "Beaver" Flour. Western wheat has what the bakers call strength. It makes a big loaf of bread—but the bread is spongy and lacks flavor. Ontario wheat, blended with spring wheat, makes the ideal bread and pastry flour. The bakers of Toronto and London—the experts at the agricultural colleges—and thousands of homes in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—have proved that "Beaver" Flour is superior to any Western wheat flour, and is equally good for Bread and Pastry. CHAPTER XXVII.

"Who could it have been?" Yorke asked, suddenly.

"I haven't a notion, beyond that it must have been a person, whoever it was, who overheard you that night when I did. Who that was, goodness knows!"

"Why, I'll tell you," he said, deliberately—"Fraser Froude!"

"That it was not, for I asked her, and she said 'No.'"

"She did?"

"Yes, and seemed astonished at the notion. It wasn't he."

"I wish I knew who it was—I wish I knew!" Yorke said, musingly and gloomily, clenching the hand he had laid upon my shoulder.

"A sudden thought came into my head which startled me, but I asked first—"

"What put Froude into your head?"

"Because I hate the fellow, I suppose," he returned, with the same moody face.

"Look here, Yorke," I went on, speaking out my thought. "I suppose that, if what you said to mademoiselle was overheard, there was no tanger in it?"

"Danger?" he echoed, staring at me. "What do you mean?"

"Well, to you?"

"Not to me, most decidedly."

"Not to her—mademoiselle?"

"Certainly not—so far as I know, at any rate. She stands in no sort of danger to my knowledge, in the sense you mean, and did not then. Whoever it was, he or she has done me all the mischief that it was possible to do—you may be sure of that!"

"And, failing Froude, you have no sort of suspicion, I suppose?" It must have been somebody that hated you."

"Nor shall I trouble myself to find out," he replied, shrugging his shoulders. "Good-night, Ned, and thanks, my boy! If any one is to know of my folly, I am glad it is you. Take better time when your time comes—that's all."

We parted then, and I turned homeward miserable, to grow more miserable as I plodded through the thickening rain and sleet and the slushy mud. And, despite Natalie's denial, I carried with me a firm conviction that the stealthy witness of that luckless midnight interview had been Fraser Froude.

CHAPTER XXX.

Turning in at the little side-gate as usual when I reached Chavasse and making my way up to the house in the worst of tempers, I was startled when I reached the steps. Old Styles had the door open, and just coming down them, his shadow preceding him like an elongated lamp-post, was Fraser Froude. Apparently he did not see me—or at any rate if he did, he did not show it—perhaps because I involuntarily stood aside, and was in the shadow. His man, in the gorgeous Holmedean livery, stood waiting, holding his big raw-boned black horse, and as quickly as he could Froude mounted and rode off, jerking to and fro in the saddle in his usual ungainly way. One glimpse I caught of his thin pale face—enough to show me that it was even more devoid of color than usual, and that under the heavy black moustache his large shining white teeth were set on his under-lip. Certainly he did not look much like a triumphant lover; and I wondered rapidly what could have happened to give the usual suave smoothness from his face. Had he come to announce himself as Natalie Orme's accepted suitor, and had madame, forgetting those fine sentiments with which she had edified me at the time of his proposal, been giving him a piece of her mind thereupon? It might be, for truly he looked angry enough.

I went into the house in a state of lively curiosity, hoping—although I knew there was no real hope of such luck—that Miss Nat might have come to her senses, and given him his ring back, with her compliments. That there was something wrong I soon found when, after removing my coat and hat, I went into the library. Madame was pacing up and down, a look of such astonished trouble and incredulity upon her fine face that, even knowing all that I did know, I involuntarily asked her what was the matter.

"Edward, did you see that man?" she asked, coming to a stand-still and laying her hand upon my shoulder; and then for the first time did I realize fully what a storm there was brewing. I do not suppose madame had called me "Edward" a dozen times in my life.

"Eh? Do you mean Froude?" I asked, trying to look as innocent as I felt guilty.

"Yes, yes," she rejoined, impatiently. "Fraser Froude. I say, did you see him?"

I answered that of course I did see him.

"And do you know what he has come here to tell me?" madame put, agitatedly. "I can hardly believe it, Ned—I will not believe it! That man told me that Natalie had accepted him!"

If madame expected me to look as scandalized, and astonished—as she herself looked, she was mistaken, for I felt that just then there was no particular use in gratuitously playing the hypocrite, and I felt besides that I had about as heavy a burden of concealment weighing upon my conscience as I could comfortably carry. So I only said—

"Oh, I knew that! She told me last night."

"She told you?" madame echoed, with an expression of dismay.

"Yes."

"That she had accepted him?"

"Yes."

"The girl must be mad!" cried my mother, her hand dropping from my shoulder as she sunk into a chair.

"It's enough to make one think so," I allowed, dismally.

"And I thought she cared, or would care, for Raby St. George," madame went on.

"She will never do that, mother."

"But what can have possessed the child to accept this man—a man old enough to be her father, whom neither you nor I like, and whom she has always appeared absolutely to dislike? My dear, I can not credit it—I can not indeed."

I could have explained easily enough, but of course I was not going to break the double confidence reposed in me by doing anything of the sort; and, although I remembered very plainly just then what madame had said when Fraser Froude's proposal was a new thing, I could not, while her face was thus dark with perplexed trouble, remind her of it. Instead, I asked—

"What did he say?"

"Oh, do not ask me!" madame cried, with irritable impatience. "I scarcely know—I hardly listened. I tell you that I did not believe it. She is only a child after all, and was in high spirits last night—almost excited. Perhaps she said something heedlessly which he misconstrued, it must have been so; she can not have been serious."

I shook my head.

"I'm afraid she was, though, mother—worse luck! Why, she wears his ring!"

"Yes. She showed it to me on her finger—a big diamond. She wouldn't let me see it, but she had a joke with the old chap, you know."

There was silence for a minute or two, my mother's handsome face clouding more and more as she looked at the fire. Presently she looked round at me.

