

HOW TO ECONO-
MIZE IN COAL

It Seems There is More Than
Price to be Considered.

You buy coal solely to make heat. The more burnable matter, and the less waste or ash in a ton of coal, the more value. Ash and stone and clinker not only produce no heat, but cost money to cart away. Most everybody knows this in a general way, but have you ever considered what it means in dollars and cents? Roughly speaking, Anthracite coal at the present time, costs about one cent a pound. There must be some waste in all coal. Anthracite coal with as little as 10 per cent waste, would be an exceedingly high grade article. This 10 per cent represents two hundred pounds to the ton, which on the basis of one cent a pound, is two dollars a ton waste. But how about the coal that has 20 per cent (four hundred pounds) and more of ash and clinker to the ton. Four hundred pounds at present prices, means $4.00 plus the expense and annoyance of its removal. There are many coals in St. John today containing two and three hundred pounds more ash to the ton than "Radio," and being sold at the same price. When you buy "Radio" hard coal, you buy coal with the least waste, and the most of burnable matter. If you look at the coal question in the light of these facts, you will agree with Consumers Coal Company that their "Radio" Anthracite is worth dollars more a ton than the ordinary grade of Anthracite, but as it usually sells for the price of ordinary coal, the way to economize is to buy Consumers Coal Company's "Radio" Hard Coal. It is the most economical coal to use. 8-16.

HAIR-TRIGGER DIPLOMACY

Mr. Denby, Secretary of the Navy, has raised a bit of a storm in the United States by saying in a public speech that his country must have "a navy as large as that of any country in the world."

At almost the same time at which Secretary Denby was rattling the sabre business men met in Tokio and decided (1) to send a cable dispatch to President Harding and Senator Borah urging them to use their influence for restriction of armaments and (2) to request the Japanese Diet to apply a part of the appropriation for armaments to educational and social improvement.

VETERANS AND THE EX-KAISER Some of those writers who were in a rush to condemn the Ottawa branch of the G. W. V. A. for objecting to the publication of the ex-Kaiser's memoirs by an English publishing house might at least have given the veterans' point of view fair consideration.

It is true enough, no doubt, that a curious world might regard publication of the memoirs as desirable because they might be expected to throw new light upon German guilt before and during the war, and disclose much concerning the workings of the German machine which is not now known in the Allied countries.

publication and sale of the work is permitted in the United Kingdom its exclusion from Canada would not be likely. That the ex-Kaiser's writing, or that done for him, will deceive any but Germans as pro-Germans is unlikely enough; but it is quite natural that the veterans should feel indignant at the thought that British or Canadian money should find its way into the pockets of the great criminal in the fashion suggested.

Referring to the debate on the address, the Times thinks that "eloquence which usually occupies the first week of the session might well be curtailed." We are not sure that it may be that the debate this year will be short.

Quite so. And, really, how many read a long speech? The idea that these long orations should be published in order that the extended views of honorable gentlemen may reach their constituents would be fine but for the fact that the constituents, while they might listen to a long speech, will certainly not read one unless there are very exceptional reasons for doing so; in nine cases out of ten there are no such reasons.

Here's a chance for the Hon. Rupert Wignmore to square the account. There's a Nova Scotia vacancy in the Senate. Let Mr. Wignmore have a New Brunswick appointment to fill it. Quite simple. And Mr. Wignmore's prestige needs brushing up a bit. But, says somebody, how can Nova Scotians be got to consent to the appointment of a New Brunswicker to represent them? Their consent is not necessary. Mr. Wignmore did not secure New Brunswick's consent to the appointment of a Nova Scotian. He made the appointment and let New Brunswick yell.

A rumor is circulated in Ottawa to the effect that Senator Fowler's right to his seat in the Senate is to be questioned on the ground that he is not living in New Brunswick. In reading the rumor it is well to keep in mind the fact that Senator Fowler recently published a strong letter criticizing Hon. Mr. Wignmore and the government. What's the idea in going after the Kings county senator? Do they want his seat—to give to a Nova Scotian? The business of taking meat from a bear has been described as hazardous, but it is safe compared with any attempt Mr. Wignmore may make to pry Mr. George W. Fowler loose from the Senate.

It is confessedly an uncertain and difficult situation created by the new advance of allied troops into Germany," says the New York Times. "But the duty of American is clear. They must neither by word nor by act give comfort to the evasive and intriguing Germans. They must not add to the grief of France by letting her suspect them of coldness to her righteous demands for reparation. Specific action may not be required of us. But where our sympathies are out of hopes lie, the whole world should know."

Once more conferences regarding peace in Ireland are said to be progressing favorably in London. Peace in Ireland is overdue. Previous attempts at conciliation, which have been numerous, have failed, but the hopeful tenor of today's despatches is encouraging to the forces of good will. Even to Ireland peace will come. May it be soon.

YOUNG HEROINE

Gave Blood to Save Father's Life. A girl's heroic effort to prolong the life of her father was described at South-west County Court, England, during the hearing of an application for appointment.

The applicant a widow named Pike of Hoveledown, explained that her husband met with an accident on board ship at the Surrey Commercial Docks. He was brought home, and a daughter, aged nineteen, gave one and a half pints of her blood to prolong her father's life.

His Honor—It is indeed a heroic act, and your daughter must be fed very generously. He awarded her £3 for nourishment for the daughter, in addition to £21 for personal needs.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

A golfer was returning from the links when he saw his street car about to start. Making a sprint forward he was about to board it when a woman hailed him from a nearby house.

"Here, mister!" she cried. He hesitated a moment and the car was gone, so he shouldered his heavy golf bag and made toward the house.

The woman's head had disappeared from the window now, but he could still hear her in the upper room calling: "Here, mister!"

After much deliberation as to whether he should leave his load on the stairs or take it up with him he decided on the former and toiled up numerous flights of stairs.

When he reached the top of the house the woman said: "Won't you?" "Won't I what?" asked the golfer. "Won't you take Will away in your bag if he is not a good boy?"

A college education was deemed worthy of the son of a proffiter, and when he came home for the holidays he was questioned by his fond parents as to the nature of his studies. "Well, father," said the son, "I've been learning arithmetic."

"Yes, well," said the father impatiently, "I'll be damned." "And French, German, Euclid," went on the son.

"Ah, yes," returned the father joyfully, "that's better. Now just tell me the Euclid for 'Good morning.'"

Snobs, the cubber, opened a shop in the principal street of the town. Being a man of originality, he christened it "The Black and Blue."

A customer of lightsome spirit brought him a pair of boots which would have disgraced a country squire.

"Shouldn't have these mended if I were you," said Snobs severely. "I would present them to the deserving poor."

"But I want them mended," was the reply. "This is supposed to be a hospital for boots, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is a hospital all right," answered Snobs, "but it isn't a mortuary."

