GATHER OPPOSITION TO UNIFORM RULE

(Canadian Press) Belfast, Ireland, April 9.—That the opposition of the Province of Ulster, on which the Irish Unionists mainly base their hopes of ultimately defeating the forthcoming home rule bill, remains as virile as in 1880 and 1881, the year in which William E. Gladstone introduced his two home rule bills for Ireland, seems to have been fairly demonstrated by the vast throng of Orangemen and Unionists who today gathered in Belfast for a special parliament for Ireland in any form.

A demonstration of 150,000 enthusiasts this morning passed in procession before Andrew Bonar Law and other prominent Unionist leaders at the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society's grounds. The route from the city to the grounds is three and a half miles in length and all the way the route was packed with cheering partisans as the men marched past sixteen abreast.

WEALTHY MAN TELLS WHY HE ADOPTED NEW BRUNSWICK GIRL

Geo. A. Cochrane and Wife Grateful to Mrs. Robbins for What She Did for Them

It was because Mrs. Bernice M. Robbins nursed Mrs. George A. Cochrane through a long and serious illness from which she recovered that George A. Cochrane, a commission merchant, legally adopted Mrs. Robbins as his daughter, says the Boston American.

The remarkable case caused much comment today, both in Webster, where the Cochrane reside, and in Dorchester, where Mrs. Robbins lives with her husband. Mrs. Cochrane is seventy-one years of age. He was seen today at his office, No. 11 State street. He was somewhat reluctant to discuss the matter, but in order to show that there is nothing to be concealed in connection with the transaction, he explained why the adoption was made.

"You see," said Mr. Cochrane, "Mrs. Robbins, who is about twenty-five years old, came to work for me in my office several years ago. She was Miss Bernice Robbins, and she came from New Brunswick. She was an orphan.

"I took a great liking to the girl, and so did my wife. She is steady, reliable and always did her work well. It was really at the suggestion of Mrs. Cochrane that I adopted her. We did so to show our appreciation for what she had done for us.

"My wife was very ill a year ago and Mrs. Robbins went to our home, and with the love and care of a daughter nursed my wife back to health and strength. We both believe my wife would never have recovered had it not been for the care given to her by Bernice.

"There is no money consideration in this thing at all. My wife and I love the girl as a daughter, and so we made her our daughter legally."

"But she has a husband, hasn't she?"

"Yes, and she was married at my house. We are friendly with her husband and the matter was with his consent that we adopted her. She has a good home in Dorchester."

"Will she live with you or remain at her home in Dorchester?"

"Well, I can't say as to that yet, but whatever is done will be satisfactory to both sides. I'm sorry that the matter became public, but everything has been done regularly and legally. We have adopted the young woman because we like her and I believe she likes us."

The husband of Mrs. Robbins is a carpenter. They live in Edwin street, Dorchester. When a reporter called there today Mrs. Robbins declined to see the reporter. The Cochrane reside at No. 137 Pleasant street, Woburn.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

RIGHT in our very respectable neighborhood there lives a woman who is a cruelly abused slave. No, not a slave in the old sense, nor a slave to her husband or children. This woman is simply what I call an obsession slave. That is, she's the unhappy and tortured vessel and victim of the obsessions which she herself sets up as masters over her own life.

Do I fall to make myself clear? Well, suppose I become concrete. This woman is, and, on the last trip, his customary bi-weekly letter failed to come on one occasion. His wife at once became obsessed with the idea that he did not love her any longer. She brooded over this idea, amassed evidence to prove it, became absolutely convinced of it, and in the few days in which she did not hear from him, actually worried herself almost sick. At the end of the week two letters came together; the first had been mislaid by the postal authorities. We had told her all but she was so completely under the domination of her obsessions that she could not use her reason or her common sense.

So much for one example of her slavery. She has other obsessions to support this idea. And in this kind of hunting one is always sure of bagging plenty of game.

By and by something happens to completely deprive our fears. Or a employer gives us an unkind remark; the loved one offers some unusual and unaccountable proof of affection; we demonstrate our mental power or our grip on the subject; or we are brought face to face with some unexpected proof of our popularity; and then we say, "I'll never be so foolish again." And we are not.