"I don't understand it, Ned; there is something strange about it. But I tell you this—Natalie Orme shall not marry Fraser Froude if I can prevent it. She is as dear to me as my own child—I could not love her more were she really your sister. Her marriage is a matter of as much moment to me as yours will be some day." She paused with a sigh for a few seconds, and then went on, "Ned, she told you—not me—and I fancy that you have more of her confidence than I. I wish you would go and speak to her. I have not seen her to-day. She has refused to be disturbed, and I did not deem that this was the reason."

"The reason?" I echoed.

"Yes; for I believe that, although the silly child has accepted Mr. Froude of her own will, she is still perfectly miserable about it. Did she, I wonder, have any misunderstanding with Mr. St. George?"

"I tell you she doesn't care a fig for St. George, beyond wishing him safe back in Jamaica!" I said, impatiently. "Of course I'll go and talk to her if you like, mother, although I'm sure I don't know what good I can do. I should like to drive the fellow's blessed diamond down his throat, and stop his confounded smiling for a little while! Did he ask for her?"

"Yes; but I refused to let her be disturbed. She does not know he has been here yet."

"Shall I tell her?"

"Certainly—she ought to know it. It will make her realize what a foolish thing she has done."

Taking myself off with that across the hall and up the stairs, I thought inwardly that poor little Nat knew that already. She had got things into a nice knot, certainly! Fraser Froude's ring was on her finger; Raby St. George was coming the next day to propose finally; and, to cap it all, Roger Yorke was off in a week!—Heaven knew where!

Tapping softly at her door when I reached it, I quite expected to be answered by Valla, who I knew had kept rigorous guard over her mistress all day; but, to my surprise, the voice that called to me to come in was Nat's own. Pushing open the door, I went in accordingly.

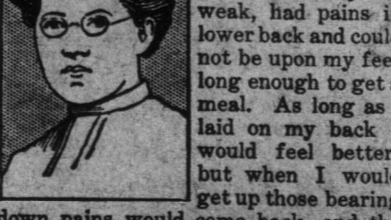

TWO WOMEN TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their own Statements Follow.

Haliburton, P. E. I.—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars."

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEO. COLICUTTI, Haliburton, Lot 7, P. E. I.

Read What This Woman Says: New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. # Big Ben

Don't set your mind—set Big Ben

Don't bother your head about getting up. Leave it to Big Ben. You ought to go to sleep at night with a clear brain—untroubled and free from getting up worries. You men, if you are up to date farmers, work with your brains as well as with your hands. Such a little thing as "deciding to get up at a certain time in the morning" and keeping it on your mind often spoils a needed night's rest, and makes a bad "next day." Try Big Ben on your dresser for one week. He makes getting up so easy that the whole day is better. Big Ben is not the usual alarm.

MARKING TIME.

By RUTH CAMERON.

But somehow just now I only seem to be marking time. I don't like it.

The man who said that to me is a young man of twenty-eight. He is an unusually successful young man. He has advanced rapidly in every way, but just now things don't seem to be moving as rapidly as he likes.

And he is restless and unhappy. I do not think he has any right to be.

Into each life there must occasionally come these "marking time" years. Into each life there must come these seasons when one does not seem to be progressing as one should.

Perhaps it's a marking time year with you just now, my friend.

If it is, are you allowing restlessness and discontent to take possession of your heart? Are you chafing against delay and cheaply and foolishly trying to hurry conditions that cannot or should not be hurried?

Or are you remembering that the greatest successes always come to him who "learns to labor AND to wait"?

It can't be always either seed time or harvest. One cannot be always either sowing or reaping. One must sometimes be simply waiting for the great forces to work, the forces of nature and of life.

And one cannot hurry them in either life or nature. It doesn't hasten the harvest any to dig up the seeds to see if they are sprouting. Neither does it do any good to rebel against the "marking time" seasons in life. But that does not mean that the waiting need be entirely passive. Not by any means.

Does the farmer go into his house and sit idle while he waits for the seeds to sprout? Doesn't he rather find quite enough to keep him busy in keeping the conditions right for the seeds?

Try not to fret against the "marking time" seasons.

They must come into all lives. Try rather to possess your soul in peace and to put your energy into keeping conditions right for the growth that is going on as surely as it is silently and slowly.

John Ruskin has another and more beautiful simile for the samethought—

He says—
"There is no music in a rest, but there is the making of music in it. In our whole life melody, the music is broken off here and there by 'rests,' and we foolishly think we have come to the end of time. God sends a time of forced leisure—sickness, disappointed plans, frustrated efforts—and makes a sudden pause in the choral music of our lives, and we lament that our voices must be silent and our part missing in the music which ever goes up to the ear of the Creator. How does the musician read the rest? See him beat time with unvarying count and catch up the next note true and steady as if no breaking place had come in between. Not without music does God write the music of our lives. But be it ours to learn the time and not be dismayed at the 'rests.' They are not to be slurred over nor to be omitted, nor to destroy the melody nor to change the keynote on him, we shall strike the next note full and clear."

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Do not sap the springs of life by neglect of the human mechanism, by allowing the accumulation of poisons in the system. An imitation of Nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous strength is to take an alternative glyceric extract (without alcohol) of Golden Seal and Oregon grape root, Bloodroot, Stone and Mandrake root with Cherrybark. Over 40 years ago Dr. Pierce gave to the public this remedy, which he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He found it would help the blood in taking up the proper elements from food, help the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons from the blood and vitalizing the whole system as well as allaying and soothing a cough. No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. The "Discovery" is an all-round tonic which restores tone to the blood, nerves and heart by imitating Nature's methods of restoring waste of tissue, and feeding the nerves, heart and lungs on rich red blood.

Mrs. Donx.

"I suffered from pain under my right shoulder blade also a very severe cough," writes Mrs. W. Donx, of New Brunswick, S. C., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "Had four different doctors and none did me any good. Some said I had consumption, others said I would have to have an operation, unable to sit up for six months—and was nothing but a live skeleton. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. When I had taken one bottle of the Discovery, I could sit up for an hour at a time, and when I had taken three bottles I could do my cooking and tend to the children. I took seven bottles in all and was then in good health. My weight is now 187 pounds."

Household Notes.