To The Point. H. J. Jennings, once editor of the Birmingham Mail, claims to have written the shortest dramatic criticism ever printed.

"Last night a play called 'Pure As Snow' was produced at the Black Theatre. It was no tea party as usual. Equally pointed was a criticism which once appeared in a Manchester journal: 'Last night Mr. W.—a play was produced. Quite a number of people stayed to the end.'—London Answers.

Featuring Silks for Spring At The New Low Price Level

Never before in the history of this firm have we turned over such a big quantity of SILK in one season, and yet we are starting on another record which we confidently believe will easily surpass the last. Of course there has been a direct reason for the many sales and that is the extraordinary qualities being offered for such little money. Especially is this true in the case of the Duchess Satins we are selling for $1.99 Yard, the superb quality being offered at this price has proven a revelation of what can be done by a store that buys and sells for cash. Read the following prices and compare our qualities with others:

Regular $4.25 Heavy Duchess Satin $1.99 Yard. This is one of our leading numbers, and is now being sold at less than half its former price. The widths run from 36 to 39 inches, good heavy weight with a lovely rich satiny surface. To see this silk is to buy it. Can be had in black, navy, nigger brown, peacock blue and a dozen other shades. Just the very thing for a new Easter frock. Regular $4.25 value. Now selling at $1.99 yard.

Regular $3.35 Jersey Silk at Only $2.25 yard. This is the Silk with the elastic weave so much in demand. Comes a yard wide and can be had in Helio, Turquoise, Maize and Apricot. Ideal for the bright colored underwear that is now the correct thing. Regular $3.35 value, special at $2.25. Regular $1.35 Natural Shantung at $1.00 Yard. Keeps us busy cutting lengths off this Silk, so keen is the demand. We have actually sold thousands of yards. No dust, no rough spots, but a nice evenly woven smooth silk, 34 inches wide, that will launder perfectly and adapts itself to almost any purpose. A real bargain at $1.00 a yard.

Yard Wide Silk Poplin at $1.00 Yard. The lowest price we have ever quoted for this popular Silk. Splendid for skirts, dresses, etc. In the following colors only: Black, Old Rose, Brown and Taupe. Regular $1.50 value, special at $1.00 yard.

Regular $2.50 Crepe-de-Chene at $1.98 Yard. This is our regular stock but though we lose money, down go the prices to meet the new level. 40 inches wide in the following colors: Nile Green, Jap Blue, Pekin Blue, Sky Blue, Flesh Pink, Salmon Pink, Apricot, Old Rose, Purple, Burgundy. Formerly priced at $2.50 yard. Now $1.98. Regular $3.50 Georgette Crepe Now $2.75 Yard. Colors: Nigger Brown, Fawn, Helio, Salmon, Sky, etc. Regular $2.95 Georgette Crepe Now $2.19 Yard. 40 inches wide. Colors: Plum, Rose, Burgundy, Alice Blue, Flesh, Peach, Sea Green, etc. White Wash Silks $1.19 to $2.25 Yard. Pussy Willow Jap, Habutae, Pongee, Hirashike, etc., in various weights at lowest possible prices.

THREE STORES

RECENT DEATHS

Hon. A. B. Crosby, Conservative senator from Halifax, died yesterday afternoon in Ottawa. He was a native of Ireland and was first elected to the House of Commons in 1908. He was defeated in 1911 and appointed to the senate on January 29, 1917. He was a commission merchant and had been a mayor and alderman of Halifax. He is survived by his wife and five sons and three daughters. The funeral will be held on Monday morning from St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax.

Mrs. Bridget Trites, a well-known resident of Moncton, died at her home yesterday morning at the age of seventy-two years. She is survived by three sons and two daughters.

George R. Elliott, a well-known lumberman of Victoria, B. C., died March 8, following an operation. He was forty-seven years of age and a native of St. John. He leaves his mother, his widow, one brother, one son and two daughters.

The many friends of Mrs. Arthur P. McNeill will be shocked to learn of her death which occurred at her home, 143 Metcalf street, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McNeill was in apparently good health until 4 o'clock when she succumbed to a heart attack. Her husband, two daughters, two sons, her father and five sisters survive her. The daughters are Mrs. Warren King and Miss Barbara K. the sons, William C. and Eleri H. Mrs. McNeill was a member of the Douglas avenue Christian church. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late residence to Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Howard D. McLeod, formerly of Hampton, died in Los Angeles (Calif.) on March 8.

BOTH LANGUAGES IN THE SCHOOLS

Matter Discussed Yesterday in The Quebec Legislature.

Quebec, March 11—(Canadian Press) Strong pleas for a better teaching of both French and English in this province and stressing the importance of bilingualism, were delivered in the legislative assembly here yesterday.

Dr. B. A. Cooney, member for St. Anne's-Montreal, held that too little French was taught in the English schools and too little English in the French schools.

Henry Miles, member for St. Lawrence-Montreal, who spoke in French, was loudly applauded when he said that he was proud to say that his children could speak French better than he could. He thought that if all children were taught both languages they would be better prepared for the battle of life.

Nestor Ricard, member for St. Maurice, in his maiden speech, affirmed that French should be spoken on all occasions instead of English.

ANOTHER CHANGE WAR HAS BROUGHT

Married Men Have Become Numerous Among Undergraduates of Cambridge and Oxford Universities.

Cambridge, Eng., Feb. 22—(Associated Press by Mail)—Married men have become quite numerous among the undergraduates of Cambridge and Oxford Universities since the war. Prior to that time they were practically unknown in the student bodies of those universities. Some of them bring their wives and children to the university towns to live. One of the professors here who was aware of this unusual situation was so astonished recently when he saw and undergraduate pushing a carriage containing a baby that he demanded an explanation. The student told him that the child was his and that his wife was living in Cambridge. Inquiry has since brought out the fact that there are a number of married men in the Cambridge University.

U. S. POSTAL SAVINGS

Washington, March 11—Despite financial conditions described as "disturbed," postal savings deposits in the United States last month amounted to more than ten million dollars, the post office department announced today.

Total deposits in the system on March 1 were approximately $163,450,000.

THE U. S. FARMERS' BIG FUEL BILL

Washington, March 11—Farmers in the United States burned up 68,244,000 cords of wood, valued at $345,866,000, for fuel last year. Department of agriculture figures disclose the average was 106 cords a farm.

POLICEMEN IN ARMOR IMMUNE TO BULLETS

(By Marian Storm in New York Evening Post.)

With policemen as precious as they are, and bandits as quick on the trigger, it would seem only economical to do all we can to preserve policemen. Yet Omaha has beaten New York in providing them with armor. The uninformed have laughed delightedly at this strange enterprise. It is perfectly practicable, would not be very expensive, and would afford the officer who has to arrest heavily armed criminals a fair chance.