What's the cure for this? Well, the best cure, as for all obsessions, is prevention. Cure it before you have it. Don't let yourself get into this habit of mind. When you find yourself brooding over anything like this, talk your habit of mind. When you find yourself brooding over anything like this, talk your habit of mind. When you find yourself brooding over anything like this, talk your habit of mind.

But what if the disease is already started? Some unhappy victim asks. Well, then, administer the same treatment, only more of it. Furthermore, when you have found that one of these obsessions was utterly foolish, write down that fact and found that one of these obsessions was utterly foolish, write down that fact and found that one of these obsessions was utterly foolish, write down that fact.

Without a leg to stand on and without redress, legal or otherwise. Of course the king usually makes use of his royal prerogative in such matters through the secretary of state for war, but this is by no means necessary, since the monarch controls the destinies of his officers in a sovereign prerogative, independent of parliament and wholly without question or appeal.

Although Major Archibald Butt went to Rome charged with no special mission, but on leave of absence, for the purpose of recruiting his health, he carried a private letter from the president to the Pope and another one to the King of Spain. He attracted much attention in the Eternal City that the major's first visit was to the Vatican, where he was received in private audience, presenting his letter, and getting his reply in due course. Several days elapsed, and then he made an excursion to the Opera House, where he was received in private audience by the king to whom he is said likewise to have presented a private letter, and to have received a reply; the presentation of the major was made by Ambassador Jusserand.

This regard for the etiquette of the Vatican in paying the first visit to the United States, where he has won such universal respect and popularity, for just at the present moment the relations between Spain and France are of the most critical character, in connection with the Moroccan trouble.

The present French ambassador at Madrid, M. Geofroy, who is to be transferred to Vienna, has not altogether given satisfaction to his government, and is regarded as having failed to champion the cause of France with sufficient vigor. The fact is that he has rather sought to effect a Franco-Spanish union, than to secure France's demands. M. Jusserand's predecessor at Washington, M. Cambon, was also transferred from this country to Spain, to be a very capable man, just fifty-eight years of age, who has a great deal of the world. He owes his success in life to the fact that he married the daughter of Paul Bert, one of the most celebrated statesmen and physiologists of the Third Republic, who was minister of education and of public worship in Gambetta's cabinet, where he achieved special note as the author of a movement for the secularization of education.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

CHARLEY'S AUNT IS WELL PRESENTED IN OPERA HOUSE

There are new obstacles in the way of a good time which attend the opening of the season of college boys and in the delightful comedy "Charley's Aunt," presented last night at the Opera House, by the Gray company, this fact was cleverly and refreshingly exemplified in the presence of one of the largest audiences of this season. Abundant laughter was evoked by the jollifications of the college boys, the perplexity of the situations, and the general atmosphere of whole-hearted fun pervading the production from the beginning to the end.

Frank Beamish acted the role of the "Auntie" in Elythe fashion and was most charming as the impersonator of the dear lady who was kind enough to chaperone the boys while they invited their sweethearts to dine with them in their quarters at college. Mr. Beamish proved himself a very clever comedian and he provided the major number of the hundreds of laughs abounding in the play. His very "make-up" was sufficient to create far more than a well developed smile.

Lawrence Brooks and Leo Kennedy played the parts of the two undergraduates desirous of entertaining their lady friends with the aid of the "Auntie from Brazil," where the dons Graze and Miss Roachie, insisted on kissing their fellow-student and throwing their arms around him, in the impression that he was "Charley's dear old aunt."

Edmund Abbey had a fine character part and handled it superbly while Gavin Harris played the role of an old soldier, replete with ease and grace. Wm. McCarthy was also good as the servant. The ladies of the company had an easy time of it and they were fulfilled of them, but Miss Graze, Miss Roachie, Miss Knight and Miss Morrison each required the demands of her role with charm and nicety.

The play was staged under the direction of Gavin Harris and was well produced. The costumes of the ladies excited much admiration.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell you Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing-down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to get up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. STUART TRAXLER, Hooper, Nebraska.

Daily Hints For the Cook

PRUNE PUDDING.

