GIVE AND TAKE ALONG GREAT BATTLE FRONT

Allies Cede Positions at Some Points and Advance at Others But on Whole Keep German Hordes in Check—Coal For Enemy From Mexican Ports

Paris, Oct. 23.—The official announcement given out at the war office this afternoon says:

"On our left wing, the very considerable German forces whose presence was reported yesterday have continued very violent attacks in the entire region between the sea and the canal of Labasse.

"Generally speaking the situation of the allied forces has been maintained. If the allies have had to cede at certain points, they have advanced at others. The enemy also has evidenced very great activity in the region of Arras and on the River Somme. To the north and to the south of this stream we have progressed, particularly in the region of Rosieres.

"In Santerre, in the region of Verdun, and in the region of Pont-A-Mousson, we have had some partial successes. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

COAL FOR GERMANS FROM MEXICAN PORTS.

Berlin, via Paris, Oct. 23.—The captain of a British steamer which has just arrived here from Mexico, declares that German cruisers are being loaded by crafters operating from Mexican ports. He said that six colliers were flying the Norwegian flag.

BRITISH MORE PROMINENT

London, Oct. 23.—The official information bureau has given out an eye witness' account of recent operations. This report is dated October 17. It explains at the outset that, with the arrival of reinforcements, the British have been able to play a more prominent part in existing operations on the western front and in the gradual extension to the northward, which has thrown British troops to the Franco-Belgian borders. "Up till recently," says this statement, "the extension northward has been carried out by the French alone."

The narrative goes on to explain that there have been actions in the two western theatres of the war, from Neuport south, and along the Aisne, and continues as follows:

"In both these theatres the results attained, without being in any way decisive, have been entirely satisfactory and in furtherance of the general scheme which the allied armies are carrying out in co-operation.

"In the southern of the two spheres in which we have been engaged on the Aisne, our right wing has been maintaining its pressure without actually moving forward, while in the northern sphere our left wing has advanced a considerable distance in face of some opposition.

"On the Aisne, since the repulse inflicted on the enemy on the night of October 10, there has been no serious fighting and less artillery action than usual for the reason that the misty and occasionally rainy weather has rendered observation almost impossible, and militated against the employment of guns. On the night of October 13-14 the enemy commenced an attack which was not pushed through, and which may be regarded as a demonstration."

TRANSPORTS WHICH WILL HARDLY BE USED.

Copenhagen, Oct. 23.—Two shipyards at Kiel are building thirty armored lighters capable of carrying 600 men each, and traveling nine miles an hour, to proceed to the river Scheldt should events permit the landing of German troops on the coast of England. It is asserted that three of these lighters are already on their way to the Scheldt.

The German "News"

Berlin, Oct. 23.—By wireless to the German Seventh Army Corps, it has been declared that the calling out of the Landsturm is unnecessary as enormous numbers of the Landwehr are still available. Nor has it yet been necessary to call out volunteers.

Information received here from Vienna says it has been announced officially in the Austrian capital that the Austrian troops are still gaining ground, that they attacked the Russian fortified position near Felsky and stormed on Tuesday; that they have occupied the last pass across the Carpathian mountains in Russian hands, called the Jablonia pass and the Hungarian territory is now completely clear of Russians; and that the crown land of Bukovina, the Austrians are advancing toward Sereth.

Austrian Report.

London, Oct. 23.—1640 p. m.—A Berlin despatch here tonight by the Marconi Wireless Company says: "It is officially announced from Vienna that the fighting in middle Galicia has become still more vehement. The Austro-German forces are gaining ground, and all Russian attempts to re-occupy the Magiera Heights have been vain. Our troops have carried the important heights of Beunthoeke, southwest of Tyszkowice. Many Russians have been killed."

ONLY ONE INCH WATER PIPE FOR THIS STREET

In the process of bringing the city water system up to date some peculiar conditions have been discovered. As an example of this there is a whole street dependent for its water supply upon a lead pipe less than one inch in diameter. This is the old Adelaide street where the bridge was formerly located. When the pipe was laid, there were only one or two houses to be supplied with drinking water but since then the street has been built up, several of the buildings being three family houses with modern plumbing. It was not surprising that the water supply was found insufficient but this is now being remedied by the laying of six inch cast iron pipe. On another part of Adelaide street practically the same condition was found and is being remedied in the same way.

WATER MAIN BREAK PROMPTLY REPAIRED

The twelve inch city water main in City Road sprung a leak about one o'clock yesterday morning and the overflow soon showed the existence of a break. Commissioner Wigmore was notified and without waiting for day light gathered up a crew of men and started the work of repairs. Early in the day the work was completed and the service restored to normal.

GERMANS IN HASTY RETREAT BEFORE RUSSIAN TROOPS

Their Plan of Campaign Wrecked, Says Petrograd

OFFICIAL NEWS OF VICTORY

Austrians Defeated North of Przmyśl and 1,000 Captured—Bomb Play at Warsaw Ineffective—Austria Continues to Claim Success—Eggersy of King of Saxony Prisoner

London, Oct. 23.—The German advance in Poland has been transferred into a hasty and a disorderly retreat," says the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail.

"The retreat was primarily caused by a Russian cavalry force from Novogorodsk, which crossed the Vistula and turned the enemy's left flank.

"The retreat of the German left wing will force their army operating around Kosienka and Ivanograd to retreat also, as well as the army in the vicinity of Sandomir and the southward. Thus the ambitious plan to capture Warsaw and possess both banks of the Vistula during the winter campaign has been completely wrecked.

Petrograd, Oct. 23.—News received from the Russian front in Poland that the Russians have captured the grand quarry of the King of Saxony. He was riding in the royal automobile when taken.

A young general who had only just recovered from grave wounds, led the Russians in a successful assault on the heights of Radymno, on the San River, north of Przmyśl. The news bureau in disorder, and the Russians succeeded in capturing twenty-two officers and many more than 2,000 men. The enemy left 200 wounded on the field.

London, Oct. 23.—The comparative ineffectiveness of aerial warfare was proved at Warsaw yesterday. Several German aeroplanes were shot down by the German aviators missed the railway, fire, telegraph and telephone stations of the city.

They only struck and destroyed the upper stories of some private houses, while many lives were taken by the falling soldiers and civilians who were standing nearby.

Especially reported in Warsaw that Emperor William had said that if the town could not be taken by the while on the 23rd.

London, Oct. 23.—A Russian despatch from Amsterdam gives the following account of the Russian military operations in the vicinity of the city of Przmyśl. The Russian forces pushed forward our attack south of the river, and the Germans were driven back in two directions.

The Russian forces were driven back in two directions, west of Sant and Sambro our fighting line came nearer the road to Stanislaw. Our troops have entered Czeronow, Bukowina."

GERMAN COAST ARMY ROLLED UP LIKE RIBBON

Strong Rumors of Severe Defeat, Says London Correspondent

CASUALTIES ABOUT 10,000

British Warships' Guns Destroy German Convoy Eight Miles Long—Enemy's Troops Leave Antwerp—English and French Residents Ordered From Coast Towns

London, Oct. 23.—The German general staff has left Ghent and there are strong rumors of a severe German defeat," says the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Mail. Messages from different points on the northwestern frontier agree that the German coast army is being rolled up like a ribbon.

"The German cavalry has been unable to manoeuvre in the tangled dyke country and the German big guns are stuck in bogs. By a magnificent attack, it is stated, the Franco-Belgian forces have cut the German line south of Ostend."

The correspondent of the Times in Rotterdam on the other hand, states that there is no foundation for the report that Bruges has been evacuated by the Germans. He says the Germans are still in force in the neighborhood of Ostend, and that the reported retreat in the direction of Bruges is in the nature of a precautionary measure which the allies' activities to the south and southwest have rendered necessary.

London, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Dunkirk, Oct. 22, says that "Seven hundred German dead have been buried near Neuport, as a result of the fierce fighting. The total German casualties in the channel coast fighting are estimated at 10,000."

"It is reported that during the British fleet's bombardment of the German coast the Germans lost a convoy eight miles long, which was wrecked by shells."

CHARGED WITH ATTACK ON WOMAN; WRONG MAN SAY RELATIVES

John Kelly, twenty-one years of age, was arrested this morning charged with attacking Margaret Fleming, a French woman, wife of Thomas Fleming, who, according to the plaintiff's own evidence, is now serving a term in jail. The defendant's parents and sister were in court this morning and it is said that they will be able to prove an alibi.

Mrs. Fleming said that she had been in St. John for three years and that a young man, who she said, was the defendant, came to the house where she was boarding with Mrs. Murphy, in North street, and lived here to go with him to be a nurse for his mother. She said she did not know the name of the man who she had been boarding. After she left to go with the man, she said, he took her into an alley and gave evidence and said she saw her sister talking with a man at the door of their boarding house last evening, but did not know who he was, but he did not look at all like the prisoner.