Two authorities more learned in this matter than Dr. Boshford, dean of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and Dr. Guy Otis Brewster, inventor of the Brewster body shield, could not be found; and they both agree that the question of armor for the police is a considerable one.

It must be understood that the project is quite different from that of putting soldiers into armor—a step that was urged and opposed with intense feeling throughout the last three years of the war—because a policeman would have to wear his shield or suit only a short time, not indefinitely, as the necessities of the battlefield demand.

"The improvement in ballistic alloys has been so great that it would not be hard to make a policeman immune even to a machine gun. His armor, since it would be worn only a little while, could be made of the requisite strength to resist the usual 2,700-feet-a-second projectile," said Dr. Dean, who, besides being curator of armor at the museum, was during the war major of ordnance in charge of the armor unit, equipment section, engineering division, and was chairman of the committee on helmets and body armor of the engineering division of the National Research Council at Washington. His book, "Helmets and Body Armor in Modern Warfare," is the present-day authority on the subject.

Heavy Armor for Raising.

"The soldiers in this war, just as they did in earlier wars, threw their armor away when they went into action because they found it cumbersome, and preferred greater risks and more freedom. But the policeman would not have to leap shell-holes and trenches. In a suit of armor he could advance upon criminals barricaded in a building, or pursue them, shooting from a motor car, with perfect safety and little hindrance. In comparison with the soldier, the policeman wages war luxuriously. His armor can be brought for him in a truck to the place where he will have to don it, in cases where the raid or arrest has been planned beforehand. A light armor, suitable for warding off revolver bullets or dagger thrusts from vital part of the body, could easily be worn all the time he was on duty.

him, and other substances, rendering it of almost any hardness and resistance desired. Thanks to the thinness of modern metal, a pistol-proof armor reaching to the knees could be made to weigh only two pounds, and every police department should have an outfit of these and a few of the heavy complete suits. Improvements would constantly be made, once they started the plan. Why, during the war we increased the efficiency of the American helmet twenty per cent to thirty per cent, in one year. The end is not yet in sight of the improvement of this plates for ballistic uses.

"But why don't you talk to the one man living who knows how it feels to stand in armor before a machine gun in action?" asked Dr. Dean.

So Dr. Guy Otis Brewster has the floor to tell his tale.

Machine-Gun Fire. "It was seventeen below zero, that day over at Picatinny Arsenal. I put on my armor, walked out in the frozen lake and told the gunner to spray the bullets over me thoroughly," said Dr. Guy Otis Brewster, who, as any one may see, emerged from this adventure alive and enthusiastic. The sensation, he insists, was mild. Receiving the bullets at full-service velocity in an armor weighing only forty pounds, he felt about on-ten-thirty the shock he would experience if struck by a sledge hammer. He gave no sign of the impact.

Dr. Brewster is an armorer of wide experience. He invented the Brewster body shield, which was used to some extent during the war. He and his colleagues perfected, by their scientific combination of old and new an armor which, according to the tests made, was actually proof. A hole was drilled in it, to be sure, when it was put up against a stump and shot at for some time in the same spot, but the case of a soldier or policeman advancing toward a machine gun is quite different. A shot would rarely hit him several times in the same location.

Gunners Quailed. Bitter cold as it was that day in the winter of 1918, he put on a suit of steel alloy and stood up before a machine gun on Lake Picatinny. The gunners were red-faced and perspiring. They dreaded to shoot at Dr. Brewster. They had never had such a target.

"I tell you I can't do it," cried the first marksman, and his shots went wild. "Then," related Dr. Brewster, "they put a calm Scotchman at the gun. He had a deep personal affection for his weapon, and if it had missed anything he shot at his pride would have been crushed. He hit me with decision. He played the spray of bullets back and forth across my iron front.

"I felt a rocking sensation, as if I were in a hurricane, and bent forward to resist the impact of the steel, but there was no shock—not even discomfort. It is hard to stand your ground before a machine gun only because the bullets push you back. Except for the tension of excitement, I wasn't a bit the worse for my experiment. I urged the rest of the committee to try it, too, but they thought that I had proved enough for the present.

"The whole problem of a defensive armor against the modern projectile is one of distribution of shock. I overcame this difficulty by the use of steel springs and by the shape of the frame.

"In the unending race between bullets and armor the armor can always be made capable of resisting the bullet—its material can be as hard as the inside of the gun barrel.

"It is so light and easy to wear as the old knightly armor was, it would be useless against a modern projectile. Diamond point drills turn back from the armor of today. Now in knightly times they fought along all day, energetically enough, and by nightfall they had killed perhaps six people. Yet they were just

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

As the result of heavy rains and high tides a washout was caused on the Dominion Atlantic Railway one mile east of Bridgetown, N. S., yesterday, which held up all trains for several hours. Fifteen feet of water covered the track, which runs along a bank of the Annapolis River.

The last night completely destroyed the county court house at Yarmouth. The loss is estimated at $25,000, with insurance of $10,000. The fire is supposed to have started in the furnace room.

WALK UPSTAIRS AND SAVE TEN

Over three years ago I was Forced by Rising Markets to have the Lights taken out of the $25 price on my big Electric signs. Now the Lights are Turned on Again to Stay.

At One Jump I Am Going Back To My Prices Of Four Years Ago! Now I Am Going To Sell Clothing For A Whole Year Without Profit

That is what I have decided to do the entire year of 1921. During my eight years in business in Canada I have dared many things that have caused the "ground floor" clothiers to rise up in arms. My present action may cause many of them to "howl with grief."

BEGINNING with this Spring, I intend to sell my Clothes for a whole year without one cent profit to myself. What do you think of that?

This is a radical method for any merchant to adopt—but I have a double meaning which, when explained, you will all understand.

Ever since I started my first little Upstairs Shop in Montreal with but $400 capital I have absolutely adhered to my principle of fighting sales—as under this head many merchants resorted to gross misrepresentation, and I am a stern believer in absolute truth and honesty in advertising and merchandising.

However, on May 1st, 1920 (long before there had been any indication of any slump in prices), I launched my first Sale.

I announced that I thought prices of Clothes too high. I threw over a million dollars' worth of Clothes on the market. I sustained a big loss—but I asked the public to help me to force prices down.

And they did! The public refused to buy at all from other clothiers until they met my prices. Then followed the avalanche of tumbling prices and "sales" in every direction.

There were some honest sales and the public responded freely at reduced prices.

But the old story again—When the merchants saw the public were inclined to buy at the reduced sale values—the so-called sales started from every quarter, the majority of which were not legitimate, (values exaggerated out of all reason), with the result the public again became skeptical, (and justly so). I continued my Sale on a legitimate basis—never varying from the truth. I took a big loss—but I took it for the public good and mine.

Now I am ready to go ahead with a new season with new stocks at new prices. Most clothiers (on account of the sales not having been a success) are going into the Spring season with their old goods bought at top prices.