If you use carbolic acid as a disinfectant, mix it with boiling water.

If you want a loaf cake perfectly browned, put a handful of shavings on the fire just before taking the cake out of the oven.

An easy way to find a puncture in a tube. The bluing will indicate the spot on the outside.

Babies' cape and bonnet strings soil so quickly that it is a good plan to attach them by hooks and loops to the capes and bonnets.

Fish scales are easily removed by pouring hot water on all the scales curl, then scrape quickly. Wash in several waters, the last one salt.

Never wash windows while the sun is shining on them, otherwise they will be cloudy and streaky. Also wash the inside of the window first.

In ironing embroidery, especially handwork, the embroidery should be laid face down on a thick cloth or towel and pressed on the wrong side. Sheer white materials may be made into charming inexpensive gowns by stenciling before making up. A morning glory design is excellent.

A good breakfast toast is made by dipping the slices of bread in a pint of milk to which a beaten egg and a pinch of salt are added, and frying.

Dried fruits are often made palatable by the addition of a fresh flavor. Orange juice improves strawberries, lemon improves prunes, ginger root with pears.

To freshen a velvet tam hat hold the crown over boiling water and brush the nap up with a stiff, fiber clothes brush. Be careful not to touch the velvet till it is dry.

To clean ivory soak the articles in cold water for twenty-four hours, then lay them on a clean, soft towel and let them dry in the air. Any lingering water drops should be blown out; if left they will spoil the color.

The lids of saucepans often need to be raised while cooking—and a peg with a tack in its top will answer the purpose. Fix the peg on the edge of the saucepan as if it were a line and rest the lid on the tack.

Hospital gauze can be supplied at home at small expense. Cut the gauze into yard lengths, fold and roll it, then put the rolls in an old towel and bake for two hours in a moderate oven, taking care that it does not scorch. Handy for colds, burns or cuts.

Old, soft, woolen articles—blankets, dressing gowns, worn shawls—should be beautifully cleaned and mended then put away for use in an emergency. They are much more comfortable than

Could Not Digest His Food

Suffered For Years From Indigestion Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett.

If you suffer from chronic indigestion, forget about the stomach and pay attention to the condition of the liver and bowels. Ten to one that is where the real trouble lies.

The liver gets sluggish and fails to filter the bile from the blood, the bowels become constipated and the whole digestive system is upset. As to cure, you cannot do better than to read of Mr. Barrett's experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment so prompt and thoroughly effective. Mr. J. D. S. Barrett, Nelson, B. C., and formerly of Tillamook, Oreg., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried proved futile until in 1906 I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using about eight boxes I was completely cured. Since that time I have not been troubled with indigestion, which I consider a great blessing."

the new ones when sickness comes. Oilcloth will last twice as long if treated with glue. Melt a little ordinary glue in a pint of water, letting it stand on the top of the oven till dissolved. At night go over the clean oilcloth with a flannel dipped in the glue water; by morning the glue will be hard and make a gloss like new.

The Mail Carrier.

By H. L. RANN.

The mail carrier is a human dumpy with a self-dumping attachment and a full set of calloused feet. He leads a stiothful life of luxurious ease, for all he has to do is to walk thirty miles a day with 120 lbs of love letters, free garden seeds and uplift magazines on his back.

Mail carriers are chosen as the result of a physical examination which begins with their feet and ends in the same locality. A mail carrier may be shoulder-bound, tongue-tied, sway backed and pigeon-chested, but if he has a pair of non-skidding feet, which do not have to be coaxed along with corn plasters and bunion cures, he will pass the civil service examination with a high rating. A mail carrier with a limp is harder to find than a minister of the gospel with money in the bank.

Mail carriers are not allowed to smoke, eat, converse or think while engaged in the performance of their duties. They are not even allowed to read the postcards or try to figure out why Bernice calls for her mail at the general delivery. Their life is very sad.

When off duty the mail carrier has his shoes halfoled and puts his feet in some quiet place where the pavement cannot rise up and hit them. Whenever the mailcarrier makes a mistake, he is bawled with the utmost enthusiasm by everybody who can get to him and called everything from a government hireling to a wooden-headed dud who ought to hire out as a chamber maid to a traction engine.

During the holiday season the mail carrier is obliged to add on a couple of upper decks and invest in new outer tires for his feet. When a carrier is loaded up for Christmas morning delivery, a near-sighted person won't be able to tell him from a two-legged van, yet if he is fifteen minutes late he can hear people in the flat on the sixth floor blaspheming in all the colors of the rainbow.

When the parcels post gets well under way, mail carriers will not be able to get any insurance except the plate glass variety. He will have to deliver everything from Barred Plymouth Rock hens to baby grand pianos, and will do it without a murmur.

Heavy Sentences.

The three lads, Snow, Coady and Humby, who were arrested on charges of burglary and theft, as already referred to in the Telegram, were tried before Judge Knight to-day. They were charged with (1) breaking into the office of A. Harvey & Co. at night time and taking $6.50; (2) for breaking open a gas meter and taking $1.20; and (3) for stealing four fowls valued at $2.80, the property of Mr. J. Dooley, butcher. To each of the charges read they pleaded guilty except Humby, who had been connected with the gas meter theft only. Before passing sentence His Honor admonished strongly on the misguided lads, two of whom are incorrigibles. Snow, the ringleader, was sentenced to eighteen months; Coady, it being his first time in court, got seven months, whilst Humby, an old offender, for the one theft committed was sent down for six months.

The 14 year old girl, who was held on remand charged with a series of larcenies, as mentioned in yesterday's Telegram, stood before the bar in the Magistrate's Court to-day. She had already pleaded not guilty, but she was convicted and a sentence of six months' imprisonment was imposed.

The firemen on the S. S. Portia which sails west to-morrow, went out on strike to-day in protest against the employment of foreigners on the stokers staff of the Red Cross boats. To-night the Firemen's Union will meet to discuss the matter, and the men feel keenly over the employment of "dagos" in the seafishery, super-coding men who are to-day and whose forefathers have paid the taxes of the country. Further, the men are now wondering what about the action of a Government which calls itself the People's Party and whose protestations are so blatant about fair play for Newfoundlanders.

