started operations Friday with about 100 men. They report having plenty of logs for the present, with the prospect of lots more as they want them.

The James R. Warner mill, on Strait Shore, started a few days ago and is giving employment to about 100 men. They will cut the logs brought out by N. H. Marchie, on the Tobique and other waters, and will probably be kept busy all summer.

Diller Bros. started their mill on Strait Shore a few days ago, and if the wind and weather are favorable for the next few days, they will have plenty of logs to work on. For the present they have just enough to keep things going, but expect to have an abundance very shortly.

In the mills above there are between 1,500 and 1,800 men employed and taking into consideration the longshoremen, checkers, clerks, etc., the number deriving employment from the lumber business here would be well up to 3,000.

Moore's mill at Pleasant Point, started work Saturday, and about 60 men are now at work turning the logs into merchantable lumber. They have a sufficient quantity of logs for the present, but are looking for many more within the next few days.

CANADIANS HAD SPLENDID TIME

Queen's Own Rifles Leave New York for Toronto --- Col. Pellat Denies That He or His Men Were Not Pleased With Their Reception in Gotham.

NEW YORK, April 30--The Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, which regiment has been in this city attending the military tournament at Madison Square Gardens, departed for home yesterday.

The soldiers were every appearance of laudatory and what is called a royal time was formed preparatory to filing into the street and the march to the train, the men responded with a mighty roar to Sir Henry's call, three cheers for New York, line cheers were delivered with vim and the tipped bayonets of the Queen's Own swung aloft enthusiastically.

The regiment boarded a New York Central special. As they passed below Riverside drive they were heartily cheered and the crowds on the pier watching the squadron cheered them loudly.

KUROPATKIN IS IN PRINT Russian General Publishes His Memoirs During the Late War.

MOSCOW, April 30--The memories of General Kuropatkin, a voluminous work covering the Russo-Japanese war, is being published here under supervision of its author. The volumes give a definition for Kuropatkin's strategy in all the important battles of the war and criticize freely the lack of support given the general in high quarters in St. Petersburg, and the conduct of certain of his subordinates. The author thought seriously of publishing the work only posthumously.

The Dominion Coal Company is reported as banking unusually large quantities of coal for the spring and summer trade and they report a much increased output. Their plant, too, is being considerably enlarged.

Nailing Her Flag to the Mast. ---New York Herald.

BOLD BURGLARS AT WORK MILFORD, Mass., April 29--A band of burglars visited this section during last night and committed several break-ins but did not secure very much plunder. The large furniture and crockery store of Avery Woodbury, one of the largest stores in this section, was entered and a small amount of money taken from the cash drawer.

NEW SERBIAN CABINET BELGRADE, April 29--With the exception of the appointment of a war minister, which is causing serious difficulty, the new Serbian cabinet has been formed, as follows: Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. LOYALTY AND DISCOURTESY. Mr. Hiram Hornbeam says that he is a descendant of the Loyalists, and a staunch defender of the king's throne and person, but that Arthur of Connaught was as courteous to a thousand loyal citizens of Moncton as has been stated, going on with his breakfast while they were cheering in his honor, he must be one of those "free" whose god is their belly. Hiram will therefore go on with his royal plauditing, and wait till a prince comes along who gives some evidence of royal breeding. Hiram is quite hot about it.

It is rumored that two more street crossings will be cleaned today. It is generally believed. There is no justification for such a belief.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER WILL ATTRACT TOURISTS. It is understood that the new tourist booklet will make special mention of a hitherto unexploited attraction for visitors to St. John. Several of the directors of the association have lately crossed the harbor a number of times in the Ludlow, and it occurred to all of them that there was a feature of life in St. John which they had never before seen. Obviously such an attraction is one of the most fascinating that can be offered to a person who likes the spice of uncertainty in the thrill of a new sensation. This was first dreamed of when the Ludlow was built, but it adds materially to her value as an asset of the city. Property advertised she will attract thousands of tourists this summer.

Small amounts of money were taken from the station and the post office. Mr. Stowe, awakened by a burglar alarm, fired two shots from the window of his house nearby at the burglars. He does not think either bullet took effect. The burglars secured nothing at the store but one of them in his flight dropped a small roll of bills.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Treatin of Montreal to spend the summer.

MONTREAL STOCK MARKET MONTREAL, April 30 (Special).--There was a moderate rally in stock prices this morning after the wave of liquidation on Saturday while bargain hunters were out in full force and took all that was offered, evidently thinking that the market had reached the worst from the present adverse conditions. Trading was quite active and prices firm in the low level towards the close on Saturday extended as far as two points in some cases. The features were--Montreal Railway, 20 1/2; Dominion Railway ex. 112; Mackay, 61 1/4; Dominion Coal, 75; Canadian Pacific, 157 1/2; Dominion Iron, 27 to 28; Dominion Iron, 70-74 to 71 1/2; bonds, 93; Montreal Power, 87 to 88 3/4; third, 92 to 94; Twin City, 112 to 114 1/4; Detroit, 91 to 92 3/8; Havana, 46 3/4; Toledo, 29 1/4; Richelle, 81.

