LOCAL OPTION IS A FRAUD.

GLADSTONE'S SAYING SO REVEALS HIS TEMPERANCE PEOPLE.

Harcourt is Pledged to Local Option and the G.O.M. Throws a Bomb into the Party Hands by Rescinding the Prohibition System—General British Gossip.

London, Sept. 22.—Mr. Gladstone, in reply to a request for his views as to the proper method of dealing with the House of Lords, declines to express an opinion upon the subject, because of his retirement from the leadership of his party. At about the same time, however, the ex-Premier has thrown a bombshell into the midst of the temperance group of followers by addressing a letter to the Bishop of Chester against local option.

In this letter Mr. Gladstone declares that if local option prevails it is little better than an imposture. The principles of the temperance party are maintained to be the only ones permissible or admissible, and to the great amazement of both the Gladstonians and the Conservatives adds that for long years he has been strongly of this opinion.

The Temperance Party Scandalized. The temperance party in Great Britain has been highly scandalized by this declaration, and their organs recall the fact that when Mr. Gladstone last came into power it was largely in consequence of his having repeatedly pledged himself to secure the passage of a local option measure. Consequently during his incumbency of the Premiership he approved the bill, and did not say a word in reference to the temperance party.

Since Mr. Gladstone's retirement Sir William Harcourt, who is his successor in the leadership of the party, has been pledged, absolutely and unqualifiedly committing the Government to the introduction of a local option bill before the dissolution of Parliament. In the course of his letter to the Bishop, Mr. Gladstone said: "I am glad to see that Chamberlain actively supports the temperance party."

A Heavy Blow for the Cold Water People. Sir Wilfrid Lawson, M.P., President of the United Kingdom Alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic, has written against the change of front, saying that if the Liberals now depart from the temperance principle of their party and sanction even moderate drinking under the temperance system, it will be a heavy blow ever dealt to the temperance cause in Great Britain. His party, he declares, will refuse to accept any compromise.

The Influential British Weekly Review (Lancet) in commenting on the declaration of Mr. Gladstone, says: "To what things are we coming if Mr. Gladstone has taken the field in this way against measures of his own Cabinet? What does the reference to Mr. Chamberlain mean? It is a serious matter that the last and most astounding Gladstonian development is yet to be witnessed."

This remark refers to a rumor that Mr. Gladstone has been reported to have written to Mr. Chamberlain, asking him to resign his position as Secretary of State, and to be replaced by Mr. Chamberlain.

Labor Unions Opposed. Two of the strongest and wealthiest labor organizations in the United Kingdom—the Humber makers and Shipbuilders Unions—have issued a joint manifesto denouncing the socialist movement, and the majority of delegates to the Trades Union Congress recently held at London, have expressed their opposition in part: "We differ fundamentally with the socialist movement, and we have become a gathering of advanced socialists, who, were it not for the fact that we would prefer to labor, and whose methods would ultimately result in restricted freedom of contract, and whose progress would be arrested and in a short time the working classes would be placed in a position of absolute dependence upon the State. Collectivism cannot take the place of individualism, the market cannot be abolished by the crowd. If the shutters at the Congress would work more for the union and less in resistance to the socialist movement, it would be better for those who represent it. This organized movement is a socialist, and we are not prepared to follow the old line. The socialist movement is a social action, and an organization which has suddenly sprung into prominence through the activity displayed by it in its opposition to the socialist movement. The socialist movement is a social action, and an organization which has suddenly sprung into prominence through the activity displayed by it in its opposition to the socialist movement."

Trade in Girls. Much sensational correspondence appears in the daily newspapers, arising from the discovery of a revival of the traffic in girls between the Continent and London. It had been supposed that the traffic had been completely abolished. The story published on Wednesday a story to the effect that a Frankfurt girl, who had obtained a passport from London, had been saved from prostitution only by accident getting the protection of an English lady, who sent her to the German Consulate. The inquiry that followed showed that a systematic business in girls is still carried on. The police are on the track of the persons engaged in the traffic and are actively engaged in the discovery of the girls. Regarding the traffic in women in India and China, the Purty Society has obtained testimony from the British press that within five years 4100 girls, some very young, were lauded in Singapore for immoral purposes.

Opposition to Acquiring Madagascar. The trouble between France and Madagascar is subject to constant communication between the British and Italian officers. A Home newspaper says that Italy, with knowledge of Germany and Austria, has proposed a pact under which Italy is to occupy Tripoli, Great Britain is to occupy Egypt, and both are to guarantee the independence of Madagascar. The British press favors the hostile attitude toward France with respect to her acquisition of Madagascar.

Suicides and Insurance. Several English life insurance companies have been prosecuting an inquiry to ascertain whether the elision of the suicide clause in life insurance policies is in any way responsible for the recent increase in the number of suicides. The inquiry has been conducted all over the country, and have unanimously expressed the opinion that there is no connection between the elision of the clause and the increase in suicides.

Sir E. Reed, M.P., the naval expert, has not a very high opinion of the Chinese navy. He thinks that the Chinese ships are badly built and that most of the Chinese ships engaged in the present war are likely to go to the bottom.

Mr. Justice and the "Admiral's" Trial. The trial of the "Admiral" after the capture of the Chinese ship, has not a very high opinion of the Chinese navy. He thinks that the Chinese ships are badly built and that most of the Chinese ships engaged in the present war are likely to go to the bottom.