Take one dozen large prunes, and add enough water to half cover them. Sweeten with two thirds of a cupful of sugar. Stew until tender, then set aside to cool. When cool, seed and chop the prunes fine, crack the pits and grind kernels to a paste. This added to the prunes will give them the flavor of figs. Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff and stir in the paste and the chopped prunes. Bake in oven for fifteen minutes. Serve with plain or whipped cream. This pudding may be made from stewed prunes that you have on hand.

PANCAKES.

When bread crumbs are used in cakes they are found to be lighter and make a pleasing variety from those made of all flour. Mix together two well-beaten eggs, one half tablespoonful of melted butter, one quarter cupful of flour, one pint of sour milk, one cupful of stale bread crumbs, one half teaspoonful of salt and one half teaspoonful of soda. Soak the bread crumbs in sour milk half an hour, add salt, melted butter, flour and eggs well together. Fry on a hot greased griddle. Serve immediately after taking from the pan with maple syrup, or butter and sugar.

KING'S PUDDING.

Steamed puddings may be made either of bread crumbs if mixed to the proper consistency. This pudding is most attractive if it should seem too thin add a small amount of flour. Two cupfuls of bread crumbs, one half cupful of suet or butter (melted), one half cupful of molasses, one egg, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one quarter teaspoonful of salt, one half teaspoonful of soda, one cupful of raisins and one half teaspoonful of cloves.

Soak bread crumbs one hour, then mix with other steamed puddings. Steam three hours.

Secret of Baking Good Bread

There is probably no accomplishment that a woman glories in more than the ability to bake good bread. While few are so expert as the professional baker, a woman who can bake a loaf of good bread, whole and delicious, is a credit to her skill.

Refrigerators, enamelled or porcelain lined, have delighted housewives for some time. Now gas stoves, similarly lined, are to be had.—Newark News.

WHOLESALE PRICES IN CANADA WERE HIGHER THAN IN GENERATION

A Study of Trade Matters in 1911 By the Ottawa Department of Labor

The Department of Labor has just issued a continuation of its series of reports on prices in Canada in the form of a special report on the course of wholesale prices throughout the calendar year 1911. The report is by R. H. Coats, B.A., editor of The Labor Gazette, and is based on weekly observation of the price fluctuations of some 261 articles selected as representative of the entire field of Canadian production and consumption. The list is sub-divided into groups, including grains and fodder, animals and meats, dairy products, fish, fruits and vegetables, miscellaneous groceries, textiles and leather, metals, and implements, fuel and lighting, lumber, miscellaneous building material, paints, house furnishings, drugs and chemicals, furs, etc. Numerous charts illustrate at a glance the various movements in these and other groups, as well as in more important single articles, the bulk of the report being given up to tables of quotations and comments on the more important changes shown.

The general conclusion arrived at is that wholesale prices in Canada during 1911 reached a higher level probably than in any previous year within the present generation; certainly the highest since 1884, and possibly since 1873. The upward trend did not develop with strength during the first six months of the year; from the middle of June, however, it became pronounced and continued with November and December prices at the highest level of the twelve-month. Between January 1 and December 1 the average rise is set down as approximately 3 per cent. Compared with the decade 1880-1889, which is the period selected by the department as the standard of comparison throughout its investigations, wholesale prices were approximately 24 per cent higher in 1911 than in the decade named, and rose during 1911 to a point over 27 per cent higher. Compared with 1897, the lowest year in the past generation, a rise is shown of about 40 per cent.

Of the articles covered by the report, 124 advanced during 1911, while 67 remained stationary, and only 22 showed declines. An appendix of the report contains an analysis of retail prices and rentals in some 48 Canadian cities throughout 1910 and 1911 based on monthly records obtained by the department. A rise of about 5 per cent is shown to have taken place in the past year.

The report deals at some length with the various features of the price record for the year and the circumstances attending the more important fluctuations. In this connection the following statement is of interest.

The year was one of general trade prosperity and industrial expansion in Canada. The heavy immigration movement, the very pronounced activity in railway construction and other building operations, the enlarged outputs of manufacturing establishments, and the increased volume of trade, foreign and domestic—in which fields the volume of the year uniformly indicated a marked advance over that of 1910—all united in causing an exceptionally keen demand for materials, with resultant enhancement of prices.