HOW MORIARIY WON OUT IN YUCATAN

By Helen Green. Moriariy was waiting for the native waiter to serve his dinner on the veranda of the Hotel Ixmal, in Merida, Yucatan. He was very gloomy, and when the same old dish of chicken with peppers and beans floating in the everlasting oil laced by Maya (native), Spaniard and mestizo alike, he became worse. "Ye lazy Injun," said he peevishly, "are ye or are ye not goin' to fetch the latherin' Chinaman who has me washin'?"

"I'll get the Senor Americano," said the waiter, pouring out coffee leisurely. Moriariy began upon the oily beans with a scowl. "Now the saints hear me," said he solemnly. "Once let me out of this country of thieves and oil, and if ever I look a fowl in the face again, may I roast in Hades!"

MAYOR-ELECT SEARS

Mayor-elect Sears has a fine opportunity to identify his name with a most important work in the interests of St. John. When Mr. George Robertson was mayor the question of the winter port came up, and Mr. Robertson threw himself into the work with a vigor and effectiveness that has seldom been equaled. He had the satisfaction of seeing the beginning of a winter trade through this port that has grown to such proportions that this season the value of the exports alone has been over $23,000,000. Those who remember the agitation of ten or eleven years ago do not need to be told how hard Mr. Robertson worked to achieve this result.

Under succeeding mayors the work of development has gone on, and Mayor White has identified himself with the greatly needed extension of the waterworks system, which is now nearing completion. More important than any question that has arisen since Mr. Robertson's tenure of office is that which now confronts the city—the nationalization of the port. The transportation commission has recommended it, the government and parliament assent to the general proposition, and it would seem that the question of terms is the chief one to be settled. This is Mayor Sears' opportunity.

The citizens recognize that they cannot go on expending their own money for what is really a national work, and they are no doubt willing to have the port nationalized, for the reason that if this is not done, there will be no increase in trade, but a loss of trade to other and better equipped ports.

But the city must be prepared to make a proposition. The attitude of the government and parliament is no doubt expressed in the question—"What do you people have to offer? What is your proposition?" The Times is entirely in accord with the following statement in the St. John Globe a few days ago:

"There is every reason why a definite policy should at once be determined with reference to nationalization. Valuable time will be lost and future development delayed if the present session of parliament is allowed to end without the city procuring legislation that will permit it to carry on negotiations for the sale of the harbor to the government on terms that will be mutually advantageous."

Mayor Sears will have a fine opportunity to bring this question to the front and keep the council pinned down to it until the whole situation has been thoroughly considered, from every standpoint, and a policy adopted that will ensure the nationalization of this port, and the continued development of our rapidly growing winter port trade.

A SPLENDID RECORD

If the average value of the few cargoes yet to be reported at the customs is up to the average value of the 106 that have been reported, the total value of the outward cargoes by winter port steamers will be over $23,000,000, or nearly $10,000,000 in excess of last year's total. There has also been an increase in the quantity of inward cargo, and a much heavier passenger business.

A notable feature is the large amount of western United States products that have found a natural outlet at the port of St. John. They comprise considerably more than a third of the total value.

It is also a fact of great importance that not a single mishap has occurred to any steamer. The safety of the port of St. John is no longer a debatable question. There is no safer port on the North Atlantic coast.

The city council must now get down to business and see that all necessary dredging is done before the big C. P. R. and Allan steamships come next winter.

FOR BETTER STREETS

It is related that one of two Americans who were journeying in Switzerland asked the other how it was that so poor a country had such smooth and splendid roads, while the United States, with limitless wealth had such wretched ones. The other replied that having so much money in the United States they could afford to waste it.

Possibly it could not be truthfully said of the city of St. John that it can afford to waste money on its streets, but the waste is apparent, and the new city council should give some attention to the cause and the remedy. It will probably be found that scientific principles are not applied, that the road metal used is not of the best quality, and that a superabundance of mud in wet weather, loose stones in all weather, and a perennially uneven surface are the penalty paid for lack of intelligent road construction. If there were a little more harmony of purpose between the street and water departments, to prevent the opening up of a new piece of macadam or block pavement by the water department immediately after it had been finished by the street department, there would be a saving of money as well as a better general service. The new council should grapple with this question of the streets and see that a better system is adopted. There should be a great deal more to show for the very large annual expenditure.