Of four-footed animals the carboniferous deer, is first, being responsible for bringing visitors here. Their antlers are highly prized. Next the speaker referred to the moose. Their number is increasing in the interior. He said there was good reason to believe that assertion and was of the opinion that something should be done so that all our own fur bearing animals would increase. Of the Newfoundland dog, said Mr. Howley, very little is known, their fidelity and other good traits being omitted by ancient explorers. Continuing he referred to the wolves and the Indians, and Capt. Whitbourne's description of them in 1620. After mentioning the wolf, bear, lynx, weasel, badger, otter, arctic hare, rabbit and beaver the speaker dwelt on the seal, which is one of our greatest wealth producers. In conclusion he exhorted all to study the phases of Natural History and derive all information possible. Sir Wm. Horwood tendered to the lecturer a vote of thanks which was carried by acclamation. Dr. Curtis will lecture next week on his travels in the Holy Land.

What About the Northern Winter Service?

Lethargy seems to have fallen on the Tory Government. Last year they made a great flourish of trumpets when the Stella Maris was put on the winter service, but this winter apathy seems to have seized on them and though the Prospero has given up the service now over nearly three weeks no move has been made to get a boat to replace her. As a result there is an intense disgust amongst the people of the northern ports. Mails and freight are accumulating and not a word about relieving the situation by sending a boat along. The people of the northward are becoming as tired of the Plenic Party as those of the other sections of the country and have made up their minds that the "plenicers" must get in November next and make way for better men.

Floods in Placentia.

Sunday last a heavy body of ice was driven in the Gut in Placentia and when the tide rose the town side was flooded with water to the depth of several feet. The floods began at 9.2 a.m. and in little over an hour the lower flats of several houses were inundated and their inmates had to take refuge in the upper flats. A good deal of furniture was damaged, and the houses suffered by the water. The floods went as far as the door of the church and many people could not proceed to Mass owing to the water, which came over the knees of the pedestrians, consistent about a few years ago floods from a similar cause occurred.

Mr. Howley's Lecture.

A large and highly appreciative audience gathered in the British Hall last night to hear Mr. James P. Howley, F. R. G. S., lecture. His theme was a most interesting one for our people, viz: "Nature's Studies, with Observations on the Natural History of Newfoundland."

Mrs. Davidson, wife of His Excellency the Governor, was present attended by Capt. Goodridge, A. D. C., and was received on arrival at the Hall by Sir W. H. and Lady Horwood.

In beginning Mr. Howley expressed his regret that more of the Natural History of the Colony was not known by our people, and that it was not taught in the schools. Great knowledge and not a little pleasure could be derived from such a study, and the study of botany alone is of absorbing interest and shows one the beauties of nature. He spoke of the natural ferns peculiar to each country, and there may be in Newfoundland some plants of value from a medicinal standpoint yet unknown to science. He also spoke of the collection of seaweed, which when prepared properly may be arranged in most attractive form for decorative purposes. At home and showed its commercial value when gathered in the form of kelp, the potash in which renders it a very valuable fertilizer. He spoke also of the science treating of shells and dealing with the classification of birds, indigenous and migratory, the learned lecturer gave much interesting testimony as to their habits, etc. He also entertainingly descanted on the great auk which once inhabited the ice-encumbered coasts but which now unfortunately is extinct.

Do you judge cocoa by its color?

Much of the cocoa sold in Canada today has a darker color than Lowney's.

The very dark cocoas are nearly always produced by an alkali process.

A leading English authority on the action of drugs says this about alkali cocoas:

"The sustained administration of alkalis and their carbonates renders the blood poorer in solids and in red corpuscles and impairs the nutrition of the body."

Lowney's color is just the color of pure cocoa. Lowney's has no added alkali, starch or other adulterants. It is produced in our spotless Montreal factory. No cocoa can be purer.

The flavor is full, rich and delicious. Lowney's will show you how cocoa ought to taste.

Your grocer has it. In tins—10c to 50c sizes.

The fire which broke out yesterday in the Drummond mine, is now out, and work will be resumed to-morrow morning.

Emmeline Pankhurst has been arrested, in connection with the destruction of the residence of Chancellor Lloyd George.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.
The fourth brigade of the second army division and the entire sixth division, were ordered to-day to prepare to entrain, and join the other troops being mobilized. This is a part of a plan to assemble a complete military organization to cope with any untoward events in Mexico.

BOSTON, Feb. 24.
Nearly 3,000 striking garment workers paraded through the business section of the city to-day to celebrate the return to work of 1,000 of their numbers in twelve shops, were the demands had been granted. Picket lines have been established in the vicinity of those established which have refused to consider the strikers' demands. More than 5,000 operators lost their work when the strike order was issued four weeks ago. Since that time fifty companies have granted the demands.

GUAYAQUIL, Feb. 24.
This city was violently shaken on Saturday night by a long earthquake tremor lasting 70 seconds. The inhabitants rushed from their houses and the streets were thronged with panic-stricken men and women, many of them kneeling in prayer. The earthquake occurred at 9.40 p.m., when the theatres were full. For a time the whole city was in confusion but so far as can be ascertained there was no damage done, and nobody was hurt. Four more slight shocks were felt during the rest of the night.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.
Evidence of the suffering of the garment strikers, 70,000 of whom are said to be idle, was furnished when representatives of over 12,000 families applied yesterday at the Relief Station established by the United Hebrew trades, to obtain food supplies. This broad line extended for many blocks. Others, as long, were formed at other stations. Gifts of clothing, as well as money and food, were made by the officials of the Cloak-makers' Union. It is estimated that that organization alone has already spent over $23,000 in relief work.

Princess Mary is to be bridesmaid at the marriage in Berlin of Prince Ernest of Cumberland and Princess Victoria Louise, daughter of the Kaiser. This will be Princess Mary's first appearance as bridesmaid. The suggestion is made that the marriage shall be in October, so that the King and Queen of England might attend but July having been selected for the royal visit to Germany, so early a date is impossible. Besides Princess Mary, the Prince of Wales and possibly the Duke of Connaught will attend as the King's representatives.