In foodstuffs, at the same time, the unfavorable crop reports of the summer and autumn months, and continued similar tendencies. Grains advanced sharply and though there was a decline in live animals and meats this was attributed to feed shortage and cannot be regarded as an alleviation in fundamental conditions.

Moreover, important commodities, including sugar, were on decidedly higher levels. The financial tone was favorable, and the accelerated consumption, distinctly intensified the situation which had previously given rise to such widespread comment, though industrially and commercially it constitutes on the whole a very favorable record.

FIFTY THOUSAND A YEAR JUST TO PAY FOR MRS. ANTHONY'S CLOTHES

(Boston American)
Harvey Anthony, Harvard student, son of Mrs. Charles H. Anthony, of Muncie, Ind., the woman who startled society in Washington and New York by arriving in those cities with six pairs of above studs and with diamonds, declared today his mother will come to Boston in about a week. He does not know anything about the jewels she wears.

There had been a rumor that young Anthony had become so embarrassed over the talk of his mother's diamonds he had slipped that he had left Harvard. He did not know whether his mother wore diamonds in the heels of her shoes, and if she did, all the talk was "nonsense" and "boosh."

"Mother is coming over here to Cambridge to see me in about a week, and I don't like to see the stuff in the papers," he said. "If it was all true it would be just as ridiculous to my way of thinking, and I don't like it."

"Nothing in it, then? Well, I should say not. Not as far as I know. I don't see my mother very often while I am in college, and I don't like anything like this getting into the papers just before she comes over here."

According to Mr. Anthony's father, who is in Muncie, these diamonds that his wife is wearing on her heels can be bought for $5 a quart. He told the assessors of Muncie so.

Mrs. Anthony does not agree with her husband. When told in New York of what he said she replied:

"Well, of all things! I feel terribly embarrassed. Charlie knows as well as I do that those stones are genuine. He bought them himself. It's one of his jokes, but I do not like it very much. It makes me appear so terribly foolish."

"I shall send Charlie a telegram and tell him not to make any more comments like that. I suppose as it is taxpaying time he thought maybe the assessor might take advantage of those stories of my beautiful diamonds. Each stone has been bought with great care. I have not a single diamond that cannot bear the closest scrutiny from an expert."

In a discussion on how much a well-dressed American woman is obliged to spend for clothes, Mrs. Anthony gave the following list of her purchases made within a year:

- 200 pairs of silk stockings at $2.00..... $400

F. W. DANIEL & CO. LONDON HOUSE. Cor. King and Charlotte Sts.

"Let me kiss those tears away," he begged tenderly. She fell into his arms, and he was busy for the next few minutes. And yet the tears flowed on. "Can nothing stop them?" he asked breathlessly. "No," she murmured. "It is hay fever, you know. But go on with the treatment."

WERE CAUGHT.
A Dean of Westminster used to relate that a gentleman once called to tell him that he had been to the abbey and had knelt down to pray when one of the vergers came to him and told him he must not kneel there. On asking why not the vergers answered, "Why, sir, if I was to allow it we should have them praying all over the place!" This recalls the story of a gentleman who visited a church and asked the sexton whether people ever used it for private prayer. "I ketchted two of 'em at it once!" said the sexton.

NEWFOUNDLAND SHIPPING SUFFERED VERY HEAVILY

Within Six Months, Fifteen Vessels Have Gone Down and Three Are Missing—Twenty-Six Lives Are Lost

THE winter has been an eventful one for Newfoundland and in no respect has the fact been brought home so forcibly as in the loss to the island's shipping. Within the six months from September 21, which would include the autumn gales and the winter's hurricanes, no fewer than fifteen vessels have gone to the bottom with a loss of twenty-six men, while three other ships are now reported missing in September: Crocker & Co. lost the Lady Napier, abandoned on the way to Brazil with a cargo of fish, and in December lost the Golden Hind, which sailed from St. John on October 10, and in December lost the Arctura in mid-ocean, while bound from Scotland, and the same month Brinds lost the Bella Rosa while on her way from Oporto, and in the same month Brinds lost the Virginia in the same way, while Temples & Co., of Bonaville, lost the Reliance with all hands, while on her way from Naples, and Harris & Co., of Grand Bank, lost the Arkansas, which bound to Gibraltar with fish, and the Dorothy Louise while coming from Oporto. These three vessels presumably carried down their whole crews with them, as no word has been heard from them for a long time. The tale of actual losses is completed by that of the Margharita, owned by Phipps & Co., of Grand Bank, which was lost in the Bay of Fundy soon after New Year, but Rorke & Co's Grace, and Baine Johnston's new steamer Rena are now overdue, the latter having on board as well as her own crew the men taken off the Arctura, and carried to London by a rescuing vessel.