For the last seven years (before 1920), I have operated at a profit of about 50 cents a garment.

AMENDMENTS TO POST OFFICE ACT Ottawa, March 11.—Amendments to the post office act which have received first reading in the senate, providing for the establishment of a "system providing for insurance fees, to be prepaid." This clause removes the present limit of $25 insurance on mail matter. Another clause provides that letters under double postage. At present underpaid letters are not forwarded. IN WATERLOO STREET CHURCH An excellent supper was served last evening, between six and eight o'clock, in the vestry of the Waterloo street Baptist church. The supper was held under the auspices of the ladies of the church, and the money raised was for general church purposes. The tables were set in an extremely attractive manner, which was further enhanced by the several lighted candles placed on each table. The supper was well attended, and a substantial amount was realized. The success of the supper was largely due to the unceasing efforts of the convenor, Mrs. J. Frodsham, ably assisted by Mrs. T. Short, Mrs. H. E. Hoyt, Mrs. Herbert Hoyt, Mrs. S. Gregg, Mrs. F. Potter, Mrs. E. Dunfield, Mrs. E. Bauer, Mrs. S. D. J. McKim, Mrs. H. Keeble, Mrs. W. Gibbs and Mrs. T. A. Simonsen. DR. C. E. SAWYER, PERSONAL PHYSICIAN TO NEW PRESIDENT Washington, March 11.—President Harding has definitely appointed Dr. C. E. Sawyer of Marion, his personal physician, and expects to nominate him in the near future for the rank of Brigadier General in the Army Medical Corps. Dr. Sawyer's commission would follow a custom of years under which the president's physician has been an officer of the army and navy medical service. Dr. Sawyer has specialized in nervous diseases and is the proprietor of a sanitarium in Marion. The lumbermen in the northern portion of the province were confident that there would be still a lot of snow before the winter could be declared over, said J. W. Brantley of the Miramichi Lumber Company yesterday.

MOOSE OFFICERS.
At a regular meeting of St. John Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, No. 1188, held in their hall this week, officers for the ensuing year were elected and the work outlined for the coming year. The following are the officers:—Dictator, A. W. Chamberlain; vice dictator, Chas. Allan; prelate, Chas. A. Thorne; treasurer, G. A. Brogan; secretary, W. G. Case; trustees, A. M. Belland, Wm. Chamberlain and E. A. Hunt.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.
A very pleasant time was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. George Campbell, 153 Water street, West St. John, last night, when about thirty of her friends gave a surprise party in honor of Miss Lottie Craft on the occasion of her birthday. Games and refreshments were enjoyed and refreshments served. A handsome string of pearls and a beautiful purse were presented to Miss Craft by her friends and all joined in wishing her many happy returns of the day.

WILL OF MRS. GEO. CAMPBELL.
In the matter of the estate of Mary A. After making small specific bequests of personal effects to members of the family, the leasehold interests are to be sold and one half of the proceeds to be given to the testatrix's husband, the remainder to be equally divided among her four children. G. Earle Logan was proctor.

THE LEGISLATURE

Some Matters That Are Being Arranged for Session to Start Next Week.

The session of the provincial legislature which will open in Fredericton on next Thursday afternoon will be the first session of the eighth term of that body. On account of Hon. Dr. Hetherington taking over the position of secretary-treasurer of the province, it will be necessary to select a new speaker for the house, and it is understood as before published, that A. A. Dysart, member for Kent, will be the choice of the government for this post.

There is also a vacancy caused by the resignation of Bacon Dixon, assistant clerk of the legislature. Rumor has it that Mr. Dixon will be re-appointed.

Following the custom of having a new chaplain at the opening of the session, it is probable that the Church of England in Fredericton will furnish the chaplain this year.

The matter of week end adjournments is now being considered. As the railway time tables will make it impossible for members residing east of Hampton to get to Fredericton until about nine o'clock on Monday nights, some arrangements will have to be made that will make it convenient for the arrival of the members living east of Hampton.

Another difficulty has arisen, and the change of time table on the Canada Eastern, which will have only three express trains a week, arriving in Fredericton in the evening.

PROTECTING THE COUNTRY ROADS

The provincial department of public works, in making preparation for the adoption of the usual thaw precautions on the roads, has advised supervisors throughout the country of the procedure to be taken. On account of the unusual conditions, as some snow falls and frost may be expected before the spring finally arrives, the supervisors have been advised to use their discretion and allow traffic of trucks and automobiles when the roads are hard through frost, but that immediately the roads begin to get soft, all motor traffic must cease.

SAYS ST. PIERRE HAD PAID HIM NOT TO TELL

Evidence of Messenger Boy on Stand Today in Edmundston Trial.

(Special to The Times)

Edmundston, N. B., March 11.—On the resumption of the St. Pierre trial here this morning the cross examination of Charles Magoon was resumed. The prisoner appeared in court in a neat grey check suit, in contrast with the blue suit he had previously worn at the trial.

The witness was questioned at to distances and so as to where the accused was sitting, but his previous evidence was not materially changed in regard to this point. He was questioned also as to his conversation with St. Pierre. In the preliminary hearing the evidence of the witness, which was read, did not contain anything in regard to St. Pierre asking the witness not to tell on him. He was also closely questioned as to talking about the tragedy and what he knew about it.

On redirect examination he told of the reason he was in court one time. A boy had thrown stones at him. He fought with the boy and the boy's sister came out and jumped on him. She was considerably larger than the witness. He hit her for throwing her lunch into a field. The witness' father had brought him to Mr. Lawson's house to tell what he knew. The chief of police was with him. This was a week after the body was found. He told Mr. Lawson what he knew of the matter. It was after this time that he talked to Mr. Crawford at his house. He told Mr. Crawford what he had told Mr. Lawson.

Considerable time was taken up in argument as to admissibility of certain questions in regard to conversation between the witness and Mr. Lawson. The witness said he did not tell Mr. Lawson the first time that he had seen St. Pierre on Emerson street as St. Pierre had paid him not to tell.

On re-cross examination he said St. Pierre had previously given the witness money on other occasions. He never had heard that $200 would be given to any person who could give evidence against St. Pierre.

Horse Case in Police Court Today With Interesting Features.

Styles Dunham appeared in the police court this morning charged with the theft of a horse valued at $15 from George Chisholm. Chisholm said that he had bought the horse for that figure from Dunham on February 14 paying $2 down, took his purchase away and placed it in a barn belonging to Mrs. Campbell. Two days later when he went to feed the horse he found that the barn door was locked effectually, debaring him from gaining entry. Chisholm said that Dunham had regained possession of the animal and sold him to a second person on the same terms, namely $15 and $2 on instalment. He also said that he had heard that Dunham had effected a third transaction of the same kind with the same horse.