Naval developments of a remarkable nature are taking place under the cloak of great secrecy. The next twelve months, says the Daily Express, some astonishing details will become known regarding changes in warship types, but none will be more noteworthy than developments in sub-marine craft, of considerable offensive power and capable of crossing the Atlantic at a high rate of speed, are being built for the British Navy. These craft will carry guns, but in addition they will be able to fire eight torpedoes. In the meantime there are plans before the Admiralty for a flotilla, above water of craft, with 40-knot speed, carrying several heavy quick-firing guns, specially mounted for use against air craft.

HERMOSILLO, Feb. 24.
Inflamed by the killing of Madero and Suarez, whose cause they had espoused, the members for the Sonora State Congress, assembled here to-day for a special session, to decide whether they shall formally declare the State in rebellion against General Huerta. Great excitement prevailed. Many Congressmen attended. There was a secret session last night, after which it seemed apparent that Sonora would not be declared a rebel State without opposition, but would refuse to fall in line behind Huerta and Diaz, if Huerta appointed as provisional governor, Manuel Mascareñas, a former follower of Salazar, who was hated by the Sonorans. Antonio Rojas, a rebel leader, appeared with a body of northern insurgents with the intention of aiding those who want Sonora to secede from the Mexican republic. Rojas is understood to have advocated the establishment of a new republic, comprising Sonora and Chihuahua.

Sores From Elbow To Fingers.

Zam-Buk Worked a Miracle of Healing.

Reverend Gentleman Fully Corroborates.

Miss Kate L. Dooliver, of Caledonia, Queen's Co., N.S., says: "I must add my testimony to the value of Zam-Buk. Ulcers and sores broke out on my arm, and although I tried to heal them by using various preparations, nothing seemed to do me any good. The sores spread until from fingers to elbow was one mass of ulceration. I had five different doctors, and faithfully carried out their instructions. I drank pint after pint of blood medicines, tried salve after salve, and lotion after lotion; but it was of no avail.

"My father then took me thirty miles to see a well-known doctor. He photographed the arm and hand. This photograph was sent to a New York hospital to the specialist; but they sent word they could do nothing further for me, and I was in despair. "One day a friend asked me if I had tried Zam-Buk. I said I had not, but I got a box right away. That first box did me more good than all the medicines I had tried up to that time, so I continued the treatment. Every box healed the sores more and more until, to make a long story short, Zam-Buk healed all the sores completely. Everybody in this place knows of my case, and that it is Zam-Buk alone which cured me."

The Whir of The Sewing Machine

IS THE FIRST SONG OF SPRING. It's a good song, this song of the Sewing Machine, because it sings of soft balmy days, and of sheer, dainty dresses, of quickening blood and the stir of new life. It is the first Song of Spring.

It sings to the children of the great out-of-doors and of dainty little figures in dimities and prints, flashing past in the sun. It sings to the young girl of prettiest frocks for her new-opening, wonderful life; and it sings to the woman the song of the wonderful fabrics and laces that will add to her beauty and keep her as young as she wants to be by the very strength of their charm.

Yes, it is time for the sewing machine and if you haven't one get one to-day. All the looms of France and Switzerland have been turning out the most wonderful fabrics for this coming spring. They used to imitate nature fairly well, but now they beat her at her own game. The dress goods and silk departments of every store are a garden of the looms that keeps you wondering how a machine can turn out such perfect art.

And these fabrics that are so wonderful are so moderately priced! No queen of two hundred years ago could have dressed half so wonderfully as a girl on an ordinary salary can dress to-day. Every great factory has been working for months to prepare these marvelous fabrics for you. And now they are here. Right in your store. Right where you can go and see them and touch them. Right where you can go and buy them—not merely envy them on some one else.

If you are going to be ready for the great new Spring, if you are going to be a part of it, if you are going to feel that you belong to it, you must begin looking at these new fabrics to-day, and you must begin planning your new dresses, you must get out your sewing machine or if you haven't one to get one, you must get one in. But whatever else you do you must watch this advertising now, in order to know where to go, what to get and how to get it. Every line of it will be news and the best of news. The first note of Spring has been sounded. And it wasn't the Robin that sounded it either. It was the "Whir of the Sewing Machine."

Indian Island Notes

Yesterday one could tell by the display of bunting on the stores and residences of Indian Island that something unusual was about to happen. The F. P. U. were going to parade. It was a glorious day and the walking was all that could be desired. After parading through Perry's Island, Easter Cove, Chaulky's Cove and South Side Indian Island, they entered the Orange Lodge where a sumptuous tea was served them by the good ladies of the place. After tea a couple of hours were spent listening to the gramophone and playing games. This ended one of the most successful days the F. P. U. has ever held in this place.

A resident of this place while returning from Fogo via Sedlem, followed the tracks of what he supposed to be a huge bear. It was late in the evening when he left Sedlem. The track started somewhere from the wood and lay right in his way. He is sure it was a bear, as a few days previous he threw some potatoes and other vegetables on the ice from his schooner which is frozen in at Stag Harbor; after an investigation these eatables were all gone and tracks were to be seen all around the schooner.

Rmour has it that Mr. Gale saw a fox in the vicinity of Fox Islands some time last week—the hunters are on the qui vive.

Mr. Thomas Farewells

Mr. Reginald Thomas, the popular singer, is spending his farewell week at the Nickel Theatre, as he leaves for London shortly. Yesterday hundreds of his admirers and friends went to hear him. His song was Jimmie Valentine which was put on by special request, and it proved as charming as ever. The picture programme was varied and full of interest from start to finish. It will be repeated this evening and to-morrow will see an entirely new programme.

Remarkable Escape from Starvation, off Cape Horn

Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master), of the late barque "Goswick," of Goswick. "Having lost our ship on Staten Island, on the 5th of July, and having saved the provisions, we were then compelled to travel on the island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell-fish and seaweed. On the 18th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunskeith," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of Epps's Cocoa, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercurio," of Buenos Aires.

"Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink; we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

Last Night's Hockey.

Wanderers Win Final Match.