Kelly was arrested this morning by Policeman Covay. The case was adjourned to tomorrow morning for further evidence. The magistrate told Covay to take Mrs. Fleming point out to the witness the alleged assault took place. E. S. Ritchie is counsel for Kelly.

BELIEVE HERE THAT NOT INFANTRY ALONE WILL BE IN THE SECOND CONTINGENT

Artillery and Cavalry as Well—More of Army Service Corps Men Ready Here For Duty Call

There has been some suggestion in certain quarters that only infantry would be taken with the second Canadian contingent overseas, and that if other branches of the service were included it would be not as distinctive bodies but as regimental attachments. From military authorities it was learned today that the department is considering the despatch of others besides the fourteen battalions of infantry comprising about 16,000 men but that no definite announcement has yet been made.

Early advice was to the effect that 14,000 "other arms" were to be sent with the second foreign detachment. This has seemingly been overlooked in later despatches but it has not been forgotten by those in charge of the "other arms," including artillery, cavalry, signalling, medical and army service units. That there is good reason to believe that artillery at any rate would be sent forward with the second overseas force is evidenced in the fact that the British was last in Ottawa. Col. B. R. Armstrong was given instructions to recruit As to Equipment.

It has also been said that the ranks of the artillery, if such were sent, would not be numerous because of Canada having no guns of any worth to furnish their corps, but the reply to this is in the order for increased artillery equipment given since the outbreak of the war. In fact there seems no reason to suppose that artillery will not be sent. Advice from the War Office in London are being awaited to tell what formation the 14,000 "other arms" will take, and it is freely believed that artillery and cavalry will both be included. The matter of supplying horses might offer a slight obstacle as regards cavalry but the belief is that they could be secured in sufficient numbers for the equipment of several regiments. However, no definite announcement can be made until the War Office has given its ruling.

Army Service Corps In response to orders received from the head-quarters for the 6th district in Halifax, Major Fred McKean, officer commanding the Army Service Corps in private and two corporals pending instructions as to when they will be forwarded for duty in that city. It is not known when they will be required. Thus far no orders to recruit for foreign service have been received by the army service unit here, but voluntary offers of enrollment have been made. The corps has been greatly lessened by the absence of those now on duty in Halifax and will be further reduced by the other squad going there. For this reason the officers in charge of the unit are endeavoring to bring it back to full strength, anticipating orders for additional recruiting.

Trains Collide at Fredericton Junction; Four Slightly Hurt

The engines of two C. P. R. trains collided head-on last evening about 6:55 o'clock at Fredericton Junction. Of forty passengers on one of the trains four were slightly injured, one of them, Mrs. G. W. Burpee, having her nose painfully cut by pieces of splintered glass. The others received a rude jolting but their only injuries are understood to have been a severe shaking up. Fortunately, the two trains were proceeding quite slowly at the time, but both turned into the "Y" off the main line together. The locomotives were somewhat damaged.

One of the trains was an extra from McAdam to Fredericton Junction with the engine Number 110 from Fredericton with cars containing about forty passengers. Advice from the scene of the accident to the local headquarters were that from a viewpoint of casualties and damage, the accident was unimportant, but it was regretted that it had occurred. A complete list of names was not furnished.

I was accompanied by an old friend, who happens also to be a friend of the Irish leader. From Dublin to Aughavanagh is about fifty miles, but our good motor-car ate up the distance with lively relish. The roads were excellent, though from time to time we struck some dusty patches, each with its little story to tell. CANADA IN THE WAR

An investigation is being made by the Ottawa authorities as to the number of Germans and Austrians in Canada. The object is the consideration of placing them together in concentration camps throughout Canada to employ them in some sort of government work in order to defray the cost of their maintenance. Col. Sam Hughes is now planning to leave for Canada after having completed to his satisfaction his arrangements with Col. Alderson for the well being of the Canadian troops. He and Col. Wilson were guests of Lord Roberts at dinner last week and on Monday visited Sir Charles Tupper, who has three grandsons and a grandson-in-law with the Canadian contingent. The minister has been to the arrangement of canteens at the Canadian camp.

IMMIGRATION AND BELGIAN FARMERS

To the Editor of the Times: Sir—I saw, the other day, in the Times, a suggestion that the Belgians be placed on farms in Canada. I think this to be a great idea, as these unfortunate allies of ours are sober, thrifty hard-working folk, and some of their past masters in the arts of dairy and poultry management, and raising flowers and hot-house plants for market. A Belgian, who was actually a farmer or farm hand, would, with his wife and family, be a veritable god-send to a New Brunswick farmer, when compared with the incompetent help a farmer so often has to put up with. Let our agent in London, Mr. Bowdler, get busy, and please as many of them as he can. This is the right kind of Belgian relief, and Canada could do with 100,000 genuine Belgian farm hands.

MAY SHIP WAR HORSES FROM PORTLAND HARBOR.

Portland, Me., Oct. 22.—That many horses will be shipped from this port for the English and French armies, the opinion expressed here. Dr. F. W. Huntington of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, who has had no direct information, but has inspected the stock yards at East Deerfield and had made extensive repairs on the regular train-station, is of the opinion the horses would be shipped from the western section by rail. Horses being bought in the south are being shipped from New Orleans and Philadelphia.

MAY BE RELIEF FROM PRINCE OF WALES' FUND

London, Oct. 22.—Surgeon General Arnoux proceeded to Folkestone yesterday to receive a further batch of wounded Belgians for the Canadian hospital at Shorncliffe. The new arrivals bring the number of patients in the hospital to about fifty, exclusive of a dozen Belgian officers who have been transferred to local convalescent homes. Doctor Arnoux has received some thirty letters purporting to come from women dependent upon Canadian soldiers. He has handed them to Hon. Geo. H. Perley, who is investigating with a view to granting relief to bona fide claimants from the Prince of Wales' fund.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

Vegetable and fruit stains on the fingers can be removed by dipping the fingers in very strong tea for a few minutes and then washing them in clear warm water. If you are annoyed by flies in your bedroom, soak a sponge in oil of lavender, and tie it to the top of the bed, and let it be the smell of lavender, and will not approach it.

POTATO DOUGHNUTS

Mash two boiled potatoes and white hot mix with two level teaspoons of salt. When cool add one and one-third cups of sugar, stir until soft and smooth, then add half cup of sweet milk beaten with one egg. Sift together one and one-half cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one-quarter teaspoon of nutmeg, half teaspoon of salt. Combine the mixtures. A little more or less flour may be needed. Mix as soft as can be handled conveniently and fry in the usual manner.

The fortnightly pay roll for city laborers, disbursed today at City Hall, was as follows: $2,989.88. Water and Sewerage, 2,987.81. Harbor, 1,179.70. Ferry, 268.34. Total, $7,425.53.

THE SARDINE CATCH

John F. Calder, inspector of fisheries, states that the catch of sardine herring in his district during the month of September was valued at $100,000 in Charlottetown and $40,000 in St. John county. This must be regarded as a very satisfactory showing, being within about 10 per cent of the value of the catch in the two counties during the whole of the season of 1913.

DIVORCED IN BANGOR

In the list of divorces granted in Bangor this month is that of Martha Jennie Ward of Bangor, from Russell A. Ward of New Brunswick. The divorce was granted for cruel and abusive treatment and intoxication. The custody of the minor child, John Robert Ward, is given to the mother.

BYE-LAW MATTER

William Main has been reported by the police for having a pile of building material on the sidewalk in Brien street and having no light on it. The case was to have come up this morning but was adjourned.

ALLOWED TO GO

Daniel Collins, convicted for trial on assault charge yesterday was allowed to go on suspended sentence today by Judge Josiah. Urban J.weeney appeared for the prisoner.

The office boy opened the door and looked in.

"My grandmother," he began, "has just died." "Has just died?" "Wow," yelled the boss. "Has just died and left me a lot of money—and I've resigned. See?" And he softly closed the door.

Now that the long, heroic battle for self-government is won, Mr. Redmond looks forward to the future of his country with high hope and confidence. He has the leader-like quality of keeping his vision on the essential things and ignoring the non-essentials. Withal he has a fine magnanimity of spirit. A small group of intransigents bent on mischief, the "Sinn Feiners," are trying at present to destroy his authority over the National Volunteers. Jim Larkin, still an active force of discontent in Dublin, is trying to stir up anti-Redmond feeling among the laborers in that city.

Mr. Redmond's Tolerance

These perverse ebullitions do not ruffle Mr. Redmond's serenity. He has a grand tolerance and treats Sinn Feiners and Larkinites with the same calmness that he showed to the poorest fanatics of the National cause. The battle for the national cause. The battle for the national cause. The battle for the national cause.