HAUS AVERAGE PRISON IS TUBERCULAR DEATH TRAP

Julian Levitt, writing an amazing prison article in the April American Magazine, makes the following statements: "The Haus average prison is less than tubercular death-trap. It has been estimated officially by Dr. J. B. Ransom of the United States—based on the statistics of the Dreyfus case—that 60 per cent. of all the deaths in prison are due to tuberculosis. And autopsies, he adds, show that nearly all the prisoners have in some degree been infected. "The cause of this is only too plain. The average prisoner starts in life with a bad heredity. He spends his youth in a bad environment. This combination predisposes him to disease even when in prison. In fact, there is a well-grounded suspicion in the minds of many observers that most men are driven to crime by weakness of moral fibre, and that the breakdown of moral codes can be ascribed ultimately to some weakness in the physical constitution. Nobody knows there are no medical examiners attached to our prisons to determine whether the men on trial belong in a hospital or in a prison. In the Dreyfus case, Mathew Dreyfus, a brother of the condemned and rehabilitated captain, who gave up a lucrative business and spent his fortune to fight for his brother's freedom. "The Reinach and Dreyfus children became acquainted during the fight. The marriage will occur next month."

A "Man Doctor" uncharitably declares that women do everything rather less perfectly than men. OUTLOOK FOR THE NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

Three clubs have been entrenched in the first three positions in the National League race since 1904. They have dominated the organization from a playing standpoint since the rejuvenation of the Giants under the leadership of John J. McGraw.

They are Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh. Their supremacy was threatened more seriously in 1911 than ever it has been in the seven years which preceded it.

There was a time in the summer of 1911 when the Philadelphia club was in the lead for the championship. St. Louis never claimed that high, but did force its way upward through the second division.

If the National League as a body is as strong as it was in 1911 it is certain that a fine race is in prospect in 1912. It is stronger—outside of the tri-ohio autocrats than it was in 1911 in any way where the championship of 1912 will be more interesting than that of last season.

It matters little in any way where the strength may be centered, or to put it better, it will be a fine result for the present contest in 1912 if the increased strength of 1912 is centered in the Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Boston clubs, for the other three are expected to make their fight the best that they can. It is not that the general baseball public will see them in the lead, but with the characteristic sympathy of the American "fan" for the under dog, would naturally see the three contending to play with even more energy and vigor to that which they had earned in the period from 1904 to 1911 inclusive.

ball team made a creditable showing against the Baltimore Internationals, although they lost the game by a score of 4 to 2.

Diamond Sparkles. Barney Reilly is still unable to secure a permanent place at shortstop on the Brooklyn team, but he will be Dahler's first utility fielder.

Bob Moha has caught on with the New York sports. For the last three weeks he has been heavily engaged, and his stay in New York promises to bring him big returns.

Frank Erns, the former lightweight champion, has gone to Paris. He intends to bring back several French boxers when he returns next June.

Young Erns, the Philadelphia welterweight, will fight with Young Philadelphia Jack O'Brien if he will agree to scale 125 pounds. Erns's trouble with the big Quaker dates back to his meeting with Young Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, whom Erns defeated. Some interesting remarks about Erns's ability from O'Brien resulted in the Gray's Ferry boxer challenging Jack Tom McCarry, the Pacific coast promoter, has offered Joe Jeanette a date with Sam Langford for any time during June or July.

Tony Caponi is in Memphis looking for matches with the light heavyweights or heavy middleweights. He holds a victory over Eddie McCreary, who is cutting quite a swath in the middleweight ranks these days.

Jimmy Walsh has engaged Tommy Flanagan, Mark Spencer, Teddy Murphy and Joe Vargas for sparring partners for his speed boxing, but will wind up with a few bouts with heavier boxers, as is his custom, for his match with Joe Coster in New York tomorrow night.