In his defence Dunham said that he had heard through Mrs. Chisholm that her husband no longer wanted the horse and that in any case the horse was not by the terms of the bargain, to become the permanent property of the purchaser until he had paid the full $15, the instalment being regarded in the nature of hire. He therefore felt justified in selling the horse a second time.

The animal is said to have derived its rather unusual value from the fact of being hooked by a cow in his youth, the going having inflicted a wound that the process of the years was unable to heal. Dunham who pleaded not guilty was sent below and the case was stood over until tomorrow for further witnesses.

William Cole charged with using abusive and insulting language to John E. Bond pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned until tomorrow when more witnesses will be called. Cole left a deposit of $20.

Three prisoners pleaded guilty to drunkenness and were sent below.

HE WAS WELL KNOWN IN ST. JOHN

A Boston paper of March 3 contains the following:—
"Trainmaster F. J. Otterson of the Boston & Albany railroad, died this morning at his home, 191 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, of pneumonia. He had been ill since Feb. 22.
"Mr. Otterson was widely known as an efficient railroad man, having come up through the ranks. He was born in Liverpool, Eng., on March 21, 1873. He entered the service of the B. & A. as a fireman on March 20, 1893, was promoted to locomotive engineer on Jan. 1, 1908, assistant trainmaster on Dec. 23, 1910 and trainmaster on May 3, 1917. While employed as a locomotive engineer he was also general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, general committee of adjustment, on the Boston & Albany railroad."
"Mr. Otterson was well known among St. John railroad men, many of whom have experienced his courtesy and kindness. He has relatives in Nova Scotia."

AUSTRIANS SEEK TERMS FROM ALLIES

Reservations in Accepting Entente Demand
Would Keep Her Big Guns That Defend Danube and Retain Military Schools—Sympathy With Germany.

Vienna, March 11.—Three reservations have been made by the government for the Austrian republic in accepting the Entente demand for the surrender of military arms.

The second would take exception to demands prohibiting the operation of military schools and the third would relate to the demobilization of the Vienna army.

The big gun demand by the Allies was understood to be of the same type as those used by the Germans in halting the down Belgian forces at the beginning of the war.

Vienna, March 11.—Official expression of the sympathy of the Austrian republic for the Allies along the Rhine by Allied troops was expressed before the National Assembly here yesterday by Richard Jody.

As his address coincided with the departure of Michael Mayr, the premier, and other officials for London, where they will try to secure credits and other aid for Austria, the speaker defended his remarks by saying:

"Austria would be unworthy of sympathy from her enemies, and unworthy the respect of which the officials' journey is an expression, if thanks for any aid destined for this country should be returned in the coin of treacherous silence."

Berlin, March 11.—The Allied detachment on Wednesday night occupied Hamburg, is reported by the newspapers as having withdrawn yesterday.

In British Commons.
London, March 11.—The German reparations bill to provide for the application of part of the purchase price of imported German goods towards the discharge of German obligations under the treaty of Versailles, was formally introduced in the house of commons today.

The measure provides for a fifty per cent levy. The second reading of the bill will be on Monday.

French Military Headquarters, Mayence, March 11.—Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of the U. S. forces of occupation, will follow the same policy regarding the collection of the Rhine as on other problems connected with the occupation, making the decisions of the Rhine commission at his orders to his army, according to information received here from Coblenz today.

Gen. Allen has taken no action on the customs question, it was said, and is awaiting notification of the commission's decisions.

ANOTHER POINT IN B. C. LIQUOR CASE

Victoria, B. C., March 11.—Whether the commissioners appointed under the new liquor act should be named by the legislature or by the government, and whether their salaries should be fixed by the legislature or by the government, was debated at some length yesterday.

The act provides for their appointment by the lieutenant governor in council, and they should be paid such salaries as the lieutenant governor in council may fix.

Attorney-General Farris declared that unless the house is prepared to express its confidence in the government the session would have to be allowed to stand without change.

FOREST CULTURE A SERIOUS ISSUE

Note of Warning Sounded at Forestry Club Annual Dinner

Preserve Forests—Ample Justification for Pulpwood Export Duty, Says Edward Beck.

(Mail and Empire, Toronto.)
"The time is not only approaching, but is already here, when forest culture becomes a serious issue," declared Edward Beck, of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, speaking at the annual dinner of the Foresters' Club of the University of Toronto, at the Carleton Hotel on Saturday night.

Beck went into the importance of Canadian forests and the pulp and paper lumbering industries of the Dominion, and emphasized the increasing attention being given to forest protection and reforestation with a view to preserving the great natural resources of Canada.

"The people are being educated to the necessity of providing for the future," he continued. "The provincial governments everywhere are alive to the situation. They are willing to go as far as they believe their means will allow them in popular opinion sanctions. The private industries dependent upon the forests are eager to co-operate in any sane and reasonable plan that will ensure a continuity of the supply of their raw material."

"Two things are still necessary; that of providing the means; the other that of devising the proper methods. The former is a task for the government. The latter will become the duty of those who, like yourselves, are trained in the science of forestry and prepared to devote a lifetime to its development. It is to you that the Canada of the future will look back with gratitude or disapproval as to the manner in which you discharge that duty."

In the course of his address Mr. Beck called attention to the export of pulpwood, stating that 1,287,404 cords, valued at $1,000,000, were exported last year. "None of it," he said, "contributed a cent to the upkeep of perpetuation of our forests. It contained nothing Canadian, developed out of our industries and made but a negligible contribution to the employment of our labor. Nevertheless, it depleted to an appreciable degree our forest wealth and was used to benefit foreign industries."

He argued that an effort should be made to have this pulpwood manufactured into paper at home and that there was ample justification for the levying of an export duty.

Exchange on London showed no material change from yesterday's final quotations.

AN ECHO OF RIVER COLLISION CASE

Matter Arising From Crash of the Purdy and Premier.

An echo of the collision between the steamers D. J. Purdy and Premier, which occurred some two years and a half ago, was heard this morning before Chief Justice Hazen in the matter of R. C. Illicic of Chatham against the steamer D. J. Purdy. It will be remembered that the Supreme Court at Ottawa decided that the Purdy was responsible for the collision. Today's action was to settle the point as to whether certain goods for whose payment the plaintiff was claiming was lost as a result of the collision or not. It was the contention that they were not lost on this account.

The amount of the goods claimed was $337.47. His Honor the Chief Justice found that the goods were lost as a result of the collision and ruled against the defendant steamer. Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., for the defendant.

MRS. RALPH SMITH HAD STAGE FEVER

As a Girl in England She Wanted to Act Professionally, But Parents Refused.

MARRIED IN OLD LAND Woman Speaker Came to Vancouver Because Her Husband's Health Was Poor.