As to recruiting for the army, that will depend on the manner in which the War Office meets the sentiment of the Irish people. There must be an Irish army, or an Irish brigade. The nucleus of this is already in being in the 10th and 16th Divisions of Lord Kitchener's new army, though two divisions being almost entirely Irish. Recruits from Ireland will not be forthcoming if their identity is to be lost by merger in composite battalions. In this matter regard must be paid to the idiosyncrasies. To quote the words of Burke, "their temper must be managed and their good breeding preserved."

It is fortunate that Ireland has, at this critical juncture in its history, the guidance of a man like John Redmond, who to fervid patriotism unites so much sagacity; so large, firm and tolerant a spirit. Long may he be spared to lead and inspire.

GERMANIA RULES THE WAVES!

It will be remembered that German warships sank fifteen British fishing boats in the North Sea, captured a quantity of fish, and took the crews of fishermen into Wilhelmshaven as prisoners of war.

A few days later the Manchester Evening News published the following verses, which, as the reader will observe, are supposed to have been written by a German in praise of the German fleet—

There is joy in Wilhelmshaven and the cities round about;
Kiel is decked with trophies and the bells ring gladly they feel
The glorious news is spreading from the coast towns of the north,
And a thousand tingling wires bear the heartening message forth.

From Tilsit, West to Emden, from Cuxhaven to Trieste,
They know it now in Moscow, they have heard it told in Brest,
That England's Ocean Empire is a hollow broken boast.

For the prowess of our fleet is known throughout her stricken coast.
We have decked our guns with herring, and laced our shrouds with sprats,
While all our noble captains (wearing fish-tails in their hats)
Are shouting, "Hoeh, der Kaiser!" What excellent thrills they feel
When our admiral for pennant, flies a captured conger eel.

By the stricken homes of Grimsby the foeman stands perplexed,
And the cookiers of Cleethorpes wonder what will happen next
For Yarmouth hath no saviour now, her quaysides all lie bare.

And the eloquence of Billingsgate is echoed in despair.
We have taken many prisoners and sunk no end of ships;
We have taken all their fishes; we have left them all the ships;
We have shown a startled world that our dauntless sailor sons
Can knock out anything afloat that doesn't carry guns.
We have sent a thankful message to our Ally up above!
We have sent a sample cod steak to the Emperor we love;
We have sent sincere expressions (in a most respectful note)
Of the hope he may not get a bone in his Imperial throat.
The Germany's devout intent to dominate the seas,
And we feel we're surely getting there
To discharge this holy mission and fulfil this pious wish
The German fleet has captured a quantity of fish!"
—F. H. R.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 23, 1914.

THE WAR NEWS.

When the war began the military observers said it would be the task of the French, British and Belgians to hold the Germans in check in the west until the Russians were able to pour their armies into Germany from the east. For a time the reports agreed to indicate a remarkably rapid movement of the Russians, and this led some observers to predict an early termination of the war. The Russians, however, were not able to continue their advance, but found themselves put strongly on the defensive, and even forced to give ground. Now, however, we are assured that they have resumed the aggressive in greater force, and have begun by driving the Germans back with heavy loss from the neighborhood of Warsaw, following up this movement by a general advance along the whole line in Galicia and Poland.

To get back to the original statement of the military observers as to the part to be played relatively by the allies on the west and Russia in the east, we find that the Germans are being held by the French, British and Belgian forces, and confidence is expressed that the latter will not only be able to hold their present position indefinitely, but will continue as they have for some days past to press the German armies back toward their own borders.

Thus, while Germany has been completely balked in her plan to conquer France and release great armies to be turned against the Russian invader, the danger from Russia grows daily greater, and the need of reinforcements for the German armies in the eastern field becomes more urgent. Up to the present time, therefore, the results of the war have been such as to strengthen the conviction that in the end the power of Germany will be completely crushed.

The Prussian Diet yesterday voted $875,000,000 for war purposes, and the Imperial vice-chancellor boastfully declared that Germany would not lay aside her arms until she had gained a victory that would guarantee lasting peace. He further asserted that Germany had been forced into this war by the hatred and envy of her neighbors; and the president of the chamber added that Germany was not fighting for territory or for commercial profit, but merely to defend her homes and families. The vice-chancellor also said: "Everybody knows that we possess the resources which will enable us to hold out until peace has been attained." It is quite evident that the war party is still very much in the ascendant in Prussia, and that it is as busy as ever in deceiving the people as to the real cause and the certain outcome of the war.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY

The Times has received through the courtesy of the News and Newspaper Syndicates, Kendall, England, a copy of a book entitled "Great Britain and the European War." It is a book of more than one hundred pages, and is sold for one penny. It contains the full official correspondence relating to the outbreak of the war, the statements in parliament, and a remarkably clear introductory narrative of events from the time of the assassination of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand in June last until the declaration of war by England. Whoever reads this book cannot fail to be convinced of the righteousness of Britain's cause. The reader is able fully to endorse the statement of Premier Asquith in parliament on August 4 when he said:

"If I am asked what we are fighting for I reply in two sentences. In the first place to fulfil a solemn international obligation, an obligation which if it had been entered in between private persons in the ordinary concerns of life would have been regarded as an obligation not only of law, but of honor, which no self-respecting man could possibly have repudiated. It is, secondly, we are fighting to vindicate the principle which in these days when force, material force, sometimes seems to be the dominant influence and factor in the development of mankind—we are fighting to vindicate the principle that small nationalities are not to be crushed in defiance of international good faith by the arbitrary will of a strong and over-mastering power. I do not believe any nation ever entered into a great controversy, and this is one of the greatest history will ever know, with a clearer consciousness and stronger conviction that it is fighting not for aggression, not for the maintenance of its own selfish interests, but that it is fighting in defence of principles, the maintenance of which is vital to the civilization of the world."

Of quite a different character is another book received by The Times yesterday. It is the October number of "The Open Court," which is described as "a monthly magazine devoted to the science of religion, the religion of science, and the extension of the religious parliament." This magazine was founded in Chicago by Mr. Edward C. Hegeler, and its editor is Dr. Paul Carus. Both are natives of Germany. The October issue deals exclusively with the war in Europe and there are three principal articles. One is entitled "England's Blood Guilt in the World War," and was written by Ernst Haackel. The second is by Professor John W. Burgess, who is apparently a German sympathizer; and the third is by the editor, who gathers into some fifty pages as much mis-information as to the causes of the war and the relative aims of Britain and Germany as could well be gathered into that space. From the savage attack of Mr. Haackel upon England and the English, and his glorification of the German people, and the gross misrepresentations of Dr. Carus, one turns to the British publication above referred to and finds therein set forth in the indisputable form of official correspondence a complete answer to all the charges, misrepresentations, false assertions and base insinuations with which German writers attempt to bolster up their cause. Germany has been carrying on a very vigorous propaganda in the United States, Scandinavia, Spain, and especially Holland, seeking to prejudice public opinion against Great Britain. Correspondence in the press, leaflets, pamphlets and other agencies are utilized. All their efforts have, however, failed. How completely they have failed may be gathered from the following comment of the New York Times.

"Have the leaders of thought in Germany lost the power of statement, or are they hampered and betrayed by the badness of the cause they defend? Certainly, the currents of opinion here have not been influenced by the appeals and arguments addressed to us by the professors, purists, and public men of Germany. If Germany is morally right in this struggle, why have the advocates of her cause so flatly failed to bring conviction to our minds? We are not an uneducated people; we are open-minded. In their first effort Professor Eucken and Professor Haackel roundly denounced England for causing the war, and the English the vice of ingratitude, bad faith, hypocrisy, and brutal national egotism. They now declare that nobody but Russia is to blame for the outbreak of war. When German doctors disagree with themselves, what are we to believe? They tell us that the liberals which their enemies propagate have caused half the world to fall upon Germany, full of hatred and envy. Certainly half the world cannot be moved to malice and envy by lies and libels. Every well-informed American knows that public opinion here is formed, not upon the basis of partisan misrepresentation, but from a study of the historical sources themselves."

During the October term of the supreme judicial court in Bangor no less than fifty-four divorces were granted. Marital bonds evidently rest but lightly on many people in the State of Maine.

The venerable Archdeacon Cody, appealing to the students of Toronto University to enlist in the service of the Empire said:—"Are you doing all you can to prepare yourselves? Which is the greater: to sit on the bleachers and applaud a football match, or to get out and drill? Every able-bodied man should be fitting himself in case his country needs him."

The German cruiser Karlsruhe has again been heard from. It is reported that she has sunk a considerable number of British merchant vessels in the Atlantic, chiefly those engaged in the South American trade. How she and the Emden are able to get coal supplies and continue to prey upon British commerce is a mystery. Sooner or later, however, their activities will be terminated by British cruisers.