BEHRING SEA ARBITRATION FAILS.

Fearful Slaughter of Seals This Season, Says the Fisheries Commission.

London, Sept. 22.—The news comes from Behring Sea that the decision of the arbitration tribunal of Arbitration at Paris has proved to be a failure so far as the protection of the seals is concerned. Fully 80 per cent. of the seals have been taken this season, it is reported, were killed outside of the limits prescribed by the arbitrator. And the worst of it is that the seals are females, whose destruction by the whalers in this manner means practical extermination on the species in a comparatively few years.

Females the Bulk of the Catch. Washington, Sept. 23.—Reports lately received from the Fisheries Commission indicate that the work of the Paris arbitration tribunal would seem to be a failure, first, because the action taken in conformity with the findings of the tribunal came too late, and second, because the restrictions upon seal catching in the most serious feature of the seal catching is the fact that nearly all the seals are females. The seals are young, or having young on the rookeries. It is estimated that the total number of seals taken by the whalers in the Behring Sea during the present season will be less than 5,000.

A Powerful Picture. Of the Social Changes in the Southern States. When the civil war was finished the Southern States passed through a number of years of revolutionary character. Their political and social life was in a state of confusion, and the old institutions were being destroyed. The new institutions were being established, and the people were being educated. The result was a powerful picture of social change.

75 LIVES LOST IN A CYCLONE

THIRTEEN NORTHWEST TOWNS BADLY WRECKED.

Houses Swept Away Like Chaff—One Residence With Six People Carried 30 Miles, Then Wrecked—A Woman and Baby Buried 100 Feet—Twenty Towns Wrecked in the Ground.

Algona, Ia., Sept. 22.—Twenty-six persons are reported killed in Kosciusko County, and 89 injured, some fatally, while the greater part of the town of Cyclone, 20 miles west, was badly damaged by the storm which swept over this section of the country Friday night. North of Cyclone, the family of Alex Goulden, four in number, were killed. At Whitehouse, 10 miles west of here, Robert Stephenson was killed and his wife fatally hurt. Nearly a score of persons sought refuge in a house on the Durant place. All were more or less injured, and one woman died. Near here Carl Derrick was injured and his wife fatally hurt. One of the Charles children is dead. Near here Lee is badly injured.

George W. Weaver, living three miles north of Algona, had just got home from the fair and entered the house with his wife and two children and an adopted boy, when the cyclone struck the house and demolished it. Weaver had the baby in his arms, and with it he made his way north to the house of Christian Dau, his father-in-law, for aid. His wife was just dying when he returned, and his little girl soon afterwards expired.

A Family Carried 100 Feet. Myron Schneck, wife and child were carried 100 feet, when found were lying on a heavy oak beam. Both were hurt, and Mrs. Schneck was unconscious. One of the children was killed and four were injured, and Holman seriously hurt. Three Towns Destroyed. The town of Lower is now a mass of bent timbers and splinters. The damage done to Lower and vicinity will exceed $100,000. A severe wind and rain storm struck Osella, and gradually grew worse until 1:30, when without warning those able to regain consciousness found themselves in cornfields and on the open prairie. The width of the storm is estimated at half a mile, and its course due north and west. No deaths have been reported in Osella, but three are fatally injured. It is reported that the village of New Haven, eight miles west of here, was entirely destroyed and several killed and wounded, but the report cannot be verified.

Presence of Mind Saved a Train. The presence of mind of Peter Brown, a farmer near Osella, undoubtedly saved many lives. He was driving a team of horses to work for assistance, happened to think of the Chicago & Great West train, due about 10:30 p.m., and as the storm had somewhat abated, immediately started for the depot. On his arrival at the depot he found nothing but a mass of twisted timbers, and he was literally covered with the remains of the depot and an elevator. He flagged the train, which arrived in a few minutes, and after an hour's work the track was cleared.

MONDAY MORNING SEPTEMBER 24 1894.

THE PLAYFUL WIND UPSET THE EQUANIMITY OF MORE PERSONS THAN A FEW YESTERDAY, AND WAS THE CAUSE OF AN AMOUNT OF VIGOROUS GRUMBING THAT ILLIBERATED THE SOLIDITY OF THE DAY.

The cyclists, those naughty young men Sabbath in spite of their religious advisers, were chief among the grumblers, for the atmospheric movement acted like a 20-pound shot on the equanimity and made the process of flying over the asphalt anything but a pleasure. The pushing and shoving, because one could not shelter her delicate face from the rays of Old Sol without having her hair blown inside out, petulant grumblers and tore his hair because that playful wind would not let him have a 40 mile an hour run to howl and whine, and die a natural death on the broad Atlantic.

It was not the sun, as the meteorologists of the day go by, to that may be ascribed the shock of yesterday. The sun was in the weather men to to-day say that that theory is exploded, for observations show that higher wind is as a rule experienced in October than in September. Winds at this period are caused by the commencement of the change in temperature, and they may be expected to recur frequently until the cold weather sets in.

Old Folks told World man last night that the storm developed during Saturday night to the west of the upper lakes. It was not until the storm center was just west of Port Arthur, yesterday morning, that the cyclone struck the city. It is thought it had got into the region of Montreal.