By E. E. B. REESOR. MRS. MARY ELLEN RALPH SMITH, who has been appointed Speaker of the House of Parliament of British Columbia, Canada, was first elected a member (Independent) during the fall of 1917, and took her seat in the Legislative Chamber in January, 1918. After dissolution of Parliament in October, 1920, she was re-elected senior member for the city of Vancouver (Liberal) on December 1st, 1920, heading the polls by an overwhelming majority in the city of Vancouver and commanding more votes than were ever before polled in her constituency.

And during less than three years, legislation has been enacted in the British Columbia Parliament, through the wisdom, common sense and fairness of Mrs. Smith's judgment, that has completely metamorphosed the legal standing of women and minors in British Columbia.

How came Mrs. Smith by such power? If you ask her she quickly turns the conversation from herself to you, and evinces as great an interest in your welfare as you do in hers.

She is a splendid listener, never interrupts, never contradicts, never argues. But nods assent when you make a point, laughs gleefully at your jokes and gives you the impression that she is thoroughly enjoying your chat with her, all of which is of comfort and inspiration to the interviewer. She forgets herself when meeting others, and, at once, they are the people of interest.

Wanted to Go on the Stage A LITTLE here and a little there, she placed together, have given me a glimpse of her growing-up. Back in Old England, in the lovely county of Devon, the Spear family had lived for generations. Mary Ellen's parents lived near Exeter and there she was born. There were only two children in the family, herself and a younger brother, and what was right for one was right for the other. There was never a distinction made because of sex. The Spears were of Anglican Church membership, but what was good was good, no matter what denominational name it was practiced, and no narrowing influences were about when Mary and her brother expressed their thoughts in their own ways, and no hard fast rules of "Do's" and "Don'ts" hampered their self-expression. Example, rather than precept, was the unconscious rule of the Spear connection. Politics were always of interest, and the children might listen to their parents, if they pleased, as they returned to question, their questions were answered. Tolerance was the keynote of discussion, and respect for opinion was given even to the "little children."

At four years old little Mary Spear made her first appearance in public. She sang from a platform at a concert. After that she was in everything that happened in her home country where talent was needed for entertainment and she brought her school days—first at one school and then at another, wherever knowledge was most happily imparted—she sang and acted and took part with others, loving the public part of her life so much that she "wanted to go on the stage." An opportunity came to her, during her early teens, when a singing and dramatic contest was held and she was allowed to take part. Just before she left for London, from all big places—to listen and to decide, and after it was over, Mary Ellen Spear was given the supreme joy of her life, when the judges approached and asked: "Would you like to go on the stage?" "Would her parents consent? They would be as delighted as you can, and the priest was never refused.

There was the singing, though. All the old-time carols, the songs and ballads, and Mary Spear took part. At the Easter-tide, one year after another, the good father of the Roman Catholic parish came to her—"And will you sing for us at Easter? Sure there's no one can bring the songs to the heart with 'Oh, Was Despaired' like you can, and the priest was never refused.

Then came a young man into her life: Ralph Smith, a student, studying for the Methodist ministry. The man who to Mary was the only man. The ministry was all right, but Mary Ellen Spear as a Methodist minister's wife was not to be thought of. Ralph Smith made his choice. They were married, and with his business declining, Ralph Smith became a lay reader. His wife saw to it that he kept up the good work; she could do it if he couldn't—line words from "The Good Old Book" had always been a joy to her, she had been well grounded in the scriptures she made her own interpretations, and she loved them.

One day there came a great sickness to her husband. Physicians consulted and said he must go. When from Northumberland where he was at home where his family had lived for ages. After weeks of preparation the decision was made known to the wife so that she might tell her husband. "Either the South of Italy or the Pacific slope of North America"—and Mary Ellen decided without hesitation—"To the Pacific slope—I have always dreamed of living out there."

The Canadian Pacific Railway had just crossed the continent to the Pacific coast. Vancouver was born and had been named—that was all. Ralph and Mary Ellen Smith grew up with the city of Vancouver. It was faith-

Lloyd George To Receive Freedom Of Birmingham, Where He Was Mobbed

During Boer War Present Premier Disguised Himself as Policeman to Escape Angry Crowd in City Which Now Honors Him.

Lloyd George

By SYDNEY T. CHESTNANT. BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND, March 10.—Lloyd George is to receive the freedom of the city of Birmingham, England. Thus Birmingham removes the reproach of twenty years.

I was a witness of the attempts at his destruction made on that fateful winter night in 1901, at the height of the Boer War, by a mob of 50,000 Birmingham people. In the process they wrecked their beautiful city hall and were only dispersed by a baton charge of the police who had already suffered many casualties from flying missiles in the mob.

Mr. Herbert De Paro in his four-volume biography of the Premier has, however, recorded that the latter was seriously injured. At the urgent request of the chief of police Mr. Lloyd George was induced to don the uniform of a police officer and march out with a squad through the crowd.

Fortunately, he was not recognized, and so escaped. Mr. Herbert De Paro in his four-volume biography of the Premier has, however, recorded that the latter was seriously injured. At the urgent request of the chief of police Mr. Lloyd George was induced to don the uniform of a police officer and march out with a squad through the crowd.

Shortly after the affair the late W. C. Cairns, M.P., met Mr. Joseph Chamberlain in the lobby of the House of Commons and told him with Birmingham's failure to accomplish its design. "What's the matter with Birmingham?" he said. To which the famous Colonial Secretary replied, cryptically: "What is everybody's business is nobody's business."

The bitterness engendered lasted many months and all the civic representatives connected with the affair lost their seats at the next municipal contests as a result.

One public man was heard, however, to remark that the next time Lloyd George visited Birmingham it would be as a cabinet minister. It was a daring forecast in those straggling days, but it was literally fulfilled.

After five years Lloyd George revisited Birmingham as president of the Board of Trade in the Campbell-Bannerman government.

A chief steward of the meeting I had to direct him to the platform owing to the awkward access. Consequently I had the brilliant experience of witnessing the tumultuous reception then accorded him. Mr. Lloyd George in the opening sentence of his speech exclaimed: "I am a wizard, which has now become proverbial. 'When I took my ticket for Birmingham,' he said, 'the booking clerk at London asked me if I would like to insure.' The laughter, which followed my speaker and audience at ease and even on friendly terms.

At the banquet which followed the meeting Mr. Lloyd George remarked that for years he had been conscious of something in the back of his mind and when he tried to recollect he realized that it was "that Birmingham meeting."

The roll of Birmingham's freedom I have seen, and it is not a long one. The names inscribed thereon are practically all those of men who have personally served the city itself. Only in rare instances, as in the case of the late Earl Roberts, V.C., for his services in the Boer War, does Birmingham go outside in the conferring of this honor.

CHURCHILL A PAINTER IN the Arts Club, London, people are talking of the remarkable portrait of Sir John Lavery which Mr. Winston Churchill has painted. It is a serious and earnest man, with little or no time for idle pleasures in the law. An elderly lawyer who knows him well said: "Frank Hughes is one of those men who are foredoomed to be chief justices from the day he was called to the bar."