The police magistrate and chief of police are quite right in pointing out that a public attitude of contempt for police officers in the discharge of their duty cannot be otherwise than harmful to the city. In London a single policeman can direct traffic without difficulty in a crowded street, because the Englishman's respect for law extends to the officer of the law, and because the whole power of the country stands behind that officer in the discharge of his duty.

In various parts of Canada it has been suggested that an effort should be made to assist Belgian people to settle in this country. The Belgians after the war is over will want to settle in their own country, and all of them will be needed there. The Canadian representative in Belgium, speaking in London recently, very properly pointed this out, and further declared that the real friends of the Belgians were those who would help them to get settled again in their native land. In referring to what is being done for the aid of the Belgians a London newspaper prints over an article this heading: "Paying our Debt to Belgium." This phrase indicates the right attitude of every British subject. We are not doling out charity to the Belgian people. We are paying a debt. Let it be paid as nearly in full as possible, and quickly.

Boundary Line Dispute.

A case brought by Mrs. Sophia Stewart against John Galbraith, charging him with doing damage to her property in St. Patrick street, was heard in the police court yesterday afternoon. J. A. Barry appeared for the defense and U. J. Sweeney for the complainant. It developed that the trouble arose over the definition of the boundary line between their properties and evidence showed that a shed built by Mrs. Stewart had been torn down by the defendant, claiming that it was on his property. Mr. Barry stated that his client was willing to submit the matter to a disinterested engineer and pay half the expenses, and pay all the damages if he were in the wrong. The magistrate postponed the case for a week to effect a settlement.

Hints for the Cook

Jellied Prunes
 Soak 1-2 box of gelatin in 1-2 cup of cold water. Dissolve in 2 cups of hot water in which the prunes were cooked. Add 1-4 cup of lemon juice, 1-4 cups sugar, strain and add 1-2 pound of prunes, cooked, sliced and halved. Set away to harden. You may use cream on it, sometimes soft custard and sometimes whipped cream.

Rye Waffles
 Rye flour 1 cup, white flour 1 cup, 2 tablespoons sugar, salt to your taste, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Mix all dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat your egg, then add milk. Stir dry ingredients in. Batter or lard your griddle. Bake 20 to 30 minutes in hot oven.

Apple Fritters
 Core, pare and slice one large apple, sprinkle with two tablespoons of powdered sugar, 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon, a grating of nutmeg and the juice of half a lemon, an let stand half an hour. Beat two eggs lightly, add 1-2 cup of milk and one teaspoon of melted butter, then stir in one cup of flour and beat until perfectly smooth. Dip the prepared apples in the batter, fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper before serving.

Sandwich Filling
 Three slices of breakfast bacon, fried crisp, add a hard boiled egg and chop fine, add 2 tablespoons of cold baked beans mashed fine, add 2 tablespoons of salad dressing or mustard vinegar, and mix thoroughly.

Apple Butter for Little Folks' Lunches
 If there are little folks in the family who carry lunches to school be sure to put up plenty of apple butter. It will satisfy their love for sweets and it will have none of the ill effect that some of the over-sweet preserves have.

This is a good recipe for apple butter. It may be made of sweet apples or half sweet and half sour. Boil a gallon of sweet cider to one-half of its original quantity. Fill the kettle in which the cider was cooked with sliced apples, and turn the cider over them. It is not necessary for the cider to cover the apples; but there should be enough to keep them from sticking to the kettle. Simmer steadily all day until reduced to about half their original bulk. Turn into small stone crocks and fasten securely.

If preferred the butter may be spiced. In this case allow a teaspoonful of cinnamon, clove, nutmeg or allspice to each gallon of the sauce, adding when nearly done; or several of these seasonings may be combined if preferred.

Apple butter should be stirred almost constantly toward the end of the cooking; a flat paddle is best for this.

The butter may be cooked in the oven or in a fireless cooker as the long, slow cooking with no danger of burning lightens the housekeeper's labors very appreciably.

To clean lamp glasses hold them over a jug of boiling water until well steamed, then polish with a dry duster. It is far less trouble than washing, and the glasses very rarely break.

Eucalyptus oil will remove grease stains from any kind of material without injuring it. Apply a little of the oil with a clean piece of fannel, and rub the material gently until the stains disappear.

Rocket Turck-Baker

(By Idah McGlone Gibson.)

"Beauty," as has been often said, "is in the eye of the beholder." But most of us do not educate our eyes to their highest points of appreciation. We are apt to accept conventional standards and it is only the trained artist that enjoys the world's beauties to the fullest extent.

"Until late years we have been taught that womanly beauty is all curves," said Rocket Turck-Baker, "but to the student of the Oriental or Egyptian beauty, there is beauty in acute angles and straight lines as well as in curves."

Miss Baker is also a dancer and she has made a great study of the comeliness of line.

"The beauty of youth," she says, "is always that of straight line and angles; it may mean the promise of curves at maturity, but in a young girl, beautifully shaped bones are much more to be desired than curving flesh."

Many mothers make the mistake of allowing their daughters to eat everything that their vagrant fancy craves; and while they would have their daughters beautiful, they have not the strength of mind to insist that they shall sacrifice their stomachs to health and appearance.

Most young people eat too much starch and sweets, and, deplorable as it is, many young girls nowadays are allowed to taste alcohol. If you are unfortunate enough to have acquired flesh, you will find this the right diet for reduction; no starch, no animal fat, no sweets, no alcohol.

Probably the fat girl will say: "What can one eat?"

All the lean meats, all the vegetables, except potatoes, peas, and corn. All sour fruits and if you must have bread, eat it in very small quantities, and be sure it is twice baked.

Do not eat of any food in large quantities, and you will find that if you take the proper exercise that you will not become stout.

It is much easier to refrain from acquiring flesh than to get rid of it after it is acquired.

Angles are as beautiful as curves if they are "right" angles.

IN SATIN AND LACE

The styles of 1910 and 1914 are cleverly combined in this dinner frock. It is carried out in lace founcing combined with soft blue satin. The founces are superimposed on a foundation of delicate cream satin. Required to make the dress are 2 yards of 18-inch wide dress for the skirt foundation, 3 yards of 27-inch satin for the shirred basque and 7 yards of founcing 16 inches wide. One-half yard of 18-inch all over lace is needed for the revers and standing collar.

The waist is more difficult to make than the skirt, and in cutting it is necessary to get the waist and sleeves from an open width of material. The bodice, outer front and collar are cut from a fold of satin.

After the lining is made, which is so simple a process that it need not be repeated here, the standing collar is added to the neck edge as notched. Gather each shoulder double "TT" perforation; adjust bringing large "O" perforation at lower edge to corresponding perforation in lining front and attach gathers along dart.

Gather the outer basque of satin along the shoulder and under-arm edges between double "TT" perforations.

Close seams as notched. Center front indicated by small "o" perforation. Turn under shirred edge on small "o" perforations. Sew revers to front as notched. Sew collar to neck edge as notched. Arrange outside on lining, centers even; stitch lower edges together. Bring small "o" perforations in outer back to corresponding small "o" perforations in lining and tack at center-back. The cash in back as illustrated.

Sew up sleeve seam and ease sleeve into the armhole without fullness. Silk crocheted buttons are suggested for the front.

Pictorial Review Basque pattern No. 5884. Sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust.

Skirt, No. 5882. Sizes 21, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 waist. Price, 15 cents.

MORTALITY AMONG WOUNDED SO FAR IN THIS WAR

London, Oct. 20.—Sir William Osler, regius professor of medicine at Oxford, since the beginning of the war in Europe, has been busy with the hospital work in England. "I think this war will set a new record for low mortality among the wounded," he formerly said. The best first aid and hospital work, a mortality record of 5 or 6 per cent. of those who reached base hospitals was considered creditable. Up to date there has been but one fatality out of more than 700 wounded who have reached the base hospital at Oxford. This death was caused by a bullet.

"The result is partly due to the self-sterilization of the modern high velocity bullet, and partly to efficient field first aid. I have yet to see a wound inflicted by either a dum dum or an explosive bullet."

"If the experience of the past counts for anything, the expeditionary force on the continent is more to fear from the bacilli of typhoid fever than from bullets or bayonets."

"I have never seen a group of recruits marching to a depot without mentally asking what percentage will die legittimate and honorable deaths from wounds by exposure incident upon long marches and hard fighting in cold and rain."

Seventy thousand prisoners

"And then, with the coming of winter, the prevention of pneumonia will be a problem. It cannot be prevented, like typhoid, by vaccination. The success of this measure in the armies of the United States and France is proving it. These are little things of the war in England, but this is not so in the large areas of the continental theatre of war."

"All fighting forces should take advantage of the knowledge that the human body can be protected from typhoid fever by vaccination. The success of this measure in the armies of the United States and France is proving it. These are little things of the war in England, but this is not so in the large areas of the continental theatre of war."