FAIRLY FAST GAME.

The final of the series of matches between the representatives of Halifax and the City teams, was pulled off at the Prince's Rink last night in the presence of 2,300 spectators, and resulted in the visitors coming off victorious by a score of three goals to one. The game on the whole was fast and exciting, but we have often witnessed better hockey, as last night's exhibition lacked combination, and if some of our local players were no too greedy with the puck, the result might have been different. The conditions for the game were all that could be desired, the ice being as smooth as glass. At 8.30 the teams entered the arena and were cheered by the spectators. The line up was:

Halifax	Goal	C. Herder
Stenarud	point	G. Herder
Fluck	cover	Collier
Purcell	cover	Collier
Smith	rover	L. Stick
Barstead	right	Brien
Monahan	centre	R. Herder

The game opened briskly at 8.45. The Halifax team immediately became aggressive. They worked the puck towards the city territory but the latter retaliated by Stick and R. Herder making a splendid run. They lost to Purcell, who, combining with Monahan, made an effective rush and had a try for goal. Walsh was a good spot and prevented honors being awarded the visitors. The visitors continued their rushes vigorously having the best of the game, but the admirable defense of Herder, the City Point, kept the puck off the net. The Halifax forward line, displaying good stick handling, made three excellent runs in quick succession, but on each occasion their attempts to score were frustrated by the city back division. Just after this, the tables were reversed. The local boys worked with determination and confined play to their opponents' territory. The city pressed hard, every member of the team straining every nerve to score. Continuing the aggressive for the next ten minutes they bombarded the Halifax goal. Shots were raining on Stenarud, who proved himself a clever goal tender, and would not allow the puck to get past him. Soon after, the game got slow, until Purcell, the Halifax cover, broke the monotony. Capturing the rubber near his own goal, he swept the rink. He passed all opponents but when near the net the puck slipped away from his stick and a splendid opportunity was lost. Gus Herder then controlled the disc and made a pretty run but failed to score. Barstead and R. Herder were penalized for a couple of minutes. When the latter came on the ice again he took possession of the puck and intended to pay off for the time he was on the boards. He passed to Stick who dashed to the right wing, and off a neat pass, R. Herder banged the puck in the net.

Facing off again both teams settled down to hard work, the visitors to equalize the score and the home team to increase it. Purcell controlled the rubber and made a brilliant run. He passed all hands except Walsh, who was not to be beaten as easily Confidence in the new Administration is growing in the capital. Conservative Mexicans and foreigners alike regarding what appears to be a probable military regime, also as a solution of the present difficulty. A revolution in the sentiment has been created by the death of Francisco Madero and Pino Suarez, but a great majority of Mexican people merely shrug their shoulders. It is likely there are a few chapters more of this tragedy still to be written. One afternoon paper in Mexico City denies the stories of the attack on the Madero guard, alleging the affair was carried out in accordance with pre-arranged plans, but the Mexican Government appears honest in its endeavor to place the facts before the world by means of a judicial investigation. It is said that General Diaz will have an opponent to his candidacy for Presidency, Francisco De La Barra, the present Minister of Foreign Relations. Dodoite Reyes, a son of General Reyes, who was killed in the first attack on the Palace, and Dr. Gomez friends began a campaign on behalf of these various candidates; holding elections will depend upon the state of the country, but President Huerta insists upon free choice of the people when peace is restored, which will make this possible.

Leclair and Lemieux tasted no morsel of any kind for eight days on an extended hunt which they started in December. In a deserted shack, 75 miles from the settlement both men awaited for the other to go to sleep, for the killing of one meant food for the other. Lemieux was killed, however, being stabbed to the heart eight times; twenty-three other wounds were also found and part of the body ate, while Leclair scratched the floor on the cabin with a knife. Leclair has not been found.

Letter From Mr. F. J. Woods.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir—Permit me through the columns of your paper to bring under the notice of the public, and more especially seafarers who will prosecute the seal-fishery in the steamers Stephano and Florizel, that the firemen who will be employed on those steamers will be foreigners, and signed on in New York. Why the owners of the steamers named should adopt this course, I am at a loss to understand. It is a well known fact that native firemen are superior to the foreigner, that while the foreigner is unable to maintain any more than 125 lbs. pressure on the boilers of the Stephano and Florizel, the Newfoundland mainstays 180 lbs. The reason alleged for the employment of the foreigner is against our own people is: sometimes the firemen on the Florizel who had evidently taken more steam than was good for him, cough from the cook something to eat, not getting it, trouble between himself and the local firemen, with the result that some of the firemen left the ship. The ship, however, was not delayed in sailing, three firemen on the voyage to New York. Upon arrival there foreigners were hired to replace the men who had left, but the foreign stokers refused to sail in the ship with the local firemen, with the result that the local man was paid of and had to come back as a passenger. When the three firemen and three others were able to get sufficient steam on the ship for her to get to New York, they were equally as well able to do the same in getting her to St. John's, hence there was no reason for paying them off in a foreign port and taking men in their places who were in every way inferior to them.

As regards the Stephano, no trouble whatever occurred on her, she had her full complement of firemen, oilers and trimmers, good competent Union firemen, and without any cause these men were paid off in New York foreign firemen shipped in their places, and now it is the intention, so far as I can learn of the owners, to exclude the native firemen from favor of the foreign. The men who prosecute the sealing industry in these ships have an interest in the matter, as well as the firemen. When foreign stokers are unable to maintain steam pressure on the boilers of the ship to the extent of at least 5 lbs. less than the natives, it does not require much reasoning to show the ships, in consequence, will be handicapped, and they will not get through the ice as rapidly as they would otherwise.

I do not claim that the firemen are as they should be, but what particular class of people in this world, whether they be rich or poor, are all that can be desired? Some of the firemen, unfortunately for themselves, take too much strong drink (people who are not firemen are guilty of the same thing) while there are very many others who are total abstainers. Every working man has an interest in a question of this kind, because if employers or steamer owners can introduce into this country foreign labour, when the same article can be had in our own land of a superior quality, then it is time that steps be taken to prevent it from being done. What those steps will be I may have to outline at a very early date, if the owners of the steamers do not give the men of the Union fair play. Nothing more is wanted, nothing more I ask. I know that the Union has been subjected to criticisms, some deserved, some undeserved, because all the facts are not fully known, but who is there who do not in some way or other give cause for criticism, master and servant alike.