Mr. Hughes is a Roman Catholic. He was born in the township of Peel in Wellington County, 1831. He was raised in Guelph, and educated at the collegiate there, proceeding to Queen's University, in which Presbyterian atmosphere he may have acquired a certain dourness; then to Oscoda Hall.

He has had his own law firm ever since being called to the bar. For 6 years, from 1912 to 1917, he served as Assistant Crown Attorney to Mr. Corley. So he is well acquainted with his present duties, having learned them from a distinguished master.

HARDING'S STORY IN the course of almost his last speech in the recent campaign Senator Harding, the new President-elect of America, told an amusing story of an aged negro on whom the doctors were about to operate for appendicitis. Here's the story in verse:

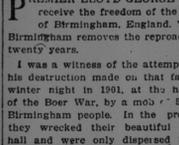

The doctor said, "Nig, There's nothing to hurt you." "I don't care, a fig!" Said Sambo most rudely, "And shaking his head, For mercy sake, doctor, Don't use the white thread To sew up my body, I'd rather be dead."

JOKE ON NORTHLIFFE A QUANT story of Lord Northcliffe in his younger days was told to Col. Repington by Mr. "Lulu" Harcourt. It seems that when just starting in journalism at the age of eighteen, Alfred Harcourt—as Lord Northcliffe then was—had been commissioned by the editor of a weekly paper to write an article on Eton and sent down to Eton to ask if he could come.

The boys said yes and prepared a lot of strange, new and "edificious" games for which they dressed up, and these games, under various absurd names, were performed for Northcliffe's benefit.

Louis Barthou

RECENTLY appointed minister of war of the new Briand cabinet, in Paris, Minister Barthou is a Gascon, and is the son of a tinmith. His political career has been varied and but a short year ago, while chairman of the French committee on foreign affairs, he delivered a bitter speech attacking the British government and Premier Lloyd George. The attack was so violent that the then Milnerian cabinet promptly abandoned the opinions and statements which it contained.

The Confessional: Uncensored Talks With Big Men About Themselves

No. 20—"BOB" ROGERS

By Emil Longue Beau.

HE wouldn't write the article, but he got me to write it for him. He wouldn't find lots of good, sound men in the West who'll tell you that whenever they were in trouble to run a by-election they always came to me and I never failed them—never. "Well, when Laurier was beaten, Borden sent for me. Somebody had been at him for what do you think he offered me?"

"I heard he offered you Labor." "Yes, and dashed hard Labor. He didn't say so, but I happen to know that the idea back of the offer of the lowest-ranking office in the Cabinet was that it spent less money than any other. Even the Secretary of State had the printing bureau which was a regular sheepfold for feeding purposes. The Department of Labor at that time only spent about a thousand dollars a week. Borden tried to put me off with the plea that my special gifts for conciliation would find ample scope in this department of growing importance. Did you hear from Shaughnessy what he said to me on his car, and put up the same sort of advice?"

"Yes." "And that Borden still offered me the job of Minister of Labor—good night! fancy succeeding Mackenzie King—I went down to the station with my grips, to take the train to Winnipeg?"

"Yes." "And that Borden sent a message to me there, and next day offered me the job of Minister of Labor—good night! fancy succeeding Mackenzie King—I went down to the station with my grips, to take the train to Winnipeg?"

Agnes Laut, Canadian Woman Writer, Tells of Flying Over the Rockies

From Her Experience as a Mountain Climber She Had Formerly Urged an Aviator Not to Try the Impossible.

By AGNES LAUT. I wish to disclaim that in coming out over the mountains of one of our farthest north rivers I did anything extraordinary. I did not come out by airplane because I wanted to or had so planned, but because I had to. I was pressed for time to fulfill engagements. The motor-canoes which I had engaged to come down eight hundred miles of the great sweeping curve in the river across the divide had gone wrong far upstream beyond the reach of telegram or mail, and the fur trade stevedocks which were to bring me to the north side of the Great Bend, but the fall rains had set in, followed by frosts that cut the roads into sticky plow-furrows, and that way of exit was barred. The airplane was there, so I took it.

Yet only four years ago I sat in my office on Fifth Avenue and used every persuasion in my power to prevent a young aviator trying to fly across the Rockies. It was, as the atmospheric conditions and winds among the peaks created pockets of air, into which "he airplane might 'jump' or fall; a dead engine among peaks meant certain death for the fogs were thick as wool at cloud line. Hadn't I been caught in blizzards on Mount Stephen? Didn't I know? Didn't two of us sit roped to a Swiss guide for three hours in a snowstorm waiting for the air to clear, so we could come down? Didn't we strike the heavy timber line coming down after dark and have to do the rest of a six-mile bridgeway at a fast trot stubbing toes and banging into trees where we failed to "set" the feet? Or open way ahead? I ought to know for we put the old Swiss guide on the rope at so he would brace us if we fell coming down over the rock roads, and I had to set the pace to the fore through the dark when we hit the timber line! What if your airplane went down in that kind of a predicament? If you came down through a blizzard in that sort of a landing place you would be smashed on the rocks or

What was four years ago and here I was doing exactly what I had said could not be done—doing it because I had to not because I wanted to and when I came down from thirty-five hundred to twenty-five hundred feet above the clouds lying in white banks between the high shores of Peace River, with my ears humming from the roar of the propeller making fourteen hundred revolutions a minute and the throbb of a ninety-horse-power engine making a distance of one hundred and sixty-five miles in one and a half hours, my first words were: "Safe as a rocking chair! Easier than a motor ride! The only way to do this north country of immense distances and mountain grades!"—Green Book.

Toronto's New Crown Attorney
Frank J. Hughes Not Kind of Man of Whom Jivial Stories are Told.

FRANK J. HUGHES, the new Crown Attorney for Toronto is a kind of man about whom jovial stories are not told. He will be bad news for that type of citizen who counts always upon securing favors by the application of the glad hand.

Mr. Hughes, who is only 37 years old, while one of the most successful lawyers of the younger generation, has none of those expansive and cheery manners that are supposed to be the equipment of ambitious and successful men.

TEN LIVE ON $6.25. A little calculation by the registrar at Bloomsbury county court, England, showed that after paying the rent, an unemployed ex-soldier, with a wife and eight children, had 21.66 a week on the dole. The case arose out of an application to levy distress for £4 6s. against the man, named West. The Comrades of the Great War went saying that association allowed West £1 a week. Registrar—I wonder you get it at all. West said his wife did not get it a week, and received 6s. for it. Registrar—You have £1 a week, and your rent is 15s. 11d., so West is left out of the £1. Your wife has 5s. and your boy gives you about 15s. a week, bond issue to enable the Rice Warde, in the Parish of Lancaster, in the City and County of Saint John, to pay for a fire engine and equipment, and also for the erection of an engine house or a combined building to be used for Parish purposes, and to reimburse advance made by the County Treasurer to the Fire Wardens of the Parish of Lancaster, and also for power to extend the fire district and to issue bonds for the payment of the hydrants and other necessary work. Dated this 10th day of February, A. D. 1921. JAMES KING KELLEY, B. C. L., K. C., County Secretary. 22002-4-9

RAISED $5 BILLS TO $20

Government May See Fit to Change Design of the $5 Bills.