FIGHT WITH BEAR AT CLOSE QUARTERS IN MAINE WOODS

News has reached Bangor from Burlington, Me., telling of a desperate battle between a wounded and infuriated bear and Arthur M. Neal of Lowell, Mass., in which the sportsman eventually succeeded in killing the enraged animal, but only after he had been severely wounded by the claws of the bear and had nearly all of his clothes ripped off.

He had gone some distance in the woods when he was attracted by a noise not far away through the forest. Looking up he saw a large bear, which showed no disposition either to attack or run away. Without thinking that his weapon was a light one for such big game Mr. Neal raised his piece to his shoulder and fired. The charge took effect and the bear sank to the ground. Mr. Neal rushed forward, believing he had killed the animal.

As he approached, however, the bear suddenly showed signs of life and, scrambling to his feet with surprising agility, he attacked Mr. Neal savagely. The Massachusetts man had nothing save an empty gun and in order to defend himself against the savage rush of the infuriated bear, he cast the piece aside and drew the stout hunting knife with which he happened to be armed.

The bear struck out desperately with his sharp claws and Neal sprang this way and that. Both bear and man succeeded in landing many savage blows and both were soon bleeding profusely. There was scarcely a shred of clothing left on Mr. Neal when he eventually succeeded in driving his knife nearly up to the hilt in the bear's side. The bear fell over with a groan and the battle was over. Neal was exhausted and could have lasted but a short time longer, says he.

RUSSIAN ARMY IMPROVEMENT

Petrograd, Oct. 22.—A well known war correspondent and writer, Nemirovich Danchenko, who saw fighting in the Russo-Turkish and the Russo-Japanese wars, communicates his impressions to the Russkoeslovo. He says:

"One must be blind not to see the enormous progress that has been made by Russia and the Russian army in the last ten years. There has not occurred a single disgraceful scene such as those that sullied the Manchurian campaign. There is no waste of strength. Everything is in order and everybody is serious and in his place. Russia now has a sober, self-denying army, ably controlled by a modest and business like staff. Emperor William used to accuse the Russian officers of drunkenness. The reproach now applies most certainly to the Germans.

"The Russian troops are today like Puritans, going into battle with absolute faith, having dined meagrely. Water is the usual beverage of their Spartan band."

WANT BELGIAN SETTLERS FOR TERRITORY OPENED BY GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Transportation experts agree that the European war will result in a rush of settlers to Canada and a special effort is being made to obtain for Central British Columbia a large number of Belgian farmers driven from their homes by events in the war area. These people are known to be good farmers and very thrifty people, and will be a great factor in developing the agricultural possibilities of this section of the Dominion, recently thrown open to cultivation by the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. It is planned to settle a large tract in the Stuart River district with Belgians and their families. It is expected that after the war is over a large colony will be placed on the land there, as well as in many other valleys along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific in northern and central British Columbia.

BELGIAN ANTIQUITY

Although modern Belgium is but a strip among nations, you may recall that the name itself—Gallia Belgica—is a good thousand years older than the Norman Conquest. The case for Belgian antiquity was neatly put by M. de Weyer, who came over to England to plead the cause of Belgian independence a few months before the momentous "scrap of paper" of 1839 came into existence. "The Belgians!" exclaimed the lady of Holland House, "Who are they?" To which M. de Weyer replied, "Madam, it was a person named Julius Caesar who gave them their name."

HOME GROWN SUGAR

(London Chronicle)

One result of the war has been to cut off from this country its principal sources of supply for sugar, that commodity which Disraeli said was the joy of infancy and the solace of old age. Most of the sugar produced in the United Kingdom is the product of the beet, which represents 80 per cent of the whole importation, only 20 per cent being cane sugar. Of our supplies of beet sugar, much the greatest part comes in normal times from Germany, which last year sent us 838,438 tons. Austria-Hungary was a good second with 309,468 tons. Our total supplies from the rest of the world only amounted to 278,146 tons. While the rise in the price of sugar and the prospect for some time to come of meagre supplies of the beet product will doubtless have a stimulating effect upon the production of cane sugar, there is not the smallest prospect that the Continental shortage will be made up from the West Indies and other tropical countries. The question therefore arises whether the shortage in supply shall not be met by systematic plan to cultivate beet production in this country and the building up of a native sugar industry.

That sugar beet can be grown satisfactorily in England and in Ireland has been amply demonstrated. It will be said that if capital sees a favorable opportunity for profit, the present high price of sugar will attract it to beet cultivation. As a general proposition that is sound enough; but it does not meet the facts of the particular case. This is an instance where the government might very well take the initiative. In an article crammed with information which he contributes to the "Nineteenth Century" for October, J. W. Robertson-Scott makes out a powerful plea for government action and the establishment of state factories. He points out that the present is a uniquely favorable chance of establishing in this country the production of a necessary article of food for which we ought never to have relied so largely on the foreigner. We hope Lord Lucas, the president of the board of agriculture, who is himself an expert farmer, will give this matter immediate attention and that he will have sympathetic cabinet action. He is a fruitful next year, must be taken now. Some of the skilled labor that would be required could be supplied by refugees.

Those are my favorites but there are so very many other beautiful pieces all by such wonderful artists that it is a constant source of wonder and pleasure to me. The best of it is, the rest of the family are just as fond of it as I am. The Victrola surely has brought sunshine into our lives."

ALLIES HOLD THEIR OWN ON WESTERN FRONT WHILE RUSSIANS WIN BIG VICTORY IN THE WEST

DOUBT THAT BOMB CAUSED MONTREAL FATAL EXPLOSION

Occupants of Tenements Blown Up Say Suspected Dynamite Was Friendly to All of Them
Montreal, Oct. 22.—The coroner's inquest today into the death of Peter Dychtara, the Russian boarder at Nick Bey's boarding house, 371 Frontenac street, whose dead body was found beside the ruins just after the disastrous explosion at the Frontenac street row tenements about 6 o'clock Tuesday night, failed to throw any light on the cause of the explosion.

BRITAIN RELEASES U. S. OIL STEAMER

Washington, Oct. 22.—Issues arising from the seizure by British cruisers of three American oil ships soon will be satisfactorily adjusted in the opinion of the state department officials. The release after a short detention of the tanker John D. Rockefeller, with the accompanying explanation by the British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, that the vessel was detained only because of doubt as to the destination of her cargo, was construed as an admission by the British government of the right of vessels to carry oil without molestation between neutral ports.

POLICE UPHELD BY MAGISTRATE RITCHIE

That the police are not treated with the proper respect or supported properly by the citizens was the assertion of Police Magistrate Ritchie yesterday afternoon and he set an example of the manner in which the police should be regarded by fining Constable George Blair $20 or one month in jail for refusing to move when instructed to do so by the police, and by dismissing the charge preferred against Policeman McCreese of assaulting Walter Campbell. It is felt in police circles that a victory has been won and hereafter less difficulty will be found by the scant number of officers in maintaining discipline in the public streets.

CHILD GETS SICK CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach or Bowels
A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, give gassy stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If constipated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More
A Physician's Advice
"Id certainly give most anything he able to fat up a few pounds and at that rate," declares every excessive thin man or woman. Such result is a possible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up of nutrition are normal. Instead of going into the blood, all the fat and the producing elements stay in the intestine until they pass from the body as waste. To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Clark with meals, it mixes with the food, turns the sugars and starches into ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty five pounds in a single month are by means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere and every package contains guarantee of weight increase or no back.

"Pape's Diapiesin" Ends all Stomach Distress in Five Minutes
You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is so valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur
Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

JINGOIZING BUSINESS

Confidence in the made-in-Canada campaign might well afford now and then to break forth into jingoizing. An old song went the round of the London music halls in 1878 when England and Russia were on the verge of war over the Turkish question. There was a large war party in England composed of both Tories and Liberals and a war poet made a song of which one verse has become famous: "We don't want to fight, but by Jingo, if we do, We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too."

TRIBUTE TO ENGLISH

Maxim Gorky, who is now seen with the Russian army in Galicia, has very genuine appreciation of the English character and attainments. With Madame Yavorski produced his play "The Lower Depths," in London, several well-known Englishmen of letters sent him a message of congratulation. In a course of his reply Gorky said: "I am the more proud of this witness to be offered created by my play in London because as I survey the work done throughout the world by Englishmen, say to myself, 'This is the race who has devoted itself, and still does, to the propagation of fruitful ideas, and to the spread of the culture common to Aryans, with the greatest energy and the most conspicuous success.'"

Keep the Wheels Moving!

Every Canadian consumed, during 1913, approximately $67.54 worth of imported goods. Every Canadian thereby sent sixty-seven dollars of Canadian money to enrich some other country, to keep foreign workmen employed.

It does not seem so much, but it makes the gigantic total of $675,428,168. The value of all goods "Made in Canada" is not much more than double this.