Mike Gibbons and Chicago K. O. Brown are reported matched for a 10-round bout at South Bend, Ind., on April 12.

Philadelphia, April 8—The sixth game of the spring series between the two major league clubs of this city scheduled for today was postponed on account of weather. The final game of the series, which stands three to two in favor of the Nationals, will be played tomorrow.

New York, April 8—The New York National shut out the Newark Interstratsals, 7 to 0 this afternoon.

KEITH MAKES BIG PURCHASE

Reported He Has Bought Six Theatres in New York and Brooklyn for Five Millions. New York, April 9—According to reliable information Percy G. Williams has disposed of his vaudeville theatres in Manhattan and Brooklyn. While the name of the purchaser has not been disclosed, it is hinted that B. F. Keith is the buyer and the figure paid will close to $5,000,000.

The deal is said to embrace the Colonial and Alhambra theatres in Manhattan and the Orpheum, Greenpoint, Badwick and Crescent theatres in Brooklyn. The transaction is supposed to have taken place several days ago, but did not come to light till it was learned that Mr. Williams had made a present of $20,000 to John J. Maloney, his general manager.

Mr. Williams is expected to leave the city for a pleasure trip on May 15. Upon that day it is expected Mr. Keith will take over the newly purchased theatres.

The purchase is said to have been the result of a conference in Florida last month among Mr. Williams, Mr. Keith and E. F. Albee, Keith's general manager. Martin Beck, a western vaudeville promoter and owner of the Orpheum Circuit, had been negotiating for the houses for some few months, but it is said Keith outbid him.

An arrangement was made to have Mr. Williams retained at the same salary he received when in the employ of Mr. Williams. All the theatres, it is expected, will continue as first-class vaudeville houses.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN: WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER

LYRICO. A good picture bill will be a novelty at this theatre for the first three days at this theatre. The cast is the Great Dillibine, and he is seen in some remarkable balancing upon cart wheels, etc. His final feat, that of walking up stairs upon a cart wheel, and leap starting. There are two people in the act, Dillibine, being assisted by a Chinese girl. Fair weather, Friends is the title of a two-reel picture that is indeed a feature. The story deals with a poor family, who, through fire, lose all. With poverty approaching their so-called friends desert them, only to return upon their change of fortune. The moral is well put by the acting of the story. Two other pictures complete the bill.

SHAMUS O'BRIEN AT UNIQUE. Pictures of Irish scenes and story seem to be popular with the patrons of the moving picture theatres and this certainly holds good in the case of Shamus O'Brien, whose story is being told at the Unique. Samuel Lover's noted tale of the part the daring young Irishman took in the days of '88, his arrest, his trial and condemnation and his thrilling escape from the gallows with the aid of Father Malone are all excellently shown in a series of clear, well acted pictures.

The main characters are played cleverly and Shamus stands forth as a cover cut young Irishman, played by King Baggot. Vivian Prescott, as his sweetheart, and Wm. Shay, as the captain of the soldiers, give good performances as well. The scene is pretty and in all the production well merited the hearty applause which it received from gatherings which filled the theatre to the doors at every presentation. A large number of people take part in the scenes. The picture is by the Imp. Company, and is one of the best.

A satire on Indian pictures is given in a picture called Playing Injun, which is produced entirely by children. Another clever picture is A Little Soldier, a Solax comedy-drama. The bill is well worth seeing.

T HOLD INQUIRY. Captain W. R. Luger, R. N., is coming here to hold an inquiry into the case of the steamer Benin, of the Elder-Dempster line, which touched here on the way out two weeks ago.

FOX TERRIER THE BEST DOG IN WHOLE SHOW

A little smooth coated fox terrier, Ch. Sabine Rarabit, owned by the Sabine kennels of Orange, Tex., and exhibited by a professional and judge, George H. Thomas, of Hamilton, was adjudged the best dog, irrespective of breed and sex, in the all-breed show of the Eastern Dog Club, which came to a most successful closing on Friday night in Boston.