GIVE US PLAYGROUNDS

Judge Ritchie forcibly and clearly set forth on Saturday the need of playgrounds for the children of this city. The need would not be met, however, by providing one large playground on the outskirts of the city, desirable that it is for the larger children. There would be very many children who could not go so far. There is a great need of a number of playgrounds, scattered about the city, within easy reach of the children of each section, and under the eye of a caretaker who would see that good use was made of the privilege afforded.

This is not a work the city council can be expected to take full charge of, but it might very properly take the initiative, ask for public support, and participate actively in providing suitable playgrounds in different parts of the city.

The Times is of opinion that the citizens would support such a project and that the expense need not be large. This paper last year advocated the provision of public playgrounds, and a few days since published a letter from Miss Mabel Peters, telling of the organization of a National Playgrounds Association at Washington, with the approval of President Roosevelt, and of the very successful work carried on in various cities of the union by women's associations.

If some member of the new city council would take up this question, gather information from other cities, look over the situation here with a view to finding suitable grounds, and embody the results of his investigations in a statement to the council and the citizens, he would be doing a great public service, and doubtless setting machinery in motion that would produce the desired results.

It is a very serious matter that so many of the children of the city are permitted to spend so much of their young lives in dark alleys and yards or dodging policemen on the streets, when they might be enjoying healthful recreation under good influences.

A PATROL WAGON

The fact that only eighty females were arrested in this city last year is no argument against a patrol wagon. It is almost equally a disgrace to see a drunken man dragged or carted through the streets of the city.

It is said that in one American city a man arrested for drunkenness and still able to walk, is given his choice of a walk, or a ride in the patrol wagon; and if he chooses the latter a dollar is added to the ordinary fine. Cities of any size that have no patrol wagon are the exception. St. John should no longer be exceptional in this respect. The ladies long since took up the question, and raised considerable money, but presumably because they were only women their influence was not effective, and the scheme fell through. An alderman or civic official can always get a coach.

The time has come to take up this question seriously, and provide the police department with a patrol wagon. It will be found that the vehicle will not grow rusty from lack of exercise.

BRITISH EARTHQUAKES

Someone who ventured the assertion that they never had any earthquakes in England, facetiously asserting that the country is too conservative, is corrected by the Boston Herald which reminds him that there were earthquakes in Herefordshire in the 16th century. "In 1607" it continues, "all London was frightened." Hence the French described the frontier terror in his amusing, flippant manner: how certain women of fashion had "earthquake gowns" made; warm gowns to sit out of doors all night; how a china-man had a jar cracked by the shock and he doubted the price of the pair "because it is the only jar in Europe that has been cracked by an earthquake;" how several noble dames were going, the evening he wrote, to an inn out of town to play at brag till 5 in the morning and then come back—"I suppose to look for the bones of their husbands and families under the rubbish!"

Bets were laid by the rakes on whether the commotion was due to an earthquake or to the blowing up of a powder mill. Many took the matter more seriously. Hundreds left the city, and one of the newspapers announced the forthcoming publication of a "true and exact list of all the nobility and gentry who have left or will leave this place through fear of another earthquake." There were sermons, essays, all sorts of pious tracts. There were countless explanations of the quakes and the consequent absurdities are innumerable attributes of the ignorant, the empty, and the affected: "Thence your extravagantly sublime figures: 'Lisbon as no more; can be seen no more, etc., with all the other prodigal effusions of bombast beyond the stretch of time or temper to enumerate.' Would that this philosophic comment might be applied to the statements and descriptions that come from San Francisco!

SAYS FATHER GAPON WAS ASSASSINATED FOR TREACHERY

St. Petersburg, April 29.—The Novor Vremya today prints a circumstantial story which tends to confirm the reports that Father Gapon has been assassinated by a revolutionist. Father Gapon is reported as having entered into relations with a group of the "fighting organization" of the terrorists, and in order to test his loyalty one of the leaders, an engineer named Rutenberg, under the alias of Martini, offered to betray the secrets of the organization to the government. Gapon, according to the story, took the bait and offered to conduct the negotiations. Some haggling about the price to be paid followed, Rutenberg demanding $30,000. Finally, however, on his agreeing to accept $12,500, Gapon went to Odessa, a small place beyond the Polish frontier, to meet the assassin, and in a rooming house there the assassination of the agreement. He has not been seen since.

A Jewess named Holstein, a member of a group of revolutionaries with which Gapon's friends knew he was in close consultation at that time, mysteriously disappeared. The plain industry of the paper says, that finding Gapon a traitor, his friends assassinated him.