If only 25% of this 675 million dollars' worth of goods were produced in Canada, that production would give employment to 62,500 workmen, sufficient with their families and dependents to support 250,000 people, to populate 16 cities the size of Moncton.

A Fight To a Finish--And Then?

(Jerome K. Jerome in London Chronicle)

For an old writer tells us, is the matter of hatred. If you are a friend of your enemy you do not hate him. You may feel it your duty to kill him—to hang him on a high gallows as a warning to breakers of the peace and other evil doers. But to hate him is to acknowledge that you are a man. The judge does not hate the criminal; he passes sentence upon him, and considers his soul to God. A man who shoots does not hate the tiger. The tiger has been helping himself to sleep. It is natural for a tiger to help himself to sleep. It is necessary to put a stop to the tiger's deceptions. The man takes all precautions, hopes that by no unforeseen accident the tiger may succeed in killing him, and then proceeds to business. Hatred gives courage to the weak. The strong man has no need of it.

I have never been able to see the need of our being afraid of Germany. Even had we been compelled to meet her single-handed, I still do not see the possibility of her having been able to break down our fleet. On the contrary, the overwhelming probability is that we should have accomplished on the sea precisely what we have done. Under present conditions, though the war may be long and terrible, it is inconceivable that it can have any other termination than the utter collapse of the German Empire, in its present form. The hope of her almost superhuman powers, preached to us by our Jingo politicians for their own ends, has already been laid. Her superhuman cunning—also preached to us for the same purpose—turns out to have had even less foundation. It is almost pathetic to read the record of her amazing stupidity.

Constipation

is an enemy within the camp. It will undermine the strongest constitution and ruin the most vigorous health. Europe's Stage Villain.

Their methods have been those of the Stage Villain. For the last ten years they have been discussing their precious plans at the top of their voice, with all Europe listening and taking notes. Germany, Austria and Italy were to suddenly fall upon France and Russia and finish them off before the rest of the world had time to put on its clothes. Even for this simple and childlike plan two things were essential. One was that a Russian revolution should paralyze the Russian armies. So what do they do? They choose for their cause the one thing—perhaps the only thing—capable of welding the entire Russian people into one enthusiastic whole: the cause of "Teuton against Slav."

The second was the non-intervention of England. One can only suppose that for the last seven or eight years they have been reading the English Tory Press, and had convinced themselves that God was working with them by having handed over the destinies of England to a government of scamps and traitors. Reading the state venom poured out daily in connection with the Marconi business, they may possibly have come to the conclusion that there was not a man in the English cabinet who could not be squared for a few thousand marks. They read in the Unionist Press that Ireland hated England, and was only waiting an opportunity to stab her in the back. In company with some others, they were silly enough to believe it.

India was on the verge of revolt. At one time this might have been a danger. Lured Curzon's firm insistence that natives should be treated with justice averted this. Our white men and our brown men are now fighting side by side for England's cause. In future there must be no foolish arrogance. English gentlemen and native gentlemen will share the same railway carriage. The native will walk into the presence of the Sahib and the Menas-sahib upright like a man, and with his boots on quite a few of the world's follies will, one hopes, disappear as a result of this war.

the German people. We will meet them with their own weapons, and we will conquer them. When we have driven out of them their foolish boasting and their foolish pride, we will make a peace with them.

Germany has sinned, and Germany will pay the price of her sin. The history of the nations is not such that any one of us can raise up charlatans and thank God that we are not others. To talk as if the German people were all monsters who must never be forgiven, is to talk the language of a hysterical school boy. For many centuries France was our enemy. If some of our brave journalists would only read history! Let them turn up our cartoons, our speeches and writings during the period of the Napoleonic wars. Napoleon was anti-Christ. Attila, the Hun, was a Christian gentleman compared with him according to our own estimate. Our fear of him passed away. No longer is his name used to frighten our naughty children. Today we write sympathetically of him—grasp the fact that he had his purpose in the world. I venture to quote one of his wise sayings: It runs: "Obtain hatred; hear both sides, and delay judgment until reason has had time to resume her sway."

Today the hatred of a thousand years is buried. We are fighting side by side with France. Jacques is no longer a frog-eating monster, but our brave brother. We have found him after all that they were all our brothers, Teuton and Slav, brown man and yellow man, and black man. The time may be far off. Meanwhile, we will keep the bridges open.

standing for that. King George visits the hospitals, speaks kind words to the wounded. And not only to the English wounded. His words of sympathy and hope for shattered Hans and Fritz. We trust our gutter journalists are not going to foul their mouths with abuse of the King for behaving in this "un-English" fashion. I fancy some of our strident journalists have not quite got the hang yet of the English character. A little more experience as Englishmen may perhaps help them. We hear of the insults offered to English people escaping out of Germany. Others tell us of the great kindness with which they have been helped. Every nation breeds its own heroes. Also, God be praised, its proportion of Good Samaritans. The Russian government is helping Germans to return to Germany. The German government, "agreeably surprised," so one reads, is now repudiating the return of Germany. The Russians are sending donations to the German Red Cross Society. Two Frenchmen fighting to the bitter end were surrounded by Germans. The German commander signs to them to keep their arms and then asks permission to shake hands with them both. French soldiers persist at great personal risk to themselves in capturing a gallant Ulan alive. He has fought like a lion. They press round him, shake him by the hand. There is a base section of the English Press that is furious at the mere suggestion that England also should give vent to any chivalrous sentiment. For the atrocities that war brings in its wake let us keep our indignation hot. But let it be the indignation of just men. Let us be willing to listen, to weigh evidence. Lord Selborne makes the admirable suggestion that all these stories of horror should be sifted by some legal tribunal of a neutral state, so that their truth or falsehood may be proved. Some of them are so unnatural that I make no excuse for doubting them. To accept them readily would be to insult human nature. That a few may be true is, also, possible enough. If a fiend lurks within a man, war may be trusted to discover it. The history of the Peninsular War is not pleasant reading. Men are burned alive, not only in war time, and not only by Germans—presuming German soldiers to have done this. Let all these accusations be proved. If they are true, the criminals must be punished. That should be made a condition of peace. If they are not true, those who have invented them deserve to be shot.

Alleged Atrocities.

A recent ghastly and detailed account of outrage to a Red Cross nurse we now find to be a "practical joke." It is a joke that leaves a smirch on England's name. Stories of German officers cutting off women's breasts in sight of English soldiers call for corroboration. I have spent some time in Belgium. For their many virtues I respect the Belgians, but no nation is entirely devoid of George Washington. The unvarnished testimony of men and women suffering from cruel wrong, maddened by the sights of war, is not sufficient evidence on which to condemn a whole nation. I am sure

CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

And Skeptical After Trying Many Medicines—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Cured Him.

When the kidneys fail to purify the blood the poisons left in the system cause pain and suffering, such as backache, lumbago and rheumatism. Read how this skeptic was cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. P. W. Brown, Kingsbury, Que., writes: "I have been completely cured of backache and lame back by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I also recommended the pills to a man who was crippled from rheumatism. He was skeptical, as he said that he had tried nearly everything on earth. Finally he consented to try them, and to his surprise was greatly benefited in the first week, and the pains left his legs until he was so supple he could walk without pain or difficulty. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have worked wonders in this case, and we think there is no medicine like them."

stress of excitement, even educated, truthful people can be led away by their imagination we have proved in the recent stories about tens of thousands of Russians having passed through England. People saw them, spoke to them. I found I was giving personal offence to friends of my own by throwing doubt upon their statements. The thing was vouched for by men of unimpeachable honor. In spite of common sense, I began to think there must be truth in it.

Precisely a century ago—next year, with the help of Russia and Germany, finally defeated Napoleon. We gave back France to the French; we vineyards, and her corn lands and her fair cities. And France, her spirit unconquered, took her place once more among the nations and gave of her virtues and her genius to the common good.

Today we, with the help of France and Russia, are fighting the war lords of Germany. We will conquer them. We will if the German people have not themselves by that time saved us the trouble—deprive them of all power of evil. And then we will give back Germany to the sober, patient German people. And, purified by fire and made strong through much suffering, they shall build up a new Germany. And we will be brothers.

CUT OUT WASTE

MORE is expected of everybody now-a-days. The Spotlight is on the Value-Giver as never before. Men give more thought to what they are buying, and insist upon getting full value for their money—they look at both sides of a dollar before they let go of it, and try to make both sides work. That means the forging ahead of some concerns and the falling behind of others, for it throws the spot-light on the value-giver and that's why so many more men than ever before are coming to the English & Scotch Woollen Co. for their big money's worth this Fall.

"Our Mill-to-Man Tailoring Service" has taught a lesson in cutting out the wasteful middle profits and giving Made-to-Measure Clothes at "Mill-to-Man Price"—$15. Beautiful, warm, comfortable fabrics—in hundreds of exquisite shades and patterns—"Direct from the Mills to you"—are waiting your inspection.