Opposed to Rarabit were the noted old English sheepdog of Mrs. Tyler Moore, Ch. Endicott Majestic and Ch. Shapiro Hero, imported dogs that had defeated everything of their type, not only in the United States but abroad. The other dogs opposed to Rarabit were the champion Russian wolfhound, Genest of Rousseau of Dr. M. C. O'Brien of Waukesha and an Irish setter.

The contest quickly narrowed down to the wolfhound, the sheep dog and Rarabit. Then the wolfhound and one of the sheep dogs were eliminated by Judges Mortimer and Reeves, and after a long time the "jury" decided on Rarabit, and handed the green special ribbon and the silver cup offered by George S. W. W. to the president of the Eastern Dog Club to George Thomas.

Rarabit is a perfect show dog as to ring manners and proportions. It seems to know that it is a champion and acts accordingly to the dictates of the exhibitor. Thomas said after the award was made that if he were to hang his hat on the tail of the great little dog it would remain there as long as the master wished.

Rarabit is an American bred dog. It was born July 6, 1897, and came from Ch. Sabine Hider and Ch. Sabine Fiel. When seven months old it was taken to the kennels of George Thomas at Hamilton, and has been there ever since, exhibiting the time it has been championed and exhibited by Thomas. Two years ago Rarabit was the best dog in the world show. The same year it won that honor at the New York show and at Buffalo.

The silver cup offered by William A. Gaston for the best team other than terrier in the Westminster show in New York, was won by Rarabit and his mate, many of the best in the show, including Col. Ruppert's imported St. Bernards, for which he had thousands of dollars in England; Mrs. Tyler Moore's sheep dogs; the champion Pomeranians of the terrier world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world.

Two of the hounds were shown by a professional and the other two by Mr. Taylor of the Westminster show in New York, was won by Rarabit and his mate, many of the best in the show, including Col. Ruppert's imported St. Bernards, for which he had thousands of dollars in England; Mrs. Tyler Moore's sheep dogs; the champion Pomeranians of the terrier world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world.

Rarabit earlier in the evening qualified for the all-breed competition by winning the special for the best terrier of any breed, defeating the crack Airedales, Irish and Scotch terriers.

Some wonderful work by Kenneth Sorceress, the Airedale of William Prescott Wolcott, that won the special for best dog in the Westminster show in New York, was won by Rarabit and his mate, many of the best in the show, including Col. Ruppert's imported St. Bernards, for which he had thousands of dollars in England; Mrs. Tyler Moore's sheep dogs; the champion Pomeranians of the terrier world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world; the champion of the dog world.

Among the dogs that were eliminated in the terrier special was Belgrave Ladie, shown by Mr. Fleitman. It is a Scotch terrier and was picked up from the street in a Canadian town for a few dollars and won greatness at its first exhibit after that in a show.

Thomas again showed the upper hand in the special when he won the trophy offered for the best dog or bitch never before shown. His West Highland white terrier got this award.

THE APRIL ROD AND GUN. Once more Rod and Gun in Canada is out with a special spring fishing number—the April issue—and as usual there is something to interest fishermen in every province of the Dominion. The Rod Easy Fishing Club's Canadian Outing on the French River is the opening number and it is a good one, illustrating the fine sport indulged in by a party of American sportsmen who answered the call of the wild in Algonquin Park. In this story it was not a big fish that got away as is evidenced by reproductions of photographs taken by the "Official" Photographer.

Of exceptional interest also is the account of a fishing trip through Tuckat Lakes, Nova Scotia. In the game conservation department the pump or repeating shotgun is discussed from various standpoints and under the heading of the character of a special fishing number of the Canadian magazine which is published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

WEDDINGS. The banns of marriage of Miss Margaret Bryson, and Thomas Heenan, both of Fredericton Junction, were published by Rev. F. Carney in St. Dunstan's church, Fredericton on Sunday.

At Millville last week Herbert Moore and Miss Maria Avery were united in marriage by the Rev. J. J. Barnes.

In speaking of conditions on the North shore Mr. O'Leary said to a Times reporter this morning that everything was moving along nicely now, but in the lumber business things were not so bright. From present indications the season was likely to be a rather poor one. "The ice is not out of the streams yet, he said, "and it is getting a little late in the season for driving. Another factor is the very high freight rates which are now in vogue."