RIGHT KIND OF MERCHANT

(Maritime Merchant). "I would be willing," said a successful retail merchant of St. John to the writer this week, "to be one of a number of business men to invest something each year in a new industry. Of course it would be on the condition that my own business would permit of it. But my business has been growing, and I see no reason why it should not continue to grow moderately, to a certain limit at least, a portion of their trade. That is the way I feel about it. If those who are looking into this question of new industries can recommend a course likely to secure one or more, I think their efforts should be backed up by citizens offering to take some stock. I could not do much myself, but if a lot of people do a little it produces a better result and develops the right sort of spirit to make the town grow."

ITALIANS RIOT NEAR BAR HARBOR

Bar Harbor, Me., April 29.—A riot occurred late this afternoon among members of a gang of Italian workmen who have been employed at Eagle Lake by the Bar Harbor Water Company, the result being that Antonio Daranti, one of the workmen was killed, and Robert McKay, a bystander, was also stunned and severely hurt.

The trouble started in the vicinity of a general store kept by the company at Eagle Lake and is said to have been due to the refusal of the storekeeper to sell beer to the men. Some of the Italians became angry and a free fight was soon in progress. Robert McKay's brother sent a hurry call here by telephone for assistance, saying that Robert had been killed, and about 100 Bar Harbor citizens left immediately in buckboards for the scene of the trouble. Before they got there another telephone summons was received and deputy sheriffs and the local police officers started at this call. The disturbance was all over when the Bar Harbor contingent arrived. It was found that McKay was only stunned from the blow on the head, and that he will probably recover. Three men and a boy were arrested and brought here for a hearing, which will be held tomorrow morning.

MINERS CLASH; FOUR WOUNDED, ONE FATALLY

Johnstown, Pa., April 29.—A conflict occurred between union and non-union miners at the Paint Creek Mine of the Berwind White Coal Company near Ingle-side about midnight. The union men were attacked by a mob of foreigners and a number of shots were fired. Steve Popovick, a foreigner, was fatally wounded and three others were injured, but not seriously. Word was sent to Windler and the sheriff and twenty-one members of the state constabulary were dispatched to the scene. When they arrived the rioters had dispersed, and all was quiet.

TO THE CITY COUNCIL

(St. John Globe). There is a proposal for a reconsideration of the project for the proposed new wharf to determine if the best plan is being followed. There is no doubt that the size of the vessels coming here steadily grows and it is the view of some shipping men that the present wharf is becoming smaller rather than three shorter than the vessels that will want to use them. The time for action has arrived, and every day's delay is a day lost.

Car Changes Plans Again.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—The programme of the opening of the national parliament has been changed. The emperor will not go in person to the Turin Palace, as had been planned, but will come to St. Petersburg and receive the members of parliament and the control of the empire at the Winter Palace.

John E. Irving will leave soon for Calgary, where his son, Harry, has been for some time. He may locate there.

Market St. Looking East from Taylor St. Emporium Dept. Store, Right Background

Ruins of the Valencia Hotel where seventy five persons were killed.

This scene depicts what remains of the City Hall, taken from Golden Gate avenue, looking south. The demolition of this monument to graft, which cost $7,000,000, was no more than was expected by many San Franciscans, in view of the manner in which it was constructed. The Hall of Records, surmounted by a low wooded dome, also appears on the right of the picture.
 The Palace Hotel, although one of the oldest in San Francisco, was popular not alone with visitors to the city, but with the natives themselves. Scarcely a year passed since its foundation, in 1876, but saw considerable improvements made in the structure, until, at the time of the earthquake, its estimated value was placed at $2,500,000. It covered a space 350 feet by 275 feet and, together with its annex, the Grand Hotel, would comfortably house 1,500 persons. One-quarter of an acre was occupied by the grand court, seven stories in height, and all the year round filled with plants and small trees. At one end was the Palm Cafe, where many of San Francisco's diners and banquets were given.

FUND IS NOW MORE THAN $6,200

There has been gathered together in St. John and vicinity to date $6,247.40 for the San Francisco sufferers. Of this The Telegraph and Times fund amounts to $5,237.30. Complete returns from the York Theatre concert slightly increase the amount credited Saturday. The fund now stands—

 San Francisco gave St. John after fire of 77.....$6,002.00
 The final returns from the San Francisco relief fund concert in York Theatre are now to hand, and show a net profit of $797.50, which has been credited to the fund. This result must be regarded as entirely satisfactory. The price of the tickets was purposely placed as low as possible in order that all who wished to contribute twenty-five cents might do so, and as anything in the nature of a personal canvass was obviously out of the question, the public were told where tickets could be obtained and the nature of the entertainment, and the rest was left in their hands. The fact that 812 people saw the performance is sufficient evidence that the effort to increase the fund was appreciated.