MORE LINKS IN OUR CHAIN OF SUCCESS

A few weeks back we opened our new Quebec Store—since then we have added two new links to our "Chain of Success," a fifth store in Montreal at 1835 St. Catherine Street East—and a new Branch at Halifax, N. The imperative necessity these days for practical economy makes the English and Scotch Woollen Co's "Mill-to-Man Tailoring Service" your only logical goal because—always, the story will be an endless one of Service rendered by this Responsible Firm.

French Actresses Return To Dolls

BACK TO DOLLS
Mlle. Marcelle Yrven, one of the most popular of the younger French actresses, with a portion of her collection of puppets.

(Times Special Correspondence.)
Paris, Oct. 8.—There is keen competition among Paris actresses in the collection of dolls of all kinds and at the same time there is a vogue in photography by which these happy possessors of numerous "families" are shown seated among their collections, acting like so many children still in short dresses.

Marcelle Yrven, one of the most popular of the younger French actresses, has what is probably the largest collection of these dolls and she is adding to it either by purchase or by the assistance of friends and admirers. At the time of writing more than thirty puppets occupy a special room in her dainty flat in the Latin Quarter. Some are beautiful enough to excite the envy of any child, while others are ugly and grotesque enough to frighten a normal child out of several years' growth. Marcelle has had a special trunk built for the reception of her more important dolls and takes them about with her when touring.

Mlle. Tuster, on the other hand, lavishes all her care and affection upon one fortunate puppet which she treats very much as she would a real baby.

Mlle. Dastry is not far behind Marcelle Yrven in the size of her collection.

SAYS KITCHENER RETURNED FROM FRANCE AS WOUNDED SOLDIER

Vancouver Man, Back From London, Tells How City is Protected From Zeppelin Raid

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—N. G. White, consul for the Peruvian government at Vancouver, reached Winnipeg today on his way home from London. He says that Lord Kitchener returned from his trip to France disguised as a wounded soldier.

He says that wire netting has been placed over and around the London post office and many other buildings in the capital to protect them against bombs. He tells of the darkness of the streets of London, which are almost black at night, and how the sky is momentarily scoured with flashing searchlights on the outlook for Zeppelins.

"It is fully believed in London," says Mr. White, "that an attack will be attempted by Zeppelins, but there is no great feeling of apprehension on this score. It is expected that the foggy weather at this time will make such an attempt impossible and at the same time they are fully prepared for the Germans."

"My brother-in-law is in the intelligence office," said Mr. White, "and I got first hand information from him about Kitchener's clever disguise when crossing the channel. This fact is little known in England."

An amusing bit from the musical comedy "The French Maid," suits well just now. One of the leading characters is a giant British lar who has been singing a song about his sweethearts and he spies the pretty little French maid, the leading lady of the piece. She says very coquettishly "Ise French maid." "I don't care where you were made as long as you weren't made-in-Germany" growled out the lar.

Famous Riders Killed.
Newark, N. Poulain was one of the most noted riders on the European tracks. He won the world's sprint title in Antwerp in 1908. His latest achievement in cycling was finishing second in Leon Hourlier in the Grand Prix de Paris. Poulain, however, was disqualified for foul tactics. He rode in America also, and received credit for a victory over Frank Kramer several years ago at Madison Square Garden in a race. Parren won world's titles in 1906 and 1911. Vedrine was not so well known as the other riders. He performed at the Newark Velodrome last year.

take that fellow Wagner. He's a di- manded in action on your part. The farmers have produced the apples at a loss this year. You cannot expect them to carry them to you and market them at a further loss especially as you would be saving a great deal by getting the apples so cheaply. An ordinary barrel of apples contains about 100 lbs. If you got them at thirty cents a hundred on the cars at local points they would cost you about fifty cents a barrel. Even if the freight and delivery would cost as much more, and I do not think it would, you could put these apples in your cellar for a dollar a barrel. Did you ever get sound apples for that price? You can get them now if you will act at once in two weeks it will be too late for they may be destroyed by frost. Get busy and save these apples. . . . . Roll them to the kiddies.

DO YOU WANT APPLES?

(By Peter McArthur.) Today I propose to talk to the consumers of apples and if my language is painful and frequent and free, it is because I am dead in earnest. Thousands and thousands of barrels of sound apples are going to waste. Do you want them? If you do you can get them for less than the cost of production. Owing to the way the apple trade is so completely disorganized that only the orchardists who have practically lawless apples can afford to grade and market them.

No. 1 apples in barrels are bound to be expensive for they are costly to produce and market and when disposed of through the usual trade channels their price is increased by the fact that they have to be handled by both wholesalers and retailers. But the country is full of apples that are good for both eating and cooking that you can get for from twenty to thirty cents a hundred lbs. if you will take the trouble to organize so that you can handle them in quantities.

The farmers are discouraged about their apples. Because of slight blights they have their best fruit in heavy lily called that many have stopped picking and pecking because they cannot market the fancy apples you want except at a loss. Why don't you go after those apples and help to reduce the cost of living? If city consumers would organize so that they could order these apples in carload lots, shipped loose or in bags, they could fill their cellars with a winter's supply of fruit at absurdly low prices. But you must organize to do it and organize at once.

You cannot expect the farmers to gather this cheap fruit and take it to your doors and beg you to buy it for less than it costs them to produce and carry it to you. Surely you are not like the queen bees and the slave-owning ants. These high-toned insects are unable to feed themselves. They must have slaves to put the food into their mouths even though it may be piled all around them. Surely you have enough "git" in you to hustle for the food you will need this winter, especially when you can get it at an absurdly low figure. If the congregations of city churches would call business meetings they could quickly arrange to get a supply of apples dependent on them and at the same time they would be doing a notable public service by saving a valuable food product at a time when food is likely to be scarce. Labor organizations, fraternal lodges and even ward political organizations furnish the ready-to-hand machinery that would be needed to handle these apples. The farmers are already organized into fruit growers associations that could supply the apples if you would pay the expense of picking, hauling and shipping to town.

I have interviewed the traffic departments of different railroads and they are prepared to handle the apples quickly so that they will not be injured in transit. The only thing that is needed is action on your part. The farmers have produced the apples at a loss this year. You cannot expect them to carry them to you and market them at a further loss especially as you would be saving a great deal by getting the apples so cheaply. An ordinary barrel of apples contains about 100 lbs. If you got them at thirty cents a hundred on the cars at local points they would cost you about fifty cents a barrel. Even if the freight and delivery would cost as much more, and I do not think it would, you could put these apples in your cellar for a dollar a barrel. Did you ever get sound apples for that price? You can get them now if you will act at once in two weeks it will be too late for they may be destroyed by frost. Get busy and save these apples. . . . . Roll them to the kiddies.

CAPT. JOHNSON BLAMELESS.

Supervising Steamship Inspector Reverses Verdict on Loss of Old Dominion Liner Monroe.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22.—Capt. E. E. Johnson, who commanded the Old Dominion Liner Monroe, when she sank after the collision with the Merchants and Miners' steamship Nantuxet, off the Virginia coast last January, was a loss of 40 lives, has been held blameless for the accident by John W. Oast, supervising district steamship inspector. Investigations by inspectors soon after the collision resulted in a recommendation that Captain Johnson's license be revoked. Inspector Oast has reversed the original findings.

CHARACTERISTICS OF TROOPS IN THE FIELD

The scenes behind the battle lines denote the characteristics of the various nations engaged. The French soldiers are gay, singing when they return from the trenches and always seeking to learn the news from any new arrival from the rear. They gather branches from bushes to make fires, on which they boil their soup and coffee.

The British appear to be ready to seize the slightest opportunity to play some game when off duty. They are always cleanly shaven and love to plunge into a creek or river. Behind their trenches are many kneeling troughs captured from the German commissariat and now turned into tubs.

The Indian troops maintain a calm silence except when in action. Then they utter wild cries in their Eastern languages as they enter the fight.

The Moroccan auxiliaries, known as the "Goumiers" maintain all their African habits. They apparently are always ready to rest anywhere that they may find themselves, but sleep with the bride over their arm and bring into action at the slightest movement or noise.

ACTIVITY ON SANDFORD YACHT AT PORTLAND

Portland, Oct. 21.—While the next move of the Holy Ghost and Us Society yachts, Coronet and Barracouta, is enshrouded in mystery, the fact that a large crew of Shillies were busy about the Coronet, once proud ocean racer, shaking out sails on Tuesday, has resulted in all sorts of rumors being circulated along the water front of Portland, Me. Since the departure of the steamer Liberia from that port with a large number of negroes and Sanfordites on board, it has been believed that the Coronet and Barracouta would eventually follow on some extended cruise.