I trust that the owners of the steamers Stephano and Florizel will see the advisability of doing that which every other steamer owner is doing, namely, giving the man who has to earn his bread in this country a chance of so doing and not discriminate against him by importing the foreigner.

The Union hopes that no working-man in St. John's will allow himself to be influenced or persuaded into taking the place of Union firemen who will be called out of Messrs. Bowring's steamers, because of the determination of that firm to employ foreign firemen in these ships. By inserting the above you will oblige.

Yours truly,
J. WOODS.

President of the Firemen's Union, St. John's, Feb. 25.

United Service.

A fine congregation attended the first service of the week at George St. Church last night, and the spirit of the meeting was very good, and the influences were deeply impressive. The Rev. Mr. Matthews had entire charge of the service, and he displayed much zeal in his remarks, and in his announcement of the hymns, which were all very appropriate, and which had much good effect upon the meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Rogers read the passage of the talents for the Scripture lesson; and the Rev. Mr. Whitmarsh of Cochrane St. Church, delivered the address, and did so in a very earnest and zealous manner. He selected as his text a two-fold passage of Scripture from the Gospels and the Epistles, namely "Without God and without hope in the world," and "We will not obey his laws, nor conform to his commands; and thereby they were saying, 'We will not have this man to rule over us.'"

The result was that they were without God in their lives, therefore they were without hope. The speaker touched a strong chord of human nature in his remarks, in reference to the different experiences of human life. He stated that many lives, in act most lives, have their tragedies and disappointments, and that very often the life which we see of our fellow men, and which appears upon the surface in the rounds of every day, is not the real life of the person, because many carry burdens and sorrows that the outer world does not see; and therefore cannot know. The tendency of the age seems to be to increase such lives; but there is a better life, there is the life of hope and Christian service, and of obedience to the high authority of the conscience and the soul. It is this higher life of service that Christianity teaches and that is offered in the Gospel to the people. But men have become materialistic, and are devoting most of their attention to the things of time; to the entire neglect of what is more enduring and of principles which brings peace and hope to the heart.

The entire address was very appropriate for Evangelistic services; and it had a most desirable effect upon the congregation. After the address the service continued as usual with song and prayer, and proved a very encouraging beginning for the week. These services are open to all the people; and George St. Church being so centrally located, and so spacious, and so comfortably heated, we feel assured that the attendance, which so far has been very good, will be still greater as the week advances.

IS YOUR COUGH GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE?

If you catch a cold (which very often develops into a cough) every one can tell you how to cure it! If one tried half the things his friends recommended he would be a physical wreck!

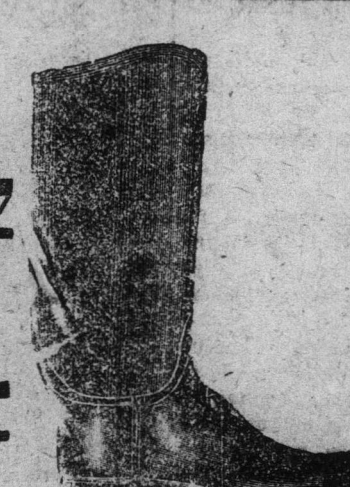

Fortunately it isn't necessary to experiment with ginger tea and such things, get a bottle of Stafford's Phorontone Cough and Cold Cure, take according to directions, and you will be relieved in a few hours.

Phorontone is not like most things put up for this purpose. There isn't a particle of Quinine in it. It relieves the inflamed congested condition of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat, and soon rids the system of the poison that cause colds.

Don't wait until you get that horrible, hacking cough which you are unable to get rid of. No treatment having been found successful up to the present time. Try Phorontone Cough Cure at once.

Tucker says that now is the time for our legislators to make up their minds to lessen the duties on the necessities of life. In a week or so the House will be opened with the usual gorgeous surroundings, but Tucker hopes that when the members of Parliament back into their seats that they won't carry with them the idea that brass bands, flowery speeches or brilliant orations are what the people are hankering after. We want the duty lessened on sugar. Some years ago the idea was prevalent in this country that sugar was a luxury, but to-day the man who'd say so would be looked upon as a curiosity.

Sugar is no luxury, not by a jug full, and the idea of keeping on a duty of three cents a pound on sugar is simply preposterous. Tucker and DeLaney want that duty lessened by two cents on every pound, for, as he says, nearly every workingman uses sugar to-day, and to have to pay a hundred per cent duty on it is not good enough. Sometimes a Government reduces the duty on certain articles in order to make themselves popular, and in this way the duty is very often reduced on articles without the people benefitting very much by the change. What should be done is to reduce the duty on such goods as those which the people can see the benefit in the broad daylight, as, for instance, sugar and coal. Now Tucker understands that we pay seventy cents a ton duty on coal, and he would suggest that this be lowered also. He knows that this duty goes to the city for what is consumed in the city, but he thinks that some other plan could be arranged between the Government and the Council whereby this money could be made good to the Municipal Council if the duty were taken off. Tucker says we spend barrels of money on the papers for publishing the debates of the Assembly, and he considers it a wilful waste of the people's money, for he'd venture to bet two and sixpence that not one man in a thousand ever reads 'em and lives to tell the tale. What is more ridiculous than to see a speech of the learned member for Upper Island Cove appearing in the papers on the day after the Races. The money spent on this farce might be saved and handed over to the Council in place of the coal duties, and no one would be the loser except the poor paper men, and as usual they can stand it. They have fine broad backs capable of standing anything. Some cranks will say "Don't take the duty off coal; sure we want to protect our local coal fields." But Tucker says don't worry about our coal areas, they can look out for themselves; and seem to be able to evade the keenest detectives that were ever sent on their trail. Some say that they have discovered the coal areas, but if they did they had to admit that they resisted arrest and on no account could be conveyed to town. So Tucker says let our brainy men devise a way of taking off the seventy cents a ton duty on coal, and then when we see the day dawn when our own coal will hit the town it won't be much trouble to clap the duty on again. Let our "swallow-tail" legislators do some practical thinking along these lines and we will reap some benefit from the coming session of the People's House.