VERY NEARLY TWENTY-FOUR HOURS LATE
C. P. R. Express Which Was Held up By Washout

Very nearly twenty-four hours late in consequence of heavy floods in Quebec, the Montreal express, due here yesterday at noon, arrived in the city this morning about 9:40 o'clock, bringing quite a number of passengers. The train left Montreal on Sunday night and was on time at Farnham, Quebec, but about a mile east of Farnham it was held up by washout, extending for about 200 or 300 yards. The expectation was that the train would be able to go through in a few hours after the auxiliary crew had replaced the section of rail washed out, but it was held at Farnham for about thirteen or fourteen hours. Finally after having been so long delayed, and prospects for proceeding not being bright, the express was moved round by way of St. Roale and Richmond by using the Grand Trunk and I. C. R., and then to Sherbrooke.

THE TIME OCCUPIED THIS WAS THREE AND A HALF HOURS FOR THE 110 MILES OF TRACK. The train on arrival this morning was held over until 12:40 and was then sent forward as the regular, because the Atlantic express due at noon today was three and a half hours late, coming to St. John by the same route as that taken by Sunday's train. The Boston train today was half an hour late in reaching the city.

MR. MCGILL REPEATS IN MONTREAL W. AT HE SAID HERE

Montreal, April 9—D. McGill, vice-president of the C. P. R., just returned after an inspection trip to St. John, speaks of the necessity of the federal government hastening the proposed improvements on the west side. The C. P. R. line between Montreal and St. John, he said, is capable of handling double its present traffic, but there are not sufficient terminal facilities at St. John to handle the business now. The C. P. R. elevator at St. John handled one million bushels last week, being pressed to make a record for the port. The new elevator is scheduled to be ready for the winter of 1913, the company waiting for the government to build the sea wall promised, in order that it may fill in the forty acres at Blue Hook, which are destined for freight yards.

BLACK HAND THREAT MADE TO POLICEMAN

Wittren Arrested Hodges, However, and Court Did the Rest—An Assault Case

"I belong to the Blackhand Society, and if you arrest me the vengeance of the members will be wreaked upon you," said Thomas Hodges, a sailor, who was arrested by Policeman Wittren in Water street last night on the charge of being drunk and using profane and obscene language.

In the police court this morning the policeman testified that Hodges was standing in the street and using profane language at the top of his voice. He was fined $4 or two days in jail on the charge of drunkenness, and $8 or thirty days in jail for using the bad language.

William Ward, 68 or thirty days in jail for using the bad language. Charles Habgood, on charge of assaulting and beating him in Ward's home in Waterloo street, was fined $20 or two months in jail. The assault took place yesterday afternoon. Ward said that Habgood boarded at his home, but yesterday went home under influence of liquor and used bad language to Mrs. Ward. When the defendant went home his wife told him of the affair and he ordered Habgood out of the house. Ward testified that Habgood struck him in the face and that he then retaliated. Habgood was in court with a badly discolored eye and a bruised face. His Honor told Ward that he should have had Habgood arrested and not beat him so badly as he had done.

The fine of $20 was struck against Ward. Three prisoners charged with drunkenness were fined $4 or ten days in jail, and two others were fined $8 or two months in jail. All, with the exception of one, pleaded guilty. The one who pleaded not guilty was given a severe talking to by the court, after the evidence of Policeman Briggs was given. The policeman testified that the prisoner was a married man, and that his wife had complained of his running around with another woman.

"Where do you come from?" asked His Honor. "The prisoner replied that he came from Newcastle, N. B. "Well do they have any more wives than me up there? You ought to be tarred and feathered and then set at large."

This Wholly About Men's Spring Suits

Because we have for so many years represented this country's highest standard in men's ready-to-wear clothing is no reason why we should stand still.

It is a very good reason why we should go ahead. We should try to lift that standard higher and higher every year.

This year we believe it is higher than it has ever been. We do not wish you to take our word for it. Sometimes people are apt to be partial to the things that are their own.

We invite you to look at our New Spring Suits with clear, searching, critical eyes and satisfy yourself.

We would value your opinion as to whether they look like suits that will echo in service the statements we make about them here.

The hope of good merchandise is that the people have eyes—and memories.