USE THE WANT AD WAY

For many weeks a few of the Rev. Frank W. Sanford's devoted followers have been standing by the Coronet and the Barracouta, but no active preparations have been made towards placing the craft in commission for a sea voyage. All through the summer months the two yachts have remained at anchor in the upper harbor and the Coronet has been stripped of all of her sails while both yachts looked sadly in need of painting and general repairs. Quietly a few of Sanford's flock have been painting the yachts the last few days, and on Tuesday at noon ten men were seen on the deck of the Coronet preparing to bend sails on the once palatial craft. The Coronet has not been far from Portland or Freeport since she returned after that eventful voyage in October, 1911, which resulted in the leader of the Holy Ghost and Us Society being sent to the Federal prison in Atlanta, Ga.

Interesting Extract From Letter Received Here From Paris—"Our Splendid British Allies"

The following is an interesting extract from a letter received on Wednesday by John McGrath at the home of his sister Mrs. T. J. Cronin, Elliot row, from his sister-in-law, Madame Bogue of Paris. On the outbreak of the war M. and Madame Bogue gave up their home life, the husband to fight for his country against the oppressor, his wife to take up nursing work in caring for the wounded. M. Bogue enjoyed a large practice as an architect, but himself and all his staff took up arms. Madame Bogue is a native of the United States but has lived in Paris for the last twenty years. She writes—

"I need not say how much pleasure your letters give us nor how glad we are to learn how entirely one with you all are in your sympathy and enthusiasm.

"We have passed through stormy times since my last letter to you. Paris at one time was seriously threatened and for two or three days I admit I quailed at the thought of what would happen if the Germans actually bombarded and took Paris. Underlying my fright, however, I must say was an unwavering confidence that such a dreadfully could never take place. We had unbounded confidence that Joffre, retreating in masterly manner before the truly overwhelming forces of the enemy, was biding his time and waiting to seize the right opportunity when, with sufficient reinforcements from our splendid British allies and in the position he himself chose, he could take the offensive and hurl back the foe. The great victory of the Marne showed how right such confidence was.

"So we stayed on in Paris, through it all and here we probably shall be all

ICE FORMED LAST NIGHT

A thin coating of ice on the ditches about the city early this morning brought a forecast of the season of cold weather. Although the official temperature registered last night was about one degree above the freezing point, in the suburbs the mercury dropped below the 32 mark.

Early in the evening a strong wind from the north and northwest made the air rather bleak, but the gale gradually decreased towards the midnight hour, and the early morning was clear and frosty. Delavan's comet was plainly visible in the northern heavens last evening, and many people viewed it from the outskirts of the city. On account of it being so near to the northern horizon, it is not easily picked out in the city, but from the open fields it shows very clearly. The lowest official temperature last night was two degrees higher than that registered on Oct. 14.

NEWS OF MONCTON

Death of Miss Ida Mackenzie — Scott Act Feature of Money Case

Moncton, N. B., Oct. 22.—The death of Miss Ida Mackenzie, aged thirty-eight years, occurred at her residence in Weldon street this morning. H. D. Mackenzie, formerly of Moncton, and now master mechanic at the Sydney-Oxford Division of the I. C. R., with headquarters at Stellarton, N. S., is a brother.

The adjourned case of a young man charged with obtaining money under false pretences, was dismissed. The accused who, it is alleged, was given money to purchase liquor, said he had not returned with the liquor fearing prosecution under the C. T. A.

BOYS SUICIDE IN FEAR OF PUNISHMENT AS TRUANTS

Freeland, Mich., Oct. 22.—Delbert Woodruff and Lloyd Pierce, aged ten and twelve years, respectively, are believed to have shot themselves. It is believed, in fear of punishment for having "played hooky."

The boys failed to appear at their homes for supper and when inquiries revealed that they had not been at school during the afternoon searching parties were ordered and for three hours men with lanterns patrolled the nearby woods and river banks.

In the meantime, the boys were seen going toward their homes and were informed of the commotion their disappearance had caused. Ten minutes later two shots were heard. The boys were found lying side by side dead, a revolver in the hands of one.

TWO WEDDINGS IN CALAIS.

Miss Stella Phelan, of Calais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Phelan, was united in marriage in the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Tuesday morning to William Burns of St. Stephen, Rev. M. J. Pettit performing the ceremony. Miss Isabel Burns, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, and Leo Phelan, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a gown in blue of blue with hat to match, and the bridesmaid also was gowning in blue. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burns left for the summer cottage of C. C. Grant, near Red Beach, where the honeymoon will be passed. The wedding gifts were numerous and beautiful.

On Wednesday morning, Oct. 21, in the Immaculate Conception church, Miss Higgins and Walter Clark of Calais were united in marriage by Rev. M. J. Pettit. Miss Ellen Winters was bridesmaid and Leo Phelan was best man. The bride wore a dress of white silk, with white hat. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make their home in Weldon.

TWELVE BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPS SUNK BY GERMANS

Indrani Among Them, But Likely Not Donaldson Liner That Comes to St. John

A despatch from Tenerife, Canary Islands, to the London Daily Mail under date of Thursday, reports that the German cruiser Karlsruhe has sunk thirteen British merchantmen in the Atlantic.

The news of the Karlsruhe's exploit, according to the Daily Mail's Tenerife correspondent, was brought to that port by the German steamer Crefeld, which arrived there with the crew of the British steamer Strathroy, Maple Branch, Highland Hope, Indrani, Rio Igassau, Farn, Niceto, Maria De Larrinaga, Cervantes, Cornish City, Pruth, Condor, and Lynrowan, all of which were sunk by the Karlsruhe.

The Crefeld was accompanied in port by the German steamers Patagonia, Rio Negro and Asuncion. The ships sunk were mostly engaged in the South American trade and their total tonnage is about 60,000.

It was feared here that the Indrani mentioned was possibly the steamer of that name owned by Donaldson Bros. and which is well known in this port. Reports in the New York Maritime Register, however, indicate that the Donaldson Liner was in another some during the time of the Karlsruhe's activities in the southern Atlantic. The Register reports the Donaldson boat off Wight on Sept. 22 and bound east, while it shows another Indrani, owned by the Indra Line, Ltd., and registered in Liverpool, clearing from Norfolk, Va., for Rio Janeiro on Sept. 4. She is of 6,000 tons gross register, and measures 420 feet in length with a beam of fifty-four feet, considerably larger than the Donaldson steamer.

BUILDING OVER THE LINE IN THIS CASE

Pink Steps Outdone at Little River But There is No War

With the choice of the Pink war in Fairville hardly silent comes word from Little River of an almost parallel difficulty, with two features, however, that will distinguish it from the case of the famous Pink steps. In the present case, it is not merely a few steps but a whole building that is reported to be occupying part of the property that belongs to John Magee; and the matter is not of a belittled nature and is taking the most peaceful method of settling the difficulty.

About two months ago, Fred Horach was informed that the business in connection with the building was being sold, and on it erected a store. The store was reported to be occupying what looked like the edge of the highway, but a few days later Mr. Horach was informed that the business in connection with the building was being sold, and on it erected a store. The store was reported to be occupying what looked like the edge of the highway, but a few days later Mr. Horach was informed that the business in connection with the building was being sold, and on it erected a store.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS IN ST. JOHN DO THEIR SHARE WELL FOR THE FUNDS

The Newfoundland Mutual Benefit Society made up of Newfoundland residents of St. John, has done nobly in their share in furthering the Patriotic and Belgian funds. It will be remembered that they held an entertainment a few evenings ago in the Temperance Hall, St. James street, and the proceeds from this, augmented by subscriptions from the members of the association are now ready to be turned over to the treasurers of the two funds. The business in connection with their contribution was concluded at a meeting last night. The amount is—

For patriotic fund, $57.66.
For Belgian fund, $10.00.

This total of $67.66 is certainly a creditable and pleasing addition to the money being raised and particularly so in view of the fact that some of the members had already contributed once or more to the funds. Well done, Newfoundlanders.

A PLEASANT EVENT.

About fifty friends of Miss U. Lounney met last night at the home of Mrs. William Gillen, 44 Harrison street, and tendered her a shower in honor of an approaching event in which she is to figure. On behalf of the gathering Frank M. O'Brien presented Miss Lounney with a handsome dinner set. A splendid supper was served and during the evening dancing, singing and music were enjoyed. The house was prettily decorated with cut flowers and plants.

Getting Ready For Winter

Winter is the season of large necessities. Many things have to be provided for the house. Wardrobes have to be refurnished. Careful buying means the satisfaction that comes from good quality and fair price. The lamp to light the way to sure buying is knowledge. And the best buyers' guide to be found anywhere is the one appearing in live newspapers like The Telegraph and Times. Advertisers meet in open competition. They present their cases squarely and it is for the public to choose.