L. C. MORRIS.

CHAPTER XVII.—THE SOLDIER LAD.

Of course we were quite at home on board the frigate. We had good quarters, and were entered with the crew, and after some weeks we arrived at the North American Station to which she was bound. The commander was a man of much authority, and I found that he had power to give me my clearance, and that was how I got to Newfoundland. The North American stations at that time included Nova Scotia and the West Indies, Prince Edward Island and the Gulf ports, and Newfoundland. We cruised these waters for several months, and visited most of these stations, but we put most of the time in on the Newfoundland coast, and had our longest anchorage at St. John's. I liked the different stations, liked Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia particularly, but I pitched on Newfoundland as my home. I found a great many people here who had come direct from Ireland, my own country, and immigrants were continually arriving. Also I found the country was growing; and so on getting my clearance from the ship, it was here I pitched my tent.

When he told it; but as years have rolled on, and I have thought things over, I have seen that our old hero had in him the true mettle, and that what he had said was a reflex of the experience of thousands of others and is worth repeating. No doubt, had I thought of using his story, I should have enquired of him for a few more particulars, so that I would be more accurate; but his story is none the less interesting, and it throws no little light, not only upon the customs of a century ago but upon the different avenues by which people came to Newfoundland.

I was used to hard work and exposure, and the discipline of army life; but I was not keen on the sea, and I have not followed it much. I found plenty of work to do, mostly on shore. From St. John's I moved on to parts of Conception Bay, and when Governor Cochrane built the roads and the main road around Conception Bay, I selected this spot for my home, where I now live. I have been mostly a gardener and a guide, and I have always found health and plenty in Newfoundland. It was late in life when I married, and I have lived to see my children grow up, and to see Newfoundland develop, and its population increase. I own my little house and my patch of ground, and my kitchen garden and flower beds are helpful to me; and though the noise of the battlefields is now some sixty years past in my life, its glory sometimes rises before me. But there is, as the old song says: "No place like Home, Sweet Home."

Like many others who came before him, our hero did not possess wealth, but judging from his conversation and home life, and good character, and religious sentiment, he had faith in God and honor for his King, and in the fulfillment of these duties he served his day and generation, and passed away unknown and unheeded. No stone marks his grave in the hamlet where he lies, and his name has gone out, but he was none the less an Empire Builder, and none the less a faithful servant. And so with his forgotten memory, we leave him, trusting that the recital of his tale will help the reader to think more of peace and liberty, and more of home and Newfoundland. I may, however, add that as I think over the tale, and review the circumstances under which I learned it, I have come to the conclusion that our old hero was fully seventy-five years old at the time; as he lived some fifteen years after that, and was reputed to be near ninety when he died.

Such was the record of the old gentleman of seventy-five. He did not seem to think much of having experienced such stirring scenes, nor of having lived in such stirring times; nor did I think the story wonderful.

It was by the merest accident that I heard his story; as I happened to visit the little church of the village, in company with my father, and he knowing the old gentleman, went to his house for dinner. The meal was truly plain but wholesome and nourishing. It consisted of a cup of tea flavored with goat's milk, and some thick slices of the old-timed bake-pot loaf. At that time a boy of fourteen was supposed to be seen and not heard, and thus it was that I said nothing; but enjoying my dinner, and the trees and foliage around the little home, and the bright sunshine of an August day, I drank in the story, and now after forty-one years, its recital may not be altogether in vain.

Women's Mission At St. Patrick's

The Mission being given by the Redemptorist Fathers, at St. Patrick's Church, is being conducted with the success noted at the Cathedral, and the building at all the services is packed to the doors with women. Last night the Rosary of the Blessed Virgin was recited and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament imparted. A very fluent sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. McCandlish. After the service crowds performed the devotion of the Holy Way of the Cross and hundreds of penitents surrounded the confessional. At the 5.30 and 8.30 masses this morning large congregations of women were also present.

OVER HALF OF ALL SICKNESS CAUSED BY CLOGGED UP WEAKENED KIDNEYS

Hundreds Are Suffering With Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It. Backache, Bladder Disorder and Rheumatism Are The Result.

It is a well recognized fact among physicians to-day, that the greater part of all sickness can be avoided by keeping the kidneys working properly. This is even more important than for the bowels to move regularly, because the kidneys and bladder are the filters and sewers of the body. If you suffer with pains in the back or sides, bladder or urinary disorders, lumbago, rheumatism, dizziness, puffiness swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, nervousness, tired out and worn-out feeling, or any of the many other symptoms of kidney trouble, don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of Croxone, which costs but a trifle, take three doses a day, for a few days, and you will be surprised how entirely different you will feel. Croxone cures the very worst cases because it removes the cause of such troubles. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly effects a cure. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for any ailment. You will find it entirely different from anything you have ever used. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price of Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

Complaint from Branch

Dear Sir,—I will give you a few notes as to the way we are run under the Morris Government here at Branch. The post office and telegraph office is in the one house, what will style as a Parlor Post Office, and it's no easy matter to find out who one should ring up as the real official postmaster; but to suit the own convenience, anything will do while Morris holds the Government. I do not mean to say that the members who should possess a spark of principle, would knowingly tolerate such an injustice. It is true we have a telegraph office, but in name only. I am living quite near the public office and I am aware what time it is opened and closed; some days at 11 a.m. more days at noon. Closing is just a matter of how much the operator has left undone in her own house, which is some distance from the office. The Morrisites promised us the public news, daily. It lasted while they were canvassing the district, and no longer. Our telegraph office at Branch is nothing but a public disgrace and will no longer be tolerated. So I would call on Mr. Stott to at once advise a remedy; either keep our post office in operation working hours, or close it up. The public news is only for the few who are in the little Tory ring, but the news from the "weather man" is free to all. Now Mr. Stott do your duty and keep our office in working order. Yours truly, CHAS. F. TILTON.