(Montreal Herald)
One of the newest get-rich-quick schemes to come before the notice of the local police is that of the conversion or raising of five dollar bills to twenty dollar bills by means of the careful and patient manipulation of the figures and letters on both sides of the note. City Hall cashiers detected one of them this morning.
Up to the present the notes of two banks, at least, have been so converted and it is said that American bills are being similarly treated.
Although such juggling of figures and letters on the face of the notes would seem to the uninitiated to be an almost impossible feat of lithographic skill it is stated that, in all cases so far detected, the erasures and alterations have been so deftly managed as to deceive certain alert bank tellers, a few wide-awake civil servants and other persons who are not as a rule easily fooled with bogus funds.
Up to the present the identity of the forger or forgers as well as their habit remains a mystery. The chance of a possible clue was lost this morning when it was discovered, much too late, that one of the many batches who had come to pay his tax had discharged this onerous duty with the aid of one of these bogus $20 bills. The said bachelor might be quite innocent of the passage of bad money, but some links might have been recovered and followed out possibly to the original place of issue, the police say.
In the case of this note—originally a $5 bill—five alterations on each side of it were necessary involving both figures and letters; and it was pointed out by one of the money-handlers to the Income Tax Department that such a forger would be impossible in the future if the banks decided to scatter figures 5 all over the bills.
In any case the public is warned against bills not only of the twenty dollar denomination but others as well, as expert forgers can manipulate one sort as easily as another.

THE FARMERS ELECT OFFICERS

Closing Session of Annual Convention at Fredericton Last Night.

(Special to The Times)

Fredericton, March 11—The forty-fifth annual convention of the New Brunswick Farmers and Dairywomen's Association of New Brunswick closed here last night after what was characterized by several delegates as the best meeting in years and the best programme ever arranged.

The attempt made at the afternoon session by one person to belittle to convention and class it with a "rotary course" was resented at this evening's session. Hon. D. W. McCreary, of Agriculture, and Harvey Mitchell, Deputy Minister of M. A. McLeod, all spoke and replied to the sneer. A. J. Doucet, corresponding secretary said the programme had been the best ever prepared and included men of national repute.

Harry Brown, dairy promoter of the Province of Nova Scotia spoke last night on the subject of "The Dairy Industry in the Province of Nova Scotia." He spoke briefly on co-operative effort.

On the motion of C. F. Alward, seconded by E. Trites, the convention went on record as condemning daylight saving, the resolution pointing out that alteration from Atlantic standard time would be detrimental to agricultural interests.

There was much discussion, all speakers supporting the resolution. After discussion the resolution was referred back to committee to incorporate a section requesting the C. N. R. authorities to maintain the train schedule on present time.

C. F. Alward, A. E. Trites and H. H. Meager were appointed as the parliamentary committee.

The officers elected are as follows: President, Arthur J. Gaudet, St. Joseph; first vice-president, W. E. Wallace, Penobscot; second vice-president, Thomas W. Ryan, Grand Anse; corresponding secretary, Alexander J. Doucet, Notre Dame; recording secretary, K. M. Fisher, East Florenceville; treasurer, F. H. Walsh, Coverdale; honorary member, W. W. Hubbard, Fredericton; county vice-president, Beaulieu, W. M. Beattie; Gloucester, Joseph Saulnier; Northumberland, John Johnson; Kent, Fred Pickard; Westmorland, W. W. Fowett; Albert, S. S. Ryan; St. John, Alexander F. Johnson; Kings, E. F. Raymond; Queens, Emory S. Sundry, Herby; Carleton Place, W. M. Gilman; Camille, Carter Edgar, Madawaska; Victoria, Bouchard; Carleton, A. P. Margeson; Charlotte, Stanley Wilson.

The French section held a session at 4 o'clock. Mr. Tardif, discussed potato diseases. A. J. Doucet, of Moncton, discussed the advantages of co-operative warehouses.

The convention again took up resolutions calling upon the federal government to establish stockyards, abattoir and cold storage in the maritime provinces at a central point was carried.

The same was done with a resolution in favor of the establishment of a maritime dairy to be maintained jointly by the three maritime provinces.

W. A. McKay, dairy superintendent for Nova Scotia, then spoke on the subject of successful dairying. He advanced the argument that there should be some organization which would keep up to date on the various products of the dairy level. The three essentials were organization, co-operation and efficiency.

CANADIAN NURSES ARE NOW AT WORK

Mission to Roumania Have Entered Coltsei Hospital at Bucharest.

(Montreal Gazette)

Word has been received in Montreal that the Canadian Nursing Mission to Roumania last month entered the Coltsei hospital of Bucharest and are occupied in demonstrating modern methods of nursing as well as undertaking part of the actual work of nursing in that institution, which is the leading hospital of the Roumanian capital.

Miss Dorothy Cotton, matron of the Nursing Mission, in letters to friends in this city, explains that it was impossible for the mission to arrive in Bucharest open at once a training school for nurses, as was the original intention.

Every opportunity for making themselves familiar with the hospitals of Bucharest was given the nurses, who received much courteous attention, both in connection with their profession and as visiting Canadians. The medical men of the city undertook that the Canadian nurses should visit the various hospitals and personally interested themselves in the nurses' plans for beginning work.

It was decided that in February the members of the mission should enter the Coltsei hospital and there work under the supervision of the Roumanian physicians.

In addition to working in the Coltsei hospital, the Canadian nurses visit another hospital two afternoons a week to demonstrate modern methods of caring for the sick. It is expected that these demonstrations will extend to other hospitals throughout the country.

Miss Fitzgibbon, of the mission has made many addresses on the aims of the mission to various groups of women in Bucharest. The subject has proved of considerable interest, and the speaker is invariably congratulated on her mastery of the French tongue.

THE SUBURBAN

To the Editor of The Times: Sir—In your issue of the 9th inst., a letter signed "Suburban" complaining about the Sussex train being held at Colbrook for long periods waiting to pass the train from Halifax. There has been some reason for complaint along this line but it seems to me that verbal complaint to the terminal agent, Mr. Ross, would have remedied the difficulty. As to the suburban service on the C. N. R. being a joke, and steadily growing worse, I do not think that is the opinion of the majority of those using the service but believe it to be satisfactory and while occasionally there are delays on the whole there has been nothing to complain about this winter.

Yours truly,
H. G. S. ADAMS.
